Mr. WHITAKER desired to ascertain whether such a corporation would be required to register under the Foreign Agents Act of 1938 as amended. WHITAKER informed that RKO and SOYUZINTORGKINO were contemplating the formation of a domestic corporation to engage in the business of distributing Russian films in the United States and elsewhere. The stocks of the company and the profits were to be divided equally between RKO and SOYUZINTORGKINO. Each of the two stockholders would elect an equal number of directors and the directors would elect one additional director. Mr. WHITAKER had never heard of ARTKINO PICTURES, INC. and had no idea whether each contract with SOYUZINTORGKINO was to be terminated or whether SOYUZINTORGKINO was to have in effect two distribution outlets in this country. WHITAKER later informed that no further progress had been made with respect to the formation of the proposed corporation. It was ascertained, however, at that time that the corporation would export RKO Films to Soviet Russia.

The October 9, 1944, issue of the "NEWSWEEK MAGAZINE" carried an article to the effect that RKO and SOYUZINTORGKINO (Soviet Movie Trust) had entered into an arrangement whereby RKO will distribute five films each year which cost $50,000.00 each to produce, and that in turn the Soviet Movie Trust would release a like number for RKO in Russia. It was stated that the Soviet Movie Trust would not make RKO the sole global distributor of Russian films.

Confidential National Defense Informant [redacted] has informed that PEARL KAMM is the maiden name of Mrs. JEFF KIBRE and that she is living at [redacted] and that she is a member of the Communist Party. The files of the Los Angeles Field Division office reflect that PEARL KAMM was the Group Membership Director of Branch N-1, Northwest Section, Communist Party, Los Angeles County, as of November 16, 1943. In 1944 she was Labor Chairman of Group I, Northwest Section, Communist Party, Los Angeles County, and her 1943 Membership Book was #25127. Her 1944 Membership Book was #48855. Miss PRESTON further advised that PEARL KAMM is a very close friend of KATHRYN TROSPER, who in 1940 and 1941 was secretary to ORSON WELLES, who at that time was on the RKO lot in connection with his activities in his personally-owned Mercury Productions. She stated that KATHRYN is in New York at the present time. Miss PRESTON further stated that TROSPER had openly acknowledged that she was a member of the Communist Party.

Miss PRESTON also stated that KATHRYN TROSPER got ORSON WELLES to sign a petition which she was circulating "Not to Deport HARRY BRIDGES" and she also put on a testimonial dinner for HARRY BRIDGES in the spring of 1941 while he was on trial for deportation at San Francisco, California.

LESLIE F. WARREN of the Los Angeles Field Division the influence of Communism in the motion picture industry. She stated that she had taken the position of Associate Producer at RKO of approving all scripts produced by RKO and the position of advisor to CHARLES W. KOERNER, Vice-President in Charge of Production at the Hollywood studio, with the understanding that Mr. KOERNER would give her a free hand in censoring anything which she did not believe best for the studio as well as for the country in general. She stated that she pointed out to Mr. KOERNER that the majority of the writers in Hollywood, California, were very closely allied with the Communist Party and many of them were thought to be members of the Communist Party. She stated that as a result these writers continually attempted to inject Communist propaganda in a very subtle form in the scripts they wrote.

Mrs. ROGERS stated that an agreement was made and placed on record providing that she had the right to reject any script submitted to RKO for production which contained any Communist propaganda and she stated that she had already rejected several scripts.

Mrs. ROGERS stated that she felt that she could identify most of the big Communists among the writers and directors at RKO but she stated that she did not feel that she was in a position to determine who were Communist Party members among the other employees at the studio. At that time Mrs. ROGERS offered to aid the Bureau in every manner possible.

Mrs. LELA ROGERS, Producer at RKO, mother of GINGER ROGERS, has been very active in the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals andhas stated that "by its very existence it was serving a good purpose". She further stated that the Communists in the Screen Writers Guild thought they could get away with anything they wanted but when the Motion Picture Alliance set itself up, by merely being in existence, it would combat the Communists.

Mrs. ROGERS referred to the picture "TENDER COMRADE", in which her daughter, GINGER ROGERS, starred and cited several parts which she, LELA ROGERS, had fought out with CHARLES W. KOERNER, Vice-President in Charge of Production at RKO. She stated that KOERNER is politically

She stated that she made many speeches critical of the picture. She further stated that Mr. KOERNER asked her if she thought it fair to campaign against the picture when her daughter was the star in it. She stated that she informed him that that made no difference if Communist propaganda was being spread.

Mrs. ROGERS stated that EDWARD DMYTRYK directed the picture "WINDER COMRADE" and she referred to DMYTRYK along with TRUMBO as being a Communist. She stated that she called DMYTRYK right in the presence of KOERNER and RATHVON, another RKO executive.

Confidential National Defense Informant [redacted] has advised that Mrs. ROGERS on this occasion accused DMYTRYK of being a Communist and that he did not deny it. Mrs. ROGERS further stated that it appeared to her that KOERNER was not at all concerned about Communism in RKO pictures. b7D

Reference is made to your letter dated October 30, 1944, in which you request that a reconciliation be made of the list of the functionaries in the Northwest Section as set out in the report of Special Agent JOHN R. VICARS, Los Angeles, dated August 26, 1944, in the case entitled "COMMUNIST POLITICAL ASSOCIATION, DISTRICT #13, LOS ANGELES FIELD DIVISION, INTERNAL SECURITY ~~(C)~~", and the list of functionaries and members set forth "with those submitted previously in connection with the captioned matter."

I have discussed this communication with the agents concerned and have been unable to reach a decision as to just what your desires are.

The list of members and functionaries of the Northwest Section as reported in Agent VICARS' report are those obtained up to that date and are, of course, different from those previously reported in the same case on a prior date. The officers of the various clubs, of course, change from time to time and that was the reason for this report.

It is not clear to me what type of reconciliation you wish made and I would appreciate your clarifying this matter in order that your request may be properly handled.

RKO for its reported arrangement with Spanish interests in the exchange of motion pictures. This reported arrangement is attacked by the Daily Worker in so many words as doing business with Franco and "his silent Axis partners."

To be considered in addition to the material in the attached memorandum is the influence which is held over skilled workers, craftsmen and laborers of RKO by the various Communist influences and dominated guilds and unions. This has not been made the subject of a separate section in the summary memorandum inasmuch as the same situation exists with respect to every studio, in that the various guilds and unions have jurisdiction over the employees in the other studios.

Twelve prominent labor leaders in various Hollywood unions have been identified in the past as members of the Communist Party, and it is known that a number of the rank and file members of the various unions are also Party members. Herbert K. Sorrell, known Communist Party member, is the leading labor figure in the motion picture industry. He is the head of the Conference of Studio Unions which consists of some seven A. F. of L. affiliates, such as studio painters, laboratory technicians, etc., all of which affiliates have followed the Communist Party program, as well as the new Communist Political Association program.

There is also to be considered the Hollywood Guild Council, which is made up of various guilds, including the screen writers, the screen directors, screen publicists, screen readers and screen actors guilds. All the guilds are known in the past to have followed the Communist program.

Opposing the Conference of Studio Unions is a group of seven independent unions in the motion picture industry, all affiliated with the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees. They are led by Richard Walsh, International President of the International Alliance. The purpose of the group of the seven unions is to form a counter-organization to combat the inroads of Communist elements and their attempt, through the Conference of Studio Unions, to take over the remainder of those unions not yet controlled by Communist influences.

During the summer of 1944, there was formed the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions, which is a combined representative from both the guilds and the unions under Communist influence. Herbert K. Sorrell, in combination with the New Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions, is said to be in control of 22,000 of 30,000 studio workers. This council was formed primarily to combat the anti-Communist program of the Motion Picture Alliance for the preservation of American Ideals.

There is attached for record purposes an article which appeared on page one of the Washington Evening Star dated December 7, 1944, entitled "Mischa Auer Says Russian Club Ousted Him for Backing Dewey."

The article refers to a statement by Auer relative to his expulsion from the Russian-American Club of Los Angeles because of statements he made in speeches favoring the presidential candidacy of Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

Auer further states, according to the article, that he received a letter from the Board of Trustees of this Club charging him with indulging "in malicious attacks against his own motherland, Russia, and against the democratic traditions of America."

Auer is said to have stated that he is "against Communizing America and I want others to leave the American way of life alone."

Auer, according to the article, advised he sent a letter to the Board of Trustees of the Russian-American Club and stated in connection with this letter that the Board of Trustees claimed, "I made certain statements attacking my motherland and the democratic traditions of America and that while I had every right to support any candidate I pleased, the Club had decided by unanimous vote to support President Roosevelt for a fourth term." He further stated, "It is hard for me to understand how anybody could at the same time attack both the Communism of Russia and the democratic traditions of America. That would be facing both ways indeed."

It is known that the Russian-American Club of Los Angeles was organized at the instigation of Communists and it is regarded as a Communist front.

Mischa Auer Says Russian Club Ousted Him for Backing Dewey

By the Associated Press.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7. — Film Comedian Mischa Auer has been expelled from the Russian-American Club of Los Angeles because of statements he made in speeches favoring the presidential candidacy of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the actor has disclosed.

Mr. Auer, who was a vice president of the club, said a letter he received from the Board of Trustees charged he had "indulged in malicious attacks against his own motherland, Russia, and against the democratic traditions of America."

The 39-year-old comedian, who came to this country from Russia in 1920, told a reporter his sympathies are with the Russian people, but that he is "against communizing America and I want others to leave the American way of life alone."

Mr. Auer said he sent a letter to the Board of Trustees, stating that the reasons given for his expulsion were that "I made certain statements attacking my motherland and the democratic traditions of America and that while I had every right to support any candidate I pleased, the club had decided by unanimous vote to support President Roosevelt for a fourth term."

"It is hard for me to understand," wrote Mr. Auer, "how anybody could at the same time attack both the Communism of Russia and the democratic traditions of America. That would be facing both ways, indeed.

"I am even accused of being so undemocratic as to echo the sentiments of Gov. Bricker. Inasmuch as Gov. Bricker won nearly half of the votes in the last election, there must be well over 20,000,000 Americans who are similarly guilty of disloyalty to America as well as to our ally."

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - ~~C~~

In reply to your communication of December 7, 1944, asking that the Bureau clarify its instructions that you reconcile the various changes in the Communist Political Association Clubs in your Field Division, this is to advise that the Bureau desires, if at all possible, that you submit a report setting forth the names of functionaries of Clubs in the Northwest Section currently holding office, as well as those members who have registered with the Communist Political Association.

In this undertaking it is desired that the report be so written to indicate the changes, both in leadership and in membership, which took place as a result of the change in name from that of Communist Party to that of the Communist Political Association, and the necessity of reregistration. The Bureau's letter of October 30, 1944 made reference to the report of Special Agent John R. Vicars, Los Angeles, dated August 26, 1944, in the case entitled "Communist Political Association, District #13, Los Angeles Field Division, Internal Security ~~(C)~~", containing lists of Communist functionaries and members. It could not be determined whether these lists were made up by the membership director for assistance in tabulating future reregistration, or whether they represented lists of persons actually reregistered whose numbers had not as yet been given. The reason for this is the statement appearing on page 2 of the referenced report where it is stated that, "At no place did the list state that these records were the membership of the Northwest Section; however, it is noted that they are broken down into the branches of the Northwest Section, and furthermore, source B. stated that Marjory Potts told her that these were the Northwest Section membership records. This is also some indication that the functionaries listed at the top of each branch may be functionaries of the new CPA Clubs, with the exception of some recent changes."

The report desired of you by the Bureau should be so written that it will indicate whether the leadership remains the same or varied in certain instances after the Communist Party became known as the Communist olitical Association. If additional information has been received since e submission of the reference report, which information pertains to adership and membership in the Communist Political Association of the thwest Section, this should be also incorporated in order to provide Bureau with an up-to-date picture of the various clubs in the Northwest ction of the Communist Political Association, District Number 13, Los geles, California.

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

The following is taken from the October 9, 1944 issue of "News Week" (page 24):

"RKO Soyuzintorkino Deal

"In Hollywood's current scramble for the post-war foreign film market, RKO has out-sprinted the other studios by signing a two year contract with Soyuzintorkino (Soviet Movie Trust). Under the deal, RKO will distribute, in the United States and elsewhere as agreed upon by the trust, a yearly minimum of five Soviet films purchased at $50,000. In return for every Russian picture the U.S. studio handles, Soyuzintorkino will purchase an RKO movie at the same price for distribution with the U.S.S.R. To facilitate these business deals, a new corporation soon will be set up with RKO and the Russian film trust, each holding a 50% interest. The Soviet Union's determination to cut its own slice of the world film market is seen in the trust's refusal to name RKO as sole global distributor of Russian films."

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Since the general election in November, certain front organizations have become more open in their activity and have emphasized the part they played in the elections and boast of their Americanism. Certain motion picture people and others strongly supported the AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY first anniversary meeting. The HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE has declared its intention of becoming a permanent organization to work in the political field and cooperate with CIO-PAC and other progressive groups in politics. WARNER BROS. has announced its withdrawal from the MOTION PICTURE PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION, giving as its reason that it does not agree with the Hays Censorship of what it terms "educational content" but what it really means is "political content". The MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE FOR THE PRESERVATION OF AMERICAN IDEALS has become quite inactive. The COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS apparently is planning to become a permanent organization. The CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS is strongly under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL, a well known Communist. The HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION has practically amalgamated with the PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER, which has become a very effective front in Hollywood.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that since the November elections the Communists in the Hollywood motion picture industry and the numerous front organizations which surround the Hollywood area have become more open in their activity. This source stated that the part they played, operating through their front organizations, in the elections was most effective from their standpoint. They have been very successful in lessening antagonism to Communism by stressing the great part they played in the elections as an example of their Americanism. Very cleverly they have started a slogan which is being heard on all sides within the industry. That slogan is, whenever there is the slightest criticism of Communism or the Soviet Union, "After all, what's the matter with Communism." This is a very effective tactic because the ordinary employee does not have sufficient knowledge of the subject to give a telling answer. The purpose of this is to break down the taboo against discussing the subject. This is a common expression heard within the unions and on the studio lots at the present time.

Summing up the situation it can be said that in a broad sense, objections to Communism or Communists are apparently losing their force. This permits the Communists employed in the motion picture industry a greater latitude in using their personal prestige in more openly supporting the various Communist front organizations in the Southern California area. This Source stated that a clear and emphatic example of this open work was at the first anniversary meeting of the AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY (formerly YOUNG COMMUNIST LEAGUE) which was celebrated at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel on December 1. This was known to all Hollywood as a Communist gathering. Seventeen prominent persons now employed in the motion picture industry either sponsored or addressed the meeting. While this was a meeting of the AYD and presumably independent of the motion picture industry, yet the prestige of that industry was lent to it by publicizing the names of the prominent motion picture people who supported it. The motion picture people are the following:

GEORGE BRADLEY, Business Agent, Local 99, STUDIO LABORERS
EDWARD DMYTRIK, Director
LION FEUCHTWANGER, Writer
IRVING FINEMAN, Writer
CARROLL HOLLISTER, Musician
REX INGRAM, Actor.

RING LARDNER, JR, Writer
JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, Writer
ALBERT MALTZ, Writer
THOMAS MANN, Writer
SAM MOORE, Actor
CLARENCE MUSE, Actor
SAM ORNITZ, Writer
EARL ROBINSON, Musician
FRANK SCULLY, Writer
HERBERT K. SORRELL, Labor Official
DALTON TRUMBO, Writer
ALVIN WILDER, Writer

Attention may also be called to the fact that certain other officers and individuals of note sponsored or participated in this AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY gathering. They are the following:

RUBEN S. BOROUGH, Los Angeles Board of Public Works
Professor FRANK C. DAVIS, UCLA professor
Judge JOHN BEARDSLEY, State Superior Court Judge
Dr. ERNEST CALDICOTT, Unitarian minister
JOHN F. COHEE, War News Commentator
PHILIP M. CONNELLY, Los Angeles Industrial Union Council secretary
Dr. FRANKLIN FEARING, UCLA professor
Professor RALPH FREUD, UCLA professor
NED HEALY, Congressman elect
ELLIS E. PATTERSON, Congressman elect
ROBERT W. KENNY, State Attorney General
LESTER McMILLAN, Assemblyman
BEN ROSENTHAL, Assemblyman
JEROME POSNER, Chairman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and Chairman of the PAC
Professor HARRY STEINMETZ, San Diego Junior College
Rabbi ERNST R. TRATTNER
REVELS CAYTON, Vice President of the L.A.I.U.C. and chairman of the Anti-Discrimination Committee.

Two recently elected Congressmen, NED R. HEALY and ELLIS E. PATTERSON were guest speakers at the convention. There is no doubt about the growing influence of the Communist elements and their sympathizers in the motion picture industry. There is no opposition among the top heads of the industry; in fact it can be said there is mild encouragement. This is due to the impression that the industry will develop large markets for distribution in Soviet Russia after the war. This statement has been made many times through the public press. WARNER BROS., the studio which made "Mission to Moscow" goes to great lengths to appease the Communists and it employs more people who have Communist records than any other motion picture studio.

HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

Source A further informed that this Communist front organization which was presumed to be set up temporarily to support the Democratic Party and Communist sponsored candidates in the November elections and the primaries which preceded it, will now be maintained as a permanent organization. The purposes as stated are to continue work in the political field and cooperate with and support the CIO Political Action Committee and all other "progressive" groups in politics. In an official report issued since the November election this Committee stated that it has collected and expended $85,133.57 from July 14, 1944 up to October 27, 1944. This money was used in the campaign. They do not state that any money was collected between October 27, 1944, and the date of the elections, November 7, 1944. This report goes into detail as to the activities of the Committee, stated who the persons were who took part, how the work was divided, etc. It also gives the names of the motion picture actors, writers, musicians, etc., who worked in the field. The entire list of those given contains names which have been identified with the Communist movement, more or less. This Source further advised that the Committee states that it is now making preparation for future local elections in the forthcoming May, 1945, primaries. And it is through this organization that the film industry exerts political pressure in local politics. Control over the Committee is exerted in the usual way; Communists in the background pulling the strings of control. There has been no announcement, as yet, that the Committee will continue publication of its paper, "Free Press".

MOTION PICTURE PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION

Source A states that this association has been in existence many years and is composed of all the major studios in the film industry. A part of the association is what is called the "Hays Office of Censorship" which approves or disapproves the content of pictures. WILL S. HAYS is the chief of this office.

A rift has developed in the Association. WARNER BROS. has announced its withdrawal, to take effect within six months, that time being required because the rules of the association require six months notice of withdrawal. The reasons given by WARNER BROS. for severing relations are that that studio objects to the method of handling labor relations by PAT CASEY who comes under the Hays office influence. Also the WARNER BROS. company objects to the type of censorship exercised by WILL S. HAYS. The principle involved in this dispute between WARNER BROS. and Mr. HAYS in the matter of censorship is that WARNER BROS. objects to Mr. HAYS' censorship of what it terms "educational" content of the motion picture. In this case what is really meant is "political" content. Another point on which there is disagreement is the matter of labor relations. The Hays office and the Casey office have been bargaining with two different groups, the IATSE and the Basic Agreement crafts, all AFL. Within these two groups there has arisen what is called the Conference of Studio Unions, a Communist-controlled group of key crafts under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist.

WARNER BROS. has announced that it will conduct its labor relations department separate from the Hays and Casey offices and will recognize for bargaining purposes this Conference of Studio Unions. This will give official recognition for the first time to the Communist leadership in the Hollywood studio unions. He also stated that WARNER BROS. has been consistently veering in the direction of Communist influence for some time.

MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE FOR THE PRESERVATION OF AMERICAN IDEALS

This anti-Communist group according to Source A is apparently inactive. It has taken no action of any kind worth mentioning. It took the position before the election that, to avoid any implication that it was a partisan political group, it would practically cease activity. Since the elections there has been no evidence of activity. The motion picture producers are putting pressure privately on members of the organization to dissolve it. It will probably succumb shortly.

COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS

Source A has stated that originally this Council was formed to combat anti-Communist group called the MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE. At the beginning it was a loosely formed organization composed of some twenty-one guilds and unions in the industry. Although the MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE has now become inactive and shows signs of disintegration, the Communist elements in control of the Council have taken advantage of this situation because, by using the lure of Hollywood and the motion picture industry, it is attracting large numbers of young people who wish to become employed in the film industry. By using the names of many Hollywood top directors and writers, many of them acting as instructors, this school is doing more to propagate the Communist Party line in the film industry than any other effort. It has the support of and sponsorship of thirty-nine labor unions and guilds and is part of a chain of such schools now being set up in the Southern California area. Source A informs that Communist influence in the film industry and its connections is growing day by day. The opportunity afforded by the war effort makes all this possible and the Communists are exploiting this to the limit with telling effects.

Certain motion picture people and others strongly supported the AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY first anniversary meeting. The HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE has declared its intention of becoming a permanent organization to work in the political field and cooperate with CIO-PAC and other progressive groups in politics. WARNER BROS. has announced its withdrawal from the MOTION PICTURE PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION, giving as its reason that content" but [illegible] with the Hays Censorship of what it terms "educational [illegible] means is "political content". The MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE FOR THE PRESERVATION OF AMERICAN IDEALS has become quite inactive. The COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS apparently is planning to become a permanent organization. The CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS is strongly under the leadership of HERBERT K. SOREELL, a well known Communist. The HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION has practically amalgamated with the PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER, which has become a very effective front in Hollywood.

Charles W. Koerner. According to [redacted] a reliable paid informant, Koerner, Executive Vice President in charge of production for RKO, must be aware of the Communist situation in this studio. The informant has advised that Koerner is a member of the Motion Picture Producers Association which has discussed the Communist situation in the motion picture industry on many occasions. [redacted] recalled that Congressman Martin Dies discussed this situation with the Executive Board of the Association some time ago. [redacted] has advised he does not believe that Koerner is sympathetic with the Communist movement, although he cannot be moved to take action against it. [redacted] has pointed out that the chief interest of Koerner, as head of production at RKO, is to release motion pictures with box office appeal in order that RKO may be financially successful, and that he is not interested in fighting Communism.

b7D

C. Bakaleinikoff. This person is Musical Director for RKO, and according to [redacted] the informant, Bakaleinikoff is Russian born and is affiliated with the Russian-American Club in Los Angeles, which was reportedly organized by Michael and Clara Walden, who are members of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association. [redacted] has described Bakaleinikoff as a "careful sympathizer," one who is not particularly active in political affairs, but who has provided music for meetings sponsored by such organizations as the Los Angeles Council of American-Soviet Friendship and the Russian-American Club, both Communist groups.

b7D

James Crow is the assistant to William Dozier, General Production Aide to Koerner. According to [redacted] Crow was formerly President of the Los Angeles Newspaper Guild. He has advised that prior to the "Hollywood Citizen-News" strike in 1938, Crow cooperated with the Communist fraction in the American Newspaper Guild, although during this strike Crow was critical of the Party program. [redacted] states, however, that Crow still socializes with Communists, and that while Crow will follow the Communist program in some of its aspects he will not follow the Communist line completely.

William Dozier is the General Production Aide to Charles W. Koerner. [redacted] has advised that Dozier was formerly the head of the Story Department at Paramount Studio. In this capacity he hired such known Communists as Meta Reis, Bernard Gordon and Don Gordon. [redacted] states that there has been an affair between Meta Reis and Dozier of many years standing. Meta Reis, by way of identification, is a member of Club A-3 of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association. The stage and screen magazine "Variety" of July 21, 1944, advises that Dozier had been made Aide to Koerner and that Dozier would act as General Production Supervisor for Koerner, supervising all story purchases as well as being in charge of writers and writers' assignments in addition to producing a number of important pictures. According to [redacted] Dozier, though not known as a Communist Political Association member, has been active in Communist affairs during the past year and one-half. The informant has also advised that Dozier was active in the 1943 Writers' Congress sponsored by the Communist controlled Hollywood Writers Mobilization. At this Congress he was a member of the Advisory Committee, as well as a member of the Feature Film Panel, which was chaired by Richard Collins, known member of the Communist Party. The informant has further reported that Dozier, while at Paramount Studios, elevated Adrian Scott, known Communist, from the rank of writer to the rank of Associate Producer. When Dozier left Paramount and came to RKO Scott followed him and is now with RKO. [redacted] has pointed out that in his capacity as Aide to Koerner, Dozier is the highest executive in the Hollywood RKO Studios, next to Koerner, and that in his capacity as a supervisor of the Writing and Story Departments, Dozier is in a position to pass on all Communist propaganda which might be injected into any film made by RKO, subject to revision only by Charles Koerner.

II. RKO Producers

Prior to setting forth the various people in this category with Communist affiliations at a varying degree, the following observations are made concerning the general capacity of a producer as based upon information of general knowledge and that supplied by [redacted]

b7D

The producer in a studio is the official responsible for and in charge of the actual production of a picture. In many cases producers are the heads of production companies or units which are almost independent of studio management, although the completed picture might bear the label of the studio releasing it. This is true with respect to RKO.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Producers are principally interested in completing a picture for profit and might neither be aware nor interested in any disguised Communist messages injected into a given picture by the writers or directors, so long as the picture as a whole has box office appeal.

The producer is the final arbiter of what the picture is to contain when it is completed. Therefore he is in a position to cut out all Communist propaganda when he recognizes it or when he cares to take this action. Similarly, if a producer desires to inject Communist propaganda into a picture, he being in charge can do so; then the only person who can override the producer is the executive head in charge of production.

As of November 1, 1944, RKO had fifteen producers, fourteen associate producers and one short subject producer. Following are listed those RKO producers who have Communist affiliations or connections indicated:

Niven Busch has been described by [redacted] as one who appears to be sympathetic with the Communist movement and one who is supported by Communists because of his writings. The informant knows of no organization of a Communist character to which Busch has belonged, nor does he recall any specific pictures for which Communists have expressed their likes. He described Busch as a "liberal" writer. b6 b7C b7D

Harold Edgar Clurman is said to be a native-born citizen. He is a director-producer and writer for RKO Studios. His father and mother are said to have been born in Russia. [redacted] states that Clurman claims to have directed twenty-five Broadway successes, including "Men in White", "Awake and Sing", "Gentle People", "Golden Boy", and "Deadline at Dawn." b6 b7C b7D

[redacted] further advised that Clurman is a personal friend and associate of Franchot Tone, John Garfield and Clifford Odets, all of whom are said to be connected in the Communist movement. His wife is Stella Adler, an actress. While there is no definite record available to show Clurman is a member of the Communist Political Association, [redacted] has advised that Clurman has been active in the following Communist influenced or dominated groups: b6 b7C b7D

Group Theater - a leader
Director of Marxist plays
International Union of Revolutionary Writers

Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee - active worker.

David Hempstead. According to [redacted] Hempstead is a former screen director who has followed the line of the Communist fraction in the Screen Directors' Guild. [redacted] describes Hempstead as a sympathizer with the Communist movement and advises, however, that he has no evidence of actual membership on the part of Hempstead in the Communist Political Association. The informant could not advise of any organization under Communist control in which Hempstead has been active. b6 b7C b7D

Nunnally Johnson. According to [redacted] Johnson was active in the Contemporary Theater during the years 1936 and 1937, which the informant has stated was organized and controlled by the Communist Party. He believes also that Johnson was active in the New Theater League also under the domination of Communists. [redacted] termed Johnson as one who, by his activities, has shown sympathy for the Communist movement, but described Johnson as having a "spotty" record, i.e., active only occasionally. b6 b7C b7D

William Cameron Menzies. [redacted] has advised that Menzies was a former instructor at the League of American Writers' School for Writers in Hollywood, and is presently teaching at the People's Educational Center, Hollywood Extension, which is the successor to the School sponsored by the League of American Writers. Both groups have been described as being under Communist control. The informant does not know whether Menzies has been a member of the Communist Political Association.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

There are two types of writers in the studios, the original story writer and the scenario writer. The scenario writer writes dialog from an original story and consequently propaganda might be injected either into the original story or by the scenario writer. It is certain, however, that it is the writer who actually injects Communist propaganda into a picture because it is he who writes the script upon which the production of the picture is based.

It is to be noted that in the motion picture industry in the Los Angeles area, the Communists are the strongest nucleus of the writers' group. From information available as developed in connection with the case entitled "Communist Infiltration of the Motion Picture Industry", there are approximately eighty-five screen writers in the two writers' clubs of the Northwest Section of the Communist Political Association. VI. R.K.O. Feature Pictures Containing Communist Propaganda

At the outset, Informant [redacted] has stated that the "western" or "mystery" type of escapist film are not a suitable vehicle for Communist propaganda and that Communists do not expect that every picture or even a majority of pictures produced by a studio, be a Communist vehicle. The informant has advised that from his experience in the Communist movement, Communists consider themselves successful even if one of twenty-five motion pictures contain important Communist propaganda. He stated this propaganda may consist of the spoken words, the actions or even the implications in sequences. b6 b7C b7D

Communist propaganda has varied over a period of years and it is to be remembered that prior to June 1, 1941, Communists declared the present war to be an imperialist war, but since that time and continuing to the present time, Communists have completely reversed themselves and in varying stages have fallen in line with the Government's program of "win the war and win the peace", proclaiming themselves to be "super-patriots". This pretended position, according to [redacted] is merely a pretext and in fact, the Communists have so cloaked themselves in order to deceive the public and gain prestige and leadership. b6 b7C b7D

The informant has advised that the present tactics of the Communist movement in the use of the motion picture as a propaganda medium are to refrain from directly advocating Communism, but to create sympathy for the Soviet Union and picture the Communist, either national or international, as a patriotic, loyal supporter of democratic processes. It is for these reasons Communist propaganda in motion pictures may be extremely difficult to detect. Further, the "patriotic" role of the Communists is being utilized to the fullest extent to further penetrate the industry. The informant states that the purpose of this intensive penetration is to prepare for the future so that the powerful influence of the motion picture may be used in the interests of internationalism, according to the Marxist-Lenin philosophies.

Recently two articles have appeared in the press, one in PM and the other in the Daily Worker, which have indicated feelings that R.K.O. cooperates with "Fascists". In the July 28, 1944, issue of PM, in the column by McManus, entitled, "Speaking of Movies", R.K.O. is referred to in the following manner:

> "Most recently, however, it has accepted the unique and unenviable stigma, being the only American film company willing and anxious to distribute Fascist-made films in the U.S.A. It is distributing (or trying to distribute) the Franco-made Spanish film, Goyescas, in the U.S.A. as a tribute for the privilege of distributing its Hollywood product in Fascist Spain. Goyescas is the film Winchell attacked on the radio Sunday night."

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

It was further stated in this article:

"Apart from a mounting indignation and disgust with this sort of trading with the enemy's agents, there has also been a growing concern over how such a reciprocal trade agreement with a Fascist country might affect a Hollywood studio's own production quality. Obviously anti-Fascist films would not be permitted on the market in a Fascist land. Obviously too, no business-like Hollywood studio can afford to produce films for export only. The inescapable conclusion therefore is that all its productions must be acceptable to all its markets which, logically means an end to anti-Fascist film-making by studios aiming to trade with Fascists."

The article then refers, however, to the fact that R.K.O. had, in the past, produced anti-Fascist films, such as "This Land is Mine" and "Tender Comrade".

With regard to its future releases, the articles states that R.K.O. promises fifty or more feature-length "escapist and comedy themes" predominately, with the exception of one or two "prestige pictures". The article states,

"Otherwise, for the great burden of the way, the going will be intrigue, bang-bang, and technicolor kisses, the same old messy misrepresentation of America and its tastes that characterized most Hollywood film production in the prewar years."

In the other article referred to previously, the one appearing on page fifteen, Section I of the September 17, 1944, Daily Worker, was entitled "Warner Brothers Respect Franco". This article refers to a West Coast article describing how Hollywood has responded to Franco's summons to do business with him and his silent Axis partners. It is stated:

"R.K.O. and Universal are already doing business with him. Paramount and 20th Century-Fox are reported interested, but Warner Brothers has unofficially let out the word that they will not take part. 'Unofficially' perhaps because our State Department is involved to the extent that it is encouraging this exchange of business between the countries. Yet no anti-Axis sentiments are permitted in any of the pictures accepted by Franco. This is bound to have some influence on the content of films. Does it account for the fact, or is it just coincidental, that Universal acknowledges a present schedule of chiefly 'escapist' musicals?"

The reported exchange of films between this country and Spain is attacked in the article and Warner Brothers is set up as the "consistent" studio since it will reportedly not do business with Spain.

Within the past year, several movies which, according to the informant, contain Communist propaganda, have been produced by R.K.O. These are listed hereinbelow with a brief description of each.

"This Land Is Mine". This was released in June, 1943, and is a war drama dealing with conditions in the occupied territories under Nazi domination. The screen play was written by Dudley Nichols who was co-producer with Jean Renoir, both of whom have been described hereinbefore.

[redacted] has advised that this picture conveys the idea that the middle-class cannot be trusted to fight against dictatorship, but that only the working class can be relied upon to fight Fascism and that it follows the priciple of class opposition as advocated by Marxist ideology. ## VII. R.K.O. Contracts With Soyuzintorgkino (Soviet Movie Trust) For Sale Of Films

It has been learned from the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the War Division, Department of Justice that on July 13, and July 27, 1944, conversations were had with John Whitaker, one of the Vice-Presidents of R.K.O. studios relative to the matter of establishing a corporation composed of stock holders from R.K.O. and Soyuzintorgkino, the Soviet motion picture combine. Mr. Whitaker pointed out to the Foreign Agents Registration Section that R.K.O. and Soyuzintorgkino were contemplating dividing the profits equally. No further progress at that time was indicated. However, the October 9, 1944, issue of the "News Week" Magainze carried an article to the effect that R.K.O. and Soyuzintorgkino had entered into an arrangement whereby R.K.O. will distribute five films each year which cost $50,000 each to produce, and in turn, Soyuzintorgkino is to release a like number for R.K.O. in Russia. R.K.O., according to the article, was not made the sole global distributor of Russian films.

To date, no additional information has been received with regard to this arrangement or with regard to the character of the movies to be released. Undoubtedly, however, the Soviet films which will be furnished to R.K.O. will be highly propagandistic if the previous policy of the Soviet Union in the making and distribution of its films is followed. Furthermore, any film made by R.K.O. for distribution in the Soviet Union will undoubtedly be censored most carefully by the Soviet Union.

There is attached an up-to-date summary memorandum relative to the captioned matter which is supplemental to as well as correlated with my previous memorandum of November 25, 1944 in this same matter. Additional detailed information has been received from the Los Angeles Office since the submission of the original memorandum and this material is combined in the attached with the information contained in the November 25, 1944 memorandum.

A majority of the information appearing in the attached memorandum has been furnished by Los Angeles Confidential Informant [redacted] who is [redacted] You will recall this informant has been associated with the motion picture industry for many years; he is a [redacted] and he was a member of the Communist Party for the two year period during [redacted] He is very familiar with Communist key figures in the Hollywood area and is able to obtain information concerning Communist activities in the industry.

Believed to be of interest are the following figures obtained from the attached memorandum:

1. There are four men, including the General Production Aide to the Executive Vice President in charge of production, who have Communist affiliations of varying degrees.

2. Of the 30 producers and associate producers of RKO 10 have Communist affiliations.

3. Of the 18 directors, 15 have Communist affiliations in varying degrees.

4. Of the 53 writers employed by RKO 48 have Communist affiliations of varying degrees. In this connection there are 8 persons not included in the number of writers, who act as both directors and writers, with Communist affiliations of varying degrees. Adding these 8 to the 53, results are 56 out of 61 people who write for RKO have Communist affiliations of varying degrees.

The following information concerning the employment of Mrs. Lela Rogers as an associate producer at RKO is not contained in the attached memorandum, but is set forth herewith for your information:

On September 11, 1944, Mrs. Rogers discussed with an Agent of the Los Angeles Field Division the influence of Communism in the motion picture industry. At that time she stated she had taken the position of associate producer at RKO with the duties of approving all scripts produced by RKO. She also assumed the duties of an adviser to Mr. Charles W. Koerner, Vice President in charge of production at the Hollywood RKO Studios, with the understanding that Mr. Koerner would give her a free hand in censoring anything which she did not believe in the best interests of the studio, as well as of the country in general. She has advised of pointing out to Mr. Koerner that the majority of writers in Hollywood are closely allied with the Communist movement, and many are thought to be members of the Communist Political Association. She advised that these writers continually attempt to inject Communist propaganda in a subtle fashion in the scripts they write.

Mrs. Rogers advised that the agreement with Mr. Koerner has been placed on record providing her with the right to reject any script submitted to RKO for production which contains any Communist propaganda. She has advised of already rejecting several scripts.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Mrs. Rogers has informed she feels she can identify most of the "big" Communists among the writers and directors at RKO, but she stated she does not feel that she is in a position to determine who are Communist Party members among other employees of the studio.

Mrs. Rogers has been active in the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals and has stated that "by its very existence it was serving a good purpose." She further stated that when this organization really becomes active it will combat the Communists who, particularly those in the Screen Writers' Guild, think they can get away with anything.

In referring to specific examples, Mrs. Rogers cited the picture "Tender Comrade" in which her daughter, Ginger Rogers, starred. She cited several parts which she "fought out" with Mr. Koerner, whom she believes to be politically blind. She advised that several "messages" which had been written into the script by Dalton Trumbo, whose membership in the Communist Party has been established through available membership records, were done away with, although not all of them were disposed of before the picture was finally released. She related she had made many critical observations of the picture and in this regard Mr. Koerner had asked her if she thought it fair to campaign against the picture when her daughter was the star in it. She advised that she informed Mr. Koerner that it made no difference if Communist propaganda was being used. JEY

Mrs. Rogers advised that Edward Dmytryk directed this picture, and she referred to Dmytryk, along with Trumbo, as being Communist. She said she called Dmytryk this in the presence of Mr. Koerner. In this regard [redacted] the informant, has advised that Mrs. Rogers, on this occasion, accused Dmytryk of being a Communist and he did not deny it. It might be noted that Dmytryk, according to available Communist Party records, was a member of Club A-3 (Writers), Northwest Section, Los Angeles County Communist Party in June, 1944. JEY

STANDARD FORM NO. 64

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation DATE: January 8, 1945

FROM : SAC, Los Angeles

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - ~~C~~ 1646?

Reference is made to your letter of December 29, 1944. Bureau File No. 100-138754.

In an attempt to clarify the matter under discussion it is desired to call your attention to the fact that the report of Special Agent JOHN R. VICARS, Los Angeles, August 26, 1944, in the case entitled "COMMUNIST POLITICAL ASSOCIATION, DISTRICT 13, LOS ANGELES FIELD DIVISION - INTERNAL SECURITY - ~~C~~" was the latest information available up to that time with respect to the so-called Northwest Section. As such, it is felt that this report covers the request in the first paragraph of your letter in that it shows the names of those members who were in the Communist Party and in the case of those who had reregistered as members of the Communist Political Association, it set out their book numbers.

With respect to the second paragraph of your letter, wherein it is indicated you desire the report to show the changes which took place, your attention is respectfully directed to the report of Special Agent JOHN R. VICARS, Los Angeles, February 16, 1944, under the title of "COMMUNIST PARTY, USA, DISTRICT 13, LOS ANGELES FIELD DIVISION - INTERNAL SECURITY - ~~C~~". A comparison of these two reports, it is felt, will adequately show the changes which occurred between the periods set forth in these reports.

It should be borne in mind that these membership lists are not readily available. They are one of the most closely guarded of the Communist records and in the case of the Northwest Section, you will have observed that they have even gone to the extent in many cases of listing only the first name and/or the initials. In setting out this information it is necessary to draw on experience and collateral information in order to present a picture, which, it is felt, is correct. The obtaining of these records has been possible only by combination of a number of physical surveillances, technical surveillances, and the weighing of the risks involved.

As a matter of fact, on January 8, 1945, Special Agents R. HOLLMAN, D. MacCULLOCH, F. DUPUIS and J. R. VICARS were able to secure definite information that there is no longer any Northwest Section as such. A list of former members was obtained, showing that they have been transferred into the various community clubs in Los Angeles County and it appears that instead of having clubs or, as they were called in the Northwest Section, branches, these members, while

Film Front

Union Hall Film Guide Prepared by the CIO

By David Platt

It is only very recently that the screen has been recognized as a powerful educational force in this country. Today, documentary films are used not only in the training departments of the armed services and in schools and colleges but have been used by commercial groups to advertise and sell their wares and by propagandists to pound ideas deep into men's minds. Films can be used either to develop or combat ideas. Labor, of late, has also begun to understand that films provide relaxation and entertainment and create a receptive audience for ideas.

"One picture can tell more than 1,000 words, and pictures often tell stories that cannot as effectively be put into words," runs the introduction to the new 28-page CIO brochure on 16mm sound films suitable for use by unions, schools, and other adult education and community groups.

"The medium of film lends itself exceptionally well to stimulating emotional responses through which beliefs and attitudes are formed or changed," says this informative little movie booklet put out by the CIO Department of Research and Education, 718 Jackson Pl. N. W. Washington 6, D. C.

UNDERSTANDING OUR ALLIES

"Seeing how our allies and enemies live can help us to understand them better. Seeing the destruction aerial attacks have wrought makes our concept of total war more vivid and real and can stimulate our desire to help rebuild these areas. Seeing the conditions in which people work in other lands or even in other parts of our own vast country increases our awareness of the necessity for unity. Seeing history pass before us brings it to life."

One picture can tell more than 1,000 words and I advise you to write for this excellent movie guide which the CIO got up to help create and satisfy a real demand for film programs as an aid to discussion groups. The recommended film list includes "subjects of interest in contemporary life and at the same time is aimed to present 'progressive ideas which are acceptable to trade unionists and their friends.'"

The seventy-five or more films mentioned in the brochure as available for showing at unions and clubs for a low service charge, deal with such vital topics as Labor History and Problems, The Industrial Front, the Home Front (rationing, nutrition, housing, transportation, child care, the necessity for keeping secret information), the Farm Front, the Fighting Front, Background and History of the War, Anti-Fascism, Reconstruction and the Postwar World, Education, Health and Nutrition.

The CIO movie guide also explains how to operate a projector, where to get projectors and screens, where to get the films. There are enough addresses where such information can be obtained to keep your local or club busy for a year. When you write the CIO in Washington for Union Hall Films, ask for Publication No. 113 and enclose ten SYNOPSIS OF FACTS: Communist Activities in the motion picture industry are being directed through three front organizations, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, the Hollywood Democratic Committee and the Conference of Studio Unions and several guilds, such as the Screen Writers Guild, the Screen Directors Guild, the Screen Actors Guild, Hollywood Victory Committee, et al. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization has announced that it will soon issue a newspaper, the "Hollywood Quarterly". The Hollywood Democratic Committee claims to have 3000 members and is preparing for the municipal elections in the spring. HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist, is endeavoring to control the labor groups in the motion picture industry. The Peoples Education Center set up by the Communist Party, has greatly increased its enrollment.

Hollywood Victory Committee

Although most of the above named are free from any Communist influence, the presence of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, the Screen Writers Guild, the Screen Directors Guild and to some extent the Screen Actors Guild will constitute a base for infiltration of Communist influence. The Mobilization has announced that it will shortly issue a publication first as a quarterly magazine "for people all over America and the world who want to keep in contact with the new currents of opinion, hope and achievement flowing out of Hollywood." It is to be known as the "Hollywood Quarterly." Source stated that the editorial board of the publication will be composed of the following:

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON

Dr. FRANKLIN FEARING

RALPH BEALS

JAMES HILTON

All four of these men have long records of Communist and Communist Front activity.

LA 100-15732

Propaganda - Hollywood Writers Mobilization

Political Activities - Hollywood Democratic Committee

Labor Union Activity - Conference of Studio Unions

The second and third organizations overlap the first somewhat in propaganda activities but it is on a much narrower scale, being confined to the local scene. The influence of each organization has continued to grow in each division, each having a clear field with but little opposition from any source.

Source A has informed that some of the motion picture producers have elevated a number of persons of Communist Sympathies to positions as associate producers and directors. This process of infiltration into key positions in the industry has been going on for some time and is one of the main objectives of the Communists. For this reason the subtle influence of the Communist Movement on the production of motion pictures has grown rapidly. The effects of this infiltration do not show on the surface because no pictures are being produced which contain actual propaganda for Communism as such, that not being according to the Communist Party line at this time. But the names and prestige of these individuals are lent to outside Communist causes thus investing them with an implied influence of the motion picture industry. All this tends to make the Hollywood area the center for Communist activity in Southern California. The influence of these organizations outweighs that of any others in drawing power for Communist front groups.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

- Source A states that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization in addition to its connections with the Office of War Information, takes part, as an organization, in other groups and undertakings. It has now become a part officially of what is called the War Activities Committee, Hollywood Division. This Committee is now setting up a program for "patriotic cooperation for 1945. Other organizations officially affiliated with the Committee are:

LA 100-15732

HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

Source A informs that the Hollywood Democratic Committee has now become a permanent organization. Its announced membership has reached three thousand and has now become the leading political group in Southern California in the Democratic ranks. While it is not a part of the Democratic Party officially, it identifies itself as a coordinating committee for the purpose of bringing together all groups to work within the Democratic Party. In line with this policy it called a meeting which was held at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles on January 8, 1945 for the purpose of creating a "Coordinating Council."

Delegates were present from the CIO Political Action Committee, United AF of L. Committee for Political Action, Railroad Brotherhoods and the Hollywood Democratic Committee. All expenses for the meeting were paid by the Hollywood Democratic Committee. MICHAEL FANNING, Chairman of the Los Angeles County Democratic Committee was Chairman. Some seventeen others were present representing trade-unions, AF of L., CIO and R.R. Brotherhoods, and minority groups, Negroes, Mexicans, etc. Source informed that several AF of L. representatives refused to align themselves with the program because they considered the Hollywood Democratic Committee was a Communist controlled front organization. The persons who planned the meeting for the Hollywood Democratic Committee, according to one of the delegates, were:

NORVALL D. CRUTCHER, Secretary-Treasurer of the Screen Technicians #683 and a known Communist.

GEORGE CAMPBELL, Writer

MARC CONNELLY, Chairman of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization.

Source A further informed that the Hollywood Democratic Committee has started a series of radio "forums". The first one was held on January 5, 1945 at Radio Station KFWB, Hollywood, California, 8:15 P.M. This station is owned by Warner Brothers Motion Picture Studios. Those participating in the first forum were the following:

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, Communist Party functionary.

ORSON WELLES, Actor-Writer-Director, with long record of Communist Front activity.

Dr. FRANKLIN FEARING, UCLA Professor, with long record of Communist Front Activity.

ALBERT DEKKER, Writer, and member of State Assembly.

JOHN CROMWELL, Writer

This Committee is now preparing to take part in the coming local Spring elections. It has announced that it will publish a daily paper, a continuation of the FREE PRESS, which it issued during the recent national elections, according to Source A.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A informed that this is a Communist controlled group of unions under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist, who is now engaged in a jurisdictional dispute with the IATSE. SORRELL has threatened to call a strike of the set dressers to enforce its demands for control of this craft. This dispute is part of a general program instituted by the Communist controlled unions in Hollywood to raid the jurisdiction of the IATSE which is generally opposed to Communist infiltration. Source states that the Communists are reviving the Browne-Bioff affair by demanding a Senate investigation of the release of these two men from prison, claiming that they will again appear in union affairs in Hollywood. This is done for propaganda purposes. Source A relates that a split has occurred in the Screen Actors Guild, the lower paid extras having formed a union called the Screen Players Union. A Labor Board election was held on December 17, 1944, and the SPU won bargaining rights for their group which, so far, is an independent union. Up until the SPU won the election the Communists were opposed to the split. Now that the split has occurred and the new union formed, HERBERT K. SORRELL is moving in and will attempt to control this new group. This SPU represents about five thousand of the lower paid extras in the industry.

Source A informed that the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions which has affiliated with it some twentyone studio unions, including the nine Communist Controlled conference of Studio Unions, is preparing to develop international connections for motion picture workers. It is now making connection with French motion picture workers, and those in other liberated countries with the announced intention of exchanging workers in the motion picture industry with foreign groups, including Soviet Russia.

PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER

Source A has informed that this Communist controlled school originally set up by the League of American Writers and located at 1717 North Vine Street, in Hollywood has increased its enrollment by one-third in the last two months. This information was given by a student in the school who is aware of the Communist influence and does not object to it.

His statement is that the Hollywood School is more popular than the downtown Center because of the motion picture people who frequent the school, many of them lecturing there.

Communist influence within the motion picture industry is growing stronger due to its pose of patriotism and aid to the war effort. Communists and Communism are subjects now discussed openly and are being taken for granted as being legitimate parts of the American political and economic patterns.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Communist activity in the Hollywood motion picture industry conforms to the present political line which has been laid down by the Communist Political Association and conforms to the foreign policy of the Soviet Union. The Communists are now posing as patriots and speak of "democracy", "freedom loving people", "future peace of the world", etc. They seek to infiltrate the production end of pictures and control the trade unions in that field and influence elections - Federal, State and Municipal, for their program. They support front organizations such as "The Harry Bridges Defense" and the "Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee". The Hollywood Writers Mobilization has resumed publication of "The Communique". It also has vigorously protested against the Tenney Legislative Committee making investigations of alleged subversive activities. The Hollywood Democratic Committee has supported a new committee for the defense of HARRY BRIDGES. The Conference of Studio Unions and the Screen Players Union have engaged in a jurisdictional dispute. The Peoples Educational Center, formerly known as the Hollywood Writers School, has affiliated itself with the Communist element. The principal leaders of the Communist elements are JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and DALTON TRUMBO supported by a number of Party line followers.

DETAILS: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

Source A has informed that Communist activity in the Hollywood Motion Picture industry conforms to the present political "line" which has been laid down by the Communist Political Association and which conforms to the foreign policy of the Soviet Union. The present line of the World Communist Movement is, in a simple sense, an intensive infiltration by the Communists of organizations of every kind, labor, social, religious, fraternal and others, with the object and purpose of controling them in favor of a world-wide program of the Communist movement which has been determined by the interests of Soviet Russia.

Source informs that the Communists now pose as good patriots, devoting all their efforts to winning the war and have carried this deception so far as to pretend that they are for the preservation of free enterprise and even capitalism itself. Therefore, in order to conform to the general line of the Communist Political Association, the Communists have abandoned temporarily all attempts to inject direct propaganda for Communism or Socialism as such into Hollywood motion pictures. Instead, the Communists and their followers speak of "democracy", "freedom loving peoples", "a future world of peace according to the Dumbarton Oaks conference", "the Teheran conference" and others, are now the outward expressions of the Communist elements.

For these and perhaps other reasons, it will be found that there is very little, if any, actual Communist propaganda of an ideological nature in pictures where Communists or Communist sympathizers have been employed in production.

Source has informed that the activities of the Communists are now being directed along the following channels:

1. Infiltration of key positions in all branches of the industry by Communists and sympathizers. This infiltration in the upper brackets is directed mainly at the production end, direction, writing, and any department of the studios where influence can be used.

2. A steady campaign in the trade union field, taking over of many of the local unions by capturing leadership and at the same time circulating propaganda among the thirty thousand studio workers to influence them toward sympathy for Soviet Russia and to influence them to vote for candidates locally and nationally who are endorsed by the Communist Political Association and who will serve the political line of the Communist movement.

3. The building up of a strong political faction within the studios for the support of candidates for local offices such as the Mayor of Los Angeles in the coming elections, city Councilmen, support of State Assemblymen in their activities at Sacramento and the support of Congressmen, Senators and other national figures who are in sympathy, more or less, with Communist-endorsed proposals and measures. This work is carried on through the Hollywood Democratic Committee which is the liaison group for all of Hollywood's political activities where Communists are involved.

4. Developing support, morally and financially, for activities outside the film industry which are carried on by "front" organizations such as the Committee for Defense of Harry Bridges, Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, Committee for Civic Unity, and others.

5. Using the prestige and influence of the name "Hollywood" as a pressure instrument for political appointments and for dominating local trade unions; by the use of radio programs by sympathetic commentators.

None of the foregoing efforts is a separate effort of itself, but all are coordinated and work in unison; each gets the support of one or all of the others on any distinct proposal or measure when the occasion demands.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

This organization has revived its publication "The Communique" and has now distributed an issue dated December 1, 1944. Although dated December 1, it was distributed much later. The publication gives a resume of its activities extending to about January 30, 1945.

They were:

Protest and action taken to counteract the investigation of the California Legislative Committee on Un-American Activities, known as the Tenney Committee, of the Writers Congress held October 1,2,3, 1943 at the Campus of the University of California at Los Angeles. Also investigated were certain individuals connected with the Congress and the Writers Mobilization. A letter of protest was sent to the California Bar Association protesting the methods of the investigation. This Legislative Committee has investigated Communism and Communists.

Holding of what was called a "Premiere and Town Meeting" at the Village Theater, Westwood, California when a picture "Tomorrow the World" was given its first showing about January 30, 1945. Although this picture has not yet been shown publicly, it is evidently controversial in nature and deals with certain aspects of Naziism in Germany and what is to be done with the German people after the war.

The picture "Tomorrow the World" was made from a stage play by ARNAUD D'USSEAU and JAMES GOW.

ARNAUD D'USSEAU is a member of the Los Angeles Council of American Council on Soviet Relations. He was a member of the League of American Writers in 1941 and signed the call for the Fourth Congress of the League of American Writers, according to Source A.

JAMES GOW, according to Source A, has engaged in some Communist front activity but evidence of membership in the Communist Political Association is not available.

The screen play was written by RING LARDNER, JR. and LEOPOLD ATLAS.

RING LARDNER, JR, according to records on file in the Los Angeles Office and heretofore reported, is a director of the Screen Writers Guild and was a member of the Writers Branch of the Northwest Section of the Communist Party of Los Angeles County. In 1943 he was a member of Branch A, Group A-1, Northwest Section, Communist Party, Los Angeles County, California. In 1943 his Communist Party membership book number was 25190. His wife, SYLVIA LARDNER, held 1943 Communist Party membership book number 30210.

Source A informed that LEOPOLD ATLAS is a writer and author of "Floating Down Floogle Street" and that he signed the call for the Fourth Congress of the League of American Writers. In 1943 he was a member of Branch A, Group A-2, Northwest Section, Communist Party, Los Angeles County, and held 1943 Communist Party membership book number 48196, according to records now on file in the Los Angeles Bureau office.

Source A informed that present at this showing of "Tomorrow the World" and taking part in the discussion was Dr. JAMES T. SHOTWELL who was announced as State Department consultant to the Office of War Information. Dr. SHOTWELL spoke at the meeting and stated that the motion picture was more powerful than the radio or printed word in "moving the spirit of mankind". Other speakers at this showing, according to Source A, were the following:

ALBERT MALTZ (writer)
RUTH McKENNEY (BRANSTEN) (writer)
VLADIMIR POSNER (writer)

Dr. THOMAS MANN, German refugee writer, who was recently made a citizen of the United States
Dr. FRANKLIN FEARING, professor at UCLA
ALBERT DEKKER, actor and California State Assemblyman
LOU HARRIS, screen publicist
EMMETT LAVERY, writer

ALBERT MALTZ, above mentioned, according to Source A was a member of the League of American Writers and signed the call for the Fourth Congress of American Writers. He is a key figure in the Los Angeles area. ALEXANDER TRACHTENBERG was his guest during his recent visit to Los Angeles.

MALTZ' 1943 Communist Party membership book number was 48062 and his wife, MARGARET MALTZ, was a member of Branch I, Northwest Section Communist Party, Los Angeles County in 1943 and her 1943 Communist Party book number was 25063, as revealed by records now on file in the Los Angeles office.

Source A informs that RUTH McKENNEY (BRANSTEN) signed the call for the Fourth Congress of the League of American Writers in 1941 and was a member of the national executive board of the League of American Writers, Fourth Writers Congress. She is a member of Branch H, Northwest Section, CPA, and held 1944 Communist Party Book Number 10628, according to records on file in the Los Angeles office.

VLADIMIR POSNER, according to records on file in the Los Angeles office, is a French refugee, a writer and has written several books. He is a close associate of CLIFFORD ODETS and JOHN HOWARD LAWSON. He wrote "Enemies in France" which was turned over to ANNA LOUISE STRONG, and she took it to Russia on a recent trip which she made to Russia. He was active in the Writers Congress at UCLA in October 1943 and was a speaker at a panel called "Problems of Peace". Source A has also informed that he has been very active in the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee.

LOU HARRIS, according to the records of the Los Angeles Field Office, is a member of the Screen Publicists Guild. The files further reflect that HARRIS is a member of the executive board of the Hollywood Democratic Committee and was a member of Branch K, Northwest Section, Communist Party of Los Angeles County in 1943.

EMMETT LAVERY, according to Source A, has been very active since his arrival in Los Angeles in various front organizations and he is at the present time president of the Screen Writers Guild and a member of the Board of Directors of the Screen Writers Guild and chairman of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and a member of the executive board of the Hollywood Democratic Committee and president of the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions.

Source informed that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization has announced that in the near future it will start a series of air shows over the Blue Network for returning servicemen.

HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

Source A has informed that the main activity of the Hollywood Democratic Committee, outside of routine matters of preparation for taking part in the coming local elections, was the calling of a meeting under its auspices at the Beverly Hills Hotel, January 17, 1945.

The purpose of this meeting was to set up a Committee for the Defense of Harry Bridges and to prevent his deportation to his native country, Australia.

This meeting was attended by the following persons who were most active in forming the Committee:

MARC CONNELLY
JOHN HOWARD LAWSON
THOMAS MANN
CAREY McWILLIAMS
Mrs. EDWARD G. ROBINSON
NICHOLAS BELA
HARRY BRAVERMAN
Mrs. HARRY BRAVERMAN
ROLLIN McNITT, Attorney
Mrs. ORSON WELLES (RITA HAYWORTH)
JAMES GLEASON
LEWIS BROWNE
SAM JAFFEE
WALTER WANGER, Hollywood producer
Mrs. WILLIAM DIETERLE
LESTER W. ROTH, State Superior Court Judge
JOHN CROMWELL, Director

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and NICHOLAS BELA have Communist Party records in the Los Angeles area. The other parties named have all participated in Communist front activities.

The Hollywood Democratic Committee is preparing to take an active part in the campaign for re-election of FLETCHER BOWRON as mayor of Los Angeles in the coming elections in May 1945.

Source A has informed that Mayor BOWRON has supported certain Communist front organizations in the past by his presence and participation in certain meetings. Two of these are the Hollywood Democratic Committee and the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A has stated that this group of Communist dominated unions in the studios has been responsible for a series of work stoppages over a period of several months. Ostensibly, this is caused by a jurisdictional dispute over the Set Dressers and Designers. The IATSE claims this jurisdiction. In reality, it is a process used by Communist unions to maintain the "militancy" of the workers and at the same time work for sympathy of members of other unions.

In addition to the above, there is a dispute between a newly-formed independent union of "extras", the Screen Players Union, and the Screen Actors Guild. In this dispute, however, the Communist question is not involved.

PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER

Source A has informed that this "educational" organization, Communist dominated, has now absorbed the former openly admitted Communist Workers School of Los Angeles.

The Peoples Educational Center, Hollywood Branch, formerly known as the Hollywood Writers School and conducted by the Communist controled League of American Writers, has affiliated itself with known and open Communist elements; this they have denied heretofore.

INDIVIDUALS

The following persons, according to Source A, are now practically the leaders of the Communist groups in Hollywood who could be classified as big "names".

|---|---|
| JOHN HOWARD LAWSON | Writer |
| DALTON TRUMBO | Writer |
| JOHN CROMWELL | Director |
| EMMETT LAVERY | Writer |
| WALTER WANGER | Producer |

LAWSON andTRUMBO are known Communists. Mr. WANGER has in the past shown some sympathy for Communist causes, but of late this sympathy has become more pronounced. His position as a major producer of pictures lends much assistance to the Communist elements and he has now become a valuable "front" for their activities.

Mr. LAVERY is most active in Communist controled organizations such as Hollywood Writers Mobilization, of which he is chairman; Screen Writers Guild, of which he is president; and Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions of which he is president.

Mr. CROMWELL is a director and has taken the place of MARC CONNELLY who is in the East as the spokesman for the Hollywood Democratic Committee along with JOHN HOWARD LAWSON.

Mr. TRUMBO has now become one of the foremost speech-makers at Communist gatherings.

The same informant further advised in May, 1944 that JONAS ROSENFIELD, JR., President of Local 114 of the Screen Publicists Guild, who is also a member of the State Executive Committee of the American Labor Party, was one of the organizers of the United Office and Professional Workers of America, CIO, who had recently been commended by the leaders of the Communist Party for his work in enlisting new members.

The "Daily Worker" of January 23, 1943, advised that JONAS ROSENFIELD, JR. had at a recent meeting of the Screen Publicists Guild of New York, Local 114, United Office and Professional Workers of America, CIO, ~~had~~ been re-elected president of that organization.

The "Daily Worker" of March 25, 1943, listed JONAS ROSENFIELD, President of the Screen Publicists Guild, Local 114, as being one of the one hundred Jewish-American Trade Unionists to have protested the anti-Soviet criticism of the ALTER-EHRLICH case, ALTER and EHRLICH being Poles who were executed by the Soviet Government for alleged espionage.

"The People's Voice" of August 7, 1943, in an article reported that a meeting had been held at the Hotel Theresa called by the Negro National Congress to emphasize the need for waging a vigorous campaign to promote Negro art and culture. The article continued that JONAS ROSENFIELD, president of the Screen Publicist Guild and a member of the Hollywood Emergency Committee, formed to combat further riots, was in New York from the West Coast to gather material and writers for a movement which was to be done simultaneously in New York and in Hollywood to promote better race relations. ROSENFELD and MILTON KAMIN, who accompanied him, stated that they were soliciting Negro writers to work with them in trying to right some of the wrongs of which they were extremely aware, but in many instances are stymied by the lack of thorough knowledge of the Negro question. The article continued that they were in the midst of drawing up a code for the treatment of the Negro problems to be used by writers, producers and directors of films.

"The People's Voice" of December 4, 1943 in an article stated that a meeting had been held at the Edison Hotel, 223 West 47th Street, New York City, to form a committee for Democratic Culture to present in an effective manner the contribution of the Negro to American art and culture. This meeting was under the leadership of Dr. Max Yergan. The article continued that JONAS ROSENFIELD of the Hollywood Emergency Committee was one of the speakers at the meeting.

Confidential Informant N, whose identity is known to the Bureau, advised that on July 10, 1942, that JONAS ROSENFELD, JR. of 20th CENTURY FOX FILMS, was the unopposed candidate for the presidency of the SCREEN PUBLICISTS GUILD.

The same source advised in January 1943, that JONAS ROSENFELD, JR. of [redacted] had been re-elected president of the SCREEN PUBLICISTS GUILD. b6 b7C

Confidential Informant N advised in October 1942 that ROSENFELD was a sponsor in August 1942 of the SOVIET-JEWISH ANTI-FASCISTS COMMITTEE's appeal for 1,000 tanks and 500 bombers for the Russian Army and further that this was completely under Communist auspices.

Confidential Informant N further advised that in November of 1942, a letter composed by the Screen Publicists Guild Local 114, United Office and Professional Workers of America, CIO, had been sent to Wendell Willkie, congratulating him on his standpoint and statesman-like radio talk and stating the guild's confidence that "you spoke profoundest desires and thoughts of the American people and freedom loving people everywhere."

to continue as a permanent organization. It has announced the appointment of a permanent, paid Executive Secretary and has stated that it will broaden its activities to other fields. This means that it will become a very powerful Communist influence in Hollywood and can, possibly, supplant the existing bargaining drafts in labor relations and other matters.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

According to Source A, this Communist-dominated group under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL is now involved in several labor jurisdictional disputes with the IATSE. While these disputes appear as purely jurisdictional, in fact, they are being fomented by the Communist elements for the purpose of raiding the IATSE unions. At the present time the principal controversy is between the SCREEN SET DECORATORS, an AFL affiliate of SORRELL'S Painters and Local 44, ASSOCIATED PROPERTYMEN, IATSE. A strike is threatened unless WILLIAM GREEN, president of the AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR, gives in to SORRELL who has the backing of his international Union, the INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF PAINTERS, PAPERHANGERS AND DECORATORS OF AMERICA. The international president of this union is E. P. LINDELOF, who supports SORRELL. LINDELOF has long been aware that SORRELL is a Communist.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A informs that the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION continues its activity in the usual manner. Its influence has grown through its connections with the Office of War Information and resultant war activities. While not officially affiliated with the PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER, HOLLYWOOD EXTENSION, the Communist-controlled school, many of those prominent in the MOBILIZATION take part in the educational activity of this so-called school and thus the influence of the MOBILIZATION is brought into play there. THE LEAGUE OF AMERICAN WRITERS, the parent organization of the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION, has now become completely inactive; practically dissolved.

PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER HOLLYWOOD EXTENSION

Source A believes that this school of indoctrination has become one of the most effective Communist fronts in Hollywood at this time,

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED EXCEPT WHERE SHOWN OTHERWISE

Reference is made to my teletype dated March 12, 1945, captioned as above, in which the Bureau was advised that on March 12, 1945, HERB SORRELL had called a strike of the Screen Set Designers Local 1421 because of the refusal of the motion picture studios to recognize that local as the bargaining agent for the screen set designers. The Bureau was also advised that the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees claimed jurisdiction over these set designers and, accordingly, a jurisdictional strike had been called in the motion picture industry.

This letter is to advise the Bureau of the CPA policies and activities in regard to this jurisdictional dispute.

On March 4, 1945, CNDI [redacted] advised that he was present during a conversation between DAVID ROBISON, Communist and screen reader at RKO, and MAURICE HOWARD, Communist and Business Agent for the Screen Cartoonists Guild, at which time they discussed the then forthcoming strike in the motion picture industry. The informant quoted ROBISON as saying that there was "no excuse for this strike but they are tied to a strike boat and I guess we'll all have to play along with SORRELL for what he is." ROBISON then went on to say that HERB SORRELL, head of the Conference of Studio Unions, had no understanding of the political significance of the "no strike" pledge, and ROBISON suggested that perhaps a committee of "big people" could prevent this strike if they approached SORRELL in the right manner. According to this informant, HOWARD agreed with ROBISON's description of the situation and added that he felt that it was a serious mistake for SORRELL to call this strike as it put the producers in an excellent light and put "our people" in a ridiculous position of having to support a strike in which they do not believe or else cross a picket line in violation of all that they have been taught to believe in.

b7D

On Saturday, March 10, 1945, this informant advised that MARGARET BENNETT WILLS, a Communist and former President of the Screen Office Employees Guild and a delegate to the Central Labor Council from this Guild, contacted ROBISON and stated that something very important had happened and that she wanted him to attend the meeting at [redacted] at 5:30 P.M. that evening. This address is the home of MAX SILVER, Vice President of the Los Angeles County CPA, and a subsequent surveillance by Special Agents JOHN R. VICARS, FRED G. DUPUIS and ROBERT W. HOLLMAN resulted in identifying the following people in MAX SILVER's home for this meeting:

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, Screen writer and prominent CPA leader.
ELIZABETH GLENN, wa: Elizabeth Leach, former organizer of the Northwest Section and presently a paid functionary in the county headquarters.
HERTA UERKVITZ, a delegate to the Central Labor Council from the Screen Office Employees Guild.

All of these people are members of the CPA and apparently the purpose of this meeting was to formulate the Communist policy when it was learned by the Communists that SORRELL intended to call a strike on Monday, March 12, 1945.

On Sunday, March 11, 1945, CNDI [redacted] advised that MARGARET BENNETT WILLS conferred with ROBISON and as ROBISON was unable to attend the meeting on Saturday, discussed with him at some length what took place at this meeting. According to this informant WILLS stated that they were put out at SORRELL for calling this strike and this informant stated that WILLS thought that it might very well mean the end of the Conference of Studio Unions, for, as WILLS explained, SORRELL as head of the Conference of Studio Unions has lead one of those unions out on a strike without consulting the other unions in the Conference and, accordingly, has placed all of those unions in the difficult dilemna of supporting the strike or of breaking their "no strike" pledge. WILLS stated that she didn't see how the various unions that go to make up this Conference could support the strike and she predicted that the S.O.E.G. would cross the picket lines. Apparently no definite Communist policy came out of this meeting at SILVER's home for, according to this informant, it was apparent during the discussion between WILLS and ROBISON that there was a great deal of confusion regarding just what course the Communists should take in the strike, and in answer to a question put to him by WILLS as to what he was going to tell people in the Screen Story Analysts Guild, ROBISON replied that he thought that he would just tell them that each person would have to decide for himself and that there would be no disciplinary measures taken for crossing the picket line. However, ROBISON stated that "we aren't ready quite yet to break with the unions" and, accordingly, it might be best to advise the membership unofficially not to cross the picket lines and to put their refusal to cross the picket lines upon the basis of a fear of bodily harm. Most of the contracts given by the studios to the various unions in the motion picture industry have a clause which exempts a member from crossing a picket line if there is a threat of bodily harm, and it was this clause that ROBISON suggested might provide an out for them. b7D

CNDI [redacted] also reported that there was considerable confusion among the Communists as to what policy they should pursue and as an example of this he cited the fact that an inquiry was made of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON by some unidentified writer as to whether or not to cross the picket line and LAWSON told him to do so, and yet later on the same day LAWSON contacted an unidentified person with whom he had an appointment in one of the motion picture studios and canceled this appointment, saying at the time that although b7D he was not in sympathy with this strike he didn't want to cross a picket line.

Thus, at this time it was clear that the CPA is not in any way in sympathy with this strike. Rather, it has become a matter of tactics, i.e., avoiding the dilemma of offending organized labor versus the strike which violates the "no strike" pledge.

On March 12, 1945, the strike was called and according to newspaper accounts concerned only 77 screen set designers. HERB SORRELL claimed the right to represent these screen set designers as against the right of the IATSE to represent them. As has been noted, SORRELL is head of the Conference of Studio Unions which is heavily infiltrated by Communists. Several informants have advised that the Communists have liked the "progressive attitude of the CSU" and have advised that the IATSE is reportedly anti-Communist. Accordingly, this strike presents a very serious problem to the Communists in Hollywood, and it is apparent that HERB SORRELL, although a Communist key figure in the Los Angeles Field Division, has gone against the Communist policy of no strikes in war time. It is believed that the Communists are making every effort to settle this strike without making HERB SORRELL the main issue and without losing the power which they have in the Conference of Studio Unions. As an example of the methods that the Communists are using to settle this strike, it is known that BILL POMERANCE was instrumental in uniting a committee of actors, writers and directors to act as a disinterested panel in attempting to settle this strike, by asking the producers, through EDWARD MANNIX, and by asking the Conference of Studio Unions, through HERB SORRELL, and the IATSE, through RICHARD WALSH, to abide by a temporary WLB decision. However, by March 13, 1945, both SORRELL and MANNIX had refused and WALSH had not as yet been contacted. b7D

On March 14, 1945, CNDI [redacted] advised that there would be a meeting at the home of ELIZABETH GLENN, [redacted] This informant reported a conference between MAX SILVER and ELIZABETH GLENN in which ELIZABETH GLENN stated that she was calling an informal meeting and identified those who would come as the following: b6 b7C

GEORGE BRADLEY, International representative of the Building Service Employees International Union, AFoL, and reported Communist Party member some years ago in Seattle.
MORRIS RAPAPORT, Former District Organizer of the CP in Seattle.
JULIAN GORDON, President of the Hollywood CPA Club.
EMILY GORDON, CPA County Literature Director.
MAX SILVER
BILL POMERANCE
NORVAL CRUTCHER, Chairman of the Conference of Studio Unions.
MIN SELWIN
MAURICE HOWARD.

All of these except MAURICE HOWARD were identified entering the home of ELIZABETH GLENN for this meeting by Special Agents JOHN R. VICARS and ROBERT W. HOLLMAN.

CONFIDENTIAL

and later CNDI [redacted] advised that HOWARD had attended this meeting.

It should also be pointed out that on Sunday, March 11, 1945, HERB SORRELL addressed a mass meeting of union workers in Hollywood and BRADLEY appeared on the platform with SORRELL. This meeting was characterized by ROBISON as a "SORRELL meeting" and according to CNDI [redacted] ROBISON stated that "the rest of us didn't have a chance to say anything." Both BRADLEY and RAPAPORT have frequently sided with SORRELL and it is believed that RAPAPORT and BRADLEY were called to this meeting at ELIZABETH GLENN's home to set them right on CPA policy. Neither has a CPA record in the Los Angeles Field Division. b7D

CNDI [redacted] also advised that on Wednesday evening, March 14, 1945, the county board of Los Angeles CPA held a meeting at the home of MAX SILVER, during which time CARL WINTER, Los Angeles head of the CPA who was in New York, was to call MAX SILVER long distance, at which time the facts in this strike were to be explained to WINTER, and as a CPA policy was disclosed the following day it is possible that this policy was formulated in New York. b7D

On March 15, 1945, CNDI [redacted] advised that ELIZABETH GLENN gave the following information to an employee at the "People's World" office in Los Angeles as a basis for an editorial on the strike, and it is apparently the current CPA policy on this strike: b7D

1. Management should be held responsible for its refusal to accept the arbitration award (the WLB ordered the studios to accept the Screen Set Designers against the IATSE pending an election to determine which local had a majority. GLENN pointed out that this point was to be particularly emphasized.)

2. Other unions should declare that they support the justice of the demands of the signers for the enforcement of this award and should criticize the IATSE's refusal to accept the award. These unions should also point out that the IATSE has a responsibility not to be aligned with the employers who are exploiting the situation, but rather they should use appeal channels if they disagree with the award.

3. Try to establish through independent channels some means of urging the set designers to place their case in the hands of an independent group which will work for an injunction against the employers to force court action to honor the arbitration award, following which an NLRB action may be asked of the workers involved to determine what they want. These independent channels must at the same time publicly declare that the picket lines make it impossible for them to act in behalf of unity between both unions.

4. Emphasize that the strike is obstructing other normal procedure and is playing directly into the hands of the employers.

It is believed that the purpose of this material, which was furnished for an editorial in the "People's World", was to inform not only the public

ROBISON observed that in his opinion if the SOEG returned to work the strike would be broken and SORRELL would be discredited.

ON 8-3-86 #359416

Reference is made to my letter dated March 17, 1945, in the above-captioned matter, concerning the strike in the motion picture studios in Hollywood and the Communist Political Association policy therein.

On March 21, Special Agents FRED G. DUPUIS and JOHN R. VICARS interviewed Los Angeles Special Service Contact #8 and he reported the following additional information:

The strike in the motion picture studios which began on Monday, March 12, is continuing. Three unions in the Conference of Studio Unions (which called the strike) recently voted to go back to work. They are as follows: Screen Office Employees Guild, Screen Story Analysts Guild, Screen Publicists Guild.

DECLASSIFIED BY SP2 CLC/lcm SP3 BHS/lbs
ON 8-28-96 10/17/96 #362826

Special Service Contact #8 advised that on Friday, March 16, he received a telephone call from IRVING FINE, who is an employee in the Publicity Department at Warner Brothers Studios and who is a nephew of CHARLES EINFELD, one of the top executives at Warner's, who advised him that there was to be a general membership meeting of the Screen Publicists Guild on Saturday, September 17, "to vote to go back to work." The informant said he wondered why FINE had stated that this meeting was being called "to vote to go back to work," but that this was all cleared up at the meeting of the Screen Publicists Guild the following day, when in a very cut and dried manner a resolution was adopted by the publicists returning them to work. At this meeting HERBERT SORRELL, President of the Conference of Studio Unions, spoke on the strike and the reasons for it. He told the screen publicists that they were a democratic union and he in no way wanted to dictate how they should vote on the strike. However, he added that if they voted to go back to work in violation of their pledge to the Conference of Studio Unions, then the Screen Publicists could not expect any benefits from the Conference of Studio Unions. This the informant interpreted to mean that the screen publicists were in effect being put out of the Conference of Studio Unions if they voted to go back to work. As he was leaving the hall, he remarked to his press agent and to the informant that the publicists were going to vote to go back to work, and he knew this because just by looking around he saw the left wingers and the Communists who made up the majority of those present. He also told the informant that this meeting and others like it were all staged by JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, and BILL POMERANCE. Later he referred to LAWSON and POMERANCE as Communists. (It is noted that LAWSON and POMERANCE are both Communist key figures in the Los Angeles Field Division, and both, according to [redacted] have been extremely active in attempting to get the Conference of Studio Unions to end the strike and go back to work.) b7D

After SORRELL left the meeting, a resolution which was already prepared and which was very long was read to the membership of the SPG. This resolution urged the members to return to the studios. After it was read a seconding motion was made, also a motion for a vote on the resolution. No discussion was contemplated; however, someone jumped up and insisted on some sort of discussion before the resolution was passed. A short discussion was held and a voice vote was taken on the resolution, and it went overwhelmingly in favor of the resolution.

The informant advised that BEN MARGOLIS, attorney for the Screen Publicists Guild, and GEORGE A. THOMAS, JR., President, were on the platform at the meeting. Both are members of the CP-USA and currently members of the CPA, according to the records of CNDI [redacted] b7D
~~CONF. INFT.~~

In another conference with SORRELL, Special Service Contact #8 said, SORRELL told him that the Communists and the left wing element were the ones who wanted to go back to work. However, he also said that there would be strikes by Communists and the left wingers in the future and there would be violence in them. He told the informant that the left wing and the Communists wanted violence. He was unable to elicit any further information on this point.

The informant also advised that at the request of HERBERT SORRELL, he contacted GEORGE TAYLOR, Chairman of the War Labor Board in Washington, D. C., by telephone on Friday, March 16, at which time TAYLOR told him that the representative of the producers (EDDIE MANNIX), the representative of IATSE (RICHARD WALSH), and the representative of the Conference of Studio Unions (HERBERT SORRELL) would all be sent telegrams urging them to end the strike and to obey the WLB order. (This order required the producers to recognize Set Decorators Local #1421, a member of the Conference of Studio Unions, as against IATSE Local #44, pending an NLRB election.) TAYLOR further advised the informant that if this brought no results, then the WLB would call representatives of the Producers, IATSE and CSU to Washington and settle the strike after giving them all a chance to lay their cards on the table. It is noted that the Los Angeles Times of Thursday, March 22, revealed that telegrams urging that the strike be ended had been sent to the above principals by the WLB. As yet there has been no indication that representatives of the three principals will be called into Washington except through the informant.

The informant advised that he understood that RICHARD WALSH was going to fly to Washington to confer with NICHOLAS SCHENCK in an attempt to put further pressure on the producers to recognize the IATSE Local #44 instead of Set Decorators Local #1421 of the CSU. The informant said that he had also heard through SORRELL that the producers are desirous of closing the studios for the summer months since they have a sufficient back log of completed pictures to continue showings in theaters throughout the nation. When he discussed this matter with a picket captain at Warner Brothers Studios, the picket captain advised Contact #8 that the strikers were aware of this situation, but that if the studios threatened to close down, the CSU would threaten them with exposure of the studios' black market deal. The striker told the informant that the CSU had plenty of evidence showing that the studios had received shipments of high priority items such as shellac from black market operators or through some other means. These deals were to be held over the producers' heads if they insisted on closing the studios.

Informant #8 further advised that HERBERT SORRELL is confident that he can win the strike and has said that if the unions stick with him for two weeks (from March 12, 1945) he will win the strike. Despite the fact that he has received orders from WILLIAM GREEN, President, American Federation of Labor, and A. P. LINDELOF, National President of the International Painters, Paperhangers and Decorators of America, to end the strike and go back to work, he is still receiving strong support from HUTCHESON, National President of the Carpenters Union--AFL, who has promised SORRELL that he would go along with him on the strike and told him to disregard any instructions received from GREEN.

In addition to the Screen Publicists Guild, the Screen Office Employees Guild, which is reportedly heavily infiltrated by the Communists, also voted to return to work on Saturday, March 17.

The Los Angeles Times of Sunday, March 18, reported that MIN SELVIN was the speaker in favor of returning to work, and that GLENN PRATT spoke against returning to work. There is no documentary evidence of PRATT's membership in the Communist Party or the Communist Political Association. However, MIN SELVIN, who is a field organizer of the SOEG, was a member of the Communist Party-USA and is currently an active member in the Communist Political Association, according to CNDI [redacted] The SOEG has between 2000 and 3000 members. The Screen Publicists Guild has approximately 300. b7D

The Los Angeles Office has been advised by Mr. Trem Carr, President of Monogram Studios, Hollywood, that he had learned the Soviet Government had officially requested the United States Government to supply the Soviet Union with one hundred and sixty million feet of motion picture film during the year 1945. Carr indicated that it is known the Soviets requested only a small fraction of this amount of film during 1944 and further, that all of the Hollywood Studios are being strictly limited in the amount of film used.

RECOMMENDED ACTION:

In view of the possibility that the request for this large amount of film has a propaganda significance to it, it is suggested that the Liaison Section, through its contacts, determine if such a request for this amount of film has been made and what, if any, disposition might be made of the request.

Reference is made to Mr. Strickland's memorandum for Mr. Ladd dated February 24, 1945 concerning the above captioned.

It has been determined from [redacted], War Production Board, that the Soviet Government did request 165,000,000 feet of 35 mm film from the U.S. Government. He stated that this request was cut to 55,000,000 feet. [redacted] advised that he understood the Soviet Government's request for 1944 was practically negligible. He suggested that this Bureau check with the Foreign Economic Administration for information regarding these orders, due to the fact that this was a particularly delicate situation handled by the State Department and the White House. It seems that a similar exorbitant request was made by India, who before the war obtained all of her film from Germany. [redacted] advised, completely off the record, that Russia uses this film to wrap the powder used in their mortar shells.

RECOMMENDATION:

b7D

It is recommended that inquiry be made at the Foreign Economic Administration concerning the original request, to ascertain the Soviet Government's ordering film for the year 1945 compared with other years. No mention of [redacted] name should be made.

ALL FBI INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 4-3-95 BY SP2 BP

Reference is made to your letter of April 2, 1945, pertaining to the captioned matter.

This is to advise that the Bureau has considered your observations and suggestions with respect to the preparation of analyses of films containing Communist propaganda. You are informed that while your observations are believed to be worthwhile, it is not felt that you should undertake any project to have such analyses prepared of films of a social or political nature which might be produced from time to time. It is not desired that you specifically assign Agents to carry out this type of work.

It will be permissible, however, for you to take the following action if the conditions listed hereinafter prevail:

In the event motion pictures which are obviously of a Communist propaganda nature or which reliable informants designate as Communist propaganda media come to your attention, it will be permissible and desirable for you to have careful analyses containing pertinent portions of the scripts prepared by Agents thoroughly familiar with Communist activities. This work, however, should be limited to only motion pictures falling within these categories. It is not desired that you make a project out of this and assign Agents to look into films of a social or political content which might have been written, directed or produced by persons with Communist leanings.

It is pointed out that even though a well prepared analysis of such a motion picture is available, it could not be used under any circumstances as a basis for specific statements as to whether a motion picture in question contains Communist propaganda. One of the main reasons is that while the opinions of Agents well versed in Communist activities are of value, they still do not constitute opinions of persons who could be classified as expert witnesses. In the event an analysis containing these opinions were used on which to base specific statements, there undoubtedly would result an immediate challenge since it could be stated, whether justifiably or not, that non-expert opinions are involved.

There is also this to be taken into consideration. What a person who is familiar with Communist tactics might have to say about the purported injection of Communist propaganda into a motion picture might be entirely true; however, this still would be no evaluation as to the actual or possible effect that the propaganda has on the public in general. Furthermore, the present Communist "line" is, at least on the surface, most harmonious with the nation's policies, and in many instances it would be most difficult to show that a line or a sequence in a motion picture has been wilfully injected as Communist propaganda.

Director, FBI

RE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Dear Sir:

I am sending the following observations to the Bureau and requesting to be advised if it is desired that investigation in the above-entitled case be pursued along these lines at the present time.

It has occurred to me that quite possibly the Director may be called upon at some time in the future to state very specifically what Communist propaganda, if any, has actually been depicted in the various motion pictures and it will not be sufficient to state that a certain known Communist wrote, directed, or produced a particular motion picture which follows the Communist Party line. On the contrary, it would be necessary under such circumstances to be able to state specifically what there is in the script or picture that is believed to be Communist Party propaganda.

In an effort to see how such an analysis could be made, there was obtained through a confidential source the script for the motion picture entitled "THE MASTER RACE" which was an EDWARD A. GOLDEN production released through the RKO Radio Pictures Corporation. Special Agents JAMES G. FINDLAY and JOHN R. VICARS, who are exceptionally well versed on Communist matters, reviewed the script independently of one another and these two Agents, together with Special Agent FRED G. DUPUIS, saw the motion picture and each of them prepared for me a memorandum setting forth any propaganda they believe that this particular motion picture contained, and I am forwarding for the Bureau's information a copy of the memorandum of each of these Agents. It is realized that these memoranda contain purely the personal opinions of the Agents, nevertheless it is the only way that a possible conclusion can be reached on the question of propaganda in the picture and it is felt that Agents who have had experience of this kind are much more capable than anyone else known to the writer to express opinions such as these. It is not believed this is a dangerous practice so long as it is realized that it is purely opinion.

It would be possible in almost every instance to obtain the script of motion pictures which it is believed, or are suspected of containing Communist propaganda, and the films could be viewed by Agents as they are released to the public and an analysis of this kind could be made on each one of these pictures. It is my personal opinion that such information would be of extreme value to the Bureau and it could be obtained without performing an undue amount of work commensurate with the value of the project.

I would appreciate having the Bureau's views on this matter at an early date.

THE MOTION PICTURE - "THE MASTER RACE"

This picture was seen on February 14, 1945 by Special Agent JOHN R. VICARS, FRED G. DUPUIS, and Agent. This picture was written and also directed by HERBERT BIBERMAN. A few days after seeing the picture, Agent read and digested the script. This memo is submitted for the purpose of calling attention to material contained therein which may be considered as propaganda favorable to Russia and the Russian Cause, without giving due credit to the American and British and the United Nations Cause. The prevailing theme throughout the picture is that of unity, religious freedom and anti-race discrimination, which are three of the prevailing cliches of the Communist Party Line at the present time.

The script listed the cast in the picture as follows:

|---|---|
| ROBERT GOLDEN | Producer |
| HERBERT BIBERMAN | Writer and Director |
| ANNE FROELICH | Collaborated with BIBERMAN |

The script was obtained and a short digest of same is as follows:

The scene of the story is laid in the newly-liberated town of Kolar in Belgium as it attempts to rise from its ashes under the guidance of Major PHILLIP CARSON, an American Officer of the Allied Military Government.

When the German General Staff realized that the Nazis had lost the war, Colonel VON BECK of the German General Staff was selected to train an assignment of specially selected officers to be assigned to all parts of liberated Europe to blend unobtrusively into the background, sow the seed of discontent and disunity and weaken the spirit and resistance of the people for the next blitz.

Colonel VON BECK gives instructions to sixteen officers and civilians informing them that the Third Reich had been a failure and the war had been lost. He informed them that the Germans have been the Masters of Europe for one thousand years and never before has the German Arms been so completely crushed as now and never has Europe, which is being turned over to the conquerors, been so completely dead as now. He pointed out that therein lies their great hope. VON BECK stated "we created the Nazis to conquer for us or die for us". He informed them that he will undertake the assignment at Kolar in Belgium on the French Border. VON BECK'S final instruction was "stay alive, preserve the Master Race. In our hands hatred can be turned into the most potent of all weapons. Hatred of any kind, against anyone, even hatred against Germans. No individual is too inconsequential, no individual too puny. If you find a man who is in dire want, turn that want into impatience, impatience into fear, fear into despair, despair into hatred. You will not be working alone. Disunite, disunite, disunite and stay alive".

Colonel VON BECK assumed the name of FERDINAND VARIN and posed as the brother of the deceased husband of MARTHA VARIN, who had been a German Collaborationist. VON BECK forced himself into her home and instructed her to inform the people that "your brother-in-law has joined you and that he is ill".

The American Platoon that took charge at Kolar was under the command of Major PHILLIP CARSON and the British Platoon was under the command of Captain WILLIAM FORSYTHE.

Lieutenant ANDREI KRESTOV, a Russian Prisoner of War, was released by Major CARSON and was told he could not be repatriated for some time on account of prevailing conditions. KRESTOV informed CARSON that he was a doctor in Russia before the war and would gladly render any service possible. CARSON outfitted him with a medical kit and assigned him to treat the sick and wounded.

HELENA BARTOC had an illegitimate Nazi child which figured prominently in the play. Major CARSON put a stethoscope on the baby and told HELENA "the child has nice pure blood like all children".

When the natives of Kolar began rebuilding the town, VON BECK, to create a division in their efforts, promised JOSEPH KATRY that the Reich will finance the rebuilding of a mill and that he would place KATRY in charge of it. VON BECK further suggested to KATRY that he burn the prison and not allow one Nazi to escape and instructed KATRY to go to a certain place and get some dynamite to blow up the prison. VON BECK assured KATRY that when the American and British People heard that they were forced to turn on their soldiers for freeing the Germans against us "you'll hear their cry to bring their troops home, then we'll be left alone". Major CARSON ordered VON BECK in for an interview and KRESTOV suspected that all was not well and demanded to be permitted to examine the wound which VON BECK claimed to have received which had made him a cripple for life. KRESTOV examined the wound and reported it was "very fresh and clean" which causes VON BECK to fly into a rage as it was suggested that the wound had been self-inflicted on that day after receiving the order to report to Major CARSON for interview.

Colonel VON BECK forced his attentions on NINA and Mrs. VARIN protested vigorously and threatened to inform against him. VON BECK sarcastically asked her "what will the British and Americans say when they learn you have been concealing a German Officer in your home?" Mrs. VARIN informed VON BECK that she did not care "what they think or do". This action on the part of Mrs. VARIN caused VON BECK to seize Mrs. VARIN and choke her to death. Major CARSON announced that the war was over and the German Army had surrendered unconditionally. Major CARSON, Captain FORSYTHE and Lieutenant KRESTOV appeared together and FRANK BARTOC informed Major CARSON that Mrs. VARIN had been murdered. At this announcement, Captain FORSYTHE beseeches the people to "love one another".

A temporary church altar had been constructed and Captain FORSYTHE had been in charge of the religious services and Lieutenant KRESTOV had been very busy in finding and presenting to the church the necessary articles and equipment to make it possible to conduct the religious services appropriately even to obtaining a candlestick from JOSEPH WEINER to place on the altar.

A terrific explosion took place in the prison killing some of the prisoners and other people. Colonel VON BECK was brought in to face the officers and people and JOSEPH KATRY was also brought in to face VON BECK. Major CARSON stated that an attempt had been made to kill the German Prisoners and that this attempt tied in with the killing of Mrs. VARIN.

VON BECK stated that if the Soldiers had not stopped him he could have prevented "this horrible thing tonight" and that he had warned Major CARSON that "Mrs. VARIN was not trustworthy". Major CARSON stated that VON BECK had also warned him about Mr. KATRY which resulted in VON BECK and KATRY making charges against each other and KATRY asserted that VON BECK begged him to blow up the prison which caused VON BECK to shout "maul haulten".

A German Prisoner shouted back at VON BECK "maul haulten, maul haulton. They've got you now. You did not fool them. They made it possible for me, a hobody, at last to stand upand tell you to shut your filthy mouth - Colonel WOLFGANG VON BECK - German General Staff".

THE MOTION PICTURE - "THE MASTER RACE"

VON BECK made a speech in which he said "you and your God and your everlasting punishment. Defeating our armies gave you the look of unity and we saw you ripping at every seam before the blood stopped flowing.

"You have called upon us to save you when you fell out among yourselves. We can depend upon your falling out among yourselves because we know how to sow the seeds of disunity in the very core of your victory.

"There never was a greater Germany than we created out of our defeat twentyfive years ago. You have inherited a corpse called Europe from us. You will try to stand it on its feet. It will fall apart in your hands and you will have to shoulder the burden and sink under the weight and out of your failures this time the Master Race is destined to come to power not in one or two countries but everywhere in the world in the same instant. The Third World War will hold no surprises for us. It will be quick and easy like taking a ripe apple from a falling tree. That is your victory."

Major CARSON directed the following statements at VON BECK: "You don't know how finished every one of you and your Master Race are. We've got an ambition VON BECK, a brand new one. I used to think I just wanted to go home. Not any more. I have a life ambition now to search every ruin, every rock, under every bed and in every pest hole in this country to find the rest of you and nobody will ever get me off that track as long as I live and just to warm up - by virtue of the military authority vested in me under law - for the crime of murder, insurrection and endangering my command, I, Major PHILLIP CARSON, sentence you to be shot. Since I can't ask these good people to sleep another night in the same world with you, my order will be executed immediately. Captain FORSYTHE you will take charge of the detail."

VON BECK was executed and the matter of naming HELENA'S baby, the half-German child, was brought up by Lieutenant KRESTOV, and HELENA spoke up and said "they have named her VICTORIA".

Lieutenant KRESTOV, taking his leave, said to HELENA and JOHN "the name 'VICTORIA' is a good name, a name to believe in. We've seen all the depths of inhumanity. Out of all that filth and agony we have come through our bodies may be torn and battered but our souls were never cleaner. God was never prouder of humanity than he is now. When everything is rebuilt here and in my town and in all the places between - and VICTORIA is a little older - send her to me for a visit. Or better, you and JOHN bring her. past. we'll visit in the sun and watch our children play together under it as neighbors' children should."

Major CARSON, Captain FORSYTHE, and JOHN, Old Man BARTOC and a small child, followed by KRESTOV, HELENA, FRANK and NINA, gather together for their parting. The following is stated as shown:

| Major CARSON | "I won't forget you people in a hurry" |
| Lieutenant KRESTOV | "Major CARSON I feel I've met the whole American People through you. Thank them for the pleasure". |
| Major CARSON | "If you'll do the same for me". |
| Old Man BARTOC | "We've got more energy now, we can applaud you. Thank you for your liberation, for protection, for freedom". |

Major CARSON, Captain FORSYTHE and Lieutenant KRESTOV at salute.

In viewing the picture and reading the script, this Agent was impressed by the following material and presentation of material, which in agent's opinion clearly indicated propaganda and intent of purpose.

Colonel VON BECK, the German Underground Leader, was created and depicted as possessing all of the detested qualities attributed to the German Race. He was pictured as a monster of everything evil, a purveyor of hate and ill will and one who would stoop to murder to accomplish his purpose even though it be for small or temporary gain. He was shown as resorting to every form of deception and falsehood to create fear, hatred, impatience and despair for the purpose of creating disunity in order that he might conquer. He compelled Mrs. VARIN and her daughter, NINA, to lie to protect him while he was endeavoring to make them believe he was rendering them protection at great hazard to himself. It appeared that this despicable character of VON BECK was built up for comparison with the rather all 'round lovable character of the Russian, Lieutenant ANDREI KRESTOV, who appeared later.

Major PHILLIP CARSON, American Army Officer, in charge of the liberated town of Kolar, was depicted as a man and officer of very mediocre abilities. The only act of note to attract more than passing interest in him was the sentencing of Colonel VON BECK to death for the murder of Mrs. VARIN. He was not a strong character and was a man of inaction and indecision and at times almost an object of criticism and lack of respect. In other words he was "played down".

Captain FORSYTHE, British Officer, assistant to Major CARSON, was depicted as being far below Major CARSON in abilities and he radiated weakness in everything he did or attempted to do. He evidently was an Army Chaplain as he performed the religious services in a destroyed church building in which a temporary altar had been erected. He was openly criticized by the liberated people and the mother of the Priest who had been killed, openly criticized FORSYTHE as not being in sympathy with their form of religion, the Catholic Religion. His answer was "I love all religions". The impression created appeared to be that they could have dispensed with his services without loss to the destitute community.

Lieutenant ANDREI KRESTOV, of the Russian Army, had been a German Prisoner of War, but was released by Major CARSON when the Germans were driven out of Kolar. KRESTOV practically demanded to know when he could be repatriated to his native land andwas advised by Major CARSON that it was impossible to do so right away on account of prevailing conditions. KRESTOV advised Major CARSON that he was a doctor in Russia before the war. Major CARSON outfitted him with an old medicine kit and assigned him to attend the sick and wounded. KRESTOV was a fine specimen of physical manhood, about thirty years of age. He was pictured as a sort of superman in physical appearance and possessing the ability to perform any task assigned to him, or any that he might see fit to assume without being assigned. From the time he appeared on the scene until the end of the picture, it could be truthfully stated "he carried the ball" and he did it in such a genteel, obliging and competent manner that he appeared to be appreciated and loved by all. Even in things military he often was first to suggest a solution which would be immediately adopted and carried out without the slightest objection. KRESTOV, without special effort, detected a German Spy in the crowd at Kolar and exposed him. He offered a solution for the safety of HELENA'S illegitimate child of Nazi Blood when the Kolar Community insisted that all persons of German blood must be removed. He made a democratic plea for the child along the line of tolerance, which was accepted by all. Near the close of the picture, KRESTOV invited JOHN and HELENA BARTOC to bring VICTORIA, the child of Nazi Blood, to Russia to visit him and his children, where they could all be very happy. KRESTOV expressed himself most freely on the subjects of good will, freedom of races and the freedom of the individual and made the implication that the Americans, Britains and Russians should be the "big brothers of all peoples, races, and religions of the World". During the rebuilding of the destroyed church at Kolar, many little things were done by KRESTOV to impress the people with the idea that the Russians were great lovers of religious freedom.

He indeed made himself an ambassador of good will to all. He was not content in making himself, a Russian, the equal of the Americans and British, but set himself up as a model for the others to follow.

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF

On February 14, 1945, Special Agents JOHN R. VICARS, JAMES G. FINDLAY and the writer saw the Motion picture "The Master Race" directed by HERBERT J. BIBERMAN, based on a story by him, and this memorandum is submitted to provide a record of phases of this film which in the opinion of the writer are Communist propaganda. Notes were made at the time the picture was viewed, but it should be noted this memorandum has been prepared without the benefit of reading the script of this picture.

The overall theme of the picture, which adheres to what is now the Communist Party line, is extreme emphasis on the matter of unity between the "big three nations", the United States, Great Britain and Russia, and while this reasoning coincides with the party line it is not being written up as propaganda as such in itself inasmuch as the need for unity is generally acknowledged and endorsed by all the Allied nations; however, it is felt that Communist propaganda appears in this film in the manner in which the unity is portrayed, and the following illustrations are cited:

The three principal characters in this film are a United States Army Major, a British Army Captain and a Red Army Lieutenant. The British and American officers are in charge of the troops which have liberated a Belgian city, and among the prisoners freed is the Red Army Lieutenant. In the casting of these characters the American Army Major is a rather soft-spoken, middle-aged individual with a rather large waist line for his age and Army rank, and the British Captain is a rather naive innocent appearing young man with a very weak voice whose personality and character reflect virtually no strength or forcefulness whatsoever and whose one attempt at leadership in the entire film is in the form of delivering sermons in the shattered church of the city, during which he appears to inspire the populace but very little and also commands only mild attention from them. On the other hand the Lieutenant of the Red Army is introduced to the film as one of the many prisoners freed from German control and despite this from the very start he radiates almost limitless energy, enthusiasm, optimism, resourcefulness and strength. He in contrast with the American and British officers is quite tall, possesses a very rugged physique, has very expressive eyes, and in several crises that occur during the picture this individual is the first to suggest the course that is adopted and followed to a successful conclusion. It is significant to note this influence is wielded despite his being "outranked" by the American Major and British Captain.

For example, when a doctor is needed the Red Army Lieutenant immediately steps forth as having had some training in this field and saves the life of an individual who undoubtedly would have died. Also, he is the first to suspect the vilain of the picture, the German spy, and plays a leading part in exposing him.

In conclusion, regarding this phase of the film, it is the writer's opinion the casting of the characters referred to and the direction of their lines and actions are intended to portray the Russian individual as being the type of person the average American would like to know and be friendly with; a person not unlike a successful and popular young man of the United States, probably for the purpose of overcoming the inherent and almost instinctive suspicion the average United States citizen possesses regarding Russia and its people. Also to indicate that the Russians are not backward, ignorant peasants but enterprising, resourceful, vigorous and unusually intelligent people.

Another portion of the film which illustrates this attempt to portray the Russian in a favorable light is a scene involving one of the Belgian guerilla fighters who returns home to find that his wife has born a child by one of the German Army officers. When several of the men of the community talk about eliminating all the Germans from the community some of them look menacingly at the small child, inferring she too should be removed, while, of course, the mother and her returning husband have resolved the problem in favor of caring for the child, and at this time the Red Army officer makes quite a dramatic plea for the safety of the child and more or less dictates that the illegitimate child shall be accepted into the community, which scene displays the Russian individual as being a very humane, kind and tolerant type.

Some of the other incidents in the picture which illustrate the unity theme stressed are:

A speech by the German Army officer who endeavors to conceal his identity and lay the seeds of disunity among the populace of the liberated town in which he tries to incite the populace against the rule of the British and American Armies of occupation. This speech occurs early in the film, and later in the picture this individual, representing Germany, expresses extreme satisfaction at having been successful in dividing groups of the population on the question of what use should be made of the one available horse left in the town.

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Near the end of the film this German officer makes a speech in which he refers to the Allies as "falling apart at the seams", which is the basis of hope of the German nation for victory in World War Three.

Another German Army officer who is young and is held prisoner by the Allies also makes a speech stressing the unity question. It should be noted that this character is a German youth on the verge of breaking down and deserting his German leaders, and in a dramatic speech he relates how impressed he was when his division advanced into Russia and encountered Russian forces which were equipped with American manufactured vehicles and when his division was bombed and strafed by American planes in greater numbers that he had ever thought existed. He stated he had come to feel that the Russians were not "vermin" as he had been taught and in addition to the military superiority encountered gives as a reason for changing his point of view the fact "vermin don't get together that way", referring to the unity existing between the United States, Great Britain and Russia.

A second example of propaganda which the writer believes was contained in this film was a series of scenes intended to give the impression that religious freedom exists in Russia and to counteract anti-Semitic tendencies. This is accomplished by several very short but highly dramatic references to a German Army officer who is held in the prison camp who shows signs of deserting his "Nazi masters" and reforming. He is haunted, so the story goes, by the vision of having thrown a hand grenade upon the altar of a church in the Ukraine. This young German officer gives the impression he was surprised to learn that religion was permitted in Russia.

Along this same line is a series of scenes regarding the rebuilding of the ruined church in the occupied city in which the story is laid, and the chaplain in asking several of the townspeople who contributed to the restoration of the church receives several non-specific answers as to the work of almost everyone in the town, but when he asks who contributed the candelabrum the answer is clearly and rather loudly given "JACOB". It may be somewhat far-fetched to assume this scene is intended as propaganda; however, in the opinion of the writer it is difficult to believe that the selection of such a definitely Jewish name as JACOB to be the one individual in the entire community singled out as having contributed to the restoration of the church is more than mere coincidence. Such propaganda, if it may be called such, would tend to eliminate discrimination against Jewish people.

"THE MASTER RACE" - MOTION PICTURE

Recently the writer viewed the motion picture entitled "The Master Race", an EDWARD A. GOLDEN production released through R-K-O Radio Pictures, Hollywood, California. The purpose of this memorandum is to set out the Communist content of this picture which the writer observed.

First of all, it is to be noted that the picture contains no revolution-by-force-or-violence propaganda. This of course, is a part of the Communist policy, at least for the duration; nor is there any reference to the words "Communist" or "Communism" as such.

The writer noted no specific forceful Communist propaganda which could be singled out and labeled categorically as being propaganda for Communism. However, the entire picture is a piece of subtle and veiled Communist propaganda inserted by innuendo through the theme, settings, circumstances and characters. It appeared to me that the theme of the story was that through unity, the United Nations can win the war and the peace. Beware of Nazi attempts, not only during, but after the war, to create disunity and thereby defeat the aims of the United Nations. This, of course, is a praiseworthy theme, but it is also a prime tenet of the Communist Political Association at the present time and is important in this picture because HERBERT BIBERMAN, who wrote the original story and the script for the picture, who now desires all-out unity, was formerly West Coast director of the American Peace Mobilization and fought against America's entry into the war until Russia was invaded. This theme of unity is keynoted at the very outset in the picture when Nazi General VON BECK is setting up his Nazi Underground in the liberated countries. VON BECK instructed the Nazis specifically to disunite the people. The entire movie deals with VON BECK'S attempts to disunite the people of an isolated village in Belgium. This city is symbolistic of all other cities and countries which have been liberated from the Nazi yoke.

In driving home the theme of unity among the United Nations in the war, and more particularly in the peace, the picture sets up a U.S. Army Major in charge of the unit of the U.S. Army which is to govern the village pending the setting up of a government by self-determination. His name is PHILLIP CARSON.

He is assisted by Captain FORSYTHE of Great Britain. When the concentration camps are opened, he also receives great assistance from Lieutenant ANDREI KRESTOV, Medical Corps, U.S.S.R. Of the three, KRESTOV is the one with the finest physique, the finest appearance, and the readiest smile. In other words, to a picture audience, he has probably the most human appeal and is the person in the picture who will be remembered by the audience. Through the part that Lt. KRESTOV has in the picture, the following points of Communist propaganda are put across:

1. The Russians are no freaks but are ordinary people, industrious, congenial, and intelligent, just like the people in the United States.

2. Russia is a great liberty-loving nation. This building up of the prestige of Russia is of course, obviously in line with the present policy of the Communist Political Association and as a matter of fact is one of the main purposes of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc., which is an alleged front organization seeking to combat anti-Russia propaganda by publishing and disseminating propaganda favorable to the Russian Government.

The following specific examples illustrate the importance of Russian Lt. ANDREI KRESTOV in the picture and by innuendo serve to enhance the prestige of Russia:

1. Immediately upon KRESTOV'S release from the concentration camp he goes before Major PHILLIP CARSON with great force and vigor, yet with great courteousness and says: "I wish to inquire how soon I can be sent to the Russian front." This one sentence in its context shows the Russian as a great driving force for one who, despite a long period of time in a filthy Nazi prison camp, is anxious to return immediately to fight for Russia.

2. In the beginning of the picture when the American Army unit, led by Major CARSON enters the city to set up a government, the townspeople rush forward and immediately ask: "Have you a doctor?" - "Have you a priest?". The townspeople are told that there are no doctors. Later, the first question of another character is the need for a doctor. Then when Lt. KRESTOV is freed from the concentration camp and he reports to Major CARSON, he announces that he wishes to offer his services to CARSON and adds: "I am a doctor". In other words, a doctor at this time is the most needed thing in the village and it is the Russian Lieutenant who is the answer to this call. Through KRESTOV'S acting as doctor the audience meets many characters of the movie because as the doctor he has an "in" on many of the important scenes of the movie. For example, it is KRESTOV who announces first that HELENA BARTOK, wife of one of the guerrilla warriors, has a small child as a result of the occupation by the German Army and it is KRESTOV who serves to settle the ire of HELENA'S husband when he finds that HELENA has been forced to have a child by a German soldier.

3. When the American Army takes over it becomes necessary for all of the townspeople to return to the fields in an attempt to put them in condition to raise food for the populace. The scenes of the townspeople plowing industriously, yet wearily, is set against the scene showing Lt. KRESTOV plowing vigorously in the field singing at the same time and carrying one of the children on his shoulders. When someone tells him he should let the child ride on the horse he says: "What?, and let the horse enjoy all that pleasure?", and trods merrily along.

4. The scene where General VON BECK has his first meeting with Major CARSON and Captain FORSYTHE is again used to bring out the character of Lt. KRESTOV. KRESTOV is ordered by Major CARSON to examine the alleged Nazi-inflicted bullet wound in VON BECK'S leg. KRESTOV reports that the wound appears very well cared for and clean (indicating for the first time that there might be something more to the bullet wound than Major CARSON knows. It is to be noted that this bullet wound was originally self-inflicted by VON BECK in order that he may pass as one who was shot for opposing the Nazis). During this conference VON BECK states that those who survived the Nazis in the liberated countries must stick together regardless of what their sympathies have been in the past "if only to exterminate our enemies more thoroughly". Lt. KRESTOV immediately retorts "Exterminate them?....you also include those Germans HITLER put into concentration camps? Don't you distinguish between the German people and their leaders?" This question, posed very adroitly by KRESTOV is the same question being posed by the Communist Political Association. The Communist attitude has been that only the Nazi German leaders should be punished for their crimes. They have been very careful to exclude from their threats of punishment "the German people". This reportedly is because Russians are behind the Free Germany movement and in addition there are many Communists in the concentration camps of Germany. The posing of this question of course at this particular moment would naturally make the audience react in favor of Lt. KRESTOV, who favored only action against the Nazi leaders. As soon as VON BECK left the room, Major CARSON immediately asked Lt. KRESTOV what his opinion was. Previously KRESTOV had offered his services as a "weather-vane" (informant) to CARSON and in answer to CARSON'S query about VON BECK he answered to the effect that the weather was not so good, meaning of course, that he was suspicious of VON BECK. This was the first statement in the movie indicating a distrust of VON BECK by one of those in authority. Hence, the Russian Lieutenant again played the lead despite the fact that he was not an officer in charge and was in on the conference, apparently only to examine VON BECK'S bullet wound in the leg.

Generally speaking, I do not believe the audience would notice any Communist propaganda in this movie, however, I do believe that anyone who saw it would undoubtedly leave with a fine impression of Lt. ANDREI KRESTOV, a much finer impression I believe than of Major PHILLIP CARSON, U.S. Army, or Captain FORSYTHE of the Army of Great Britain.

An interesting part of the picture was the religious angle. When at the beginning of the movie entree was being made for KRESTOV by the townspeople asking for a doctor, so also entree was being made for religion by the townsfolk asking for a priest. This might be construed as Communist trickery since religious groups have always been opposed to Communism. In other words, asking for a priest might be construed as a "softener". Later in the movie one of the captured German soldiers had made a cross and it was brought out that this was a replica of the cross from the cathedral in Kiev. This particular cross and the incident seemed to have nothing to do with the main part of the movie and apparently was brought in as a subtle indication that there is religious freedom in Russia.

In summary, I believe that the chief Communist propaganda came as a result of the character of Lt. ANDREI KRESTOV, who was built up in the movie to far greater stature than were Major PHILLIP CARSON or Captain FORSYTHE. Through his actions Russia would gain more prestige with the average moviegoer. In addition, the theme of the story, which cried for unity among the Allies, is in accord with the current Communist dogma, although previous to Russia's entry into the war the Communist Party and the American Peace Mobilization were sowing seeds of disunity in the United States. I noticed particularly that there was no "softening up" on the treatment of the Nazis, who were depicted as bullies and beasts, yet very cunning people. This of course, is also in accord with current Communist propaganda although it will be recalled that the Communists held a contrary view during the HITLER-STALIN pact in 1939 and 1940.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Communists are endeavoring to penetrate all cultural, civic, political and labor organizations and direct their activities and use them as "pressure groups" for the benefit of the Soviet Union. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization is a leader in this activity, and its personnel in connection with the OWI is producing and distributing all films to liberated countries. The Hollywood Democratic Committee has formed a Mobile Theatre to put on dramatic presentations for union and political meetings. The Hollywood Democratic Committee has endorsed Mayor Fletcher Bowron for reelection as Mayor of Los Angeles and he also has the support of the CPA and the CIO-PAC. The Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions has become a very powerful pressure group in the motion picture industry. Four of the officers of this organization are known Communists, and all the others but one follow the Communist Party line. The Conference of Studio Unions is now engaged in a jurisdictional dispute with Local 644, IATSE. SAM HALTER was put off the air because of positive assertions on controversial subjects. This organization has also protested against the deportation of HARRY BRIDGES. The Motion Picture Alliance appears to have ceased its activity.

AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

Source A has informed that the Communist activity in the motion picture industry in the Hollywood area and in those fields where the influence of the motion picture penetrates is reflected by the activity of the Communist Party [illegible] directs that all propaganda and political activity be enlisted in support of all proposals which redound to the benefit of the Soviet Union. The Communist Political Association is exerting every effort to penetrate cultural, political, and labor organizations with the ultimate intention of using them as "pressure groups". The developments along these lines in recent weeks have been the following:

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION:

Source A informs that this organization has announced that it will continue as a prominent organization after the war is over.

Source B has stated that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is one of the most important organizations in Hollywood in relation to war service and has greatly strengthened its relationship with the motion picture producers and the government. Source B further asserted that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is being constantly called upon to carry out projects already decided upon by the various government agencies, and, in addition, it has rendered a great deal of service to war supporting activities.

Source A has reported that ROBERT RISKIN, Chief of Bureau of Overseas Production of the Motion Picture Branch of the Office of War Information, is in Hollywood at the present time, having recently returned from overseas and has proposed the establishment of a permanent production unit to make documentary films of an "educational" nature to be sent all over the world after the war is over. The idea, according to Source A, is to have the studios set up an independent organization with a full production staff which will function independently using studio facilities. This organization would operate under subsidies from the picture producers and would solicit the cooperation of philanthropic, social, educational and labor organizations. It is proposed that the writing and acting services be donated and the venture be of a non-profit nature. It is also proposed that the organization be represented in the State Department which would have a representative in Hollywood and that distribution would be closely allied with embassies & consulates in foreign lands.

Daily Variety for March 6, 1945, quotes as follows: "RISKIN states specifically that distribution would mainly be aimed at educational, civic, and labor groups within the various nations, as well as influential political leaders who help mould the thought of the nation."

Source A further stated that it is known that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is giving full support to this proposition as RISKIN, in his official capacity with the Office of War Information, has cooperated fully with the Mobilization. It is logical that the organization would be the driving force of this proposed undertaking and as the Mobilization is a Communist controlled group, there is no doubt that ideology would play a large part in the content of any picture produced.

The Hollywood Reporter for January 8, 1945, under the heading, "OWI to Produce Until War Ends", stated in part that the OWI Overseas Motion Picture Bureau will continue production in the East for another year or at least until the war in Europe is over, ROBERT RISKIN, Chief of Bureau, reported here last Saturday. The original plan made before the German offensive called for abandoning the Bureau's production after July 1, 1945, with a gradual cutting down of production here and shifting the nucleus of the unit to Hollywood for films for the Pacific theatre. The change in the war situation has also caused RISKIN to change his personal plans and he will remain as head of the Bureau as long as it is necessary to continue a full production and distribution program.

RISKIN stated that the Overseas Production Unit is now planning production of eighteen documentaries for the coming year. He stated that half will be made in New York and half in Hollywood. OWI is now dubbing its documentaries in twenty-three languages, including the Japanese.

OWI's Production Unit in London under WILLIAM MONTAGUE, is also being continued. The London Unit is trying out six basic news reels weekly, in addition to supplements for the United News Reel.

The article stated further that RISKIN just returned from a ten weeks' trip to England, France, Luxembourg, Belgium and Holland. RISKIN reported that all films from this country to France are being shipped through United States Army facilities.

It stated that REGINALD ARMOUR has been appointed assistant to RISKIN and has been assigned to supervise all distribution in the United Kingdom, and Europe, working out of London.

Source A has further informed that WILLIAM WILDER, a Hollywood director now at Paramount Studios, within the last ten days has been offered a position as head of OWI Entertainment Division in that part of Germany which has been occupied by American troops. This offer was made by ELMER DAVIS, Head of the OWI. WILDER has announced in the press that he will accept the position. This same source has informed that WILDER is of German birth and at the present time, he is a member of the Hollywood Democratic Committee, alleged Communist controlled political organization operating in the Hollywood area.

HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

Source B on January 16, 1945, furnished a typewritten report of a "Brief Resume of Cultural Development in the Northwest Section of the CPA". There was no date on the report but judging from matter appearing in the report, it appears that it was prepared during the first part of September, 1944.

This report shows that the Hollywood Democratic Committee has formed the Mobile Theatre Unit, whose function it is to provide dramatic presentations for union and political meetings. It stated: "The unitattempts to put on material of high dramatic quality, not superficial agit-prop stuff. In all dramatic activities, one of the greatest proplems is material. The dramatic groups are fumbling around trying to develop standards of material, but still do not show too much political alertness, and a tendency to be carried away by flashy dramatics, for example the Vanguard Theatre, many of whose members are also active in the Hollywood Democratic Mobile Unit and the Laboratory, was considering producing 'Native Son'. No one in the group was alert to the serious dangers in such a production although they saw them after some discussion about them was had."

Source B further stated that "The Hollywood Democratic Committee is in the process of organizing functionary radio committees and committees of well known actors to produce material not only for the direct use of the Hollywood Democratic Committee but also for the use of other organizations in the election campaigns."

Source A has informed that the principal efforts of the Hollywood Democratic Committee are devoted to political action and is very active in preparing for the forthcoming spring elections, particularly in support of Mayor Fletcher Bowron for reelection to the office of Mayor of Los Angeles. Source informs Bowronhas the endorsement and the support of the CPA. In addition to the support which it is giving to Mayor Bowron, the Hollywood Democratic Committee is supporting all other candidates endorsed by the CPA and the CIO-PAC.

COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS

Source A reports that this organization has recently become one of the most powerful pressure groups in the motion picture industry in Hollywood. When it was first formed, its alleged purpose was to deal with labor affairs but this was not the real objective.

Source states that the real purposes are political and it is composed of other forces entirely outside the labor field. Source A has further stated that it was originally formed to combat any attacks on Communists and Communism in Hollywood, and specifically, the Motion Picture Alliance, an anti-Communist group. Since the Alliance group has been practically eliminated, it has continued as a permanent political organization acting as an over-all committee of unions and guilds to carry out the present line of the Communist Political Association.

Source A has further stated that this organization has Communist connections as will appear by the roster of officers which follows:

MARY McCALL, JR., Chairman, formerly President of the Screen Writers Guild;

PAUL HARVEY, Vice-Chairman, member of Screen Actors Guild;

TED ELLSWORTH, Secretary-Treasurer, Business Representative of Studio Costumers No. 705, IATSE.

Board of Directors of the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions

JOHN R. MARTIN, business representative of Local 683, Laboratory Technicians IATSE;

BILL BLOWITZ (Communist), Screen Publicists Guild;

MIN SELVIN (Communist), Organizer for the Screen Office Employees Guild;

CHUCK JONES, Screen Cartoonists Guild;

HOWARD ESTABROOK, member of Screen Writers Guild;

SIG NESSELROTH, Painters Local 644.

Members of Veterans Post War Planning Board

LESTER COLE (Communist), Screen Writers Guild;

L. C. HELM (anti-Communist), Utilities Local No. 724;

GLEN PRATT, Business Agent, SOIG;

NORVAL D. CRUTCHER (Commmunist), Secretary, Film Technicians Local 683;

FRANCES MILLINGTON, Screen Analysts Guild.

As indicated above, BILL BLOWITZ is a member of the North Hollywood Cultural Group of the Communist Political Association, Los Angeles County.

LESTER COLE is a member of the North Hollywood Cultural Group, Communist Political Association, Los Angeles County.

NORVAL D. CRUTCHER is a member of the Communist Political Association, Los Angeles County.

MIN SELVIN was recently a member of Branch B, Northwest Section, Communist Party, Los Angeles County.

All others mentioned above with the exception of L. C. HELM, according to Source A, are ardent followers of the Communist Political Association.

Source B has submitted a report which bears no date but which was prepared, no doubt, in September, 1944, relative to the activities of the organization. This report is as follows:

Council of Guilds and Unions

"Out of the meeting against the MPA the Council of Guilds and Unions was established, to carry on public relations work for the industry as a whole, to work onthe post war economic problems of the motion picture industry, and to provide a responsible organization that could speak for the workers of the industry on general questions relating to the industry's welfare. (For example, the Council recently supported the picture 'WILSON' against the attacks made on it by the Hearst, McCormick, Peterson Press). At the beginning there was a tendency both within the Council and outside to think of it as simply a rival organization to the MPA and some unions suggested that representatives of the two organizations appear before them to debate. However, the Council is beginning to work on a concrete program in relation to such questions as television, post war foreign markets, expansion into new fields as a guarantee for maintaining full employment, etc. It is felt that this organization is potentially one of the most important forces in helping to achieve labor unity in the motion picture industry and labor management cooperation in solving the economic problems of the war and the post war world. The council correctly understands that the future of the industry in the post war world is not purely an economic problem but basically a problem of the content of films -- that pictures which contribute to the strengthening of democracy and the building of free and equal partnership among nations, will have a ready market all over the world, whereas, pictures that are undemocratic, Chovinistic, etc., will not be acceptable. It is interesting to note that the Council has already succeeded in bringing together unions which have not cooperated before. The Screen Actors Guild is officially part of the Council; one or two I.A. Unions which have always stayed out of such organizations before are now part of the Council."

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A has reported that the Conference of Studio Unions is a Communist controlled group of unions and that it is now engaged in a jurisdictional dispute with Local 44, IATSE, of the Studio Set Dressers Craft. Source informs that while this is ostensibly an inter-union dispute over jurisdiction, in reality, it is part of a campaign on the part of the Communist element to break down Local 44, IATSE, because of the anti-Communist stand that local union has taken against Communist infiltration of the studio unions. This source further advised that this Conference of Studio Unions has inaugurated a radio program over Station KFWB operated by Warner Brothers Studios in Hollywood. The commentator for the program was SAM BALTER.

Source A informs that little over a year ago, BALTER was put off the Blue Network as a commentator because of his utterances on his program which were in the nature of violent attacks against individuals whom he called "reactionary". On March 4, 1945, he was cut off from the station KFI in Los Angeles along with several other commentators who were not acceptable to the station. Source A informs that this station had recently put in a new rule "that no sponsored commentators would be permitted to give their personal opinion on controversial subjects, that only those employed directly by the station itself were to be given that privilege". BALTER had been broadcasting pro-Russian - anti-Nazi material indicting all those who oppose him as Fascists or reactionaries. He was particularly vehement in his denunciation of anyone who opposed his interpretations of political belief. Source stated that he was very positive in his pro-Communist stand.

According to Source A, BALTER followed the Communist Party line in detail in his broadcasts. He further stated that it is not known whether BALTER is a Communist but his contacts politically are such known Communists as JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, a functionary of the Communist Political Association.

The Conference of Studio Unions under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL, who was a known Communist Party member, is now leading the fight to prevent the deportation of HARRY BRIDGES, according to Source A, and that a campaign is now going on all over the United States, especially within the labor unions to halt the deportation of BRIDGES.

Source A further advised that the Central Labor Council of Los Angeles is the scene of a bitter controversy over the BRIDGES question. He stated that the Conference, which is affiliated with that body, has brought up the question of the Council making a protest to the Attorney General against the deportation of BRIDGES but so far it has not been successful. He further stated that the Conference, as a body itself, has sent a protest to the Attorney General against the deportation of BRIDGES.

THE MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE

Source A has informed that the Motion Picture Alliance, a group set up to oppose Communist infiltration in the film industry about a year ago, apparently has ceased to function as there has been no meeting held or action taken by that organization during the past two months.

The Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions has become a very powerful pressure group in the motion picture industry. Four of the officers of this organization are known Communists, and all the others but one follow the Communist Party line. The Conference of Studio Unions is now engaged in a jurisdictional dispute with Local 644, IATSE. SAM DALTON was put off the air because of positive assertions on controversial subjects. SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Communist activity in the motion picture industry in Hollywood is largely devoted to the creation of public support in behalf of the San Francisco conference which meets April 25, 1945. The HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION is now the leading propaganda agency for the Communist Political Association. It is connected with the OWI and is endeavoring to create international connections. An entrouage of eight "distinguished French journalists" who published underground newspapers in France during the German occupation, including MME. ANDREE VIOLLIS and ETIENNETTE BENICHON and six Frenchmen under the guidance of the OWI, were entertained in Los Angeles from February 12 to 16, 1945. The contacts of the two women were principally Communists connected with the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION. Communist contacts including CARL WINTER, county president of the CPA, obtained and set out. The HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION claims to be in contact with VLADIMIR KEMENOV, president of the SOCIETY OF CULTURAL RELATIONS OF THE SOVIET UNION in Moscow. It is also preparing to go on the air with a national hookup in cooperation with the OWI and the War Department, and states that it hopes to reach fifty million people in these broadcasts. It also plans to publish a magazine which it will call "The Hollywood Quarterly". The HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE took an active part in the April 3, 1945, municipal primary election. It has begun a campaign to have certain radio commentators removed from the air. A jurisdictional strike has been in progress since March 12, 1945, between the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS, led by HERBERT K. SORRELL, a Communist key figure, and the IATSE, which aims to be non-Communist. The COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS has been very quiet due no doubt to the strike now in progress in the Hollywood motion picture unions.

Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINDLAY, Los Angeles, March 9, 1945.

DETAILS: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

Source A has informed that the Communist activity in the motion picture industry in Hollywood is very largely devoted to propaganda which follows the line of the Communist Political Association, which at the present time is endeavoring to create public support for the Dumbarton Oaks and Bretton Woods plans and to create sentiment favorable to the success of the coming San Francisco conference to be held April 25, 1945. Source A further stated that the Hollywood Communists engaged in the motion picture industry have been quite successful in creating the impression that they speak for and represent the motion picture industry as a whole.

THE HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A has also informed that the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION is the leading propaganda agency for the Communist Political Association in the film industry. In addition to its Government connections with the Office of War Information, it appears to be creating international connections. "The Communique", official publication of the HWM for March, 1945, under the heading, "Hollywood Writers Mobilization Contacts with New France", stated: "Several Hollywood Writers Mobilization members recently had the honor of greeting a group of distinguished French journalists who wrote and published underground newspapers in France during the German occupation.

"Among the French journalists were MME. ANDREE VIOLLIS of 'CeSoir' and 'L'Humanite' of Paris; ETIENNE BENICHON of Toulouse; JEAN-PAUL SARTRE, representing 'Figaro' and 'Combat'; STEPHANIE PIZELLA of the 'Paris Libre'; PIERRE DENOGER of Paris; LOUIS LOMBARD, representing 'Grenoble' newspapers; JOSEPH ANTONORSI of Marseilles; and 'Villers', the legendary underground editor of Lyons."

The article stated, "They are in the United States as the guests of the American Government. Traveling in an army plane, they are making a survey of the country's war effort and will carry back to France the story of America's contribution to the common cause.

"Their visit in Hollywood and meeting with Mobilization members followed closely the visit of PIERRE BLANCHAR, famour French actor and leader of the underground film workers of France.

CONFIDENTIAL

"The Mobilization assisted in arranging the banquet at the Ambassador Hotel in honor of BLANCHAR and for the benefit of the survivors of men and women killed during the French resistance. The sum of $12,000 was raised at the banquet. Later the Mobilization and the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions sponsored a showing of the documentary film, 'The Liberation', in which underground film workers recorded the 'Liberation of Paris'.

"At this event, held in the Marquis Theatre, Hollywood, film workers pledged complete cooperation with the film workers of France."

Source B advised that on February 15, 1945, ANDREE VIOLLIS remained at the Biltmore Hotel in her room until approximately three PM, at which time she went to the lobby and cashed a check and returned to her room. She remained until four PM, at which time she departed from the hotel in a yellow cab and went to the French Research Foundation, 409 La Cienega Boulevard, arriving there at approximately 4:30 PM. This source further advised that she was joined by the other members of the party at about five PM. About 150 people were observed to enter the French Research Foundation between 4:30 and 6 PM. It was explained that this occasion was a cocktail party given in honor of the French journalists by CHARLES BOYER and that many individuals from the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION, SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, and other Communist dominated organizations were present at this time.

Source D also informed that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON had been invited to attend the meeting at the office of the "People's World", 206 South Spring Street, but LAWSON had stated that he could not attend on account of prior engagements but stated that he would attend this meeting at the French Research Foundation and meet the French delegation. ETIENNETTE BENICHON

Source B reported as follows on the contacts and activities of ETIENNETTE BENICHON during her visit to Los Angeles February 12 to 16, 1945, as one of a party of eight French journalists.

On February 13, 1945, Source B informed that BENICHON remained in her room at the hotel until 1:30 PM, at which time she received a letter by special messenger addressed to "Mme. Etiennette Benichon and D'Ardennes De Tizca, Biltmore Hotel", bearing the return notation, "If not delivered, return to Suite 525, 124 West 6th Street, Los Angeles 14". It may be noted that this address is the address of the Communist Political Association headquarters in Los Angeles, California.

On this date Source B further advised that MME. BENICHON addressed a package containing two volumes of American phonograph records, two pairs of Indian shoes, several souvenirs which had been obtained in Texas and New Mexico, and approximately 15 army photographs of Randolph Field, Texas, to Mr. CARLOS CAMACHO, [redacted] It was observed that the return address on this package was "Mme. Source B informed that at approximately five PM CARL WINTER, president of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association, was observed to enter the Biltmore Hotel and proceed to room 9100, the room occupied by MME. BENICHON, at which time he engaged in a conversation with MME. BENICHON for approximately one and a half hours duration. WINTER left the Biltmore Hotel at approximately 6:30 PM. At 6:40 PM BENICHON was observed leaving the hotel and she walked directly to the Philharmonic Music Store adjacent to the Philharmonic Building on Fifth Street, at which time she made inquiry regarding records or the possible purchase of records. Source B informed that about 9:20 PM on February 13, 1945, MME. BENICHON appeared in the lobby of the Biltmore Hotel and mailed a letter to New York City to CARLOS CAMACHO, [redacted] b6 b7C She then hadlunch at the Biltmore Coffee Shop and returned to her room in the hotel at approximately 9:15 PM.

On February 14, 1945, Source B informed that MME. BENICHON went with the French group, including ANDREE VIOLLIS to the Walt Disney Studios in Burbank, California, remaining there until approximately 12:30, at which time the group visited the Lockheed Aircraft Company in Burbank and returned to the Biltmore Hotel at approximately 4:15 PM.

Source B further advised that MME. BENICHON informed the members of her party that she would be unable to go out for the evening and consequently could not accept the dinner engagement at CHARLES BOYER'S for that evening. She advised them that in the event BOYER should come to the hotel that she would speak to him by telephone only saying that she was ill and would be unable to leave her room during the evening.

Source B informed that on February 15, 1945, at approximately ten AM CARL WINTER entered the Biltmore Hotel and went to room 7252 which was at that time occupied by MME. BENICHON. After conversing for approximately ten minutes they proceeded to the office of the "People's World" at 206 South Spring Street. It should be noted that CARL WINTER is the former executive secretary of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and is presently the president of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association.

Source B advised that the meeting at the "People's World" office was to be an off-the-record discussion and that such prominent Communist Party members as CARL WINTER, MAX SILVER, PAUL CLINE, FRANK KADISH, and ELIZABETH LEACH were to be present, and that representatives of the Hollywood Guilds and Unions and the "Daily News" were present at this meeting. This source further advised that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON had been invited to attend this meeting but he had stated that he was unable to attend on account of a prior engagement but he stated that he would meet the French delegation at the French Research Foundation, 409 LaCienega Boulevard that evening. Source D informed that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON did attend the meeting that evening at the French Research Foundation and met and conversed with the French delegation.

Source B further informed that MME. BENICHON was introduced to the group at the "People's World" meeting as being a member of the Communist Party for eighteen years as editor of the Communist Party paper at Toulouse and was active in the French underground movement in France, and it was stated that she was presently visiting Los Angeles under the auspices of the Office of War Information. CARL WINTER suggested an off-the-record discussion unless some specific question should go on record.

CONFIDENTIAL

Source B informed that MME. BENICHON related the story of the organization of the underground by the French Communist Party in 1939, stating that the anti-Nazi policy of the Communist Party was the same before and after HITLER'S invasion of Russia. She stated that the Communist Party was the first to start talking about a united France and that the underground army, while it included Catholics and Socialists whose views differed, was mainly controlled by the Communist Party and was the organizing force behind the underground movement, stating that the Committee of Liberation was the most important group.

This source further informed that BENICHON stated that about eighty per cent of the French people cooperated in this movement and about twenty per cent were collaborators; that this group included people from all walks of life. When she was questioned about the number of people killed, she said that 300,000 members of the Communist Party were killed during the war but that the party had re-organized and had "a definite program".

When questioned by CARL WINTER, "Is De Gaulle playing with Democracy?", BENICHON answered, "Up to now De Gaulle has worked with Democracy and we will back him, but we do not think he is an ideal leader." She went on stating that he has a good foreign policy but that his internal policy is weak; that "he has bad people around him" and is not regarded as as an ideal leader". When she was questioned as to the position of the Communist Party prior to June, 1941, BENICHON stated there was "no need of a change" and that what they did "before the war is allied to what they are doing at the present time." She stated that they were "never against Great Britain" and blasted the American newspapers including the "New York Times" as being misinformed of the facts. She stated that the political conscience of the French people had been weakened and that this would serve and boost the Communist Party. She stated that the French considered the American backing of Admiral DARLAN a "slap in the face".

Source B informed that in duscussing the French labor movement MME. BENICHON indicated the control of the French industry was nearly the same as before the war with the exception of the fact that they have labor board management. BENICHON stated, "The Communist Party is now working openly and has no need to work underground." She said that "the newspapers formed a 'union' and that they had pooled their technical facilities, all working together and that she had been elected as a delegate to come to the United States.

Source B informed that BENICHON stated that the French Communist Party is opposed to DE GAULLE'S recognition of FRANCO. At the conclusion of her talk the workings of the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE, THE HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION, AND THE COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS were explained to MME. BENICHON.

Source B advised that shortly after 12:30 PM on February 15, 1945, MME. BENICHON departed from the "People's World" meeting at 206 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, and went directly to the motion picture studio at MGM where she remained until shortly before five o'clock at which time she returned to the French Research Foundation, 409 La Cienega Boulevard.

Source B further advised that about 8 PM MME BENICHON departed from the French Research Foundation and was driven to the Biltmore Hotel where she left the lobby of the hotel at about 8:35 PM and walked to the Philharmonic Music Store adjacent to the Philharmonic Auditorium across the street from the Biltmore Hotel and talked to the clerk regarding the purchase of records for $35. From the conversation overheard it is believed that she purchased these records and they were mailed to her in New York City. This source advised that she returned to the hotel at about 9:10 PM at which time she had a porter prepare a package for mailing to CARLOS CAMACHO, [redacted] Source B informed that this package contained three twelve inch records of a piano concerto by SHOSTAKOVICH, blank postcards, books on New Orleans, dress material, and popular music. b6 b7C

Source B advised that on the morning of February 16, 1945, MME. BENICHON joined the French group at the Biltmore Hotel at 8:25 AM and they were taken to the Lockheed Air Terminal at Burbank where the whole group departed for San Francisco at 9:35 AM.

Source B further advised that MME. BENICHON while in Los Angeles addressed to "La Republique", Toulouse, France, a press release containing a short story of the visit of the French group to Randolph Air Field setting forth some of the training requirements as set forth in the instruction training school at Randolph Field.

Source B also stated that she sent a Western Union press wire to France to the "Patriote", Toulouse, France, via RCA in which she relates some of her experiences in visiting "one of the new cities created to satisfy the demands of war."

On February 14, 1945, Source B advised that MME. BENICHON sent a press wire to "Espoir", Toulouse, France, describing her experiences in New Orleans and her subsequent experiences in San Antonio where she examined air fields. She stated "the libraries are full of so-called popular literature which is really atrocious--police stories, risque stories, and phonographic occultism." She said, "All the suspicions are kept alive by this childish public which would deserve a good and sound literature and a good press like the rest of the American public."

HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

Source A has informed that the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE took a very active part in the April 3, 1945, primary election for the Los Angeles municipal offices. Source stated that the candidates whom the committee sponsored were in nearly every instant elected or nominated for the office which they sought. Source stated, however, that the one exception was KENNETH I. FULTON who ran in the Hollywood district for the city council and was badly defeated. Source explained, however, that this was probably due to the fact that FULTON in the November, 1944, election was the campaign manager for HAL STYLES who was the Democratic candidate for Congress from that district but who was exposed about sixty days before election as having been a member of the Ku Klux Klan in Jamaica, New York, and that he had been the Kleagle and the Cyclops of the Ku Klux Klan organization, and was defeated for Congress for his district.

Source A has further informed that the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE will continue its activities in the run-off election to be held on May 1, 1945. Source further stated that the main efforts of the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE no doubt will be devoted to the election of CARLOTTA BASS, Negress, candidate for the city council, and FAYE E. ALLEN, Negress, candidate for the Los Angeles Board of Education. Source A informed that BASS and ALLEN both have long records of Communist activity and collaboration but the Los Angeles Office has no record that either one is a member of the Communist Party.

Source A further informed that the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE has launched a pressure campaign against radio station KFI of Los Angeles because of the action of that station in removing from the air certain commentators who, the station charged, were making unjustified attacks on individuals and spreading propagenda of a dubious political nature. Three of these commentators Source stated, were apparently in sympathy with and following the Communist Party line. They were as follows:

SAM BALTER, AF of L, now broadcasting for the Conference of Studio Unions
PETER de LIMA, at present broadcasting for the Brooks Clothing Company
ALVIN WILDER.

Source A has informed that the Hollywood DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE has held several protest meetings and has communicated with sympathetic members of Congress and other organizations and labor unions for the purpose of putting pressure on the radio station to reinstate the persons named. Source stated that cooperating with the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE are the following

CONFIDENTIAL

LA 100-15732

Congressmen, all of whom with the exception of GORDON L. McDONOUGH, the COMMITTEE supported in the last national election:

ELLIS E. PATTERSON
NED R. HEALY
FRANCK R. HAVENNER
JERRY VOORHIS
HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS
CLYDE DOYLE
CHET HOLAFIELD
GEORGE MILLER
GORDON L. MC DONOUGH

Source A further advised that the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE is conducting a campaign to prevent the deportation of HARRY BRIDGES and to secure for him the rights of citizenship. Source informed that the COMMITTEE haspassed resolutions to this effect and has broadcasted them. Source further informed that one of these meetings was held in the home of DALTON TRUMBO, Hollywood Screen Writer and a Communist. This meeting was held March 24, 1945, and was attended by about three hundred members of the Hollywood film colony. The chairman of the meeting was BARTLEY CRUM of San Francisco, an attorney who, although a registered Republican, has supported Communist causes for a number of years.

LABOR CONDITION IN HOLLYWOOD STUDIO UNIONS
(Conference of Studio Unions Strike)

Source A has informed that much activity within the labor unions of a political nature has been in the support of a strike now in progress called by the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL, a Communist. Source A states that while this strike is apparently a matter of jurisdiction between two factions in the American Federation of Labor, the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS and the INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE OF THEATRE STAGE EMPLOYEES (IATSE), in reality it is a contest between the Communist influenced block of unions, the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS, and the non-Communist group, the IATSE. Source A informed that the Communist Political Association is not taking an open position in this strike, fearing to jeopardize its present influence within the top structure of the motion picture industry which has permitted much penetration by Communists. Source A stated, however, that it does permit its members to support the strike as individuals. This situation does not meet the public eye and for this reason the question of Communist influence has not been raised in the strike. The strike is now in its fifth week with no settlement in sight.

COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS

Source A has informed that the COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS is temporarily very quiet because of the strike mentioned above. The reason for this is that this organization is composed of labor guilds and unions, and being a political pressure organization, cannot afford to take sides in the present strike controversy. Source A has informed that much will be determined by the outcome of the present strike, inasmuch as it will determine just how much real influence the Communists have over the workers in the Hollywood motion picture industry.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Communist activity in the motion picture industry in Hollywood is largely devoted to the creation of public support in behalf of the San Francisco conference which meets April 25, 1945. The HOLLYWOOD CITIZENS ILLUSTRATED is now the leading propaganda agency for the Communist Political Association. It is connected with the CPI and is endeavoring to create international connections. An entourage of eight "distinguished French journalists" who published underground newspapers in France during the German occupation, including MME. [illegible] and MME. MARTHE RICHARD and six Frenchmen under the guidance of the OWI, were entertained in Los Angeles from February 12 to 15, 1945. The contacts of the two women were principally Communists connected with the HOLLYWOOD CITIZENS ILLUSTRATED. Communist contacts including [illegible], county president of the CPI, obtained and met out. The HOLLYWOOD CITIZENS ILLUSTRATED claims to be in contact with VOKS, the [illegible], president of the SOCIETY FOR CULTURAL RELATIONS [illegible] in Moscow. It is also preparing to go on the air with a national hookup in cooperation with the OWI and the War Department, and states that it hopes to reach fifty million people in these broadcasts. It also plans to publish a magazine which it will call "The Hollywood Quarterly". The HOLLYWOOD CITIZENS ILLUSTRATED took an active part in the April 5, 1945, municipal primary election. It has begun a campaign to have certain radio commentators removed from the air. A jurisdictional strike has been in progress since March 12, 1945, between the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNITED, led by [illegible] K. [illegible], a Communist key figure, and the IATSE, which claims to be non-Communist. The [illegible] has been very quiet due no doubt to the strike now in progress in the Hollywood motion picture unions.

Attached is a letter of SAC Hood pertaining to the captioned matter, in which he points out that it has occurred to him that quite possibly you may be called upon at some time in the future to state what Communist propaganda, if any, has actually been depicted in the various motion pictures. He points out that he does not believe it sufficient to state that a certain known Communist wrote, directed, or produced a particular motion picture which follows the Communist line, but on the contrary it would be necessary under such circumstances to be able to state specifically that there is in a script or a motion picture that which is believed to be Communist propaganda.

SAC Hood in his letter makes the suggestion that films be viewed by Agents as they are released to the public and an analysis made of them after the script, which would be easily obtainable, had been reviewed. He states that it is his personal opinion such information would be of extreme value to the Bureau and that it could be obtained without performing an undue amount of work commensurate with the value of the project.

SAC Hood submitted separate reviews of a motion picture entitled "The Master Race". These reviews were made by Agents who have been working on Communist matters for some time and who, according to SAC Hood, are especially well versed on Communist matters. He has forwarded the reviews, which are attached immediately hereto. He points out that he realizes the memoranda contain purely personal opinions of the Agents. He states, however, that this is the only way that a possible conclusion can be reached on the question of propaganda in a particular picture. SAC Hood feels that Agents who have had experience in Communist matters are much more capable than anyone else known to him to express opinions such as these.

OBSERVATIONS: On the surface it would appear that SAC Hood's observations and suggestions have a great deal of merit. There are, however, certain ramifications which it is believed SAC Hood has overlooked. Perhaps the foremost of these is the fact that while the opinions of Agents versed in Communist activities are of value, they are still not the opinions of persons who could be classified as expert witnesses. This consequently would result in a challenge to any statement which you might possibly be called upon to make as regards the Communist propaganda in a particular motion picture. It obviously would be based upon non-expert opinion and consequently no specific statement could be made.

There is also this to be taken into consideration. What a person who is familiar with Communist tactics might have to say about the purported injection of Communist propaganda into a motion picture might be entirely true; however, this still would be no evaluation as to the actual or possible effect that the propaganda has on the public in general. Furthermore, the present Communist "line" is, at least on the surface, most harmonious with the nation's policies and in many instances it would be most difficult to show that a line or a sequence in a motion picture has been wilfully injected as Communist propaganda.

Two alternatives to SAC Hood's suggestion are offered; one is that when information is received from the informant coverage of this particular matter that a certain picture is a propaganda vehicle, specific information should be obtained and summarized along with identifying data concerning persons responsible for the production. The Bureau then could attribute to confidential sources information concerning the particular picture in question. It is pointed out that in the past there have been brought to the Bureau's attention through this medium a number of pictures wherein there was alleged Communist propaganda.

The other alternative is that when information is received from the coverage of Communist activities in the motion picture industry that a particular picture is a propaganda vehicle and it is established on a fairly reliable basis that this is true, then the individual picture can be viewed by Agents versed in Communist activities and an analysis made setting forth pertinent parts of the script verbatim which are believed to contain the propaganda. This procedure would not necessitate what might result in a constant coverage of all pictures of a political or social nature which might be produced. It is not felt that each picture which might possibly have Communist propaganda in it should be looked into. Only those which are either obviously of this nature or are reported reliably by informants to be of such a nature should be so covered.

ACTION: There is attached for your approval a letter to SAC Hood setting forth the Bureau's desires in this regard and instructing that henceforth the coverage of motion pictures and vehicles should be limited to those which are obviously of this character or to those which reliable informants designate as media of Communist propaganda. Thereupon a careful analysis containing pertinent portions of the script can be prepared so that the Bureau may be appropriately informed as to such a picture. It is pointed out to SAC Hood that it will not be necessary to undertake any project whereby Agents will be assigned to review films of a social or political character which are produced from time to time.

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Attached is a letter of SAC Hood pertaining to the captioned matter, in which he points out that it has occurred to him that quite possibly you may be called upon at some time in the future to state what Communist propaganda, if any, has actually been depicted in the various motion pictures. He points out that he does not believe it sufficient to state that a certain known Communist wrote, directed, or produced a particular motion picture which follows the Communist line, but on the contrary it would be necessary under such circumstances to be able to state specifically that there is in a script or a motion picture that which is believed to be Communist propaganda.

SAC Hood in his letter makes the suggestion that films be viewed by Agents as they are released to the public and an analysis made of them after the script, which would be easily obtainable, had been reviewed. He states that it is his personal opinion such information would be of extreme value to the Bureau and that it could be obtained without performing an undue amount of work commensurate with the value of the project.

SAC Hood submitted separate reviews of a motion picture entitled "The Master Race". These reviews were made by Agents who have been working on Communist matters for some time and who, according to SAC Hood, are especially well versed on Communist matters. He has forwarded the reviews, which are attached immediately hereto. He points out that he realizes the memoranda contain purely personal opinions of the Agents. He states, however, that this is the only way that a possible conclusion can be reached on the question of propaganda in a particular picture. SAC Hood feels that Agents who have had experience in Communist matters are much more capable than anyone else known to him to express opinions such as these.

OBSERVATIONS: On the surface it would appear that SAC Hood's observations and suggestions have a great deal of merit. There are, however, certain ramifications which it is believed SAC Hood has overlooked. Perhaps the foremost of these is the fact that while the opinions of Agents versed in Communist activities are of value, they are still not the opinions of persons who could be classified as expert witnesses. This consequently would result in a challenge to any statement which you might possibly be called upon to make as regards the Communist propaganda in a particular motion picture. It obviously would be based upon non-expert opinion and consequently no specific statement could be made.

There is also this to be taken into consideration. What a person who familiar with Communist tactics might have to say about the purported injection of Communist propaganda into a motion picture might be entirely true; however, this still would be no evaluation as to the actual or possible effect that the propaganda has on the public in general. Furthermore, the present Communist "line" is, at least on the surface, most harmonious with the nation's policies and in many instances it would be most difficult to show that a line or a sequence in a motion picture has been wilfully injected as Communist propaganda.

Two alternatives to SAC Hood's suggestion are offered; one is that when information is received from the informant coverage of this particular matter that a certain picture is a propaganda vehicle, specific information should be obtained and summarized along with identifying data concerning persons responsible for the production. The Bureau then could attribute to confidential sources information concerning the particular picture in question. It is pointed out that in the past there have been brought to the Bureau's attention through this medium a number of pictures wherein there was alleged Communist propaganda.

The other alternative is that when information is received from the coverage of Communist activities in the motion picture industry that a particular picture is a propaganda vehicle and it is established on a fairly reliable basis that this is true, then the individual picture can be viewed Agents versed in Communist activities and an analysis made setting forth inent parts of the script verbatim which are believed to contain the ganda. This procedure would not necessitate what might result in a ant coverage of all pictures of a political or social nature which might duced. It is not felt that each picture which might possibly have ist propaganda in it should be looked into. Only those which are either ly of this nature or are reported reliably by informants to be of such re should be so covered.

ACTION: There is attached for your approval a letter to SAC Hood etting forth the Bureau's desires in this regard and instructing that hencefrth the coverage of motion pictures and vehicles should be limited to those hich are obviously of this character or to those which reliable informants signate as media of Communist propaganda. Thereupon a careful analysis conining pertinent portions of the script can be prepared so that the Bureau e appropriately informed as to such a picture. It is pointed out to SAC that it will not be necessary to undertake any project whereby Agents n assigned to review films of a social or political character which are ed from time to time.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communist activity in the motion picture field has been devoted almost exclusively to the United Nations Conference at San Francisco, a jurisdictional strike of the Conference of Studio Unions, and the Municipal election in Los Angeles. Informant believes a major change in the world-wide Communist line will come very soon after Germany collapses. Many conferences, forums, and radio programs have been held, or are to be held, which deal with the San Francisco Conference. All such conferences follow the position taken by the Communist Political Association. JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and four assistants have been sent to the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE as observers at the San Francisco Conference, and an editorial committee of 14 members has been appointed to correlate the activities of the Conference and prepare to make a motion picture showing same. The HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE is considering affiliation with the "INDEPENDENT COMMITTEE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES" and has supported candidates for office in the Los Angeles City election. A jurisdictional strike by C.S.U. has been in progress for the past eight weeks. The Communist issue is being raised in the Hollywood motion picture industry by W. R. WILKERSON, editor of the HOLLYWOOD REPORTER.

DETAILS:

AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

SOURCE A has informed that the Communist activities in the motion picture field in Hollywood have been devoted almost exclusively to the United Nations Conference at San Francisco, the jurisdictional strike called by the Conference of Studio Unions, the Municipal primary election on April 3rd, and the run-off Municipal election on May 1, 1945. This Source asserts that he has observed a great deal of confusion and indecision in the inner Communist circles in the Hollywood section because of the fact that the Communist issue is being forced into the open by the C.S.U. strike, and the position which the trade paper, "HOLLYWOOD REPORTER", has taken on the subject of Communism. In addition to this, Source states that the Communist line is not clear at this time on some angles of procedure.

This Source further states that there is considerable apprehension that there is to be a major change in the Communist line; that there is much excitement and speculation on what may result over the San Francisco United Nations Conference.

This Source further states that the activities of the Communist elements appear to be quite contradictory. He asserts that this uncertainty is not confined to Hollywood, but appears to arise from the undecided part the Communist world apparatus will be ordered to play in the immediate future.

SOURCE A states that he believes that there is a possibility of a major change in the world-wide Communist line, as soon as the Nazi regime collapses in Germany. If this happens, the immediate result would be for every phase of Communist activity in Hollywood to adapt itself to that new position. SOURCE A states that it is very probable that this change will be so at variance with what it has been for the past two or three years, that those Communists who have been leaders during that period, will find it impossible to carry on, in the open, and will find it necessary to seek other lines of endeavor, and the Communists will be compelled to set up new top leaders and functionaries.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

SOURCE A informs that this organization's primary interest has been in the United Nations Conference at San Francisco. Many conferences, forums, and radio programs have been held, or are to be held, which deal with the subject of the San Francisco conference, all of which follow and coincide with the position taken by the Communist Political Association in the United States.

SOURCE A has further informed that the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION has appointed JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, a Communist Political Association functionary, as its representative, to act as an impartial observer at the San Francisco United Nations Conference. At the present time, LAWSON is in San Francisco.

This Source also informed that RICHARD COLLINS and LEONARDO BERCOVICI have been sent by the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION to San Francisco to aid LAWSON in his work.

SOURCE A has also informed that WILLIAM POMERANCE, business representative of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, and SIDNEY HARMON have gone to San Francisco, as unofficial observers of the proceedings of the United Nations Conference.

SOURCE B has informed that LAWSON, COLLINS, BERCOVICI and POMERANCE, are all active and powerful members of the COMMUNIST POLITICAL ASSOCIATION, and have been members of the Communist Party, U. S. A., for a number of years, and that LAWSON has long been a functionary of the Communist Party, U.S. A.

SOURCE A has informed that the official publication of the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION, "COMMUNIQUE", the last issue of which has just come off the press, verifies the above, and states also that RICHARD COLLINS and LEONARDO BERCOVICI have been empowered by the organization to write a script based on the San Francisco Conference, and that this script will be the basis for a documentary film to be produced by the Office of War Information, to be shown in countries which have been released from subjugation.

The publication "COMMUNIQUE" also announced that the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION will hold a "Conference" on the United Nations program at the Los Angeles High School on May 18, 1945. Those who are to take part in this affair have been announced as follows:

ARCHIBALD MacLEISH, Assistant Secretary of State of the United States

HENRI BONNET, French Ambassador to the United States, who has assured the Mobilization of his desire to appear at said Conference.

SOURCE A advised that the "Steering Committee" which will handle this proposed conference, is composed of the following persons:

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, screen writer

Dr. FRANKLIN FEARING, Professor at the University of California, Los Angeles

EMMETT LAVERY, President of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD; also President of the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

KENNETH MacGOWAN, Hollywood director

FRANCIS FARAGOH, screen writer

JOHN HOUSEMAN, associate producer of motion pictures

SOURCE A advised that all of the above named parties have been identified with Communist activities in the Hollywood area, and that LAWSON has been a Communist Party functionary for several years.

SOURCE B informs that LAWSON is a Communist Political Association functionary.

SOURCE A has informed that in the matter of documentary film production, the organization has stated:

"Work of the Mobilization in connection with the OWI Overseas Bureau, went into high gear as the result of a recent series of conferences between ROBERT RISKIN, Chief of the Bureau, PHIL DUNNE, and the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION Editorial Committee on Overseas Films, headed by SIDNEY BUCHMAN."

SOURCE A has informed that this "Editorial Committee" is composed of the following persons:

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON
MELVYN LEVY
PHILIP DUNNE
RICHARD COLLINS
META REIS
WALDO SALT
DORE SCHARY
MAURICE KAPF

LA 100-15732

LEONARDO BERCOVICI
SIDNEY HARMON
JOHN HOUSEMAN
ARTHUR BIRNKRANT
WILLARD VAN DYKE
SIDNEY BUCHMAN, chairman

SOURCE B has informed that LAWSON, LEVY, COLLINS, REIS, SALT, KAPF, BERCOVICI, BIRNKRANT, and SIDNEY BUCHMAN, are all members of the Northwest Section of the Communist Political Association, and that LAWSON is a functionary of the Communist Political Association, and has been a member of the Communist Party, U.S.A. for a number of years.

SOURCE A has further informed that the above group is strongly Communist dominated.

Documentary motion pictures made in Hollywood by the Office of War Information and distributed abroad, are produced by persons who are subservient to the political line of the Communist Political Association.

SOURCE A also informs that starting on May 21, 1945, the Mobilization will present a series of radio programs over the Blue Network. They will deal with the problems of the returning soldier. These programs will appear for 13 consecutive weeks, starting on the date mentioned. The Committee producing this effort is composed of the following persons:

|---|---|
| SAM MOORE, Chairman | PAULINE LAUBER (FINN) |
| MARY McCALL, JR. | RANALD MacDOUGALL |
| FRANKLIN FEARING | BARBARA SMITTEN |
| MILTON MERLIN | ABE POLONSKY |
| BERNARD SCHOENFELD | CARLTON MOSS |
| LEONARD BLOOM (BLUM) | CAL KUHL |
| JOHN HOUSEMAN | PAUL STEWART |
| LOUIS SOLOMON | ARNOLD MAQUIS |

SOURCE A advised that the members of this Committee are strongly under the influence of the Communists, and according to SOURCE B, SAM MOORE, LOUIS SOLOMON, and PAULINE LAUBER FINN, are active Communist Political Association members at the present time.

SOURCE A advised that in addition to the foregoing activities, the Mobilization has taken part in others, such as the protest against the action of Radio Station KFI in Los Angeles in discharging five radio commentators, four of whom were followers of the Communist Party line; and support of a new organization called "Industrial Films", located at 1558 North Vine Street, Hollywood, California. This organization proposes, according to SOURCE A, to produce a series of "industrial films" dealing with such subjects as "Political Issues", "Army Indoctrinization", "Economic Realities", "Academic Subjects", and "Industrial Processes". SOURCE A states that the foregoing is plainly of a propaganda nature.

HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

SOURCE A has informed that the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE is now in the process of changing its outward appearance. It has been proposed, and will undoubtedly agree to the proposal, that it become the Hollywood branch of a National organization which functions on substantially the same lines. The organization with which it is about to affiliate is known as the "INDEPENDENT COMMITTEE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES".

SOURCE A informs that this last mentioned organization was originally set up to take part in the 1944 National elections. It was composed of a large group of "intellectuals" who had, for the most part, been followers of the Communist Party line for a number of years. The intention of the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE to become a branch of this broader organization, means that the Committee will now be able to get immediate National support for all of its Hollywood activities. It is also for the purpose of softening some of the Communist stigma attached to the Committee because of its past activities. This change in name, and new dress, will serve that purpose, to a great extent. However, SOURCE A has stated that this change, according to the announcement of the organization, will be not officially made until after the Los Angeles Municipal election which is to be held on May 1, 1945.

SOURCE A informs that the main activity of the Committee for the last 30 days has been the inauguration of a campaign to secure the election of certain candidates to public office who have shown sympathy, more or less, to the local Communist political program.

SOURCE A has further informed that the main concentration of the Committee is on the candidates for the Los Angeles School Board. Those the Committee specifically endorsed, are the following:

FAY E. ALLEN
GEORGE E. ELLICOTT
CATHERINE E. BRESLIN
JOHN W. BALDWIN

SOURCE A informs that FAY E. ALLEN has openly followed the Communist Party line for several years. This Source also states that the other three have no particular record as to their possible Communist sympathies.

SOURCE A further advised that the other candidates for which the Committee has carried on a campaign are the following:

CHARLOTTE BASS, for the Los Angeles City Council

PARLEY PARKER CHRISTENSEN, for the Los Angeles City Council

L. E. TIMBERLAKE, for the Los Angeles City Council

SOURCE A advised that all of the above persons, in both groups, have the endorsement of the Communist Political Association.

SOURCE A informs that in addition to the above activities, the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE has held meetings for the defense of HARRY BRIDGES, to protest the action of Radio Station KFI in discharging certain political commentators, and all the other Communist inspired activities.

SOURCE A further informs that in the line of propaganda, the Committee's efforts coincide with that of the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION mentioned heretofore, and that the two organizations have what could be called an interlocking control. The personnel of these organizations is practically the same in the matter of control, and both organizations follow the directions of the Communist Political Association, and both are considered Communist front organizations in the Hollywood area.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

SOURCE A has further informed that a strike called by the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS is now in its eighth week. Ostensibly, this strike is a jurisdictional dispute over the control of 77 craftsmen called "set decorators". SOURCE A informs that both the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS, and the INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE OF THEATRICAL STAGE EMPLOYEES (IATSE) claim jurisdiction.

This Source states that, in reality, the strike is an attempt of the C.S.U., an organized bloc of unions within the A. F. of L. in the Hollywood Studios, which are under the influence of the Communist elements led by HERBERT K. SORRELL, a Communist, to take over the remaining studio crafts not yet under Communist control.

This same Source states that the Communist issue had been held to a minimum for some time, but it is now coming to the surface and the IATSE is conducting a campaign to expose the Communist nature of the strike, and the real purpose behind it. The strike is not for higher wages, or better conditions; it is merely for control of a group of workers within the Local IATSE unions and the set dressers who are not at present in the IATSE. The purpose is that if the Communist dominated C.S.U. can gain this control, it would set the stage for taking over the remainder of the IATSE local unions.

This Source states that the strike has now reached a stalemate and no adjustment seems immediately possible, and that another group has injected itself into the situation. This Source states that a secret group, known as the COMMITTEE OF 35, has appeared, with leaflets and other propaganda material, opposed to both the C.S.U. and the IATSE. This latest angle of the strike is an attempt of what are known as the TROTSKYISTS, a branch of the radical Communist movement, to inject their political viewpoint into the battle and try to take over the unions. They claim to be speaking for the CIO, but this is trickery, for the CIO is not interested in Hollywood unions at this particular time. The CIO has officially denied and repudiated this COMMITTEE OF 35.

COMMUNIST ISSUE IN OTHER PLACES

On October 18, 1945, the HOLLYWOOD REPORTER, a daily trade publication, printed an editorial stating that, whereas, Hollywood had performed a great service in exposing and opposing Nazi and Fascist ideological maneuvers, it was now about time that the Hollywood producers make some pictures showing up the attempts of the Communists to undermine our way of living in the United States.

SOURCE A further informed that this brought down on the publication, a flood of abuse. The DAILY WORKER in New York made a violent attack on the editor of the paper in Hollywood, a Mr. W. R. WILKERSON. On April 30, 1945, Mr. WILKERSON came back with a caustic editorial, and the exchange of viewpoints now threatens to raise the question of Communism in the Hollywood motion picture industry, and create a heated controversy.

OPPOSITION TO COMMUNISM

SOURCE A has further informed that the MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE, an anti-Communist organization organized early in 1944, after having been inactive for some six months, has now again come forward. This Source stated that within the last week, it has issued what it calls "A report for the past year". It is a resume of its activities. This Source informed that it is quite a lengthy report, and contains the usual attacks on the activities of the Communists in the Hollywood motion picture industry. This Source further advised that the MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE had called a general meeting for April 28th in Hollywood, but at the last moment, it was called off, and the date for the meeting has now been set for May 21st.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communist activity in the motion picture field has been devoted almost exclusively to the United Nations Conference at San Francisco, a jurisdictional strike of the Conference of Studio Unions, and the Municipal election in Los Angeles. Informant believes a major change in the world-wide Communist line will come very soon after Germany collapses. Many conferences, forums, and radio programs have been held, or are to be held, which deal with the San Francisco Conference. All such conferences follow the position taken by the Communist Political Association. JOHN LEE AND LATTON, and four assistants have been sent to the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE as observers at the San Francisco Conference, and an editorial committee of 14 members has been appointed to correlate the activities of the Conference and prepare to make a motion picture showing same. The HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE is considering affiliation with the "INDEPENDENT COMMITTEE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES" and has supported candidates for office in the Los Angeles City election. A jurisdictional strike by C.S.U. has been in progress for the past eight weeks. The Communist issue is being raised in the Hollywood motion picture industry by W. R. WILKERSON, editor of the HOLLYWOOD REPORTER.

RE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 4-3-95 BY SP12BTJ6CM Per release

INTRODUCTION

The information incorporated hereinafter has been made available by a number of confidential informants and reliable sources who are not only familiar with the motion picture industry in Hollywood, California, but who are also well acquainted with activities of the Communist Political Association in the Los Angeles and Hollywood, California area. One informant who has made available considerable of the background information for this memorandum has been associated with the motion picture industry for a number of years, and in this position, as well as being familiar with Communist activities in the Hollywood area, he has provided information of a reliable nature in the past.

BACKGROUND

It has been related that prior to 1933 the Communist International did not realize the possibilities of the motion picture as a propaganda medium. At about this time, however, the "talking" picture was perfected and it is said that the Soviet Union, with its world-wide staff of propagandists, assumed the lead in adapting the motion picture for propaganda purposes throughout the world. It is further related that delegations of Russians came to Hollywood to study the American cinema.

According to a report of an informant, a directive was issued in 1935 by the top structure of the Communist Party in the United States to the effect that there must be an intensive concentration by the Party on Hollywood and the motion picture industry. The directive pointed to the various labor unions connected with the industry and stated that Communists must endeavor to capture the labor unions. The directive also emphasized, according to the informant, that work must be done among the cultural groups in Hollywood, particularly the writers, artists, actors, and actresses, and others to enlist their assistance in the Communist movement. According to the source, since the issuance of the directive, the influence of the Communist Party (now the Communist Political Association), both direct and indirect, has been one of steady development over a period of ten years. During this time, according to the source, the motion picture industry has been considered by Communists as the principal medium of propaganda for Communist ideas, and consequently a concentrated program of penetration has been centered on the motion picture industry. EXTENT OF INFILTRATION

As a result of information made available by reliable informants and sources concerning the activities of the Communists in Hollywood, a correlation of this material indicates the following concerning members of the Communist Political Association or Communist front groups in the industry.

Directors and Producers — In this category there are reported to be at present eight known Communists and fifteen members of one or more organizations which, according to reliable information, are Communist controlled and influenced. (100-138754-4 p.66. -24 p.26)

Writers — There are, according to information received, roughly 110 writers employed in the various motion picture studios who are Communists. Perhaps the outstanding figure in this group is John Howard Lawson who is said to have considerable influence in the Hollywood area. (100-138754-20;35)

Actors and Actresses — Information received indicates that there are over fifty actors and actresses who are Communists. This figure includes bit and minor part actors and actresses. Among the more prominent are said to be Gale Sondergaard, wife of Herbert Biberman; Lucille Ball; Lionel Stander; and Rex Ingram. In addition, there are reportedly over twenty other actors and actresses who are members of Communist front groups, including such people as James Cagney, Ida Lupino, Walter Huston, John Garfield, Frederick March, Philip Merivale, Olivia de Haviland, Orson Welles, Rita Hayworth, Virginia Bruce, Rosiland Russell, and Edward G. Robinson. (100-183754-4 p.78; 35;50)

Labor — It might be noted that this category includes not only technicians, screen set workers, carpenters, etc., but also members of various Guilds such as the Screen Story Analysts' Guild, the Screen Office Employees' Guild and others. It is said that 12 prominent labor leaders in various unions and Guilds connected with the motion picture industry are Communists. In addition, there is a large number of "rank and file" members who are also identified as Communists. Herbert K. Sorrell, who is described as the leading labor figure in the motion picture industry, is reported to be a Communist. As head of the Conference of Studio Unions, he is the chief liaison man between labor and the Motion Picture Producers Association. (Ibid. p.45;35)

The following figures have been confidentially supplied as to the number of Communists in various Guilds. These Guilds are set forth immediately hereinafter along with the reported and estimated number of Communists in each:

Screen Office Employees' Guild ..... 50
(Leadership is reported to be Communist dominated) Screen Story Analysts' Guild.....15
(Leadership is infiltrated by Communists)
Screen Publicists' Guild.....10 - 15
(Leadership reported to be Communist dominated)
Screen Writers' Guild.....110
(Leadership reported to be Communist dominated)
Screen Directors' Guild.....5
(Leadership is said not to be controlled by Communists)
Screen Cartoonists' Guild.....10 - 20
(Leadership said to be Communist infiltrated)
(Material supplied by SAC Hood to Director)

COMMUNIST POLITICAL ASSOCIATION STRUCTURE IN HOLLYWOOD

From information received concerning the organizational structure of the Communist Political Association and, formerly, the Communist Party, it is indicated that until January, 1945, a special section, namely the Northwest Section, had been set up for the convenience of Communist work in the motion picture industry. In August, 1944, it was reported that the Northwest Section of the Communist Political Association was divided into 12 branches with a membership of nearly 600. A number of the branches, according to a reliable informant, were broken down as to the professions of the members, including writers, cartoonists, actors, musicians and radio artists. The remaining branches, according to this informant, were so-called "community" branches. The membership of these branches was indicated to be limited to people in the motion picture industry and allied cultural groups.

In December, 1944, a national officer of the Communist Political Association visited Los Angeles, at which time, according to sources present, he discussed the problems of motion picture and radio people being assigned to regular community branches, in line with national Communist Political Association directives to that effect. This Communist Political Association official approved assigning motion picture and radio people who need "protection" to separate groups. The official stated that certain people in Hollywood should not be attached to any community group or even a "paper" community group. He said that the experience of the Communist leadership has shown that these people cannot be fused into community groups but rather be given guidance in their special activity in which they can be effective. In January, 1945, according to a reliable informant, the more important people in motion picture, radio and allied cultural fields were assigned to "cultural" or "miscellaneous" groups, each group in turn being attached (for bookkeeping purposes) to a community Communist Political Association group in the geographical area in which it is located.

It is said that under this arrangement there are 13 separate groups composed of from 10 to 40 people. Each group has its own functionary. The governing body of this arrangement appears to be the Motion Picture and Radio Commission composed of seven or eight people, all of whom have been prominent and important in the Communist movement in Hollywood. The total membership of these cultural and miscellaneous groups is said to reach approximately 350.

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF LABOR GROUPS

As a matter of background, it is related that the Communist Party, in the early 1930's, attempted to wrest control from the A. F. of L. through the establishment of the Motion Picture Workers Industrial Union, and between the time of its creation and April, 1935, it had taken in a large number of members and was on the way to becoming the leading union in Hollywood. However, in April, 1935, according to reliable informants, instructions were sent out by the then Central Committee of the Communist Party, that all independent unions were to be liquidated and their members sent into the American Federation of Labor or affiliates with the object of capturing them. In February, 1936, the union was dissolved.

At the present time there are approximately thirty-nine labor organizations of various sorts in the motion picture industry. Some are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, while the balance are independent unions.

Conference of Studio Unions

This group is said to be a small compact unit of delegates and representatives of a bloc of labor unions in the motion picture industry, which is reported to have been taken over and to be under the control of Communists operating through its members in the affiliated unions of the Conference, which have been captured. The Conference of Studio Unions is described as an organization set up to act as the control and steering committee to coordinate and direct Communist activities looking toward taking over all studio workers and their unions. The Conference has ten affiliated locals, including painters, laboratory technicians, office employees, cartoonists, screen set designers, studio machinists, building service employees, special officers and guards, screen publicists and screen analysts, comprising a membership of approximately 8,000. Herbert K. Sorrell is President. He has been identified previously. Norville D. Crutcher, described as a Communist, is the Chairman, while D. T. Wayne, Vice Chairman, and Russell L. McKnight, Secretary-Treasurer, are reported to be connected with a number of Communist front groups.

Hollywood Guild Council

This group is said to have been formed through Communist instigation as a result of the failure of Communists to function within the old International Alliance of Theatrical State Employees which was an autonomous group of local labor unions identified with the American Federation of Labor. The Council is composed of the Screen Writers' Guild, the Screen Directors' Guild, the Screen Publicists' Guild, the Screen Readers' Guild, and the Screen Actors' Guild. The reported purpose of the Hollywood Guild Council is also said to be to afford a base of operations for Communists to penetrate other labor groups.

The leading group in the Council is the Screen Writers' Guild, according to reports received, which Guild was organized by a group of writers who were then members of the John Reed Club of Hollywood, which later became the Hollywood Chapter of the League of American Writers. At its last election in November, 1944, it is reported that one of its elected Vice Presidents is a known Communist while five members of the Executive Board were likewise reported to be Communists.

Another Guild in the Council, namely the Screen Directors' Guild, was reportedly organized in February, 1936. It is said that the present officers of this Guild are not known to be Communists, although it does include in its membership a number of persons closely identified with the Communist movement. (100-138754-4)

The Screen Publicists' Guild is reported to have affiliated itself in the past with Communist inspired or influenced groups such as the League of American Writers and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization.
(100-138754-4 p.73)

The Screen Readers' Guild is alleged to be influenced to a large extent by the Screen Writers' Guild. (IBid p.74)

The Screen Actors' Guild, whose current President is James Cagney, includes a number of prominent actors in the Hollywood area.
(Ibid. p.76)

Miscellaneous A. F. of L. Local Unions

Information has been received that there are a number of other local A. F. of L. unions and unions formerly connected with the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, engaged in the labor field in Hollywood. However, it is reported that there is no great Communist infiltration of these groups. It is said that they may be divided roughly into two categories, namely, in which there are a number of Communist Party members and in which the locals are to a certain extent subject to Communist influence and second, that in which there are a number of anti-Communists and in which the Communist influence is at a minimum. (100-138754-4 24,21)

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF INTELLECTUAL GROUPS

A source has pointed out that the Communist Party directive of 1935 referred to hereinbefore, specificially included instructions to concentrate on the so-called intellectual group in the movie industry, including directors, writers, artists, actors, actresses, and highly paid technicians. Reportedly, the purpose of this control is to utilize the motion picture industry as an instrument of propaganda and to cause the production of movies which will serve the interests of the foreign policy of the Soviet Union. It has been pointed out that while there has been an immense program of infiltration into the labor unions, it is nevertheless among the "intellectuals" where the most progress has been made and where Communist sympathy and influence are strongest and most far reaching. It has been indicated that the Communist strategy in handling such groups as the directors, writers, artists, actors, etc., has been to work through the use of front organizations, not openly identified with the Communist Party or Communist Political Association, but which are, nevertheless, controlled by the Communists through official membership.

In 1930, as it is reported, the International Union of Revolutionary Writers, held a convention in Kharkov, Russia, under the instructions of the Communist International. It has been said that the International Union of Revolutionary Writers was responsible for the ultimate formation of the League of American Writers in the United States, now operating almost entirely through the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. At about the same time, as it is reported, another organization was set up in the Soviet Union known as the International Union of Revolutionary Theater. This group has been pointed to as the parent of a number of sub-organizations in the United States including the Workers Theaters, Theater Groups, Little Theaters, and others. The League of Workers Theaters, created in New York City in about 1932 was changed in name to the "New Theater League". A number of persons closely identified with the Communist movement have, in the past, served in executive positions in this organization. (100-138754-4)

Other similar groups referred to by sources of information as being in this category, have been the Contemporary Theater, Inc., and the Hollywood Theater Alliance.

In Hollywood during the time of the existence of the American Peace Mobilization and its predecessor groups, it is reported that there were a number of local groups affiliated with this movement which, according to informants, involved a number of movie industry personalities from the "intellectual" field. Informants have pointed out that this group, local to Hollywood, in the order of their existence, includes the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League, the Hollywood League for Democratic Action, the American Peace Mobilization (Hollywood) and the Hollywood Democratic Committee, the last of which organizationswas set up in January, 1943, for the purpose of forming an association of voters in the motion picture community to support "victory legislation" and "victory candidates".

Another of the outstanding groups now in existence in Hollywood is the Hollywood Writers Mobilization which, according to information received, was created by the League of American Writers in 1941. Since its organization it has gradually replaced the League of American Writers. It has been pointed out that this organization did not bear the stigma of having guessed wrong at the time of the Nazi invasion of Russia in 1941. It is said that practically all of the leading figures of the League of American Writers are now affiliated with the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. In 1944 the Hollywood Writers Mobilization began to produce a number of documentary films for the Overseas Branch of the Office of War Information. It is said that this arrangement was reportedly made through Robert Riskin, Chief of the Overseas Bureau of Films, Office of War Information, and a former motion picture producer who is a member of the League of American Writers and reportedly a close associate of John Howard Lawson, who is reliably reported to be a Communist. (100-13875-4-26-31-34)

It might be pointed out that information has been received that two of the officials of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization at the present time are Communists, while all other officials have been affiliated with one or more Communist front groups. The organization's predecessor, the Hollywood Chapter of the League of American Writers, has been described as an organization which followed the Communist Party line from its establishment. The League and its predecessor are alleged to have reached such a position of power and influence in the movie industry that they practically have dominated the cultural section of the motion picture industry. (100-138754-4-9-24)

Among other organizations which have received the support of prominent persons in the industry and which organizations are reliably reported to be Communist fronts, are the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee,

The Peoples Educational Center, and the Los Angeles Council of American Soviet Friendship. The Peoples Educational Center was formerly the Hollywood Writers School, an off-shoot of the League of American writers, according to information reported. The Center is said to be conducted and almost solely identified with the motion picture industry, and as all of the instructors are from that source, it is said that the influence and prestige of the industry are bestowed upon the school. (100-138754-34)

COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN CURRENT MOTION PICTURES

As stated previously, the Communist Party (now the Communist Political Association) is reported to have indicated as its opinion that to control the final motion picture would be to control a splendid propaganda outlet. It is said that with the change of the Communist Party line at the time of the invasion of Russia by the Nazis in June, 1941, there commenced an unprecedented period of Communist influence in the motion pictures themselves. It is claimed that this may be accounted for in part by the fact that the aims of the Communists through circumstance are coincidental with the aims of the United Nations. Therefore, under the guise of patriotism the Communists are able, according to informants, to inject their views into the motion picture field.

Among the motion pictures which have been cited as being subject to Communist influence or as reflecting in some degree Communist or Soviet propaganda, are the following:

"Mission to Moscow"
"Action in the North Atlantic"
"Keeper of the Flame"
"Hangmen Also Die"
"Our Russian Front"
"Edge of Darkness"
"This Land is Mine"
"The City That Stopped Hitler"
"Black Sea Fighters"
"North Star"
"Watch on the Rhine"
"Hostages"
"Song of Russia"
"The Seventh Cross"
"None But the Lonely Heart"
"Tomorrow the World"

(100-138754-9
100-138754 subA
DM 11/26/44)

It has been alleged that following the nation-wide controversy over "Mission to Moscow", the technique of producing propaganda material for motion pictures changed somewhat. It was further alleged that as of May, 1944, Communist writers and directors became more subtle and began using the technique of inserting a line, a scene, or even a sequence carrying out the Communist line into an otherwise non-political picture. It was further stated that this method has been found effective inasmuch as it does not appear purposeful but merely coincidental.

REPORTED RUSSIAN INFLUENCE IN HOLLYWOOD

It has been pointed out that in August, 1943, Mikhial Kolotozov, Soviet Film Industry representative, arrived in Hollywood. According to the press, his duties were to be comparable to that of an ambassador in diplomatic circles with the additional function of advising on the purchase of American films. It has been alleged that Kolotozov has been in contact with Communist elements in Hollywood and, in this regard, shortly after his arrival in Hollywood a reception was held in his honor sponsored by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. This group was reported to have considerable Communist influence in it. His announced aims were to the effect that he desired to "strengthen the artistic and commercial ties between the cinema people of the United States and those of the Soviet Union". (100-138754-21 p.23)

Among the films which are alleged to have been purchased by Kolotozov and which are claimed to be exhibited in Russia as representative of United States films are "The Little Foxes" and "The Earl of Chicago". The first of these pictures depicts a degenerate Southern family and the latter is a story of a Chicago gangster in England. Informants have reported that it is particularly unusual that Kolotozov should have selected "The Earl of Chicago" since this picture was never particularly successful in the United States and is several years old. It has been speculated on that it may be a part of Kolotozov's plan or propaganda technique to obtain such pictures in order to exhibit life in the United States at its worst to the Soviet people. Until January, 1944, the CPA members employed in the motion picture industry and the radio industry, with few exceptions, were assigned to the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County CPA. Some Branches (or Clubs) in the Northwest Section were neighborhood Branches; others were formed along industrial or occupational lines, that is, all writers were in two Branches, radio people in another, actors in another, etc.

When JOHN WILLIAMSON came to Los Angeles in December, 1945, the problem of motion picture and radio people being assigned to regular community branches, in line with national CPA directives to that effect, was discussed and WILLIAMSON gave his o.k. to assigning such people who need "protection" to separate groups. In January, 1945, the more important people in motion picture, radio, and allied cultural fields were assigned to "cultural" or "miscellaneous" groups, each group in turn being attached (for bookkeeping purposes) to a Community CPA Club in the geographical area in which it is located.

Under this set-up there are thirteen separate groups, composed of from ten to forty people in each group, and each group has its own functionaries. The governing body appears to be the Motion Picture and Radio Commission, composed of seven or eight people all of whom are known and all of whom have been on the Los Angeles key figure list. The total membership of these cultural and miscellaneous groups is about 350 people. (Before the Northwest Section disbanded in 1944, there were about 500 to 600 people in the Section.)

Confidential informants have provided the full membership of these cultural and miscellaneous groups, together with their 1943 and 1944 CP-USA book numbers, and their 1944 and 1945 CPA membership card numbers (with few exceptions). In addition, confidential informants have provided the 1945 registration cards on the great majority of these individuals.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communist activity in the motion picture field has been devoted largely to the United Nations Conference at San Francisco. A major change in the Communist Party line is now in the making, and appears to be swinging back to its old basic tenet of "world revolution". The HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE has changed its name to HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS, preparatory to following the new Communist Party line. The HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION is changing its activities to harmonize with the new Communist Party line. The COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS is supporting the Communist Party line, and planning to extend the motion picture business in certain countries, especially France, Soviet Russia, Mexico, and Argentine. The CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS, and its leader, HERBERT K. SORRELL, are continuing the jurisdictional strike which has now been in progress thirteen weeks. A new publication, "STUDIO UNION NEWS" has made its appearance. The MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE FOR THE PRESERVATION OF AMERICAN IDEALS has had one meeting recently, and they state that the fight against Communism will be continued.

AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

SOURCE A has reported that the Communist activity in the Hollywood section, as elsewhere throughout the United States, is now taking on a different form because of the recent change in the foreign policy of the Soviet Union, largely due to the surrender of the German armies and the alignment of the various allied nations, in preparation for the claims to be filed and urged at the peace table. This policy is now shaping itself to the rapidly increasing conflict between the ideals of the democracies, the United States, England and France, as opposed to the totalitarian form of Soviet Russia.

As a result of this change in the foreign policy of the Soviet Union, the COMMUNIST POLITICAL ASSOCIATION is now in the process of changing its "line" to conform to that policy. The result is that all Communist activity in the Hollywood motion picture industry is undergoing a change. Although this contemplated change in the Party line was not made public until May 24, 1945, the Communists in Hollywood in the motion picture field had advance notice of this change, as symptoms of the change began to appear about May 1, 1945, when certain front organizations began to prepare their membership for the change.

While the transition period is now in progress, it will be from 60 to 90 days before it becomes clear, because of the necessity of preparing the groundwork and devising political "analyses", which always precedes a change in the Communist tactics and visible objectives.

HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE NOW CHANGED TO HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS

SOURCE A has informed that the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE, which heretofore was an organization set up to operate in the political field in conjunction with the Democratic Party of California, and Nationally to some extent, has already changed its structure and aims to conform to this change in the Communist Party line.

On June 6, 1945, a meeting was called by the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE at the American Legion Hall in Hollywood for the purpose of changing the name of the organization, and to formulate the work which it is to perform in the future.

By a unanimous vote of about 350 persons present, the name of the organization was changed to HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS.

The reason for this change, according to SOURCE A, is that the Communist Party, U.S.A. is to be revived as COMMUNIST POLITICAL ASSOCIATION will be discontinued because the war in Europe is now over, and the world Communist movement will soon go back to the Marxist-Leninist theory of eventual revolution. The HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE will be forced by its leaders to revert to this harmonious position, cease to be identified with the Democratic processes in the United States, and place itself in a position to support, outright, Communist causes under its new name.

The HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE is now going through the necessary maneuvers to affiliate itself with the INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS, with National headquarters in New York City. This organization was first set up in July, 1944, under the name "INDEPENDENT VOTERS COMMITTEE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES FOR ROOSEVELT". It had branches in Boston, Chicago, and perhaps other cities throughout the country. JO DAVIDSON, a sculptor in New York City, was the first chairman, and HANNAH DORNER was the first secretary. Some of the leaders in the movement which resulted in the formation of the INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS, were the following persons, some of whom are well known sponsors for many front organizations:

|---|---|
| VAN WYCK BROOKS | DR. SERGE KOUSSEVILCKY |
| NORMAN CORWIN | BENNETT CERF |
| CLIFTON FADIMAN | LOUIS ADAMIC |
| WILLIAM ROSE BENET | DR. ERNST P. BOAZ |
| MARC CONNELLY | AARON COPELAND |
| EDNA FERBER | DR. ALICE HAMILTON |
| OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN | LILLIAN HELLMAN |
| CANADA LEE | EMIL LENGYL |
| KENNETH MacGOWAN | FREDERIC MARCH |
| HERMAN SHUMLIN | DR. HENRY E. SEGERIST |

So far as is known at present, the persons sponsoring the original organization are the National sponsors for the new organization, the "INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS", but it has been stated openly that many new sponsors have been added. However, their identities are unknown at present.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

For the same reasons, SOURCE A has informed that a change is taking place in the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION to conform to the new COMMUNIST PARTY line, and that it is in a state of transition. Open activities have been held in abeyance, pending a clear delineation of the new Party line. As the membership of this organization overlaps into the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE, mentioned above, the change in propaganda, content, and organizational structure will very probably follow the line of the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE.

SOURCE informs that, in the meantime, the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION devotes its time and activity almost exclusively to the preparation and promulgation of propaganda favorable to those features of the United Nations Conference at San Francisco which support the position of Soviet Russia. This position is parallel to the agenda of the COMMUNIST POLITICAL ASSOCIATION. The HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION will be affected by the cutting down of the old W.I. appropriation by Congress, but aside from a loud protest, there has been very little activity on the part of this organization.

COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS

SOURCE A advised that this bloc of studio labor unions, under Communist influence, some 19 in all, likewise is in a state of indecision. The great majority of the membership of the unions composing this council are not in sympathy with Communism, or with Communists. For this reason, this group must tread softly in reversing its position on the Party line; and the activities of this group are also held in abeyance. While this organization is composed of guilds and unions, it is not a bargaining agency for labor, but acts as a political pressure group. It uses its combined strength to pass resolutions and forward them to United States Senators and Congressmen, urging the passage of such measures as the FEPC, anti-Poll Tax and other similar legislation. They support all phases of the United Nations conference now in convention at San Francisco, which are supported by the Communist Party line and the Communist Political Association.

SOURCE A further informs that its main purpose, however, is of a more secret nature. It has been and is now, working toward an International connection with all the workers in the motion picture industry of foreign countries, notably France, England, the Soviet Union, and South American countries, especially Mexico and Argentine. Their purpose, as stated to their members, is to create an organization whereby those employed in the motion picture industry can be exchanged with the various countries.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

This group of unions, nine in number, according to SOURCE A, is under Communist influence, and is now in the 13th week of a jurisdictional strike held by HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist.

This Source informs that this strike does not relate to a legitimate labor dispute, being ostensibly a jurisdictional contest over control of a small group of 77 workers, known as set dressers. In reality, this strike is an attempt by the Communists, operating through the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS, to take over some six unions, four of which are affiliated with the INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE OF THEATRICAL STAGE EMPLOYEES. It is a continuation of a program begun some ten years ago by the Communist Party to take over and control the labor unions in the motion picture industry. The IATSE, however, having always been opposed to Communist infiltration, stands in the way of this program; hence, the strike is aimed at that organization as a jurisdictional dispute. There is no question of wages involved, or working conditions. It is jurisdictional only. The Communist issue has been raised by the IATSE, and the ultimate outcome of the strike will be determined by this issue alone.

SOURCE A further advised that the COMMUNIST POLITICAL ASSOCIATION has not openly supported SORRELL and his Communist group because of the "No Strike" pledge of the previous period; but now that the Communist Party line is changing to permit the support of strikes, it will inject itself more or less openly into the contest. The complexion of the entire Studio Union structure in the Hollywood film industry will depend on the outcome of this contest between the Communist unions and the IATSE.

The IATSE, being aware of the Communist leadership of the strikers, made an investigation of the record of SORRELL as a Communist, and discovered that he had followed the Communist Party line for a number of years; had been an officer of the AMERICAN PEACE MOBILIZATION; had condemned President ROOSEVELT publicly as a war monger before Russia was attacked, and had changed his position from anti-war to pro-war after Russia was attacked.

In a series of bulletins, the IATSE publicized this information, some of it is photostatic form, and exposed the present strike as being Communist led. SORRELL then brought suit, about May 15, 1945, for $150,000.00 damages, in the Los Angeles County Superior Court, claiming that he had been libeled by being called a Communist. The suit was against the IATSE as a union, and RICHARD WALSH, its President, and ROY M. BREWER, another official of the IATSE.

The CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS circulated leaflets accusing RICHARD WALSH, President of the IATSE, of being a Hitlerite and a Fascist, a dictator and a subversive character because of his Hitlerite tactics. In return, the IATSE prepared the pamphlets which set forth the Communist record and connection of HERBERT K. SORRELL.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

SOURCE A has ascertained that a new publication, called "STUDIO

UNION NEWS", has recently appeared. It is a paper of tabloid size, eight pages, presumably issued in the interests of the studio workers. In fact, it is a Communist inspired organ whose purpose is to gain a foothold in the Hollywood Labor unions. It follows the Communist Party line vaguely. The publisher is MARCY B. SAPIN, who is also the publisher of a monthly magazine called "Frauds", and printed in La Canada, a suburb of Los Angeles. This latter publication also follows the Communist Party line.

MARCY B. SAPIN has no connection with the motion picture business, but this publication is recommended by the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS, which solicits subscriptions for it at union mass meetings held at the American Legion stadium in Hollywood on Sunday nights.

MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE FOR THE PRESERVATION OF AMERICAN IDEALS

SOURCE A advised that this organization, formed to combat Communism in the motion picture industry, has resumed its activities after being quiescent for some six or eight months. On May 21, 1945, it held a membership meeting at the Hollywood Women's Club in Hollywood, and elected officers and an executive board for the coming year. Some 250 persons attended the meeting, many of whom were connected with the Hollywood Labor Unions which oppose Communist infiltration. The principal speaker of the evening was MATTHEW LEVY, of New York City, who is opposed to the Communists, and is the attorney for the IATSE. He is in Hollywood at the present time for the purpose of protecting the interests of the IATSE in the present strike. Since the meeting, the MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE has taken no further action, although it has stated that it will begin a campaign shortly to combat Communism in the Hollywood area.

SOURCE A predicts that with the coming change in Communist activity, tactics and objectives, there will, in all probability, be a serious situation within the motion picture industry. For some years now, Communist infiltration has been intense, but the "patriotic line" they followed during the period when Soviet Russia needed help, will now be abandoned.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communist activity in the motion picture field has been devoted largely to the United Nations Conference at San Francisco. A major change in the Communist Party line is now in the making, and appears to be swinging back to its old basic tenet of "world revolution". The HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE has changed its name to HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS, preparatory to following the new Communist Party line. The HOLLYWOOD UNITED MOBILIZATION is changing its activities to harmonize with the new Communist Party line. The COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS is supporting the Communist Party line, and planning to extend the motion picture business in certain countries, especially France, Soviet Russia, Mexico and Argentina. The CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS, and its leader, HERBERT K. SOSWELL, are continuing the jurisdictional strike which has now been in progress thirteen weeks. A new publication, "STUDIO UNION NEWS" has made its appearance. The MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE FOR THE PRESERVATION OF AMERICAN IDEALS has had one meeting recently, and they state that the fight against Communism will be continued.

INTRODUCTION

The Los Angeles Office recently opened a file in the entitled matter to determine whether through any propaganda agents or otherwise the Soviets are attempting to place Soviet propaganda in documentary war films made by government agencies for exhibition to the armed forces, or through influencing local writers, technicians, directors and producers in Hollywood, they are endeavoring to incorporate Soviet propaganda in the films made for general release to the public.

It is planned that this investigation shall principally be concentrated on the relationship of the Soviet officials in the United States, particularly the Soviet Vice Consulate at Los Angeles, with various motion picture studios and studio personnel to determine the amount of Soviet interest in the picture industry concentrated in the Los Angeles area. It is planned that, this investigation shall proceed along the lines of an analysis of the possibilities involved in Soviet propaganda in the picture industry. This investigation will be drawn from the entire picture industry field. The same will include information involving the importation of Soviet films and their distribution through Hollywood studios.

This initial report consists more of a summary of information already contained in the files of this office, together with current inquiries setting forth the existing activities of representatives of the Russian Government in the picture industry.

This first report has been divided into sections covering the work of official Soviet representatives in Hollywood; contact between Consular representatives and the studios; a discussion of Russian films which have been shown in this country as well as films made by the Hollywood studios which have in some quarters been mentioned as favoring Russia. Finally a section is given over to the discussion of individuals who work in the picture industry in Hollywood in close conjunction with the Russian Vice Consulate and whose work is thought to be the spreading of Soviet propaganda in the picture industry.

I. OFFICIAL SOVIET REPRESENTATIVES.

A. RUSSIAN VICE CONSULATE.

The Russian Vice Consulate, 2315 North Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles, so far as is known to this office, does not have any official representative of the Russian Government working out of the Consulate in the motion picture industry. The Vice Consul at the present time is EUGENE P. TUMANTZEV. Since he relieved MIKHAIL S. VAVILOV, the former Vice Consul in this city, on approximately March 27, 1945, few contacts with members of the picture industry have been reported to this office by the usual confidential sources.

The first official representative of the Soviet Government assigned to the motion picture industry in this city, who came to the attention of this office was MIKHAIL KONSTANTIN KALATOZOV, who arrived in Los Angeles in August of 1943 and left for Russia on November 11, 1944. KALATOZOV'S activities will be discussed in detail later in this report.

KALATOZOV was introduced to the various studios by V. V. PASTOEV, then Soviet Vice Consul at Los Angeles. During the time that KALATOZOV was in Los Angeles he was frequently visited by GREGORI KHEIFETS, then Soviet Vice Consul at San Francisco, and key figure in the COMRAP case. When KALATOZOV left for Russia, MIKHAIL S. VAVILOV continued the contacts with representatives of the pictury industry.

From May 1944 until February 1945 LEONID KOSMATOV, GREGORY L. IRSKY and BORIS TOLSTOGOZOV, all Russian motion picture technicians were in the United States. KOSMATOV was assigned to secure American motion picture camera techniques and equipment. While here he maintained close contact with KALATOZOV and other Soviet officials as well as motion picture personalities. KOSMATOV left the west coast in February 1945 for Washington, D. C. where he is presently working under GREGORY L. IRSKY in care of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission. IRSKY is apparently in charge of the Russian motion picture mission to the United States.

On April 18, 1945 the writer, as a result of a previous contact with him developed the following information concerning the activities of the Soviet Vice Consulate in the picture industry, from Source 30-A. In his position with one of the movie trade papers he has occasion to keep in touch with the pictures in which the Russians are interested, as well as those which they are endeavoring to promote in this country. He pointed out that MARGARET GLEDHILL, who actually runs the Motion Picture Arts and Science Academy, is closest to members of the Russian Vice Consulate as far as their interests in the picture industry are concerned. He endeavored to contact her on that date and found she was in San Francisco. From her secretary he developed that since KALATOZOV had left, no one was handling the Consulate business except representatives of the same. She continued that contacts with the Academy on the part of the Russian Vice Consulate were confined to inquiries concerning pictures being made or released; further that any business being conducted by the Russian Government in the picture industry was handled by the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission, 1610 Park Road, Washington, D. C. This would include the purchase of any American films for release in Russia.

Source 30-B, employed in one of the major studios, on April 23, 1945 pointed out that a good source of information concerning Russians films and activities of the Russian Government would be WATTERSON P. ROTHACKER who is chairman of the Los Angeles Board of Film Review, Office of Censorship, 1680 North Vine Street, Los Angeles, HEmpstead 3156. He stated that this man would be acquainted with the activities of the Russian Vice Consulate in this city as well as any negotiations going on between members of the picture industry and the officials of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission.

Investigation has reflected that from day to day various individuals in the picture industry are in touch with members of the Russian Vice Consulate, usually the Vice Consul himself, in connection with the reviewing of pictures in which it is believed the Russians would be interested, as well as the showing of guests of the Consulate through the studios. Individuals in touch with the Consulate who, it is believed, are of major importance in connection with this investigation, will be mentioned later.

As an example of the activities of the Russian Vice Consulate, Source 30-C advised that on February 21, 1945 a representative of the Soviet Government motion picture industry had been in Los Angeles, one GREGORY BOBROV. After visiting around the studios for approximately one week, he went from here to San Francisco. On February 20, 1945 GREGORY RATOFF, 20th Century-Fox producer, was with BOBROV at General Service Studios. BOBROV stayed at the St. Francis Hotel. On the same date he visited with BORIS LEVEN, son-in-law of BORIS MORROS. LEVEN'S last picture was "Tales of Manhattan" which was one of the pictures taken by KALATOZOV when he left for Russia. On February 17, 1945 VAVILOV took BOBROV to lunch at the Western Avenue lot of 20th Century-Fox Studios, making an appointment for same through MICHAEL LESHING, an employee of the studio, who is in frequent contact with the Consulate.

This same source pointed out that on February 15, 1945 VAVILOV was in touch with OONA CHAPLIN, wife of CHARLES CHAPLIN, and made an appointment to be at their home the following Sunday. VAVILOV was interested in having the CHAPLINS teach KONSTANTIN EFREMOV, secretary at the Consulate, how to play tennis. The CHAPLINS are in frequent contact with the Consulate. On the same day VAVILOV made an appointment to be in the office of HARRY WARNER, executive of Warner Brothers Studios. The following day EFREMOV was in touch with RKO Studios where he talked with BILL GORDON. He was making arrangements to take two comrades through the studio. It is to be noted that most of the contacts with Warner Brothers Studios are made through the office of HARRY WARNER and those at RKO through the office of BILL GORDON who is in charge of the office of censorship. The Los Angeles files reflect that GORDON is extremely liberal, if not actually pro-Communist.

A further indication of the type of activity carried on by the Consulate was reported by Source 30-C when on February 21, 1945 the Houston Corporation was exhibiting motion picture equipment to members of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission. A considerable amount of this equipment has been purchased by this Commission.

On April 6, 1945 the new Soviet Vice Consul, EUGENE P. TUMANTZEV, Source 30-C stated, ordered subscriptions to "The Screen Album", "Movieland Magazine", "Hollywood Writers Mobilization Communique", "Hollywood Reporter", "The Screen Guide", "Screen Stars" and "Movies in Hollywood".

On March 27, 1945 Source 30-C stated that the executive field director of the International Film and Radio Guild was in touch with EFREMOV and sought an appointment with the Vice Consul. He said that he wanted an entree to the motion picture companies in Russia so that "we could send them our literature", etc. No further developments along this line have been noted to date.

At the time KALATOZOV was in Los Angeles he had as his secretary and interpreter ZINA VOYNOW. She had been in the United States for a period of four years, formerly working for In Tourist and the Moscow "Daily News", arriving in Los Angeles in August 1943 with KALATOZOV. She resided at his home for a while, and in February 1944 on the arrival of her husband to the west coast, took up residence with him at [redacted] where they are presently living. Subsequent to KALATOZOV'S leaving, she has endeavored to obtain work in the picture industry, with little success. It was through ZINA VOYNOW that KALATOZOV made most of his appointments and contacts while he was in this city, but since his departure she has not been in as frequent touch with the Consulate. b6 b7C

ZINA VOYNOW was born July 14, 1912 in Moscow and was married in Moscow April 18, 1936 to her present husband, ANDREW VOYNOW, who was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania December 20, 1905. It is understood that she is contemplating divorce.

B. BENJAMIN BERNARD GOLDSTEIN, alias GEORGE B. STERN.

BENJAMIN BERNARD GOLDSTEIN is the Los Angeles representative of Artkino Pictures, Inc. GOLDSTEIN, who resides at [redacted] and is employed by Technicolor Pictures Incorporated, 6311 Romaine Avenue, Los Angeles as a film reviewer, has been in constant touch with the Russian Vice Consulate over a period of years. He is the west coast representative for Artkino Pictures, Inc., 723 - 7th Avenue, New York City, which is a Soviet film agency in the United States. In this position he handles the assignment booking and showing of Russian motion pictures on the west coast. Source 30-C has advised this office that visitors to the Russian Vice Consulate, as well as inquiries to same concerning Russian films, are referred to GOLDSTEIN. Likewise through him a few contacts have been made in the picture industry here. b6 b7C

Source 30-D advised that GOLDSTEIN is reportedly a CPA member of Branch S, Northwest Section, Los Angeles County CPA, and that he was expelled from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences several years ago due to agitation against America's participation in war.

GOLDSTEIN was born at Guthrie, Oklahoma September 9, 1902 of Russian born parents. He attended the University of Colorado from 1919 to 1922, receiving an A.B. degree. From 1922 to 1927 he attended the Jewish Institute of Religion in New York City and then the Graduate Division of the University of Illinois. Informant further advised that GOLDSTEIN had at one time been a Rabbi in Montgomery, Alabama and lost his synagogue because of efforts on behalf of the Scotsboro Boys. At that time he attempted to raise money in their behalf and for this reason was ostracized from the community.

Source 30-D further advised that on January 27, 1939 one Mr. KYTIN, representative of the Soviet Government, believed to be connected with the Amtorg Trading Corporation, obtained permission to visit and tour the Technicolor Studios. On that date he and GOLDSTEIN made this tour, and while doing so, KYTIN asked about processing films, the time involved, the cost, where equipment could be obtained, and during the visit attempted to gain entrance to the operation division which was to be a restricted area for him. He had to be forcibly with-held from going in.

LIOMA RICHMAN Source 30-D said is a Communist member. She lives in the rear of GOLDSTEIN'S home with her husband who is reported to be a member of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade. GOLDSTEIN himself is reported to be a frequent contact of known Communists in this city.

Typical of the type of contacts of GOLDSTEIN with the Consulate is Source 30-C's advice that on September 18, 1944 GOLDSTEIN was indicating to the then Vice Consul, V. V. PASTOEV, that he was thinking some of moving to San Francisco. On September 28, 1944 he attended a party given at the Consulate held for the purpose of introducing the new Vice Consul, and it was noted according to this source that GOLDSTEIN frequently dined at the Consulate and loaned his personal car to the Vice Consul, PASTOEV.

Source 30-A has kept the writer advised of the release of Russian pictures in this city and on March 27, 1945 informed that within the following ten days one was opening at the Grand Theatre in Los Angeles, entitled "Moscow Skies". After some checking he informed that during the last year there had been twelve pictures released by Artkino in the Los Angeles area. They are all shown at either the Grand or Esquire Theatres. The pictures shown over that period are:

"They Met In Moscow" (musical romance)
"Leningrad Music Hall" (Russian stars, song and dance)
"Day After Day" (documentary)
"Heroes Are Made" (Russian drama)
"Ukraine in Flames" (drama)
"One Inch From Victory" (documentary)

"Taxi To Heaven" (comedy-drama)
"People's Avengers" (drama)
"Two Soldiers" (war drama)
"1812" (historical drama)
"The Rainbow" (drama)
"Adventura in Bokhara" (comedy fantasy).

Source 30-A also stated that BARRY BERNARD was press agent for the Grand and Esquire Theatres, further that CHARLES LIVESAY is the publicity director. This source feels that LIVESAY is reliable and efforts will be made to develop a source of information at one of these theatres in connection with the activities of GOLDSTEIN and Artkino.

C. MIKHAIL KONSTANTIN KALATOZOV

This investigation was conducted by Special Agent MALCOLM M. RINK:

The official representative of the Soviet Motion Picture Industry in the United States between August 1943 and November 1944 was MIKHAIL KONSTANTIN KALATOZOV. During his stay in the United States he resided at [redacted] b6 b7C

With regard to his background the following information was related by his secretary. She stated that KALATOZOV was educated in the Polytechnic Institute in Georgia, Russia. At an early age he became fascinated with the idea of film production. Over twenty years ago he began working in one of the largest film studios in Russia, holding various jobs from laboratory worker to cameraman. He finally launched an independent production which was an educational short. After this came, his first full length story "Gypsy Blood", then "Ten Days", and others. One of his most successful films was a full length documentary picture called "Svanetia", produced in 1931.

In this same year KALATOZOV began to take an interest in the theory of cinema production. He then entered the Academy of Arts and Sciences and after obtaining a degree was appointed as a director in one of the largest studios in the Soviet Union. From 1936 to 1943 he was in the Leningrad Studios as a director, at which place he made his famous picture "Wings of Victory" which was also shown in the United States. During World War II, KALATOZOV collaborated in making the film "The Seige of Leningrad". He also participated in the military defense of Leningrad and was decorated by the Soviet Government with the Order of the Red Star.

Upon his arrival in Hollywood KALATOZOV immediately set out to establish himself socially and professionally in the movie industry. He brought with him a staff including a secretary and an interpreter, and proceeded to assume the duties of his predecessor, LEONID ANTONIV, who assumed a similar post in London.

An investigation of KALATOZOV during his residence in the United States reflected that his duties were to encourage the cultural exchange between the United States and Russia and to act as an advisor for the Soviet Cinema Committee on the purchase of American films for distribution in Russia. KALATOZOV maintained close contact with the Soviet Vice Consulate in Los Angeles and developed a large number of social and business contacts throughout the movie industry which friendships were predominently among persons with left wing tendencies.

On August 22, 1943 Mr. and Mrs. MIKHAIL KALATOZOV were given a reception in their honor by the National Council of Soviet-American Friendship at the Mocambo Club in Hollywood. This reception was sponsored by the following persons: LOUIS BROMFIELD, Mr. and Mrs. SIDNEY BUCHMAN, AARON COPLAND, NORMAN CORWIN, HAROID CLURMAN, GEORGE CUKOR, MICHAEL CURTIZ, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN GARFIELD, Mr. and Mrs. SHERIDAN GIBNEY, LILLIAN HELLMAN, S. HUROK, JAMES WONG HOWE, HOWARD KOCH, FRITZ LANG, ANATOL LITVAK, ARTHUR LUBIN, BRUCE MANNING, LEO McCAREY, Mr. and Mrs. LEWIS MILESTONE, WILLIAM MORRIS Jr., DUDLEY NICHOLS, Mr. and Mrs. CLIFFORD ODETS, GREGORY RATOFF, JEAN RENOIR, PAUL ROBESON, Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT ROSSON, Mr. and Mrs. VICTOR SAVILLE, Mr. and Mrs. FRANCHOT TONE, Mr. and Mrs. FRANK TUTTLE, Mr. and Mrs. RAOUL WALSH, ORSON WELLES, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN WEXLEY.

During this reception CHARLES CHAPLIN was introduced and gave a speech in which he said "There is a great deal of good in Communism; we can use the good and segregate the bad." The British comedian declared that an understanding between the Russians and "us" would prove beneficial in the postwar peace, and urged the sending of an American delegation to Moscow to study not only films but politics as well. CHAPLIN then wondered whether Representative MARTIN DIES was present.

The above listed individuals, many of whom are ranking Communist functionaries in the movie industry, were typical of KALATOZOV'S contacts and associates during his stay in Hollywood.

The true significance of KALATOZOV'S mission in the United States was possibly emphasized by repeated visits made to him by GREGORI KHEIFETS, former Soviet Vice Consul from San Francisco. It will be recalled that KHEIFETS was a key subject in the COMRAP investigation. It is of interest to note that during KHEIFETS' visits to Los Angeles at which time he contacted individuals for specific espionage information to be used on behalf of the Soviet Union, he also at the same time had long visits and many meetings with MIKHAIL KALATOZOV.

Although no definite information was developed in the course of the investigation reflecting that KALATOZOV attempted to spread Soviet propaganda in the movie industry, it is highly possible that through his social contacts he was successful in influencing persons in the industry responsible for the production of motion pictures.

With regard to the purchase of American films to be sent to Russia, it is known that in ten months KALATOZOV reviewed some one hundred and twenty pictures and shipped nine to Russia. The nine were "Young Thomas Edison", "Bambi", "The Little Foxes", "Hurricane", "The North Star", "Der Fuehrer's Face", "Saludos Amigos", "Mission to Moscow", and "Sun Valley Serenade". In addition KALATOZOV is reported to have purchased three films from SAMUEL GOLDWYN at a price said to be $120,000.00. These purchases of films were made through Artkino Pictures, of New York which company also distributes Russian films in America. In addition, KALATOZOV represented the Soviet Government in attempting to set up a corporation between RKO Pictures Incorporated and Soyuzintorgkino, the Soviet Motion Picture Combine. This corporation contemplated engaging in the business of distributing Russian films in the United States and elsewhere.

As mentioned above, KALATOZOV was active also in promoting cultural relations between the United States and Soviet Russia. On one occasion he arranged for CHARLES CHAPLIN to send congratulatory telegrams to the Committee of Cinema, Moscow, USSR, at the time they were holding a Chaplin Festival in honor of CHARLES CHAPLIN'S contribution to the motion picture industry. These telegrams were signed by CHARLES CHAPLIN himself. It was determined that these festivals consisted of a series of programs at which outstanding Russian directors and writers read papers on the work of various leaders in the motion picture industry. Following the CHAPLIN celebration it was planned to have programs of the film works of D. W. GRIFFITH, JOHN FORD, FRANK CAPRA, ROUBEN MAMOULIAN and others.

It was also reported that KALATOZOV presented to the U. S. State Department a proposal whereby the Soviet Union would confer decorations on several individuals in Hollywood including JACK WARNER, SAM GOLDWYN, EDWARD G. ROBINSON, WALTER HUSTON, OSCAR HOMOLKA, VICTOR FRANCEN, JAY LEYDA, MANNART KIPPERT and JORIS IVENS. These contemplated awards were apparently for the parts which the above individuals played in making "Mission to Moscow" and "North Star".

Assisting KALATOZOV in representing the Soviet movie industry were A. G. BOLTYANSKI and BORIS IVANOV who arrived in this country from Russia in February 1944. After conferring with KALATOZOV, BOLTYANSKI was assigned to the Russian Embassy in Mexico City where he apparently performed the same duties as KALATOZOV did in the United States. IVANOV, shortly after his arrival, took up headquarters at 210 Madison Avenue, New York City, where he handled the Russian film interests on the east coast in conjunction with NICHOLAS NAPOLI, President of Artkino Pictures.

In addition, a commission headed by GREGORY L. IRSKY, formerly connected with the Amtorg Trading Corporation, LEONID KOSMATOV, a film cameraman, and BORIS TOLSTOGOZOV, a film technician, arrived in the United States in May 1944 apparently to study scientific U. S. film techniques on behalf of the Soviet Government. The activities of these individuals are set out elsewhere in this report.

That KALATOZOV'S activities were felt in the industry, was substantiated by numerous items appearing in the trade journals of the movie industry, in local newspapers, and national magazines. FRANK C. WALDROP, nationally known columnist writing in the Washington, D. C. "Times Herald" and WILLARD EDWARDS, Chicago Tribune Press Service, devoted entire columns attempting to expose the propaganda campaign being loosed in the United States by the Soviet Government, making special reference to the activities of MIKHAIL KALATOZOV. "Time" magazine of June 12, 1944 also carried an article together with KALATOZOV'S picture, stating that KALATOZOV, "an enigmatic, uncommunicative Soviet official, went about his business with mysterious and solemn placidity, abetted by the fact that he spoke no English when he arrived."

Upon KALATOZOV'S departure from the United States on November 11, 1944, it was believed that LEONID KOSMATOV would assume his duties in Hollywood. KOSMATOV did remain in Hollywood for two months after which time he went to Washington, D. C. and took up headquarters with the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission, reporting that he planned to leave the United States in the near future.

Information was developed that KALATOZOV'S functions actually would be taken over by the Soviet Vice Consul in Los Angeles, and no successor was appointed. Although it was stated that KALATOZOV would return to the United States within a year, no substantiation of this fact has been obtained. Investigation of the activities of the Soviet Vice Consulate since KALATOZOV'S departure has reflected that they have been inactive in the motion picture industry.

D. CAMERAMEN AND TECHNICIANS

GREGORY L. IRSKY

According to Source 30-E, IRSKY arrived in the United States from Russia sometime around May 26, 1944 with his two companions, LEONID KOZMATOV and BORIS TOLSTOGOWZOV.

Source 30-F advised that according to Source 4-A, IRSKY during the years 1941 and 1942 was prominently mentioned in reports covering the investigation on the Amtorg Trading Corporation, having received from the Amtorg industrial account at the Chase National Bank of New York City sums of $10,000.00 on July 11, 1941 and $10,000.00 on August 15, 1941 which sums subsequently were used in payment to ROBERT NEUSCHOTZ, President of the Neuschotz Engineering Company, 420 Bernard Street, Los Angeles, who was engaged at the time in drawing up blueprints for printed colored movie film for IRSKY, and to J. ARTHUR BALL, a Los Angeles motion picture engineer for similar activity on colored motion picture production.

It is further noted that Source 4-B stated IRSKY is a close contact of NICHOLI NAPOLI, President of Artkino Pictures, Incorporated in New York City, who at one time contacted an official of the Dupont Films Corporation in New York with IRSKY in an attempt to interest the Dupont Company in financing a plant in Russia in the summer of 1941. NAPOLI, a short time after this meeting, attempted to bribe this same official to obtain confidential information for the Russian Government and to accept a position as a technical consultant for Artkino.

It was also reported by Source 4-B that ALBERT W. HUSTON, President of the Huston Corporation, manufacturers of motion picture equipment in Hollywood, advised that he had gone to Moscow in 1935 where he met IRSKY and firmly believed him to be a member of the Communist Party of the U.S.S.R. IRSKY was described by CNDI [redacted] as being the head of the motion picture mission from Moscow, which statement was attributed to V. V. PASTOEV in a conversation with THOMAS L. HARRIS CONF. INFT. b7D

While in Los Angeles at this time IRSKY and his companions, KOZMATOV and TOLSTOGOWZOV stayed at the Hollywood-Knickerbocker Hotel in the name of VICTOR CARTER, frequently mentioned as a friend of MIKHAIL KALATOZOV and present when KALATOZOV and KHEIFETS were together on April 28, 1944.

Source 30-F advised that on May 30, 1944 Source 4-C advised that IRSKY and his companions had recently arrived in the United States from Russia having disembarked at Seattle and come to Los Angeles by train via San Francisco. This source was able to ascertain that IRSKY is endeavoring to obtain fifty Eyemo 35 mm. cameras which were described as the same cameras used in field photography by the United States Army Signal Corps. IRSKY apparently was advised that this contract could not be fulfilled without a very high priority. IRSKY planned to go to Washington where he will contact DONALD NELSON for the proper priority, which according to this source would undoubtedly be forthcoming as IRSKY had had no trouble in the past in obtaining priorities. This source advised that should the priority be obtained future negotiations for the cameras would undoubtedly be carried on and consummated by MICHAEL Z. WYSOTZKY, who is the head of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission, 1610 Park Road, N. W., Washington, D.C

Further, this same source advised that on May 31, 1944 there were present at a breakfast meeting IRSKY, KALATOZOV, THOMAS L. HARRIS and PASTOEV, held at the Knickerbocker Hotel. The conversation at this meeting centered around the tentative plans for "Tribute to Russia Day" June 22, 1944, at which time there was to be shown a Russian documentary film on guerrila warfare. Reference was made to WALTER WANGER, Hollywood producer, and EDWARD G. ROBINSON, actor, who were to assist in the program. It was noted that IRSKY, KALATOZOV and HARRIS arrived at the Hollywood Knickerbocker about 9:30 A.M. and that PASTOEV arrived about fifteen minutes later, at which time he brought a gray cardboard box, approximately 14 x 12 x 3 inches which he gave to IRSKY. At the time the party left the table this box was picked up by THOMAS L. HARRIS. This box was later ascertained by Source 4-D to contain a photographic album entitled "The Soviet Cinematograph During the Patriotic War" and contained photographs of Russian motion picture stars.

On June 2, 1944, Source 30-F was furnished with photographs of documents and papers in possession of IRSKY, KOZMATOV and TOLSTOGOWZOV. They included the following items which indicated the activity of IRSKY and his friends in this area:

A letter to IRSKY on the official Soviet Government Purchasing Commission letterhead referring to various orders which had been placed for photographic equipment with the Mole Richardson Company, The RCA Manufacturing Corporation, Bell & Howell Company, and Mitchell Camera Corporation.

Likewise negotiations in connection with new equipment desired were discussed and instructions given.

There were also two handwritten letters, unstamped and unaddressed written by SERGEI M. EISENSTEIN, who according to an article in the April 7th issue of the "Hollywood Reporter", is a leading Russian director, addressed to WALTER WANGER and Mr. CHARLES CHAPLIN. According to a date in the body of those letters they were both written on May 11, 1944, and apparently the letters were given to IRSKY to deliver personally to the named individuals. The letter to WANGER advised that EISENSTEIN is presently in Central Asia where the Russians are shotting their films during wartime, and that he is presently making a picture entitled "Ivan the Terrible". He advised that the best way for him to be reached is through VOKS. The letter to CHAPLIN makes expression of the wonderful friendship which has grown up and is still increasing between the Russians and the Americans. His letter concludes: "All the details about our film activity and the activity of the Red Army (which is far more important!) you can hear from my friends now visiting the States."

Source 30-F advised there was a list in Russian entitled "List of Leading Hollywood Producers". Following the names on this list are apparently motion pictures which the producer or director has worked on.

The list of names is as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| FRANK BORZAGE | JOHN FORD | ARCHIE MAYO |
| FRANK CAPRA | EDMUND GOLDING | IRVING PICHEL |
| RENE CLAIR | HENRY HATHAWAY | IRVING RAPPER |
| JACK CONWAY | HOWARD HAWKS | MARK SANDRICH |
| GEORGE CUKOR | ALFRED HITCHCOCK | GEORGE SEITZ |
| MICHAEL CURTIZ | GARSIN KANIN | PRESTON STURGIS |
| CECIL B. DeMILLE | WILLIAM KEIGHLEY | NORMAN TAUROG |
| WILLIAM DIETERIE | HENRY KING | KING VIDOR |
| JULIAN DUVIVIER | MERVIN LeROY | SAM WOOD |
| JOHN FARROW | ANATOL LITVAK | WILLIAM WYLER. |
| VICTOR FLEMING | RUBEN MAMOULIAN | |

This source advised that in connection with these names it is noted that the above mentioned issue of the "Hollywood Reporter" which was later produced verbatim in the "People's World" issue of April 15, 1944, a press conference with MIKHAIL KALATOZOV produced the information that Russia has a plan for a series of programs to be given at the House of Cinema Workers in Moscow. The April 1944 program has to do with productions of CHARLES CHAPLIN and are to be followed by productions of D. W. GRIFFITH, JOHN FORD, FRANK CAPRA, RUBEN MAMOULIAN, and others. The article states that this program will be based on a list of motion pictures covering a five year period. It is believed that this list may possibly be a list of those producers to be included in the program and that the motion pictures opposite the names on the list to be translated may be the pictures which are to be shown.

It was noted, according to Source 30-F, that on June 9, 1944 IRSKY and his two companions were present at a party given by SOLOMON LESHING, a close friend of KALATOZOV, and employed as a laboratory man at 20th Century Fox Studios, Los Angeles. Further mention will be made of him later in this report.

On June 17, 1944, this source advised that IRSKY and his companions were feted at a dinner party given by WILLIAM DIETERLE at which GREGORI KHEIFETS and GREGORY KASPAROV were present.

With further reference to IRSKY'S presence in the Los Angeles area, the same described just above, Source 30-G advised that when IRSKY was in this area he had in his possession documents one of which was entitled "Task prescribed for the Commissioner to the U.S.A. G. L. ERSKII." Immediately above this heading is the notation "I approve' The Vice-(Acting)-President of the Committee for Soviet People's Kinematography in the USSR. (signed) (M.I.) KHRIPUNOV."

"Conjointly with his general duty of allocating orders for purchases to be made for cinematographic instruments and materials, as well as the organization of technical help, such as the organizing of teams for this kind of work, the following duties will be incumbant on him.

"I. With regard to the various purchasing orders.

1. Organization of a team or staff and distribution of the different functions amongst them; with a view to the branch-techniques.
2. Preparation of the demands for instruments and materials to be submitted to the U. S. Government agencies.
3. Having discussions and making agreement with the U. S. Government agencies and with the different firms for allocation of the purchase orders.
4. Coming to definite agreements with technical groups and specialized experts and the recruiting agencies. (Translator's note: Meaning labor boards and eventually labor draft boards).
5. Well organized inspection and acceptance of instruments and materials.
6. Actual knowledge of all the special problems in connection with electro-acoustical apparatus, cinematographic projectors, precision techniques and inspection at acceptance, etc.

3. Conducting negotiations with the firms of Mol-Richardson and Mac-Alister in the line of lighting apparatus.

"III. About aCinematographic studio in Hollywood.
1. Organization of a public opinion and finding technical assistance for the establishment of a film-studio (LEN-FILM). "

The Commission has standing orders for the purchase and the placement of orders for equipment, raw material and materials for the Cinematographic studios, factories and workshops for film production and film industry and factories for the mass production of cinematographic films.

The allocation of purchase orders has got a considerably widened field of activity on account of the war conditions and the extension of cinematographic work, as well as through the attainment of higher standards in the techniques of production (mastery of the newest kinds of films, reconnaissance through aero-photos, technicolor films, and the newest models of projectors for shooting, etc.).

Side by side with this task, there has to be conducted an organization of the public opinion in Hollywood in favor of the reestablishment in the Soviet Union of the studios destroyed by the enemy as the LEN-KINO (Translator's note: Probably the Leningrad Studio) and the KIEB Studio.

Next to this general objective each individual commissioner will fulfill his special duties as set forth in the following paragraphs.

1. G. L. IRSKII

The generallleader of the group for the allocation of purchase orders and the reception of technical information.
Organizing and appointment of technical assistants.
Final decision about technical requirements of electro-acoustic apparatus and projectors.
Inspection and acceptance of such equipment.

Another document headed "In accordance with the Decree of November 3, 1943, No. 4494 c" sets forth what appears to be a budget for expenditures of the Commission of Purchases to be made in the United States, as follows:

| | | |

In accordance with the Decree of March 21, 1944, No. 5464:

30 tons dibutylphtolat

300 kilogram shellac

Other documents contain background information on what appear to be important individuals in the Russian motion picture field: NIKOLAI PAVLOVICH OKHLOPKOV and ALEKSEI DENISOVICH DIKII. OKHLOPKOV is described as the founder and highly artistic leader and director of the "Realistic Theater" of Moscow which has been combined with the "Miniature (Chamber) Theater". The document deals with OKHLOPKOV'S activities as an actor beginning in 1924 and states that OKHLOPKOV is a great master of makeup, "He is above all an actor and one of wide capacity, able to give you an illusion of a real reincarnation of the portrayed person."

DIKII is described as a prominent actor in Russia, as well as a director. This document states that "In 1936-37 he had the artistic direction of the Great Dramatic Theater in Leningrad. At the present time he works at the Bakhtangov Theater as an actor and director."

Source 30-H advised that the "Hollywood Reporter," issue of December 10, 1942, published in Hollywood, California, 97-12 contains the following article concerning GREGORY L. IRSKY:

"SOVIET SOLDIERS WILL SEE OUR ARMY REELS

"First group of Soviet Army training pictures obtained in the inter-change of such films with Russia are now enroute to the United States to aid in instruction of American soldiers. This was revealed yesterday by GREGOR-IRSKY, Chief Engineer of the Soviet Motion Picture Industry, who is in Hollywood checking on the manufacture of film equipment for the Soviet Union.

"Included are subjects on hand-to-hand fighting, winter camouflage, winter cavalry, use of an automatic rifle developed by the Russians, parachute training, and how to defend a city from tank assaults. Pictures were selected by the American military attache in Moscow.

"American training productions being sent by the War Department to Russia are mostly on the operation of lease-lend equipment such as planes, tanks and artillery. IRSKY is taking back with him prints of WALT DISNEY'S "Bambi" and "Fantasia" and other Hollywood entertainment features. Soviet heads will look over the latter before making deals to buy them.

"The Russian official is also taking scripts of Warners' "Mission to Moscow" but he spoke with great praise of "Russia ", saying it was excellently done and that the Russian people are accurately depicted in the script.

"Inter-change arrangement, added IRSKY, also includes science subjects. Pictures of the re-vitalizing of organisms, prepared by Soviet medical authorities, another of life on the ocean bottom, and others are enroute here.

"Mitchell Camera Co. is building cameras and Bell and Howell are turning out printing machines for the Soviet. Latter are being completed on schedule, according to IRSKY, but Mitchell is behind due to inability to get aluminum. He pleaded that Hollywood rush through all such orders. Some apparatus has already been sent. All of it is needed badly, cameras especially. Russia has a gigantic picture production schedule, covering all fields from instruction to morale."

IRSKY while he was in Hollywood offered a $10,000 prize for a treatise written on the Hollywood movie industry and same was won by J. ARTHUR BALL, ARizona 32096, [redacted]

b7C

While he was here IRSKY was also frequently in touch with BENJAMIN GOLDSTEIN, [redacted] previously mentioned as the official representative on the West Coast for Artkino Films. In connection with his relationship with GOLDSTEIN, Source 30-I sets forth that on May 12, 1942 IRSKY issued a check in the sum of $500.00 to BENJAMIN GOLDSTEIN under his alias of GEORGE STERN.

When he was here in 1941 the information furnished by Source 30-J reflected that in October, 1941, an official of the Technicolor Motion Picture Corporation, Los Angeles, California, advised he received a letter, dated March 13, 1941, from GOUSEV, Vice President of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, wherein he stated that GREGORY L. IRSKY desired to visit his plant and to discuss the purchase of a technicolor process. This official explained that he refused a trip through his plant but arranged for a conference with IRSKY at the New York offices of his company where IRSKY expressed a desire to buy the technicolor process, the latest machinery, and other developments. He stated he quoted them a price of two million dollars in cash before he would become interested. He set the figure so high in order to discourage IRSKY from bothering him. The official also stated that IRSKY was going to take the matter up with Moscow. He later was requested by IRSKY to furnish complete, specific quotations and the plans for the specifications of the machinery in greater detail before consideration could be given to entering into a contract. This official advised that the information was requested obviously for the purpose of transmitting it to Russian officials in Moscow after obtaining it free of charge and with no intention to purchase. He further advised that he flatly refused IRSKY'S request and stated that if he had furnished such specifications in detail, the Russians would probably have all the information they wished on this matter. The official stated that he resented the nerve the Russians had displayed in their conference. On April 8, 1941, he received a letter from IRSKY in which he expressed regret that he was not able to do any business with the Technicolor Corporation.

Representatives of the Amtorg Trading Corporation had had previous contact with Technicolor Motion Picture Corporation in efforts to obtain information from them, as reported by Source 30-K. This source advised that Mr. GERALD RACKETT, Vice President and General Manager of the Technicolor Motion Picture Corporation, 6311 Romaine Avenue, stated that he hadnot had any recent contacts with any Amtorg representatives, emphasizing that any such representatives would be referred to him. However, RACKETT stated that on January 7, 1939 he had received an office memorandum from MORGAN HOBART, then manager of Technicolor's New York office located at 6308 R.C.A. Building, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City, to the effect that a Mr. BAYAR and a Mr. KYTIN of the Soviet Government had talked to him on January 5, 1939 concerning the possibility of establishing a Technicolor plant in Russia, also stating that they would like to inspect Technicolor's plant in Los Angeles. On January 9, 1939 RACKETT stated that authorization to inspect the Hollywood plant would have to be received from Dr. HERBERT T. KELMUS, President of the company, who was then visiting in Europe. RACKETT then communicated with KELMUS, who authorized a superficial inspection of the plant by representatives of the Soviet Government referred to by HOBART.

On January 25, 1939 KYTIN telephoned RACKETT and advised that he was in Los Angeles, giving his telephone number as VAndike 3828, which RACKETT believed was a telephone number of an individual named GOLDSTEIN, a man who subsequently acted as interpreter for KYTIN. RACKETT'S file also reflected that on January 26, 1939 he had received a telephone call from a Mr. NEIL McCARTHY, an attorney, who stated that through Mr. HOWARD HUGHES, the aviator, he had been requested to ask RACKETT to permit KYTIN to inspect the Technicolor plant. A note in the same file contained the address: AMTORG TRADING CORPORATION Representative, 756 South Broadway, which RACKETT stated he believed was the address subsequently given him by KYTIN. On January 27, 1939 KYTIN called at the office of Mr. RACKETT, and there is quoted below a memorandum prepared by RACKETT and placed in his files regarding this visit:

> "Mr. KYTIN, representing the Soviet Government, called at the plant with Mr. GORDON from the local office of the AMTORG TRADING CORPORATION. They were accompanied by Mr. GOLDSTEIN who was apparently their chauffeur. Mr. GORDON acted as interpreter to Mr. KYTIN and conducted his conversation with Mr. KYTIN presumably in 'Russian'.
> "Mr. KYTIN represented that the Soviet Government planned to purchase a Technicolor plant and that he required a knowledge of the chronologic processing of film, together with data on machinery, costs, time, etc. which would help them in a decision and in the subsequent erection of a plant.

"I advised Mr. KYTIN that our conversation would be limited to generalities and to a brief view of our manufacturing plant, not including special machinery. He was conducted through the first floor, except the negative developing department, and the third floor, except the negative timing room, and was shown the operating floor from the west entrance doorway.

"While in the negative assembly department Mr. KYTIN picked up a piece of negative hanging in a breakdown basket and rubbed it between his fingers. Since it was production negative I remarked sharply that film and other things were not to be touched.

"On returning to my office, Mr. KYTIN asked several questions, all of which were directed toward obtaining a detailed knowledge of how we processed film, how long it took, what it cost, from whom the equipment was available, and many other questions. Those of his questions were answered which did not disclose any detailed information of the process or equipment and Mr. KYTIN was informed that all such specific discussion would occur after a conference with Dr. KELMUS, if such were Dr. KELMUS' conclusion.

"Mr. KYTIN requested that he be permitted to return to ask further questions at another time."

One of the better evidences of IRSKY'S endeavor to propagandize in this country is furnished by Source 30-L. He stated that a function held at the Russian Consulate in Los Angeles in September of 1941, IRSKY in speaking to VLADIMIR I. OUSPENSKY discussed the possibility of obtaining 16 millimeter prints of 35 millimeter Russian films, such as were presented on the program of the function that evening, for distribution to American schools and colleges free of charge. These films were mainly on phases of life in the Soviet Union including pictures of Soviet military strength, and could, according to IRSKY, be distributed as educational features. IRSKY appeared to be particularly anxious to effect an arrangement with a Mr. EVANS, Sales Manager of the Bell-Howell Company, manufacturer of motion picture equipment and projectors, whereby this organization would act as the distributors. Subsequent information obtained from Confidential National Defense Informant [redacted] b7D indicates that the preliminary conversation had on August 31 was continued by IRSKY and OUSPENSKY with Mr. EVANS of the Bell-Howell Company.

IRSKY is still in this country working with the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission in Washington, D.C.

LEONID KOSMATOV

This investigation was conducted by Special Agent MALCOLM M. RINK:

LEONID KOSMATOV is a Russian motion picture cameraman who reportedly has made very successful motion pictures in Russia. He arrived in the United States around May 26, 1944, together with GREGORY L. IRSKY, mentioned elsewhere in this report, and BORIS TOLSTOGOZOV who are also Russian motion picture technicians. Immediately upon his arrival in Los Angeles on May 28, 1944, KOSMATOV contacted MIKHAIL KALATOZOV, official Soviet motion picture representative to the United States.

From that time until June 20, 1944 KOSMATOV devoted his efforts to visiting studios in company with KALATOZOV and other Russian individuals. On June 20, 1944 he departed for Washington, D. C. and New York City in company with KALATOZOV, IRSKY and TOLSTOGOZOV. KOSMATOV remained in the east until September 20, 1944, at which time he returned to California with KALATOZOV. From that date until KALATOZOV'S departure for the USSR on November 11, 1944, KOSMATOV remained at the KALATOZOV home, and from his activities indicated that he would take over KALATOZOV'S work in the motion picture industry upon the latter's departure.

Subsequent to that date until February 4, 1945, KOSMATOV resided with ZINA and ANDREW VOYNOW at [redacted] ZINA VOYNOW was KALATOZOV'S secretary and interpreter. KOSMATOV continued his visits to motion picture studios and from confidential sources it was learned that he was successful in obtaining research material in connection with the technical production of motion pictures. b6 b7C

On February 4, 1945 KOSMATOV departed for Washington, D. C. and indicated to informants that he would work directly under GREGORY L. IRSKY c/o the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission, Washington, D. C. Information was also received that KOSMATOV would shortly return to the USSR. At the writing of this report KOSMATOV is still in Washington.

During the investigation of KOSMATOV in Los Angeles, no evidence was developed that he was engaged in espionage or propaganda activities while in this area. He did, however, maintain contact with various Communistic elements in the industry who are known to be active in spreading Soviet propaganda. It should be borne in mind, however, that KOSMATOV was primarily a movie technician and interested himself in scientific methods and also that he had difficulty in speaking the English language.

On June 2, 1944 a confidential source advised that KOSMATOV had in his possession a document which had been approved by the Vice President of the Committee for SNK (Soviet People Cinematography) USSR, M.I. KHRIPUNOF, which prescribed his tasks to be accomplished during his mission in the United States. These tasks included the inspection and acceptance of apparatus purchased in the United States on behalf of the Soviet Cine Studios, getting acquainted with the work of American directors, operators, and cameramen, and studying the technical processes used in the production of films. In addition his orders set out numerous technical tasks concerning certain lighting, use of electric power, montage effects and other technical undertakings.

During his visit to Los Angeles KOSMATOV was invited to a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. CHARLES CHAPLIN and also attended a function sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM DIETERLE (left wing motion picture director). In addition KOSMATOV invited several persons, including Mr. and Mrs. LION FEUCHTWANGER, prominent subjects in the Free German investigation, to a showing of a picture which had been filmed by KOSMATOV which was based on one of FEUCHTWANGER'S stories, entitled "Mr. Oppenheim".

II. CONTACT BETWEEN SOVIET CONSULAR REPRESENTATIVES AND STUDIOS.

A. COLUMBIA STUDIOS

Source 30-Q was interviewed on several occasions in connection with any contacts had by the Soviet Consular representatives with the studios where he holds an execution position. In this connection it may be noted here that the Columbia writers who are known to this office as being either members of the Communist Political Association, or known to have leftist leanings, are numerous. SIDNEY BUCHMAN, executive producer is one example, and JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, reportedly the leader in the picture industry for the CPA, is an example of a writer who is employed off and on at Columbia Studios. So far as is known, HARRY COHN, president of the studio, and BEN KAHANE, his assistant, have not gone out of their way to be particularly cooperative with Soviet Consular representatives in this city.

Source 30-Q advised that about three months ago the studio completed a picture entitled "Counter Attack" which he said is a combination of two stories written about actual incidents in the Russians' drive on Berlin. This picture was made by SIDNEY BUCHMAN, taken from a play which appeared in New York. In the course of making this picture contact was had by the studio with representatives of the Consulate in the interests of accuracy.

ZINA VOYNOW, who is mentioned elsewhere in this report as a secretary and interpreter of MIKHAIL KALATOZOV when he was in the United States, for a time worked at Columbia and has endeavored to become permanently connected there, with no success. In this connection she was technical advisor of the picture "Counter Attack".

Source 30-Q stated that to determine what, if any, business deals Columbia Pictures has with the Russian Government, inquiry would have to be made of their New York Office. He suggested that HENRY McCONVILLE, director of foreign publicity, or ABE MONTAGUE, in charge of all distribution for Columbia Pictures, be contacted. Their offices are at Columbia Pictures, 721 Seventh Avenue, New York City.

B. 20th CENTURY-FOX STUDIOS.

During the month of March the writer observed that an item appeared in one of the Hollywood trade sheets to the effect that 20th Century-Fox had sold to Russia the rights to its picture "Charley's Aunt". These rights consisted of the privilege of showing the picture in Russia.

Source 30-U advised that any records of the 20th Century-Fox Corporation dealing with the sale of film rights to another country would be in their New York office, 444 West 56th Street, New York City. This source suggested that JOE MOSKOWITZ, vice president of the company in complete charge of making all sales contracts, was an individual who could be interviewed in this matter. He also said that the man in charge of foreign distribution was MURRAY SILVERSTONE. He suggested, however, that SILVERSTONE not be interviewed in this connection, but did highly recommend W. C. MICHAEL, vice president of th company and assistant to SPYROS SKOURAS. Along these lines he said that MICHAEL would probably be the most discreet of any.

Investigation conducted by this office has to date failed to reflect any unusual amount of contact between members of the Russian Vice Consulate and 20th Century-Fox Studios. While there are producers, directors and writers at that studio who are known to follow the Communist Party line, it does not appear that there have been close associations between Consulate members and that studio.

Colonel JASON JOY, in charge of public relations, 20th Century-Fox, has been interviewed on several occasions by the writer, and while he met KALATOZOV and was aware of the interest of the Russians in the motion picture industry generally, he had no information of interest to this investigation.

Later in this report MICHAEL LESHING and SAMUEL GOLDBLATT, employees at 20th Century Fox Film Laboratories, are discussed in some details. With reference, however, to LESHING, recent contacts of his are set forth which reflect his closeness to the Russian Vice Consul.

C. METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER STUDIOS

On April 26, 1945 Special Agent MALCOLM M. RINK and the writer interviewed Source 30-V. This source advised that on September 29, 1944 MIKHAIL KALATOZOV, accompanied by the Russian Vice Consul, V. V. PASTOEV, and a group of Russian technicians, visited the studio. He had received a letter from his New York Office requesting that the studio be nice to them because it appeared that they were going to buy some pictures. They were interested in the picture "Bathing Beauty" and one entitled "The Seventh Cross". It appeared that the latter picture was to be delivered to Artkino.

In this connection, this source pointed out that ARTHUR LOEW, 5040 Broadway, Loew's State Theatre Building, New York, may have a record of this sale to the Russian Government or Artkino. It was suggested that either LOEW or MORTON SPRING be interviewed for this information.

This source continued that according to his recollection, back in 1934 there were some Russians whose named he did not recall, who were interested in learning new procedures in picture making, the type of equipment used, etc. He doubted if they obtained much information of value, pointing out that the successful picture makers are those who through experience have developed their own techniques.

His records also reflect that on September 11, 1944 the studio here wrote its New York Office to turn over to Artkino a copy of the film "Song of Russia". He explained that that would be the procedure followed by any of the studios and that the Russian Government thereafter could make many copies of that film for their own needs.

This source likewise advised that he would keep this office informed of any developments along these lines which he thought would be of interest. He pointed out that any contact made by the Consulate with his studio would naturally clear through his office; however, he pointed out that various individuals on the lot could entertain at lunch or on the stages any of the men connected with the Consulate, but it would be most unlikely. He did not believe that the Russian Government itself had through its representatives endeavored to influence the making of pictures by the local studios, pointing out that that influence would come from American "reds" and "pinks".

In this connection investigation has been conducted by this office concerning EDGAR Y. ("YIP") HARBURG who produced pictures at M-G-M several years ago. At that time it appeared that he was trying to put into the lines ideas which were Communistic. HARBURG is known to be a member of the Communist Political Association and has, from time to time entertained in his home LOUISE BRANSTEN and MAX TERGAN, subjects in the COMRAP investigation.

For the confidential information of this office, this source recommended that LUIGI LURASCHI, head of the Foreign Department at Paramount, was rabidly anti-Russian and could be contacted in connection with any investigation made by this office along those lines; however, he pointed out that BILL GORDON in charge of the RKO Censorship and Foreign Office, was doubtful. He stated that GORDON was "one of these frightened Jews", and believes GORDON to be in sympathy with Communism. He stated that ELI LEVY handles this type of work at Columbia. He described him as a Rumanian concerning whose political beliefs he was doubtful.

At Universal Studios this source said HAROLD SUGARMAN was the Censorship and Foreign Office man. He said he believed SUGARMAN was a "Pinko". With reference to the interest Warner Brothers Studio has taken in Russian matters, citing as an example their producing "Mission To Moscow", etc., this source said that while it might appear that they were sympathetic to the Russians, he believed it was more a matter of opportunism and money-making. As to their Foreign Office and Censorship man, he said that one OPPENHEIM handled that work for the past year but that he understood CARL SCHAEFER was now back and would take over.

As far as the executives at M-G-M are concerned, it is believed those at the top are anti-Communistic. Particular reference is made to EDDIE MANNIX who has been mentioned by several other executives in other studios as one who could be safely contacted on these matters. There are at the studios, however, numerous writers, and directors who are known to be either members of the Party or followers of the Party line. In addition, there is LASLO BENEDEK who is mentioned elsewhere in this report, and who is a subject in the COMRAP investigation, along with NORMAN CORWIN, assistant producer, who is one of the key figures in this territory. He was one of the persons attending a reception given for MIKHAIL KALATOZOV.

Inquiry was made at M-G-M Studios on March 22, 1945 to determine who at the studios had contacted KONSTANTIN EFREMOV at the Russian Vice Consulate stating that the studios had received some plays from the Russian Embassy in Washington and wanting to know how to address a letter of thanks.

It was learned that on February 1, 1945 the studio received a package from the Russian Embassy in Washington, addressed to the studio generally. In this package among [illegible] things were six pamphlets called "VOKS" written in [illegible]glish [illegible] [illegible]munists in Russia. D. PARAMOUNT STUDIOS

Source 30-R stated that in about [redacted] KALATOZOV made an appointment with Source 30-R, and the latter met KALATOZOV at his office. KALATOZOV said that he represented the Soviet motion picture industry and that [redacted] He said that one of his first plans was [redacted] Source 30-R said he asked KALATOZOV how he [redacted] and KALATOZOV did not reply as to exactly what he planned to do. b7D

Source 30-R said that when KALATOZOV asked him for his cooperation in the effort, he told KALATOZOV that the [redacted] with KALATOZOV. b7D

This source continued that no doubt WALTER WANGER, producer at Universal Studios, would be sympathetic with KALATOZOV and indicated it would not be best to approach him. He had the same to say with reference to SAM GOLDWYN, as well as the WARNER brothers.

This source continued that it was his belief also that there could be no film exchange between Soviet Russia and the United States for the reason that there is no market in this country for the showing of Soviet films except in such cities as New York, Detroit, Los Angeles, Chicago and possibly San Francisco. Aside from these, and in the great center of the American film market, there is no place for Soviet films because these films would have to be re-edited, re-cut and dubbed in English and even when that was done the films are still not interesting and not comparable to American films from a technical standpoint. For these reasons Source 30-R regards KALATOZOV'S statements about [redacted] that KALATOZOV [redacted] and he felt that KALATOZOV must have had this end in view as part of a Soviet propaganda machine in the United States b7D came to [redacted] to help suggest what the various Russian scenes meant in the [redacted] had re-cut and re-edited and placed an English commentary in this film. It is interesting to note that Source 30-R [redacted] b7D

Source 30-R said that his only recent connection with the Russian motion picture industry developed when [redacted] from Artkino Films, a Russian agency for distribution in the United States. Artkino's representative, NICHOLAS NAPOLI, b7D

For instance, one scene showed a German prison camp where starving Russian prisoners were crawling along the ground and watching a huge, well-built, well-fed German guard smoking a cigaret. These prisoners were apparently dying to have a cigaret. The next scene showed a Russian prison camp with several strong, well-fed, healthy German prisoners laughing, clicking their heels, playing games and otherwise enjoying Soviet treatment. Source 30-R had [redacted] b7D

On May 31, 1944 Special Agent in Charge R. B. HOOD and Special Agent PATRICK D. HORGAN interviewed Source 30-S, [redacted] b7D Concerning the activities of KALATOZOV this source stated that the Russians use the motion picture only as a means of propaganda. They are not interested in motion pictures for the sake of entertainment or any cultural reason (despite KALATOZOV'S statements to the press) and are only interested in promoting the Soviet way of life through the films.

In this connection, Source 30-S said that [redacted] called "The Godless Girl", which was the story of a girl atheist who in the last reel turns religious. The picture actually is a religious drama, but in Russia when they showed the film, the Soviets neglected to include the last reel, so that it simply turns out to be a story of atheism and appears to endorse atheism. b7D

Source 30-S said that in Moscow several Soviet motion picture people commended this film and when Source 30-S found out that the last reel had been left off he advised them that the film was entirely different from what they thought it was. However, the Russian people took the film as an indication that the American public endorsed atheism in the United States.

On April 30, 1945 Special Agent MALCOLM M. RINK and the writer interviewed Source 30-T who is familiar with the foreign market and any contacts had by Paramount Studios with the Russian or any other government. To ascertain what, if any pictures have been sold to the Russian Government by Paramount Studio, Source 30-T said contact should be had with JOHN W. HICKS Jr., President of Paramount International Films, 10th floor, Paramount Building, 1501 Broadway, New York City. He pointed out, however, that HICKS at the time of the interview was ill and believed to be dying, and if not available for interview the one to see would be GEORGE WELTNER, Vice President of Paramount International Films.

Source 30-T recalled that Paramount had sold to Russia "Gulliver's Travels"; also that they had bought from the Russians (he believed it was from Artkino) the picture "Heroic Stalingrad". In connection with this picture Source 30-T said that JOHN HEXLEY, local well known writer, known to this office as a follower of the Communist Party line, did the adaptation and re-writing free of charge. In other words, Paramount paid him no money and he volunteered his services in order that the picture might be released in this country.

To informant's knowledge, no efforts have been made by the local members of the Russian Vice Consulate or any others to influence pictures being made by local studios along lines of particular interest to the Russian Government. He said this would be impossible as close watch is maintained by executives of the studios.

This source recalled that prior to the time KALATOZOV was representing the Russians in the picture industry, one LEONID ANTONOV contacted him. MICHAEL WALDEN, presently head of the Russian-American Club in this city, accompanied ANTONOV, and acted as his interpreter. When KALATOZOV appeared he was accompanied by ZINA VOYNOW who acted as his secretary and interpreter. Prior to KALATOZOV'S appearing at the studio, a letter had been received from their New York office stating KALATOZOV was particularly intereste in some pictures Paramount had made and Source 30-T was requested to extend all possible courtesies. However, only the picture "Hitler's Gang" was viewed by KALATOZOV at the studio, and this source said he had to keep the contact alive, KALATOZOV not appearing very interested in seeing the rest of the pictures or going around the studio.

Agents were likewise advised by this source that several years ago one LOU HARRIS, presently a producer on the lot, but at that time assistant to CECIL B. DeMILLE, approached the heads of the studio and wanted to have the world premiere of the picture "Dr. Wassell" held in Moscow. This suggestion was not acted upon and this source stated further that FRANK FREEMAN, head of Paramount, he believed had been approached by KALATOZOV to make a broadcast to Russia in the interests of the picture industry of both countries. In line with the general policy of the studio the matter was not received at all favorably and no such broadcast was ever made. This source assured agents that he would keep this office advised of any developments in the future concerning activities of the Russian Government or any of its representatives with that particular studio.

In connection with this studio it is noted that HAL WALLIS, producer, according to HEDDA HOPPER'S column of April 19, 1945, was heading for New York to confer with LILLIAN HELLMAN on a forthcoming picture she had written. HELLMAN is a well known follower of the Communist Party line, and recently returned from Russia.

E. R. K. O. STUDIOS

Previous mention under the information concerning Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios, has been made concerning BILL GORDON, head of the Censorship and Foreign Office at RKO. He is believed to be pro-Communist and is not being interviewed concerning connections of that studio with the Russians locally. Investigation has reflected that members of the Consulate are frequently in contact with BILL GORDON in an effort to have visitors see the studio, etc.

Special Agent MALCOLM M. RINK and the writer interviewed Source 30-W on several occasions concerning connections of the studio with the Russian Government in the exchange of film. It has also appeared in local trade sheets that RKO and the Russians were going to exchange pictures on a voluntary, or no favor basis. The name of Mr. ODLUM, president of Atlas Investment Corporation, which controls RKO, was suggested as one who would furnish information concerning this deal.

However, reference is made to a letter to the Bureau dated February 9, 1945, a copy of which was furnished the New York Office in the case entitled "MIKHAIL KONSTANTIN KALATOZOV, INTERNAL SECURITY ~~(R)~~" in which the New York Office was requested to interview the appropriate individual at RKO Radio Pictures Incorporated, 1270 Sixth Avenue, New York City, for information concerning the deal between this film company and the Russian Government. While it is realized that the matter is being held in abeyance pending action of JOHN WHITAKER in presenting the deal to the State Department, it is believed that in connection with the instant investigation, inquiry could be made of PETER RATHVON, President of RKO Radio Pictures Incorporated.

F. RE: OTHER STUDICS

It is contemplated that information will be developed concerning contacts between the Russian Vice Consulate and others with the remaining major studios in Hollywood. To date this information has not been assembled. This will include Warner Brothers, Universal Studios, Republic Studios and General Service Studios, also known as Samuel Goldwyn Studios. With reference to Goldwyn, Source 30-C advised that on April 9, 1945 a Mr. EGAN'S (ph) office at Goldwyn was in touch with the Consulate requesting the return of the print "Up In Arms", the DANNY KAYE picture, made by Goldwyn, which had been sent to Russia. EGAN was referred to the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission, particularly Mr. IRSKY.

Back in 1944 at the time KALATOZOV was in Hollywood, GOLDWYN was in frequent touch with him and members of the Consulate, they frequently having conferences together. Elsewhere in this report is mentioned the sale of other pictures to Russia by Goldwyn. Several confidential sources close to Goldwyn have been approached, but as yet no positive information has been developed which determines his sentiments. It is reported that he is not Communistically inclined and has dealt with them only from a money-making standpoint.

Warner Brothers, as is well known, made the film "Mission To Moscow". To date it has not been possible to interview either JACK or HARRY WARNER on this subject as well as concerning Russians in the picture industry generally.

Source 30-C advised that on April 5, 1945 one LEON HARDWICK, who said he was representing the International Film and Radio Guild, was in touch with EUGENE TUMANTZEV, the Vice Consul. He stated that on May 24th, at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles they were going to make awards to the motion picture studios of various countries who have produced films that were best designed to portray world unity. He inquired of TUMANTZEV for the names of the Russian film distributors in this area. He was given the name of "Intorgkino" Film Exchange, with headquarters in New York. It was also suggested that he get in touch with the SGPC in Washington, D. C.

This same source advised on March 27th that the executive director of Interracial Film and Radio Guild was in touch with EFREMOV, secretary of the Consulate. He wanted an appointment with the Vice Consul and sought entree to motion picture companies in Russia. He indicated he wanted to send them literature. No further information has been developed concerning the above two items but if any information of interest to the investigation comes to this office, it will be reported herein.

ORSON WELLES has his own production unit although it has not been particularly active of late. This is known as Mercury Productions. He was one of the sponsors for the reception given KALATOZOV in August, 1943. WELLES has been the subject of independent investigation by the Los Angeles Office and while it has not been determined that he is a Communist, he definitely has liberal leanings and has been associated with some persons who are Communists. He is particularly active during the present Security Conference in San Francisco in promoting the activities of the "Free World" group. This has been reported to the Bureau in the subject file on WELLES.

G. UNITED STATES ARMY SIGNAL CORPS

The United States Army Signal Corps, located at Sunset Boulevard and Western Avenue, Los Angeles, telephone HIllside 8301, is engaged in making pictures of a documentary nature for the armed forces and some have been released to the public. This unit is headed by Colonel FRANK CAPRA, a former picture producer in Hollywood. It is understood that he is shortly to be released from the United States Army and will, together with SAM BRISKIN, likewise a former producer, engage in making pictures.

This unit of the Signal Corps is affiliated closely with the unit at Astoria, Long Island. CAPRA has spent most of his time in the east. The actual running of the unit here has been under the guidance of Lieutenant Colonel ROBERT LORD. His wife is MARTHA LORD, executive secretary of the Russian War Relief in this area.

On March 10, 1945 Source 30-C advised that DIMITRI TIOMKIN, a civilian member of the Signal Corps, invited the then Vice Consul, MIKHAIL S. VAVILOV, and others to attend a private showing of CAPRA'S recent documentary film "War Comes to the United States". It is reported further that TIOMKIN told VAVILOV that they had received permission from Washington to show this picture to members of the Vice Consulate and TIOMKIN told him that the Signal Corps was not yet ready to let the citizens of this country see it.

In this discussion it was also mentioned by TIOMKIN that JAY LEYDA had talked to VAVILOV about the picture a few days before. It was further mentioned that among those attending would be Colonel ROBERT LORD, husband of MARTHA LORD. It appeared that TIOMKIN and VAVILOV had not met prior to that date. With reference to JAY LEYDA, he directed "Mission To Moscow" for Warner Brothers. There was some discussion also at that time that Colonel ANATOLE LITVAK had just returned from Russia and was bringing a picture which would be shown.

Again on March 22, 1945 this same source advised that TIOMKIN was talking with EFREMOV, secretary at the Russian Vice Consulate, and told him he was going to New York and Washington to work on a Russian picture, leaving the next Tuesday; further that LITVAK was leaving in approximately nine days and that they would all have lunch together that day. TIOMKIN continued that the picture he had shown EFREMOV and other members of the Consulate, had been released and could be shown to anyone he wished. TIOMKIN suggested to EFREMOV that when they lunched with LITVAK no discussion be had of that picture (presumably "War Comes to the United States") because it was CAPRA'S project and they did not want LITVAK to become involved.

In connection with TIOMKIN'S statement that he was going east, the writer noted in "Variety", Hollywood trade sheet, of March 23, 1945, that TIOMKIN was leaving the next Tuesday to confer with the Shuberts over the forthcoming musical comedy "First Surrender". It was indicated that TIOMKIN would be the musical director. He wrote the music, FRED HERBERT wrote the lyrics, and CLAUDE BINYON and BILLY WALSH wrote the book. It was indicated that production was slated for Broadway this summer.

After considerable investigation and inquiry on the part of reliable and known sources of information in the picture industry, it was determined that Source 30-X could be contacted without the Bureau's inquiry being divulged. The indices of this office contain no information of a derogatory nature concerning him.

Source 30-X was interviewed by Special Agent MALCOLM M. RINK and the writer on March 21, 1945, in his offices. With reference to TIOMKIN, whose name came up in general conversation, he said he knew him well; that he wrote all the music for shorts put out by the Signal Corps; that he had been with CAPRA for ten years before the present war; that he sacrificed a lot of money to be in the service. As for the picture "War Comes to the United States", this source said he had nothing to do with the production of it, but he recalled overhearing a conversation shortly after it was finished, in which someone was asking how the Russian Consul a nd his guests liked the picture. He also recalled that there was some difficulty in arranging a suitable time for the showing. In recalling who had made the statement, this source said that the Russian Consul observed after he had seen the picture that "It doesn't show the seamy side of America." This is the first of a series of two pictures to be entitled the same. This source continued that CAPRA volunteered to make these pictures at the suggestion of General MARSHALL. They are clearing through the War Department before they are released.

With reference to CAPRA himself, Source 30-X advised he believed he was a solid American, leaning toward the right rather than the left. He was born in Palermo, went to San Francisco as a boy, later came to Hollywood, and has been successful.

Colonel ANATOLE LITVAK, this source said, was now in Hollywood in connection with a picture being made by the Signal Corps. He stated that LITVAK had recently come from Russia where he had made a trip in connection with a picture he was making on shuttle bombing.

Going back to TIOMKIN and his politics, this source recalled a conversation in which TIOMKIN'S wife had made the statement that if DEWEY was not elected president, "the country would go to hell in three months" because of the way the present administration was running things. Source 30-X observed that it was his feeling that any other leanings on politics which TIOMKIN might have would be whipped out of him by his wife. Being a Russ it was felt that he had probably made arrangements for the Russian Consul to see the picture mentioned. This source mentioned that TIOMKIN was going to leave soon for New York in connection with a musical he had written.

In connection with documentary films made by the Signal Corps, he said that frequently they have occasion to call on the Russian Vice Consulate to get footage of actual battle scenes in which the Russians are engaged. Following the initial interview with this source he contacted the writer the next day to advise that he had made further inquiry and found that Colonel LORD had requested the War Department to have this picture shown to the local Russian Vice Consulate, that it had been turned down once and then had been O.K.'d. TIOMKIN was present at the showing to report on the reaction of the Russian Vice Consul, VAVILOV.

This source admitted that he had been out of touch with the actual picture industry [redacted] and probably was not up to date on Communists in the business. It was also noted that [redacted] so that conversation with him is necessarily lengthy, as it takes [redacted] b7D

With reference to Col. LORD, Source 30-C advised that when VAVILOV was transferred to San Francisco for new Consular duties, his wife, on leaving April 17, 1945, requested that her regards be given to MARTHA LORD "perhaps we will see each other in Moscow".

After considerable inquiry the writer was able to obtain a complete list of officers assigned to the Signal Corps unit, headed by CAPRA. This list is not being set out herein at this time, but as soon as data available in the files of this office can be assembled concerning members who a re associates of Communists and appear to be of interest to this investigation, same will be set forth.

On March 20, 1945 the writer interviewed Source 30-A in connection with the Signal Corps and it was on his recommendation, along with several others, that Source 30-X was interviewed. He stated that he had formerly been at Paramount Studios as a writer and was definitely against Communism. In connection with Source 30-A, this source mentioned several reviewers that he used on pictures, one of whom was JACK HARROWER. As a matter of information Source 30-C advised that on July 13, 1944 JACK HARRAL (ph) contacted ZINA VOYNOW inquiring as to whether she had a story for him.

On March 29, 1945 the writer interviewed Source 30-Y. He was another who recommended Source 30-X for information concerning the Signal Corps. The same was confirmed by Source 30-O.

In connection with CAPRA, Source 30-Y advised on March 30, 1945 that he recalled back in 1936 or 1937 M-G-M was to do a picture on Russia.

CAPRA was the only man in town believed capable of making it. He continued that the idea was abandoned after STALIN killed off some of his Russian generals. Informant labeled CAPRA as a Communist or at least inclined that way.

Source 30-Z was interviewed by Special Agent MALCOLM M. RINK and the writer on April 3, 1945 concerning CAPRA and the Signal Corps. It was through this source that the writer obtained a list of the Signal Corps officers. With reference to CAPRA, Source 30-Z said that it was true that he had planned to make a picture on Russia but it fell through as one of the normal catastrophes of picture making. They could not get the proper script. He said he did not think CAPRA had any affiliation with the Communist Party.

On May 9, 1945 Special Agent MALCOLM M. RINK and the writer in talking with Source 30-A-1 learned that FRANK CAPRA was soon to come back to the RKO lot. Informant mentioned further that CAPRA'S secretary is one MIRIAM GEIGER who has boasted of being a Communist.

Informant said that CAPRA and SAM BRISKIN would be associated with LEO McCAREY, the producer, in what will be known as "Rainbow Productions".

JAY LEYDA previously mentioned as being technical advisor on the picture "Mission To Moscow" made by Warner Brothers, resides at [redacted] b6 b7C Spot surveillances made on him have developed nothing of interest to this investigation.

On April 3, 1945 Source 30-C advised that LEYDA was in conference with TUMANTZEV inquiring whether the manuscript he had written had been taken to San Francisco by VAVILOV. LEYDA was told that TUMANTZEV thought it had been sent to Moscow. LEYDA said he hoped it had not because he wanted it back. The following day LEYDA was told by TUMANTZEV the manuscript had been located, at which time LEYDA said he was glad because "that was my last topic". LEYDA was to visit the Consulate that day and go over the material.

III. SPECIFIC PROPAGANDA FILMS

A. American Films in which the Soviets Have Express Interest

Elsewhere in this report is information concerning particular American films in which the Soviets have expressed an interest. Particular attention is directed to "Mission to Moscow", "Stalingrad", and "North Star" which have been termed specific propaganda films tending to bring American sympathy closer to Russia. It is also recalled that the Soviets have purchased a number of films including "The Little Foxes" which depicts degenerate life in America's South. They also purchased "Tales of Manhattan" made by BORIS MORROS.

With reference to the film "The Little Foxes" which was adapted from the LILLIAN HELLMAN play, the writer observed in the "Hollywood Reporter" for April 17, 1945 that the film opened the previous Wednesday at the Moscow Drama Theatre, Moscow, Russia before a sell-out crowd which hailed it "as one of the most beautiful pictures ever seen" and BETTE DAVIS as the best dramatic actress ever to have appeared on Soviet screens. The story continued that newspapers went overboard in lauding the production.

From an article in the "Reporter" for March 7, 1945 it appears that SAMUEL GOIDWYN'S "The Little Foxes" was the first film dubbed into Russian. Heretofore American films have been shown with sub titles in Russian. In connection with the trade sheet article for March 7th, it continued that it appeared from the Soviet Film Commission's purchase of 20th Century Fox' "Charley's Aunt" that the Soviet policy was one of acquiring strictly escapist films from Hollywood.

B. Russian Films

Elsewhere in this report have been listed the twelve Russian films which have been shown locally during the past year. The Moscow made film "Kutusov" shown in Los Angeles during December 1944, was reviewed by DIRK VAN H. LABBERTON, Special Employee-Translator employed in the Los Angeles Office and he advised that the Title "Kutusov" had been changed to "1812", the year of Napoleon's retreat from Moscow. He stated that the film has not the slightest reference to Bolshevism, Atheism, Communism or Soviet Economy. It is "nationalistic" in its tendency, showing that the Russian armies retreat, that even Moscow can be lost and yet "Russia" can never be defeated. The crowded house applauded some pregnant "good words" of Marshal KUTUSOV. Emperor Alexander is shown as being susceptible for anti-Kutusov intrigues of Kutusov's Chief of Staff (of German origin) without daring to assert his authority against his Field Marshal in the conduct of the war. One could say that this might be some subtle anti-monarchical propaganda, but the point is not stressed. The similarity between Stalin's and Kutusov's tactics (receding before the onslaught; black earth policy; awaiting winter time for offensive) is obvious enough. "Propaganda" could have made the most of it, but the film does not suggest anything relative to present day conditions at all. The conclusion is this: this is a Russian film, in the Russian language (with captions in English) but free from the slightest trace of Soviet propaganda. As a film it has great qualities. It is a new development in presentation of an historical epoch, sober, forceful and impressive.

The Russian made film "Moscow Skies" shown in Los Angeles during the week of April 13, 1945, was reviewed by Special Employee-Translator A. N. OSSIPOFF of the Los Angeles Office who reported that the story was a very simple one. A young lieutenant, fresh from air school, reports for duty and within a short time due to his daring exploits as a fighter pilot, becomes a hero of the Soviet Union. While the hero was at school his childhood friend, a girl with whom he is in love, was sent to the air base to which he is eventually attached. A series of lovers' quarrels ensue but all ends happily after the pilot crashes and is temporarily grounded. The film shows a very friendly attitude between superior officers and their crews; however, there is a decided respect shown for commanding officers.

In connection with activities of the Russian film industry, the writer noted in "Variety", Hollywood trade sheet for April 3, 1945 that under a dateline Mexico City, it was indicated that Russian films were to be dubbed into Spanish in Mexican studios and from there distributed through the Spanish speaking countries of the Americas. It was reported that ALFREDO GOMEZ DeLa VEGA, legitimate actor and student of Russian cinema, was translating dialogues for the Soviet film "Wait For Me". The article continued that in order to strengthen ties with other countries The Institute of Mexican-Russian Cultural Relations was bringing Soviet art and literature to Mexico by means of films, concerts, and exhibitions.

In the "Hollywood Reporter" for Monday, April 9, 1945 it was noted that Brazil was expected to make a complete change in its attitude concerning pro-Russian matters in many productions or newsreels. This was a result of Brazil's again having established relations with the Russian Government. It was indicated that heretofore United States features favorable to Russia were not played in that country. As an example, the release of M-G-M's "Song of Russia" had been held up.

The "Hollywood Reporter" for February 13, 1945 reviewe Russian picture "Adventure in Bokhara" made by "Tashkent-artkino". 1. reflected that this picture was an unusual production to come from the of Soviet Russia both because it is a grandiose venture into comedy and because of its subject matter, an Arabian Nights type of extravaganza whose story is something of a cousin to "Kismet". True, it does toss a few derisive brickbats at nabob plutocracy but, chiefly, it is sardonic fantasy. It is no secret that the Russians have a bright flair for comedy of both the robust, down-to-earth and the subtle varieties. In this picture there are numerous hilarious moments, some of the pantomimic school which no subtitle translation to put over their points for laughs. Obviously the picture, aimed for lavishness, using one or two mammoth sets and vast crowds.

The review continues that the picture falls because it lacks smoothness and proper advantage was not taken of either the sets or the masses of people; further the photography is below par, sound recordings quite poor, and the acting is either "hammy" or quite amateurish, lacking the finesse and power which is usually found in the Russian films which reach these shores.

It was noted in the May 8, 1945 issue of "Variety" under a story datelined the previous day at San Francisco, that Russia was making a feature picture of the United Nations Conference that would be shown in Russia as soon as completed. The story continued that ANDRE GREGORY BALGIANNSKY (BOLTIANSKY) motion picture official for the Russian Government, was having a story written around the conference background, sessions, and the city of San Francisco.

The "Variety" for May 21, 1945 carries a story to the effect that one of the first postwar undertakings of the Russian Government will be to rebuild its motion picture studios; that a special mission of the Russian Government was shortly to be in Hollywood in an effort to obtain a considerable amount of technical equipment for the making of pictures. It indicated that they would purchase $2,000,000 worth of equipment including speed cameras, projectors, and sound equipment. The newspaper story reflects also that Russian films are presently being shown in all the European countries occupied by the Russians, this much to the consternation of the Hollywood studio heads who have not yet obtained clearance for the showing of American pictures in occupied countries.

C. Counter Soviet Propaganda in the Motion Picture Industry.

W. R. WILKERSON, owner and publisher of the "Hollywood Reporter", who has been contacted on numerous occasions by the writer, and who is known to be anti-Communist, and well aware of the dangers to this country therefrom, on April 18, 1945 wrote an editorial which reads as follows:

"It's remarkable to us that as yet no picture effort has been accomplished to protect this great land of ours from Communism. There should be a great story for a great picture, and one that would do this country and its people more good than any film ever accomplished. Certainly a film of entertainment, but one

"packing sufficient information to open the eyes of our population, some of whom are being waved leftward by a lot of glib talk on the part of the Reds who are out to sink our form of living--the form of government that made of our nation the greatest in the world over the shortest period.

"Our producers have always rushed to any and every cause to benefit our peoples. They have propagandized issues in forms of screen entertainment that have done wonders in building up a case against the Nazis, of helping us through the war; of all types of conservations that were most necessary in the winning of the war. Accordingly, why not something now to keep the U. S. for the U. S. Something to highlight the (rather successful) efforts that are now being exerted to change our whole manner of living; taking away the very foundations of our nation; removing the wheels that turned so successfully during the life of this country? Why not a picture or pictures to protect this way of life, our past form of government; the very living and government that made of us the world's greatest power? The screen can do it better than all the speakers, editorialists and the accomplishments of our true patriots in their efforts to stamp out the spread of the Red propaganda.

"One would only have to compare our way of living, our comforts, our great industry and national resources against those that were offered and will be offered in Communistic countries, to win the case hands down. There are no people who have greater opportunities; no country offering such opportunity as our people and the government that built up this mighty nation.

"There is little doubt that the Reds are building a tremendous organization here and in all the Americas in an effort to tumble our high position, our daily comforts, our happy manner of living. Pictures can combat this intrusion successfully IF some of our producers will jump to the cause---acause of saving the U. S. for the U. S."

Another editorial on this subject appeared under date of April 28, 1945, as follows:

"Many of the 'Commies' have certainly become disturbed because we dared to suggest here that our picture industry should do something to help return the U.S. to the U.S. and sustain our way of living and the form of government that made of us the greatest and happiest nation in the world. The 'Commies' have taken our suggestion as an attack on Communism. David Platt, in the N. Y. Daily Worker, a Communistic organ, devotes his whole column in criticizing us, heading it with 'Answering a Redbaiter.'

"Well--if our suggestion that motion pictures assume its patriotic burden and national service with a picture or pictures that would arouse better thinking, reminding our people of the principles that built our great nation and the attacks that are now being made on those principles in the hope of changing our way of living--our mode of government--then we stand accused, we ARE a redbaiter. However, we want no part of Communism or what it represents, have no envy for the communistic principles, their way of life, their form of government. That is for them. If they are happy with it, that's their contentment, but let them keep it for themselves, let them live it in their own land and keep away from us and stop tampering with our government, our way of living, our happiness. We believe our former form of government, our way of living, was the best. The 'commies' may like theirs best. That's for them. The U.S. is for us and we believe our picture industry should fight any intrusion, should highlight in picture entertainment the conspiracy that's now rampant, the results if that conspiracy wins out. We know our industry has the arm for the fight to win back the U.S. for the U.S. and believe it should accept that patriotic duty and FIGHT.

"Mr. Platt, in part of his column, states:

"'After all these years Wilkerson is still backing the wrong war. To him, Stalin is the real enemy. Wilkerson has learned nothing from the experiences of the last 12 years of Nazi red-baiting which has culminated in a tidal wave of cannibalism before which the savagery of primitive man stands in childlike awe. He wants Hollywood to make a 'great picture' that will show that America's real enemy is Communism, not Fascism. Such a film, he says, 'would do this country and its people more good than any film ever accomplished.

"'Could Radio Berlin or the headhunters of Belsen and Buchenwald say more? Hitler began by denouncing the 'Red Menace!' Like Wilkerson, Der Fuehrer said 'the Communists were out to sink our form of living.'"

"Our only answer to the above is that if Stalin and his Communists did not make a treaty with Hitler, did not join him in principle at the start of the war, there would have been no war which 'culminated in a tidal wave of cannibalism.' The head-hunters of Belsen and Buchenwald would never have existed. However, enough of this. We are not baiting the Russians. We're not big enough even if we wanted to and we don't want to. What we do want and will give any and all the assistance we have in the effort, is to help bring back our American way of living and the form of government that has been the envy of every other nation of the world. We would like to see the return of the things that gave all of us the freedom and happiness

"we and our forefathers enjoyed which made it possible for the accomplishment of most of our desires. This conspiracy seeks to destroy that and we can go a long way in beating it off if our picture producers will assume their obligations and through entertainment show our peoples what is happening and what WILL happen if that comspiracy spreads further."

His final editorial on this subject appeared April 30, 1945 and is as follows:

"We feel flattered that so many of the nation's columnists and quite a few of the commentators on the air took up the suggestions contained in our sermon here the other day that our company heads and their producers immediately set about doing something to help save these United States for the U.S. We were more surprised than flattered, however, that these same writers and commentators, who certainly have some influence on the thinking of our nation, have not started the drum-beat long before something appeared in this column. However, we are happy the comment was made and hope others take up the idea in the desire that something is done to maintain our way of thinking--the way that made of this nation the greatest and most powerful throughout the whole world.

"It's true that there are only a few who are doing the shouting to change our form of Government, but those few have had some effect and are cutting in deeper each day, with the average individual laughing the thing off with the comment 'It can't happen here'. But it is happening. Already many of the things that advanced this country and our people are being changed to stop that progress--to cut off our power, to sow disunity, discord; to get our people fighting among themselves and substitute a government comparable to other nations who are constantly at war with one other.

"The whole world is jealous of the U.S. Jealous of its form of living, of its progress, or its many advantages. Our way of living is too good, our manner of government gives too much opportunity for progress. There is a conspiracy to destroy both UNLESS our peoples do something about it, and quick. The quickest way to start the movement in the right direction is for our producers to design informative stories that can be screened entertainingly showing what is going on, what its effect will be if it continues and the ultimate destruction of the form of government and the way of living that's made us such a great nation, such a mighty power.

"Motion pictures have become the greatest source of public information and instruction. There is no medium that reaches the "masses and can influence their actions as quickly and effectively. Motion pictures, better than anything else, can stop the conspiracy to destroy our ideals, our lives and our form of Government. And why shouldn't we help? Why shouldn't we point up the campaign that is being waged to destroy the very things that made the United States what it is? Who of you would want to live under any government other than the one that made us the great power we are--the happy individuals we are? Why permit it to be changed for something that will check our progress and make us unhappy?"

The writer interviewed WILKERSON May 14, 1945 as to reactions from his editorials and he stated that he had received 100 anonymous letters which berated him but that commendatory statements were made to him by JACK WARNER of Warner Brothers, and DARRYL ZANNUCK of 20th Century Fox. He said JACK WARNER told him that if somebody would give him a script on that subject, he would be glad to make such a picture; that ZANNUCK, while he endorsed his stand, told him he thought he was "sticking his neck out".

IV. SOVIET PROPAGANDISTS IN MOTION PICTURE WORK.

A. STIRLING HAYDEN, with aliases Sterling Hayden, John Hamilton, Sterling Walters.

Source 30-M has advised in some detail of the activities of STIRLING HAYDEN, former Paramount picture player and presently the husband of MADELINE CARROOL. HAYDEN is one of the suspects in Comintern activities. As early as November 1944 members of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission in San Francisco were in contact with WILLIAM SCHNEIDERMAN, California State President of the Communist Political Association discussing the impending visit of HAYDEN. HAYDEN was in San Francisco on December 6, 1944, remaining until December 11, 1944, during which time he met members of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission, and was discussed frequently by WILLIAM SCHNEIDERMAN and STEVE NELSON. It was apparent that he was working for "their cause".

They also discussed HAYDEN'S getting in touch with "JACK" in care of Columbia Studios in Hollywood and this is believed to be JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, prominent Communist in the motion picture industry. It appears that HAYDEN discussed with them his recent activities in Yugoslavia working with and for TITO'S people; also that he had conferred with WILLIAM DONOVAN, head of O.S.S., HENRY WALLACE, and Mrs. ROOSEVELT and that it was anticipated that he would return to Spain where he would be working in the underground in the interests of the Communist cause.

It appears further that MADELINE CARROLL is also working for their interests but it has been decided that she should remain undercover and not openly acknowledge her Communist affiliations and interests. If Mrs. ROOSEVELT was unable to get HAYDEN into the Spanish underground, he would then attempt to get into the French underground movement. It was indicated that she would in some way attempt to influence the President in HAYDEN'S behalf.

Source 30-N reports a dinner engagement of HAYDEN'S with Source 30-O. This last named source is [redacted] b7D and here appears to be direct evidence of efforts of HAYDEN to promote Russian propaganda in the picture industry. This appointment took place January 1, 1945 in New York City at which time HAYDEN told Source 30-O that he wanted to make pictures in Hollywood after the war, following his discharge from military service. He, however, made it clear that he wanted to make pictures only on "My own terms". In explaining that, HAYDEN said that he wanted to play parts and select stories which had a message so that his pictures could be used to tell the people of the world what they were fighting for; that HAYDEN wanted to use the medium of motion pictures to bring a message to the people of the world. HAYDEN was told that this studio was not interested in any message which HAYDEN wanted to deliver.

HAYDEN also related to this source that while with the United States Marines he had been dropped by parachute in Yugoslavia where he maintained liaison between Marshall TITO and an American force in Italy. During this time HAYDEN said he became very close to TITO and "that's where I began to see things in a different light". He said that TITO represents what the poor, starving people of Yugoslavia are willing to die for in order to better themselves. HAYDEN also told this source that on his return from Italy, he had gone to San Francisco to see some people he wished to see there. He did not tell who they were but he said that they had asked him to see certain pictures and HAYDEN submitted a list of these pictures, about ten in number, in which he was interested in viewing in New York City. Except for three or four old MADELINE CARROLL pictures the group, according to Source 30-O, consisted entirely of leftist films, specifically "Grapes of Wrath", "Song of Russia", "Mission to Moscow" and "The Informer".

Source 30-O, who has known HAYDEN over a period of years, advised that HAYDEN has undergone a considerable change in his outlook on world affairs; that now he appears to be completely obsessed by a revolutionary or radical philosophy, and it appeared to this source that HAYDEN was under complete control of some unidentified friends in San Francisco; that now he is mature, he appears to have his principal life interest wrapped up in some type of leftist, radical political work.

Source 30-P furnished background information on HAYDEN who was born STERLING WALTERS in Montclair, New Jersey March 26, 1916. His early life was taken up with sailing the seas. He met MADELINE CARROLL in Hollywood during the making of two pictures in which he appeared, "Virginia" and "Bahama Passage". They were married in 1942 in New Hampshire, following her divorce from PHILLIP ASTLEY, to whom she was married in 1931. ASTLEY was a London real estate broker. MADELINE CARROLL is a naturalized American citizen, born February 26, 1906 in Birmingham, England.

In December 1941 HAYDEN was reported to be in the Pacific Theater of War aboard a cargo vessel working for the Canadian Government. He enlisted in the United States Marines September 26, 1942 and in Bridgeport, Connecticut June 25, 1943 had his name legally changed to JOHN HAMILTON.

It is reported that HAYDEN left Washington, D. C. about February 3, 1945, apparently on an overseas assignment for the Office of Strategic Services.

B. RE: BORIS MICHAEL MORROS

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent HOWARD H. DAVIS.

MORROS was born January 1, 1891 at St. Petersburg, Russia and entered the United States in April 1915, being naturalized in New York City March 4, 1929. He was formerly manager of the Paramount Theatre, New York City, and since 1935 has been employed as a motion picture producer in Hollywood, having been connected with Paramount, 20th Century-Fox, and General Service Studios.

MORROS has sisters and brothers residing in Russia. His aged father is presently residing in Los Angeles, MORROS allegedly having arranged with the former Russian Ambassador, MAXIM LITVINOFF, for his father to come to this country. MORROS resides at [redacted] with his wife, KATHERINE. They have a son, RICHARD, in the United States Army and a son-in-law BORIS LEVEN who was an art director for Fox Studios but is now in the United States Army stationed at Los Angeles. b6 b7C

MORROS is of interest in the COMRAP case, having been mentioned in the anonymous letter to the Bureau of August 7, 1943. VASSILI ZUBILIN, alleged Comintern agent, on April 12, 1943 left a briefcase at MORROS' home which briefcase ZUBILIN had previously stated he would not leave out of his possession.

MORROS has had numerous contacts with the Russian Vice Consulate at Los Angeles, having attended parties there and also having attended the farewell for MIKHAIL KALATOZOV, former official Soviet film representative to the United States, who returned to Russia on November 11, 1944. MORROS has also made arrangements on several occasions at the request of the Russian Vice Consulate for official parties of visiting Russians to visit motion picture sets.

On April 29, 1943 Source 34-A advised that on one occasion an individual by the name of SHUMITSKY (ph), ascertained later to be BORIS SCHUMIATSKY, Soviet Commissar of Motion Pictures, was in Hollywood and conferred with MORROS about making pictures for Russia. MORROS was working for Paramount at the time and contacted CECIL B. DeMILLE in the matter, but Paramount exhibited little interest. At this time and while SCHUMIATSKY was in Hollywood, MORROS endeavored to interest Source 34-A in this idea and also discussed with him the plan of going to Russia to make films. As far as Source 34-A knew, nothing ever developed from this.

While at the 20th Century-Fox Studios, MORROS was in partnership with SAM SPIEGEL, also known as S. P. EAGLE, and they were assisted by SAMUEL RHEINER. As a result of this partnership the picture "Tales of Manhattan" of which JULIEN DUVIVIER was the director, was produced. SPIEGEL was born November 11, 1901 in Poland and is an alien. He was previously in the United States from 1927 to 1930 at which time he was deported to Poland and he re-entered the United States in May 1939. Subsequently deportation proceedings charging illegal entry were instituted against him as he is stated to be a deportable alien with a criminal record. SAMUEL RHEINER was born September 8, 1901 at New York City. MORROS has met socially with WALTER COLMES who is the proprietor of Colmes Productions, and apparently they have attempted to get together in producing pictures. COLMES and his wife are members of the Russian-American Club in Los Angeles. MORROS has also had considerable contact with LEOPOLD STOKOWSKI, conductor, and is represented in Mexico City by GREGORY STONE, a musical composer.

MORROS has had numerous contacts in Los Angeles with HERBERT T. SILVERBURG, a Hollywood attorney, apparently for business reasons. SILVERBURG has been in contact both in Mexico City and in Los Angeles with OSCAR DANCIGERS who has been referred to as a Soviet agent. Recently STONE wrote MORROS from Mexico City advising that DANCIGERS had promised him his next picture.

MORROS' last venture at a studios was the General Service Studio where he was in partnership with DAVID LOWE, a producer, and ARTHUR LYONS, an agent. This partnership did not last, however, and has broken up. MORROS presently operates from his place of business 686 North Robertson Boulevard, Los Angeles, which is the Boris Morros Music Company and American Recording Artists, Inc.

It was ascertained through Source 34-B that on October 24, 1944 MORROS wrote a letter to MIKHAIL KALATOZOV, the official Soviet Film Representative to the United States, confirming negotiations with KALATOZOV relative to the film "Tales of Manhattan" and the repurchase from MORROS of the world motion picture rights of "The Russian People". MORROS stated in his letter that after KALATOZOV had returned to Russia and exhibited the film to his colleagues he was to confirm acceptance by cable and KALATOZOV'S government should deposit 300,000 rubles to MORROS' credit in the Moscow Government Bank. He was likewise to cable confirmation on "The Russian People" and 100,000 rubles were to be deposited to his credit for this.

On the same date MORROS directed a letter to KALATOZOV in which he sought to have the Boris Morros Music Company named as the official clearinghouse in the United States for the authors, composers and music publishers of the USSR. In connection with the last transaction it should be noted that newspaper accounts relate that the Leeds Music Company was named as the official representative with regard to Russian music.

Source 34-C advised that on February 28, 1945 GREGORY L. IRSKY of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission, 1610 Park Road, Washington, D.C., advised MORROS by letter that it was delightful hearing from him and knowing that he had a friend in Hollywood who never forgets him.

C. Re: VLADIMIR POZNER

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent GILMER G. ROBINSON.

POZNER, prominent French writer presently under investigation by the Los Angeles Field Division and subject in the COMRAP case, was brought to the attention of this office largely through his association with GREGORI KHEIFETS. Since coming to Hollywood in June of 1943 POZNER has been employed at various times in the movie industry, has contacted various prominent individuals identified in the moving picture industry, and is presently employed by one of the large producers.

With reference to background information regarding VLADIMIR POZNER, he was born January 5, 1905, in Paris and has a Master of Arts degree from Sorbonne. He is married and has three children. His wife, IDA, nee LIEBMANN, was born in Novorossisk, Russia, June 4, 1908. His children are ANNE-ELIZABETH-MARIE, born [redacted] CATHERINE-DOMINIQUE-NOEMIE, born in [redacted] and ANDRE-DANIEL, born in [redacted] b6 b7C POZNER speaks English, Russian, and German and was a soldier, second class, in the French Army mobilized on August 27, 1939, and demobilized on July 16, 1940. He served as a military chauffeur during the war. He has been a resident of the United States since January, 1941, and is registered at the Delegation of the GPRF (at the time, National French Committee) at San Francisco.

POZNER arrived in the United States from Marseilles, France, on January 9, 1941, and after leaving New York he proceeded to Berkeley, California, where he was employed in the Richmond Shipyards at which time his address was [redacted] b6 b7C

With respect to his writings, POZNER has contributed to Harper's, "Nation", "New Republic", "Vogue", "Town and Country", "Virginia Orderly", the "France-Amerique", "Le Courier du Pacifique". All of these are magazines. He is the author of the following publications:

"Russe Contemporane", Paris, 1928 (Czech translation)
"Urss", Paris, 1932
"LeMors Aux Dents", Paris, 1937 (English translation)
Tolstoi s. Mort, Paris, 1935
"Deuil Nen 24 Heures", New York, 1942 (American, English, Spanish, and Swedish translations)
"Les Gens Du Pays", New York, 1943 (translated into American, English, Spanish, and Swedish)

He received a Guggenheim Scholarship in 1943 being recommended for this scholarship by ERNEST HEMINGWAY, LOUIS BROMFIELD, HEINRICH MANN, LILLIAN HELLMAN, and MAURICE MAETERLINCK.

POZNER has contacted at various times numerous individuals identified with the moving picture industry. He is friendly with CLIFFORD ODETS, well known leftist writer. He has collaborated with SALKA VIERTEL, principal in the Free German investigation in the Los Angeles Field Division. He is known to have contacted LION FEUCHTWANGER, also under investigation in the Free German activities in this area. Recently he has become friendly with BERT BRECHT and is believed to have collaborated with him on a story. BRECHT is likewise under investigation in the Los Angeles Office.

POZNER has been contacted by Mrs. WILLIAM DIETERLE and has, according to Source 45-A, prepared a talk for her on Russia. It should be further noted that on April 9, 1945, POZNER participated in a broadcast over Station KFI, Los Angeles, which program was entitled "The American Way" and was a discussion of how to re-educate the Nazi indoctrinated children. POZNER is a very good friend of GEORGE HENRI ANTON IVENS who is mentioned elsewhere in the instant report.

POZNER is known to be friendly with CHARLES CHAPLIN and has visited in his home on several occasions. Source 45-B advises that POZNER is a very good friend of LILLIAN HELLMAN and that on October 7, 1944, he visited with her at her home at [redacted] On this occasion HELLMAN related to POZNER that she was leaving for Russia within a few days and that she expected to be there two or three months. b6 b7C

It should be noted also that POZNER has at various times been in contact with LEWIS MILESTONE, who is a motion picture director with a long record of fellow traveler activities.

Source 45-B further reflects that POZNER is known to VERA CASPARY who has been affiliated with the movie industry and has also appeared before various organizations for the purpose of spreading propaganda for the Soviet Government. POZNER is a very good friend of CHARLES BOYER, prominent actor and President of the French Research Foundation. He has assisted BOYER on numerous occasions and this contact has introduced POZNER to many notables in the movie industry.

Recently he assisted BOYER in organizing a banquet for PIERRE BLANCHAR and SIMON SCHIFFRIN. BLANCHAR is the head of the French Committee for Motion Pictures for the Liberation of Paris and SCHIFFRIN, presently under investigation by the New York Field Division, is connected with the Motion Picture Division of the French Press and Information Service which is an agency of the provisional government of the French Republic. During SCHIFFRIN's and BLANCHAR visit to Los Angeles a banquet was given in their honor to raise money for the support of the Civilian Aid Fund for the French Forces of the Interior, and this banquet was sponsored by the Screen Directors Guild, the Screen Actors Guild, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, the Free World Association, "France Forever" of Southern California, and the French Research Foundation. Several of the above groups are known to be Communist Party front organizations.

Source B reflects that POZNER made available to ROSE ISAAK, an article entitled "Enemies in France" which was turned over to ANNA LOUISE STRONG, and that this article was then taken to Russia by ANNA LOUISE STRONG.

This source further advises that POZNER took part in the Writers Congress which was held on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles on October 1-3, 1943, and the Congress was held under the auspices of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, a front for the League of American Writers, a known Communist controlled organization. At this time POZNER took part as a speaker at a panel called "Problems of the Peace".

POZNER was employed for eight months at Warner's Studios at which time he was engaged in writing a scenario for "The Conspirators" and he also worked on "Hotel Berlin". POZNER spent five months at United Artists working on a film of the Norwegian Merchant Marine which was to star GRETA GARBO. However, this particular film did not materialize and has not been produced. He has worked on "G. I. Joe", which is a film of the American Infantry under the patronage of the War Department. Recently he has completed the story "The Dark Horror", which has been sold to NUNNALLY JOHNSON for a reported price of $20,000. At the present time POZNER is engaged by HAL WALLIS at Paramount Studios and he is working on a story of "Dishonorable Discharge".

An article in the "Hollywood Reporter" of March 26, 1945 reflected that one of the first motion pictures to be produced in France after its liberation would be POZNER'S novel "First Harvest" which was written in the United States.

D. Re: JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, with aliases
Jack Lawson, Jacob Levy

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON was born September 25, 1895 at New York City. The family name was originally LEVY but according to LAWSON'S testimony before the California Legislature's Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities on September 13, 1944, the family name was changed prior to JOHN HOWARD LAWSON'S birth. His father's name was SIMEON LEVY LAWSON. LAWSON attended Cutler School in New York and Williams College, graduating in 1914. When he was in college he described his beliefs as "unpredictable" and his college yearbook described him as a "little to the left".

LAWSON'S first job was cable editor in the New York office of Reuters Limited where he was employed for more than a year at which time he resigne after receiving a small payment on an option for a play from GEORGE M. COHAN and SAM H. HARRIS. In 1917 he went abroad serving in the volunteer ambulance service in the French Army, later being transferred to the Italian front. In an autobiographical sketch LAWSON admitted that he served with the Red Cross partially because he did not believe in the war. He spent some time in Paris then returned to the United States and wrote a number of plays which were "leftish" in character.

He has been married twice, his first wife being KATHRYN DRAIN whom he married in 1919. This marriage ended in divorce in 1925. He is presently married to SUSAN EDMOND LAWSON. He has a son and daughter by this marriage. He presently resides at [redacted] and is under a writing contract to Columbia Studios at a salary of $1,000.00 a week, with a guarantee of twenty weeks of work a year. In the past few years he has written scenarios for such box office attractions as "Sahara" and "Action in the North Atlantic". b6 b7C

According to a confidential informant of the Denver Field Division LAWSON and HERBERT BIBERMAN were appointed co-leaders of the intellectuals and the comrades in the motion picture industry for the Communist Party-USA in 1941. Since that date LAWSON has continued his leadership in this field and is currently the leader of the Communist Political Association element in the motion picture industry and allied cultural fields. He is currently assigned to the "special" group, Los Angeles County Communist Political Association. His wife is also a C.P.A. member and his daughter, MANDY, is forming an A.Y.D. Club. His son, JEFFERY is in the United States Army.

LAWSON'S affiliation with the spread of Russian propaganda has been chiefly through his activities as (1.) An officer or leader in Communist front organizations; (2.) Instructor in Communist controlled schools; (3.) Motion picture writing; (4.) Associations.

Concerning Communist front organizations, LAWSON has been one of the leaders and participants in all four congresses of the League of American Writers. He has been a member of the National Executive Board, and was a national vice-president at the time it became dormant in 1944. The League of American Writers reportedly was an outgrowth of the International Congress of Revolutionary Writers which had its origin in Kharkov, Russia. Similarly, LAWSON was one of the organizers of the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization, a so-called win-the-war organization, formed by various guilds in Hollywood to furnish writing and other talent during the war for government and other agencies in connection with entertainment. This organization, in conjunction with the University of California at Los Angeles, sponsored a writers' congress in October, 1943 in Los Angeles and drew charges from the California Legislature's Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities that it was Communist controlled and inspired. In this congress the Russian Government was officially represented.

Confidential National Defense Informant [redacted] advised that LAWSON was very interested in the establishment of a Russian library in the Los Angeles area and told the informant that he thought the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization or the Screen Writers' Guild would undoubtedly help in the formation of such a library. LAWSON has also been active in the Council of American-Soviet Friendship which is the successor to the National Council on American-Soviet Relations. The printed brochure of the National Council of American Soviet Friendship states that its purpose is to publish and disseminate pro-Russian propaganda and to combat anti-Russian propaganda of the HEARST-PEGLER type. On direct instructions from the county officials of the Los Angeles County C.P.A., LAWSON was instrumental in forming a celebration in 1944 commemorating the anniversary of the Russian Revolution. b7D

LAWSON has also been somewhat of a propagandist through the courses he has taught at the Los Angeles Workers School, the League of American Writers' School for Writers and the People's Educational Center - Hollywood Extension. At these schools LAWSON has taught a course on American history. This course, according to advertisements, and according to CNDI [redacted] who attended this course at the Workers School, was taught from the Marxist angle. The brochures describing this course at the various schools have also stated that he included Marxism-Leninism. b7D

As a writer, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON has been the correspondent for the "Daily Worker", has written articles and statements for the "People's World", reported West Coast Communist news organ, and is currently contributing editor to the "New Masses", all of which concur and follow the international Communist line. Currently LAWSON is writing a book (two volumes or more) on American History. ALEXANDER TRACHTENBERG, a national official of the C.P.A., has expressed vital interest in this book, according to C.N.D.I. [redacted] and wanted a script of it sent to him if possible. Furthermore, LAWSON has held b7D critic's sessions on this book with CARL WINTER, Los Angeles County C.P.A. President, and other Communists who are writers in the motion picture industry. LAWSON has completed writing a scenario for the motion picture "Counterattack", produced by ZOLTON KORDA, reported to be the brother of ALEXANDER KORDA, British film producer. The picture has been released through Columbia Studios and has had its first showing in San Francisco during the United Nations Security Conference. The October 23, 1942 issue of the Los Angeles Daily Times states that "Counterattack" was written for the New York stage by JANET and PHILIP STEVENSON and it was based on the central theme of a play written and produced in Russia by ILYA BERSHININ and MIKHAIL RUDERMAN, two Russian reporters. The article stated that the play concerned the Russian-German war. JANET and PHILIP STEVENSON are both members of the C.P.A. in Los Angeles County, according to CNDI [redacted] They were transferred to Los Angeles from New York CP-USA prior to June, 1944. b7D

CONF. INFT.

—CONF. INFT.

According to CNDI [redacted] BILL SHIFFRON, a Hollywood agent, conferred with HERBERT BIBERMAN on October 8, 1942 stating he had a Russian play which he had obtained from LITVINOFF (apparently MAXIM LITVINOFF, former Russian Ambassador to the United States) who wanted it made into a film and shown in Washington, D.C. first so that the President and Congress could see it. In a later conference [redacted] reported that SHIFFRON advised BIBERMAN that producer LEE SABINSON had written directly to Moscow for authority to produce the play and Moscow at first declined to permit production, however, later SHIFFRON sent a copy of the adaptation to Moscow which was approved and [redacted] stated that SHIFFRON said that this is the adaptation that "Russia wants and will approve". SHIFFRON said that SABINSON had the rights to produce the play from the Soviet Embassy and he had worked through ANNA LOUISE WILLIAMS who in turn had worked through the Embassy to secure permission. SHIFFRON said that the adaptors are represented by WILLIAM MORRIS, JR. He also advised BIBERMAN that $36,000 had to be raised and that if BIBERMAN could raise this amount the play would be accessible to him. BIBERMAN was furnished a script by SHIFFRON and [redacted] said that BIBERMAN stated the play was "solid from A to Z". b7D

It was later learned through [redacted] that SHIFFRON had contacted SIDNEY BUCHMAN, a producer at Columbia Studios, (who was a CP-USA member and who is currently a member of the C.P.A., according to [redacted] who first agreed to purchase one-half of the play for $17,500 and later agreed to purchase the whole thing, apparently for $36,000. (It was not clear to the informant whether BUCHMAN purchased it for himself or for Columbia Studios since at that time BUCHMAN was Executive Producer at Columbia and next in charge to HARRY COHEN, President of Columbia Studio.)

It is interesting to note that BEATRICE BUCHMAN, who is also C.P.A. member, according to CNDI [redacted] wanted BIBERMAN to direct the p' b7D

CONF. INFT.

BIBERMAN insisted no trouble be made over his directing it since the important thing is that the play be produced and that a reactionary person does not direct the play. It is to be noted further that BIBERMAN, according to a confidential informant of the Denver Field Division, was appointed co-leader of the Hollywood Intellectual Congress in 1941 with JOHN HOWARD LAWSON. As stated previously, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON has just completed the script for the motion picture entitled "Counterattack".

It is to be noted that CNDI [redacted] reported in October, 1942 that BIBERMAN conferred with LAWSON, gave LAWSON a copy of the script to read and discussed changes they thought necessary in the play, should it be made into a motion picture. b7D

ASSOCIATIONS

LAWSON has also had connections with Soviet officials in Los Angeles. Informants have reported that LAWSON was a contact of MIKHAIL KALATOZOV, Russian film representative in the United States in 1944, in connection with activities of the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization. He is also known to have been a contact of V. V. PASTOEV, former Russian Vice Consul, in Los Angeles, in connection with the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization Congress held in October, 1943.

There is no evidence available that he has been engaged in propaganda dissemination at the behest of Russia. It is also to be noted that most of LAWSON'S activities concern the domestic Communists and their policy in the Los Angeles area.

E. Re: GEORGE HENRI ANTON IVENS, alias Joris Ivens

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent DANIEL F. CAHILL.

IVENS has been a subject of investigation in the Los Angeles Field Division since May of 1943. The records of Immigration and Naturalization Service, according to Source 33-A, indicate that IVENS first came to this country in 1936, entering at New York City. He made several departures and reentries into the country from that date until his final entry in May of 1942. The records of the Immigration Service reflect that IVENS was born on November 18, 1898, at Nymegen, Holland. He filed a Declaration of Intention on October 31, 1939, at New York City; however, no record of his naturalization could be found.

In March of 1943 Confidential National Defense Informant [redacted] reported that IVENS was then working in Los Angeles and Hollywood. This informant had learned of IVENS' presence in the Los Angeles area from HANNS EISLER who resides in [redacted] At that time it was reported that IVENS was attempting to get work in the Office of War Information through ROBERT RISKIN who heads the Foreign Branch of the Motion Picture Unit in OWI. b7D b6 b7C

[redacted] recalled that he had met IVENS in Moscow in 1931 or 1932 and had also seen him in Berlin, Germany. IVENS was known to this informant as a director of documentary films, and further stated that IVENS had directed a documentary film for the Soviet Government in 1932, entitled "Komsomol" (Communist Youth), which was produced in Moscow. This informant also knew that IVENS directed a picture in Spain which was made to show the Spanish Loyalist side of the Civil War. b7D

[redacted] reported that IVENS had come to the United States on the invitation of the New School for Social Research of the Rockefeller Foundation. Prior to his appearance in Los Angeles in 1943 IVENS was reported by the informant to have been making pictures for the Canadian Government. b7D

Source 33-B reported that IVENS is a Dutch Communist who plied back and forth between Holland and the Soviet Union in the early 1930's. He was an instructor in Revolutionary Literature in Moscow, as well as an instructor at the Film University in Moscow. According to this source, IVENS is mentioned numerous times by the "New Theater", which was said by this source to be a Communist Party publication.

With regard to IVENS' documentary films, this source stated that "New Earth" produced in 1934 was a picture which followed the Communist Party line. "Borinage", a documentary film of a coal strike in Belgium, was also produced in 1934 and was a picture following the Communist Party line. This source also reported that the subject made pictures in Spain and China which were distributed through Communist Party channels. It was also reported that he worked with JAY LEYDA in putting across the Communist Party program in the Modern Film Library of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Included in the report from this source was a quotation from the Hollywood Reporter for January 16, 1942, which announced that IVENS had produced a documentary film entitled "Our Russian Front" under the auspices of the Russian War Relief, Inc. This picture was directed by LEWIS MILESTONE, written by ELLIOT PAUL, and narrated by WALTER HUESTON. It was a production of Artkino, a Russian concern.

Through a confidential source it was learned that IVENS' personal correspondence revealed considerable information regarding his activities since arriving in this country. Shortly after his arrival in 1936 he delivered lectures on the influence of art on motion pictures, at Columbia University, New York; University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; University of Syracuse; Dartmouth College; and Bennington College. In 1937 he produced and directed "The Spanish Earth", a film made in Spain during the war on the Madrid front. ERNEST HEMINGWAY collaborated with IVENS in this picture and wrote and spoke the narration. In 1938 IVENS produced and directed "The 400 Million" in China with the full support of the Chinese Government. DUDLEY NICHOLS wrote the script and FREDERIC MARCH delivered the commentary; JOHN FARNO did the camera work and HELEN VAN DONGEN the editing.

In 1939 IVENS produced and directed "Power and the Land" for the Department of Agriculture. In 1940 he completed an editorial film feature called "New Frontiers" for the Educational Film Institute of New York University. In 1941 he was appointed head of the Documentary Division in the Motion Picture Department of the City College of New York.

This same confidential source made known correspondence between IVENS and PEARL ATASHEVA whose address is c/o VOKS, Moscow. This correspondence indicated a very close and friendly relationship existing between the two.

Source 33-C reported that IVENS was active in the Association of Documentary Film Producers, Inc., which is reported to have been made up of individuals who were affiliated with the Communist Party for some time. IVENS was President of this organization. At a meeting held in New York City on October 18, 1942, of "Artists Front to Win the War", IVENS was one of the speakers. This meeting advocated the second front and praised Russia. CHARLES CHAPLIN of Hollywood was also a speaker at this meeting. It was also reported by Source 33-C that IVENS took an active part in the Congress of American Soviet Friendship held in New York City on November 7 and 8, 1942.

For approximately eight months in 1943 IVENS was employed by the Special Service Unit, Army Signal Corps, Los Angeles. He was employed in connection with a series of pictures entitled "Know Your Enemy--Japan". He was assisted in his work by HELEN VAN DONGEN. Prior to the completion of the picture, according to Source 33-D, IVENS and VAN DONGEN were released from this project. This source stated that when IVENS' work was reviewed it was found that the production seemed to lean too much to sympathy for the Japanese. HELEN VAN DONGEN who worked with IVENS in this project as well as on the picture "The 400 Million", married subject in January of 1944. She was later employed by the Office of War Information in the Foreign Film Branch and for about eight months worked with OWI in New York. She later returned and is presently employed with OWI of Hollywood, California.

During the time that VAN DONGEN was working with IVENS for the Army Signal Corps, she was residing with HANNS EISLER in Pacific Palisades, California.

The Writers Congress was held at the University of California at Los Angeles under the auspices of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization in October, 1943. It was noted, according to Source 33-E, that IVENS' name appeared as a member of the Advisory Committee for the Congress, as well as Chairman of the Committee on Documentary Films. IVENS was also scheduled to speak on documentary films at the meeting to be held on October 3.

During the summer of 1944 IVENS collaborated with VLADIMIR POESNER, a subject of investigation in the Los Angeles Field Division, and LESTER COWAN in a picture which was to star GRETA GARBO. This picture was never actually completed.

On October 28, 1944, IVENS was appointed Film Commissioner of the Netherlands East Indies by the Dutch Government. He departed from this country at San Francisco, California, on March 7, 1945, to assume his new position with headquarters in Australia. IVENS was originally scheduled to depart from the country in December, 1944, but there was delay in securing his Exit Visa. A review of his file with the State Department indicated that ARCHIBALD MacLEISH, Assistant Secretary of State, had written several memorandums in which MacLEISH suggested that the Exit permit and Reentry permit be approved. MacLEISH claimed that he knew the subject well having worked with him in the filming of several motion pictures, and that the subject is an anti-Fascist and is anti-Franco.

Throughout the investigation which was made on this subject it was learned through confidential informants that he was in frequent contact with the Russian Vice Consulate at Los Angeles and that he also had many contacts with MIKHAIL KALATOZOV, former Russian film representative in Los Angeles. In this connection it is of interest to note that immediately after his assignment as film commissioner of the Netherlands East Indies, IVENS had a lengthy interview with V. V. PASTOEV, former Soviet Vice Consul in Los Angeles.

F. Re: WILLIAM DIETERLE and CHARLOTTE DIETERLE

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent DANIEL F. CAHILL.

DIETERLE has been a subject of investigation in the Los Angeles Field Division since 1940. The records of Immigration and Naturalization Service, as reported by Source [illegible]-F, reflect that WILLIAM DIETERLE was born on July 15, 1893, at Ludbigshafen, Germany, and that his wife, CHARLOTTE HAGENBRUCH DIETERLE, was born March 27, 1896, at Chemnitz, Germany. DIETERLE and his wife were granted U. S. citizenship at Los Angeles on May 28, 1937. It was also made known through this source that both DIETERLE and his wife visited Europe in 1937 at which time they made a trip through Russia.

In Germany DIETERLE was engaged as an actor. However, when he came to this country he assumed the position of a director and in a very short time he was fortunate enough to meet with great success. Some of the pictures directed by DIETERLE were "Life of Emil Zola", "Life of Louis Pasteur", "Hunchback of Notre Dame", and "Kismet". In spite of the fact that DIETERLE has been very successful in Hollywood and has earned weekly salaries considered to be in excess of $3,000 he is still reported to be in a poor financial condition. Confidential National Defense Informant [redacted] ascribes this to various donations he has made to refugees and Communist dominated organizations. b7D

DIETERLE himself has not take a prominent and active part in the organizations which are sympathetic to Communism. His wife, however, has been extremely active and it is understood that DIETERLE not only concurs with her in her activities but encourages her work.

In 1939 the DIETERLES were instrumental in organizing the "Continental Players". The purpose of this organization was to give employment to refugee writers and actors, most of whom were either Communists or Communist sympathizers. In 1941 DIETERLE used his money in the organization and printing of a paper called the "Hollywood Tribune", which was characterized by confidential sources as being "very Red".

In 1942 Mrs. DIETERLE was very active in, if not the organizer of, the "European Film Fund". The purpose of this Fund was to solicit and collect money from sympathetic actors and writers in Hollywood to support the refugees in this area until such time as they have become established. In the same year it was known that Mrs. DIETERLE was active in soliciting funds for the International Brigade, which was affiliated with the Spanish Loyalists who were fighting Franco in Spain.

At the present time Mrs. DIETERLE is chairman of Russian War Relief, Inc., of Hollywood. She is also the Executive Director of the National Citizens Political Action Committee in this area. In addition, both she and her husband have supported and indicated an interest in the publication entitled "Freies Deutschland" which is published in Mexico City by individuals who are reported to be outright Communists. In the anniversary issue of this magazine which was published in November, 1944, celebrating the third year of publication, an article was included by DIETERLE on "The German Film". In the January, 1945, issue, the magazine carried a short article entitled "A Salute from William Dieterle". In this article they quoted a letter from DIETERLE in which he stated that he was greatly interested in the magazine and expressed the hope that they would continue their great work in the fight against Fascism.

It was made known to Source 33-G that DIETERLE had built a private projection room in his home at [redacted] At various meetings held at his home he showed Russian pictures and pictures favorable to the USSR. b6 b7C

In June of 1944, GREGORI KHEIFETS, former Soviet Vice Consul at San Francisco, and GREGORI KASPAROV, also a former Vice Consul at San Francisco, attended a party at the DIETERLE home. Several other contacts were reported by confidential informants between Mr. and Mrs. DIETERLE and KHEIFETS.

For a period of about four months, according to Confidential National Defense Informant [redacted] NILA MAGIDOFF, wife of ROBERT MAGIDOFF, an American correspondent at Moscow, was a house guest at the DIETERLE home. NILA MAGIDOFF is now a subject of a separate investigation in the New York Field Division. Both prior to and subsequent to her visit with the DIETERLES, she has traveled extensively in this country and in Canada speaking and writing in behalf of the Soviet Union. b7D

Throughout the period that the DIETERLES have been under investigation confidential informants have revealed numerous contacts with official Soviet representatives in Los Angeles. In February of 1945 a representative of the Colton Rotary Club at San Bernardino, California, contacted the Soviet Vice Consulate in Los Angeles and requested that a speaker be sent to San Bernardino. Mrs. DIETERLE was the individual who appeared as a result of this request and gave the talk to the Colton Rotary Club. As was expected she praised the Soviet Government.

Prior to his return to Russia, MIKHAIL KALATOZOV, former Russian film representative in Los Angeles, had many contacts with the DIETERLES. On his departure he took certain American films with him to Russia. Included among this group was the "Hunchback of Notre Dame" which was secured through the assistance of DIETERLE and which was produced under the direction of DIETERLE.

In November of 1944 Mrs. DIETERLE attended a conference held by the National Citizens Political Action Committee in Chicago. In January of 1945 when SIDNEY HILLMAN was visiting in Los Angeles Mrs. DIETERLE was with him practically the entire time of his visit. It is known that she had several private parties for him at her home.

On April 9, 1945, WILLIAM DIETERLE participated in a broadcast over station KFI in Los Angeles. This program was entitled "The American Way" and was an open forum program. At the meeting the subject discussed was "How to Reeducate the Nazi-indoctrinated Children". VLADIMIR POESNER was also a guest on the same program. DIETERLE made the statement that underground sources have made it known that about one-third of the Nazi youth are with the Allies in spirit and will support them once Germany is defeated.

On March 26, 1945, an individual believed to be Mrs. DIETERLE's secretary, contacted Mr. VAVILOV, the Soviet Vice Consul in Los Angeles. It was evident from this conversation that VAVILOV intended to see Mrs. DIETERLE prior to his departure to San Francisco and introduce the new Vice Consul, TUMANTSEV. Since Mrs. DIETERLE was indisposed and could not keep the appointment, indefinite arrangements were made for future meeting with TUMANTSEV. This contact indicates the close and friendly relationship existing between the DIETERLES and official Soviet representatives in this area.

Throughout the period of this investigation it has been made known that DIETERLE has been in close contact with LION FEUCHTWANGER, BERT BRECHT, HANNS EISLER, BERTHOLD and SALKA VIERTEL, all of whom are principals in the current investigation in the Los Angeles Field Division on the Free German activities in this area.

G. RE: FRANK WRIGHT TUTTLE

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent ROBERT W. HOLLMAN:

FRANK WRIGHT TUTTLE was born on August 6, 1892, in New York City and attended public schools in New York. He later attended Yale University where he studied dramatics. Subsequently TUTTLE became assistant editor of the magazine "Vanity Fair" and later did publicity work for various concerns in New York City, following which he came to Hollywood and was employed first as a continuity writer for Paramount. Later he organized the Film Guild and directed various pictures, following which he returned to Paramount, this time in the capacity of a director. TUTTLE has directed a number of films, some of the more prominent of which are "Big Broadcast", "Roman Scandals", "All the King's Horses", "The Glass Key", "Charlie McCarthy, Detective", "This Gun For Hire", and "Lucky Jordan".

Source 30-B-1, stated that about 1925 TUTTLE was rated in the same class as CECIL B. DeMILLE as a director in the motion picture industry but that around 1928 or 1929 he became so involved in the work of the Communist movement that he lost favor as a director until approximately five years ago, at which time he directed the picture "This Gun for Hire" which starred ALAN LADD and which was a very definite box office success. TUTTLE has recently finished the picture "The Great John L", which he directed for BING CROSBY'S new producing company. TUTTLE receives approximately $25,000 for directing a picture, and he directs on the average of three a year. TUTTLE has been working on "Two-Faced Quilligan" for 20th Century-Fox Studios.

CONF. INF'T.

CNDI [redacted] who is well versed in the Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry, has explained that the Communists initially infiltrated the industry by organizing various group theatre activities, the most important of which was one called the New Theatre League. This informant has identified TUTTLE as one of the most active members of this League and was also able to identify him as a member of the League of American Writers, which League has sponsored the Hollywood School for Writers which, according to this informant, is a device used by the Hollywood Chapter of the League of American Writers as a "transmission-belt" whereby budding writers may be developed along political lines followed by the League of American Writers and conditioned for eventual membership in the League and ultimately into the Communist Political Association. TUTTLE is one of the leading lecturers at the Hollywood League for Writers and lectures on the technique of the director in motion pictures. b7D

TUTTLE has been associated with numerous Communist front organizations in Hollywood and has been especially active in the New The League, Contemporary Writers, Inc., The Hollywood Anti-Nazi League, and the Hollywood Writers' Committee for Writers in Exile. All of these organizations have by reliable informants been described as purely Communist front organizations. During the time that TUTTLE has been active in the Communist cause in the motion picture industry he has at one time or another been closely associated with such prominent Communists as JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, screenwriter, DALTON TRUMBO, screenwriter, and SIDNEY BUCHMAN, former vice-president of Columbia Studios and now an independent producer.

TUTTLE has always displayed a great friendship for the Russian Government. As an example, TUTTLE was a sponsor for the reception held for MIKHAIL KALATOZOV which was held at the Mocambo on August 22, 1943. This reception was sponsored primarily by the Los Angeles Council for American Soviet Friendship of which TUTTLE is a member. TUTTLE was also a patron at a rally of the National Council of American Soviet Friendship which was held at the Shrine Auditorium on November 16, 1943, to commemorate ten years of American and Soviet diplomatic relations. When the Russian American Club was opened on June 11, 1944, TUTTLE was the master of ceremonies, and on February 23, 1944 TUTTLE attended Red Army Day at the Hollywood Canteen, at which time he introduced ALAN LADD to those present.

TUTTLE is presently married to TATIANA TUTTLE, nee Smirmova, who was born in Russia and who is a naturalized American citizen. She was formerly the educational director and later the membership director of Branch S of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County CPA. The membership of Branch S included all of those Communists who were active in Russian American groups in the Hollywood area. CNDI [redacted] has advised this office that TUTTLE was formerly a member of Branch B of the Northwest Section. This informant identified TUTTLE'S 1943 CP book number as 25,258 and his 1944 CP book number as 48,656. This informant has advised that TUTTLE was later transferred from Branch B of the Northwest Section to Branch A-3 (writers) and has also advised that TUTTLE has enrolled into the CPA and has been assigned to the Hollywood Cultural Group. This informant identified TUTTLE'S 1944 CPA card number as 46,843 and stated that on December 10, 1944 TUTTLE was issued a 1945 CPA card which bears number 47,268. b7D

TUTTLE'S importance as a Communist comes from the fact, first, that he is recognized as a very capable motion picture director and, moreover, he is considered to be an excellent teacher of motion picture methods. TUTTLE is an instructor in both the Hollywood School for Writers and the People'S Educational Center, both of which are controlled by the Communists and were organized primarily to train writers to spread the Communist gospel in the motion picture industry. Recently TUTTLE has been placed on the committee on documentary awards and, as a member of that committee, he will help to select the two documentary films to be given an academy award.

H. RE: THEODORE DREISER

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent WILLIAM J. McCORMICK.

A review of the file of THEODORE DREISER reveals that he was born at Terre Haute, Indiana, August 27, 1871, and has been a writer and author all his life. He has written numerous books and articles and is widely known in his profession, his name appearing in "Who's Who". He has been associated with many well known Communists and fellow travelers both in Los Angeles and in New York City where he frequently appeared in behalf of various Communist front groups. He has been an officer and member of the League of American Writers since its formation and has written many radical and pro-Russian articles. He has sponsored such alleged Communist front groups as The American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, Spanish Speaking People's Congress, North American Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy, Committee to Free McNamara, Harry Bridges Defense Committee, American Council on Soviet Relations, and Workers' International Relief. He was also a sponsor for the Anarchist Commonwealth College at Mena, Arkansas, and for such alleged Communist fronts as the American Student Union, the Lenin Memorial Meeting, the American League for Peace and Democracy, Committee to Defend America by Keeping Out of War, Hollywood League for Democratic Action, Schneiderman-Darcy Defense Committee, American Peace Mobilization, Committee for Citizenship Rights, American People's Mobilization, National Federation for Constitutional Liberties, Free Browder Movement, and Citizens' Committee to Free Earl Browder.

The New York Field Division has reported that DREISER was a sponsor and member in 1940 for the American Committee for Friendship with Soviet Russia; in 1941 was a sponsor and member for the American Council on Soviet Relations; he was national vice chairman in 1940 of the American Peace Mobilization and a sponsor for the Committee to Defend America by Keeping Out of War. In 1934 he was a member of the National Committee for Defense of Political Prisoners. Also in 1941 he was a sponsor for the Spanish Refugee Relief Campaign, the American Peace Mobilization Testimonial Dinner for MARCANTONIO, and a contributor to "Soviet Russia Today".

The investigation of DREISER further reflected that in 1931 he was indicted in Bell County, Kentucky, together with his secretary, MARIE PERGAIN, for criminal syndicalism and adultery. DREISER left the state prior to the indictment, and it was dismissed because of lack of evidence; however, the basis for the adultery indictment was the finding of DREISER and his secretary in the same room at the hotel; however, DREISER claimed impotency. The basis of the syndicalism was DREISER'S association with striking miners, and DREISER claimed as a defense that he was gathering material for a book.

In September 1942, DREISER was on a tour of Canada, and after making anti-British remarks he was prohibited by the Minister of Justice for Canada from making any further public statements or speeches in the country. According to the Canadian Mounted Police he was at the time accompanied by a woman who gave her name as HAZEL GODWIN, the wife of a Canadian citizen. On September 22, 1942 he registered at the Harrington Hotel at Port Huron, Michigan, with this individual as man and wife.

DREISER is presently under investigation by this office in connection with receiving more than $30,000 from the Soviet Government Publishing House in Moscow, Russia. He is known to be frequently in contact with local Soviet Consular officials and indications are that some of his writings and speeches have been published in Russia. DREISER claims that this money has been owed to him since 1927 for Russian publishing rights for his articles. Indications are that due to DREISER'S advanced age he is presently doing very little writing and is not always mentally alert.

I. Re: MICHAEL SERGEYVITCH LESHING, alias Moses Leschtsch

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent HOWARD J. SEARS.

LESHING was born at Ekaterinoslav, Russia, on November 15, 1880. According to records on file with the Clerk of the U. S. District Court at Los Angeles, he entered the United States at Galveston, Texas, under the name of MOSES LESCHTSCH on December 30, 1907. At the time of his entrance he was accompanied by his wife, VERA, and his infant child. He has resided in California since 1914 and became a U. S. citizen at Los Angeles on November 16, 1923. He is now separated from his wife but is believed to contribute to her support. She resides at [redacted]

b7C

LESHING lives in an apartment building which he owns at [redacted] He owns a summer home at Balboa, California, and is reported to own considerable real estate in Los Angeles and in and around Newport Beach, California.

LESHING has been connected with film laboratory work since 1914 and for some years has been Superintendent of the 20th Century Fox Film Laboratory at 1418 North Western Avenue. In his position as superintendent, LESHING holds an important position with 20th Century Fox; under his supervision is done all of the processing of film taken by 20th Century and his department also has charge of the maintenance of all mechanical equipment used in the studio. This includes film processing equipment and the care and repair of sound equipment and the construction of any special tools and instruments required in the taking of motion pictures. He is thus in possession of details regarding the latest developments in technical equipment used in the taking and processing of motion picture film. He has access to any film processed in the laboratory and due to his position with the corporation can take any guest through all of the studio lots.

LESHING formerly associated principally with White Russians, according to Source 47-D, but within the past few years has dropped these old contacts and has gradually moved his life interest to a group that has leaned toward Communism. He is now a strong advocate of the USSR and according to the informant firmly believes in the Russian system and tries to persuade others to his point of view. He advocates the superiority of Communism as opposed to the capitalistic system and declares that the Communistic system is superior to that of the United States.

He has mentioned to this informant that the Russian Vice Consulate at Los Angeles has assured him that he is assisting in cementing good relationships between the United States and the Soviet. Informant believes that he honestly believes he is assisting in this matter and has definitely been brought around to the Russian point of view. The informant believes that he would comply with any request made of him by the Soviet Government through its official representatives. He has stated that he has been offered a trip to Russia by the Amtorg Trading Corporation but that he has declined such a trip until after the war and at that time expects to make a visit to Russia. He is proud of his relations with the Russian Vice Consulate at Los Angeles and constantly mentions the entertainment afforded him at the Consulate.

It was the informant's opinion that LESHING is headquarters for all Russian film missions to the motion picture studios and that in his opinion LESHING was being used by Soviet representatives for the assistance he is able to render them in obtaining introductions into the film studios and for his assistance in helping them know and obtain the latest in technical equipment. It was pointed out that on several occasions he had conducted Soviet cameramen, including KOSMATOV and GREGORI L. IRSKY, through the 20th Century Fox Studios. In connection with the informant's statement, however, it is noted that in February of 1945 LESHING, at the request of the Soviet Vice Consul VAVILOV, arranged for BOBROV, a Soviet film representative, to visit 20th Century Fox Studios, but that other individuals made the arrangements for BOBROV's visits to other studios in the Los Angeles area.

Confidential informants of the Los Angeles Field Division in the past have furnished information which definitely establishes that LESHING was well known at the Soviet Vice Consulate and that he entertained socially for former Vice Consul PASTOEV and for PILIPENKO who was formerly a Secretary at the Vice Consulate. These informants have also shown that LESHING was acquainted with OLGA KHLOPKOVA and that on at least one occasion KHLOPKOVA with others visited LESHING's summer residence at Balboa, California. This visit is believed to have been made on August 9 or 10, 1944. LESHING also entertained on several occasions for MIKHAIL KALATOZOV, official Soviet film representative to the United States. He has been present at all of the receptions held at the Russian Vice Consulate. On June 6 he had a dinner party for GREGORI IRSKY, Soviet film representative.

LESHING has been the means of obtaining the use of the Grandeur Room at the 20th Century Fox Studios on Western Avenue for the showing of Russian films during 1944 on about twelve occasions, and he is also known to have had private showings of Russian films for the Vice Consul. Many of the arrangements for these showings were made by SAMUEL GOLDBLATT, an assistant to LESHING and one of his closest friends. The last of these film showings was held on December 4, 1944.

LESHING is an active member of the Russian-American Club and during the past few months has been frequently consulted regarding activities at the Club. In addition to his social visits to the Vice Consulate he has also been observed to make frequent visits to the Vice Consulate at times when he is the only visitor there.

Source 30-C advised on May 1, 1945 that LESHING was talking with TUMANTZEV at which time he told him he had just received a phone call from IRSKY in Washington concerning processing of film. LESHING told TUMANTZEV that he advised IRSKY he would be glad to do it.

The following day he reported to TUMANTZEV that he had done the processing free of charge but that he would have to be given 4,000 feet of positive film. He said that BOLTYANSKY, previously mentioned as an assistant to KALATOZOV, had promised to give him this film and that it was coming from Rochester, New York.

On the same day LESHING asked TUMANTZEV if he thought it would be all right for him to visit MOLOTOV and some of the other Russian delegates in San Francisco. TUMANTZEV said he would be talking to VAVILOV by telephone in San Francisco and would ask him about it. LESHING continued "The reason I want to go is just to visit and talk with some of the Russians. Nothing specific. If Molotov is an old member of the Party then he must have been at the Party conference in London and therefore would know me as I was there too."

TUMANTZEV was to call VAVILOV and then said he would give his answer to LESHING. On the following day he did talk to LESHING and told him that VAVILOV advised him against making the trip to San Francisco. LESHING said he was going anyway because all preparations had been made and he would at least be able to see VAVILOV and BOLTYANSKY. TUMANTZEV told him that it might be more profitable to go in three or four days but LESHING said he could not go at that time. It appears he was going in company with MICHAEL WALDEN and THOMAS L. HARRIS.

J. Re: SAMUEL GOLDBLATT,
alias Ted Miller

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent HOWARD J. SEARS.

SAMUEL GOLDBLATT was born May 10, 1913, at New York City, according to certified records obtained by the H. W. Houston Company, a former employer. His father is BORRIS GOLDBLATT who lives at [redacted] and his two brothers are SAUL and LOUIS GOLDBLATT. SAUL resides at Berkeley, California, where he is employed as a chemical engineer by the Tidewater Associated Oil Company. He is the subject of a separate investigation in the San Francisco Field Division. LOUIS GOLDBLATT was formerly Secretary of the California State CIO and is a Communist leader in labor circles and has long been an associate and confidant of HARRY BRIDGES. He is presently the subject of a separate investigation in the San Francisco Field Division. b6 b7C

SAMUEL GOLDBLATT came to California in approximately 1928 and attended high school at the Hollywood High School where he had an average grade of C. He is married to ANNETTE GOLDBLATT and they have two infant children. He presently resides at [redacted] b6 b7C

GOLDBLATT is reported to have formerly belonged to the Young Communist League and he has been a member of the Communist Party since 1935. Confidential National Defense Informant [redacted] has seen a photostatic copy of GOLDBLATT's 1938 and 1939 registration with the Communist Party. These registrations show that he first joined the Party in 1935 and is in the Industrial Section of the Communist Party Studio Branch. In 1939 his function in the Party was that of Branch Organizer. In 1939 he belonged to the Film Decorators Local #836, A. F. of L. b7D

Since 1932 after his graduation from high school, GOLDBLATT has been connected with the motion picture industry in Hollywood except for two short periods. From 1936 to 1937 he was in Russia where he went on a trip with his father and while in Russia both he and his father worked for the Russian motion picture industry. Upon his return to the United States he entered employment at 20th Century Fox Studios as a grip. Shortly afterwards he was transferred to the laboratory where he worked under MICHAEL LESHING. In 1942 for a period of approximately four months he was employed by the H. W. Houston Company but returned to 20th Century Fox beginning in July, 1942. He is presently employed by that studio as a chemical foreman under the direct supervision of MICHAEL LESHING, Superintendent of the Laboratory.

Source 47-A states that GOLDBLATT has no particular training for his present position and spends very little of his time at his assigned job. He closely associates with LESHING both in his work and socially. This informant is of the opinion that GOLDBLATT exerts a tremendous influence over LESHING and that he is largely responsible for LESHING's activities on behalf of the Soviet Government, as set forth elsewhere in this report. GOLDBLATT has been instrumental in making the arrangements for the showing of films for members of the Soviet Vice Consulate at Los Angeles and has also in the past obtained films for showing to sailors aboard Russian ships in the Los Angeles Harbor. Source 47-A points out that in his job at the Laboratory GOLDBLATT has access to all film taken by 20th Century Fox, which would include any confidential film which the laboratory handles for the armed services. He is also in a position to know of the latest developments in mechanical equipment and cameras used by the studios. The informant, however, does not know of any instance in which GOLDBLATT has made any confidential information available to any outsider.

GOLDBLATT has been on friendly terms with various Russian Vice Consuls stationed at Los Angeles. He was acquainted with the Vice Consul TIMOFEEV and the latter, upon his departure from Los Angeles in April, 1943, according to Source 47-B, made arrangements to have a visit with GOLDBLATT and his wife before leaving the city. GOLDBLATT was also on excellent terms with PASTOEV during the time that this individual was Vice Consul at Los Angeles. He attended all receptions held at the Consulate and was instrumental in the arrangement of details for private showings of films for PASTOEV and other members of the Consulate staff.

Source 47-B has stated that he was also very friendly with PILIPENKO, formerly Secretary at the Vice Consulate, and readily agreed to assist PILIPENKO whenever possible in making available films to Russian sailors and generally conforming with the requests made of him by PILIPENKO.

The same informant has advised that GOLDBLATT was acquainted with OLGA KHLOPKOVA, Soviet agent, and it was noted by surveillance that he visited PILIPENKO's home on April 23, 1944, during the time that GREGORI KHEIFETS was also at PILIPENKO's home. GOLDBLATT was acquainted with MIKHAIL KALATOZOV who was formerly official Soviet film representative in the United States, and on December 12, 1944, Source 47-C stated that GOLDBLATT had advised PEGGY DREIS in the informant's presence that he had an appointment with KOSMATOV concerning something which was very important. KOSMATOV is reported to be MIKHAIL KALATOZOV's successor in the United States.

During the past two years GOLDBLATT has been active on behalf of Russian War Relief and, according to Source 47-A, at one time made a 16 mm. film of the activities carried on by Russian War Relief and a copy of this film was reported to have been sent to Russia. He also distributed boxes to be filled in connection with the program of sending foodstuffs to Russia.

GOLDBLATT is also a member and a frequent visitor at the Russian-American Club in Los Angeles. However, in this connection it should be noted that many of his contacts with this Club are due to the fact that PEGGY DREIS,

[redacted] is office secretary at the Club and for the past year has been having an affair with GOLDBLATT. However, GOLDBLATT did recently advise CARL WINTER, President of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association, that the Club was "close to his heart". Source 47-C stated that on that occasion, which was April 10, 1945, he arranged for a meeting with CARL WINTER to discuss among other htings the Russian-American Club. b6 b7C

The same informant has stated that in recent months GOLDBLATT has taken an active interest in the present strike in the motion picture industry and apparently is principally concerned with seeing that his union and all his activity in regard to the strike is in accordance with the line advocated by the CPA. The informant advises that with this evident purpose he has had several contacts with CARL WINTER regarding the strike in the motion picture industry.

K. RE: EDWARD G. ROBINSON

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent BERTIN A. WEYL.

EDWARD G. ROBINSON and his wife, GLADYS LLOYD-ROBINSON, formerly a professional actress using the name GLADYS LLOYD, reside at [redacted] telephone numbers CRestview 6-5115 and BRadshaw 2-3562. ROBINSON is a prominent motion picture actor, well known on the screen and radio. He was born December 12, 1893 at Bucharest, Rumania. He has familiarity with the following languages: French, German, Italian, Spanish, Rumanian, Russian, Yiddish and Hebrew. He claims to be a citizen of the United States, but this fact has not been established to date. The ROBINSONS have one child, EDWARD G. ROBINSON Jr., commonly referred to as "MANNY". b6 b7C

Source 50-A advises that ROBINSON for years has been associated with many alleged Communist dominated organizations and that he has contributed financially to the Communist Party. His name has appeared as a sponsor on a number of alleged Communist dominated organizations and he has contributed to the Russian War Relief.

It was reported on December 17, 1941 that ROBINSON was a strong Communist although the alleged fact of his membership in the Communist Political Association has not been established. On June 6, 1941 ROBINSON appeared on a nationwide radio broadcast presenting a skit prepared by DALTON TRUMBO and TRUE BOARDMAN in connection with the League of American Writers, a Communist front organization.

On September 23, 1941 a reception was given at the home of Mrs. LEWIS MILESTONE, honoring EDWARD C. CARTER, national head of the Russian War Relief. Although this reception was given at the home of Mrs. MILESTONE, it was sponsored by GLADYS ROBINSON who acted as hostess, and it was planned by HERBERT BIBERMAN, then head of the Communist Party in the motion picture industry, and JANE MEADE, prominent in Communist activities. In was reported that the success of the Russian War Relief movement in Hollywood was in a large part due to the successful introduction afforded it through this reception.

On July 20, 1942 ROBINSON and his wife were among the persons present at a "Free People's Dinner" held under the sponsorship of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee. Both ROBINSON and his wife were sponsors and this affair raised $6,000.00 in support of the JAFRC.

On January 23, 1943 ROBINSON attended what appeared to be a meeting at the "France Forever" office, 9407 Brighton Way, Beverly Hills, California. It was reported that ROBINSON was on the program given at the Hollywood Bowl June 22, 1943 entitled "Tribute to Russia Day", which was arranged by the Russian War Relief to commemorate the anniversary of HITLER'S invasion of Soviet Russia.

On August 6, 1943 ROBINSON spoke at a mass rally held at the Shrine Auditorium which was sponsored by the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, at which time he spoke favorably of Russia in connection with its participation in the war. Likewise it has been reported that ROBINSON was active in planning for a mass meeting to be held in November 1943 at the Shrine Auditorium sponsored by the Los Angeles Council of American-Soviet Friendship.

On August 3, 1943 ROBINSON was observed greeting with enthusiasm MIKHAIL KALATOZOV, then official Soviet Film representative to the United States, following his speech comparing American and Russian films at a seminar sponsored by the League of American Writers.

On October 23, 1943 the "People's World" carried an article indicating that ROBINSON was a member of the Motion Picture Committee of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship.

On April 24, 1944 ROBINSON was one of the speakers at a mass meeting sponsored by the Los Angeles Council for Civic Unity, a Communist infiltrated organization. On July 29, 1944 the "People's World" carried a press release to the effect that EDWARD G. ROBINSON and his wife were included in the Committee of the western unit of the National Citizens Political Action Committee. It is reported that sometime in 1938 or 1939 a collection was taken up by EDWARD G. ROBINSON to which BERTHOLD VIERTEL and SALKA VIERTEL contributed. The VIERTELS are considered by a number of informants to be Communist sympathizers at least. At the time of this collection it was reported by SALKA VIERTEL that the same was for STALIN although considerable secrecy was afforded the same.

It was reported that in the latter part of 1943 ROBINSON attended a meeting at the home of EDGAR Y. HARBURG to discuss the formation of a "secretariat of arts and letters", a proposed new cabinet position in the Federal Government. HARBURG is known to have been in touch with such prominent Communists as MAX YERGAN, LOUISE BRANSTEN and others.

It is known that the Communist Party Control Commissions and Disciplinary Hearing Records contain information to the effect that ROBINSON contributed $125.00 to send a student of Occidental College to a Communist sponsored Workers School to learn how to organize and conduct strikes. These records indicated that ROBINSON'S chief interest was with the Hollywood Anti-Nazi work.

It was further reported that ROBINSON is a very close friend of HYMAN KRAFT, motion picture writer and well known Communist figure in the Los Angeles area. At one of the meetings between KRAFT and ROBINSON it was discussed at length the matter of propaganda recently circulated to the effect that the next war of the United States would be with Russia and dismay was expressed that such ideas should be put forth. They discussed also a motion picture entitled "So Proudly We Hail" concerning which ROBINSON commented that it was very broad and very liberal. KRAFT agreed stating that it was a wonderful picture and that everything that should have been said was said. They also commented on the film "North Star" written by LILLIAN HELLMAN. They concluded that this was a successful picture and represented what the people wanted, although ROBINSON commented that the picture was considerably more liberal than "they" (apparently referring to the Russians) actually are.

It is further reported that ROBINSON is a close friend of BORIS MORROS. In an article of the Los Angeles "Times" August 22, 1943 it was reported that ROBINSON was among those individuals who would greet Professor SOLOMON MICHOELS and Lt. Col. ITZIK FEFFER, Soviet delegates touring the United States in connection with establishing good relations among the artists of the United States and Russia. In connection with these individuals a rally was held at the Shrine Auditorium at which time ROBINSON spoke.

It was further reported that on October 18, 1943 V. V. PASTOEV, then Soviet Vice Consul in Los Angeles, was advised that ROBINSON was intending to visit the Russian Embassy at Washington, D. C. as he desired to take a trip to Russia. It is further noted that the ROBINSONS have attended several functions at the Soviet Vice Consulate in Los Angeles. The ROBINSONS were among the guests of honor at a reception given by the Council for American-Soviet Friendship in honor of MIKHAIL KALATOZOV and his wife.

On January 24, 1944 Mrs. ROBINSON and Mrs. PASTOEV were among those present at a meeting at the home of SAM MOORE, [redacted] the purpose of which was to plan a rally against social discrimination. b6 b7C

The "Hollywood Reporter" a motion picture trade journal of June 5, 1944 carried a news article to the effect that ROBINSON was going to England to make a film for the Royal Air Force, and that while there he would make a broadcast for the Office of War Information. It is known that ROBINSON made a trip to England.

It is further reported that during the Spanish Civil War, together with MELVIN DOUGLAS and JAMES CAGNEY, ROBINSON presented an ambulance to the Spanish Loyalists.

In 1937 he signed a wire to Lieutenant Governor HATFIELD of California requesting a pardon of TOM MOONEY. He also submitted a letter of recommendation for the release of SAMUEL PAUL SPIEGEL, a German Communist, now held by the Immigration and Naturalization Service for deportation.

Recently a meeting was held at the ROBINSON home which was called by MELVIN DOUGLAS, at which time a document known as "the declaration of interdependence" was prepared. This document, directed to the late President ROOSEVELT, called for participation in the coming Congress for Peace and Democracy, a Communist sponsored group.

In June 1942 ROBINSON was a sponsor for a speech given by PAUL ROBESON under the auspices of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee and the Council on African Affairs, Inc. He is a member of the Committee to Aid Russian Artists, a member of the Committee for War Posters sponsored by the Hollywood Division of the Russian War Relief, and a member of the Russian War Relief Music Committee. He was a patron of the program sponsored by the National Committee of American-Soviet Friendship in Los Angeles commemorating the tenth anniversary of diplomatic relations between the United States and the USSR.

In December 1943 ROBINSON sent a telegram to the Senate Judiciary Committee urging the passage of the Anti-Poll Tax Bill. ROBINSON was master of ceremonies and introduced Vice President WALLACE before the United Citizens Committee in Los Angeles February 9, 1944. In his introduction of WALLACE he referred to him as "champion of the common man". While in New York ROBINSON is known to have used the return address of 23 West 26th Street, New York City, which is that of the Institute of International Democracy located in a building owned by FREDERICK V. FIELD, his wife, and MAX YERGAN, all known CPA members or sympathizers. A number of Communist front organizations also have offices in this building.

ROBINSON was the individual selected to prepare the commentary in English to accompany several motion pictures recently released in the United States and presented in the USSR. These films glorify the Soviet people and the Soviet army.

An article in the Washington "Times Herald" for June 13, 1944 stated that ROBINSON was listed as worthy of the Order of Lenin for his part in the making of "Mission to Moscow" and "North Star" two motion pictures lauding the Soviet Government.

With regard to GLADYS LLOYD ROBINSON, she is known to have been in frequent contact with the Soviet Vice Consulate at Los Angeles as well as the Soviet Embassy in Washington. She is a member of the League of American Writers, a Communist dominated group. On the occasion that the Committee for Medical Aid to Russia was founded in Los Angeles the first meeting was held in the ROBINSON home.

On a recent trip which she made to Washington she was present at a reception given by the Soviet Embassy in commemoration of the October Revolution. She read a "Salute to Russian Women" for their fortitude and courage, which was published in "Soviet Russia Today" in its March 1942 issue. At that time she praised the Soviet women and the Soviet people for having made the greatest contribution to the world, a great battle against the enemies of civilization, and stated "The example the Russian people, the Russian women gave us bravery and skill in driving out the relentless enemy, will lift their own determination and spirit and give us courage by the grace of God not to falter in our tasks."

It was reported in December 1944 that Mrs. ROBINSON informed JOHN GARFIELD that she was Chairman for California for the "Salute to the Wounded" program to be held in New York. She stated that the Shipbuilders Union was back of this program and she wanted GARFIELD to "talk it up" at the studios among the liberal people.

On November 29, 1944 it was reported that ROBINSON had received a wire from USEVOLDA PUDOUKIN, Chairman of VOKS Cinema Section Transmittal Society on Cultural Relations, Moscow, reading as follows: "AFTER INTERVAL ON 11/1/44 NEWSPAPER 'SOVIET ART AND LITERATURE' RESUMING PUBLICATION. IN FIRST ISSUE EDITORS CONTEMPLATE STATEMENTS BY REPRESENTATIVE WORKERS IN DEMOCRATIC COUNTRIES CONCERNING THEIR WORK AND ROLE IN THE FIGHT AGAINST HITLERISM." ROBINSON directed an unknown person to prepare an appropriate answer for him.

On December 4, 1944 ROBINSON sent a wire to JOE DAVIDSON, 170 Hotel Astor, New York, reading "APPLAUD YOUR DECISION CONTINUANCE LIVE VITAL LIBERAL GROUP. COUNT ME IN."

In January 1945 it was reported that Mrs. ROBINSON advised JOHN GARFIELD that she was going to make a number of records propagandizing against legislation outlawing the closed shop.

In connection with GLADYS ROBINSON it has been reported from several sources that she is considered mentally unbalanced.

Aim to Strengthen White House Ties

Special to the N. Y. Journal-American

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—Communist infiltration in the United States and Red revolutionary militancy throughout the Western Hemisphere will establish its citadel of propaganda and action in Hollywood.

The campaign is under way with an immediate program of supporting continued lend-lease to Russia, now that her war in Europe is over; strengthening ties with the White House and indoctrinating servicemen and returning veterans with the Marxist viewpoint.

Carefully blueprinted in New York City by Earl Browder and other American Reds, the program was revealed last night before 200 Hollywood and Los Angeles Communist sympathizers, many of whom occupy high places in the motion picture industry here.

Those who attended were told by Joseph Foster, Hollywood film critic for a Red weekly, that "at the right time" Russia would enter the war against Japan, "but not out of altruism."

BIG STAKE IN PACIFIC.

"The Soviet Union has a big stake in the Pacific—more so in China," he explained, "and the Soviet Union will be in there to dictate the peace."

It had earlier been explained to the audience that part of this plan was to induce President Truman to aid in the rupture of United States relations with "the China of Chiang Kai-shek."

"A continued strong, reactionary government under the leadership of Chiang Kai-shek is opposed to our policy of ultimately Sovietizing all of Asia," the speaker added. "We are strong in North China now. We must exert our power throughout that nation."

Spokesman for the party ers in the East was Bruce Minton, associate editor of New Masses, a Red weekly that is nationally distributed, and who, with his wife, Ruth McKinney, a writer for the same magazine, is one of the Marxist doctrines' most fiery advocates.

CRITICIZE STETTINIUS.

Berating Secretary of State Stettinius, Senator Vandenburg and other members of the American delegation to the San Francisco peace conference as "betrayers of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's great dream of a permanent alliance with Soviet Russia," Minton told his audience that "our salvation rests upon a close tie with Truman and the support of all members of our armed forces."

"We must infiltrate the ranks of these service men—the veterans returning from the wars and the neophytes yet to be called into action," he told listeners.

"The thousands of pretty young girls in the Communist youth movement must volunteer as hostesses in USO canteens, churches, social groups—wherever these soldiers, sailors and marines seek recreation and are prone to listen to a persuasive voice."

"When President Truman assumed the high office vacated by FDR almost two months ago members of our group all over the world looked on this act of fate with grim foreboding, for we saw the Yalta conference and all it promised for Russia totally crumble," he added.

"But events in the past few weeks have taken a turn for the better. The way looks promising and our outlook again is hopeful.

"GREAT PROMISES."

"Truman's actions in delegating former Ambassador to Russia Joseph E. Davies to represent us at the Court of St. James, and his selection of Harry Hopkins as a special emissary to the Soviet Union, promise great things.

"These men, throughout FDR's 12 years in the White House, unquestioningly supported the New Deal in spite of everything and everyone.

"Through our actions Truman can be won over. We can once again hope for closer and firmer ties with the White House."

William Gropper, New Masses cartoonist, in whose honor the meeting was held, later told the 200 well-groomed members of the audience that his magazine had sponsored a "round robin letter" signed by thousands of Communist sympathizers and members all [illegible] nation, peti[illegible] President Truman to co[illegible] lend-lease aid to Russia [illegible]nitely despite the fact the Sov[illegible] have "temporarily put down their arms."

"Nothing must be done by any of us to arouse the people of this country to protest against a continuance of lend-lease to the Soviet Union," he cotinued.

Ruth McKinney, Minton's wife, told the audience how closely Molotov and the entire Soviet delegation to the conference had worked with American Communists in San Francisco.

MOLOTOV TRICKED PRESS.

"Why, the entire American press was told that Molotov was living in a suite at the St. Francis Hotel," she added, "but all the while he had taken over a house on Nob Hill owned by my husband's cousin, so he could conduct his affairs without press interference.

"Molotov appeared in the luxurious red and gold appointed suite at the St. Francis when it was necessary to be seen there."

Miss McKinney then explained that the Communist party arrived at its plan of indoctrinating American servicemen when hundreds of crippled veterans—guests of the San Francisco conference at opera house sessions—"plainly demonstrated they were opposed to Russia and were blinded by the propaganda of anti-Soviet groups in this country."

MUST BE WON OVER.

"Those boys must be won over. If it is too late to win the veterans in our hospitals then we must enlist those who have not as yet gone overseas and those who are yet to return here," she concluded.

"And while we are on the subject of our future program, it might as well be stated now that Communism has outgrown New York as its headquarters.

"Henceforth our activities will evolve in Hollywood, where the prestige, influence and support of our comrades in the film industry will strengthen our ranks and carry our fight to people from every walk of life."

Gropper revealed to the audience how he, Miss McKinney and her husband had attended all important press conferences and two weeks of conference sessions at the Opera House as accredited members of the working press through "credentials secured by some of our influential friends."

Before the meeting closed the audience contributed $657 to the New Masses program in addition to paying a dollar a person admission

Walter Wanger called from Los Angeles yesterday. He was very much disturbed over the Rankin charges of the existence of plots to overthrow the Government in Hollywood. He wondered if the FBI did not have investigative jurisdiction over such matters and whether the Director, if approached, could issue a statement to the effect that no such plots exist. He wondered how he could get in touch with the Director.

I told him the Director was not available, that I did not see how the Director could inject himself into the matter of the Rankin charges since those were the statements of a Congressional Committee which, time-honored, conducts its own investigations without resort to Government agencies.

Wanger pointed out that Hollywood has tried to do a good job in the war, that he felt that something should be done to alleviate the statement. I told him that I did not see how the Director could inject himself into this controversy. He asked if I would not take the matter up with the Director and see if he would not have any views or suggestions as to how they could meet the Rankin charges. I told him I would be very glad to do this and would call him back today.

It is my suggestion that we tell Wanger that it is not possible for the Bureau to inject itself into this matter and this is also the view of the front office of the Department (I will of course check with Malcolmson), that the charges obviously are based upon the recent statements in the Daily Worker to the effect that Hollywood is to become the center of activity for the Communist Party.

For record purposes, I called Walter Wanger back and explained courteously and in detail why the Director could not inject himself into the recent Rankin charges against Hollywood.

It so happened that I had on my desk at the time the clipping from the June 10 issue of the New York Journal American carrying the story on the Red infiltration of Hollywood and the statement by Ruth McKinney to the effect that "henceforth our activities will evolve in Hollywood." I read this portion to Wanger and pointed out casually that certain elements in Hollywood had become very vocal in Communist circles, and obviously while this does not represent the good people such as himself, it is likely to cause their embarrassment.

I called the Los Angeles Office and advised ASAC Ellsworth that the Un-American Committee of the House of Representatives, headed by Congressman Rankin, according to the press was going to Hollywood to investigate Communism in the movie industry. He was advised that the Director desired the Los Angeles Office to be very careful to keep completely out of any investigation. The Committee is not, of course, to make use of our offices and, likewise, we are not to furnish them any information. Should they desire some information from us, they will have to be referred to the Attorney General.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON
MR. LADD

Mr. Jack Bryson, representative of the Hays office of the Motion Picture Industry, called to see me yesterday. He stated Mr. Hays had called him long distance from California concerning the investigation which is to be made of the Motion Picture Industry by the Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives. Mr. Hays was under the impression that the investigators who were to conduct this investigation were FBI Agents or that the FBI was collaborating with the Congressional Committee. Mr. Hays asked Mr. Bryson to contact me and to state that whatever information the FBI might desire he, Mr. Hays, was desirous of placing at our disposal.

I informed Mr. Bryson that he could advise Mr. Hays that the Bureau had no connection directly or indirectly with this investigation of Communism in the Motion Picture Industry by the Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives. I told Mr. Bryson that I did not know who the investigators were who were to conduct the inquiries at Los Angeles and that certainly there would be no collaboration between those investigators and the Special Agents of this Bureau, as the matter did not at this time involve the violation of any Federal statute.

I requested Mr. Ladd to call SAC Hood at Los Angeles and to caution him to see that we did not become involved in this matter unless we received specific instructions to enter it from the Attorney General.

Very truly yours,

J. E. H.

TITLE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

CHARACTER OF CASE: INTERNAL SECURITY - C

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communist activity in the motion picture field in process of readjustment to coincide with the new change in line of CPA which is to be promulgated by a CPA Convention in New York City July 26-28, 1945. The Hollywood Independent Citizens' Committee of Art, Sciences and Professions has been formed to succeed the Hollywood Democratic Committee and has affiliated with the New York organization of that name and election of officers and executive committee has taken place. It sponsored a meeting at Philharmonic Auditorium on June 27, 1945, which they called the American Caravan. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization is guiding and directing pictures which are to be shown in the occupied countries of Europe and sending letters, cards, telegrams, to Congressmen protesting any cut in appropriations for OWI and preparing to follow new Communist Party line when it is promulgated. Conference of Studio Unions led by HERBERT K. SORRELL is carrying on jurisdictional strike now in its seventeenth week. A congressional committee (Dies Committee) apparently is contemplating investigation of Communist activity in motion picture industry. The "Actors Lab" has been accredited under GI Bill of Rights as a school for veterans where they may receive training at government expense. Communist bookstores are already selling books and literature advocating revolution according to proposed Communist Political Association lines.

that they had departed completely from their former moorings. By changing the name and electing a new set of officers, they endeavor to show that they have broadened their field of operations and endeavored to have it appear that they are independent in politics and will devote their efforts to "electing progressive candidates regardless of political affiliations."

Source A states that this new organization will operate principally as a propaganda agency and use the names and prestige of nationally known actors, writers, artists, scientists, and professional men and women to draw membership and increase strength and standing in the communities where they have branches of the organization.

The first meeting of this new group was held at the Philharmonic Auditorium in Los Angeles, California, on June 27, 1945. There were approximately twenty-seven hundred persons. Those most prominent in the meeting were the following:

EDWARD G. ROBINSON, screen actor;

OLIVIA de HAVILAND, screen actress;

ROBERT W. KENNY, Attorney General of California;

ALBERT DEKKER, screen actor, and at present a member of the California State Assembly;

JOAN FONTAINE, screen actress, sister of OLIVIA de HAVILAND;

MORRIS CARNOVSKY, screen actor;

REX INGRAM, screen actor.

Source A has informed that all of the above named parties have long records of Communist activities.

The general program of the meeting was twofold:

(1) Support of the foreign policy of the Soviet Union in international affairs, Bretton Woods, Dumbarton Oaks, the World Charter and other such meetings.

(2) Raising the issue of "native fascism" in the United States as one tactic of the Communists in the United States.

DETAILS:

AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that Communist activity in the motion picture field is now in the process of readjustment to coincide with the change in the line of the Communist Political Association. That since the change in the "line" will not become official until after July 28, 1945, on which date the Communist Political Association will hold a national convention in New York City for the purpose of formally adopting and promulgating the new policy, it may be stated that the intervening time is sort of a transition. This source further informed that there have been changes in the structure and official personnel in some of the front organizations; that there has been a change in the attitude of the Communist press as well as a change in the type and character of the propaganda literature which is now being circulated and offered for sale at meetings and in the Communist bookstores. The Communist publications, meetings and propaganda in general are devoted primarily to international affairs and in the interests of the foreign policy of the Soviet Union. That the Polish, Greek and Chinese situations are the principal points of interest. That wherever the Soviet Union is interested in the internal affairs of the United States, the activity and propaganda are pointing toward the "class struggle".

Source A states that the Communists are endeavoring stronger than ever to make it appear that all persons and groups opposing their Communist activities are what they call "Fascists" and "Nazis" and brand as un-American and subversive any one who opposes their program or their growing influence.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF ART, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS

This organization became the successor to the Hollywood Democratic Committee on June 6, 1945, according to Source A. The Hollywood Democratic Committee was a thoroughly Communist dominated front group. There is no doubt but what they changed the name for the reason that they could not carry on under the new Communist "line" without having it appear

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A has informed that this Communist front in the motion picture field will be affected by the new Communist line when that "line" is officially announced on or soon after July 28, 1945, after the Communist Political Association has held its national convention in New York City. At the present time it is carrying on as heretofore instructed and is guiding and directing the production of documentary short pictures which are to be shown in the occupied countries of Europe. It has also busied itself in contacting individuals and groups, urging them to write letters of protest to senators and congressmen against any cut in appropriations for the Office of War Information with which it has direct connections through the making of motion pictures for the United States Government.

Source A also informs that this organization is now preparing to hold a "World Communications Conference", the purpose of which is to "analyze and explore the position of screen and radio in the post-war world." The date and place for this conference has not been announced. While it has been decided that the conference will be held, the latest decision is to defer the meeting until the fall. In any case, it would not be held until after July 28, 1945, when the Communist Political Association meets and lays down the new "line".

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

This block of Hollywood unions is still on strike. Source A informs that this is not a legitimate labor dispute but rather a strike by a group of Communist dominated locals, using a question of jurisdiction over some seventy-nine workers called "set dressers", against another block of unions, the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE). It is the third attempt in eight years by the Communist elements to capture or disrupt the IATSE which has always opposed Communist infiltration in its ranks. The Communist issue has been raised in this strike and the entire issue revolves around that base. Questions of wages or hours are not involved in the dispute.

INVESTIGATION OF COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY THREATENED BY CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE

Source A advised that on June 8, 1945, a meeting was held at the Screen Cartoonists Union Hall, 6272 Yucca Street, Hollywood, California. The meeting was held for the purpose of raising funds for the support of the New Masses, a Communist publication issued in New York City. The meeting was not a secret one. It was open to the public and the admission fee was one dollar.

Notice of the meeting was published in the Daily Peoples World, an alleged Communist publication of San Francisco, California.

Source A advised that the principal speakers on this occasion were the following:

RUTH McKENNEY, screen writer now under contract with Paramount Studios. She is the wife of BRUCE MINTON, West Coast representative of the New Masses. Mrs. Bruce Minton

BRUCE MINTON, West Coast representative of the New Masses, and the husband of RUTH McKENNEY, screen writer, under contract at present at Paramount Studios.

WILLIAM GROPPER, cartoonist for various Communist publications.

Source A informs that all of the above named parties are well known Communists.

Accounts of this meeting were published in several Los Angeles daily papers for some days thereafter. RUTH McKENNEY was quoted as saying: "It might just as well be stated now that Communism has outgrown New York as its headquarters. Henceforth, our activities will evolve in Hollywood, where the prestige, influence and support of our comrades in the film industry will strengthen our ranks and carry our fight to people from every walk of life."

Source A informs that other statements having to do with the San Francisco Conference, propaganda among the returning soldiers, etc. were attributed to the speaker. Publication of this information brought about a reaction which spread throughout the country.

As a result of this publicity, the Congressional Un-American Activities Committee (formerly Dies Committee) threatened an investigation of the Communist activity in the Hollywood motion picture industry. It was stated by the acting chairman of the committee, Congressman RANKIN, that investigators would be sent to the West Coast to look into the situation. Source A informs that the reaction to this meeting and publicity was that many persons connected with the motion picture industry in Hollywood have issued statements denying that there were Communist activities in the studios, claiming that the whole thing could be laid to publicity-seeking individuals. Source stated, however, that the producers of motion pictures are very much perturbed by the developments. As yet, they have taken no steps to counteract the charges made by the press, or issued any official statements relative thereto. Meanwhile, RUTH McKENNEY and her husband, BRUCE MINTON, have left Hollywood and have gone to their home somewhere in the state of Connecticut.

In the New Masses of June 26, 1945, RUTH McKENNEY has an article wherein she denies that she ever made such statements, and knows the entire matter is a "Hearst frame-up". Up to this time, so far as is known, no investigators of the Congressional Committee have appeared in Hollywood.

ACTORS' LABORATORY

Daily Variety, trade paper of the Hollywood film industry, for July 6, 1945, states that this organization, ACTORS' LABORATORY, (ACTORS' LAB) "has been accredited under the GI Bill of Rights as a school of acting where veterans may get dramatic training with tuition paid by the Veterans Administration".

Source A informs that this so-called Actors' Laboratory located at 1455 North Laurel Avenue, Hollywood, California, is a Communist controlled institution where screen and stage acting is purportedly taught by directors, actors, and writers affiliated with the Hollywood motion picture industry.

Source A has further stated that this alleged school was formerly located in New York and was known as the "Group Theatre" and was affiliated with the "New Theatre League", a known Communist venture. For a number of years, from about 1932 to 1938, the New Theatre League and its affiliations were propaganda agencies by way of the stage and were very successful in turning out actors and actresses who later served the purposes of the Communist movement in the United States.

Source informed that the following persons with long Communist and Communist sympathizing records are in control of the Actors' Laboratory in Hollywood:

ROMAN BOHNEN, actor;
MORRIS CARNOVSKY, actor;
GLORIA STUART, writer;
JULES DASSIN, director;
EDWARD DMYTRIK, director;
PHILIP BROWN;
ART SMITH, actor;
HERBERT BIBERMAN, writer;
FRANK TUTTLE, director;
ROBERT ROSSEN, writer and director;

ALBERT MALTZ, writer
HAROLD CLURMAN, writer
GALE SONDERGAARD, actress
GEORGE WILNER, writer's agent
CLIFFORD ODETS, writer.

The records in the Los Angeles Bureau Office reflect that DASSIN, DMYTRIK, BIBERMAN, TUTTLE, ROSSEN, MALTZ and WILNER are all active members of the Communist Political Association. The records also reflect that the other parties named are all engaged in Communist activities.

COMMUNIST BOOKS ADVOCATING REVOLUTION AND OVERTHROW OF GOVERNMENT NOW BEING SOLD IN COMMUNIST BOOKSTORES

Source A has informed that shortly after Soviet Russia was attacked by Hitler on June 22, 1941, all Communist revolutionary literature, books and pamphlets were removed from the shelves in the Communist bookstores in Los Angeles and Hollywood. Since the war with Germany has now come to an end, this literature has reappeared on the counters of these Communist bookstores and is being sold openly. This reappearance of such literature took place immediately after a change in the Communist Party line was contemplated.

The following books which advocate revolution by force and violence can now be bought at these stores:

"State and Revolution" by Lenin;

"Leninism" by J. Stalin;

"Little Lenin Library" by International Publishers.

Other literature which advocates revolution and the overthrow of capitalist democracy according to the Marxist-Leninist theory of the dictatorship of the proletariat may be obtained at these stores. The bookstores also have catalogs of books of this nature which the catalogs state can be furnished upon order.

Source A has further advised that the circulation of this literature would be in accord with the new "line" of the world Communist movement. This source further advises that with the exceptions mentioned, the Communists in the Hollywood area are functioning along the same lines as before the defeat of Germany; in fact, in the public announcement of EARL BROWDER on May 24, 1945, it was stated that there might be a change in the Party line and all Communists in the United States were advised that they should carry on as usual until the national convention of the Communist Political Association was held July 26-28, 1945, in New York City. Consequently, there will be no great noticeable changes in tactics until after that convention is held and the new line has been promulgated.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communist activity in the motion picture field in process of readjustment to coincide with the new change in line of CPA which is to be promulgated by a CPA Convention in New York City July 20-23, 1945. The Hollywood Independent Citizens' Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions has been formed to succeed the Hollywood Democratic Committee and has affiliated with the New York organization of that name and election of officers and executive committee has taken place. It sponsored a meeting at Philharmonic Auditorium on June 27, 1945, which they called the American Caravan. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization is guiding and directing pictures which are to be shown in the occupied countries of Europe and sending letters, cards, telegrams, to Congressmen protesting any cut in appropriations for OWI and preparing to follow new Communist Party line when it is promulgated. Conference of Studio Unions led by HERBERT K. SMILEY is carrying on jurisdictional strike now in its seventeenth week. A congressional committee (Rice Committee) apparently is contemplating investigation of Communist activity in motion picture industry. The "Actors Lab" has been accredited under GI Bill of Rights as a school for veterans where they may receive training at government expense. Communist bookstores are already selling books and literature advocating revolution according to proposed Communist Political Association lines.

Re: COMMUNIST POLITICAL ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA, DISTRICT THIRTEEN, LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA; INTERNAL SECURITY - C.

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to my letter dated June 12, 1945 enclosing to the Bureau a number of newspaper clippings indicating the publicity given a Communist meeting for "New Masses" magazine at the Screen Cartoonists Hall in Hollywood on June 8. It is noted that the referenced letter points out that the manner in which the meeting was reported by the local press was not entirely accurate.

The reaction of the national office of the CPA to the newspaper publicity is indicated by a letter dated June 13, 1945 from JOHNNY WILLIAMSON, of the CPA National Office in New York, to WILLIAM SCHNEIDERMAN, State Secretary in California. A photostatic copy of this letter was furnished the San Francisco office by a highly confidential source and the letter is quoted herewith, as follows. It is noted that copies of the WILLIAMSON letter were also sent to NED SPARKS, the CPA President of Los Angeles County, and JOE NORTH, the Editor of "New Masses".

"The sort of things that are attributed to these 3 speakers are so grotesque as to be unbelievable. I just cannot imagine that any Communist in his right mind could say such politically incorrect, not to speak about provocative, things which have nothing in common with the program or policies of the CPA.

I feel confident that there must be some distortion, although all of the things are in quotation marks.

We would like to get an immediate reply dealing specifically with this question.

Fraternally,

JOHNNY."

The above is being furnished for the Bureau's information.

Very truly yours,

Reference is made to my attached memorandum dated July 9, 1945, captioned as above which mentions on page four that FBI reports which have been furnished to ONI in Los Angeles had been made available by Lieutenant Goodykoontz of ONI to an employee of the Motion Picture Alliance who extracted information therefrom concerning individuals in whom the Motion Picture Alliance was interested. You inquired whether ONI had been apprised of the unauthorized disclosure by one of its personnel of FBI reports.

ONI was kept fully informed of the developments in the case from the time Maribess Temple Stokes admitted to the Los Angeles Office on October 18, 1944, that on behalf of the Motion Picture Alliance she had been securing material from FBI reports through Lieutenant Goodykoontz. Special Agent in Charge Hood brought the matter to the attention of Commander Murphy of the local ONI Office and the two then discussed the case with Commander C. A. Perkins of San Diego. This procedure was in accordance with your instructions that the situation be adjusted on a local level before it was taken up with Naval Intelligence at the Seat of Government. The ONI Office in Los Angeles also was furnished with reports which set forth the entire case in detail.

After Special Agent in Charge Hood informed Mr. Tamm that he had brought the matter to the attention of Commanders Murphy and Perkins, who were very appreciative of the fact that the case had first been considered locally, copies of reports which the Los Angeles Office submitted were personally delivered by the Liaison Section to ONI representatives here in Washington, D. C.

It is of interest that although Commander Perkins advised, when the matter was first brought to his attention, that he was removing Lieutenant Goodykoontz from duty, SAC Hood found that Goodykoontz had been later returned to duty with ONI in Los Angeles pending instructions from Washington, D. C., as to the action to be taken. This situation was discussed with ONI here and the Bureau was informed that Lieutenant Goodykoontz had been detached from the Los Angeles Office of ONI and was awaiting a replacement who had been assigned to Los Angeles. SAC Hood advised on February 8, 1945, that Lieutenant Goodykoontz had been transferred to Iceland.

You will recall that the public press has recently carried stories to the effect that the House Un-American Activities Committee (formerly known as the Dies Committee) has voted to investigate "subversive activities" in Hollywood to determine whether film stars and producers are involved in a plot to overthrow the Government. Acting Chairman, John E. Rankin of Mississippi, made the announcement, stating that the Committee had received so much mail about a dangerous plot to overthrow the Government centering around Hollywood that it had voted to send investigators to the West Coast at once. Mr. Rankin did not elaborate on the persons involved in the alleged plot or its nature, but, according to the press, indicated that before the investigation was finished some "big names" would enter into the inquiry.

You will also recall that Walter Wanger has talked with Assistant Director Nichols in an attempt to get you to issue a statement that no such plot exists. At your instructions, Mr. Wanger was told that inasmuch as the matter involved a Committee of Congress, you could not inject yourself into the issue.

In view of the above situation, it is believed that the following will be of particular interest to you:

The decision of the House Un-American Activities Committee to inquire into the Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry appears to have been prompted by articles originating in Los Angeles newspapers following a meeting in that city on June 8, 1945, which was sponsored by "New Masses" magazine and held in honor of William Gropper, cartoonist for that publication. This meeting was arranged by Doretta Tarmon, Field Director for "New Masses." The principal speakers were Richard Bransten, also known as Bruce Minton, who is a contributing editor for "New Masses" magazine; Ruth McKenney, wife of Richard Bransten, who also is a contributing editor of "New Masses"; Joseph Foster, Film Editor for "New Masses"; and William Gropper.

Clippings from Los Angeles papers which have been made available state that the speakers at the meeting indicated that Communist propaganda and activities would in the future become centered around Hollywood; that Communists were seeking to strengthen their ties with the White House; that this country's relations with the Chiang Kai-shek Government of China must be broken in order to further the plan of Sovietizing all of Asia; that pretty young girls in the Communist Youth Movement must be used to favorably influence men in the Armed Forces; and that pressure must be exerted to continue lend-lease aid to Russia.

The Los Angeles "Examiner" published a story setting out the reaction of several civic organizations and civic leaders to the reported disclosures made at the meeting, all expressing indignation and demanding action to counteract the proposed Communist program.

Among the persons who made statements in the Los Angeles "Examiner" indicating their desire to take action against Communist activities in Hollywood, were State Senator Hugh M. Burns; Richard E. Brewer, Commander, County Council, Disabled American Veterans; Jesse B. Fisher, Commander of the Fifth District, Veterans of Foreign Wars; P. A. Horton, Commander of the Twenty-fourth District, American Legion; Mrs. Leila Rogers, Secretary of the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals; and State Senator Jack B. Tenney.

A story in the Los Angeles "Herald Express" reported that a fight to combat Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry was in the offing and that the Motion Picture Alliance was taking an active step toward organization of resistance. This article quotes an interview with Sam Wood, motion picture director and producer who is an official of the Motion Picture Alliance, in which interview he is reported to have made the following statements:

> "There is no use kidding ourselves. The Communists are in the Hollywood picture and they're in strong. We know a lot of directors, writers, and other studio workers have Communist cards, and we even know their card numbers....The film industry should be ruthless in dealing with these persons. They should be exposed -- no matter who they are."

The Los Angeles Office has advised that information regarding the meeting had been received from informants prior to the date it was held and that since it was indicated information of some significance could be obtained from coverage of the meeting, which was a public one, Agents of the Los Angeles Office were in attendance. According to the Agents, the meeting had as its Chairman Joseph Foster, and that the first actual speech was delivered by Ruth McKenney, who opened by offering some rather humorous and not particularly serious observations regarding her experience at the San Francisco United Nations Conference. She did, however, during her address, find occasion to praise the position of the USSR and to ridicule the attitude of the United States State Department.

Richard Bransten, in addressing the meeting, also spoke regarding the United Nations Conference, stressing particularly the need for exerting pressure upon the State Department to induce its return to the foreign policy of former President Roosevelt and to carry out the provisions of the Yalta agreement. The Agents have advised that Bransten bitterly ridiculed former President Hoover and Senator Vandenberg; that throughout his speech he repeatedly emphasized the need for strengthening "Big Three unity"; and he stressed the necessity of putting an end to the growing trend toward "Soviet baiting."

The speech made by William Gropper, according to the Agents, dealt only with the history and policies of "New Masses" magazine. Each of the speakers found occasion to appeal for support of "New Masses" in the form of subscriptions and contributions.

The Los Angeles Office has advised that the "Examiner" in its newspaper story regarding the meeting had, to some extent, embellished the statements which appeared in quotation marks in the news article. The Agents are of the opinion that some of these quotations are not entirely correct although the nature of the meeting was such that the Agents could not take notes. One particular inaccuracy pointed out was the statement quoted in the "Examiner" that "the thousands of pretty young girls in our Communist Youth Movement must volunteer as hostesses in USO's, canteens, churches, social groups -- wherever the soldiers, sailors, and Marines seek recreation and are prone to listen to a persuasive voice."

The Agents pointed out also that although the "Examiner" made the statement that the program presented had been "carefully blueprinted in New York City by Earl Browder and other American Soviets," no such statement in fact had been made at the meeting.

The reaction of the Agents present at the meeting as to what was said and outlined by the speakers was generally at variance with the conclusions reported in the Los Angeles "Examiner." They have stated that nothing was said by the speakers or by questions directed at the speakers by the audience to indicate a change in the Communist Political Association policy. They have advised that nothing was said from which the conclusion could be drawn that the Communist Political Association was transferring its center of operations to Hollywood. Furthermore, nothing was announced or said at this meeting to indicate a plan had been formulated by the Communist Political Association to win over the Armed Forces to a sympathetic viewpoint.

According to the Los Angeles Office, there is no question but that the meeting on June 8, 1945, was a completely Communist dominated gathering. Two of the principal speakers, Bruce Minton and his wife, Ruth McKenney, are contributing editors to "New Masses" and both are known by the Los Angeles Office to be members of the Communist Political Association presently assigned to the Fifty-ninth Assembly District Club in Los Angeles. The meeting was held for the purpose of honoring William Gropper, cartoonist for "New Masses" and to increase interest in that publication as well as to obtain donations and subscriptions therefor. Information has been received from confidential sources subsequent to the date of the meeting indicating that Communist leaders in Los Angeles are considerably aroused at the manner in which the function was treated by the press. According to the Los Angeles Office, there are some indications that Bransten and his wife will protest to the "Examiner" and demand a retraction of its story. There appears also to be some possibility that Bransten may seek legal advice as to whether he may have a libel suit against the newspaper for the publication of the story.

I would like to point out the statement quoted earlier which was attributed to Sam Wood, producer and director. This statement was to the effect that the Motion Picture Alliance even knew the Communist membership card numbers of a lot of directors, writers, and other studio workers. In this connection you will recall the case involving one Maribess Temple Stokes in which the Los Angeles Office conducted considerable investigation during October and November, 1944, to uncover the manner in which highly confidential material reported by that office regarding Communist infiltration into the motion picture industry was coming into the possession of the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals. Investigation showed that Mrs. Stokes, who is the wife of a Naval officer, had left a job with ONI in Los Angeles to accept a position with the Motion Picture Alliance.

Mrs. Stokes thereafter obtained from one Lieutenant Goodykoontz of ~~the FBI~~ ONI in Los Angeles, certain FBI reports concerning Communists in whom the Motion Picture Alliance was interested, from which reports she took verbatim shorthand notes. Transcribed copies of her notes were made available to officials of the Motion Picture Alliance for their use in combatting Communist influence in the motion picture industry. Effort was made to recover all copies of Stokes' transcribed notes which had been made and, based on a list of outstanding copies furnished by one of the MPA officials, all such copies had been recovered or accounted for.

With regard to Sam Wood's statement that "we even know their card numbers," the Los Angeles Office has advised that it is believed his assertion is based on information set out in the FBI report which MPA officials had obtained as set out above. The investigation made at the time the Stokes incident first came to light disclosed that twenty-three copies of the material from the FBI report which had been made had been recovered. This was the number that MPA officials claimed had been distributed. It was pointed out, however, by the Los Angeles Office, that it would be practically impossible to determine accurately how many reproductions of those copies may have been made by various individuals before they were recovered. The Los Angeles Office has suggested the likelihood that the MPA has retained pertinent data from the FBI report, which conclusion is indicated by the newspaper story in which Sam Wood allegedly made the statement regarding membership card numbers.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The strike led by HERBERT K. SORRELL, President of the Conference of Studio Unions, in which ten or more unions are involved, is attracting a great deal of attention. The threatened Congressional investigation of alleged un-American activities in the motion picture guilds and unions has not begun, so far as is known. The so-called jurisdictional strike has been in progress since March 12, 1945. A conference of AFL-IATSE officers is to be held in Chicago August 10, 1945. Congressman JOHN M. RANKIN has announced that the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities will make an investigation of Communist infiltration of the motion picture business. The Hollywood Independent Citizens' Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions has been following the line followed by the Hollywood Democratic Committee, but it claims itsifuturetactivities will be non-partisan. It has devoted some time to opposing the activities of GERALD L. K. SMITH. It has issued the first edition of "Hollywood Independent," its official paper. The Hollywood Writers' Mobilization has continued its line of propaganda, which is parallel to that of the Communist Party, and has announced that the first issue of the "Hollywood Quarterly" will be out about Oct. 1, 1945. The "Communique," official publication of HWM, continues to follow the CP line in its propaganda efforts. The Actors' Laboratory has been accredited under the G.I. Bill of Rights and promises jobs at $50 per week to its students, and there is talk of forming a "Civic Theater."

Report of Special Agent James G. Findlay, Los Angeles, 7/10/45.

DETAILS: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that the main problems confronting the Hollywood Communists and those who follow the political direction of the Communist Party and the new "party line" are the following:

1. A strike of a bloc of Communist controlled crafts now in the twenty-second week.

2. A threatened investigation by the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities, formerly known as the Dies Committee.

Because of the importance of these two factors, much Communist activity is being devoted to these subjects.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A reflects that a bloc of motion picture unions went on strike on March 2, 1945. At first the strike appeared to be a jurisdictional matter, and only seventy-seven workers, called "set dressers," were involved. Source further states, however, that the Communist issue has been raised in this strike and the entire issue revolves around that base. At first it was declared to be a strike against the motion picture industry, but in reality it has broadened until it is a strike against the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE), an anti-Communist bloc of local unions in the motion picture field. It has become a very involved matter, and should the Conference of Studio Unions, under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL, President, win the strike, it will mean the eventual control by the Communists of the remainder of the Hollywood studio unions.

Source A has advised that the following unions and guilds have now joined in the strike. The names of the individuals who control and direct these unions are being set forth. Source also advises that all of these unions are under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL, and all are controlled and directed by Communist influence. They are the following:

|---|---|
| MOTION PICTURE PAINTERS LOCAL 644 | HERBERT K. SORRELL |
| STUDIO CARPENTERS LOCAL 946 | JAMES SKELTON |
| INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF ELECTRICAL WORKERS 44 | AL STEEVE |
| STUDIO MACHINISTS GUILD 1185 | D. T. WAYNE |
| SCREEN STORY ANALYSTS' GUILD | FRANCES MILLINGTON, President |
| SCREEN CARTOONISTS' GUILD | ACE GANER, PresidentMAURICE HOWARD, Business Agent |
| SCREEN OFFICE EMPLOYEES' GUILD | LILLIAN HURWITZ, PresidentGLEN PRATT, Business Agent |

| SCREEN PUBLICISTS' GUILD | GEORGE THOMAS, JR., PresidentMILTON GOLLBEK, Business Agent |
| SCREEN SET DESIGNERS' GUILD | ED MUSSA, Business Representative |

Source A further informed that while it is pretty generally known that the strike is the result of Communist activity, no newspaper or other publication reaching the general public will state this as being a fact because of the pressure of the entire film industry to smother this angle of the controversy. The reason they think they must prevent publicity in this respect is that it would tend to corroborate the contention of the Congressional Committee and the statements of JOHN M. RANKIN, Congressman from Mississippi, the spokesman for the Committee, that Hollywood is infested with Communists and should be investigated. The producers of pictures are trying very hard and using every method within their power to prevent an investigation. The Communists, of course, also want to prevent an investigation. Consequently, while there is no evidence of direct collusion between the producers and the Communists on this issue, there is an identity of interests of the two. However, this feature of the issue is being raised by the IATSE in a series of bulletins circulated among the studio workers, but this method reaches relatively few people and is not very effective.

At the beginning of the strike, according to Source A, the Communist Political Association, now the Communist Party of the United States, did not openly take sides. It even deplored the strike as ill advised at that time. However, individual members and sympathizers were permitted to support the strike, which they have done. On July 24, 1945, pursuant to the new party line, the Communist "Daily World," formerly the "People's World," came out in a fiery editorial supporting the strike, and all the resources and Communist influences are now in the open supporting the strikers.

Press dispatches for August 8, 1945, stated that AFL President WILLIAM GREEN was meeting with the organization's Executive Council of fifteen and had announced that he would set a date for a special hearing on the subject. This action came after the Presidents of the international unions, the locals of which are on strike, asked that invocation of disciplinary measures against other AFL unions not engaging be authorized. ROY M. BREWER, International Representative of the IATSE, now in Hollywood, announced that he and President RICHARD F. WALSH of the IATSE will meet with the Executive Council of the AFL in Chicago on Friday, August 10, 1945.

CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION OF COMMUNISM IN HOLLYWOOD

Source A has stated that early in June it was announced by Congressman JOHN M. RANKIN that the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities would investigate the motion picture industry because of alleged Communist activities therein. Since that time there has been much publicity in the press about this proposed investigation, which has caused much commotion in Hollywood. The attitude of the film industry and of all interests allied thereto is one of violent opposition to such investigation. The reason would be obvious that they do not want to be exposed.

While it has been announced by Mr. RANKIN that the investigation would be conducted eventually, up to the present time no investigators have been sent to Hollywood, so far as can be learned. If any are present, their presence has not become known.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS' COMMITTEE OF ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS (FORMERLY HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE)

Source A has advised that this organization is now one of the main propaganda agencies in Hollywood. It follows the same general line that was followed by the Hollywood Democratic Committee, which organization it superseded. However, it does not identify itself with the Democratic Party as a supporting agency of that party, as did its predecessor. The reason for this is that with the Communist Party now to be reinstated, it can support the program of that party and it can now, under the new name and structural form, pretend to be non-partisan.

The major activity of this organization recently has been a program of opposition to the activities of GERALD L. K. SMITH, who recently held a series of meetings in Los Angeles. It attacked SMITH because of the attacks which SMITH made against the Semites and Communists.

The local organization is following the general line of the Communist program in all matters, national, international and local.

The organization is now issuing a publication called the "Hollywood Independent." The first issue is just out, dated August, 1945. Presumably it is a monthly. The first issue has eight pages. The editorial staff of this publication is the following:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| HOLLISTER NOBLE, | Editor | |
| ROBERT ANDREWS, | Editorial | Committee |
| EDWIN BLUM, | " | " |
| HY KRAFT | " | " |
| ANN DAGGETT | " | " |
| FRANKLIN FEARING | " | " |
| LOUIS HARRIS | " | " |
| JOHN B. HUGHES | " | " |
| CAREY McWILLIAMS | " | " |
| KEITH SWARD | " | " |
| ROBERT WACHSMAN | " | " |

The contents of the first issue of the paper follow the general line of the Communist publications of like nature.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS' MOBILIZATION

This organization, according to Source A, continues along its previous line of propaganda, identifying itself mainly with the war effort and the general Communist approach thereto, and the postwar world, economically and politically.

It has announced the publication of the "Hollywood Quarterly," the first issue of which is to appear about October 1, 1945. It will be sponsored jointly by the University of California (UCLA) and the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization. This collaboration with the university grew out of the Writers' Congress (Fifth Writers' Congress) held on the campus of the university at Los Angeles on October 1, 2 and 3, 1943.

This publication will be supervised by the following persons:

EMMETT LAVERY, Chairman of the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization and President of the Screen Writers' Guild
JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, writer, functionary of the Communist Party
KENNETH MacGOWAN, producer
Professor FRANKLIN FEARING, UCLA
FRANKLIN P. ROLFE, UCLA
SAMUEL T. FARQUHAR, Manager of the University Press, UCLA

In addition to the above, the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization also publishes its own "Communique," which also follows the general line of the Communist Party as it is laid down at the present time for this type of publication, which is indicated by the following headlines appearing in this publication:

"Why Some People Hate Hollywood."
"HWM Radio Series Gets Nationwide Response."
"HWM Members Active in S.F. During United Nations Conference."
"Europe Ready for More Good Pictures."
"Expanded Documentary Program Planned."
"Minority Committee Maps New Program."
"Jugoslav Delegate Sees New Hope for New Europe."

The organization has announced that it will not go out of existence with the close of the war, but will continue as a permanent organization. The Communist control of this effort is clear and unmistakable.

ACTORS' LABORATORY

Source A states that this Communist controlled "school for acting" has been accredited under the G.I. Bill of Rights and is making preparations to expand on quite an extensive scale. It has now entered into a contract with Twentieth Century-Fox Studios to train and furnish actors for that studio. The studio is to pay the school $50 per week for each student accepted from the school. It will pay the same for any veteran trained, at Government expense, by the school.

In addition, the Actors' Laboratory and its backers are now working toward the establishment of a Civic Theater to be supported by the City of Los Angeles. It will follow the lines of the National Theater idea, long advocated by the Communists in the United States. It was one of the proposals of the Communists during the WPA days that the Federal Theater Project be turned into a permanent National Theater project.

Those behind this project are the following:

ORSON WELLES, writer and actor
IRVING RICHEL, director
Mrs. EDWARD G. ROBINSON, wife of Edward G. Robinson, actor
WALTER WANGER, producer
I. N. KORNBLUM
RICHARD ATKINSON

RICHARD ATKINSON, who claims to be a retired banker and educator, has long been a lecturer in the Los Angeles area on the virtues of the Soviet Union. He claims to be an authority on that country. He is taking the lead in the attempted formation of this Civic Theater project. Needless to say, the project, if started, would be under Communist influence.

Source A has stated that while the activities of the Communists, especially those who operate the motion picture industry as a base, seem to be growing stronger day by day, at the same time there is developing a strong opposition to many things which appear to be under the influence of the Communists in the Los Angeles area. Whether this opposition has been stimulated by the visit of GERALD L. K. SMITH or not is not known, but there is an increasing awareness of the situation on the part of the so-called "man on the street." Conversations overheard in such public places as restaurants, drinking parlors, street cars, etc., would tend to show that this question is coming to the surface and Hollywood is getting her share of the blame. It is doubted that the producers of motion pictures are aware of this situation.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The strike led by ROBERT K. SHERIL, President of the Conference of Studio Unions, in which ten or more unions are involved, is attracting a great deal of attention. The threatened Congressional investigation of alleged un-American activities in the motion picture guilds and unions has not begun, so far as is known. The so-called jurisdictional strike has been in progress since March 12, 1945. A conference of AFL-IATSE officers is to be held in Chicago August 10, 1945. Congressman JOHN E. RANKIN has announced that the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities will make an investigation of Communist infiltration of the motion picture business. The Hollywood Independent Citizens' Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions has been following the line followed by the Hollywood Democratic Committee, but it claims its future activities will be non-partisan. It has devoted some time to opposing the activities of GERALD L. K. SMITH. It has issued the first edition of "Hollywood Independent," its official paper. The Hollywood Writers' Mobilization has continued its line of propaganda, which is parallel to that of the Communist Party, and has announced that the first issue of the "Hollywood Quarterly" will be out about Oct. 1, 1945. The "Communique," official publication of HWM, continues to follow the CP line in its propaganda efforts. The Actors' Laboratory has been accredited under the G.I. Bill of Rights and promises jobs at $50 per week to its students, and there is talk of forming a "Civic Theater."

Re: COMMUNIST POLITICAL ASSOCIATION
DISTRICT NUMBER THIRTEEN
LOS ANGELES FIELD DIVISION
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Dear Sir:

The following information regarding recent developments of particular interest concerning the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association has been reported by confidential sources of this office:

Of particular interest is the reaction of certain high party individuals in this area to the impending investigation of Communism in Hollywood by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as reflected by recent publicity given to statements by Representative RANKIN.

CHDI [redacted] reports a recent conference regarding this subject on July 1, 1945, between JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and GEORGE PEPPER, the latter being the Executive Secretary of the organization known as the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions (formerly the Hollywood Democratic Committee). PEPPER is a known member of the CPA and a sort of "leg" man for JOHN HOWARD LAWSON. LAWSON, of course, is probably the most influential Communist functionary in this area.

In referring to the proposed RANKIN Committee investigation of Hollywood, LAWSON expressed the opinion that this was part of a negotiated peace drive, and that he, LAWSON, does not think that people understand it as such; that it is nothing but an effort to try to create a smear regarding Communism that will enable them to build up a tremendous scare against Communism in China with the necessary result that Japan must be built up as a bulwark against it. LAWSON regards this as the political basis for the RANKIN investigation, and he expressed the opinion that it is more than just an investigation of the motion picture industry, although "they have been gunning for the industry for years".

LAWSON further expressed the opinion that the proposed investigation is an attempt to stop the war and that the motion picture industry's work serves as a key to that; that if they (those behind the investigation) can spread a terrific scare that Reds are active on the Pacific Coast, this will be made a part of their entire strategy. In LAWSON's opinion there is a tremendous drive on the part of RANKIN and others in Congress to make a deal with Japan. LAWSON and PEPPER agreed that GERALD L. K. SMITH of the America First Party, the Anti-Communist Motion Picture Alliance in Hollywood, the IATSE (International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees Union) and Representative RANKIN are all tied together.

LAWSON and PEPPER discussed the feasibility of telephoning a number of Congressmen and doing more than just inserting things in the "Congressional Record"; further that they must arrange to take steps to have their fight against this investigation of the industry taken up on the floor of the House if and when it reaches the floor.

LAWSON instructed PEPPER to get in touch with (ELLIS) PATTERSON, JERRY DONALY and (HELEN) GAHAGAN (all Congressmen from Los Angeles), as well as WALTER WANGER, Hollywood Producer, and "our old friend FANNING" (MICHAEL FANNING, Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, Los Angeles County) and tell them that there is an attempt to smear the motion picture industry and the Democratic Party. LAWSON further suggested that ELEANORE ABOWITZ should also be able to stir up something among the Democrats regarding this matter. By way of identification, ELEANORE ABOWITZ is a known CPA activist.

GEORGE PEPPER advised LAWSON that he (probably meaning the Hollywood Democratic Committee) had received a very good letter from ROBERT KENNIGAN thanking them for all their support (in the national elections) and expressing hope that they could work together in the future. PEPPER suggested that maybe KENNIGAN could be used in some way against the investigation. LAWSON's reaction to this suggestion, however, was that he did not think this particular angle should be followed for the movement as it might give the appearance of attaching too much importance to the RANKIN investigation. LAWSON was of the opinion that they should get the Congressmen working on it for the present and that the approach should be along the following lines:

1. Defense of the motion picture industry.
2. Smear of the Democratic Party.
3. Move for peace in the Pacific war.

The discussion between LAWSON and PEPPER thereafter touched on the subject of GERALD L. K. SMITH and the America First Party, which at the present time is a particularly sore spot with the Communist element in the Los Angeles area, inasmuch as SMITH has been making a number of violently anti-Communist speeches in Los Angeles recently. LAWSON instructed PEPPER that he should get in touch with the CIO regarding GERALD SMITH; that he should contact CONNELLY (PHILIP M. CONNELLY, Secretary of the Los Angeles Industrial Union Council, CIO) for joint action. LAWSON pointed out that this is very important because all the more people they can mobilize against GERALD SMITH, the same people can be later used in the fight against Congressman RANKIN and his investigation of the motion picture industry in Hollywood. LAWSON said that PHILIP CONNELLY and the CIO want to do something about it but do not want to act alone and that CONNELLY should be contacted and concerted action arranged.

For the information of the Bureau, since the newspaper publicity regarding the proposed investigation of Hollywood by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, this office was contacted telephonically on Saturday, June 30th, by the City Editor of the Hearst owned "Los Angeles Examiner", who advised ASAC JAMES C. ELLSWORTH that the Washington Bureau of the Hearst Press had telephoned the "Examiner" stating it understood that the Los Angeles Office of the FBI had considerable information regarding the situation in Hollywood and suggesting that the "Examiner" contact this office. No information whatever, of course, was furnished the City Editor of the "Examiner".

For the further information of the Bureau, reference is made to my teletype dated July 5, 1945, advising that confidential sources of this office had reported that on the night of July 4th an unidentified party or parties had gained access to the county headquarters office of the CPA in Los Angeles and had "had themselves a picnic". Subsequent developments as reported by these same sources indicated that the CPA leaders suspect the followers of GERALD L. K. SMITH as being responsible. As indicated in my teletype, this office has no information as to the identity of the unknown parties who allegedly entered CPA headquarters or what might have been the exact nature or purpose thereof. Informants indicate, however, that the CPA leaders may endeavor to change the location of their headquarters to some other downtown building if office space can be secured. Regardless of who may have been the individuals who entered the headquarters, it is very doubtful if any worth-while information regarding the CPA or its membership

You will recall my recent memorandum of July 9, 1945, concerning stories being carried in the daily press to the effect that the House Un-American Activities Committee has voted to investigate subversive activities in Hollywood to determine whether film stars and producers are involved in a plot to overthrow the Government.

In this connection, you will also recall that Walter Wanger conferred with Assistant Director Nichols in an attempt to have you issue a statement that no such plot existed.

In view of this whole situation, it is believed that the following will be of particular interest to you.

A technical surveillance in the residence of John Howard Lawson on July 1, 1945, furnished information concerning the conversation between Lawson and George Pepper, the Executive Secretary of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions (formerly the Hollywood Democratic Committee). Pepper is a known member of the Communist Political Association and acts in the capacity of a "leg" man for Lawson. Lawson, you will recall, is the most influential Communist functionary in the motion picture field.

During the course of the conversation, Lawson referred to the proposed investigation of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and intimated that this was part of a negotiated peace drive. He stated that it was nothing but an effort to create a smear regarding Communism that will enable "them" to build up a tremendous scare against Communism in China with the necessary result being that Japan will be built up as a bulwark against this possibility. Lawson specifically expressed the opinion that the investigation was against more than the motion picture industry. He stated, however, "they have been gunning for the industry for years." Lawson and Pepper agreed that Gerald L. K. Smith of the America First Party, the Anti-Communist Motion Picture Alliance in Hollywood, the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees Union, along with Representative John E. Rankin, a member of the Committee, were all tied together in connection with this program.

Lawson and Pepper discussed the feasibility of telephonically contacting a number of Congressmen in order that they might arrange to have "their fight" against this investigation taken up on the floor of the House, if and when it reaches that stage. Lawson instructed Pepper to contact (Ellis) Patterson, Ned Healy, and (Helen) Gahagan, all of whom are Congressmen from Los Angeles, in this regard. He also instructed that Walter Wanger, a Hollywood producer, and "our old friend Fanning," apparently Michael Fanning, Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, Los Angeles County, be contacted concerning this matter. Pepper advised Lawson that he, probably in his position with the former Hollywood Democratic Committee, had received a letter from Robert Hannegan thanking them for their support and expressing hope that they could work together in the future. Apparently this refers to the support rendered during the recent national elections. Pepper suggested that there is a possibility that Hannegan could be used in some way to stop the investigation. Lawson stated, however, that he did not think this particular angle should be followed up at the moment as it might give the appearance of attaching too much importance to the Rankin Investigation. Lawson was definitely of the opinion that it was sufficient to have the Congressmen work on this matter at the present and that the approach should be along the following lines:

1. Defense of the motion picture industry.

2. Smear of the Democratic Party.

3. Move for peace in the Pacific war.

The Los Angeles Office has advised that on June 30, 1945, the city editor of the Hearst-owned "Los Angeles Examiner" contacted that office, at which time it was stated that the Washington Bureau of the Hearst Press had advised that the Los Angeles Office of the FBI had considerable information regarding the "situation in Hollywood" and suggested that the "Examiner" contact that office. No information whatsoever was furnished to the city editor on this occasion.

The Los Angeles Office has advised that it will endeavor to follow the impending investigation in Hollywood by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and will report any pertinent happenings to the Bureau.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

In March, 1945, efforts were made to effect a change in the name of the Hollywood Democratic Committee to that of the Hollywood Independent Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions and to affiliate it with an organization of the same name in New York City. JO DAVIDSON, a sculptor of New York City, was national chairman, and JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, a leading Communist functionary and prominent motion picture writer, was the local leader of this movement. On June 6, 1945, a meeting of the Hollywood Democratic Committee was arranged by LAWSON, the object being to consider his recommendation for the change in name and to change the policy of the organization. The changes were then voted and a new set of officers were elected, none of whom had previously been prominent in the affairs of the Hollywood Democratic Committee. The newly-elected officers were:

JOHN CROMWELL, chairman - director of motion pictures
BETTE DAVIS, vice-chairman - screen actress
JOHN B. HUGHES, vice-chairman - radio commentator
DORE SCHARY, vice-chairman - motion picture producer
JOSEPH SZIEGETI, vice-chairman - musician
E. Y. HARBURG, secretary - producer
DANNY KAY, treasurer - actor

At the same time, an executive council of 105 members was elected, and CNDI [redacted] advised that fifteen are well known, active Communist Party members, and CNDI [redacted] advised that most of the members of the executive council have records of Communist Party or Communist-front activities. b7D

After the election President JOHN CROMWELL stated the aims and purposes of the organization, and they differed considerably from those of the Hollywood Democratic Committee. The new organization is not to function as an aid to the Democratic Party, but is non-partisan and aims to support labor unions and the causes of various minority groups. The

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The threatened investigation of the motion picture industry by the Congressional Committee on un-American activities, and the widespread effects of the motion picture strike have taken precedence over all other activities of a Communist nature in the motion picture industry. Certain CIO unions have taken an active part in picket lines but other CIO unions have declined to take any part. The HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES, AND PROFESSIONS has created a sub-organization which is called "Mobilization for Democracy", which is headed by ROBERT W. KENNY, State Attorney General; CAREY McWILLIAMS, and GEORGE STILLER, who have been very prominent in Communist front activities. The HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION, successor to the LEAGUE OF AMERICAN WRITERS, is planning to call a Writers' Congress this Fall, and it probably will be sponsored by the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION and the University of California at Los Angeles. The ACTORS' LABORATORY is active in placing aspiring actors, writers, and others in the motion picture industry. The I.A.T.S.E. has set up an office in Hollywood under the direction of ROY M. BREWER, one of its international representatives, the object of which seems to be to expose Communist activity in the Hollywood Motion Picture Unions.

Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINDLAY, Los Angeles, California, 8/11/45.

DETAILS: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY IN HOLLYWOOD

Source A has informed [illegible] motion picture industry is now coming to public notice more closely than ever before because of two important factors. These two factors are the threatened investigation by the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities, and a strike now being conducted by the Conference of Studio Unions, a completely Communist-dominated group of studio unions. These factors have been mentioned in previous reports, but both are now assuming national proportions and have taken precedence over all other activities of a Communist nature.

The new Communist Party line has been fully accepted, and the Communist elements have adjusted their efforts and activities fully to conform with this line. The pretended "democratic line" which they followed during the war is now cast aside. The "no strike" pledge and all that went with it is now abandoned. Evidence of this new position is the open support which the Communists are now giving to the Communist lead unions in the present strike. When the strike was begun on March 2, 1945, they "deplored" it as an interference in the war effort. Now since the war is over the strike has become a most worthy cause.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A states that a strike which was called by this group of unions on March 2, 1945, has been joined by other unions, and the influence and activities of Communists is still in progress. Using a so-called jurisdictional dispute as an excuse for calling this strike, which they pretended is against the motion picture producers but which in reality is a further attempt to get control of several local unions of the INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE OF THEATRICAL STAGE EMPLOYEES (I.A.T.S.E.), which strongly upholds Communist infiltration, the Communist elements are now endeavoring to spread the strike nation-wide by picketing theaters in various sections of the country.

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

Source A informs that HERBERT K. SORRELL, the leader of this strike and a known Communist, has called for and received the support of the Communist Party locally, and to some extent throughout the United States. Many front organizations, Communist controlled labor unions, the Los Angeles CIO Industrial Union Council, and many others of like Communist tinge, have thrown their strength into the strike on the side of SORRELL. It is known that SORRELL has made contact with the National Committee of the Communist Party in New York, through LOUIS WEINSTOCK, a member of that National Committee, and that it has promised him support by arranging for picket lines in front of theaters.

The Communist press throughout the United States has recently entered the situation, especially [illegible] that the strike had to be made a "national issue". There is no question of wages, hours, or working conditions involved in the strike, but merely the control of a small group of workers called set directors. If the Communists can win this strike it will set a precedent for further penetration and control of the Studio Workers Unions.

CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION

Source A reports that a preliminary survey by investigators for the Congressional Committee on un-American Activities has been made and from reports it would appear that they consider a serious situation exists within the Hollywood motion picture industry in respect to Communist infiltration and influence. It is reported that the investigators did not enter the strike or the situation within the trade unions, but devoted most of their investigation to the so-called cultural groups, writers, actors, and directors. They paid particular attention to the connections between the Office of War Information and the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION and the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD. They also went into the matter of certain "schools" of indoctrination, specifically the ACTORS' LABORATORY and the PEOPLE'S EDUCATIONAL CENTER, both of which are under Communist supervision and influence.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES, AND PROFESSIONS (Formerly the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE)

According to Source A, this Communist dominated organization, which succeeded the HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE by a change in name, which change followed the announced change in the Communist Party line, has devoted most of its activities and efforts within the last thirty days to the support of another outside organization called "MOBILIZATION FOR DEMOCRACY", a Communist-inspired pressure group. The persons who act as the spokesmen and leaders of the MOBILIZATION FOR DEMOCRACY are the following:-

ROBERT W. KENNY, Attorney General for the State of California

CAREY McWILLIAMS, Attorney and Writer of Los Angeles, formerly Director of Immigration and Housing during the Governor OLSEN Administration

GEORGE STILLER, Secretary of the organization, member of the Publicity and Promotion Committee of the PEOPLE'S EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Source A informed that all of the above named persons have connections with Communist causes and have long been known to follow the Communist Party line.

The purpose of this mobilization is presumably to fight Fascism, which they maintained is exemplified in the person of GERALD L. K. SMITH. In reality, it is the usual Communist procedure of taking up an issue and using it to build the Communist Party, and its influence, and create the impression that it is the leader of progressive forces.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS' MOBILIZATION

Source A informs that this organization, which was set up after Pearl Harbor and after Russia was forced into the war by Hitler's invasion, was presumed to be a war organization only. Its main work was in the propaganda field and as such was one of the moving forces in the OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION, many of its members having been placed in that governmental agency. However, it has been announced that this organization will not come to an end, now that the war is over, but will continue as a permanent one. It has been announced that it will devote its efforts in the post-war period, to making a better world, etc. In short, it is now to become a social betterment group, utilizing the motion picture industry as a vehicle of influence.

When this mobilization was formed, the LEAGUE OF AMERICAN WRITERS was soon dissolved. Those active in the LEAGUE OF AMERICAN WRITERS moved over into the new organization, and in that sense it has become the lineal descendant of the LEAGUE OF AMERICAN WRITERS, a known Communist dominated propaganda organization.

As the LEAGUE OF AMERICAN WRITERS had called a World Congress of Writers every two years, and as the last Writers' Congress was held in Los Angeles on the State University of California campus on October 1-3, 1943, another Congress is now due, the two-year interval having elapsed. Although this mobilization has not announced it formally, it is now preparing to call another Congress sometime this Fall. This Congress also will be held under the joint auspices of the University of California and the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization.

"Variety", the motion picture trade journal for September 4, 1945, under the heading, "O.W.I.'s Foldup Is Industry Stunner", stated in part:

"O.W.I.'s sudden foldup ordered by the White House Friday came as a distinct shock to the Agency underlings and the media with which it deals. Barring fast work by radio and pictures, there will be no radio and pictures, there will be no coordinating agency after September 15th to clear the time and screen requests of the dozens of government agencies, with each on its own and hounding the life out of industry representatives."

ACTORS' LABORATORY

According to Source A, this institution purports to be a school for acting for the screen, stage, and radio. It is a Communist controlled institution, which is used as the means whereby those who are willing to follow the Communist Party line can be placed within the motion picture industry. Those in control, as teachers and instructors, for the most part have long records of Communist activity.

This school has come under close scrutiny of the Congressional Committee on un-American Activities, which has now completed a preliminary survey of Communist activity in the motion picture industry. This Laboratory, as it is called, cooperates with all Communist front organizations and pressure groups by furnishing entertainment and skits, etc., at mass meetings and lesser gatherings. It cooperates with such organizations as the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS' MOBILIZATION, INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES, AND PROFESSIONS, MOBILIZATION FOR DEMOCRACY, and various union meetings where Communist influence prevails.

INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE OF THEATRICAL STAGE EMPLOYEES (I.A.T.S.E.)

According to Source A, this block of unions in the motion picture industry, now involved in the present strike, is at the present time issuing under the direction of ROY M. BREWER, its International Representative, a series of weekly bulletins exposing Communist activity within the Hollywood Studio Unions. These bulletins are circulated among the workers in the studios, informing them of Communist infiltration, which it considers a danger to the interests of the organized studio workers.

The I.A.T.S.E. has made plans to conduct a long-range program to combat Communism in the Hollywood motion picture industry and has opened offices in Hollywood for that purpose at 1650½ North Cherokee Street, telephone GL 7187. There is also an entrance to this office from 6600 Hollywood Boulevard. The office is located in Room 218.

Source A predicts that despite the efforts of the film industry heads to hold down and discredit the exposure of Communist infiltration because of the notoriety which would ensue, this issue is now coming to the front and in some instances has been taken up by newspapers in the East, and this subject promises to become one of nation-wide interest.

"Variety", trade paper for July 2, 1945, under the heading "Accuse Rankin of Trying to Bust Page One", stated in part the new Hollywood smear investigation is just an effort by a "flop" committee to crash the front pages, Los Angeles Congressmen indignantly indicated today. They accuse Representative JOHN R. RANKIN and the House Committee on un-American Activities of following the well-recognized technique of trying to bust the front pages by working out of the motion picture.

It noted Congressman NED R. HEALY of Los Angeles as stating: "This move is typical of most Rankin's activities. He obviously is following in the footsteps of his predecessor MARTIN DIES. This is an attempt to drive underground all members of the motion picture industry. It is the old Red smear."

Congressman ELLIS E. PATTERSON of Beverly Hills, California, is quoted as saying, "The whole thing is an attempted smear of Hollywood in order to hurt the film industry and to get a lot of publicity ..... it's the old red herring drawn across the band of freedom of speech and thought".

Congresswoman HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS also charged: "It is a plan to get publicity through a smear of the film industry." She said: "It is an effort to crush liberalism among the Democrats of the area."

GORDEN L. McDONOUGH of Hollywood, California, the only Republican representative from the area, also joined the denunciation of the Rankin efforts to "smear the motion picture industry".

The "Hollywood Reporter" trade paper for July 6, 1945, under the heading, "CIO Asks N.L.R.B. to Speed Strike Order", stating: "The Los Angeles CIO Council has added its voice to those of studio strikers." It further stated: "In a letter to the Board, PHILLIP M. CONNELLY, Secretary-Treasurer of the Los Angeles Industrial Union Council, asserted, "Any delay, in our estimation, will be a calamitous disservice, not only to labor in this area but to the community generally." CONNELLY pointed out that the "CIO Council represent more than 125,000 war workers in Los Angeles, airplane, shipyard, and munition plants."

Congressman ELLIS E. PATTERSON is quoted in a letter to the N.L.R.B. appearing in the "People's World" of July 3, 1945, as follows: "I am surprised and shocked that you are still using delaying tactics and permitting people to remain out of work for the third month because of the Board's dereliction of duty, and its bungling failure to handle its work in the most expeditious manner. The Board has lacked power of decision and courage. It is defeating the purpose of the National Labor Relations Act."

Strike

The Los Angeles "Examiner" for August 6, 1945, quoted LILLIAN HURWITZ, Screen Office Employees Guild President, as follows, concerning the violence resulting from growing strike picket lines: "Last October, when we were forced to pay a two dollar political assessment and some of us rebelled, LILLIAN HURWITZ, S.O.E.G. President, told us that the assessment represented the will of the majority. A week ago Thursday the will of the S.O.E.G. majority voted to stay on the job, but our Executive Board chose to ignore and coerce us into taking part in a strike in which we are not involved."

The Los Angeles "Examiner" for August 8, 1945, stated in part that the spotlight of the five-month old jurisdictional film strike was focused in Chicago, August 7, 1945.

It stated that A.F.L. President WILLIAM GREEN, meeting with the organization's Executive Council, announced he will set a date for a special hearing on the subject.

In Hollywood ROY M. BREWER, International Representative of the I.A.T.S.E., announced that he and President RICHARD F. WALSH of the I.A.T.S.E. will meet with the Executive Council of the A.F.L. in Chicago on Friday. BREWER stated, "We are willing to cooperate to find a solution to the strike, but we will not now or ever be coerced into accepting an unsatisfactory settlement."

The Los Angeles "Times" for August 25, 1945, stated that in the CIO group, "something of a cleavage is said to exist between PHILLIP M. CONNELLY of the Motion Picture Guild and associates, and CY O'HALLORAN of the U.A.W. CONNELLY is also Secretary-Treasurer of the L.A.I.U.C.

It stated that WILLIAM SMITH, Regional Director of the CIO Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, whose Local #9 is the largest CIO Local in this area, had stated that: "Our unions are certainly not going to do any picketing in any jurisdictional trouble between A.F.L. Unions in Hollywood. We have no right in there and we have enough trouble with A.F.L. unions right in our own field."

FLOYD GARTELL, International Representative of the CIO United Rubber Workers, said: "Certainly the rubber workers have no right to interfere in any jurisdictional trouble among the A.F.L. unions anywhere."

It also noted CY O'HALLORAN as having said: "Our people have no business in any A.F.L. jurisdictional squabble. I've asked our Local to stay out of it."

"Variety" for August 24, 1945, under the heading, "WILLIAM WYLER Gets Discharge from A.A.F.", stated: "Lieutenant Colonel WILLIAM WYLER was given his honorable discharge from Army Air Forces in Washington yesterday. He has served since 1942, during which time he produced a number of films for the Service. WYLER will remain in Washington until after Labor Day; then head for the Coast, where he will immediately become active with Liberty Films, Inc. in which he is affiliated with FRANK CAPRA and SAMUEL BRISKEN."

"Variety" for August 24, 1945, quoted JOE CARBRAY, International Representative of the U.A.W., as stating: "Employees of our organization are being instructed to stay out of the picture," and that he understood similar action was being taken by CIO Internationals with jurisdiction over steel, shipyards, and rubber workers.

"The Labor Herald" for August 24, 1945, stated in part that "Picket parties" were held last weekend by the strikers in the Hollywood film row, but the producers did not enjoy the festivities." It stated, "No time was lost after Friday night's Council meeting voted unanimously to concur in the CIO Executive Board's recommendation that the strikers be supported on many grounds." It stated, "Picket lines were formed in front of Whittier Boulevard and Huntington Park theaters Saturday night. One line was led by the warehousemen, the other by the furniture workers, auto and utility workers. Both lines were joined by other unionists and the public generally. These picket lines were the opening guns in a demonstration that will continue until the strike is won."

It further stated: "The CIO Council voted to join in these picket lines, to urge all members to stay away from theaters showing struck films, and to urge other CIO Councils to take similar action."

It further stated: "Council delegates voiced these sentiments in supporting the strikers in this nearly six-months old row ..... "progressive unionism in Hollywood faces a life-and-death battle. It must be supported."

The "Labor Herald" for August 31, 1945, under the headline, "CIO Council Group Spikes 'Split' Stories", stated that studio unions picket lines this week were swollen by sympathetic CIO members, while the labor baiting press tried to sooth itself by shouting "Dissension in the ranks". It stated, "In answer to such charges, the Los Angeles Industrial Union Council Committee on Community Affairs issued the following statement, "There is no split in CIO ranks, and as a matter offact, the CIO forces of Southern California are more united today than at any time in the past.

"The unions of the CIO are fully autonomous and any action any one of them may take is simply and purely a matter of its own business, provided it does not violate CIO policy.

"The Committee feels that there are reactionary and undemocratic forces attempting to destroy free choice of unions by the workers in Hollywood, and the Committee is now, as at all times, unalterably opposed to such actions.

"The Council Committee issuing the statement is composed of the following:

WILLIAM SMITH, Shipyard Workers Union, Chairman
JAMES ~~I.~~ DAUGHERTY, Utility Workers Union, Secretary
PHILLIP M. CONNELLY, L.A.I.U.C., Secretary
JAMES G. THIMMES, Steel Workers Union and President, State CIO
CARL ~~D.~~ ANT, Business Agent, Electrical Workers
FLOYD CARTRELL, Rubber Workers Union
WILLIAM LAWRENCE, I.L.W.U.
CY O'HALLORAN, Auto and Aircraft Workers, U.A.W.A.

You will recall that when the news first broke of the Rankin investigation in Hollywood, Walter Wanger called and wanted the Director to make a statement. I read him portions of a clipping from the Hearst papers which he had not seen.

He addressed the attached communication to me while I was in Los Angeles, which is quite amazing. It consists of affidavits from William Gropper, a cartoonist of the "New Masses;" Ruth McKenney, a writer for "New Masses;" Joseph Foster, Chairman of the Hoolywood Screen Cartoonists Guild meeting; and Bruce Minton, whose real name is Richard Bransten, Associate Editor of "New Masses," all denying statements attributed to them by the Journal-American.

I am attaching a short note for my signature.

I want to thank you for telephoning me the other day.

In view of the fact you read me the item from the Hearst International News Service, I checked around and received the attached enclosures which I thought you would like to see.

You probably had the meeting covered and know whether or not the material is in order.

Best regards to the Director and yourself.

I am an associate editor of the magazine, "New Masses"; that on Friday, June 8,1945, I attended and spoke at a meeting held at the auditorium of Screen Cartoonists Guild; that the statements attributed to me in the "Los Angeles Examiner" of June 10, 1945 and referred to in the "Los Angeles Herald Express" of June 11, 1945, and again in the "Los Angeles Examiner" of June 11, 1945, were not made by me; that such statements, including those purportedly quoted from his remarks by the said "Los Angeles Examiner" are completely and wholly the invention of the said newspaper; that nothing stated by me at said meeting even remotely resembled or could reasonably have been understood as resembling or referring to any of the statements attributed to me by the said newspapers.

My participation in said meeting consisted entirely and exclusively of answering questions relating to the San Francisco conference and to no other subject, put to me by members of the audience at said meeting; that none of the questions asked of me and none of the answers made by me mentioned, referred to, alluded in any way directly or indirectly to the Communist Party or to a Communist youth movement, or to "infiltration" into the ranks of servicemen, or "to our group" or to "winning over" President Truman; that the entire substance of my remarks was directed at establishing the need and possibility through democratic action of securing a continuance of the policies of President Roosevelt at home and abroad.

Joseph Foster, being duly sworn, deposes and says upon his oath as follows:

I was the chairman of the meeting held on Friday, June 8, 1945 at the Hollywood Screen Cartoonists Guild. The June 10, 1945 issues of the "Los Angeles Examiner", a Hearst publication, and the June 11, 1945 issue of the "Los Angeles Herald Express", a Hearst publication, carried stories purporting to report proceedings at that meeting at which I presided on June 8, 1945. The stories as appearing in said "Los Angeles Examiner" and "Los Angeles Herald Express" are wholly and completely untrue. Said newspapers attributed to me the following statements:

"The Soviet Union has a big stake in the Pacific -- more so in China, and the Soviet Union will be in there to dictate the peace."

"A continued strong, reactionary government under the leadership of Chiang Kai-Shek is opposed to our policy of ultimately Sovietizing all of Asia."

"We are strong in North China now. We must exert our power throughout that nation."

I Solemnly swear that I never made any one of the foregoing statements nor did I make any statement even remotely similar thereto. No one in the audience and no speaker at that meeting made any statement even remotely similar to the above. As chairman of the meeting, I made a few brief introductory remarks dealing with the subject of the need for support of progressive forces in this country and the need to obtain subscriptions to a publication which I consider devoted to the best interests of the progressive forces of this country, the "New Masses". As chairman, I introduced Ruth McKinney as one of the speakers. At no point during any of my remarks as chairman did I refer to any subject of a political nature, nor did I as much as mention the Soviet Union or China or Asia or Chiang Kai-Shek. The quotations contained in the issues of the "Los Angeles Examiner" and "Los Angeles Herald Express" above referred to are absolutely false and without the slightest foundation and fact. In my opinion they were printed in the Hearst publications in Los Angeles solely as "smear" tactics and for the express purpose of causing them to be used as a springboard to justify the attack made upon the progressive movement in Hollywood by representative Rankin from the House of Representatives on June 12, 1945.

6/23/51 Secular

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Certain CIO Union members have picketed a number of motion picture theaters in support of the AFL unions in their 24-week work stoppage. It is reported that threat has been made to place 2,000 pickets at 25 theaters in NYC first-run picture theaters unless they agree to stop showing films of producers in the 7-month-old Hollywood strike. The Communists in Hollywood are devoting much time in aid of the strikers. If they win this strike, it would mean that the Communists would be able to control the IATSE throughout the U.S. The Communists have come out openly in support of the strikers since the change in the CP line 7/28/45, and have now renewed the "class struggle." Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions has also thrown its strength behind the strikers. Congressional Investigating Committee of Subversive Activities appears to be dormant, but Congressman DICKSTEIN, chairman of House Immigration Committee, has reported that no "alien influence" has been found by him, but he said nothing about Communist activity. Hollywood Writers Mobilization is now supporting the strikers. A new committee called the Citizens Committee for the Motion Picture Strikers has been formed. A violent, riotous picket line has been in operation at Warner Bros. during the past week. Approximately 100 have been injured, some seriously. Approximately 20 arrests have been made, and injunctions by both sides have been filed. Funds are being solicited in aid of the strikers at Portland, Oregon, and other places. REFERENCE: Bureau file No. 100-158745.
Report of Special Agent James G. Findlay, Los Angeles, 9/12/45.

DETAILS: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA.

The Los Angeles Times for August 27, 1945, under the heading, "CIO Unions Back AFL in Film Strike," stated that picketing of movie theaters by CIO union members sympathetic with the AFL striking studio unions was extending east to eighteen additional theaters.

Meanwhile, injunction proceedings seeking to halt the picketing at Warner Bros. Theater at 6425 Hollywood Boulevard was awaiting hearing in the State Superior Court.

More than 200 CIO members turned out for the secondary picket line in front of theaters as a result of the local council of the organization recently voting to support the AFL unions in their twenty-four-week work stoppage.

The Los Angeles Examiner for September 18, 1945, under the heading, "Movies in New York Face Picketing," stated that a union spokesman said today that plans were being made to throw more than 2,000 pickets around twenty-five of New York City first-run motion picture theaters unless they agreed to stop showing films of producers involved in a seven-month-old Hollywood strike.

TED ZITTEL, representative of the Eastern Strike Strategy Committee, said the picketing would begin "in the next few days." He did not name the theaters, but the producers he listed as "unfair" included Warner Brothers, M-G-M, Columbia, Loew's, Paramount, R-K-O, Republic, Sam Goldwyn, Twentieth Century-Fox, and Universal.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE HOLLYWOOD MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that the principal Communist activity at this time is concentrated on one immediate objective, the winning of a strike that has been going on since March 12, 1945. The reason why this strike must be won by the Communists, from their point of view, is that their whole plan of action for future attempts to control all the workers in the industry depends on its outcome. At the present time the Communist Party and its sympathizers are in control of some of the more important key crafts of the industry, such as the painters, carpenters, machinists, electricians, building employees, and others. In addition, they are in control of other crafts in other departments separate from construction, such as writers, directors, actors, musicians, etc. Opposed to the Communist-controlled unions is the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE), which is the dominant group of unions because of the fact that it has jurisdiction over the theater employees in the motion picture theaters throughout the nation. The IATSE is strongly anti-Communist officially, although the Communists have captured a local union here and there. The present strike is aimed at that bloc of unions because it is the only bloc of unions that stands in the way of the Communist Party's dominating the workers all over the country in the motion picture industry.

CONFIDENTIAL

100-132951-112

This source further advises that if the Communists should succeed in winning this strike, it would mean that the influence of the IATSE would be eliminated. If this should come about, the same Communist elements would then be able to move into the radio field because of its close connection with the film industry and would become a serious menace to the entire amusement industry in the sense that they could by the pressure of union organization dictate in a large degree the content of pictures and radio programs. This is their objective.

For the foregoing reasons, the Communist apparatus, both locally and nationally, is now openly lined up behind the strikers. They now make no attempt to conceal this fact, although at the beginning of the strike before the recent change in the Communist Party line, they were very secretive in their support.

Source A has further advised that the Communist Party in its own name openly distributes leaflets and other propaganda matter directly to the strikers at the present time. The strike began on March 12, 1945. For a long time it was conducted in the usual manner without attempts at violence, with a few exceptions of a minor character. During this time the Communist Party line remained the same as it had been since Russia was invaded by Hitler in June 1941. For that reason the Communist Party did not openly support the strike, its line being that there should be no strikes which would interfere with the prosecution of the war as Russia needed help. By this change in the Party line on July 28, 1945, from one of collaboration for prosecution of the war to open "class struggle" warfare, the Communist Party began openly to support the strike and the strikers. The result of this was that the front organizations in Hollywood, such as the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, the Beverly-Westwood Democratic Committee, the newly formed Citizens Committee for the Motion Picture Strikers, and other Communist-controlled groups in the locality are now actively supporting the strike and in many cases are engaged in picketing the studios. They are also soliciting funds for the benefit of the strikers.

This source further advised that up to about October 1, 1945, the strike was conducted in a somewhat peaceful manner, but within the last few days it has flared out into serious riots at Warner Bros. Studios and the situation threatens to become more violent in spite of an injunction against undue force and violence.

This source further states that this strike is plainly a political one. There is no question of wages or working conditions involved. It is for the sole purpose of controlling the workers in the motion picture industry. In order to secure this control, it is necessary that the Communists either take over or eliminate the IATSE from the labor structure in the Hollywood studios.

This source has also advised that while all the unions involved in the strike are affiliated with the AFL, the CIO has and is taking part in the strike on the side of the Communist bloc, and HARRY BRIDGES' longshoremen are now openly taking part in the picketing. When this began, the violence in the strike developed.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS (formerly Hollywood Democratic Committee)

Source A has informed that this organization is now devoting a large part of its time and attention to the current strike. On Saturday, September 8, 1945, it issued a mimeographed bulletin calling for all-out aid to the strikers. In this publication, mention is made of "our Washington legislative office," which it states has communicated with the Hollywood branch, advising it of the immediate necessity for taking action to put pressure on governmental agencies, particularly the National Labor Relations Board, stating that if the strikers do not win this strike the National Labor Relations Board will become a "gigantic government strikebreaking agency." It also advises the sending of telegrams by all members to PAUL HERZOG, chairman of the NLRB.

This organization publishes a monthly paper called the "Hollywood Independent." The contents of this publication follow the current program of the Communist Party on what it calls "immediate demands." The staff of this paper is composed of the following persons:

CONFIDENTIAL

L A 100-15732

Editorial Committee: HOLLISTER NOBLE, Editor
ANN DAGGETT (wife of CHARLES DAGGETT, ex-President of Screen Publicists Guild; she is a member of the Communist Party, according to Source B)
DR. FRANKLIN FEARING, UCLA professor
LOUIS HARRIS, producer (member of CP, according to Source B)
JOHN B. HUGHES, radio commentator
CAREY McWILLIAMS, attorney and a writer on social matters
KEITH WARD, writer
ROBERT WACHSMAN, publicist (member of CP, according to Source B)

Source A further informs that the Hollywood Independent Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions has now become a political group of the Communists and the Communist Party in the Hollywood motion picture industry. Operating on a coordinated program with the New York Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, its influence undoubtedly will be far-reaching. Because of its broad membership, it can penetrate into every cultural or professional group in the country and thus build up a most efficient organization. Its Communist control is plainly apparent.

CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION OF SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES IN HOLLYWOOD

Source A informs that there has been no further local investigation reported by the House Committee on Un-American Activities since the investigators sent out for that purpose left Hollywood approximately sixty days ago. However, on September 26, 1945, Chairman DICKSTEIN of the House Immigration Committee, who has devoted some time to an alleged investigation in Hollywood, has issued a statement that he had investigated the charges of "alien influence" in Hollywood as made by the House Investigating Committee, and that he had found that all such charges were "a lot of ballyhoo." He stated that he had made investigations during the summer of the following studios: M-G-M, Universal, Twentieth Century-Fox, and Paramount. He said he felt "no alien influence." However, he did not mention Communists.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A informs that this organization has previously announced that it would issue a publication, "The Hollywood Quarterly," in cooperation with the University of California, and that it would be printed on the press of that state institution. The date of issuance was fixed as October 1, 1945. The book has not so far appeared.

The Mobilization has instituted a series of weekly broadcasts over local station KECA of the American Broadcasting Company, and it is to be a coast-to-coast program. The first program was given on October 1, 1945. The title of the program is "Re-Union U.S.A." and is primarily given in the interest of returning veterans. The writers who prepare the scripts will be the following:

CONFIDENTIAL

SAM MOORE, radio writer
PAUL STEWART, writer
BARBARA SMITTEN
PHILIP STEVENSON, playwright
ABRAHAM POLONSKY, writer
MILTON MERLIN, writer on LA Times
LEON MEADOW, writer
JOHN WEBER, screen reader
CAL KUHL, radio writer
DWIGHT HOUSER
JOE LOSEY, writer
RICHARD COLLINS, writer

Source B has informed that MOORE, MEADOW, WEBER, and COLLINS are active members of the Communist Party.

This same source has also informed that all of the above-named persons are members of the Radio Writers Guild, which cooperates with the Screen Writers Guild, a Communist-controlled studio independent union.

Due to the fact that the members of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization are also members of other groups, such as the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, etc., all of which are now devoting a great deal of their attention to the strike situation, there is somewhat of a lull in the activities of the Mobilization for the time being.

CITIZENS COMMITTEE FOR THE MOTION PICTURE STRIKERS

Source A has informed that this is the name of a new committee just set up for the purpose of aiding the strike. In this committee will be found the same people who compose nearly all the other organizations, such as the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, the Screen Writers Guild, and others. The following persons are listed as the members of this committee:

CAREY McWILLIAMS, Chairman (attorney and writer on social subjects)
MRS. JULIAN M. SIEROTY, Co-Chairman
MRS. CHARLOTTA BASS (colored), Vice-Chairman (Editor, California Eagle)
DR. FRANKLIN FEARING (UCLA professor)
PETER M. KAHN
THOMAS MANN (writer, author)
CLAUDE WELCH (former city councilman)
SENIEL OSTROW, Treasurer
MRS. E. Y. HARBURG, Secretary (wife of producer E. Y. Harburg) others who are most active in this committee, who have been involved in Communist activity, are the following:

RUBEY BOROUGH, pamphleteer; husband of MADELINE RUTHVEN
MAURICE CLARK, screen writer; husband of HELEN FISHER, Executive Secretary, JAFRC
DR. FRANK DAVIS, UCLA professor
ERNEST DAWSON, bookstore proprietor; also handles radical books
EDWARD DMYTRYK, director
MICHAEL KANIN, writer
CHARLES J. KATZ, attorney; represents CIO unions and motion picture persons and organizations
MRS. SIDNEY ORNITZ, wife of SAM ORNITZ, a writer
DOROTHY PARKER, columnist
IRVING PICHEL, director
FRANK TUTTLE, director
CLORE WARNE, attorney; represents motion picture people and organizations
AL WAXMAN, editor of East Side Journal

According to Source B, CLARK, DAWSON, DMYTRYK, KATZ, ORNITZ, and TUTTLE are active members of the Communist Party.

Source A has informed that this new organization is definitely under Communist control. It is to hold a meeting at the Royal Palms Hotel, 360 South Westlake Street, Los Angeles, on October 11 at 8 p.m. for the purpose of raising funds for the Hollywood strikers.

INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE OF THEATRICAL STAGE EMPLOYEES (IATSE)

Source A has informed that this bloc of labor unions in the studios is in opposition to the Communist group. It has been issuing bulletins exposing the Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry and giving the personal records of some of those now leading the strike or taking part in it on the Communist side. These bulletins are issued weekly and are distributed throughout the studios and to persons who are interested in the motion picture industry. It is through this medium only that the public is informed of the Communist issue in Hollywood, except that JACK B. TENNEY, Chairman of the California Legislative Committee to Investigate Un-American and Subversive Activities, has from time to time had short articles in some of the daily papers, and he had a large article in the daily papers on October 9, 1945.

RIOTING IN THE FILM STRIKE AT WARNER BROS. STUDIO

The Los Angeles Examiner for October 9, 1945, under the heading, "Tenney Says Reds Run Film Strike," stated in part: "Legislature group demands action as 78 hurt in row." The article stated that another day of bloody rioting on the Warner Bros. Studio battlefront of Hollywood's jurisdictional labor strife yesterday sent 78 men and women to hospitals for first aid and culminated last night in flat official charges that the whole strike is "communist inspired and dominated." It stated that Senators JACK B. TENNEY of Los Angeles and HUGH M. BURNS of Fresno and Assemblyman FRED H. KRAFT of San Diego composed a subcommittee of the State Committee on Un-American Activities and sent the following telegram to Governer WARREN:

"After thorough investigation of jurisdictional strike situation at Warner Bros. Studio, a subcommittee of the State Committee on Un-American Activities is convinced that the strike is Communist inspired and dominated. A court order provides for eighteen pickets at this studio, and this order has been completely ignored. More than fifty people injured today and public roads blocked by several hundred pickets. Cars being overturned and private property being destroyed. Officers admit insufficient manpower to cope with situation.

"Pickets armed with blackjacks, chains, broken bottles, etc. Officers announced state of riot and were jeered and defied. Public sentiment aroused and demands that sufficient force be provided to enforce compliance with unlawful assembly and riot statutes.

"This jurisdictional strike does not involve a dispute over wages, hours, or working conditions, and is purely jurisdictional.

"This jurisdictional strike is spearhead of long range communistic strategy to control motion picture industry as potent medium of propaganda.

"The subcommittee is amazed that a handful of revolutionary Communists can deny lawful owners the use of their property, inflict bodily injuries upon hundreds of citizens, defy orders of courts of California, and openly and successfully defy all law enforcing agencies.

"The subcommittee strongly urges that you personally investigate this deplorable revolutionary situation immediately in order that you may take proper executive action."

STRIKERS' REPRESENTATIVES SOLICITING FUNDS AT PORTLAND, OREGON

The Portland Office on September 20, 1945, reported that Source C of that office attended a party for Sgt. "RED" STOVALL, formerly a local CP functionary, which was held on September 15, 1945, in Portland, Oregon. This source informs that two speakers at this meeting were from out of town and one was introduced as HELMER BERGMAN from Hollywood, California. Informant stated that he saw a letter which Bergman had received from his Communist Party branch, which was known as the "Industrial Club" and which had 400 members. The letterhead showed that ROBERT KAUHN was the head man in the Industrial Club, and the letter was signed "JEANNE KAUHN" and had a return address of [redacted] b6 b7C
The letter gave the first names of four of the committee as "TASSIE, JEANNE, JIMMIE, and ROBERT."

This informant stated that BERGMAN made a talk in which he spoke of "the fight for recognition by the seventy-eight members of the union." He stated that they had carried on the fight in spite of being called "Reds," "Communists," etc., and said that the fight had been going on for twenty-seven weeks. He spoke about the picket line and the soup kitchens, and asked for the support of those attending this social party against three major movie companies, the names of which were not revealed, but stated that they would be furnished later. BERGMAN requested that certain movies be boycotted by loyal trade unionists and added that the response of the local unions to their plans had been gratifying.

EARL PAYNE, State President of the Communist Party in Oregon, was in conference with BERGMAN and his associate on two occasions, but the full intent of their visit could not be obtained by informant.

Reference is made to your request that a copy of the preliminary report prepared by the House Committee on Un-American Activities concerning Communists in the motion picture industry be obtained. Attached is a photostatic copy of the "First Confidential Report of the Committee on Un-American Activities, House of Representatives" which pertains to Communist activity in Hollywood and its vicinity. The Washington Field Office obtained photostatic copies of this report and it has been pointed out that there are only four typewritten copies available, all of which are in the hands of Congressmen. The Washington Field Office has requested that the Bureau's possession of this be kept confidential. A second report is in the process of preparation and the second report will in all probability have more details included in it. The second report will also be made available to the Bureau. There is briefly summarized hereinafter the general content of this report.

The report has been prepared in seven parts:

(1) Introduction and Background

(2) Discussion of Communist Fronts

(3) Communists in Hollywood

(4) Hollywood Guilds

(5) Information concerning labor unions in Hollywood

(6) Discussion of the Soviet Government's interest in the motion picture industry

At the outset it should be pointed out that the report is written in a style which includes blanket statements and conclusions which are not supported by facts. It is entirely possible that the Committee has evidence or information to back up statements in the report. However, this is not set forth in most instances. The writer or writers of the report have a tendency to dwell on one subject matter and then go off on tangents which, while connected with the general subject matter of the report, should not necessarily be included with the particular matter being discussed.

Part One

The report begins with the statement that in the opinion of executives of the motion picture industry the Communist Party of the United States has a definite plan in mind to secure control of the industry in so far as the distribution of jobs and the distribution of propaganda through the medium of the motion picture is concerned. It might be noted that in the conclusion of the report the following persons were apparently contacted by the writer of the report for information: Sam Wood, producer; Y. Frank Freeman, Howard Emmett Rogers, [redacted] Adolphe Menjou, Ginger Rogers, [redacted] Donald Hayne, Ivan Levedeff, Victor Fleming, Gregory Ratoff, Bryan Foy, Sydney Brecker, Donald Larkens, Sam Haskins.

b7D

In this part of the report the writer in a general fashion traces the history of the attempts by Communists to obtain influence and control in the motion picture industry. The writer also points out that the technique of using motion pictures as a propaganda medium is usually to insert a line carrying a message or a favorable sequence in a movie. 1936 was the year in which Communists began a concentrated attempt to infiltrate the industry.

The first portion of the report is also devoted to naming some of the more prominent Communists in Hollywood. It states Herbert Biberman is perhaps the most important Communist in Hollywood. The report also mentions John Howard Lawson as being a prominent Communist. (In this connection Herbert Biberman was until the invasion of Russia by Germany perhaps the leading Communist in Hollywood. However, because of his anti-war and anti-national defense activities, he more or less had to fade out of the picture. John Howard Lawson since 1941 has been the leading Communist in Hollywood.)

Part Two

This portion of the report is a write-up of five front organizations which the Communists have at their disposal in Hollywood.

The first discussed is the Actors' Laboratory, an outgrowth of the New York Theatre Group. The Actors' Laboratory in Hollywood is composed of professional as well as amateur actors and actresses, and according to the report it produces what is known as "a message type of play." These plays usually contain Communist ideology. The Actors' Laboratory has succeeded in securing the approval of the U. S. Veterans Administration and the California State Board of Education as a proper institution to teach veterans of this war acting. Among the professionals in Hollywood listed in the Actors' Laboratory are Morris Carnovsky, Edward Dmytryk, J. Edward Bromberg, Michael Gordon, John Hathaway, and Frank Tuttle.

The next organization discussed is the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. This is an outgrowth of the Hollywood Democratic Committee. The report discusses the predecessor group in much more detail than it does the present organization in view of its political activity during the last national election. The Hollywood Democratic Committee actively supported former President Roosevelt. John Howard Lawson, the prominent motion picture writer, (who according to reliable information is one of the key figures in the Communist movement in Hollywood, was the guiding spirit in the Hollywood Democratic Committee) Frank Tuttle and J. K. Wallace are the leaders. Among the actors who were prominent in the Hollywood Democratic Committee, and presently in the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions are Orson Wells, Edward G. Robinson, Gloria Stuart, John Garfield and Bette Davis. The report also discusses generally the political connections of the organization with the California State Attorney General, Robert Kenney. It is here that the report disgresses to show the political connections of Kenney, who as you recall is closely linked with Communist elements. The report points out that Kenney is a close friend of Secretary of Commerce, Wallace. It is also alleged in this report that David Karr, newshawk for Drew Pearson, is a close contact for Elinor Abowitz, who is in the office of State Attorney General, Kenney. It is pointed out that Elinor Abowitz and Karr arranged for Wallace's visit to the west coast before the Presidential Elections. The report pointed out how various "Liberals" in the Hollywood area endeavored to make certain that Wallace would secure the Vice-Presidential nominee, because they knew that Roosevelt's health was very bad.

Reference is also made to the personal appearance of Justices Black and Murphy on the west coast shortly before the Harry Bridges decision was reached, it states that both of the Justices were supposed to receive $1000 for expenses. The innuendo is that possibly the organization had something to do with their appearances. The report then goes on to discuss the connections of Congressmen Havenner, Healy and Patterson, and Congresswoman Douglas with the organization. It also pointed out how the organization attacked former Congressman John M. Costello.

The next organization discussed is the Emergency Committee on KFI, which report states was formed by Communists to support liberal radio commentators dismissed by the Radio Station KFI for making radical statements over the air.

The report then refers to the Anti-Defamation League in Hollywood and states that some of the personnel of the organization are Communists by their own admission. The report then states that "This organization, as well as the definite Communist fronts, are causing disunity in the U.S."

The next group discussed is the People's Educational Center, which is the successor to the school for writers formerly conducted by the League of American Writers. This school has such known Communists and reported Communists on its faculty as Leo Gallagher, Charles Katz, Herbert Kline, John Howard Lawson, John Margolies, Arthur Robinson, Rebels Cayton, Cora Winter, formerly Los Angeles

REVELS CARL

Committee Secretary of the Communist Party, and Eva Schafron. This school teaches screen writing and radio writing, journalism and other subjects pertaining to writing as well as political courses. Considerable space is devoted to the background of the reported Communists listed above.

The final group referred to is the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. This, you will recall, succeeded the League of American Writers in Hollywood, and until the demise of OWI wrote the scripts for overseas documentary films. It is in this section that a brief discussion is devoted to the translation of English titles or lines into foreign languages through which Communist propaganda disemanated. The report points out that an actor in the English version after reversal might state, "Well, I guess I will have to begin over again," yet, when the line is translated into a foreign language the actor will say, "Well, I guess this is the beginning of the class struggle."

A digression is again made in the section devoted to the Hollywood Writers Organization in that a discussion is set forth pertaining to Warner Brothers Studio. This studio according to the report produced subtle Communist propaganda in a number of short subjects. The report also discusses the technique of placing Communist Propaganda in motion pictures, and its effect in further Communist doctrines. The subject of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is again taken up, as well as some of its members including Dalton Trumbo, a reported Communist. Trumbo had a dispute with Sam Wood, the producer. This brought about an article written in the Hollywood Reporter on July 30, 1945, by Wood. It is entitled "Portrait of a Patriot". In a very clever manner the activities of Trumbo are set out reflecting he follows the Communist line closely.

Part Three

This section sets forth a list of names which according to the report are "believed to be" names of members of the Communist Party in the Hollywood area. The source of this list is not given, and no Communist Party book numbers are set forth. In this section the example of David McKelvey White (deceased) is used. White was an official of the Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, and while never openly admitting his membership in the Communist Party, he participated in Communist activities through front groups, and was mentioned from time to time in the Daily Worker. The report points out that after his death the Daily Worker announced him to be a known Communist.

Part Four

This portion of the report which is not given a title pertains to Communist activities in various Guilds in Hollywood, including the Screen Writers' Guild, the Screen Actors' Guild, the Screen Cartoonists' Guild, and the Screen Publicists Guild. Only general statements are made in connection with the Guilds.

Part Five

This is entitled "Communism in Labor Unions". Much of this section is devoted to Herbert K. Sorrell, a powerful labor leader in Hollywood, and the principle figure in the motion picture industry strike.

The report in showing the influence of Communists in labor groups refers to a resolution to the Executive Council of the California State Federation of Labor on June 16, 1945 at Sacramento, California. This resolution attacked the Communist Party and likened it to Fascism. The resolution was finally adopted; however, a tremendous opposition arose, and delegates from Hollywood locals according to the report were most violent in their denunciation of their resolution ~~of~~ opposing Communism.

A statement is made in this portion of the report that the names of numerous members of the Communist Parties who are in various labor unions in California were uncovered by the investigators, and these names are available in the event the committee desires them.

Part Six

This section is entitled "Russian Government's Interests in Motion Pictures." It discusses, primarily, the visit of Mikhail Kalotozov to Hollywood. Kalotozov was in Hollywood in 1943 as a representative of the Soviet Film Trust (Soyuzintorgkino). The report states that he was in contact with a number of persons in the Hollywood industry, many of whom have Communist contacts. It points out that Kalotozov made some agreement with RKO Studios for the exchange of films between the Soviet Union and RKO.

The report again centers its attention on Warner Brothers Studios, and its production of social and political-type films. Then the motion picture "Mission to Moscow" is discussed and several pages are devoted to it. Quentin Reynolds, the writer, is quoted to some length relative to the reception of the picture by various newspaper writers when they saw it in the Soviet Union indicating that the picture was non-factual and untruthful.

Part Seven

This is the conclusion of the report. It begins by discussing a Communist meeting in Hollywood on June 8, 1945, which was held in the honor of "News Masses." The report misquotes the principal speakers including Ruth McKinney and her husband Bruce Minton, publisher of News Masses.

You recall I furnished you a memorandum concerning the quotations in the place attributable to these speakers. Bureau Agents were in attendance at the meeting and while they did not take notes, they state that what was published in the newspapers and in the instant report was not said at this meeting. These remarks which were alleged to have been made, but actually were not, were to the effect that the City of New York had outlived its usefulness as Communist Headquarters, and that its greatest fronts and influences were in Hollywood. This statement was attributed to Ruth McKenney. Bruce Minton allegedly stated that the infiltration in the ranks in the armed forces were highly important and that Communist girls should be enrolled in USO's for such work.

Considerable portion of the conclusion is devoted to the alleged trouble that Ivan Lebedeff, actor and writer, had in obtaining employment because he had opposed Communists and Communism. The attempt in the report is to show that Communists have considerable control in the various studios and can prevent a person from being employed. It appears that Lebedeff had written a story which is good, and yet which was refused by Maurice Henlein, chief story buyer for Warner Brothers. Henlein allegedly told Lebedeff that the latter had a bad reputation because of his political beliefs.

The report lists the persons who were contacted for information concerning Communists in Hollywood including Sam Wood, Adolphe Menjou, Ginger Rogers, [redacted] and Gregory Ratoff. The report then states that these persons offered little or no factual evidence as to Communist activities. Although they feel the Communist situation on the west coast is dangerous and that Communists are trying to gain control of the industry, they do not feel that an attack should be made of the entire movie industry because of the Communist influence in it. With respect to [redacted] the report points out that he is much interested in the labor union angle, and that he would be willing to air his views before the Committee if it held hearings on the infiltration by Communists of the movie industry.

b7D

The conclusion points out that there are other people to be contacted who were not contacted, and that if the investigation were to be continued, it would require the services of more investigators, and the payment of money to various persons on the west coast for their information.

Comment: The report merely covers the more important factors. There is little factual data appearing therein, and blanket statements are made without supporting evidence that certain persons and organizations are Communists. It is observed that the Bureau's records are by far more replete with factual data concerning Communists and their infiltration tactics in the movie industry.

The report leaves the impression that it is setting forth the opinions of others and it could be readily attacked by Communist or Pro-Communist elements because of generalities and because of the lack of factual data.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Certain CIO Union members have picketed a number of motion picture theaters in support of the AFL unions in their 24-week work stoppage. It is reported that threat has been made to place 2,000 pickets at 25 theaters in NYC first-run picture theaters unless they agree to stop showing films of producers in the 7-month-old Hollywood strike. The Communists in Hollywood are devoting much time in aid of the strikers. If they win this strike, it would mean that the Communists would be able to control the IATSE throughout the U.S. The Communists have come out openly in support of the strikers since the change in the CP line 7/23/45, and have now renewed the "class struggle." Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions has also thrown its strength behind the strikers. Congressional Investigating Committee of Subversive Activities appears to be dormant, but Congressman DICKSTEIN, chairman of House Immigration Committee, has reported that no "alien influence" has been found by him, but he said nothing about Communist activity. Hollywood Writers Mobilization is now supporting the strikers. A new committee called the Citizens Committee for the Motion Picture Strikers has been formed. A violent, riotous picket line has been in operation at Warner Bros. during the past week. Approximately 100 have been injured, some seriously. Approximately 20 arrests have been made, and injunctions by both sides have been filed. Funds are being solicited in aid of the strikers at Portland, Oregon, and other places. RE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Dear Sir:

On October 30, 1945, ROY BREWER, international representative of the IATSE, [redacted] telephone GLadstone 7187, [redacted] called at this office to see me and by way of introduction stated he has been with the War Production Board for the last one and one-half years, originally having come from Nebraska where he has been active in the labor movement for many years and he was at one time campaign manager for the late Senator GEORGE NORRIS. He stated definitely he is a strong labor man and is a liberal in the progressive labor movement, but very definitely the situation as it exists in the motion picture industry at the present time is not this type of thing and he would never believe the situation is as it exists had he not personally come out here and seen it.

He stated that he was hoping that the FBI could investigate the shooting of HERBERT SORRELL, strike leader, as was reported in the local papers on October 30th. He was informed that this was purely a local matter and there was no jurisdiction for this Bureau to handle this situation or other activity in the strike, as we do not have authority to conduct investigations in labor matters.

BREWER appears to be a sincere, practical and sound individual and he obviously wanted to talk about the strike situation. He related that things in this country, insofar as Communism is concerned, are indeed serious for if there would be an extended period of unemployment, he believes the Communists would be able to absolutely take control of all industry as they have in the motion picture strike. He was asked how he knew they had taken control of the strike and he stated that the record of SORRELL himself indicated that he was a Communist and he did not necessarily mean to be a member of the party. He cited SORRELL's record with the Bridges Defense Committee and his closely following the Communist Party Line as indications of his Communistical leanings. He also cited the fact that Attorney BEN MARGOLIS, who is known as the Communist attorney in Los Angeles, together with CAREY McWILLIAMS and EMIL FRIED, as well as others, have actively participated in the strike, which indicates that it has strong Communistic backing. He stated that MARGOLIS had on the picket line openly instructed the pickets disregard the court injunction and as a result possible disbarment proceedings were being considered against him.

Re: Communist Infiltration into Motion Picture Industry

He further stated that the Communists had complete control of the representatives in Congress from Southern California and had similar control over the National Labor Relations Board and without a pipe line into the Board, it is impossible for an organization to get anything out of it. He cited the fact that very recently the Board had on a mere two days notice announced that an election would be held and had it in the Canners Union, and as a result the Teamsters Union of the A.F.of L. never knew what happened and the CIO assumed complete control over all cannery workers in Southern California.

He stated that the IATSE which he represents has been under attack several times before, once by SORRELL and once by JEFF KIBRE. He stated that the attack of SORRELL this time looks as though he will be successful and as a result the IATSE will be greatly weakened in the studios and it positively cannot stand another such attack and if it comes, they will be utterly defeated and the CIO will take over completely in the motion picture industry. He added that they now have control over the actors and writers groups. He indicated that the A.F.of L. officials nationally are aware of this situation and are very much concerned about it. In his opinion, anarchy has existed here on the picket line for the past three weeks and there is absolutely no respect for law and order or for the injunction limiting the number of pickets that was issued by a local court, and yet no one seems to do anything about it.

He stated that in his long years of association with the progressive labor movement, he has never seen anything so vicious as this incident and he hates to think what the picture holds for the future and if necessary he will turn in politics and become a Republican as he would prefer to have a reactionary American in public office to the type of totalitarian factionalism he believes we will have in our government under CIO domination. In support of the fact that he will not grant backing to persons of this type, he stated that the A.F.of L. has notified ELLIS PATTERSON, Congressman and former Lieutenant Governor of this state, that in his candidacy for the United States Senate, he will not have A.F.of L. backing; he does have complete CIO support.

I very definitely gained the impression from the conversation with BREWER that the A.F.of L. labor officials in the East are becoming very much alarmed over the Communist situation and he inferred that they definitely intended to do something about it.

Very truly yours,

RBH:AB

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communists in Hollywood are devoting much time to the motion picture studio strike and to the aid of the strikers. It is quite clear that the strike is being directed by the Communists. The Communists have come out openly since the change in the Communist Party line July 28, 1945, and have resumed the "class struggle". The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, I.W.O., National Lawyers Guild, Southland Jewish Committee, Beverly-Westwood Democratic Committee, Hollywood Womens Council, Conference of Hollywood Guilds and Unions, Screen Writers Guild, C.I.O. Industrial Union Council of Los Angeles, and other front organizations are aiding and directing the strikers. A Citizens Committee for the Motion Picture Strikers has been formed. Approximately one-half of the officers and Board of Directors are known Communists. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions is becoming active in its opposition to official investigating committees. The C. Don Field Committee to investigate the apparent breakdown of law enforcement officials has taken charge and is engaged in daily hearings. The Hollywood Community Radio Club has made application for permit to operate a frequency modulation radio station. Communist functionaries have taken charge of preparing and distributing circulars concerning the strike. The A.Y.D., the Hollywood

Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINDLAY, dated October 10, 1945, at Los Angeles, California.

Details: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

Source A has informed that since the change in the Communist Party line on July 28, 1945, when the Communist Political Association reverted to the tenets of the Communist Party of the United States, Communist activity in the Hollywood motion picture industry and the affiliated activities immediately affected by it, has gradually been adjusted to fit the new pattern of action laid down by the announcement of WILLIAM Z. FOSTER, the new National Chairman of the Communist Party, that the Communist Party would return to the Marxist-Leninist line of revolutionary action. Conforming to this new directive the Communist Party and the various Communist "front" organizations have moved out into the open in their activities. They have shelved their "democratic" slogans and now conform to the general line of "class struggle"; that is, they now advocate and emphasize class antagonisms, stress the failings and weaknesses of the American system of government, concentrate on stirring up minority groups, work more openly within the trade unions in the program of increasing strife and strikes.

Source A asserts that the foregoing was clearly demonstrated during the last sixty days of a strike in the Hollywood motion picture studios. This strike was called on March 12, 1945, by HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist who was spokesman and leader of a group of unions known as the "Conference of Studio Unions", which has been completely under the domination of Communists from its beginning in 1941.

This strike was not for an increase in wages or betterment of working conditions of the workers but was purely "political" in character. It was, in fact, an attempt to break another group of unions in the studios, the I.A.T.S.E. group of A.F.L. unions which has always opposed Communist infiltration and domination.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

This strike was called off October 29, 1945, pending an arbitration period of sixty days. The last several weeks of the strike were marked by extreme violence, mob riots and a general situation of anarchy within the Hollywood motion picture studios. The law enforcement authorities seemed to be unable to cope with the situation. In fact, at times, the authorities for some unknown reason appeared to be unwilling to make the attempt.

As this strike lasted from March 12 to October 29, 1945, a period which bridged the change in the Communist Party line which was made on July 28, 1945, the Communist nature and control of the strike is plainly apparent.

Before July 28th the Communist Party did not openly support the strike; in fact, it advocated settling it and urged the workers to go back to work, citing the no-strike pledge and the necessity for peaceful adjustment. The Communists censured HERBERT K. SORRELL mildly, however, for calling the strike, saying it was "ill advised".

This same source informed that during this period none of the Communist front organizations supported the strike openly. Picketing was comparatively peaceful. Except for several small incidents between workers, there was practically no violence. However, immediately after the change in the Communist Party line on July 28th the position taken by the official Communist press began to change; the front organizations came out openly in support of the strikers and violence increased.

The Communist Party and its various branches in the localities began to issue leaflets calling on all the workers to man the picket lines. It was plainly visible that the Communist Party and its members were whipping up the situation toward the violent stage. On October 5th this violent stage was reached. "Mass picketing" began, and thousands of persons, 90 per cent of whom had no connection with the film industry, appeared on the picket lines at Warner Brothers Studio in Burbank, California. They were concentrating on this particular studio, although the same tactics were used on others, particularly Paramount, Columbia and RKO.

As a result of what amounted to mob action, the casualties reached several hundred persons. The violence reached such a pitch that the community around Warner Brothers Studio was closed to traffic and the public.

During this period of violence and mob action which lasted from October 5th to October 28th the law enforcement authorities seemed to be helpless or loath to do their duty of restoring order by enforcing an injunction which had been issued by the Los Angeles State Superior Court against such mob action.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

This same source informed that the strikers openly defied the law. At one time there were mass arrests, but this only increased the mob action immediately thereafter. All this was so flagrant and law enforcement was so inefficient that an interim committee on law enforcement of the State Assembly of California began an investigation of the authorities for failure to enforce the law. This hearing is being conducted at the present time in the State Building in Los Angeles. Judging from the attitude and statements of the members of this committee, they seem to be amazed at the influence of the Communists on the public officials of Los Angeles City and County and the State of California who now appear to have been very susceptible to the political pressure the Communist apparatus can exert when it has thrown all its forces into a program.

Source A informs that for the present the strike has been called off under a makeshift settlement entered into by high labor union officials and management. However, this is only a lull, as already the Communists are preparing to reopen the fight in the near future. As this strike was of extreme importance to the Communist program for greater infiltration and dominance of the labor unions and the resultant influence on the motion picture industry as a whole, there was little activity in other directions when compared to the strike.

The leading Communist front organizations which took an active part in this strike were the following:

Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.
International Workers Order.
National Lawyers Guild.
Southland Jewish Committee.
Beverly-Westwood Democratic Committee.
Hollywood Womens Council.
Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions.
Los Angeles County Central Committee of the Democratic Party.
Screen Writers Guild.
C.I.O. Industrial Union Council of Los Angeles.

According to Source A none of the above organizations took an active part in support of the strike before July 28th, the date on which the Communist Party line was changed.

Source A informs that in addition to the above a special organization was set up to aid the strikers. It was called "Citizens Committee for the Motion Picture Strikers". This committee was active in calling mass meetings, raising money for the strikers, pressuring the local officials and arranging for the picketing of theaters.

The Communist inspiration and control of this "Citizens Committee" is clearly shown by the following officers and governing members, all of whom have long records of Communist activities and sympathies:

Source B has informed that those parties having asterisks before their names are known to be Communist Party members.

Source A has informed that all the above-named persons are active in almost every Communist front organization with which the Hollywood motion picture industry is identified. All of the above are of the so-called cultural groups in the motion picture industry, writers, actors, directors, etc.

Source A states that from the foregoing it will be seen that the entire strength of the Communist Party was concentrated on this strike. Leaflets and bulletins signed by the Communist Party of Los Angeles County, by the Communist Party of Burbank and by the North Hollywood Unit of the Communist Party of Los Angeles County were distributed freely.

Source A informs that in addition to the assistance rendered by the Communist elements directly connected with the Hollywood motion picture industry, the strikers had the assistance of the C.I.O. Unions in the Los Angeles vicinity. This assistance was financial and on the picket lines where longshoremen from HARRY BRIDGES' union and other CIO unions took an active part.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A informs that the principal accomplishment of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization during the last several months has been the publication of what it calls the "Hollywood Quarterly". This book is sponsored jointly by the University of California at Los Angeles and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization.

CONFIDENTIAL

Its sponsors assert that it is a guide for a "thoroughly mature approach to the creative and technical problems and the educational potentialities of motion pictures, radio and television". Source A asserts that what they really mean by this statement is how those institutions can best be directed for propaganda purposes according to the Communist Party line.

The editors of this magazine are the following:

*JOHN HOWARD LAWSON - connected with Hollywood Writers Mobilization - a writer and a Communist Party functionary.
KENNETH MacGOWAN - connected with the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and a director of motion pictures.
Dr. FRANKLIN FEARING - Professor of psychology at the University of California at Los Angeles.
Dr. FRANKLIN ROLFE - Professor at the University of California at Los Angeles.
SAMUEL T. FARQUAHR - Professor at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The editorial offices of this magazine are located at 350 Royce Hall on the campus of the University at Los Angeles.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS

Source A has informed that this organization is a Communist front using the motion picture industry as a base of operations. He states that it has now become the most active organization in Hollywood for the Communist cause. It is the group through which the Communist Party now exerts pressure, using the prestige and influence of the film industry for this purpose. It acts in the political field in matters of candidates for public office. It exerts its pressure and propaganda efforts according to the present line of the Communist Party on all subjects of local and international importance. It reflects in detail the political and economic position of the Communist official press, but in a somewhat more restrained manner because of its so-called strictly "intellectual following".

Source A informs that this organization publishes a monthly magazine called "The Hollywood Independent", a strictly party line publication in every detail.

Source A informs that this organization works with and is affiliated with such Communist front groups as the following:

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Hollywood Writers Mobilization.
Mobilization for Democracy.
Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions.
Actors Laboratory.
Screen Writers Guild.

and other guilds.

This source further informs that this organization on October 17, 1945, was listed in the Communist "Daily World" as one of the sponsors of the American Youth for Democracy (formerly the Young Communist League) which was going to hold a "conference" at Los Angeles Junior College on October 21, 1945.

Source A further informed that this organization also works in cooperation with a group of Congressmen from Southern California, some of whom are the following:

ELLIS E. PATTERSON
HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS
NED R. HEALY.

This source further states that this organization is the propaganda base for those three Congressmen in Southern California, all three representing the districts of and immediately surrounding the motion picture industry.

Source A further informs that at the present time one of the objectives of both the three Congressmen and the Hollywood Citizens Committee is the dissolution of the House Committee on Un-American Activities (the so-called Rankin Committee). The H.I.C.C. of A.S.P. is carrying on an intensive campaign toward that end, and on November 5, 1945, it presented a petition to President TRUMAN demanding the dissolution of this committee, stating that it, the committee, is seeking to "establish Fascism in America".

Other activities of this organization are the following:

The wholehearted support of ROBERT W. KENNY, Attorney General of California, for Governor in the coming campaign. Mr. KENNY has long been identified with Communist causes and is and has been a "front" for numerous Communist organizations.

The sponsoring of a Musicians Congress to be held at the Philharmonic Auditorium, Los Angeles, on November 14, 1945, and participating in this congress will be the following:

*EARL ROBINSON, Composer of music and writer of songs.
*HENRY BLANKFORT - Writer.
GROUCHO MARX - Actor.
International Brigade (Spanish Civil War Veterans).
Actors Laboratory.
Colonel EVANS F. CARLSON, U. S. Marines.

Source A has further informed that the H.I.C.C. of the A.S.P. is also putting on an intensive campaign against GERALD L. K. SMITH and that it is also instigating propaganda against General MacARTHUR according to the present Communist Party line, as is expressed in the "Hollywood Independent", the official organ of that group. It is also supporting the "Free Spain Committee" now carrying on propaganda for severing relations with Franco Spain.

This organization is also engaged in propaganda against free enterprises editorially, stating that if it does not fulfil conditions laid down by the demands of "economic democracy" it "will go the way of the dinosaurs and other prehistoric monsters which could not or would not adapt themselves to new problems in a rapidly changing world".

Source A informs that this new "line" has been adopted by this organization only since July 28, 1945, when the line of the world Communist movement was changed back to the tenets of Marxism-Leninism.

Source A further informs that the recent strike, settled only temporarily, brought out the full strength of the Communist Party in the Southern California area. He states that there was an amazing demonstration of the extent of the influence of this movement in this vicinity. He further stated that it was an amazing demonstration of the influence of the Communist apparatus on the local authorities and the politicians in general.

Source A also informed that all of this information is being brought out at the present time by the C. Don Field State Legislative Committee. This investigation is showing that the political pressure of the combined Communist Party, its sympathizers and the pressure group was able to prevent the law enforcement authorities dealing with a state of riot and anarchy which prevailed for a period of approximately three weeks.

The "Los Angeles Times" for October 14, 1945, stated that seven applications for authority to operate frequency modulation radio stations in the Los Angeles area had been filed with the Federal Communications Commission in Washington.

The article reflects that the Hollywood Community Radio Club was one of the parties requesting such permission. The parties whose names appeared on the application included the following:

PAUL STEWART - Radio producer and director.
CAL KUHL - Radio producer and director.
BURT GOTTSCHAULK - Radio engineer.
EMMET LAVERY - President of the Screen Writers Guild.
Dr. FRANKLIN FEARING - Professor of Psychology at U.C.L.A.
PHILLIP M. CONNELLY, Secretary-Treasurer, L.A.I.U.C.
GEORGE CAMPBELL, Secretary of Musicians Local #47, A.F.L.
ALVIN WILDER - News commentator.

Source D informed that MORGAN HULL, contact labor director of the Communist Party of Los Angeles County, had complained that the Los Angeles newspapers had given a distorted picture of the motion picture strike, but he stated that AVERILL BERMAN, local C.I.O. commentator, had been assigned to give a true picture and background of the strike.

This source reported that MIN SELVIN pointed out that individual Communist clubs were not to conduct picket lines of their own but their duty was to augment lines that they already have. SELVIN also advised that minors should not be used in the picket lines; however, she stated that the A.Y.D. has been of great service in augmenting picket lines, and that if the members of the A.Y.D. were of the older group this should be continued. SELVIN also advised that service men should not be used on picket lines but could be of great service by merely standing near the pickets and engaging other service men in conversation regarding the merits of the picketing, particularly service men who have been subject to propaganda against strikes.

Strike

This source also advised that Comrade ANN McCLANICK was in charge of the distribution of leaflets and she had stated that the A.Y.D. was to be the main organization for the distribution of leaflets covering the strike, and she further stated that cooperation may be expected from the Hollywood Womens Junior Council and possibly the I.W.O.

This same source further reported that JUDY SCHMIDT of the Hollywood Southeast Club was getting sixteen people mobilized for leaflet distribution.

This source also informed that GEORGE SANDY, a county functionary of the Communist Party, stated that the principal part the Communist Party is to play is to keep the ball rolling and in that way help the morale of the strikers. Source stated emphatically that the trade union members of the Communist Party must demand of their unions that they support the strike. This responsibility rests upon each trade unionist regardless of his union and of the strength of the Communists in his union.

Source stated that the Communist Party must distribute thousands of leaflets on behalf of the strikers in addition to a leaflet which is to be prepared by the Communist Party. This leaflet being prepared by the Communist Party is primarily for the workers and is to be distributed to all aircraft and shipyard workers.

Source stated that the North Hollywood Club has to date done the best job in that this club has distributed a leaflet in its own name and had ordered 500 of the "Daily Workers" each day for distribution on the picket line.

This same source further informed that the Van Nuys Communist Club has agreed to distribute 3000 leaflets to Lockheed Aircraft employees.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communists in Hollywood are devoting much time to the motion picture studio strike and to the aid of the strikers. It is quite clear that the strike is being directed by the Communists. The Communists have come out openly since the change in the Communist Party like July 20, 1945, and have resumed the "class struggle". The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, I.W.O., National Lawyers Guild, Southland Jewish Committee, Beverly-Westwood Democratic Committee, Hollywood Women's Council, Conference of Hollywood Guilds and Unions, Screen Writers Guild, C.I.O. Industrial Union Council of Los Angeles, and other front organizations are aiding and directing the strikers. A Citizens Committee for the Motion Picture Strikers has been formed. Approximately one-half of the officers and Board of Directors are known Communists. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions is becoming active in its opposition to official investigating committees. The T. Ben Field Committee to investigate the apparent breakdown of law enforcement officials has taken charge and is engaged in daily hearings. The Hollywood Community Radio Club has made application for permit to operate a frequency modulation radio station. Communist functionaries have taken charge of preparing and distributing circulars concerning the strike. The A.Y.D., the Hollywood

Investigation of Un-American Propaganda Activities

In the United States

First

Confidential Report of the Committee on Un-American Activities

House of Representatives

Seventy-Ninth Congress

First Session

Report on Communistic Activity in Hollywood, California and Vicinity

PRELIMINARY REPORT

OF

COMMUNIST PARTY ACTIVITIES

IN VICINITY OF

HOLLYWOOD AND LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

In the opinion of the executives of the motion picture industry the Communist Party of the United States has a definite plan in mind to secure control of the industry insofar as the distribution of jobs and the distribution of propaganda through the medium of the motion picture is concerned.

It appears that the Communists are definitely trying to obtain control of the unions which function in the movie industry so that only followers of the Communist movement will be able to obtain employment therein. There is a definite feeling among the executives of the motion picture industry that the Communist Party has made great inroads into the various writer groups which have been formed in Hollywood. It is their belief that the greatest concentration of Communistic power in the movie industry lies in the guilds and unions formed by the writers.

The motion picture is one of the greatest mediums through which Communistic propaganda can be disseminated to the American public. As early as 1925 the Communists were interested in securing control of the motion picture industry as a means of presenting their beliefs to the American public. An article in the Daily Worker, the official organ of the Communist Party, of July 23, 1925, states, "We must develop the tremendous cultural possibilities of the motion picture in a revolutionary sense. One of the most pressing tasks confronting the Communist Party in the field of agitation and propaganda is the conquest of this supremely important propaganda weapon, until now the monopoly of the ruling class. We must wrest it from them and turn it against them."

A great deal of background information concerning the interest of the Communist Party in the motion picture field has been obtained but is not being set forth in this report. However, later in this report, certain information concerning the connection of one of the major studios, Warner Bros., with representatives of the Soviet Russian Government, will be shown.

The importance of the motion picture industry to the Communist Party lies not alone in the propaganda field but it should also be stated that one of the major objectives of the Communist Party in the motion picture field is to draw as much money out of the business as can be drawn in salaries and in contributions and used for the furtherance of the Communistic movement in this country. Communistic propaganda is inserted in many motion pictures, particularly through the medium of using short film subjects. Some of the major feature pictures produced by the industry contain Communistic propagan[redacted] in the form of the spoken word. However, others convey or attempt to convey a message to the masses, as the proletariat is called by the Communists. Whenever any mention is made in Hollywood about Communist propaganda in motion pictures the first retort of the Communist or sympathizer is "Name a picture." If one names a picture they, as well as some of the executives of the industry, will say that "We have made many pictures in Hollywood which certainly are highly in the favor of the United States Government." However, the danger lies not in the number of pictures produced which contain Communistic doctrines but in the number of message pictures produced by the industry. Message pictures will be explained later in this report.

Although efforts were made to capture the movie industry as early as 1925 the movement did not gain momentum until approximately 1936. The Communist Party between the period 1936 and 1939 met with little if any opposition until the Hitler-Stalin Pact in 1939. Then for a time at least Communists lost ground in the industry, but immediately began to recover the ground which they had lost when Germany attacked Russia in 1941. Since then, through its tireless, well defined and coordinated efforts the Communist group in the motion picture industry has become one of the most influential forces in the industry.

In order to show that the movement was gaining momentum in 1936 it seems fitting that a letter which one HERBERT BERGMAN wrote to EDNA HELLGREN be discussed in this report. In May 1936 BERGMAN, a Hollywood writer, went to Russia through the influence of MRS. HELLGREN. On June 2, 1936, while in Moscow, BERGMAN wrote a letter to MRS. HELLGREN in which he said in part, "The Americans here in Moscow are mostly from around New York and they have no idea of the Communist Party activities on the West Coast." BERGMAN also mentioned in the letter that the Russian Government did not have any motion picture studios in the southern part of that country. BERGMAN also mentions "Intorg-Kino" in his letter and states that that organization had purchased about 50 or 60 thousand dollars worth of motion picture apparatus. "Intorg-Kino" is an official motion picture agency of the Soviet Russian Government.

The fact that MRS. HELLGREN had an important connection in the Communist movement in Los Angeles and Hollywood in 1936 becomes evident from the report of the Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities in California when the statement of MENA E. VALE is considered. This statement was given to the Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities in California by MISS VALE on November 23, 1942. In this affidavit MISS VALE states that she was referred to MRS. HELLGREN in the summer of 1936 for the purpose of securing aid in obtaining employment through MRS. HELLGREN.

MRS. HELLGREN informed MISS VALE, after being contacted by her, that she was a Communist Party functionary and had been given the job by the Communist Party in New York of organizing in southern California the League of Women Shoppers which, MRS. HELLGREN informed MISS VALE, was under the complete control of the Communist Party.

MRS. HELLGREN furnished the names of GALE SONDERGAARD, HERBERT BIBERMAN, TESS SLESSINGER DAVIS to MISS VALE as being persons whom MISS VALE could contact to secure employment. It has been reported that HERBERT BIBERMAN is the guiding genius of Communist activities in Hollywood, California.

MISS VALE, in her statement, also mentions such screen writers as SAMUEL ORNITZ and CLIFFORD ODETS, who are definitely tied-in with the Communist movement in California. MISS VALE'S statement contains considerable additional data of value to this investigation but it is not deemed expedient at this time to endeavor to make this report all-inclusive.

In addition to the activities of MOLLA HELLGREN in the year 1936, it should also be mentioned that the FRANK TUTTLE'S were also active in the movement as early as the year 1936. MRS. TUTTLE is supposed to have become imbued with the Communist doctrine through a chauffeur which she and her husband employed during the year 1936. During that year MRS. TUTTLE produced a two-reel film which depicted in part the struggles of a young man of the working class. The picture is not available but it is known that it belittled religious missions and propagandized the labor movement. The picture was intended to be shown before various labor organizations to further the Communist Party line of infiltration of the labor unions. Mr. and Mrs. FRANK TUTTLE are at present prominently identified in all left-wing movements on the West Coast. MRS. BERYL LA CAVA, former wife of GREGORY LA CAVA, the film director, was also prominently identified in the Communist movement in 1936. MR. LA CAVA recently divorced MRS. LA CAVA because, as he stated, she spent all of her time working for the Communist movement and neglected her household duties.

Other persons prominently identified with the movement during the year 1936 were LEW HELPITZ, SONYA LEVINE, Mr. and Mrs. J. EDWARD BROMBERG, BARBEM BACKUS, DROWOS HELLGREN, DAVID PLATT, and ARTHUR SHERMAN. DAVID PLATT is connected with the Daily Worker, the official organ of the Communist Party in the United States. The other persons are identified with the movie industry or with the Communist Party in the state of California.

One ELI JACOBSON, who was an exchange student from the University of Moscow in Russia, was prominently identified in the Hollywood Communist movement in 1936. JACOBSON is mentioned in the affidavit of RAMA VAIA as being a member of the County Committee of the Communist Party in Los Angeles. JACOBSON was instrumental in the formation of the United Art Group and the New Music Society. Both of these organizations were Communist fronts in 1936.

Also working in Hollywood at that time was one ROSE ZASON, who was prominent in Mexico and Haiti during the year 1935 as a Communist Party worker.

Dr. V. A. H. TASHJIAN, a dentist in Hollywood, California, founded the Communist Pen and Hammer Club in Los Angeles in 1936. Dr. TASHJIAN in 1938 was Chairman of the Los Angeles County Control Commission of the Communist Party. This individual is still active in the Communist movement in Los Angeles and vicinity. He is reported to be one of the most trusted Communists in Hollywood.

It is interesting to note that one of the foremost Communist fronts in Hollywood or in Los Angeles during the year 1936 was the so-called American Friends of the Chinese People. A bulletin issued by this organization in 1936 definitely shows its Communistic purpose, which was to aid in the communizing of China. The importance of this organization in following the Communist movement in Los Angeles, Hollywood and vicinity, will be realized when a Communist meeting is discussed later on in this report. China's importance to the movement as a part of the final and overall picture cannot be overlooked, despite any recent Chinese and Russian pacts to the contrary. The Executive Secretary of the "American Friends of the Chinese People" was one JOHN GILBERT, who was a member of the Communist Party.

Listed among the members of this organization was JAMES CARTER, [redacted] At that time Mr. CARTER was also on the faculty of the Workers' School, which was conducted by the Communists. MR. CARTER at present is an Assistant U. S. Attorney in Los Angeles, California. It was reported on the West Coast that this information was known to the Department of Justice at the time of MR. CARTER'S appointment to his present position.

One of the individuals mentioned hereinbefore in connection with the early activities of the Communist Party on the West Coast and in the movie industry appears to be the guiding genius of all Communist Party activities in the movie industry. It is generally believed on the Pacific Coast that HERBERT BIBERMAN is the ranking member of the Communist Party who directs the activities of this group in the movie industry. For instance, on December 28, 1941, THOMAS L. HARRIS, National Secretary of the American Council on Soviet Relations, wrote a letter to CORLISS LAMONT, the well-known fellow traveler, in which he said, "BIBERMAN can be integrated into the work much better if he gets accustomed to meeting with the crowd in a situation where everyone can let down their hair." This letter is not available to the Committee, however, at the present time. It is possible that a photostatic copy can be obtained at a later date.

BIBERMAN'S activities in left-wing movements are rather comprehensive. His activities date from 1936 up until the present time and it is believed on the West Coast that BIBERMAN's courier in transmitting orders or instructions from the Communist Party in Moscow to the East Coast, is JOHN HOWARD LAWSON.

The JOHN HOWARD LAWSON referred to has an extensive record of Communist activities on the West Coast and he is considered to be one of the most brilliant writers in the movie industry. His record of left-wing activities dates back to the year 1932. He has always manifested a great interest in the writing of plays which depict the struggles of the working class. He was the author of "Action in the North Atlantic" which is reported to be the most outstanding Communist propaganda film which has been released by the movie industry. He is the founder of the Peoples' Educational Center and has always been instrumental in the establishment of left-wing organizations on the West Coast. Both LAWSON and MINNEMAN have had a part in the formation of the following organizations: 1. Motion Picture Democratic Committee; 2. Hollywood Anti-Racial League; 3. Hollywood Pen and Hammer Club; 4. Hollywood League for Democratic Action; 5. Hollywood League for Women Shoppers; 6. John Reed Club; 7. Hollywood Democratic Alliance; 8. Hollywood Movie Defense Committee; 9. Hollywood Unit League Against War and Fascism; 10. Hollywood Unit League for Peace and Democracy; 11. Friends of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade; 12. Hollywood Peace Crusade; 13. Hollywood Unit American Peace Mobilization.

Those organizations are no longer active in Hollywood, and if they are in existence they have more or less gone underground. These individuals have also been active in the following organizations which exist in Hollywood and Los Angeles today: 1. The Actors' Laboratory; 2. Hollywood Independent Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions; 3. Emergency Committee on KPFK; 4. Peoples' Educational Center; 5. Hollywood Writers' Mobilization.

There are numerous guilds and unions in addition to the above-named organizations which have a Communistic function but the organization identified as Number Two above is generally considered the hub of the Communist movement in Hollywood. The names of LAWSON and HIBBERMAN have been stressed in this report because it is strongly believed that these individuals guide the destinies of the Communist Party in Hollywood, California.

THE ACTORS' LABORATORY

The Actors' Laboratory is an outgrowth of the New York Theater Group which was Communistically inclined. It exists in Hollywood today and has among its members a professional group of actors as well as an amateur group. The Actors' Laboratory produces what is known as a message type of play. For instance, one of its plays entitled "Volpone" is an old Italian play which deals with political graft and corruption in Venice, Italy, at a time when Venice was a republic, more than one hundred years ago. The play in general belittles the republican form of government. In New York a message type of play entitled "One-Third of a Nation" was financed by the Federal Government through the Federal Theater Project. This play attempted to show that one-third of the people of this country were born in poverty and lived and died the same way.

Some of the graduates of the New York School were JOHN GARFIELD, FRANCHOT TONE, J. EDWARD BROMBERG, LEIF ERICSON and FRANCES FARMER. The record of these persons insofar as affiliations with Communist groups go, shows how smoothly Communism is taught through mere association with a front organization. These individuals apparently feel that they owe loyalty to the Party and have contributed money and time to the furtherance of the Communist cause.

The message type of play produced by the Actors' Laboratory is considered more sinister than the spoken word because it dwells on a humanitarian theme. In other words the message conveyed by the play, "One-Third of a Nation", was that one-third of this nation would not have to starve and live in poverty if we changed the form of government.

"Grapes of Wrath", "None But the Lonely Heart", are other plays of the message type. Some others are "Men in White", "Dead End", and "Waiting for Lefty".

The Actors' Laboratory has succeeded in securing the approval of the U. S. Veterans' Administration and the California State Board of Education as a proper institution to teach veterans of this war the art of acting. Thus the Government will finance Communism once again in the theater.

The Actors' Laboratory nearly succeeded in having Twentieth-Century-Fox sign a contract with it for the purpose of having the Laboratory teach and instruct prospective actors who are to become employed by the Twentieth-Century-Fox film group. It is reported that 50 or more subversive characters are associated with the Actors' Laboratory.

In addition to its teaching enterprise the Actors' Laboratory produces plays and takes them to the various Army and Navy camps in the vicinity of Hollywood, California. Thus the Communist Party has, through the Actors' Laboratory, a direct route to the armed forces for the spreading of Communist philosophy. The work of this organization is described in the Peoples' World of April 7, 1944. The Peoples' World is the official organ of the Communist Party on the West Coast.

The article mentioned states that the "laboratory for actors is unique and one-half million GIs have applauded the performances of the actors connected with the laboratory." The Laboratory is further described in this article as a "healthy, collective and constructive force in the motion picture industry and particularly in the life of the actor." It is described in the article as a unique institution in Hollywood, where it is located on Laurel Avenue, near Sunset Boulevard.

The article further describes the laboratory as a place for the study and development of the actor's art on the part of professional actors who are between jobs and on the part of students who aspire to be professional actors. It is called a laboratory for experimentation in theater which offers an opportunity for writers, directors and other craftsmen of the theater to try out new ideas. The article says that the laboratory is an enterprise in which the elements of good theater are mixed over a flame of patriotism to provide a morale-building connection for men in the service. It is also called an experiment in democracy for those who gather there. Although all of the plays presented to the armed forces cannot be called Communistic enterprises the persons who have associated themselves with these plays are prominently identified as the guiding geniuses of motion pictures which have certainly portrayed the cause of the Communistic movement. For instance, ADRIAN SCOTTEN, who directed the Actors' Laboratory production of "Brother Rat" is known to film audiences for his roles in "Edge of Darkness" and "Song of Bernadette," which are considered propaganda pictures. MORRIS CARNOVSKY, who has a long record of Communistic association, is interested in the work of the Actors' Laboratory. EDWARD DMYTRYK, who directed "Tender Comrade", a definite Communist picture, is interested in the Laboratory. J. EDWARD BROMBERG is also interested in the Laboratory, as well as JULES DASSIN, MICHAEL GORDON, JOAN HATHAWAY, ANTHONY MANN, IRVING PICHEL, IRVING REIS, SOPHIE ROSENSTEIN, VINCENT SHERMAN and FRANK TUTTLE.

SCOTTEN, BROMBERG and CARNOVSKY were all identified with the New York Group Theater which produced Communist plays for the purpose of conveying the Communist message to the masses. As stated, their work in Communist enterprises has been extensive. Among the other persons mentioned FRANK TUTTLE has a long record of Communistic affiliations.

THE HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES & PROFESSIONS

This organization is an outgrowth of the Hollywood Democratic Committee which was lauded for its work in the past presidential campaign by Robert Hannegan, the present Postmaster General. Despite the fact that Hannegan said the Committee should continue to function the Committee changed its name to the Hollywood Independent Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

It is apparent that Mr. Hannegan was not aware of the type of individuals who directed the activities of the Hollywood Democratic Committee since it is evident that the name of the organization was changed in furtherance of the new party line of the Communists. The party line was changed and the name of this organization was changed because the Communists at present do not know what party they will support in the coming elections. The guiding spirits at the first meeting of the Hollywood Democratic Committee were JOHN EDWARD LAWSON, FRANK TUTTLE and J. E. WALLACE.

TUTTLE and LAWSON, as stated heretofore, are identified with every left-wing or Communist movement in Hollywood and vicinity. The new organization, which is an outgrowth of the Hollywood Democratic Committee, has about 104 actors and actresses identified as members of its executive board. Prominent among these are ORSON WELLES, EDWARD G. ROBINSON, MICHIA STUART, JOHN GARFIELD and BETTE DAVIS.

As a matter of unverified information it was reported on the West Coast that CHARLES MILLS was discharged from the Good Will Tour sponsored by the State Department which toured South America, because of immoral activities. MILLS is reported to be a candidate for either Congress or the gubernatorial race in California.

Attorney General KENNY KENNEY of the state of California, is prominent in the function of this organization. The organization intends to make radio broadcasts in favor of its chosen political favorites. These broadcasts will originate in Hollywood and the screen stars who belong to the Committee will do the speaking or make recordings which will be played over the radio in certain areas in lieu of a personal appearance by the star who made the speech. The speeches, of course, will be in favor of candidates who meet with the approval of the Committee.

Attorney General KENNEY of the state of California, who is closely connected with the Committee, is reported to be a close friend of Secretary of Commerce, HENRY A. WALLACE. In this connection it should be stated that it was reported on the West Coast that MR. WALLACE has in his employ an individual named DAVE KATZ or DAVE KARR, who is the subject of a pamphlet entitled "The Man Who Lied to Congress." KATZ or KARR is reported to be a very close contact of Mrs. ELINOR MOSKITZ, who is connected with the office of Attorney General KENNEY. It is believed that MRS. MOSKITZ is a member of the Communist Party under the name of PARTIS. A reliable informant, but who must remain in a confidential capacity because of his position, stated that RITZ and Mrs. ADOWITZ arranged for Mr. WALLACE'S visit to the West Coast before the last presidential election. According to the informant it was a well-known fact that President Roosevelt's health was very bad and that the questionable liberals endeavored to make certain that a liberal such as WALLACE would secure the Vice-Presidential nomination in order that he could ascend to the Presidency in case of the death of Mr. Roosevelt. According to the informant there was even some talk of starting a Third Party with WALLACE the presidential nominee of the party. Somehow or other the plan fell through and the Third Party was never started.

Mrs. ADOWITZ is the educational director of the CIO in California. Her husband, Mr. MURRAY ADOWITZ, is connected with the Soviet-American Medical Bureau. One ALBERT GLADE, who was the legislative representative of the CIO at Sacramento, California, is presently employed by Attorney General KENNY on the state payroll in a confidential capacity. He is reported to be handling the racial question as it is involved in labor unions. GLADE has a long record of association with left-wing movements. This same informant stated that in his opinion there appears to be a definite tie-up between the Communist Party and Attorney General KENNY which may possibly even reach into the Supreme Court.

It should be remembered that Justices BLACK and MURPHY of the United States Supreme Court made personal appearances on the West Coast shortly before or after the Harry Bridges decision was reached. Both of these Justices are supposed to have received $1,000 for expenses from unidentified organizations on the West Coast. Justice MURPHY is reported to be a close friend of DOROTHY DAY, the publisher of the Catholic Worker. This paper often eulogized MURPHY during the period of the sit-down strike in Detroit, Michigan. The Catholic Worker is apparently a Communist front newspaper and in the opinion of some persons, DOROTHY DAY is a confidential adviser to Justice MURPHY.

Congressmen HAVENNER, HEALY, PATTERSON and DOUGLAS, from the state of California, have close connections with the Committee under discussion. It is reported on the West Coast that all of these persons, along with Attorney General KENNEY, willingly lend their assistance to any left-wing organization on the West Coast in order to obtain votes.

Most of the organizations in existence on the West Coast at the present time are dealing with racial questions. In this connection it should be stated that the biggest weapon the Communist Party has today is the branding of individuals as Fascists because they are either anti-labor, anti-Negro, anti-Semitic or anti-liberal. This is the old Communistic tenet of stirring up hate and fear among the population of a country in order that indecision may be the guiding influence among the citizens of any country considered by the Communists as ready for a revolution, or for a gracious acceptance of Communistic propaganda.

Attorney General KENNEY has openly said that he would break The Peace Officers Civil Service Association of California because it was fighting Communism. This statement was made by KENNEY to PAUL SHERRY, Associate Counsel of the Peace Officers Association and is a matter of an affidavit issued by SHERRY. A. BERTON GALLERY, Executive Director of the Association, was told by assemblyman LESTER McMILLAN and ALFRED G. ROBERTSON of the state of California, that he would have more friends in Sacramento if he would remove the following words from the Association's correspondence envelopes: "Our pledge, to fight Communism and the Spoils System."

Assembly Bill of the State of California No. 1087, which was aimed directly at the Peace Officers Association, was passed by the state of California upon the insistence of Attorney General KENNY. McMILLAN was one of those who introduced the bill before the California legislature. This bill, briefly described, prohibits the wearing of an emblem which resembles a peace officer's badge. A Mrs. MIZHAUS, a member of the assembly, was also one of those who introduced the bill. Mrs. MIZHAUS has a questionable record of affiliation with left-wing groups.

In speaking further of this organization under discussion it should be stated that the organization was first known as the Motion Picture Democratic Committee. It became so widely known as a Communist controlled organization that it lost its usefulness to the Party and was therefore abandoned. However, in 1942, just prior to the primary elections, the Communist Party revived the Motion Picture Democratic Committee and renamed it the Hollywood Democratic Committee.

During executive hearings before the Dies Committee in 1940, on Page 1160 it was brought out that the Motion Picture Democratic Committee was considered by Communist Party members to be an auxiliary of the Communist Party.

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON has always been the moving force in this type of organization since its inception. The People's World of August 3, 1943, carried the following story concerning the Hollywood Democratic Committee, which grew out of the organization known as the Motion Picture Democratic Committee: "The smear Roosevelt, lose the war Congressmen will be unable to get any consolation, expressed or implied, from the mass meeting of the Hollywood Democratic Committee.

"The program of action for the Committee, as enunciated by screen writer, John Howard Lawson, is designed to undo the labors of the most reactionary Congress President Roosevelt has ever had to deal with. The program calls for action to: 1. Stop inflation; 2. Stop race rioting; 3. Abolish the poll tax; 4. Fight to repeal all anti-labor legislation; 5. Fight for adequate child care; 6. Force Congress to give the nation a fair tax program; 7. Stop Representative Dies and State Senator Tenney." All of these issues are part of the Communist Party line, whether acceptable issues or not.

"LAWSON, in discussing the Committee's program of action,,said that the activities would extend beyond the Los Angeles community and that every resource would be mustered to rally the people of America around the program of the Committee."

"He indicated that transcontinental radio production would be part of the national program. The Committee is forming a special council of radio artists to plan the campaign."

It is to be noted that in 1943 the Party used the same program in furthering the cause of its chosen political candidates as it intends to use in the coming elections. Another individual who appeared at the meeting referred to in the People's World of August 3, 1943, was DALTON TRUMBO, who is a well-known Communist. He was quoted as saying that he had received reports from the deep south to the effect that southern reactionaries were ready and waiting for the greatest race riots in the history of the country if the anti-poll tax bill is passed.

The Hollywood Democratic Committee, Communist controlled, and the CIO-Political Action Committee, partially under Communist control, both use identical means to smear political personages whom they don't want in office. For instance, during the Congressional recess of the summer of 1943, the Hollywood Democratic Committee insisted that the various Congressmen from the Los Angeles district appear before the Committee to answer regarding their voting record. On August 12, 1943, at the insistence of George Pepper, then Executive Secretary of the Hollywood Democratic Committee, Congressman John H. Costello met with a group of persons purporting to represent a number of organizations in his district in Hollywood. After the meeting was called to order Mr. Pepper at once yielded the floor to HERBERT BIBERMAN, who was Chairman of the American Peace Crusade and connected with numerous other Communistic fronts, as well as the American Peace Mobilization which picketed the White House before Russia was attacked by Germany for the purpose of keeping the United States out of the so-called imperialistic war. It is of interest to note that when BIBERMAN was given the floor he proceeded to read to Congressman Costello a document which was in effect a charge of failure to support the war effort. This was the antithesis of the true facts.

Mr. Costello's voting record was used against him in the Congressional campaigns of the following year and he was defeated. It is to be noted, however, that Congressman Costello had voted against the same bills which were voted against by Congressman Vito Marcantonio but there is no evidence Vito Marcantonio was ever called to account for his voting record prior to the attack of Germany upon Russia.

The People's World of September 3, 1943 stated that the "Hollywood Democratic Committee is a politically unifying force in the picture business." Congressmen HUGH MEALY, HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS, ELLIS PATTERSON, CHEST HOLIFIELD and JOHN VOORHIS were all supported by this organization. It is not intended to infer that the Members of Congress mentioned hereinbefore have any connection with the Communist Party, but the records of those persons show that they have appeared as speakers before numerous left-wing organizations on the West Coast, and two of them have been accused of being members of the Communist Party or closely aligned therewith.

Numerous other political personages have been identified with the West Coast left-wing organizations. JOHN ANSON FORD, who is a Supervisor of Los Angeles County, is a sponsor of known Communist front groups and very often speaks before the International Workers' Order. He was a sponsor of the "Friends of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade."

SHERIDAN DAVIS, a member of the assembly of the state of California, is reported to have a connection with the California Labor School in the state of California, which is a Communistic school.

JOHN PELLETIER, also an assemblyman of the state of California, is reported to have long been an associate of Communist front groups.

Representative HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS recently spoke before a Communist front group known as the "Roosevelt Club" or the "46th Assembly District Group."

HERMAN STEFFENS, who is one of the leaders of the "Roosevelt Club", is a member of the Communist Party and a People's World functionary. He works in the Communist Book Shop and is the head of the "Downtown Forum", an organization which is definitely tied in with the Communist movement in California.

ALBERT WERNER, who is an assemblyman in the state of California, has a record of association with Communist front groups.

Congressman NED HEALY is reported to have said that he would vote like VITO MARCANTONIO or MOLDFIELD if he didn't know how to vote. His campaign manager was JOE AIDELMAN, who is reported to be a known Communist.

Federal Judge LEON YANKWICH is listed as a guest lecturer at the summer term of the People's Educational Center, which is a known Communist school.

Most of the Congressmen and individuals mentioned in a political way in this report are reported to have secretaries who are directly or indirectly connected with the CIO-Political Action Committee. In this connection it should be stated that during the San Francisco Conference SIDNEY HILLMAN, head of the CIO, is reported to have stated that he had the votes in his hands and that he could elect any individual to Congress that he chose. During the investigation on the West Coast it was developed that one of the leaders of the CIO in the state of California MERVYN RATHBONE, was given a sentence for burglary of the YMCA. His Los Angeles County jail number was 47611; his Los Angeles County jail photo number is 23702. His record reflects that he was arrested on November 25, 1924, at the age of 19 years, for burglary of the YMCA. His fingerprint class was given as 17 I MOI U II 15. He was given a three year sentence and placed on probation. This information is generally unknown to the public.

EMERGENCY COMMITTEE ON KFI

Another organization formed on the West Coast is called the Emergency Committee on KFI. This organization was formed by the Communists in support of certain liberal radio commentators who were dismissed by radio station KFI for making radical statements over the air. This reason was not advanced by the radio station as the cause of the dismissal of the commentators but a review of the commentators' scripts would probably disclose that their views had something to do with their dismissal. The Emergency Committee on KFI has the endorsement of the Hollywood Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. This group is planning to raise $100,000 and it is their determination to use the airwaves to put forth their publicity.

Another organization which was just formed some few days ago and is as yet unnamed, introduces some of the same group who are active officers in the Hollywood Independent Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. This group is purely a political one and is reported to be headed by the Attorney General of the state of California, known radicals and fellow travelers. This committee was originally organized to fight GERALD L. K. SMITH, but it will be used as a political weapon to further left-wing activities. This organization was formed by known radicals and like all of the committees, from the Anti-Nazi League down to the present groups named in this report, it has as the main plank in its platform to help sustain its activities, especially from a financial standpoint, the question of racial discrimination. None of the groups named herein have ever attacked the Communist Party. All of the groups were created to fight the Nazis or the Fascists but since this type of person has been put out of business the organizations are attacking and smearing everyone in political life who does not go along with their program.

ANTI-DEFAMATION LEAGUE

Also in the state of California there is an organization known as the Anti-Defamation League, which has been for a number of years collecting large sums of money from wealthy Jews in California to fight anti-Semitism. It can be seen that this organization constantly stirs up the racial question and that the Jewish people of California are being frightened and exploited by this organization as well as by the various Communist fronts.

The Anti-Defamation League has one of the best sets of files on so-called "Jew haiters" in the United States and it maintains a regular Gestapo or espionage system. Some of the personnel of this organization are members of the Communist Party by their own admission. This organization, as well as the definite Communist fronts, are causing disunity in the United States. They all use the term "Fascist" when anyone objects to their purposes and plans.

THE PEOPLE'S EDUCATIONAL CENTRE

The People's Educational Centre, the above-named organization, is the successor to the School for Writers which was conducted by the League of American Writers and is also the successor to the Workers' School. The Communistic purposes of the Centre are very numerous. However, it is well to state that the Communist Party is aware that it takes trained people to produce motion pictures. The adapting of stories or plays for use in the motion picture industry is a highly specialized field. For a number of years the Communist Party, under the observation of the League of American Writers, operated a school for writers in Hollywood, California. The teachers in the writing school not only taught aspiring writers in attendance at the school the technique of preparing screen scenarios but indoctrinated them with the Marxist philosophy.

As soon as the writers obtained a little proficiency in the technique of writing the Communist group in the League of American Writers assisted them in securing positions in the motion picture studios. The School for Writers, as can readily be seen, has been a transmission belt into the motion picture industry for writing talent. This is the reason why there are so many writers in the picture business who are either members of the Communist Party or closely connected with the Party as sympathizers. The number of writers who fall into the category of being Communistically inclined exceed 500. It is estimated that $14 writers in the motion picture industry either belong to the Communist Party or follow the Party line to the letter. The Screen Writers' Guild is also controlled by the Red group.

Because of the success of the School for Writers the People's Educational Centre was started. The faculty of the People's Educational Centre includes such well-known Communists as LEO GALLAGHER, CHARLES KATZ, HERBERT KLINE, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, BEN MARGOLIES, ARTHUR ROBINSON, REVELS CAYTON, CORA WINTHER, Los Angeles County Secretary of the Communist Party, and EVA SHAFRON, director of the Communist Los Angeles Workers' School. The People's Educational Center was apparently organized as a meeting held on September 12, 1943, at the Unitarian Church in Los Angeles.

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON proposed the project. At the meeting held on September 12, 1943, LAWSON said "There is going on in this country a struggle for the minds of the people".

The broad educational program of the People's Educational Center is evident through the fact that it teaches the following courses: 1. Screen Writing; 2. Radio Writing; 3. The Craft of Playwriting; 4. Journalism; 5. The Novel; 6. Short Story; 7. Literature and the World; 8. History of Acting; 9. Motion Picture Direction; 10. The Social History of Art; 11. People's Unity; 12. Prerequisite for the Advancement of Democracy; 13. Racial Relations; 14. Psychological Basis of Democracy and Advancement; 15. India Today and Tomorrow.

Numerous other classes involving the use of the Russian and Spanish languages are also being taught to the students, as well as certain phases of Child Psychology and Parenthood. This Communist organization teaches Spanish because it serves a purpose in the attempted furthering of the doctrine of Communism in the Spanish-speaking countries. Some of the Communists mentioned herein, such as EVA CHAPRON and CORA WINTHEN, were engaged by the school to teach classes entitled "Elements of Dialectical and Historical Materialism" which is described in the Centre's catalogue for the summer of 1944 as "a study of the development by Marx and Engels of "Dialectical and Historical Materialism." "Major attention will be given to the analysis of the particular text of Marx and Engels and others in an attempt to eulogize and clarify the thoughts operating in the minds of these men, their social aspects and consequences." Teachers at the People's Educational Centre are for the most part Communists or close sympathizers. The Communist Party aims to furnish the motion picture industry with technical employees who have been trained in Marxist philosophy.

If the industry itself continues to do nothing about it the great majority of the persons in the industry performing work of a creative nature will, within the not distant future, be either Communist Party members or close sympathizers following the Party line. The industry will then be dependent upon this radical group for its output. The Communist Party has infiltrated heavily into the screen story analysts.

guild and the play reading departments of the various studios. Readers review books and plays and make recommendations to the producers. They can be very helpful to their "comrades" by placing Communistic stories before the motion picture executives for production. Publicists can give writing hacks fresh from the New Masses such a publicity build-up that they will be used as legitimate writers by the industry. More than 95 subversive characters either lecture at this school permanently or have appeared before the students in the capacity of guest lecturers. The Los Angeles Workers' School, which has been discussed as one of the organizations which preceded the People's Educational Centre, is best described through recourse to an article which appeared in the People's World of September 29, 1943. This article is quoted in part as follows: "Los Angeles Workers' School Stresses Marxism." "Five years ago the cynics said it would not work. They said there was no field for Marxist education among the workers of Los Angeles.

"Eva Shafron, head of the Los Angeles Workers' School, has seen nearly3500 students through the school's classes in the course of five exciting and expanding years, and on the fifth anniversary of the Workers School she hails the recent and most comprehensive step in people's education, the founding of the new People's Educational Centre." "The Workers School, "she explained, "is a Marxist school. All our classes are based on Marxism-Leninism which, we believe, is fundamental to an understanding of the world." "A knowledge of Marxism enables one to understand the problems raised by the war, both at home and abroad, and to understand the unprecedented achievements of the Soviet Union in the war."

The very foundation of the People's Educational Centre is Communistic. The Los Angeles Workers School, an admitted Communist Party project, contributed in every way possible towards the building of this new Educational Center. Unverified information discloses that a directive issued by the Communist Party in the United States in December, 1943, which prescribed a new school program for the Communist Party, stated that the People's Educational Centre is an excellent example of a people's liberal school. The People's World of December 2, 1943, carried an account of a meeting of the new People's Educational Association. At this meeting, according to the article, the People's Educational Association was represented by JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, IRVING PICHEL, DR. FRANKLIN DAVIS, REVELS CAYTON, HERBERT MALTZ, and BILL WOLFF, Executive Secretary of the Association. REVELS CAYTON is a Negro and is the state Vice-President of the CIO. CAYTON is an admitted Communist. DR. FRANKLIN DAVIS is a noted fellow traveler and he is an Assistant professor of Psychology at the University of California, Los Angeles branch.

At the meeting, REVELS CAYTON said that the People's Educational Centre has "caught the idea of the trade union movement and it is more and more realized that the welfare of the community and the nation is of vital concern."

DR. FRANKLIN DAVIS at the meeting called attention to the lack of political understanding among many of the University students which makes them susceptible to Fascist propaganda. The article mentioned went on to say that in the name of the League of American Writers HERBERT MALTZ urged the establishment of the Hollywood extension of the People's Educational Centre and offered the Writers School at 1717 North Vine St., Hollywood, California, as the nucleus. That this school is widely sponsored by the different unions in the vicinity of Hollywood and Los Angeles, California, is evident from an article which appeared in the People's World of December 16, 1943.

According to the article a group of labor leaders and representatives of educational and civic groups met with ERNEST GREEN, General Secretary of the People's Educational Workers Association. This Committee, according to the People's World, "felt the need of a similar broad educational program for southern California for the purpose of building a bridge between labor and learning." Members of the professional Committee include many union leaders such as JOHN ALLARD, Educational Director, International Union, United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers of America; FAYE E. ALLAN, Director, American Federation of Musicians, Local 676 of the American Federation of Labor; PHILLIP M. Connelly, state President of the CIO; ALBERT GLADS, Educator and Commentator for the CIO Newspaper of the Air; and RALPH D. HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Another organization functioning on the West Coast at this time is the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. This organization has been widely discussed in various reports relating to Communist activities in California. It has had a very close tie-in with the Office of Emergency Management, the Office of Facts and Figures, the Office of Price Administration, the Office of Civilian Defense, the Office of Production Management, the War Production Board and the Office of War Information. All of the active members of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization also belong to the League of American Writers. As a matter of fact the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is now carrying on the outside propaganda work formerly carried on in the name of the League of American Writers. The League of American Writers was so widely branded as a Communist organization that it was forced to go underground. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization for and on behalf of the Communist Party sponsored the Writers Congress which was held at the University of California in Los Angeles in October, 1943. Since it would require reams of paper to discuss the Writers Congress and how it grew from the League of Revolutionary Writers, a further discussion of the Writers Congress will not be set forth in this report. The Communistic nature of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is quite well brought forth when it is considered that on April 21, 1944 DR. GAETANO SALVEMINI, Italian historian and anti-Fascist, Professor of Italian Culture, Department of History at the University of California at Berkeley during the spring term in 1944, was scheduled to speak at a writer's congress forum at the Women's Club of Hollywood, on the subject "Europe Occupied and Free."

The Hollywood Writers Mobilization was sponsoring the meeting with JOHN HOWARD LAWSON as chairman. Just prior to the date of this meeting DR. SALVEMINI criticized the activities of the Communists in liberated sections of Italy. DR. SALVEMINI was quoted as saying, among other things, "The more confused the Italian situation becomes the more likely it will be that the Communist Party will get the upper hand in Italy when the war is over." This statement and others criticizing JOSEPH STALIN and the activities of the Communist Party, caused RUBEN ROSSEN, chairman of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, to cancel DR. SALVEMINI's scheduled talk. The Communists in control of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization could not permit DR. SALVEMINI to criticize Joseph Stalin or Communism, and therefore the Doctor's scheduled address was cancelled. It is very apparent that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization in spite of its published statements believing in the freedom of speech, does not believe in freedom of speech when it is turned against Communism. After the news of the cancellation had reached the press the Hollywood Writers Mobilization attempted to throw up a smoke screen by claiming that DR. SALVEMINI was creating disunity. The charge of creating disunity is only one of the many charges hurled by Communists and sympathizers at anyone who publicly says anything against Joseph Stalin, the Communist Party or Communism.

One of the present activities of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is the writing and producing of a number of volumes for the Office of War Information to be distributed in foreign countries. The volumes are intended to re-educate the people in those countries which have been subjected to Nazi propaganda.

ULRIC BELL and ROBERT RISKIN are supposed to have collaborated in the placing of various foreign refugees in the Warner Bros. Studios for the purpose of "dubbing" pictures which were to be distributed in foreign countries. Before the term "dubbing" is explained it should be stated that ULRIC BELL was connected with the Office of War Information on the West Coast and that ROBERT RISKIN is very often mentioned in connection with Communist or left-wing activities on the West Coast.

The term "dubbing" means that the English titles or lines spoken by individuals are transcribed or spoken into the language of the country where the picture is to be shown. It has been alleged that the foreign refugees who made some of the Warner Bros. pictures for dissemination in the foreign countries, have changed the English words spoken into a foreign language interpretation of a Communist propaganda term. For instance, if an actor like Gary Cooper plays a part in a picture where he has suffered reverses and makes a statement like, "Well, I guess I will have to begin over again" the statement will be changed in the foreign language version and Cooper will say "Well, I guess this is the beginning of the class struggles" or something to that effect.

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

Of course, the actors who made those pictures in the English language will not be aware of the fact that their statements may have been changed around. This information was furnished to the writer by a highly confidential source who stated that if his name became known in Washington as the person who provided this information, that the Warner Brothers and other studios would be immediately notified and his name would be "mud" in the movie industry. In this connection the informant stated that JACK L. WARNER, head of Warner Bros. pictures, is very anxious to unload this phase of motion picture activities and has issued instructions that as soon as the present pictures are finished for distribution to the foreign language field, no more pictures will be "dubbed" in Hollywood, but they are to be "dubbed" in the country where the picture is to be distributed. Whether the OWI films received the same treatment is not known. Both Warner Brothers part in this activity of the Communist Party as well as the part played by the OWI, is subject to further investigation.

While we are on the subject of Warner Brothers and the activities of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization it is well to mention the fact that Warner Brothers produced a great number of short subjects. The short subjects contain subtle Communist propaganda. For instance, a picture entitled "The Law of the Badlands" which revived the olddtory of the Custer Massacre and the unjust conviction of an Army officer, has two statements contained in the narration which are certainly intended to arouse racial prejudice even though American Indians are used as the victims of the white man's oppression. One of these stories is to the effect that the Indians were being blamed for things that the white man did. This statement was based upon the supposed holdup of a stage coach and the subsequent murder of its occupants by a band of holdup men. Another statement in this picture is to the effect that the Indians became tired of being oppressed and banded together and rose against the white man. If this picture becomes widely distributed in Negro theatres it is likely to cause some thought in the minds of the Negro that perhaps they are being oppressed by the white man. Also, if this picture is widely distributed in India the Indians of that country might possibly rebel against their white English masters. Instead of the words "white man" the term "settlers" could have been used if this was indeed a necessary part of the picture depicting the massacre of General George Custer and his 7th Cavalry.

Another picture entitled "America The Beautiful" certainly portrays America as a beautiful country but it contains some very definite Communistic propaganda.

This picture shows practically every point of interest in the United States such as the Carlsbad Caverns, the Yosemite National Park, the Grand Canyon, the N. Y. City skyscrapers, the Great Lakes, and numerous other scenes of historic and geographical interest. The skyscrapers of New York are depicted in this picture as being monuments to the workers of America. Another statement in the picture is to the effect that part of the wealth of the United States has been set aside.

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

The wealth meant by this statement is the Yellowstone National Park.

An interpretation of this picture would be that the skyscrapers of New York, if built by the workers, should belong to the workers. When a statement was made that part of the wealth should be set aside it definitely intended to convey to the mind of the observer that if part of the wealth of the United States were to be set aside everyone would have an opportunity to view the wonders of America.

Communistic propaganda in motion pictures must be subtle and naturally a writer or a narrator cannot say that America should be Communistic but if this type of picture is produced often enough and seen often enough it may have an effect upon the minds of many persons in the United States.

Undoubtedly the Communist does not feel that he is strong enough to create a revolution in this country at the present time. However, he hopes through his infiltration of labor unions and the policy of stirring up the masses that a great deal of strikes and racial disorders will arise whereby added impetus can be given to the Communistic movement. Apparently the Communist also has in mind at the present time the election of persons to the Congress and Senate of the United States who will greatly aid them in furthering their program. Motion pictures such as the two described hereinbefore may play a part in the furtherance of the Communist doctrines insofar as stirring up the masses is concerned.

To return to the Hollywood Writers Mobilization it might be stated that the organization has written a series of plays for the "Free World Theater." These plays were produced and directed by ARCH OBOLER, a member of the radio writers guild and produced by the blue network. These plays have now been compiled in a book entitled "Free World Theater", 19 new radio plays. The introduction was written by THOMAS MANN who said in part, "Now then the great advantage of this book is that the propaganda which it offers cannot and will not be so described in a hostile sense. Its propaganda is so free of partisanship, offense and challenge, it is so natural and pro-human that hardly anyone will be tempted to utter a disapproving cry, "propaganda."

ARCH OBOLER plays have always been very questionable and his program has been the subject of observation by persons on the West Coast. It is believed that ARCH OBOLER is a member of the Communist Party or at least a definite fellow traveler. Some of the Communist writers whose plays appear in the volume "Free World Theater" are BUD SCHULBERG; HENRY MAYS; RICHARD COLLINS; CLARENCE MUSE; JAY GURNEY; EDWARD ELISCU, and MERRILL WILTON. These persons hold writers' conferences as an activity of the Communist Party which enables them to spread the doctrine of Communism to persons of intellect and influence which is a propaganda activity of the Party.

On June 20 and 21, 1942, one such conference was held under the auspices of the Writers' Workshop conducted by the Hollywood branch of the league of American Writers. It was called "The Pen is the Sword." The conference was announced by the Writers' Workshop in a mimeographed letter sent out by it. This mimeographed sheet states in part, "For all those who cherish the culture of a free people and desire that the writing craft be fully utilized in the fighting of Fascism, the Writers' Workshop has arranged a weekend conference June 20 and 21 at the headquarters of the League of American Writers at 604 North Vista, Hollywood. A group of America's best known writers, HERBERT BALTZ, SIDNEY BILICU, HENRY BIEBS, M. L. WIVER, DALTON TRUMBO, RON GORDON, ROBERT ROSSEN, IRVING LEIS, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and DR. FRANK FEARING, will discuss this integral part of writing in seven panels to be followed by roundtable participation. In the final session JOHN HOWARD LAWSON will summarize the results of the conference in a talk on the writer and the war." The last paragraph of the mimeographed statements says "Mail the enclosed voucher for your reservations at once and join us in making this conference a valuable contribution to a world where democracy will win, not only with arms but with ideas."

The idea of the writers who belong to these Communistic groups is to Communize not only the United States but the entire world.

It is to be noted that BILICU and BIEBS wrote some of the plays in ALICE HOLIER's book entitled "The Free World Theater". The DALTON TRUMBO mentioned in this report is the subject of an open letter called the "Portrait of a Patriot" which was written by SAMUEL GROSVENOR WOOD, which appeared in the Hollywood Reporter on Monday, July 30, 1945. This letter is being set forth in this report because after the publishing of this letter Mr. WOOD has been threatened with drastic physical violence

"COMRADE DALTON TRUMBO IS THE EDITOR OF 'THE SCREEN WRITER.'

"In the June issue, Comrade Trumbo authored an article attacking my public, private and professional life.

"He justified this attack by alleging that I had said: NINETY-EIGHT PERCENT OF ALL SCREEN WRITERS ARE NOTHING BUT MECHANICS.'

"Comrade Trumbo is a shrewd, but unscrupulous editor. He knows me personally. He speaks to me often. But he never bothered to verify what I said.

"The true quote is:

"'Ninety-eight percent of Screen Writers WITH THE HAMMER AND SICKLE BRAND ON THEIR RUMPS are nothing but mechanics.'

"And I here state that Comrade Trumbo is one screen writer who carries the deepest brand of the hammer and sickle on BOTH HIS RUMP AND HIS TYPEWRITER.

"LET'S LOOK INTO HIS DOSSIER AND SEE WHY:

"What did Comrade Trumbo do between August 23rd, 1939, and June 22nd, 1941 - WHEN STALIN AND HITLER WERE BUDDIES?

"On June 9, 1941, the U. S. Army took over the North American aircraft plant, because of an unpatriotic strike which President Roosevelt denounced as a 'Communist conspiracy.'

"COMRADE TRUMBO WANTED RULING OUT THE 'COMMUNIST CONSPIRACY.'

"WHAT IF IT HELPED HITLER? NO MATTER!

"THE PARTY LINE THEN WAS 'GOTT STRAFE ENGLAND!'

"THE COMMUNISTS WANTED JOE'S FRIEND ADOLPH, TO BEAT ENGLAND'S BRAINS OUT.

"In 1939 Comrade Dalton-Trumbo published a novel, 'JOHNNY GOT HIS GUN.' IT ROMANTICIZED ISOLATIONISM. IT DAMNED AMERICAN MILITARY PREPAREDNESS.'

"HITLER LOVED IT.

"THE COMMUNIST PRESS HAILED IT. It ran as a serial in the Communist party organ - The Daily Worker.

"At a symposium, at the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, Comrade Trumbo violently denounced any United States aid to a groggy England that was fighting Hitler ALONE.

"At this same meeting, Comrade Theodore Dreiser shouted: 'IF THEY DID AWAY WITH EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD IN ENGLAND TONIGHT, THIS WOULD BE A BETTER WORLD!'

"And on the platform COMRADE TRUMBO APPLAUDED!

"Oh, brother-NOW it was DIFFERENT. The arch-fiend and anti-Christ was taking a slug at the Hammer and Sickle. Let's get the pen out! Let's do something! Holy Smoke!

So, Comrade Trumbo and THE BOYS pulled the nimble switch. They changed their slogan to: 'THE YANKS ARE NOT COMING TOO LATE.'

"Comrade Trumbo TOOK UP THE PRESS OF WAR and beat upon them with his SOILED, CLENCHED FIST.

"Then America took one below the belt—December 7th, 1941. Soon, thousands upon thousands of those 'Yanks' were landing in England.

"Now was a chance for Comrade Trumbo and all the other comrades to strike a real blow for the Motherland.

"What Motherland? Ask Comrade Trumbo.

"But Comrade Trumbo harangued and screamed needlessly.

"JOHNNY GOT A GOOD GUN AND DID THE JOB.

"BUT COMRADE TRUMBO DIDN'T GET A GUN. NO SECOND FRONT BUSINESS FOR HIM. THAT WAS NOISY OUT THERE. HE LIKED THAT HOME FRONT STUFF. HEALTHY.

"BUT HE HAD TO DO SOMETHING WITH HIS TYPEWRITER FINGER.

"HE DID. HE PICKED UP A PEN WITH IT AND SIGNED A CONTRACT FOR $3,000 A WEEK.

"P. S. By the way, Comrade Trumbo—ever hear of COMMUNIST PARTY MEMBER HAL CONNER.

YOU SHOULD LOOK HIM UP. HIS LITERARY STYLE IS IDENTICAL WITH YOURS."

This article shows how TRUMBO and others like him followed the Communist Party line to the letter.

The Hollywood Writers Mobilization at present is publishing a magazine called "The Hollywood Quarterly" in conjunction with the University of California as a joint sponsor. The book is printed by the University of California press. The aim of the Hollywood writers mobilization in publishing this book is the same as always, to definitely bring forth the foisting of Communist propaganda upon what it terms the "intellectual group."

There are other organizations forming in Los Angeles and Hollywood at the present time but it is believed that those discussed herein are the most important. Particular emphasis has been placed upon the writer groups because it is the general belief in the motion picture industry that these are the most dangerous groups active in Hollywood today insofar as the motion picture industry is concerned. The political field has pretty well been taken care of in that part of this report which is devoted to the Hollywood Democratic Committee and the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

The following is a list of persons engaged in the writing and acting fields who are believed to be members of the Communist Party. It may not be possible to establish the Party membership of all of the Communists named herein but a record of affiliation with Communistic groups can definitely be established and in defining a Communist it must be remembered that a Communist is a Communist when he follows one or more changes of the Communist Party lines or belongs to an organization which has changed its original purpose for the purpose of furthering the Communist Party line. Although this may seem rather broad it appears to be the only feasible interpretation of Communistic membership because there are no laws in existence in the United States which prohibit the joining of any organization under an assumed name, and certainly most of the Communists belong to the Party under an assumed name.

Positive identification of a person as being a member of the Communist Party is practically impossible and to demonstrate this it should be stated that DAVID McKELVEY WHITE died of heart failure on July 30, 1945. At the time of his death he was Executive Secretary of the Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade. WHITE's case is most illustrative with respect to several points in the Communist movement. First, the Daily Worker in announcing his death, described him as a known Communist. This clearly presupposes what was in the background of the Daily Worker writer's mind, namely, that there are also unknown Communist persons of the WHITE stripe who are secret members of the Communist Party. Second, WHITE did not always let it be known publicly that he was a member of the Communist Party. While he was on the faculty of Brooklyn College he kept his membership secret. When the Dies Committee was investigating WHITE and his activities in the Spanish Civil War, WHITE was concealing his Communist Party membership. However, the cumulative evidence that WHITE and the Abraham Lincoln Brigade were Communistic was pretty overwhelming and the Dies Committee proceeded to expose them as such.

This was one of the cases in which the so-called liberals including such sheets as the New York Herald Tribune, excoriated the Dies Committee for its alleged smearing of progressive organizations and individuals without producing evidence. Third, DAVID McKELVEY WHITE was the son of the former Governor Taft of Ohio. Another illustration of how the sons of respectable and wealthy fathers go over to Communism.

Fourth; From 1928 to 1937 WHITE was a member of the faculty of Brooklyn College. He did not at that time admit to being a member of the Communist Party although the Daily Worker now, after his death, frankly boasts that he was one of them during that period. This is another illustration which could be multiplied many times over of Communists boring within our higher educational institutions. In this connection it should be noted that many professors associated with the University of California at Los Angeles, associated themselves with Communist front organizations.

Fifth, Although it is now admitted by the Communists themselves that DAVID McKELVEY WHITE, head of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade Veterans, was a member of the Communist Party, the records show that the following persons affiliated themselves with this clear-cut Communist organization: VAN WYCK BROOKS, BRANCH CABELL, ARCHIBALD MACLEISH, HENRY EPSTEIN (managing O'Dwyers' mayoralty campaign), HAROLD C. UREY, famous chemist, GORDON ALLPORT, noted Harvard professor, LEWIS GANNETT, N. Y. Herald Tribune, PHILIP LOEB, actor, and scores of others who are sent to lend their names and prestige to every Communist enterprise that comes along while vehemently denying that they are Communists, fellow travelers, or even sympathetic to Communism.

To further identify some of the organizations in Hollywood it is appropriate to mention the Screen Writers' Guild. Some of the well-known persons in this organization are SIDNEY BUCKMAN, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, VIOLA BROTHERS SHORE, DONALD OGDEN STEWART, JOHN PRIGE, JOHN WEXLEY, SAMUEL ORNITZ and THEODORE DREISER.

THEODORE DREISER made a statement to the effect that this could be a better world if every man, woman and child in England were to be killed. This was at a time when DREISER opposed the entrance of the United States into the Second World War on the side of England. However, he, like other Communists in the United States, certainly changed his mind when Russia was attacked by Germany.

Some others who have been connected with various Communist fronts are: DASHIELL HAMMETT, DUDLEY NICHOLS, DOROTHY PARKER, IRWIN SHAW and GUY ENDORE. Some members of the Screen Directors Guild who have been involved in various Communist activities are: HERBERT RIBEIRMAN, whose name often appears in connection with Communist front organizations and who is supposed to be the leader of the Communistic movement in the movie industry, FRANK TUTTLE, LEWIS MILESTONE, IRVING PICHEL, ORSON WELLES, FRITZ LANG and ANATOLE LITVAK.

The Screen Actors Guild contains a group of prominent individuals who have been identified with Communist Party groups; among these are JOHN GARFIELD, LUCILLE BALL, Mr. & Mrs. JAMES CLEASON, ORSON WELLES, JACK CARSON, GLORIA STUART, JEAN MUIR, FRANCES FARMER, J. EDGAR BERGMAN, GALE SONDERGAARD. FRANCES FARMER is at present in an insane asylum because of her addiction to the dope habit. GLORIA STUART was recently burned to death.

The Screen Cartoonists Guild is considered practically 100% Communistic.

The Screen Publicists Guild has promised its support to the Screen Writers Guild, which positively identifies this organization as a Communist front. Many of the individuals identified in Hollywood Communist movements were supporters of Mayor Bowron of the city of Los Angeles. Mayor Bowron is not a Communist but he very often sends his representative to lend assistance to various Communist organizations. Among the most prominent pro-Communists who aided Mayor Bowron in his campaign are: SIDNEY BUCHMAN, EDWARD CHODOROV, DOROTHY COMMMORE, JOHN GARFIELD, SHERIDAN GIBNEY, JAMES GLEASON, HERBERT JOHNELL, DONALD OGDEN STEWART and FRANK TUTTLE.

In January of 1940, which was the beginning of the American Peace Mobilization, it was stated by Hollywood Now, on January 12, particularly, that the following groups had joined the peace drive; 1. The League of American Writers; 2. The American League for Peace and Democracy; 3. The Lawyers Guild; 4. The League of Women Shoppers; 5. The American Student Union; 6. The Motion Picture Democratic Committee; 7. Hollywood League for Democratic Action.

It is evident that the League of American Writers and its affiliates named herein, the Motion Picture Democratic Committee and the Hollywood League for Democratic Action, were all following the Communist Party line at that time, which was trying to keep the United States out of the war because it interfered with the aims of Russia, which believed that Germany would conquer most of the European nations but would be in such an exhausted state after conquering them, that she would become easy prey for the Russian Army. However, Hitler's undeclared attack upon Russia upset Stalin and Molotov's calculations and they found themselves engaged in the war at an inopportune time. The line of the Communist Party therefore immediately changed and the so-called Imperialist war became a people's war. There are reams of evidence available concerning the Communist Party's attitude before and after Russia was engaged in the second World War. In view of the fact that additional individuals and organizations will be identified in a subsequent report in the event that the Hollywood investigation is continued, it is not appropriate to set forth at this time all-inclusive information concerning the organizations mentioned.

In further connection with the activities of the Office of War Information in its Bureau of Motion Pictures Overseas branch it should be stated that Philip Dunne, who was the Chief of Production for this branch of OWI, has often been associated with numerous Communist fronts on the West Coast.

COMMUNISM IN LABOR UNIONS

A lot could be said concerning the Communism in the various labor unions which are presently operating in Hollywood. A person worthy of particular mention in this connection is one HERBERT H. SORRELL. SORRELL is at present conducting a strike which has been outlawed by the American Federation of Labor and the International Committee of the I.A.T.S.E. Union. This strike has been in existence for approximately 90 days and Mr. SORRELL has been called a Communist by his own union superiors. HERBERT SORRELL is identified in the testimony of HEDDA VAIL given before the Un-American Activities Committee in California as being certainly a fellow traveler of the Communist Party and possibly a member thereof. According to the report of the Un-American Activities Committee in California SORRELL filed an application to join the Communist Party in which he used the name Stewart. However, SORRELL during an examination denied he had ever used such a name although under close examination he said that his mother's name was Daisy Frances Stewart. He frankly admitted, however, that he followed the Communist Party line when he thought it was "right."

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

SORRELL has been identified with numerous southern California Communist front organizations such as the California Conference for Democratic Action; Laborers Non-Partisan League; Motion Picture Democratic Committee and the American Peace Mobilization. His name is now on the letterhead of the Harry Bridges' Defense Committee.

The Non-Partisan Labor League had a meeting in Los Angeles on January 8, 1940 which is described in the Los Angeles Herald of January 9, 1940. This article states that members of the Non-Partisan Labor League were beginning the arms program under a banner which reads "The Yanks Are Not Coming." "Under that slogan, at the 3rd annual conference of the League an intensified campaign has been started in the United States against participation in the European war." The article states that HERBERT SORRELL was elected president of the organization. The People's World of July 9, 1943 states that HERBERT SORRELL of the American Federation of Labor, believes that the People's World is the only daily newspaper that serves labor news and views. He also said that even the labor leaders who didn't agree with you read the People's World to know what is going on. This was supposed to have been contained in a letter to the People's World.

An official committee of the I.A.T.S.E., which is further identified as the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees, has issued quite a number of bulletins concerning HERBERT SORRELL and in one of them it asked the question, "What happened to make Mr. HERBERT SORRELL change his position on June 22, 1941?" The bulletin answers the question and states that the answer is very simple, the line of the Communist Party changed. The bulletin goes on to state that before this date the war was a war of imperialists, the President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt, was a warmonger. The Communist's official publication, the People's World, screamed "The Yanks are not coming." The same paper ran an editorial to keep Roosevelt out of the White House and opposed the third term, lend-lease was all wrong, the American people were exhorted to cry out.

Then without warning Germany attacked Russia and with startling suddenness the Communist Party line changed, the war became a people's war. The President of the United States became a great man, lendlease had better be speeded up, or else. The Bulletin goes on and asks the strikers in Hollywood the question "Didn't Mr. Sorrell change his position because the Communist Party line changed?"

It appears that the evident purpose of SORRELL in continuing the strike is to change the Painters Union and other unions into the jurisdiction of the CIO instead of the American Federation of Labor.

In a bulletin dated August 3, 1945 the I.A.T.S.E. Union said that at the time the strike was called, on March 12, 1945, the Party line of the Communists was against strikes. At that time Russia was still fighting Germany and all loyal Party members were instructed to avoid strikes or any action that would jeopardize the nation's war effort. Therefore, while the Communists as such did not approve of SORRELL's strike yet they were very much in favor of the objectives which he was trying to obtain.

Therefore, the individual members of the Party supported the strike with every weapon at their command. As the strike progressed it became obvious that SORRELL was losing their approval and that the Commies were getting ready to "drop" SORRELL. Worthy of mention is an article in the Daily Worker entitled, "A good guy gone wrong" in which SORRELL was built up for the letdown. However, as the strike further progressed it became evident to the Communist Party members that they were not only losing "Sorry SORRELL" but they also were going to lose the hold they had obtained on certain factions within the studio unions and particularly within the I.A.T.S.E. Union.

From the date of this editorial until a short time ago, according to the bulletin, the Communists were apparently sizing up the situation and trying to determine which course of action on their part would be most effective, but then during that period the Party line changed again, the war in Europe ended, and the Communist Political Association again became the Communist Party and so the Communists came out into the open in behalf of SORRELL and his striking unions. In connection with the activity of the Communists and labor unions in California it is deemed appropriate to include the following resolution which was adopted by the Executive Council of the California State Federation of Labor on June 15 and 16, 1945, at the Senator Hotel in Sacramento, which describes the activities of the Communist Party in the California Labor unions.

"Resolution on New Orientation of Communist Party"

By C. J. Haggerty, Secretary
California State Federation of Labor

"Whereas, The National Board of the Communist Political Association adopted a resolution entitled "V-E Day and the Tasks Ahead," with only one dissenting vote, and

"Whereas, This resolution in analyzing the situation developing after the end of the war in Europe states as follows:

'In the recent period, especially since January, 1944, these mistakes consisted in drawing a number of erroneous conclusions from the historic significance of the Teheran accord. Among these false conclusions was the concept that after the military defeat of Germany, the decisive sections of big capital would participate in the struggle to complete the destruction of fascism and would cooperate with the working people in the maintenance of post war national unity.

'This illusion had no foundation in life, either in the class nature of finance capital, or in the post war aims of the trusts and cartels which seek imperialist aggrandisement and huge profits at the expense of the people'; and

"Whereas, The resolution went on to say that the Communist Political Association must 'wage a resolute ideological struggle on the theoretical front, enhancing the Marxist understanding of our entire organisation and leadership'; and

"Whereas, It is evident from the action taken by the Communist Political Association that it is now applying a new sig to its many sig-zags and is definitely predicating its future activity on the basis of invigorating its class struggle policy as is further made strikingly clear by the beginning of a series of articles by Vern Smith, Foreign Editor of the People's World, the exponent of the Communist Political Association on the West Coast, in which he states that the present war, as far as the governments of the United States and Great Britain are concerned, was 'merely a war to destroy a dangerous imperialist rival'; and

"Whereas, This new orientation exposes the sham and hypocrisy of its alleged position, previously propagandized and widely publicized that it favors labor-management,cooperation, the elimination of the class struggle, and its so-called 'no strike' pledge; and

"Whereas, As a result of this new line it can be anticipated that the Communist Party will use its full influence within the trade union movement to disrupt and sabotage the efforts that have been made and are being made by the leaders of industry and labor as exemplified in the Johnston-Green-Murray pact to promote a greater understanding and harmony between management and labor; and

"Whereas, efforts will undoubtedly be made not only to disorient and disunite labor as much as possible, but to create dissension and confusion among the people of the State of California and the nation, through their usual shady and unscrupulous manouverings to divide public opinion in every conceivable way; and

"Whereas, In order to combat the materialization of this nefarious and destructive policy labor must be on guard against an increase in the demagogic appeals to resort to wildcat and irresponsible action above the heads of the responsible agencies within labor, and the struggle to get control of as many segments of the labor movement as possible will be intensified; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Executive Council of the California State Federation of Labor now in session, go on record as condemning the Communist Party, regardless of what guise it assumes, either as an association or a party, and call upon its affiliates and the labor movement as a whole to take similar action and unite their forces to combat the to-be-expected revival of disruptive activity; and be it further

"Resolved, That the California State Federation of Labor do everything within its power to expose the sinister workings of this unpatriotic clique within the labor movement and among the people generally; and be it further

"Resolved, That the widest publicity be given this resolution.

"ADOPTED AND CONCURRED IN BY THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF THE CALIFORNIA STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR-June 15 and 16, 1945
Senator Hotel, Sacramento

"Only a few minutes before this resolution was brought on the floor, a somewhat similar resolution was introduced condemning fascism in general, and Gerald L. K. Smith in particular. This was passed by an overwhelming vote. But when the resolution condemning Communism came to be considered, a tremendous opposite arose - delegates from the following locals spoke and voted against the adoption of the resolution: Hollywood Painters' Local 5; Motion Picture Painters' 644; S.C.E.C., of the Painters'; Studio Machinists'; and Electricians' Locals 18, 40 and 1311. All of them were most vehement in their denunciation of the resolution condemning the activities of Communists and their efforts to disrupt the labor unions of California. While the resolution was passed notwithstanding this opposition, there was a considerable block of votes in opposition to the resolution. The fact that this element is so firmly entrenched in our labor unions - the fact that they can stand up in our Central Labor Council and openly condemn the opposition of their officers to a movement, which is "boring within" our trade labor movements, shows the danger which the American labor movement faces if it is to remain a free labor movement."

No further information concerning the strike was obtained. However, the names of numerous members of the Communist Party who belonged to the various labor unions in California are available and can be obtained in the event the Committee expresses an interest in the labor situation as it exists in the state of California.

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT'S INTEREST IN MOTION PICTURES

Some mention has been made in this report concerning the interest of the Soviet Russian Government or at least the interest of the Communist Party, in the motion picture industry. In this connection it should be stated that in the summer of 1943 one MIKHAIL KALATOZV made his appearance in Hollywood and in the words of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, the purpose of his visit was to "strengthen the artistic and commercial ties between the cinema people of the United States and those of the Soviet Union." But apparently his duties extended beyond that as will be shown in this report. Just prior to his arrival an announcement was made by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, 314-316 Broadway Arcade Building that "Mr. KALATOZV will be presented to the local film colony at a reception and cocktail party on August 22, which is being arranged by the Motion Picture Committee of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship and is sponsored by a distinguished group of film notables including, LEWIS MILESTONE, SIDNEY BUCHMAN, AARON COPLAND, NORMAN CORWIN, GEORGE CUKOR, HAROLD GLUCKMAN, MICHAEL CURTIZ, JOHN GARFIELD, LILLIAN HELLMAN, JAMES WONG HOWE, BRUCE MANNING, DUDLEY NICHOLS, CLIFFORD ODETS, LEWIS MILESTONE, FRANK TUTTLE, PAUL ROBESON, FRANCHOT TONE, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, ORSON WELLES and JOHN WEXLEY.

The West Coast organ of the Communist Party, the People's World, carried an article concerning KALATOZV on September 10, 1943. While in Los Angeles KALATOZV resided at [redacted] which is close to the Soviet Consulate and near the homes of some of Hollywood's best-known stars. KALATOZV was described as the representative of the USSR at the Writers Congress held at the University of California in Los Angeles on October 12 and 13, 1943.

b7C

It appears that while KALATOZV was in Hollywood he secured the cooperation of at least onecof the major studios. For on December 7 1943, KALATOZV cabled his superior ALEXANDER ANDRIANSKY at Sayuzintorgkino malyi, Gnezdnekovsky 7, Moscow: "Lawrence agrees to distribute our films in Africa, Italy, France. Agreement advantageous to us. Imperative that we receive immediate reply." This telegram indicates that KALATOZV had secured an agreement with one of the studios to distribute Communistic films in Africa, Italy and France, which means that as our American troops liberated countries and cities the motion picture studios of the United States would come along with Communistic propaganda films furnished them direct from Moscow as per the agreement with KALATOZV.

APPARENTLY KALATOZV made some kind of an agreement with the RKO studios for on January 20, 1944 he received the following cablegram from his superior ALEXANDER ANDRIEVSKY which states "Agreement RKO not received. Will cable after receipt. Should be letter later concerning. You should receive detailed cable." Further information regarding the possible agreement indicated above is not at present available. It is evident that KALATOZV was very desirous of having his superior see some recent Warner Bros. pictures. On January 23, 1944, KALATOZV cabled him in part "ALEXANDER ANDRIEVSKY, Cinema Committee Moscow USSR immediate information. Have Warner Bros. films brought to Moscow been seen by you." On November 6, 1943, KALATOZV cabled LEONID KHACHEKO of the Soviet motion picture Trust Center Kino studios, Almaty Kazahstan, USSR, as follows: "Hollywood film seen today. We had your worthy pictures." It appears that KALATOZV possibly arranged for the distribution of Soviet motion pictures in the United States. The firm of Warner Bros. has been mentioned hereinbefore in this report and it appears that Warner Bros. are the favorites of the People's World, the official West Coast organ of the Communist Party. DAVID PLATT, who has also been mentioned in this report on June 12, 1943, wrote an article in the People's World in which he made the following comments on Warner Bros., individually and on their studios. "Of all the film studios in Hollywood only one has a consistent record for outstanding achievement. That studio is the 100% pro-New Deal Warner Bros. studio." "Mission to Moscow", "Action in the North Atlantic", "Casablanca", "Air Force," "Edge of Darkness", "Watch on the Rhine." What other studio can match this magnificent six-months record of "Win the War" films."

HARRY and JACK WARNER, President and Executive Producer, respectively, of Warner Bros. have been loyal supporters of the Roosevelt administration since 1932. During the past 10 or 11 years they have produced over a score of distinguished New Deal films dealing with such topics as lynching, chain gang slavery, juvenile delinquency, unemployment, tenant farming, medical science, democracy and the menace of Fascism. Although this article sounds highly in favor of the New Deal, it appears that if it was necessary for Warner Bros. to produce pictures such as those described above the New Deal laws have been pretty terrible. For the analysis of the propaganda contained herein would show that under the New Deal there was lynching, chain gang slavery, juvenile delinquency, unemployment, tenant farming, and the menace of Fascism.

Much has been said concerning the propaganda motion picture "Mission to Moscow". Unverified information is to the effect that this was a propaganda film on behalf of Ambassador Davies, who desired to run for the Presidency of the United States. It has also been said that this film is strictly a Russian propaganda picture on behalf of the Soviet Union and on behalf of Communism. This picture falsifies history, distorts facts. It is a smear on the United States and on Great Britain. In its final analysis it attempts to smear the Congress of the United States and it is an effort to whitewash all the past sins of Joseph Stalin.

Much can be said about this picture but the following information which is taken from the book, "The Curtain Rises" by Quentin Reynolds, who by no stretch of the imagination could be classed as anti-Soviet Union, describes the reception which was accorded this picture in Moscow.

" Maxim Litvinov arrived a day or so after Mr. Davies, and Litvinov brought a print of the Warner Brothers picture, "Mission to Moscow", with him. Stalin tendered a dinner to Mr. Davies at the Kremlin a few days after his arrival. It was a typical Kremlin show reserved for visiting big shots with the usual twenty or so courses and thirty or so toasts. The press, of course, is never permitted to breathe the rarefied air of Kremlin dinners, but our friends in the various embassies always give us accurate reports of such dinners. To us the real big news of the dinner was the fact that Nikolai Palgunov attended. That meant that he was still in high favor. We had been hoping that his inefficiency and poor judgment would by now have percolated up to the cognizant presence of Vyshinsky or Molotov and that he might be on his way out. The fact that he was at the dinner meant that he was still the white-haired boy in the press department of the Foreign Office, which is depressing news for us. The other news was that the film, 'Mission to Moscow', was shown in Stalin's private projection room after the dinner. Some of the British and Americans who have been here for many, many years and who really know Russia told us that Stalin gave a magnificent performance during the showing of the picture.

'Walter Huston was fine,' a British member of the diplomatic corps told us, 'but he couldn't compare with Stalin. Do you know that Stalin kept a straight face throughout the showing? He didn't laugh once.'

A few days later the film was shown at our embassy at one of the usual Saturday-afternoon shows. It was a beautiful technical job and the performances of the character actors who figured in the trial scenes were especially magnificent. But the film portrayed a Russia that none of us had ever seen. This would have been allright, except that the picture purported to be factual and the Russia shown in the film had as much relation to the Russia we all knew as Shangrila would have to the real T ibet.

Correspondents like Henry Shapiro, Jean Champenois and Alfred Cholerton who had been in Moscow for many years were bewildered. The film had telescoped two purge trials into one and had not presented them with any degree of accuracy; no fault of course in a picture which did not claim to be factual. But this picture did. We all had copies (in English) of the testimony given at the trials and it varied considerably from what was shown on the screen. In the actual trials Radek's defense had been impassioned and brilliant and Bukharin's vituperative combbacks at Prosecutor Vyshinsky's expense masterpieces of invective. The Warner Brothers' or Davies' version differed considerably. In the film Radek is condemned to death. Actually he was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment.

The veteran diplomats were also astounded at the treatment given Lord Chislen in the picture. Chislen was British Ambassador to Russia during Mr. Davies' tenure of the American ambassadorship. In the film Chislon was made out to be a half-wit. Veteran embassy officials and correspondents couldn't understand that at all.

'Litvinov once told me during those days,' a correspondent said, 'that there were only two foreign diplomats in Moscow he had any respect for. They were Chislen and the German Ambassador, Von Schulenberg.'

We were all frankly embarrassed by the picture. I was especially amazed because I knew the Warner Brothers and their brilliant staff that so faithfully mirrored the careers of men like Dr. Erlich, Pasteur, Zola and others whom they made subjects of pictures. It was hard to believe that they had made this factually incorrect film. It would have been so easy for Warner Brothers to have called in any correspondent who had spent some time in Russia to check up on factual details. If the purpose of the picture was to improve relations between America and Russia it was completely defeated by the obvious inaccuracies shown on the screen. It was such a pity that no one with any knowledge of Russia was called in to advise on the story. It would have been a great picture and an honest one.

I met one of the officials of Voks the day after the picture was shown to us. Voks passes on all foreign pictures before they are shown in Russia. I asked him if Mission to Moscow would be released to the public.

'Well,' he hesitated, 'we'd like to release it, but of course,' he added in perfect seriousness, 'we'd have to cut a great deal of the Russian part out of it.'"

JACK WARNER of the Warner Bros. Studio, which produced the picture, stated that even if the picture cost a million and a half dollars and resulted in an absolute loss it would still be a worthy picture since it shows the close relation between the United States and its ally, the Soviet Union.

Every effort is being made by persons connected with the movie industry in Hollywood to prevent the smearing of any of the major motion picture studios and it appears that concentrated efforts have been made to more or less keep Warner Bros. in the clear if possible. It has been generally reported that Jack and Harry Warner do not know actually the situation as it exists in their studio. However, certainly a large number of propaganda pictures have been issued by that studio, especially in motion picture short subjects which have been described previously herein.

CONCLUSION

It should be stated in this report that on June 7, 1945 at the Maroon Cartoonists Studio, located on Yucca Boulevard, Hollywood, California, the Communist Party had a meeting which was announced as a reception to the New Masses writers and artists. The chairman of the meeting was Ruth McKinney, who is a staff writer for the New Masses and the wife of [illegible], publisher of the New Masses. Also taking an active part in the meeting were [illegible] FOSTER, the Hollywood motion picture critic for the New Masses, and WILLIAM GROPPER, who is a cartoonist for every Communist publication that was ever issued. During the meeting RUTH MCKINNEY said that the city of New York had outlived its usefulness as the Communist Party head quarters and that its greatest friends and influences were located in Hollywood. She indicated that a message for Communism could be carried through the movies and through the medium of popular expression which was akin to the movie industry. Her husband, [illegible] HINTON, publisher of the New Masses, made a statement to the effect that the infiltration of the ranks of the men of the armed forces was highly important and that a soldier located miles from home could best be reached through the WVO organizations. He said that Communist girls should be enrolled in the WVO in order that they could have close contact with the members of the armed forces. It was also mentioned at this meeting that the Communist Party had a stake in China and that the Soviet Government would enter the Japanese war at the proper moment but not out of altruism. It should be noted at this time that as early as 1938 the Communists of the United States were very much interested in the Communion of China and were opposed to the Government headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Previous information concerning the activities of the Communist Party in this connection has been set forth in this report.

At the meeting described a special subscription blank to the New Masses in the form of a bomb was distributed. Everyone present was urged to take a book which contained five of the blanks and sell subscriptions to New Masses. The persons buying the subscriptions were urged to send the publication to the Army, Navy, the Wacs and the Waves in order that they could be kept informed and to further the infiltration of the ranks of the service people. About two nights after this meeting on June 9, 1945, LEWIS MILESTONE, a Communist director and writer in Hollywood, invited all of the non-Communists in the movie industry to be guests at his home. The guests of honor included HINTON, McKINNEY, POSTER and GROPPER, who were the leading Communists in attendance at the New Masses meeting held two nights before in the Screen Cartoonists Guild Hall. LEWIS MILESTONE, shortly after the meeting, conducted an auction of art pictures for the benefit of the Red Masses publication, at the American Art Galleries on Wilshire Boulevard in Hollywood, California. Among those who purchased pictures at this auction were MILESTONE, LLOYD BRIGHT, personal representative for CHARLES CHAPLIN, JAMES CAGNEY, J. EDGARD BRIGHTMAN, SYLVIA SIDNEY, and HERBERT BIBERMAN. Shortly before the institution of the investigation of the movie industry in Hollywood, GERALD L. K. SMITH, who is described as a Fascist by the Communist Party, appeared in the state of California and held considerable meetings at which he expressed his anti-Semitic views. In order to overcome SMITH'S influence the Communists in Hollywood sponsored a series of meetings which they called the anti-SMITH rallies.

At one of these meetings held in the Olympic Auditorium BURGESS MEREDITH, who is the star of "GI Joe" was the guest speaker. Before he spoke MEREDITH said that he held in his hands a speech which had been prepared by some well-known Hollywood writers which was intended to show the enormous contribution which the Jewish people in the movie industry had made to the war effort. After making this statement MEREDITH tore the speech apart and said that he would make a speech that those present would like to hear. He then launched an attack against Congressman John Rankin, and during this attack he made the statement that Hollywood would have no fear of an investigation since he felt that it was only necessary to turn his wife, PAULETTE GODDARD and MARLENE DIETRICH over to the investigators and that they would then forget all about the investigation. MEREDITH's reputation is certainly questionable according to reliable sources in Hollywood, California, and it is hard to believe that a man such as MEREDITH should be allowed to portray the life of a great American such as Ernie Pyle.

Before concluding this report it appears expedient to mention the story of IVAN LEBEDEFF, who is an actor and a motion picture writer. LEBEDEFF has been engaged in the motion picture industry for twenty years. He has given a series of lectures against Communism which have been well attended in Hollywood. He is a marvelous speaker although he speaks with a slight Russian accent. LEBEDEFF is a White Russian and fought against the Communists during the time of the Russian Revolution. During the last presidential campaign LEBEDEFF gave a series of talks on behalf of a candidate for the presidency of the United States, Thomas E. Dewey. Shortly after the presidential election LEBEDEFF received a call from a person who identified himself as Mr. MATTEY. During the conversation LEBEDEFF was informed that he should get wise to himself and get on the right side. When the caller was asked by LEBEDEFF as to what he meant by that statement the caller told him to discontinue his lectures against Communism or he would never see the inside of the studio again except as a visitor. When LEBEDEFF asked MATTEY what he would receive provided he did get on the right side MATTEY replied that LEBEDEFF would be set up on a long-term contract with one of the major studios. When LEBEDEFF asked MATTEY how he could possibly trust a person who would sell himself out MATTEY said "We don't operate on promises. If it's a deal you are to join the Communist Party and sign an application for membership in the presence of a notary public so that there won't be any loopholes for you to wriggle out of." LEBEDEFF of course refused the proposition made by the caller and for 16 months he never saw the inside of a studio. He has recently obtained a part in a picture which is being directed by SAM WOOD. Later LEBEDEFF wrote two stories for the motion picture industry, one of which he sold for $7,500. MARTIN HANLEY, the Chief story buyer for for Warner Bros., evidenced a great interest in the other story and told LEBEDEFF to finish it immediately. However, after a considerable lapse of time LEBEDEFF was told by HEMLEIN that the story could not be used and HEMLEIN subsequently avoided seeing LEBEDEFF. Later HEMLEIN, who is now connected with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, told LEBEDEFF that he would like to see him and get together on a story. The next time HEMLEIN saw LEBEDEFF he told LEBEDEFF that he had a bad reputation because of his political beliefs. A short time after this happened LEBEDEFF secured a part with the RKO picture studios but was later dropped from the cast because he was told that he wanted too much money. When LEBEDEFF told SAM WOOD that he had been dropped from the cast of this second picture because he wanted too much money he told WOOD that the difference in the salary between his request and the other actor who got the part, was only about $200 and that this meant nothing to a studio such as RKO.

Mr. WOOD at present intends to have the other studios produce pictures in which parts will be written in for LEBEDEFF to portray. It is believed that this is illustrative of the methods used by the Communists in the Hollywood movie industry, particularly it demonstrates the hold which the Communists have upon the industry.

While in Hollywood the writer contacted the following persons connected with the movie industry: SAM WOOD, V. FRANK FREEMAN, EDWARD BENNETT ROGERS, JAMES McGUINNESS, ADOLPHE MENJOU, GINGER ROGERS, CECIL B. DEMILLE, RONALD REAGAN, IVAN LEBEDEFF, VICTOR FLEMING, GREGORY RATOFF, BRYAN FOY, SYDNEY BUCHMAN, DONALD LAUKING, SAM HASKINS and numerous other individuals. The executives of the motion picture industry have stated that they will cooperate provided the Committee will furnish the names of the individuals involved.

They offered very little or no factual evidence as to the Communist activities in Hollywood and all feel that the newspaper statements made prior to the investigation have condemned the industry, and as a result they are all highly incensed because they feel that the investigation is a publicity enterprise to be conducted by this Committee. They all stated that they feel the Communist situation on the West Coast is a dangerous one and that any investigation should include not only the movie industry but the political and labor field as well. They have stated that the Communists are definitely trying to gain control of the industry through their guilds and unions but that they are unable to do anything about it. They said that the names of the individuals engaged in the Communistic activities on the West Coast should be published through some manner or means and that the Communist Party should be driven out of existence. They feel that newspaper statements should be made to retract those previously issued by the Committee which in their interpretation condemns the entire movie industry. They say there are numerous people in Hollywood who are trying to have the industry taken over by the Communists but that these persons form only a very small, but dangerous minority.

If this investigation is to be continued it will require the services of more investigators and the payment of sums of money to various individuals on the West Coast for their assistance in gathering information for the furtherance of this investigation.

There are numerous other individuals on the West Coast who should be contacted for the purpose of securing their aid in this investigation. Victor Fleming, an independent director, has stated that he will arrange for the showing of at least 20 pictures which have been produced in Hollywood and which definitely contain Communistic propaganda.

BEST COPY

As shown in this report numerous short subjects have been overlooked by every investigating agency, particularly those produced by Warner Bros., and it will be necessary to either visually review the short pictures produced by Warner Bros. or read the scripts applying to these short subjects. These two things appear relatively important to this investigation since the greatest concentration of Communistic power in the movie industry lies in the propaganda issued by the persons who write these questionable pictures. The writers are described by the motion picture executives as belonging to a group of creative individuals who have in their power the future of the American motion picture industry, since it is their work in the writing field which make motion pictures that they are.

Considerable additional information could be included in this report but since it was only intended to give a preliminary picture of the entire situation in Los Angeles and vicinity, this report has stressed only the angles in the political field, the motion picture field, and the certain organizations which are in existence on the West Coast at the present time.

In conclusion it might be interesting to state that CECIL B. DEMILLE at the present time is not broadcasting over the airwaves because of his failure to contribute to a labor union. He is very much interested in the labor union angle of this investigation and he has stated that he would be willing to air his views concerning the labor unions before this Committee.

The complete data relating to the DEMILLE dispute with the labor union has been gathered and will be made the subject of a separate report in the event any members of the Committee express an interest therein. It is to be noted that not only Mr. DeMille but the other persons mentioned, will not be in a position to furnish factual information to the Committee concerning Communism in California.

SUBJECT: CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS
MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

As the Bureau is aware, the jurisdictional strike called by HERBERT SORRELL on March 12, 1945 over the question of whether Local 1421, a member of the Conference of Studio Unions, or Local 44, a member of the I.A.T.S.E., would represent the Screen Set Decorators, was settled on October 25, 1945, largely through the intervention of Movie Czar ERIC JOHNSTON.

However, it now appears that a new strike move is underway in the Motion Picture Industry and articles appearing in this morning's papers quote an official of the A.F. of L. Central Labor Council as predicting that a new strike will break out in the Motion Picture Industry within the next ten days. This new strike, which would affect M.G.M., 20th Century-Fox, Columbia, Universal, R.K.O. and Republic, may be caused by a demand of the Screen Office Employees Guild that the studios be placed on the unfair list because of their anticipated recognition of an independent union which has recently been formed by those members of the S.O.E.G. who refused to go on strike.

Reliable contacts in the Motion Picture Industry have recently informed me that a large majority of the Screen Publicists have voted to form a new independent union, and this, of course, will cause the present Screen Publicists Guild, which is affiliated with the Conference of Studio Unions, to make some move in order to maintain their present status.

Quoting some unidentified A. F. of L. Central Labor Council Spokesman local news story states that at a meeting of the A. F. of L. Central Labor Council last night a unanimous vote was taken to call a strike in the Motion Picture Industry within the next ten days. However, it appears that the producers are going to recognize independent unions rather than those affiliated with the A. F. of L. It is also understood that a vote was taken which approved a resolution that studios may sign contracts only with A. F. of L. Unions.

The Bureau will be advised of any developments.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS: The Communist Party in Southern California has taken the position of a legitimate party. Its influence on public officials has reached an alarming stage. Although a temporary settlement of the studio strike has been made, the Communists are again agitating for a new strike. The Hollywood Independent Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions is becoming the main pressure group, taking the lead in all political action. It is holding a mass meeting on 12-12-45 to put pressure on the U. S. Government to share the atomic bomb with Soviet Russia. A conference on U.S.-Russian cultural exchange was held at the University of California at Los Angeles on 12-7 and 8, 1945, to bring about closer intellectual and cultural ties between the U.S. and Russia. The American Youth for Democracy is being sponsored by the Communists and leaders in the various Communist-front organizations in Hollywood and is now being directed by the HICC of ASP. The Hollywood Writers' Mobilization apparently is gradually going out of existence, and the field heretofore occupied by it is being taken over by the HICC of ASP. The Conference of Studio Unions is under the Communist influence and is being directed by HERBERT K. SORRELL, a Communist who is seeking to foment another strike to extend its scope of activity and influence. All activities of the Communists at the present time are openly directed toward those things which would benefit the Soviet Union. Dr. HARLOW SHAPLEY has spoken at a meeting at UCLA on 12-7 and 8 and will speak

Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINDLAY, dated 11-9-45 at Los Angeles.

DETAILS: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

Source A has informed that the Communist activity in the Hollywood motion picture industry is moving out into the open more and more as the new Communist "party line" takes effect. Known Communists and those who follow the party line or sympathize with aims of the Communists now do not hesitate to support openly known Communist activity or even to deny that it is Communist activity.

The position now being taken by the Communist Party in the United States, as expressed by WILLIAM Z. FOSTER, is that as the Communists are recognized as legitimate parties in such countries as France, Italy, and other European countries, and as the Chinese Communist armies in Asia are being treated as legitimate forces, there is no reason why the party in the United States should not be so recognized. This position is being taken by all Communists in the United States.

This source also informed that in the Hollywood motion picture industry the effect of this position is being seen in the type and extent of activity indulged in by certain Hollywood figures who have heretofore contributed their efforts with extreme caution. As a result of this more open approach, the strength of Communist influence in the motion picture industry is being demonstrated. It now becomes apparent that this strength is much greater than was supposed heretofore. Its influence on public officials and the political field generally is so marked that many in the locality are becoming alarmed, especially those who now hold office in the city and county of Los Angeles, and even the state of California as a whole.

The recent strike which was led by Communists within and without the industry brought this strength out into the open, and the Communists in the Hollywood area have been much encouraged by the results. It proved that very few officials, judges, law-enforcement officers, and legislators were willing to take a strong position in this matter.

Source A states that this Communist-led strike was a test and the Communists gained much thereby. They were so encouraged by the results that even though there has been a temporary settlement of this strike, they are still agitating for a repetition of the demonstration.

The producers of motion pictures have not yet taken a stand on the subject of Communist infiltration of their industry, although they are fully aware that a serious situation exists. More and more, Hollywood is becoming the center of Communist pressure activity. In all such activity the motion picture industry is being used as the bait to draw attention.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES, AND PROFESSIONS.

Source A informs that this organization is becoming the main pressure group, using the film industry and its personalities as a base. It has affiliated itself with all local Communist efforts, such as the Mobilization for Democracy, American Youth for Democracy (formerly the Young Communist League), the CIO unions, the Emergency Housing Conference, a local issue which the Communist Party is exploiting for Communist advancement, etc.

On December 12 this Committee is holding a mass meeting at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium (seating 8,000 persons). This meeting is for the purpose of putting pressure on the United States Government to share the atomic bomb with Soviet Russia.

The principal speaker and leading figure of this meeting will be Dr. HARLOW SHAPLEY, director of the Harvard Observatory. Dr. SHAPLEY recently made the trip to Moscow, Russia, as a delegate to a conference of scientists, some of whom were refused visas for the gathering. Dr. SHAPLEY is becoming the leader of one of the leading "fronts" for Communists in the cultural circles. Others to appear at the meeting are:

HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS, Congresswoman from California

COLONEL EVANS CARLSON, who is now definitely committed to the Communist Party line and whom the Communists are proposing for Sheriff of Los Angeles County at the next election.

The Los Angeles "News" for December 7, 1945, stated that Dr. HARLOW SHAPLEY of Harvard University appeared in Los Angeles and participated in a two-day meet at the University of California at Los Angeles sponsored by Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. Dr. SHAPLEY spoke on the explosive power of atomic energy in terms of energy considerations in a factor of ten million to one over any other such discovery up to the present time. The article stated that Dr. SHAPLEY headed the American delegation to the recent 220th anniversary session of the Russian Academy of Sciences in the U.S.S.R., emphasized the immediate need for Russian, British, and American cooperation and agreement. He stated: "These three countries should share the responsibility for the atomic bomb until such time as the United Nations organization can take over, to prevent our erecting any more hatred and competition over this lethal power."

The article further stated: "The renowned educator will address the Independent Citizens' Committee meeting in Hollywood Legion Stadium December 12, 1945, on 'Atomic Power and Foreign Policy'."

CONFERENCE ON U.S.-RUSSIAN CULTURAL EXCHANGE

Source A informs that the above is the title of a "conference" to be held on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles, December 7 and 8, 1945. The purpose is stated to be to "bring about closer intellectual and cultural ties" between the United States and Russia. Those engaging in this meeting are:

*JOHN HOWARD LAWSON
*ALBERT MALTZ, writer
*THEODORE DREISER, writer
EUDICE SHAPIRO
*SIDNEY BUCHMAN, writer
DR. HARRY HOIJER, U.C.L.A. professor
WILLIAM DIETERLE, motion picture director and producer
DR. CLARENCE DYKSTRA, U.C.L.A. provost
PROF. A. R. LURIE, of the Moscow Institute of Experimental Medicine
DR. N. T. MIROV, Director of California Forest and Range Experimental Station
THOMAS MANN, writer, German refugee recently naturalized
DR. HARLOW SHAPLEY, professor at Harvard
DR. HOLLAND ROBERTS, Director of Tom Mooney Labor School, San Francisco

The principal speaker of the meeting was Dr. HOLLAND ROBERTS. Dr. ROBERTS is the director of the Communist San Francisco Labor School (formerly the Tom Mooney Labor School).

(December 8: this meeting has now been held and the entire session was devoted to praise of the cultural advancement of Soviet Russia and criticism of the same in the United States.)

Others who spoke at this meeting were:

DR. FRANKLIN FEARING, U.C.L.A. professor
WILLIAM DIETERLE, motion picture director and producer
*JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, writer and C.P. functionary
DR. J. AGINS, a local "practitioner"
DR. REUBEN STRAUSS
DR. ELENA BODER
DR. F. M. POTTENGER, sanitarium operator
STEPAN APRESIAN, Soviet vice-consul at San Francisco

This gathering was completely inspired by the Communist Party working through those connected with the motion picture industry. This fact is recognized by the California Joint-Fact-Finding Committee on un-American Activities. This Committee is now preparing to open hearings on the tie-up between the motion picture industry and the University of California at Los Angeles. These hearings will take place soon after January 1, 1946.

The link between the Communists in the Hollywood film industry and the State University is clear and well defined.

AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY (Formerly the Young Communist League)

This Communist organization, which according to Source A was set up to capture the youth of this country, is making great headway in Southern California and like all other groups of this nature in the locality has the sponsorship and support of the Communists in the film industry, thus gaining attention not otherwise attainable.

On Sunday, December 16, 1945, the second anniversary of this Communist Party-directed organization will be held at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. Those connected with the Hollywood motion picture industry who will sponsor and take part in this celebration and mass meeting are:

*JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, writer and C.P. functionary
FRANK SINATRA (now a full-fledged follower of the party line)
NORMAN CORWIN, radio writer
ALBERT DEKKER, state assemblyman
CARLETON MOSS, producer of Army films in war
PEGGY RYAN, screen actress
BILL MAULDIN, cartoonist, now connected with the motion picture industry (U)
INGRID BERGMAN, screen actress

*ARTIE SHAW, band leader
*ALVAH BESSIE, writer
DORE SCHARY, producer
BARNEY ROSS, pugilist
COLONEL EVANS F. CARLSON, commander of Marines
ROBERT W. KENNY, California Attorney General
ELLIS E. PATTERSON, Congressman from California
*EARL ROBINSON, song writer
THOMAS MANN, refugee writer, recently naturalized
JOHN B. HUGHES, radio commentator
JOHN CROMWELL, director
*DALTON TRUMBO, writer
*EDWARD BIBERMAN, artist
REUBEN W. BOROUGH, publicist
DR. FRANK SAVIS, U.C.L.A.
EDWARD DMYTRYK, director
LION FEUCHTWANGER, writer and refugee
DR. FRANKLIN FEARING, U.C.L.A.
IRVING FINEMAN, writer
NED R. HEALY, Congressman from California

RING LARDNER, JR., writer
*ALBERT MALTZ, writer
SAM MOORE, radio writer
*SAMUEL ORNITZ, writer
FRANK SCULLY, writer
*HERBERT K. SORRELL, labor leader in studios

All the foregoing have direct or indirect connections with the motion picture industry.

All of the persons before whose name an asterisk appears have heretofore been reported as having Communist Party records in the Los Angeles Bureau Office.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS' MOBILIZATION

Source A informs that this propaganda organization came into existence right after the Pearl Harbor attack and took the place of the League of American Writers. Its principal field of activity was with the Office of War Information, and as that organization is preparing to go out of existence on January 1, 1946, as far as Hollywood is concerned, the major part of its activities are being transferred over to the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions which has now become the main pressure group in the Hollywood area.

For this reason it is beginning to appear that the Mobilization is becoming more and more inactive. It had announced before the war ended that it would call an international writers' congress for October of 1945. Nothing further has been heard of this proposal, and it is believed that the recent activities at U.C.L.A. have been substituted for the proposed congress.

It also announced the publication of a magazine, the Hollywood Quarterly, to be issued jointly with the University of California at Los Angeles. This magazine was issued but has not been pushed overly much so far. This is probably due to the fact that a pending state investigation of the Mobilization and its Communist connections with the University might divulge the role the Communist Party is playing behind the scenes. At any rate, the Mobilization is not active at the present time to any noticeable extent.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A asserts that this group of unions within the AF of L, which was responsible for the recent strike and attending violence under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist, has gained prestige since the temporary cessation of that strike. The strike was halted temporarily for the purpose of trying to settle differences between the Communist-led unions and the unions not controlled by the Communists; however, it is believed that this is only a truce and it is expected that another strike will soon develop over some other manufactured issue. The purpose of the strike originally was to take over the rest of the studio unions by the Communist-led locals. They did not succeed entirely and they are still maneuvering within the studios to bring it about.

All during the progress of this strike the IATSE, comprising the block of unions opposed to Communist domination, exposed clearly the Communist connection with the strike.

The Hollywood motion picture producers were shown that beyond a doubt the Communist Party was the force behind the scenes directing the affair. Yet, for some strange reason the producers would never recognize this openly or take any action whatsoever to offset Communist domination or infiltration.

The matter of Communist activity in the Hollywood motion picture industry is well known to the heads of the industry and has been for years, yet there has never been any attempt by the producers to head it off. In fact, there never has been a public statement by the makers of motion pictures that they were opposed to Communism and the activity of Communists in the picture industry.

They have known for years that HERBERT K. SORRELL was a Communist and that his following were either Communists or violent sympathizers with Communism. Yet they have appeased SORRELL and his machine over and over again and, as much as any other influence, are responsible for the infiltration of Communists into Hollywood. They have never objected to their industry being made a stepping-stone for Communist activities.

All the foregoing activities of the Communist machine in the Hollywood industry, especially on the part of the cultural and creative pressure groups, are now being directed toward the new "orientation" of the party line. The new line now calls for the following activity according to importance to the world Communist movement:

1. Educate the masses that the foreign policy of the United States is now imperialistic and that therefore we should immediately withdraw all troops from foreign countries, especially China. (Obviously to get out of the way of Communist domination.)

2. Put pressure on the United States Government to "internationalize" the atomic bomb. Meaning that the secret should be given to Soviet Russia. The instructions are that meetings should be immediately held all over the United States to demand that this be carried out.

3. In the labor field, conduct an open and undercover attack against the American Federation of Labor on the pretext that it is "imperialist" by nature.

4. Build up the International Federation of Trade Unions (IFTU) which is now acting, in effect, as a new "Comintern" of labor.

5. Accentuate the "class struggle" by instigating and supporting strikes in all industry. The purpose of this is to weaken the structure of "bourgeois democracy" and prevent a return to a normal condition of employment to prove that "capitalism" cannot solve the economic problems of this country.

6. To more and more bring the Communist Party out into the open in order to condition the American people into an acceptance of the party as a part of the American scene and thus remove the stigma heretofore attached to the words "Communist" and "Communism."

The Communist Party in Southern California has taken the position of a legitimate party. Its influence on public officials has reached an alarming stage. Although a temporary settlement of the studio strike has been made, the Communists are again agitating for a new strike. It is holding a mass meeting on 12-12-45 to put pressure on the U. S. Government to share the atomic bomb with Soviet Russia. A conference on U.S.-Russian cultural exchange was held at the University of California at Los Angeles on 12-7 and 8, 1945, to bring about closer intellectual and cultural ties between the U.S. and Russia. Reference is made to my memorandum to you dated October 9, 1945, in this matter which briefly summarized information contained in the "First Confidential Report of the Committee on Un-American Activities, House of Representatives," pertaining to the Communist activity in Hollywood and vicinity. A supplementary report made by the aforementioned Committee dated September 28, 1945, has now been received. The Washington Field Office, which secured the copies of these reports, has requested that the Bureau's possession of this material be kept confidential.

The supplementary report does not greatly augment the information furnished in the first report, and similar to the first report, in a number of instances sets out conclusions which do not appear to be supported by any tangible evidence. The information set out in the supplementary report, although not subdivided as to material, actually consists of the review of the following publications:

1. "The International Theater"
2. "The New Theater"
3. "International Literature"
4. "The T.A.C. Magazine"

"The International Theater"

"The International Theater" is said to be the official publication of the International Union of the Revolutionary Theater and is reportedly published in Moscow, Russia. Bulletin #2 of "The International Theater" reportedly carried an article written by the Secretariat of the International Union of the Revolutionary Theater, which read in part as follows: "The proletariat under the banner of the Comintern are fulfilling the task of creating an art worthy of the heroic revolutionary proletariat." The report then indicated that such statements as this contained in a publication issued in Moscow, Russia, definitely indicated that Communism is a world revolutionary movement and that the theater is considered an essential part of such a program. This same publication mentioned the Revolutionary Theater of the United States and stated that the League of Workers' Theaters of America was rapidly developing its political influence. Although the date of this publication is not mentioned in the report, it is believed Bulletin #2 was published in 1933.

The October, 1934, issue of "The International Theater" contained an article which described the growth of the Revolutionary Theater in the United States. The article reportedly read in part as follows: "Such dramatists as Alfred Kreymbourg, John Wexley, Albert Maltz, George Sklar, Lee Simonson, and others, are coming over to the Revolutionary Theater." The report stated that Albert Maltz, John Wexley, and George Sklar, are presently Hollywood writers and asks this question: "Is there any doubt concerning the reason these men are in Hollywood today?" Information developed by the Bureau reflects that Maltz, Wexley and Sklar are all known Communists.

The October, 1934, issue of "The Internation Theater" also mentioned the following sections of the International Union of the Revolutionary Theater in the United States:

1. The U.S.A. -- Theater Club, New York City.

2. The Theater Union, New York City.

3. Shop Group Workers of the Laboratory Theater, New York City.

4. The Middle Western Section of the League of Workers' Theaters.

5. The Children's Theater, New York City.

6. The Daily Worker Chorus, New York City.

Issues three and four of "The International Theater" for the year 1934 contained an article relating to "The New Theater," a section of the International Union of the Revolutionary Theater. The report stated that from a review of this article it appeared that "The New Theater" is definitely tied in as the revolutionary organ of the Russian Government in the United States in so far as the theater is concerned.

"The New Theater"

According to the report, "The New Theater" is an American publication and the organ of the "League of Workers' Theaters," which is a section of the International Union of the Revolutionary Theater. The report classified this publication as an official organ of the Communist Party. For the purpose of outlining this publication's views regarding the Motion Picture Industry in California, the investigating committee reviewed the issues of this magazine which were published during the years 1934 through 1936. As a result of this review, the committee apparently reached the conclusion that this publication consistently follows the Communist Party line.

The report also mentions that the April, 1935, issue of "The New Theater" contained an article concerning the First American Writers' Congress. The report stated that from a review of the article it appeared there should be little doubt concerning the Communistic nature of the Writers' Congress. The report further set forth a number of plays which were mentioned in the issues of "The New Theater" reviewed as productions which carried a message. Some of the plays mentioned were, "Waiting for Lefty," "Till the Day I Die," "Awake and Sing," "Black Pit," "Peace on Earth," "Bury the Dead," and "Stevedore." Paul Peters and George Sklar wrote "Stevedore"; John Wexley, presently in Hollywood, wrote "They Shall Not Die"; "Awake and Sing" was written by Clifford Odets, and "Black Pit" was written by Albert Maltz. The report indicated the above-mentioned writers are possible Communists. The report also mentions numerous other persons as Communists or possible Communists who are connected with the Motion Picture Industry and who are well known to the Bureau. The Bureau has determined that all of the above named writers, except Paul Peters, are Communist Party members.

An article, which appeared in the January, 1936, issue of "The New Theater" concerning the second anniversary of that publication, mentioned among other persons who reportedly had associated themselves with "The New Theater", Archibald MacLeish and John Howard Lawson. The report stated that Archibald MacLeish is endeavoring to gain control of the Cultural and Dramatic Section of the United Nations. It added that one of his associates no doubt would be John Howard Lawson. Lawson, as you will recall, is reported to be one of the most influential leaders in Communist activity in the Motion Picture Industry.

An article which appeared in the October, 1936, issue of "The New Theater" concerning the Screen Actors' Guild was also mentioned in the report. This article read in part as follows: "The Screen Actors' Guild's awareness of its relation to militant struggles on other fronts in the labor movement has been signalized by the collection of a $5,000 fund by its members for the Salinas lettuce pickers' strike. Contributors included Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Robert Montgomery, James Cagney, Brian Aherne, Eddie Cantor, Gloria Stuart, Lionel Stander and many others." The report writer singled out Frederic March, James Cagney, Gloria Stuart, and Lionel Stander as old Communist fellow travellers in Hollywood.

"International Literature"

The publication "International Literature" is said to be the organ of the International Union of Revolutionary Writers and is published in Moscow, Russia. Volume 7 of this publication which was published in 1935 contained an article on the organization of the League of American Writers. The League of American Writers is called the First Revolutionary Writers' Congress to organize in a capitalistic country. Many prominent American writers were mentioned in this article as being active in the League of American Writers. The report writer commented it was of interest to note that the League of American Writers was limited to creative writers only and that this fact would seem to bear out the statement of Hollywood executives to the effect that writers are the creative geniuses of the world and can influence thought. It is pertinent to note information has been received by the Bureau that the League of American Writers organization was discontinued in the latter part of 1943.

Information was also obtained from the "International Literature," 1933, to the effect that Sherwood Anderson, an American writer, and Richard Wright, an American Negro poet, reportedly wrote that a revolution in the United States was inevitable.

"The T.A.C. Magazine"

"The T.A.C. Magazine" is an American publication sponsored by the Theater Arts Committee. In connection with this publication, the writer of the report stated: "To demonstrate how the Theater and its followers got into politics, the 'T.A.C.' magazine published by the Theater Arts Committee for the month of April, 1940, states that Herman Shumlin, the well-known producer was elected treasurer of the progressive New York County Committee of the American Labor Party. This same issue of the magazine states that Helen Gahagan, first chairman of the John Steinbeck Committee to Aid Agricultural Workers, was among the speakers at Hollywood's 'Grapes of Wrath' mass meeting, on Thursday, March 21, 1940. Ellis E. Patterson, was also present at the meeting along with Donald Henderson, a member of the Communist Party and a leader of a labor union." The Ellis E. Patterson mentioned here is presumably Congressman Patterson of the 16th Congressional District, Los Angeles, California.

"The T.A.C. Magazine", according to the report, followed the Communist Party line and was a subscriber to the Communist slogan, "The Yanks are not Coming." It denied Communistic affiliations, however.

A statement by Jack L. Warner, of Warner Brothers Pictures, is contained in the October, 1939, issue of "The T.A.C. Magazine." This statement is as follows: "Warners intends to carry on its original independent program. It is quite evident to me that our opponents either have a personal ax to grind or are not anxious to see the screen mature to a place where it can handle controversial subjects. We firmly believe, as Zola did, that 'truth is on the march' and nothing can stop it, and we hope to play a part in bringing these evident truths to all the people of all the world." The report then reflected that Mr. Warner's statement might be the reason for the congratulatory statements to his studio which appeared in Communistic publications.

The June, 1939, issue of "The T.A.C. Magazine" stated that Vera Zorina, Leif Erickson, Frances Farmer, Phoebe Brand, J. Edward Bromberg, Morris Carnovsky, Raymond Massey, Katherine Locke, and Phil Loeb all are members of the Theater Arts Committee. The report writer then stated, "All of these people who are in Hollywood now are certainly trying their best to speed the Communistic movement in California."

As further proof of "The T.A.C. Magazine's" affiliation with Communistic groups, the report points out that in January, 1939, the Theater Arts Committee sent three delegates to the American League for Peace and Democracy Congress in Washington, D. C. The report indicated the American League for Peace and Democracy was a Communist front organization.

The report closed with the mention of special articles on the Czechoslovakian Theater which appeared in the November, 1938, issue of "The T.A.C. Magazine." Two of the persons mentioned in this supplement were named Vaskovec and Werich. These two persons established the Liberated Theater of Prague, Czechoslovakia. Information concerning the Liberated Theater is rather vague but it has been recorded that Vaskovec and Werich later became employed by the Office of War Information in the United States, according to the report writer.

A review of the Bureau's files reflects that the Vaskovec and Werich mentioned in the report are possibly identical with George Paxton Voskovec, an employee of the overseas division of the Office of War Information and Jan C. Werich, an employee of the overseas division of the OWI. Both of these individuals were subjects of Hatch Act investigations but neither was proved to be a member of the Communist Party and neither was dismissed from his position as a result of the investigations made by the Bureau.

Comment

The supplementary report is loosely written and very little of the information set forth therein could be used as direct evidence to prove the individuals named in the report are members of the Communist Party.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED

DATE 4-4-95 BY SP 18 BW/6cm

It is to be noted that the Workers' Theatre Movement is described as rapidly developing its political influence.

The Olympiad referred to in the last quoted section is best described by the following article which appears in the publication on pages 3, 4 and 5:

"MORE THOROUGH PREPARATIONS FOR THE OLYMPIAD

By the decision of the Secretariat of M.O.R.T., the International Olympiad of the Revolutionary Theatre Movement is postponed until spring 1933.

The main reason for the above decision was insufficient preparation on the part of the various sections of the M.O.R.T. for this review of our achievements and forces—a review which has a tremendous political and artistic significance. A careful study of the process of preparation undertaken by local branches showed that only the Czecho-Slovakian and Japanese sections had developed the struggle for the Olympiad on the basis of a correct understanding of its true meaning and significance.

The leaders of the Czecho-Slovakian section made their preparations for the trip to Moscow the central task of their work, giving it the character of a broad mass campaign.

The section has broadly and correctly explained the aims and tasks of the Olympiad in the press, not only in its own magazine DELNITSKY DIVADLO, but also in the entire Communist and revolutionary trade union press. A widespread work of agitation and explanation attracted thousands of workers to the task of preparing for the Olympiad. This incidentally made it possible for the leading agitation and propaganda groups to raise sufficient funds for the trip to Moscow.

The comrades from Czecho-Slovakia and Japan could have come to the Olympiad at the appointed time (October 1932), provided the other sections had been ready.

But the truth of the matter is that a number of our principal sections are not ready, and other sections are busy at present with intense work and struggle in their own countries. The tense and aggravated situation in Germany, in connection with the dissolution of the Reichstag and the intensification of the fascist offensive, demands that our section there concentrate all its forces on the carrying out of the directives of the German Communist Party, and it is naturally very difficult for our German comrades to attend the Olympiad at the present moment.

The same can be said of the U.S.A., where the presidential elections have demanded active work on the part of our section. In Japan the government terror interferes with preparations for the Olympiad and takes the lives of the Japanese comrades to the

One of the main tasks in the work of preparation is the raising of funds for the trip of the agitation and propaganda groups to the Olympiad. Under conditions of great unemployment and crisis in the countries of capitalism, the collection of funds for the trip has changed from what would seem to be a simple technical procedure into a problem of great political importance. The cent or pfennig which the worker contributes for the trip to the U.S.S.R. means a lot to him. The problem of collecting funds can be solved only on the basis of widely developed mass work. Those sections that carried on the preparations for the Olympiad within the narrow limits of their own organizations, were not able to collect the necessary funds, and if they do not effect a decided change in their work, it is doubtful whether they will be able to take part in the Olympiad at all. Making preparations for a trip to the Olympiad is not a narrow organizational problem, but an active struggle for the proletarian revolution, for proletarian art.

The calling of the International Olympiad has been postponed for six months. Does this mean that the tempo of preparation may be slackened and the question of preparation postponed? No! Those sections which neglect to make preparations, which do not carry on energetic and militant work in all forms during the time that remains, will be committing a great error.

The real object of the decision of the Secretariat of the M.O.R.T. is to give the sections an opportunity to strengthen their work, to deepen its meaning, to give it a mass character, to develop revolutionary competition and to see to it that their achievements can be fully reviewed at the Olympiad.

It would be the greatest error for the sections to cease their fight for the Olympiad now and to resume their preparations only a month or two before its opening.

The centre of attention of the whole work in the various sections of the M.O.R.T. must be the preparations for the Olympiad.

It is necessary to hear monthly reports on the progress of preparations for the Olympiad. It is also necessary to develop more widespread competition between the agitation and propaganda groups within the country and between sections of different countries as well; to utilize the press more freely in order to explain the process of preparations for the Olympiad; to carry on more energetically the work of collecting funds for the trip of agitation and propaganda groups to Moscow, and for that purpose to develop all kinds of mass work (social evenings, reports, etc.).

The Secretariat of the M.O.R.T. in making its decision is convinced that on the great spring holiday of the world's proletariat—our Olympiad will show evidence of the tremendous growth of proletarian artistic forces, fighting under the banner of the Communist International for the final victory of the world proletarian revolution."

Attention is drawn to the fact that the article mentioned states in part that "one of the main tasks in the work of preparation is the raising of funds for the trip of the agitation and propaganda groups." In other words the theatre can be used as a medium of agitation. Communistic agitation means stir up hate and fear among the masses. Is the Warner Brothers picture called "Law of the Badlands", which is described in the previous report, concerning this investigation, designed to agitate the Negro?

The article quoted also says that "Making preparations for a trip to the Olympiad is not a narrow organizational problem, but an active struggle for the proletarian revolution, for proletarian art." In other words the theatre is again described as a medium through which revolutionary propaganda can be disseminated.

The October 1934 issue of "The International Theatre", on page 3, contains an article describing the growth of the Revolutionary Theatre in the United States.

> " The growth of the revolutionary theatre and music has been especially noticeable in the United States. A theatre club was recently formed in New York with the aim of educating the playgoers and stage workers. The club organizes lectures, reports, discussions and performances. Individual performances are discussed, prominent American playwrights as Virgil Geddes, Anita Block, Sidney Howard, Joseph Freeman and Michael Gold taking part. The shock group of the Laboratory Theatre travels through the industrial regions, performs during strikes and demonstrations and mobilizes the masses for struggle. The repertoire of the Jewish theatre Artef has been considerably broadened. It has very successfully presented Peters' and Walkers' Hunger March on the veteran's march to Washington and Gorky's Egor Bulichev and Others. The theatre is now preparing to present Dostigayev and Others (Gorky). Peace on Earth by Sklar and Maltz was performed fifty times at the Theatre Union and was a tremendous success. Revolutionary circuses (San Francisco and a revolutionary review (Philadelphia) are springing up. Such dramatists as Alfred Kreymbourg, John Hexley, Albert Maltz, George Sklar, Lee Simonson and others are coming over to the revolutionary theatre."

U.S.A. — Theatre Club

A theatre club has been established by the Workers' Laboratory Theatre in New York. Its aim is to work among playgoers and among elements who, for one reason or another, cannot take direct part in the work of the revolutionary theatre. In this club workers of the theatre, students, workers, artists and others who are dissatisfied with the American bourgeois theatre and who are seeking new paths have the opportunityof discussing the problems in which they are interested. The club is planning to organize lectures, reports, discussions, concerts, etc., for its members and for the general public.

Members enjoy a number of privileges, such as reduced prices for tickets to the Workers' Laboratory Theatre and the Group Theatre and the right to attend rehearsals. The Club has a council which attends all rehearsals of the theatre, helps to select plays and judges the merits of productions. All profits from the clubs's concerts, lectures, etc., go to the Laboratory Theatre. The club possesses a good library. Membership dues are very small- one dollar a year, and anyone may join who is in agreement with its political platform.

The first important step taken by the club was a discussion of the questionnaire sent out by the New Theatre magazine to prominent American playwrights and actors. Michael Gold, Virgil Geddes, Joseph Freeman, Anita Block and many others took part.

The Theatre Union

The Theatre Union was organized in New York about a year ago. Its principal purpose is to give performances of a repertoire rich in class content and of a high artistic standard, to struggle against the commercial theatre. The Theatre Union is well within the reach of the workers. Tickets cost from thirty cents to a dollar and a half. All of its actors are well-trained professionals, who receive the lowest salary allowed by the trade union.

For its production the theatre chose Peace on Earth, an anti-war play by George Sklar and Albert Maltz. The scene is laid in New England. The dock hands refuse to unload munitions from a ship and go on strike. They are supported by university students. A fight for freedom of speech flares up in the university, which is joined by one of the professors. Fighting first for freedom of speech for his students, he is gradually drawn into the anti-war struggle of the workers.

The play is built up on conflicts of great political importance. The approaching war and the great growth of the revolutionary movement are the chief problems in the play, and are shown through the prism of the feelings of the professor, who has broken with his past and is fighting side by side with the revolutionary proletariat.

During the first six months of the theatre's existence the play was performed fifty times. Seventy-three working class bodies organized collective attendances at performances and the Unemployed Council arranged special attendances for the unemployed.

The public opinion of proletarian New York was roused. Trade union and other working class organizations offered the theatre active assistance. Leaflets and posters were put out. Special speakers addressed meetings on the importance of this play and of the workers' theatre in general. The National Student League distributed special leaflets among the students. Dozens of people came to the theatre daily, offering to type, distribute leaflets, sell tickets and so on.

Not only the Communist, but the Socialist and liberal press declared the play interesting and gripping. The well-known French writer Henri Barbusse gave a very favourable opinion on the play.

'Peace on Earth is a reproduction in dramatic form of the tempo and strain of American life. The play is remarkable because it successfully expresses through strong dramatic action the author's ideas. I was struck with the fullness of its content and the complete absence of superfluous words or gestures.'

Shock Group of Workers' Laboratory Theatre

A shock group has been organized by the Workers' Laborator Theatre to give performances in the industrial districts of the city. The group gives four or five performances daily, each in different places. It has taken active part in ~~[illegible]~~ election campaigns, strikes and demonstrations, and by its performances has greatly helpe the organizing of new agitpro brigades, particularly among the Negro population. In January the shock group gave its first independent performance in a hall, with a real stage, costumes, make-up, etc.

It appears that Lawson's article and the comment of the editors definitely places the shackles of Communism around Lawson's neck.

In this same issue of the "New Theatre", on page 17 the following appears:

"(REDEEMING THE REDS

The southern ruling class meets the spreading strike struggles in the mills and mines of the South with savage terror. They hate and fear Communism. They cannot laugh off the growing solidarity of militant Negro and white workers. Now they use theatre--as well as tear gas and bullets--as a weapon against the workers. In Birmingham the authorities may redeem a "red" here and there, but Communism is growing faster there than in some northern cities, and will continue to grow until the southern workers finally overthrow the system that starves and enslaves them." (statement by an Alabama Communist organizer).

In the December, 1934, issue of the New Theatre on page 10, is an article describing the Workers Laboratory Theatre of Chicago, Illinois, entitled, "Below Chicago's Mason-Dixon Line," the following article appears:

"The program began with songs by the South Side Lab. Chorus. Negro and white workers lifted their voices in "Anti-Spirituals":

'Communism is too high
You can't go over it...
It's too low
You can't go under it...
It's too wide
You can't go around it--
So you gotta come in through the door...."

Laboratory Theatre in 1934 apparently openly admitted that they were

"four questions, will be considered by the writers. These are: What shall my political orientation and participation be? What is my economic outlook and how may I broaden my audience? What are the pressing literary problems related to the struggle against war and Fascism? and finally, how can I help in creating the League of American Writers, a section of the International Union of Revolutionary Writers whose foremost voices and Henri Barbusse, Maxim Gorki, Romain Rolland, Andre Gide, Theodore Plivier and John Strachey?"

A comment from the familiar writer, John Howard Lawson, also appears as a part of this article which is as follows:

" The weakness of left-wing criticism needs special consideration at the Writer's Congress. While the Daily Worker and the New Masses review plays (often very ably), it is fair to say that neither of these periodicals contain systematic criticism of the stage. Even in New Theatre the reviews of current plays are often no more than notes. From the point of view of the professional theatre worker, criticism of the drama should be far less fragmentary and incomplete. This is not the fault of any particular publication, but of the generally weak development of Marxist dramatic criticism."

It seems that there should be little doubt concerning the Communistic nature of the Writers Congress and John Howard Lawson. From this there should be no question as to the aims of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, which grew out of the League of American Writers.

In the January, 1936, issue of New Theatre, the following individuals are identified as "Leading Figures i the Awakening of the American Theatre Alfred Saxe, Alfred Kreymborg, Philip Stevenson, Claire and Paul Sifton, Em Bassho, John Howard Lawson, George Sklar, Paul Peters, Albert Maltz and Clifford Odets. Many of these persons are to be found in Hollywood, Cal

Also in the January 1936 issue of "New Theatre" an article entitled, "Paradise Lost and the Theatre of Frustation", contains the data concerning review of Clifford Odets play "Paradise Lost". This article is quoted in part as follows:

> " A third intermediary type of drama unrolls a situation without either accepting it as inevitable or flourishing a reform plank. Actually it presents an impasse from which one may gather that the status quo is impossible, that things cannot go on as they have been going, but the playwright, remaining strictly true to his characters, confines himself to their confusions and gropings. To the classic example of The Cherry Orchard one would add such dramas as The Lower Depths, The Moon in the Yellow River, Tobacco Road and, most recently, Clifford Odets' Paradise Lost, which, however, does at least imply a program, if ever so subtly."

This excerpt from the article mentioned, establishes proof of the statement in the first Hollywood report that communistic propaganda must be subtle. This play is also one of the message type of plays mentioned in the first report, and in the very words of the author of the article:

> "Paradise Lost brings together a group of people and a set of circumstances in the arbitrary manner of all art. Statistically speaking, you will find few middle-class families in which this combination is duplicated, but the dramatic complications of this drama represent the quintessence of a social tragedy—that of the disintegration of the middle class in our self-confessedly stalled social order. This stalemate is indicated in the play on two intimately connected levels: a general economic plane, the living presence of the depression with its accompaniment of financial pressure, foreclosure, evictions, homelessness and artificial demagogic reassurances ("prosperity block-parties"); and a private, personal plane. The play is basically a condensation of a historic process."

The message conveyed is plainly that the middle class peoples of the world are stagnant and stalled. As the article mentioned says, "Paradise Lost and the Theatre of Frustration," the middle class is a frustrated class both according to the article and the play, Paradise Lost.

ndustry by Communists was gaining impetus in 1936:

" The work of the Screen Actors Guild in consolidating itself with organized labor during the past year, in which time it was admitted to the California State Federation of Labor and received representation on the Los Angeles Labor Council, was climaxed last month by the election of Kenneth Thompson, executive secretary of the Guild, to a vice-presidency in the State Federation. This significant event took place at the Federation's convention in Sacramento, and was the prelude to a series of resolutions which clearly showed labor's wish to complete the unionization of the Hollywood studios (already accomplished among the majority of the technical workers) by establishment of a closed shop for actors, writers and directors.

" One resolution called for a completely closed shop. Another favored legislation reducing the length of optional contracts from seven to three years; this would lim t the producers' power to tie up outstanding artists in all fields in order to prevent them from responding to a strike call by the screen guilds. Still another resolution demanded legislative action prohibiting the employment of city- or state-paid police in the making of films.

" The Screen Actors Guild's awareness of its relation to militant struggles on other fronts in the labor movement has been signalized by the collection of a $5,000 fund by its members for the Salinas lettuce pickers' strike. Contributors include Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Robert Montgomery, James Cagney, Brian Aherne, Eddie Cantor, Gloria Stuart, Lionel Stander and many others. When Thompson announced the donation at the Federation convention, the members signified their understanding of the significance of the event by a ten-minute ovation.

" The success of the Screen Actors Guild in establishing itself as part and parcel of the labor movement makes it inevitable that the campaign for a hundred per cent closed shop in Hollywood will be extended to the screen writers, with A.F. of L. recognition naturally going to the strongest group in the field—the Screen Writers Guild of the Authors League of America."

March, Cagney, Stuart and Stander are all old communistic follow-trave in Hollywood. The reader will also note the strong plug given in the article for the Screen Writers Guild.

The July, 1936 issue of New Theatre on page 25 states that, "The New York Youth Theatre directed by Julus Garfield of the Group Theatre

Sari Sydnor. Hughes poetry is widely circulated in Russia. His poetry is race inciting, and he difinitely says down with "Columbia". The executive committee of the first "League of American Writers", was Kenneth Burke, Malcolm Cawley, Joseph Freeman, Michael Gold, Granville Hicks, Matthew Josephson, Henry Hart, Josephine Herbst, Edwin Seaver, Alexander Trachtenberg, Harold Clurman, Alfred Kreymborg, Isidor Schneider, Genevieve Taggard, John Howard Lawson and Albert Maltz. It is of interest to note that the congress referred to was limited to "creative Writers Only"; this would seem to bear out the statement of the Hollywood executives that writers are the creative geniuses of the world and can influence thought.

Other writers mentioned at the Congress, were Nelson Algren, Newton Arvin, Michael Blankfort, VanWyck Brooks, Sterling Brown, Fielding Burke, Erskine Caldwell, Robert Cantwell, Harry Carlisle, Eugene Clay, Merle Colby, Jack Conroy, Edward Dahlberg, James T. Farrell, Horace Gregory, Roberg Herrick and numerous others.

In a letter to the editors of the magazine "International Literature," Sherwood Anderson states in part, "I am almost sure that the simple stories of human beings caught in the vise of modern civilization are the best material for the final revolution which must inevitably take place in this country." This letter in which Anderson is positive of revolution is contained on page 126 of volume I, of International Literature for the year 1933.

Richard Wright, in a poem appearing on pages 84 and 85, of International Literature, in volume VI, says in part "the red moisture of revolt is condensi on the cold stones of human need"; in another line of the poem he says, "blazing their way to the foaming sea of revolution". Wright is an American Negro who openly says in his poem that the revolution won't be bloodless, "the red moisture of revolt", doesn't mean water.

who was prevented from doing so by his employers, Warner Brothers. However, James Cagney appeared in the air show on March 9, 1940 with the permission of Warner Brothers. Garfield and Cagney, always willing to help the movement.

The October 1939 issue of T.A.C. contains a story by John Bright regarding the Motion Picture Democratic Committee. The pictures "Juarez" and "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" are discussed in Bright's story as links in a progressive trend in Hollywood. John Bright has a record of affiliation with left-wing groups on the West Coast.

Clifford Odets' plays are discussed in this issue of T.A.C. This magazine undoubtedly follows the same communistic line as the other magazines discussed in this report.

A statement by Jack L. Warner, of Warner Brothers pictures, is contained in this magazine on page 15 of the October, 1939 issue. This statement is as follows: "Warners intends to carry on its original independent program. It is quite evident to me that our opponents either have a personal ax to grind or are not anxious to see the screen mature to a place where it can handle controversial subjects. We firmly believe, as Zola did, that "truth is on the march" and nothing can stop it, and we hope to play a part in bringing these evident truths to all the people of all the world." Mr. Warner's statement may indicate the reason for the congratulatory statements to his studio which appeared in communistic publications.

T.A.C. as further evidence of its following of the communistic party line and its subtleness of expression also carries in the aforementioned issue of the magazine, the following statement on page 27: "The splendid "Negro Songs of Protest" brought to New York by Lawrence Gellert, and assigned to Carl Fischer after their enthusiastic reception and use in a WPA production, come from the hearts of the oppressed Negro and are an Motion Picture Democratic Committee. This picture was exhibited in support of the chosen political candidates of the Motion Picture Democratic Committee. The Picture was directed by Frank Tuttle; James Wong Howe was cameraman; John Bright and Robert Tasker wrote the script. All of these are associated with the numerous left wing organizations on the coast. According to T.A.C. for January, 1939, the picture was a success and as a result the Film Guild was formed. The associates mentioned in the article were John Howley, John Garfield, Tess Slesinger, S. J. Perelman, Frank Tuttle, Herbert Biberman, Lillian Hellman, Arthur Kober and Lewis Milestone. The same persons are associated with each other in every questionable group. This illustrates how the forming of groups show that the Communists and their fellow travellers swing from one enterprise to another.

In a complimentary supplement to the November issue of T.A.C., for the year 1938, there are special articles on the Czechoslovakian theatre. The Czechs, from recent historical developments, apparently even in 1938, were considered as suitable subjects for communistic propaganda. Two of the persons mentioned in this supplement were named Vaskovec and Werich. These persons established the Liberated Theatre of Prague, Czechoslovakia. Information concerning the Liberated Theatre is rather vague, but it has been reported that Vaskovec and Werich later became employed by the Office of War Information, here in the United States.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communist activities in the motion picture industry has conformed to the new Communist Party line, which was formed when the Communist Party in July, 1945, decided to revert to the Marxist-Leninist line of revolutionary action, and "class struggle." This is evidenced by the recent motion picture studio strike, the campaign for the speedy return of the military forces from all areas, the smear campaign against General MacARTHUR, General PATTON and others. The issue of Communism in the labor unions has been aroused, and the A.F.L. has expelled some Communists and are preparing to expel many others. The joint fact-finding committee of the California Legislature has held a four-day hearing which revealed that the Communists have penetrated the University of California at Los Angeles and that a number of followers on the line of the Communist Party are operating under the cloak of the University. The Hollywood Independent Citizen's Committee of the arts, sciences and professions have penetrated the University and a number of the professors have become very active in Communist fronts. Dr. FRANK C. DAVIS resigned as professor of psychology at the University to become director of the People's Educational Center, which is a Communist school. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization is now considering changing its name so as to cover up its connection with the Communist Political Association. HERBERT K. SORRELL, leader of the conference of Studio Unions, proven to have been a Communist, was convicted for contempt of court.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that the Communist activity in the motion picture industry is becoming more apparent for what it is because of the new Communist Party line which came into existence July 28, 1945, with the change from the Communist Political Association back to the Communist Party of the United Stated. The resumption of the Marxist-Leninist line of revolutionary action, as distinguished from the "democratic" or collaborationist line of the Communist Political Association, forces the Communists and their followers more into the open in their support of directives emanating from the foreign policy of the Soviet Union and in their support of other phases of activity called for by the new line of Marxian "class struggle." This was evidenced by the activities of the various Communist-controlled mass organizations in their support of the recent Communist-inspired strike in the film studios, support of the Communist demand for return of all American soldiers from foreign soil, particularly China, support of the campaign of opposition to General McARTHUR in his control of Japan, support of the CIO in its attacks on the A.F. of L., and local support politically of all so-called "liberal" candidates for office in the coming elections in California.

However, this increased and open activity has created an opposition, particularly in the labor field. The issue of Communism in the labor unions of California has now become paramount and the A.F. of L. is now beginning a campaign to expel all Communists from its ranks. Some have already been expelled. The spearhead of this movement to oust the Communists from the labor ranks in the studios and the Los Angeles area has been the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE), which union has been seriously infiltrated by Communists over a period of years. This union is the predominant one in the Hollywood motion picture industry. It is carrying on a consistent campaign of exposure of Communists through its own publication and by other means, at the same time working in connection with a state Legislative Committee investigating subversive activities in the Los Angeles area.

The efforts of this International Union of the A.F. of L. and the legislative committee of inquiry and investigation has brought to public attention much of the hitherto hidden Communist activity in the film industry and its effects on the outside political situation.

JOINT FACT-FINDING COMMITTEE OF THE CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE

This Committee, known as the Tenney Committee, JACK TENNEY, California State Senator, chairman, conducted open hearings on subversive activities in Los Angeles on January 2, 3, 4 and 5, 1946. Source A has informed that while these hearings were not directed at the Hollywood motion picture industry and Communist infiltration thereof specifically, they did bring to light the fact that much of the Communist activity in the locality had origin and support in Hollywood. It also brought out the fact that several Communist front organizations formed by persons in the motion picture industry in high positions were extending their activities and influence outside the industry and into the schools, the political field and the labor unions.

The hearings were interrupted by the calling of a special session of the California State Legislature for January 7, 1946. The Committee plans to resume the hearings and investigations at the conclusion of this special session.

The day to day announced results of these hearings and investigations in the press and the previously announced statement of the Committee that it would hold the hearings, had a tendency to cause the Communists to be on guard. For this reason certain activities were temporarily curbed. Upon the conclusion of the hearings a campaign was launched to discredit the Committee by the various Communist front organizations named by the Committee.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS

Source A advises that this organization which has now become the principal pressure group in the Hollywood and Southern California area was one of the Communist-controlled fronts which the Legislative Committee investigated. Facts were brought out in the hearings which linked this organization to the Communist apparatus. The organization itself was not the subject of the hearings at this time. This will be gone into later. Certain individuals, some of whom belonged to other organizations, were asked if they were members of the organization.

The HICCASP, because of the investigation by the legislative committee of the faculty and students of the University, some of whom have been involved in Communist activities in connection with a strike in the Hollywood motion picture studios, has launched a program to solicit support for these faculty members and students. The organization is sending out literature and letters soliciting support under the guise that the Legislative Committee is attempting to "abridge academic freedom" as enunciated by Dr. CLARENCE A. DYKSTRA, Provost of the University. This circular letter is a clear distortion of fact and is an attempt to cover up the real object of the Committee, which was to expose the Communist activities of a small group within the faculty and some of the students who are members of the American Youth for Democrary (formerly the Young Communist League).

In addition to Dr. DYKSTRA, those connected with the University who were called for questioning were the following:

Dr. FRANKLYN FEARING

Dr. RALPH BEALS

Dr. LEONARD BLOOM

Dr. HARRY HOIJER

DEAN E. McHENRY

DAVID APPLEMAN

EDWIN LEMERT

CORINNE SEEDS

Dr. FRANK DAVIS (Mr. DAVIS severed his relations with the University of California at Los Angeles on July 1, 1945, to become the Director of the People's Educational Association, an institution established and directed by the Communists.)

All the above denied knowledge of Communist activity, although they have long records of activity in Communist-controlled front organizations. All the above admitted that they had given lectures at the Peoples Educational Center in Hollywood. This school is a Communist-controlled propaganda institution in which known Communist functionaries are active as instructors and members of the Board of Directors.

As a result of this investigation the Board of Regents of the University are now making their own investigation and threaten with dismissal any of the faculty or students whom they find have been active in Communist efforts and activities.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A has also informed that this Communist inspired and controlled organization also came under scrutiny of the Senator TENNEY Legislative Committee. The Committee was especially interested in the cooperation between the Mobilization and the University of California and the publication, "Hollywood Quarterly", jointly sponsored by it and the University of California. This publication is purported to be a product of the joint efforts of the University and the Mobilization, but it is, in fact, the product of a group whose sympathies with Communism and the Communist Party is beyond doubt. Source A has informed that the first issue of the "Hollywood Quarterly" appeared about November 1, 1945, but for some unknown reason it was not distributed generally, and it was some time before a copy of same could be obtained.

The editors of this new publication are listed as follows:

The parties listed above before whose names an asterisk appears have been reported as being members of the Communist Party by sources considered reliable and authentic by the Los Angeles Bureau Office.

Nearly all of the other parties named, including the UCLA professors, have been identified for the past two or three years with Communist fronts and Communist front activities.

Source informed, however, that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is now about to change its name and emerge as another group with, perhaps, somewhat changed objectives. This change would be in line with the change in the Communist Party line and is the customary procedure with all Communist fronts. The Mobilization has not been active to any marked extent for the last sixty days or more. This would indicate that the structure of the organization is about to undergo a change to conform to the new line of the Communist Party.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

The strike in the motion picture studios called by this block of Communist-controlled unions on March 12, 1945, and which came to an end officially on October 31, 1945, has now been settled temporarily by a three-man arbitration committee appointed by the Executive Council of the A.F. of L. Source A advises that, while the strikers have gone back to work, the same basic differences still exist in spite of the award of jurisdiction and it is only a matter of time until the trouble starts all over again. This is conceded by both sides to the controversy, the IATSE and the CSU.

HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist, was found to have been a member of the Communist Party in 1937 under the Communist name HERB STEWART, and carried C. P. Membership Book #60622, which was brought out by the Legislative Committee mentioned above. This Committee produced what was purported to be photostatic evidence of his Party membership. This documentary evidence was reproduced in the daily press.

Mr. SORRELL was tried in the Superior Court of Los Angeles County on a charge of disobeying a court injunction against mass picketing and inciting to riot and on January 7, 1946, was found guilty and sentenced to 16 days in jail and fined $1700.00.

PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER
Hollywood Branch

The Legislative Committee brought to light the fact that this so-called school was a Communist-controlled propaganda institution. The Committee showed that this school was the outgrowth of the Communist Workers School and came into existence as an "educational" center when the Communist Party was changed into the Communist Political Association. When this Political Association succeeded the Communist Party in January of 1944, it was announced that henceforth it would be an "educational" association; that it was abandoning the Marxist position of revolutionary action. When this change took place in the Communist Party, the Communist Workers School became the Peoples "Educational" Center. This took place at the same time the change in the Communist Party was made, in January of 1944.

Thus, whenever there is a distinct change in the Communist Party line, all groups or institutions under Communist control likewise change their structural setup and objectives. All Hollywood front organizations have followed this procedure. The Hollywood Democratic Committee became the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, etc.

INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE OF THEATRICAL STAGE EMPLOYEES (IATSE)

Source A has informed that this International union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and the dominant labor union in the motion picture industry, is carrying on a campaign of exposure of Communist activity in the labor movement of Southern California and in the political field in the State of California and especially within the Democratic Party of the State.

ROY M. BREWER, the representative of this International union in Hollywood, is the leader of this movement. The union issues a weekly publication, first called an "Informational Bulletin" and now called "Hollywood Closeup", in which the activities of the Communist Party in California are thoroughly exposed. This union is taking the lead in this campaign and has given encouragement to other unions which are now taking an active part in the campaign.

This union has worked in close cooperation with the Tenney Legislative Committee and has furnished to that Committee valuable information regarding subversive activities in the motion picture industry.

It is the intention of the IATSE, according to the statement of Mr. BREWER, to continue this exposure of Communist infiltration and, in fact, all activities of a subversive nature in the Hollywood motion picture industry and allied organizations.

As a result of these efforts, the A.F.L. labor unions in the Los Angeles area are expelling known Communists, and the Los Angeles Central Labor Council is setting up machinery to carry out a program based on this objective.

While all this exposure of Communist activity has been published in the public press, it has not dampened in any sense Communist activity, or lessened their influence to any noticeable degree.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS: Communist activities in the motion picture industry has conformed to the new Communist Party line, which was formed when the Communist Party in July, 1945, decided to revert to the Marxist-Leninist line of revolutionary action, and "class struggle." This is evidenced by the recent motion picture studio strike, the campaign for the speedy return of the military forces from all areas, the smear campaign against General MacARTHUR, General PATTON and others. The issue of Communism in the labor unions has been aroused, and the A.F.L. has expelled some Communists and are preparing to expel many others. The joint fact-finding committee of the California Legislature has held a four-day hearing which revealed that the Communists have penetrated the University of California at Los Angeles and that a number of followers on the line of the Communist Party are operating under the cloak of the University. The Hollywood Independent Citizen's Committee of the arts, sciences and professions have penetrated the University and a number of the professors have become very active in Communist fronts. Dr. FRANK C. DAVIS resigned as professor of psychology at the University to become director of the People's Educational Center which is a Communist school. Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINDLAY, Los Angeles, January 10, 1946.

DETAILS:

AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY:

Source A has informed that the Communist Party members and those following the Communist Party line as sympathizers, who have connections with the motion picture industry and who seek to use that industry and its influence for propaganda for the Communist World Movement, have now completed the turn in the Communist Party line, which began in July, 1945, when the Communist Political Association again became the Communist Party of the United States of America.

All Communist activity in the cultural propaganda line and the activities in the labor unions, is now directed toward bringing out dissention and discord in the United States, toward supporting all activity which will bring about strikes, political antagonisms, racial antagonisms, under the deceptive slogans of "unity" and "anti-discrimination"; in general the program of the World Communist Movement which now enters what the Marxist-Leninist interpretation calls the "flow of world revolution."

Source A informs that for this and other reasons the activity of the Communist movement in the powerfully influential motion picture industry must now be viewed in a different light from that which prevailed durin g the period of the war, from June 22, 1941 up to the defeat of Germany and Japan which removed the danger that had been threatening the boundaries of Soviet Russia. When that danger was removed, the world Communist movement again went back to the program of world revolution. This was clearly announced at the 1945 convention of the Communist Political Association by WILLIAM Z. FOSTER, now the head of the Communist Party of the United States.

The activities of the Communists in the Hollywood motion picture industry have been so intense during the last six months or so, and they have been so successful in creating discord and dissension in the industry that at this time the producers of motion pictures in Hollywood are considering shutting down the industry completely for four months. Details of this situation will appear hereinafter under report on the labor situation. However, this condition is not brought about by the labor agitation alone, but is supported by the so-called cultural elements, writers, directors, some actors, etc., who are either members of the Communist Party, or close sympathizers with the aims of that Party. There is no doubt that Hollywood and the immediate area adjacent thereto, Southern California, has now become one of the main centers of Communist propaganda and activity in the United States.

This source further informs that the principal field of operations of the Communist Party of the United States is now within the labor unions, CIO mainly, this being where "action" can be brought about, the cultural elements operating through the numerous "front" organizations now enter the labor field by supporting the present wave of strikes by their influences, pressures and financially. This is the objective of the Communist Party, according to the formula; "enlist all forces" in the "class struggle" which now centers, of necessity, in industrial relations between employer and employee. In addition to this form of activity nationally, the pressure groups in Hollywood exert their influence in the direction of foreign relations and domestic affairs by pressuring the lawmakers locally and nationally, using Hollywood names and personalities for the purpose.

This activity now takes on a more open and direct form, because of the more open and direct activities of the Communist Party nationally.

LABOR SITUATION IN HOLLYWOOD MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY:

Source A informs that the activities of the Communists within the studio unions have succeeded in bringing about a very serious situation, one which is badly confused and so disorganized that the producers of motion pictures are considering shutting down the studios for a period of four months. Over a long period of years the Communist Party has been trying to take over the studio unions in order to influence the making of motion pictures to promote leftish policies and to control this influential industry for Communist Party purposes. Several drastic attempts were made to do this some years ago, with little success.

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

According to Source A the last attempt took place when a strike was called in March of 1945. This strike was led by a known Communist HERBERT K. SORRELL. Behind him was the entire Communist Party apparatus and the numerous controlled "front" organizations. The strike was marked by extreme violence. It came to a formal end on October 31, 1945, after several weeks of such violence that the authorities had to intervene. While the strike was masked as a strike against the employer, in reality, it was a strike against the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, (IATSE). This international union which has some twelve local unions in the studios, is officially opposed to Communists and Communism. It is the only group of unions not yet under Communist influence in the motion picture [illegible]ry.

For this reason the entire problem at present is a struggle [illegible]ween a block of unions calling itself the Conference of Studio Unions [illegible]SU) dominated by the Communist Party whose spokesman is HERBERT K. SORRELL, [illegible]nd the IATSE which is represented in Hollywood by ROY M. BREWER.

Source A states that when this long-protracted strike came to a formal end on October 31, 1945 through the efforts of ERIC JOHNSTON, both sides agreed to abide by the findings of a board of arbitration appointed by the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor consisting of three men who had no interest in the motion picture industry. These men were responsible heads of A.F. of L. Labor Union Internationals.

They made a report of their findings about January 6, 1946. When the decision was announced, the IATSE accepted the findings, but the Communist-controlled unions refused to do so.

Their members working on the lots staged sit-down strikes and in many other ways interfered with the production of pictures. The situation became worse day by day. At the present time the CSU has served an ultimatum on the producers that they will strike again unless their demands are met.

This time, however, according to Source A, they are including wage raises and an adjustment of hours which would mean that they are paid for eight hours though working only six. The real purpose is two-fold. First, they want to keep the situation agitated in line with the general Communist Party program of creating confusion in the United States and stopping successful reconversion, and second, to keep the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL intact.

Source A informs that SORRELL has been exposed by the IATSE as a member of the Communist Party; his record of Communist activity over a period of eight years has been made public along with the general aims of the Communist Party in the Hollywood motion picture industry. They hope to increase his prestige with his followers and his controlled local unions by securing a victory through an increase of wages and bettering of conditions, so-called, although the picture industry's standard of wages and working conditions are by far the best anywhere in the United States.

In January of 1946, Mr. SORRELL was convicted of inciting to riot by defying an injunction against mass picketing and a long series of acts in defiance of the laws of the community. He was to begin serving a sentence on January 19th, but up to this date there has been no attempt on the part of the authorities to enforce the sentence. In addition to the jail sentence, he was fined $1700. It is not known that he has paid this fine. The Communists, masked as "progressives" and "liberals" have tremendous influence on the courts and law enforcement agencies in Southern Calif. In addition to the above, the Central Labor Council of Los Angeles, an A.F. of L. body, is now preparing to expel SORRELL as a delegate to that council because of his Communist Party membership and his secret maneuverings with the CIO, which he favors taking over the Hollywood studio unions.

A complete report on Mr. SORRELL has been filed with the Los Angeles Central Labor Council which contains photostatic proof of his connections with the Communist movement, all of which is backed up by the testimony of recognized handwriting experts.

Source A reports that despite all this, the producers of motion pictures have announced that they will deal with SORRELL as the representative of his block of unions, the CSU, which has now been increased by the addition of the carpenters and electrical workers, Carpenters' Local 946 and IBEW Local 40, both having officially affiliated with the CSU. This gives SORRELL control over some 4000 more studio workers.

This same source informs that this action of the producers is difficult to understand, unless it be due to the influence of certain individuals in the top executive branches who are known to be sympathetic ~~in the top executive branches who are known to be sympathetic~~ to the Communist cause, or at least to the Communist-front organizations. The leader of this faction is WALTER WANGER, one of the major producers and an inveterate Communist-fronter.

The following individuals within the Communist-influenced labor unions in Hollywood are most active, as leaders, in support of SORRELL and the Communist aim of controlling studio labor, according to Source A:

* JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, Screen Writers Guild
EMMETT LAVERY " " "
JOHN CROMWELL, Screen Directors Guild

The foregoing are the leaders of the Communist faction within the Hollywood studio crafts and unions. They are the spokesmen, along with HERBERT K. SORRELL, for the program of the Communist Party.

The parties, before whose names an asterisk appears, have heretofore been reported as known Communist Party members by sources considered reliable by the Los Angeles Field Office.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS
(Formerly known as the Hollywood Democratic Committee)

Source A has informed that this organization is the Hollywood branch of a national organization of the same name having branches now in some of the large cities of the United States.

This organization, because of the names of prominent persons used, is the most powerful pressure group in the United States of its kind. It is under the control of the Communist Party and that party takes credit for the formation of the organization. The NEW LEADER, a weekly publication issued in New York City, is in possession of information that LIONEL BERMAN, a known Communist reported to the Communist Party Convention of the State of

New York in the summer of 1945 that he had set up the ICCASP, and he was rewarded by the convention with high praise for the good job he had done. NEW LEADER, January 26, 1946 issue, page 5.

The Hollywood Branch is, at the present time, the most active front organization in the motion picture industry.

Source A has informed that the list of prominent persons who are members of the HICCASP and active in its affairs now contains the name of JAMES ROOSEVELT, who is now national director of the national organization, according to press dispatches and literature of the organization.

In the February 5, 1946 issue of the Hollywood Citizens-News, local Hollywood daily newspaper, an editorial appeared in which it was questioned whether JAMES ROOSEVELT knew the nature of the ICCASP when he accepted the position of national political director. The editor of the Hollywood Citizen-News, HARLAN G. PALMER, is well aware of the Communist nature of the Hollywood branch of this national organization, it being an evolution of other previous Communist-controlled groups in the Hollywood locality such as the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League, Hollywood League for Democratic Action, American Peace Mobilization and the Hollywood Democratic Committee and others. The group in control of the HICCASP is the same as that which controlled the others. JOHN HOWARD LAWSON is the leading figure in the Hollywood branch of the HICCASP.

On February 8, 1946, another editorial appeared giving the content of an answer sent to the editor by JAMES ROOSEVELT. In this answer Mr. ROOSEVELT said he had investigated the organization and knew all about it, what it stood for and was satisfied with its objectives.

He stated that he was sure the organization was all right because he found the following persons of national reputation connected with it as members: "BARTLEY CRUM, attorney of San Francisco, CHESTER BOWLES, OPA director, Professor HARLOW SHAPLEY, Harvard University Professor, JOSEPH E. DAVIES, author of "Mission to Moscow," Dr. CHANNING FROTHINGHAM, Dr. LINUS PAULING and FIORELLA LaGUARDIA. Therefore, there could be nothing wrong with the organization."

Source A further informed that the Hollywood Branch of the ICCASP is now carrying on a campaign to discredit the findings of the Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Subversive Activities of the California State Legislature, which, after making an investigation of the University of California at Los Angeles, found that some fourteen members of the faculty of that educational institution supported by State funds had been engaged in Communist activities by teaching and lecturing in the Peoples Educational Center, the new name for a coalition of the Hollywood Writers

School, conducted by the League of American Writers and the former Communist Workers School of Los Angeles.

Source A further advises that the Fact-Finding Committee also found that on the campus of the University there existed a strong faction of the American Youth For Democracy, formerly the Young Communist League, and that during the recent studio strike these young people appeared on the picket lines and aided in bringing about violence and defiance of law which they openly flaunted.

The Hollywood Branch of the ICCASP is now engaged in putting pressure on the authorities, and carrying on a propaganda campaign in defense of the faculty and the radical students, which it denounces as restriction of "academic freedom." It is sending out thousands of circulars to colleges throughout the United States, calling for a pressure campaign.

The signer of these communications is GEORGE PEPPER, who has a long record of Communist activity.

In addition to the foregoing, Source A advises that the Hollywood branch of the ICCASP is using its influence and collecting funds for the present CIO strikes throughout the country and has issued, or is distributing a large newspaper-size announcement in line with that program. It states that it is in support of a group in Detroit calling itself the Michigan Citizens Committee and lists the following officers there:

HOWELL VAN AUKEN, State Chairman
PATRICK S. NERTNEY, Detroit Chairman
DOROTHY K. ROOSEVELT, Executive Secretary.

Address, 809 Hammond Bldg., Detroit 26, Michigan.

Source A further advises that the Hollywood Branch of the ICCASP is taking a most active part in a campaign to recall a Los Angeles City Councilman, MEADE McCLANAHAN because it is charged that McCLANAHAN sponsored a meeting of GERALD L.K. SMITH in Los Angeles several months ago. The entire Communist Party apparatus is behind this recall.

The Hollywood Branch of the ICCASP is officially affiliated with a recently formed organization called American Committee for Spanish Freedom. This latter organization is another of those Spanish Committees like the former United Spanish Aid Committee. This affiliation mentioned is announced on the official stationery of the Spanish committee.

The Hollywood Branch of the ICCASP is working in close collaboration with the Los Angeles CIO Industrial Union Council. This Council is completely dominated by Communists, under the leadership of PHILLIP M. CONNELLY.

This organization is now setting up, along with Studio Painters Local 644, of which HERBERT K. SORRELL is the business representative, and other Hollywood sympathetic unions and groups, a Committee for mass collections for the CIO. The first meeting of the group took place on February 8th. It will work in connection with all other groups which have shown Communist sympathies. An announcement of this effort appears in the CIO Labor Herald of February 8, 1946, page 2.

There is no doubt whatsoever of the Communist character of the HICCASP.

PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER:

Source A has informed that this Communist-controlled school has announced its Winter semester which begins on January 28, 1946.

There have been some changes in the faculty of the school since the Legislative Committee on Subversive Activities held hearings in which some details of the character of the school were brought out.

The officers and Board of Directors now are:

WILLIS J. HILL, President
RALPH WINSTEAD, Vice President

Board of Directors:

FAY E. ALLEN
R. S. AVERY
HARRY BROWN
Dr. FRANK C. DAVIS
FRANCES EISENBERG
GERTRUDE PLATTE
* Dr. SANFORD GOLDNER
FRANK GREEN (GREENBERG)
* DOROTHY HEALY
* MAURICE HOWARD
* JOHN HOWARD LAWSON
C. T. PETERSON
* ALBEE SLADE
WILLIAM WOLFF
* MILDRED RASKIN, Executive Secretary
* SIDNEY DAVISON, Director.

SIDNEY DAVISON, a known Communist and formerly Educational Director of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, has succeeded Dr.

FRANK C. DAVIS as director of the PEC. This change was made shortly after Dr. DAVIS was called before the Legislative Investigating Committee.

Instructors in the school with connections with the motion picture industry are:

* Dr. LEO SIGELMAN
* JOHN HOWARD LAWSON
* BEN BARZMAN
* HERBERT BIBERMAN
  ROBERT CUMMINGS
  EDWARD DMYTRYK
  ALEXANDER KNOX
* ROBERT LEES
* MELVIN LEVY
  IRVING PICHEL
* WILMA SHORE
* FRANK TUTTLE

This institution is making a special drive to enroll enlist students from the colleges and high schools, union members and members of the armed forces. This program is announced in the calendar of the school issued on January 21, 1946.

The parties, before whose names an asterisk appears, have heretofore been reported as known Communist Party members by sources considered reliable by the Los Angeles Field Office.

The name of the Hollywood branch, located at 1717 North Vine Street remains the Peoples Educational Center, but the downtown branch is now called the Los AngelesEducational Association, Inc.

One of the graduates of this school a JEAN (JAN) LOWERY, has become very active in the Hollywood union circles. She is a member of Laboratory Technicians Local 683 and is looked upon in Communist circles as one of their most promising recruits. She is exceptionally able and it is predicated that she will become a leader in the Hollywood Communist movement.

The IATSE, whose representative is ROY M. BREWER, is preparing to publish a weekly union paper which will oppose the growth and influence of the Communist Party in Hollywood. It will take the place of the Informational Bulletin and the Close-Up, previously issued.

Despite all the attacks on, and exposure of Communist activity in the Hollywood motion picture industry the influence of the Communist Party is stronger at the present time than at any time in the past.

The producers of pictures know that this condition exists, but they will take no open stand on the issue and, in fact, do everything they can to play the issue down for fear of reflections on the industry as a whole.

Privately, however, they do recognize the seriousness of the situation and so state.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Apparently because of the present strain between the U. S. and Soviet Russia and other factors, the CP and its followers in the motion picture industry are endeavoring to protect those who have been prominent in Communist activity and the high officials of the picture industry are desirous of keeping everything as quiet as possible, but the Communists are proceeding according to the CP line to accomplish their objectives. During a strike last year, which lasted eight months, the heads of the motion picture industry denied that there were any Communists in the industry but the IATSE and the Legislative Committee exposed the Communist record of HERBERT K. SORRELL, the leader of the Conference of Studio Unions and also the leader of the strikes, but apparently the management of the motion picture industry induced the IATSE to discontinue the expose of the Communists and the Communists have been devoting more time to politics during the past two or three months and the motion picture management is making some effort to suppress some of the more outspoken Communists. The HICCASP is devoting much time to political activity. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization has become very inactive. The International Film and Radio Guild has become active under the leadership of Superior Court Judge STANLEY MOSK. HERBERT K. SORRELL has served his jail sentence and is now on trial in another "riot" case. MELVYN DOUGLAS has returned from China and is now in the east making speeches in opposition to statements

The files in the Los Angeles Bureau Office have been searched and informants have been interviewed relative to the activity of the Communists in the motion picture field. The information which has been obtained is set forth below:

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has reported that because of the increasing strain on international relations between the United States and Soviet Russia, and also because of other factors of a local nature, the Communist Party and its followers in the motion picture industry in Hollywood are altering their tactics in order to protect those Communists and sympathizers who have been prominent in such activity for some time.

In addition, there is another factor which has a bearing on this change in activity which can be described in the Communist lingo as "going underground." That factor is the sudden realization by the producers of pictures and the supreme heads of the industry that there is a likely possibility that the film industry as a whole might be seriously embarrassed because they have permitted it to become a haven and a springboard for Communist activities over a period of years.

Source A also states that in view of the fact that the worl Communist movement is now moving forward in all countries, under the direct of the Soviet Union, to undermine and destroy that which it calls "capitalis democracy," the Communist Party of the United States carries out its program in accord therewith, fully understanding why it must do so. For this reason the Communists in the Hollywood motion picture industry must now adopt different tactics than heretofore, realizing at the same time the nature of the industry and its position of dependence on publicity and world attention, an the international tie-up which it must maintain. Heretofore, before the world "party line" changed from class collaboration under BROWDER to class warfare under FOSTER in July of 1945, the Communists in the motion picture industry could easily conceal their activities under the banner of patriotism and allegiance to the "class struggle", the Communists and their followers in the film industry would have to change with it, which they did, but not by open protestation. It was done by changing the form of their "front" organizations and their objectives.

However, the change in the Communist Party line is not the sole cause of the change in tactics as they apply to the motion picture industry specifically.

On March 12, 1945, a strike in the industry was called by an organized group of unions in the industry called the Conference of Studio Unions. This block of unions was under the control of the Communists who had infiltrated and secured control. The leader of this group and the leader of the strike was HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist with a long record of such activity.

The strike was primarily one against the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE) an anti-Communist group of AFL unions. The strike lasted some eight months and was attended with much violence.

The IATSE, during the strike, according to Source A, exposed thoroughly the Communist leadership and nature of the strike which was one which did not concern wages, hours or working conditions. This IATSE leadership, in the person of ROY M. BREWER, brought to public notice a situation in the Hollywood studios which showed beyond a doubt that the film industry was saturated with Communists and followers of the Communist Party line and their objectives in the strike were to take over the workers in all branches of the industry and in a measure create a powerful pressure machine to influence the content of the pictures produced in favor of the Communist ideology.

During the last sixty days of the strike and for a short period thereafter, this exposure was continuous. All during the time that Mr. BREWER was calling attention to Communist activity in the picture industry in Hollywood, the producers and heads of the industry were denying that there were any Communists in the industry and trying to induce Mr. BREWER to drop that method of attack on the strikers.

Early in December, and shortly after the strike came to an end, the IATSE issued an "Informational Bulletin" in which the complete record of HERBERT K. SORRELL as a Communist was given. In addition to the information on SORRELL, the Bulletin also published the names of many persons high up in the industry, writers, actors, producers and executives who were also engaged in Communist activities to a more or less degree and who had supported and lent their names to such activity in the past.

When this information was made public, giving the names and partial records of these prominent individuals, the producers and entire industry seemingly demanded a halt to this type of publicity. Their demands were evidently acceded to, because from that time, that form of publicity was dropped. The last Bulletin issued by the IATSE was on February 1, 1946 and even in that one Hollywood was not the subject; the material dealt with the political situation in California, leaving Hollywood completely out of it.

The heads of the motion picture industry in Hollywood continually deny that there are any Communists involved in the making of pictures or the industry itself. They know better and they know also that they, themselves, have been responsible to a large degree for the situation.

They have permitted known Communists and sympathizers who have openly voiced their leanings toward that ideology to be placed in responsible positions in the industry where they could determine the content of pictures produced. Especially is this so in their employment of writers, directors and associate producers.

But the film producers have always fought any exposure of the situation and have, so far, according to Source A, been successful in every case in stopping any publicity that would involve the industry as such. This was done in two specific instances, one a Congressional and one a State investigation. Once again, in this matter of union dispute it has been accomplished.

Because of the two foregoing factors, the change in the Communist Party line and the partial exposure of Communist activity by the IATSE, those who have been most active in the Communist activity and this includes some who might possibly be "innocents", are now becoming less and less conspicuous and retiring. In the case of some of them of extreme importance, the producers have commanded them to cease their open activity.

Source A reports that an example of this hiding out process is the case of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON who has long been the leader of the Communist contingent in the upper brackets and the Hollywood "front" organizations. LAWSON has announced that he will retire to his farm and write a book. His name appears less and less as an active Communist.

BETTE DAVIS, Warner Bros. screen star also has withdrawn from that type of Communist influenced activity, such as expressed by the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. It has been reported that Warner Bros. has ordered her to "cut it out."

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

All this does not mean, however, that Communist activity will be lessened in Hollywood. It means, merely, that the work of the Communist Party in Hollywood will be carried on in an "underground "manner.

The open and above-ground "front" organizations will be maintained, and others formed. These, however, will serve as propaganda instruments, using the prestige of prominent personages in pictures as the "draw", to carry out the program of the world Communist movement in its present attack and undermining attempts on the so-called "imperialist" nations in their attempts to block the world conquest by the Soviet Union and the world Communist movement to bring about world Communism.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS

Source A states that this Communist inspired and controlled "front" organization has now become a most powerful influence locally and state-wide in California. Its Communist tinge is plainly apparent, it being composed for the main part in controlling positions, persons long identified with Communist activities and party-line-following in the Hollywood area.

Its influence as a "pressure" group is most effective. It takes part in all local activities inspired by the Communist Party, such as;

Mobilization for Democracy, directed by State Attorney General ROBERT W. KENNY and * WILLIAM R. BIDNER, Executive Secretary.

Recall of Councilman MEADE McCLANAHAN of Los Angeles, directed by *WILLIAM R. BIDNER.

Support on picket lines and financially of all local CIO strikes. These strikes are largely directed by PHILLIP M. CONNELLY, Secretary-Treasurer of the LAIUC.

Collaboration with the CIO Political Action Committee through HARRY BROWN as Assistant Director.

Collaboration with the National Citizens Political Action Committee, *JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, Communist Party functionary.

Collaboration with the Los Angeles County Democratic Central Committee of the Democratic Party (under Communist control), through ROLLIN McNUTT, the County Chairman and*JOHN HOWARD LAWSON.

onsorship of the American Youth for Democracy, formerly Young Communist ague, represented by MEYER FRIEDEN*.

opaganda Campaign in the interest of turning over the secret of the Atomic mb to United States or Civilian control, directed by *JOHN HOWARD LAWSON.

The organization has announced that it will soon launch a nation-wide radio program to carry out its policies and objectives.

There is no doubt that this organization with its Hollywood prestige and influence will succeed in electing, or at least securing the nomination in the forthcoming primaries, to office what is termed the "liberal" slate in California, "liberal" in this instance meaning "Communist-endorsed."

The HICCASP has been the front-line of Communist open activity in Southern California; in fact, for the whole state on the political field.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A has informed that the only activity of this Communist-controlled propaganda organization within the last several months has been the issuance of the second number of the "Hollywood Quarterly". This publication was issued in conjunction with the University of California and was jointly sponsored.

INTERNATIONAL FILM AND RADIO GUILD

Source A informs that this organization heretofore unnoticed has now announced that during the year 1946, it will produce a series of 16 mm. pictures which will portray "minorities in sympathetic and diversified roles rather than the familiar stereotypes." It is announced that the 16 mm. field has great "educational" possibilities and that they will be utilized.

Superior Judge STANLEY MOSK is president of the company. Others interested and supporting the project are:

LENA HORNE, screen actress (colored vice-president
*JOHN GARFIELD, screen actor, vice-president (YCL)
AL JARVIS, band leader, vice-president.
NAT COLE, band leader, vice-president
Dr. C. W. HILL, vice-president,
CATHERINE B. GARCIA, Secretary.
LORRAINE N. ARMSTRONG, Assist-Secretary
HARRY T. MORGAN, Treasurer
LEON H. HARDWICK, Executive-Secretary

Board of Directors: (including above)
*HENRY BLANKFORT (writer)
JEAN BROOKS
MARY OYAMA-MITTWER
CURTIS MOSBY

J. DAVID OROZCO, Mexican
DAVID RAVIN, attorney
*EARL ROBINSON, musician
ALLEN C. SCOTT
Mrs. NOBLE SISSLE, wife of actor (Negress)

As no pictures have yet been made or announced, no report on such can be given. However, many of those listed above have records of Communist activity, including Judge MOSK.

HERBERT K. SORRELL

SORRELL is the Communist leader of the block of unions called the Conference of Studio Unions and was the leader of the recent strike in the studios. He was convicted of ignoring an injunction issued by the Superior Court of Los Angeles County in that strike and sentenced to sixteen days in jail, which he has served. At the present time he is standing trial in Burbank, California Court for inciting to riot, along with others, some of whom have criminal records.

MELVYN DOUGLAS

DOUGLAS is a screen actor, the husband of HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS, Congresswoman from Southern California, and also a former screen actress. Both Mr. and Mrs. DOUGLAS attained their positions through their connections with the motion picture industry, according to Source A.

DOUGLAS is now in the East. According to a United Press dispatch, DOUGLAS, speaking before the Golden Slipper Club in Philadelphia on March 7, 1946, branded WINSTON CHURCHILL as a "breeder of suspicion-- an arch enemy of mankind."

This because of Mr. CHURCHILL's frank speech about Soviet Russia, delivered in Fulton, Missouri. Mr. DOUGLAS and his wife as well, have long been identified as part of the Communist influence in the motion picture industry.

MICHAEL KOMAROFF:

Source A informs MICHAEL KOMAROFF is a member of the National Labor Relations Board for the Los Angeles district. He first appeared to public notice in that position about June of 1945.

On February 25, 1946, an item appeared in the daily press that three persons had been caught in a snow storm in the mountains in San Bernardino County, California and that it was necessary to rescue them by the authorities of the locality.

The press listed these persons as *HERBERT BIBERMAN, *EDWARD BIBERMAN and MICHAEL KOMAROFF. The two BIBERMAN brothers are both known Communists and two of the most active in that movement in the Hollywood motion picture industry.

HOLLYWOOD REACTION TO MR. CHURCHILL'S SPEECH

The Daily Peoples World, official organ of the Communist Party on the West Coast, in its edition of March 9th, 1946, prints the following:

> "The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions revealed a number of its members had signed the statement of Senator CLAUDE PEPPER severely criticizing the CHURCHILL speech.
> "These included OLIVIA DeHAVILAND, JOHNNY GREEN, GREGORY PECK, Mrs. ROBERT LORD and FRANK HUGH HERBERT."

All the above have been active in Hollywood's Communist "fronts." There has, as yet, been no favorable comment on the CHURCHILL speech from any individual or organization even remotely connected with the Hollywood motion picture industry.

The present strained relations with Soviet Russia and the corresponding expose of the Communist Party of the United States as the agency of that government and its activities and propaganda for releasing the secret of the atomic bomb for Russia's sake, has caused no defections in the ranks of Communist sympathizers, or any rift in the Party's apparatus.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communist record of HERBERT K. SORRELL, the leader of the Conference of Studio Unions and leader of the recent strike, was obtained and is set out herein. Some months ago when the Un-American Activities Committee of Congress threatened an investigation of Communists and Communism in the motion picture industry, the leading Communists became quite inactive for a time but on or about 3-17-46, it was announced that no investigation would be instituted and Communist leaders again became more active than ever before. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions has become the main Communist pressure group in Hollywood and was instrumental in calling the National Conference, Washington, D. C., April 5 - 7, 1946. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization has become active and is propagandizing the picture "Love on the Dole." The Los Angeles Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy has recently been formed for the purpose of influencing sentiment and activities favorable to Soviet Russia. Its directing force is that of other Communist front organizations. The People's Educational Center is extending its work and activities. The Council on African Affairs has become active in the Hollywood field under the sponsorship of well known Communists. HERBERT K. SORRELL, leader of the Conference of Studio Unions, is threatening to call another strike in the motion picture industry.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that Communist activity on the part of the followers of that movement employed in the Hollywood motion picture industry has been noticeably accelerated within the last thirty days. For some six months or so previous to about March 17th, 1946, the Communists, particularly those in the upper brackets of the industry, had been acting cautiously in their open activity. JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, the leader and spokesman of that group, gradually slowed up in his activities and at one time, about sixty days ago, announced through the columns of the Peoples Daily World that he was going to "retire" to his ranch and write a book. Others such as ROBERT ROSSEN, DALTON TRUMBO and others also showed tendencies of inactivity. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization practically was in a decline and it was stated, unofficially however, that it would probably be dissolved.

It is not known definitely that this apparent inactivity was caused by a threatened investigation and expose of Hollywood's Communist group. It is a fact, however, that after several investigators employed by the House Committee on Un-American Activities (Rankin Committee) came to Hollywood, there was much uneasiness among the Hollywood Communists and their sympathizers, and even within the motion picture industry itself.

Source further informed that on March 17th, 1946, it was publicly announced through the trade and daily press that the report of these investigators would not be made public, that any threat of this Congressional committee to the Hollywood film industry was now dissipated, and that the results of the investigation would remain a secret with the Congressional Committee.

Immediately after this announcement was made public, Communist activity increased and became more open. JOHN HOWARD LAWSON promptly emerged from "retirement" and all those who previously had been overly active only to go underground when the threat of investigation was still in effect, have now once again come out into the open and are most active in all "fronts" and pressure groups inspired and controlled by the Communist Party.

The Hollywood Writers Mobilization likewise promptly came to life and is supporting, as an organization, all other Communist "fronts" and activities mentioned hereinafter.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS

This organization, according to Source A, is the Hollywood branch of the national organization and is now the main Communist pressure group using the prestige of the motion picture industry for its political purposes.

This organization sent delegates to the National Conference, also known as the "Win-The-Peace Conference," held in Washington, D. C., on April 5 - 7, 1946. This so-called conference can easily be recognized as another Communist-inspired and controlled "Peace" pressure effort and obviously a revival in principle of the American Peace Mobilization set up during the period of the Stalin-Hitler pact and which went out of existence when HITLER turned and attacked Soviet Russia.

The fact that Hollywood had much to do with this conference is shown by the names of the four persons whom the Communists and daily press credit with originating the meeting. Three of this number are:

X PAUL ROBESON, actor and singer, New York City;
JO DAVIDSON, sculptor, New York City;
BARTLEY C. CRUM, attorney, San Francisco.

Source A states that these parties have connections with most all front organizations in Hollywood and make frequent visits to this locality.

In addition to taking part in this conference, the HICCASP is active in every other Communist-controlled effort in the Southern California area. It is allied with an organization called the California Committee on Radio Freedom, and was organized as a pressure group in defense of a number of radio commentators put off the air because of Communist propaganda. These commentators are:

X SAM BALTER, radio commentator;
PETER DE LIMA, radio commentator;
ALVIN MILLER, radio broadcaster.

The HICCASP sponsored a meeting of this radio group at the Beverly-Wilshire Hotel, Los Angeles, March 21, 1946. Those taking part in this meeting were the following:

ROBERT YOUNG, Chairman, actor;
PAUL ROBESON (negro), actor and singer, New York City;
EDWARD G. ROBINSON, screen actor;
CHA MUNSON, actress;
DANE CLARK, actor, Youth Rally Representative, Brotherhood Week; ALFRED CLARK;
KEENAN WYNN, actor;
MARTIN GABEL;
JEAN LORING;
CHARLES LAUGHTON, actor.

Source A states that NORMAN CORWIN, a radio writer, was the principal speaker at the meeting. While the meeting was called to protest the discharge of the three commentators (all present), CORWIN's main remarks were directed at WINSTON CHURCHILL because of his Fulton, Missouri, speech and in support of the general foreign policy of the Soviet Union, accusing Britain and the United States of getting ready to "gang up on Russia."

The nature of this "Radio" Committee is shown by the following members of the Executive Board of same:

ROBERT W. KENNY, State Attorney General and Democratic candidate for Governor;
Colonel EVANS CARLSON, U. S. Marines;
REUBEN BOROUGH, Pamphleteer and candidate for Congress, Democratic ticket;
LILLIAN HURWITZ, writer;
THOMAS FORD, former Congressman from the 14th Congressional District, and now a candidate for Congress.

In addition to the foregoing activities, the HICCASP is following the political line of the Communist Party in the coming primary elections by supporting all candidates endorsed by the Communist Party and the CIO. The organization is particularly interested in the election of the following candidates:

ROBERT W. KENNY for Governor of California, Democrat;
ELLIS E. PATTERSON for United States Senator, Democrat;
JACK SHELLEY of San Francisco for Lieut-Governor, Democrat;
HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLASS for Congress, Democrat;
NED HEALY, Congress, Democrat;
EMMETT LAUERY, Congress, Democrat;
LUCILLE GLEASON, Secretary of State, Democrat.

All the foregoing are part of the Communist front machine in the State of California.

In all its activities, locally, nationally and internationally, this organization follows faithfully the present line of the Communist Party of the United States.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A has informed that this Communist-controlled propaganda organization has again become active. On April 3, 1946, the Marquis Theatre, 9038 Melrose Avenue, Los Angeles, California, was the location where the HWM gave a showing of a motion picture called "Love on the Dole." The picture was made in England and is strictly a propaganda film showing the horrors of capitalist exploitation and resultant depression. The showing of the film was followed by an audience discussion of the economic and political aspects of the coming depression which they maintain will later ensue.

Those who led this "discussion" were as follows:

*JAMES H. BURROWD, CIO Community Service Director;
*IRVING PICHEL, motion picture director;
*ANNE REVERE, screen actress;
EMMETT LAVERY, screen writer, candidate for Congress;
ALEXANDER KNOX, actor;
*JOHN HEXLEY, screen writer;
CARL DEMOPOULOS, Social Service Workers Union;
CATHERINE O'CONNOR, American Red Cross;
*ROBERT ROSSEN, writer, Chairman, Hollywood Writers Mobilization, Chairman of Committee to Aid Strikers.

LOS ANGELES COMMITTEE FOR A DEMOCRATIC FAR EASTERN POLICY

According to Source A, this is the latest Communist front pressure group set up for the purpose of supporting the foreign policy of Soviet Russia as it is being applied in the Orient, in China, India, Indonesia and Japan, mainly. The organization of this group had its beginning within the motion picture industry in Hollywood in that those responsible for its formation are mainly directly connected with the film industry or have connections which are indirect, but nonetheless real.

The Communist nature of the effort is unmistakeable, the same persons controlling this front as are implicated in all other groups of a Communist nature in Hollywood.

A copy of an "information bulletin" has been obtained and is being retained in instant file. This bulletin is self-explanatory and plainly shows the purposes of the organization and its activities, present and proposed, in behalf of Soviet Russia.

The headquarters, or offices, of the organization are located at 6272 Yucca Street, Hollywood, California. This is the headquarters of the Screen Cartoonists Guild, a completely Communist-controlled trade union (AF of L) in the motion picture industry. This location is used continually by Communists as a propaganda center.

The sponsors and directors, all of whom have records of Communist activity and sympathies, are the following:

CARLOS BULOCAN, Filipino radical;
DI LAN CHEN, Chinese radical;
*GEORGE CAMPBELL, musician
*PHILLIP MCCONNELLY, CIO and Secretary-Treasurer of Los Angeles Industrial Union Council; PAUL DRAPER, dancer and screen actor;
*EDWARD DMYTRYK, screen director;
NED HEALY, Congressman from Southern California, Democrat;
JAMES WONG HOWE, motion picture cameraman;
JOHN B. HUGHES, radio commentator;
Mrs. ALEXANDER KNOX, wife of screen actor ALEXANDER KNOX;
ALINE MCMAHON, no information;
LOLLI MCNITT, Chairman, Los Angeles County Democratic Committee;

This organization is allied with the People's Educational Center, Hollywood Branch, which was formerly known as the Hollywood Writers School, conducted by the League of American Writers. Later on this Communist school absorbed the Communist Workers School of Los Angeles.

There can be no doubt that this pressure group will develop into a powerful front for the Communists in the Los Angeles area because of the connections of the leading personalities with the motion picture industry.

COUNCIL ON AFRICAN AFFAIRS

This national organization, according to Source A, is Communist-controlled and becoming active in the LosAngeles area. With the help of Hollywood personalities and cooperation, it is setting up a local organization for agitation among the negroes in Southern California. A meeting of this group was held on March 24, 1946, at the Second Baptist Church (colored). The Communists and sympathizers in charge of the meeting were the following:

*PAUL ROBESON, negro singer and actor;
*PHILLIP M. CONNELLY, CIO, LA IUC Secretary;
MAX YERGAN, President of National Negro Congress
CHARLOTTA BASS, negress, Editor of California Eagle;

LENA HORNE, negro screen actress, singer;
*JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, screen writer
*CALVIN JACKSON, entertainer and screen figure.

The meeting denounced "British Imperialism," demanded relief from the United States for the negroes of Africa, condemned American "Imperialism," protested against police "brutality" and opposed a new world war -- the Communist Party line in all respects was followed. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Daily Peoples World, Communist publication on the West Coast at San Francisco.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

This block of studio unions under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist, is now preparing to call another strike in the Hollywood motion picture industry. Already some of the unions under Communist domination, Carpenters, Set Decorators, Painters and Machinists have taken a strike vote and the verdict was for strike unless the producers concede to a form of negotiation demanded by SORRELL and his Communist followers.

HERBERT K. SORRELL was convicted of contempt of Court several months ago and served seventeen days in jail. He is being tried on another charge growing out of the recent strike in Burbank, California, which was inciting to riot and disobedience to the law by violating an injunction. The trial is now in progress.

The Communists in the Hollywood film industry are becoming stronger day by day in the matter of propaganda and influence. Now that any threat of exposure either by the Government, local authorities or the producers themselves, who seem to favor them at certain times and under certain conditions, it appears that the Communists are becoming more powerful and more insistent for their programs than ever before.

An asterisk has been placed before the names of the parties in this report whose identity as members of the Communist Party has heretofore been reported to the Bureau.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Communist record of HERBERT K. SOBELL, the leader of the Conference of Studio Unions and leader of the recent strike, was obtained and is set out herein. Some months ago when the Un-American Activities Committee of Congress threatened an investigation of Communists and Communism in the motion picture industry, the leading Communists became quite inactive for a time but on or about 3-17-46, it was announced that no investigation would be instituted and Communist leaders again became more active than ever before. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions has become the main Communist pressure group in Hollywood and was instrumental in calling the National Conference, Washington, D. C., April 5 - 7, 1946. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization has become active and is propagandizing the picture "Love on the Dole." The Los Angeles Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy has recently been formed for the purpose of influencing sentiment and activities favorable to Soviet Russia. Its directing force is that of other Communist front organizations. The People's Educational Center is extending its work and activities. The Council on African Affairs has become active in the Hollywood field under the sponsorship of well known Communists. HERBERT K. SOBELL, leader of the Conference of Studio Unions, is threatening to call another strike in the motion picture industry.

ALBERT MALTZ APOLOGIZES FOR ARTICLE APPEARING IN NEW MASSES

Source A has informed that ALBERT MALTZ, a well known Communist of some standing, had written an article which was published in the New Masses and reprinted in the Daily Worker which contained basically anti-Marxist views. The Communists claimed that the "article set up an artificial separation between art and politics, between the artist as artist and the artist as citizen;" that it echoes and gives comfort to the slanders of the capitalist press, the Trotskyites, Social Democrats and other enemies of the Party and the working class. MALTZ was criticized and was given an opportunity to explain his stand and his views. He apologized and begged for his "Communist life" which was accepted, and MALTZ was permitted to remain as a member of the Communist Party in good standing.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source B has informed that the Communists and their supporters in the motion picture industry have become more pronounced and open in their work since the House Committee on Un-American Activities officially announced that the findings of the Committee would not be made public.

At the present time, this aggressive attitude of the Communists has become more aggressive in the Hollywood-sponsored pressure groups, all of which follow the political line of the Communist Party in international, national and local affairs.

The most powerful organization at the present time attached to the motion picture industry is the HICCASP.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE
OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS (HICCASP)

Source B informs that this organization is the Hollywood branch of the ICCASP. It is a powerful political pressure group and using the motion picture industry and its prestige as a base will be the dominating factor in the coming primary elections in the State of California. Every endorsement for public office made by this organization coincides exactly with that made by the Communist Party of the state. In addition to endorsement of these Communist-favored candidates, the HICCASP is mailing out a tremendous amount of propaganda literature not only as a service to these candidates for office, but in favor of every Communist-endorsed proposal, grievance or pressure effort.

From the foregoing list of names the Communist complexion of this organization is unmistakeable. An asterisk has been placed before the names of those who have been heretofore reported as members of the Communist Party.

Source B further stated that on April 13, 1946, the HICCASP took part officially in a parade in the downtown Los Angeles area conducted under the auspices of the Emergency Committee to Support OPA. This demonstration was in response to a call by the Communist Party of the United States for all organizations to support the OPA. Other organizations taking part in this demonstration along with the HICCASP, all of which are under Communist influence in the Southern California area, were the following:

Los Angeles County Democratic Committee
National Citizens Political Action Committee (L.A. Division)
American Veterans Committee
Young Women's Christian Association
CIO Industrial Union Council
Screen Cartoonists Guild
Screen Publicists Guild
Laboratory Technicians, Local 683, IATSE.

The organization is also conducting a campaign of propaganda against "restrictive covenants" limiting residential districts on the basis of color, etc. In support of this campaign the organization is circulating a somewhat elaborate booklet on the subject issued by the American Council on Race Relations, located at 32 West Randolph Street, Chicago, Illinois. This latter organization is a Communist "front" organization. Also in support of this program the HICCASP, on April 30, 1946, held a meeting at the First Unitarian Church, 2936 West 8th Street, at which meeting a Reverend CLAUDE WILLIAMS, pastor of the Peoples Institute of Applied Religion, Detroit, Michigan, was the guest speaker. This so-called Institute is a Communist-inspired venture.

The HICCASP has officially endorsed, and is carrying on an intensive campaign in support of, the following candidates for State offices in the California primaries to be held on June 4, all of whom have been identified with Communist activities outright, or have supported the Communist Party line:

CONFIDENTIAL

ROBERT W. KENNY, for Governor
JOHN F. SHELLEY, Lieut. Governor
LUCILLE GLEASON, Secretary of State
* ELLIS E. PATTERSON, U. S. Senate (now a member of Congress)
CLAUDE WELCH, State Senator
NED R. HEALY, Congress (incumbent)
HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS, Congress (incumbent)
EMMETT LAVERY, Congress, writer
REUBEN W. BOROUGH, Congress, pamphleteer
CHET HOLIFIELD, Congress (Incumbent)
CECIL R. KING, Congress (Incumbent)
CLYDE DOYLE, Congress (Incumbent)

In the Assembly list and other local offices the endorsements of the HICCASP correspond exactly to those of the Communist Party of California.

In fact, all the activity of the HICCASP, whether it be local, national or international, is plainly dictated by the ideology of the Communist Party, which, in turn, operates in the interests of the Soviet Union only.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

According to Source B, the political activities of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization correspond precisely with those of the above mentioned HICCASP. It has supported every proposition in the same manner as the above mentioned HICCASP.

The HWM's principal activity at the present time is the showing of Russian propaganda motion pictures at the Gordon Theater, 614 North La Brea Avenue, Los Angeles, on each Tuesday night. In connection with the showing of these pictures made in Russia, a sort of town meeting forum is held in which the audience takes part. This is strictly a Hollywood colored gathering, and is used for propaganda purposes purely. Films already shown or to be shown are titled as follows:

Once There Was A Girl, made in Russia and glorifying the Young Komsomols (Young Communists)
The Last Chance
Marie-Louise
Seventh Veil
Open City
It Happened at the Inn

WILLIAM DIETERLE, motion picture director, is one of the prime movers in this venture. Others are the following:

FLORENCE ODETS - Photographer
* EDWARD ELISCU - Writer
* Mrs. GUY ENDORE - Hollywood Women's Council

CONFIDENTIAL

HOWARD KOCH - Writer
* ROBERT ROSSEN - Writer
* CORINNE SEEDS, of the University of California at Los Angeles, Elementary Division.

The turnout at these meetings are the usual Communist, and sympathetic individuals seen at all such gatherings.

NATIONAL WIN-THE-PEACE CONFERENCE

According to press dispatches, this organization came into existence at a meeting held in Washington, D. C. April 4, 5, and 6, 1946. Out of this meeting a national organization was set up, and it has been reported that branches in all parts of the country are to be formed.

Source B advises that Los Angeles and Hollywood have fallen in line and on May 12, 1946, the Los Angeles branch will come into existence. This "Conference" is to be held on that date at the Los Angeles City College auditorium. Publicity for the meeting states that the conference is sponsored by the National Win-The-Peace Committee, the co-chairmen of which are:

* PAUL ROBESON - Singer and actor
Col. EVANS CARLSON - U. S. Marines

The Los Angeles Conference will be in charge of the following Communist Party line followers:

ROBERT W. KENNY, Atty-General of California and candidate for Governor
ALLEN CHASE - Writer and Executive Secretary of American Committee for Spanish Freedom.
EDWARD MOSK - Attorney and former member of AMG in Germany
TRUE BOARDMAN - Radio writer
REUBEN W. BOROUGH - Pamphleteer
VICTOR SHOCKEN
WILLIAM H. ROSENTHAL - California State Assemblyman
BELLE DUBNOFF
Dr. HERBERT ALEXANDER - Professor at Los Angeles City College
Dr. CLAUDE HUDSON - Negro dentist
L. E. CLAYPOOL
LAL SINGH - India, publishes a paper on Indian affairs
DAVID SARVIS
Dr. I. REES
* WILLIAM POMERANCE - Executive Secretary Screen Writers Guild
WILLIS J. HILL - President of People's Educational Center
* IKE ADAMS - Negro
* PHIL M. CONNELLY - Secretary-Treasurer, LAIUC

CONFIDENTIAL

The following U. S. Congressmen from this district are sponsoring this meeting:

* ELLIS E. PATTERSON - Congressman
HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS
CLYDE DOYLE
NED R. HEALY

While not all those above mentioned are connected with the Hollywood motion picture industry, the HICCASP and the MPM are both officially affiliated with the national and local meets; both these organizations sent official delegates to the Washington meeting.

HOLLYWOOD STUDIO UNIONS

The situation within the organized labor groups in the film industry is comparatively quiet at this time. However, Source B has advised that the recent eight months strike has not settled the dispute and it will be only a comparatively short time till strife breaks out again.

* HERBERT K. SORRELL, the Communist leader of the former strike is now on trial before the Los Angeles Central Labor Council on the charge of being a Communist Party member and having engaged in Communist activities. The trial will last for several weeks. Conclusive evidence of his activities is in the hands of the Council and it is believed that he will be expelled from that body of the A.F. of L. This trial of SORRELL has quieted the labor situation temporarily.

MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE FOR THE PRESERVATION OF AMERICAN IDEALS

This organization formed several years ago presumably to offset Communist subversive activities in the Hollywood motion picture industry is making an attempt to come to life again. It has issued a bulletin titled "The Vigil," four pages and an insert, dated April, 1946. It states that it is to be a monthly issue. The content of the bulletin is an attempted expose of the methods of Communists in Hollywood in dialogue form, a list of the activities of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and an item taken from the "New Leader" of New York showing the HICCASP is a Communist "front" organization. The circulation is limited and the effort is nothing more than a gesture, as all its past attempts have been.

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, with aliases,
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

On May 23, 1946, CNDI [redacted] advised this office that on that afternoon he had attended a conference between JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and BERT (BARGEMAN), a Communist employed as a Secretary at the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. During the course of this discussion, LAWSON stated that he had written most of SIMINOV'S speeches that he had delivered in Los Angeles. SIMINOV, as the Bureau is aware, is a noted Russian writer who is presently visiting in Los Angeles. b7D

BARGEMAN told LAWSON that she felt that SIMINOV'S possibilities had not been fully exploited, that she felt that many of SIMINOV'S speeches had been "watered down" to a more dripple of "Russia and the United States should be friends". BARGEMAN felt that this "milk toast" attitude should be stopped and that the Communist start fighting Fascism which she claimed flourished most successfully in the United States. To this LAWSON agreed but he cautioned that it would be necessary to start off very gradually in changing the peoples' beliefs and he stated that he felt that the "best bet is by communizing the writers and producers" in Hollywood and eventually controlling every picture and fiction story produced in Hollywood and that perhaps one day every news article in the United States that the people read.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS: The Communist forces in the film industry devoted a great deal of time to the recent primary campaign and election and the Communists, Communist Party line followers, CIO-PAC, NC-PAC and the HICCASP suffered an overwhelming defeat. Their candidates for governor, senator, secretary of state, controller, state treasurer and state senator have been eliminated from the general election and it appears that the candidate for attorney general will also be eliminated. "Actors Lab." has moved and is now engaged in producing propaganda pictures. A Hollywood forum has been opened under the auspicious of the Daily People's World. HERBERT K. SORRELL and seven other studio strike pickets were convicted and each one was sentenced to pay a fine of $50.00 or five days in jail. The fines were paid. KONSTANTIN SIMONOV, Russian Journalist, praised the motion picture industry and critized the American press, especially the HURST newspapers and gave a banquet and show on board a Russian steamship for certain sponsors of Russian interests.

The Los Angeles Daily News for May 7, 1946 stated that HERBERT K. SORRELL, who fought for his union members in several recent public trials was on trial before the union itself on charges of being a Communist. It stated that SORRELL, a delegate to the A.F. of L. Central Labor Council, is accused of violating the constitution of Painters' Local #644 of which he is the business agent. The constitution makes Communism a serious offense for any member of the union.

The Hollywood Reporter, for May 15, 1946, stated that HERBERT K. SORRELL and seven other members of the conference of studio unions were ordered to pay $50.00 fines or serve five days in jail as a result of their convictions two weeks ago of failure to disperse on a police order during the film strike riots at Warner Brothers last October. Burbank's Police Judge RAYMOND also sentenced ANTHONY SCHIAVONE, who was also found guilty of distrubing the peace, to pay a fine of $25.00 or spend two days in jail. The other defendants were given forty-eight hours to pay the $50.00 fines, after electing to pay the fines in lieu of going to jail.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that the entire strength of the Communist forces in the Hollywood film industry, members of the Party, sympathizers and followers of the Party line was devoted almost exclusively to the primary election for State and County offices held on June 4, 1946. In fact, the entire Communist apparatus in the State was utilized in an effort to elect those candidates whom the Communist Party and its "front" organizations had endorsed. The candidates supported by the Communists and so-called "liberal" or "progressive" elements, which are in reality in most cases disguised Communists, were badly defeated. ROBERT W. KENNY, State Attorney General and candidate for Governor had the endorsement of the Communists and their sympathizers; in fact, Mr. KENNY has been raised to his present post of Attorney General of California by the efforts of the Communist Party with which he has collaborated for many years. * ELLIS E. PATTERSON, now a member of Congress and a candidate at this election for the Senate of the United States was also swept out of the picture. PATTERSON, likewise, owes his political prowess to the Communist Party. His record of Communist activity goes back many years. Both KENNY and PATTERSON were defeated, EARL WARREN, the present governor of the state being re-elected at the primary election by securing both the Democratic and Republican nominations. PATTERSON was eliminated from the finals, WILL ROGERS, JR., having secured the Democratic nomination.

The Communists centered most of their strength on these two offices, for obvious reasons. Other offices where Communists had endorsed candidates met a similar fate in the majority of cases for lesser offices. This defeat at the polls for the Communists throughout the State where for about ten years they have enjoyed an almost preferred position will mark a turning point in the politics of the State, and also a change in Communists tactics, particularly within the motion picture industry where they are exceptionally strong due to the key positions they hold in the industry.

This Source further advised that one important factor that contributed to this overturn was the open position the Communists are now required to take because of the change in the Party line which calls for more open revolutionary activity and an open attack on the capitalist system as such. For this reason Communists are more and more being exposed for what they really are. Previously because of the war and their protestations of loyalty to democracy (our kind), they were able to hide their ultimate intentions behind a screen of patriotism. But now, they are back to the old line of revolution according to Marx-Lenin-Stalin theory. This change was demanded by Soviet Russia immediately after the war was over and HITLER was defeated. This change in line is clearly visible with the Hollywood Communists in the film industry who are now against the private profit system and in favor of socialism for this country. However, so far, they do not put it so boldly, but do so in a much more subtle manner. This will become more apparent as time goes on.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS (HICCASP)

This organization, according to Source A, is composed of many prominent persons in the film industry which is the leading organization political force in Southern California devoted to the election of Communist-preferred candidates. This organization endorsed, and raised large amounts of money for the support and election of the Communist-sponsored candidates. With one exception, there was no division in their ranks on this issue of preferred candidates. There was some slight division over the two candidates ELLIS E. PATTERSON and WILL ROGERS, JR., for the Office of United States Senator. A small group, numbering about forty, disagreed with the rulers of HICCASP and came out for WILL ROGERS, JR., for Senator. There is not a great deal of difference between PATTERSON and ROGERS as both have been the favorites of the Communist Party and supported by that Party wholly in the past.

Source A further informs that there has not yet been a meeting of the HICCASP called, but information conveyed is to the effect that the organization may have to undergo some changes. What those changes may be, the informant did not know. In any case there will be changes made inasmuch as the organization is now being recognized and designated by the interested public generally as a Communist organization. Previous to the primary election, for some four weeks, the HICCASP had cooperated with the following organizations connected directly and indirectly with the Hollywood motion picture industry in a series of political rallies for the benefit of the Communist-recommended candidates:

Conference of Studio Unions (Communist controlled)

Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions (Communist controlled)

57th A.D. Democratic Club (Communist controlled)

American Youth for Democracy (formerly known as Young Communist League)

American Veterans Committee (Sponsored by Communists)

Mobilization for Democracy (Communist front organization)

Meetings of this last named group were held in the various High Schools in the Hollywood area, the last one being held in the Hollywood High School on the evening of June 3, 1946. The speakers at this meeting were the following:

ALBERT DEKKER - California assemblyman.

*DOROTHY CONNELLY - Mrs. PHILIP M. CONNELLY.

WILLIS J. HILL - A.F.L. Leftist leader.

BEN RINALDO - Party line follower.

ORA MATTHESS - Party line follower.

*EARL ROBINSON - Composer of Communist songs.

The foregoing is the type of activity that HICCASP has been engaged in during the last four weeks.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A further informs that this organization is at present confining its activity to the presentation of Russian-made propaganda films. They have secured the Laurel Theater, 8056 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, for this purpose. The picture now being shown is the Russian picture "OPEN CITY." Attendance at the showing of these pictures is confined mostly to Communists and their sympathizers.

Those most interested in the presentation of these Russian motion pictures, all of whom are connected with the Film Industry, are the following:

JOHN CROMWELL - writer.

*ALVAH BESSIE - writer.

FRANCES MILLINGTON - studio worker, union officer.

LENA HORNE - Negress, actress, singer.

JOHN B. HUGHES - news commentator.

WILLIAM DIETERLE - director.

HOWARD KOCH - writer.

FLORENCE ODETS - motion picture photographer.

*EDWARD ELISCU - writer.

*GUY ENDORE - newspaper columnist.

*Mrs. GUY ENDORE - secretarial work.

LEWIS MILESTONE - Russian born film director.

ACTORS LABORATORY (Actors Lab.)

Source A informs that this Communist-controlled school for acting and a transmission belt into the motion picture industry has moved to a new location, the Las Palmas Theatre, 1648 North Las Palmas Avenue, Hollywood, California. The Actors Laboratory is a continuation of the former Group Theatre organization which was affiliated with the International Union of Revolutionary Theaters, through the New Theatre League. This latter organization suspended operations when the war started. Plays produced during the war by the Laboratory Theater were not of strong propaganda character. But since the change in the Communist Party Line back to a revolutionary program, this Theater group is preparing to produce propaganda and revolutionary plays. Now in preparation to be produced soon is the Communist propaganda play by CLIFFORD ODETS, called "Awake and Sing."

HOLLYWOOD FORUM

This forum, devoted to Communist propaganda, according to Source A, is held each Friday night at the Allan Rudack Dance Studio, 7213 Beverly Boulevard, Los Angeles, California. While it is called the Hollywood Forum, it is held under the auspices of the Daily People's World, official organ of the Communist Party on the Pacific West Coast. Those taking part in the forum discussions are all connected with the Hollywood motion picture industry. The following are the most active in this venture:

*WALDO SALT, Moderator, Communist writer.

*JOHN HOWARD LAWSON - Communist writer and Communist Party functionary.

*SAMUEL ORNITZ - Communist writer for many years.

*ALVAH BESSIE - Communist writer.

CARLTON MOSS, Negro - writer

*PATRICIA KILLORAN, DPW Correspondent

WILLIAM P. HUTTER, Representative of Railroad Brotherhoods.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A informs that labor disputes between the Communist-dominated Conference of Studio Unions and the anti-Communist IATSE are reasonably inactive at the present time. Threats of strike by either side made within the last several weeks have not materialized. However, it is only a matter of time until the Communist elements in the studio unions will again attempt to take over some of the unions. The reason it is quiet now is that the producers are carrying on negotiations with all the unions for adjustment of wage scales and conditions.

*HERBERT K. SORRELL, Communist leader of the Conference of Studio Unions is still on trial before the Central Labor Council on a charge of Communism and Communist activity. If found guilty, he will be expelled from that body.

RUSSIAN JOURNALIST ENTERTAINED
SOME HOLLYWOOD CHARACTERS ON RUSSIAN SHIP

The Los Angeles Herald for May 28, 1946 under the heading "Probe Russ Ship Parties as CHAPLIN and GARFIELD fated", stated in part that Actor JOHN

GARFIELD and wife, CHARLIE CHAPLIN and wife, LEWIS MILESTONE, Russian born film director and Mr. and Mrs. C. PUMANTZE were entertained aboard a Russian ship anchored in the Los Angeles harbor. This article further stated State Senator TENNEY, chairman of the un- American Activities Committee, announced that he was sending two investigators to get the facts to report to the committee at its next meeting. TENNEY stated that he was interested in learning more about MILESTONE and his Russian connections and to question JOHN GARFIELD. TENNEY also stated that he intends to summon CHAPLIN, who is not a citizen, as well as GARFIELD and MILESTONE, along with a score of others. TENNEY also stated that the committee would like to know MILESTONE's and GARFIELD's names at birth. The article stated: "The elaborate banquet served to the guests -- while millions are starving in Europe -- provided an ironic touch to the celebration honoring the proletariat."

It was stated that the Soviet film viewed by the party abroad the Russian ship S. S. Batumi was "The Bear" in which the decadence of the Czarists was pointed out by their predilection for champagne parties. Its climax is a scene in which hundreds of bottles of the sparkling wine are smashed. The article stated that ALEXANDER P. GROCHEV, representative of the Soviet and purchasing commission in the United States arranged the banquet proceeding the showing of the picture.

JOHN GARFIELD said, "We felt it was an honor to be invited aboard as a guest of SIMONOV because he is here on invitation of the State Department and because he is the autnor of the best seller 'Days and Nights'. We had been showing him around Hollywood and he felt he ought to return the entertainment and buy a drink in the Russian manner."

CHARLIE CHAPLIN, another Hollywood guest at the party, repeatedly referred to the unified United States Customs men as the "American Gestapo".

KONSTANTIN SIMONOV, RUSSIAN JOURNALIST, VISITS AMERICA

The Los Angeles Herald for May 31, 1946, under the heading "Russ Writer Lists Chaplin, Bette Davis as Soviet Friends," stated in part that KONSTANTIN SIMONOV, Russian journalist, reported from New York that BETTE DAVIS, CHARLIE CHAPLIN and Hollywood writers speak, "in deep contempt of the slanderous campaign raised by the reactionary press -- particularly the HURST press -- against the Soviet Union. SIMONOV described Miss DAVIS as an actor, "whom our film goers know from the 'Little Foxes'"and said he was amazed to find CHAPLIN rehearsing five rolls for a forth coming picture.

SIMONOV further said that he visited the "Actors Lab." in Hollywood, where

"A great interest in the Soviet Union was displayed."

At the writers' association, SIMONOV said, "The American writers displayed a sincere and profound interest in Soviet culture. He also stated: "The friendly attitude of the progressive American intellectual workers is a guarantee for broad cultural relations between our two countries."

In a general sense the Communist elements in the Hollywood motion picture industry are relatively quiet. This is because there is at present a sort of period of transition between the old Communist Party line and the new one. And, as stated before, the preponderance of activity has been devoted to the State and County elections held on June 4, 1946.

* An asterisk has been placed before the names of the individuals whose records as members of the Communist Party have here-to-fore been obtained from reliable sources and furnished to the Bureau.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Los Angeles Examiner on 6-1-46 revealed that "Red-Trained Writers are in U.S. Films" and reveals that the Communists depend strongly on the motion picture industry for funds to spread Communist propaganda. ROBERT W. KENNY, candidate for Governor, and ELLIS E. PATTERSON, candidate for U.S. Senator, were defeated in the primary 6-4-46, due very largely to adverse activity by Communist elements. The heads of the motion picture industry apparently have made no attempt to eradicate or control the Communist activity in the motion picture industry. The Conference of Studio Unions is still under the domination of HERBERT K. SORRELL and the Communists. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions has become the director of political activity in the Communist elements. The Peoples Educational Center has issued a 1946 summer session catalogue which shows that the regular Communist element is still in charge of the affairs of this institution. The Hollywood Forum is showing Russian pictures at Rudacks Studio, 7213 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles. The Actors Laboratory now has its own theater, the Las Palmas, where skits and plays are presented. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization is showing Russian films at the Laurel Theater, 8056 Beverly Blvd., but it is very quiet at present. The Communist groups have not announced their plans for the November elections. It appears that they are expecting a change in the CP line.

Report of Special Agent JAMES G. WINDLAY dated June 11, 1946, at Los Angeles, Calif.

DETAILS: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

The files of the Los Angeles Field Division have been examined and informants have been contacted for information relative to the activities of the Communists and their Communist Party line followers. The information obtained is being set forth in this report.

The Los Angeles Examiner for June 1, 1946, under the heading "Red-Trained Writers are in U.S. Films" by DAVID SENTNER, stated in substance that the Communist Party in its flourishing campaign to capture the film industry, is funneling Red-indoctrinated writers and technicians into the motion picture industry. The article stated:

"The Communist Party aims to furnish the motion picture industry with technical employees who have been trained in Marxist philosophy." It also stated that the House Committee on Un-American Activities asserts that the importance of the motion picture industry to the Communists lies not alone in the propaganda field, but that one of the "major objectives of the Communist Party in the motion picture field is to secure money from those engaged in the film industry". It stated that "funds are garnered in the form of salaries and in contributions in order to have funds for the dissemination of propaganda and for the furtherance of the work of the Party.

"The adapting of stories or plays for use in the motion picture industry is a highly specialized field. For a number of years, the Communist Party, under the observation of the League of American Writers, has operated a school for writers in Hollywood.

"The teachers in the writing school not only taught aspiring writers in attendance at the school the technique of preparing screen scenarios, but indoctrinated them with the Marxist philosophy.

"As soon as the writers obtained a little proficiency in the technique of writing, the Communist group in the League of American Writers assisted them in securing positions in the motion picture studios. This school for writers has been a transmission belt into the motion picture industry for writing talent." The article stated that this project was prepared by "JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, Communist Party leader on the West Coast in September 1943". This article further stated that the writing school's faculty was listed as including CORA WINTERS, Los Angeles County Secretary of the Communist Party, and EVA SHAFRAN, Director of the Communist Los Angeles Workers School.

LA File #100-15732

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE
MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A stated that there is a strong trend throughout the country toward criticism and exposure of the activities of the Communist Party and its army of sympathizers and helpers. In the recent primary election in California Source stated that ROBERT W. KENNY, candidate for Governor, and ELLIS E. PATTERSON, candidate for the United States Senate, were supported by the Communist elements, making claim to being "liberal" and "progressive", but they were overwhelmingly defeated, and neither one was successful in obtaining the nomination of his own party. In the case of KENNY, who was the only real candidate on the Democratic ticket, he lost the nomination to his Republican opponent, the present Governor, EARL WARREN, who received approximately 100,000 more votes on the Democratic ticket than KENNY received. The results clearly show that the Communist elements were able to dictate the candidate on the ticket, but when the primary arrived, the protest against the domination by the Communists had become so strong, the Democrats would not vote for their party candidate, but cast their votes for the Republican candidate, with the results stated.

Source A states that it would appear that the Communist activity in the motion picture industry would become less disruptive, when their whole program is to aid Soviet Russia; that they would be less bold and open in an industry which depends upon the good will and voluntary patronage of the American public, but such is not the case, and the reason for this is that the motion picture industry in Hollywood has become almost a sacred institution, safe from any attack or criticism as an industry, even though Communist infiltration increases to an alarming extent year by year.

Source states that Hollywood and the motion picture studios provide a base of operations for Communist activity and propaganda equaled no where else in the United States.

Source A further informs that the top heads of the Hollywood industry are well aware of all this. They have never made any attempt to correct the situation; in fact, they are aware that known Communists and followers of the Communist Party line are being placed in key positions more and more, and they are a party to this process. But they have succeeded in erecting such an impregnable political wall around the industry that they are safe and in no fear of being called to account for harboring in the upper brackets of the industry, great numbers of individuals whose first loyalty is to Soviet Russia and who are among the most subversive elements in this country.

Source further states that the heads of the motion picture industry wield such powerful influence that they are able to seduce, coddle or even browbeat people in public life until their industry is safe from even mild criticism even though through propaganda and indirect mind-molding it is becoming the most disruptive force in the country today. It is permitting its celebrities and outstanding figures to be used by the Communist Party as fronts for its activities, to influence the American people toward a way of life that is directly subversive of our institutions.

The heads of the Hollywood motion picture industry is permitting this freely, although in all contracts with such personalities there is a clause wherein the star or outstanding figure stands to have his or her contract cancelled if he or she should bring disrepute or adverse criticism on the industry in his or her private or public life. The heads of the motion picture industry have never invoked this clause although some of the foremost and outstanding persons in the industry openly take part in and support Communist activities all over the country.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A has advised that this Communist controlled block of unions in the Hollywood studios under the leadership of (*) HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist, has been attempting, over a period of years, to get control of all workers, both manual and technical, in the industry and herd them in and under control of the Communist Party. This group called a strike a year or more ago which lasted for eight months. It was finally settled by arbitration, of a sort. Again a strike was called on July 1, 1946, which lasted two days only. In the former strike the Communists came out second best. In the last strike they were more successful, and it looks as if this Conference of Studio Unions will, from now on, be the determining influence in the studios.

Source A further advises that the group of unions which oppose Communist infiltration and control of the unions in the film industry is the Inter-National Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE). Up to the present time this international union was somewhat successful in its opposition. During the past three months all unions in the studios were conducting negotiations for wage and hour adjustments, the customary annual or biennial procedure. The negotiations dragged on without results. Then without warning, the Communist group called a strike on July 1, 1946, which lasted two days. Immediately the producers went into conference with the unions and within four hours an adjustment was reached and wages and hours were settled. The result of this "sudden" capitulation by the producers is that the Communists are given credit for the success of the negotiations and all at the expense of the IATSE, the anti-Communist block. The prestige of the Communist unions immediately rose and HERBERT K. SORRELL has the largest following among the workers and has now emerged as the dominant figure among all workers in the film industry. It appears that the producers deliberately made it possible for Communist prestige to prevail.

All unions involved are AFL. As that organized body does not permit known Communists to function in its ranks, the Los Angeles Central Labor Council, AFL, is now attempting to expel HERBERT K. SORRELL as a delegate to the Council on the charge that he is a member of the Communist Party and a follower of the political line of that Party. His trial comes up on July 8, 1946.

Two other Communists besides SORRELL are now coming to the front in the Hollywood Studio unions. They are:

* HELMER BERGMAN - member of Local 40, IBEW
* ED GILBERT - Set Decorators, Local 1421

Both are Communists.

The result of the foregoing activities causes it to appear as if the Communists, operating through the Conference of Studio Unions, will eventually control all workers in the Hollywood film industry.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE
OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS
(HICCASP)

This is the leading political pressure group identified with the Hollywood film industry, according to Source A. Activities of this group within the last thirty days have been of the usual character; that is, acting as a front pressure group for the program of the Communist Party in respect to such activity as the pressure by telegrams and letters on the President and the Congress for continuation of the OPA in its original form.

Support of the Mobilization for Democracy such as the mass meeting held at Olympic Auditorium, Los Angeles, June 14, 1946, in its attempts to make an issue of the Ku Klux Klan in California. In this activity the HICCASP was affiliated with the following Communist dominated groups and "fronts":

American Veterans Committee
Southland Jewish Organization
American Youth for Democracy (formerly Young Communist League)
American Jewish Congress
National Citizens Political Action Committee
Los Angeles Youth Council
CIO Industrial Union Council
Progressive AFL Committee
Railroad Brotherhoods (Local)

International Ladies Garment Workers (Local) National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (Local)
Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade

Source advised that following the mass meeting on June 14, 1946, a delegation from the above organizations, including the HICCASP, marched on the Los Angeles City Council and made demands which had been formulated at the mass meeting.

On June 6, 1946, the HICCASP supported a mass protest made to the Los Angeles School Board because this Board had granted the use of a school auditorium to the Moral Re-Armament Program for the presentation of a play called "Drug Store Revolution". This play is one which stresses the value of morals and ethics based on humanitarianism and unselfishness. Moral Re-Armament was previously known as the Oxford Movement. The organizations cooperating in this protest were the following:

National Citizens Political Action Committee
Hollywood Women's Council
International Workers Order
Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade
Jewish Women's Professional Club
B'nai B'rith
CIO Political Action Committee
Beverly-Westwood Citizens Committee
National Lawyers Guild
Hollywood Writers Mobilization

Also various other organizations of like character. The Communist Party has carried on a campaign against the Oxford Movement for many years, maintaining that it is a Fascist movement. Their real objection, not stated, is to the religious content of the movement.

Source A informs that while the HICCASP presents the names of over one hundred prominent persons as comprising the Executive Council of the organization, the real inner control is in the hands of the following persons, known as the EXECUTIVE BOARD:

* Dr. MURRAY ABOWITZ - Physician
* GREGORY AIN - Writer
* SAM ALBERT - Writer

The foregoing compose the faction which control the HICCASP.

Source A further informs that with the exception of the above mentioned activities this organization has been, for several weeks, in a sort of state of indecision. Ever since EARL BROWDER went to Soviet Russia, the HICCASP has withheld public statements or issued any printed propaganda. This is because there is soon to be a change in the Communist Party line. It has not yet been communicated officially and, therefore, the organization is withholding any open commitments politically.

PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER

This school of Communist propaganda, according to Source A, has just announced its 1946 Summer Session. The following instructors in this institution are connected with the motion picture industry in Hollywood:

HOLLYWOOD FORUM

This forum, according to Source A, is held every Sunday night at the Rudack Studios, 7213 Beverly Boulevard, Los Angeles. The purposes are of a propaganda nature, following the line of the Communist Party on all political and labor questions.

Those taking part in the discussions are the following:

* WALDO SALT - Moderator and Writer
* CHARLES J. KATZ - Attorney
* SAMUEL ORNITZ - Writer
* KENNETH OSTHEIMER (Organizer National Maritime Union)

Also others of the same group of Communists and sympathizers mostly connected with the film industry. Subjects discussed are such as the OPA, the studio strikes, "labor struggles", foreign relations (Russian version), minorities problems, etc., etc. Just another Communist propaganda agency using persons connected with the film industry to draw attention.

ACTORS LABORATORY

This organization, according to Source A, is controlled by Communists and used as a school for propaganda and entry into the film industry as actors and writers, now has its own theater, the Las Palmas, and is doing very well for this Communist group. Plays and skits are presented which have the endorsement of the Communists in the Hollywood studios.

Those who operate the theater and school are the following, all with records of Communist activity:

* JOHN GARFIELD - Actor
* J. EDWARD BROMBERG - Actor
  MORRIS CARNOVSKY - Actor
  SAM LEVENE - Actor
  PHOEBE BRAND - Actress

This venture has the support of all Communists, large and small, connected with the film industry.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A advises that this Communist controlled organization has, for some time, devoted itself to the showing of Russian films at the Laurel Theater, 8056 Beverly Boulevard, Los Angeles, as reported previously. Except for this form of activity the HWM is comparatively quiet. However, the members of the organization take part and support actively all other Communist fronts in the district.

POLITICAL SITUATION

The various Communist groups and front organizations, according to Source A, have not yet announced their plans for the coming elections in November.

The defeat of several of their favorite candidates in the late primaries has somewhat upset their program and, in a sense, strained the relations of the Communists with the Democratic Party of California which they virtually controlled within the top structure before the late primaries.

In addition to the above, the forthcoming change in the Communist Party line is having a bearing on the future tactics of the Communist apparatus, including, of course, the Hollywood leadership.

An asterisk has been placed before the names of the individuals whose records as members of the Communist Party have heretofore been obtained from reliable sources and furnished to the Bureau.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Los Angeles Examiner on 6-1-46 revealed that "Red-Trained Writers are in L.A. Films" and reveals that the Communists depend strongly on the motion picture industry for funds to spread Communist propaganda. [illegible], candidate for Governor, and [illegible], candidate for U.S. Senator, were defeated in the primary 6-4-46, due very largely to adverse activity by Communist elements. The heads of the motion picture industry apparently have made no attempt to eradicate or control the Communist activity in the motion picture industry. The Conference of State Labor is still under the [illegible] of [illegible] and the [illegible]. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions has become the chief of political activity in the Communist [illegible]. The People's Educational Center has issued a 1946 summer session catalog which shows that the regular Communist element is still in charge of the affairs of this institution. The Hollywood Center is showing Russian pictures at Metro Studio, 7213 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles. The Soviet Laboratory carries its own theater, the La Cinema, where data and plays are presented. The Hollywood Citizens Committee is showing Russian films at the Lorel Theater, 4[illegible] Beverly Blvd., but it is very quiet at present. The Communist groups have not announced their plans for the November elections. It appears that they are expecting a change in the [illegible] line.

SOVIET FILM INDUSTRY

DECLASSIFIED
E.O. 12958
DATE: 4-4-95 BY SP1/ABJ/cm

In the June 1949 issue of "The Screen Writer," the official publication of the Screen Writers Guild, there appeared an edited transcript of an informal discussion held under the auspices of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization between the noted Russian writer KONSTANTIN SIMONOV and members of the Screen Writers Guild. This forum was presided over by the prominent screen writer DALTON TRUMBO and was interpreted by BERNARD KOTIN.

This discussion appeared in a question and answer form, and although many of the questions were directed to technical problems of screen writing several of the questions, it is felt, will be of considerable interest to the Bureau. Following are some of the more important questions together with the answers given by SIMONOV:

"Question: I want to know about such things as the Motion Picture Institute in the Soviet Union and similar institutions.

"Answer: The Film Institute works under the Ministry of Cinematography, situated in Moscow, and it has the following sections: a school for directors, one for film actors, script writers, stage set designers and a section on the history of the film. Students are accepted into the Institute on the same basis as other institutes of higher learning, but for entrance into the actors' division, directors', script writers' and set designers' divisions there are additional tests of the applicants' creative abilities. The Institute itself gives a general education in the humanities. The specialized work in the acting, writing and directing fields is conducted through small groups and work shops which are led by well-known, important people in the field. The course is a five-year one, and on completion the students take the regular state final examinations in addition to special examinations. The set designers, for instance, in their final year produce a film. If the sets are considered good, they pass their final test. For the actors this final test is playing an important featured role in a film. For the director this final test consists of either a short which he will direct by himself or working under another director as a creative assistant on a full-length film. For the script writers it is a full-length feature script accepted for production. That describes in general the organizational work of the Institute. For instance, a film just finished, a full-length color film based on a Oral folk tale, had in its cast a young girl who played the feature role, who was playing this role as her diploma project for the term; the sets were designed by a young set designer who was also offering this as his diploma project."

Re: Soviet Film Industry

"Question: From a practical point of view, is it so that this writers' organization mostly determines what subjects shall be filmed for the coming year? (Note: This organization is discussed in a previous answer by Simonov and was described as a writers' organization responsible for approximately 75% of the scripts written and used by studios in Russia.)

"Answer: The Council at the head of the script writers' studio prepares the yearly plans which are presented to the council attached to the Ministry of Cinematography. About half the members of the council are attached to the Ministry of Cinematography. In addition, there are many other members of this latter council--about twenty-one members. They are the most important figures in their fields in the country. This council approves and widens the script writers' plan. In such cases as an argument over whether or not a script which the writers' studio thinks is good and is not wanted by any of the film studios, or arguments over construction of th script, the final decision rests with the council attached to the Ministry of Cinematography. That only happens in very serious cases. The main work of the council attached to the Ministry, which meets weekly, is the discussi of films already produced or being produced. About ninety percent of any o the script problems or questions are decided upon by the script writers' st

"Question: What about rights of the writer in other use of his material? Does he sell only the film rights? Can he sell the film again as a novel or short story?

"Answer: (Note: In this connection, there is presently a str move under way within the Screen Writers Guild to license rather than sel screen plays, and this move has been promoted by Communists within the presumably in order that they may then exercise complete control over script.) He sells only the right for screening. The right for pub ing remains his. But sometimes they make the condition in the contract that th author does not have the right to have it printed or published until the fil has been screened or issued. That happens very rarely. Most of the studi are not much concerned whether or not the script is published."

Re: Soviet Film Industry

There are two types of acting personnel. The first is the so-called staff actors who get a regular salary. They are required to work a maximum number of days a year, let us say, perhaps ten shooting days a month. For all work beyond that they get overtime. But most of the important actors work in the theatre, too, the greatest number, and they work on contract...."

"Question: These technicians, cameramen, etc.; who sets their salaries and what can they do about it if they consider their salaries unfair?

"Answer: They get a two week testing-out period. After this period they are told they will be hired at such and such a salary. If they agree, they stay on; if not, they go to another place. With the set designers, the artists, their qualifications and art ability decide their salaries and that is decided upon by the various art organizations."

"Question: What about trade unions as they exist in America which set working conditions and wage scales?

"Answer: The principle is the same. I will explain from the point of view as it is worked out in the theatre. In the theatre there is a well-defined norm for the actors' salaries. In a given theatre, ten actors could be of the highest category, fifteen of the next, twenty of the next, forty of the lowest category. And on this basis theatres accept actors for any openings. And if all ten places in the highest category are filled, for instance, and some important actor of the highest category asks to be taken into the group, he will be told, 'We would like to have you, but there is no opening, only one in the next category.' The actor must decide this himself. If it is an especially good theatre, and the actor wants to come to the theatre just work there, he will come despite this. These categories are not sta continually change; an actor can promote himself from one to another case of any misunderstanding or quarrel, say, when an actor might occasi he should be promoted to a higher category but is not being promoted, he h two ways out. He might apply to the trade union for help. The trade union would have to appoint a qualified commission to examine the whole question. Into this commission would go representatives of the theatre, representativ of the whole director force of the theatres and representatives of the acto social organizations. This decision will be a compulsory one for the the because if the theatre does not follow the decision made by the trade un the union takes the theatre to court. But that is rarely necessary. T has another avenue of complaint. There is a union, a theatrical socie is purely an arts organization and not a trade union. At its head important directors and actors. If the actor thinks he has been justly, he can apply to this organization of theatrical workers to comment upon his treatment. If the organization decides t its authority is so high that usually it will be listened to "Question: What is the procedure in the event of dissatisfaction with wages? For instance, take the actors in the lowest category; suppose they are dissatisfied with the rate. What appeal do they have?

"Answer: Take the theatre, for instance. At the head are two people--the Administrative Director and the Arts Director. In deciding any hotly-contested questions, the last word remains with the Arts Director, since in those positions, usually, there are the most important actors, etc., and if there is any argument, certainly the Administrative Director must accept the decision the Arts Director makes. So, if an actor in this lower category considers his salary too low, he will apply first of all to the Arts Director and if the Arts Director decides that his salary should be increased, and if it is possible to increase it, in that theatre, then it is raised. However, if they don't come to an agreement, the actor can then apply to the trade union and if the union agrees the actor should get a higher salary, they then take the Arts Director to court. But these cases are rare because the life of the theatre depends on agreement."

"Question: I am still trying to tackle the problem of a group action. Suppose not one, but all of the stagehands became dissatisfied. What is their approach toward reaching a higher wage?

"Answer: In cases where it would be generally conceded that a whole group is being underpaid this question would be raised in government circles and they would raise the salaries on government decision. To take a concrete example: the writers decided their fees for work in magazines and books were not high enough. They continued discussions on that for two years in the trade unions. The Union of Soviet Writers, on its decision that the salaries were too low, together with the publishers, appealed to the government for raising of their salaries and fees. A commission was established by the government with representatives from these fields and the decision was to double the fees. You will excuse me if I say something that is quite primitive, but I must say it. The whole state budget is organized in the interests of the entire population of the country. Therefore, we cannot always give people the salaries that their work might deserve, and we cannot always give people the salaries which would secure good life for them. This, of course, is regrettable, but it does not provoke any opposition among the people because no one is putting their money into his pockets. At this given moment the government is not able to pay more. It is more important at present to build and restore. For this a tremendous amount of money is needed in capital. Therefore, in the interest of the government's needs, the people reconcile themselves to the conditions. The question of raising salaries is very often put, and if you were to examine Soviet newspapers, you would notice often decrees calling for raising of salaries in tens of different categories, but the question is put categorically put: 'Either you raise my salary or I won't work.'"

Re: Soviet Film Industry

"Question: Do you get many American films in the Soviet Union?

"Answer: There are the films that are received to acquaint the small circle of people in the arts with American films, and then the films that are received to be distributed throughout the country."

"Question: Why is there that separation?

"Answer: The smaller circle of people decides which films ought to be bought and distributed. In recent times there were a greater number of American films on the screens in the Soviet Union. Unfortunately, now we have adopted the system of dubbing in voices. I don't like this system. I prefer sub-titles. This dubbing in holds up distribution for a long time; it usually takes six to eight months to dub in a film because the attitude toward dubbing is quite a serious one and great actors are hired to dub in the voices. They do a very good job but take a very long time at it. I think that the number of American films on our screens will be greatly increased; the whole tendency is to take on more and more of them."

"Question: What is the basis for a selection now?

"Answer: The question of the creative worth of a film, the question of business relations between ourselves and Hollywood. Often when it is felt that there is a great desire for comedies by the Soviet audiences, comedies are bought and put on the screen. Much depends on our own production. It is important to intelligently establish a proportion between the type we are doing and the type we put on the screen from other countries."

"Question: I am interested in the exchange of people in larger numbers than is now taking place and would like to know what hurdles have to be overcome.

"Answer: I am very happy this matter has come up. I have talked with several people already and I think it would be very desirable to have some sort of American-Russian Film Committee established, which would concern itself with these exchanges. I think such a committee should consist of people from all the fields--cameramen, writers, actors, directors, producers--so it could deal with all questions concerned with cultural and administrative problems and the creative arts. If such a committee were established I think that we would then be able to turn from there fruitless discussions of exchange to practical exchanges. We could concern ourselves with the exchanges of workers, with trips, with the exchange of information, sending over a routine both here and there. It would make possible the organizing of periodical film festivals and in addition aid in the more intelligent and more rapid exchange of good films between both countries. I am going to insist on such a committee when I get back to Moscow."

Dear Sir:

On July 4, 1946, CNDI, [redacted] advised the office that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, prominent screen writer and leader of the Communist movement in the motion picture industry, had received a telegram from film director JOHN CROMWELL, chairman of HICCASP, requesting LAWSON to serve on a "policy statement committee." This informant also revealed that LAWSON received a second telegram that date signed by TRUE BOARDMAN, a radio writer and chairman of the policy committee of HICCASP, requesting LAWSON to attend a meeting of the policy committee on July 5, 1946, at the home of the Communist screen writer DALTON TRUMBO, [redacted] (X)(U) b7D

On the following day, July 5, 1946, this informant disclosed that this meeting had been cancelled because "ROOSEVELT is ill." However, later in the day LAWSON received a call from an unidentified woman stating that the policy committee would meet at the home of JAMES ROOSEVELT at [redacted] who is political director of HICCASP. (X)(U) b6 b7C

A surveillance of this meeting was conducted and although it was not possible to discreetly determine the identity of all those who attended, CNDI, [redacted] advised that LAWSON was present and automobiles registered to the following people were observed parked immediately in front of ROOSEVELT's home: (U)(X) b7D

[redacted] registered to JOHN HOWARD LAWSON. (X)(U)

[redacted] registered to TRUE BOARDMAN, [redacted] (X)(U) b6 b7C

[redacted] registered to JANE WYMAN REAGAN, [redacted] wife of film actor RONALD REAGAN. Since REAGAN is a member of the executive council of HICCASP, it is assumed that he drove his wife's car to this meeting. (U)(X)

[redacted] registered to Dr. LINUS PAULING, [redacted] PAULING is a professor at the California Institute of Technology and a recognized authority on atomic power and vice chairman of HICCASP. (X)(U)

[redacted] registered to HELEN HARTMAN, and was presumably driven to this meeting by radio writer DON HARTMAN who is a member of the executive council of HICCASP. (X)(U)

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Recently effort was made to expose Communist activities in the motion picture industry. The result was that the Communists became more insistent on inserting propaganda in pictures and to control the unions for political purposes, and some new Communist fronts have been formed. The HICCASP has succeeded to the extent of electing JAMES ROOSEVELT, the National Organizer for HICCASP, as State Chairman of the Democratic Party and a big drive is being planned for the election of WILL ROGERS, JR. as U. S. Senator. State Senator JACK B. TENNEY exposed the Communist elements in the National Convention of the IATSE at Chicago, Illinois, July 22-26, 1946, which resulted in the election of RICHARD WALSH as president of IATSE for another term, and gave him dictatorial powers to handle Communist promoted and jurisdictional strike matters. Hollywood Writers Mobilization is very quiet but it is showing some Russian films. The Communist elements have formed the "John Barnes and Associates" and the "Western Council for the Progressive Business, Labor and Agriculture", which are believed to be Communist fronts. They have also applied to the Federal Communications Association for lease to operate standard radio broadcast station in Los Angeles.

AT LOS ANGELES

The files of the Los Angeles Field Division have been examined and informants have been contacted for information relative to the activities of the Communists and Party line followers in the motion picture industry. The information obtained is being set forth in this report.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that the Communist activity in the motion picture industry is proceeding along the same lines and at the same rate of progress as reported heretofore. It is not lessening in intensity but the opposite may be true. At the same time it might be stated that this is due to the fact that no serious opposition to the activity of the Communists in the film industry has been apparent. During the recent labor troubles in the Hollywood AFL union affairs, there was a short campaign advocating a vigorous attack and exposure of the Communist activity in the industry, but a patched-up truce was decided between labor and producer, resulting in the Communists becoming bolder than ever before.

The result of the recent National Convention of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE) held in Chicago within the last thirty days, may mark a change in attitude. At that Convention the subject receiving major attention was the infiltration of Communists into the studio labor unions. The Convention voted full power to RICHARD WALSH, International President of that organization to completely clean up the Communist infiltration within the AFL unions under his jurisdiction. These powers were practically unlimited as the resolution stated that "he was given the power to arbitrarily expel individuals identified with Communist activity from membership in the unions." He was given the power and authority "to seize the charters of local unions in that International which have been taken over by the Communists within them and grant a new charter to a new group independent of Communist personnel." To date, Mr. WALSH has not taken any action against any union.

The unions in the Conference of Studio Unions are the following:

Associated Property Men, Local 44
Studio Grips, Local 80
Laboratory Technicians, Local 683
Studio Costumers, Local 705

Make-up Artists, Local 706
International Photographers, Local 659
Motion Picture Sound Men, Local 695
Studio Electricians, Local 728
Studio Projectionists, Local 165
Motion Picture Film Editors, Local 776
Studio Mechanics, Local 468
Studio Laborers, Local 727

Several new "fronts" or pressure groups have been launched and the activity of those groups already in existence is expressed along the usual lines, although it is well known that the new line of the Communist Party has not been sent down, as yet.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS (HICCASP)

Source A has informed that this Communist-controlled pressure group represents, in a sense, the attitude of the Hollywood film industry politically. At the very least, the only political attitude expressed by Hollywood, goes out to the public through that organization. Not once since the name was changed from the Hollywood Democratic Committee to the HICCASP, has it ever deviated even slightly from the official Communist Party line.

The specific activities of the organization within the last thirty days are as follows:

Support of the so-called "Save the OPA" program instituted by the Communist Party. The organization mailed out thousands of pieces of literature to unions, organizations and individuals instructing them how to operate for that purpose.

Support of the current "Consumers' Strike". For this purpose literature in like amounts was mailed. Members of the group organized neighborhood meetings to agitate the boycott and arranged to take part in picket lines in front of commercial establishments. This buyers strike was to take place on July 18th and was officially called by the 16th Congressional District Section of the Communist Party. Picket lines were established in front of markets, etc. The HICCASP responded to the Communist appeal and furnished a sky-writing airplane to support the strike.

The HICCASP reported that it has secured 500 signatures to a telegram sent to Washington in support of this program. The signatures were secured on the streets by JOHN GARFIELD and GEORGIA GIBBS. GARFIELD is the noted screen actor long connected with Communist activity. In this activity the HICCASP cooperated with the following:

Communist Party
American Youth For Democracy (formerly Young Communist League)
International Workers Order
American Veterans Committee
National Citizens Political Action Committee.

The organization led a demonstration in the press and by meetings against the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles because of the refusal of that hotel to serve CARLTON MOSS, a Negro writer connected with the Hollywood film industry.

JAMES ROOSEVELT, a leader of the HICCASP and a member of the Executive Board was elected chairman of the California Democratic Party. His connections with the HICCASP and the Hollywood film industry were mainly instrumental in ROOSEVELT being elected to this position. The HICCASP is supporting in the coming election, every candidate endorsed by the Communist Party of California.

The HICCASP is taking advantage of the opportunity to make capital of the racial troubles in the South, the lynchings of NEGROES, etc. It has offered $1000 as a reward for detection of the lynchers. It is using the usual pressure tactics for the purpose, writing to Senators, Congressmen, etc. In addition it has placed full page advertisements in the Hollywood trade press asking for support of its program, at an expense of $350.00 per page.

The organization is preparing to hold a concert in the Hollywood Bowl on the evening of September 2, 1946 for the purpose of raising funds for the work of the organization. The concert will feature:

ARTUR RUBENSTEIN
FRANK SINATRA
GREGORY PECK
EARL ROBINSON
ALFRED DRAKE
DR. HUGO STRELITZER
FRANZ WAXMAN (will conduct the concert)

SENATOR CLAUDE PEPPER will fly from Washington to address the audience. DALTON TRUMBO, a high ranking Communist, is in charge of arrangements. The HICCASP is working in close cooperation with another Communist pressure group called Citizens Committee for Better Education.

Source A has further advised that the purpose of this group is to put pressure on the Los Angeles School system according to Communist lines of thought. The HICCASP will be represented at a meeting of this organization to be held at the Royal Palms Hotel, Los Angeles on the evening of August 14, 1946. Other organizations taking part are:

American Veterans Committee
Conference of Studio Unions
Hollywood Women's Council
Hollywood Writers Mobilization
Mobilization for Democracy
National Citizens Political Action Committee
Los Angeles CIO Council
Southland Jewish Organization
United Public Workers (CIO)

All the foregoing are Communist-controlled locally.

The HICCASP has not as yet launched its program for the coming Fall elections. It is in the California Democratic Party where this Hollywood group functions the best; in fact, it is the leading political force in that Party in the State of California, a member of the Executive Board, JAMES ROOSEVELT, now being the State chairman of the party.

HOLLYWOOD STUDIO
LABOR UNIONS

The struggle for control of all studio unions for the last several months, according to Source A, revolved around the national convention of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, IATSE, held the week of July 22, 1946 in Chicago, Illinois. The Communists in the studio unions, operating through the Conference of Studio Unions, attempted to defeat the incumbent president, RICHARD M. WALSH, who has been consistently anti-Communist in union affairs. They failed to elect their candidate, WILLIAM T. BENNETT of Washington, D. C. who had made a bargain with the Conference of Studio Unions and HERBERT K. SORRELL the Communist leader of that group. WALSH was re-elected.

The highlight of the Convention was the Communist issue and it took precedence over all other issues. WALSH was elected practically on this issue. Senator JACK B. TENNEY of California, the head of the Joint Legislative Committee on Subversive Activities of California, flew to Chicago and addressed the convention on the Communist issue and convinced that body for the most part that all the troubles in the immediate past within the Hollywood studio unions were the result of the attempts of the Communist Party to capture those unions. It was Senator TENNEY's expose which brought about the reelection of RICHARD M. WALSH. The convention voted powers to WALSH to clean up the Hollywood situation. No action has been taken as yet in this direction, but it appears that some announcements will be made in the near future.

RICHARD WALSH ELECTED PRESIDENT OF IATSE

The Hollywood Reporter for July 29, 1946, under the heading "WALSH handed Powers, End All Jurisdictional Disputes" stated in part that WALSH was reelected to his third term as president of the IATSE, and announced a determination to settle for all time the jurisdictional disputes in Hollywood and to rid the Alliance of destructive elements that stand in the way of the union. He was given dictatorial powers to achieve this end. The 38th biennial convention at the Stevens Hotel reelected him by a vote of 649 to 426 and granted all effective powers to settle jurisdictional matters that have troubled the Alliance during the last years.

WALSH defeated WILLIAM BENNETT in his second try for the presidency. The enthusiastic endorsement given WALSH by WILLIAM GREEN, by ERIC JOHNSON, by Brigadier General JOSEPH KEENAN and others, and also a number of resolutions approving his actions during the Hollywood strike, helped WALSH continue in his job.

The article stated that in granting WALSH full powers, the Convention authorized him to "act as he chooses" in the Hollywood studio situation and "to add, amend or alter any portion of the constitution and by-laws of the Alliance he deems necessary."

It stated, "The delegates acted on a supplementary report from WALSH in which he pleaded for this power and in which he explained that he needed this 'supreme authority' for the purpose of 'not asking but telling' the locals what to do."

It quoted WALSH as stating, "I know this is a drastic move, it gives your incoming president tremendous powers but I need it to protect our jurisdiction and local unions in Hollywood. If we don't win Hollywood we'll lose all. Your president must have this authority."

The article further stated, "After long debates, the convention adopted a resolution dealing WALSH and the Executive Board to act immediately to get rid of Communists, Nazis, Facists and Ku Klux Klansmen in the union."

The article stated that the convention approved the expulsion of twelve members of Local 44 for failure to cooperate with the Alliance in the jurisdictional disputes during the recent strike in the Hollywood studios.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A has further advised that with the exception of showing several Russian propaganda pictures in Hollywood, mentioned heretofore in previous reports, this organization of Communist propaganda has been relatively quiet. It has taken part in several OPA demonstrations by permitting its name to be used for sponsorship. However, it has just been announced that the War Department has appointed PARE LORENTZ as the chief of Film and Theatre Unit of the Re-Orientation Branch of the Civil Affairs Division of that department. The purpose of this unit is stated to be to "immediately embark upon production of a large number of documentaries for re-education of former enemies overseas." At present Mr. LORENTZ is trying to recruit film editors and production men in Hollywood who will hold positions all over the world. In this capacity Mr. LORENTZ will be in charge of approving all features and newsreels shown in all occupied countries as well as to order production of films for overseas. It is stated that most of the personnel will be recruited from Hollywood. This would undoubtedly include members of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization.

PARE LORENTZ has quite a long record of Communist Activity while he was connected with the WPA Federal Theatre Project, and since. His offices will be located at 292 Madison Avenue, New York City.

JOHN BARNES AND ASSOCIATES

This recently formed "public relations" organization, according to Source A, announced that its functions are to "see that liberal, progressive commentators, such as are listed as supporting the organization are kept on the air as an antidote to the radio prostitutes who put their personal well-being above that of their fellow Americans...." The persons listed as supporting this group are all connected directly and indirectly with the Hollywood film industry. They are:

JAMES ROOSEVELT
SAM BALTER

AVERILL BERMAN
PETER DE LIMA
BILL PENNELL
SIDNEY ROGER (San Francisco)

Also listed as supporting this venture are business men of Los Angeles, all of whom lean toward the Communist position. The offices of this group are located at 6633 Whitley Terrace, Hollywood.

WESTERN COUNCIL FOR PROGRESSIVE BUSINESS, LABOR AND AGRICULTURE

Source A has informed that this is also a newly-formed pressure group in the Hollywood sction which cooperated with the foregoing organization, John Barnes and Associates. This group is obviously a Communist pressure group because of the names given as supporting it. Some of them are:

ROBERT W. KENNY
BARTLEY C. CRUM
WILL ROGERS, JR.
ALBERT DEKKER
SAM BALTER
PAUL ROBESON
ARCH OBOLER
PHILLIP M. CONNELLY
GEORGE CAMPBELL
JAMES ROOSEVELT
and many others.

HOLLYWOOD COMMUNITY RADIO

Source A informs that a group composed of the following persons, all of whom have been identified with Communist activites in Hollywood, have applied to the Federal Communications Association for license to operate a standard radio broadcast station to be located in Gardena, California. Gardena is a suburb of Los Angeles. The application was filed on July 18, 1946. The group also filed for a Hollywood FM outlet for the 1560 Kilocycle band.

ALVIN WILDER
EMIL CORWIN (brother of NORMAN CORWIN)
PAUL STEWART
ABE POLONSKY
SAM MOORE
CAL KUHL
PAULINE LAUBER (FINN)
WILLIAM POMERANCE

All of the above have records of Communist activity.

While this venture is connected with the radio industry, all those involved are connected with the Hollywood motion picture industry. ~~Needless to say~~, this station would be devoted to spreading Communist propaganda.

Source A further advised that the Communist Party continues to exploit the Hollywood motion picture industry and the name "Hollywood" for its purposes and there seems to be no concerted attempt either by the heads of the industry or any other group to discourage such action. In fact, the feeling seems to be growing in many quarters that the industry itself is not averse to being used by this movement because of the intense penetration of the industry by European refugees, the majority of whom seem to be helped and sponsored by Communist elements within the Hollywood district.

Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINDLAY dated 8/9/46 at Los Angeles.

DETAILS: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

The Agent has examined the files in the Los Angeles Field Division and contacted Informants for information relative to the activities of the Communists in the motion picture industry. The information obtained is being set forth in this report.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that the activities of the Communist Party and its sympathizers employed in the motion picture industry and their connections with outside organizations of like nature have become much sharpened within the last sixty days. This is a reaction to the general expose of Communist activities through the United States and their relations to the international critical situation. While these activities have been in a sense intensified, there is at the same time a tendency of certain individuals previously active in this type of politics to withdraw therefrom, in all probability because of danger to careers, or for safety, it might be said.

Also, other individuals who have been out in front in Communist activities are beginning to go under cover. One factor contributing to this decision of known Communists and overly active sympathizers was a series of articles published in the "Hollywood Reporter", a trade paper. This paper, in a dispute with the Screen Writers Guild, published the names of some prominent writers in the motion picture industry who were, according to this published series of articles, either members of the Communist Party or actively engaged in Communist propaganda. This seemed to shock the entire industry, or it pretended to be shocked, and since that time the individuals named have gone "underground", so to speak. In addition to this backing-up process, others have ceased open activity in certain "front" organizations known to be Communist-dominated. The present critical situation on the international front has caused some uneasiness within the top structure of the film industry because of its previous Russian sympathies and because further of the action of one town in South Carolina which stopped the showing of a picture in which Orson Welles was the central figure, WELLES having broadcasted nationally that that town had permitted racial discrimination against Negroes.

All these factors are causing much uneasiness in Hollywood. However, the industry continues to place Communists or Communist sympathizers in top executive positions right along.

Up to this date there have been no further exposes in the "Hollywood Reporter", they having stopped suddenly on August 30, 1946.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS (HICCASP)

Source A informs that this organization continues to be the principal Communist front pressure and propaganda group within the film industry in Hollywood. Due to the plight of the Communists generally at this time and the fears of some of the weaker supporters, there have been some fifteen or more resignations from the Executive Council of this organization. The names of these are not yet available, but those appointed to replace them and who took office on or about August 5, are the following:

ARTIE SHAW, bandleader
LARRY ADLER, Harmonica player
* AVERILL BERMAN, broadcaster
Dr. ARTHUR BROWER
VIRGINIA BRUCE, actress
* NORVAL D. CRUTCHER, I.A.T.S.E.
STERLING HAYDEN, actor
HAROLD HECHT
ROSE HOBART, actress
* MAURICE HOWARD, business agent, Screen Cartoonist Guild
GENE KELLY, actor
ROBERT W. KENNY, State Attorney General
ROLAND KIBBEE
CHARLES LEWIN
MARGO (wife of EDDIE ALBERT) actress
KENNETH MacGOWAN, director
KENNETH McKENNA
GROUCHO MARX, actor
* JACK MOSS, director - producer VICENT PRICE
* ANNE REVERE, actress
ARTHUR SHEEKMAN

GLORIA STUART, actress
SHEPPARD TRAUBE
CORNEL WILDE, actor
Mrs. TALLI WYLER (wife of WILLIAM WYLER)

In addition, the recent activities of the HICCASP have been to send telegrams to President TRUMAN and Secretary of State BYRNES protesting the treatment of Jewish Refugees in Haifa, Palestine. Copies were sent to Prime Minister of England CLEMENT ATLEE and Foreign Minister ERNEST BEVIN.

Telegrams were sent to President TRUMAN, Attorney General CLARK, Senator SHERIDAN DOWNEY and ELLIS ARNALL, Governor of Georgia, protesting the actions of the Ku KluxKlan in the State of Georgia.

The HICCASP also held a concert to raise funds for the organization at the Hollywood Bowl on September 2, 1946. The purpose of the Concert was stated by the organization in a circular dated August 5, 1946, to be as follows:

> "This concert is the most exciting and important public event HICCASP has ever undertaken. Its financial success will guarantee much of our fall election work as well as support of the many otherurgent campaigns in which HICCASP is engaged."

The artists taking part were the following:

ARTUR RUBINSTEIN, musician
FRANK SINATRA, singer
GREGORY PECK, actor
VICENT PRICE, actor
ALFRED DRAKE, musician
EARL ROBINSON, singer
Dr. HUGO STRELITZER
FRANZ WAXMAN, Screen Composer's Association
LARRY ADLER, harmonica player

The honored guest, main speaker and principal attraction was SENATOR CLAUDE PEPPER, who devoted his speech mainly to a defense of Soviet Russia's actions in the present international crisis. The concert was a success as the attendance was reported to be about 15,000.

HICCASP has affiliated itself with another organization in the Los Angeles area called Citizens Committee for Better Education. This is a Communist dominated pressure group to advocate or defend so-called "liberal" education in the Los Angeles public schools. Affiliated with this group are the following:

Communist Party
American Youth for Democracy (formerly Young Communist League)
American Veterans Committee
Conference of Studio Unions
Hollywood Women's Council
Hollywood Writers Mobilization
Los Angeles Federation of Teachers, Local 430
Mobilization for Democracy
National Citizens Political Action Committee
CIO Political Action Committee
Southland Jewish Organization
United Public Workers, CIO

HICCASP has affiliated itself with the Los Angeles Civil Rights Congress, a branch of the National Civil Rights Congress, now taking the place of the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties.

* RUTH SLADE is the head of this organization. Other groups affiliated are the following:

American Veterans Committee
National Lawyers Guild
Home Protective Association
Home Owners Defense Council
West Hollywood Defense Council
San Fernando Valley Council on Race Relations Committee for Unity

All of which are Communist fronts.

Source further advises, however, that the principal activity of HICCASP is being devoted to the election of all Communist endorsed candidates in the forthcoming State and National elections. As evidence of Communist influence in the organization, the following appeared in "Daily Variety", the motion picture trade paper, dated August 9, 1946.

> "There's a wide open split coming in the ranks of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions. Liberals are going to walk out and leave the premises to the redder ilk."

HOLLYWOOD COMMUNITY RADIO

Source A states that a group using this name have applied for a radio station permit, the station to be set up in Gardena, California, a

JEWISH BLACK BOOK COMMITTEE OF LOS ANGELES

According to Source A this organization is the local branch of the national organization of the same name headed by ALBERT EINSTEIN. It has announced that on October 1, 1946, a mass meeting will be held at the Shrine Auditorium, Los Angeles. The principal speaker at this meeting will be Congressman EMANUEL CELLER of New York. The purposes of this organization are stated by it in the "People's Daily World", September 6, 1946, to be to "present every public official in the State with a copy of the Jewish Black Book as a reminder that what happened over there must not happen over here."

Source states that those active in this group have all been identified with Communist activities and most of them have connections with the motion picture industry. They are the following:

LION FEUCHTWANGER, refugee writer
JULIUS FLIGELMAN
* Dr. SANFORD GOLDNER, labor research
PETER M. KAHN

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A informs that this block of Communist dominated unions have again opened up the jurisdictional dispute with the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE) and in the near future may call another strike in the motion picture industry. This block of unions have now refused to accept the decision of the arbitrators of the dispute and during the coming week will demand that the work allocated to the IATSE be given to the Studio Carpenters, Local 946, one of the unions affiliated with the Conference of Studio Unions.

In all this union activity in the Hollywood studios, there is no question of wages or conditions involved as the Motion Picture Producers are now in the process of negotiations with all unions and contracts will be entered into. Any strike in the studios will be a repetition of the previous strikes led by HERBERT K. SORREL which were an attempt to gain control of certain non-Communist union locals nowunder the jurisdiction of the IATSE.

An asterisk has been placed before the names of the individuals whose records as members of the Communist Party or Party line followers have heretofore been obtained from reliable sources and furnished to the Bureau.

The "Los Angeles Examiner" for July 31, 1946, under the heading "Film Merger Confirmed" stated in part that the Old Universal Studio and International Pictures Corporation plus the ARTHUR RANK, LTD., of London, had amalgamated into one of the mose exciting mergers that has happened in Hollywood in many years, and the biggest since Twentieth Century Fox took over the old Fox Company. It stated that the name of the new organization will be "Universal-International Production Company". It further stated that WILLIAM GOETZ will be the President; LEO SPITZ will be the Chairman of the Board; NATE BLUMBERG will remain as Chairman of the Board of Universal and J. CHEEVER COWDIN also is to be associated with Universal. CLIFF WORK will remain as an executive and WALTER WANGER will continue to release his products.

"Variety" for August 15, 1946, under a New York date line stated, "The first meeting in America of the Confederation Internationale des Societes de 'Auteurs et Compositeurs will be held in Washington in October. There are forty-one member nations. ASCAP will play host to the Second Federation. The Confederation is divided into four federations, Dramatic Rights, Reforming Rights, Mechanical Rights, Book Rights. ASCAP's General Manager JOHN G. PAINE is President of the Second Federation."

LORENTZ Orientation Project GETS BUDGET, TWO THOUSAND PROJECTORS

"Variety" for September 3, 1946, stated in part that the War Department has given PERRY LORENTZ, recently appointed Chief of the Film and Theaters Division of the Reorientation Branch of the War Department Civil Affairs Division, a budget for the first 120 reels to begin his project and has also allocated 2,000 projectors for distribution in Japan and Germany. The projectors will be used in establishing schoolroom programs and reopening theaters in remote areas.

The article stated that the 200,000,000 people in Japan, Korea, Austria and Germany will not be allowed to see any film that is not approved by the LORENTZ Unit and producers in occupied countries will not be allowed to make films until they have been certified and have an Army - approved script.

It further stated that LORENTZ received authorization to select a nucleus of thirty-four technicians who will begin expansion of the entire operation. The first production unit of 100 people will include film editors, cameramen, soundmen, art directors and other technicians. Veterans will be given preference on all jobs. Five divisions have been made within the film and theater organization: news reel unit, story unit, theater unit, European unit and Pacific unit.

Please be advised that efforts have been made and are being made to secure informants inside the Communist Party and various Communist fronts in the so-called cultural fields but it appears to be a difficult task to find members of the party who would be capable, reliable and trustworthy.

Since the receipt of the Bureau letter, contacts have been renewed and a concerted effort is being made to obtain inside coverage on the Hollywood situation. It is believed that this office will be able to report progress along this line in the near future.

[illegible] MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

CHARACTER OF CASE
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Hollywood motion picture industry has been very much in the limelight recently because of union and organizational activity and the attitude of Soviet Russia in the United Nations meeting. The Communist dominated Screen Writers Guild has set up a new organization which they call "American Authors' Authority", which seeks to control the writing of all writers in the U.S. Another jurisdictional strike was begun 9/26/46 by the Conference of Studio Unions. The State un-American Activities Committee is conducting a hearing and the House Committee on un-American Activities has announced that it will conduct an investigation. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions has endorsed [illegible], a known Communist, running as a write-in candidate for Governor of California. It supports the other candidates who appear on the Democratic ticket who are supported by the Communists. The HICCASP has also established a "School of Political Action Techniques", which sends out literature, speakers, etc and they "spotlight on China Mass Meeting". The Hollywood Writers Mobilization together with the Mobilization for Democracy has instituted a series of political broadcasts over KLAC. A "Black Book Committee" has been formed "to fight Fascism". It follows the Communist Party line. Studio Labor gave a banquet at which TOM [illegible] THL, labor member of the British Parliament, was honored guest. The Peoples Educational Center is giving courses in Marxism-Leninism.

Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINLAY, Los Angeles, 9/11/46.

DETAILS: At Los Angeles, California

Source A has informed that since some time before the primary election in June, 1946, Hollywood generally and the motion picture industry specifically have been the center of Communist activity and this activity has attracted some attention throughout the entire country. The factors which have brought this about have been very largely union and organizational activities. The tense situation resulting from the international situation and the attitude of Soviet Russia in the United Nations organization have also contributed to a certain amount of resentment aimed at the motion picture industry because of the pro-Russian leanings of some of the Hollywood leaders in said organization.

Source A has informed that the Communist dominated Screen Writers Guild has attempted to set up an organization which they have called the "American Authors Authority" which seeks to dominate and control all writers in the United States, whether the writers be writers for the screen, the stage, the magazines or book publishers. The announcement of this attempt caused Hollywood to become the focal point of attention by the literary and artistic world.

HOLLYWOOD STUDIO STRIKE

Last year a jurisdictional strike in the motion picture business was carried on by HERBERT K. SOREL, the Communist leader of the Communist-dominated Conference of Studio Unions for eight months. The strike was finally called off and a sort of truce existed for some months. This strike was resumed on September 26, 1946. It appears that the Conference of Studio Unions isattempting to capture the known Communist-controlled unions. A settlement of the strike is now being considered at the National Convention of the IATSE in session in Chicago at the present time. Also, at the present time, two committees of investigation are going into the Communist situation in the Hollywood motion picture circles. One is the House Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives of which JOHN S. WOODS is the Chairman and ERNIE ADAMSON is the attorney and investigator. The hearing has not begun but Chairman WOODS has announced that the Committee will meet here in the near future.

The other investigating body is the Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities of the California State Legislature of which Senator JACK B. TENNEY is Chairman. This Committee began hearings at Berkeley, California on October 1, 1946, then it came to Los Angeles and began hearings here on October 7, 1946. Subpoenas for a large number of Hollywood personages have been issued and it is expected that the hearings will last for approximately ten days.

This source has also reported that the CHICAGO TRIBUNE at the present time has FRANK L. HUGHES, one of its high-ranking reporters, in Hollywood making an investigation of the Communists in the motion picture industry preparatory to running a series of articles on the subject.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A and Source B have advised that this group of some ten local unions, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has once again called a strike in the Hollywood motion picture industry. In fact, it is a continuation of a previous strike called in 1945 which lasted for eight months. The present strike is now going into its third week. There is no question of wages or hours, or conditions involved. It is purely a matter of jurisdiction between the International Alliance of Theatrical State Employees (IATSE), a non-Communist block of unions, and the Conference of Studio Unions, completely dominated by Communist influence. The leader of this latter group is HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist of long standing. The primary purpose of this strike is to try and get control of all studio workers for Communist purposes.

The CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS is now composed of eleven unions, all of which are associated with the American Federation of Labor. These unions are as follows:

L.A. 100-15732

| Local | Parent Organization |
| --- | --- |
| Screen Set Designers Local 1421 | Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers of America |
| Screen Publicists Guild Local 1489 | Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers of America |
| Screen Story Analyst Guild Local 1488 | Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers of America |
| Screen Cartoonists Guild Local 852 | Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers of America |
| Moving Picture Painters and Scenic Artists, Local 644 | Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers of America |
| Special Officers and Guards Local 193 | Building Service Employees International Union |
| Building Service Employees Local 278 | Building Service Employees International Union |
| Studio Carpenters Local 946 | United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America |
| Studio Electrical Workers Local 40 | International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers |
| Studio Sheet Metal Workers Local 108 | Studio Metal Workers International Union |
| Studio Machinists Local Cinema Lodge 1185 | International Association of Machinists |

The CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS is headed by HERBERT K. SORRELL. It is an independent organization which was formed several years ago, reportedly by Communists, on the theory that if several unions or locals would ban together, their bargaining position would be greatly enhanced. The CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS has been heavily infiltrated by the Communists and Source C has identified SORRELL as a member of the Communist Party. At the present time, the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS is composed of the eleven unions above named, ten of which are affiliated with the A. F. of L, and one which is affiliated with the International Association of Machinists, Local 1185. At first the International Association of Machinists spokesman stated that if members of Local 1183 were discharged from their positions because of the ultimatum issued by the A. F. of L. Central Labor Council that their members would picket these studios. However, as yet, according to sources mentioned, no members of the International Association of Machinists have been discharged and the producers have employed additional machinists who are affiliated with the A. F. of L. in order to avoid this jurisdictional dispute.

Source B has informed that a large number of persons have been arrested during the present strike, charged with unlawful assembly rioting and assault.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS (HICCASP)

Source A and Source B inform that this leading Hollywood Communist pressure group is devoting its main efforts toward the coming elections to be held on November 5, 1946. This consists in raising funds, putting out literature and holding meetings in conjunction with other Communist-controlled organizations. As a body, it has endorsed all candidates supported by the Communist Party except one, a known Communist, ARCHIE BROWN, who is conducting a write-in campaign for the Governorship. All others endorsed by the HICCASP are what are known as "liberals" or "progressives". Those who receive intensive support by the organization are the following:

WILL ROGERS, JR., Candidate for U. S. Senate
*ELLIS E. PATTERSON, write-in candidate for Congress after being defeated in the primary for Senator.
JOHN E. SHELLEY, Candidate for Lt.-Governor
EDMUND G. BROWN, Candidate for Attorney General
NED R. HEALEY, Congressman, candidate for re-election
HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS, Congresswoman, candidate for re-election
CLYDE DOYLE, Congressman, candidate for re-election

All other endorsements of local Assemblymen and propositions on the ballot coincide with the endorsements of the Communist Party.

The HICCASP works in close connection with what is called SCHOOL OF POLITICAL ACTION TECHNIQUES conducted by Southern California National Citizens Political Action Committee, located at Parkview Manor, 2200 West Seventh Street, Los Angeles, California. Literature and folders mailed out by HICCASP state the aims and purposes of this school are mainly "mobilizing special groups for political action", political speech writing and making, public relations, etc.

The Communist character of this "school" is shown by the following names, listed as the faculty":

JOSEPH W. ALDEN, Democratic County and State Committees
DR. LEONARD BLOOM, UCLA Professor
DR. FRANK DAVIS, listed as Professor of Sociology, UCLA.
ALBERT DEKKER, screen actor
MENDEL LIEBERMAN, American Veterans Committee
BERNARD PUSHER, United Office & Professional Workers
*ALLEN METCALF, campaign manager Ned Healy for Congress
GEORGE MOORE, President L.A. City Council
EDWARD ROSK, Attorney and Author
Mrs. ESTHER NASSITIR, 13th District Coordinating Council
JOHN PAYNE, Citizens Research Institute
*ABRAHAM POLONSKY, screen writer
Dr. H. E. SCARBROUGH, 13th District Citizens Committee
GEORGE STILLER, Public Relations Consultant
BERT WITT, Director NCPAC.
SARA KLEBAN, Coordinator

Among Sponsors of the school are the following, all of whom have extensive records of Communist Activity:

CHARLOTTA BASS, Editor of California Eagle
*AVERILL BERMAN, Broadcaster
*JAMES H. BURFORD, CIO Official
REV. ERNEST CALDECOTT, Unitarian Minister
*GEORGE CAMPBELL, A.F.L. Secretary of Musicians Union
DR. FRANKLIN FEARING, UCLA Professor

D.A. 100-15732

*ALBERT MALTZ, Writer
*JOHN T. McTERNAN, Labor attorney

GREGORY PECK, Actor
Mrs. JEAN SIEROTY, Wife of Manager of Columbia Department Store
*DALTON TRUMBO, Writer
CLAUDE WELCH, Lawyer, teacher
ALVIN WILDER, Radio Commentator
JACOB ZEITLIN, Book Store

In addition to the foregoing activities, the HICCASP affiliates with, supports and uses the publicity-gathering name of the organization to further all Communist-inspired ventures in the locality.

ARCHIE BROWN, COMMUNIST CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR OF CALIFORNIA

ARCHIE BROWN is running for Governor of California in a write-in campaign. He is not a candidate officially of the Communist Party as that Party could not get on the ballot in California because of a law passed by the legislature which provides that a political party must poll a certain percentage of the ballots cast in the last general election in order to be placed on the ballot as a party. This the Communist Party did not do. Therefore, the Communist Party is not officially on the ballot. Therefore, ARCHIE BROWN is running as an individual Communist and not technically as a candidate of the Communist Party. He does not have the official endorsement of the Communist Party although he does have the Party's unlimited support. In other words, he is endorsed by the Communists personally because he is a Communist and not as a Party candidate.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A has reported that this organization in cooperation with the MOBILIZATION FOR DEMOCRACY has instituted a series of broadcasts over Radio Station KLAC in Los Angeles. The title of the broadcast is "It Is Beginning Here". The programs are purportedly in the interests of minority groups. This is the usual Communist propaganda springboard for putting over the Communist Party line. The broadcasts are given every Monday evening at 7:15.

Those interested and conducting the venture are:

HARRY HOIJER, teacher at UCLA

18814

L.A. 100-15732

KEN NILES, announcer
LEE HORTON, Hollywood Writers Mobilization
LILLIAN RANDOLPH, Negro actress
BETTY JONES, Negro social worker

This project has the support of the HICCASP.

BLACK BOOK COMMITTEE

This organization which purports to fight the "rise of Fascism" in America, according to Source A, held a meeting at the Shrine Auditorium, Los Angeles on October 1, 1946. The purposes of the Committee are stated to publicize the iniquities of the Fascists in Germany and elsewhere throughout the world by printing information on the subject and distributing same in book form to public officials in the United States especially. However, at this meeting, it develops that it is under the influence of the Communist Party line, resolutions having been passed on such subjects as:

Stop the State Department's "Get Tough With Russia" policy.

Support HENRY WALLACE in his attitude toward Russia and the atomic bomb.

Criticize the "imperialist" policy of Britain in sending troops to Greece.

Get United States troops out of China.

And all other "must" agitation according to the present Communist Party line.

Those taking part in the meeting were:

ELLIS E. PATTERSON, Congressman from California
ARTIE SHAW, Hollywood band leader
KENNETH McGEE, editor of "The Protestant", a Communist propaganda magazine, issued monthly supposedly in the interest of the Protestants in the United States and anti-Catholic.
RABBI MAX NUSSBAUM, Rabbi, Israel Temple

L.A. 100-15732

LION FEUCHTWANGER, Refugee and writer
*DR. SANFORD COLLINS, CIO Research Assistant
PETER M. KAIN, Business man
*DR. JACK AGINA, teacher in the Peoples Education Center
JULIUS FLIGELMAN

SPOTLIGHT ON CHINA MASS MEETING

Source A has informed that a mass meeting under the above title was called by notices mailed by the HICCASP for October 6, 1946, to be held at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium. The meeting was widely publicized for weeks in advance. The top officers of the American Legion, having learned that the meeting was controlled by Communists, cancelled the contract for the stadium. The meeting was then moved to the Olympic Auditorium in downtown Los Angeles, where it was held on the date scheduled.

The Main purpose of the demonstration was to create pressure on the State Department to withdraw American troops from China, one of the main objectives at this time of the Communist Party of the United States.

Those taking part in the meeting were:

JUDGE STANLEY MOFFATT, who acted as Chairman
*PAUL ROBESON, Actor and singer
*ELLIS E. PATTERSON, Congressman
HARRISON FOREMAN, Author and Communist sympathizer
COL. EVANS CARLSON (could not appear, but sent a telegram of support for the movement)
*BILL BELTON, CIO Organizer

A Collection was taken, the MOBILIZATION FOR DEMOCRACY donating $1500. An estimated $5,000.00 was collected.

Others contributing were:

American Veterans Committee
International Workers Order (IWO)
American Youth for Democracy (Young Communist League)

The usual Hollywood support for this meeting was given. ALLEN METCALF was the Chairman of the arrangements committee.

STUDIO LABOR

A banquet was held at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel on the evening of October 3, 1946, according to Source A. TOM O'BRIEN, Labor member of the British Parliament, then in Hollywood studying the problems of labor in motion pictures, stated that the film industry of Great Britain was having the same trouble with the Communists as the IATSE was having in Hollywood. He went into the subject at length because the same type of labor disputes broke out in the English industry at the same time as it took place in Hollywood. He stated:

> "It may be a coincidence, but I doubt it. The Communists are trying to take over the entertainment industry of the world because through it they can exercise great influence. If they can get control of this industry, they will have gone two-thirds of their way."

PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER

This Communist-controlled school of indoctrination is now switching over from former, so-called "democratic" or "progressive" courses to the more outright principles of MARXISM-LENINISM. The more outright and open Communist influence is shown by a new "advisory board" composed of the following:

*MELVIN BERGMAN, Electrician
*DR. LEO BIGELMAN, Physician
*ED GILBERT, Labor business agent
SONDRA GORNEY
*ROBERT LEES
FRANCES MILLINGTON
*HERBERT SORRELL, Labor Leader (CSU)
*FRANK TUTTLE, Writer

This is in line with the general line of the Communist Party at this time.

The Communist issue in the Hollywood film industry is coming more and more to the front. So far, the producers of pictures and the entire top structure of the industry have remained quiet on the subject. They have taken no action whatever, although the issue of Hollywood communism is becoming a matter of national notice.

MATTHEW WOLL CHARGES THAT MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY ISFULL OF COMMUNISTS

The Los Angeles TIMES for October 1, 1946 under the heading, "Hollywood Had Two Reds Charged", stated in part that a MATTHEW WOLL, Vice-President of the International Photo Engineers Union, as well as of the A.F.L., charged that many Hollywood stars and script writers are supporting Communist front organizations. He warned that unless they cease, the public may picket film houses on a nationwide basis. The article stated that the threat was made in a signed editorial in the "American Photo Engraver", a Trade Unions publication. It stated, "A few years ago, the League of Decency was formed as part of a nationwide protest against immoral movies" but he said, "Motion picture houses in a score of cities were picketed, box office receipts dropped and the HAYS Office stepped in to clean up a disagreeable situation.".

WOLL wrote that unless the film industry takes immediate steps, a similar public reaction may this time be directed "against many high-salaried stars and script writers who are part of the Communist Fifth Column in America".

WOLL further charged that Hollywood today is "the third largest Communist Center in the United States". He also said that "playing at revolution seems to justify the possession of a swimming pool and improves the taste of astrakhan, caviar and the feel of Russian sables".

WOLL urged that ERIC JOHNSON, Chairman of the Motion Picture Producers Association, take steps "to root out all Fifth Columnists and fellow travellers from the capital of America".

An (*) asterisk has been placed before the name of certain individuals in this report to indicate that the Communist connections of the individuals so designated have heretofore been furnished to the Bureau.

The Hollywood motion picture industry has been very much in the limelight recently because of union and organizational activity and the attitude of Soviet Russia in the United Nations meeting. # TRADE VIEWS

BY W. R. WILKERSON

• WORD HAS BEEN passed on to us from Washington that the underground there is of the opinion that, in the very near future, the Federal Bureau of Investigation is going to deliver a report to the Attorney General on the subversive situation in Hollywood. Let's hope it's true.

The FBI has been working for years with a well-trained force in Hollywood running down the subversives among us, sifting them out, cataloging their every activity, and has a file that will unquestionably tell the right story on all our left-wingers, party members, fellow travelers, and innocent donors and participants. We understand further, and from the same Washington source, that this report will be made public by the Attorney General and that, from that point in, there will be a general hustle in spot-lighting the "Commies" throughout the whole of the United States in an effort to choke their activities that have resulted in so many strikes, work slow-downs and a general throttling of reconversion.

We know that Hollywood is tabbed as the second most important center of subversive activity in this country. Washington, with its red infiltrations in many government agencies and with the big-wigs of the "Commie" party spreading out most of its lines from there, is the first, with New York, Chicago and other metropolitan centers rounding out the seat of most of our nation's troubles.

The hit will be at Hollywood first because of its importance in actual "Commie" members and, secondly, because of the big names connected with the party here, their big cash donations and the enthusiasm with which the press of the country will grab at this shakedown of Communist activity because it's Hollywood. It will give the papers names the public knows best and will talk about most; thereby giving a shove to the contemplated shake-out in the whole country.

We have heard locally, for some time, that a larger group of FBI operatives than is ordinarily assigned to this zone has been here for weeks, bringing all that organization's data up to date for the final report to the Attorney General, and that its revelations will be of such explosive nature the sound will be heard around the world almost instantly.

Again we say, and we believe most of Hollywood and the picture business will join in, WE HOPE! WE HOPE!

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Sheriff of Los Angeles County reported that approximately 50 persons in military uniforms were marching in front of MGM Studio, where it was thought they constituted a part of the picket line. "We've had enough" slogan was sponsored by large number of persons in the motion picture industry. Some Russian films claim to have won most awards at the Cannes Film Festival at Cannes, France. The Communists have reverted to Marxism-Leninism, and the front organizations in the motion picture industry have changed to conform to the Communist Party line, and some of the major functionaries of the Party are being withdrawn from leading roles and are being replaced by new leaders. The Conference of Studio Unions are still on strike and approximately 500 arrests have been made by the Sheriff and Police. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, Conference of Studio Unions, CIO-PAC, NC-PAC and Railroad Brotherhoods failed to make boasted showing, and all of the major candidates endorsed by them in the recent election, with one exception, were overwhelmingly defeated. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization is endeavoring to secure radio license for a station at Gardena, California. The Screen Writers Guild has endeavored to set up a "Writers Authority" to control all writing and written material, but a new organization is being formed to combat this movement.

Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINDLAY dated October 11, 1946, at Los Angeles, California.

DETAILS:

AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

On October 1, 1946, Deputy Sheriff CLEM PEOPLES advised that there were approximately 50 persons in military uniforms parading and blockading the gates at the MGM Studio. He stated that it was his opinion that these persons were wearing the uniforms in violation of federal law.

This matter was discussed with the United States Attorney. It was his opinion that no action should be taken at least until an investigation was made to determine the full facts. Later, it was reported that a riot had developed at the studio, but it was stated that the men in uniform had not participated in the riot.

"WE'VE HAD ENOUGH"

A full page political advertisement appeared in the Hollywood Reporter and Variety on October 29, 1946, the two trade papers in the motion picture business in Hollywood. The contents of the advertisement was the following:

"WE'VE HAD ENOUGH

WE WILL VOTE

REPUBLICAN

* * * * * *

HAVE YOU HAD ENOUGH?

VOTE REPUBLICAN"

(Then there appeared the names of 130 persons as the sponsors of this program. This list of names was checked and no name appearing in this list has heretofore been reported as sponsoring Communist activities.)

The following appeared in this advertisement:

"ARE YOU LISTED HERE?"

IF NOT, THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER

COMMITTEE NEEDS YOUR SUPPORT!

RUSSIAN FILMS

The Hollywood Reporter for October 28, 1946, under the heading "Reds Admit their Pictures are Tops" stated in part as follows:

> "Film critics can arrive at one conclusion only, that Soviet cinema art ranks first in importance and profoundness," V. POLPORATSKY, Correspondent for Izvestia, wrote in a story on 'The Cannes Film Festival,' released here last week by the U.S.S.R. Embassy. Praising the French films and the 'great craftsmanship of Disney's films,' the Russian writer held that the impressive record of awards to Soviet films was justified by their 'vitality, faith, in the future and the struggle for it.'"

The article stated that the American films tend toward standardization. One critic remarked that films are stamped in Hollywood just like automobile parts in Detroit. "Many of the films shown demonstrated the moral degradation of much of the world's cinema art. The majority of the non-Soviet films which were shown in Cannes were devoted to the decadence of the human mind. Drug addiction, dipsomania, and mysticism under the guise of psychology, such was their essence." "A direct contrast is supplied by the Soviet films. Even the other contestants admitted the superiority of the Soviet films."

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that the Communist Party of the United States has now reached a sharp turning point in its history. This turning point is the logical result of the drastic change in the tactics of the entire world Communist movement which was inaugurated and directed by Soviet Russia when World War II came to an end with the defeat of Nazi Germany and Japan. When this came about, the Communists throughout the world, on instructions from the heads of that movement in Moscow, Russia, were to revert to the basic program of Marxism-Leninism a program which calls for the spread of Communism everywhere throughout the world. The World Communist movement now picks up where it left off in 1935 when the Seventh World Congress brought forth the so-called "United Front" because the rise of Adolph Hitler and Nazism in Germany threatened Soviet Russia.

In the United States, when the Axis powers were defeated, the Communist Political Association was converted back to the Communist Party at the national convention held in July, 1945. At this convention the basic revolutionary program of Marxism-Leninism was again put into practice. However, as the Communist Party of the United States has been most successful in having its members and agents penetrate the Democratic Party particularly and through that party into many governmental agencies and almost every section of American life, churches, schools, social bodies, etc., it desired to maintain this influence. Hence, the change in the party line as stated above was shown only in the form of propaganda; and this, for the most part, only in inner Communist and sympathetic circles.

For this reason it appeared that the Communist Party was operating in the usual manner, such as supporting "liberal" and "progressive" candidates for office, within the labor unions and other groups and in the open political field.

But this method was soon to come to an end, a fact which the inner circle of the Communist Party was well aware of. The general attitudes of Soviet Russia in international affairs and relations with the rest of the world was forcing the situation to the extent that the Communist Party of the United States would have to break with their methods of the recent past and go straight out for the revolutionary position.

That break has now come and the national elections of November 5th., has brought it about definitely and clearly. These elections all over the United States have exposed and repudiated the Communist Party. Its tactics and subterfuges are now an open secret. In fact, it might be said that Communism, disguised as "progressivism," "liberalism" and even "democracy" was the real issue in the elections.

The Communist Party of the United States anticipated all this and for some time has been making preparations for change of tactics and even a change in the structure of the Party. It is common talk in the inner circles of the Party that it will eventually have to go "underground." This is in no sense a new conception, but is one of the recognized tactics to be used under certain conditions. It is the opinion of many Communists that the Party will soon go "underground" because they consider the present trend in the United States to be "reactionary" and that it will soon have to withstand an attack; perhaps its legality will be subjected to question. This viewpoint is not secret, but is openly stated by known Communists.

Because of these facts and reasons stated above, the activities of Communists and sympathizers in the Hollywood motion picture industry are, right at the present time, undergoing some change. Those who have been prominent in Communist circles and "front" activities in the immediate past are beginning to drop from public notice and others who have not been so openly active are beginning to take over. This applies to the upper so-called cultural levels as well as in the trade unions. Certain individuals, heretofore extremely active, are now beginning to slip into the background. Specifically, some of them are: JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, HELMER BERGMAN, ROBERT ROSSEN, LESTER COLE, HAROLD SALEMSON, EDWARD MUSSA, FRANCES HILLINGTON, HERBERT BIBERMAN. HERBERT K. SORRELL, the Communist leader of the Conference of Studio unions, while still in that position, is sharing his power with a newcomer named MATTHEW MATTISON. His past record has not yet been ascertained.

This is just a forerunner of a change in the entire Hollywood Communist structure. The form is not yet clear, but it should take shape soon now that the connections of the Communist Party with the Democratic Party have been shattered by the November 5th elections.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

This block of Communist-controlled unions is, according to Source A still on strike, now going into its sixth week. The strike is a continuance of the strike of 1945 which was and still is an attempt of the Communist elements to control the unions in the Hollywood studios.

Source B has stated that between 150 and 200 persons, including ten women, were arrested on October 14, 1946, on charges of contempt and disturbing the peace. This number, together with other arrests which have been made since the strike began, amounts to more than 500 arrests. None have been brought to trial to date.

During the picketing the pickets were singing "Solidarity Forever."

The Painters District Council No. 36 voted a $5,000.00 fund for the benefit of the strikers. The Radio Writers Guild met at the home of RING LARDNER, JR. and voted $4,000.00 for the strikers' benefit fund.

The Conference of Studio Unions is spreading its influence to the radio field through an alliance with another group of like nature now being formed in that field. This new block of unions is to be called Council of Radio Unions. An organizational meeting of radio unions will be held on November 21, 1946 in Hollywood. Composing this parallel block of unions are the following:

Radio Writers Guild
Radio Directors Guild
American Federation of Musicians, Local 47
American Federation of Radio Artists.

This group has announced that it will affiliate with the Conference of Studio Unions. Such an alliance would be most effective because of the affinity of the motion picture industry with the radio industry.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS (HICCASP)

Source A and the news dispatches have inferred that this organization devoted almost its entire effort within the last thirty days to the local elections. It issued thousands of letters to organizations, unions and individuals asking support for the same list of candidates supported by the Communist Party and the Communist front groups. Despite this, only one candidate supported by the organization for a major office was elected. This candidate was HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS who was reelected to Congress from the 14th Congressional district. All others were defeated.

In this campaign the organization cooperated with all other Communist dominated groups, such as:

Los Angeles CIO Council
National Citizens PAC
Progressive AF of L. Committee
Railroad Brotherhoods Joint Legislative Council

But as this entire program was defeated and as the entire political complexion of the State of California has changed, swinging definitely to the right, the HICCASP is now left in an isolated and unpopular position, even within the Hollywood studio circles. In fact, one member of the organization stated, "we were completely stunned by this turn of events."

However, despite all this, the HICCASP is still dominated by the Communist Party. It will hew to any changes made by this party. In fact, the HICCASP, like the Communist Party itself, will now be reorganized to meet the conditions of change stated in the beginning of this report. It will conform to the change in the tactics of the Communist Party of the United States which will now be altered because of the coming clash with the Soviet Union. For this reason, it can be stated that the HICCASP is now midway between two political positions, one a hangover from the Communist Political Association and the other the late position, the revolutionary position of Marxism-Leninism. It will now become either a more open propaganda agency for the Communist Party, or go out of existence altogether.

Nothing definite can be given along this line, until the inner group within the organization gets its instructions from the top structure of the Communist Party and begins to act accordingly.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

This Communist-controlled propaganda organization now finds itself in the same position as the HICCASP, mentioned above. The future line of the Communist Party will determine the activities of this group. At present it is devoting most of its efforts toward securing a radio license for the Hollywood Community Radio, a group of Hollywood writers of the screen and radio which has applied to the FCC for a station to be set up in Gardena, a suburb of Los Angeles. The hearing for this application comes up in Los Angeles on November 21, 1946.

The Hollywood Writers Mobilization in addition, sponsors and produces a radio program over station KLAC every Monday evening at 7:15. The program is purportedly in the interest of "minority groups."

SCREEN WRITERS GUILD

This is an independent guild which represents the writers in the Hollywood film industry. This guild is, at the present time, completely under the control of Communists.

However, there appears to be a revolt brewing among the membership to combat this control. In a series of articles in the Hollywood Reporter, a trade paper, a number of officers of the guild were exposed as Communists and sympathizers with the Communist Party. All this came about because of an attempt by the Screen Writers Guild to set up a Writers Authority, a sub organization which, if successful, would have absolute control over all writing and written material not only in the Hollywood film industry, but even magazines, books, etc., all over the United States. The attempt to put this over brought about opposition from several quarters and in the melee the facts of Communist penetration and control of the Guild were brought out.

As a result, a group has been set up within the organization to oppose the group in control. The names of these persons which will appear as candidates for control of the guild in the forthcoming guild elections are:

CHARLES BRACKETT
TALBOT JENNINGS
HOWARD ESTABROOK
MARY McCALL, JR.
GEORGE SEATON
F. HUGH HERBERT
VALENTINE DAVIES
ART ATHU
MELVILLE BAKER
EDMUND BELOIN
BETTY BURBRIDGE
JOHN BUTLER
FRANK CAVETT
PHILLIP DUNNE
EVERETT FREEMAN
EDMUND HARTMAN
POLLY JAMES

JOHN LARKIN
ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHN
LEO TOWNSEND

Among the foregoing group who now oppose the Communist elements are several who have been identified as sympathizers with them in the immediate past. They are:

CHARLES BRACKETT
TALBOT JENNINGS
MARY McCALL, JR.
HOWARD ESTABROOK
F. HUGH HERBERT
PHILLIP DUNNE
JOHN LARKIN
ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHN
LEO TOWNSEND

Some of this latter group may have been "innocents," but not all.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Sheriff of Los Angeles County reported that approximately 50 persons in military uniforms were marching in front of MGM Studio, where it was thought they constituted a part of the picket line. "We've had enough" slogan was sponsored by large number of persons in the motion picture industry. Some Russian films claim to have won most awards at the Cannes Film Festival at Cannes, France. The Communists have reverted to Marxism-Leninism, and the front organizations in the motion picture industry have changed to conform to the Communist Party line, and some of the major functionaries of the Party are being withdrawn from leading roles and are being replaced by new leaders. The Conference of Studio Unions are still on strike and approximately 500 arrests have been made by the Sheriff and Police. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, Conference of Studio Unions, CIO-PAC, NC-PAC and Railroad Brotherhoods failed to make boasted showing, and all of the major candidates endorsed by them in the recent election, with one exception, were overwhelmingly defeated. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization is endeavoring to secure radio license for a station at Gardena, California. The Screen Writers Guild has endeavored to set up a "Writers Authority" to control all writing and written material, but a new organization is being formed to combat this movement.

COMMUNIST PARTY, USA
DISTRICT NO. 13, LOS ANGELES FIELD DIVISION 13880

The Bureau is desirous of your Office submitting up to date information on the Communist activities within the Hollywood Motion Picture Industry. This information should include the number of known Communist Party members, their position and by whom employed, when possible, and the Communist Party branch affiliation of all Communists in the film industry. It is also desired that those individuals in the film industry who are affiliated with the various front groups be identified.

It is not desired, however, that your Office conduct additional investigation to secure this information, rather, the Bureau desires that the current information contained in your files be submitted to the Bureau.

In addition, the Bureau has noted that in the reports submitted under the caption "Communist Infiltration Into the Motion Picture Industry" there has been no information set out concerning the American Authors Authority. This new organization has been the subject of innumerable press articles, all of which alleged that this group was Communist-inspired and that the organization is attempting to gain control of the writing field.

Consequently, your Office is also requested to furnish the Bureau with all available facts which will either substantiate or disprove these allegations. These matters should be given immediate consideration by your office and the necessary information supplied in the immediate future.

Police Hem In, Jail 207 Studio Pickets

Charge Court Writ Violated at Columbia

Pinning the entire picket line to the wall at Columbia Pictures, police yesterday arrested 207 persons for violating a Superior Court order prohibiting mass picketing at the studio.

It was by far the largest number of arrests made so far in the 19-day old jurisdictional dispute between two AFL unions and required 1½ hours for police to complete them.

Only the legal number of pickets—eight to a gate—were left.

WOMEN SEIZED

There were 16 women among those escorted into waiting patrol cars and buses. They joined in singing "Don't Fence Me In."

One person was charged with disturbing the peace and bail was fixed at $100. The others were required to post bail of $500 for violation of the order.

Total bail for the 207 amounted to $103,100 which the CSU strategy committee said it would furnish. At a late hour last night six persons had been released on $500 bail.

Other than for the massive picket line at the Gower street entrances to Columbia, the day was without incident. Police Officer C. H. Gerber read the court order and gave the throng 15 minutes in which to disperse.

When it remained intact, police hemmed it in and began arresting pickets. Two women tried to leave the picket ranks, but were forced back by police and placed under arrest with the others.

Roy M. Brewer, international representative in Hollywood for the IATSE, telegraphed Mayor Fletcher Bowron yesterday blaming the strike to the Conference of Studio Unions, which he charged, is "Communistic-designed and Communistic-dominated," and which he said is seeking to destroy IATSE.

With the exception of Paramount, all laboratories processing films were either seriously hampered or shut down because film technicians, following a vote on Sunday, refused to cross picket lines.

IATSE Head Lauds Bowron's Stand

In a wire congratulating Mayor Bowron for his stand supporting police actions in the present film strike, Roy M. Brewer, local head of IATSE, yesterday blamed the walkout on Communists in the Conference of Studio Unions.

Following is Brewer's telegram:

"On behalf of the 14,000 members of the IATSE who are working in the Hollywood motion picture studios, want to congratulate and thank you for the stand which you took in answering the protests of the Conference of Studio Unions Saturday.

"I reflect the feelings not only of our members but of the other 12,000 members of the AFL as well who are daily going to work when I say thank you for the protection which we have received.

"For the leaders of the Conference of Studio Unions to protest violence is, itself, ironical. From the outset of this strike violence has been planned, encouraged and carried out. Hundreds of our members have been threatened, coerced and attacked.

"When these leaders say they were 'locked out,' they are not telling the truth—they 'walked out'—not for any legitimate trade union purpose, but to destroy a sister union of the American Federation of Labor.

"There is no issue of wages, hours or working conditions whatsoever involved in this strike. The Conference of Studio Unions is a Communistic-designed and Communistic-dominated organization which has for its purpose the control of the unions in the motion picture industry—that the great propaganda value of the industry might be used to promote the cause of world Communism. Those unions which they have failed to control they now try to destroy. This strike is a part of that objective. What they could never obtain by legitimate methods they now seek to obtain by sheer force.

"Many of the members of these unions do not realize they are the victims of this unjustified strike.

"The splendid work of the office of Sheriff Biscailuz and Assistant Police Chief Reed in preserving law and order and making it possible for our members to work unmolested is a credit to our community, our state and our nation.

"We thank you.

"Sincerely yours,

"ROY M. BREWER,

"International Representative."

219 on picket line arrested at film studio, thrown into jail

Police jailed almost an entire Conference of Studio Unions picket line yesterday, yanking 219 persons from Columbia Studio to jail, where 188 of them voted to remain last night.

The operation was conducted peacefully as police pressed buses, patrol cars and private vehicles into service to transport the pickets to Hollywood and Lincoln Heights jails.

Among the prisoners were 16 women, the majority of whom voted to remain the night at Lincoln Heights and await arraignment proceedings today.

CSU attorneys appeared at two places prepared to post bail of $500 for pickets accused of violating a mass picketing injunction and $100 for those accused of disturbing the peace.

Almost two score of the pickets, who said illness and family affairs required their presence at home, accepted the bail and were freed. The 188 who remained included a dozen women, who were given separate quarters.

Later in the day all the prisoners were transferred to Lincoln Heights jail, where after an evening meal of stew, coffee and bread followed by desultory cheering and singing, they bedded down for the night.

Meanwhile, producers took a grave view of the action of Local 683 of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes, which embraces some 2000 laboratory technicians, in voting Sunday to honor CSU picket lines.

A spokesman for the producers said only Paramount among the ten major studios was able to operate "at normal or close to normal in the film processing and still photo departments" yesterday.

John R. Martin, business agent of Local 683, who said the film technicians will honor picket lines until "this jurisdictional quarrel is settled," said "the members are sticking solidly by their decision."

Roy Brewer, international representative of the IATSE, charged that the leadership of Local 683 "has closely adhered to the Communist Party line," Brewer said

219 arrested at film studio, taken to jail

"we've been expecting some such action."

Martin laughed when told of Brewer's remarks, and said: "He's been calling us Communists for a long time. That's one reason we don't get along well with the IATSE leadership."

The lab technicians faced revocation of their charter because of their action. Richard Walsh, international president of the IA, ordered them to honor their contracts or have their charter lifted.

"It's one thing to yank a charter and another thing to get the men working in laboratories," said Martin. "Walsh hasn't lifted our charter yet, and he won't."

Local 683 was offered refuge in the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 40, which offered what Martin said was "an attractive inducement" to get the lab workers in their union.

Martin said telephone calls and wires sent to members of the local yesterday ordering them to report to work resulted in some people crossing the picket lines, but he added that "we will be out 100 per cent tomorrow."

Meanwhile, CSU top officials made a deal with two film processing laboratories to allow them to work on film belonging to independent producers.

Williams laboratory and Cinecolor Corp. will be allowed to process black and white and colored footage dispatched to them by independent producers, a CSU spokesman said.

"Our fight is against the major producers who created this quarrel by discharging our members," the CSU official said. "We have no grudge at all against the independent producers."

Producers and CSU men both agreed that the action of the technicians in refusing to cross picket lines hampered production seriously.

Most of the film processing work is done by Technicolor, Consolidated Film Industries and Pathe Industries, all of which are staffed by members of Local 683.

Five of the major studios, Universal, RKO, Republic, Goldwyn and Roach, depend on the three processing firms to handle the bulk of their work.

Paramount, MGM, Warner Bros., Columbia and 20th Century-Fox all maintain laboratories, but only the Paramount laboratory was operated yesterday.

Paramount studio ordered its technicians to report for work at 4 a. m. yesterday before the CSU pickets were in operation, and was thus able to keep its laboratories going at something like normal production.

The CSU countered with an announcement that it will immediately start 24-hour picket duty at all major plants, and said it would abandon mass picketing and keep the number of men at any studio to within the legal minimum of eight pickets.

200 RIOT AT M.G.M. IN STUDIO STRIKE

A.F.L. Union Factions Battle at Gates; Police Jail 16 in Day, Three Go to Hospitals

seven of the 10 major motion-picture studios. Massed picket violence receded somewhat from that of the previous and opening day.

Burbank police deemed the pickets at Warner Bros. early in the day to have disregarded a Superior Court order against mass picketing there. One officer read the court order over a loud-speaker to the pickets.

Picket leaders protested that he was not the proper authority to serve the notice. Some hours later a deputy sheriff appeared and he read the order and distributed mimeographed copies of it to the pickets. Many of the pickets refused to take the copies. Their leaders announced that the copies were no good because the judge's signature was only mimeographed.

Pickets Reduced

However, when a Burbank officer called on the crowd to disperse because it was an unlawful assemblage it did so and the number of pickets dropped to the number specified in the court order.

Men of the Carpenters' and Painters' Unions are spearheading the strike in which most of the Conference of Studio Unions are participating. They have less than 7000 on strike. The total of nonstrikers in the A.F.L. unions remaining on the job plus a few unorganized employees were said by the employers to total about 22,000.

The strike grew out of a dispute between the carpenters and alliance officials as to whose every studio where they had been scheduled." "Production was slowed up, naturally, but not shut down," the statement added.

At M.G.M. not only was work resumed yesterday on the five pictures on which shooting was in progress Thursday but two more new pictures were being shot. Similarly, seven pictures also were being shot at Warners.

Go Through Lines

Generally, the studios reported more nonstrikers going through picket lines and with less trouble. This was especially true at Warners, it was reported, where the Superior Court had placed restrictions on massing of pickets and on violence and vile language. Studio cameras were reported at work taking pictures that, it was reported, may later appear in cases of pickets being haled into court for contempt of the court order.

Benefiting from the experience of the 10-month jurisdictional strike of 1945 under the same strike leaders as this year, the studios reported less confusion and quicker emergency action on production at the beginning of the new strike.

Strike Leader Herbert K. Sorrell at M.G.M. said pickets might be put on a 24-hour basis because although pickets were on duty at dawn some nonstrikers went to work before daylight and were inside before pickets were massed in formidable numbers. There was a considerable jostling of nonstrikers by the pickets and rocking of autos as workers went through the picket lines members should do certain work on sets.

BIG JOKE TO PICKETS—To accompaniment of pickets' laughter, police pick up tacks strewn at Warner studio entrance in effort to keep cars from entering plant.

Early in the day a 12-man gang attacked a bus load of nonstrikers almost in the heart of Hollywood. The gang escaped unscathed but left two injured nonstrikers.

Pickets arrested were charged with, in the various instances, rioting, criminal contempt of court, assault with deadly weapon, carrying concealed loaded sap, tampering with an automobile, throwing chunks of concrete and bricks at cars carrying nonstrikers, throwing coffee into the face of a nonstriker, disorderly conduct, malicious mischief, disturbing the peace, the smashing of automobile windows and the scattering of tacks on studio driveways.

In all 16 persons were jailed, all but one were pickets. Three persons, two pickets and the other a nonstriker, were hospitalized. Most of the trouble was at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio in Culver City, and at Warner Bros. in Burbank. Two pickets arrested Thursday got into new trouble yesterday and were again put in jail.

Slugging at Columbia

"We have a regular traveling mob for the rough stuff," one who appeared to be a picket leader told newsmen at Paramount studio. "If the strike keeps up we'll hit all the studios. These boys here are just for show to keep out the timid scabs."

There was some slugging at Columbia studio as nonstrikers, all A.F.L. members, went through the picket lines of the A.F.L. strikers. None of the hit workers would file a complaint against their picket assailants as none appeared to have been badly hurt.

At the headquarters of the Association of Motion Picture Producers it was stated that not even on the first day had any studio been shut down entirely for the day and that yesterday "all pictures were being shot in into the Metro lot early in the day.

As a commercial bus was being loaded with nonstrikers near the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees office at 6472 Santa Monica Blvd. about 12 unidentified men rushed the occupants of the bus, ripped open their pockets with knives, seized their wallets and a fight was on. They flung back the wallets as they left. Four occupants particularly were beaten.

Arthur F. Mauer, 24, of 464 A Salem St., Glendale, was taken to Hollywood Receiving Hospital for treatment for abrasions. James Harrison Jr., 24, of 5640 Santa Monica Blvd., was treated on the spot for bruises. Both injured men were painters.

Picket Anthony Castiglione, 26, of 6217 Prospect St., Bell, who was arrested on the first day at M.G.M. on a malicious mischief charge was arrested again yesterday on a tampering with a motor vehicle charge.

Jumped on Truck

Police said Castiglione jumped on the running board of a truck driven into the studio by Joe F. Romano, 26, of 3743 Cardiff St., and that in the ensuing situation Romano's machine hit Picket Fred Lintz, 54, of 2433 Patricia Ave., West Los Angeles.

Lintz was taken to Santa Monica Hospital where he was being examined for hip and possible internal injuries. Romano was charged with hit and run and reckless driving.

At the M.G.M. studio three other pickets were arrested. The names and charges follow:

Clifford Nelson, 42, painter, 640 142nd St., Hawthorne, carrying a concealed and weighted sap. Clarence W. Hunt, 46, painter, 6409 W. 90th St., hit a nonstriker on the head wi picket stick and was booke disorderly conduct. G. S. Pe cord, 32, mechanic, 14782 Sutro St., Gardena, disturbing the peace.

Seized in Burbank

At Warner Bros. in Burbank the following were arrested:

Harry Ralsky, 50, electrician, 2664 Cloverdale Ave., arrested the day before for malicious mischief, was arrested again on charges of rioting, criminal contempt and breach of the peace. George C. Wright, 45, carpenter, 4431 Radford St., N. Hollywood, who assertedly clashed with a photographer in going to help Ralsky, was charged with disturbing the peace.

Don P. Ragan, 20, of 4436 Finley Ave., was taken by police after two shots were fired from a revolver over his head while he was standing atop a building across the street from the studio. He was reported to have been throwing chunks of con- e at busses taking workers o the studio. He was charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Police Lt. John McAuliffe asked Ragan what union he belongs to, and he said Ragan replied, "Oh, I don't belong to any. I just came to get in the fight."

Burbank Police Lt. Kenneth Kuypers narrowly escaped serious injury when he was hurled against a fast-moving bus. His clothes were torn from his back and he received many abrasions as the bus's rivet-studded sides scraped his back.

Donald L. Rusk, 39, carpenter, 13457 Vanowen St., Van Nuys, was arrested and charged with malicious mischief, rioting and disturbing the peace at Warners.

At Columbia studio, Fred A. Arnold was jailed on a battery charge. He was asserted to have thrown a cup of coffee into the face of a worker going through the picket line. He gave his age as 26, said he is a carpenter and lives at 7300 Hollywood Blvd.

Early in the morning several thousand pickets threw up human barriers at studio entrances, some barriers temporarily so dense that none could go through them. However, tens of thousands of nonstriking A.F.L. workers went through the picket lines although some of them were badly jostled—none badly enough to require hospitalization. Picture production and business went on, the employers declared, at the seven major studios where picketing took place.

Cars Turned Away

Lawlessness walked hand in hand with pickets at some places, police reported, and 12 pickets were jailed. Some autoists and truckers were stopped and, in instances, turned away. The hood of one passenger car was yanked open and the car's electric wiring ripped out, immobilizing the vehicle. Police charged one picket with trying to start a riot. Mostly the pickets were arrested for disturbing the peace, one being chased some distance and finally captured by a flying tackle that downed him on the concrete sidewalk.

Some of the pickets at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio in Culver City proclaimed that "We're going easy on you today—but wait until tomorrow."

Arrests at Three Studios

The arrests for violence took place at Warner Bros. in Burbank, Paramount in Los Angeles and M.G.M. in Culver City.

At both Warners and M.G.M. there were a number of one-punch clashes between A.F.L. strikers and A.F.L. nonstrikers. Once, at the Metro gate, police roughed it a little with a dense picket line to open the way for persons who wanted to

16 Jailed, Three Taken to Hospital After Wild, Window-Smashing Melee

Furious fighting broke out between A.F.L. strikers and A.F.L. nonstrikers at Culver City's Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios yesterday and pickets in the filmland dispute congregated at other motion picture plants in the second day of demonstrations.

Nearly 200 persons engaged in the melee in a narrow street near the M.G.M. plant. Police restored order only after the strikers had smashed windows of nonstrikers' automobiles going into the gates for the late shift, yanked hoods open and ripped out engine wires and radio antennae and attempted to overturn six of the 15 cars headed through the picket line.

One picket was hurled to the top of an auto and was still struggling on it when it disappeared inside the studio gate. There were bruised faces and torn clothing from the exchange of blows. The fighting was described as the fiercest of the two-day old strike.

Struck by Auto

Bill Krueger, 26, carpenter [illegible] Lyman Ave., Culver City, was knocked down by a car and was rushed to Santa Monica Hospital. The hand of Froebel Clark, 44, nonstriker, 11128 Locust St., Lynwood, was reported badly cut by flying glass.

Within half an hour Culver City police had the rioting quelled and had seven pickets in jail on disturbing the peace.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I noticed recently that your office was planning an investigation of communist activities in Hollywood, or in the movie industry.

I shall appreciate it very much if you can furnish me with a report of the results of this investigation.

I am not acquainted with the extent of service you can render such requests as this; but if possible, I would like for you to keep my letter on file, and furnish me with any other information in addition to the above mentioned, concerning the influence of the movies on youth, that may come to your office.

While I am especially interested in the place and influence of the movies in our society, I would also be glad to have any information available on the causes of juvenile delinquency, or actual case histories. I am willing to pay for whatever material you can furnish me.

Sincerely yours,

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Source A informs that some of the producers of motion pictures favor Communist elements in the industry and are instrumental in covering up their Communist activities. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization has become very active in the propaganda field and has the backing of California University at Los Angeles. It has issued their "Quarterly," which is copyrighted by the regents of the University of California. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization has also set up a series of ten "forums" which it calls "Counter-Attack," which is for the purpose of attacking TENNEY-HEARST-RANKIN. The Hollywood Independent Citizen's Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions is very quiet since the election and has issued no propaganda material. Reports indicate that it is endeavoring to consolidate with the NCPAC and laying foundation for a "third party," under proposed leadership of HENRY WALLACE and CLAUDE PEPPER. The conference of Studio Unions has been carrying on a jurisdictional strike in the motion picture industry for the past three months. More than one thousand persons have been arrested and placed under bond. Indictment against fourteen of the leaders has been returned in State Court, charging them with committing felonies. The Hollywood Fact Finding Committee has been formed with Congressman ELLIS E. PATTERSON as its directing head. The American-Russian Institute headed by RAYMOND ARTHUR DAVIS will issue the first edition of "Your World" about January 1, 1947. The Wood Congressional Committee on un-American activities held a one-day closed meeting in Los Angeles on 12/3/46, with Congressman WOOD and Attorney ERNIE ADAMSON present.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that it is becoming more and more apparent that the Communists are using permanent sympathizers in the motion picture industry to further the activities of the Communist Party and by using persons of supposedly high standing and influence hope to cover up their real Communist connections. Particularly, the following top producers have, over a period of years, not only employed known Communists and some notoriously known Communists, but they have also protected them whenever their names and reputations have been exposed to public notice:

WALTER WANGER
DAVID SELZNICK
SAMUEL GOLDWYN
CHARLES CHAPLAIN
WARNER BROTHERS

The foregoing producers, of course, exercise a tremendous influence on the trends of the motion picture industry.

In addition to this inside influence favoring the Communist elements, there are several outside organizations financed by large contributions from the Hollywood industry which cooperate in this support and protection. Those organizations are:

Southland Jewish Organization
B'Nai B'rith
International Workers Order
Jewish Labor Council
Mobilization for Democracy
Los Angeles County Democratic Central Committee
Beverly-Westwood Democratic Committee

There are also other smaller groups of the same nature and controlled by the same types of persons. The combination of the inside of the industry with the outside influences, both of like character, is most successful in protecting the work of the Communists in the film industry and the use of that industry's prestige and influence for their purposes.

The evils of this situation are becoming so apparent that comment thereon is becoming noticeable even within the industry itself by those who are opposed thereto. Evidence of this is a recent editorial, December 3, 1946, appearing in the "Hollywood Reporter," a daily publication and trade paper. Excerpts from this editorial are as follows:

> "We don't think that any one of you would accuse any of our studio heads or their direct executive assistants of being 'Commies'. Still, on the other hand, they are not only employing but actually pampering "Commies' in their studios, particularly those writers who are out-and-out party members, party-liners or fellow travellers. They are entrusting to those writers the creation of their scripts, KNOWING that those babies will do ANYTHING at ANY TIME to put over a point in their creations to further the cause of Moscow in this country or any other place where our pictures are shown---meaning the whole world..."
> "Why are our studios hiring so many 'Commies' who are known party members? We asked a prominent studio head that question today and this was his reply: 'We need writers, good writers. I don't care if the fellow is a 'Commie' or not; if he can write, if he can do the job we want, I'll hire him. If I don't, some other studio will grab him and give him an assignment'".

The statement of this unknown studio head quoted above is most questionable. The fact is, that there are many capable writers in Hollywood who are not given an opportunity because they are not a part of the Communist combine or because they have opposed Communist influence. The Screen Writers Guild is completely dominated by Communists and sympathizers and to a large extent determines who works when and where; and the motion picture producers are not only aware of this situation, but do not oppose it.

The whole situation boils down to this: The producers of motion pictures in Hollywood could clean up these conditions whenever they see fit. They just do not do so. There is no recorded instance where the Hollywood motion picture industry or any of its top influential individuals have ever denounced Communism or Communists. Basically, they are "internationalists."

Because of this, the activities of the Communists and their sympathizers who do the real work for the cause, increase day by day with added influence in all departments of the motion picture industry.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

Source A informs that this organization has again become extremely active in propaganda fields and pressure tactics.

Because of its connections with the University of California, a state institution, which connections are definite and fixed withthe State Board of Regents, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is able to penetrate and influence many other sources not possible otherwise.

Under the joint sponsorship of the University and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, the organization publishes a "Quarterly" magazine dealing with motion pictures, radio and music and so-called "culture" in general. The October issue of this publication, printed by the University Press and copyrighted by the Board of Regents of the University, is now on the news stands. The nature of the publication is, of course, determined by the persons responsible for its content. The complete list of these persons, nearly all of whom have long been identified with Communist activity, either as actual members of the Party, or ardent sympathizers, is as follows:

An asterisk has been placed before certain names in the above list. This asterisk indicates that the records in the Los Angeles Bureau Office reflects that said individuals have a Communist Party record which has heretofore been furnished to the Bureau and this particular item of information was not furnished by Informant A.

It will be noticed that the name of HANNS EISLER appears as a member of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and as one of the "advisors" on programs. This is the same HANNS EISLER mentioned by LOUIS BUDENZ and RUTH FISCHER as the brother of GERHARD EISLER (HANS BERGER) and active in the work of the Russian Secret Police in the United States for some ten years.

In addition to above activity, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization has launched a series of ten "forums" which it calls "Counter-Attack". These discussion forums purport to be for the purpose of "exposing the TENNEY-HEARST-RANKIN attack on cultural and academic freedom." The first of the series was held at the El Patio Theatre, Hollywood, on December 2, 1946. The list of speakers for the entire series are announced as:

* DALTON TRUMBO - writer

The following were the speakers at the December 2 meeting:

AVERILL BERMAN - broadcaster
JOHN B. HUGHES - commentator
MRS. FRANCES EISENBERG - school teacher in San Fernando Valley
HOWARD KOCH - writer
* RICHARD COLLINS - writer
MILLEN BRAND - writer
PETER de LIMA - commentator
MRS. BLANCHE BETTINGTON - school teacher in San Fernando Valley

Each speaker followed the present line of the Communist Party which purports to be aware of a "native fascist" movement to destroy personal liberties, control education and thought; in general all the speakers pretended to see the setting up of a fascist state in this country in short order; and only they and their kind can prevent such a catastrophe.

Mrs. EISENBERG and Mrs. BETTINGTON were discovered to be indoctrinating their pupils with the Communist Party line, they both being teachers in the Los Angeles public schools.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS (HICCASP)

This organization, since election day, November 5, last, has not shown any serious activity according to Source A. It has held no meetings nor issued any propaganda material or announcements. Information received is to the effect that the organization is undergoing an adjustment in program and general line to conform to what action the National organization adopts in the very near future.

Information is received also that the national organization ICCASP is contemplating merging with the National Citizens Political Action Committee with the ultimate object of laying the foundation for a "third party" to be composed of and controlled by the so-called "liberal" elements in the United States. It is not known as yet whether this new combination, should it be brought about, will bear a different name from either of the above named. Should this new combination emerge as a third party, it would be right in line with that of the Communist Party of the United States which is now agitating for such third party.

While no open meetings have been held, or announcements made of this proposed merger of the two organizations before mentioned, meetings have been held in private homes for discussion of the subject. The last meeting was held in the home of EDDIE CANTOR on December 3, 1946, where the matter was discussed. It was impossible to secure the names of those who attended, but the matter of a new party was discussed favorably along with the proposed leadership of HENRY WALLACE and CLAUDE PEPPER. However, the informant stated that the matter was discussed more from a racial standpoint (Jewish) than from a liberal (Communist) one.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

This block of Communist-controlled unions are still on strike in the Hollywood studios. Picket lines are being maintained, although on a smaller scale. The strike is now in its second month. For several weeks the st[illegible] resorted to extreme violence, sluggings, bombings of workers' homes, etc. As a result of this the authorities stepped in and enforced an injunction against masspicketing and arrested some eight hundred pickets who disobeyed the injunction. The majority of the pickets were not employed in the studios, but came from other sections of the vicinity and were predominantly Communist sympathizers.

As a result of the bombings, the Los Angeles County Grand Jury brought in indictments against the following leaders of the strike, all connected with the Hollywood studio unions, except one:

* HERBERT K. SORRELL, Studio Painters Local 644
CARL HEAD, Studio Painters Local 644
* MATTHEW MATTISON, Screen Story Analysts, Local 1488
* EDWARD M. GILBERT, Screen Set Designers, Local 1421
ANDREW LAWLESS, Studio Painters, Local 644
JAMES N. SKELTON, Studio Carpenters, Local 946
RUSSELL McNIGHT, Laboratory Technicians, Local 683
* NORVAL D. CRUTCHER, Laboratory Technicians, Local 683
JOHN R. MARTIN, Laboratory Technicians, Local 683
ROY TINDAL, IBEW, Local 40
LOUIS WHITMAN, Studio Painters, Local 644
RAY HIGBY, Studio Carpenters, Local 946
FRANK DRDLIK, Screen Set Designers, Local 1421
AVERILL BERMAN, Radio Commentator

To protect the strikers from this indictment, a new organization has now come into existence. It is called the HOLLYWOOD CITIZENS FACT FINDING COMMITTEE. The purpose of this Committee is to collect funds and exert pressure to defeat the indictments. The head of this new committee is ELLIS E. PATTERSON, Congressman from the 16th Congressional District, defeated for election on November 5, 1946. Mr. PATTERSON, long a follower of, and front for the Communist Party in California, has now allied himself with the Communist-controlled studio unions and other "front" groups in Hollywood.

The treasurer of this new committee is Dr. FRANKLIN BISSELL; address being 6272 Yucca Street, Hollywood, which is also the headquarters of the Screen Cartoonists Union, and a notorious Communist meeting place.

HERBERT K. SORRELL, leader of this strike and president of the Conference of Studio Unions, has announced that he will have the support of VICENTE LOMBARDO TOLEDANO, leader of the CTAL (trade unions) of Mexico. LOMBARDO has stated, according to SORRELL, that he will stop certain motion picture services in Mexico to help the strike of the CSU in Hollywood.

YOUR WORLD

Above is the title for a new magazine sponsored by the AMERICAN-RUSSIAN INSTITUTE and to be published in Canada, the first issue coming out during the coming January. The announcement of this new publication was made by RAYMOND ARTHUR DAVIES at a meeting held on November 13, 1946, at the First Unitarian Church in Los Angeles to celebrate the twenty-ninth anniversary of the Russian revolution.

The staff of the magazine will be composed of the following:

RAYMOND ARTHUR DAVIES, Editor-in-Chief

NORMAN CORWIN, Associate Editor, radio writer

LEO HUBERMAN, Associate Editor, Publicity Department of CIO, Washington, D. C.

ELLA WINTER, Associate Editor, writer

* RING LARDNER, Jr., Associate Editor, writer

CAREY McWILLIAMS, Associate Editor, professional speaker

GEORGE SELDES, Associate Editor, publisher of In Fact

All the above have long records of Communist activities. While this publication will be issued from Canada, it is evident that Hollywood will direct the material and contents.

HOUSE UN-AMERICAN COMMITTEE

This Congressional Committee has been giving some attention to Communist activities in Hollywood film industry over a period of several years. On December 3, 1946, Chairman WOOD and Chief Investigator ADAMSON held a short hearing in Los Angeles on this subject. Only three witnesses were called, and the hearings were superficial. However, the Committee announced that it would return in January and conduct extended open hearings into all phases of this type of activity in Hollywood.

The California Eagle for October 17, 1946, stated that the FONTANNA tragedy which caused wide indignation in this community about one year ago, will be reenacted on the stage at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre October 27, through 31, 1946. It stated:

The play sought to depict the effort to escape the barriers of restrictive covenant's plague spots on the social body of California and is entitled, "Trial by Fire." It further stated that the play has significance for Southern Californians who will recall the tragedy which brought death to a Los Angeles father and mother and their two children whose carefully planned "escape" ended in disaster.

The play was written by Father GEORGE H. DUNN, S.J., of the Loyola University Faculty, well known writer and lecturer against race prejudice. It stated that Father DUNN, holder of a decoration from Chicago University, is considered one of the most outspoken critics of the American race-cast system.

Father DUNN's indictment of compulsary racial segregation based on moral and political principles and an intensive study of its evil social effects was originally published in "Commonweal," and widely reprinted, and is regarded as authoritative.

It further stated that MILES LAVERY, whose "Magnificent Yankee" recently furnished a "Broadway hit run," after reading the play urged the Los Angeles Theatre Unit to give the play a local premiere.

The article further stated: "Co-sponsor with Miss LENA HORNE, (colored) LAVERY, president of the Screen Writers Guild, after a rehersal last week said: "JOSEPH F. [illegible] is giving 'Trial by Fire' a professional production . His painstaking casting, superb direction and long experinece in the theatre will produce a powerful drama with an important social message."

The Los Angeles News for October 14, 1946, stated that the police on that date arrested between one hundred fifty and two hundred persons, including ten women, on charges of contempt of court and disturbing the peace.

On November 12, 1946, Source B reported that more than seven hundred victims had been arrested and placed in jail at Lincoln Heights Station and Hollywood Station. At first the bonds of these parties were placed at $500 but were later reduced to $50. The charges were, "Violation of court order limiting picketing: Failure to disperse when ordered to do so: Plugging an entrance and disturbing the peace."

Source B further advised that at a meeting where the Communist Party Los Angeles County Central Committee staged a celebration of the twenty-ninth anniversary of the Soviet Union, approximately two thousand participants in the meeting were urged to join the demonstration at the Columbia Studio. Source B also informed that complaints were made to the police after the arrests that some of the members of the striking unions were telephoned and ordered from their union's headquarters to attend the demonstrations at the studios and some persons complained that they were being ordered on pain of losing their means of livelihood to violate a court order. Others complained that they had been threatened with a $10 fine for each day they were not on the picket lines.

Source B further advised that great numbers of studio employees who would not and did not appear on the picket lines were attacked and assaulted on the streets and other places and many were also molested at their homes, and a number of homes were bombed and windows in homes were smashed with stones and other deadly missiles. In this connection the Los Angeles City Council passed an ordinance to post a $1,000 reward in connection with this strike violence. Councilman JOHN ~~M. RODEN~~ cast the only descenting vote. A total of $30,600 in rewards already has been posted.

Source B stated that a State Grand Jury on November 23, 1946, returned an indictment against fourteen film strike principals and each of them was released on a $7,500 bond. The parties indicted have been listed above in this report. The pictures of the fourteen indicted persons appeared in the Daily Press. The pictures have been retained in the Los Angeles Bureau Office file.

DETAILS: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A has informed that during the last ninety days a very noticeable change has taken place in the tactical line and methods of all operations of the Communist Party and the Communists in the United States. Apparently because of the waive of exposures of individual Communist and party line followers in governmental and other circles and the broad campaign of attack on Communism and the work of Communists in the press and other means of public information, and anticipating and recognizing the results, the Communist Party is changing its methods of operation and tactics to meet these conditions. Some of former outspoken leaders of the Communists and Communist sympathizers have been drawn back to less important positions and have less to say openly in Communist affairs, while those who have not been so active or so well known are being forced to the front to carry on the programs, not as Communists, but camouflaged as "liberals" and "progressives".

These Communists and trusted sympathizers are even "boring within" the Anti-Communist Movement with the object in view of taking over that movement and directing it to the less harmful channels. The result is that Communists are attacking themselves but not sufficiently vigorously to be basically harmful to themselves or their movements. Source has advised that this tactics which permit Communists to attack themselves to a limited extent, are laid down in the Leninist School of "Strategy and Tactics".

Source states that as this new line is adopted the Communists in the Hollywood Motion Picture Industry are entrenching more and more into the Industry in high positions. Instant Communists and sympathizers are being elevated to positions wherethey can wield influence on content of pictures and employment of individuals. These parties are put into these positions with the knowledge of their previous activities and they are put into these positions by the top producers themselves.

DORE SCHARY

DORE SCHARY has been elevated to the vice-presidency of RKO pictures and put in charge of all production of pictures under a five-year contract.

This company, Radio-Keith-Orpheum (RKO), is one of the major companies in the motion picture industry in Hollywood. The appointment of Mr. SCHARY was made by DAVID SELZNICK, the head of the company.

Mr. SCHARY, as director of all production, would determine the type of picture produced, the personnel employed in the cultural preparation and direction of the picture; in fact, his power would determine the entire trend of the production of that major producing company.

Mr. SCHARY has a long record of activity as a strong Communist sympathizer. Some of his activities are as follows:

Former member of the League of American Writers.

Teacher in the Hollywood Writers School conducted by the League of American Writers. This League of American Writers was affiliated with the International Union of Revolutionary Writers, headquarters, Moscow, Russia. This school is now known as the Peoples Educational Center and is still under Communist control.

Was a member of, and extremely active in, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization.

Member of the "advisory committee" of the Fifth Writers Congress.

Member Executive Council of the Hollywood Democratic Committee.

Member Executive Council of Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions (HICCASP). Was also vice-Chairman of the organization.

Member of Russian-American Club of Hollywood.

Supported the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions, an organization set up to defend Communists in the motion picture industry.

Mr. SCHARY in all respects has been a follower of the Communist Party line for many years.

"FREEDOM ROAD" FILMS

This is a new organization incorporated in the State of New York for the production of independent pictures in Hollywood. The first picture to be made is stated to be FREEDOM ROAD. This picture will be adapted from a book of the same name written by HOWARD FAST who has a long record of Communist activity. He is an associate editor of NEW MASSES, special writer for the "Daily Worker" and "Peoples Daily World", and many other Communist publications. He is fanatically devoted to the Communist cause.

The picture Freedom Road will undoubtedly carry the Communist Party line. Others composing this group, incorporators of the company, are:

PAUL ROBESON, Actor
*LEO HURWITZ
*WALDO SALT, Writer
JOE GOULD

PAUL ROBESON is to be the star of the picture.

The finances for the venture have been raised by Mrs. LEO SPITZ, wife of LEO SPITZ, one of the major producers of Hollywood. Mrs. SPITZ supports Communist-front groups.

"KANIN PRODUCTIONS"

Source A has informed that the foregoing is the name of a newly-formed organization to produce motion pictures in the independent field. No announcement of program has been made but the following persons with Communist records compose the organization:

GARSON KANIN
RUTH GORDON (Wife of GARSON KANIN)
*DONALD OGDEN STEWART - Writer
MICHAEL KANIN - Writer

Arrangements have been made to release any production through Universal-International Pictures affiliated with the J. ARTHUR RANK interests outside the United States.

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS

Source A informed that this Hollywood chapter of the national organization of the same name is now preparing to go out of existence under that name and emerge as the Hollywood Branch of a new organization formed in New York on December 28 and 29, 1946, called PROGRESSIVE CITIZENS OF AMERICA. This latter organization was formed by a merger of the ICCASP and the National Citizens Political Action Committee. (NCPAC).

The convention to bring forth this new organization was held in New York on the afore-mentioned dates. The delegates who represented the Hollywood ICCASP were the following:

E. Y. HARBURG - Song writer
*GEORGE PEPPER - Muscian
LARRY ADLER - Muscian
*ANNE REVERE - Actress
ALINE MCMAHON

The delegates representing the NCPAC from Southern California were:

BERT WITT
SIMON LAZARUS
HOWARD DA SILVA - Screen actor

The Hollywood branch of the new organization is now being set up, and up to this date it has not been completed. Who the officers are and what the general program will be has not yet been determined.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

The principal activity of this Communist-controlled organization according to Source A has been the conducting of a series of "forums" called "Counter Attack" held at the El Patio Theater in Hollywood. These so-called forums are merely a sounding board for the presentation of the Communist Party line. Those taking part in the last forum called "Who Owns the Air" were:

ARCH OBOLER, radio writer and producer
*SAM MOORE, President Radio Writers Guild
WILLIAM N. ROBSON, Radio Producer
EMIL GORWIN, Sec. California Committee for Radio Freedom

In addition to this activity the Hollywood Writers Mobilization has been lending support for the application of the Hollywood Community Radio for a wave length and a new radio station located at Gardena, California.

HOLLYWOOD COMMUNITY RADIO

Source A informed that a group of Communists and sympathizers, using the above title have been trying to secure a radio license to operate a station in Gardena, a suburb of Los Angeles, California. Hearings before the FCC were held on this application on December 18th, and several days thereafter.

Opposition to the granting of the license was made by Senator JACK B. TENNEY of the California Anti-Subversive Committee who entered an objection in person, stating that it was a Communist venture and listed the names of those of whom he had extensive records of Communist activities. Specifically mentioned in this respect were:

*CHARLES KATZ - Lawyer
ROBERT W. KENNY - State Attorney General
ALLAN WILDER - Radio commentator
CALVIN KUHL - Radio
*PAULINE LAUBER - Secretary
*JOHN CLINC TLRMAN - Attorney
*LEO GALLAGHER, and others. - Attorney

There is no doubt whatever that should this license be granted by the FCC this will be a Communist-controlled radio station. However, no decision has been rendered up to this date.

PEOPLES EDUCATIONAL CENTER

This Communist-controlled school for the indoctrination of young persons in the motion picture industry and those aspiring to get into the industry has just announced its mid-winter courses.

The names of the officers and instructors and the courses announced are the usual Communist personnel and propaganda efforts. All courses follow the Communist Party line. The school is very successful and is one of the potent factors in propagating Communism and developing individual Communists in Hollywood.

The director of the school is *SIDNEY DAVISON, a known Communist of long standing.

AMERICAN AUTHORS AUTHORITY

Source A has informed that the American Authors Authority is a proposed agency to be set up by the Authors League of America and all of its affiliated branches, the Authors Guild, the Dramatists Guild, the Radio Writers Guild, and the Screen Writers Guild. The purpose of the AAA as stated by its originators is "to protect the economic interests of all writers and authors of all kinds, by making the AAA in effect a 'holding agency' of all the written material produced by all writers in the United States."

The AAA had its inception in the Screen Writers Guild of Hollywood, California. Source A informs that it is completely dominated by the Communists who hold or control the offices in this guild. It has followed the Communist Party line since its formation in 1936 and is still under the leadership of *JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, a well known Communist Party Functionary.

Source has further stated that a group of writers calling themselves The American Writers Association has formed an organization to fight the AAA. Thus far the promoters of AAA have not been able to put over their program and it is pending before the Executive Council of the Authors League of America and action has been postponed until after the first of the year 1947.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

This block of Communist-controlled unions under the leadership of HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist, is still on strike. Picket lines are still in front of the studio gates. However, this strike is now more or less ineffective. Studios have used replacements put in by the IATSE and seem to be making pictures as usual. This CSU is now attempting to get the support of the Unions in England in order to stop production there of any pictures in which American capital is interested. So far, there is little success attached to this effort.

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

"Variety", trade paper of the Motion Picture Industry for December 17, 1946 under the heading "208 Pickets Go On Trial in Largest Mass Hearing" stated in part that, "Mass trial of 208 studio pickets was begun at Patriotic Hall as the first of four group sessions slated to hear charges against more than 1300 men and women arrested for assertedly violating court injunctions against studio picketing. The trial isthe largest ever held here and both sides expect it will stretch out over several months. Municipal Judge ELLSWORTH MEYER is presiding at this trial."

The charges are: (1) Failure to heed a court order against mass picketing. (2) Disturbing the Peace. (3) Blocking entrances. (4) Failing to disperse.

The defense attorney is JOHN T. MC TERNAN, of the KATZ, GALLAGHER, & MARGOLIS law firm.

The Conference of Studio Unions, 4157 West Fifth Street, Los Angeles, issued an undated circular but the date of its issue was December 1, 1946. It bore the heading "GANGSTERS ARE COMING!". It stated that, "Gangster rule is coming back to Los Angeles. The pay-offboys, slot machine kings, brothel keepers and underworld characters kicked out oftown when the people recalled Mayor FRANK L. SHAW, are already muscling in on the District Attorney's Office in one of the sleaziest deals ever secretly foisted on an unsuspecting public."

It stated that District Attorney HOWSER resigned effective November 26,1946 and, "on that same day, the Board of Supervisors will suddenly appoint HOWSER's Chief Deputy, WILLIAM SIMPSON, the new District Attorney of Los Angeles County."

It stated that the motion picture producers are, "Already giving SIMPSON his orders. One of his first jobs as District Attorney will be to try to convict motion picture industry labor leaders on trumped up conspiracy charges. Last year, HOWSER refused the producers' request to seek indictments against these same labor leaders. But HOWSER hadn't then won his election as Attorney General. Now he is in and apparently feels he can afford to play ball with the producers and GANS and his ilk."

After relating many other alleged "frame-ups" it stated: "This nefarious plot to betray Los Angeles must be stopped now. Don't let this deal go through. Stop it now."

As stated elsewhere in this report District Attorney SIMPSON is proceeding with these prosecutions. It should be noted also that more than 1200 arrests were made, and hundreds of prosecutions are now in progress in the municipal courts, before the indictments were returned against fourteen of the leaders of the pickets.

The Los Angeles "Examiner" for November 25, 1946 under the heading "ACTORS ASKING REDS OUSTER", under a New York by-line, stated in part that more than 2500 of America's leading actors of stage, screen and radio have signed petitions demanding that the Actors Equity Association clear out the Communists.

"During the past months hundreds of petitions have been circulated on Broadway and in Hollywood by members of the AFL Union, which has been accused of being dominated by followers of the Communist Party line.

"These petitions which demand that all Red Fascists be removed from the council, Equity's governing body, have in many cases been signed by the entire casts of several bit shows on Broadway.

"The present Communist wing of the Equity is visibly concerned with this petition campaign, it is known, and are retaliating with threats against those who are circulating the anti-Communist statement."

The Los Angeles Times on December 8, 1946 under the heading "UNIONISTS SEEK HELP OF COURT IN STUDIO STRIKE" stated in part that OSCAR SHATTE has instituted a move which is expected to set a new pattern in the handling of union jurisdictional disputes, for five members of the Studio Carpenters Union yesterday asked the federal court here to rule on the controversy which has resulted in months of picketing and violence at major studios.

It stated: "The group filed a complaint for declaratory relief through attorneys ZACK LAMAR COBB and BATES BOOTH, who said it was the first of its kind ever filed and was a "pioneer action to settle these jurisdictional disputes in an orderly manner."

(*) Wherever an asterisk has been placed before a name in this report it indicates information has heretofore been furnished to the Bureau substantiating the fact that said parties are known to be members of the Communist Party.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS: The Communists are adjusting their activities to conform to the recent changes in Party tactics which is a new "progressive" and "liberal" approach through influencial people with the objective in view of forming a third political party. The "Progressive Citizens of America" is now in the process of becoming the successor to the Hollywood Democratic Committee and the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, with practically the same Communist elements taking the lead. Statewide legislative conference is to be held February 15, 16, 1947. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization is still holding its bi-monthly "counterattack" meetings at the El Patio Theater under the tutelage of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and ROBERT W. KENNY. The Conference of Studio Unions is still carrying on the strike, and the trials of the strikers are now in progress. VICENTE LOMBARDO TOLEDANO of Mexico is attending a meeting of the I.L.O. in Los Angeles and announced that he was going to call a one day sympathetic strike in Mexico and South America in behalf of the Hollywood strikers. A "strikers benefit" program was presented at the Philharmonic Auditorium resulting in the collection of approximately $6,000.00 for that purpose. Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINDLAY dated at Los Angeles January 13, 1947.

DETAILS:

At Los Angeles, California

Source "A" has informed that the Communist activity in the Hollywood film industry is being adjusted to the recent changes in the Party tactics which, at the present time, is to play the "progressive" and "liberal" line almost exclusively where individuals of prominence are concerned, who might be subject to adverse public opinion or censure and thus jeopardize their careers and influence in the film industry.

The activities of such so-called "progressives" are confined very largely to racial relations and the formation of pressure groups for political purposes looking toward the formation of a third party, to take the lead in nominating persons for all offices, such as school board members, city councilmen, city commissioners, county commissioners and all county, state and Federal officers. During the past several years the Communist Party, or Communists personally or front organizations controlled by the Communists, have practically dictated the candidates for these offices who ran on the Democratic ticket. This line-up resulted so disastrously to the candidates on the Democratic ticket last fall that it has been determined that a "new front" locally with new personages must be formulated if they are to expect any degree of success. The Hollywood Communists and their sympathizers are taking the lead in all this work, using their prestige and influence to dictate the future program.

Progressive Citizens of America

Source "A" informs that the above is the new name for the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions (HICCASP). While this new name is now being used the formal change has not yet come about. On February 11, 1947, the HICCASP will hold a meeting

Hollywood Writers Mobilization

Source "A" states that this Communist-controlled group of writers and sympathizers in Hollywood continues its bi-monthly meetings at the El Patio Theater in Hollywood. The meetings are billed as a "Counter-Attack Against the Plot to Control America's Thinking".

A meeting was held on January 13, 1947. The speakers were:

* JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, writer;
ROBERT W. KENNY, Ex-Attorney General of California and Honorary Chairman of the Mobilization for Democracy; and
* IRVING PICHEL, director and actor.

All speakers carried out the line of the Communist Party on the Congressional and California State investigating Committees for subversive activities, the RANKIN and TENNEY Committees, as they called them. JOHN HOWARD LAWSON led this "counter-attack". ROBERY W. KENNY followed along the same line and IRVING PICHEL advocated the production of a different type of motion picture, those that would "inform and instruct", meaning propaganda favorable to the Communist Party.

On January 28, 1947, another meeting was held of the same kind. This one dealt with the censoring of books and literature in general. There was the same type of delivery and speakers were:

GORDON KAHN, writer;
* THEODORE STRAUSS, writer;
* BETTY McCANDLESS, President of Los Angeles Youth Council and Y.W.C.A and A.Y.D.; and HARRY HOIJER, Professor of Anthropology, U.C.L.A.

The content of the meeting was the usual condemnation of all the Communist Party opposes. As the subject was "book burning", etc., all capitalist publications were condemned, and one speaker said that the truth could only be found in such publications as the Daily Worker, the Peoples World and like papers.

Hollywood Community Radio

Source "A" has informed that the Federal Communications Commission has not yet rendered a decision on the application of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization group for a radio license. A hearing was held in October on the application.

Conference of Studio Unions

This Communist-controlled block of studio unions, according to Source "A", is under the leadership of * HERBERT K. SORRELL, a known Communist, is still on strike. Picket lines are still before the studio gates. All attempts to settle the strike have so far failed.

The Conference of Studio Unions, although An A.F. of L. block, has the sympathies of the CIO and all groups where Communist influence is felt. The World Federation of Trade Unions has been appealed to by * HERBERT K. SORRELL. The unions in France and England have responded and some have refused to handle film in those countries. The same applies to South America and Mexico where Communists are strongly entrenched. VICENTE LOMBARDO TOLEDANO, head of the left-wing unions in Mexico and a vice president of the World Federation of Trade Unions who is now in Los Angeles attending the International Labor Organization convention of world-wide oil interests, spoke at a meeting of the C.S.U. on Sunday evening, February 2, 1947, and promised that he would shut down every motion picture theater in Mexico for one day in sympathy with the strike of these Hollywood Unions.

VICENTE LOMBARDO TOLEDANO

The Hollywood Reporter for February 3, 1947, under the heading "Mexican Theater Strike to Aid CSU" stated in part that VICENTE LOMBARDO TOLEDANO, Mexican labor leader, on Sunday night February 2, 1947, told a C.S.U. mass meeting that he was wiring the Mexican union, the equivalent of the I.A.T.S.E. in the United States, to call a one day strike of all Mexican theaters on the first convenient Sunday, as a means of telling the Mexican public of the Hollywood strike.

It stated that TOLEDANO is in Los Angeles attending a meeting of the International Labor Organization and he was quoted as saying that he was

CONFIDENTIAL

"wiring my office in Mexico City to write to all Latin American theater unions requesting them to take similar action". He said if the strike were not settled by May, when the World Trade Federation of which he is a Vice President, meets in Prague, he would try to have a world wide one day theater "close-down" called. It further stated that a majority of the Screen Actors Guild has gone on record as supporting the Screen Actors Guild's policy and activities of the Board of Directors in the current Hollywood film strike.

It also stated that the Screen Actors Guild leadership was blamed for a lack of moral courage to support the strike in a talk last nite by Father GEORGE DUNNE. He called on the Screen Actors Guild to adopt a policy of refusing to cross picket lines and thus speed the end of the long studio strike.

The Labor Herald for February 6, 1947, stated that the American Labor Delegation from the American Federation of Labor objected to any consideration of the Hollywood strike on the gounds that it is a strictly jurisdictional strike and it then was emphasized that TOLEDANO's presentation was un-official.

Regarding the Hollywood situation, TOLEDANO said that he had received a telegram from Hollywood strikers while he still was in Mexico. The strikers asked that Mexican workers refuse to finish work on any films produced in the United States which might be sent to Mexico for completion. His reply was that Mexican trade unions "of course" would not finish any such films sent to Mexico.

It stated that HERBERT WOODS, a United States worker and a A. F. of L. delegate who was presiding, cut short the exchange of positions with a reminder that "Mr. TOLEDANO's declarations had been entirely unofficial" and required no formal action from the group of delegates.

This is the second strike in two years by this group for control of the studio workers. These is no question of wages or hours involved. The present strike is now in its fifth month.

A benefit to raise money for the strikers was held at the Philharmonic Auditorium on February 6, 1947. All those entertainers appearing or sponsoring same have records of Communist activity and sympathy. The prominent ones ~~are:~~ were

The program was the usual songs, dances, dialogue, jokes and skits of various sorts. Interspersed, there were several strike scenes where the police were shown "beating up strikers". Usually only one or two strikers were shown as if peacefully picketing, carrying banners or boards on which some slogans were inscribed.

The police, usually several in number, would arrive on the scene and charged the pickets with "conspiracy" to do something and proceed to "beat up" the pickets. At no time did the pickets resist but meekly submitted to the "pretended beatings".

* EDWARD CHEYFITZ

Source "A" has informed that EDWARD CHEYFITZ is now disclosed as occupying the position of aid to ERIC JOHNSTON. Mr. CHEYFITZ was formerly a leader of the CIO. In 1941, during the period of the STALIN-HITLER pact, when the Communist Party of the United States was calling strikes in the major defense plants through its control of certain CIO unions, Mr. CHEYFITZ was the leader of a strike in Cleveland, Ohio, in one of the key plants of the Aluminum Company of America. Mr. CHEYFITZ also came to Los Angeles to support the strike in the Vultee and Harvil strikes at about the same time. He was a follower of the Communist line and there is no evidence that he has departed from that position since. It is understood that he plays an important behind-the-scenes role in the motion picture labor affairs.

Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals

Source "B" has informed that this anti-Communist organization which has been quiet for some year or so has now come to life with a program to oppose Communist activities in the Hollywood motion picture industry. It has arranged for a series of lectures by certain nationally-known "social democrats". The first of the series will take place on the evening of February 11, 1947, at the Ebell Club in Los Angeles when EUGENE LYONS, author of the Red Decade will speak.

Source "C" has informed that * JOHN WILLIAMSON, Trade Union Director of the Communist Party - USA was in Los Angeles on January 30, 1947, and made a visit to the Communist Party headquarters where he talked with * NED SPARKES, * DOROTHY HEALEY, *PETTIS PERRY and * BEN DOBBS and after talking for sometime about the situation in U.A.W., steel, rubber, electrical and some other industrial matters made the following statement: [C] (4)

"In this moment, other things that you almost have to keep on your agenda daily as far as trade union work is concerned are three things: [C] (4)

2. Win the CIO elections;
3. The Hollywood strike. [C] (4)

"You should have these on the agenda once or twice a week. That is how we do it nationally. If we have something like that they are on the agenda. ## Communists Stronger In Film Industry Than In Any Other, Says Eugene Lyons Warning that the picture industry is more deeply infiltrated by Communist influences than any other branch of American life, Eugene Lyons, editor, author and United Press correspondent in Russia for six years, last night at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre made an earnest plea for the ousting of the "Reds and their stooges" from Hollywood. The address was the first in a series sponsored by the Motion Picture Alliance, and the audience was large and enthusiastic, many well-known film figures being present. These "stooges," as he called them, are the "tools of a gigantic conspiracy aimed at perverting the American mind," Lyons said. In the course of his talk, Lyons mentioned, without giving the titles, a Warner picture and a Goldwyn picture which, he thought, had been used "as the medium for Soviet propaganda."

For the first 15 minutes of his talk Lyons, who was introduced by Judge Peirson M. Hall, followed a script and was piped out over KMPC. He then spoke off the cuff. Preceding him, Adolphe Menjou opened the evening and Roy M. Brewer, international representative of the IATSE, spoke.

Lyons opened for a laugh: "It's not true what they say about Hollywood. I did NOT need a Soviet visa to cross your borders." He jibed at $2000-a-week proletarians, the swimming pool peasantry, the caviar-and-champagne Communists," but quickly got down to soberer staff.

"The movie industry is more deeply infiltrated by Communists and their stooges than any other sector of American life," the former UP correspondent to Russia charged. He said: "In the ideological sense Soviet leaders are already making war on the United States."

"The most vital objective in that war is the American mind. That is why the Communists are so energetic in mobilizing followers among writers and artists and intellectuals. It is through teachers and preachers, through screen and stage, through books and schools that they seek to undermine the American people's faith in democracy. In that assault on the American mind, Hollywood is a key fortress."

Lyons took a gentle poke at those locals who "mix Marx with martinis, gin rummy with dialectic materialism, social consciousness with social climbing," and said the lot of their fellow artists in the USSR was a far sterner one. There, only conformity pays. The independent spirit is quickly clapped in a concentration camp.

"Those who survive are not the most talented but the most servile," he said. American intellectuals who blindly back the Soviet cause "would be among the first to be liquidated if their dream of a Sovietized America came true," he predicted.

Lyons closed with the hint that Hollywood clean house.

"Americans have a perfect right to be Socialists or Anarchists or Communists," he said. "But I submit that they have no right to serve as agents of a foreign regime. In simple self-protection the American people have no alternative but to expose these agents."

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The general trend of the tactical line of the Communist Party is that all Communist Party functionaries and publicly known Communist Party members come forth publicly as the representatives of Communism and that all sympathizers, fellow travellers and followers of the Communist Party line penetrate all so-called "liberal" organizations to help create race and class divisions. The Conference of Studio Unions' strike continues and picketing of the Motion Picture studios is still in progress. Some parties are alleged to have beaten HERBERT K. SORRELL, the Communist leader of the C.S.U. and dumped him on the desert 150 miles away. Many people think this incident another one of SORRELL's "fake." A mass meeting was promoted by SORRELL and his friends demanding that the "kidnappers" of SORRELL be apprehended and punished. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions and the N.C.P.A.C. dissolved on February 11, 1947, and at same meeting leaders of these two organizations formed the Progressive Citizens of America. Certain persons calling themselves the "Civil Rights Congress" protested the "shameful prosecution of GEARHART EISLER." LION FEUCHWANGER has written a book, "THE AMERICAN ENVOY," dealing with the life of BENJAMIN FRANKLIN. A picture of JOHN LEROY CARLSON's book, "THE PLOTTERS" is to be filmed. The American Russian Institute has opened an office at 6607 Hollywood Boulevard. MELVYN DOUGLAS is raising money for the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization has issued another Hollywood Quarterly. The Brandom Films are being produced and exhibited under the direction of PARE LORENTZ.

DETAILS:

AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA.

The general trend in the tactical line of the Communist Party in the United States, which began in July, 1945, when the Communist Political Association was dissolved and the Communist Party, U.S.A. was re-established continues, and according to Source "X", this tactical line directs that all Communist Party functionaries and publicly known Communist Party members come forth publicly as the representatives of Communism in this country and all Communist sympathizers, fellow travellers, and followers of the Communist Party line concentrate their activities in so-called "liberal" organizations, camouflaged as "progressives." This source further states that they are permitted to slightly denounce Communism and pretend at the same time to stand for a progressive United States seeking to cooperate with the Soviet Union. In short, their position is to a slight extent anti-Communist, but always pro-Russia.

They are instructed to work within all organizations to help create race and class divisions by sponsoring the so-called "minority groups," to make demands which practically amount to special privilege; to work within labor unions to bring about strikes and unreasonable wage demands; to support candidates for public office who favor the Communist program. In fact, to do everything possible to bring about confusion and cross purposes in all walks of life.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS (STRIKE SITUATION)

Source "X" informs that the second Communist-dominated strike in two years is now in its seventh month. Picket lines are still before the studio gates and there are no signs of an end to this spurious dispute. There are no questions of wages or conditions involved. It is merely a question of control of the Hollywood studio unions. Violence has marked the strike from the beginning. Non-striking workers have been beaten up, their homes have been bombed and their families intimidated. The entire strength of the Communist Party and sympathizers in Southern California is behind this strike because of its importance.

It has been reported that on the morning of March 3, 1947, HERBERT K. SORRELL, alleged Communist leader of the studio strike was found 150 miles from Los Angeles in the desert where, supposedly he had been thrown from a car. He was found to have been beaten and scratched; he stated that the night before he had been kidnapped by three men near his home in Glendale, California; that they had threatened to kill him. He had been trussed up and thrown into the car, then taken out into the desert and left there. He said threats to kill him had been made.

This story made headlines all over the country. But, according to a statement made by BEN MARTINEZ, Business Representative of Studio Plasterers Local 755 who had attended a cocktail party given by the Studio Managers on the evening of March 6, 1947, this story is false. MARTINEZ stated that some of SORRELL's own union members who wanted to go to work had, on Sunday morning, March 2, 1947, got into an argument with SORRELL and beat him up pretty badly; that the whole story of the kidnapping was a fake, manufactured by SORRELL.

Despite this, the strikers in the studios, aided by all the forces of the Communist Party in Los Angeles County, are to stage a mass meeting to protest against this "attack on labor" by the Motion Picture Producers and the "gangster-ridden IATSE unions." The mass meeting is to be held at the Olympic Auditorium in Los Angeles on Sunday evening, March 9, 1947.

Those billed to speak are the following:

|---|---|
| * PHILLIP M. CONNELLY, | Secretary-Treasurer of L.A.I.U.C. |
| * ELLIS E. PATTERSON, | Ex-Congressman |
| WALTER J. TURNER, | A.F. of L. Pressmen's Union (Candidate for School Board) |
| JOE DE SILVA, | A.F. of L. Retail Clerks, Business Agent. |
| REV. FATHER GEORGE DUNNE, | Loyola University |
| REV. J. L. CASTIN, | Negro Candidate for City Council |
| MARY McCALL, Jr. | Writer |
| * DALTON TRUMBO | Screenwriter |

An asterisk has been placed before the names of certain parties in this report; wherever this appears, it indicates that said parties are known to be Communist Party members by reliable records now on file in the Los Angeles Field Division.

The Conference of Studio Unions issued a circular on or about February 10, 1947 entitled "Anti-Labor Injunctions" in which was stated the following in substance:

"Anti-Labor injunctions are being issued at the request of employers in many parts of the United States, to prohibit picketing, encourage scabbing, break strikes and destroy unions.

"Local injunctions have been ruled out in Federal Court and in 26 states, but not in California."

He further stated that in the current Hollywood dispute, the motion picture employers have obtained court orders and injunctions without any court hearing, often with violence and with mass arrests of more than 1,000 peaceful pickets.

It stated that these injunctions aid the employers in their purpose which is to smash those unions now picketing the film studios for the following advantages:

"1. Workable arbitration machinery to settle all disputes concerning the allocation of work.

"2. Signed contracts covering wages, hours and working condition.

"3. Return to their job without discrimination of all workers on or respecting the picket lines."

VARIETY for March 10, 1947 under the heading "Six Thousand Hear SORRELL at C.S.U. Rally," stated that approximately 6,000 persons turned out last night at the Olympic Auditorium to hear HERBERT K. SORRELL recount the story of his recent kidnapping and beating.

It stated that those attending the mass meeting voted to send telegrams to Senator ROBERT A. TAFT and Representative FRED A. HARTLEY, Chairmen of the U.S. Senate and House Labor Committees, protesting proposed legislation outlawing the closed shop and collective bargaining and what were called "restrictive amendments" to the Wagoner Act. Other telegrams were sent to Mayor BOWRON, the District Attorney, and the City Attorney of Los Angeles, demanding dismissal of the mass trials, apprehension of SORRELL's assailants, and an end to the violence which has characterized the strike.

In addition to SORRELL, the following persons addressed the meeting:

|---|---|
| ELLIS E. PATTERSON | Former Congressman |
| WALTER J. TURNER | |
| REV. JONATHAN CASTAN | |
| PHILLIP M. CONNELLY | |
| FATHER GEORGE DUNNE | |
| AVERILL BERMAN | |
| DALTON TRUMBO | |

HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS (HICCASP)

Source "X" reveals that this organization officially went out of existence on February 11, 1947, and in its place and from its membership there was formed a new organization, the PROGRESSIVE CITIZENS OF CALIFORNIA, a branch of a national organization called PROGRESSIVE CITIZENS OF AMERICA.

The dissolution of the HICCASP and at the same time the NATIONAL CITIZENS POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE (NCPAC) took place at a meeting called by both of the above groups and held at the Embassy Auditorium, Los Angeles, California on the above date. Both these groups, HICCASP and Southern California NCPAC, were branches of national organizations.

The speakers at the meeting were:

| JO DAVIDSON | National Co-Chairman of the PAC, New York City |
| ROBERT W. KENNY | Former Attorney-General of California |
| DR. LINUS PAULING, | California Institute of Technology, Pasadena |

ROBERT W. KENNY was elected Chairman of the new organization, and SENIAL OSTROW, a Los Angeles business man, was elected Treasurer. This new organization on February 27, 1947, sent telegrams, signed by ROBERT W. KENNY, Chairman, to Senator SHERIDAN DOWNEY and Senator WILLIAM F. KNOWLAND urging Senate confirmation of DAVID LILIENTHAL as Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and denouncing the hearings on his fitness as a "most hysterical inquisition."

All the above have reputedly followed the political line of the Communist Party, but none is known to be a Communist Party member.

On Saturday, March 15, 1947, the PAC will hold a meeting at the Hollywood Masonic Temple. The featured speaker will be:

|---|---|
| DR. HARLOW SHAPLEY | Scientist from Harvard University, |

whom they bill as "a distinguished scientist and citizen." Dr. SHAPLEY has a long record of cooperation with the Communist Party program in the United States.

On March 3, 1947, this organization established three additional units in the San Fernando Valley section. A meeting was held at the North Hollywood High School on this date. The principal speaker for the PAC was

A slate of 130 persons, 26 of whom have known Communist Party membership records in the Los Angeles Bureau Office, have been placed in nomination by a committee to be elected as the Executive Board unless some of them decline the nomination. If the election has taken place, the results have not been announced. When the result of the balloting has been declared, the complete list will be reported.

Source "X" reports that DOUGLAS is now acting as the Hollywood representative, for money-raising purposes, of the SOUTHERN CONFERENCE FOR HUMAN WELFARE, offices 808 Perdido Street, New Orleans, Louisiana. He is mailing out, under his own signature, letters soliciting funds for the organization. This S.C.H.W. is known to be a Communist controlled group and this fact was so stated by EARL BROWDER at a previous hearing on subversive activities in Washington, D.C.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

This organization has now gotten out another issue of the Hollywood Quarterly, jointly sponsored by the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and the University of California. There have been some changes in the Editorial staff. The staff at present is listed as follows:

HANS EISLER recently made a public statement in which he said: "I admire GERHARDT EISLER, my brother, a great fighter against Fascism and reaction." This statement appeared in the Los Angeles TIMES dated February 7, 1947.

BRANDOM FILMS

Source "X" informs that the BRANDOM FILMS is a picture producing company with headquarters in New York City. This organization has been producing motion pictures for exhibition privately before labor unions, fraternal organizations and such. All such pictures are favorable to the Communist Party line.

In Daily VARIETY, the Hollywood trade paper of the motion picture industry of February 5, 1947, the following appears:

> "War Department civil affairs division has purchased color cartoon "BROTHERHOOD OF MAN" for re-orientation purposes in enemy country. PARE LORENTZ, film chief for this branch of the Army, kudoed the United Automobile Workers for sponsoring this picture, which was produced and distributed by BRANDOM FILMS."

VARIETY trade paper in the motion picture industry for August 19, 1946 stated that the War Department has given PARE LORENTZ, recently appointed Chief of the Film and Theaters Division of the Re-orientation Branch of the War Department Civil Affairs Division, a budget for the first 120 reels to begin his project, and has also allocated 2,000 projectors for distribution in Japan and Germany. The prospectus will be used in established school room programs and re-opening theaters in remote areas.

The two hundred million people in Japan, Korea, Austria and Germany will not be allowed to see any film that is not approved by the LORENTZ unit, and producers in occupied countries will not be allowed to make films until they have been certified and have an Army approved script.

The Film and Theaters Division which has been growing since V-J Day is presently making newsreel and educational subjects in confiscated studios in Vienna, Salzburg, Munich and Tokyo. They are soliciting local financing in addition to utilizing local talent and labor. LORENTZ will re-organize much of this operation under new departments.

LORENTZ received authorization to select a nucleus of 34 technicians who will begin expansion of the entire operation. The first production unit of 100 people will include film editors, cameramen, sound men, art directors and other technicians. Veterans will be given preference on all jobs open.

Five divisions have been made within the Film and Theater organizations, including a news reel unit, story unit, theater unit, European unit and Pacific unit.

The general trend of the tactical line of the Communist Party is that all Communist Party functionaries and publicly known Communist Party members come forth publicly as the representatives of Communism and that all sympathizers, fellow travellers and followers of the Communist Party line penetrate all so-called "liberal" organizations to help create race and class divisions. The Conference of Studio Unions' strike continues and picketing of the Motion Picture studios is still in progress. Some parties are alleged to have beaten HERBERT K. SORRELL, the Communist leader of the C.S.U. and dumped him on the desert 150 miles away. Many people think this incident another one of SORRELL's "fake." A mass meeting was promoted by SORRELL and his friends demanding that the "kidnappers" of SORRELL be apprehended and punished. The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions and the N.C.P.A.C. dissolved on February 11, 1947, and at same meeting leaders of these two organizations formed the Progressive Citizens of America. Certain persons calling themselves the "Civil Rights Congress" protested the "shameful prosecution of GERHART EISLER." LION FUECHWANGER has written a book, "THE AMERICAN ENVOY," dealing with the life of BENJAMIN FRANKLIN. A picture of JOHN LEROY CARLSON's book, "THE PLOTTERS" is to be filmed. The American Russian Institute has opened an office at 6607 Hollywood Boulevard. MELVYN DOUGLAS is raising money for the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization has issued another Hollywood Quarterly. The Brandon Films are being produced and exhibited under the direction of PARE LORENTZ.

TITLE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

CHARACTER OF CASE: INTERNAL SECURITY - C

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The activities of the Communists and their sympathizers appear to be prevalent as at anytime in the past regardless of the nationwide attacks and exposures. ERIC JOHNSTON has asserted that Hollywood has defeated the "Reds" and that there is nothing serious about the Communist activities in the film industry. Communists and Communist Party line followers have been given high positions in the industry. DORE SCHARY, a faithful follower of the "Line," for many years, has been made director of production at R-K-O Studios. Also, several others have been given higher and more powerful positions with other producers. The Progressive Citizens of America, successor to the H.I.C.C.A.S.P., is now the most powerful and affective front for the Communist Party. Former State Attorney General ROBERT W. KENNY was the chairman of the local chapter. Former Congressman ELLIS E. PATTERSON is also taking an active part. This organization is making vigorous protests against the TRUMAN policy relating to Turkey and Greece. The candidates for office endorsed by the P.C.A. in the recent Primary for Councilmen and School Board members were defeated. The American Arts Committee for Palestine is a new Communist front which demands that displaced Jews be admitted to Palestine. The People's Educational Center has begun its Spring term with many new instructors. The Conference of Studio Unions is continuing the motion picture strike. The activities of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization are practically paralleling the work of the P.C.A. and the membership of the two are nearly identical. The Motion Picture Alliance is again becoming active and has instituted a series of forums. DARRYL ZANUCK is preparing

Bureau File No. 100-158745
Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINDLAY, Los Angeles, dated 3/13/47

DETAILS:

AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

A search of the files and interviews with informants revealed the following conditions in the motion picture industry.

COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

SOURCE A has informed that the activities of the Communists and sympathizers in the Hollywood motion picture industry have not been dampened to any noticeable extent by the nationwide attacks and exposures of the Communist Party and Communism and its international connections in the press, over the radio and by other means. The only noticeable effect is that those involved are more careful in their operations and more vehement in their denials of any connections with the Communist movement. However, there is no diminution of "front" activities all of which they cloak behind the terms "democratic" and "progressive."

With one slight exception, so far there has been no statement made, or stand taken, by the heads of the industry, the producers themselves, on this controversial question which now rages all over the United States. The one exception was a statement made by ERIC JOHNSTON, representing the motion picture industry, made before the House Un-American Committee in which he stated that Hollywood had defeated the Reds and that, by implication, there was nothing serious about the Communist penetration of the film industry.

SOURCE A has further informed that while the Communists have lost ground to some extent within the trade unions because of the failure of the strike of the Conference of Studio Unions, they have more than made up for this by having many of their sympathizers placed in higher executive positions, as directors, writers, actors and in some executive positions. The latter type of penetration is more insidious, however, because of the reputations and influence gained by those elevated in this manner. One outstanding example is the appointment of DORE SCHARY to be director of all production at R-K-O studios. Mr. SCHARY has followed the political line of the Communist Party for many years, has engaged in, and supported, a multitude of Communist fronts and has been an influential tool of the Communists for years. His important position at the present time affords him complete protection against any charge by anyone that he has been so involved. This pattern is being followed closely at the present time, extending all through the industry and tending to make it as a whole somewhat sacred from any criticism of a definite or specific nature.

Other individuals of this type, according to SOURCE A, have been recently elevated to key positions in the industry. They are, in part, the following:

MacDougall, Ranald, made producer by Warner Bros.

Kurnitz, Harry, Associate Producer with MARY PICKFORD and LESTER COWAN

Kanin, Garson, producer with Universal-International

Caspary, Vera, long-term writer with Eagle-Lion

Sperling, Milton, producer, Warner Bros.

Kazan, Elia, director signed by Darryl Zanick, Twentieth Century-Fox

Traube, Shepard, signed as director for RKO

Rossen, Robert, director RKO

Herbert, F. Hugh, Director Twentieth Century-Fox

Koenig, Lester, Producer, Liberty Films, William Wyler Productions.

Kelly, Gene, MGM Studios announced that he will soon be made a director for that firm.

PROGRESSIVE CITIZENS OF AMERICA (Southern California Chapter)

This organization, according to SOURCE A, was formerly known as the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions (H.I.C.C.A.S.P.) which in turn was the local branch of the national organization of the same name. The change in title was made on February 11, 1947, at a meeting held in the Embassy auditorium in Los Angeles, California. The aims and purposes of the new P.C.A. remain the same as those of the H.I.C.C.A.S.P. Only the name was changed. This is for deceptive purposes only.

This P.C.A. is the most powerful and effective force working as a front for the Communist Party in the Southern California area. The potency of the organization is mainly due to the clever use of the magic name "Hollywood."

The activities of this organization within the last thirty days are the following:

Circulation of protests against the proposed aid to Greece and Turkey in the present international crisis.

Open participation and endorsement of a meeting held in Los Angeles on March 19th, 1947 at which time the following persons and organizations were represented:

Robert W. Kenny, chairman of P.C.A. (local chapter)

*Ellis E. Patterson, Ex-Congressman, Co-Chairman of State Legislative Conference (Communist-dominated)

Reuben W. Borough, Ex-Los Angeles City employee and professional pamphleteer, Co-Chairman of State Legislative Conference (Communist-dominated)

*Nemmy Sparks, chairman of the Communist Party

*William R. Bidner, Director of Mobilization for Democracy and Chairman of the meeting.

Walter J. Turner, A.F. of L. Printing Pressmen's Union and recently candidate for Los Angeles Board of Education, endorsed by the Communist Party and followers.

Stanley Moffatt, follower of the C.P. line for years and local Justice of the Peace

Clarence Carlson, legislative director of the Railroad Brotherhoods.

Dr. H. Claude Hudson, Dentist, Negro candidate for the Los Angeles Board of Education endorsed by the Communist Party Organizations officially represented in addition to the P.C.A. were:

National Lawyers Guild
Fifty local A.F. of L. Unions
Forty local C.I.O. unions
Twenty various Youth groups

Ten delegates from the Communist Party
Eighty two local Jewish organizations
Railroad Brotherhoods

The results of this meeting were:

Protest against President TRUMAN's policy of sending aid to Greece and Turkey.

Protests against any legislation to "hamstring" labor.

Protest against outlawing the Communist Party.

Confirmation of a message sent by the Communist Party of Los Angeles County to EUGENE DENNIS, National Secretary of the C.P., protesting the "persecution" of Communists.

Condensed report of this meeting was published in the Daily People's World of March 20, 1947.

Endorsement and sending of delegates *EARL ROBINSON and *DALTON TRUMBO to take part in a "cavalcade" of protest by Association of Veteran Home Buyers, a temporary paper organization formed under Communist direction. This "march" on Sacramento took place on Sunday, March 23, 1947. Other Hollywood personalities taking part in this venture were the following:

*Ben Ringldo - writer
*Carlton Moss - writer
YCL-John Garfield - actor
*Gale Sondergaard - actor
*Herbert Biberman - writer
*Robert Rossen - writer
Larry Adler - actor
Paul Draper - dancer

In the local City primary elections the P.C.A. endorsed all candidates supported by the combined Communist front groups. Itdid not, however, endorse the openly known Communist candidates such as LaRue McCormick and Elise Monjar, for obvious reasons, caution being uppermost.

On March 17, 1947, the P.C.A. held a meeting at which Dr. HARLOW SHAPLEY, Professor at Harvard University, was the principal speaker. This meeting followed the Communist Party line on foreign and local affairs. In addition to Dr. SHAPLEY, ROBERT W. KENNY, and PETER de LIMA appeared.

P.C.A. is preparing a propaganda campaign to publish HENRY WALLACE's speeches and other radio programs along the same lines and are now raising the sum of $15,000 by open appeal for the purpose. Telegrams sent out signed by BERT WITT for the P.C.A. Board of Directors so state.

The national organization of P.C.A. is now publishing a monthly organ called The Progressive Citizen. This paper is being circulated by the Hollywood Chapter. Hollywood is represented on the staff of the publication by the following:

Herman Shumlin
Norman Corwin - radio commentator
John Cromwell - writer
Lillian Hellman - writer
Gene Kelly - actor
Frederic March - actor
Robert W. Kenny - Ex-State Attorney General
*Paul Robeson - Negro, singer and actor

On March 14, 1947, the P.C.A. sent out a circular to all members asking them to write or wire their Senators demanding they oppose President TRUMAN's plan for aid to Greece and Turkey. The plea is signed by ROBERT W. KENNY, chairman. On March 31, 1947, the P.C.A. took a full-page display advertisement in the Daily Variety, Hollywood Trade Publication, asking for $15,000 to keep HENRY WALLACE on the air and asking at the same time everyone demand that President TRUMAN cease his war mongering.

From the foregoing list of activities it can be seen that the Hollywood P.C.A. is the spearhead of Communist pressure tactics in the Southern California area.

AMERICAN ARTS COMMITTEE FOR PALESTINE

According to SOURCE A, this is a new organization formed, nation-wide in scope, for the purpose of pressuring the immigration of displaced Jews into Palestine. From the list of those active in the organization in Hollywood, it would appear to be under control of the Communist Party. Some of the individuals are the following:

In addition to the foregoing this school is showing a series of propaganda films at the union hall of the Screen Cartoonists Guild, 6272 Yucca Street, Hollywood under the direction of the following Hollywood personages:

*Herbert Biberman - writer
*Edward Dmytryk - writer and director
Fritz Lang - director
Kenneth MacGowan - writer
Dudley Nichols - writer

These pictures are to be shown on Friday evenings beginning with April 18, 1947.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

The strike called by this Communist-dominated block of A.F. of L. Studio Unions is now in its seventh month. According to SOURCE A, picket lines are still before the gates of the studios, but they are completely ineffective. Several unions have deserted the strike, namely, the Screen Analysis Guild, Building Service Employees and International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 40. This strike has been supported from the beginning by all elements reached by the influence of the Communist Party including CIO unions, some A.F. of L. Unions, Jewish Fraternal organizations, certain business organizations that sympathize with the Communist movement and many individuals in key spots in the motion picture industry.

There is no evidence so far of a settlement of the strike which is not over wages or hours, but is completely one for Communist control of the studio unions.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

The activities politically of this organization parallel those of the P.C.A. in that the members of the one are the members of the other, thus taking part in the same type of activity, according to SOURCE A.

The last "Forum" conducted by the H.W.M. was on March 12, 1947, at the Hollywood Masonic Temple, 6840 Hollywood Boulevard. The speakers at this meeting were:

*Dalton Trumbo - writer
Dr. Keith Sward - physician
Robert E. G. Harris* (L.A. Daily News editorial writer)
*Don Wheeldin - Negro, writer

The subject of the meeting was the question of Minority Groups, the unfairness of the press and radio towards "liberal" politics and politicans and the usual cryptic Communist line.

MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE FOR THE PRESERVATION OF AMERICAN IDEALS

This organization formed some years ago, according to SOURCE A, to fight the menace of subversive activities, principally Communist, in Hollywood is one now showing signs of activity. Several meetings have been held at the Ebel Club Theatre in Los Angeles and nationally-known speakers have appeared. The first was EUGENE LYONS, followed by SIDNEY HOOK of Columbia University and on the evening of April 8, 1947, GEORGE MOORAD, a foreign correspondent during the war appeared. His subject dealt with the menace of Soviet Russia and Communism to the rest of the world. These meetings are not well attended, the average being about three hundred. The meetings are highly educational, but those to whom it should appeal in Hollywood are clearly apathetic.

Despite the attitude of the press and other informational processes now antagonistic to Communism on a national scale, Hollywood and the film industry still remain the key spots of contamination by this ideology. For some reason the industry itself, which after all bears a large share of the responsibility, seems to be secure from any censure generally. At least, the motion picture producers themselves have never reacted to this subject now occupying so much attention throughout the world.

An asterisk has been placed by the writer before certain names in this report. This indicates that said parties have Communist Party records in the Los Angeles Field Office which have heretofore been reported to the Bureau.

The "Daily Variety," trade paper of the motion picture business, for April 10, 1947 under the heading "20th To Do Anti-Red Picture," stated in part that "The Iron Curtain," an anti-Communist film inspired by J. EDGAR HOOVER's speech before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, March 26, 1947, will go into production at 20th Century Fox this Summer. This announcement was made by DARRYL ZANUCK April 9, 1947 and he also stated that the project is already under way as JASON JOY, studio contact man, and ANTHONY MUTO, chief of Washington Movietone News Bureau, are now doing preliminary work on the subject in the Nation's Capital. They will be joined by MARTIN BECKELEY, who will write the screen play.

It is stated that the picture will be based on findings of Royal Canadian Commission report of June 27, 1947, detailing facts relating to communications by public officials and others of confidential information to agents of a foreign power, with particular reference to the atom bomb. ZANUCK stated, "Russia will definitely be portrayed as that foreign power." ZANUCK further stated, "The studio will seek cooperation of the Canadian Government and Mr. HOOVER." He also stated that he had not discussed the matter with either the State Department or Motion Picture Producers Association. ZANUCK stated he thought it doubtful if State Department approval would be required. He stated: "The film will have no romantic angle."

Reference is made to the memorandum with enclosures, dated April 5, 1947, received by you from Mr. Matthew J. Connelly, Secretary to the President, which you referred to me and asked if there was anything to the allegations made by Jack Moffitt concerning Communism in the motion picture industry.

As you will recall, Mr. F. Lowell Lawrance of San Francisco, addressed an undated letter to William M. Boyle, [redacted] in which Lawrance stated he had just received startling information regarding Communist domination of the motion picture industry from Jack Moffitt. The letter stated that Moffitt had documented records revealing that the Communists had a stranglehold on the motion picture industry and that Moffitt had turned his information over to the Los Angeles Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

b7C

With regard to the above data, I wish to advise that Jack Moffitt has furnished no documentary records to the Los Angeles Office and upon interview he advised that he had none. Moffitt related that he felt previous Congressional inquiries regarding the motion picture industry failed by not actually bringing out the propaganda existing in many completed films, and he for some time has wanted to bring this out. Moffitt indicated that his desire along these lines was intensified by Eric Johnston's recent statement indicating that no Red propaganda had reached the screen. Moffitt stated that following Johnston's statement he wrote his friend Lowell Lawrance, an ex-newspaperman, who he knew had a friend close to the President. He stated that he also wrote to Congressman Norris Poulson from California, outlining his desire to be called before the House Un-American Committee, to testify as to Communist propaganda in motion pictures. He indicated that he told these persons he could prove his point by analyzing films and drawing up documents showing Party line messages inserted in many pictures. Moffitt further related that he felt he was qualified to do this because he had for some time been a motion picture critic for Esquire magazine, and previously had worked for the Kansas City Star, in addition to working in various studios as a screen writer.

It should be pointed out that many of Moffitt's Esquire reviews attacked the Communist messages in films.

The communication from Mr. Lawrance to Mr. William M. Boyle, received by you with the memorandum from Mr. Connelly, refers to a Dr. David Brotman who recently arrived in Hollywood on a fund raising mission among Hollywood intellectuals to solicit funds to oppose President Truman's re-election. The latter also reflects that a fund of $40,000 has been raised by known Hollywood Communists to finance Henry Wallace's radio speeches.

With regard to Dr. David Brotman or Bratman of Chicago, Mrs. Ralke, who is active in Republican politics in Beverly Hills, told Moffitt that Bratman is now practicing in Beverly Hills and is raising funds for some left-wing political cause, but knew nothing more definite. Mrs. Ralke has advised that a friend of a friend of hers was in Bratman's office after President Truman's speech on Greece, and heard the Doctor talking by phone with some Congressman in Chicago, criticizing the President saying that they would have to get him out and that he had raised $3,000,000 for that purpose.

No information was available in the Los Angeles area indicating that Communists were financing the speeches of Henry Wallace, except through contributions made by Communists who are active within the Progressive Citizens of America. This organization, according to a report received in March of 1947, was collecting funds to sponsor 15-minute nation-wide broadcasts commencing March 31, 1947 from New York's Madison Square Garden, at a cost of approximately $3,500 each.

The original enclosures received with your request are being returned herewith.

With reference to the teletype from the Los Angeles Office setting forth a summary of the information and which they request approval to furnish to the House Committee on Un-American Activities which Committee is conducting hearings in Los Angeles, I wish to advise that in a number of instances information is set forth by the Los Angeles Office using actual CPA and CP membership numbers of the individuals. This information, of course, was obtained thru a discreet examination of the records maintained by Elizabeth Benson who is a Section Organizer of the CP in that area and who is the custodian of such records. It is felt that such information may not be of embarrassment to the Bureau, however, approval will be granted to the Los Angeles Office to use such material if you agree and it is suggested that Mr. Hood be advised that such material can be used if in his opinion such information will not be an embarrassment to the Bureau.

In connection with the information on hand relative to Hanns Eisler, there is a statement contained in the write-up that he spent nine years in Germany where he is alleged to have had Communist membership. Such information was obtained by the Los Angeles Office thru a confidential examination of Hanns Eisler but such information could, of course, be reported to the Bureau through other sources and it is felt that no embarrassment will result by permitting the use of such information.

Also in the same write-up Russian language newspapers in Moscow are quoted which were obtained thru the same source. However, it being newspapers, it is felt that such material as far as the Committee is concerned could be obtained by the Bureau from a number of sources.

In connection with the write-up relative to Edward Dmytryk, it is noted that one of the organizations with which he was associated is called "Communist for a Far Eastern Policy." This is incorrect and should read "Committee for a Far Eastern Policy."

In connection with the information submitted on Fritz Kortner, the phrase "suspected Soviet Agent" is used and it is believed advisable to change the reference therein to "Communist and Soviet sympathizers."

100-138754-154

Also in the write-up on Peter Lorre, the phrase "suspected Russian agent" is used and again it is believed that such a phrase should be omitted which will not reflect materially from the information being submitted to the Committee.

With reference to the information prepared by the Los Angeles Office on Bert Brecht, the phrase "reported Soviet agent and alleged Ogpu agent" is used.

The Director

It is felt that it would be more advisable to use the phrase "Russian sympathizer" in these instances.

It is believed that Mr. Hood's suggestion that the Committee be furnished with the names of certain Communists and non-Communists who may have information concerning infiltration of the motion picture industry should be approved, but that Mr. Hood should be instructed to divide the list into two parts, one part listing the non-Communists who would probably be friendly and cooperative witnesses and the other part listing individuals who because of their connection with the Communist movement would probably be hostile and unfriendly witnesses.

Attached hereto is a teletype to the Los Angeles Office pointing out the suggested changes and, of course, advising Mr. Hood to inform the Committee that such information is being furnished solely for their confidential information and that under no circumstances should the source of this material ever be revealed.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Progressive Citizens of America, Hollywood Chapter, has become the principal Communist Front in the Los Angeles area. It is headed by ROBERT W. KENNY, former State Attorney General. A sub-Committee of the House Un-American Committee arrived in Los Angeles May 9th and has stated that it is going into the Communist matters fully. ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT made an appearance here on April 18th and HENRY A. WALLACE is to appear on May 19th in furtherance of the activities of the P.C.A. KENNY is also carrying on the activities of the Mobilization for Democracy and Civil Rights Congress and has held some "protest" and "defy" meetings. The Conference of Studio Unions is still carrying on the studio strikes but a large number of convictions have resulted in these strike prosecutions, which has resulted in violence being reduced to a minimum. Four of the producers are now preparing to make a picture dealing with the "Canada spy trials" and the "iron curtain". The Motion Picture Alliance has employed Dr. JOHN R. LECHNER as its Executive Director. In his first appearance in this position he named ten so-called "propaganda" pictures, resulting in a vigorous protest by SAM GOLDWYN and others.

Report of Special Agent JAMES G. FINDLAY, Los Angeles, dated 4/11/47.

Details: AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

Interviews with Informants and an examination of the files reveal the following:

COMMUNIST ACTIVITIES IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Source A advises that the activities of the Communist Party and its sympathizers are continuing along the same lines as in the past several months. However, on May 9, 1947, three members of the House Un-American Activities Committee and its Chief Investigator arrived in Los Angeles and announced that it would conduct a thorough investigation of alleged Communist activities and propaganda in the Motion Picture Industry.

This threatened investigation has caused the Communist forces to line up against the Committee and begin their usual methods of antagonism and "mud slinging" in an effort to discredit the Committee and the investigation.

The principal Front Organization engaged in the campaign is the Progressive Citizens of America, Hollywood Chapter. As usual the Communist members of that Front are the leaders.

In addition to the above, the forthcoming visit of HENRY A. WALLACE, on May 19, 1947, is occupying the spotlight and is receiving the combined efforts of the Communist Party and its front organizations in advertising and popularizing this appearance of WALLACE on the Pacific Coast.

Despite all the recent adverse publicity, nation-wide in its scope, directed at the subversive activities of the Communists in the United States, there appears to be little or no change in their attitude and they seem to be confident that their program and activities will be permitted to continue without serious obstacles.

HOUSE UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

Source A has informed that members of this Committee arrived in Hollywood on May 8th, 1947, amid a great fanfare of press releases and headlines. The Committee states that it will get to the bottom of the Red issue in the studios and that specificallyit is here to investigate the activities of HANNS EISLER, the brother of GERHART EISLER, now under indictment as a foreign agent, at Washington, D. C. Hearings are to be conducted in secret at the Biltmore

Hotel in downtown Los Angeles. The Committee is composed of the following:

J. PARNELL THOMAS, Representative from New Jersey, Chairman
JOHN McDOWELL, Representative, Pennsylvania
JOHN WOOD, Representative, Georgia
ROBERT STRIPLING, Chief Investigator

PROGRESSIVE CITIZENS OF AMERICA, HOLLYWOOD CHAPTER

This organization will sponsor a mass meeting in honor of HENRY A. WALLACE, who will be the main speaker at the Gilmore Stadium, Los Angeles, on the evening of May 19, 1947. The meeting was originally scheduled to be held at the Hollywood Bowl, but the Directors of the Bowl cancelled the meeting on the grounds that it would be a controversial one. The Gilmore Stadium was then secured.

Notices were sent out by the P.C.A. under the signature of BONNIE CLAIRE, coordinator for the WALLACE meeting. Miss CLAIRE's Communist record is conclusive. In addition to the sponsorship of Mr. WALLACE, the P.A.C. has mailed out from its headquarters innumerable pieces of literature supporting the stand of Mr. WALLACE in his attack on the foreign policy of the United States in the European sector, particularly in the matter of aid to Greece and Turkey.

On April 18, 1947, this organization sponsored a meeting of like nature at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles. The main speaker at this meeting was ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT. He took the same political stand as the P.C.A. on all matters and most vehemently defended HENRY A. WALLACE's political utterances, all of which coincided with the position of the Communist Party of the United States on these questions.

Other speakers at the meeting were the following:

ROLLIN McNITT, Chairman of the Los Angeles Democratic Central Committee
ROBERT W. KENNY, Chairman of the P.C.A. and formerly State Attorney General
BERT WITT, Executive Secretary of the P.C.A.

The Hollywood Chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America was one of the sponsors of a C.I.O. mass meeting held on the steps of the Los Angeles City Hall on the morning of April 26, 1947, to protest certain labor legislation and many other things not to the liking of the Communist Party. The list of organizations sponsoring this meeting were:

American Youth for Democracy
American Veterans Committee
International Workers Order

LA File #100-15732

National Negro Congress
United Negro and Allied Veterans
National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People Veterans of Foreign Wars (several posts)

Speakers at the meeting, attended by approximately 6,000 persons, were the following:

* PHILLIP M. CONNELLY, Secretary-Treasurer, L.A.I.U.C.
MORRIS ZUSSMAN, President of the State C.I.O.
IRWIN DE SHETLER, Regional Director of the C.I.O.
ALBERT LUNCEFORD, CHAIRMAN, President, L.A.I.U.C.
GEORGE B. ROBERTS, Director of the N.C.P.A.C.
* HERBERT K. SORRELL, Communist leader of C.S.U.
CARL B. HEAD, Labor leader
ROBERT W. KENNY, Attorney and formerly State Attorney General
Dr. H. CLAUDE HUDSON, Negro Dentist, F.E.P.C.
Father GEORGE H. DUNNE, Loyola University teacher
DAN MARSHALL, Catholic Interracial Group
MICHAEL FANNING, Postmaster of Los Angeles (sat on platform)
HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS, Congresswoman, sent a telegram of sympathy with the objectives of the mass meeting.

Source A further advised that the Hollywood Progressive Citizens of American joined with the Mobilization for Democracy and Civil Rights Congress in protesting against the refusal of the City authorities of Peoria, Illinois, and Albany, New York, to permit PAUL ROBESON to speak in the Public Schools. This protest was sent April 29, 1947.

The Hollywood Progressive Citizens of America sponsored a "Youth Pilgrimage" to the City of Sacramento to protest the activities of the Joint Legislative Committee on Un-American Activities of the State of California (Tenney Committee) in its investigation of Communists.

Other organizations sponsoring and taking part in the demonstration were the following:

American Youth for Democracy
Junior Hadassah (Jewish Youth Group)
Hillell Young Progressives of America (Jewish organization)
American Veterans Committee
Los Angeles Youth Council
Fellowship Church
CIO UOPWA
CIO Marine Cooks and Stewards

On May 9, 1947, the Hollywood Progressive Citizens of America issued an ultimatum printed in the Daily Variety, Hollywood trade publication, protesting the investigation by the House Committee and defending the supposed rights of the Communist Party of the United States. In addition to this, they protested any censure of the following persons, which censure they term a "gag" on free speech, etc.:

HENRY A. WALLACE
* PAUL ROBESON
WILLIAM SHIRER, pro-Communist commentator on radio
NORMAN CORWIN, writer of radio scripts "One World".
Dr. HARLOW SHAPLEY, Atom bomb scientist, so-called

This defy was signed by the following persons:

ROBERT W. KENNY, Chairman
Mrs. WILLIAM DIETERLE, Secretary
ROBERT S. MORRIS, JR., Treasurer and the following Vice-Chairmen:

JOHN CROMWELL, Writer
EDWARD MOSK, Attorney
HOWARD KOCH, Writer
Dr. LINUS PAULING, Professor at Cal-Tech (worked on Atomic Bomb)
LENA HORNE, Negress singer and actress
SENIEL OSTROW, Manufacturer (Seeley Mattress Co.)
GENE KELLY, Actor

In addition to the above, the signatures of 99 members of the Executive Council of the organization appeared on the defy.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source A also advised that this Communist controlled block of studio unions still remains on strike and maintains picket lines before the studios. This strike is now in its eighth month. The Motion Picture Producers are attempting to bargain with the strikers but so far nothing has resulted. The usual forces influenced by the Communist movement still support the strike.

ANTI-RUSSIAN PICTURES

Four of the major studios, MGM, Warners, 20th Century-Fox and Columbia have announced that each will make a picture based on the Canada Spy Trials. In fact, it seems that all four studios are quarrelling among themselves as to which will be permitted to use the title "Iron Curtain".

Further than these announcements, nothing has been done so far as is known.

EDWARD CHODOROV

This gentleman who has a long record of Communist activity both in Hollywood and New York has signed a contract with MGM Studios as a producer. This was announced on May 5, 1947.

MOTION PICTURE ALLIANCE

Source further advised that this anti-Communist organization formed some four years ago, held a meeting on April 29, 1947, at which Dr. JOHN R. LECHNER, the recently selected Executive Director of the organization, mentioned a list of pictures in which there was Communist propaganda. Dr. LECHNER also suggested a boycott on pictures of this type in which Communists were employed. This statement raised a storm of protest and the producers, speaking through SAMUEL GOLDWYN, took violent issue through the press with the Motion Picture Alliance and the Chairman of its Executive Board, RALPH CLARE, stating the organization was irresponsible, as was Mr. LECHNER and CLARE. This tirade was published in the Hollywood Reporter of May 7th. Inasmuch as the members of this organization, most of them highly paid as writers, directors, etc. work for the Producers, it is more than likely that the death knell of the Motion Picture Alliance has been sounded.

The ten motion pictures which LECHNER asserted contained propaganda are the following:

The Best Years of Our Lives
Boomerang
Margie
The Strange Love of Martha Ivers
A medal for Benny
The Searching Wind
Watch on the Rhine
Pride of the Marines
North Star
Mission to Moscow

LECHNER further stated that the Screen Writers Guild contains a large number of Communists and fellow travellers. He named JOHN HOWARD LAWSON as having come here to show how to inject Red propaganda into pictures. LECHNER was introduced by BORDEN CHASE, who outlined a program of ostracism for industry Communist and in turn introduced WILLIAM H. CHAMBERLIN, noted foreign correspondent, who has resided twelve years in Russia. CHAMBERLIN told the large audience he advocated a policy of close cooperation between the United States and States not yet under Soviet influence or control.

The outcome of the present investigative inquiry by the House Committee will determine the character of the future activity of the Hollywood Communists. However, it appears from the attitude of the Communist elements and the motion picture producers that there is not a great deal to fear from the result of the investigation.

An asterisk has been placed before some names in this report which is used to indicate that the Communist connections of these individuals have heretofore been reported to the Bureau.

Gracious me! The picture is sure enough calculated to scare the 'weak-minded'; and we have a number of such 'birds' in Congress — who like children — are afraid of 'Bogey-Man' — which some people know, do not exist! (4)

And Now the Editorial Will Make Its Debut— On U. S. Movie Screens

By Richard L. Coe

THE MOVIES are about to have their own editorial pages—like newspapers and magazines.

These one-reelers will be sponsored by the Motion Picture Association of America—the Johnston office. Although they may appear once every two months at first, the plan is to release them once a month. Theater managers throughout the Nation will be able to show them, or not, as they choose.

ERIC JOHNSTON

The first of these shorts is expected to be ready in June. Its subject will be production and how cooperation between management and labor in this country will raise our standard of living.

Other topics which may be discussed in future releases include foreign trade, universal military training and this country's role in the Middle East.

In discussing the film industry's precedent-shattering move, Eric Johnston told this reporter that the aim will be "to illuminate, not plug for, any particular facet of a public question."

These shorts will be different from such individual company releases as the "March of Time" and "This Is America" series in that they will represent the viewpoint of MPA, the advisory body to which the most important producing companies belong.

"What about the people in the industry who do not agree with your interpretation of public questions?" we asked Johnston. "Surely you cannot hope to take a stand that will satisfy all the many political complexions of film-makers."

"Nor," he answered, "do newspapers or magazines in their editorials satisfy all the political views of all their employes. Surely there must be people on the staff of The Post who do not see eye to eye with all its editorials."

Another series Johnston's organization is planning will be on the film-makers themselves. "We will try to explain how Hollywood operates and to give recognition to all the many crafts which take part in making pictures."

"You know," Johnston continued, "most of the workers in Hollywood are on an assembly line. They are concerned with a very small segment of the completed picture. It is almost the same with some of them as if they were working on the nuts and bolts of an assembly line—as Charlie Chaplin illustrated graphically in his 'Modern Times.'"

Commie Influence

Of our projected series on Hollywood we hope to make all the people of Hollywood—and the world—recognize the importance of their teamwork. In its entirety this will be a public relations program."

Johnston recently completed his testimony before the House UnAmerican Activities Committee after a trip to Hollywood, where he had conferred with studio and union heads.

"As for there being Communist influence in the movies," he said, "such an accusation is absurd. If Hollywood were a Communist network, I should not be attacked every morning in the Daily Worker—as I can assure you I am. And some of the people out there who are attacked as Communists are no more Commies than I am. They have a right to their convictions, and while some of them may be critical, they have a perfect right to be.

Wrath in Yugoslavia

"We have been told we should make movies attacking communism, but those who make such statements forget that movies attacking something are not successful. That is something we are going to avoid in our editorial pages. It is far more dynamic to illuminate a subject and let audiences draw their own conclusions. That is what the finest newspaper editorials do.

"The fact that 'The Grapes of Wrath' is being shown in Yugoslavia as an accurate picture of American life is, of course, too bad. Always when American films are sought for exhibition by countries critical of our system they are pictures showing us in the poorest light.

"Our policy is not to discourage such films as 'The Grapes of Wrath,' or even their exportation. But it is our policy to insist that for every critical film sent to foreign countries, they also take the same number of pictures which show the United States in a favorable light.

Social Awareness

"The movies," he said, "are not like the limited New York stage, which can afford to portray unpleasant facts. The movies are made to appeal to millions as an entertainment for them and their children. When I take my children to the movies I don't want them to see characters which may be real, but certainly are not healthy. And I think that's how the great majority of our people feel.

"Nor would it be possible, as you suggest, to make films that will appeal to only a small section of the public. Costs of movie-making prohibit that and we are not geared to presenting pictures in an 'Adult Only Classification,' as is done in Great Britain.

"But there is, in Hollywood," he concluded, "an increasing awareness of the films' social responsibility as a mass medium. That is what we will be expressing in editorials. They will be giving adult appraisals of current questions which are not necessarily to be found in the mass of films."

There is submitted herewith the running memorandum concerning Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry which has been brought up to date as of May 24, 1947. The material discussed is divided into separate sections as follows:

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 4-6-85 BY SP1 BW GUM

I Communist Infiltration of Labor Groups
II Communist Infiltration of Intellectual Groups
III Communist Party Members in Hollywood
IV Communist Influence in Current Motion Pictures
V Soviet Activities in Hollywood
VI Communist Infiltration of RKO Studios
VII Investigation of Communist Activity in the Motion Picture Industry by the Committee on Un-American Activities, House of Representatives
VIII Miscellaneous

The new material added to bring this running memorandum up to date will be found in the following sections:

Section I, page 71
Section II, pages 119 through 121
Section VII, pages 18 through 24
Section VIII, pages 2 through 9

Of the new material added, probably the most significant will be found in Section VII which pertains to the activities of the Un-American Activities Committee during their recent visit to the movie colony in Hollywood at which time various representatives of the motion picture industry appeared as witnesses. Also of interest is the interview had by the Los Angeles Office with screen actress Ida Lupino. During this interview, Lupino offered her services as a source of information concerning Communist activities in Hollywood and explained her connections with Communist front groups as being due to her curiosity and interest in finding out about these various groups as well as the individuals connected with them.

These activities are being closely followed and all new information received in this regard will be incorporated into the running memorandum once each quarter, in order that you may be currently advised with respect to this situation.

Eric Johnson Rips Reds in Talk to Film Writers

Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association and a visitor to Soviet Russia since end of the war, lashed out against Communism in a talk made before the Screen Writers Guild.

Text of the talk, made in private on Tuesday night, was released yesterday.

"I don't like American Communists," Johnston told the group. "They are a disruptive force in American Government, American industry and American labor. They would destroy all that we have achieved.

"Bluntly, I think American Communists are treasonable and subversive. They are potential foreign agents—they are dupes and suckers for the 14 men who sit in the Kremlin and pull the strings which make Communists toe the party line everywhere.

"I want to explode the myth that Communists are radical. The are radical only when it is in the interest of Soviet foreign policy that they be radical. They swing slavishly from left to right as the pendulum swings in the Kremlin.

"Let me make it clear that I do not mean to imply that an American citizen has no right to advocate a collectivist form of society for America, if he so desires. That's his privilege under our Constitution. But there is no constitutional immunity for sedition, subversion or treason.

"I want to see it become a joke to be a Communist in America. I want it to be fashionable to radiate conviction and pride in our democratic capitalism.

"We ought to ridicule the so-called intellectuals who have made a good living denouncing those who believe in the American system as having economic halitosis and political b. o.

"Hollywood can take the lead."

Commencing the first lap of a speaking tour, Johnston will leave Hollywood tonight via plane for Milwaukee.

Johnston will address the Young Republican Club in that city on Saturday, and then fly back to Spokane, Wash., to deliver the commencement address at Washington State College on June 16. He will then sail from New York for Brussels on June 22.

ENCLOSURE

LOS ANGELES TIMES
DATED 6/5/47

Eric Johnston Assails U.S. Reds as Traitors

Denunciation of American Communists as "traitors, subversives and dupes of the Kremlin," expressed in an off-the-record talk to 200 members of the Screen Writers' Guild by Eric Johnston, president of the Association of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors, was made public yesterday by consent of Johnston and Guild officials.

Hollywood, Johnston told the writers, many of whom have been prominent in leftist activities, should set the pace for making more Americans proud of their own institutions and principles—including capitalism.

Asks Ridicule of Reds

Instead of accepting pro-Communist leanings and associations as "fashionable," he said, "I want to see it become a joke to be a Communist in America. We ought to ridicule the so-called intellectuals who have made a good living denouncing those who believe in the American system as having economic halitosis and political b.o."

Urging a "new crusading spirit that will fight reaction in America whether it is from the phony left or the foolish right," the top spokesman for the motion-picture industry—in a first appearance before the screen writers' group—prefaced his remarks with an explanation that his best friends had warned him against the dangers of becoming a target for the keenest verbal sharpshooters and most profound intellects and facile tongues of Hollywood."

Johnston Holds Own

In a two-hour session of question and answers, according to writers who were present at the unusual proceedings, Johnston managed to hold his own, although some of the "verbal sharpshooters" who disagreed with his position on American Reds subjected him to aggressive cross-examination.

After an analysis of the capitalist system, which, despite inequities and imperfections, he described as "the best I know," Johnston waded into the menace of Communism in this country.

Would Destroy Gains

"I don't like American Communists," he said. "They are a disruptive force in American government, industry and labor. They would destroy all that we have gained in years of effort.

"Bluntly, I think American Communists are treasonable and subversive. They are potential foreign agents—they are dupes and suckers for the 14 men who sit in the Kremlin and pull strings which make Communists toe the party line everywhere.

"I want to explode the myth that Communists are radicals. They are radical only when it is in the interest of Soviet foreign policy that they be radical. They swing slavishly from left to right as the pendulum swings in the Kremlin.

"Let me make it clear that I do not mean to imply that an American citizen has no right to advocate a collectivist form of society for America if he so desires. That's his privilege under our Constitution; but there is no constitutional immunity for sedition, subversion or treason.

"The American Communist of today has no more claim to our democratic tolerance than the German Bund or the Ku Klux Klan."

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : Director, FBI

DATE: June 11, 1947

FROM : SAC, Los Angeles

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C
Bureau file 100-158745

G. I. R. -5

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 4-6-95 BY SP1 [illegible]

Re Butel June 5, 1947.

The information contained in this memorandum was assembled and compiled by Special Agents JAMES G. FINDLAY, GEORGE D. THOMSON, BERNARD M. PTACEK, and FRED G. DUPUIS.

By way of preliminary explanation concerning the compilation of Communist Party members in the motion picture industry which is attached hereto, the following is set forth.

The report of Special Agent ROBERT W. HOLLMAN dated at Los Angeles on March 13, 1947 in the case entitled "COMMUNIST PARTY, USA, District 13, Los Angeles Field Division; INTERNAL SECURITY - C", Los Angeles file 100-1763, furnished to the Bureau at its request a list of all Communist Party members who are employed in the motion picture industry. That list contained 298 names and was based primarily upon information secured from CNDI [redacted] over a period of years, up to and including many individuals who registered as members of the party for the year 1946, which registration took place in the fall of 1945. b7D

CONF. INFT.

The information furnished by CNDI [redacted] was based primarily upon records maintained by ELIZABETH GLENN, who handled organization and membership work for what the party termed its "cultural people" employed in the motion picture and radio industries. CNDI [redacted] has not been able to gain access to these records since ELIZABETH GLENN discontinued handling this work. b7D

CONF. INFT.

On May 25, 1947, CNDI [redacted] made available the complete records of the Los Angeles County Communist Party as maintained by LILLIAN ALEXANDER. Previously CNDI [redacted] had advised the records maintained by ALEXANDER were the "complete county records", according to information obtained from reliable functionaries of the county organization. b7D

CONF. INFT.

ENCLOSURE BEHIND FILE

The agents preparing this memorandum have carefully analyzed the records made available by CNDI [redacted] and it has been possible to identify approximately 355 Communist Party members who are employed in the motion picture industry. In most instances the records themselves indicate the member's affiliation with a Hollywood union or trade position and in several instances the records include the notation "M. P.", which apparently means "motion pictures". In addition, it is known there are approximately thirty Communist clubs in the Hollywood Section of the party, and it has been possible to establish with reasonable certainty which of these clubs are b7D composed of people employed in the motion picture industry. Therefore, some individuals whose names appear on the records made available by CNDI [redacted] but without any identifying data other than the club to which they have been assigned have been included in the attached list on the premise that they are members of a club which was organized on the basis that its members would be people employed in the industry. b7D

It is considered important to note that when the list of Communis Party members made available by CNDI [redacted] as set forth in the report of Special Agent HOLLMAN is compared with the list of Communist Party members employed in the industry as made available by CNDI [redacted] on May 25, there are only 29 names that appear on both lists. It is felt this fact indicate the list forwarded the Bureau on March 13, 1947, was an accurate list of th cultural sub-section of the Hollywood Section of the Los Angeles Communist Party, albeit the information was roughly one year old; and that the list of members presently compiled from the information furnished by CNDI [redacted] is an accurate list of the members of the industrial sub-section of the Hollywood Section, Los Angeles County Communist Party. This is further borne out by the fact that reliable informants have reported the Hollywood Section of the party is currently sub-divided into three sub-sections, known as community, industrial and cultural. b7D

It may further be assumed from these facts that the county organization does not maintain detailed records of the members of the cultural sub-section of the Hollywood Section of the party. In this regard it should be recalled that several years ago CNDI [redacted] reported a conversation between ELIZABETH GLENN, representing Hollywood cultural people, and MAX SILVE who was then Secretary-Treasurer of the county organization, at which time SILVER conceded it was not absolutely necessary that GLENN make available to him the membership records of the cultural people, but that the county would be satisfied merely with a total and the names of clubs so as to know they had such a section and some people in it. b7D

HONE

However, the attached list does include several people who are indicated as being assigned to the cultural sub-section and has made possible the identifying of approximately 50 cultural people new to this area. In most instances this record appears regarding an individual who has trans in or out of this section or who has recruited someone assigned to section.

In forwarding the attached list to the Bureau, it should be poin out that for the Bureau to have a complete list of all individuals know the Los Angeles Office to be members of the Communist Party and employe the motion picture industry, it would be necessary to refer to the list furnished on March 13, 1947, previously referred to, and to the attached list. The 29 individuals who appeared on the previous list as being members of the cultural sub-section and whose names appear on the attached list have an asterisk (*) placed before them. From the two lists it will be noted there are approximately 624 Communist Party members known to this office who are employed in the motion picture industry, not including spouses of party members so employed, those in the radio industry, or those who reside in the Hollywood area and belong to the community sub-section of the Hollywood Section, Los Angeles County Communist Party.

AIRMAIL - SPECIAL DELIVERY

RE: SODAC, LOS ANGELES
INTERNAL SECURITY - R

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to your teletype of June 5, 1947 requesting an up to date report on Soviet activity regarding the motion picture industry.

On February 14, 1947 CNDI [redacted] reported that LOU HARRIS, Hollywood Producer and known member of the Communist Party, visited the Los Angeles Russian Vice Consulate and while there talked with EUGENE TUMANTZEV, Vice Consul, for approximately one hour. The tenor of HARRIS' conversation was to the effect that writers in the motion picture industry generally, and at Paramount particularly, were not permitted by the producers to convey progressive ideas in their stories. Much of the conversation dealt with HARRIS' desire to obtain a visa to visit Russia while making a business trip to France in the near future. Later in the conversation however, it appeared that HARRIS had handed to TUMANTZEV a document or paper of some kind and while doing so HARRIS stated "It is a list of what they are doing. It is not too important. This document is the only one in town; no one else has one. Would you like to look it over now? I promised to return it to JACK. You may be able to get the letter from him or from SHIRLEY KOPLOY." b7D

The JACK mentioned in this conversation is believed to be JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, close associate of HARRIS and leader of the Communist movement in the motion picture industry. The SHIRLEY KOPLOY mentioned is the Secretary of the American Russian Institute in Los Angeles.

HARRIS and TUMANTZEV then began a discussion concerning current motion pictures in which HARRIS praised the picture "The Best Years of Our Lives". HARRIS then mentioned a picture "Song of the South", stating that the writer of this picture, MORTON ——, had special ability and could not be questioned politically. TUMANTZEV then asked why MORTON —— did not produce better things, and HARRIS replied that the producers would not let him; that they were interested only in sex. (It may be noted that the screen play for "Song of the South" was written by three individuals, DALTON REYMOND, MAURICE RAPF, and MORTON GRANT. MORTON GRANT is a Hollywood writer and known member of the Communist Party in Los Angeles and is undoubtedly the individual being referred to by HARRIS in his conversation.)

In view of the fact that TUMANTZEV at times asked HARRIS to repeat certain statements during the above mentioned conversation, it is felt that he may have been taking notes. S

Since SHIRLEY KOPLOY is employed in the offices of the American Russian Institute, Los Angeles, a highly confidential informant was persuaded to furnish this office with the Institute's files on April 7, 1947. Two documents were found therein relating to the motion picture industry. One of these dealt with the various departments in the U. S. motion picture studios and their functions, and was evidently drawn up for the purpose of comparing the efficiency of the U. S. motion picture studios with those of the Soviet. The other was a treatise proposing the formation of a motion picture industry research foundation which would function under the direct jurisdiction of the Motion Picture Producers Association and would be financed by the member companies on an assessment basis in the same ratio as such companies are now assessed for other Association activities. The foundation would have as a purpose the offsetting of rising costs in the industry and the enhancing of entertainment values. The treatise then ma[illegible] suggestions under section divisions for lighting, photography, film impro[illegible] ment, sound and electronics and construction materials. It is not known whether either of these documents is identical with that shown to TUMAN[illegible] by HARRIS. S

On March 7, 1947 the Russian color film "The Stone Flower" wa[illegible] shown at the Laurel Theater prior to its public showing, as a favor to TUMANTZEV. CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] advised that among the mar[illegible] individuals invited personally by TUMANTZEV before the showing were in[illegible] the following individuals who are connected with the Hollywood film ind[illegible]

(* Those mentioned above with an asterisk appearing before the name are known members of the Communist Party in Los Angeles and are subjects of either Security Matter - C or Internal Security - C cases.)

LION FEUCHTWANGER and WILLIAM DIETERLE, formerly active with the Free German Movement in the Los Angeles area, are subjects of Internal Security - R cases. The other individuals above are for the most part liberals who have lent their support to a number of Communist Party front organizations.

CNDI [redacted] advised that at 10:10 A.M. on March 8, 1947 JULIAN BRODETSKY conversed with TUMANTZEV stating that he wished to come to the Vice Consulate to talk about the "mailing of violin strings". JULIAN BRODETSKY, a free lance musician in Hollywood, has been in frequent contact with the Soviet Vice Consulate in Los Angeles. TUMANTZEV suggested that he drop by in half an hour. S b7D

CNDI [redacted] advised that at 10:55 A.M. on the same date he heard an unknown man conversing with EUGENE TUMANTZEV at the Vice Consulate. From the little that could be distinguished from the conversation it could be gathered that the visitor had applied for a visa to the U.S.S.R. and was most anxious to get there. He could not understand the delay and wondered if he should send a telegram. TUMANTZEV suggested that he do so, stating that the fact that he had not received an answer as yet did not mean that he would be refused. The visitor asserted that he felt he could no longer live in the United States for he was no longer interested in the material things. He felt that he had something creative to produce and could not work under the conditions existing in this country. From his conversation it was evident that he was either a composer or a performer. He declared that the only thing he asked of the Soviet Union is to give him a year's time and a room in which to work and his work would appear on the concert stage. He later mentioned something about having a library worth three or four thousand dollars and talked concerning manuscripts and students. He also mentioned that he had negatives which could be reproduced in large numbers. S b7D

SECRET

From the nature of the above conversation and because of the time element it is believed that the above unknown individual was JULIAN BRODETSKY.

The following information, unless otherwise stated, was furnished by CNDI [redacted] (S) b7D

Mrs. ALEXANDER KORDA invited Mr. and Mrs. EUGENE TUMANTZEV and Mr. and Mrs. IVAN GANIN (former Secretary of the Los Angeles Vice Consulate) to her home for dinner on the night of March 11, 1947. ALEX KORDA is a very well known Hollywood director. S

On April 17, 1947 YOLANDA CHEN, in conversation with TUMANTZEV, suggested that they meet in the near future with JAMES WONG HOWE and at this time TUMANTZEV furnished CHEN with HOWE's telephone number. YOLANDA CHEN is a Chinese Soviet Camerawoman and sister of SYLVIA CHEN, alias Mrs. JAY LEYDA; Both SYLVIA CHEN and her husband are subjects of a pending Internal Security - R case in the Los Angeles Division. S

On April 18, 1947 SHIRLEY KOPLOY advised TUMANTZEV that Mr. and Mrs. ALBERT MALTZ were giving a cocktail party for the group of Soviet Agriculturists who were at that time visiting in Southern California and they wished to be sure that the Agriculturists would attend. TUMANTZEV asserted that he would make sure to have them at the reception. KOPLOY was making reference to M. A. KAPTZINEL, A. A. GOGIBERIDZE, and M. V. TABLIASHVILI, who at the time were ostensibly studying citrus and other southland crops in the Los Angeles region. Mr. ALBERT MALTZ, as mentioned hereinbefore, is a Hollywood writer and member of the Communist Party. S

Special Agent WILLIAM BYRNE of this office observed the Russian Vice Consulates car park at the MALTZ residence on the night of April 19, 1947 and observed three individuals enter the MALTZ residence, however it could not be determined if TUMANTZEV was one of the three. S

On April 21, 1947 SAM GOLDBLATT, who has recently changed his name to SAM GILBERT, conversed with TUMANTZEV, advising that he would make arrangements to have JAMES WONG HOWE see TUMANTZEV. TUMANTZEV replied that he would take care of it himself. GOLDBLATT also stated that he wanted TUMANTZEV to meet an individual who is mixed up in politics in Pasadena. TUMANTZEV expressed willingness, although the individual's name was at no time mentioned. S

GOLDBLATT, who was formerly employed in the Film Library of 20th Century Fox Studios, is now a co-owner of a 16 mm. distributing company in Los Angeles. He is the subject of an Internal Security - R case in Los Angeles.

Re: SODAC, LOS ANGELES
INTERNAL SECURITY - R

On May 21, 1947 TUMANTZEV conversed with an individual who was later identified as ALBERT MALTZ. TUMANTZEV remarked that it had been a long time since he had seen MALTZ and stated that he wished to meet with him. He then told MALTZ that his address had been changed; that he now resided at [redacted] from the old building. They agreed to meet at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel the following afternoon at 2:30 P.M. This exact conversation is being set out for the reason that if TUMANTZEV accompanied any of the Russian Agriculturists to the MALTZ home, as stated hereinbefore, this conversation would seem to be double-talk and might have been an effort to hide MALTZ' identity. S

b7D

Special Agents DONALD ALDRICH and HAROLD DODGE of this office observed the meeting between TUMANTZEV and MALTZ on May 22, 1947. They conversed with each other while walking back and forth on Hollywood Boulevard and while doing so TUMANTZEV from time to time looked behind him as though attempting to determine if he was being surveilled. S

When TUMANTZEV and MALTZ separated at approximately 3:30 P.M. MALTZ drove to the office of the Screen Writers Guild in Hollywood, remained in his car in front of the office for approximately ten minutes and then approached the office building. As he reached the door he stopped and looked carefully in all directions and evidently noted the car driven by the Agents approximately one-half block away. It is not known if he was taking just normal precautions or if he actually noted the surveillance, but instead of going directly into the office building he walked across the street then down a block, crossed back across the street and then returned to the Screen Writers Guild office at which time he entered. S

On May 26, 1947 at 10:47 A.M. TUMANTZEV attempted unsuccessfully to get in touch with LEWIS MILESTONE who at the time was working at Republic Studios. He left a message for MILESTONE to call him. At 11:07 A.M. on the same date TUMANTZEV attempted to get in touch with JOHN WEXLEY but was advised by WEXLEY's daughter that he was out of town and would not return for about ten days. At 11:10 A.M. TUMANTZEV made an appointment with CHARLIE CHAPLIN to see him immediately at CHARLIE's house. At 4:08 P.M. LEWIS MILESTONE spoke with TUMANTZEV in Russian. Although the context of this conversation was furnished to this office by CNDI [redacted] it has not yet been translated from Russian to English. The Bureau will be advised by separate letter when this translation is obtained, however it is significant to note that on the same day and at the same time TUMANTZEV was exceptionally anxious to talk to someone connected with the motion picture industry. MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON
MR. TAMM
MR. LADD
MR. NICHOLS

At the request of Congressman J. Parnell Thomas I saw him in my office this afternoon.

The Congressman stated that he believed that there had been much better relations between the Un-American Affairs Activities Committee and this Bureau than had previously existed, but he believed that the Committee should work even closer with the Bureau than it had in the past. He stated that his Committee was preparing to initiate inquiries into the penetration of subversive elements into the motion picture industry for which Hearings are tentatively scheduled for next September. He stated he was having difficulty in developing the necessary information in this situation, not because of the unavailability of the information, but more so because of the pressure exerted on individuals who are desirous of being helpful to the Committee. He referred to a Mr. Loff itt who is a motion picture critic for Esquire Magazine and who originally was willing to handle a portion of the investigations for the Committee but who has advised Congressman Thomas that by reason of the pressure brought upon Esquire Magazine and himself he would be unable to handle the investigations but would be perfectly willing to appear and testify as a witness. The Congressman stated also that Mr. Stedman, formerly with the Committee and now living in Los Angeles, had also been called upon to direct certain portions of the investigation but that he was now threatened with a nervous breakdown and was unable to assume the duties anticipated.

The Congressman inquired of me as to the record of Mr. H. A. Smith of [redacted] telephone Trinity 7491, who he said was a former Agent in the Bureau. I checked our files and then called Assistant SAC Ellsworth of Los Angeles and verified the fact that Mr. Smith's record was satisfactory. I gathered from what the Congressman said that he intends to employ Mr. Smith.

The Congressman also inquired about a former Agent whose specific name he did not have, but whose name he thought was either Hillman, Hellman or Kellman. A check of our files failed to disclose anyone with these names and likewise a check by me with Mr. Ellsworth failed to disclose any such person as having formerly been employed in the Bureau.

The Congressman stated that he knew, of course, that our files were confidential but that he likewise knew of our vast knowledge of subversive activities and he had reason to know that our Los Angeles Office had a pretty complete picture of the motion picture setup insofar as the subversive elements were concerned. He stated he would greatly appreciate it if entirely off the record and with absolute assurance that it would not pass beyond him as Chairman of the Committee, I could arrange for leads and information of value to the Committee to be furnished to the Committee. He suggested that since he had contact with this Bureau through Mr. Nichols, Mr. Nichols might be designated to be the contact with him.

I told the Congressman that of course we wanted to be as helpful to the Committee as we could but that the Bureau could not be publicly drawn into the investigation nor be called to appear in it in any capacity. The Congressman assured me faithfully that he understood that and would never embarrass the Bureau to that extent. I told him that I would be perfectly willing to have Mr. Nichols designated to be the contact with him and to review our files to see what help we might be able to be to the Committee insofar as submitting leads and material that might be used as a basis of interrogation.

The Congressman stated that one of the first persons they wanted to inquire about would be Charles Chaplin.

There is in process of preparation, as I understand it, in the Security Division an over-all memorandum upon the motion picture situation and I would like to have this very promptly expedited in order that we can then determine what information may be made available to Congressman Thomas through Mr. Nichols of this Bureau.

I am, of course, most desirous of being as helpful to this Committee as I can. We will not be able to disclose the confidential sources of our information and no doubt in some instances by reason of the extreme confidential character of information received we may not be able to disclose some of the information we have, but I do think that it is long overdue for the Communist infiltration in Hollywood to be exposed, and as there is no medium at the present time through which this Bureau can bring that about on its own motion I think it is entirely proper and desirable that we assist the Committee of Congress that is intent upon bringing to light the true facts in the situation.

RE: [redacted]

Dear Sir:

Confidential Informant [redacted] was interviewed by Special Agent William J. McCarthy, Jr. on April 18 and April 21, 1947. b7D

On April 18th, [redacted] was interviewed concerning two matters in connection with the case entitled "COMMUNIST PARTY, USA - BRIEF; INTERNAL SECURITY - C". The first matter concerned ADAM LAPIN's membership in the Communist Party. [redacted] advised that ADAM LAPIN was the Washington correspondent for the "Daily Worker" for six years prior to 1945. In 1945 he came to New York and became a member of the Editorial Board of the "Daily Worker". He is a member of the Communist Party and has been for many years. His wife EVE is also a member of the Party. LAPIN could not be on the Editorial Board of the "Daily Worker" unless he was a Communist. He has attended National Committee meetings and Political Committee meetings as an observer. He would not be invited unless he was a trusted member. He is close to EUGENE DENNIS and the latter considers him a valuable man. LAPIN developed many contacts while in Washington and the Party found it hard to replace him. [redacted] believes that LAPIN engaged in conspiratorial work with DENNIS, in addition to his duties as a correspondent. He bases this on the fact that LAPIN was so close to DENNIS, and further that DENNIS kept him in Washington for some time after he, LAPIN, was transferred to New York. b7D

LAPIN is also friendly with PHILLIP JAFFE, who was involved in the AMERASIA case. LAPIN discussed transferring his Party membership from Washington to New York in 1945 when he joined the "Daily Worker" staff in New York. The discussion took place in the presence of [redacted] and WILLIAM BROWDER. Others were also present, but [redacted] could not recall them. b7D

WJM:RMJ
62-8988

The second matter concerned the significance of the article "Patriotism", which originally appeared in "New Times" in October, 1945, and was reprinted in "Political Affairs" in October, 1945. The Bureau presented three questions in connection with this article: (1) The reception of the article at National Headquarters and the identity and comments of persons who commented on the article; (2) The significance of the article being reprinted in "Political Affairs"; and (3) The significance of the article in relation to the DUCLOS article.

[redacted] advised that when the article was received at the "Daily Worker", which was probably in the Summer of 1945, there was a good deal of discussion about it, and the article made an impression on [redacted]. However, the only discussion he could recall at this time was a conversation with V. J. JEROME, who advised [redacted] that the article was important and should be played up in the "Daily Worker", and further it should be used as source material. [redacted] stated that JEROME indicated in his directive to [redacted] that pressure was being put on him, JEROME, by some higher authority, possibly the "C.I. rep" BERGER, who is GERHART EISLER, and the Political Committee, to play up the article. b7D

The printing of the article in "Political Affairs" was significant in that this one article was picked out of the many that appeared in "New Times" for reprint. It was printed in "Political Affairs" in order to reach more people.

The article was important in light of the DUCLOS article since this article was written to prepare Communists for the period ahead when they could expect their patriotism to be attacked and when the patriotism of their organization "The World Federation of Trade Unions" would be attacked. At the time the article was written, which was immediately after the DUCLOS article, the patriotism of Communists was not being attacked; hence, this preparation for an attack on their patriotism meant that there was to be a change in the Party line and the war of nerves against the United States was to be on.

[redacted] advised that the article brings out the idea that the Soviet Union is the motherland of all workers and the best patriot is the one who is patriotic to the motherland. b7D

The above information on LAPIN and the article "Patriotism" was furnished to the Bureau by teletype dated April 18, 1947.

[redacted] also advised that he expected to some day go before the Un-American Activities Committee in Washington and testify concerning DENNIS and his activities with the Office of Strategic Services and other Government agencies. Also, he wished to identify Miss Y., who is RUBY WEIL, and who worked with [redacted] and RICHARDS of the Russian Secret Police, and who eventually introduced SYLVIA AGELOFF to FRANK JACSON, who subsequently killed TROTSKY. He stated further he expected to testify concerning the Communist Party connections of certain Hollywood people, as follows: b7D

CHARLIE CHAPLIN: [redacted] advised that CHAPLIN may or may not be a member of the Communist Party. However, he is extremely cooperative and is to some extent controlled by the Party. He will always go along with the Party. He has helped the Party financially. [redacted] advised that he felt that CHAPLIN financially aided the West Coast Communist daily. [redacted] added that this paper could not be self-supporting and had to be assisted. b7D

JAMES CAGNEY: [redacted] stated that CAGNEY was at one time a member of the Communist Party, but that he turned "yellow" and dropped out. b7D

EDWARD G. ROBINSON: [redacted] advised that ROBINSON was a member of the Party and was always very cooperative.

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON: [redacted] advised that LAWSON was a Hollywood writer and was one of the key individuals in the handling of Communist Party work among the Hollywood set. He is a member of the Party. b7D

FREDERIC MARCH: [redacted] advised that MARCH was a member of the Party, and has been cooperative for many years. He stated that on one occasion a few years ago MARCH was criticized for his acting in the "Daily Worker". MARCH was upset about this and through someone, possibly V. J. JEROME, MARCH sent word to the "Daily Worker" that he didn't mind criticism generally, but he didn't like criticism when it came from those who represented the world in which he believes. According to [redacted] the individual who conveyed MARCH's message advised that MARCH had tears in his eyes when he sent the message. b7D

FLORENCE ELDREDGE, wife of FREDERIC MARCH: [redacted] advised that she was a member of the Communist Party and had cooperated for many

b7D

On April 21, 1947, [redacted] was interviewed relative to MILTON HOWARD, also known as MILTON HALPERN, of the Editorial Board of the "Daily Worker". The Bureau desired information relative to the Communist Party membership of HOWARD. [redacted] advised that HOWARD was a member of the Communist Party. He added he knew this for the following reasons: He handled HOWARD's draft exemption request and in handling this it was necessary to know whether or not HOWARD was a Party member. He recalled that HOWARD had been active with the Communists before joining the Party and had held out for some time before actually becoming a member. He believed that HOWARD joined the Party about seven or eight years ago. [redacted] further pointed out that HOWARD was a member of the Editorial Board of the "Daily Worker" and in this capacity he attended National Committee meetings and Political Committee meetings and he had to be a Communist. He further pointed out that all members of the editorial staff of the "Daily Worker" had to be approved by Headquarters. This approval, during the period that [redacted] was connected with the "Daily Worker", came from either BROWDER, DENNIS or STACHEL. He added that Headquarters would only approve trusted members of the Party. [redacted] also recalled that in discussions at the "Daily Worker" he had heard several members, whom he cannot recall, state that HOWARD was a Party member. [redacted] also added that HOWARD's wife, FRIEDA HOWARD, was a member of the Party and at one time was active in the Medical Section of the Party, working among doctors.

b7D

b7D

The information on HOWARD's membership in the Party was furnished the Bureau by teletype dated April 21, 1947.

b7D

On April 21, 1947, [redacted] also advised that he had decided to reveal the identity of Miss I. (RUBY WEIL) at his next public lecture, which was to be at a Catholic labor school in Newark on Friday, April 25, 1947. He stated that he originally desired to protect RUBY WEIL, because he felt that she was an innocent victim of the Russians. He stated that although he has not changed his policy in regard to protecting innocent persons, he feels now that RUBY is probably being required to remain silent as a result of duress, and for this reason he feels it would be better to identify her. He only suspected duress but did not actually know of any.

b7D

[redacted] also advised that he had commenced writing a series of ten articles, one to appear each week in the "Catholic News" and all diocesan weeklies. The first article, which appeared in the "Catholic News", dated April 19, 1947, is being forwarded to the Bureau with this letter.

Louis Budenz Calls Encyclical Of Pope Pius XI Biggest Expose Of Communism Ever Published

during the past year because of the astounding fidelity with which it reproduces the Communist "movement" as it exists and is lived by one who is an active Red. Those who have not been Communists cannot appreciate its full degree of accuracy. If they are to combat Red fascism effectively, however, they must come to understand that Encyclical in exactly what it conveys.

Pius XI's momentous declaration was written, though, for world-wide distribution. It could not be a book and could not go into minor details. Each sentence had to be economically constructed and in each sentence is packed a whole chapter describing Communist activities and purposes.

What is required above all, then, is a footnoting of this message to mankind, so that its every vital word will become vivid in the minds of current-day Americans. I welcome the opportunity which the Catholic Press has given me to make a beginning in this direction. From out of my experiences as a Communist leader, and in many episodes which I have witnessed in the Communist underground, the tremendous import of what Pius XI says can be more fully grasped.

How many people appreciate, for instance, what is meant when the Pope says that communism is a "diabolical" conspiracy? That is a word not lightly chosen by His Holiness. If the Communist activities—"directed from a common center," as the Pope says—are "diabolical," then they will have to be combatted in a much more intelligent and prayerful way than is sometimes the case.

Pius XI recognizes this with crystal clarity. It is not only the aim of Communism which is of the essence of evil but also its methods. "Insidious deceits," "trickery of various forms," "perfidy and hypocrisy" are some of the terms by which he so correctly characterizes their acts.

Agents Confuse Issues

The very diabolical quality of the constant deceit employed by the Communists makes it more difficult to expose thoroughly their crimes. If anyone begins to throw real light on the darkness of the Communist underground, the Reds immediately call upon their agents in the non-Communist press and organizations to berate and discredit the truths which are being told. Beyond that, any measures will be taken—even to the point of perjury and forgery—to break down in the public mind the full effect of such revelations.

Let me draw a moment on my own experiences in confirmation. The evidence of the conspiratorial character of the American Communist Party, as disclosed in my book This Is My Story, has been called "the most damaging ever put on paper." And yet, that is only a small part of what can be told and should be told. The rest of the indictment will have to be drawn up with the greatest of care, since the Communist conspiracy will resort to every device to concoct alleged flaws, and to call upon fellow-travelers in the current daily press to falsify and [illegible] perjury has been effective.

Moved Cautiously

Even in those instances where specific and sweeping revelations were made by me—as in the case of Gerhart Eisler, representative of the Communist International—the utmost caution had to be my guide. From the beginning I knew that Edwards, the Moscow representative here from 1933 to 1938, was Eisler. But I had to phrase my charge to that effect with the maximum of caution, for fear that the Reds would forge documents showing that Eisler had been in Kamchatka or Canton at that time.

With the friends whom I knew the Communists had had in the State Department, I had no assurance that the perjured passports on which Eisler had traveled back and forth had not been destroyed. It is providential that my charges were so quickly backed up by the appearance of the documents which demonstrated the widespread perjury and forgery used on his passports.

And yet, so truly diabolical are Communist methods that these conclusive proofs of criminal conspiracy have not fazed them at all. They are unloosing a new campaign of falsehoods, designed to deceive the American people as to what Eisler is and what he has done.

If we really mean to fight communism, we can afford to learn the exact details of this Eisler case and tell it in every corner of America. It graphically presents the full depravity of Communist methods—to the event of cynically using false American citizenship to forward Moscow's plots against America.

Pius XI has prepared us for such trickery by his warnings in "Divini Redemptoris." Against such organized perfidy, we shall have to bring into play organized alertness—knowing exactly what the Communist movement is, how it proceeds, and upon that knowledge giving it no rest in bringing its trickery concretely into the light of day.

The Aim

"Before they (these articles) are over with, I shall have indicated pretty well how communism can be fought concretely.

"I find that Catholics are quite good, of course, in understanding the general menace of communism. They are rather naive, though, in detecting how Communist propaganda is carried on and in ferreting out the deceit of the Communists.

"I hope, in this series, to show two big general things: 1. That this is a conspiracy which has to be fought seriously and continuously and intelligently; 2. That the deceit of the Communists has to be matched by Catholic alertness (and indeed patriotic American alertness) to how it operates.

"The whole warfare on communism has been too general and too remote." Excerpts from a letter by Mr. Budenz submitting the first articles in this series.

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY; INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Reference is made to the conversation between Mr. D. M. Ladd and Assistant Special Agent in Charge J. C. Ellsworth on June 30, 1947, concerning the captioned matter.

To further confirm the instructions issued to your office at the time of the referenced telephone call, the Bureau desires to instruct your office that immediate consideration be given to the possibility of utilizing other Communist informants in the Los Angeles Field Division for the obtaining of information on the captioned subject matter.

The Bureau is well aware of the valuable information submitted to your office by Confidential Informant [redacted] but the Bureau is desirous of corroborating the data submitted by this source. Specifically, the Bureau is interested in ascertaining the general background of the Communist movement in Hollywood within the Motion Picture Industry, and also the method of operation used by the Communists in the Motion Picture Industry, that is, how do the Communists function in the labor unions, particularly the Conference of Studio Unions. The Bureau also is interested in ascertaining the local and national connections between the cultural groups, such as the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, and the Communist Party, as well as the Communist activity through such front organizations as the Progressive Citizens of America. b7D

If your office does not deem it advisable to utilize other Communist informants, every effort should be made to establish additional informants within the Motion Picture Industry to obtain the desired coverage.

The Bureau also desires that available informants be utilized in the analyzing of some of the current motion pictures with the following objectives: Determine the Communist connections with the production of instant motion pictures, the Communist propaganda injected into the picture, the script, or the scenes, and the excluding or withholding of any anti-Communist statements or scenes from being made a part of the picture.

The Bureau also desires that you submit background information and all Communist connections of the individuals who were indicted with Herbert K. Sorrell November 22, 1946, in Los Angeles for felonious conspiracy in connection with the motion picture strike. These individuals were listed in a letter from your office dated January 27, 1947, captioned, "Communist Infiltration into the Conference of Studio Unions, Internal Security - C."

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY; INTERNAL SECURITY - C

In view of the pending hearings to be conducted in Washington, D. C., by the House Committee on Un-American Activities concerning Communist infiltration into the Motion Picture Industry, the Bureau desires that you immediately arrange to have Louis Budenz interviewed for all information which he may possess concerning the captioned matter.

Specifically, the Bureau desires that Mr. Budenz be questioned relative to the instructions issued by Communist Party Headquarters concerning the infiltration of the Motion Picture Industry and the dissemination of Communist propaganda through motion pictures. The Bureau is in receipt of information from the Los Angeles Office through a confidential informant that in the spring of 1935, a directive came down in mimeographed form from the top structure of the Communist Party instructing them to intensify and concentrate their activities on the Motion Picture Industry. The directive is said to have emphasized the fact that the Communists should try to capture the labor unions and to penetrate the so-called intellectual groups.

It is requested that Mr. Budenz be questioned concerning these instructions in an effort to see if he can elaborate on them or corroborate them.

The Bureau is desirous of ascertaining how the Communists functioned in the Motion Picture Industry and whether or not their work was directed by the local Party leaders or through National Headquarters. He should be questioned concerning the Communist activity in the Screen Writers Guild. Specifically, he should be questioned concerning the objective of the Communists in the Screen Writers Guild and their modus operandi. Similarly, he should be questioned concerning the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and the Conference of Studio Unions. Budenz should be questioned concerning the Communist affiliations of Herbert K. Sorrell, leader of the Conference of Studio Unions, Waldo Salt, and Dalton Trumbo, both screen writers. He should be asked, in addition, who in his opinion are the leading functionaries of the Communist Party in the Motion Picture Industry.

100-138754-170

The Bureau desires that this interview be most thorough and that all available information concerning Communist activities in the Motion Picture Industry in the possession of Mr. Budenz be obtained. This data should be correlated and submitted to the Bureau no later than July 25, 1947.

Reference is made to your letter to the Bureau dated June 11, 1947 captioned as above.

Attached to the referenced letter you forwarded a list of "Communist Party Members Employed in the Motion Picture Industry - Los Angeles - June 11, 1947", as obtained through Confidential Informant CHDI [redacted] on May 25, 1947. A review of this list at the Seat of Government has been made and it is found that the information set out concerning many of the individuals listed as Communists is entirely inadequate. b7D

The Bureau must know, for example, how your office knows that Alice Adams, member of the Hollywood Industrial Club, is a member of the Communist Party, employed in the Motion Picture Industry. It is necessary that factual information be set out to substantiate the opinion of the agents compiling this list who analyzed the information obtained through [redacted] b7D

As a further example, Dorothy Babb is listed as a member of the "London" Club, under which appears in parenthesis the word "dropped" and showing her occupation as a writer. The Bureau desires to know whether or not this individual was dropped from the "London" Club and is no longer a member of the Communist Party or has she assumed membership in another Club or maintains a membership at large status.

Naomi Bass is referred to under the heading Club as being a "Guest". The Bureau desires to know whether or not this individual is a guest in that she is a visitor to Hollywood or whether she is a member of the Guest Club and how your office knows that she is employed in the Motion Picture Industry.

It is further noted that following the name of Frances Berkman under Occupation, there appears the following information: "Wife of studio worker". Again it is desired that your office clarify why the wife of a studio worker is listed on a list captioned Communist Party Members Employed in the Motion Picture Industry.

Throughout the entire list similar confusing, misleading and non-factual statements appear under the head "Club" and "Occupation" which must be completely clarified. For example, if an individual is a member of the Precisor 16th CD Club, the Bureau desires to know whether or not that is the name of a club and the significance of the initials "CD" and why an individual belonging to that club is employed in the motion picture industry.

Similarly, if an individual is listed as a member of the J. Brown Club or the O (naught) Club, if these again are clubs and how it is known that individuals who are members of these clubs are likewise employed in the motion picture industry.

Likewise, where a member or an individual is listed as a member of the Fox Club, the Bureau desires to know whether the Fox Club is within the Twentieth Century Fox Studios or a separate unit of the Communist Party.

Again it is noted that under the heading of Club such information appears as A/2, Hollywood, YCL, Southpaw, Mary, Ward, Flam, Cultural, Hollywood Industrial, CP Book #49925, etc. The usage of these words or phrases under the heading of Club should be completely clarified so that the Bureau knows whether or not each of these items listed under the heading Club are Communist Party units or Clubs or whether the data set forth is used to identify the individual as a member of the Communist Party in Hollywood.

Under the caption of Occupation numerous abbreviations are used such as SOEG - AFL, Musician #47, AFL, etc. The full and complete name of the union or other occupational affiliation of the individual should be set out and abbreviations should be eliminated.

As you are undoubtedly aware, the Un-American Activities Committee of the House of Representatives is planning to hold hearings in September of this year concerning the Communist infiltration into the Motion Picture Industry at which time the Bureau may be called upon to furnish certain information concerning the extent of Communist penetration into the Motion Picture Industry, as well as the general operations of the Communist Party in that field. Consequently, I feel that the Bureau must have a most accurate knowledge of the Communist Party membership in the Motion Picture Industry. Such a knowledge can only be based upon fact, not upon that which apparently is correct or which is assumed with a reasonable degree of certainty. I am therefore instructing you to personally supervise the preparation of a new list of known Communist Party members, their occupations and clubs, if known, from the data obtained through [redacted] on May 25, 1947. b7D

I must again insist that every precaution be taken in the preparation of this list to eliminate error and to submit a factual document to the Bureau on the members of the Communist Party in the Hollywood Motion Picture Industry. This data should be in the Bureau no later than August 1, 1947.

RE: HOUSE COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES

Dear Sir:

Former Special Agent H. A. SMITH, who is now practicing law in this city, has advised me that he received a telephone call from Chairman THOMAS of the House Un-American Activities Committee with reference to his taking over an investigation into the Committee's inquiry into Communism in the Motion Picture Industry, and subsequently he received a telegram on June 26th from ROBERT E. STRIPLING, Chief Investigator for the Committee, inviting him to Washington, D. C. to attend a conference with the Committee on July 18th next.

SMITH stated he will accept the invitation to come to Washington and he would like very much to have a conference with Mr. Hoover on July 17th prior to his meeting with the Committee. SMITH advised me that he would not accept this position at all if the Bureau did not feel that it was a good thing for him to do and if he could not call on the Bureau for some support and assistance. He is extremely anxious that the Bureau be satisfied with any arrangement he might have with the Committee. I suggested to him that he direct a letter to Mr. Hoover advising that he would be in Washington on July 17th and request an appointment.

The Bureau's records will reflect that SMITH was on Special assignment under Assistant Director E. J. Connelley at San Francisco in connection with the Harry Bridges investigation and he, therefore, had at that time a rather comprehensive picture of many phases of the Communist program and he is aware of the problems and pitfalls of such an investigation. SMITH is not, I believe, seeking any kind of glory for himself in connection with any work for the Committee and it is believed that a most satisfactory working arrangement could be effected between him and the Bureau.

Very truly yours,

R. B. HOOD, SAC.

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C
Bureau File No. 100-[illegible]

Dear Sir:

Rebutel June 24, 1947; report of SA ROBERT W. HOLLMAN dated March 14, 1947 in the case entitled COMMUNIST PARTY, USA, District 13, Los Angeles Field Division, INTERNAL SECURITY - C, Bureau File No. 100-3-25; and letter to Bureau from Los Angeles dated June 11, 1947.

The information contained in the report of Special Agent HOLLMAN as to the Communist Party members employed in the motion picture industry was based primarily upon information furnished by CNDI [redacted], which symbol was applied to "black bag jobs" performed on several occasions which resulted in access to records maintained by ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN. In order that the Bureau may have a clear picture of all the information obtained through this source over a period of years, reference should first be made to the report of SA JOHN R. VICARS, Los Angeles, California, dated February 16, 1944 in the case entitled COMMUNIST PARTY, USA, District Number 13, Los Angeles Field Division, INTERNAL SECURITY - C, Bureau File Number 100-3-23. That report was predicated upon information submitted by CNDI [redacted] on November 16, 1943 which was the first time that official records of membership of the Communist Party in the cultural field in Los Angeles and Hollywood were obtained. b7D b7D

At that time all the Party's cultural people in the Hollywood area were assigned to what was known as the Northwest Section of the Party, Hollywood being in the northwest portion of Los Angeles. On that occasion, as on most of the subsequent occasions, the records referred to the members generally by first name and last initial, in a few instances by initials only, and in still fewer instances full names were set forth. The manner in which the identifications were made in that report is explained in the report, briefly it being through CNDI [redacted] coupled with physical surveillances by Bureau Agents. A majority of the names set forth in the report of SA HOLLMAN on March 13, 1947, referred to above, appeared in the records as obtained in 1943. b7D

The records obtained on that date established the 1943 Communist Party, USA membership of the people listed. On that occasion the records were found at 1227 North Crescent Heights Boulevard, Los Angeles, California, and were maintained jointly by MARJORIE POTTS and ELIZABETH GLENN.

The next occasion on which the records of the Northwest Section, that is the cultural section of the Party, were obtained was on August 31, 1944. On this occasion ELIZABETH GLENN, during the course of a physcial surveillance, was observed moving what appeared to be records of the Northwest Section from 1227 Crescent Heights, and on that day she had all the material with her in her automobile. Therefore on the evening of August 31, 1944 CNDI [redacted] was again employed and the records secured from GLENN's unlocked car were photographed and replaced. The Agents participating on this occasion were JOHN R. VICARS, DAVID A. McCULLOCH, FRED G. DUPUIS, and former SA's ROBERT W. HOLLMAN and SIMON LOCHER. The records obtained on this occasion contained the names of functionaries and members of the Northwest Section broken down branch by branch or club by club. After each individual's name was given the 1943 and 1944 Communist Party, USA membership book numbers issued the individual. b7D

The next occasion on which the cultural records were secured was on January 8, 1945. On this occasion the records were again obtained by a "black bag job", utilizing the services of CNDI [redacted] who provided access to the residence of ELIZABETH GLENN, an apartment house at [redacted] The Agents participating on this occasion were JOHN R. VICARS, DAVID A. McCULLOCH, FRED DUPUIS, and former SA ROBERT W. HOLLMAN. b6 b7C b7D

In December, 1945 the Northwest Section of the Communist Party, Los Angeles was technically disbanded and reorganized, and the members were reassigned to one of approximately thirteen cultural and miscellaneous clubs. The records obtained on this occasion were considered particularly helpful for the reason that a majority of the names appearing therein were complete; that is, first name and last initial was not used.

Through the services of CNDI [redacted] the records of ELIZABETH GLENN were again photographed on January 16, 1945 in the course of a "black bag job", the participating Agents at that time being DAVID A. McCULLOCH, PAUL W. GIBBS and FRED G. DUPUIS. On this occasion the records again were obtained at [redacted] The final lists of assignments to the cultural groups referred to in the records obtained on January 8, 1945 were again photographed, together with considerable other information. These records contained the functionaries and club by club breakdown of the cultural people of the Party in Hollywood, and established membership in the Communist Political Association. Also set forth was a lengthy list of new recruits, together with the name of the person who recruited them. The 1944 CPA membership cards were shown. b6 b7C b7D

On February 26, 1945 through the same source and at the same place, the records were again photographed by Special Agents JOHN R. VICARS and FRED G. DUPUIS and former SA ROBERT W. HOLLMAN. On this occasion the 1945 CPA membership card number of the individuals was shown and full names and addresses were secured in most instances. Of particular significance on this occasion was the fact that 1945 CPA registration cards were secured which supplied certain background data on the individual subjects' addresses, sex, occupation, district where employed, Union affiliation, and whether the individual subscribed to the People's Daily World.

As the Bureau is aware, the Communist Political Association was dissolved in the Fall of 1945 and the Party undertook to register its members for the year 1946 in the Communist Party, USA.

On November 19, 1945 during the course of the registration, again through the services of CNDI [redacted] former SA ROBERT W. HOLLMAN and SA FRED G. DUPUIS photographed the registration cards for membership in the Communist Party, USA for the year 1946. It should be noted that by this time the Party generally had inaugurated more strict security methods and on this occasion the registration cards were much less susceptible to identification, since in the space where the name was to be indicated some clubs had actually cut out such section; other clubs had indicated the person's name by a number and numbered their members in sequence, for example, from 1 to 49; other clubs had inserted initials to which there appeared to be no rhyme or reason and were obviously false. However, there were lists of names, giving the first name and last initial, which accompanied each stack of registration cards, and it was possible to determine accurately the identity of a substantial number of members registered for the year 1946.

This was the last occasion on which access was had to the records of the Cultural Section of the Party in Hollywood as such, and shortly thereafter ELIZABETH GLENN relinquished her position as Organizer for the Cultural Group and took the position of Financial Director for the Communist Party in Los Angeles County. At the present time it is not definitely known just what records are maintained or who has them, although investigation to determine this is actively being carried on.

It should be borne in mind that to supplement the above sources the Los Angeles Office had the services of certain technical informants and physical surveillances.

To fully answer the Bureau teletype of reference which desired to know the exact source on each individual listed in the report of SA HOLLMAN on March 13, 1947, the names contained therein are being set forth again at this time and after each name will appear an X to indicate on just which of the various occasions CNDI [redacted] was used that such individual's name appeared in the records of ELIZABETH GLENN. b7D

To facilitate the preparation of this tabulation the records obtained on August 31, 1944 are being referred to as Source I, those obtained on January 8, 1945 as Source II, those obtained on January 16, 1945 as Source III, those on February 26, 1945 as Source IV, and those on November 19, 1945 as Source V. A column for Source VI is being set up which will be used when the person's membership was determined through the individual informant indicated thereunder.

In checking the list set forth in Agent HOLLMAN's report a few errors were noted as follow: MIKE BENOFF referred to on Page 7 should be MAC BENOFF; GEORGE BURNSON, on the same page, is most frequently referred to in the records as GEORGE BERNSON; VIRGINIA BIERTEL is actually VIRGINIA VIERTEL; PHOEBE BRAND is also known as PHOEBE BARNOVSKY. On page 8, the correct spelling should be MORRIS BARNOVSKY instead of BARNOVSHY; also, HELEN CORB on that page appears to be identical with HELEN BEVERLY; also, DOROTHY COMINGORE is identical with LINDA COLLINS, the wife of RICHARD COLLINS. On the same page, ALFRED D'AGLE appears in the records photographed as ALFRED LAIGLE. On page 9, JUNE FOREY should be spelled FORAY. On the same page, JACK GULFORD should be spelled JACK GUILFORD. On page 10, ROY MAYER appears in many places in the records photographed as RAY MAYER. On page 11, BARBARA and HENRY MYERS are quite frequently referred to in the records as BAREARA and HENRY MYERS; also IRVING RAVITCH should be RAVETCH; also DAVID ROBSON is more commonly known as DAVID ROBISON. On page 12 GEORGE F. THOMAS should be GEORGE H. THOMAS. On page 13, ALEXANDER WALDON is also quite frequently spelled WALDEN. It should also be noted that three names appeared in former SA HOLLMAN's report for which a documentary source of Party membership cannot be found. Two of these appear to have been inserted through inadvertence, they being MARK DAVID and SOREINO SMITH. No reference to either of these individuals of any type appears in the indices of the Los Angeles Office. The third name in question is that of MILTON MERLIN. MERLIN has a long record of activity in Communist front organizations and participation in forums with known Communist Party members, but a search of the records referred to in this letter fails to specifically identify him as a Party member.

With further reference to the list set forth in the report of former SA HOLLMAN, it should be definitely pointed out that the place of employment indicated should be used very advisedly inasmuch as individuals in the industry change assignments very frequently and no assumption should be made that the place of employment is current.

It will also be noted from the foregoing that the latest positive record of Party membership on the part of individuals listed is for those who registered as members for the year 1946 which is indicated under column V in the following tabulation. Virtually all of them had a record of membership during the year 1945. The list, with an indication of the source is set forth as follows:

The Bureau teletype of June 24, 1947 further requested that the Bureau be advised specifically how it was known the information made available by CNDI [redacted] on May 28th was the complete record of the Los Angeles Communist Party at that time. b7D

This conclusion is based upon information secured from CNDI [redacted] a functionary of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, who handles membership for the Southside Section, one of the eight sections in Los Angeles County. This informant has advised that in meetings of Section Organizers at which the procedures for handling membership were discussed with HAROLD ROBERTS, the County Membership Director, it was explained that HAROLD ROBERTS was responsible for membership and that LILLIAN ALEXANDER was his technical assistant and succeeded ANNE BYLER who previously held the position. The [redacted] technical assistant, according to the informant, is the worker who does the actual bookkeeping routines regarding records. It was also pointed out to that whenever descrepancies arose as to the section or club to which any individual party member in Los Angeles County was assigned, which frequently happened, the record of the person's membership and place of assignment could readily be straightened out by contacting LILLIAN ALEXANDER since she would have a master record for each of the various sections. b7D

CONF. INFT.

Also, [redacted] participated in a meeting at which it was stated LILLIAN ALEXANDER and HAROLD ROBERTS, the Membership Director, would confer with the person handling membership in each of the 8 sections of the Party to go over the section records and straighten out any conflicts that may exist with the County records. b7D

All of the above was corroborated to a certain extent through physical surveillance of ANNE BYLER and LILLIAN ALEXANDER.

Through [redacted] and additional surveillances it is also known that an elaborate program for handling transfer cards, membership applications, and assignment cards was set up in Los Angeles County whereby certain trusted Party members were selected to contact the various sections to make deliveries and pickups of this material at designated points and be responsible for the material reaching HAROLD ROBERTS, who in turn would arrange for it to reach LILLIAN ALEXANDER. b7D

During conversations with LILLIAN ALEXANDER CNDI [redacted] received the very definite impression that LILLIAN handled all of the records for the entire County, although naturally this was not a matter of specific discussion as [redacted] had no legitimate reason for inquiring about it but did have occasion to see the records for a few minutes and notice that several pages referring to Hollywood were included. b7D

CONF. INFT. Because of this it was felt that when the "black bag job", known as CNDI [redacted] was ultimately consummated there was a possibility that records of the membership of the cultural people in the Party in Hollywood might also appear, however, as explained in my letter of June 11, 1947, it would appear that the records maintained by LILLIAN ALEXANDER were kept for the entire Los Angeles County area, including all eight sections, but that as to the Hollywood Section she had a record of only the industrial people in the motion picture industry and people living in the Hollywood community. b7D

The third question asked by the Bureau was how it was determined which clubs are composed of individuals employed in the motion picture industry.

CONF. INFT.

In this regard CNDI [redacted] has very frequently furnished the mimeographed bulletin put out by the Party in Los Angeles announcing the program and results of the subscription drive for the Daily People's World. The party in these publications lists each of the eight sections and the clubs comprising the section and then sets forth the clubs quotas, subscriptions obtained, etc. This bulletin, which is obtained periodically by [redacted], has included the Hollywood Section and has on occasion indicated clubs in the Hollywood Section varying from a total of eighteen to thirtyfive, indicating there is an almost constant shuffling and reorganizing of clubs and the names thereof in the Hollywood area. b7D

This fact is further corroborated by CNDI [redacted], a member of the Hollywood Section, who knows that names of some clubs have been changed. [redacted] could both state positively that the Hollywood Section contained approximately thirty clubs which were broken down into three sub-sections, cultural, industrial and community. b7D

CONF. INFT.

In addition, CNDI [redacted] as an active functionary in the community sub-section, was able to state which of the clubs were community clubs. As a result it was concluded that the remaining clubs were either industrial or cultural, and information submitted by [redacted] established that the industrial and cultural clubs were formed solely to include in their membership people employed in the motion picture and radio industries. b7D

These facts were further corroborated in the material photographed through the services of [redacted] on May 28th for one exhibit was found which listed thirteen clubs, the names of which it was noted had previously appeared on the People's World bulletins and also opposite seven of these clubs was the letter "C", which it is felt quite conclusively means cultural, and opposite five of these clubs was the letter "I" which it b7D is believed represents industrial. The thirteenth club had the designation "N" by it, this being the "Hollywood Professional Club" which club is known by [redacted] to be attached to the community sub-section. It is believed therefore that the letter "N" indicates community clubs and the letter "C" cultural clubs, and the letter "I" industrial clubs. b7D

To further substantiate this, the records themselves contain names of many individuals with a notation indicating the club to which they are assigned. Almost without exception, where the individual's occupation was given as a writer, for example, it was indicated he was assigned to the Sam Adams Club. It is therefore felt it is reasonable to conclude the Sam Adams Club is a cultural club in the industry. Just to cite one more example of this, opposite the names of many members whose occupations were given as radio industry was a notation that they were assigned to the Peri Club, and some others to the Webbs Club. A more specific illustration could also be made in the case of cartoonists. A record of membership for several individuals whose occupation was given as cartoonist were found, and without exception these individuals were assigned to the Art Young Club.

The Los Angeles Office is in the process of preparing a summary report on the "Cultural Section" of the Communist Party in Los Angeles County which will embody all the information available to establish the membership of these people. A majority of the people who have been identified as members of the Cultural Section have been the subjects of individual case files.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 5/14/92 BY SP2 Cl/Cn

Dear Sir:

In accordance with your request set forth in letter to this office dated July 2, 1947, under the above caption, Confidential Informant [redacted] was interviewed on July 18, 1947 by Special Agents William J. McCarthy and Daniel F. Garde, and again on July 21, 1947 by Special Agent Garde. b7D

DECLASSIFIED BY SP2 Tap/DD ON 1/9/85 CA 87-999

GENERAL COMMENTS ON INFILTRATION OF THE INDUSTRY

[redacted] advises that infiltration of the motion picture industry was very definitely one of the programs of the Communist Party during the period of his membership therein. He does not recall ever having seen the directive containing instructions to intensify activity in the motion picture industry, which was mentioned in your letter and which allegedly came down from the top structure of the Communist Party in the spring of 1935. He points out that it was not until October, 1935 that he was assigned to the Daily Worker building where he for the first time had access to such official documents. He asserts, however, recalling that from the time of his assignment to the Daily Worker in 1935, that there was a very definite emphasis in the discussions and activities of the Party leaders on the program of establishing and strengthening Communist influence in Hollywood and penetrating the motion picture industry ideologically. Although he recalls at this time only a few definite instances of such activity which shall be mentioned below, he declares that various aspects of this program were frequently discussed by officials at Party headquarters and at the Daily Worker. It was generally understood at the Communist Party National Office that the program was of particular importance as it provided an excellent means of molding or influencing public opinion, and the various activities of Communist officials in that connection were of such a scale that the informant regarded the day to day manifestations of their interest thereto as casually as he would have regarded any other routine activities of the other important Communist Party programs.

RECORDED & INDEXED

The Communist Party's interest in the motion picture industry, according to [redacted] has not been entirely divorced from other interests on the West Coast, particularly West Coast shipping. There has been sort of a link between the activities of HARRY BRIDGES and the Communist infiltration program. b7D in Hollywood. BRIDGES was well acquainted with the Hollywood program and was well acquainted with many of the Hollywood crowd; the one helped the other to their mutual advantage.

During the period of the Communist Party's concentrated interest in the movie industry, both EARL BROWDER and WILLIAM Z. FOSTER made trips to San Francisco and presumably to Los Angeles in connection with the Communist Party's interest on the West Coast which included, of course, its interest in the motion picture industry. The informant could not recall the dates or even the years during which these trips were made. He added that it is his understanding that WILLIAM SCHNEIDERMAN, who had quite a bit of authority in Communist Party matters on the West Coast was, of course, active in the program of winning influence in the motion picture industry, although he could not recall any specific documents or comments responsible for his having that impression.

Informant states that sometime following the period during which the actor JAMES CAGNEY was the subject of much publicity as being mixed up in Communist activity, V. J. JEROME made a trip to the West Coast, at which time he spent approximately six weeks in Hollywood for the purpose of straightening out the situation there. JEROME re-organized the Hollywood branch of the Communist Party, separating the top-ranking stars and big name personalities from the lesser lights and rank and file membership. This was done for the protection of the professional set who felt that they were exposing themselves unnecessarily to adverse publicity by being openly associated with non-professionals, who, having less to lose, were too prone to boast of their Communist connections and their acquaintanceship (sometimes made possible through Party activity) with prominent Hollywood people in the same breath. The latter situation was regarded as undesirable as it prevented some of the professionals being as active as they would otherwise have been. JEROME established the separate Communist Party branch in Hollywood for the professional people only, which resulted in bringing more professional people into the Party. [redacted] could not recall just when it was that JEROME made the above-mentioned trip to Hollywood, but indicated it could be approximately located in time by referring to records of the period during which CAGNEY was under attack by the press for being a Communist. b7D

[redacted] states that he frequently sat in on meetings of the Daily Worker's Cultural Committee, during which the Party's program in Hollywood was discussed. This committee met once a week in the Daily Worker office. Its membership included ALEXANDER TRACHTENBERG, who because of his position, had considerable to do with the program; JOSEPH FIELDS; LIONEL BERMAN and ROBERT REED. Informant advises that BERMAN, head of the Cultural Committee, has been in constant contact with Hollywood and has played an important part in the program. He added that BERMAN recently married LOUISE BRANSTON, which now affords him with an even closer contact with the West Coast personalities. BERMAN has been frequently consulted as to the advisability of the Communist Party pushing or promoting this or that script or production, although the Party has not always followed his advice. The informant distinctly recalls BERMAN having distinctly discussed at one of the Cultural Committee meetings, held probably during 1943 or 1944, plans for the formation of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts and Sciences. During this talk BERMAN discussed the desirability of various individuals he considered fit to be made leaders of the ICC. BERMAN, informant distinctly recalls, mentioned EDWARD G. ROBINSON as one of the people that could be relied upon. He also discussed the pros and cons of having JOHN DAVIDSON made chairman of the ICC. Although the informant does not at this time recall the names mentioned, he remembers that BERMAN also mentioned other Hollywood personalities who could be trusted. He states that BERMAN was successful in using well known Hollywood people to further Communist Party aims, FREDERICK MARCH being one of the persons who came under his influence.

As a further specific instance of the interest of the Communist Party in Hollywood, informant recalls V. J. JEROME having told him of a change that had been made in the handling of Communist Party money coming from Hollywood, whereby the "center" (The National Office of the Communist Party) took over the collection of funds from that area. The step was taken because it was felt that up to that time the West Coast was receiving too large a share of the money coming from the Hollywood branch when compared with the whole national set up. [redacted] b7D could not recall when JEROME told him of this, but remembers his having advised that the individual who collected Communist Party funds in Hollywood, by virtue of the new arrangement, became directly responsible to the National Office in New York City.

Included in the general plan to infiltrate the movie industry were various schemes to capture labor unions, influence management, make friends among the company executives and to penetrate the so-called intellectual groups. By mobilizing the Communist Party in back of a particular picture to its liking, management was put on notice that it could expect big support to make the picture a success. Such pictures were boasted on a big scale, tremendous publicity being afforded by the efforts of the Communists. For example, the Party worked particularly hard to promote "Mission To Moscow" and "North Star". Informant recalls sitting in on meetings at National Headquarters, at which publicity campaigns were planned, to push the picture "Mission To Moscow". Although not recalling the contents of any specific directive, he remembers that there were directives issued from Communist Party headquarters containing instructions for the backing and ballyhooing of such motion pictures as "Mission To Moscow". The informant remarked that the whole program was somewhat mixed up with getting help for the promotion of such pictures from the New Deal machinery. For example, he stated somewhere along the line, Congressman SABATH was used in the furtherance of one of the promotion schemes although he could not recall the details.

ADAPHJI

The informant believes the first real impetus to the infiltration of the movie industry program was the sending of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON to Hollywood about 1941 or earlier. [redacted] is satisfied that LAWSON, who was already a fairly successful playwright, in addition to having personal reasons for going to the Coast, also went for the specific purpose of doing Party work. At the time of leaving New York for the West Coast, LAWSON was a Communist Party member. Although in the early thirties, he was introduced to the informant by Dr. HARRY W. LAIDLER (Socialist) as a Socialist. The informant states that he is quite sure that LAWSON was one of the keys to the whole situation and was sent to Hollywood by Communist Party officials in New York for the specific purpose of getting things organized and promoting the Communist Party influence in the motion picture industry. The informant recalls that following LAWSON's arrival in California almost any Communist who could write would be sent by the National Office to be put under LAWSON's wing. [redacted] learned that LAWSON had the Party send him authors "just so long as they had at least written a book", because he could take care of them and thereby would be helping the Party. Informant regards LAWSON's efforts as very successful. In fact, he states the whole Communist program of infiltrating the movie industry was most successful. b7D b7D

Among the writers who were sent out to Hollywood on LAWSON's influence were ALFRED MALTZ, ALVAH BESSIE, DALTON TRUMBO, MICHAEL BLANKFORT and others whose names he could not bring to mind. All of these individuals mentioned above were known by informant to be Communists. MALTZ when in New York was the husband of MARGARET LARKIN (daughter of JIM LARKIN who went to jail with BEN GITLOW). BESSIE had been a writer for "New Masses". BLANKFORT immediately before leaving for California engaged in a lengthy conference with the informant, talking at length about his plans. In addition to having his own personal reasons for wanting to go to Hollywood, it is the informant's belief that BLANKFORT was also to be involved in some program in California, with EMMETT LAVERY, to work on winning Catholics over to the Communist Party in the Hollywood area. BLANKFORT was the author of "The Big Yankee", a biography of General CARLSON.

DOROTHY PARKER, who was a valuable alliance of the Party, if not a card holding Party member, and DONALD OGDEN STUART, were very active in cooperating with LAWSON in the program. STUART became a sort of chairman of the Hollywood branch of the Communist Party, although informant is not sure if he held that exact title. Somewhat prior to the time of LAWSON's West Coast activity, LIONEL STANDER was the equivalent to the Secretary of the Hollywood branch.

THE SCREEN WRITERS GUILD

This organization, according to [redacted] was completely controlled, "body and soul", by the Communist Party. Communists either organized the Guild or were a big factor in its organization. While others may have participated b7D in the formation in its earlier stages, the Communists definitely took over the control of the organization. The development of the Guild was part of the program to infiltrate the movie industry and to dictate policies to the industry. Informant states that EMMETT LAVERY, who was supposed to be a well known Catholic, was made president of the Guild. It was felt by the Party that because of his being known as a Catholic, LAVERY could be effective where a man better known for his Communist connections might have been at a disadvantage. Although supposedly a Catholic, LAVERY was regarded by Party leaders at National Headquarters as a loyal and faithful follower of the Communist Party lines. Informant remarked that LAVERY may not have been as much under the influence and control of the Communists at the outset of his connection with the Guild as he became later on. He may have eventually become an actual Communist, according to [redacted] although he could not be sure of this. Informant advises that in any case Communist leaders were well aware of LAVERY's weaknesses and made very good use of him in connection with instant program. [redacted] recalls hearing the Screen Writers Guild and its activities discussed by Party leaders, and remembers discussions by the Cultural Committee in which it was agreed that control of the writers in Hollywood would provide the wedge for control of all Hollywood. The purpose of the Guild, he states, was to obtain better conditions for its members and to further the Communist Party's potential information influencing public opinion. After it was fully organized, the Party used the Guild in many ways, including for the purpose of "pulling the leg of management". In accordance with the Communist Party strategy of using the negative approach when the positive was found to be unsuccessful or unsuitable, the Guild was also utilized successfully for its "disintegrating effect". The informant explained that he meant by this that management and influential Hollywood persons were forced into line to avoid criticism. So-called "experts" within the Guild, by belittling and harping along certain lines were effective in isolating persons who opposed the Party's lines or were at least successful in destroying their effectiveness. The informant knows from reports seen by him at the Daily Worker at Party headquarters, that at the time he left the Party the Guild was as completely under the Party's control as was the IWO.

b7D

[redacted] recalls HANS EISLER having made some remark to him at Party headquarters to the effect that he, EISLER, was planning to go to Hollywood through the efforts of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON. He further recalls seeing reports reflecting that the Guild had arranged to have PAUL ROBESON appear in several productions.

b7D

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION

The informant has heard of the HOLLYWOOD WRITERS MOBILIZATION, but does not recall in what connection, and does not know enough about the organization to make any comments at this time.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

[redacted] recalls hearing Party leaders discuss the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS. It is his impression that this organization was not necessarily a Communist organization, although the Communists having recognized in it an opportunity for furthering their own purposes, did have a hand in its activities. To what extent that organization was dominated or infiltrated by Communists, informant did not know. It is the informant's belief that the CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS was formed as the result of friction and quarrels within A.F. of L unions on the West Coast. b7D

HERBERT K. SORRELL

[redacted] states that SORRELL, if not an actual Communist Party member, was very close to the Party. SORRELL was discussed at headquarters by Party officials and had the confidence of the Party. He was supposed to carry out the Party's directives. Informant's source for his knowledge of SORRELL, he states to be a number of reports coming from the West Coast to STATCHEL, which the informant saw at Party headquarters and at the Daily Worker. He comments that reports relating to SORRELL were couched in such vague terms, that it was never clear to the informant whether SORRELL was an actual Communist or whether he was a non-Communist who was acting under someone else's influence or pressure. It was his impression that SORRELL did not go out to the West Coast until sometime after the Communist infiltration of the movie industry had been well under way; he suggests that it was perhaps in 1943 or 1944. b7D

WALDO SALT

[redacted] did not know of WALDO SALT. b7D

DALTON TRUMBO

Informant described DALTON TRUMBO as "a half-baked author"; a Communist writer, who at one time wrote articles for the Daily Worker. These articles may have been written by TRUMBO under another name. The informant advises that TRUMBO's work was played up and featured at the Daily Worker inasmuch as TRUMBO was a very enthusiastic Communist Party member.

LEADING COMMUNIST PARTY FUNCTIONARIES AND SYMPATHIZERS IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

The informant advised that he was satisfied that the following Hollywood personalities, all active in the infiltration program, are Communist Party members: EDWARD G. ROBINSON, PAUL ROBESON, FREDERICK MARCH, DOROTHY PARKER (was at one time a Communist), DONALD OGDEN STUART, RUTH McKINNEY, ~~ALFRED HALTZ~~, ALVAH BESSIE, DALTON TRUMBO, MILLEN BRAND, and MICHAEL BLANKFORT. ~~JAMES CAGNEY~~ he states was at one time a Communist, but dropped out a number of ~~years ago~~.

July 25, 1947

In addition to persons mentioned heretofore in this communication, [redacted] named the following persons as being in his opinion, individuals of Communist background or sympathizers, who have been prominent in the program of infiltrating the motion picture industry. In those cases where the informant knew of a particular individual having been a Communist, the fact will be indicated. b7D

|---|---|
| MILLEN BRAND | Communist. Informant not sure BRAND has actually been in Hollywood, but asserts he has definitely been mixed up with the Communist set in the motion picture industry. |
| RICHARD BRANSTEN | Communist. Known personally by informant. Believed to have gone to Hollywood more or less lately, that is, during 1946 or 1947. |
| BARTLEY CRUM | If not a card carrying Communist Party member, follows the Party line and does what the Party wants him to do. Author of "Behind The Silk Curtain". |
| PHIL CONNELLY | Very close to the Communists in Hollywood. Was State Secretary of the CIO and supposedly a Catholic. |
| NORMAN CORWIN | So close to the Communist Party it would be difficult to say that he is not a member. Spoken of in laudatory terms by Party officials and mentioned over and over again in connection with the program of infiltrating the motion picture industry. CORWIN is a script writer. |
| JOHN GARFIELD | Movie actor. A Communist. |
| LILLIAN HELLMAN | Communist. |
| GENE KELLY | Producer. Informant has heard his name mentioned favorably at Party headquarters. Does not know if he is a Party member. |
| ROBERT KENNEY | Was State Attorney General. It is informant's impression that he was a Communist. Informant states that KENNEY has been a leader in the Progressive Citizens of America, which he describes as a Communist front in the Los Angeles area. |

|---|---|
| ALFRED KREYMBOURG | Poet. Informant was not sure this individual has ever actually been in Hollywood. States that he fits into the picture somewhere in connection with the infiltration of the industry. He has a fatherly influence on Communist writers and coaches them before they go to Hollywood. |
| RUTH McKINNEY | Communist. Author of "My Sister Eileen"; now married to RICHARD BRANSTEN. |
| PAUL MUNI | Not necessarily a Communist, but very cooperative. |
| ARCH OBOLER | Writer. Informant is pretty sure OBOLER is a Communist. |

Informant [redacted] states that there have been so many changes on the Hollywood scene, and that he has acquired knowledge of the Communist situation on the West Coast from so many sources, including extensive reading both before and after his break with the Party; that it is most difficult, if not impossible, for him to retell exactly where orwhen he learned of the various people mentioned above being associated with or participating in the Communist program of infiltrating the movie industry. He is quite certain, however, that the persons mentioned in this letter played a definite part in the Communist Party's program to infiltrate the movie industry. b7D

Your attention is called to the fact that additional information previously furnished by the informant in earlier interviews regarding the situation in Hollywood was forwarded to the Bureau in letters of April 25 and July 15, 1947, under the caption of the informant's name.

Very truly yours,

RE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C
Bureau File No. 100-158743

Dear Sir:

Rebulet dated July 2, 1947 which begins "Reference is made to your letter to the Bureau dated June 11, 1947" and to Bureau letter dated July 11, 1947.

DECLASSIFIED BY SP12 BTC on 4-6-95

These two letters ask for clarification of information furnished the Bureau by the Los Angeles Office as to the Communist Party members employed in the Motion Picture Industry, which information was furnished the Bureau in the form of two lists, one based on information received from CNDI [redacted] which was forwarded to the Bureau by letter dated June 11, 1947, and the other based on information obtained from CNDI [redacted] which was forwarded to the Bureau by letter dated June 28, 1947. b7D

All the information set forth on the 3200 list is factual in that it is set forth exactly as it appeared in the records maintained by LILLIAN ALEXANDER. In compiling the list the only discretion exercised by Bureau Agents was in which names to include thereon. To appreciate the problem involved, the Bureau's attention is called to the fact that the Los Angeles County records, maintained by LILLIAN ALEXANDER, were voluminous and necessitated the taking of approximately 1800 photographs. The Hollywood Section records consisted of several folded sheets of paper and were not broken down in an orderly fashion as to club or occupation. In addition, there were many miscellaneous longhand notes regarding individual members. Also, the County records included a large book of transfers and another large book of new members. These two books were for the entire county of Los Angeles and were not broken down section by section, therefore it was necessary to go through these two books and pick out the persons who appeared to be members of the Hollywood Section of the Party. This selection was based upon the information set forth as to the person's club affiliation and occupation.

With reference to ALICE ADAMS, member of "Hollywood Industrial", this individual was included on the list because of the fact the Party records themselves indicated that she was assigned to "Hollywood Industrial" and information previously obtained from CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] had b7D established that the Hollywood Industrial Sub-section had been organized for the sole purpose of including in its membership persons employed in the Motion Picture Industry.

The second person on the list, CHARLOTTE ADAMS, was included because the records contained the notation: "Movie Painter, Union No. 852". It was felt this reference to occupation from the records of LILLIAN ALEXANDER indicated clearly that this person was connected with the Motion Picture Industry.

With reference to DOROTHY BABB, a member of the London Club, after whose name appears the notation "Dropped", this is exactly the information which appeared on LILLIAN ALEXANDER's records. This office has no means of knowing whether this individual is now a member at large or in another club, however the expression "dropped" in Party records secured by this office in the past has always appeared to mean that the person had been dropped from the Party and was no longer a member. When members change clubs the term "transfer" was used. This definition of the terminology used is substantiated to some extent by the fact that elsewhere in the records of LILLIAN ALEXANDER several persons were listed as "dropped" and after the notation would be a reason, such as "illness", "psycho", "no longer interested".

why not get them

In regard to NAOMI BASS, a member of the Guest Club, it is pointed out that on ALEXANDER's records the club designation was given simply as "Guest". CNDI [redacted] has furnished separate information however to the effect that the Guest Club is sometimes referred to as the "David Guest" Club, which indicates this club is apparently named after DAVID GUEST. Efforts are being made to verify her occupation along with the other individuals on the list. b7D

To clarify this list for the Bureau, it should be stated that all the information appearing under the column "Club" is set forth exactly as it appears on the records. From information submitted by [redacted] it is known that these club names are changed frequently. b7D

Some of the clubs named have after them "16th CD". This is an abbreviation for 16th Congressional District, and indicates that the club is attached to the 16th Congressional District Section of the Party in Los Angeles County. Similarly the Party has a section for the 20th Congressional District.

While there is no proof available to this office, it is probable that the Dreiser Club is named after THEODORE DREISER and that the Guest Club is named for DAVID GUEST; the London Club for JACK LONDON; the Fox Club for RALPH FOX; the J. Brown Club for JOHN BROWN; the Franklin Club for BENJAMIN FRANKLIN; the Fiske Club for RICHARD FISKE; the Eldridge

Club for [redacted] ELDRIDGE, etc. CHDI [redacted] says the members of the individual club who were present at the time the name was selected are the only ones who can state unequivocally that it was named after a specific individual, however probable it may appear. (X) b7D

As for the name FRANCES BERKMAN, "wife of studio worker", this individual was inadvertently included on the list. (X)

My letter of June 28 explained in considerable detail the means whereby it was determined these clubs were for individuals employed in the Motion Picture Industry. (X)

As for the column "Occupation", information set forth thereunder was that which appeared on the records themselves, including the abbreviations. For the assistance of the Bureau, these abbreviations, in the order in which they appear, are: (X)

|---|---|
| Film Tech. | Film Technician |
| A.F.L. | American Federation of Labor |
| S.A.G. | Screen Actors Guild |
| A.F.R.A. | American Federation of Radio Artists |
| I.A.T.S.E. | International Alliance of Theatrical State Employees |
| S.O.E.G. | Screen Office Employees Guild (If followed by a number, it indicates the particular local.) |
| I.B.E.W. | International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers |
| Cost. Local #705 | Costumers Local No. 705 |
| C.S.U. | Conference of Studio Unions (If followed by a number, it indicates the particular local.) (X) |

With regard to paragraph 3, on page 2 of the Bureau letter questioning the terms "A No. 2; Hollywood; Y.C.L.; South Paw," etc., it can only be stated these were the club names that appeared in the records. A Communist Party book number appeared on the records in only a few instances and these were included on the list only for the purpose of setting forth completely the information appearing on the records made available by [redacted] (X) b7D

With reference to the Bureau's desire to know positively that the Communist Party members set forth in the two lists referred to are actually employed in the Motion Picture Industry or a member of a Union such as the Screen Actors Guild or Screen Office Employees Guild, this is not in itself assurance that the person is currently so employed. In the first place, the Party apparatus functions very slowly in recording changes in the occupation (X) of its members, and secondly, many of these people are not under contract but are employed on a free lance basis and thereby move from studio to studio.

I have therefore made arrangements to verify the occupation of the persons who appear on the two lists and as soon as this can be done a complete list, showing current occupations, will be prepared and submitted to the Bureau.

Paragraph 3 of Bureau letter dated July 11, 1947 desired clarification of the use of CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] in Column 6 of my letter dated June 28, b7D

The Bureau had previously requested that the latest information available to show membership of the people listed be set forth. Column 6 was used for this purpose and also as a miscellaneous column to set forth informants other than [redacted] who had identified some of the people involved. b7D Therefore, for example, with regard to HELMAR BERGMAN, there is set forth from these two sources that BERGMAN is a member of the Party as of 1947. In the same manner, CNDI [redacted] furnished information regarding DAVID GRANT in 1945 which was set forth under Column 6.

Regarding JEAN VAN EYCK, information regarding this individual was secured from CNDI [redacted] on June 30, 1944 during the course of a "black bag job", the complete results of which were set forth in the report of Special Agent JOHN R. VICARS dated August 26, 1944 at Los Angeles in the case entitled "Communist Party U.S.A., District 12, Los Angeles Field Division". The Agents participating were JOHN R. VICARS, DAVID A. SYNOPSIS OF FACTS: There is herewith submitted the names, background information and Communist connections as known by the Los Angeles Office, of the 14 persons indicted in the Superior Court of the State of California on 11/22/46. The indictment charges HERBERT K. SORRELL and 13 others of felonious conspiracy to obstruct the administration of law in connection with the motion picture strike.

REFERENCE: Bureau File 100-138754
Bureau letter to Los Angeles dated 7/2/47

DETAILS:

This report is submitted in answer to Page 1, Paragraph 6 of the reference communication, which specifically requests background and Communist connections of the persons indicted on November 22, 1946 with HERBERT K. SORRELL for felonious conspiracy.

Under date of November 22, 1946 the Los Angeles Daily News, a metropolitan newspaper, contained an article which reflected that felony indictments had been returned by the County Grand Jury this day against fourteen Hollywood film leaders for activity in the film strike. The fourteen so indicted were arraigned before Judge WILLIAM R. McKAY. The defendants were freed on a $5,000 bail. According to the newspaper account, the indictment accused the defendants of conspiracy, conspiracy to attack with a deadly weapon and conspiracy to obstruct the administration of laws, and unlawful assembly. Conviction on the felony counts would carry terms of imprisonment from one to ten years, and on the misdemeanor up to two years. Those charged were as follows:

|---|---|
| HERBERT K. SORRELL | - President of the Conference of Studio Unions |
| MATTHEW MATISON | - President of the Screen Story Analysts Guild |
| AVERILL BERMAN | - Radio commentator |
| CARL HEAD | - Assistant business agent, Painters Local #644 |
| ED GILBERT | - Business agent, Set Designers Local #1421 |
| RUSSELL McKNIGHT | - President, Film Laboratory Technicians Local #1421 |
| NORVAL CRUTCHER | - Secretary-Treasurer, Film Technicians |
| JOHN MARTIN | - Business agent, Film Technicians |
| JAMES SKELTON | - Business agent, Carpenters Union |
| ROY TINDALL | - President, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local #40 |
| ANDREW LAWLESS | - CSU picket captain |
| FRANK DRDLIK | - Set Designers picket captain |
| LOUIS WHITMAN | - CSU picket captain |
| WILBUR R. HIGBIE | - Carpenters Union, Local #946 |

Specifically SORRELL is accused of advising and encouraging the CSU members in their picketing of Columbia Studios. BERMAN is alleged to have incited pickets at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios, during which demonstration several deputy sheriffs were injured. GILBERT, MATISON and DRDLIK are charged with having incited pickets to disregard court orders at various union meetings. LAWLESS was specifically accused of an attack upon HENRY SICCARDI, a non-striking film technician, on October 22, 1946. SORRELL, MATISON and GILBERT also are named as having advised picketing of the Columbia Studios on November 14, 1946. The other men are alleged to have directed picketing activities.

On July 19, 1947, FRANK BARNES, Assistant District Attorney, Los Angeles, California, advised the writer that the indictments against four of the defendants had been dismissed because of insufficient evidence. They were: AVERILL BERMAN, JAMES SKELTON, ROY TINDALL and FRANK DRDLIK. Trial for the ten remaining defendants is to be heard in November of 1947. Mr. BARNES also advised the writer that a challenge to the indictment had been presented which contended that the grand jury indictment had been returned on incompetent testimony and insufficient evidence, and further that the grand jury had not been selected in the manner provided by law. The grand jury, according to the challenge, did not represent a true cross section of society.

Following are the names of the 14 persons indicted for felonious conspiracy. Their positions held and addresses are taken from arrest reports of the Los Angeles Sheriff's Office as of approximately November 18, 1946:

100-15732-122

AVERILL JOSEPH BERMAN

Position: Radio Commentator
Residence: 1116-4/5 Tamarind, Hollywood 38, California
Los Angeles Sheriff's Office Number 3875

BERMAN was born April 19, 1919 at Minneapolis, Minnesota. He attended the University of Minnesota from 1937 until 1941, at which time he entered the United States Army. During part of his Army career he was engaged as an "orientation lecturer". BERMAN came to Los Angeles in 1944 where he has been engaged as a radio announcer and commentator. In the fall of 1945 he was a radio commentator on the C.I.O. program over radio station KLAC. An anonymous call made by the writer to BERMAN on July 21, 1947 revealed that he is now commenting on station KWKW at 4:35 each afternoon.

The arrest report of the Los Angeles Sheriff's Office reflects that AVERILL BERMAN is:

|---|---|
| Age: | 27 years |
| Height: | 6' 3" |
| Weight: | 200 pounds |
| Hair: | Brown |
| Eyes: | Brown |

BERMAN was released on bond on November 19, 1946, after having been charged with violation of California Penal Code, Sections 182, 409, 166, 245 and 518.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics, State Department of Health, St. Paul, Minnesota, reflects that BERMAN is the son of HARRY L. BERMAN, who was born in Minneapolis, Minnesota, and GOLDIE HELEN BERG, who was born in Russia.

BERMAN's file at the Adjutant General's Office, St. Louis, Missouri, revealed that BERMAN's Army Serial Number was 37089654. He was inducted through Local Board Number 4, Minneapolis, Minnesota on July 14, 1941 and entered duty at Fort Snelling, Minnesota. He was honorably discharged on October 29, 1943 at Camp Roberts, California, as a corporal for the convenience of the government in that he was below the minimum physical standards for induction. His medical diagnosis revealed that he had hay fever and neurocirculatory asthenia, manifested by nervousness, tenseness and anxiety. BERMAN applied for Officers Candidate School May 13, 1942 but was disapproved on September 11, 1942 as he was not qualified by either practical experience or its educational equivalent.

Communist Connections:

There exists to date no documentary evidence of subject's membership in the Los Angeles County Communist Party, although the subject is active on behalf of many Communist Party front organizations in this area. The following information was taken from radio broadcasts and speeches made by BERMAN:

Source A made available to SA GEORGE S. SCATTERDAY a copy of "Campus Currents", a bulletin published by the Four Freedoms Club of the American Youth for Democracy. The club is made up of students at the University of California at Los Angeles. The bulletin was dated November 12, 1945 and on Page 1 is an article under the heading, "Averill Berman Addresses First AYD Meeting". The article states that AVERILL BERMAN, C.I.O. reporter and Army orientation lecturer, high lighted the first meeting of the Four Freedoms Club, Friday, November 10, 1945. Mr. BERMAN gave a colorful resume of the strike, picketing and the notorious violation of civil liberties practiced by Warner Brothers and company police. He made clear that the basis for the strike was not a jurisdictional one but that of workers to join the union of their choice instead of being forced to join a mock company union which the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees characterized. During the discussion many students were particularly interested in the activities of Don Mead's Investigating Committee (California legislative committee) and its possible significance in relation to the U.C.L.A. students. Mr. BERMAN stated that the sure sign of a fascist is when he stifles and attacks students and professors. This was one of the main characteristics of the Nazis. The Don Mead Committee, he further stated, is one-sided in its hearings and is merely a little Dies Committee which threatens civil liberties."

Source B on January 9, 1946 made available documentary evidence of an address recently made by BERMAN at an American Youth for Democracy Conference held October 21, 1945 at Los Angeles City College. The subject addressed this conference and according to information received by this source made the following remarks: "Planned business is for the workers to divide and share the scarcities". He further commented: "As for educating the Americans who went into the armed forces, love stories in books, movies and films were their diet". He alleged that such magazines as "Life", "Look", and "Readers Digest", were filled with anti-labor propaganda made available to the servicemen.

Source C made available on July 29, 1946 a mimeographed announcement distributed by the Executive Committee of the 16th C.D. Section of the Communist Party, urging Communist Party members to attend a mass meeting scheduled for 8:30 P.M., July 29, 1946 at the Gilmore Stadium auto parking lot. SA FRED G. DUPUIS and SA E. BRUCE RYDER were in attendance at this meeting and reported that it was announced that this was a community meeting. The chairman for the meeting was GORDON WILLIAMS, candidate for the 59th Assembly District, State of California Legislature, who introduced AVERILL BERMAN. BERMAN stated that the United States Government had perpetrated a fraud on the American people by the passage of the new OPA price ceiling bill. The main topic of his speech was regarding the rise of prices with the abolition of the original OPA bill, and in general he accused the acts of the National Association of Manufacturers and other reactionary elements who voted to continue the monopolistic control over the average working man. The subject advocated community organization by the utilization of picket lines and buyers strikes as effective means to combat continual price increases. Following BERMAN's talk, WILLIAMS introduced EMIL FREED as Chairman of the 59th District Communist Club. FREED commented that all persons who were not employed as wage earners were either capitalists, fascists or monopolists.

The East Side Journal, a local newspaper, on March 27, 1947, commented on the opinion expressed by AVERILL BERMAN in his news analysis over radio station KXLA as he spoke Sunday evening at the Menorah Center. The article quotes BERMAN as follows: "With interest in economy running high, the Government iswilling to spend billions in a program of military aid abroad, while attempting to cut the budget by eliminating the school lunch program four our own children." BERMAN criticized the current tax reduction proposal, stating that the bill would save comparatively nothing for the low income group and enormous sums for the high groups. He pointed out the danger of fascism in the proposed outlawing of the Communist Party. He advocated the necessity of mass education "in looking behind the face value of world problems". He stated, "The battle ground has changed to the community where we must fight the corruption of our educational system, police force and local courts."

| Hair: | Brown |
| Eyes: | Blue |

Subject was recruited into the Communist Party by SIDNEY MARTIN and was one of the most active Communists in the Hollywood area.

Source D reported on March 4, 1943 that a meeting was held at the Roosevelt Hotel to form the Hollywood Democratic Committee. This source has advised that the Hollywood Democratic Committee was a front organization and in his report named such outstanding Communists as JOHN HOWARD LAWSON as also being present at this meeting.

The Los Angeles Citizen, official organ of the Central Labor Council, stated that at a meeting of the Department Executive Committee, a charter was granted to American Legion Cinema Post No. 561 in Hollywood. Source D advised that this post was composed entirely of persons who were members of the crafts employed in the motion picture studios. Source D ascertained that the charter had been issued to Post No. 561 as stated, and that the headquarters of the post were in the same office as the headquarters of the Film Laboratory Technicians Local No. 683, and that NORVAL D. CRUTCHER was handling the affairs of the new American Legion post. This source ascertained that WALTER SULLIVAN, Deputy State District Attorney at Los Angeles who was a member of the American Legion, endeavored to block the issuance of the charterto Post No. 561 because of his knowledge of Communist who were interested in forming the new post, but FRED NUSSER, State District Attorney, interceded in their behalf and succeeded in having the charter granted to Cinema Post No. 561.

Source D advised that CHUTCHER was a member of the following organizations in 1944:

According to this informant CHUTCHER was also a member of the commission which governed the newly organized cultural and miscellaneous groups. According to Source D, subject is presently Secretary of Local 683, I.A.T.S.E., but has resigned from the A.F.L. Central Labor Council in a "row" over the trial of alleged Communist HERBERT SORRELL.

Subject visited in France and Czechoslovakia in February of 1932. This source further advised that subject was employed from 1938 to 1939 by the State of California at Treasure Island, San Francisco. In 1940 he was employed by Edward Small Productions, Hollywood, California. He was employed by Warner Brothers Studios at Hollywood in 1946 and is still employed there. Communist Connection and Membership:

On September 16, 1940 this office received an anonymous telephone call regarding FRANK DRDLIK, indicating he was employed in the Art Department of the Edward Small and Company Motion Picture Studios. This anonymous informant advised that DRDLIK was an active member of the Communist Party and advocated the overthrow of this government. He also advised that the subject was a "maniac" on the subject.

On May 17, 1947, Source I made available an application for membership card of the Communist Party of the United States. Under the space for the name was listed the initials, "F.D."; City, Los Angeles; Occupation "Ind."; Industry, "M.P."; The union listed was AFL, proposed by "A.D.M. and P.P. of the Flam Club" (a Communist Club in Hollywood). SA GAYLE C. SHELTON checked the marriage records, Hall of Justice, Los Angeles, and ascertained that SORRELL's father is named LOUIS K. SORRELL and was born in Missouri. His mother's name was DAISY STEWART, born in Illinois, whereas his wife, FREIDA C. JUNGNISTCH was born in Michigan. His wife's parents, GERMAN C. JUNGNISTCH and SELMA WALTERS, were born in Germany.

Communist Connection and Membership:

In October of 1946 TOM CAVITT, representative of the California Tenney Committee Investigating Un-American Activities, provided the Los Angeles Office with a photograph of a receipt for a Communist Party membership book No. 60622, on which appears the signature, "Herb Stewart". The signature appears to have been started as "SO" and then the "T" written over the "O". This receipt refers to Book Number 74283, signed HERBERT STEWART.

On June 6, 1941, Source L provided this office with a 1938 Communist Party registration blank filled out in the handprinting under the party name HERBERT STEWART. The FBI Laboratory after a handwriting comparison positively identified the above document as having been prepared by HERBERT K. SORRELL.

The Los Angeles Office has no documentary evidence of membership on the part of SORRELL in either the Communist Political Association or the Communist Party since 1938.

KEMP NIVER, investigator for the Los Angeles County District Attorney, advised that he knows of no documentary evidence of SORRELL's membership in the Communist Party. He stated on July 19, 1947, the question of SORRELL's Communist Party membership has been asked many times by many members of the Painters and Carpenters Union. In reply he has either shaken his head in the negative or just grinned. His answer has never actually been spoken.

Source M reported on October 31, 1945, that he was present at a discussion of the strike situation participated in by other members of the Hollywood Section of the Los Angeles Communist Party, and during this discussion the probability of having HERBERT SORRELL actually join the party was discussed. Informant stated that CHY McCLELLAND, a functionary of the Hollywood Section, terminated this discussion by remarking she had discussed this possibility with SORRELL, who advised her he had considered it but decided not to because he would turn red in the face if someone were to ask

7. YANKS ARE NOT COMING COMMITTEE. Herbert K. Sorrell was listed as one of the speakers at the Student Union, University of California at Los Angeles, on April 18, 1940. The purpose of the meeting was to induce the students of the college to stage a "peace strike."

15. PEOPLE'S WORLD PRESS CONFERENCE. The People's World is a Communist publication on the west coast. On August 4, 1943 a press conference was held for the benefit of this publication at 2936 West 8th Street, Los Angeles, California. SORRELL was one of the sponsors of the conference.

16. THIRD ANNUAL CONVENTION, LOS ANGELES COUNTY COMMUNIST PARTY. This convention was held April 29 and 30 and May 1, 1938 at 121 West 18th Street, Los Angeles. HERBERT K. SORRELL has denied that he him if he were a member and it was necessary for him to reply that he was not, knowing himself that he actually was. CHY stated SORRELL had advised her he was conscious of the class struggle.

There is a great deal of information in the files of the Los Angeles Office regarding SORRELL's Communist associates, and his membership in Communist Party front organizations. Highly significant is a six-page Informational Bulletin No. 1, released in American public interest by the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees, and Motion Picture Machine Operators, 6636 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood, California. This bulletin is dated November 13, 1945 and entitled: "The Record of Herbert K. Sorrell, President of CSU and Strike Leader in the Hollywood Strike Commencing March 12, 1945." The subheading for this sheet is, "Communist Activities from 1938 up to the present time". This bulletin traces the party line since 1938 and shows SORRELL's connection with each new front. According to this bulletin SORRELL is associated with the following organizations. The following fronts and comments are quoted directly from the bulletin:

1. MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE. Herbert K. Sorrell was a member of this Executive Board and continued actively to support the new position of the organization, which was in strict conformance with the Communist Party line.

2. HOLLYWOOD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE. Herbert K. Sorrell now emerges as a member of the Executive Board of this organization, whose program is just the reverse of its predecessor where he was also a member of the Executive Board.

3. LABOR'S NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE. Herbert K. Sorrell was State President of this organization and opposed the third term for President Roosevelt, denouncing him for leading us into war.

4. PATTERSON SLATE. This organization opposed aid to England and was strictly isolationist. It followed the Communist Party line and was in sympathy with the aims of the party.

5. WORKERS ALLIANCE. Herbert K. Sorrell was one of the speakers at a mass demonstration of this organization before the Hollywood District SRA Headquarters, 245 South Western Avenue, March 7, 1940.

6. NATIONAL FEDERATION FOR CONSTITUTIONAL LIBERTIES. The Attorney General of the United States has pronounced this organization to be a Communist front. Herbert K. Sorrell in the official announcement of the meeting appears as one of the sponsors of this organization. This organization has followed every twist and turn of the Communist Party line and is still in operation.

has ever been a member of the Communist Party. A photostatic copy of the minutes of the above Communist convention shows the following names written on the back page: WILLIAM SCHNEIDERMAN, State Secretary of the Communist Party, District 13; DON HEALY, HUGH WILKINS, HERB SORRELL and URCHEL DANIELS.

| Hair: | Brown |
| Eyes: | Blue |

LAWLESS was arrested by the Los Angeles Police Department on October 29, 1946 on a charge of assault. He was released on bond October 29, 1946.

Communist Connection

On October 4, 1946 Mr. P. J. LAWLESS, 10735 Ocean Park Avenue, Los Angeles, advised the Los Angeles Office by telephone that his brother, ANDREW LAWLESS, a carpenter, was taking a leading part in the studio strike in Hollywood. He described his brother ANDREW as "a right-hand man of HERBERT SORRELL". He further stated that ANDREW LAWLESS was a loyal American citizen and was not a member of the Communist Party, but readily admitted that there were numerous Communists in the Conference of Studio Unions. He further stated that his brother was born in Ireland, that he was a derivative citizen of this country through his father, JAMES LAWLESS. He said that ANDREW arrived in the United States in 1922 and lived in Beloit, Wisconsin until 1924, when he came to Los Angeles. He further stated that he has resided in Los Angeles and worked in the movie studios since 1924.

Source D advised that ANDREW LAWLESS is "one of the sluggers for Herbert Sorrell". This source stated that although LAWLESS has "played along with the Communists", he does not believe him to be an actual member of the Communist Party.

Mr. JAMES PASCO, investigator for the Los Angeles Sheriff's Office, advised the writer that on November 5, 1945 LAWLESS was captain of the pickets, then parading in front of Warner Brothers Studios at 5:50 A.M. on the morning of November 15, 1945. LAWLESS was in charge of a group of men who overturned the automobiles in front of the studios. Mr. PASCO further advised that he had heard on several occasions that ANDREW LAWLESS left Ireland "with a price on his head". He was unable to give the source of his information.

RUSSELL L. McKNIGHT

Position: President of Local #683, Film Technicians, International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees.
Residence: 4317 Bakman Street, North Hollywood, California
Sheriff's Office Number 3804

The records of the Los Angeles Police Department reflect that McKNIGHT was arrested at Columbia Studios, 1438 North Gower Street, Hollywood, on November 15, 1946 for parading without a permit. His Los Angeles Police Department number is 97801. These records described McKNIGHT as follows:

|---|---|
| Age: | 38 years |
| Sex: | Male |
| Race: | Caucasian |
| Marital status: | Married |
| Hair: | Brown |
| Eyes: | Brown |
| Height: | 6' 2" |
| Weight: | 190 pounds |
| Complexion: | Ruddy |
| Teeth: | Good |
| Education: | 2 years of college |
| Occupation: | Film technician |
| Place of birth: | North Dakota |
| Residence in Los Angeles County: | 16 years |

Communist Connection and Membership:

The masthead of the November 1943 issue of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, Local 683, publication called "Flashes", reflects that RUSSELL L. McKNIGHT was president of that organization. NORVAL D. CRUTCHER, a known Communist, was Secretary and Treasurer.

On July 21, 1947 the writer interviewed KENNY M. NEIBER, investigator of the Los Angeles District Attorney's Office. He produced a sworn statement taken by himself from one WILLIAM J. KENNEY in the office of the IATSE, 6638 Hollywood Boulevard, on April 1, 1947. This statement was taken in connection with the CSU strike and essentially contains information extraneous to this investigation. However certain information pertinent to McKNIGHT's Communist tendencies is stated. In an early question by NEIBER, Mr. KENNEY replied he had known McKNIGHT since 1943. KENNY also states that he was technical editor for the IATSE magazine, "Flashes".

In answer to questions asked by NEIBER the following paraphrased answers are given:

In 1944 he was working as technical editor of the magazine "Flashes". While working in that capacity he differed with the policies of McKNIGHT as editor of the magazine. He told McKNIGHT that he, McKNIGHT, was plugging Communism and that it was his desire that the magazine contain writings of a technical nature. KENNEY stated that it was his desire to publish a magazine representative of the film technicians and not a magazine dealing in politics or Communism. Continuing his comments regarding his differences with McKNIGHT in the publication of the magazine he states as follows:

> "Then when he went so far to the left that I couldn't take it any longer -- I couldn't ask people like BELL and HOWELL to advertise in a paper that showed a cartoon of WESTBROOK PEGLER living in a sewer and called the president a fascist. I couldn't go for that. Then he called me a fascist and I resigned. I told him I won't go on with this stuff. He said, 'O.K., across your card at the union office which I have filed I have written "traitor".'. I said, 'All right then, and when your office is some day broken into by the FBI, I will be very happy to have them see that record, that I was not one of your party.' Those are my exact words to him."

Source N reported that RUSSELL McKNIGHT ran for the Los Angeles City Council for the Hollywood area in the spring of 1947 elections, but was defeated. This source advised that the Communist Party supported McKNIGHT and commented as follows regarding the Communist Party support given him. Source N advised that he attended a meeting of the Communist Party held at the home of CHARLOTTE BRUSTINE, [redacted] JOHN STAPP, functionary in Hollywood, was at the meeting. STAPP stated that RUSSELL McKNIGHT might be persuaded to run for City Council in this district. He advised that McKNIGHT was head of Local 683, Film Technicians, which is supporting the CSU in the strike. STAPP stated that McKNIGHT was a "Christian gentleman". This source believed that this meant that he was apparently not a Communist.

b7C

Source N attended a meeting of the Gungho Club at the home of CLARENCE BICKLIFF, [redacted] on Tuesday, February 18, 1947. JOHN STAPP was again at the meeting. At this meeting STAPP said the party has agreed to handle completely 125 precincts in the Second District for the McKNIGHT campaign, working in the name of that campaign and not that of the party. The clubs in Hollywood will be responsible for the work in those precincts which will be divided among the clubs. He stated that the progressive A.F.L. has come out in favor of McKNIGHT, and that the Communist Party is only supporting, not endorsing McKNIGHT. He stated, "We endorse only Communist candidates".

Reference is made to a letter from the Los Angeles Office dated July 15, 1947, regarding the captioned matter.

The letter from the Los Angeles Office contained information to the effect that one V. J. Jerome was sent to Hollywood in 1937 by the Communist Party, USA, to infiltrate and ultimately take over the Motion Picture industry for the benefit of the Communist Party. The Los Angeles Office's letter further explained that Louis F. Budenz, a confidential informant of the Bureau, and one Liston Oak, Managing Editor of the New Leader, a New York publication, may possess valuable information relative to the Communist infiltration of the Motion Picture industry in Hollywood.

The Los Angeles letter requested that both Budenz and Oak be interviewed in an effort to secure corroboration of the fact that Jerome was actually sent to Hollywood to infiltrate and take over the Motion Picture industry for the benefit of the Communist Party.

ACTION:

The New York Office is being advised to interview Budenz regarding this matter. In view of the fact that Liston Oak is Managing Editor of the New Leader, it does not appear that he should be interviewed at this time, especially since the information desired may be obtained from Budenz.

There is attached hereto for your approval a letter to the New York Office.

SUBJECT: HOUSE COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN AFFAIRS

As of possible interest to the Bureau, I am enclosing a news item that appeared in the Hollywood Variety as of May 21, 1947, which item is written by HARRY FLANNERY, CBS news commentator.

Also, as of possible interest, I am enclosing a copy of a script of FLANNERY's broadcast of May 20th.

FLANNERY recently called this office and talked with ASAC ELLSWORTH in my absence and was complaining generally about the approach of the Thomas Committee and he was asked by ELLSWORTH if he had read the Director's statement before that Committee in Washington and he had not and, accordingly, a copy of it was furnished to him and this broadcast resulted.

One thing we have to realize about the House sub-committee on Un-American activities investigation in Hollywood is that it was a preliminary one to determine whether a complete investigation is worthwhile. Despite failing to get the most able witnesses while here and getting a lot of weak stories into the headlines, the committee thinks it has found enough information to warrant a complete investigation. It has been suggested the real way to find evidence of subversive activity would be through the FBI. However, the FBI has made such investigations and it was on the testimony of J. Edgar Hoover that the Thomas committee sent men out here The purpose of the Thomas committee is as Hoover put it, to "Make public disclosure of the forces that menace America—Communist and Fascist," in other words, to get headlines. Its purpose is to point the finger and, through its legal immunity, to prepare cases, where possible. It has the kind of status that enables it to aid the Department of Justice. However, the committee will not serve that purpose nor that of exposing Communism and aiding to oust it, unless it gets better witnesses than some of the samples paraded so far. Another injunction of Hoover's must be remembered: "Communists capitalize upon ill-founded charges associating known honest progressive liberals with left wing causes." The next witnesses must be able to point to real Communists and real Communist acts or the committee will continue to look like witch hunters with political motivations, no better than those they claim to be trying to ferret out.

The luck of Henry Wallace continues.

One of the main objectiv s of his present speaking our is to attract attention to his cause and that of the organization that's backing him for President in 1948, the Progressive Citizens of America.

His being banned from the Hollywood Bowl helped draw attention to his appearance in Los Angeles and gained him publicity all over the world. Now he's in San Francisco where he's been banned from the Greek Theater of the University of California where he planned to talk to the students. When he talks Thursday at a street meeting at the west gate of the Berkeley campus, he'll attract more attention. His having to take to the streets to tell his story presents Henry with a great opportunity. It helps rouse supporters for him, and induces many of the so-called little people to dig down in their trousers to help the cause. The war chest of the PCA is growing much greater than it would if the tour were one without incident. It has the advantage too of being able to use current issues such as the Greek- Turkish aid campaign, a move as Wallace said last night of the "war inceddiaries."

Henry Wallace, ashe talked in Los Angeles last night, demonstrated that he has learned a lot about speech writing and delivery within the last few years. He knows how to write sentences that lead up to climaxes and then hold them on a rising final word. Wallace also had an audience last night that wanted opportunities to cheer, one that heralded his introduction by its college-cheer-chant of "Forty-eight, Forty-eight, Forty-eight."

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 4-6-95 BY SP12B76m

Wallace's speech last night included many parallel phrases of the kind used in effective oratory -- those that were in the series by which he said we earned the "scorn of the world" -- hanging an innocent woman on the charge of witchcraft, lynching negroes, ousting Japanese-Americans from their California homes, keeping Tom Mooney in jail, murdering Sacco

ENCLOSURE 130 734-799

He did the same thing in a series of charges and another of questions: Where is the America of George Washington, of Thomas Jefferson, of Abraham Lincoln, of Franklin Roosevelt? The talk was in no wise like the kind of off-the-cuff informalities that Wallace used to give.

Wallace covered a lot of ground in that talk, but his main target was the House Committee on un-American Activities. As he named off the successive heads of what he called a group of bigots, boos rose from his audience. "Dies, Rankin, and Thomas -- three names," he said, "for fascists the world over to roll on their tongues with pride."

"The work of this committee in smearing patriots," said Wallace, "was -- in comparison with the witch hanging, the negro lynchings, and so forth -- the most outrageous abuse of all."

What about the House un- American Activities Committee? Arthur Ungar, in Daily Variety, Hollywood CALIFORNIA trade paper for motion picture and radio people, a man no one would think of calling a Red, attacked the Thomas Committee in a two-column large-type editorial the other day, saying the meeting of the group looked like a witch hunt.

"It was," said Ungar, "a good chance to get newspaper space, because Hollywood and its motion picture industry are the target."

All the charges were general. There were no definite facts revealed on them or on those charged with being Reds. Name names, said Variety; give us facts. Until you're ready to do that, stop trying to grab headlines in the press.

At the same time, Louis B. Mayer asks the committee to see "Song of Russia," which Robert Taylor cited as a Communist picture. "Song of Russia," says Mayer, "is simply a lover story that might have been set in England instead of in Russia." He even denied that the picture was made because Russia was our ally and we were anxious to build up a feeling for her at the time it was made in 1943. Those who know Louis B. Mayer add that he would be the last producer in Hollywood expected to make a Communist picture.

The line quoted by another witness as evidence of Communist propaganda also appears as weak evidence. Then there was the strange morality advocated by one witness who said that Russia distorts the facts about this country, so we also should lie and distort the facts about Russia. Emmet Lavery, president of the Screen Writers Guild, citing an attack on that organization by another witness, said there may be some Communists in it, but if there are, they are qualified for membership by being employed by the studios. The proper way to investigate is through the FBI, suggests Lavery.

What about this investigation anyway? Would it not have been better for the FBI to have looked into Hollywood subversive activity?

Actually, the FBI has looked into the situation in Hollywood. J. Edgar Hoover, in his statement to the committee on 26th March, this year, pointed out that the second greatest number of enrolled members of the Communist Party of the United States, is in California. New York state has most. Oregon is fifth in the state list, Washington sixth. The total number in the three West Coast states is 14,959, according to Hoover. These are party members only. "For every party member," said the FBI chief, "there are ten others ready, willing and able to do the party's work.....these are the people who infiltrate and corrupt various spheres of American life. The true importance of Communism is determined not by the size of the Communist party, but by its influence, its ability to infiltrate. In 1917 when the Communists overthrew the Russian government," the statement goes on, "there was one Communist for every 2,277 persons in Russia. In the United States today there is one Communist for every 1814 persons in the country."

Hoover says: "The American Communists launched a furtive attack on Hollywood in 1935 by the issuance of a directive calling for a concentration in Hollywood. The orders called for an effort to infiltrate into the unions and to infiltrate the so-called intellectual and creative fields. Communist activity in Hollywood," continued the FBI man, "is effective and is furthered by Communists and sympathizers using the prestige of prominent perso to serve, often unwittingly, the Communist cause."

There's more to all this, but that's sufficient to make it plain that the FBI is assured of Communist strength in Hollywood. The FBI, however, does not make its information public, and its job is not to prosecute, only to investigate. The job of the Thomas Committee, is, as Hoover put it, "to make public disclosure of the forces that menace America -- Communist and Fascist." Their job is to publicize, to get headlines. The first visit was not planned as a complete investigation, but as an explatory one. It satisfied the commiteee that Hollywood should be investigated.

In making its preliminary investigation, the Thomas Committee did not display unusual brilliance. As I wrote in a Variety column the other day, "The House un-American Activities sub-committee comes to Hollywood, sincere, I imagine, in its effort to rout out the Communists from the motion picture industry. I note that the testimony has included the names of several who are at least suspect, but I hope the committee realizes that some of the witnesses are the kind who see Red everytime they open their eyes, and that one or two called would consider any New Deal supporter a Communist. The committee has the opportunity to do the nation and the world a great service, but it must not be diverted by well-intentioned, but undiscriminating finger-pointers."

That still stands. Some of the men called and some of the testimony given reminds me that J. Edgar Hoover also said: "Communists capitalize upon ill-founded charges associating known honest progressive liberals with left wing causes."

Reference is made to Los Angeles letter to the Bureau dated July 15, 1947, a copy of which was designated for your office, in which it was suggested that you interview Louis F. Budenz and Liston Oak, Managing Editor of the New Leader, a New York publication, for any information in their possession regarding the captioned matter. The referenced letter specifically mentioned that both Budenz and Oak might have information regarding the fact that V. J. Jerome was sent to Hollywood in 1937 by the Communist Party, USA, to infiltrate and ultimately take over the motion picture industry for the benefit of the Communist Party.

You are instructed to immediately interview Budenz along the lines suggested by the Los Angeles Office.

In view of Mr. Oak's connection with the New Leader it is not desired that he be interviewed at this time.

The Bureau and the Los Angeles Office should be immediately advised by air mail of any information obtained from Budenz regarding this matter.

RE: ~~COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF~~

INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Dear Sir:

While preparing a special report on the above entitled matter, it was noted that LOUIS F. BUDENZ at one time was a close associate of V. J. JEROME in Communist Party Headquarters in New York City, and that they talked, perhaps, freely about many matters.

V. J. JEROME was sent to Hollywood in 1937 by the Communist Party, U.S.A., to look over the situation, and if possible, set the Communist machinery in operation to infiltrate and ultimately take over the motion picture industry for the benefit of the Communist Party.

It is also a matter of record in the HARRY BRIDGES case that one LISTON OAK, whose last known address was [redacted] was tentatively engaged to testify as a government witness in the BRIDGES matter. It appears also that BUDENZ, OAK and JEROME were very close to each other.

b7C

The Los Angeles Office has no information that the government has contact with Mr. OAK at the present time, or that Mr. OAK is at present a Communist Party member. It is very important that we have all corroboration possible, and it is believed that BUDENZ or OAK may be in possession of valuable information relative to the Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry in Hollywood.

It is requested that if this suggestion meets with the approval of the Bureau that the New York Office be instructed to interview BUDENZ and OAK in an effort to secure corroboration to the effect that JEROME was sent to Hollywood to "infiltrate and take over the motion picture industry for the benefit of the Communist Party," and furnish a copy of the results of any interview to the Los Angeles Office by Airmail.

Very truly yours,

My dear Mr. Hoover:

When I was in Los Angeles in May on a sub-Committee investigating communism in the motion picture industry, I was furnished certain information by an attorney in Los Angeles by the name of William A. Hess, who is, I understand, a member of the Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Inc.

The matter which Mr. Hess submitted to me concerned the Immigration and Naturalization Service, a matter which I did not feel came under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Un-American Activities. A few days ago, Mrs. Evelyn Louise Bertin, who was stopping at the Mayflower Hotel, called at my office and gave me information concerning this same matter. After considering the information which she submitted, and which Mr. Hess brought to my attention, I am of the definite opinion that it is a matter which should be referred to you, with the suggestion that you get in touch with these parties.

With kind regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

John McDowell

In the event these individuals furnish information which is of concern solely to the Immigration and Naturalization Service and does not constitute a violation of any law over which this Bureau has investigative jurisdiction, no investigation should be initiated. The results of the interview, however, should be immediately furnished to the Bureau in order that they may be brought to the attention of the Immigration and Naturalization Service here. It is not desired that you furnish any information made available to you by either Mrs. Bertin or Mr. Hess to any branch of the Immigration and Naturalization Service which may be located in your Field Division.

It should be noted that Congressman McDowell mentioned that William A. Hess was a member of the Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Inc. ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 4-6-95 BY SP1 BTG/cm

As you know, former Special Agent Smith has been contacted by representatives of the House Un-American Activities Committee with a view to accepting an assignment to investigate Communist infiltration of the movie industry in the Hollywood area.

Mr. Smith has advised the Bureau that he is accepting the assignment and that the Committee has also employed his associate, former Special Agent A. B. Leckie. Mr. Smith has further stated that as a result of a conference with the members of the House Un-American Activities Committee, it was agreed that a press release would be made on Monday, July 21, 1947 of the fact that Smith and Leckie have been designated to make the inquiry in Hollywood. September 27, 1947 has been tentatively set for hearings in Washington, D. C. Mr. Smith related that the purpose of the Committee is to expose Communism in the movie industry by calling a selected number of favorable and unfavorable witnesses. It will be Mr. Smith's responsibility to obtain information with respect to witnesses to be called at the hearings.

Mr. Smith has been advised that it will not be possible for the Los Angeles Office to furnish him with information in the Bureau's files and he thoroughly understands that situation. He did inquire, however, as to the procedure to take with respect to furnishing to the Bureau any information which comes to his attention and it was suggested that he contact you for that purpose.

As you know, Mr. Smith was formerly assigned to the Los Angeles Office and served there in the capacity of Number One Man until the time of his resignation on November 3, 1942, he having entered on duty as a Special Agent on December 2, 1935. As a result of his experience as a Special Agent and in a supervisory capacity in the Los Angeles Office, he of course is acquainted to a certain extent with information contained in the Bureau's files as well as with the identity of some of the informants of the Los Angeles Office used in connection with Internal Security matters. As indicated, it is desired that he be cordially received by you. However, under no circumstances is he to be given information appearing in the files of the Los Angeles

Former Special Agent A. B. Leckie entered on duty in the Bureau as a Special Agent on November 19, 1934, and at one time was Special Agent in Charge of the Philadelphia Division. He was demoted while serving there and transferred to the New York Office. He resigned shortly after being assigned to the New York Office on November 23, 1939. Although he has always professed loyalty to the Bureau, there was an indication after his resignation that he was disgruntled and had a bad attitude. It is felt that you should be most circumspect in your dealings with Leckie.

The Bureau should be kept promptly advised concerning any developments with respect to the inquiry being conducted by these former Special Agents for the House Un-American Activities Committee.

You will recall that Smith addressed a letter to the Director in which he stated that he had been approached by the House Un-American Activities Committee to undertake an investigation of Communist infiltration into the movie industry and he desired to obtain the Director's viewpoint with respect to taking this assignment. In a letter from SAC Hood, it was pointed out that Smith inquired as to what assistance he could expect from the Bureau if he did take the position with the House Un-American Activities Committee. Smith was told to contact me in connection with his inquiry in view of the fact that the Director would not be available.

Smith came in to see me on July 17 and explained that he had been approached by Chief Investigator Stripling of the House Un-American Activities Committee with a request to take the assignment and Stripling told him that Chairman Thomas had cleared Smith's name with the Director. It is to be noted that on June 24, 1947, Congressman Thomas saw the Director and inquired as to the record of Smith, indicating he contemplated employing him. Smith entered on duty as a Special Agent on December 2, 1935 and resigned on November 3, 1942. He had a very good record in the Bureau and when he left he went with John Hanson and took the position which was formerly filled by former Special Agent A. B. Leckie at Lockheed. Smith said that he and Leckie were presently associated in the general practice of law in Los Angeles.

It was explained to Smith that insofar as the offer from the Committee was concerned it would be entirely up to him to decide whether he should take it or not and I briefly outlined to him some of the work that the Committee had in mind. He seemed to be satisfied that he might want to go ahead with it and then inquired about the method of furnishing any information he might develop to the Bureau, he pointing out that his first loyalty was to the Bureau. Smith was informed that it would not be possible for him to secure any information from the Bureau through the Los Angeles Office and that any inquiries he had he should direct through the Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Thomas. He said he thoroughly understood the reason and background for that and if any inquiry were made of him by the Committee or its members he would very definitely point out the undesirability of trying to work such an arrangement through the Los Angeles Office. Smith was also informed that in furnishing information to the Bureau the best procedure would be for him to do that through Mr. Hood. Smith was to see the Committee with respect to the employment today, July 18.

Smith came in to see me this afternoon and stated that he had accepted the position to head the investigation of Communist infiltration in the movie industry in Hollywood. He stated he is to receive $25 per day and that they also hired his associate, A. B. Leckie, and he is to receive $22.50 per day. The Committee informed him that he could hire as many investigators and clerical employees as he needed to conduct the investigation properly.

Smith stated the objective of his investigation is to go out there and between now and September 27, 1947, which has been set as the tentative date for hearings in Washington, D. C., to line up friendly witnesses and those unfriendly witnesses which the Committee will desire to call. He said his purpose in that connection will be to line up about 25 or 30 good witnesses who can through proper questioning expose the entire Communist infiltration of the movie industry.

Smith said that he had a long discussion this morning with Robert Stripling, the Chief Investigator, who outlined the history of the Dies Committee and particularly its efforts to investigate Communist infiltration in the movie industry. Stripling told him a man by the name of Sullivan was sent out to Hollywood in 1938 and 1939, that Sullivan made his investigation and apparently while on board the train back to Washington, D. C. he got drunk and exposed the entire investigation. He said Sullivan was characterized as being a drunkard and after writing his report, which apparently was ineffectual, he was dismissed.

In 1940, Martin Dies with a staff went to Hollywood and San Francisco and made their investigation and when they came back, nothing was done about it. It was Stripling's opinion that the interests in Hollywood had gotten to Dies and that the reason nothing was done on the basis of that investigation could be attributed to that fact.

Louis Russell, former Special Agent, went out to Hollywood in May 1945, made an investigation and wrote a report. However, the results which he obtained were somewhat limited in scope and he met with very little cooperative assistance in Hollywood.

As you know, recently Congressman Thomas and Stripling went out to Hollywood and started their inquiry and when things got too hot they decided to drop it and come back to Washington. It seems that Eric Johnson started to steer the Committee around out there. Thomas realized he would get nowhere with Johnson's help and decided to just go contrary to his instructions and as a consequence ended up by contacting G. H. Maginnis (phonetic) of MGM and as a consequence most of the inquiry centered around MGM. However, it appears that Warner Brothers and the others came in to speak their piece. It seems Jack Warner went so far as to admit he had Communist writers and players in his studio. However, he said that he would not fire them because if he did they would immediately go to MGM and other studios and make more money. It was Smith's impression that Warner stuck his neck out so far that it would be impossible for him to retract should he be called later as a witness in Washington.

Smith said that he gathered the very definite impression that he could anticipate considerable pressure to buy him off and to buy off his investigators. He anticipated this pressure would come from Eric Johnson and through sources employed by him. He said to indicate the extent to which Johnson was going that two of his representatives in Washington, Bryson and Cahill (both phonetic) were over at the Committee just the other day and endeavored to find out what the Committee intended to do and how far they intended to go in their investigation of Communism in Hollywood. Smith said he understood that Congressman Thomas told these representatives he wanted to have absolutely nothing to do with them and kicked them out of the office.

Smith stated he had a conversation with Chairman Thomas, who was very commendatory of the Director and stated it was his desire to work in close harmony with the Bureau in connection with the work of the Committee. He said he pointed out to Smith that the work of the Bureau and the Committee were entirely different and that they had to achieve results which could not be obtained through the Bureau's assistance. Smith also stated that he would keep our Los Angeles Office fully informed of his activities and as I have indicated in a previous memorandum he is desirous of letting us know of anything pertinent to our investigations which we should know about.

The foregoing is submitted for your information.

Supplementing the information which is set forth in the memorandum recently submitted to you, captioned as above, we are presently in the process of preparing summary memoranda on the leading Communists or pro-Communists in the moving picture field. The first memorandum on this project has been completed and is attached, which memorandum pertains to Hanns Eisler, with aliases. The memorandum on Eisler constitutes a complete review of all of the data in the possession of the Bureau concerning him and the sources of the information are set forth in the memorandum.

It will be a relatively simple matter to go thru this memorandum and the subsequent ones which will be prepared and on the basis of the same to prepare a public source memorandum for the utilization of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. It was thought advisable, however, to initially prepare the memoranda on these subjects in the manner indicated above in order that there would be available for immediate reference purposes complete summaries with sources on these key individuals in the motion picture industry.

It is contemplated that in the near future additional memoranda will be prepared in a manner similar to the Eisler summary on the following individuals affiliated with the motion picture industry:

1. Charles Chaplin
2. Edward G. Robinson
3. Herb K. Sorrell
4. John Howard Lawson
5. John Garfield
6. Frederic March

WILLI MUENZENBERG had an article on Page 3 in the "Daily Worker" of July 23, 1925, captioned, "CAPTURE THE FILM!". The sub-title was "Hints on the Use Of, Out of the Use Of, Protelariam Film". In this article he states as follows:

> "WE MUST DEVELOP THE TREMENDOUS CULTURAL POSSIBILITIES OF THE MOTION PICTURE IN A REVOLUTIONARY SENSE.....ONE OF THE MOST PRESSING TASKS CONFRONTING COMMUNIST PARTIES IN THE FIELD OF AGITATION AND PROPAGANDA IS THE CONQUEST OF THIS SUPREMELY IMPORTANT PROPAGANDA WEAPON, UNTIL NOW THE MONOPOLY OF THE RULING CLASS. WE MUST WREST IT FROM THEM AND TURN IT AGAINST THEM".

WILLI MUENZENBERG further states, "The total attendance in the movie theaters of England, France, and United States is perhaps even today (1925) greater than the total number of newspaper readers in these countries."

Photostat copy of WILLI MUENZENBERG's article is enclosed as an exhibit of this report. Additional facts noted in this article explain how various countries have heretofore used the motion picture propaganda weapon.

MUENZENBERG states in this article, "Not the destruction of tools and technical equipment but their conquest and their turning to the use of labor movement, for the idea-world of Communism."

Confidential Source T-1 (X)(U) states that the "Daily Worker" is the official Communist Party organ of the Communist Party of the USA published in New York. Source T-1 (X)(U) states that MUENZENBERG was not in the United States at the time that this article was incorporated into the "Daily Worker" and that its reprint would be considered by the Communists as a directive to be followed. Source T-1 (X)(U) states that WILLI MUENZENBERG at one time was a member of the Executive Committee of the Communist International (E.C.C.I.). Source T-1 (X)(U) states that he has (X) noted in the International Press correspondence in the years past that WILLI MUENZENBERG had attended plenums in Moscow. (U)

Source T-1 (X)(U) states that WILLI MUENZENBERG on the Executive Committee of the Communist International was associated with OTTO KUUSINEN of the Moscow Central Committee Political Bureau and that MUENZENBERG had been directe to set up and organize most of the International Fronts, one of which was the American League Against War and Fascism which was set up at the Amsterdam Conference in 1932 or 1933. LEOPOLD SCHWARZCHILD, [redacted] interviewed by Agent NICHOLAS J. ALAGA the latter part of 1943, states that he knew WILLY MUENZENBERG in Berlin and advised that MUENZENBERG was the real founder of the German Communist Party. LEOPOLD SCHWARZCHILD states that he published a newspaper in Berlin in 1922 and had employed one OTTO KATZ an advertising salesman and solicitator in Berlin but that he had had a disagreement with OTTO KATZ in 1926. He states that OTTO KATZ subsequently associated himself with WILLI MUENZENBERG in Berlin and that MUENZENBERG founded numerous Communist Front organizations in Germany at the instigation of Moscow. MR. SCHWARZCHILD stated that when HITLER came to power in 1933 both MUENZENBERG and KATZ fled to Paris and while there continued their Communist activity through a publishing house known as the "Edition Carrefour". MR. SCHWARZCHILD stated that in 1938 MUENZENBERG renounced Communism while in Paris and that MUENZENBERG was found hanged from a tree in a forest near Paris in 1940. MR. SCHWARZCHILD stated that OTTO KATZ made visits to the United States and Mexico.

MR. HERMANN RAUSCHNING, [redacted], interviewed in the fall of 1943, by SA RICHARD C. THOMPSON, stated that he was formerly President of the Senate of the Free City of Danzig. MR. [Source T-59] advised Agent HORGAN on June 30, 1942, that he first knew OTTO KATZ in Berlin in about 1929 when KATZ was connected with a Communist newspaper which was published by MUENZENBERG. [Source T-59] states that MUENZENBERG at that time was connected with the motion picture industry in Berlin and also acted as an agent for Soviet Russia. [Source T-59] states that after 1929 OTTO KATZ went to Moscow where he assumed an official position as a manager of a Russian Film company. (U)

[Source T-59] states that OTTO KATZ went to Hollywood in 1936 where he used the name OTTO BREDA. MR. FRANK HUGHES, a Chicago Feature Press Writer, analyzing Communist penetration was quoted in the Chicago Daily Tribune November 19, 1946, as follows:

"As far back as 1919 when the Communist revolution in Russia was in its infancy, NICOLAI LENIN, first prophet of World Communism, said in a convention with COMRADE LUNACHARSKI, his Commissar of Education, "YOU MUST ALWAYS CONSIDER THAT OF ALL THE ARTS THE MOTION PICTURE IS FOR US THE MOST IMPORTANT."

Continuing, FRANK HUGHES was quoted:

"Six years later, WILLI MUENZENBERG, Cultural High Priest of the Communists and general secretary of the Internal Workers Relief, a Communist International Organization, reported, that, "QUITE PROPERLY THE ENLARGED EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE COMINTERN IN 1925 INSTRUCTED ALL AFFILIATED PARTIES TO CONCERN THEMSELVES MORE THAN FORMERLY IN TURNING THIS WEAPON (THE MOVIES) TO THEIR SERVICES."

FRANK HUGHES, aforementioned was quoted to the effect that Commissars in Moscow founded the Cinema bureau of the International Union of the Revolutionary Theater. He states that the preamble of the bureau's master plan set forth the goal as follows:

"To concentrate and unite the forces of film workers, professional and amateur, as well as audiences in the various countries upon a general platform, using the film as a means for revolutionary education and mobilization of the toiling masses in the struggle against Fascism, political reaction, threatening imperialist wars, for the defense of the Soviet Union."

FRANK HUGHES states that the Communist Party founded in this country the Film and Photo League, the Associated Film Audiences, Films for Democracy, and Association of Documentary Film Producers.

HUGHES relates in his article that these organizations were mostly for Party members and had little effect on the Hollywood industry.

Hughes states that the master plan for "Revolutionary" writers was drafted at the 2nd Congress of the International Union of Revolutionary Writers in Kharkov, Russia, November 15, 1930. He states that among the American delegates were FRED ELLIS, MICHAEL GOLD, WILLIAM GROPPER, JOSHUA KUNITZ, A.B. MAGIL, AND HARRY ALAN POTAMKIN.

HUGHES in his article relates that the American members of the Soviet International Union of Revoluntionary Writers issued a call for the first American Writers Congress which founded the League of American Writers.

The Daily Worker of August 15, 1925 contained a special magazine supplement with an article by WILLY MUENZENBERG entitled, "THE PICTURE AND THE FILM IN THE REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT", which quotes VLADIMIRILITCH LENIN in a conversation with COMRADE LUNACHARSKI as follows:

> "YOU MUST POWERFULLY DEVELOP FILM PRODUCTION, TAKING ESPECIALLY THE PROLETARIAN KINO TO THE CITY MASSES AND INSTILL A MUCH GREATER EXTENT TO THE VILLAGE. YOU MUST ALWAYS CONSIDER THAT OF ALL THE ARTS THE MOTION PICTURE IS FOR US THE MOST IMPORTANT."

WILLY MUNZENBERG'S article states:

> "THERE MUST NO LONGER BE ANY COUNTRY IN WHICH THE COMMUNIST PARTY AND ITS GROUPS DO NOT MAKE EXTENSIVE PROPAGANDIST USE OF THE MOTION PICTURE FILM."

WILLY MUENZENBERG states:

> "BUT NEXT TO NOTHING HAS BEEN DONE TO PUT THE FILM INTO THE ARSENAL OF AGITATION AND PROPAGANDA WEAPONS OF THE COMMUNIST PARTIES. QUITE PROPERLY THE ENLARGED EXECUTIVE OF THE COMINTERN IN MARCH 1925, CALLED ATTENTION TO THIS SHORTCOMING, AND INSTRUCTED ALL AFFILIATED PARTIES TO CONCERN THEMSELVES MUCH MORE THAN FORMERLY IN TURNING THIS WEAPON TO THEIR SERVICE. LEADING COMRADES OF THE INTERNATIONAL HAVE REPEATEDLY AND EMPHATICALLY POINTED OUT THE TREMENDOUS SIGNIFICANCE OF THE FILM PROPAGANDA."

MUENZENBERG'S article also quotes A. V. LUNACHARSKY, Commissar of Public Education, K. WOROSCHILOW, Commander of Red Army, Moscow Military District, N. A. SEMASCHKO, Peoples Commisar for Health and CLARA ZETKIN, on the significance of the film. This WILLY MUENZENBERG article, in photostat form, is enclosed as an exhibit to this report.

EARLY COMMUNIST PARTY HISTORY AND ORGANIZATION IN HOLLYWOOD

CONFIDENTIAL

The League of American Writers at a convention in New York City in April, 1935, decided to form a Pacific Coast branch of the League of American Writers, according to Confidential Source T-1. At this time WALDO FRANK was the National Secretary of the League of American Writers. A complete record and report on the first American Writers Congress has been published by the International Publishers (New York Communist Party Press) edited by HENRY HART. This report contains all the addresses delivered at this Congress. On page 123 there is an article by JOHN HOWARD LAWSON entitled "Technique and the Drama".

Quoting from an introduction appearing in this book concerning the first American Writers Congress it states, "We propose, therefore, that a Congress of American Revolutionary Writers be held in New York City April 26, 27, 28, 1935; that to this Congress there be invited all writers who have achieved some standing in their respective field and who have clearly indicated their sympathy with the Revolutionary cause; who do not need to be convinced of the decay of capitalism, of the inevitability of revolution.....We believe such a congress should create the League of American Writers, affiliated with the International Union of Revolutionary Writers. In European countries the International Union of Revolutionary Writers is in the vanguard of literature and political action".

Prominent Hollywood writers listed as being on the call to attend the first and second American Writers Congress includes such individuals as MICHAEL GOLD, GUY ENDORE, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, SAMUEL ORNITZ, and ~~GEORGE SKLAR~~.

The United Progressive News of September 21, 1936, reflects that some 25 writers attended the first local (Los Angeles and Hollywood) meeting of the "League of American Writers" on Sunday night and that included in this group were V.J. JEROME (VICTOR J. JEROME, true name ISAAC ROMMINE), FRANK SCULLY, UPTON SINCLAIR and LOREN MILLER. The United Progressive News mentions that the National Republic of July-August, 1935 reflects that the League of American Writers received many cabled greetings from Moscow when the League of American Writers was set up in New York.

The Daily Worker of September 23, 1933, has an article contributed by V.J. JEROME entitled "MARX, LEININ and STALIN ON THE ROLE OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY". Comments by JEROME in conclusion of this article are as follows: "And on our own celebration day of the 14th anniversary of our Party's founding, we must bear in mind that our Party has as its guide to action the teaching of Marx, Leinin and Stalin embodied in the program of the Communist International. We must realize that our central task is to win over the majority of the working class".

Source T-1 advises that from 1936 the Hollywood Cultural Fraction of the Communist Party was completely independent, and had no official connection, with the Los Angeles County Communist Party and that during this time all Party membership books and documentary evidence pertaining to Hollywood luminaries were destroyed. Source T-1 states that V.J. JEROME returned to New York in 1938 after helping organize the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League. After the departure of V.J. JEROME in Hollywood in 1938 the cultural activities in Hollywood in the Communist Party, appeared to be under the direction of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and HERBERT BIBERMAN, according to Source T-1.

Early in 1942 there was a reorganization of the Communist Party branches in Hollywood and all branches were placed in a section known as the Northwest Section. Source T-1 stated that thereafter the activities of Hollywood branches again came under the jurisdiction of the Los Angeles County Communist Party which in turn was under the jurisdiction of District 13, headquarters at San Francisco.

Confidential Source T-15 advised that penetration of the Communist Party into the motion picture industry gained impetus through such organizations as League of American Writers, the American Writers Congress, and the League Against War and Fascism. Source T-15 states that when V.J. JEROME came to Hollywood in the latter part of 1935 he secured the aid of NORA and GEORGE HELGREN as well as the aid of one HAROLD SALEMSON. Source T-12 also advised that during the latter part of 1935 V.J. JEROME utilized NORA HELGREN in connection with the Communist plan to set up branches in the motion picture industry at Hollywood. Source T-12 states that NORA HELGREN did most of the leg work, running errands for JEROME, and collecting dues. Source T-12 states that JEFF KIBRE was then closely associated with V.J. JEROME. This Source states that FRANK SPECTOR was the Los Angeles Sub-Section organizer of the Communist Party, the Los Angeles Communist Club then being a sub-section of the San Francisco section of the Communist Party.

In 1934, according to Confidential Source T-16, there were only 35 or 40 Communist members in Hollywood in the motion picture industry who were attached to the Los Angeles sub-section of the Communist Party. Source T-16 states that during the latter part of 1935 V.J. JEROME came to Los Angeles from New York in an endeavor to organize Communist Party units in Hollywood among the writers, producers, and actors. He states that in January, 1935, the Los Angeles County Communist Party disbanded its industrial sections and on instructions of ROY HUDSON of the New York Communist Party headquarters made an attempt to dissolve the Trade Union Unity League, all members of which were then instructed to join A.F.L. Unions. Sources T-16 states that in 1935 the industrial branches in Hollywood were known as units, for example, Unit J-30, etc. Source T-16 states there were only two Communist Party Units in Hollywood in the early part of 1935 and that most of its members were nominal employees in the motion picture industry.

Source T-16 states that the real Communist Party penetration in Hollywood started in 1938 and 1939 with the activities of JEFF KIBRE which followed the program laid down by V.J. JEROME.

In September, 1939, the Los Angeles County Communist Party published a pamphlet portraying a twenty-year history of the Communist Party in Los Angeles County. The pamphlet is known under the title "2 Decades of Progress". Its reference to Hollywood and cultural groups reflects that members had in early years penetrated such cultural groups as the JOHN REED Club, and various theater groups. In the field of Union activities reflects that its members in 1937 took an active part in the birth of "Labor's Conference for Independent Political Action".

In 1939 the geographical organization of the Communist Party in Hollywood was based on street units and not industrial units. Members belonged to Units in their neighborhood and not units pertaining to industry. "2 Decades of Progress" listed two studio units in 1939, namely, the Culver City Studios Branch with FRANK OATS as president and the Hollywood Studios Branch with MILTON HENRY as president, both attached to the 15th Congressional District Section of the Communist Party. In 1939 the Los Angeles County Communist Party was organized by branches and sections under a geographical division similar to political assembly and Congressional districts respectively.

"2 Decades of Progress", in 1939 quotes EMIL FREED, President of EAST BRANCH of Communist Party:

> "Our Party has either initiated or assisted in struggles, for better housing, progressive election victories, and the unionization of Hollywood".

East Branch according to this history was then a unit of the 15th Congressional District Communist Party Section, an area covering Hollywood Boulevard between Fairfax and Hoover Streets.

"2 Decades of Progress" in 1939 states that Emil Freed received a large vote as Communist Party candidate for Congress in 1938.

JANE HOWE, in "2 Decades of Progress", (1939) is listed as organizer of 15th Congressional Communist Party Section and is quoted, "The Studio Strikers of 1937, the Hollywood Citizen-News Pickets of 1938.....have all seen the Party in action, helping in every progressive movement."

Confidential Source T-98 witnessed EMIL FREED in action on the picket line during the October 11, 1945 One-Day strike at Universal Studio. This source witnessed EMIL FREED passing out cigarettes to pickets, witnessed his taking up a collection from bystanders for purchase of cigarettes, and witnessed his conversation in talking employee out of trying to return to work through the picket line.

Source T-98 states that the Universal Studio strike lasted only one

EMIL FREED according to records was arrested at the Warner Brothers Studio picket line on October 10, 1945, by the Burbank, California, Police Department, Burbank booking number A 9788; Burbank P.D. arrest number 31380 on charge of violation of California penal code sections 404, 405, and 416, rioting, failure to disburse and failure to obey a lawful order. This charge was dismissed on June 16, 1946. EMIL FREED gave as residence address [redacted] b6 b7C

Confidential Source T-98 on October 10, 1945, observed and witnessed EMIL FREED in the Burbank, California, Police Department jail with copies of the "People's World" under his arm and heard him talk against the capitalist system to about 25 other arrested pickets who were in jail with him. (u)

Confidential Sources T-1, 11, 12, 15, and 16 state that Los Angeles County Communist Party penetration into motion picture industry prior to the formation of the Northwest Section in 1942 was important only as pertained to nominal employees within the studios and that between the years 1935 and 1942 the jurisdiction over film luminaries and writers was under the jurisdiction of the New York Communist Party headquarters or the District 13 Communist Party headquarters at San Francisco and that generally proof of Communist Party membership of important Hollywood personages was not available or known to the Los Angeles County Communist Party functionaries. COMMUNIST PENETRATION INTO MOTION PICTURES AT HOLLYWOOD THROUGH OLD ESTABLISHED UNIONS ON THE PART OF JEFF KIBRE WHO SOUGHT INSTRUCTIONS FROM NATIONAL COMMUNIST PARTY FUNCTIONARIES

CONFIDENTIAL

JOHN L. LEECH in 1934, Organizational Secretary, Los Angeles County Communist Party gave testimony before the Los Angeles County Grand Jury on August 14, 1940, and stated that JEFF KIBRE was a member of the Communist Party in Hollywood in 1934. JOHN L. LEECH stated that one JOHN E. JEFFREY, a Communist member, had first introduced JEFF KIBRE to him.

JOHN L. LEECH stated that V. J. JEROME (VICTOR J. JEROME--true name ISAAC ROMAINE) was sent to Hollywood the latter part of 1935 by the Communist Party Central Committee, New York to improve cultural work, taking over these duties from STANLEY LAWRENCE. LEECH states that V. J. JEROME helped organize study clubs and co-ordinated party work between Hollywood and Downtown Communist Sections. LEECH stated that V.J. JEROME raised money in Hollywood and also brought JOHN HOWARD LAWSON to Hollywood (JOHN HOWARD LAWSON is presently a writer at Hollywood and hereinafter will be more fully identified). LEECH stated that V.J. JEROME was a member of the Central Committee of the National Communist Party and a co-editor of its monthly Communist magazine known as "The Communist". In January, 1939, issue of "The Communist" the editors are listed as EARL BROWDER, ALEX BITTLEMAN, and V.J. JEROME. "The Communist" when discontinued was supplanted by a monthly magazine known as "Political Affairs". Its editor is listed as MAC WEISS, also known as MAX WEISS with V.J. JEROME as managing editor. MAC WEISS will later be identified in connection with JEFF KIBRE.

JOHN L. LEECH stated V.J. JEROME had the aid of JEFF KIBRE in setting up plans for capturing the Hollywood Motion Picture Industry for the Communist Party. LEECH states that after V.J. JEROME arrived in Hollywood the latter part of 1935 plans were made to establish an underground Communist Unit among the film elite. All dues and contributions as well as reports were to go direct to National Communist Party Headquarters in New York according to LEECH.

Confidential Source T-12 states that during 1935 and subsequent years all important personages in the Hollywood Motion Picture Industry who were members of the Communist Party were considered as Members At Large, attached either to the New York Headquarters Section or to the Headquarters Section of District 13 at San Francisco (At that time Los Angeles County Communist Party was a subsection of District 13 according to Source T-12).

The Communist Branches and Sections were later reorganized in Hollywood about 1942 according to Source T-12 by the formation of a section known as Northwest Section and Source T-12 states that until this time (1942), the Los Angeles County Communist Party had no jurisdiction over important Communists in Hollywood but did have prior to this time a few street Units in Hollywood whose members were employed in nominal capacities in the studios. The Communist Party organization of the Northwest Section and the identity of its Communist members will be considered in another part of this report.

JEFF KIBRE according to witnesses hereinafter identified was a member of the Communist Party assigned to "special" work in the motion picture industry studio unions.

EZRA F. CHASE swore to an affidavit at Los Angeles March 19, 1939, that he, CHASE, had been a member of the Communist Party for seven years or more and held numerous official positions and further that he was acquainted with the leading functionaries and members in the Communist Party. In this affidavit he states that JEFF KIBRE was a member of the Communist Party, USA (then affiliated with the Communist International). He states that during his, CHASE's, affiliation with Communist Party that "JEFF KIBRE was at that time assigned to "special" work in the studio unions, more specifically in the I.A.T.S.E., Local 37, to the organizing of special studio units of the Communist Party of the USA."

C/ During the years 1937 and 1938 the A.F.L. affiliated unions in the motion picture industry at Hollywood, known as the "International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada" were greatly disturbed over the Communist efforts to disrupt or wreck this union which will be described hereinafter as I.A.T.S.E. At this union's 35th convention at Louisville, Kentucky June 3-6, 1940, a complete report was printed by this union containing numerous exhibits in the form of letters written either by JEFF KIBRE aforementioned or by ROY HUDSON, member of the "National Committee of the Communist Party aforementioned. These letters set out in full in the I.A.T.S.E. report deal with Communist interests and organizational efforts and appeared to reflect that JEFF KIBRE was attempting to gain control of the unions in Hollywood motion pictures and was receiving aid and suggestions from WALTER LAMBERT, a member of the California State Communist Party as well as from PAUL CLINE, then the Los Angeles County Communist Party organizer. Other important Communists identified in these letters are BOB REED of New York, and V.J. JEROME and LOUIS GOLDBLATT of San Francisco. The aforementioned affidavit of EZRA CHASE which identifies JEFF KIBRE as a Communist assigned to "special" work in Hollywood appears in Exhibit 6 of the I.A.T.S.E report. A copy of I.A.T.S.E. report issued at the June 3-6, 1940 convention is being made an exhibit of the instant report.

J. W. BUZZELL, then secretary of the Los Angeles Central Labor Council, A.F.L., has analyzed the JEFF KIBRE, ROY HUDSON, and MAC WEISS letters in this I.A.T.S.E. report.

2/ A. Exhibit No. 1 of I.A.T.S.E. report is a lengthy report of JEFF KIBRE dated April 23, 1938---Hollywood, entitled "Report on Hollywood----Review of Plan and Objectives for Past Several Months." This refers to a "Studio Unemployment Conference", representing 12 unions and guilds engaged in a broad anti-I.A.T.S.E. movement, to fight I.A.T.S.E. and its employers as a preliminary to the formation of "Industrial Union". In one portion it states this process envisages the formation of a Federation as the decisive method of breaking the control of the Internationals (I.A.T.S.E.) and in turn giving the workers a sense of their mass power within the industry.

This JEFF KIBRE report further states "Our Corps of Contacts in the various crafts led by the Studio Painters Union from the outside broke down the Do-Nothing policy of the leadership." (HERBERT SORRELL, President of the Studio Painters Union, now engaged in strike at Hollywood is also president of the newly formed group known as "Conference of Studio Unions". Some of the Unions attached to this group are presently on strike). The I.A.T.S.E. Union, the A.F.L. Teamsters and the Screen Actors' Guild were never apart of JEFF KIBRE's Studio Unemployment Conference. JEFF KIBRE in his report states that the Unions in the Studio Unemployment Conference were:

1. Studio Painters
2. Machinists' Cinema Lodge
3. Plasters and Modelers
4. Utility Employees
5. Screen Directors Guild
6. Studio Carpenters
7. Studio Electricians (I.B.E.W.)
8. Screen Writers Guild
9. Screen Set Designers
10. Screen Cartoonist G[illegible]d
11. Screen Publishers' Guild
12. Musicians and I.A.T.S.E. Progressives.

JEFF KIBRE states that a formation of a new Federation is a stage toward an industrial union affiliated with CIO. It is noted that JEFF KIBRE signed this report as Field Representative for Hollywood and indicated that his title and activities were to be kept confidential.

B. Exhibit No. 2 of the I.A.T.S.E. report is a JEFF KIBRE letter to BOB REED, 136 W. 13th Street, New York, dated February 9, 1938. JEFF KIBRE writes, "Well, one thing about the Reds, they seldom write except on business." In this letter JEFF KIBRE states that he is "Undercover Field Representative for CIO in Hollywood". JEFF KIBRE states, "In the meantime I wish you would discuss the matter of "I.A." (I.A.T.S.E.) action with JACK STACHEL, the necessity of my getting in touch with contacts in the various cities. I have taken it up with PAUL CLINE, but he feels a personal appeal by you or V.J. (V.J. JEROME), rather than communication through official channels would get quicker results."

PAUL CLINE was then organizer of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. JACK STACHEL was and still is a member of the Central Committee of the Communist Party in New York. (Sources T 1 and T 12).

CONFIDENTIAL

Also part of I.A.T.S.E. Exhibit 2 is a letter from JEFF KIBRE dated November 8, 1938, at Hollywood to LOUIS GOLDBLATT at San Francisco which concerns JEFF KIBRE's activities in the Hollywood Studio Union.

C. Exhibit No. 3 of the I.A.T.S.E. report is another JEFF KIBRE report on Hollywood, apparently written before Exhibit No. 1 and similar in trend. It indicates that JEFF KIBRE in his program would use the impetus of non-partisan clubs in Hollywood.

D. I.A.T.S.E. Exhibit No. 4 is a letter from MAC WEISS to ROY HUDSON dated June 16, 1938, concerning an I.A.T.S.E. and a Motion Picture Operators Convention in Cleveland. This letter tells of the activity of one IRVING HENSCHEL at this convention and relates that HENSCHEL had received a telegram and telephone call from JEFF KIBRE relative to a resolution that HENSCHEL introduced at the convention. This letter indicates that HENSCHEL had described JEFF KIBRE as a Communist and a leader of the rank and file in Hollywood.

I.A.T.S.E. No. 4 also contains a letter from ROY HUDSON to COMRADE LAMBERT at San Francisco and it is noted that a copy of this letter was sent to PAUL CLINE at Los Angeles. This letter was dated June 21, 1938. This letter also enclosed a copy of the MAC WEISS letter of June 16, 1938 aforementioned. (J. W. BUZZELL identifies LAMBERT as WALTER LAMBERT, a member of the California Communist Party Committee. ROY HUDSON's letter severely censored IRVING HENSCHEL and ROY HUDSON's letter states "On the basis of the above it seems to me there should be a thorough re-examination of the methods of work of our people in Hollywood and especially the approach to the I.A.T.S.E."......"Finally, I think that we should try and keep closer contact and have a more systematic change of information between our people in the I.A.T.S.E. in Hollywood and the people here in New York. Hereinafter, when communications are sent they will be brought directly to the attention of our fraction here. Likewise we would like to have the names of people in Hollywood in this organization with whom our people here could correspond directly." J. W. BUZZELL aforementioned besides identifying WALTER LAMBERT as a member of the California State Communist Committee, states that LAMBERT was one time State Secretary of the Trade Union Unity League.

E. I.A.T.S.E. No. 5 is a lengthy report dated July 14, 1938, addressed to WALTER LAMBERT, State Trade Union Director (Communist Party) and it is noted that a copy was sent to PAUL CLINE. Although the report indicates that this letter was unsigned, MR. J.W. BUZZELL has explained the facts which indicate that it is a letter of JEFF KIBRE. This letter defends IRVING HENSCHEL and the letter is an answer to ROY HUDSON's letter of June 21, 1938. The letter and Exhibit No. 5 identifies IRVING HENSCHEL as a Communist of three years membership. The letter reflects the attempts of the writer to reach JACK STACHEL through the secretary of the Actors Fraction in New York. (See JEFF KIBRE's letter of February 9, 1938 to BOB REED of Actors' Equity.) The letter of Exhibit No. 5 also reflects the contact with one BOB KAYE who had been requested to furnish I.A. contacts (it is noted that the letter of JEFF KIBRE of February 9, 1938, to BOB REED in New York had made this same request; hence, an inference that BOB KAYE may be identical with BOB REED).

F. I.A.T.S.E. Exhibit No. 6--copy of the affidavit of EZRA CHASE sworn to March 19, 1939, describing JEFF KIBRE as a Communist who had been assigned to "special" motion picture work in Hollywood within the I.A.T.S.E. Unions, especially Local 37.

G. I.A.T.S.E. No. 7 through 12 portray other difficulties in the Hollywood motion picture unions which arose from JEFF KIBRE's program.

[Confidential Sources T-12 and T-16] stated that V. J. JEROME left Hollywood the first part of 1938 and returned to New York.

[Confidential Sources T-12 and T-16] advised the activities of JEFF KIBRE in Hollywood discontinued in 1939. Records of Local Draft Board 242, Hollywood, verified through Registrar of Vital Statistics, Philadelphia, Pa., reflect that JEFF KIBRE was born as JACOB PLANE KIBRE at Philadelphia, November 11, 1906, and that his father, KENNETH KIBRE was born in Russia.

JEFF KIBRE according to records of [Confidential Source T-12] was a member of the Communist Party at Los Angeles under the name of BARRY WOOD in 1937, 1938, and 1939. [Source T-12] states that JEFF KIBRE held Communist Party membership book 82703 in 1937 and that he first joined Communist Party in April, 1935. The same Source states he held 1938 Communist Party book No. 60038 and that his 1939 Communist Party registration card reflects that his father was born in Russia and his mother in the United States. Source T-12 states that during these years JEFF KIBRE was a studio technician and member of the I.A.T.S.E.

As of April, 1944, JEFF KIBRE was listed as the editor of the CIO Fishermen's Union newspaper known as the International Fishermen and Allied Workers. Records reflect that JEFF KIBRE has been International Secretary and Treasurer of the CIO Fishermen's Union at San Pedro since September 13, 1945. (Source CIO Directory).

Confidential Source T-45 advised that as of September 23, 1943, JEFF KIBRE was a member of the JACK EGAN Branch of the Communist Party, Harbor Section, at San Pedro since July, 1943.

LEW BLIX, formerly on the Executive Board of I.A.T.S.E. and later with the A.F.L. Teamsters, Local 495, advised that JEFF KIBRE had gone to work with the Paramount Studios in 1937.

JEFF KIBRE was arrested by the Los Angeles Sheriff's Office, No. 295613 on a contempt charge, May 2, 1935, and was released the same day. JEFF KIBRE was also arrested by Los Angeles Police Department, No. 35047, on May 6, 1939, on a charge of suspicion of criminal syndicalism. He was released and discharged on May 9, 1939.

JEFF KIBRE on August 23, 1946, was indicted in the Federal District Court of Los Angeles together with 14 other members of Local 36 of the International Fishermen's and Allied Workers of America, CIO Union on a charge of violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law on a conspiracy to boycott and fixed sale price of fish. JEFF KIBRE was found guilty on May 7, 1947, and subsequently fined $2,000, the case now being on appeal. Confidential Sources T-12, T-1 advised that the Communists in the motion picture industry were in the JEFF KIBRE sponsored unions, and later in the many unions grouped in the Conference of Studio Unions, now headed by HERBERT SORRELL. These sources state that there are only a few Communists within I.A.T.S.E. group of unions which formerly consisted of about seven A.F.L. affiliated unions, but now five in number. They advised that the two unions which withdrew from I.A.T.S.E. have had a running fight for years with I.A.T.S.E. over jurisdictional matters and on occasions were out on strike.

Source T-12 and T-1 advised that the Communists within the motion picture industry are sponsoring an "Industrial Union" as against the craft type of union namely, the I.A.T.S.E. These Sources advised that the Communist groups are cleverly exploiting jurisdictional union differences for purely partisan political purposes. They advise that although HERBERT SORRELL's Conference of Studio Unions is made up of A.F.L. affiliates that SORRELL has condemned the A.F.L. for not joining its unions with the World Trade Union Congress.

An editorial appearing in the A.F.L. Teamsters' publication styled "The Southern California Teamsters" of August 15, 1945, states, "The blunt fact is the Hollywood studio strike is not a strike of wages, hours, or conditions". The same editorial states, "It is the attempt of the Communists and the left-wing elements in the CIO to gain control over the studios."

Confidential Source T-1 advises that the attempt of the Communists to capture the labor unions in the studios dates back to 1937 when the Federated Motion Picture Crafts was organized by the Communist Party as a dual union for the studios. Source T-12 states that this organization had little success and in 1939 it reappeared in the form of a union known as United Studio Technicians Guild, a union that was defeated by a National Labor Relation Board election.

Source T-1 states that an earlier Communist attempt was made to secure control of the unions in the studios when in January, 1934, an independent union was formed by the name "Motion Picture Workers Industrial Union" with headquarters at 6364 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, California. Source T-1 stated that this union was completely dominated by the Communist Party and had a membership of 500 but was dissolved the latter part of 1935. Source T-1 states that ROY STAUFFER, then employed at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, was organizer of the Communist Units within this union. The Source advised that ROY STAUFFER was from the state of Washington, but has disappeared from the Hollywood area.

On July 24, 1945, the "People's World", Communist Party San Francisco newspaper now known as the "Daily People's World" had a front page editorial proclaiming support of the strike of the film unions.

NORTHWEST AND HOLLYWOOD SECTION

CONFIDENTIAL

According to Informant T-2, the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, which included in its membership individuals employed in the motion picture and radio industries, was governed by a Section Executive Committee composed of the following individuals:

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON
ELIZABETH LEACH
WALDO SALT
MARGARET BENNETT WILLS
MICHA ALTMAN
LOUIS HARRIS
M. W. (BILL) POMERANCE

On February 26, 1943, ELIZABETH LEACH told Informant T-11 that she was Organizer for the Northwest Section, which was a full-time job for which she received a salary of $125.00 per month. Informant T-28 advised that this salary was paid to ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN by JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, which information was corrobated by Informant T-32.

On May 16, 1944, ELIZABETH LEACH told Informant T-41 that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON was the "leader" of the Northwest Section. Informant T-18, during the period from 1944 through 1946, was in frequent contact with ELIZABETH LEACH, who in the summer of 1945 married CHARLES GLENN and has since been known as ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN. This informant states that during that time ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN did organizational work for the Northwest Section, such as arranging meetings of clubs and handling membership records. Similar information was furnished on several occasions by Informant T-2. In addition Informant T-28 submitted frequent reports indicating that from 1944 through 1946, ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN frequently conferred with JOHN HOWARD LAWSON on organizational problems of the Northwest Section.

Informant T-2 advised that during 1943 and until June, 1944, the Northwest Section was broken down into the following industrial branches:

BRANCH A - Writers' Branch - Divided into 3 groups:
Group 1. Beverly Hills and Westwood Area.
Group 2. Sunset Area.
Group 3. Hollywood and North Hollywood Area.
Composition: Mostly writers in the movie industry.

|---|---|---|
| BRANCH B | Community Branch - Hollywood Neighborhood | Also had within it a nucleus of a few directors. (It has come to the attention of the Los Angeles Office that these few directors have since been transferred to Branch A, according to Informant T-2.) |
| BRANCH C | Community Branch - Beverly Hills-Westwood Area | Industry workers and wives. |
| BRANCH D | Radio | Composed of actors, writers, and announcers in radio. |
| BRANCH E | Cartoonists | Mostly cartoonists with a few artists. |
| BRANCH F | Actors | Composed of professional industry actors plus leading Actors' Laboratory people. (The Actors' Laboratory, according to Informant T-1, is located at 1455 North Laurel Avenue, Hollywood, and is a Communist-controlled school for actors.) |
| SUNSET BRANCH (formerly known as the G-H Branch) | Community Branch | Composed mostly of movie industry people who reside north and south of Sunset Boulevard near Fairfax Avenue. |
| BRANCH I | Community Branch | Composed mostly of people around the Wilshire Boulevard and Fairfax Avenue areas. |
| BRANCH K | Community Branch | Composed of movie industry workers in North Hollywood. |
| BRANCH L | Readers Branch | The concentration has been on the Screen Readers Guild. |
| BRANCH N | S.O.E.G. Branch, divided into 2 groups: N-1 (Hollywood area) N-2 (West Hollywood area) | This is composed chiefly of Screen Office Employees Guild members. |

BRANCH O - Composed of musicians.

HOLLYWOOD-BRANCH This has a base of industry craft workers, plus general community people. Formerly met at the I.W.O. Hall, 972 North Hobart, on Sunday morning.

BRANCH S - Composed of people in the American Soviet Friendship Council and Russian War Relief---beginning main work in cultural activities.

57 A. D. - CLUB This club is a recent addition to the Northwest Section. It is not composed of motion picture industry personnel, but is a Community Club formerly connected with the Mid-Town Section. It became a part of the Northwest Section over the protest of the Northwest Section people at the insistence of the County, because its members are geographically within the Hollywood area. It has been reported that this Branch will do the "open" work for the Northwest Section.

BRANCH Y - This Branch, information concerning which was furnished by Informant T-2, appears to be merely a "paper" branch, and its members are those people formerly active in the Northwest Section who are out of the city or who, though still members of this Section, are not currently active. According to Informant T-2, it has no officers and no delegates at the County Convention. (X)(U)

In December, 1944, JOHN WILLIAMSON, National Secretary of the Communist Political Association, visited Los Angeles, California, and conferred with local Communist leaders. One of the subjects discussed, according to Informant T-23, was the reorganization of the Communist Political Association along the community lines in place of the previous industrial branch set-up. During the discussion WILLIAMSON was asked what should be done with people, such as union leaders, professional people, (X)(U) and motion picture industry people, since they could not afford to become active in community clubs and probably would refuse to do so. According to Informant T-23, WILLIAMSON ruled that exceptions had to be made in cases of people of this type and that for bookkeeping purposes they should be attached to an Assembly District Community Club but permitted to meet separately and have their own group. (U)

CONFIDENTIAL

(U) In January, 1945, Informant T-18 reported that ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN was in the process of contacting the functionaries and through them the membership of the Northwest Section, advising them the section set-up was to be disbanded and new cultural groups were to be formed. During this reorganization, according to Informants T-2, T-18, and T-23, approximately 300 of the 600 members of the Northwest Section were transferred to community clubs and the remaining 300 were assigned to cultural clubs. (U)

On January 8, 1945, Informant T-2 (U) made available to Special Agents DAVID A. MAC CULLOCK, JOHN R. VICARS, FRED G. DUPUIS, and ROBERT W. HOLLMAN records maintained by ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN which listed the membership of the twelve cultural groups which were formed. These groups were arranged according to geographical location and contained individuals living in the particular area regardless of occupation. This was in contrast to the previous set-up of the Northwest Section under which all writers would be in a club and all actors in another, et cetera. (U)

According to Informant T-2 (U) when the new cultural groups were formed in January, 1945, the old Section Executive Committee was replaced by the "Motion Picture and Radio Commission". Informant T-2 (U) made available the names of the individuals selected for this commission, the names of whom were submitted to CARL WINTER for approval. CARL WINTER was Chairman of the Communist Political Association at that time. The list is set forth hereinafter in the form in which it was furnished by Informant T-2 (U) except for the names which appear in parenthesis. The identification of the names in parenthesis was made by Special Agents JOHN R. VICARS and FRED G. DUPUIS. (U)

In December, 1945, ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN told Informant T-18 that she was "fed up" with Hollywood and intended to discontinue her position of Organizer for the Cultural Section of the Party. Thereafter, according to Informant T-4, JOHN STAPP was made Organizer and the section was again reorganized. At this time all the Party members in Hollywood were grouped into the Hollywood Section which in turn was divided into three sub-sections, namely: (U)

Community Sub-Section Industrial Sub-Section
Cultural Sub-Section

(U)

Information as to this reorganization was furnished by Informant T-3 (U) and membership of the three sub-sections, according to T-3 was broken down as follows: (U)

The Community Sub-Section contained people living in the Hollywood area not employed in the motion picture or radio industries.

The Industrial Sub-Section included individuals employed in the motion picture and radio industries on a labor or craft basis, holding positions from that of Assistant Director down.

The Cultural Sub-Section was to include the cultural people employed in the motion picture and radio industries, holding positions comparable to that of Director on up, such as writers, producers, and actors.

According to Informant T-3, (U) each sub-section had a Sub-Section Organizer as follows: (U)

Community Sub-Section - SID SHARE
Industrial Sub-Section - PAUL PERLIN
Cultural Sub-Section - WALDO SALT

CONFIDENTIAL

According to Informants T-3 and T-4, JOHN STAPP, the Section Organizer, works full-time as a Party functionary and is not employed in the motion picture industry. SID SHARE, Organizer of the Community Sub-Section, is unemployed because of poor eyesight, he being almost totally blind, according to Informant T-3. With regard to this sub-section, Informant T-3 reports that plans are under way to disband it and consolidate it with the Industrial Sub-Section. PAUL PERLIN, Organizer of the Industrial Sub-Section, was employed for several years as a grip at Universal Pictures Corporation until he went out on strike. WALDO SALT, Organizer of the Cultural Sub-Section, is a screen writer under contract to RKO.

CONFIDENTIAL

In June, 1946, Informant T-3 reported the controlling body for the Hollywood Section was known as the Section Executive Committee and was made up of the section officers, the Chairman of each of the twenty clubs in the section, and one additional delegate from each club.

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN, and JOHN STAPP, in carrying on the work of the Northwest Section, and as it is known today the Hollywood Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, maintained contact with the headquarters of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. On October 31, 1943, ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN was elected to the Los Angeles County Communist Party Executive Committee, according to Informant T-16. In addition, according to Informant T-8, ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN attended the County Convention of the Party in Los Angeles on October 31, 1943. According to Informant T-2, ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN was a delegate from the Hollywood Branch of the Northwest Section, and according to Informant T-23, she served on the Resolutions Committee at this convention.

On May 19, 1945, Informant T-2 made available copies of the minutes of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, and these minutes indicate that ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN was a regular member of the committee.

An additional example of the liaison maintained with the Los Angeles County headquarters of the Party was provided by Informant T-18, who reported on January 13, 1945, that a meeting of the Cultural Commission for the newly formed cultural groups of the Party in Hollywood was to be held at the home of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON on January 13, 1945, at 2:00 P.M. A surveillance of the LAWSON residence on that date was conducted by Special Agents JOHN R. VICARS and FRED G. DUPUIS, and the following individuals were identified:

WILLIAM POMERANCE - Business representative - Screen Writers Guild.

NORVAL CRUTCHER - Business agent - Local 683 - Film Technicians, International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, and a member of the Executive Board of the Central Labor Council, American Federation of Labor, Los Angeles.

CARL WINTER - President - Los Angeles County Communist Political Association.

All of the above individuals except WINTER were identified as members of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association as of January 8, 1945, by Informant T-2. (b)(4)

Another illustration of the manner in which liaison was effected occurred on September 4, 1944. On that date Special Agents JOHN R. VICARS and FRED G. DUPUIS conducted a surveillance of ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN and observed that at 7:15 P.M., she was picked up by JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, who was accompanied by MAX SILVER, who at that time was Secretary-Treasurer of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association, EMILY GORDON, a functionary of the 15th Congressional District Section of the Communist Political Association, and EMIL FREED, a functionary of the 16th Congressional District Section of the Communist Political Association. These five individuals proceeded to the home of CARL WINTER, [redacted] and entered. b6 b7C

On December 6, 1945, Informant T-28 reported that a meeting of the County Board of the Los Angeles County Communist Party was to be held at the home of EVA KORN, [redacted] A surveillance at that address, conducted by Special Agents JOHN R. VICARS, GEORGE H. SCATTERDAY, and FRED G. DUPUIS, determined that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON attended this meeting. (b)(4)

On July 7, 1945, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON was surveilled by Special Agent JOHN R. VICARS, and it was noted ~~that he visi~~ted at the home of ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN from 12:30 P.M. until 1:30 P.M., after which he picked up NED SPARKS, President of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association, and proceeded to a meeting of elected delegates of the cultural groups at the home of ALBERT and MARGARET MALTZ, [redacted] Los Angeles. Informant T-18 advised that at this meeting the DUCLOS article was discussed together with proposed changes in the organization of the Communist Political Association. (b)(4) b6 b7C

He indicated this person should be JOHN STAPP, the Hollywood Section Organizer. (U)

According to Informant T-3, the membership of the Hollywood Section at the present time is approximately 900 persons. FINANCES OF THE HOLLYWOOD SECTION COMMUNIST PARTY

[All information set forth hereafter under this section was submitted by Source T-3.] (X)(U)

CONFIDENTIAL

When the Hollywood Club of the Communist Political Association was disbanded in August, 1945, and divided into smaller groups for reasons of efficiency of operation and security, the money then in the Treasury of this club, which at one time had over 200 members, was divided equally between the four community clubs, namely the Hollywood Northeast Club, Hollywood Southeast Club, Hollywood Northwest Club and the Hollywood Southwest Club. The share of the Hollywood Northeast Club in this fund was given to SID STEIN of that club during February, 1946, by NOUI LIGHT, who apparently was acting at that time to complete the financial transactions of the old Hollywood Club of the Communist Political Association.

The finances of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, when the Communist Party was reconstituted in the Fall of 1945, were placed under the direction of the Los Angeles County Office of the Communist Party. In this connection on February 11, 1946, HELEN WALDEN, then Finance Director of the Hollywood Northeast Community Club, exhibited a letter she had received from the Los Angeles County Communist Party over the signature of BEA BARRON which indicated that BARRON was then handling financial matters for the Los Angeles County Communist Party. This letter requested Mrs. WALDEN to prepare a financial statement for that club for the past year, and to bring this to the Communist Party headquarters in downtown Los Angeles, at which time she would be given some account books to be used in keeping club records for the following year. (X)(U)

The Finance Secretaries of the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party met at the home of HANNAH SCHWARTZ, [redacted] on February 27, 1946. Informant did not attend this meeting, but later learned from SID STEIN of the Hollywood Northeast Club that it was decided at this meeting that the various clubs of the Hollywood Section were to turn over club dues to NAOMI ROBISON, [redacted] who was to act as an intermediary. Mrs. ROBISON would in turn give the money to HANNAH SCHWARTZ, who was designated as the Section Finance Director. Mrs. SCHWARTZ would then turn the money over to the County organization of the Communist Party. It was further decided at this meeting that dues were to be paid for only one month at a time, and that dues were not to be accepted in advance. (X)(U)

On June 7, 1946, there was a meeting of the Organizational and Finance Secretaries of the Neighborhood and Industrial Subsections of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party at the home of SYLVIA HAMOVITZ, [redacted] At this meeting ELIZABETH GLENN, representing the Los Angeles County Office, announced that from June 15 to July 1, 1946, would be a dues control period during which all dues payments were to be brought up to date. She indicated that dues payments in the Hollywood Section had been very poor and that generally speaking only from one to two-thirds of the Party members had been in a current status. She revealed that a special report is to be turned in to the County Office by July 1, 1946. On this report each member is to be listed by name or initial with his dues status, and a statement as to what is being done concerning delinquents. (X)(U)

At a meeting of the ELIZABETH GURLEY FLYNN Club (also known as the Hollywood Northeast Club), Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, on July 16, 1946, DOROTHY STEIN, then acting as Finance Director of the club, announced that under a recent ruling each club in the Hollywood Section was then paying 90 per cent of the dues collected to the Los Angeles County Communist Party, and was keeping ten per cent of the money so collected for the club itself. (X)(U)

During July, 1946, the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party was reorganized officially into three subsections, namely Cultural, Industrial and Community. Each subsection was to have its own Finance Director, and there also was to be appointed a Finance Director for the entire Hollywood Section.

On July 29, 1946, the Community Subsection Chairmen's Council met at the home of SIDNEY SHAPE, [redacted] At this meeting it was announced that DAVID ROBISON, [redacted] a story analyst then employed by MILTON SPERLING, independent producer with headquarters at Warner Brothers Studios, had been named Finance Director for the entire Hollywood Section, and that his wife, NAOMI ROBISON, would act as the Recording Finance Secretary for the Section, a somewhat unofficial position, which would mean that she would do most of the work and would be the go-between for the various clubs of the Section and the County Office. (X)(U)

b7C

ROBISON spoke at this meeting and announced that the Cultural Clubs in the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party had just adopted a plan to assess four per cent of their income beyond $4,000.00 per year for the Communist Party. He explained that on the first $4,000.00 a Cultural Comrade earns he will pay only the regular dues, but four per cent of anything beyond that will go to the Communist Party. At the beginning of each quarter, Cultural Comrades will make out statements of their expected earnings for the next three months, and the amount owing the Party will be figured out and can be paid at once or in installments throughout the quarter. ROBISON further indicated that the Industrial Subsection had adopted the same idea, and it was suggested that members of the Community Subsection adopt a similar plan. (X) (U)

At a meeting of the Community Subsection Chairmen's Council, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held at the home of HARRY RIPPS, [redacted] on November 8, 1946, DOROTHY STEIN, acting on behalf of the Community Subsection, distributed booklets of stamps of the American Youth for Democracy to each Organizational Secretary present. These stamps range in value from 25 cents to $5.00 and signify that the buyer has contributed that amount to the American Youth for Democracy to further its growth and development. STEIN announced that these stamps were to be sold to anyone who was a member of the Party or who cared to contribute, and the money would in turn be made available to the American Youth for Democracy. (X) (U)

At a meeting of the Gung Ho Club (formerly known as the Flynn Club) of the Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, on March 18, 1947, DAVID ROBISON, Finance Director of the Hollywood Section, gave a report on Party finances. He advised that Party finances were at a low ebb throughout the United States because of the laxity in money raising during the revisionist period and the Party's most recent period of trying to outgrow this type of thinking. ROBISON recommended that the Finance Secretary of each club should have a place on the agenda for a dues report at each meeting. He revealed that a resolution from the Hollywood Section and from several other sections in the County had come to the National Office of the Communist Party asking for a discussion on the possibility of raising the dues rates in the higher income brackets at an early date. It had been suggested that those paying $2.00 a month be asked to pay $5.00, and an additional dollar a month for each $10.00 a week beyond $60.00 a week earned. (X) (U)

ROBISON announced that sustainers of members of the Cultural Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, had been revised, and that now all Comrades making over $1,000.00 per quarter are paying regular sustainers of four per cent of all income beyond that amount. In view of the large number of layoffs in the film industry such as writers, ROBISON predicted that the income from this source would greatly decrease. (X) (U)

ROBISON stressed the necessity of concentrating in the future on getting sustainers from non-Party members who are sympathizers. ROBISON stated there are many people who just will not join the Communist Party but who are very sympathetic to it, and when asked specifically would contribute substantially as a substitute for not joining. Because of this wide and largely untapped source of revenue believed possible from non-Party members who are sympathizers, each club was asked to take a quota of raising at least $100.00 per month from such sources. (X)(U)

CONFIDENTIAL

ROBISON confidentially advised those present that the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party has been contributing $800.00 per month to the Los Angeles Office of the Communist Party, in addition to its regular dues payments, and that this amount may be raised to $1,500.00 in the near future. ROBISON further revealed that the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party also sends a regular sum, amount not disclosed, to the National Office of the Communist Party in New York. (X)(U)

During June, 1947, the Industrial Subsection and Community Subsection of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, were consolidated for greater efficiency in operation, and because of the weakened position of the Industrial Subsection due to the Conference of Studio Unions strike. NOUM LIGHT has been selected as Finance Director of the combined subsections.

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF HOLLYWOOD ORGANIZATIONS

CONFIDENTIAL

1. LEAGUE OF AMERICAN WRITERS.

Source T-1 advised on February 18,1943 that the League of American Writers was the American branch of an international organization called the International Union of Revolutionary Writers which was set up in Kharkov, Russia at an International Congress held in November, 1930. Soon after this Congress there appeared in the United States groups of writers in the larger cities who organized themselves under the direction of the Communist Party into what were called JOHN REED Clubs.

This source further advised that in January, 1935 a convention of JOHN REED Clubs was held in New York City. The principal business transacted by this convention was to call another Congress of Writers to be held in New York City in April, 1935. When this Congress convened all JOHN REED Clubs were dissolved and in their place a much broader organization was formed. It was called the "League of American Writers."

T-1 also informed that at this first Writers Congress, the Communist Party was openly represented and the Congress was under the direction of EARL BROWDER, National Secretary of the Communist Party of the U.S.A. Soon after this meeting, the Hollywood motion pictures began attracting writers from all quarters of the United States and, in fact, from all parts of the world and the League of American Writers began to function in Hollywood. The leader of the group in the Hollywood Section was JOHN HOWARD LAWSON. From 1935 to 1939, when the STALIN-HITLER Pact was signed, the League of American Writers followed the anti-Fascist line as laid down by the "Collective Security" program of the Soviet Union and the Comintern. It hewed right to the line of Russia's conception of Democracy and was violently anti-HITLER.

Source T-1 stated that immediately after the pact between STALIN and HITLER was signed on August 23, 1939 and Germany and Russia became allies, the League of American Writers reflected the Communist line. It opposed aid to England, adopted the slogan "The Yanks Are Not Coming," it affiliated officially with the American Peace Mobilization, but when HITLER attacked STALIN in June, 1941, the League of American Writers became violently anti-HITLER and immediately demanded that America enter the war as an ally of Russia, extend aid to Russia and England and pretended that they were pledged to win the war by waging war on "every front." However, it was in a very embarrassing position because of its very firm isolationist position just a few months previously.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

CONFIDENTIAL

[Source T-1] pointed out that in December, 1941 approximately six months after HITLER attacked STALIN, the United States was brought into the war on December 7, 1941 as an ally of Briton and Russia, then almost immediately another organization was formed almost exclusively of the membership of the League of American Writers. This organization was the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. This group took up "patriotic work" of propaganda for "Russia's Sick."

As will appear in this report, [Source T-1 further] stated that the League of American Writers became less and less conspicuous in propaganda work. It occasionally held some small gathering and dragged on for about one year at which time it became extinct and is now completely out of existence.

[Source T-1 on July 17, 1947] furnished a list of the last set of officers and executive board members of the League of American Writers which was taken from the stationery of this organization. By February, 1942 all these organizations had been "liquidated" and the Communist Party declared for full participation in the war. The Hollywood Section of the Party fell in line and new organizations as "fronts" were set up. The first of these to emerge was the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. (u)

CONFIDENTIAL

On the surface, [according to T-1,] it was just a group of patriotic screen writers falling in line for the defense of their country. In reality, it was the old League of American Writers in a new setting. To make it look legitimate and remove as much of the past isolationist record of the League of American Writers as possible, it drew in as sponsors the following labor groups in the Hollywood Motion Picture industry. (u)

The Screen Writers Guild
The Radio Writers Guild
The Screen Publicists Guild
The Screen Readers Guild
The Screen Cartoonists Guild
The Independent Publicists Guild
The American Newspaper Guild

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, according to Source T-1, appeared to be the dominating figure in the creation of this organization, assisted by ROBERT ROSSEN and MARC CONNELLY (u)

The alleged purpose of the organization under the guise of assisting the war effort was to provide scripts, speeches, skits, plays and similar material for bond drives and similar activities. JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and MARC CONNELLY, according to Source T-20, contacted the University of California at Los Angeles and solicited the assistance of Professor RALPH FREUD of the Dramatics Department and sought to have the University join with the Hollywood Writers Mobilization in sponsoring the American Writers Congress at the university. A book of some 650 pages was jointly issued by the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and the university authorities, setting forth the results of the meeting. (u)

MARC CONNELLY testified before the Joint Fact Finding Committee on un-American activities in California on October 13, 1944, that LAWSON had been active in organizing the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. Mr. CONNELLY stated that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization "has been supplying the Office of War Information, the Army, the Navy, the U.S.O. and the Red Cross" with publicity material.

The proceedings of the Writers Congress at the University of California at Los Angeles October 1-3, 1943, have appeared in book form entitled "Proceedings of the Writers Congress, Los Angeles, 1943, University of California Press, 1944."

Source T-1 informed that writers from all over the United States and some from foreign countries met on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles. This source also stated that thisCongress was a development of previous Congresses held every two years. The first four were held in 1935, 1937, 1939 and 1941. They were sponsored and called by the League of American Writers, a Communist directed organization of writers. (U)

"Dear Writer:

"The Writers Congress on the Los Angeles Campus of the University of California will conduct a search for greater usefulness and will seek to establish firmer international understanding of Democratic objectives by professional writers in all media. 'The Congress is being organized by joint committees of the University of California and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. The latter was formed immediately after Pearl Harbor to channel the war efforts of the eight Writers Guilds of the West Coast. It cooperates constantly with our Armed Services, the Red Cross, the OWI and other governmental agencies as well as many non political, civilian organizations requiring professional writers for motion pictures, the radio, newspapers and magazines, camp shows, etc.'

"Writers must understand recent enormous changes in techniques as well as basic social and political concepts if they were to communicate the virtues of those changes and expose their faults. The Congress offers its facilities for such an undertaking.

"The speakers and readers of discussions in the panels and seminars will be outstanding writers from all the United Nations.

"The Continuations Committee expects you will be able to participate. We have therefore included an application card for your convenience. If you will be kind enough to fill this out and return it to the Congress Committee officials, your name will be registered. Further details of the Congress agenda are being forwarded to you."

Source T-1 on January 5, 1945 stated that this was one of the methods used to get unsuspecting persons to become interested in a meeting of the committee and even lend their names to its success or attend and participate in the proceedings of the Congress without realizing the real character and purpose of the Congress.

Source T-85 stated in an affidavit in 1940 that the connection of the MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE with the Communist Party in Los Angeles was through AL LANE, Political Director. Source T-85 stated further: "For a time OLIVER THORNTON sat on their Governing Board." For the most part, the membership is the same as that of the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League. They had members on the Executive Committee of the Los Angeles County Peace Commission and members who are on the Executive Board of the MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE who are also members of the Motion Picture Artists Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy, and the American League for Peace and Democracy.

Source T-84 further advised at the same time that "Whatever the Communist Party wants done the MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE has done."

"With the successful conclusion of this campaign, the nomination and election of liberals, progressives and radicals who found their way on to the State of California Federation of Political Unity, the Labor's Non-Partisan League and the Motion Picture Democratic Committee, the apogee of Communist penetration into California politics was reached."

Source T-1 on July 15, 1947 informed that in August 1935 GEORGE DIMITROV, head of the Communist International, made the famous "Trojan Horse" speech, and on August 23, 1939 the pact between STALIN and HITLER was consummated which brought about what was known as the "popular front" period. Source T-1 stated that the Communist Party created many "front" organizations in the United States and in other countries. The object was to draw together all forces on as broad a base as possible and influence them to support the foreign policy of the Soviet Union. Source T-1 states further that this was a mere pretended desire for an alliance with the democratic countries to oppose Nazism and Fascism. This gesture was was called the "collective security" proposal and Communists everywhere were instructed to drop all revolutionary activity and pose as liberals and take part in all established governmental affairs. In the United States they were instructed, for voting purposes, to support the candidates of the Democratic Party. They were to assume the "liberal" position and work to get themselves into any positions in political circles where they could use their positions and influence to create sympathy and gain support for the policies of Soviet Russia. This source further stated that in line with this policy and obeying orders, the Communists in the Hollywood motion picture industry began setting up various front organizations. One of the most important was the MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE which was created in the late fall of 1937 and emerged as a powerful political organization in 1938. Source T-1 stated that California was having a gubernatorial election and it was into this election the Communists threw all their forces, with the result that nearly all candidates on the Democratic ticket supported by the Communists were elected and the governor-elect publicly stated that it was "Hollywood influence" and this "organization" which elected him to office. This source further stated that the MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE was enjoying influence and prestige, but on August 23, 1939, the pact between STALIN and HITLER was announced and the HOLLYWOOD MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE found itself without a place to go. (4)

Source T-1 further advised that within thirty days instructions came down from Moscow that the Party line had changed, and soon the MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE began calling the President a "War monger" and that he was "dragging the United States into an imperialistic war". (4)

Early in 1940, according to Source T-1, the MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE was working in cooperation with the American peace crusade and sponsored and took part in "peace" meetings throughout Southern California. This source further stated that the Speakers Bureau of the MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE was set up to publicize meetings of all sorts. This source further stated that the MOTION PICTURE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE issued a "newsletter", dated March 26, 1940, calling attention to a "knockout script" which was written by MICHAEL BLANKFORT, JEROME CHODOROV, JOSEPH FIELDS, PAUL TRIVERS, CARL DREHER, CYRIL KRAMER and okayed by the Hollywood Peace Council and presented at a rally at the Olympic Stadium on April 6, 1940 under the banner "America Declares Peace". According to Source T-43, WALTER HUSTON made a short talk in which he stated, "We oppose defeatists and appeasers. We do not intend to let American fascists lose the war by sabotage. We do not intend to let the American fascists lose the peace after we have won the war. Victory elections are war work." Source T-43 on January 20, 1943, made this statement: "This organization is obviously a Communist inspired affair. A review of the recent Communist Party propaganda, and examination of personalities involved, will make this 'tie-up' apparent."

Source T-83 on March 5, 1943, reported that this Hollywood Democratic Committee was organized at the Roosevelt Hotel and that there were approximately 250 persons present. This source further stated that he had heard that MICHA ALTMAN, who had been before the Tenney Committee at a couple of hearings, was out drumming up customers for the meeting. The source further stated, "This meeting was Communist controlled and Communist organized, as borne out by the circular or election ballot which was already prepared and was handed out that evening. This slate of officers which was submitted to the meeting was voted on in its entirety and all officers elected with no opposition." This source also stated that PAUL FRANKLIN, one of the Vice Presidents, mentioned during the meeting that this Democratic Committee was not officially connected with the Democratic Party, although they believed in democratic principles and many of them belonged to the Democratic Party.

Source T-83 stated that LOUIS HARRIS spoke and stated that what they needed was nurseries for war workers' children and that the schools should be made into nurseries; and that better transportation for war workers should be demanded. The source also stated that at this first meeting HARRIS condemned three city councilmen and before the meeting adjourned the meeting voted to endorse three candidates to oppose them.

Source T-1 on February 8, 1943, further informed that the speakers for this organization meeting were the following: CONFIDENTIAL

|---|---|
| GLEASON, RUSSELL | Chairman |
| KENNY, ROBERT W. | Attorney General of the State of California |
| BENNETT, MARGARET | Member of Screen Office Employees Guild |
| HUSTON, WALTER | Screen actor |
| MC CALL, MARY, JR. | President of Screen Writers Guild |

Source T-1 further reported on February 8, 1943, that this organization was called the Hollywood Democratic Committee; however, in reality, Source T-1 informed that it was a revival of its predecessor, the Motion Picture Democratic Committee, with the difference that this time it came "all out" in favor of the war, while its predecessor opposed America's entry into the war. This change in position, according to T-1, was determined by the fact that Soviet Russia had become one of the Allies and needed the support of the so-called "Imperialist Nations".

Source T-1 called attention to the fact that for the greater part the same individuals were in control - those who exercised that function in the Hollywood Democratic Committee had exercised the same functions in the Motion Picture Democratic Committee.

Source T-1 also pointed out that all of the activities of the Hollywood Democratic Committee during the time of its existence coincided with the line of the Communist Political Association, which was "collaboration with capitalism" because of the needs of the Soviet Union for assistance.

Source T-1 stated, however, that its political position locally and nationally was to use the prestige and influence of Hollywood personalities in support of candidates for public office who had shown sympathies for Communist causes.

Source T-18 on November 5, 1943, informed that GEORGE PEPPER, a Communist Party member according to Source T-2, was the Secretary of the Hollywood Democratic Committee and that he visited ELIZABETH LEACH, organizer for the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, according to Source T-18, and it was stated in this conference that there were five units of the Hollywood Democratic Committee, with the main headquarters at 1515 Crossroads of the World, the Valley Democratic Committee located in North Hollywood, the Beachwood Democratic Committee located in the Hollywood Hills section, the Fairfax Democratic Committee in the Wilshire-Fairfax section of Los Angeles, and the Beverly Hills-Westwood Democratic Committee located in the Beverly Hills section. At this meeting it was also stated that the total membership of all the clubs was more than two thousand.

Pressure Front

Source T-1 informed on September 25, 1943, that the activities of this organization were confined largely to the open political field, such as putting pressure on lawmakers, local and national, to have legislation passed which is either sponsored or supported by the Communist Party. This, according to this source, is exerted in two ways -- one by forming delegations to visit lawmakers in an attempt to intimidate them, and another by a campaign of written propaganda circulated among labor unions and other organizations and the setting up of "Committees of Correspondence", the purpose of which is to flood the Congress with letters demanding the passage of measures which fall in line with the program of the Communist Party at the time.

5. HOLLYWOOD INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS

Early in August, 1944 Source T-28 informed that the "Independent Voters Committee of Arts and Sciences for ROOSEVELT" was formed in New York; that it was composed of artists, writers and scientists. It was pledged to devote its effort to the election of ROOSEVELT in the 1944 election. The Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions was directed by its National Chairman JO DAVIDSON who maintained headquarters at the Astor Hotel, New York City. (U)

Source T-28 advised that a meeting was held on June 6, 1945 in the Hollywood Legion Stadium and JOHN CROMWELL was elected Chairman of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. According to T-1 on July 19, 1947 and T-49 on June 7, 1945 CROMWELL took the floor and spoke on the ROOSEVELT Heritage, and a resolution was passed pledging support to President TRUMAN and "asked him to carry on the ROOSEVELT policy as was exemplified in the vote of last November, the sentiment showing that the ROOSEVELT Heritage should be carried on." (U)

Source T-28 informed on June 26, 1945 that a movement had begun to change the name of the Hollywood Democratic Committee to the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions and affiliate itself with the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions with headquarters in New York. Source further stated that a vote of the general membership of the Hollywood Democratic Committee was had on June 6, 1945 on this proposed change and it was carried unanimously. (U)

Source T-48 further informed on June 26, 1945 that conferences had been held by JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and a representative of the New York group believed to be LIONEL BERMAN. Source T-28 further informed that LAWSON stated that he would refuse to merge if the Hollywood Democratic Committee would be required to give up its autonomy and stated that the Hollywood Democratic Committee must make its own policy and LAWSON further stated, according to T-28, that a policy of sham collaboration with the New York group has been planned. (U)

Source T-1 informed on July 19, 1947 that JO DAVIDSON, Chairman of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, was in Los Angeles and MARTIN POPPER, an attorney from 39 W. 67th Street, New York City, conferred with JOHN HOWARD LAWSON relative to the merger of the Hollywood Democratic Committee with the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. This source also stated that the reason for the change in name and type of activity was that the "Communist Party line" in the United States had changed. (U)

Source T-28 informed on June 6, 1945 that JO DAVIDSON and MARTIN POPPER were in Los Angeles and LAWSON was requested to contact DAVIDSON by MARC CONNELLY, a screen writer. LAWSON had already gone to San Francisco to attend the United Nations Conference, so arrangements were made for LAWSON and DAVIDSON to confer with each other at San Francisco. (U)

On May 20, 1945 the press carried a dispatch that President TRUMAN had invited former President HOOVER to consult with him regarding the food situation in Europe. Source informed that LAWSON directed that a telegram be sent to TRUMAN by the Hollywood Democratic Committee denouncing HOOVER and demanding that HOOVER not be given an official Government position nor even be consulted about the food situation in Europe. (U)

Source T-1 on July 19, 1947 stated that an Executive Committee of 88 members was elected on July 26, 1944. This source also informed that during the 1944 election the Hollywood Democratic Committee "teamed up" with the Communist Political Association and the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the Political Action Committee and some American Federation of Labor unions and that they reported that they collected and expended $85,133.00 in nominating four candidates for Congress and that it succeeded in electing three of them, i.e., (U)

ELLIS E. PATTERSON
HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS
NED HEALY.

Source T-1 further stated that SIDNEY HILLMAN made a visit in Los Angeles in January, 1945 under the auspices of the Hollywood Democratic Committee and the CIO-PAC which resulted in some of the Hollywood Democratic Committee endorsed candidates for city offices being elected. This source further informed that these same persons and organizations put on a "power group campaign" in behalf of HARRY BRIDGES to cause the cancellation of the deportation order then outstanding against BRIDGES. (U)

This source also informed that the Hollywood Democratic Committee spearheaded a big protest against the Ambassador Hotel because the hotel had refused to rent a ballroom to the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee at which PAUL ROBESON, a Negro, was to be the honored guest. (U)

Source T-1 on July 15, 1947 informed that as World War II neared its close in the spring of 1945 and the defeat of HITLER was assured the Communist Party, USA., prepared to dissolve the Communist Political Association which had advocated non revolutionary collaboration of the working class with the capitalist class and reinstate the Communist Party, USA. under the MARXIST-LENINIST revolutionary program. Hints of this change in the Party line were noticed as early as March, 1945. Source T-1 called attention to the fact that on May 24, 1945 a document called the "DUCLOS letter" was published in the official Communist press. This letter was purportedly written by JACQUES DUCLOS, a leader of the Communist Party in France.

Source T-1 further informed that this was a notice to the world that the Communist Party line was about to undergo a change. This letter criticized the actions of the Communist Political Association as being a betrayal of the revolutionary working class and the principles of Marxism and Leninism. The blame for this "betrayal" was placed on EARL BROWDER, the National Secretary of the Communist Political Association.

Source T-1 stated that the Hollywood Democratic Committee which had functioned during the life of the Communist Political Association began to make preparation to go out of existence. It issued a call for a meeting of its members to be held at the American Legion Hall in Hollywood June 6, 1945. This meeting was attended by approximately 360 persons believed to be members of the Hollywood Democratic Committee. EMMET LAVERY, President of the Screen Writers Guild, was Chairman of the meeting. At this meeting it was proposed, according to T-1, that the Hollywood Democratic Committee change its name and become the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

Source T-1 also informed that HERMAN SHUMLIN, a motion picture producer of New York City, was present and proposed that the new organization affiliate with a national organization called the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. T-1 further advised that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON led the Communist elements in this meeting. A ballot which had been previously selected was voted on as a mere formality and many of the members of the Executive Committee of the Hollywood Democratic Committee were elected and continued as members of the Executive Committee of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

Source T-1 further stated on July 15, 1947 that the reason for changing the name and apparent complexion of the organization was that the line of the Communist Party, U.S.A. had changed. The war was over - HITLER had been defeated - STALIN's Russia had been saved and the Communist Party was to be revived and the Party was to adopt the revolutionary program of Marxism-Leninism, and eventual revolution was again the goal to be sought.

Source T-1 also informed on July 15, 1947 that from June 6, 1945 to February 11, 1947 when the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions became the Hollywood Branch of the Progressive Citizens of America, the activities of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions has followed those of the Communist Party in the economic and political fields.

Source T-1 further informed on July 19, 1947 that the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions during its existence, was the principal pressure group, using the prestige and influence of the Hollywood Motion Picture industry through its "names" and "personalities" to support legislation endorsed by the Communist Party and its sympathizers.

The Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, according to T-1, held a number of mass meetings in which such Hollywood personalities as EDWARD G. ROBINSON, OLIVIA de HAVILAND, ALBERT DEKKER, JOAN FONTAINE, CAREY McWILLIAMS, HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS, COL. EVANS CARLSON, EARL ROBINSON, JAMES ROOSEVELT, ROBERT W. KENNY, and many others participated.

Source T-1 on July 19, 1947 informed that the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions in the political field during the primary campaign in 1946 came out in full support of ROBERT W. KENNY for Governor, ELLIS E. PATTERSON for Senator, and some other candidates on the Democratic ticket. KENNY and PATTERSON were defeated in the Primary by a large vote. It did not support LARUE McCORMICK, the candidate for the Los Angeles School Board who has been a candidate for public office a number of times on the Communist ticket.

Source T-1 further informed on July 19, 1947 that the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions has directly cooperated with, affiliated with or officially sponsored the following organizations:

A newspaper article appeared in the Los Angeles DAILY NEWS on April 16, 1947 in which ROBERT W. KENNY, Southern California Chairman of the Progressive Citizens of America, announced that ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT would speak on "Is America Being Committed to a World Policy?", at a meeting sponsored by the PCA to be held in Los Angeles on April 18, 1947. According to Source T-1, the Hollywood Chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America sponsored and arranged ameeting for HENRY A. WALLACE at the Gilmore Stadium in Los Angeles on the night of May 19, 1947. A news article, appearing in the May 21, 1947 issue of the DAILY PEOPLES WORLD, entitled "Wallace Urges Unity of Labor", reveals that nearly 30,000 people heard HENRY WALLACE denounce the TRUMAN Doctrine before a meeting at Gilmore Stadium at Los Angeles on the night of May 14, 1947. actor; PAUL DRAPER, dancer; and ANNE REVERE, screen actress. According to Source T-1, this Hollywood Chapter would be known as the Hollywood Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of the Progressive Citizens of America. The Chairman of this group, according to Source T-1, is JOHN CROMWELL, a screen director, while the group's executive director is GEORGE PEPPER. According to Source T-1, the purpose of this Hollywood Council is to participate in all local political affairs, elections and projects which the national PCA group endorses and supports.

The Hollywood Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of the PCA published a brochure in early July, 1947 announcing that a conference on the subject of Thought Control in the United States would be held at the Beverly Hills Hotel in Beverly Hills, California from July 9, 1947 to July 13, 1947 under the auspices of this organization. This brochure announced that "in recent months an increasing number of incidents have occurred, indicating an unhealthy tendency in our national life--a tendency to prevent freedom of individual expression which has always been the guarantee of our democratic culture. This conference has been called in order to document and examine these incidents separately and as part of a majority tendency. If such a tendency does exist and continues to develop unchallenged, it can lead in only one direction--the biased control of the thought patterns of all the American people."

According to this announcement, the conference would be conducted by panels of specialists gathering facts and analyzing trends of restriction in each of the various fields. The conference schedule was set forth indicating that the keynote session would be held on Wednesday evening, July 9, 1947 and that panels for discussion of various topics, including the press, fine arts, literature, health and medicine, law, radio, science and education, the film, and the actor, would be held at sessions from Thursday, July 10, 1947 through Saturday, July 12, 1947. The conference would be concluded on Sunday, July 13, 1947 when a joint closing session would summarize all conference accomplishments.

This announcement disclosed that the headquarters of the Hollywood Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of the PCA is at 1515 Cross Roads of the World, Hollywood, California. The California Chapter of the PCA listed the following officers:

JMC:MMC

BURT WITT, Executive Director of the PCA
GEORGE PEPPER, Executive Director of the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council, which organization sponsored the conference. PEPPER, according to Source T-2, is a member of the Communist Party.

The opening session of this conference was attended by Special Agents MARCUS M. BRIGHT and JOHN M. CASHEL of the Los Angeles Division on July 9, 1947. The session was opened by JOHN CROMWELL, writer and Chairman of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee Council of the PCA, who introduced HOWARD KOCH who, it was announced, would act as temporary Chairman. KOCH introduced JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, a writer, who according to Source T-2, is a known member of the Communist Party, who commenced his remarks by mentioning that several individuals have recently accused HENRY WALLACE of giving Europe a false opinion of America by saying that America is not imperialist and has no imperialist aims. In his speech, LAWSON reviewed the historic struggles of progressive forces and individuals throughout United States history and also pointed out the imperialist actions of the United States in its past and present foreign policies. Other speakers on this occasion were BERNARD SMITH, a writer and editor, who commented briefly on the struggles of progressive forces in America since the establishment of this Government. The keynote speaker of the opening session was NORMAN CORWIN, who condemned the war psychosis being urged upon the country today by reactionary forces and who also condemned the activities of such groups as the Thomas un-American Affairs Committee, the Tenney Committee, and the Hearst press.

Special Agent FRED G. DUFUIS, of the Los Angeles Division, who was in attendance at the final session of the conference on Thought Control held on Sunday evening, July 13, 1947 at the Beverly Hills Hotel in Beverly Hills, California, under the auspices of the Hollywood Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of the PCA, reported that HUGH DE LACEY, former United States Congressman from the State of Washington, presided and at the conclusion of summaries on the various panels which had taken place during the conference, ROBERT W. KENNY, National Chairman of the Progressive Citizens of America, was introduced. KENNY extended greetings and good wishes to the local organization from the National PCA and also mentioned the conflict presently existing between progressive liberals as opposed to the conservatives and reactionaries within the Democratic Party. He declared that as far as the Democratic Party was concerned, the PCA would support those who stood for progress and would refuse to support those who failed to do so. In mentioning the Republican Party and the conservative element, KENNY asserted, "If they don't like it in this century, let them go back to the century they came from.". KENNY also stated, "We stand for nationalization of public utilities, the coal industry, the steel industry, and any other industry where nationalization would advance the common good.". KENNY stated flatly that free enterprise was not working and that those proponents of this economy should admit this and reach for new solutions to the changing economic problems of our complex society.

Prior to the adjournment of the conference, the following resolutions were submitted to the audience and approved. The first resolution was in the form of a letter to President TRUMAN to advise him of the vicious type of Thought Control that exists in the United States and that thought control evidenced a trend toward Fascism. The resolution advocated the immediate abolishment of the un-American Activities Committee and the abandonment of the TRUMAN Doctrine. It further called for discontinuing "the loyalty tests" recently instituted by the Federal Government.

The second resolution urged the establishing of a Federal Fair Employment Practices Commission. This resolution assailed racial discrimination and persecution of minorities as a means of thought control.

The third resolution was to the effect that the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of the PCA should go on record as demanding of President TRUMAN and the State Department that a free international exchange of information be established. The resolution pointed out that monopoly of a means of communication was in fact a type of thought control and should therefore be abolished.

The fourth resolution called for the establishing of a Federal theater subsidized by the Federal Government. The resolution pointed out that failure to provide such a medium of expression, available at low prices to large numbers of people, was in fact a means of thought control.

The fifth resolution called for freedom of communication within the United States. This resolution also conveyed the idea that the radio, the film, and the press were not readily available to all groups of people and that liberal use of them was more or less confined to monopolistic groups that could afford the cost involved and also whose business the particular means of communication depended for financial support. The last resolution called upon the National Headquarters of the PCA to authorize the establishing of a "mental consumers union". The purpose of this union would be to digest and analyze material offered the American public for its mental consumption in much the same manner as the pure food laws regulate the standard of foods consumed by the populace. It would also be the purpose of such a union to advise PCA members on all the various publications and digest them for its membership. According to SA DUPUIS, all of the foregoing resolutions were approved unanimously and without any discussion from the floor concerning them.

A newspaper article appearing in the July 15, 1947 issue of the Los Angeles DAILY NEWS reveals that the Progressive Citizens of America have set up free legal clinics for victims of rent control abuses in fifteen select neighborhoods of the Los Angeles area. These clinics will be open in each neighborhood once a week with attorneys on hand to offer legal counsel, according to BURT WITT, Executive Director of the Southern California Chapter of the PCA. The clinics will be supervised by the district PCA Chapters.
