The name of this individual appeared on the records of the Communist Party, according to Confidential Informant T-2, on January 8 and 16, 1945, on February 26, 1945 and November 19, 1945. Under date of February 26, 1945, Confidential Informant T-2 advised that subject's 1945 Communist Political Association membership card was number 47238 and dated December 10, 1944.

The records of Selective Service Board No. 179, North Hollywood, California, revealed that subject was born in Grand Forks, Canada on September 4, 1908. His parents, according to the marriage records, Hall of Records, Los Angeles, California, were born in Russia.

A call under pretext to the RKO Studios on July 28, 1947, indicate that subject is presently employed by that company.

CYRIL ENFIELD with alias Cy Enfield

Confidential Informant T-2 advised that ENFIELD was a member of the Communist Party, according to its record, on August 31, 1944, January 8 and 16, 1945, February 26, 1945, and November 19, 1945. ENFIELD's 1945 Communist Political Association membership card number was 47241, according to Confidential Informant T-2.

A pretext call on July 28, 1947, confirmed the fact that subject was employed by Comet Pictures.

LESTER FULLER with alias Lester Filler

CONFIDENTIAL

Confidential Informant T-2 reported FULLER a member of the Communist Party on August 31, 1944, and on January 8 and 16, February 26, and November 19, 1945. FULLER's 1945 Communist Political Association card number was 47198, according to this informant, issued November 30, 1944. (U)

According to Confidential Informant T-74, subject was born January 29, 1908 in Brooklyn, New York, and his parents were born in Russia. (U)

Confidential Informant T-2 advised that FULLER was employed at Paramount Studios in 1945. He is not employed at the present time. (U)

BENJAMIN KADISH
with alias Ben Kadish

On August 31, 1944, Confidential Informant T-2 advised that the name BENJAMIN KADISH appeared on the rolls of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. His name also appeared on the rolls of the Party on January 16, February 26, and November 19, 1945, and his Communist Political Association card number for 1945, indicating membership in the Party, was numbered 47248 and dated December 10, 1944. (U)

On March 18, 1947, KADISH admitted to Special Agent FRED G. DUPUIS of the Los Angeles Office that he was a member of the Communist Party and active in its affairs in 1944 and 1945. He further stated that he ceased attending meetings about the first of the year 1946, but to his knowledge has never been officially dropped from the Party's membership rolls.

Confidential Informant T-2 advised that KADISH was a free lance director on February 26, 1945, but KADISH advised Special Agent DUPUIS at the time of the interview above-mentioned that he directed a picture for Nassour Studios in early 1947 but is presently making an independent picture with LOUIS BRANDT referred to above. (U)

FRANK WRIGHT TUTTLE

TUTTLE was identified by Confidential Informant T-2 as a member of the Communist Party on August 31, 1944, January 8 and 16, 1945, on February 26, 1945, and November 19, 1945. He was issued, according to Confidential Informant T-2, a Communist Political Association membership card for 1945 numbered 47268 dated December 10, 1944. T-123 advised on August 1, 1947, that TUTTLE is not employed at the present time. (U)

The following individuals who are connected with the motion picture industry in Hollywood in the capacity of directors are members of the Communist Party, according to sources hereinafter stated, but Confidential Informant T-108 advised that they are not members of the Screen Directors Guild. (U)

with aliases, Herman Rosten, Hyman Rotstein, and Hy Rotstein

Confidential Informant T-2 advised that the name of ROTSTEIN appeared on the records of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party on August 31, 1944 and also on January 8 and 16, February 26 and November 19, 1945. This informant further advised that ROTSTEIN was issued 1945 Communist Political Association membership card number 47326, the latter information having been supplied this office on February 26, 1945. (U)

According to the records of Selective Service Board No. 11, New York City, subject was born April 3, 1915 in New York City.

Confidential Informant T-2 stated that subject was employed in the Columbia Studios in Hollywood in 1945. (U)

This same Times article quoted JOHNSTON as saying, "We are determined that subversive propaganda, government pressure or political censorship will never undermine the freedom of the screen which, like the freedom of the press and radio, is indispensable to a free America."

CONFIDENTIAL

Source T-65 stated that the Association of Motion Picture Producers Inc. was originally organized to invest a moral code on the motion picture industry, and that the Association had never had any legal or other provision to keep out or to investigate Communistic propaganda and activities in the preparation of motion pictures by member studios. According to this source there is at present considerable controversy among members of the Association as to the setting up of a committee to investigate Communistic activity in the motion picture industry and to eliminate those individuals responsible for it, or to merely restrict its scope to the making of recommendations to the industry.

According to Source T-65, ERIC JOHNSTON, President of the Association, was in Los Angeles during the week of July 14, 1947, and held a conference of the officers of the Association. Source T-65 disclosed that JOHNSTON made the following statement:

"We must have legal proof that a person is a Communist or otherwise subversive before this office will recommend that he be fired, because most persons in the industry are working under contract, which would result in legal suits for damages. We will cooperate with responsible agencies of the government to unearth subversive activities, but we are not in agreement with some of their methods."

According to this source, JOHNSTON stated that he did not like the publicity seeking committees who were injecting political angles into their investigations, and in particular mentioned DIES, RANKIN and THOMAS as being in this category.

ERIC JOHNSTON's present personal assistant is EDWARD T. CHEYFITZ who, according to T-65, spends a good part of his time in Washington and New York City and makes frequent trips to the Hollywood area on major assignments given him by ERIC JOHNSTON. This informant advises that some weeks ago CHEYFITZ came to the Coast to collaborate in the making of certain labor propaganda pictures for the Motion Picture Association at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios.

CHEYFITZ's one-time affiliation with the Communist Party, at least in the past, is admitted by him, although he claims to have alienated himself from the Party since 1939. On October 13, 1942, at his own request CHEYFITZ was interviewed by Special Agents EDWARD J. DOWD and A. J. QUINN at Toledo, Ohio, at which time he volunteered certain information concerning his past activities in the Party. He admitted having been a Communist member at large in the State of Ohio and active as an organizer in the C.I.O. Die Casters Union throughout the United States with other Communist leaders who had been appointed by him at the recommendation of JOHN WILLIAMSON of the Communist Party National Committee. CHEYFITZ claims he was expelled from the Communist Party shortly after the Soviet-Nazi non-aggression pact due to an article he wrote in opposition to the pact.

(W) The Los Angeles Office has no record or other evidence that CHEYFITZ is currently a member of the Communist Party. Source T-52 on July 17, 1947, at Hollywood, California, advised that his dealings with CHEYFITZ leads him to believe that the latter is sincerely anti-Communist at the present time. As a possible indication of the current estimate of CHEYFITZ by the local Communist element, the Los Angeles Office is in possession of the original of a letter dated July 26, 1946, on the letterhead of the Los Angeles C.I.O. Council. This letter, which was made available by Source T-113 on May 16, 1947, is signed by PHILIP M. (SLIM) CONNELLY, Secretary of the C.I.O. Council and addressed to PAULINE LAUBER of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, both of whom have been identified elsewhere in this report as Communists. The letter reads as follows: (W)

> "You may remember the jerk who signs the attached letter (EDWARD T. CHEYFITZ). He was once National Secretary of one of our unions and was as phoney as hell. I'm sending this to you simply for information, however, if the boys feel that any time they can benefit by contact with CHEYFITZ they should feel free to do so."

THE SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, INCORPORATED
1655 North Cherokee Avenue
Hollywood 28, California
Affiliated with the Authors League of America, Inc.

The SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, INCORPORATED, according to the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD "Bulletin", was formed in 1933. This was also verified by the Hollywood Press "Times", dated November 10, 1944, which announced the election for the eleventh President of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD since its founding in 1933.

According to the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD "Bulletin", dated August 1, 1944, the objects of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD as defined in its constitution, are to represent its members for the purpose of collective bargaining....To bring about harmonious and concerted action by its members in such respects.....To establish and maintain cordial relations, unity of action, and understanding among the members.....To protect the writings and property of Guild members and to do any and all things necessary, desirable and proper to promote their welfare and interest in carrying into effect or furthering any of the foregoing purposes.

The Motion Picture Almanac 1942-43 issue reflects that the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, INCORPORATED is an affiliate of the Authors League of America, Incorporated, with headquarters at 6 East 39th Street, New York City, has elected officers and council. The Authors League of America has no local organization. The representative of the Authors League of America in Los Angeles, until recently, was ANN ROTH MORGAN, Secretary of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD.

[According to Source T-2, she was a member of the Communist Party, USA, assigned to Branch A-1 of the Northwest Section, and as of November 19, 1945 was a member of the Communist Political Association, Northwest Section.(U)

The "Screen Writer", official publication of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, dated June 1945, in the first issue lists 923 active members of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, and 349 associate members of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD. According to the January 1946 issue of the "Screen Writer", there were 1317 members of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, 972 of whom are classified as active members, and 345 described as associate members. An associate member is a writer who has been elevated to a directorship or producer's position in the moving picture industry.

CONFIDENTIAL

The SCREEN WRITERS GUILD is run by its officers, its executive board and standing committees. Elections are held each year, generally in November. All terms are for one year's duration.

Source T-1 stated on July 9, 1945 that the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD was the first union group in the cultural field to come under the domination of the Communists and fellow travelers. He said it was organized by a group of writers, the majority of whom were then members of the John Reed Club of Hollywood, which he stated was a "Communist front organization", that afterwards became the Hollywood Chapter of the League of American Writers in 1935. (u)

Source T-1 stated that the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD ever since its inception has taken the lead among the organized cultural groups in the Hollywood motion picture industry in following the Communist Party line in all its devious changes. (u)

Source T-50 advised in June 1945 that he was one of the organizers of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD and that between 1935 and 1939 he realized that the Communists were gaining control of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD. He stated that the Communists gained control of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD through their untiring efforts in seeking to gain this control. He said they called more meetings "than any human being but one interested in Communism could ever desire to attend", and he recalled specifically that from 1935 to 1939 he spent almost his entire evenings attending meetings primarily in order to keep the Communists from controlling the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD. However, after years of fighting, Source T-50 stated that he found it impossible to do anything about the Communist control of the Guild, hence he withdrew his membership. Source T-50 stated emphatically that there was no question in his mind but what the Communist element was in complete control of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, and this despite the fact that the majority of the membership of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, in his opinion, were neither Communist members or Communist sympathizers. Source T-50 had no documentary evidence of the Communist membership of any of the members of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, however, he said in his own mind he is sure the leadership of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD is definitely Communist. (u)

Source T-50 on July 29, 1947 advised that he had come to Los Angeles from New York in 1936 and that there was a SCREEN WRITERS GUILD organized at that time in Los Angeles, however, it did not have bargaining rights or national recognition. He advised that there were fifteen men on the Executive Board in 1937, that he was one of the members of the Executive Board, stating that he had enjoyed considerable success on Broadway in New York and the Guild felt that his name would lend some dignity and importance to the Guild in its struggle for national recognition. Source T-50 stated that in the beginning he was very naive about the functions of the Guild and of the Communist influence in the Guild. He stated that after a year or so on the board he noticed a system of "block voting" on the part of seven members of the Executive Board. He stated he soon discovered these seven men were Communists, and although he does not have documentary proof of this he feels certain from their activities that they were Communists. He stated that although there were eight non-Communist men on the Executive Board the seven Communist members really controlled the Guild, stating that they held Executive Board meetings almost every night and that they operated in this way. All seven Communist members of the Executive Board attended every meeting. A motion would be made before the group on one night and the voting would be postponed for several nights following. The meetings would be scheduled for 8 o'clock in the evening and the Communist members would stall commencement of the discussions until 9 or 9:30 and frequently until some of the non-Communist members had become disgusted and gone home, or until the meetings had been postponed several nights and only five or six of the non-Communist members of the Executive Board had appeared and all seven of the Communist members would be present, then the motion or the resolution would be voted upon and, of course, with the Communist majority there they would always pass with ease.

Source T-50 advised that he could not recall the names of all seven of the Communist members at that time but furnished the names of five of them as follows:

|---|---|
| BORRIS INGSTER | LILLIAN HELLMAN |
| DOROTHY PARKER | DONALD OGDEN STEWART |
| RING LARDNER, JR. | |

Source T-50 stated that the above described example was a typical method by which the Communists controlled the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD.

Source T-50 advised that GORDON KAHN is the Editor of the "Screen Writer" and advised that KAHN was definitely a member of the Communist Party and was using the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD for a political purpose. He stated there was no purpose in the existence of the "Screen Writer" and that there was absolutely no need for such a magazine.

L A 100-15732

Source T-50 advised that when he first came to Los Angeles he had not heard of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and that LAWSON was not on the Executive Board at that time. However, he soon learned that LAWSON had a strong influence with the members of the Executive Board of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD. He stated that in his opinion JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, GORDON KAHN and RING LARDNER, JR. are the three most dangerous Communists in Hollywood. (u)

Of the names mentioned above by Source T-50, evidence has been set out elsewhere in this report concerning the Communist Party membership of the following: RING LARDNER, JR., JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and GORDON KAHN. (u)

Source T-1 states that LILLIAN HELLMAN is one of the highest ranking Communists in the United States. In 1943, Source T-1 advised that LILLIAN HELLMAN has been very active in Communist circles and the Communist movement in the United States since 1935, and that her Communist activities have been carried on mainly in New York and the East. Her activities on the West Coast have been in connection with the motion picture industry in Hollywood where several of her plays were made into motion pictures. These were "The Little Foxes", "Watch on the Rhine", and a third picture written by her was "The North Star". (u)

Source T-50 in June 1945 explained that the majority of the members of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD belong to the Guild as a bargaining agency and not for any "political reasons". However, the Communists belong to the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD for a "political reason", hence, the majority of the members of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD do not attend the regular meetings and take no intense, active interest in the Guild. Because of this, the 100 to 300 active members of the Guild really control the elections, functions and activities of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, and since many of these activists are Communists, the Communists have little difficulty in controlling the entire policy of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD. (u)

Source T-118 advised on July 29, 1947 that the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD was organized by JOHN HOWARD LAWSON in Hollywood in about 1932 and that it has been completely dominated and controlled by the Communists since its organization. . . . For fourteen years Source T-118 has been carrying on an open fight with the leaders of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD. He informed that he, Source T-118, is the only writer in Hollywood who has been refused membership in the Guild. Source T-118 stated that the principal figures in the Communist organization and control of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD are as follows: (u)

|---|---|
| JOHN HOWARD LAWSON | LESTER COLE |
| SAM ORNITZ | BORRIS INGSTER |
| GORDON KAHN | JOHN BRIGHT |
| FRED RENALDO | DOROTHY PARKER |
| DASHIELL HAMMETT | MARIAN SPITZER |
| DONALD OGDEN STEWART | RING LARDNER, JR. |

CONFIDENTIAL

Source T-118 stated he is positive these individuals are all Communists, stating that many years ago he thought a man could not be called a Communist unless he carried a card with a number, but he has come to learn that the most dangerous Communists do not carry cards and have no assigned numbers. He stated that he could prove every one of these individuals was a Communist by his strict adherence to the Communist Party policy over a period of fourteen years. Source T-118 added that EMMET LAVERY, now President of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, is definitely a Communist and that he could prove it by his following of the Communist Party policy. (u)

Source T-118 stated there were about 350 really active members of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD and that the individuals above mentioned as Communists in key positions as officers of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD continued to control its functions throughout the years. (u)

Source T-118 advised that he has been the leader of the opposition throughout the last fourteen years. He stated that most of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD members have been aware of what is going on in the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD but did not wish to fight and bring the issue into the open because of publicity and danger to their families. Source T-118 said that during some of the heated fights he has received threatening letters and many threatening phone calls.

Source T-118 stated the Communist members would fight the opposition by conducting open smear campaigns, stating specifically that he was accused of anti-Semitism, stating that of course nothing could be further from the truth as his wife is half Jewish. With reference to the "smear" campaigns, Source T-118 stated that the Communists even went so far as to direct a smear campaign against a writer, Source T-50 (a Jew), to the effect that Source T-50 was anti-Semitic and had betrayed his race. This was verified through Source T-50. (u)

Source T-118 stated that as the Communists took control of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD in 1933 they relaxed the rules of membership so that anyone who had worked as a writer for twelve weeks was admitted to membership in the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, stating this provided an easy way for the Communists to "pad the rolls" with "Communist unknown writers". (u)

Source T-118 stated that BORRIS INGSTER came to Hollywood from Russia and that INGSTER was admitted to the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD when he could hardly make himself understood in the English language, and in a year and a half INGSTER was elected to the Executive Board of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD. Source T-118 stated that of all the Communists in Hollywood he feels most confident that "INGSTER has used Russian money to further his purposes". (u)

Of the above names mentioned by Source T-118 evidence concerning Communist Party membership of the following has been set out elsewhere in this report: LESTER COLE, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, SAM ORNITZ, GORDON KAHN, JOHN BRIGHT, FRED RENALDO and RING LARDNER, JR. (u)

According to the Hollywood "Reporter", dated August 21, 1946, "the second report on un-American activities in California, published by the Joint Fact-Finding Committee of the State Legislature, stated the committee members consider JOHN HOWARD LAWSON one of the most important Marxist strategists in Southern California. JOHN LEECH, former Secretary of the Communist Party for Los Angeles County, testified before the Los Angeles County Grand Jury that LAWSON had been sent from New York to Hollywood by the Central Committee of the Communist Party and that he had immediately become active in Hollywood Study Clubs and in the Communist faction of studio unions, particularly in the organization of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD. LEECH stated that LAWSON became a dominant figure in Communist Party drama groups and attended Communist Party faction meetings in New York and Hollywood. Thus, LEECH'S testimony establishes that the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD'S founder, the first president, came directly to Hollywood from Communist Headquarters in New York and that the establishment of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD was the mission he was entrusted with by that headquarters. LAWSON was the first commissar of thought planted by the Communist Party in the motion picture industry."

On July 17, 1947, Source T-52 was asked to give his opinion as to the Communist control in various motion picture guilds in Hollywood. Concerning the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD he expressed his opinion, based upon long dealings with this group, that the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD is definitely under the control of the Communist Party, principally through three men, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, its founder, GORDON KAHN and EMMET LAVERY, the present President. (u)

L.A 100-15732

Source T-52 feels certain that all three of the above are Communists, not necessarily membership book holders in the Party, so far as any documentary proof is concerned, but because their policies and dealings in the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD always coincide with the current Communist Party line. Source T-52 said that he thinks LAVERY knows what "the score is" and "Party member or not, he is not being innocently taken in by the Communist Party."

CONFIDENTIAL

E 88511

There is no evidence in the Los Angeles Office indicating LAVERY to be a member of the Communist Party. However, Source T-2 reported that on January 16, 1945 JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and GORDON KAHN were members of the Communist Party.

On November 26, 1946, at LAVERY'S request, he was interviewed in the Los Angeles Office by Special Agent in Charge R. B. HOOD. He advised that he was President of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, and in view of certain statements he has made and activities in which he has been engaged he believes this Bureau maintains a record on him. He wanted the opportunity to state his position and offer his cooperation. He stated there were some 400 active members of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD who are constantly employed in motion pictures. He estimated there were some 30 or 40 of these who are actually members of the Communist Party. He stated he could resign from the position of President and avoid all the arguments and difficulties he has been engaged in but he refuses to give up because he thinks he is fignting for a principal. LAVERY stated definitely that there are Communists in the picture industry but that they could be eliminated very quickly if the industry desired to do so. LAVERY found fault with the extreme left wing element, stating very definitely that he is opposed to all types of force and violence and that definitely some of the Marxists have this in mind. LAVERY criticized the extreme right also and stated he thought somewhere between these two extremes there is a definite path forward and he is endeavoring to get the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD on this path, and to this end devotes every Monday night to the board meetings of this organization.

According to a n article appearing in the Los Angeles "Daily News", published on March 12, 1946 at Los Angeles, California, EMMET LAVERY, President of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization would run for Congress in the Sixteenth Congressional District which is now represented by Congressman ELLIS E. PATTERSON. This article pointed out that LAVERY has consented to run and that he is the author of the screen plays "Hitler's Children" and "Behind the Rising Sun". LAVERY is also, according to this news item, Chairman of the Hollywood Council of Guilds and Unions and a member of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

According to the "Screen Writer", Volume No. III, No. 2, dated July 1947, the present officers and executive board members of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD are as follows:

American Authors Authority (AAA)

Source T-1 advised on December 13, 1946 that the American Authors Authority is a proposed agency to be set up by the Authors League of America and all its affiliated branches, the Authors Guild, the Dramatists Guild, the Radio Writers Guild and the Screen Writers Guild. The purpose of this agency is stated by its originators to be for the purpose of protecting the economic interests of all writers, authors of every kind who write for the screen, for publishing houses, magazines, radio, etc., by making this agency in effect an over all "holding agency" of all the written material produced by the writers of the United States. The formation of this American Authors Authority is based on one central idea, that is, that no writer may sell outright to any film company or publisher of any kind his written material, but that such written material shall be "leased" only, and that the copyright of all such material shall be assigned by the writer to the American Authors Authority when it is offered for sale originally. Thus, while the writer would be technically the owner of the story, article or screen play, the copyright on the same would be held by the American Authors Authority under its control. The American Authors Authority maintains that there are only 3 issues involved in the plan and states them as follows:

1. Under the authority they (the film producer or publisher) will not through re-makes be able to make two or more profits out of one story purchased.

CONFIDENTIAL

2. They will be restrained from accepting as a free gift from the writer his secondary rights in any piece of material such as television, radio, serial, etc.

3. They will be restrained from freezing a writer's material on their shelves for an indefinite period while he watches the chances for other sales pass by.

The foregoing are the claims made to justify the formation of the American Authors Authority and the exercise of its powers of, as stated by its proponents, "benevolent compulsion". Because while on the surface the plan assumes one of legitimacy and a sincere attempt to rectify that which to some might be called injustices, it is in what the proponents of the American Authors Authority do not reveal that this agency could be used to strangle every form of writing, fictional and expository in the entire United States, especially when such an agency would be under the control of the Communist Party of the United States, operating through its secret members and sympathizers in the writing field.

Source T-1 further advised that "the idea of the American Authors Authority had its inception in the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD of Hollywood. This organization, the bargaining agency for the screen writers of the motion picture industry, is completely dominated by the Communist elements who occupy the offices of the organization and it has followed the line of the Communist Party ever since its formation in 1936. The original organizer of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, and still the active leader of the organization, was JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, a writer and a known member of the Communist Party for many years and one of its most fanatical adherents." (U)

Source T-1 advised that JAMES M. CAIN, a Hollywood screen writer and a member of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD, introduced a proposal for the formation of the American Authors Authority at the monthly meeting of the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD held on July 29, 1946 in Hollywood. The general sense of this original proposal, which was adapted from an article written by Mr. CAIN and published in the "Sreen Writer", was that the American Authors Authority would function practically as a "closed shop" for writers all over the United States, in that such writers would of necessity be forced to join the American Authors Authority in order to get their material before the publishers or or producers of films. The original proposal was that writers would have to become members of the several guilds representing their departments of writing such as radio, screen, books, magazines, etc. (u)

Source T-1 advised (u) "that the formation of the American Authors Authority within the SCREEN WRITERS GUILD of Hollywood has a relation to the general activities of the Communist Party as shown by the individuals of the over all committee of that guild and who are given the task of putting it across." (u)

The names appearing in this committee as reported by Source T-1 are as follows: (u)

|---|---|
| EMMET LAVERY | Chairman |
| RING LARDNER, JR. | Vice President |
| ROBERT ARDREY | ARTHUR EDMUND BELOIN |

SCREEN ACTORS GUILD

On April 10, 1947, Special Agents RICHARD D. AUERBACH and FRED G. DUPUIS interviewed RONALD REAGAN and his wife, JANE WYMAN, at their home, [redacted] REAGAN is President of the Screen Actors Guild and his wife has been active in the Guild and regularly attends the Guild meetings. They had requested that they be interviewed by Bureau Agents in order that they might furnish information regarding the activities of some members of the Guild who they suspected were carrying on Communist Party work.

REAGAN advised that the Screen Actors Guild had twelve officers, and that the work of the Guild is carried on principally through the Executive Board composed of the twelve officers plus past presidents. REAGAN and JANE WYMAN advised for the past several months they have observed during Guild meetings there are two "cliques" of members, one headed by ANNE REVERE and another by KAREN MORLEY which on all questions of policy that confront the Guild, follow the Communist Party line. REAGAN stated REVERE and MORLEY do not appear to be particularly close, but whenever an occasion arises necessitating the appointment of some member to a committee or to an office, the two "cliques" invariably either nominate or support the same individual. JANE WYMAN mentioned that while she had no factual information on which to base her conclusion, she had gained the definite impression that MORLEY and REVERE, during Guild meetings, were carrying out instructions and policies provided them prior to coming to the meeting, and that on many occasions, the arguments these two presented simply did not appear to have originated with them. RONALD REAGAN also pointed out that REVERE and MORLEY headed the faction within the Guild which agitated to have the Guild leadership nominate the Screen Actors Guild to support the recent strike in the Motion Picture Industry, which was called by the Conference of Studio Unions.

REAGAN and WYMAN listed the following actors and actresses as supporting REVERE and MORLEY:

|---|---|
| ALEXANDER KNOX | DOROTHY TREE |
| HOWARD DaSILVA | HOWLAND CHAMBERLAIN |
| HUME CRONYN | SENELA ROYALE |

REAGAN and his wife also mentioned that LARRY PARKS has also supported this group on several occasions.

Of the individuals mentioned by REAGAN and his wife, those known to the Los Angeles Office to be members of the Communist Party are the following:

CONFIDENTIAL

ANNE REVERE, Treasurer of the Guild, whose Communist Party membership was reported by [Informant T-2] as of August 31, 1944, January 8, 1945, January 16, 1945, February 26, 1945, and November 19, 1945. (U)

KAREN MORLEY whose Communist Party membership was reported by [Informant T-2] as of January 8, 1945, January 16, 1945, February 26, 1945, and November 19, 1945. (U)

HOWARD DaSILVA whose Communist Party membership was reported by [Informant T-2] on August 31, 1944, January 8, 1945, and February 26, 1945. (U)

DOROTHY TREE whose Communist Party membership was reported by [Informant T-1] as of August 31, 1944, January 8, 1945, January 16, 1945, February 26, 1945, and November 19, 1945. (U)

HOWLAND CHAMBERLAIN whose Communist Party membership was reported by [Informant T-5 as of May 25, 1947] (U)

LARRY PARKS whose Communist Party membership was reported by [Informant T-2] as of August 31, 1944, January 8, 1945, January 16, 1945, February 26, 1945, and November 19, 1945. (U)

REAGAN also advised that recently an actor by the name of LLOYD GOUGH, who appeared to be a particularly close friend of KAREN MORLEY's, has been regularly attending the Guild meetings and very vociferously supporting ANNE REVERE and KAREN MORLEY. He said GOUGH has recently been named chairman of a "clique" within the Guild which calls itself the "Combined Actors Committee." According to REAGAN, this committee includes in its membership the element of the Guild which he and his wife generally consider to be the radicals, and the group apparently meets separately prior to the Guild meetings and agrees upon the policy it will follow at the Guild meetings on the business and questions that are to come up.

[Informants T-3 and T-5 have] furnished information to establish the Communist Party membership of LLOYD GOUGH as of May, 1947. (U)

[Informant T-2] has furnished the names of 71 Communist Party members who are listed as actors or actresses by the Party and of this number, 54 have been verified through the Guild as Guild members, 42 of which are in current status. This verification was made on July 31, 1947, by Special Agent FRED G. DUPUIS through the assistance of JOHN DALES, JR., Executive Secretary of the Screen Actors Guild. Mr. DALES advised that the Guild has approximately 8,500 members. (U)

7. SCREEN CARTOONISTS GUILD

Source T-1 advised on October 11, 1944, that the Screen Cartoonists were organized and founded in the motion picture industry in Hollywood, California, during the fall of 1939 as an independent union, having jurisdiction over cartoonists, sketch artists and animators who were engaged in the motion picture industry.

This source stated that it continued as an independent union until the spring of 1941, at which time it secured a charter of affiliation with the American Federation of Labor. This was not a direct charter but was in the form of a sub-charter granted by the Motion Picture Painters Local 644, AFL, which was affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers of America, which was in turn a section of the American Federation of Labor.

Source T-1 advised further that after the charter was granted, a strike was called at the Walt Disney Studios which lasted for about forty days. This strike, according to Source T-1, brought out conclusively that the Screen Cartoonists Guild was Communist infiltrated and was evidenced by the fact that the entire strength of the Communist machine in Los Angeles and Hollywood areas was thrown into the strike, resulting in the anti-Communist unions in the studios entering the dispute to bring about a settlement. The strike was settled on July 9, 1941; however, the Screen Cartoonists Guild gained its objective by being recognized as the sole bargaining agency for the cartoonists and the Communists in the Cartoonists Guild considered this a major victory for them.

Source T-1 stated that the persons chiefly responsible for the organization and founding of the Screen Cartoonists Guild included the following individuals:

HERBERT K. SORRELL
DAVID HILBERMAN
ED M. GILBERT
ARTHUR BABBITT
PHYLLIS LAMBERTSON
GEORGE E. BODLE
WILLIAM LITTLEJOHN

The following should be noted concerning several of the organizers and founders of the Screen Cartoonists Guild:

HERBERT K. SORRELL

Source T-106 stated that SORRELL was a subscriber to the People's World, to his knowledge, in the early part of 1939. This source stated on August 4, 1939, that SORRELL's name appeared on the letterheads as a sponsor for the Harry Bridges Defense Committee. This source stated in June 1940 that SORRELL's name appeared on the letterhead as a sponsor for the Schneiderman-Darcy Defense Committee. Source stated further on July 20, 1940 that SORRELL was an officer of the American Peace Crusade, and on August 23, 1941 that he was scheduled to attend a conclave of Communist Party leaders in New York City.

Source T-12 stated on October 30, 1943 that SORRELL, under the name of HERBERT STEWART, was a member of the Communist Party in 1938 and held Communist Party Book Number 60622, but recently had not been openly active in Communist affairs; however, he followed the Communist Party line in regard to his attitude toward Russia and his demand for a second front.

DAVID HILBERMAN (party name WILLIAM FOLDAL)

Source T-1 advised on May 2, 1943 that HILBERMAN was present at the annual Communist Party May-Day Festival held at the Los Angeles Breakfast Club and was responsible for the cartoon which was posted in that hall demanding a second front.

Source T-31 stated on October 5, 1943 that HILBERMAN purchased a $25.00 War Bond through the Communist Party, Los Angeles County.

Source T-12 advised in January, 1944 that HILBERMAN joined the Communist Party in 1935 under the Party name of WILLIAM FOLDAL. He had 1939 Communist Party Book Number 3171.

In October, 1944 Source T-1 stated that HILBERMAN, then Vice-Presid of the Screen Cartoonists Guild, was a member of a special committee set up the Communist Party to influence and control Hollywood studio unions.

ED M. GILBERT

On February 20, 1940 a report was received from the Burbank Cali Police Department stating that GILBERT was seen passing out Communist Parti literature at Warner Brothers Studios.

On June 15, 1947 Source T-5 made available information indica that GILBERT had been a member of the Communist Party for twelve years was an active member of the Communist Party at that time.

There is no evidence available that other organizers of the Cartoonists Guild, as set forth previously, were members of the Commu

Source T-1 stated on October 11, 1944 that the Screen Cart Guild has constantly, since July 9, 1941, followed the Communist Pa and Communist Party influence has been felt up to and including the time.

He stated that the Screen Cartoonists Guild, prior to the time Germany invaded Russia, came out strongly against aid to Great Britain; against U. S. entry into the war, however when Germany did invade Russia the Screen Cartoonists Guild desired that the United States enter the war and that a second front be started.

Source T-1 stated further on October 11, 1944 that the Screen Cartoonists Guild was one of the original Unions to form the Conference of Studio Unions which is a Communist infiltrated block of about ten motion picture studio unions, the President of which was HERBERT K. SORRELL. (U)

The Los Angeles Times newspaper of August 5, 1942 carried a news item to the effect that on August 4, 1942 the Los Angeles Police Commission had refused a request of BERNARD TRABIN for a permit to hold a second front parade in Hollywood. TRABIN was sponsored by a number of organizations, including the Screen Cartoonists Guild. It should be noted that in September, 1943, Source T-31 advised that TRABIN was a member of the Echo Park Branch of the Communist Party and had Communist Party Book No. 48639. (U)

Source T-1 stated that the leading functionary of the Screen Cartoonists Guild from 1943 to 1945 was MORTIMER WILLIAM POMERANCE who, during that period, was the Business Representative of the Union and used his influence to direct and control Union activities and endeavor to bring the Union into the Communist orbit. (U)

MORTIMER WILLIAM POMERANCE

Source T-2 stated on August 31, 1944 that POMERANCE was a member of the Communist Party, Los Angeles County, and had 1943 Communist Party Book No. 25195. This source stated on November 19, 1945 that POMERANCE was assigned 1946 Communist Party Book No. 35635. Further information on POMERANCE will be found under another section of this report, entitled Hollywood Democratic Committee. (U)

Source T-18 advised on August 9, 1943 that MORTIMER WILLIAM POMERANCE was in frequent contact with functionaries of the Communist Party, Los Angeles County at Communist Party Headquarters, and had made arrangements for numerous meetings with them. (U)

Source T-47 advised on September 11, 1943 that the Screen Cartoonists Guild was one of the participating guilds in the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, most of the leaders of which were members and/or contacts of the Communist Party (U)

Source T-1 advised in February, 1944 that the Communist Party, Los Angeles County was working through its members and fellow travellers in the Hollywood movie industry and had gained control or had strong influence in at least seventeen studio guild unions, one of which was the Screen Cartoonists Guild. At this time, according to Source T-1, the Screen Cartoonists Guild continued to be a member of the Conference of Studio Unions which was then under Communist influence.

In April, 1944 Source T-1 stated that almost immediately after the United States entered World War II the Hollywood Writers Mobilization for Defense was set up and the Screen Cartoonists Guild was one of the studio guilds which sponsored this new organization which from its inception started clamoring for a second front.

Source T-18 advised on April 21, 1944 that MORTIMER WILLIAM POMERANCE, Business Representative of the Screen Cartoonists Guild, conferred with ELIZABETH GLENN at Communist Party Headquarters and had no objection to Communist Party meetings being held at the Screen Cartoonists Hall.

Source T-2 on January 16, 1945 made available to Special Agents JOHN R. VICARS, DAVID A. McCULLOUGH and FRED DUPUIS a typewritten report which was in the possession of ELIZABETH LEACH, organizer of the Northwest Section of the Communist Political Association, Los Angeles County, and a part of this report dealt with the Screen Cartoonists Guild. This report stated "The Screen Cartoonists Guild has done a great deal toward developing understanding of the possibilities of the cartoon film as a propagandist educational medium. Through the educational activities of the Union it has been possible to achieve more consistent democratic content in the regular governmental films themselves. In addition, members of the Guild have undertaken to make films for labor and police organizations. The first of these was the United Auto Workers cartoon 'Hell Bent for Election' which was conceived and produced by members of the Guild".

Source T-64 on January 19, 1946 made available a letter prepared during 1945 concerning the second annual meeting of the Peoples Educational Association. It was noted that on the reverse side of this letter the names of Unions affiliated with the Peoples Educational Center were listed, one of which was the Screen Cartoonists Guild.

It should be noted that Source T-4 stated in January, 1946 that the Communist Party considered the Peoples Educational Center at that time sufficient for the dissemination of Marxist education.

Source T-104 stated on July 30, 1947 that he recalls specifically when he came out of the Army in 1945 that upon his going to the Screen Cartoonists Hall and offices he saw numerous cartoons and photographs of the hammer and sickle and other Russian and Communist propaganda.

Source T-104 advised on June 16, 1947 that MARY SHERRET, CECIL BEARD and NORMAN McCABE, who are cartoonists and artists in the motion picture industry, were contacting numerous cartoonists who were then unemployed through the Screen Cartoonists Guild and were making plans to put out a series of cartoon books for children as well as adults in order to influence their thinking toward Communism. MARY SHERRET told Source T-104 that if children will follow these cartoon booklets it will result when they become adult in their being masters of the machine rather than the machine mastering them. This office does not have any information indicating that the above named individuals are members of the Communist Party.

Sources T-1, T-104 and T-119 advised that the Screen Cartoonists Guild presently has its offices and Union Hall at 6272 Yucca Street, Hollywood, California. Source T-104 states that there are approximately 800 members of the Screen Cartoonists Guild at this time, 300 of whom are unemployed. According to these sources, the present officers of the Screen Cartoonists Guild were elected on June 24, 1947 and they are being set out as follows:

Pertinent information is hereunder being set out on those officers of the Screen Cartoonists Guild whose names appear above and who are known to have Communist connections.

ROBERT CARLSON

CONFIDENTIAL

CARLSON, who is presently Treasurer of the Screen Cartoonists Guild, was reported by [Source T-121 in June, 1947] as having received Communist literature at the YMCA at the YMCA where he resided during his visit to El Paso, Texas in the latter part of 1946, and talked openly in favor of Communism. (3)

MAURICE HOWARD

The Variety Paper of November 16, 1944 published in Hollywood, set out that HOWARD replaced MORTIMER WILLIAM POMERANCE as business agent of the Screen Cartoonists Guild.

[Source T-2] stated on February 26, 1945 that HOWARD and his wife, EVELYN, were members of the Communist Political Association and at that time were assigned to Cultural Club No. 3, Los Angeles County Communist Party. This source stated that HOWARD had 1945 Communist Political Association Book No. 47432. This source stated further that HOWARD had a 1944 Communist Political Association Book Number but the book number was not noted thereon. (4)

Source T-18 advised in July, 1945 that HOWARD was in frequent contact with ELIZABETH LEACH GLENN, organizer for the Cultural Clubs of the Communist Political Association. (4)

[On July 30, 1947 Source T-4 stated that he] recalled that when HOWARD took over the position previously held by MORTIMER WILLIAM POMERANCE he had proposed that the Screen Cartoonists get out cartoon books for propaganda and educational purposes for children, showing the place and importance of labor in the world today. (4)

MILTON S. TYRE

TYRE is Legal Advisor to the Screen Cartoonists Guild. Source T-24 in July, 1945 made available evidence indicating that TYRE was a member of the Communist Party and was transferred from the 59th A.D. Branch to the Wilshire-Fairfax Branch. (4)

Source T-5 made available records for examination on June 15, 1947 which showed that TYRE was a member of the Communist Party; that he resides at [redacted] and at that time was a member of the Engels Club. He was transferred from the Wilshire-Fairfax Club, according to this source, who stated that TYRE is a lawyer and had been in the Party two years. (4)

THOMAS "TOM" BYRNES (Member of Board of Trustees and Delegate to Labor Council)

Source T-104 stated on July 30, 1947 that he is well acquainted with BYRNES who, to his knowledge, married a woman who is a member of the Communist Party, however at this time he cannot recall her name. He stated that BYRNES agrees with and is under the influence of MAURICE HOWARD and CECIL BEARD whom source feels are either Communists or strong sympathizers. (U)

Source T-104 stated on July 30, 1947 that until recently the President of the Screen Cartoonists Guild was ARTHUR BABBITT who exercised a great deal of influence in the Guild, however he has now gone to France temporarily to assist in the making of pictures. It should be noted concerning BABBITT that Source T-107 stated on June 20, 1940 that BABBITT was one of a number of cartoonists who spent several evenings each week making drawings and cartoons to be sent to Communist Party Headquarters in New York and were in turn to be published in Communist Party publications. (U)

Source T-106 stated on June 6, 1941 that BABBITT was discharged by the Walt Disney Studios for endeavoring to influence other employees to become interested in Communist matters and also for the distribution of Communist literature. (U)

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent GAYLE C. SHELTON:

SCREEN OFFICE EMPLOYEES GUILD
A.F.L. LOCAL 1391

CONFIDENTIAL

Source T-96 stated the Screen Office Employees Guild was originally affiliated with the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, A.F.L. Local 1391.

In 1945 when the Conference of Studio Unions called a strike in the film industry, the Screen Office Employees Guild did not go along all the way with the strike, as half of the members of the Union went back to work, according to Source T-96.

In the interim between the 1945 strike and the current film strike, the National Labor Relations Board held an election within the Screen Office Employees Guild, at which time, Source T-96 advised the Screen Office Employees Guild voted to affiliate with the A.F.L. "Office Employees Industrial Union," and accordingly the Screen Office Employees Guild no longer exists.

On July 24, 1947, Source T-96, who is an official of one of the unions in the motion picture industry, stated that at one time the Screen Office Employees Guild was strongly dominated by the Communist Party, and contained many members within its organization who were members of the Communist Party in his opinion. The source based this statement on long experience, and the observation of the tactics and policy followed by various individuals hereinafter mentioned, who were members of the Screen Office Employees Guild.

Source T-96 stated that the officers of the Screen Office Employees Guild, Local 1391, as of July 30, 1944, were as follows:

|---|---|
| MARGARET BENNETT (WILLS) | President |
| BLANCHE COLE | Recording Secretary |
| BERNARD LUSHER (LUSCHER) | Financial Secretary |
| CLAIRE MORGAN | Treasurer |
| JACK REED | Warden |
| BARBARA ALEXANDER (Barbara Myers) | Conductor |
| FLORENCE CONTINI | Organizer |
| MIN SELVIN | Special Organizer |
| GLENN PRATT | Business Representative |

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

The source advised that in addition, one HERTA UERKVITZ was a member of the Board of Directors of the Screen Office Employees Guild, and was also a delegate to the Central Labor Council, and Source felt that she was definitely a Communist. In addition, Source T-96 expressed the belief that of the above captioned officers of the old Screen Office Employees Guild, all were members of the Communist Party with the exception of CLAIRE HORGAN, JACK REED, FLORENCE CONTINI and GLENN PRATT, business representative of the Guild.

Concerning GLENN PRATT, Source T-96 expressed the belief that PRATT was not a member of the Communist Party, but that in his experience with PRATT, he felt that PRATT certainly respected the Communist Party line, and that PRATT was an individual easily led and inclined to follow the path of least resistance, and believed that PRATT, at the time of the existence of the Screen Office Employees Guild, was under the complete domination of HERBERT K. SORRELL of the Conference of Studio Unions, elsewhere identified in this report as having been a member of the Communist Party.

(1) MARGARET BENNETT (MARGARET BENNETT WILLS), who has been identified in the section of this report dealing with the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions as being a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, and who at the present time is Executive Secretary of the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions, is not presently connected with the Office Employees Industrial Union which succeeded the Screen Office Employees Guild.

(2) BLANCHE COLE, who, according to T-2 on July 22, 1943, was Educational Director of Branch N of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, according to T-96, shows not associated with the Office Employees Industrial Union.

(3) BERNARD LUSHER (LUSCHER) has been previously identified in the section of this report dealing with the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.

(4) BARBARA ALEXANDER (BARBARA MYERS), has been identified in the section of this report dealing with the Hollywood Council of Guilds and Unions as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.

(5) MIN SELVIN, according to Source T-2 in 1943 was a member of Branch N of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, and held 1943 Communist Party Membership

CONFIDENTIAL

On June 13, 1946, [Source T-2] advised that SELVIN held 1944 Communist Party Membership Card No. 48849, and 1945 Membership Card No. 41829. T-96 advised that SELVIN had recently married NORVELL D. CRUTCHER, who has been identified elsewhere in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. (U)

Source T-34 also stated that HERTA UERKVITZ, BLANCHE COLE and MARGARET BENNETT WILLS were invited as guests to attend the aforementioned Communist Party Convention. (U)

(6) HERTA UERKVITZ. Source T-11 and Source T-2 advised that HERTA UERKVITZ used the Party name of JEAN PETERS, and that she was a member of Branch N of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party; that she had served as one of the twenty-two members of the Executive Board of the Screen Office Employees Guild, and that she was a delegate to the Central Labor Council. (U)

[Source T-2 on November 21, 1943,] stated that UERKV JEAN PETERS, admitted seven years of Communist Par membership as of October, 1943, and that she had served as Organizer for Branch N of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. [At this time Source T-2] stated UERKVITZ declared she was Chairman of the War Bond Committee of the Screen Office Employees Guild; Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Screen Office Employees Guild; and Chairman of the Office of Price Administration Committee of the Screen Office Employees Guild. (U)

[Source T-96] advised that since the formation of the Office Employees Industrial Union, [he did not believe] that any of the old members of the Screen Office Employees Guild who voted to go along with the Office Employees Industrial Union, and who had been suspected by the Guild of being Communist, had ever been officially dropped from the Office Employees Industrial Union. He stated, however, that those individuals from the Screen Office Employees Guild who had been suspected of Communist Party affiliation and had entered the Office Employees Industrial Union had for the most part dropped out of the new organization on their own volition, and that there is no indication at the present time that the Office Employees Industrial Union was controlled by the Communist elements. Information regarding the activities of Communists within Local 47 was provided on March 24, 1947, by Source T-61, who stated that from 1937 to 1939 the President of this Local was the present California State Senator, JACK B. TENNEY, whose candidacy had originally been supported by a group of approximately sixty-five Communist Party members. During TENNEY's term of office, according to Source T-61, he conducted an investigation of Communism within the Local which resulted in a number of expulsions. TENNEY was defeated for re-election in 1939, and subsequent to that time, according to T-61, the activities of the Communists within the Union have resulted in its withdrawal from affiliation with the Los Angeles Central Labor Council, and from the State Federation of Labor. (U)

Source T-55, an officer of the American Federation of Musicians, stated to Special Agents GRAHAM A. DAY and JOHN J. HENRY on July 23, 1947, that the present head of the Local, J. K. "SPIKE" WALLACE, succeeded TENNEY as President due to the support of the Communist group within the Union. The source reported that from 1939 until 1947 WALLACE, who as President dominates the affairs of the Local, cooperated with the Communist members of the Union to such an extent that the Communists actually exercised control over the policies of the Local.

The source explained that the Local's constitution provides that 150 members constitutes a quorum, and that it is extremely difficult to secure an attendance as large as this at a Union meeting. T-55 stated that there had been only four quorum meetings of the Union during the past five years, with the result that the general membership, which he estimated as nearly 15,000, had no voice in the affairs of the Local. (U)

T-55 stated that he had watched the activities of the Communists within the Local, and reported that the following Local members were the active leaders of the pro-Communist group: (U)

Source T-55 reported that during the national convention of the American Federation of Musicians held in June, 1947, demands were made by the Communist group upon local President J. K. WALLACE, with which the latter found it impossible to comply. As a result, upon WALLACE's return to Los Angeles, he was bitterly criticized by the faction above listed, and Source T-55 states that WALLACE has told him personally that from this time on he is through with the Communists.

Source T-62 reported to Special Agent SAMUEL W. FRY on March 3, 1944, that he is a member of the Musicians Union, and that Local 47 was being dominated by a group of persons whom he believed to be Communist Party members or sympathizers, with the result that the Union had passed a resolution urging the establishment of a second front, had been active in attacking the California State Legislature Fact Finding Committee because of its investigation of Communism in California, and that donations were being solicited from Union members purportedly to be sent to Russia to buy musical supplies for the gifted musicians there who were no longer able to secure them. T-62 stated that SAM ALBERT and MISCHA ALTMAN were the leaders of this group.

Source T-5 reported on May 17, 1947, that each of the below listed individuals were active members of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS

I. HISTORICAL SKETCH

A. EVENTS LEADING TO FORMATION

The above organization was formed originally as the "Emergency Committee of the Hollywood Guilds and Unions" to combat the so-called "Fascist Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals" and held its first meeting on Wednesday, June 28, 1944 at 8:00 P.M. at the Women's Club of Hollywood, 7078 Hollywood Boulevard. The announcement of this meeting was first published as a full page advertisement in the June 23, 1944 issue of the HOLLYWOOD REPORTER and was signed by the Emergency Committee, Hollywood Guilds and Unions. The purpose of the meeting as stated in the announcement, a copy of which is in the office of the Los Angeles Division, was "representatives of 17 guilds and unions of the motion picture industry.....coming together to set up a constructive program for the Hollywood Guilds and Unions during and after the war, and to take action to protect industry and its workers from anti-labor, semi-fascist attacks". The original announcement further stated that "in the latter connection, the meeting will consider the recent activities and statements of spokesmen for the "Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals", which latter organization had contended that there is "widespread impression that this industry is made up of an dominated by Communist radicals and crackpots", having declared itself at the time of its earlier formation in February, 1944 "in sharp revolt against a rising tide of Communism, Fascism, and kindred beliefs".

"The Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals" hereinafter will be referred to as the MPA.

The MPA in a Statement of Principles, a copy of which is on file in the Los Angeles Division, had previously declared a belief and a fondness for the American way of life; the freedom to speak, think, live, watch, work, and govern as individual free men in sharp revolt against Communism, Fascism, and kindred beliefs that sought by subversive means to undermine and change the American way of life.

Indicative of the concern of certain elements within the motion picture industry over the formation of the MPA is the activity engaged in by these said elements in the film industry as hereinafter related.

According to the statement made by ELMER LAVERY, Acting Chairman of the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions in a letter furnished by T-96, a copy of which is on file in the Los Angeles Division, dated July 10, 1944, 900 delegates from seventeen guilds and unions had attended the meeting held June 28, 1944 and unanimously adopted "the constructive program of public relations for the motion picture industry" sponsored by the "Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions". Circular letters were then forwarded to the secretaries of various unions who had not attended the regular meeting at which they were asked to join the Council, according to Source T-96. (U)

For several months prior to the dissemination of the aforementioned statement, various meetingshad taken place in order to formulate plans for an organization to combat the MPA, according to Source T-96. (U) One of the first of these meetings took place on February 7, 1944, two days after the publicity of the formation of the MPA. Source T-48 reported that at this meeting PAUL CLINE, whose real name, according to the records of the Immigration and Naturalization Service at Los Angeles, California, is NOTAH KLAPPER and, according to the records of the Voters Registration at Los Angeles, California is a member of the Communist Party, and CARL WINTER, who, according to Source T-2, was then Executive Secretary of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, then known as the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association, had met to consider ways and means of attacking the MPA. (U)

Source T-28 stated that on February 6, 1944 a conference had taken place between PAUL TRIVERS, identified elsewhere in this report as a Communist, and JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, identified elsewhere in this report as a Communist. This meeting, as well as the one which Source T-28 stated took place on February 27, 1944 between GEORGE PEPPER, who, according to Source T-2 on February 26, 1945, was a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party in 1944 and held 1944 membership card #41764 and 1945 membership card #47168, was to make plans against the MPA. (U)

On March 2, 1944, Source T-92 was present at Sardi's Restaurant and recognized the following persons who, according to this source, met to formulate a program to be directed against the MPA:

They were ELIZABETH LEACH, who, according to Source T-2 is a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and is a Communist Party functionary, and held 1943 Communist Party membership card #25016, 1944 Communist Party membership card #44705, and 1945 Communist Party membership card #44703; WILLIAM POMERANCE, identified elsewhere in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party; and GEORGE PEPPER, previously identified as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.

Source T-28 reported a conference with similar purpose between ROBERT ROSSEN, former President of the Screen Writers Guild and at that time President of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, and who has been identified elsewhere in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, and JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, previously identified in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. Source T-28 reported that the above meeting took place several days after March 2, 1944 and this same source advised that on March 31, 1944, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON told WILLIAM POMERANCE that the Screen Writers Guild should start the ball rolling in forming an attack on the MPA. According to Source T-28, LAWSON suggested that the attack be made against persons who were leading the MPA and further suggested that the attack be worded in such a way as to indicate that the persons leading the MPA were against the war effort.

Sources T-28 and T-18 advised that on March 9, 1944 a meeting was held at the home of ALBERT and MARGARET MALTZ, [redacted] The above two sources reported that the purpose of the meeting was to further plans to attack the MPA.

Source T-93 stated the following individuals were present at this meeting:

1) ELIZABETH LEACH, previously identified as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
2) MARJORIE J.POTTS, who, according to Source T-11, on or about August 17, 1943 stated she was Membership Director and Organizational Committee Secretary of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. Source T-18 stated on May 20, 1944 that POTTS continued to serve in this capacity.

3) FRED RINALDO, who, according to [Source T-2] on July 22, 1943, was Educational Director of Branch C of the Northwest Section and Education Director of the Northwest section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held, according to [Source T-2] on February 16, 1945, 1944 Communist Political Association membership card #4408. [Source T-38 advised RINALDO in the latter part of 1944 was then a member of the BEN FRANKLIN Club of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1945 membership card #45732] (U)

4) LESTER COLE, who, according to [Source T-2] is a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1945 Communist Party membership card #47226. (U)

[Source T-93] observed the automobiles of the following individuals at 6520 Lindenhurst Drive on March 9, 1944 who may have possibly attended the meeting:

1) CHARLES LEONARD, who [Source T-2 on July 22, 1943] advised was a member of Branch C, Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. (U)

2) FRANCES NICHOLSON, who, according to [Source T-2], on August 31, 1944, advised was a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1943 Communist Party membership card #25122 and 1944 membership card #48806. (U)

3) PAUL JARRICO, who, according to [Source T-2] is a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1944 membership card #46809 and 1945 membership card #47186. (U)

4) JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, previously identified as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. (U)

5) CLAUDIA HUBLEY, who, [Source T-2] stated in June, 1944 was Literary Director, Branch E of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Northwest Section and held Los Angeles County Communist Political Association membership card #36149 and 1944 Communist Political Association membership card #46919. (U)

6) MISHA ALTMAN, who [Source T-2] on February 26, 1945 advised was a member of the Sunset Branch of the Cultural Section of the 59th Assembly District of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1944 membership card #45008 and 1945 membership card #47163. (U)

3/13 On March 13, 1944, Source T-28 advised that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, previously identified, met with PAULINE LAUBER FINN for the purpose of discussing plans to form an attack against the MPA. PAULINE LAUBER FINN has been identified elsewhere in this report as a Communist Party member. (U)

On March 14, 1944, Source T-28 advised that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and GEORGE PEPPER again met for the purpose to further the plans to attack the MPA. LAWSON and PEPPER have been previously identified as members of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.

3/14 On March 17, 1944, a similar meeting took place at [redacted] at the home of LESTER COLE, according to Sources T-28 and T-18. COLE had been previously identified as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. Those persons present, according to Sources T-28 and T-18, who have been previously identified as members of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, were WILLIAM POMERANCE, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and ELIZABETH LEACH. The above two sources reported that MELVIN LEVY was present at the meeting and is, according to Source T-2, a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1945 Communist Party membership card #47261. (U)

3/17 [Source T-94] advised that the following individuals were noted as being present at the aforesaid meeting on March 17, 1944: MARJORIE J. POTTS, previously identified; ANN ROTH MORGAN, identified elsewhere in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party; ROBERT LEES, who, according to [T-2], is a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1944 membership card #46807 and 1945 membership card #47172; LOUIS SOLOMON, identified elsewhere in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party; PAULINE LAUBER FINN and GEORGE PEPPER, both of whom have been previously identified. Source T-94 advised the following individuals may have been present at the meeting of March 17, 1944 inasmuch as their automobiles were observed in the near vicinity of [redacted] They were: b6 b7C

1. META REIS, identified elsewhere in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
2. SAM MOORE, who Source T-2 on February 26, 1945 stated was a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1944 Communist Party membership card #44635 and 1945 Communist Party membership card #47288.
3. RING LARDNER, JR., identified elsewhere in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
4. W. F. BLOWITZ, who Source T-2 stated on February 26, 1945 was a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1944 Communist Party membership card #46136 and 1945 Communist Party membership card #47420.

On May 2, 1944, Source T-11 reported a meeting took place on that date at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel, Hollywood, California and this meeting was sponsored by the Screen Writers Guild. Those individuals who, according to Source T-11, attended the meeting and have not been previously mentioned or identified in this section as members of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, are:

1. VICTOR SHAPIRO, identified elsewhere in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
2. KEN HOWARD, who Source T-2 on November 16, 1943 advised was a member of Branch B of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, having transferred in July, 1943 from the Lerner Branch of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
3. GEORGE BRADLEY, who Source T-34 on July 31, 1944 advised was a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, assigned to the Echo Park Branch.
4. NORVAL D. CRUTCHER, who has been identified elsewhere in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
5. JAY GORNEY, identified elsewhere in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.

Source T-11 advised that a meeting held on May 2, 1944 at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel by the Screen Writers Guild was presided over by MARY MC CALL, JR., concerning whom there is no record of Communist Party membership. At this meeting, according to Source, it was suggested that a big motion picture affair be given at the Hollywood Bowl as a means of getting notice and publicity for this new program they were trying to create against the MPA. As a result of the business of the meeting, a motion was made to form a Committee of WILLIAM POMERANCE and VICTOR SHAPIRO, both of whom have previously been identified, which was charged with drawing up aims and policies of the new organization that was being formed. Source T-11, a member of the Communist Party himself, stated on May 2, 1944 that this group was being set up for the prime purpose of fighting the MPA. The group hoped, according to Source, to attract for publicity purposes well known people with unquestionable reputations for the positions of fronting the new organization. Source advised that it was felt that if by making everyone in the picture business feel that the MPA had accused the entire industry of being Communists, radicals and crackpots, the new organization hoped to stir up everyone else in the studios against the MPA. Source disclosed that the procedure, which has been reported above, was the same procedure that he had watched the Communist Party use many times and there was no doubt in his mind that this was another Communist front organization in the making. Source stated that these individuals who were taking such an active part in forming the new organization had as their philosophy in such things as this, even though they lost and did not succeed, the idea of building up prestige of Communism and the terrific educational value of their efforts. (X)(4)

On May 9, 1944, an article in the PEOPLES WORLD listed 38 film unions and guilds which sent delegates to the meeting of May 2, 1944, previously reported. This meeting was called, according to Source T-11, to formulate plans for the organization against the MPA and that the guilds represented at this meeting of May 2, 1944 constituted a large majority of the labor organizations connected with film industry.

B. FIRST ORGANIZATIONAL STEP OF THE COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS—PLANNING COMMITTEE FORMED May 16, 1944.

Source T-28 was present at a conference between JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, previously identified, and CHARLES KATZ, [redacted] b6 b7C [redacted] KATZ is an attorney in Los Angeles, California and signed the brief of the Los Angeles Communist Party petition filed before the California Supreme Court in June, 1942, placing the Party on ballot on September 17, 1940. JOHN LEACH, former Communist Party organizer, testified concerning KATZ before the Grand Jury as follows: "I knew KATZ as a Communist Party member; he was active in professional study groups, organizing professional study groups in Hollywood for the Communist Party. KATZ was in the Communist fraction of the Anti-Nazi League. KATZ received membership book from STANLEY LAWRENCE; (X)(4) worked with TITIANA TUTTLE in organizing underground Communists cells in Hollywoodwith ALBERT BIBERMAN and V. J. JEROME; his wife is very active in Communist Party work and joined the Communist Party in 1936." (U)

Source T-28 reported that the Conference with LAWSON and KATZ on May 2, 1944 was relative to the "dirt the Communist Party was then attempting to uncover concerning the MPA leaders". At the conference, Source T-28 stated LAWSON told KATZ that he would give him a check for $200.00. LAWSON stated that he was a little worried inasmuch as the derogatory material unearthed by him, while useful, was very thin. LAWSON suggested that KATZ confer with DALTON TRUMBO (identified elsewhere in this report as being a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party) relative to the information gathered to date by KATZ. (U)

Source T-11 advised the Motion Picture Labor Committee for Political Action met on May 10, 1944 at 1537 Cahuenga Boulevard, Hollywood, California. The purpose of the meeting, according to source, was the furtherance of plans to organize in some manner against the MPA. Those attending the meeting, who have previously been identified, were WILLIAM POMERANCE, NORVAL CRUTCHER, and GEORGE PEPPER. Others were ED SMITH, who, according to Source T-2 as of February 26, 1945, is a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party; HERBERT K. SORRELL, elsewhere identified in this report as having been a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party; and BONNIE CLAIRE, whose real name is BONNIE CLAIRE LASKOVITZ, according to the files of the Immigration and Naturalization Service at Los Angeles. Source T-2 on July 15, 1943 advised that she was Press Director of Branch N, Northwest Section, Los Angeles County Communist Party, and held 1944 Communist Party membership card #48841 and 1944 Communist Political Association membership card #46868. Source T-11, who it should be noted is a member of the Communist Party himself, advised that the entire transaction against the MPA had a Communist stamp on it. He said that CAMPBELL (possibly GEORGE CAMPBELL, concerning whom there is no record of actual membership in the Los Angeles County Communist Party) "pressures the money out of AFL; GEORGE PEPPER runs the machinery and KEN HOWARD, NORVAL CRUTCHER, BONNIE CLAIRE, WILLIAM POMERANCE, ED SMITH pull the strings to run the show". (U)

On May 16, 1944, Source T-28 stated JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and DALTON TRUMBO met to talk over a written report made by TRUMBO concerning the MPA. TRUMBO made available to this source a copy of this report which source felt showed the long range program being planned by the Communist Party in its attack against the MPA. TRUMBO stated that the opponents of the MPA, who,in his opinion, constituted the entire motion picture industry, should (U) be prepared to offer a constructive program in contrast to their destructive one. He felt if there was need of haste in holding such a mass meeting that they should sacrifice a thorough preparation in favor of an early date and felt that if they were both luckyand well prepared, they would be able to probably "smash" the MPA for good. (U)

TRUMBO stated the Publicists Guild might be most effective is publicizing the proposed meeting against the MPA and directing the publicity into channels which would give the widest possible press space. TRUMBO felt the primary aim of the meeting should be a complete exposure of the MPA. He stated that it should be brought out at the meeting the inability of the opposition to name one single picture containing their objection (possibly Communist propaganda objections). TRUMBO believed this was very vital as he did not feel the MPA could attack a specific motion picture without attacking specific producing organizations and the moment they did that the MPA would be giving the opposition new allies. TRUMBO believed that the guilds and unions should consider their economic interests in the postwar world as being one that directly coincides with the economic interests of producers and of the industry as a whole. He stated that the economic interest of all, of course, was directly dependent upon the kind of pictures made. He mentioned that the MPA was against shaping the contents of a movie for any other purpose than that of making money. He also felt that if they proposed to change the world of motion pictures that they were doing exactly what the MPA was fighting. He believed that as pictures depended on ideas, signed articles should be obtained from various national leaders to obtain their ideas as to what kind of pictures the people of the country would want after the war. Through this means they would have a valuable document for the guidance of themselves and of the movie industry. (U)

Source T-11 stated that on May 16, 1944 at a meeting held on that date the idea was stressed to emphasize to the public the roll that motion pictures play in the war against Fascism as well as the roll pictures will play in the post-war period. "The idea, of course,"according to Source T-11, "was to put the MPA on the Fascist side of the fence." This same source reported that the creation of this organization, yet unnamed, was Communist inspired and was created to fight "red baiting". Source, a member of the Communist Party himself, stated that if this new organization was successful, it would help to further Communist propaganda in motion pictures, not only in the United States but all over the world. He reported that nearly everyone who attended the aforementioned meeting had had considerable political education and experience and he felt it unlikely that any of the delegates at that meeting did not know that it was a Communist front organization in the making. Source believed that every person attending was either a Communist Party member, with or without a book, or an active Communist Party supporter. (U)

C. SECOND ORGANIZATIONAL STEP OF THE COUNCIL—FORMATION OF THE "EMERGENCY COMMITTEE HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS, June 6, 1944.

Source T-11 advised that he attended a meeting on June 6, 1944 at the Screen Cartoonists Hall, 6272 Yucca. This meeting, according to source, was called "An Emergency Committee of the Hollywood Guilds and Unions". Source advised that eighteen persons were present, including ROBERT ROSSEN, who acted as Chairman, previously identified; WILLIAM POMERANCE, who has previously been identified as a Communist; HERBERT K. SORRELL, elsewhere identified as having been a member of the Communist Party; and VICTOR SHAPIRO; ANN ROTHMORGAN; LESTER COLE, BONNIE CLAIRE, all of whom have been identified elsewhere in this report as members of the Communist Party. (U)

Source T-11 stated that the Writers Guild was the activating force in the formation of this group. He stated that HOWARD ESTABROOK, concerning whom there is no record of actual membership in the Los Angeles County Communist Party, had been the most active; that VICTOR SHAPIRO had had much to say along with LESTER COLE, BONNIE CLAIRE, ROBERT ROSSEN, all of whom have been identified as members of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, and MARY MC CALL, JR, concerning whom there is no record of membership. Source T-11 advised that the motion picture, according to these people, is one of the greatest lines of communication for propaganda in the world today and from his observation and membership in the Communist Party, the Party would not stop at anything to gain control of the studios and, although they admitted that they did not have the money to do this, they did think they had all the brains to do it in another manner. (U)

D. FORMATION OF COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS, June 28, 1944

Source T-11 advised that he had attended this meeting of the Hollywood Guilds and Unions held on June 28, 1944 at the Women's Club, Hollywood, California. Among the persons recognized by the source were the following: (U)

1) HOWARD FELDMAN, who Source T-117 advised on September 29, 1943 was a member of the 57th Assembly District Branch of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. (U)
2) TASSIA FREED, whom Source T-34 on February 14, 1944 identified as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, Branch 59-2, Northwest Section, having previously transferred from the Hollywood Branch of the Northwest Section. (U)

3) KEN HOWARD, previously identified as a Communist.
4) SERGE HOVEY, elsewhere identified in this report as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
5) PEARL CHRISTLIEB, whom Source T-2 has identified on February 26, 1945 as a member of the Los AngelesCounty Communist Party with 1944 Communist Party membership card #41765 and 1945 Communist Party membership card #47112. u
6) DON CHRISTLIEB, who has been identified elsewhere as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
7) ANN ROTH MORGAN, previously identified as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
8) RAMEZ IDRISS, identified elsewhere as a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
9) EDITH WEINBERG, who, according to Source T-2 on November 16, 1943, was a member of Branch H of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1943 Communist Party membership card #48025. u
10) MILDRED ZINN, who Source T-2 on January 16, 1945 advised was a member of the 57th Assembly District of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1944 Communist Party membership card #47196. Source T-2 advised that MILDRED ZINN was also known as Mrs. MILDRED NORMAN and Mrs. RALPH H. NORMAN. u

Concerning this, the first meeting of the Hollywood Council of Guilds and Unions, Source T-11 described this meeting of June 28, 1944 as a real Communist victory. This organization, after many preliminary meetings, held its formal organizational meeting on June 28, 1944 and was actually started by members of the motion picture Screen Writers Guild. Source T-11, it is again pointed out, was himself a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and participated in many of the preliminary meetings as hereinbefore set out. (U)

Source T-11 stated that the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions was built "to smack down any individual group who attempts to attack the Communist front organizations in motion pictures". The individuals who participated in the preliminary organizational meetings of the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions agreed, according to Source T-11, that the MPA must be attacked from all angles and connected with everything subversive; accused of Fascism, anti-Democracy, anti-Semitism, anti-Catholicism, anti-Negro, anti-Labor, anti-British, anti-Soviet, so that the MPA would have nothing left to throw back at the Communists without being a "copy cat". Source stated that he did not believe he heard one speaker at the meeting actually deny that he was a Communist. (U)

Source T-95, who also covered the meeting of June 28, 1944, advised that the speakers were EMMET LAVERY, MARY C. MC CALL, JR. WALTER WANGER, HERB ALLER, JAMES HILTON, AL SPEED, OLIVER H. P. GARRETT, concerning whom there is no record of membership in the Los Angeles County Communist Party; HERBERT K. SORRELL, elsewhere identified in this report as a Communist; and SIDNEY BUCHMAN, who, according to Source T-2 on February 26, 1945, was stated to be a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. (U)

Source T-95 stated that the resolutions had been prepared in advance and with the exception of the above-named speakers, no one in attendance took any part in the meeting. The speeches were described as being directed against the MPA because of their stand against Communism and, while there appeared to be nothing in the talks made by these speakers which would indicate a particular Communist tendency, they did not, according to source, make a clear stand they might intend to take against Communism. (U)

Source T-1 advised in addtion to those person already mentioned as having been present at the meeting of June 28, 1944 that the following persons were observed at the meeting: (U)

GEROGE BRADLEY, previously identified as a Communist Party member.
HARRY CARLYLE, elsewhere identified in this report as a Communist Party member.

CONFIDENTIAL

FREDERIC RINALDO, previously identified as a Communist Party member and who, according to Source T-5 on May 25, 1947, was still a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.
ALBERT MALTZ, previously identified as a Communist.
JAY GORNEY, previously identified as a Communist.
SAM GOLDBLATT, who Source T-12 advised on April 27, 1945 was in 1938, under the name of TED MILLER, a Branch Organizer in the Industrial Section of the Culver City Studio Branch of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. He held 1938 Communist Party membership card #58681 and 1939 Communist Party membership card #3288.
LUCIAN PRIVAL, who, according to Source T-2 on February 26, 1945, was a member of the Los Angeles County Political Association and held 1945 membership card #47445 and 1944 membership card #41863.

Source T-1 stated at this meeting the remarks of all the speakers were along the same line, that is that the MPA was a Fascist organization destroying unity and interfering with the prosecution of the war and, further, that it was an anti-labor, anti-Semitic, red baiting organization that was a political plot against the new deal. This same source stated that the persons directing the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions were leaders of the Communist elements within their own organizations and, at the same time, were active in many of the supporting Communist front organizations. The only individuals that this source mentioned in this connection, other than those individuals previously set out in this report, were BERNARD LUSHER, who, according to Source T-2 on July 2,1943, was a member of Branch N, Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1943 Communist Party membership card #36151 under the name of GEORGE LASTREE. On April 14, 1947, Source T-88 stated that LUSHER was a member at that time of the EVA SHAFFRON Club, 16th Congressional District Section, Los Angeles County Communist Party and held 1947 Communist Party membership card #48425; and BERNARD GORDON, who, according to Source T-2 on August 31, 1944, was Labor Chairman of Branch H of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association and held 1944 Communist Political Association membership card #44239.

II. MEMBERSHIP

Source T-96 advised that seventeen guilds and unions signed the announcement of the formation of the Emergency Committee of Hollywood Guilds and Unions. Source, who bases this opinion on long dealings and continuous observation of the tactics of these guilds, stated that of the seventeen, sixteen were Communist. It should be pointed out that Source T-96 is himself an official of one of the Unions within the motion picture industry. This information was furnished by Source T-96 on July 24, 1947. (&)(u)

On January 20, 1947, Source T-97 (&)(u) stated that then there were seven unions affiliated with the Conference of Studio Unions which belonged to the Council and that there were two I.A.T.S.E. locals, two independent unions, and one A.F.L. Union, which comprised the membership of the Council at that time. These were: (u)

- Screen Story Analysis Guild
- Screen Cartoonist Guild
- Screen Costumers Guild
- Film Technicians
- Film Electricians, Local 40
- Machinists Guild
- Musicians Local 767 (This is not the musicians union to which musicians in the studios belong.)
- Painters Union
- Screen Publicists Union
- Screen Supervisors Union
- Screen Set Decorators
- Screen Writers Guild.

Source T-97 (&)(u) stated that the Council had lost mainly because of difficulties over the current film strike, The Screen Actors Guild, The Screen Office Employees Guild, a Musicians Local #47, to which all musicians in the motion picture industry beonged. (u)

III. ESTIMATE OF FUNCTION OF COUNCIL OF HOLLYWOOD GUILDS AND UNIONS

Source T-96 (&)(u) stated that the Council has the support of all "left-wing, radical elements within the labor movement". (u) Source, who himself is a labor union official, (&)(u) stated on July 24, 1947 (&)(u) that this "radical element packed the first meeting of the Council and took control". Source expressed the opinion that the council was "strictly Communist dominated" and that although the Council was relatively "dormant" at the present time, it must still be regarded as a "force in the radical labor wing and will probably spring out soon in support of the third party movement". IV. OFFICERS

From a letter on file in the Los Angeles Division, dated July 10, 1944 from the Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions, it is noted that ELMER LAVERY served as Chairman of that organization from June 28, 1944 to March 2, 1945.

According to an announcement in the HOLLYWOOD REPORTER on March 2, 1945, the following officers of the Council were elected:

|---|---|---|
| Chairman | MARY C. MC CALL, JR. | (Screen Writers Guild) |
| Vice-Chairman | PAUL HARVEY | (Screen Actors Guild) |
| Secretary-Treasurer | TED ELLSWORTH | (Motion Picture Costumers) |
| Board of Directors: | | |
| | JOHN R. MARTIN | (Film Technicians) |
| | BILL BLOWITZ | (Screen Publicists Guild) |
| | MIN SELVIN | (Screen Office Employees guild) |
| | HOWARD ESTABROOK | (Screen Writers Guild) |
| | SIG NESSELROTH | (Moving Picture Painters, AFL, Local 644) |

MARGARET BENNETT WILLS accepted in February, 1946 the position of Executive Secretary of the Council, according to Source T-96, who also stated she was formerly President of the Screen Office Employees Guild and delegate to the Central Labor Council. Source T-2 advised in July, 1943 that she was a member of Branch N of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party and that she held 1945 Communist Political Associ- membership card #45764, according to information furnished by Source on February 26, 1945.

CONFERENCE OF STUDIO UNIONS

Source T-52 who has been active in the trade union movement in Hollywood for a number of years and who is familiar with the activities of the Communist Party members in connection with labor groups in the motion picture industry furnished the following information concerning the background development and subsequent resulting controversies within labor groups in the motion picture industry.

Source T-52 explained that the motion picture industry is not important in the industrial life of the nation in the same sense that communications, transportation and heavy goods industries are, but in the propaganda sense Hollywood and its motion picture industry is in a class by itself. It is the propaganda value of the motion picture industry that is the prime objective of the Communist infiltration. This propaganda is handled in a subtle and clever manner and is intended not to convert the American at this stage to Communism or to participate in a Soviet world but rather to fertilize the soil so that when the propaganda seed is planted it will find a fertile field in which to grow.

According to Source T-52, the Communist penetration of the motion picture unions began in 1934 and 1935 when a meeting was held in Carmel, California at which the principal figure, a Mr. MICHAEL EISTEIN, then attached to the AMTORG and bearing the title of Commissar of Heavy Industries of the U.S.S.R. was present as well as a number of Hollywood personalities. Arrangements were made at this meeting to finance the program of infiltration into the Hollywood Studio Enterprise and these arrangements later resulted in the establishment of Mr. JEFF KIBRE as the individual chosen by the Communist organization to carry out its designs. KIBRE began to appear as an important figure in Hollywood during 1937.

In 1937 after the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees had re-established themselves following a disasterous strike in 1933, one large local union emerged covering what is known as the back yard crafts which crafts are normally identified with stage and theater workers such as grips and electricians. This union had a membership of approximately 10,000 workers and was known as Local #37. As a result of controversy among these crafts prior to 1937, the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees restored local autonomy to the newly established Local #37. While this controversy in the trade union movement was continuing in the motion picture studios, a new attack was attempted on the established unions by an organization which was known as the United Studio Technicians Guild.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

This guild was headed by JEFF KIBRE and made an attempt which is to set up an over all industrial union. Before the establishment of the United Studio Technicians Guild, numerous smaller fronts such as the Federation of Motion Picture Crafts and an organization known as COMPAC (COMPAC is Committee of Motion Picture Arts and Crafts), as well as an Unemployed Conference, all of which were obviously Communist front organizations, were used to agitate in an effort to destroy the unions which were organized under the AFL.

Outside of the agitation and propaganda which these organizations spread, no significant developments resulted. While the United Studio Technicians Guild denied any direct connection with the CIO, it was later established that KIBRE was reporting on the activities and progress of this group to HARRY BRIDGES in San Francisco and ROY HUDSON, a National Labor functionary of the Communist Party, in New York. The real financing of the United Studio Technicians Guild came from these two sources.

According to Source T-52 (S&M) the struggle for domination within the Labor Movement in the motion picture studios did not develop into a major controversy until 1936, when the principal factor in establishing the importance of the United Studio Technicians Guild fight was a decision of the National Relations Labor Board which challenged the validity of the contract which the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees had entered into in 1936 and laid the ground work for an election which was subsequently held. This election was granted as a result of a petition filed by the United Studio Technicians Guild. (4)

When this election took place the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees supported by most of the AFL unions won the election by a substantial majority, Source T-52 (S&M) explained that it is significant to note, however, that Local 644 of the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees and HERBERT K. SORRELL who had only recently come into power in this union did not support the other AFL unions, but actively campaigned on the side of the United Studio Technicians Guild. SORRELL's affiliation with the Communist Party and his association with Communist Party members has previously been commented on in this report.

Following the defeat of the United Studio Technicians Guild, this organization dissolved and KIBRE disappeared from the Hollywood Motion Picture Studio labor picture.

According to Source T-52 (S/U) the Conference of Studio Unions was formed by very nearly the same group of unions that had formed the COMPAC, the unemployed conference, and several other Communist labor front groups that had sprung up in Hollywood during the late 30s. One significant addition which had been made to this group was Local 683 of the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees which is a union composed of studio technicians. (U)

The control of this union was, according to Source T-52 (S/U), captured by the Communists in 1940 when RUSSELL McKNIGHT was elected President, NORVAL CRUTCHER was elected Secretary and JOHN MARTIN was selected as Business Manager. From the time these three men were elected in Local 683 they followed the Communist Party line insofar as it was possible for them to do so and continue to be affiliated with the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees. (U)

Source T-52 (S/U) asserted that the Conference of Studio Unions took up the Communist fight where the United Studio Technicians Guild had left off only utilizing a different tactical approach. The Conference of Studio Unions was designed to form a wedge between the membership of the AFL and the international unions of the AFL and at the same time to establish a solid front of those unions which the Communists had been able to bring under their orbit. (U)

As the Conference of Studio Unions organization developed HERBERT SORRELL began to emerge as the over all leader of the Communist Party faction in the Hollywood Motion Picture Studio Unions, according to Source T-52. (S/U) In 1941 when the Conference of Studio Unions was officially organized, the activities of the organization were outlined as follows: To organize all unorganized groups in the studios into unions which the Communists could control and, in the absence of any union to suit a particular craft, place workers in the Painters Union which was headed by SORRELL. (U)

This resulted in the organization of some 3500 office workers into this union while between 500 and 600 screen cartoonists, 300 screen publicists, 200 screen story analysts and between 700 and 800 set directors also became affiliated with this union. Despite the fact that these groups had no craft they all were placed within the Painters organization.

Source T-52 (S/U) declared that the Conference of Studio Unions following its organization in 1941 supported the Communist Party line, completely carrying on a program of agitation in which they cried for local autonomy and democratic unionism and generally advocated contempt and disregard for the authority of officers within the union above the local level. The Conference of Studio Unions supported the National Service Act in 1941 which according to Source T-52 indicated that this union was controlled by the Communists. During this period the Conference of Studio Unions became very militant in handling economic and jurisdictional problems within the studios and at the least provocation the Painters Union would go on strike to support the jurisdictional grievances on the part of a member union of the conference. (u)

As these unions began to negotiate contracts, Source T-52 pointed out that it was significant to note that a clause was inserted in the contracts of the Conference of Studio Union unions which provided for the changing of the bargaining agency of the union at any time that the union voted for such a change. In addition to the activities of the Conference itself, there were factions from the other International Association of Thea trical and Stage Employees unions operating in Hollywood which were coordinated and tied into the Conference Program. (u)

During the period of this struggle several active International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employee locals came under the dominance of the Conference of Studio Unions; these included Film Technicians Local 683, the Film Costumers Local 705, the Studio Electricians Union Local 728 and the Property Crafts Local 44. In addition to these locals, two others were isolated from the International, namely, the Sound and Camera Locals.

During the period of the Conference of Studio Unions' development Source T-52 explained that the Communist propaganda machine was making full use of the war and the period of cooperation with Russia in order to strengthen its position in Hollywood. The Communists during this period established several political front groups and made successful penetrations into several of the active crafts and guilds within the motion picture industry. (u)

This struggle for power within Hollywood Studio Motion Picture unions was climaxed by the 1945 jurisdictional strike. According to Source T-52, a number of influential International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees unions had been infiltrated by the Communist Party and a number of industry members in Hollywood had been effectively silenced by smear campaigns, such as those conducted against CECIL B. De MILLE, JAMES McGUINNESS, and SAM WOOD. The only effective force which remained to combat the Conference of Studio Unions was the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees and those local unions which still followed its directives. (u)

On March 12, 1945 HERBERT K. SORRELL, head of the Conference of Studios unions called a strike of the Conference members in order to obtain recognition for 77 set decorators. Source T-52 asserted that the jurisdictional dispute of the set decorators was in itself not important because had the strike not been called on that issue it would have been called on some other issue.

CONFIDENTIAL

The International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees officers realized at this time that they must make a definite stand against the Conference of Studio Unions, otherwise the program of SORRELL would surely be successful and would subsequently result in the destruction of the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees organization.

According to Source T-52, the strike was rather untimely from the Communist standpoint inasmuch as the Communist Party line at that time was to support the "no strike pledge" in industry. Source T-52 stated that the strike was called at this time for two reasons: (1), The success of the European campaign against Germany had been assured and undoubtedly the Communist Party higher-ups anticipated a change in the Party line concerning labor controversies, (2), While the Communists probably did not desire the strike to come at that moment the stand which the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees was making would have jeopardized all their efforts if they had not chosen to stand firmer. They were thus obliged to support this strike or else sacrifice their program throughout.

With regard to this motion picture strike which was called on March 12, 1945, it is of interest to note that the Communist policy was at first unsettled and was not crystallized until March 15, 1945 when an editorial appeared in the Daily PEOPLE'S WORLD, official organ of the Communist Party on the West Coast, captioned "End the Movie Strike at Once." This editorial pointed out that strikers in war time were not under any circumstances permissible and further went on to discuss at length the fact that there is no excuse for any kind of strike when the nation is at war. In this regard Source T-2 made available a memorandum which adopted certain conclusions of the Los Angeles County Communist Board which had been arrived at during a meeting held April 11, 1945. This memorandum reflected that there was considerable confusion among the Communists at the time this strike was called, but that after it had been in progress for a month they were all agreed that the strike should be terminated at once.

An editorial appeared in the July 24, 1945 issue of the Daily PEOPLE'S WORLD captioned "Support the Strike of the Film Unions," which editorial declared that this strike of motion picture studio employees was no longer a jurisdictional dispute as it had originally been represented to be by the producers, but that it has now been revealed to be a strike of union vs. anti union forces.

Editorial further stated that "Since the strike began there have been developments which make it clear that the studios and the reactionary banking interests which financed the studios are making this strike a spearhead for a general anti-labor drive." The editorial concluded by stating that every effort should be made by all conscientious workers to support the strike in every way.

It is also significant to note that Source T-28 reported on March 13, 1945 that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, a writer who has been described previously in this report as being an active Communist Party member, was exceedingly upset over the developments in the motion picture studio labor controversy. This source stated that LAWSON did not know whether the Party members employed in the motion picture studios in Hollywood should recognize the Conference of Studio Union picket lines or not. (4)

LAWSON informed Source T-28 that it would be necessary for the Communists to reach a definite decision concerning the support of this controversy immediately in order that their assistance might be made available to the strikers in the event the Communist leaders concluded that the strike merited support. (4)

A news article appearing in the August 21, 1945 issue of the Daily PEOPLE'S WORLD quoted PHILIP M. CONNELLY, Los Angeles CIO Industrial Union Council Secretary-Treasurer, as urging support for the Conference of Studio Unions in its controversy against the motion picture producers. CONNELLY stated that the CIO support comes from the recognition that the "Producer-International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees fight" against the progressive AFL Studio Unions is the opening gun in an open shop inspired campaign to destroy all legitimate trade unions. This news article also quoted CONNELLY as urging CIO members to boycott theaters in Los Angeles which are showing films made by studios involved in this strike.

Source T-52 further explained that the 1945 strike as called on March 12th by SORRELL would have ended within a period of two weeks had it not been for the association with the Conference of Studio Unions and SORRELL of WILLIAM L. HUTCHESON, anti-Communist head of the Carpenters Union who entertained an old jurisdictional grievance against the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees. In order to obtain this support from the Carpenters Union, SORRELL had according to Source T-52 assured HUTCHESON that if the latter would support him in this strike the Conference of Studio Unions would not go back to work until the Carpenters jurisdictional difficulties were settled.

Prior to this time the Carpenters, according to Source T-52, had never belonged to the Conference of Studio Unions but they had been the hub of the jurisdictional difficulties between the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees and the building crafts in the studios. When it appeared that the studios were not going to shut down but that a prolonged struggle would ensue, a commitment was made by all parties involved to the effect that they would abide by the final decisions of the National Labor Relations Board in the matter which was currently hearing the dispute.

However, according to Source T-52, SORRELL demanded that before the Conference of Studio Unions went back to work it would be necessary that a few of the jurisdictional problems of the Carpenters be settled, and in this respect HUTCHESON of the Carpenters Union adopted such an unreasonable position that it was impossible for those unions affiliated with the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees to accept the settlement.

As the controversy continued to extend itself from a period of weeks into a period of months, SORRELL, according to Source T-52, began to realize the possibility of the complete elimination of the Conference of Studio Unions from the Motion Picture Union scene. Therefore, in October, 1945 he attempted a desperate move by throwing mass picket lines around the Warner Brothers Motion Picture Studios in Burbank, California.

According to Source T-52, virtually every Communist in the city that could be commanded was brought to the picket lines to support the strikers, including JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and BEN MARGOLIS whose Communist activities have previously been mentioned in this report. Likewise, the picket lines were supported by members of the American Youth for Democracy.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

In this regard it is significant to note that during the course of the Studio Employees Strike, T-28 advised that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and several others in the motion picture industry, including HENRY MYERS, BEN BARZMAN and FRANK TUTTLE formed what LAWSON described to T-28 as a private strike fund. The collection of this fund was, according to T-28, to be given no publicity and its proceedings were to be used for the benefit of the striking white collar workers within the studios, i.e., members of the: (U)

Screen Office Employees Guild
Screen Cartoonist Guild
Screen Publicists Guild (U)

In connection with the Communist activities in support of the striking Conference of Studio Unions unions it is significant to note that MORGAN HULL, Los Angeles County Communist Party Labor Chairman, on October 8, 1945 addressed a memorandum to all club presidents and labor chairmen, requesting that these club representatives attend a meeting to discuss the various problems arising in connection with the Hollywood Studio Strike on Tuesday evening, October 9, 1945 at the East Hollywood Communist Party Club Headquarters, 4660 Melrose Avenue.

On October 9, 1945 Source T-100 made information available to Special Agents JACK S. KENYTON and JAMES W. MASON concerning the proceedings of the Communist Party meeting being held at [redacted] According to this information GEORGE SANDY, a Los Angeles County Communist Party functionary, presided at this meeting and introduced as the first speaker MATTY MATTISON, Business Agent of the striking local 644 of the Painters Union, who was Chairman of the Speakers Committee of the Hollywood Strike Strategy Committee. MATTISON outlined the background of the strike, stating that at first the main activity of the striking union was to bring the matter to a head through legal methods and through exertion of political pressure and that the only other action that had been taken was through maintenance of legal picket lines. He explained that the rank and file members of the striking unions were more progressive and general head of the strike leadership, therefore, they demanded a more demonstrative action in connection with picketing. As a result, mass picketing was undertaken at Warner Brothers Studios in Burbank which subsequently resulted in the peaceful pickets being beaten and dispursed by the Studio and the Burbank City Police. (U)

.TISON further outlined the results of picketing activity on days and stated that the union had found it necessary to employ mass picketing tactics in order to bring about a successful climax to the controversy. MATTISON declared, according to Source T-100, that this present strike is not a jurisdictional dispute but a dispute upon the successful outcome of which depends the very existence of all unions. (U)

According to Source T-100, MATTISON declared that if this reactionary pattern against unions is not broken Fascism will exist in some form or another and progressive unionism is going to die. A movement will begin on this basis to smash labor and all progressive forces, therefore, we must organize all progressive forces so that we can be an example for the company which has its eye on the film industry strike. (U)

According to Source T-100, one MIN SELVIN declared at this meeting, "The success of the strike depends upon the Communists. We must all mobilize first to picket the studios and next the theaters. The picketing of the theaters is an economic weapon which is a real threat to the incomes of these establishments." (U)

According to T-100, SELVIN pointed out that the individual Communist clubs were not to conduct picket lines of their own but it was their duty to augment the lines already established. In this connection she distributed cards to the individuals present at the meeting which reflected the theaters now being picketed and specifically informed comrades present that these were to be the only theaters picketed at the present time. SELVIN, according to Source T-100, stated that the American Youth for Democracy has to date been of great service in augmenting picket lines and if the members of the American Youth for Democracy were of the older group, this should be continued but she indicated that it was not advisable to have minors picketing. (U)

Following SELVIN's remarks, KENNETH Mac CLELLAND, a member of the striking Conference of Studio Unions union was introduced. Mac CLELLAND briefly outlined the progress of the strike and reiterated a few strike incidents wherein violence had been practiced against the picketers. He then announced that it would be necessary to distribute 150,000 leaflets advertising a meeting of the Citizens Committee to Aid the Strikers, of which he is a member. This meeting was scheduled to take place at the Olympic Auditorium on the evening of October 13, 1945, and it is sponsored by a number of groups who were supporting the strike. He urged that as many Communists as possible attend this meeting. (U)

According to Source T-100 GEORGE SANDY, a functionary of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, addressed the group after MacCLELLAND stated that "The principal part the Communist Party is to play in the strike is to keep the ball rolling and in that manner help the morale of the strikers." SANDY emphatically stated that the trade union members of the Communist Party must demand of their unions that they support this strike. He stated that the Communist Party must distribute thousands of leaflets on behalf of the strikers and in addition to distributing leaflets which are to be prepared by the Party, SANDY explained that 500 copies of the DAILY WORKER have been ordered for distribution on the picket lines daily and stated that various Communists clubs in the Hollywood area must furnish members to distribute these papers. (S) (U)

Source T-52 (S) (U) explained that a great many of the actions which took place in the strike might not have taken place had the Communists been free to pursue their fight without being obliged to consider HUTCHESON and the support given the Conference of Studio Unions by the Carpenters Union. This source (S) (U) surmised that it is probably true that HUTCHESON's participation was undoubtedly a source of strength to the Communist cause in the Hollywood controversy, but that his alliance with SORRELL also cramped their style in many ways, particularly in regard to an early settlement. (U)

The effect of the strike was to materially weaken the Communist force in studio unions, according to Source T-52 (S) (U) the openly rebellious attitude of the Communist fractions made it possible to remove several of these fractions from the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees unions and expel their leaders. (U)

According to a newspaper article appearing in the November 2, 1945 issue of the LABOR HERALD, official publication of the CIO on the West Coast entitled "Film Strikers Back at Work," the striking Hollywood studio employees returned to work on that day after having been on picket lines for eight months.

Source T-52 (S) (U) advised that the period intervening between the October settlement of the 1945 strike and the subsequent strike of September, 1946 was a period of chaos insofar as the studios were concerned. During this period HERBERT SORRELL created numerous incidents which resulted in strike threats and in a short strike which took place in July, 1946. This strike lasted but two days and served to assist SORRELL to bolster to a small degree his waning prestige. (U)

During this period [Source T-52] explained the machinery which had been set up in Washington had been at work which resulted in a decision being handed down from a three man committee appointed by an Executive Council awarding jurisdiction to the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees over 300 full time jobs which had previously been under the jurisdiction of the Carpenters Union.

HUTCHESON, therefore, [according to Source T-52] never fully accepted the decision and while he permitted his men to be under this decision he exerted all possible political pressure to have the decision modified. As a result of this pressure, a so-called clarification of the directive by the Carpenters demanding that 300 jobs which they had lost control of be turned back to them. Both the studios and the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees refused to honor such a claim, with the result that on September 26, 1945, a strike was called by the Conference of Studio Unions to assist the Carpenters in their demands.

Apparently, [according to Source T-52,] the Conference of Studio Unions group believed that they could proceed with this strike from where the 1945 strike had left off and immediately mass picket lines were thrown around major studios, violence was perpetrated and every conceivable effort was made to forceably prevent the non striking workers from carrying out their duties.

In this controversy, [according to Source T-52,] the Communists activity supported the striking unions. After several incidents of mass violence and disturbance, the studios resumed normal operations and the strike settled into a long drawn out controversy which at the present time is still unsettled. The Conference of Studio Unions for the most part is virtually destroyed, despite the efforts of the Communist organization in Hollywood to keep it alive.

With regard to the violence [mentioned by T-52,] it is to be noted that on November 18, 1946, fourteen leaders of the striking motion picture studio unions were arrested for violating a court order against mass picketing and rioting at major motion picture studios in Hollywood. Following the arrest of these individuals, the Los Angeles County Grand Jury returned indictments against all of these fourteen individuals on November 22, 1946, charging them individually with violations of Section 166, 182, 245 and 409 of the Penal Code of California in that they did conspire, combine, confederate and agree together to commit acts to pervert and obstruct the due administration of the laws and further wilfully disobeyed the Superior Court order. They are charged with unlawful assembly after having been warned to disperse and also charged with committing assaults on persons with deadly weapons.

The individuals arrested and indicted, together with the union which they represent, are set forth as follows:

HERBERT K. SORRELL, President of the Conference of Studio Unions and business representative of the motion picture Painters Local 644.

SORRELL's Communist Party affiliation has been set forth in the report of Special Agent BERNARR M. PTACEK, Los Angeles, July 23, 1947 in the instant case.

CARL HEAD, Assistant Business Agent for Local 644, Painters Union.

MATTY MATTISON, Business Agent of Screen Story Analyst Guild.

The Communist Party affiliations of MATTISON have previously been reported in report of Special Agent BERNARR M. PTACEK, Los Angeles, July 23, 1947, in the instant case.

AVERILL BERMAN, Radio Commentator.

EDWARD M. GILBERT, Business Agent for Local 1421, Set Designers and picket leader in charge of all pickets during the striking.

The Communist affiliations of this individual have been previously set forth in this report.

ANDREW LAWLESS, Picket Captain for Conference of Studio Unions.

JOHN R. MARTIN, Business Agent for Local 633, Film Technicians Union.

RUSSELL McKNIGHT, President of Film Technicians Local #683.

McKNIGHT's Communist Party activities have been reported in the report of Special Agent BERNARR M. PTACEK, Los Angeles, July 23, 1947, in the instant case.

JAMES SHELTON, Business Agent of the Studio Carpenters Union Local #946.

NORVAL CRUTCHER, Secretary of Screen Technicians Local #683. The Communist Party activities of CRUTCHER have previously been reported in the report of Special Agent BERNARR M. PTACEK, Los Angeles, July 23, 1947, in the instant case.

ROY TINDALL, Business Agent of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Union Local 40.

LOUIS WHITMAN, member of the Studio Carpenters Local Union and Chief Picket Line Strategist.

RAY HIGBY, member of the Screen Carpenters Local #946, and a picket dispatcher at the Carpenters' Hall.

FRANK DRDLIK, member of Screen Set Designers Local #1421. DRDLIK's Communist Party activities have been previously reported in report of Special Agent BERNARR M. PTACEK, Los Angeles, July 23, 1947, in the instant case.

JOHN N. BARNES, Deputy District Attorney in Charge of Special Prosecutions for Los Angeles County, Hall of Justice, Los Angeles, California, has informed that the indictments as brought by the Los Angeles County Grand Jury against four of these fourteen individuals on November 22, 1946 have been dismissed for lack of evidence. Those in favor of whom the indictments have been dismissed are BERMAN, DRDLIK, SKELTON and TINDALL.

The remaining ten defendants are scheduled to appear for trial under these indictments in November, 1947.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

The attached memorandum summarizes the information in the Bureau's possession concerning the Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry. There are set out alphabetically between pages 3 and 24 the names of all of the persons in the motion picture industry whom we know to be or to have been Communists. Individual memoranda are being prepared on Charles Chaplin, Edward G. Robinson, John Garfield, Herbert Biberman, John Howard Lawson, and probably a few other more prominent Communists or Communist sympathizers in the movie industry, in order that Mr. Nichols may have this information in preparing data for the Parnell Thomas Committee. The attached memorandum, of course, will furnish the over-all background picture.

Respectfully,

Edw. A. Tamm

(Bureau file #100-138754)

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to Bureau letter as captioned above dated July 2, 1947, with particular reference to the last paragraph on page 1 of that communication relative to "The Conference of Studio Unions and a New Bloc of Unions Known As the Council of Radio Unions."

The initial information concerning the organization of a radio union council appears in the motion picture trade publication VARIETY in its issue of November 1, 1946, wherein it was reported that various unions operating in the radio industry had agreed upon a proposal to formulate a radio council in Los Angeles. This article reveals that the first meeting was scheduled for November 15, 1947.

The Radio Directors Guild was reported as having received confirmation from the National Association of Broadcast and Electrical Technicians, the American Federation of Radio Artists, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the Radio Writers Guild, and Local #47 of the American Federation of Musicians.

The article then names certain delegates to this meeting as follows: FLOYD WETLAND and JAMES BROWN, representing the National Association of Broadcast and Electrical Technicians; CARLTON KADELL, GEORGIA BACKUS, KEN CARPENTER, BILLY GOULD, JOHN HIESTAND, ERICH SNOWDON, and STAN FARRAR, representing the American Federation of Radio Artists; GEORGE CAMPBELL, representing the American Federation of Musicians, Local #47; and THOMAS FREEBAIRN-SMITH, representing the Radio Directors Guild.

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO THE

CONF. INFT.

CNDI [redacted] advised that an organization known as the Council of Radio Arts and Crafts was formed on February 20, 1947 in Los Angeles by representatives from the various radio guilds and unions above-mentioned. This informant further stated that when the announcement was made of the formation of this organization, the Conference of Studio Unions, through its leader, HERBERT K. SORRELL, had announced that there would be an affiliation of these two organizations, one representing the motion picture industry and the latter the radio industry, for mutual interest. Informant further advised that there had been no tangible evidence of actual affiliation between the groups other than the Council of Radio Arts and Crafts supporting the Conference of Studio Unions in its strike. b7D

The trade paper VARIETY in its issue of December 5, 1946 carried a small article advising that the newly formed Council of Radio Crafts and Guilds had had its constitution endorsed by the Radio Writers Guild, the Radio Directors Guild, and the National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians, an independent union. The article continues stating that anticipated endorsements are expected from the American Federation of Musicians, Local #47, the Screen Publicists Guild, the American Federation of Radio Artists, the Office Employees International Union, and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Mr. FRANKLYN "PINKY" PARKER, [redacted] a member of the executive board of the American Federation of Radio Artists, has advised that that organization has not yet become affiliated with the Council of Radio Arts and Crafts. He revealed that a resolution proposed by GEORGIA BACKUS had been presented at a pre-convention caucus of the union members in Los Angeles and that the resolution had been defeated by a majority of the national convention delegates elected by the Los Angeles local of the American Federation of Radio Artists. b6 b7C

It was his understanding that certain representatives from this union would seek to present the resolution at the national convention to be held in the third week in August in New York City but that "right wing" representatives from Los Angeles and New York were believed to be of sufficient strength to block acceptance on the part of the union into the newly-formed Council of Radio Arts and Crafts.

Mr. PARKER stated that SAMUEL MOORE, National President of the Radio Writers Guild, was the chief proponent for the formation of this council and that it was his further understanding that the organization was merely a loose affiliation of radio guilds and unions designed along the lines of the Conference of Studio Unions so as to foster favorable labor legislation and to engage in semi-official political activity.

It is to be noted that GEORGIA BACKUS, radio actress, is a member of the Communist Party (Bureau file [redacted]) and that SAMUEL MOORE, a radio writer, is also affiliated with the Communist Party (Bureau file [redacted]

b7C

Attention is directed to an article contained in RADIO TELEVISION NEWS in its issue of November 7, 1945 wherein it was reported that the Industrial Council of Radio is being formed in New York with branch offices to be opened in Chicago and on the Pacific coast. This article reveals that the organization is to be an affiliation of various radio guilds and unions with its operations designed to be similar to those of the Conference of Studio Unions. The article concludes that one of the foremost figures behind the formation of the "Industrial Council of Radio" is Producer JERRY DEVINE. No information is available to this office which would establish that the "Industrial Council of Radio" is identical with the Council of Radio Arts and Crafts.

FROM : SAC, LOS ANGELES

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

On August 4, 1947 LOUELLA O. PARSONS carried the following paragraph in her column:

"The greatest piece of insolence I've ever heard of is the propaganda sent out by the Communist Party offering to explain Communism to producers who are making anti-Communist pictures.

"We don't need Communism explained. We know its danger to our country too well. They can whitewash it a thousand different ways, and it still remains the darkest menace in the world today.

"I have in my possession a copy of the letter sent to producers by JIM FOREST, Educational Director of the Communist Party, enclosing a booklet, "Is Communism un-American?" with nine questions about the Communist Party answered by EUGENE DENNIS. Well, here's the motion picture industry's answer — yes, it's dangerous — yes, it's un-American!"

A copy of the letter and pamphlet in question, namely the "Nine Questions about the Communist Party Answered by EUGENE DENNIS", was furnished to this office by MARK HELLINGER, Producer, and is being enclosed herewith for the Bureau.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Industrial Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, was formally established in July, 1946, by PAUL FERLIN and given specific task of concentrating on industrial recruiting in the motion picture industry. This section has devoted itself primarily to recruiting work in the election campaign and in connection with the current strike of the Conference of Studio Unions. In June, 1947, the Industrial Subsection was consolidated with the Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, because the Industrial Subsection had been greatly weakened by the Conference of Studio Unions strike, and further for greater efficiency in operation. FERLIN continues as Organizer of the combined subsection.

ESTABLISHMENT OF THE HOLLYWOOD SECTION, COMMUNIST PARTY, SEPTEMBER 1945

According to Source A, in September, 1945, after the Communist Party U.S.A. was reëstablished and the Communist Political Association was disbanded, the Los Angeles County Communist Party established what was referred to as the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party, which roughly covered the geographical area known as Hollywood, California.

In accordance with the nationwide plan of industrial concentration which had been disregarded to a large degree during the period of the Communist Political Association, plans were immediately undertaken to concentrate on recruiting in the motion picture industry. JOHN STAPP was named Organizer of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, and charged with the responsibility of coordinating all of the various Party activities at Hollywood. Thereafter CHARLES GLENN was named Organizational Secretary of the Hollywood Section.

Source B advised that the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party is directly responsible to the downtown office of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, and that the appointments of STAPP and GLENN were made with the approval of RED SPARKS, Chairman of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, and DOROTHY HEALEY, Organizational Secretary of the County organization.

According to Source A, through the Fall of 1946 there was no definite plan for the industrial concentration, but informant learned that a number of industrial clubs had been established in the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party.

ESTABLISHMENT OF THE INDUSTRIAL SUBSECTION, HOLLYWOOD SECTION, COMMUNIST PARTY

On July 19, 1946, Source A made available a plan of reorganization of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party. At that time the Hollywood Section apparatus as it was set up indicated that the highest responsible political body in the Section was the Section Executive Committee headed by the full time Section Organizer, JOHN STAPP. This body was responsible to the highest delegated group in the Section, the Section Council, which met monthly.

At that time the Council consisted of twenty-three delegates. This body, because of the severe political limitations imposed by its size, was capable of discussing problems on only the most general level, while actually it was necessary for concrete political discussion and policy making to take place in the subsection level, through meetings of branch chairmen in the subsection.

CONFIDENTIAL

Three subsections had developed within the Hollywood Section, and were known as Cultural, Neighborhood and Industrial. The main responsibility for the conduct of work in the subsection lies with the Organizational Secretary. Political responsibility for all the subsections was on the shoulders of the Section Organizer, JOHN STAPP. Otherwise there was no well defined political responsibility.

The following changes were proposed and subsequently adopted:

(1) A tightening of the organizational apparatus in the Section;

(2) The Hollywood organization was to be built on a section basis, with three subsections, Cultural, Industrial and Neighborhood;

(3) Each subsection was to have its complete political and organizational apparatus; further, each section was to have its own Section Committee to be composed of those functionaries: Subsection Organizer, Organizational Secretary, Educational Director, Literature Director, Press Director and Finance Secretary;

(4) Whatever committees (for example Labor, Organization, Minorities, etc.) are considered necessary within the Section, are to be set up by the Subsection Executive Committee in accordance with demands, and these committees need not be formally represented on the Section Executive Committee;

(5) The then existing Section Council is abolished and a Chairmen's Council is to be established in each subsection;

(6) The Section Executive Committee is to be composed of the Section Organizer, Subsection Organizers, and those functionaries who sit on the present Section Executive Committee, i.e. Education, Press, Finance Directors, etc.;

(7) The Section Executive Committee is to be responsible to the delegated convention of the branches of the Section as the next highest body, and it is to be responsible to the Subsection Executive Committees and the Subsection Chairmen's Council;

(8) Executive Committees of the Subsections are to meet weekly, and then on the alternate weeks the Subsection Chairmen's Council composed of all branch chairmen within the Section will meet with the Subsection Executive Committees.

(9) JOHN STAPP was designated as Section Organizer responsible for the Section Executive Committee for the implementing of policy and coordinating of all work of all the subsections.

CONFIDENTIAL

It was pointed out that the basic orientation of the Communist Party toward Shop Units and work at the various movie studios should not be hampered in any way. It was pointed out that this plan would place responsibility for carrying through the industrial concentration campaign of the Communist Party definitely, so that this phase of the Communist Party's work could be strengthened.

Source A advised that in approximately July, 1946, after the above plan had been placed in effect, PAUL PERLIN, grip, then employed at Universal-International Studios, was named Subsection Organizer of the Industrial Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party. As such PERLIN was charged with the responsibility of establishing and building up the Shop Units within the movie industry.

OPERATION OF THE INDUSTRIAL SUBSECTION, HOLLYWOOD SECTION, COMMUNIST PARTY

On October 30, 1946, Source B furnished Special Agents JACK S. KEMPTON and CHESTER C. ORTON of the Los Angeles Office a photographic copy of a questionnaire pertaining to the organizational structure and operation of the Industrial Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party. (X)

This document, according to Source B, is a general type of questionnaire, which was sent out by the Communist Party to be executed by functionaries of all of the various Communist Party sections within Los Angeles County. The answers to the questions contained in the document, according to Source B, were executed by DOROTHY FORREST, who, in October, 1946, was Organizational Secretary, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, as a result of an interview had by FORREST with one LENNY, who has been tentatively identified by Source A as one LEONARD HALMOVITZ, Organizational Secretary of the Industrial Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party. (X)

The following is a summary of information concerning the Industrial Subsection as obtained through a review of the questions and answers contained in this document. (X)

The Hollywood Industrial Subsection, as of October, 1946, consisted of clubs, the average size of which was fifteen to twenty members, it being felt by the Section leadership that clubs of this size would permit of "fuller participation in discussion and activity," and the "fullest development of members for leadership." (X)

The type of "concentration work" being done by the Industrial Subsection is industrial as distinguished from community or cultural types of concentration work, and the question as to whether a Communist Shop Unit is set up within a given movie studio is decided on the basis of whether there is a sufficient number of Communist members within that studio to warrant the establishment of such a shop unit. (X)

CONFIDENTIAL

LA 100-15732

Much of the political work done by the Industrial Subsection is done through trade unions, and a tendency has developed for meetings of the Subsection Executive Council to develop into trade union fraction meetings.

Campaigns of the Los Angeles County Communist Party are initiated on a Subsection scale by being brought to the Hollywood Section Executive Committee, thence to the Industrial Subsection Executive Committee, thence to the Club Chairmen's Council of the Subsection, and finally down through the clubs and club members. Regarding the political development of the members of the Subsection, it is noted that about eighty per cent of the members have attended "new members' classes" which are, according to Source B, conducted for the purpose of indoctrinating new members along the lines of Communist ideology.

The Industrial Subsection Executive Council makes regular checkups on "concentration" policy within the various clubs making up the subsection, through the medium of Chairmen's Council meetings and through a checkup by the Organizational Secretary.

Although no formal apparatus has been set up for making the results of concentration work available to the entire membership of each club within the subsection, this is accomplished in part through club meetings, wherever possible, and in the case of members who do not attend club meetings regularly, some of these are reached at their places of employment and in mass organizations as well as at fraction meetings.

Propaganda material put out by the clubs of the subsection is checked through the Educational Director of the Subsection and by the Organizer to "guarantee correct political content."

Regarding the leadership of the Industrial Subsection of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, it is indicated that the average length of time in the Communist Party for the Subsection leadership is six years, and that two of the Subsection leaders have had actual experience in Section leadership; that two of the remainder have attended schools recently, while the newer ones have "shown willingness and a capacity to work and learn." The Subsection leadership is broken down on the basis of "class composition" as follows: three industrial, two white collar, one professional and five union members.

The Section Organizer has the major political responsibility for leadership within the Industrial Subsection and makes the major political reports at Industrial Subsection Executive Committee meetings. The Organizational Secretary "does not give real political leadership, as his political development is not as full as other members of the Executive Committee." However, the Organizational Secretary, through meeting with responsible individuals and groups, endeavors to insure that the Communist campaigns and plans of work outlined by the Subsection Executive Council are carried out, and that the goals set are realized.

The Executive Committee of the Industrial Subsection meets regularly every two weeks and the agenda for these meetings is prepared by the Organizational Secretary and the Organizer of the Subsection. In the interim between meetings, the Section Organizer maintains liaison with the Subsection committee members through individual contacts with members of the committee.

Regarding other officers in the Subsection, it was indicated that a press director and financial director had been elected as of October, 1946, but that neither of these officers was functioning. A Campaign Director and an Educational Director, however, were indicated to be functioning.

All Section officers are members of the Subsection Executive Committee, with the exception of the Campaign Director, who sits in on some of the meetings and takes part in the discussion. The leading officers in the Subsection are given special assignments from time to time; for example, one officer teaches a regular series of classes conducted for the benefit of "contacts" (potential Communist Party recruits) for the whole section.

The question of Party security was raised at Chairmen's Council meetings, with relation to the use of telephones, maintenance of membership lists, variety of meeting places, etc., and that the reaction on the part of the members was a serious discussion of the problem of security; that no undue alarm was expressed by the members, but a tendency was noted to underestimate the "role of the bourgeoisie."

At the conclusion of the document, which, it is noted, bears the signature "D. FORREST" the following is noted under the heading of "General Observations:"

> "LENNY is Organizational Secretary for his subsection and has answered all questions on a subsection base rather than section-wide. He has been in the Communist Party three years — inclined to be academic, but has possibilities of being a very good organizational person if he can overcome certain difficulties he finds himself in at present."

ACTIVITY OF INDUSTRIAL SUBSECTION HOLLYWOOD SECTION, COMMUNIST PARTY

Source A furnished the following:

On June 7, 1946, a meeting of the Organizational Secretary and Finance Directors of the Community Subsection and Industrial Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, was held at the home of SYLVIA

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

LA 100-15732

HAIKOVITZ, [redacted] Those present included the following: b6 b7C

DOROTHY FORREST, Organizational Secretary of the Community Subsection;
ELIZABETH GLENN;
DOROTHY HYATT, representing a Community Club;
SYLVIA HAIKOVITZ, representing a Community Club;
JESSIE BURNS, from the Morris Smolan Industrial Club;
LEONARD HAIKOVITZ, from the "O" Club;
PAUL PERLIN, Organizer, Industrial Subsection;
MITCH _____ (last name unknown) from an Industrial Club;
CHARLOTTE BRUSTEIN, representing a Community Club.

DOROTHY FORREST presided. ELIZABETH GLENN, representing the Los Angeles County Office of the Communist Party, announced that June 15 to July 1 would be a dues control period during which all dues payments were to be brought up to date. In this period every Party member's membership card was to be checked. In the executive meetings of the branches, the Finance Secretary should go over the dues standing of inactive members and begin visiting them immediately to get their dues brought up to date.

DOROTHY FORREST spoke on the ingression of new members. It was announced that a six weeks course for new members of the Industrial Subsection would start on Tuesday, June 11, and all new members must attend these classes. Sponsors of new members should accompany their new recruits to the first session to make them feel at home.

Source A advised that on Tuesday, June 11, 1946, a meeting was held of the new members class for the Industrial Subsection. CHARLES GLENN, Organizational Secretary for the entire Hollywood Section, Communist Party, spoke at the beginning of the meeting, welcoming the new members into the Party, and telling them that the Communist Party is on an emergency basis and should be able to move quickly to meet current events. IRVING WHITE acted as teacher of the class and had each member tell how he happened to join the Communist Party. Those present included the following:

ELSIE RAMSDELL, who gave the Party name of ELSIE NORTON, and advised that she was a secretary to a film executive, and that this was her first Communist meeting;

SUZANNE HOWARD, who had formerly been Chairman of an American Youth for Democracy group in a northern California college;

JANE SNIFFIN, who had been recruited into the Communist Party by WALDO SALT, movie script writer, while she had been working as his secretary, and who was assigned to the Potemkin Club at RKO Studios;

 CONFIDENTIAL

EILEEN _____ (last name unknown) who had grown up in a small town in Illinois run by the Ku Klux Klan;

BOB _____ (last name unknown) who uses the Party name BOB FLAHERTY, who had been in the Army during World War II, and was then employed as a set decorator in the movies;

JAMES A. SMITH of the Potemkin Club at RKO;

Mrs. JAMES A. SMITH, also known as CORINNE SMITH, who is a member of the Potemkin Club at RKO Studios;

CLARENCE L. RICKLEFS, a social worker with boys' groups;

BERNARDO ZERMENO, Jr., who had been recruited into the Communist Party by TANIA TUTTLE, also known as Mrs. FRANK TUTTLE;

BOB BASSING, who had been in the U. S. Army during World War II, and indicated he might have joined the Communist Party in New York;

TED COODLEY.

Source A noted that this was the first time information had come to his attention that a Communist Party Shop Unit had been established at RKO Studios and was known as the Potemkin Club.

Source A advised that on June 19, 1946, the first meeting of the Universal Studio Shop Branch of the Communist Party was held. Those present included the following:

PAUL PERLIN, Organizer, Industrial Subsection, who was employed as a grip at Universal Studios;

ALLAN McNEIL;

MARCHA _____ (last name unknown), a blond girl in her late twenties;

MIN SELVIN, [redacted] b6 b7C

ELSIE RAMSDELL, age 30, a secretary;

JEAN ENSTRAND (phonetic).

PERLIN directed the meeting which began with a discussion of the impending strike of the Conference of Studio Unions. McNEIL told of his arguments that day with HERBERT SORRELL, President of the Conference of Studio Unions who was enthusiastic about calling a strike immediately. McNEIL pointed out that the rank and file members of the Unions in the Conference of Studio Unions were not ready for a strike or convinced of its necessity, and that the leadership had not made proper preparation for a strike. McNEIL stated that he felt that he had succeeded in convincing SORRELL that the strike should not be called at that time.

PERLIN pointed out that there were other means than strikes of showing dissatisfaction with the attitude of the producers, such as a slowdown that had recently been practiced by the set decorators.

There was some brief discussion of the Industrial Subsection as such, and it was stated that there were then five Shop Branches of the Communist Party in the various studios. As yet no branch had been established at Twentieth Century Fox Studios. It was also indicated that there were two branches for members of particular unions; however, the names of the unions were not disclosed. It was further revealed that there is one club for persons for whom there is no club in their studio or union. It was stated by PERLIN that there are four Communists in the Painters Union and six or eight in the Electrical Workers Union.

ALLAN McNEIL was elected Chairman of the club and MIM SELVIN was elected Organizational Secretary. MARSHA was elected Literature Director.

Source A advised that on Sunday, August 18, 1946, a concentration conference of the Communist Party of Los Angeles County was held at the Park View Manor, 2200 West 7th Street, Los Angeles. During the conference, PAUL PERLIN spoke on concentration work in the film studios. He related that when he returned to the United States seven months ago after serving in the U. S. Army there were only two Industrial Clubs in the film industry, and that the film Comrades were scattered in various Community Clubs in the Hollywood Section. He revealed that at that time four additional shop branches had been established and two concentration committees had been set up in other studios. These committees would eventually form the nuclei of two more shop clubs.

PERLIN stated that the shop clubs are numerically weak and have too many white collar workers and not enough basic craft workers. The activities of these shop units or clubs have centered too much around shop matters and not enough around political and Communist problems. On August 25, 1946, he announced several recruiting socials would be held to which potential recruits for the shop clubs would be invited.

It was announced that by December, 1946, the Industrial Subsection of the Hollywood Section hoped to have 40 new members.

Later in the meeting JOHN STAPP, Organizer of the Hollywood Section, pointed out that it was not enough for the Community and Industrial Clubs to have delegates to each other's meetings. He pointed out that the Community Club should not feel that they can do only "leg work" but should become leaders of the industrial workers just as the industrial Comrades were doing. STAPP revealed that one girl assigned to the Community Subsection had been recruiting film workers as a result of selling "People's World" at the Studio gates.

Source A advised that in connection with the strike called by the Conference of Studio Unions against the various film studios, that the Community Clubs of the Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, had been assigned to do concentration work at the various movie studios. These assignments are as follows:

| Name of Community Club | Concentration Point |
|---|---|
| Norman Bethune Club | Technicolor Studios |
| Elizabeth Gurley Flynn Club | Columbia Studios |
| Abraham Lincoln Club | Warner Brothers Studios |
| Highland Club | RKO Studios, Paramount Studios |

Source A advised that at a meeting of the Elizabeth Gurley Flynn Club, Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held on August 27, 1946, DOROTHY STEIN announced that in the very near future a Comrade in each film studio would contact a club concentrated on that studio to help coordinate its work there. STEIN explained that from the Comrade working within the studio it would be possible to learn when the studio workers were coming and going from the studio, so that "People's World" and leaflets could be distributed with greater efficiency.

On September 27, 1946, according to Source A, the Community Subsection Chairmen's Council met at the home of HARRY RIPPS, [redacted] This meeting was attended by representatives of the Industrial Subsection as well as the Community Subsection. b6 b7C

ALLAN McNEIL of the Universal Studios, Industrial Branch, said that the ARCHIE BROWN campaign for governor as a Communist write-in candidate had not been pushed in the movie studios yet because of security reasons. McNEIL said that it was of paramount importance that tactics should be designed immediately for furthering this campaign.

HELMER BERGMAN, also representing the Industrial Subsection, stated that the coming election campaign should be tied together with the Conference of Studio Unions strike. HARRY DANIELS, County Legislative Director for the Communist Party made the following proposals:

(1) That the Industrial and Neighborhood Clubs organize committees of Communists and non-Communists in the community of Hollywood to get out leaflets, sponsor mass meetings, etc., on behalf of the Fair Employment Practices Committee;

(2) That Comrades be assigned to distribute material of other organizations whose views coincide with those of the Communist Party;

(3) That Comrades be assigned to canvass with literature on behalf of ARCHIE BROWN, Communist write-in candidate for governor of California;

(4) That Industrial and Community Branches get out leaflets of their own on all political issues;

(5) Industrial Comrades should campaign in the neighborhoods where they live, regardless of how far it is from Hollywood;

(6) Industrial and Neighborhood members should organize listening parties to hear ARCHIE BROWN in his Friday broadcast over Station K-I-A-C;

(7) That political candidates be encouraged to speak at studio picket lines as it will diminish police terrorism, since no policeman will want to bash people in the heads while a candidate is watching;

(8) That discussion be encouraged on HENRY WALLACE's speech on behalf of the peace issue.

HELMER BERGMAN spoke on the strike of the Conference of Studio Unions. BERGMAN announced that starting at midnight on September 27, the Conference of Studio Unions would have continuous 24 hour mass picket lines at the Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios with only skeletin picket lines at the other studios. The Metro Goldwyn Mayer representatives of the Industrial and Community Clubs should sell the "People's Daily World" to the pickets and distribute them free to onlookers. Each Community Club should cooperate with an Industrial Club in selling the "People's World." Consideration should be given to the distribution of coffee and doughnuts free at the picket lines.

BERGMAN further announced that the Hollywood Section and Trade Union Commission had decided that the Communist Party is not going to ask anyone to cut his throat economically, and that members of the weaker unions like the Office Workers Union should go through the picket lines to work if they would otherwise lose their jobs, but in any event such workers should work inside or outside the studio on behalf of the strikers. The Community and Industrial Subsections should raise money for the welfare of the strikers. Members of Community Clubs should help picket at night at the Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios and during the day at other studios.

BERGMAN announced that money for the strikers should go to the Hollywood Welfare Committee at 1422 North Kings Way, Telephone Olympia 7393. This telephone is listed to JOSEPH H. MISCHEL. BERGMAN further announced that speakers on the strike situation could be obtained by telephoning Hempstead 8067. This telephone is listed to EUDD LESSER, [redacted] b6 b7C

The Elizabeth Gurley Flynn Club, Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, met on October 8, 1946, at the home of HANNAH LINDEN, [redacted] according to Source A. PAUL PERLIN, Organizer of the Industrial Subsection, spoke on the Conference of Studio Unions strike. He advised that thousands of strike breakers are being brought in from all over the country and hired as carpenters, painters, etc., to take the place of Conference of Studio Unions men who are out on strike. He advised that the Comrades in the Industrial Subsection are assessing themselves 20 per cent of their income for the strikers. They did this when they found that members of the Communist Party who were also members of the Conference of Studio Unions were doing this. PERLIN further announced that members of the Cultural Subsection of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, are also giving large amounts of money to support the strike. b6 b7C

On October 11, 1946, according to Source A, at a meeting of the Community Subsection Chairmen's Council, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held at 766 North Van Ness, Apartment 15, DOROTHY FORREST announced that at a recent conference of Organizational Secretaries held at San Francisco, it had been decided to institute a squad system such as the Communist Party used to have. Miss FORREST announced that this plan would immediately be put into effect in all three subsections, including the Industrial Subsection. The membership of each club is to be divided into groups of five each, each squad headed by a squad captain appointed by the Club Executive Committee. Each squad captain is to register each member of his squad and to notify him thereafter of club meetings, collect his dues and discuss his problems and help him in his ingression into club activities. FORREST further announced that the registration of Communist Party members for 1947 would begin on November 1.

Source A advised that on October 23, 1946, JOHN STAPP, Organizer of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, and DOROTHY FORREST, who had replaced CHARLES GLENN as Organizational Secretary of the entire Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held a meeting with representatives of the Conference of Studio Unions which was attended also by HELLER BERGMAN of the Industrial Subsection. Informant learned of this meeting through conversation with STAPP on that date, and further learned that the Communist Party was not satisfied with the strategy being followed in connection with the Conference of Studio Unions strike. STAPP pointed out that the film strike was unnecessary and unjustified, and was called by hotheads in the Conference of Studio Unions and opposed prior to its beginning by the Communist Party. STAPP pointed out that after the strike started, however, the Communist Party had to support it, since the defeat of the Conference of Studio Unions would be a great blow to progressive Unionism in Hollywood.

STAPP was particularly concerned because the strike had disrupted much of the organizational work then being carried on by the Industrial Subsection, and it required the Industrial Comrades to devote time to the strike which they should have been giving to political work such as the election campaign.

Source A advised that on December 16, 1946, while attending a County-wide meeting of the club functionaries of the Communist Party held at the Park View Manor, 2200 West 7th Street, Los Angeles, he had had a conversation with JANE SNIFFIN, at which time she had advised that she was a member of a Shop Unit at the Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios. SNIFFIN advised that she was working at the Metro Goldwyn Mayer Stidois for LESTER COLE, although COLE was paying her salary. SNIFFIN stated that other members of the Industrial Branch at Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios were the following:

ALICE FOX (phonetic)
MILLIBELLE _____ (last name unknown)
FRANCES FREEDMAN
HENTA UERKVITZ

SNIFFIN further advised during this meeting that the Industrial Subsection of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party had held a weekend school on December 7 and 8, 1946, for the purpose of training leaders for this subsection. Informant advised that this school included lectures on the history of the Communist Party, organizational, educational and recruiting problems.

Source A further advised that during the course of this County-wide meeting sponsored by the Communist Party on December 16, 1946, PAUL PERLIN had spoken before the group concerning the activity of the Industrial Subsection. PERLIN stated that some Comrades in the more conservative Unions of the Conference of Studio Unions are too Leftist (do not cooperate enough with the Union), while other Comrades in the more progressive Unions are Right Opportunists (cooperate too much without criticizing). Industrial Comrades in the Conference of Studio Unions tend to be too much taken up with inter-Party work, or else with economic questions of the Unions themselves, instead of being political leaders in the Union.

PERLIN requested the County leadership of the Communist Party to give more help to the Industrial Comrades in connection with the Hollywood strike, as the situation there is serious. PERLIN requested Comrades everywhere to take the initiative in carrying the issue of the strike to the general public. PERLIN alleged that public support could be obtained with greater effort.

The Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held a Marxist School for Club officers at 745 North Gardner Avenue, Hollywood, on December 14, 1946, according to Source A. DAVID ROBISON, story analyst employed by MILTON SPERLING, independent producer at the Warner Brothers Studios, spoke at the school concerning the Communist Party, U.S.A., and the history thereof. He also spent some time describing the history of the Communist Party in Hollywood, and stated that the Party had fought the open shop, and did good work in the anti-Fascist struggle until revisionism stopped it.

ROBISON stated that if the Communist Party had 300 members among the back lot workers in the film industry, it would then approach having the proper industrial composition. ROBISON did not reveal the exact number of Communists in the Industrial Section, but stated that the Party "had a long way to go." ROBISON pointed out that it took a long time to persuade the State and National leadership of the Communist Party that the movie industry is an industry and deserved industrial concentration.

ROBISON stated that the Cultural Comrades tend to dominate the Party leadership in Hollywood. Although Cultural people should be recruited, ROBISON contended that the Communist Party should recruit several industrial workers for every Cultural person in order to better balance the composition of the Party. ROBISON pointed out that there are Communists in the Hollywood Unions that can do good work. He pointed out that the Communists in Local 683 of the Film Technicians Union went through the picket lines of the Conference of Studio Unions with the rest of their Union members until they managed to organize the Union to join the Conference of Studio Unions strike and repudiate the leadership of the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees.

Source A advised that on February 18, 1947, at a meeting of the Gung Ho Club (formerly the Flynn Club) of the Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held at the home of CLARENCE RICKLEFS, [redacted] that JOHN STAPP, Organizer of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, announced that the progressive forces had entered RUSSELL McKNIGHT, business representative of the Film Technicians Union as a candidate for City Council, in an effort to defeat the incumbent, EDWARD DAVENPORT, whom the Party considers a reactionary. STAPP announced that the Communist Party had agreed to handle completely 125 precincts in the Second District for the McKNIGHT campaign, working in the name of that campaign and not that of the Communist Party. Clubs in the Hollywood Section will be responsible for the work in those precincts, which will be divided up among the Community and Industrial Clubs. The clubs are to set up card

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

The Industrial Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, was formally established in July, 1946, by PAUL PERLIN and given specific task of concentrating on industrial recruiting in the motion picture industry. This section has devoted itself primarily to recruiting work in the election campaign and in connection with the current strike of the Conference of Studio Unions. In June, 1947, the Industrial Subsection was consolidated with the Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, because the Industrial Subsection had been greatly weakened by the Conference of Studio Unions strike, and further for greater efficiency in operation. PERLIN continues as Organizer of the combined subsection.

ESTABLISHMENT OF THE HOLLYWOOD SECTION, COMMUNIST PARTY, SEPTEMBER 1945

According to Source A, in September, 1945, after the Communist Party U.S.A. was reëstablished and the Communist Political Association was disbanded, the Los Angeles County Communist Party established what was referred to as the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party, which roughly covered the geographical area known as Hollywood, California.

In accordance with the nationwide plan of industrial concentration which had been disregarded to a large degree during the period of the Communist Political Association, plans were immediately undertaken to concentrate on recruiting in the motion picture industry. JOHN STAPP was named Organizer of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, and charged with the responsibility of coordinating all of the various Party activities at Hollywood. Thereafter CHARLES GLENN was named Organizational Secretary of the Hollywood Section.

Source B advised that the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party is directly responsible to the downtown office of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, and that the appointments of STAPP and GLENN were made with the approval of NED SPARKS, Chairman of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, and DOROTHY HEALEY, Organizational Secretary of the County organization. (X)

According to Source A, through the Fall of 1946 there was no definite plan for the industrial concentration, but informant learned that a number of industrial clubs had been established in the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party.

ESTABLISHMENT OF THE INDUSTRIAL SUBSECTION, HOLLYWOOD SECTION, COMMUNIST PARTY

On July 19, 1946, Source A made available a plan of reorganization of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party. At that time the Hollywood Section apparatus as it was set up indicated that the highest responsible political body in the Section was the Section Executive Committee headed by the full time Section Organizer, JOHN STAPP. This body was responsible to the highest delegated group in the Section, the Section Council, which met monthly.

At that time the Council consisted of twenty-three delegates. This body, because of the severe political limitations imposed by its size, was capable of discussing problems on only the most general level, while actually it was necessary for concrete political discussion and policy making to take place in the subsection level, through meetings of branch chairmen in the subsection.

Three subsections had developed within the Hollywood Section, and were known as Cultural, Neighborhood and Industrial. The main responsibility for the conduct of work in the subsection lies with the Organizational Secretary. Political responsibility for all the subsections was on the shoulders of the Section Organizer, JOHN STAPP. Otherwise there was no well defined political responsibility.

The following changes were proposed and subsequently adopted:

(1) A tightening of the organizational apparatus in the Section;

(2) The Hollywood organization was to be built on a section basis, with three subsections, Cultural, Industrial and Neighborhood;

(3) Each subsection was to have its complete political and organizational apparatus; further, each section was to have its own Section Committee to be composed of these functionaries: Subsection Organizer, Organizational Secretary, Educational Director, Literature Director, Press Director and Finance Secretary;

(4) Whatever committees (for example Labor, Organization, Minorities, etc.) are considered necessary within the Section, are to be set up by the Subsection Executive Committee in accordance with demands, and these committees need not be formally represented on the Section Executive Committee;

(5) The then existing Section Council is abolished and a Chairmen's Council is to be established in each subsection;

(6) The Section Executive Committee is to be composed of the Section Organizer, Subsection Organizers, and those functionaries who sit on the present Section Executive Committee, i.e. Education, Press, Finance Directors, etc.;

(7) The Section Executive Committee is to be responsible to the delegated convention of the branches of the Section as the next highest body, and it is to be responsible to the Subsection Executive Committees and the Subsection Chairmen's Council;

(8) Executive Committees of the Subsections are to meet weekly, and then on the alternate weeks the Subsection Chairmen's Council composed of all branch chairmen within the Section will meet with the Subsection Executive Committees.

(9) JOHN STAPP was designated as Section Organizer responsible for the Section Executive Committee for the implementing of policy and coordinating of all work of all the subsections.

It was pointed out that the basic orientation of the Communist Party toward Shop Units and work at the various movie studios should not be hampered in any way. It was pointed out that this plan would place responsibility for carrying through the industrial concentration campaign of the Communist Party definitely, so that this phase of the Communist Party's work could be strengthened.

Source A advised that in approximately July, 1946, after the above plan had been placed in effect, PAUL PERLIN, grip, then employed at Universal-International Studios, was named Subsection Organizer of the Industrial Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party. As such PERLIN was charged with the responsibility of establishing and building up the Shop Units within the movie industry.

OPERATION OF THE INDUSTRIAL SUBSECTION, HOLLYWOOD SECTION, COMMUNIST PARTY

On October 30, 1946, Source B furnished Special Agents JACK S. KEMPTON and CHESTER C. ORTON of the Los Angeles Office a photographic copy of a questionnaire pertaining to the organizational structure and operation of the Industrial Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party. (X)

This document, according to Source B, is a general type of questionnaire, which was sent out by the Communist Party to be executed by functionaries of all of the various Communist Party sections within Los Angeles County. The answers to the questions contained in the document, according to Source B, were executed by DOROTHY FORREST, who, in October, 1946, was Organizational Secretary, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, as a result of an interview had by FORREST with one LENNY, who has been tentatively identified by Source A as one LEONARD HAIMOVITZ, Organizational Secretary of the Industrial Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party. (X)

The following is a summary of information concerning the Industrial Subsection as obtained through a review of the questions and answers contained in this document: (X)

The Hollywood Industrial Subsection, as of October, 1946, consisted of clubs, the average size of which was fifteen to twenty members, it being felt by the Section leadership that clubs of this size would permit of "fuller participation in discussion and activity," and the "fullest development of members for leadership." (X)

The type of "concentration work" being done by the Industrial Subsection is industrial as distinguished from community or cultural types of concentration work, and the question as to whether a Communist Shop Unit is set up within a given movie studio is decided on the basis of whether there is a sufficient number of Communist members within that studio to warrant the establishment of such a shop unit. (X)

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Much of the political work done by the Industrial Subsection is done through trade unions, and a tendency has developed for meetings of the Subsection Executive Council to develop into trade union fraction meetings. (X)

Campaigns of the Los Angeles County Communist Party are initiated on a Subsection scale by being brought to the Hollywood Section Executive Committee, thence to the Industrial Subsection Executive Committee, thence to the Club Chairmen's Council of the Subsection, and finally down through the clubs and club members. Regarding the political development of the members of the Subsection, it is noted that about eighty per cent of the members have attended "new members' classes" which are, according to Source B, conducted for the purpose of indoctrinating new members along the lines of Communist ideology. (X)

The Industrial Subsection Executive Council makes regular checkups on "concentration" policy within the various clubs making up the subsection, through the medium of Chairmen's Council meetings and through a checkup by the Organizational Secretary. (X)

Although no formal apparatus has been set up for making the results of concentration work available to the entire membership of each club within the subsection, this is accomplished in part through club meetings, wherever possible, and in the case of members who do not attend club meetings regularly, some of these are reached at their places of employment and in mass organizations as well as at fraction meetings. (X)

Propaganda material put out by the clubs of the subsection is checked through the Educational Director of the Subsection and by the Organizer to "guarantee correct political content." (X)

Regarding the leadership of the Industrial Subsection of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, it is indicated that the average length of time in the Communist Party for the Subsection leadership is six years, and that two of the Subsection leaders have had actual experience in Section leadership; that two of the remainder have attended schools recently, while the newer ones have "shown willingness and a capacity to work and learn." The Subsection leadership is broken down on the basis of "class composition" as follows: three industrial, two white collar, one professional and five union members. (X)

The Section Organizer has the major political responsibility for leadership within the Industrial Subsection and makes the major political reports at Industrial Subsection Executive Committee meetings. The Organizational Secretary "does not give real political leadership, as his political development is not as full as other members of the Executive Committee." However, the Organizational Secretary, through meeting with (X)

responsible individuals and groups, endeavors to insure that the Communist campaigns and plans of work outlined by the Subsection Executive Council are carried out, and that the goals set are realized. (X)

The Executive Committee of the Industrial Subsection meets regularly every two weeks and the agenda for these meetings is prepared by the Organizational Secretary and the Organizer of the Subsection. In the interim between meetings, the Section Organizer maintains liaison with the Subsection committee members through individual contacts with members of the committee. (X)

Regarding other officers in the Subsection, it was indicated that a press director and financial director had been elected as of October, 1946, but that neither of these officers was functioning. A Campaign Director and an Educational Director, however, were indicated to be functioning. (X)

All Section officers are members of the Subsection Executive Committee, with the exception of the Campaign Director, who sits in on some of the meetings and takes part in the discussion. The leading officers in the Subsection are given special assignments from time to time; for example, one officer teaches a regular series of classes conducted for the benefit of "contacts" (potential Communist Party recruits) for the whole section. (X)

The question of Party security was raised at chairmen's Council meetings, with relation to the use of telephones, maintenance of membership lists, variety of meeting places, etc., and that the reaction on the part of the members was a serious discussion of the problem of security; that no undue alarm was expressed by the members, but a tendency was noted to underestimate the "role of the bourgeoisie." (X)

At the conclusion of the document, which, it is noted, bears the signature "D. FORREST" the following is noted under the heading of "General Observations:" (X)

> "LENNY is Organizational Secretary for his subsection and has answered all questions on a subsection base rather than section-wide. He has been in the Communist Party three years -- inclined to be academic, but has possibilities of being a very good organizational person if he can overcome certain difficulties he finds himself in at present." (X)

ACTIVITY OF INDUSTRIAL SUBSECTION HOLLYWOOD SECTION, COMMUNIST PARTY

Source A furnished the following:

On June 7, 1946, a meeting of the Organizational Secretary and Finance Directors of the Community Subsection and Industrial Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, was held at the home of SYLVIA

HAIMOVITZ, [redacted] Those present included the following:

b7C

DOROTHY FORREST, Organizational Secretary of the Community Subsection;
ELIZABETH GLENN;
DOROTHY HYATT, representing a Community Club;
SYLVIA HAIMOVITZ, representing a Community Club;
JESSIE BURNS, from the Morrie Smolan Industrial Club;
LEONARD HAIMOVITZ, from the "O" Club;
PAUL PERLIN, Organizer, Industrial Subsection;
MITCH _____ (last name unknown) from an Industrial Club;
CHARLOTTE BRUSTEIN, representing a Community Club.

DOROTHY FORREST presided. ELIZABETH GLENN, representing the Los Angeles County Office of the Communist Party, announced that June 15 to July 1 would be a dues control period during which all dues payments were to be brought up to date. In this period every Party member's membership card was to be checked. In the executive meetings of the branches, the Finance Secretary should go over the dues standing of inactive members and begin visiting them immediately to get their dues brought up to date.

DOROTHY FORREST spoke on the ingression of new members. It was announced that a six weeks course for new members of the Industrial Subsection would start on Tuesday, June 11, and all new members must attend these classes. Sponsors of new members should accompany their new recruits to the first session to make them feel at home.

Source A advised that on Tuesday, June 11, 1946, a meeting was held of the new members class for the Industrial Subsection. CHARLES GLENN, Organizational Secretary for the entire Hollywood Section, Communist Party, spoke at the beginning of the meeting, welcoming the new members into the Party, and telling them that the Communist Party is on an emergency basis and should be able to move quickly to meet current events. IRVING WHITE acted as teacher of the class and had each member tell how he happened to join the Communist Party. Those present included the following:

ELSIE RAMSDELL, who gave the Party name of ELSIE NORTON, and advised that she was a secretary to a film executive, and that this was her first Communist meeting;

SUZANNE HOWARD, who had formerly been Chairman of an American Youth for Democracy group in a northern California college;

JANE SNIFFIN, who had been recruited into the Communist Party by WALDO SALT, movie script writer, while she had been working as his secretary, and who was assigned to the Potemkin Club at RKO Studios;

EILEEN _____ (last name unknown) who had grown up in a small town in Illinois run by the Ku Klux Klan;

BOB _____ (last name unknown) who uses the Party name BOB FLAHERTY, who had been in the Army during World War II, and was then employed as a set decorator in the movies;

JAMES A. SMITH of the Potemkin Club at RKO;

Mrs. JAMES A. SMITH, also known as CORINNE SMITH, who is a member of the Potemkin Club at RKO Studios;

CLARENCE L. RICKLEFS, a social worker with boys' groups;

BERNARDO ZERMENO, Jr., who had been recruited into the Communist Party by TANIA TUTTLE, also known as Mrs. FRANK TUTTLE;

BOB BASSING, who had been in the U. S. Army during World War II, and indicated he might have joined the Communist Party in New York;

TED GOODLEY.

Source A noted that this was the first time information had come to his attention that a Communist Party Shop Unit had been established at RKO Studios and was known as the Potemkin Club.

Source A advised that on June 19, 1946, the first meeting of the Universal Studio Shop Branch of the Communist Party was held. Those present included the following:

PAUL PERLIN, Organizer, Industrial Subsection, who was employed as a grip at Universal Studios;

ALLAN McNEIL;

MARSHA _____ (last name unknown), a blond girl in her late twenties;

MIN SELVIN, [redacted] b6 b7C

ELSIE RAMSDELL, age 30, a secretary;

JEAN ENSTRAND (phonetic).

PERLIN directed the meeting which began with a discussion of the impending strike of the Conference of Studio Unions. McNEIL told of his arguments that day with HERBERT SORRELL, President of the Conference of Studio Unions who was enthusiastic about calling a strike immediately. McNEIL pointed out that the rank and file members of the Unions in the Conference of Studio Unions were not ready for a strike or convinced of its necessity, and that the leadership had not made proper preparation for a strike. McNEIL stated that he felt that he had succeeded in convincing SORRELL that the strike should not be called at that time.

PERLIN pointed out that there were other means than strikes of showing dissatisfaction with the attitude of the producers, such as a slowdown that had recently been practiced by the set decorators.

There was some brief discussion of the Industrial Subsection as such, and it was stated that there were then five Shop Branches of the Communist Party in the various studios. As yet no branch had been established at Twentieth Century Fox Studios. It was also indicated that there were two branches for members of particular unions; however, the names of the unions were not disclosed. It was further revealed that there is one club for persons for whom there is no club in their studio or union. It was stated by PERLIN that there are four Communists in the Painters Union and six or eight in the Electrical Workers Union.

ALLAN McNEIL was elected Chairman of the club and MIN SELVIN was elected Organizational Secretary. MARSHA was elected Literature Director.

Source A advised that on Sunday, August 18, 1946, a concentration conference of the Communist Party of Los Angeles County was held at the Park View Manor, 2200 West 7th Street, Los Angeles. During the conference, PAUL PERLIN spoke on concentration work in the film studios. He related that when he returned to the United States seven months ago after serving in the U. S. Army there were only two Industrial Clubs in the film industry, and that the film Comrades were scattered in various Community Clubs in the Hollywood Section. He revealed that at that time four additional shop branches had been established and two concentration committees had been set up in other studios. These committees would eventually form the nuclei of two more shop clubs.

PERLIN stated that the shop clubs are numerically weak and have too many white collar workers and not enough basic craft workers. The activities of these shop units or clubs have centered too much around shop matters and not enough around political and Communist problems. On August 25, 1946, he announced several recruiting socials would be held to which potential recruits for the shop clubs would be invited.

It was announced that by December, 1946, the Industrial Subsection of the Hollywood Section hoped to have 40 new members.

Later in the meeting JOHN STAPP, Organizer of the Hollywood Section, pointed out that it was not enough for the Community and Industrial Clubs to have delegates to each other's meetings. He pointed out that the Community Club should not feel that they can do only "leg work" but should become leaders of the industrial workers just as the industrial Comrades were doing. STAPP revealed that one girl assigned to the Community Subsection had been recruiting film workers as a result of selling "People's World" at the Studio gates.

Source A advised that in connection with the strike called by the Conference of Studio Unions against the various film studios, that the Community Clubs of the Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, had been assigned to do concentration work at the various movie studios. These assignments are as follows:

| Name of Community Club | Concentration Point |
|---|---|
| Norman Bethune Club | Technicolor Studios |
| Elizabeth Gurley Flynn Club | Columbia Studios |
| Abraham Lincoln Club | Warner Brothers Studios |
| Highland Club | RKO Studios, Paramount Studios |

Source A advised that at a meeting of the Elizabeth Gurley Flynn Club, Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held on August 27, 1946, DOROTHY STEIN announced that in the very near future a Comrade in each film studio would contact a club concentrated on that studio to help coordinate its work there. STEIN explained that from the Comrade working within the studio it would be possible to learn when the studio workers were coming and going from the studio, so that "People's World" and leaflets could be distributed with greater efficiency.

On September 27, 1946, according to Source A, the Community Subsection Chairmen's Council met at the home of HARRY RIPPS, [redacted] This meeting was attended by representatives of the Industrial Subsection as well as the Community Subsection. b6 b7C

ALLAN McNEIL of the Universal Studios, Industrial Branch, said that the ARCHIE BROWN campaign for governor as a Communist write-in candidate had not been pushed in the movie studios yet because of security reasons. McNEIL said that it was of paramount importance that tactics should be designed immediately for furthering this campaign.

HELMER BERGMAN, also representing the Industrial Subsection, stated that the coming election campaign should be tied together with the Conference of Studio Unions strike. HARRY DANIELS, County Legislative Director for the Communist Party made the following proposals:

(1) That the Industrial and Neighborhood Clubs organize committees of Communists and non-Communists in the community of Hollywood to get out leaflets, sponsor mass meetings, etc., on behalf of the Fair Employment Practices Committee;

(2) That Comrades be assigned to distribute material of other organizations whose views coincide with those of the Communist Party;

(3) That Comrades be assigned to canvass with literature on behalf of ARCHIE BROWN, Communist write-in candidate for governor of California;

(4) That Industrial and Community Branches get out leaflets of their own on all political issues;

(5) Industrial Comrades should campaign in the neighborhoods where they live, regardless of how far it is from Hollywood;

(6) Industrial and Neighborhood members should organize listening parties to hear ARCHIE BROWN in his Friday broadcast over Station K-L-A-C;

(7) That political candidates be encouraged to speak at studio picket lines as it will diminish police terrorism, since no policeman will want to bash people in the heads while a candidate is watching;

(8) That discussion be encouraged on HENRY WALLACE's speech on behalf of the peace issue.

HELMER BERGMAN spoke on the strike of the Conference of Studio Unions. BERGMAN announced that starting at midnight on September 27, the Conference of Studio Unions would have continuous 24 hour mass picket lines at the Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios with only skeletin picket lines at the other studios. The Metro Goldwyn Mayer representatives of the Industrial and Community Clubs should sell the "People's Daily World" to the pickets and distribute them free to onlookers. Each Community Club should cooperate with an Industrial Club in selling the "People's World." Consideration should be given to the distribution of coffee and doughnuts free at the picket lines.

BERGMAN further announced that the Hollywood Section and Trade Union Commission had decided that the Communist Party is not going to ask anyone to cut his throat economically, and that members of the weaker unions like the Office Workers Union should go through the picket lines to work if they would otherwise lose their jobs, but in any event such workers should work inside or outside the studio on behalf of the strikers. The Community and Industrial Subsections should raise money for the welfare of the strikers. Members of Community Clubs should help picket at night at the Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios and during the day at other studios.

BERGMAN announced that money for the strikers should go to the Hollywood Welfare Committee at 1422 North Kings Way, Telephone Olympia 7393. This telephone is listed to JOSEPH H. MISCHEL. BERGMAN further announced that speakers on the strike situation could be obtained by telephoning Hempstead 8067. This telephone is listed to BUDD LESSER, [redacted] b6 b7C

The Elizabeth Gurley Flynn Club, Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, met on October 8, 1946, at the home of HANNAH LINDEN, [redacted] according to Source A. PAUL PERLIN, Organizer of the Industrial Subsection, spoke on the Conference of Studio Unions strike. He advised that thousands of strike breakers are being brought in from all over the country and hired as carpenters, painters, etc., to take the place of Conference of Studio Unions men who are out on strike. He advised that the Comrades in the Industrial Subsection are assessing themselves 20 per cent of their income for the strikers. They did this when they found that members of the Communist Party who were also members of the Conference of Studio Unions were doing this. PERLIN further announced that members of the Cultural Subsection of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, are also giving large amounts of money to support the strike. b6 b7C

On October 11, 1946, according to Source A, at a meeting of the Community Subsection Chairmen's Council, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held at 766 North Van Ness, Apartment 15, DOROTHY FORREST announced that at a recent conference of Organizational Secretaries held at San Francisco, it had been decided to institute a squad system such as the Communist Party used to have. Miss FORREST announced that this plan would immediately be put into effect in all three subsections, including the Industrial Subsection. The membership of each club is to be divided into groups of five each, each squad headed by a squad captain appointed by the Club Executive Committee. Each squad captain is to register each member of his squad and to notify him thereafter of club meetings, collect his dues and discuss his problems and help him in his ingression into club activities. FORREST further announced that the registration of Communist Party members for 1947 would begin on November 1.

Source A advised that on October 23, 1946, JOHN STAPP, Organizer of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, and DOROTHY FORREST, who had replaced CHARLES GLENN as Organizational Secretary of the entire Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held a meeting with representatives of the

CONFIDENTIAL

Conference of Studio Unions which was attended also by HELMER BERGMAN of the Industrial Subsection. Informant learned of this meeting through conversation with STAPP on that date, and further learned that the Communist Party was not satisfied with the strategy being followed in connection with the Conference of Studio Unions strike. STAPP pointed out that the film strike was unnecessary and unjustified, and was called by hotheads in the Conference of Studio Unions and opposed prior to its beginning by the Communist Party. STAPP pointed out that after the strike started, however, the Communist Party had to support it, since the defeat of the Conference of Studio Unions would be a great blow to progressive Unionism in Hollywood.

STAPP was particularly concerned because the strike had disrupted much of the organizational work then being carried on by the Industrial Subsection, and it required the Industrial Comrades to devote time to the strike which they should have been giving to political work such as the election campaign.

Source A advised that on December 16, 1946, while attending a County-wide meeting of the club functionaries of the Communist Party held at the Park View Manor, 2200 West 7th Street, Los Angeles, he had had a conversation with JANE SNIFFIN, at which time she had advised that she was a member of a Shop Unit at the Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios. SNIFFIN advised that she was working at the Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studois for LESTER COLE, although COLE was paying her salary. SNIFFIN stated that other members of the Industrial Branch at Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios were the following:

ALICE FOX (phonetic)
MILLIBELLE _____ (last name unknown)
FRANCES FREEDMAN
HERTA JERKVITZ

SNIFFIN further advised during this meeting that the Industrial Subsection of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party had held a weekend school on December 7 and 8, 1946, for the purpose of training leaders for this subsection. Informant advised that this school included lectures on the history of the Communist Party, organizational, educational and recruiting problems.

Source A further advised that during the course of this County-wide meeting sponsored by the Communist Party on December 16, 1946, PAUL PERLIN had spoken before the group concerning the activity of the Industrial Subsection. PERLIN stated that some Comrades in the more conservative Unions of the Conference of Studio Unions are too Leftist (do not cooperate enough with the Union), while other Comrades in the more progressive Unions are Right Opportunists (cooperate too much without criticizing). Industrial Comrades in the Conference of Studio Unions tend to be too much taken up with inter-Party work, or else with economic questions of the Unions themselves, instead of being political leaders in the Union.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

PERLIN requested the County leadership of the Communist Party to give more help to the Industrial Comrades in connection with the Hollywood strike, as the situation there is serious. PERLIN requested Comrades everywhere to take the initiative in carrying the issue of the strike to the general public. PERLIN alleged that public support could be obtained with greater effort.

The Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held a Marxist School for Club officers at 745 North Gardner Avenue, Hollywood, on December 14, 1946, according to Source A. DAVID ROBISON, story analyst employed by MILTON SPERLING, independent producer at the Warner Brothers Studios, spoke at the school concerning the Communist Party, U.S.A., and the history thereof. He also spent some time describing the history of the Communist Party in Hollywood, and stated that the Party had fought the open shop, and did good work in the anti-Fascist struggle until revisionism stopped it.

ROBISON stated that if the Communist Party had 300 members among the back lot workers in the film industry, it would then approach having the proper industrial composition. ROBISON did not reveal the exact number of Communists in the Industrial Section, but stated that the Party "had a long way to go." ROBISON pointed out that it took a long time to persuade the State and National leadership of the Communist Party that the movie industry is an industry and deserved industrial concentration.

ROBISON stated that the Cultural Comrades tend to dominate the Party leadership in Hollywood. Although Cultural people should be recruited, ROBISON contended that the Communist Party should recruit several industrial workers for every Cultural person in order to better balance the composition of the Party. ROBISON pointed out that there are Communists in the Hollywood Unions that can do good work. He pointed out that the Communists in Local 683 of the Film Technicians Union went through the picket lines of the Conference of Studio Unions with the rest of their Union members until they managed to organize the Union to join the Conference of Studio Unions strike and repudiate the leadership of the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employees.

Source A advised that on February 18, 1947, at a meeting of the Gung Ho Club (formerly the Flynn Club) of the Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, held at the home of CLARENCE RICKLEFS, [redacted] that JOHN STAPP, Organizer of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, announced that the progressive forces had entered RUSSELL McKNIGHT, business representative of the Film Technicians Union as a candidate for City Council, in an effort to defeat the incumbent, EDWARD DAVENPORT, whom the Party considers a reactionary. STAPP announced that the Communist Party had agreed to handle completely 125 precincts in the Second District for the McKNIGHT campaign, working in the name of that campaign and not that of the Communist Party. Clubs in the Hollywood Section will be responsible for the work in those precincts, which will be divided up among the Community and Industrial Clubs. The clubs are to set up card files on progressive people they encounter in door-to-door campaign work. All Comrades should be activated in this connection.

Source A advised as set forth above that Shop Units have been established at the Universal-International Studios, RKO Studios and Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios. Informant further advised that in a conversation with PAUL PERLIN he had learned that an Industrial Branch had been established at the Paramount Studios, and that this is one of the largest branches of the Industrial Subsection. Informant further advised that he had learned from DOROTHY STEIN, formerly Membership Director of the Community Subsection of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, that the Communist Party also has an Industrial Branch at the Columbia Studios.

Sources C, D, E, F, G, H, I, and J were contacted for their knowledge of information concerning the Industrial Branches at the Universal-International Studios, Paramount Studios, RKO Studios, Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios, Columbia Studios, Eagle Lion Studios, Twentieth Century Fox, and Warner Brothers Studios with negative results.

CONSOLIDATION OF INDUSTRIAL AND COMMUNITY SUBSECTIONS HOLLYWOOD SECTION, COMMUNIST PARTY

Source A advised during June, 1947, that he had learned in conversation with DOROTHY STEIN, Chairman of the Gung Ho Club, Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, that the Industrial Subsection had been greatly weakened by the strike of the Conference of Studio Unions, and that the time which should have been spent in recruiting had been spent by the Industrial Comrades in endeavoring to keep the Conference of Studio Unions alive.

To revitalize the Industrial Subsection and to provide further for closer coordination between the Community and Industrial Subsections, these two were consolidated during June, 1947, and the following are the officers of the Consolidated Subsection:

PAUL PERLIN, Organizer
DOROTHY FORREST, Organizational Secretary
DOROTHY RIVERS, Membership Director
HELMER BERGMAN, Educational Director
JACK FLIER, Literature Director
JACK SNIFFIN, Press Director
NOUN LIGHT, Finance Director

It is contemplated under the reorganized Community Industrial Subsection that the makeup of the membership of the various clubs will remain the same, but the representatives from the club will meet together every two weeks at Chairmen's Council meetings for the purpose of more closely coordinating the activities of the two types of clubs.

Reference is made to Bureau letter to Los Angeles dated July 11, 1947, in the above captioned matter, requesting information concerning an allegation made in the report of SA ROBERT W. HOLLMAN at Los Angeles dated March 13, 1947, entitled "COMMUNIST PARTY, U.S.A., DISTRICT 13."

The Bureau requested information concerning the establishment of Shop Units at Universal, Paramount, Metro Goldwyn Mayer, RKO and Columbia Studios. The Bureau requested that all available background information concerning the establishment of these Shop Units, including their operations and functions, be furnished. The enclosed report is intended to fulfill that request.

Referenced letter also requested that the leaders and members of these units if known should be set out. As the Bureau is aware, CNDI [redacted] made available on May 25, 1947, what is purported to be the complete record of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. These records were not complete as to the Hollywood Section; however, they did reflect considerable information concerning the identity of the members of the Industrial Subsection. This information is not being set forth in this report, but will be set forth in the report which is being prepared at this time in the Los Angeles Office under the caption, "COMMUNIST PARTY, U.S.A., DISTRICT 13, LOS ANGELES DIVISION, INTERNAL SECURITY - C." This report will reflect in some detail the identity of the members of the various clubs within the Industrial Subsection.

PERSONAL AND URGENT

THE SPECIAL SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION AND LABOR IS HERE CONDUCTING AN INVESTIGATION OF THE HOLLYWOOD MOTION PICTURE LABOR RELATIONS PROBLEM. IN THIS HEARING I AM APPEARING FOR ABOUT TWO THOUSAND INDIVIDUAL CARPENTERS WHO WERE LOCKED OUT OF THE STUDIOS ON SEPTEMBER TWENTY THIRD 1946 UNDER THE PREARRANGED PLAN OF THE MAJOR MOTION PICTURE COMPANIES AND THEREBY DEPRIVED OF THEIR RIGHT TO WORK UNDER THEIR ADMITTED COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT WHICH WILL NOT EXPIRE UNTIL JULY FIRST 1948.

IN VIEW OF FOREGOING AND IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST I NOW RESPECTFULLY REQUEST THAT YOU IMMEDIATELY GRANT TELEGRAPHIC AUTHORITY TO THE LOS ANGELES OFFICE OF THE FBI TO PRODUCE THEIR RECORDS BEFORE THE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE INSOFAR AS THEY RELATE TO THE HOLLYWOOD STRIKE AND TO ANY AND ALL GANSTERS IN THE HOLLYWOOD PICTURE. I WILL ASK FOR THE SUBPOENA IMMEDIATELY UPON RECEIPT OF YOUR TELEGRAPHIC REPLY

ZACH LAMAR COBB

ENCLOSURE

1946 1948.

The Attorney General

August 26, 1947

Director, FBI

ZACH LAMAR COBB

Reference is made to the attached personal and urgent telegram directed to you under date of August 25, 1947, from one Zach Lamar Cobb of Los Angeles, California, which was received from your office at 3:00 p.m. August 26, 1947.

Cobb states that he is representing two thousand carpenters who were locked out of the major motion picture studios in 1946, before a Special Subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor, which is investigating the Hollywood Motion Picture Labor Relation problem.

Cobb requested that you telegraphically authorize the Los Angeles Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to produce its records before the Congressional Committee in so far as they relate to the Hollywood strike and to "gangsters in the Hollywood picture." Cobb indicated he would ask for a subpoena of the files of the Los Angeles Office of this Bureau upon receipt of your reply.

This communication from Cobb has not been acknowledged by this Bureau. I object strongly to any consideration that the files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation be made available to any attorney representing private interests. I likewise feel very strongly that the records of this Bureau should not be made available in this particular instance because of the extremely confidential nature of the material contained in this Bureau's files concerning the entire Hollywood Motion Picture situation. This situation has numerous ramifications reaching into various fields of Communist infiltration of labor organizations as well as contacts within the Motion Picture Industry by underworld characters. The disclosure of any of this highly confidential material at this time might seriously jeopardize pending investigations and, through unwarranted disclosure of sources of information, could deprive this Bureau and the Department of necessary and even vital information in the future.

DATE: August 11, 1947

FROM : SAC, Los Angeles

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Reference is made to Bureau teletype dated August 6, 1947, requesting disposition of the mass arrests made in connection with the motion picture strikes. The information concerning the mass arrests hereinafter reported was obtained on August 7, 1947, from Sergeant JOSEPH E. STEPHENS, of the Wilshire Division of the Los Angeles Police Department.

All information concerning disposition of those arrested was obtained from Assistant Los Angeles City Attorney DONALD M. REDWINE, Room 271, City Hall, Los Angeles, California, and his various deputies handling the cases.

For the most part, these trials were held in groups of approximately forty persons. Sergeant STEPHENS advised that there were five mass arrests at the various motion picture studios and ten individual arrests made at various places around the City but with a definite connection with the motion picture strike. The number of defendants and the disposition of these cases will be set out under the following headings:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1. | GEORGE BAILEY, ET AL | 696 defendants |
| 2. | EARL E. COLE, ET AL | 125 defendants |
| 3. | EDWARD DUFFY, ET AL | 26 defendants |
| 4. | LEOLA TUCKER, ET AL | 124 defendants |
| 5. | HENRY G. WIEBE, ET AL | 208 defendants |
| 6. | Individual arrests | 10 defendants |
| | TOTAL | 1,189 |

The above number should not be construed to mean that there were 1,189 different persons arrested. City Attorney REDWINE advised that some of the persons were arrested in as many as three of the different mass arrests. Persons arrested were variously charged with one, two or more of the following violations:

1. Section 23.10 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code - parading without a permit.

2. Municipal Code 80170, Section 10 - forbid blocking and impeding an entrance.

3. Section 415, California Penal Code - disturbing the peace.

4. Section 416, California Penal Code - failure to disperse at the command of a peace officer.

5. California Penal Code 242 - battery.

6. Section 166.4, California Penal Code - disregarding a Court order.

All charges are misdemeanors.

In the five mass arrests, each group of defendants was booked on one count. REDWINE advised that the City Attorneys are not bound to proceed under the charge for which each of the defendants was arrested and in many cases charged other violations herein mentioned at the time of the trial.

Possibly of interest to the Bureau is the statement by Assistant City Attorney REDWINE that he had heard rumors that the mass arrests were requested by the motion picture studios. REDWINE stated that this was not a fact, that the arrests were initiated by the City and had no more connection with the Studio officials "than a riot on Main Street in Los Angeles."

Another sidelight concerns one EMIL FREED. FREED admitted under oath that he was a member of the Communist Party and that he was one of the original editors and founders of the "Peoples World" on the West Coast. FREED attempted to introduce, through his attorney SAM HOUSTON ALLEN, a copy of the constitution of the Communist Party to prove that the Communist Party did not advocate the violent overthrow of the Government. The Deputy Los Angeles City Attorney handling the case objected to this evidence and it was not admitted.

There follows a list of defendants arrested and the disposition of the cases:

GEORGE BAILEY, ET AL

696 defendants
Arrests made at Columbia Studios, 1438 North Gower Street
Arrests made November 15, 1946
Trials held February 20, 1947
Charge Municipal Code 23.10
600 defendants pled guilty to the charge and each one paid a fine of $25.00.
88 defendants were dismissed for a variety of reasons

Mr. REDWINE advised that many of the officers used to make these mass arrests were inexperienced and not in permanent status with the Police Department and could not be used to testify. There was insufficient evidence in some cases.

Bureau file #100-138754

2 persons made bail and forfeiture was made later
Bench warrants are outstanding for these two defendants.
6 defendants were taken off the calendar because they are defendants in Superior Court on conspiracy counts. They are HERBERT K. SORRELL, CARL HEAD, RUSSELL L. McKNIGHT, JOHN R. MARTIN, LOUIS WHITMAN and MATTHEW MATISON

In Connection with the above persons, it should be noted that these men were later charged with conspiracy to violate an Order of the Court, a felony, and they were indicted by the Superior Court of the State of California There were fourteen in all and disposition of these cases is given in the report of Special Agent BERNARR M. PTACEK, Los Angeles 7/23/47, entitled "COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY". Not all of the fourteen men indicted by the Grand Jury of the Superior Court of California were arrested by the Los Angeles Police Department. The cases of those charged with felonies were removed from the calendar of the Municipal Court, pending action of the Superior Court. It should be noted that felonies are tried in the Superior Court.

EARL E. COLE, ET AL

125 defendants
Charge Municipal Code 23.10
Arrested Columbia Studios, 1438 North Gower, Los Angeles
Arrested October 26, 1946
Trial December 18, 1946
Place of trial - Embassy Auditorium
Case tried by Deputy City Attorneys PHIL GRAY and TOM WILLIAMS.
Attorneys for the defendants were BEN MARGOLIS and FRANK PESTANA.
A. F. of L. Attorneys representing the defendants were ARTHUR GARRETT and LEO HARRIS.
3 defendants dismissed for lack of evidence. These 3 defendants were dismissed because of the temporary status of the policemen aiding in the mass arrests.
11 pled guilty and received fines of from $25.00 up to five days in jail.
30 were convicted
In most cases fines imposed varied from $10.00 to $75.00. Fines were, however, as high as $150.00 and in the case of JAMES SKELTON was listed as 30 days in jail.
All have appealed
The trial on the 81 additional defendants is slated for October 15th, pending the appeal of the 30 persons convicted in this case.

EDWARD DUFFY, ET AL

26 defendants
Arrested at Technicolor Studios, Wilcox and Cahuenga Avenue
Arrested October 11, 1946
Trial date - February 24, 1947
Defense Attorneys FRANK PESTANA and ESTERMAN
Charge - Municipal Code 23.10.

REDWINE stated that Section 23.10 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code was declared unconstitutional by the appellate division of the Los Angeles Court after the arrests were made. Inasmuch as there was not sufficient evidence to file additional charges, all 26 defendants were dismissed.

LEOLA TUCKER, ET AL

124 defendants
Arrests made at Columbia Studios, 1438 North Gower.
Arrests made November 16, 1946
Trials held January 20, 1947
City Attorney WALTER ALLEN
Defense Attorney FRANK PESTANA
Charge California Penal Code 166.4
70 were convicted
The minimum fine for each person was $300.00. The maximum fine was $300.00 and one year in jail.
13 defendants were dismissed by the Court for insufficient evidence or temporary status of policemen making the arrests
39 defendants were dismissed upon a motion of the City Attorney
2 defendants will be tried in October of 1947

HENRY G. WIEBE, ET AL

208 defendants
Arrested at Columbia Studios, 1438 North Gower, Hollywood.
Arrest date - October 14, 1946
Trial date - December 16, 1946
Where - Patriotic Hall, Los Angeles
Attorney for City - ROLAND WILSON
Defendants Attorneys ESTERMAN and JOHN McTERNAN
Charge - California Penal Code 166.4, disregarding Court Order

Disposition - the lowest fine of those found guilty was $30.00
Fines imposed ran all the way from $30.00 up to $200.00, which was the highest individual fine paid.
41 defendants were dismissed for lack of evidence or other reasons
47 defendants were found not guilty
6 defendants - cases of these 6 defendants are off the calendar, pending other action
113 defendants pled guilty
1 defendant jumped bond and there is a bench warrant presently outstanding.

"THE AMERICAN CRIME"

MAIN TITLE BACKGROUND: Miniature toy Negro - hanging - a finger playing with it.

FADE IN:

PAN DOWN from full-blown clouds in the sky overhead to L.S. street, busy with afternoon traffic.

NARRATOR
Under this American sky is an ordinary American town.

MOVING SHOTS - through Main Street of town.

L.S. another avenue in the town, lined with elms or with eucalyptus.

NARRATOR
This town is famous for its trees —

M.S. through leaves and branches of tree. PAN DOWN to black, tarry spot on pavement below the tree, as if the cement itself were charred.

NARRATOR
-and one tree in particular.

M.S. entrance to the county hospital. (If possible, SLOW MOVEMENT OF CAMERA toward it).

NARRATOR
In this town is a hospital. —

CLOSE INSERT, sign reading EMERGENCY WARD, with arrow. (If possible, MOVEMENT SLOWLY toward or past it).

NARRATOR
—and in one of the rooms of this hospital —

M.S. ordinary hospital screen concealing a bed in a ward. It is lit sharply, with brilliant contrast. (If possible, CAMERA MOVES SLOWLY towards it).

NARRATOR
—behind this screen —

4-18-73 Spielberg

11 M.S. PAN OR TRUCKING SHOT of the figure on the bed. Begin with the feet, the points of the toes sharp and inflexible under the smooth white sheet, with the laundry folds still undisturbed.

NARRATOR
— is an American crime.

12 THE CAMERA CONTINUES TO MOVE up the rigid figure, past the crooked arms, to the face covered tightly by the sheet.

NARRATOR
According to police records this body was stripped naked. Hung to a tree, drenched with gasoline and set afire. Sometimes before death, twenty-seven shots were fired into it.

13 LONG SHOT straight on to CAMERA. Five cars on a dark road, racing along, headlights glaring.

NARRATOR
It is a known fact that twenty-three men and women were present, that they were brought there in five cars. The bushes around the scene of the crime were splashed with brain tissue.....

DISSOLVE:

14 to 19 SERIES OF SHOTS showing people participating in every-day activities.

Window shopping
Gasoline station
Line-up at movies
Old man with stop sign acting as school crossing cop
Sprinkling streets of town
Men playing chess in park

NARRATOR
The town accepted the crime.

20 CLOSE SHOTS showing newspaper stands, people standing reading headlines of a current murder sensation.

NARRATOR
The newspapers devoted their pages to the Hogan Murder Case for the nineteenth consecutive day.

22 TRAVELLING SHOT — panning from newspaper stand down a few streets faster and faster.

NARRATOR
A few simple facts are known about the victim.

23 CAMERA STOPS at Smith's house. MED. L.S. ordinary frame house, angle from across the street, with traffic and pedestrians crossing in front of it, sometimes so close to the camera as to hide the house for a moment.

NARRATOR
He lived in a house like this. It had four rooms, a porch, a yard where he grew hollyhocks and sweet corn.

24 CAMERA MOVES WITHIN THE FOUR WALLS of the living room, past the ordinary furniture, the empty vase, the mementoes of a trip to the seashore—to a diploma framed on the wall.

NARRATOR
It has been established that the victim had three children, whom he loved very much, that the eldest had just graduated from grammar school.

25 VERY CLOSE, on the diploma, so that the surname SMITH is visible under the glass.

NARRATOR
It is a fact that the victim's name was James Smith.

26 CLOSE SHOT, a man's hat on an enameled table, with a large police label attached.

NARRATOR
—that his hat size was seven and a quarter —

27 CLOSE SHOT, two shoes, also labeled.

NARRATOR
—that his shoes were of average size —

28 CLOSE SHOT, plain wedding band, labeled.

28 CONT.

NARRATOR
—that his marriage ring was inscribed "With Love Eternal" —

29 CLOSE SHOT, pair of rain checks to a baseball game

NARRATOR
—and that he had two tickets to last Saturday's baseball game.

30 to 36 SERIES OF SHOTS:

Shabby bars
Touts studying scratch sheets
Pin Ball Machines - lights flashing Pool Halls.

NARRATOR
The actual murderers are unknown. As for the twenty-three men and women known to have been at the scene of the crime — you would expect to find some of them here — in these hangouts — but you're wrong.

37 to 39 A YOUNG MAN wearing faded parts of a military uniform tinkering with a shiny, well-cared for, much loved jalopy. A six year old son is helping.

NARRATOR
Here are five of the twenty-three who admit to being in the lynch mob. They claim they did not commit the crime. They just went along for the ride.

Eric Dudley, 512 High Street.

40 A YOUNG HOUSEWIFE, teaching her one year old to walk — on front lawn.

NARRATOR
Alice Woodbury — 303 Pine Street

42 A MACHINIST, eating his lunch, sitting on a running board of a car in front of plant. A baseball game in background — ball rolls in toward him — he throws it good-naturedly.

NARRATOR
John Phillips — 1206 Arch Avenue.

44 A MIDDLE-AGED, well-dressed, stuffy executive, getting 45 his shoes shined, tips shoe shine man magnanimously.

NARRATOR
Robert Selsor -- 46 West 1st Street

46 A SMALL TIRED MAN, coming out of his "Good Eats" Diner,
48

NARRATOR
And Michael Mathias -- 200 Central Avenue.
(impatiently)
But these people can't possibly be murderers. They strike you as rather nice people. People like you and me. Yet by their own admission they were among the twenty-three present at the scene of the crime.
(calling)
Mr. Mathias !

49 CLOSE ANGLE -- Mathias stops trying to poke face of a stray kitten in milk -- turns toward CAMERA.

NARRATOR
Mr. Mathias, why did you take part in the lynching of James Smith, Negro?

50 CLOSE ANGLE -- Mathias, pale, stunned, starts to say something, spills bottle of milk on ground, bolts inside diner.

NARRATOR
Mr. Mathias regrets that he is unable to answer this question

51 CLOSE ANGLE - following the milk rolling down sidewalk to street.

NARRATOR
So I shall do it for him.

DISSOLVE

52 A normal healthy two year old playing vigorously.

NARRATOR
It started a long time ago.
The murderer at the age of two.

54 to 56 A mother reading a story book to a four year child.

NARRATOR
An American child begins to learn at a very early age. He sees, he listens.

MOTHER
And the big, bad wolf said to the piggie who answered the door —
(breaking into an exaggerated Yiddish accent) —
Hahlo, Mrs. Nussbam.

Sound of laughter of child and woman, mingled.

NARRATOR
And a child believes readily.

57 An audience of children's faces at a movie, laughing.

NARRATOR
He learns what to laugh at.

58 CLOSE SHOT (on screen) Negro comedian, showing the whites of his eyes in stereotyped fear.

DISSOLVE TO:

59 CLOSE SHOT (on screen) leering Chinese face, complete with mandarin's cap, thin mustachios, and "sinister" lighting.

NARRATOR
—and what to distrust—

DISSOLVE TO:

60 CLOSE SHOT, child's hand turns up volume control on radio.

RADIO VOICE
(exaggerated Mexican accent)
"So, eets you, cowboy. Theese time you die. Tek away hees gun, amigos."

61 CLOSE SHOT, child's face, six years old, listening.
62 Suddenly ducks head at sounds of repeated gun shots on the radio.

NARRATOR
—and what to fear.

DISSOLVE TO:

63 to 69 MOVING SHOTS along fences, walls, store windows soiled with initials, chalked drawings, words and fragments of words.

NARRATOR
The child's growing up. He's learning the dirty words of America.

The scrawled word: KIKE. Then, in succession, NIGGER, MICK, SHEENY, POPE-LOVER, KKK, SMO.

DISSOLVE TO:

70 to 76 MED. SHOT, group of children, screaming and jumping in a concrete yard. They wear paper bags over their heads with slits for eyes and nose, and crudely lettered on them: K.K.K.

NARRATOR
He puts his learning to work, and he enjoys it.

77 REVERSE SHOT, past the masked, dancing, shouting children to a boy tied to a clothes pole. It is a crucifixion, a popular game - and the victim and the others are enjoying the game hugely.

78 RADIO STATION. A reactionary is seen haranguing his audience.

NARRATOR
The child grows to an adult.
The adult listens .....

80 to 83 SHOTS OF AUDIENCE LISTENING at radio.
A young man sitting at his desk trying to concentrate on his school studies and the radio at the same time.
A young couple cruising slowly in a boat on a park lake.
A middle-aged woman comfortably settled in bed, magazines and a box of candy beside her.
An elderly couple rocking slowly on the front porch of their simple home.

VOICE OF REACTIONARY
America can be saved only by the native-born, white superior, Christian citizens of this country ...
(actual quotes to be used)

NARRATOR
He grows accustomed to dirty words and twisted minds.

84 to 94 CLOSE SHOTS. A series of actual mastheads and headlines taken from present-day hate literature demonstrating the most shocking racial propaganda. For example, a headline from a Los Angeles publication: "NIGGERS SLUG JEWS."

NARRATOR
The adult reads...has convictions.

VOICES OF VARIOUS PEOPLE
(Over literature)
The Jews — watch out — they'll always chisel you.
Can't let those dirty Mexicans in our union.
The wops spoiled this neighborhood when they moved in.
You wouldn't want your sister married to a ...
Our country's got to be run by the decent people.

95 VERY CLOSE, ugly hairy ear.

NARRATOR
The decent people!

96 VERY CLOSE, huge eye.

NARRATOR
The decent people!

97 VERY CLOSE, lipsticked mouth, thin sharp lips, moving viciously !

NARRATOR
The decent people! Trained from infancy to adulthood to be indecent!

DISSOLVE TO:

98 to 103 INTERIOR MATHIAS' DINER, a "God Bless America" sign is prominent alongside price list in background. A Negro customer, along with several white people is waiting for service. Other people are waited on, but Mr. Rivers is ignored. It becomes pointed when customers on either side of him are served and he is still left waiting. Mr. Rivers is indignant. He takes a sip from the glass of water before him. As Mr. Mathias passes in front of him, Rivers calls:

RIVERS
Say, it seems to me I've been waiting long enough.

Mr. Mathias continues to ignore him.

RIVERS
I get you...I get the point...

He turns in fury and exits. Mathias looks after him triumphantly, with distaste picks up the glass Rivers has drunk from and smashes it behind the counter. No white person will ever have to drink from this sullied glass. Mathias looks off again toward where Rivers has exited.

NARRATOR
You murdered a man's dignity, Mr. Mathias.

104 to 109 ERIC DUDLEY is now polishing his already shiny car. He looks off to see his son playing down the street with a gang of kids. Among them is a Negro child. He hesitates a moment, does nothing, returns to his polishing, Mrs. Dudley appears from house, sees same situation.

MRS. DUDLEY
Robert! Robert! You come right here.

Dudley looks up, slightly troubled. Knows what is coming. The whole group rolls in on their skates and scooters.

MRS. DUDLEY
(to Robert)
You march right in the house. I've told you a thousand times you're never to play with that darky.
(He exits into the house.)

Mr. Dudley who has been listening, turns back to polishing vigorously, says nothing.

MRS. DUDLEY
(turning to other children)
Why don't you chase him away when he comes around. Now all of you, git.

The Negro child, stolid to now, runs out first, wounded deeply. The other children skate and scoot out, as they have come in. Mrs. Dudley exits into house quite satisfied with herself. Mr. Dudley goes on with his work.

NARRATOR
You have been silent witness to the beating of a helpless child, Eric Dudley.

110 ROBERT SELSOR sitting behind desk in personnel office. Secretary enters, hands Selsor filled-in job application.

SECRETARY
This man seems to have excellent qualifications. Fourteen years of construction experience...

112 SELSOR taking form sees word "Jewish" filled in. He shakes his head no, and smiles lewdly.

SELSOR
You can tell him the job is taken.

NARRATOR
You have just crippled a man most efficiently, Mr. Selsor.

113 JOHN PHILLIPS on his way home from work, enters a bus. Toward the front there is one vacant seat. Near the window, next to the vacant seat, sits a Negro woman. Phillips sees it. He chooses to stand rather than sit next to the woman. The person in front of whom Phillips is standing taps him, and points to the empty seat. Phillips flushes, angrily walks away further forward in the bus to hang from another strap.

NARRATOR
You've protected your superiority, John Phillips.

116 to 119 EXTERIOR ALICE WOODBURY'S HOUSE — over shoulder of Neisi couple looking at For Sale sign on adjacent lawn. Mrs. Woodbury is seen at window. CLOSER SHOT of Alice's face— she draws curtains closed. CLOSE SHOT of couple's face as they see Woodbury approach, and as they react to her voice. They try hard to appear untouched.

WOODBURY
This neighborhood's restricted. For Whites Only. And it's going to stay that way! I'm just warning you...

NARRATOR
You couldn't have done better, burning them out of their home, Mrs. Woodbury.

"THE AMERICAN CRIME"

120 to 124 MOVE IN ON SERIES OF STILL SHOTS highlighting just completed series of acts of discrimination.

1. Mr. Mathias and Rivers facing each other
2. Mrs. Dudley chasing Negro child, as Dudley watches.
3. Mr. Selsor smiling at his secretary as he dismisses application.
4. Mr. Phillips after a bus passenger taps him and points to empty seat.
5. Mrs. Woodbury as she defies Neisi couple to buy house.

NARRATOR

Five daily incidents, not important enough to reach the newspapers. But five crimes!

(Over the following, drops of blood begin to fall and form a pool)

125 BIG CLOSE-UP, Mr. Rivers in diner, furious.

DISSOLVE TO:

126 BIG CLOSE-UP, Negro child as Mrs. Dudley insults him.

DISSOLVE TO:

127 BIG CLOSE-UP, Negro woman in bus when she observes Phillips' action.

DISSOLVE TO:

128 BIG CLOSE UP, Neisi couple as they listen to Woodbury.

NARRATOR

Crimes that poison the victims with fears, resentments, insecurity.....

(The superimposed drops of blood continue to fall)

129 to 136 BIG CLOSE-UP, of the discriminators in the above crimes, at slightly grotesque angles.

NARRATOR

That poison the attackers with hatred, hysteria, blind prejudice, and a false sense of superiority. Five crimes, multiplied by thousands of people - and hundreds of days. Five small lynchings! The American Crime!

137 THE BIG CLOSE-UPS disappear and only the pool of blood is left, the drops still fall.

NARRATOR
Heartache and hatred, pain and blood.....But there is more to discrimination.....

SLOW DISSOLVE TO:

138 CLOSE UP, the blood is transformed into coins.

NARRATOR
There is cash in it.

139 EXTERIOR - A LARGE BANK - MASSIVE GATES

NARRATOR

The people who own this building make tremendous profits from ---

140 A SLUM GHETTOED TENEMENT. Wooden, three stories tall, 141 set on a busy thoroughfare.

NARRATOR
This building, Fourteen families forced to live here instead of three, because of discrimination. Fourteen rents payable the first of the month — no repairs necessary.

142 MONEY — paper currency, begins to pile in on tenement. This money remains in shot and is added to during remainder of sequence.

143 to 145 BIG INDUSTRIAL PLANTS

NARRATOR
The people who own these factories increase their tremendous profits by keeping the workers divided— suspecting each other, hating each other, competing with each other— which keeps the unions weak, wages low, profits higher.

146 A REACTIONARY legislator ranting to the newsreel cameras.

NARRATOR
The people who elect this man to public office are limited to two percent of the population of his state thanks to the poll tax and practice of white superiority. By voting laws which favor the minority who elect him, he adds dollars to the profits of the few.

161 NIGHT - Five cars are racing along a broad State Highway

NARRATOR
And here at home it starts the same way. Years of miseducation, years of small crimes, intolerance... And one day - given the right circumstances - the jump is made.

162 NIGHT - The five cars turn into a two lane highway.

NARRATOR
This is the graduation exercise.

163 NIGHT - The five cars turn into a narrow dirt road.

NARRATOR MURDER!

164 NIGHT - The cars pull up and stop at a clearing.

165 to 169 SHOTS of the lynchers leaving cars. Mathais, Woodbury, Dudley, Slesor and Phillips are recognized among them.

170 The Negro, James Smith, is dragged out. There is the sound of the tearing of cloth and flesh. He is beaten with rifle butts. Smith is heard praying, "Lord, dear Lord."

NARRATOR
One such lynching every third day for the last forty-seven years, averaged in the United States.

176 to 190 A fire is lighted, the headlights of cars are turned on the scene. A noose is prepared. The lynchers are afraid, clumsy.

NARRATOR
Forty such lynchings of Veterans of World War II, in the first two years after V-J Day.

191 to 201 A whiskey bottle is passed around to bolster courage. There are shouts. Several shots are fired. There is a scream from Smith. Several of the lynchers turn away. One looks as if he is about to puke.

NARRATOR
In Greenville, South Carolina, twenty-six self-confessed lynchers declared not guilty by an all white jury. Yet there is no federal legislation against this crime.

147 FILE OF MONEY BEING ADDED TO

148 WALL STREET STOCK MARKET - exteriors and interiors.

NARRATOR
The people who profiteer in wars want more of them. They know the only chance of pushing America into another war is by selling hatred and fear of a foreign people. Racial hatred and intolerance at home are the warm-up for war abroad. It's one small step from white supremacy to American supremacy. That step means war.

149 MONEY FILLS SCREEN. SHOT of Wall Street fades out.

150 A PAIR OF NEATLY MANICURED MALE HANDS — starched cuff, distinguished links — shovels money in toward him — increasing scope of movement as he repeats actions. As the hands pause for a moment to make a scoop:

NARRATOR
These are the hands that cash in on discrimination — THESE are the hands of the monopolists.

DISSOLVE TO:

151 to 153 CLOSE SHOTS Nazi war criminals on trial.

NARRATOR
They cashed in on discrimination, too. To keep their smooth racket going. — to divert the people, they started with:.....

154 NAZIS driving Jews through streets.

NARRATOR
....small crimes! But to increase the take, to squash opposition — it was one jump to the big crimes.

155 to 160 SHOTS AMID ANEK OVENS, DEAD IN CONCENTRATION CAMPS

202 to 212 The hysteria mounts. Smith is hung. The fire flares up. The screen is covered by flames.

NARRATOR
Only two states in the union have no record of a lynching. Ghastly terror — large and small — in your town, in your state — wherever you are. All this blood split to perpetuate the system of discrimination.

DISSOLVE TO:

213 MED. CLOSE SHOT - Five murderers (on platform, looking down) Glaring lights as if in a police line-up.

NARRATOR
What did you get out of it?.... Not a bloody penny. The American Crime pays off but not to you. All you got was one charred body under a white sheet.

A SERIES OF CLOSE CUTS OF THE MURDERERS IN LINE-UP.

214 to 218

NARRATOR
You who murder —
You who admit only to the small daily crimes —
(over shot of Dudley)
You who see these crimes committed —

219 LONG SHOT OF STREET, used at beginning to establish town.

NARRATOR
—and turn your faces away — and do nothing

220 The same pair of manicured hands seen before with the money now have strange rings on them. PAN DOWN SLOWLY revealing strings attached to the rings.

NARRATOR
You're doing the monopolists dirty work

THE CAMERA NOW STOPS MOVING DOWN — we see five marionettes who closely resemble the five murderers. They approximate the positions of the murderers above and grotesquely dangle and move as they are carefully manipulated by the hands. (undercrank camera)

220 CONT.

NARRATOR
YOU, THE DECENT PEOPLE - YOU MAKE THE AMERICAN CRIME POSSIBLE - DON'T BE A SUCKER!

DISSOLVE TO:

221 END TITLE BACKGROUND - miniature toy Negro hanging, toy fills screen — a finger plays with it.

NARRATOR
You're toying with murder.

I am enclosing herewith a script entitled "The American Crime" which was forwarded to this office by letter of August 8, 1947 by ROY M. BREWER, International Representative of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Moving Picture Machine Operators. In this letter he says that the script is the basis for a production which is to be made by the American Gallery of Films. He says that FAITH ELLIOTT and DAN MADO are back of the script.

This office has no record of DAN MADO. We do however have a file on FAITH ELLIOTT, Bureau File No. [redacted] a known member of the Communist Party who was identified by CNDI [redacted] as being a member of the Hollywood Section of the Party in 1943 and 1944. b6 b7C b7D

CONF. INFT.

This office has no further information regarding this script than that set out by Mr. BREWER, however it is believed that the substance of the script indicates Communist propaganda in the form of racial hatred.

Mr. BREWER is out of the city until September 5th and further information is not yet available but will be developed upon his return.

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO

Bureau File No. ~~100-158743~~

Dear Sir:

ReBulet July 11, 1947, second and thirteenth paragraphs of which stated that a verification of occupation and employment was required of individuals listed in my letters of June 11 and June 28, 1947. This letter deals with the verification of employment within the motion picture industry of those names identified by CNDI [redacted] as being members of the Communist Party, which were listed in the above mentioned letter of June 28th. b7D

CONF. INF.

Further reference is made to Los Angeles letter to the Bureau dated July 31, 1947 setting forth list of persons identified with the motion picture industry who had been further identified as members of the Communist Party by CNDI [redacted] b7D

CONF. INF.

The Bureau's attention is again directed to the fact that employment in the motion picture industry is of a floating nature. Employees are transferred among studios at the discretion of their unions, and by persons holding their contracts as in the case of writers and actors. Any list verifying employment as of a certain date therefore would not be current a few weeks hence.

For security reasons and the purposes of this report verification of an employee's association with the respective union within the industry is to be considered verification of employment or availability for such employment.

Following is an alphabetized list of names based upon the original group furnished by CNDI [redacted] whose employment has been verified as mentioned above, and the source of the verification is indicated. b7D

DATE: July 30, 1947

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY; INTERNAL SECURITY - C

~~ALL FBI INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE BY~~

Reference is made to Bureau letter of July 25th last and to Los Angeles letter of July 15, 1947, requesting that LOUIS F. BUDENZ be interviewed regarding his knowledge of V. J. JEROME having been sent by the Communist Party to Hollywood to infiltrate the motion picture industry.

A letter from this office to the Bureau dated July 25, 1947 includes information furnished by Mr. BUDENZ during a recent interview regarding captioned matter to the effect that V. J. JEROME did go to Hollywood a number of years ago to reorganize the Hollywood branch of the Communist Party and to further the Communist Party program of infiltrating the motion picture industry. Informant was not sure of the date of JEROME's trip but believes it was at the time that JAMES CAGNEY was under attack by the press for being a Communist. A photostatic copy of the letter is being furnished as an enclosure to the Los Angeles Office and another copy is being forwarded to the San Francisco Office for its information.

On July 11, 1947, Mr. BUDENZ advised Special Agent William J. McCarthy of this office that JEROME had once informed him that the Political Committee of the Communist Party had designated him, JEROME, to go to Hollywood to investigate conditions and to straighten out what was regarded by the Party as a bad situation there. It appears that the Party regarded the situation regarding Hollywood as needing JEROME's attention for two reasons:

G. I. R. -1

1. Because LIONEL STANDER, who was the most active of the Hollywood's professional set, was too difficult to get along with, being too leftist.

2. Because of the need for establishing a separate branch of the Party for the professional set in Hollywood. Some of the latter had been refrained from being as active as they might have been because of the necessity of belonging to the same branch as the non-professional.

While in Hollywood, JEROME conferred with leading Communists among the professional set, such as LIONEL STANDER, EDWARD G. ROBINSON and FREDERICK MARCH. According to the informant, JEROME found STANDER to be too leftist in his viewpoints and actions. He found ROBINSON and MARCH to be very sound and mature in their viewpoint.

According to Mr. BUDENZ, as a result of his investigation, JEROME established a Communist Party branch in Hollywood which was for professional people only, thereby bringing more professional people into the ranks of the Party.

Dear Mr. Smith:

I received your letter of June 26, 1947, in which you advised that you have been contacted by the Chief Investigator of the House Committee on Un-American Activities with respect to a possible association with the Committee in Los Angeles. I also note that you plan on being in Washington on July 18 for a conference and request an opportunity to discuss the matter with me on July 17.

Inasmuch as I will not be in the city on July 17, it will not be possible for me to have a conference with you with respect to this matter. However, I suggest that you call at the Bureau and discuss the matter with Mr. John P. Mohr, Room 5744, at any time convenient to you.

With best wishes and kind regards,

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Mr. Robert E. Stripling, Chief Investigator, Committee on Unamerican Activities, telephonically discussed with me today the possibility of my associating with the Committee. He stated that for a limited period of time, possibility two or three months, they are desirous of having certain investigation conducted as to the Motion Picture Industry in Hollywood.

I informed Mr. Stripling that I would come to Washington on July 18th for a conference with them on the matter.

If I can be of any real assistance in combating unamerican activities, I will be very happy; at the same time, I am not desirous of engaging in any so called witch hunts like the Dies Committee conducted. Also I am interested if I can in some way be of assistance to the Bureau, and will not consider it any further if you feel it unwise.

I will sincerely appreciate an opportunity of discussing the matter with you on July 17th, the day before I meet with them, and also after I meet with them, if you will allow me to do so. Would you please let me know if I may do so.

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : Director, FBI

DATE: July 31, 1947

FROM : SAC, Los Angeles

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Reference is made to Bureau letter dated July 11 last, second and thirteenth paragraphs of which stated that a verification of occupation and employment was required of individuals listed in my letters of June 11 and 28, 1947.

The Bureau's attention is called to the fact that employment in motion picture crafts is of a floating nature; workers are transferred among studios at the discretion of the union in many instances. The average motion picture takes approximately three months to make along production lines, and the union attempts to keep its personnel active, which requires a certain amount of transferring.

It was further pointed out that the Conference of Studio Unions comprising a number of crafts under the direction of HERBERT SORRELL is currently on strike, and none of the members of these unions are presently employed in the industry.

ROY BREWER, International Representative of the IATSE, stated that it is the policy of his union to keep CSU members out of the studios and that at present, unless the strikers have an IATSE card, they are barred from working in the industry.

It is further pointed out that there is a great variety of guilds and unions engaged in the making of motion pictures and that there are no central indices where the names of current employees are listed. This necessitates checking individual guilds and unions in an effort to determine whether a person carries a current union card.

G. I. R.

In this connection, if an individual carries a card and is in good standing with his union he is being considered as active in the motion picture industry. The process of determining the exact employment of individuals is further complicated by the number of studios and production units, all of whom maintain separate records as far as employees are concerned who are currently engaged in making motion pictures. As the Bureau is aware, some of the names referred to in my letters were party names and the determining of the individual's true name and union affiliation presents problems for further investigation.

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION IN MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

This investigation is being conducted in a discreet manner so that motion picture studios and labor unions will not become aware of the fact that the FBI is checking names of Communists within the industry.

The following is an alphabetized list of names based on the original group furnished by CNDI [redacted] The following list comprises individuals whose employment has been verified showing them to be currently engaged in the motion picture industry, and the source of the verification is indicated. b7D

It will be noted that in those instances where the Retail Merchants Credit Association was set down as the source of employment verification the date at which time the credit association made its check will appear. The verification of employment of the other individuals listed was made by agents of the Los Angeles Office between the dates of July 21 and 31.

By way of explanation, where an individual was listed as being connected with an actor's agent, all actors, many writers, producers, and directors are represented by agents who sell the product of the client and represent him in his dealings with the studios for which the usual fee of ten per cent of the client's earnings is charged.

Some individuals have been listed as being active in the radio industry. For the information of the Bureau, there frequently is transfer of talent from radio to motion pictures, and vice versa. Also, it will be noted that some actors and actresses have been designated as "suspended" or "delinquent" frequently a person in this classification will, by paying up delinquent dues, or otherwise, become active in the entertainment field.

Due to the great number of common names appearing in the referenced list, difficulty has been encountered in determining exactly which individuals are the ones in whom the FBI is interested in connection with this current investigation. Further efforts are being made to place other individuals listed in my referenced communications within the motion picture industry.

The Bureau will be kept advised as this information is available.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 4-18-95 BY

Robert Stripling of the Un-American Activities Committee called. He said that he had just been talking to Congressman Thomas. They are getting ready to send a couple of investigators out to Los Angeles to put the final touches on their checks for the Hollywood hearings later this month. Congressman Thomas asked him to call me to see if any of the material on the 40 names which he had previously discussed with us was ready.

I told him that this entailed a tremendous amount of work, that we had been swamped with emergency matters, that we were working on this as rapidly as possible. Mr. Ladd has been pushing the matter; however, it is a tremendous job and it has been contemplated, in line with the Director's conversation over the phone, to get all the material together so the Director can see it as a whole.

It is suggested that consideration be given to preparing the material and furnishing it as it is available. Thomas will not be back in Washington until September 15. In my recent conversation with him, he asked if it could not be turned over to Stripling. I told him that I thought that it would be better and would be consistent with the Director's wishes to turn it over to him personally. He then stated this would be agreeable and that the material could be delivered to him either in Mystic, Connecticut or Allentown, New Jersey. In view of the shortness of time, the Director may wish to consider us calling Thomas when we have some of the material available, telling him that we have it and asking if we should send it to him or give it to Stripling.

Respectfully,

ACTIVITIES OF THOMAS COMMITTEE ASSAILED

Moscow, Soviet Overseas Service, in English to North America, June 10, 1947, 6:20 p.m. EST--L

"Next Monday an open meeting of the Committee on Un-American Activities will begin hearing the testimony of 30 prominent Hollywood actors, producers, and scenario writers. During the past few days reports of U.S. newspaper correspondents in Los Angeles have been drawing general attention to it. The fabrications which Chairman Thomas has handed to the press and the report of the subcommittee investigating 'Communist penetration' into the film industry again underscore the reactionary essence of the Committee on Un-American Activities.

"On May 16 when the subcommittee finished its interrogations in Hollywood, Thomas informed a press conference that the committee had made surprising discoveries. One examples is the story of Robert Taylor. According to the subcommittee, he asserted that Government officials had forced him to take part in 'Song of Russia,' in spite of his objections to the Communist propaganda and, moreover, had prevented him from joining the U.S. Navy until the shooting of this film was finished. A former official of the Office of War Information, Mr. Mellett, says this lie is too stupid to be refuted. Taylor's statement has made him the laughing stock of Los Angeles,

Report Nonsense

"Nonsense like this makes up the whole report of the committee, which asserts that during the war a number of motion pictures containing Communist propaganda were released under direct pressure from the White House. The Hollywood stage in the work of this House committee shows that by spreading absurd slander about the USSR and planting distrust of the Soviet people, the committee is firmly determined to bring.... The whole activity...and existence is directed toward this.

"For tone thing they persecute progressive organization and individuals. Just lately their sphere of activity has become the National Council for U.S. Soviet Friendship, the United Committee for Relief to Antifascist Refugees, the National Federation of the Struggle for Constitutional Liberties, the National Committee of the Communist Party, and such prominent public personalities as Elliott Roosevelt, Henry Wallace, and many others At the same time the committee ignores the growing activity of profascist organizations.

Subcommittee on Fascism

"It is significant that the Hollywood case coincide with the work of another subcommittee of the Thomas committee, the one assigned to investigate fascist activities. What did this second subcommittee do?

"While the Hollywood investigation took a whole 10 days, this second subcommittee according to two of its members Republicans McDowell of Pennsylvania and Vail of Illinois convened for one closed 10-minute meeting and only to state that the alarm over the growth of fascism in the United States was unfounded, and that Communism rather than fascism constituted a threat to America.

No Fascism Seen

"McDowell and Vail declared they had found no organizations where fascism could spring up, and this at a time when every American knows of the existen and subversive activity of such organizations as the Ku Klux Klan.

"The alarm of Americans over the growth of fascism in their country, which the subcommittee members mentioned, is not accidental. Vail says he would not recognize a fascist even if he caught one by the coattail. His statement is very indicative. It shows what people the House of Representatives appoints to bodies which are nominally supposed to fight the fascist menace inthe United States.

Appropriations Granted

"The American man on the street cannot but view with alarm the assistance which Congress gives the Thomas committee openly and officially. Just recently Congress appropriated funds for this committee. In addition to the 49,000 dollars paid from last year's appropriation, the committee has received another 50,000 dollars to carry on its work during the new fiscal year.

"Far from satisfied with the work of his predecessors, Thomas said at the beginning of this year that he intended to make 1947 the most active in the committee's history. Now the U.S. man in the street can see what form this activity is taking.

Purge of U.S. Employees

"Parallel with the work of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the wheels of another machine have begun turning. A wholesale purge of the Government machinery of disloyal elements; that is, progressive people, is to be carried out. Some 25 million dollars have been assigned for this and the duties are now being divided between the Department of Justice, the FBI, and a specially created Committee on Civil Service Employees.

"As the trade union of civil-service employees declares in a statement which appeared in PM recently, a huge police force is being created to investigate the private lives, thoughts, meetings, and even the studies of any civil-service employee.

Called Menace to Democracy

"Rogge, the assistant to the Attorney General, who was discharged some time ago for publishing material about Nazi activities in the United States, has said that the Committee on Un-American Activities operates unlawfully, and represents a menace to the very existence of democracy in the United States. The formation of such a committee, he said, violates primarily the First Amendment to the Constitution, which guarantees freedom of speech, the press, and assembly.

"That the Committee on Un-American Activities must be disbanded is the demand of the Congress of the Struggle for Civil Liberty, the National Federation of the Struggle for Constitutional Liberties, and other democratic organizations, and such Democrats as Representative Celler, (Hadden), and others."

Bureau file 100-138754

In view of the frequent teletype messages as well as other means of communication in connection with this case, it is suggested that some appropriate code word, such as "CIMPIC", might properly be used for the title. It is believed that this would save teletype expense and obviate the necessity of coding.

If this meets with the Bureau's approval, kindly advise this office and New York City.

Internal Security - C

Reference is made to your letter to the Bureau dated September 2, 1947, captioned as above in which you suggest that an appropriate code name such as "COMPIC" be utilized in forwarding communications to the Bureau on the captioned subject matter.

In view of the fact that the Bureau has utilized the code name "CINPAC," it is felt that the code name "COMPIC" would be more proper in this instance. Accordingly, your office as well as the New York Office is being advised to utilize this code name in the future when communicating with the Bureau on the captioned subject matter.

he committee has described this gress as a direct outgrowth of International Union of Revolu-

Erskine Caldwell, proletarian author of "God's Little Acre" and sundry other class-struggle works, who signed the call for the first American Writers' congress, the purpose of which was to create the League of American Writers "affiliated with the International Union of Revolutionary Writers" [headquarters, Moscow.]

From the communist point of view, the only mistake the proletarians made in the writing and production of "Mission to Moscow" was that they did their propaganda job too well.

In the plot of the picture, they disguised and whitewashed the Stalin purge trials of 1937 until people revolted at the historical distortion. The author, Howard Koch, and John Howard Lawson, founder of the Hollywood Screen Writers guild, who has been described as "one of the most important Marxist strategists in southern California," had to take the stump at Hollywood left wing meetings to defend what had been done.

Called Too Blatant

"They learned a lot from that picture," a former government agent who has been investigating communism here said. "They learned how not to do it. It was too blatant.

"It appealed only to people who already were pro-Russian. That was a waste of time and a great deal of money. These people are out to make converts, and they do not need to spend any effort propagandizing those who already are communist."

play of "A Song to Remember," who whipped its plot, and ideas, and put the words and thoughts into it, was Sidney Buchman.

Buchman is a member of the Hollywood Screen Writers guild, closed shop union of all of Hollywood's 1,440 movie writers, described as under communist domination. He also is connected with at least eight organizations which have been branded as communist fronts.

"A Song to Remember" supposedly was based on the life of Frederic Chopin, the brilliant Polish composer and pianist. Most of the people who paid money to see it came because they wanted to hear Jose Iturbi play the grand Chopin polonaises and delicate, etherial nocturnes for an hour and a half, as only a great artist can do.

But let's see what Mr. Buchman did to the "life" of Mr. Chopin, which was supposed to be the theme of the picture.

Son of a Professor

Encyclopedia Britannica, chosen as a neutral source, says that Chopin was the son of a "Polish lady" and a professor of French at a Polish lyceum, received a fair, general education, and that his great musical gift opened to him the "best circles of Polish society," which was the most brilliant in the world at that time.

Of his romancing with George Sand, the French author and early day model of Hollywood slacks, much has been written. That either of them had any interest in, or con-

HOW FILMS ARE TAILORED TO FIT RED PROPAGANDA

Chopin's Life in Movies Is an Example

"The power to influence is woven into entertainment. The public is unaware of the use of entertainment to influence or does not resent it when recognized."
—Gilbert Seldes in the Hollywood Quarterly.

BY FRANK HUGHES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 13—Communistically inclined writers here are writing soviet propaganda, revolutionary propaganda, "class struggle" propaganda, and every other kind of propaganda favorable to communism into the motion pictures 95 million Americans pay money to see and hear each week.

Sometimes they do it in just one or two subtle sentences or lines. Other times the entire movie is devoted to propaganda.

Here is how they do it:

A couple of years ago Columbia Pictures, Inc., produced a technicolor masterpiece entitled, "A Song to Remember." The director was Charles Vidor, and Ernest Marischka wrote the original screen story.

A 'Big Grosser'

It was a gaudy, costume piece, full of bright colors and loud, splendid music. More important to the worthy, opulent men in this movie capital, it was a "big grosser."

You can still catch it at some of the outlying, second run neighborhood houses.

The man who wrote the screen tact with, the sweaty proletariat or "toiling masses" who are the heroes of the soviet revolution, no word appears either in Britannica or the numerous lives of Chopin.

This is how Buchman, who ought to take the responsibility because he got the coveted screen credit, tortured that historical picture:

Chopin starts off as a "poor boy," in whose humble cottage, thru a miracle only Hollywood can achieve, there appears to be a well-tuned grand piano wired for sound pick-up. He gets lessons from his historically correct teacher and mentor.

Gets His 'Big Break'

At long last and after many excellently scored and highly emotional piano selections which affect people as only great music played by a great artist can do, young, proletarian Chopin gets his "big break."

He is invited to play some incidental music, from an alcove, for the dirty, burgeoisie landlords in the great castle on the hill. This scene is highly funny and emotionally electric, in the best communistic manner.

Chopin's eager little mother and pretty sister are shouldered in and out of kitchen exits by haughty, bewigged butlers who represent the "ruling class." The great, fat oafs of landlords and their women who sit around the table, oblivious to the artist's greatness, insult him with their clatter and cacophony.

In high dudgeon, the proletarian Chopin clashes a chord and ups and tells them with his facial muscles where they all can go.

Takes the Hard Way

The payoff comes when Chopin has to decide whether he will continue to exploit the bourgeoisie position he has attained thru his genius, and continue to write delicate little parlor pieces and lie in the white arms of George Sand, or whether he will be a man.

"A man," it seems, is the fellow who will give his all for the "revolution," leave his lover, kill himself on the concert stage to make money for his pretty little sister who is in charge of the workers' revolution back in Poland, and quit writing anything.

In the Buchman version of this historical abortion, Chopin takes the hard way, and the screen playwright leaves him triumphant tho bleeding at the mouth over his piano keyboard. There is a nice bedroom death scene to wind it up.

Example of Propaganda

Don't forget that thru all this colossal mountain of corn is a grand, eloquent plenitude of the most moving and masterful music ever written, played by one of the greatest artists living today. Music like that stirs souls. The hasheesh that goes with it infiltrates.

This is not a movie review.

It is just an account of how communist propaganda is injected into the moving pictures seen in every American movie theater today.

The pro-communist publication "Hollywood Quarterly," organ of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and published with the help of public funds at the University of California, Los Angeles branch, reported on the effectiveness of "A Song to Remember."

It told how whole libraries across the nation were drained of works on the life of Chopin when the picture showed, how "runs" on record shops and sheet music sales rooms took out the last of Chopin reproductions.

SCREEN WRITERS BOOST REDS—AT $5,000 A WEEK

'Capitalism' Bewailed by 'Downtrodden' Scribes

"We must develop the tremendous cultural possibilities of the motion picture in a revolutionary sense. One of the most pressing tasks confronting Communist parties in the field of agitation and propaganda is the conquest of this supremely important propaganda weapon, until now the monopoly of the ruling class. We must wrest it from them and turn it against them."

—Willi Muenzenberg, in the Daily Worker, 1925.

BY FRANK HUGHES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 10—There are screen writers in Hollywood who are paid $5,000 a week. This is a salary of more than a quarter of a million dollars a year.

Rupert Hughes [top] and Raymond Chandler

There are others who draw $3,000 a week from the Hollywood movie industry. There are more of them who receive $1,000 a week from the "capitalists" who operate the movie studios. This is $52,000 a year, a "Hollywood pittance," but a pretty neat income outside Los Angeles I've known were skinny dyspeptics—look at Rockefeller."

completely communist dominated," Rupert Hughes, world-famed author, lecturer, and himself a member of the guild, said in an interview here.

"No labor union ever was dirtier and none more communistic. They actually have refused to work on certain pictures in the studios which failed to preach the ideological doctrines they espouse.

"Some time back this union of writers issued a 20-page constitution to cover all forms of literary expression. When I protested that many writers would not even read this document, Mary McCall Jr., a scenario writer and a member of the guild's board of directors, told me that any writer in any field who did not read the constitution and vote on it had lost all his literary rights.

"Can you imagine anything more totalitarian than that? I protested that this horrifying impertinence was an effort to Stalinize American literature of every sort."

"Downtrodden" at $5,000 Per

Hughes told how screen writers who are in the $5,000 a week bracket are unhappy because they are "downtrodden" by the capitalists who pay their salaries, how they love the poor working classes, and yet "you never see their names on any of the charity lists."

"They shout about the soviet way of life, but I've never heard them talk about the 3 million in Russia who died of 'artificial famine,' or the 18 million who are in Russian slave camps today," he said.

"The communist writers scream about capitalists and try to make out that anybody who pays wages is a menace to the country, but they accept their high pay from the studios.

"Of course they put communist propaganda in the movies!

"They paint a rich man as a fiend. They make every rich man in a play look like the fat boy in a museum, and every poor boy is made out as a skeleton. Actually, the only millionaires

Union Aid Shares View

Roy M. Brewer, international representative of the stagehands' union, which is locked in combat with another union, allegedly communist dominated, for domination of the studio labor force, and who has made an intensive study of communism in the labor movement here, said in an interview he is of the same opinion.

"The principal reason the Communists want to get control of unions in Hollywood," Brewer said, "is so they can get the writers to write the communist propaganda in the films and then, thru the unions, force the producers to make it into pictures and distribute it.

"Communists in the Screen Writers guild control it today. They have control of the important offices and the membership, no matter how bitterly it may be opposed to communism, must follow them because the union has a 90 per cent guild shop here.

"Authority" Branded Step

"The Authors' authority which the Screen Writers' guild has introduced is another step tying into the rest of the communist movement, so they can force producers to use pro-soviet material by shutting off the supply of all other kinds of material.

"The Communists use labor agitation against pictures they do not like. Not so long ago the Communists in one of our unions here declared they would not work on the picture 'Captain Eddie,' about Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker. Then Rickenbacker came back from a trip to Russia and had some friendly things to say about Russians. They changed their minds."

Members of the Screen Writers' guild write every scenario from which Hollywood movies are produced. There seems to be little demonstrable doubt of their position to inject communist propaganda into the scripts.

Play Termed Fundamental

Raymond Chandler, well known mystery writer who has spent two years as a Hollywood screen writer and sold four novels to the movies, including a current picture, "The Big Sleep," said recently in an Atlantic monthly article that "the basic art of motion pictures is the screen play; it is fundamental; without it there is nothing."

Chandler apparently came out of Hollywood a disillusioned man. Of the Hollywood screen writers he said:

"There are writers in Hollywood making $2,000 a week who never had an idea in their lives, who have never written a photografable scene, who could not make 2 cents a word in the pulp market if their lives depended on it.

"Dreary Lot of Hacks"

"Hollywood is full of such writers, altho there are few at such high salaries. They are, to put it bluntly, a pretty dreary lot of hacks, and most of them know it, and they take their kicks and their salaries and try to be reasonably grateful to an industry which permits them to live much more opulently than they could live anywhere else."

Chandler also voiced an opinion of movie producers, who theoretically are in charge of the writers:

"Some are able and humane men," he wrote, "and some are low-grade individuals with the morals of a goat, the artistic integrity of a slot-machine, and the manners of a floorwalker with delusions of grandeur."

This, he said, is the difference between writers and motion picture directors:

"The director can survive few failures; the writer can stink for 10 years and still make his $1,000 a week."

writes scenarios for the movies can receive here is $187.50 a week, plus bonuses of $1,500 to $2,250 for each picture upon which he works.

"Failures" Get Minimum

At the corner of Hollywood and Vine they will tell you that only the failures—the poor souls unable to draft plots and dialogues for the horse operas and who are saving up to buy a railroad ticket east—are reduced to drawing the minimum.

This ought to make every one of the 1,440 screen writers in Hollywood a capitalist, and maybe it does.

But each of them, the $250,000 a year men along with the rest, is by definition a "laboring man." This is because each of them must belong to a labor union, the Screen Writers' guild, which holds a 90 per cent guild contract with the motion picture studios.

Red Control Charged

This union, in turn, has been charged publicly with being under control of Communists and fellow travelers who are working for the "revolution" which will destroy the capitalist system in America, install a soviet government in the United States backed by the power of the Red army, and spill on the streets the blood of everybody tainted with the stigma of "capitalism."

Nine of 12 men who hold office in the Screen Writers' Guild have been accused of holding "party books" in the Communist party, and the numbers of the books assertedly issued to them have been printed in a trade magazine here. There have been no denials forthcoming. Yet, most of these men are in the Hollywood high-salary, "capitalist" brackets as far as income is concerned.

This is one of the great enigmas in this magic city of enigmas, where controversy, consternation, and corn are brewed into the moving pictures 95 million Americans pay money at box offices each week to see and hear.

"The Screen Writers' Guild is

Russia or the "class struggle" thru-out an entire picture, the pro-soviet writers soon turned to less obvious methods. One writer, who insisted upon remaining anonymous for self-protection, declared scenario writers were taught to slip "five minutes of direct or indirect party line propaganda" into every script on which they worked.

"They also are told to slip this propaganda into a big scene—that will be too expensive to reshoot—even if the producers do tardily spot it," he said.

"When this is done, they say, the motion picture companies, with their vast advertising and exploitation budgets, will use all their influence to keep any newspaper from pointing out the concealed propaganda.

"Of course, all producers are not stupid enough to let this infiltrated propaganda get by. And all of the guild members are not communists who carry out these instructions. Nevertheless, a lot of it does get by."

Officials of movie studios insist they never heard of such a rule, and that any attempt to insert as much as five minutes of propaganda would be spotted quickly. Perhaps they are right. At least, the propagandists for communism soon found it isn't necessary to devote nearly that much time to propaganda, if it is skilfully handled.

"The way they do it now," said a former government official who is in close contact with the communist movement here, "is to use one line or one phrase inserted at a point of intense emotion in the picture. In that way, the propaganda message sears into the subconscious, into the very soul of the audience, and it is there for life."

Subtle "Smear" Inserted

He pointed to "The Adventures of Mark Twain," produced by Warner Brothers, Inc., in 1944, for which Alan LeMay wrote the screen play.

At a highly dramatic and emotional point in this movie, Mark Twain, played by Frederic March, who has seven listings in records of the house committee investigating un-American activities for affiliations with communist fronts, is made to say to his wife, "Hitler is a madman, a madman who must be stopped before he destroys the world."

Mr. March, who was a member of the committee for the first amendment, which was formed to defend the Hollywood 10 when they were cited for contempt of congress, has been a member of the Screen Actors Guild since 1933.

Hollywood Lauds Nuremberg Trial

Hollywood has lauded the Nuremberg trial of war leaders, because the method of arriving at "justice" there, thru ex post facto law, roughly approximates that employed in the soviet.

News Reel Hails Trial

In one news reel shown here recently, the trials were praised as the "greatest in history." The commentator added that "the principles of international law and order were confirmed at Nuernberg." Certainly, in the most charitable view, this is pure opinion.

In an article, "The Revolutionary Film—Next Step," in New Theater magazine of May, 1934, Leo T. Hurwitz told how and why the Film and Photo leagues, described by the house investigating committee as communist fronts, produced mainly news reels.

"They are necessary," he wrote, "because of the rigid censorship and the malicious distortion that the capitalist film companies use in their treatment of events relative to labor and labor's struggles.

"These news reels serve as an agitational and revelational function to arouse the working class and as a corrective for the lies of the capitalist agencies."

committee investigating un-American activities reported. This bureau laid down a detailed program for communizing motion pictures thruout the world.

The preamble of the bureau's master plan sets forth this goal: "To concentrate and unite the forces of film workers, professional and amateur, as well as audiences in the various countries upon a general platform, using the film as a means for revolutionary education and mobilization of the toiling masses in the struggle against fascism, political reaction, threatening imperialist wars, for the defense of the soviet union. . . ."

Organize for Propaganda

The reports of various legislative investigating committees, the documents and writings of Communist party members themselves, and the histories of Marxian organizations show that the Communists followed several lines of endeavor in seeking to turn American motion pictures into a propaganda tool for the soviet, learning as they went along.

1. They founded Film and Photo Leagues, Associated Film Audiences, Films for Democracy, Association of Documentary Film Producers, and sundry schools, clubs, and organizations. Mostly, these were for party members, and had little effect on the Hollywood industry.

2. They enlisted "revolutionary" writers thruout the world to write for the movies. Some of these were "big name" liberal writers sympathetic to the communist cause. The master plan for this design was drafted at the second congress of the International Union of Revolutionary Writers in Kharkov, Russia, Nov. 15, 1930. Among the American delegates were Fred Ellis, Michael Gold, William Gropper, Joshua Kunitz, A. B. Magil, and Harry Allan Potamkin.

Move Into Hollywood

3. Perfecting the technique of dominating organizations by infiltrating them, the communists moved into the Hollywood movies, planting party workers in the ranks of screen actors, screen writers, screen producers, screen publicists, story analysts, and the other "intelligentsia" groups.

4. Soviet agents organized countless Hollywood fronts, "mobilizations," political clubs, artistic federations, and movements, always soliciting the help of "big name" people in the movie industry who tion of Hollywood movies came when the American members of the Soviet International Union of Revolutionary Writers issued a [illegible] for the first American Writers Congress in New York.

This was the first "Writers Congress" which founded the League of American Writers. It was followed by at least three others.

T-1, a prominent screen writer advised on July 21, 1947, that a group of motion picture writers, producers, and directors who had been alerted to the common menace within the industry had assembled considerable information setting forth the aims and purposes of the Communists in connection with the production of motion pictures. Among those who had done this were the following: [redacted] b7D [redacted] screen writers [redacted] MORRIS RYSKIND, free-lance screen writer, and [redacted] screen writer and producer.

It is the intention of this group according to T-1 that these aims of the Communists be published in the immediate future as a guide for those responsible for the production of pictures.

The information set out below represents a summary of the information accumulated by this group as furnished to this office on July 23, 1947 by Sources T-1 and T-2:

"The purpose of the Communists in Hollywood is not the production of political movies openly advocating Communism. Their purpose is to corrupt non-political movies by introducing small casual bits of propaganda into innocent stories and to make people absorb the basic premises of Collectivism by indirection and implication. Few people would take Communism straight, but a constant stream of hints, lines, touches, and suggestions battering the public from the screen will act like drops of water that split a rock if continued long enough. The rock that they are trying to split is Americanism".

Below is listed some of the more common devices used to turn non-political pictures into carriers of political propaganda:

Knowledge of Politics Necessary

"It is the avowed purpose of the Communists to insert propaganda into movies; therefore, a person must study political ideas and learn how to recognize propaganda when it is observed".

"Producers who hire Communists on the theory that they won't put over any politics and then who remain ignorant and indifferent to the subject of politics fail to keep Communist propaganda out of pictures."

CONFIDENTIAL

T-1 and T-2 furnished the following information from pages 3 through 8:

Smearing The Free Enterprise System CONFIDENTIAL

Communists pretend that they are upholding the Free Enterprise System in some vague, general, undefined way while preaching the specific ideas that oppose it and destroy it. Communists also pretend that Americanism and Free Enterprise are two different things, when in reality they are inseparable by body and soul.

Communists attack individual rights, individual freedom, private action, private initiative, and private property at every opportunity in the motion picture.

The superiority of public ownership as such over private ownership is often displayed as Communist propaganda. It is also preached that all publicly-owned projects are noble, humanitarian undertakings by grace of the mere fact that they are publicly-owned----- while preaching at the same time, that private property or the defense of private property rights is the expression of some sort of vicious greed , of anti-social selfishness, or evil.

Smearing Industrialists

Throughout American history the best of American industrialists were men who embodied the highest virtues: productive genius, energy, iniative, independence, courage. Socially (if "social significance" is of interest), they were among the greatest of all benefactors, because it is they who created the opportunities for achieving the unprecedented material wealth of the industrial age.

At present there are countless examples of self-made men who rose from the ranks and achieved great industrial success through their energy, ability, and honest productive efforts.

Yet, all too often, industrialists, bankers, and businessmen are presented on the screen as villains, crooks, chiselers, or exploiters. One such picture may be taken as non-political or accidental. A constant stream of such pictures becomes pernicious political propaganda. It creates hatred for all businessmen in the mind of the audience, and makes people receptive to the cause of Communism.

It is true that there are vicious businessmen just as there are vicious men in any other class or profession. However, they should be presented as individual monsters and not shown as representative of all businessmen as the Communists attempt to do.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Presenting of Wealth as Evil

Communists in motion pictures attempt to show that production other than for the state is evil and likewise presents as evil a man's rights to keep the results of his own effort. If the villain in the screen story happens to be rich, the lines of the dialogue frequently suggest that he is a typical representative of the whole social class, symbol of all the rich. It should be kept clear in the script, however, that his villainy is due to his own personal character and not to his wealth or class.

Only savages and Communists get rich by force and the latter frequently imply that all property and human labor should belong to the State. The Communists spread that modern hyprocrisy, that everyone must apologize for wanting to get rich.

The Profit Motive

The characters are frequently given as a sign of villainy, as a damning characteristic---a desire to make money. This is contrary to an honorable pursuit of money in a free economy because money can be earned only in a productive effort. The Communists attempt to make the earning of money dishonestly and the making of money in the normal pursuit of business synonymous. They fail to clearly denouce evil-doers and imply that all capitalists are evil-doers or that there is no difference between the two.

Presenting of Success as Evil

Communists in their script will permit disparagement or defamation of personal success. It is their intention to make people think that the personal success is somehow achieved at the expense of others and that every successful man has hurt somebody by becoming successful. They fail to treat the various forms of success: spiritual, artistic, industrial, financial, obtained in an honest endeavor, as good and desirable.

They portray scenes attempting to discourage all personal effort and to drive man into a hopeless dispirited, gray herd of robots who have lost all personal ambition, who are easy to rule, willing to obey and willing to exist in selfless servitude to the State.

Glorification of Failure

Failure in its self is not admirable and while every man meets with failure somewhere in his life, the admirable thing is his courage in overcoming it----not the fact of the failure.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

It is the Communist's intention to make men accept misery, depravity and degradation as their natural lot in life. This is done in motion pictures by presenting every kind of failure as sympathetic, as a sign of goodness and virtue---at the same time while every kind of success is shown as evil. This implies that only evil can succeed under our American System while the good are to be found in the gutter.

The Communists attempt to present all the poor as good and all the rich as evil. They fail to point out in judging a man's character that poverty is no disgrace, but it is no virtue either. wealth is no virtue but certainly is not a disgrace as Communists would have you believe.

Glorifying Depravity

The Communists in pictures frequently present sympathetic studies of depravity, that is stories about murderers, perverts, and all the rest of the sordid stuff. In such stories the audience is placed on the side of the criminal and sympathy is created for him. The criminal is given excuses and justifications and the implication that "He couldn't help it".

In preaching that a depraved person "couldn't help it", Communists destroy the basis of all morality. They are implying that men cannot be held responsible for their evil acts because man has no power to choose between good and evil. If this is true, all moral precepts are futile and men must resign themselves to the idea that they are helpless, irresponsible animals. This is what the Communists attempt to portray.

Most picture scripts are frequently picked for their personal sensational value. These stories represent a profoundly insidious attack on all moral principles and all religious precepts. There is a basic tenet of Marxism, that man has no freedom of moral or intellectual choice, that he is only a soulless, witless collection of meat and glands open to any sort of "conditioning" by anybody. The Communists intend to become the "Conditioners".

The people see nothing but horror and depravity on the screen. The impression is created that nothing better is possible for men or can be expected of life which is what the Communists want people to think. Communism thrives on despair. Men without hope are easily ruled.

Communists in subtle ways excuse depravity and frequently drool over weaklings as conditioned "victims of circumstances", who couldn't help it.

CONFIDENTIAL

The Common Man

CONFIDENTIAL

"The Common Man" is one of the worst slogans of Communism and too many of us have fallen for it without thinking. Many pictures use the lines about "The Common Man" or "The Little People". It is not the American idea to be either "common" or "little."

Under the American system all men are equal before the law. Therefore, if anyone is classified as "common"-----he can be called "common" only in regard to his personal qualities. It then means he has no outstanding abilities, no outstanding virtues, and no outstanding intelligence. That should not be an object of glorification.

The Communist doctrine, however, preaches reign of mediocrity, the destruction of all individuality and all personal distinction, the turning of men into "masses" which means the average "common" herd. This point is never brought out by the Communists in motion pictures.

Glorifying The Collective

This point requires the careful and thoughtful attention of the reader. There is a great difference between forced co-operation and free collectivism. There is a difference between the United States and Soviet Russia, but the Communists are very skillful in hiding the difference and selling you the second under the guise of the first.

The Communists in motion pictures frequently picture Soviet collectivism as American co-operation, which is false. Co-operation is a free association of men who work together by voluntary agreement, each deriving from it his own personal benefit. Collectivism is the forced herding together of men into a group with the individual having no choice about it, no personal motive or reward, and subordinating himself blindly to the will of others.

The Communists attempt to portray that everyone should be and act alike. They preach it is evil to be different. They teach every particular group of men to hate every other group, every minority, every person, for being different from them, thus laying the foundation for race hatred.

The Communists show that all mass action is good and all individual action is evil. This is not the American aim.

Smearing the Independent Man

CONFIDENTIAL

This is part of the same issue of the preceding point.

CONFIDENTIAL

The Communists' chief purpose is to destroy every form of independence, independent work, action, property, thought, mind, or an independent man.

The Communists portray individualists of this sort as one who crushes and exploits others such as a director.

The Communists permit the snide little touches to sneak into scripts which suggest that something is evil because it is independent, (private, personal, single, or individual).

Careless Reference to Current Events

A favorite trick of the Communists is to insert into pictures casual lines of dialogue about some important, highly controversial political issue, to insert them as accidental small talk without any connection to the scene, plot, or the story.

Frequently, little slurs at political parties will appear in a picture released just before election time. Antagonism is aroused on the screen by cheap political smear lines in the midst of some musical comedy.

Communists frequently inject casual lines favorable to Russia either directly or indirectly. Also statements are injected in the dialogues to the effect that anyone who is anti-Soviet is pro-Fascist. Also references are made to fictictious Soviet achievements.

Russian people are frequently pictured as free, secure, and happy. Also, that their life in Russia is about the same as in any other country when in reality Russian people live in constant terror under a bloody dictatorship. Communists submit speeches that support whatever is in the Soviet interest at the moment, whatever is part of the current Communist Party line. They will permit such dialogue as "The free, peace-loving nations of the world-----America, England, and Russia....."or, "Free elections such as in Poland....."or, "American imperialists ought to get out of China.....".

The Belittling of American Political Institutions

The Communist writers, producers, and directors have followed the Communist Party Line on its many turns and changes to meet the shifting conditions. But on one objective they have remained fixed: to undermine faith and ultimately to destroy our American political institutions.

In certain motion pictures the Congress of the United States has been presented as an ineffectual body devoted to mere talk, the implication being that representative government is no good and what we ought to have in this country is a dictator.

CONFIDENTIAL

The Communists attempt to discredit free elections, the implication being that elections should be abolished.

The Communists attempt to present courts as being corrupt, leading people to believe that they have no recourse except to violence since peaceful justice cannot be obtained.

The tendency is to portray all Congressmen, judges, and politicans as vicious men instead of making it clear that in criticizing certain individuals who appear to be corrupt that they are not representative of the system. The American system would be to damn these men individually and not the system which they betray.

Numerated above are a few of the things the Communists sneak into pictures intended as non-political. There are other things which involve an attempt to break down constituted law-enforcement, and the belief in religion as practiced in this country, particularly the Catholic Church.

The Communists attempt to give the people viewing motion pictures the impression that these standard American principles are a collection of weak, inconsistent, meaningless, hypocritical phases of the American way of life.

Tactics Used in the Injection of Communist Propaganda or The Rejection of Anti-Communist Scenes in Motion Pictures

T-1 said that it would be difficult for anyone not having at least a fair background in the Communist tactics to look at a motion picture suspected of having Communist propaganda and be able to pick it out. He said if a case is to be built up against the use of Communist propaganda in pictures the overall operations of the Communist suspects would have to be viewed before a pattern could be developed. He said it was a peculiar thing that Communist suspects continually inject or attempt to inject the purposes outlined above and in addition never show the Soviet form of government in an unfavorable light. The Communists in motion picture production are usually clever individuals who know how to write, produce, or direct good entertainment; consequently they are in demand by the major studios for their ability to give a motion picture box-office appeal.

CONFIDENTIAL

Informants T-1 and T-2 said that many Communist writers did not attempt to inject a message into a picture if the script was closely supervised. Specific example was made of DALTON TRUMBO whose work in connection with the three pictures, "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo", "A Guy Named Joe", and "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes" all made at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, were closely watched for Communist propaganda; consequently, none was injected. TRUMBO, described as a well-known Communist writer, while working on the picture, "Tender Comrade" at RKO was not so closely supervised and injected subtle propaganda into the picture. Briefly, this latter picture portrays in a subtle entertaining way that the rights of the individual should be subjugated to that of a collective group. TRUMBO and his friends were also said to be very pleased to get the word, "Comrade" into the title of this picture. It was pointed out that the Communists are very joyous at even small victories such as this.

T-1 and T-2 confirmed the fact that only one anti-Communist picture was ever attempted in Hollywood to their knowledge. This picture entitled, "Red Salute", was produced by an independent producer, EDWARD SMALL. This picture was picketed by near-violent pickets who were suspected of having been Communists or Communist directed.

Many writers who are either Communist or Communist sympathizers are believed to have entry into the motion picture field by the support of established Communist writers who ghost-write their stories or otherwise aid them in writing until they can stand on "their own feet". Specific instances of such situations were not made available by Sources T-1 and T-2, who were present. T-1 remarked that the chief targets of the Communists at the present time were the Catholic Church and England. However, this in no manner caused the Communists to lessen their attack on all forms of government foreign to that of the Soviet Union. These attacks are put across in pictures in a subtle manner and are not pro-Stalin, but are always anti-democratic, English, religious, or any other avowed enemy of the Communists.

One method used according to T-1 and T-2 was to photograph in close-up a very disgusting or revolting scene and suddenly shift the scene to include a close-up of the intended victim or its emblem such as a crest depicting England, or a rosary of the Catholic Church so that the viewer would get the idea that these latter things were connected with the ideas desired to be created by the Communists.

T-1 remarked that numerous officials in the studios were blind to Communist operations based upon "The Chase for the Dollar". It was believed in certain instances, however, that the persons representing production hid behind the dollar sign in order to further Communism in pictures. A specific example is DORE SCHARY who is in charge of production at RKO Pictures, Inc. He is a person who is associated with known Communists and who gives them aid and comfort in the form of jobs and screen writing assignments since taking over his present position.

T-1 and T-2 advised that only 25% of the screen story would have to be written by the writer to obtain screen credits. Consequently, other writers, particularly Communists, could work on a motion picture script and their identity would not become publicly known. In view of the fact that the names of no known Communists appear in connection with the public advertising of motion pictures, it does not mean that Communist propaganda has not been injected by the writers of the script or by actual changes of the scenes on the set while being filmed.

The script on the surface contains no Communist propaganda and it will be approved by the management as well as the producer and director. However, someone having sympathy with the Communists may allow certain scenes to appear in the finished production which have been changed during the actual filming. The Communist writer, actor, or producer is frequently satisfied with a very small message injected into the picture. This can be accomplished in a half-page of written script which might be lost in the frequently voluminous document or by snide remarks heretofore mentioned on the part of the actor. The agreement for the changing of the script on the set sometimes is done without the producer or director realizing that such is propaganda until it appears on the screen. Someone must be sympathetic with the Communist cause to allow such activity.

As an example of the distortion of facts T-2 advised that DONALD ODGEN STEWART, a writer affiliated with the Communist element in motion pictures for many years, has recently written a picture, "Cass Timberlane", to be realesed in the immediate future. This script deals with the country-club set attempting to get government war contracts. Considerable effort on the behalf of this country-club group was expended to maneuver Judge Timberlane out of town as he is represented as being an honest judge, the inference being that there are dishonest judges and this one was an exception. Furthermore this judge was pictured as a State judge when in reality a judge dealing with war contract cases should have been a Federal judge. Also this judge would have disqualified himself ~~to sit in on the~~ trial in question.

T-2 cited as an example, a rather inoculous film, the Lou COSTELLO and BUD ABBOTT picture entitled, "Buck Privates Come Home", released by International Universal Pictures in the early part of 1947. This film was written by FREDERICK RINALDO, who, according to T-2, was a known Communist.

Confidential Informant CNDI [redacted] identified FREDERICK RINALDO, screen writer, as being a registered Communist for 1947. b7D

In the picture, "Buck Privates Come Home", one scene portrays a party given for a general in the Army whereas intermingling scenes disclose an enlisted man on K.P. duty, making the audience unnecessarily class conscious. In other scenes he depicts an enlisted soldier who remarks he is unable to go to the nurse's quarters and makes the statement that enlisted men cannot go out with officers, the nurse in this case being an officer.

On July 18, 1947, UPTON CLOSE, well known columnist, [redacted], advised the following concerning Communist propaganda in motion pictures: b6 b7C

He had appeared on radio station, KMPC, Los Angeles, on a open forum the first Sunday in July, 1947, at which time this question was discussed. Part of a script used by CLOSE in this connection was made available which is as follows:

> "Nobody wants to attack the movies as such; but everybody recognizes as so well stated by Mr. A.H. Gianinni, president of the Bank of America: "Those who control the cinema can control the thought of the world" Or, on the other side, says Gilbert Seldes in the "Hollywood Quarterly" which Colonel Rupert Hughes and I regard as a fellow-traveling publication: "The power to influence is woven into entertainment. The public is unaware of the use of entertainment to influence, or does not resent it when recognized."
> "If you do not think that the brains plotting the Communist revolution in this country are out to make full use of this insidious means of propaganda, let me quote you from the Communist strategist Muenzenberg, in the "Daily Worker" in 1925: "One of the most pressing tasks confronting Communist parties in the field of agitation and propaganda is the conquest of this supremely important weapon, until now the monopoly of the ruling class. We must wrest it from them and turn it against them." This is merely the Marxist's way of saying that the American movies must be made the opposite of a strength to the American system of freedom and economy, and must be made into a weapon to belittle, falsify and destroy those things which are distinctively American and free.

CONFIDENTIAL

"Now let's bring this right home to Hollywood and, I believe, to this very forum. I quote John Howard Lawson, founder and first president of the Screen Writers' Guild, the distinguished or notorious---as you may look at it--predecessor of my distinguished opponent across the table, Mr. Lavery, who is now the president of the Screen Writers' Guild. Here's what Mr. Lavery's predecessor said, and I have no reason to believe that the policy in this closed union whose members write all of Hollywood's productions has at all changed: "Unless you portray any role given you in a manner to further the revolution of class war, you have no right to call yourself an artist or an actor. You must do this regardless of what the script says or what the director tells you. Even if you are nothing more than an extra, you can portray a society woman in a manner to make her a villainess or a snob; and you can portray a working girl in such a way as to make her seem a sympathetic victim of the capitalistic system."

CONFIDENTIAL

"We are all aware now of films loaded from beginning to end with Communist propaganda or material intended to give the American people a totally false faith in Russia's dictatorial government. We know now how ex-Ambassador Joseph Davies falsified his own diary about the infamous Russian trials in order to make film stuff which would be welcome in Moscow. As to films which thus deceive the spectators regarding Marxism and Russia, one could give several lists. Some people will dispute certain titles. Since I have been asked by my opponent to name cases, I'll give you a list of such suspect films: (see enclosures) SONG OF RUSSIA, ACTION IN THE NORTH ATLANTIC -- written by the above John Howard Lawson himself -- HITLER'S CHILDREN -- written by my opponent across the table, Mr. Emmet Lavery, the successor to John Howard Lawson -- THE NORTH STAR -- written by dramatist LILLIAN HELLMAN, well known for her Red views -- THE OX BOW INCIDENT, THE POWER OF THE PRESS, the un-historical and twisted version of Woodrow Wilson's life, called WILSON, and the un-historical version of Chopin's life, called A SONG TO REMEMBER.

"Whether or not one agrees that all of these films are crude pro-Russian and anti-capitalist propaganda, I want him to consider along with me the much more menacing type of propaganda, that is not openly pro-Communist, but insidiously and constantly belittles the American ideals in which we have been reared and the types of American business and professional men who we have always held in respect in this country. For example, our anti-capitalist screen writers have seen to it that never in recent years, to my knowledge, has a banker or a politician been portrayed in a sympathetic manner, or as a man who was doing his best for his community and neighbors as well as himself. Instead the banker is portrayed as a Scrooge, as if all bankers were that. In one scene, for instance, a veteran appeals for help from a banker, is rudely turned down, wheels about and under his breath sneers: "Private enterprise!" This is the sort of loaded stuff that is more effective than the obvious pro-Soviet film.

"I could go on with many examples; but I want to bring the matter to my point of summation. I think a recent meeting of Hollywood radicals at the People's Educational Center sufficiently highlights the situation. The meeting was to combat an investigation into Hollywood radicalism and propaganda by the House un-American Activities Committee. Irving Pichel of the Screen Writers' Guild suggested more propaganda, not less, and listed as subjects for such propaganda in our entertainment: "Racism, "which to a Marxist means building up the martyr complex in a minority and creating dissension and fear wherever possible, "Restrictive covenants", which means that the movies should go into the business of breaking down community restrictions in residential areas, and third "Attacks on labor", which of course means that Hollywood films should represent such laws as the recent Taft-Hartley bill as an attack on labor. One lady at the meeting asked why all the speakers had been attacking "Fascists and reactionaries" but not a single speaker had had a word to say about Communists and their propaganda. The assembled Screen Writers rose en masse and booed the lady out of the hall, which shows where they stand.

"Now Eric Johnston, supposed at present to be the "Czar" in charge of purity, decency and Americanism in our greatest entertainment industry, has complained bitterly of Communists in the movie industry unions, but has belittled Communist propaganda in the product of these unions. Is Mr. Johnston being naive, or just trying to be nice to the people who pay his salary? He certainly has plenty of work to do. He gives himself away when he says: "The industry undoubtedly will produce movies showing the evils of Communism." For shame, indeed. Why has not the industry produced a single movie showing the evils of Communism in the last ten years? My colleague Colonel Rupert Hughes here has told us of two films which were prepared; one of which would have showed the evils of Communism and the other would have ridiculed it. In one instance the producers were intimidated from completing a production and the film ridiculing Communism was not widely circulated. Does this sound to you as if the film industry were healthy. The point is that we are not attacking the movies as such. Their executives, however, need to recognize that among their hirelings are a great many subversive persons who are there to take advantage of the great opportunity to belittle and destroy the American enterprise system and all the traditions of our society and economy. Film magnates and executives are either fools or rascals if they leave these men in key positions, and at the same time decline to inspect very carefully the productions of these men."

CONFIDENTIAL

The above film mentioned by RUPERT HUGHES included a story which he wrote during 1938 and 1939, which was an expose of Communism. It dealt with the Communist techniques used in schools, mediums of communications, etc. The first installment of this film was sold to Warner Brothers for $15,000. JACK WARNER was to produce it and AL JOLSON, the actor was to be financially interested in the production. HAL WALLIS, in charge of production at Warner Brothers at that time talked the studio out of producing the film, his argument being that the Communists would picket the theaters and throw stink bombs to such an extent that proper distribution of the picture could not be had.

Concerning the film ridiculing Communism, this was one shot by CARAVETH WELLS, a world traveler, who shot the motion picture in Russia about 1935 or 1936, which portrayed true living conditions of the Russians.

WELLS scored the film with a running commentary by himself which poked fun and ridiculed the Communist conditions in Russia. This film was considered for distribution by certain members of the industry and was never widely circularized. It is believed to be in possession of WELLS now who uses it in connection with lectures given by him.

An example of the rejecting of anti-Communist propaganda was displayed at a session of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions of Progressive Citizens of America conference on Thought Control held at the Beverly Hills hotel on July 12, 1947. Special Agent BERNARR M. PTACEK was present and observed that known Communists dominated the session and the key note speech was delivered by JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, screen writer, (LAWSON identified by CNDI [redacted] as a registered Communist from 1944 through 1945). Other speakers who are known Communists were MILTON TYRE, attorney (CNDI [redacted] identified TYRE as a registered Communist for year 1947), FRANK TUTTLE, screen director (CNDI [redacted] identified TUTTLE as registered Communist for year 1944 and 1945), HOWARD DE SILVA, actor (identified by CNDI [redacted] as registered member for years 1944 and 1945) and CAREY MC WILLIAMS, attorney and author (identified by CNDI [redacted] as a professional Communist front man of many years standing).

The last speaker on the afternoon program was Mr. PAUL DRAP known dancer. He frequently puts on dance recitals in connection with ADLER, a well-known harmonica virtuoso, and recently gave a dance recit Philharmonic Auditorium in Los Angeles.

His speech concerned his part in the production of the movie, " Your Life," written by WILLIAM SOROYAN. The play was written, according during the life of the Hitler Regime. His comment in connection his part movie is substantially as follows:

During the reading of the script he noted he was to say a line whi ridiculed HITLER and had the effect of calling HITLER a most serious menace o the day. DRAPER said that he realized that the comment concerning HITLER to been written in HITLER's time and realized that script should be revised. He asked his director what line should be substituted for the HITLER line. The director told DRAPER to substitute the name STALIN for Hitler. DRAPER realized the significance of such a statement and said he could not say such a line in th movie. He then commented to the audience that he had great ambition to dance in the Soviet Union and the Balkans at some date in the future.

DRAPER said that he talked to JIMMIE CAGNEY, the producer, "GRIPS" and many other people around the studio lot. ~~His director~~, name unknown, told DRAPER to substitute the name MOLOTOV for the name STALIN and commented that after all, MOLOTOV's name was in print more than STALIN's. Everybody was criticizing MOLOTOV for his stand at foreign conferences. DRAPER said that the substitution of the name MOLOTOV for the name STALIN did not exactly settle his problem.

DRAPER then wen to see Mr. SIDNEY BERNSTEIN of the J. Arthur Rank Productions with his script problem. BERNSTEIN told DRAPER that he would not allow the distribution of any film in England that was derogatory to the Soviet Union. DRAPER then went back to see JIMMIE CAGNEY and told him about the incident. DRAPER said that dollars talk, things begin to happen, and the lines were taken out of the script immediately and lines of no political significance were substituted.

DRAPER made a further comment in regard to the movie which was currently being shot on the lot stating that the word "worker" could not be used in a film today because of the THOMAS-RANKIN Committee. He told of another scene in the movie regarding the character, "JOE", which is played by JIMMIE CAGNEY. In this instance, "JOE" asks a friend, "How does it happen that you have money all of the time?" DRAPER said that in the script written by SOROYAN, the answer is to the effect that he stole it from the "little" people. DRAPER said that the script was changed so that JIMMIE CAGNEY says, "I earned the money I have."

DRAPER went on to say that all of these changes are the result of the THOMAS-RANKIN COMMITTEE's investigation in Hollywood. At the end of the session during the panel forum, someone from the audience commented as to why SOROYAN couldn't sue JIMMIE CAGNEY for changing his script. DRAPER took the floor and stated that that would be impossible inasmuch as that by the sale of his script, SOROYAN forfeited all rights to the use of his script and anything could be done with the script that the producer wished.

Associate Producer -- Leon Gordon
Director -- George Cukor
Screen Play -- Donald Ogden Stewart

(Based upon a novel by I.A.R. Wylie)

Cast: Starring Spencer Tracy
Katharine Hepburn

Confidential Informant [redacted] whose identity is known to the Bureau, on December 5, 1945, identified DONALD OGDEN STEWART as the husband of ELLA WINTER, long known for her association with prominent known Communists and Communist front organizations. STEWART, since his marriage to WINTER, has been very active in following the Communist Party Line and associating almost exclusively with known Communist Party members and front organizations. b7D

Sources T-1 and T-2 identified STEWART as a Communist who had furthered the Communist causes in the field of screen writing for many years.

Of the stars T-1 and T-2 advised that KATHARINE HEPBURN was a Communist "Fellow-Traveler". Of the supporting cast, HOWARD DE SILVA, actor, has been identified by CNDI [redacted] as a registered member for years 1944 and 1945. b7D

T-2 made available a portion of the script of this picture which is taken from the opening scene. Christine is portrayed by KATHARINE HEPBURN and Steve by SPENCER TRACY. Immediately preceding the scenes depicted in this script CHRISTINE who was married to a successful doctor let him go to his death by driving into a washed-out bridge when she could have prevented his death. Christine in this portion of the script is attempting to explain to Steve why she let her husband go to his death:

CONFIDENTIAL

"Steve

I can believe in you so much that you can't help yourself. You'll have to be what I believe you are.

"Christine (softly)

I have been wanting to talk to you since that first night you came. I can fight you no longer.
(after a moment)
I married a legend---a legend about a hero. I didn't know that at first. I worshipped Robert. Perhaps to worship anyone is to destroy them. Everybody worshipped him---no, the image of him, the image that had been carefully built up in people's minds, deliberately built up I now believe, built up with a terrible purpose. When I found out what that purpose was I had to destroy the image. No, I had to destroy the man to save the image. Yes, that was it.

"Steve

What terrible purpose?

"Christine

I didn't know it was terrible once. You heard his mother this afternoon.

"Steve

His mother is insane.

"Christine

But Robert wasn't. He really believed in Hitler's new order.

"Steve

Robert Forrest!

"Christine

He had come to despise the people who worshipped him -- all of us.
(as Steve looks at her)
Yes, me too. We were all beneath him. I didn't know what had happened. I suppose I was a bit like that myself. I believed in a few. Leaders. Rulers. And then, as Robert began to change, I saw the face of Fascism in my own home. Hatred. Arrogance. Cruelty. I saw what German women were facing. I saw the enemy.

"Steve

CONFIDENTIAL

Robert Forrest.

"Christine

On the morning of the accident, I stole his keys, came here and opened this.

(she moves to an enormous, specially-built filing cabinet)

This is what I found.

(as she speaks, she throws open the doors of the cabinet and we see a well-ordered array of drawers, cubby-holes, etc., containing papers, long lists of alphabetically indicated documents)

Here is the key to Robert Forrest's Fascist organization.

(she presses a button and a secret drawer jumps out)

Of course, they didn't call it Fascism -- they painted it red, white and blue and called it Americanism.

(she takes out an ominous bunch of stocks and bonds)

These are the funds to see it through --

(she hands a stack of unnegotiable bonds to Steve)

-- a fantastic amount subscribed by a few men to whom money meant nothing any more, but who wanted political power and knew they could never get it by democratic means.

(she takes a card from an index)

Here are their names.

But what really sickened me was the essence of their plan. Here are some articles --

(from a drawer she pulls out a stack of typed manuscripts)

-- all ready for release, to stir up the little hatreds of the whole nation against each other.

(she hands Steve the first article)

This is the copy of an article to be used in an anti-Semitic paper attacking the Jews.

(she hands Steve the second article)

This was to be used in the Farmers Gazette to stir them up against the city dwellers.

CONFIDENTIAL

(handing him another article)
Here is an article to stir up hatred against the Catholics....
(she gives him another article)
This is anti-negro....
(handing him still another article)
This is against trade unions....
(she gives him still another page)
This is a subtle appeal to the Klu Klux Klan.

Steve examines each of the papers as she gives them to him. She goes back to the cabinet and produces more evidence.

"Christine

This is an interesting list of newspaper editors who had either sought public office in vain or had sought to dictate who would occupy public office, and because they didn't succeed believed that the people were a great, stupid beast.

(while Steve is glancing at this paper, she turns back and runs her finger over the card index in a long drawer as she speaks)
These were men who served their country in the last war but who were failures in business, who again longed for the power of rank and the prestige of a uniform.
(she presses a button, which opens a spring door in the cabinet. She lifts out a small book)
This contains the names and addresses of the men who were designated to be America's first storm troopers.
(Steve's face hardens as he takes the book and shoves it into his pocket grimly)
But what shocked me the most was the complete cynicism of the plan! Each of these groups was merely to be used until its usefulness was exhausted. Hates were to be played against hates. When one group seemed to be getting too powerful, it would be killed off with another group. And in the end all these poor little dupes who never realized to what purpose they were lending themselves would be in the same chains, cowed and enslaved, with Robert Forrest and his handful of power-thirsty henchmen cracking the whip."

According to T-2 this is a good example of the negative approach and the indirect tactics used by Communist writers in getting across the Communist Party line. In this script the writer has in a veiled manner attempted to make the audience believe that Fascism and Americanism are synonymous. They have also pointed out various things that Fascism stands for which in reality are the very subjects which Communists use in their constant agitation.

CNDI [redacted] in Hollywood in 1944 described LILLIAN HELLMAN, the author of this picture, as a high ranking Communist who had associated exclusively with known Communists and Communist front organizations for at least twenty years. T-1 and T-2 listed HELLMAN as an International Communist of considerable importance. b7D

LEWIS MILESTONE, the director, was described by T-1 and T-2 as a "Fellow-Traveler" with known Communists.

Of the supporting cast RUTH NELSON, actress, CNDI [redacted] identified her as a registered Communist from 1944 through 1945. Confidential Source T-3, wife of well known producer and closely associated with the detail involved in the production of this picture advises that SAMUEL GOLDWYN had attempted to delete much of the obvious propaganda which was originally injected in this picture. However, he was unable to take all of it out. b7D

Besides giving a fictitious picture of the situation in Russia the picture portrayed the idea that collective farming was the only successful way to farm.

As a result of the appearance of UPTON CLOSE, et al in the above-mentioned radio forum on radio station KMPC, a letter signed by ROBERT LENNOX of Hermosa Beach, California, dated July 16, 1947, was addressed to those participating in the forum. This letter quoted MR. LENNOX's opinion of specific examples of Communist influence in a specific motion picture entitled "North Star", which is set out as follows:

"Take "The North Star". From its very opening scenes, it might well have been a picture financed by U.S.S.R. Chamber of Commerce, (if there is such a thing). It pictures the Soviet Union as actually a more beautiful Utopia than Bellamy's "Looking Backward." The scenes showed large numbers of people, ALL clean, happy, generous, friendly, religious, moral, kindly, honest, healthy and good-looking. Their houses, wagons, tools and everything in sight was of highest quality, and scruplously well-cared for. Even the cows and pigs were glamorized. They mooted and squeeled in soft, dulcet tones. Everybody was primarily engaged in being good to everybody else. Certainly nothing in America to date can be said to even approach this perfection pictured as commonplace and universal throughout the Soviet Union.

"Can you have the unmitigated gall to sidestep this absurdly false impression? I had with me a friend, and all this was a coincidence, because we had gone into the Theater to FORGET talk about Russia. He was half-Russian by birth, and had lived and suffered the miserable conditions imposed by Soviet rule. We thought the picture "North Star" was a picture of the sea. Well, my guest held his head with both hands and GROANED, as the scene continued. At last he got up and left the theater. He said: "My God, this is ridiculous." I offered to go too, but he urged that I stay, and he would meet me at "the Drug Store" later. When I did meet him I learned he had demanded his money back from the manager of the theater----and got it, too, but accompanied by considerable slurring and vocal abuse, because he charged that the picture was NOT entertainment, but crude propaganda.

"This happened when "North Star" was new----first run. If the production office wasn't favorable to communism, then it is true, as Mr. Hughes and Mr. Close stated, that key men in making of the picture were successful in making it an instrument of communistic propaganda, either against the will or without the knowledge of the producers."

"PRIDE OF THE MARINES"

Released by Warner Brothers August 7, 1945

|---|---|
| Producer | Jerry Wald |
| Director | Delmar Daves |
| Author | Roger Butterfield |
| Screen play | Albert Maltz |
| Adaptation | Marvin Borowsky |
| Cast - Starring | John Garfield |
| | Eleanor Parker |

ALBERT MALTZ of the screen play was identified by CNDI [redacted] b7D as a registered Communist in 1944 to 1946. JOHN GARFIELD was identified by T-1 and T-2 as being associated with known Communist groups since his arrival in Hollywood several years ago. Also GARFIELD was given frequent publicity by "The People's World", openly avowed Communist newspaper on the Pacific Coast.

JACK MOFFITT viewed this film in the "Hollywood Review" issue of September 10, 1945. MOFFITT, who according to T-1 and T-2 is alert to the Communist tactics in motion pictures, admitted the picture was entertaining and well done with the exception that the writer could not resist the injection of Communist propaganda.

> "Unfortunately, the soap box hasn't been completely eliminated. In one sequence Mr. Daves and Mr. Maltz have dragged the old Party Line into their love story about as gracefully as if they were lugging a dead bear up a flight of stairs into a boudoir. They say everything they can think of to provoke doubts concerning representative government and the free enterprise system. Employers are accused of everything from racial prejudice to a conspiracy to scuttle the G.I. Bill of Rights. The screen should be used as a forum for public discussion. But there is a great deal of difference between honest argument and biased propaganda. There should be, as Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once put it, "A free trade in ideas" so that the public can choose what is best in "the competition of the open market." That is the theory behind the American constitution. In the scene I refer to, many accusations are hurled which the other side gets no chance to answer. It represents, not a discussion, but a monopoly of ideas."

"SONG TO REMEMBER"

Released by Columbia Pictures, Inc., January 8, 1945

|---|---|
| Producer | Louis F. Edelman |
| Director | Charles Vidor |
| Author | Ernst Marischka |
| Screen Play | Sidney Buchman |
| Cast Starring | Paul Muni |
| | Merle Oberon |
| | Cornel Wilde |

SIDNEY BUCHMAN wrote the screen play and has been identified by CNDI [redacted] as registered Communist from 1944 through 1946. T-4, a well known screen writer, disclosed on July 25, 1947, the following concerning Communist propaganda injected into this picture in "Song to Remember": b7D

"This motion picture represents a subtle complete distortion of historical facts. It deals with the life of CHOPIN. CHOPIN escapes from Poland and works in the underground against Russia during the revolutionary period in 1917. He further flees to Paris where he becomes acquainted with a rich woman who feels sorry for him because he is poor and ill. She takes him in and encourages him to study and compose music so that he may make something of himself and gain material wealth. CHOPIN's friends from Poland contact him and ask him to stop his work of composing and go on a tour and collect money which is to be donated to the people for the people's causes. They accuse him of being selfish.

"The rich woman who befriended CHOPIN is pictured as very evil. The picture deals much with the individual rights as against the rights of the masses. CHOPIN is convinced he must go to work for the people so he gives up his desire to carry on his work from Paris and goes on a tour where he becomes more ill and finally dies.

"The chief propaganda in addition to above is that the man has no rights for himself but should live for the people and particularly persons of prominence like CHOPIN should even give his life for the masses so as to lead inspiration for them instead of gaining fame or glory for himself."

T-5, a screen writer and producer, advised that on July 18, 1947, that she thought the picture, "Song To Remember" was a distortion of historical facts, mainly, that the writer, SIDNEY BUCKMAN, attempted to make a revolutionary out of CHOPIN.

T-5 further said that ARTUR RUBINSTEIN, the well-known pianist, was known to have protested to HARRY COHEN, head of Columbia Pictures for producing a picture distorting the facts. COHEN informed RUBINSTEIN that very few of the American people would know the difference and he thought the picture would make money. RUBINSTEIN is also believed to have written an article criticizing the picture.

"BEST YEARS OF OUR LIFE"

December 25, 1946

|---|---|
| Producer | Samuel Goldwyn |
| Director | William Wyler |
| Screen play | Robert Sherwood |
| (From the novel GLORY FOR ME by Mackinlay Kentor | |
| Cast Starring | Myrna Loy |
| | Frederic March |
| | Dana Andrews |

T-1 and T-2 advised that the writer of this screen play, while not known to be definitely a Communist was one who associated with them and frequently gave them aid and comfort. It was pointed out by these informants that this was a good example of a picture in which the screen credits did not reflect any outstanding or well-known Communists as associated with the production of the picture and it was believed by informants that the script was "dressed" by Communist writers who did not receive screen credits. T-2 advised that HOWARD KOCH, whom he believed to be a Communist, had done some work as a writer on the script. Of the supporting cast, ROMAN BOHNEN has been identified by CNDI [redacted] as a registered Communist from 1944 through 1945. BOHNEN is also known as a director of the Actors' Laboratory, an organization identified by T-1 and T-2 as dominated by Communists. b7D

HOWLAND CHAMBERLIN, a supporting actor, has also been identified by CNDI [redacted] as a registered Communist in 1947. CNDI [redacted] also identified CHAMBERLIN as amember of the Communist Party. T-4 and T-5 advised a review of this picture made by WILLIAM MARKHAM in the April, 1947, issue of the magazine "Plain Talk" gave a complete outline of the Communist propaganda which had been subtly injected into the picture. b7D

For the information of the reader, the magazine, "Plain Talk" is edited by one ISAAC DON LEVINE. His editorial office is located at 240 Madison Avenue, New York City 16, New York. The following represents a summary of Markham's review of this picture:

CONFIDENTIAL

"The Motion Picture Academy award this year was a political and not an artistic struggle. The prize went to Samuel Goldwyn's "The Best Years of Our Lives." It is a masterpiece of subversive half-truth.

"No one can say that "The Best Years of Our Lives" lacks artistry. It is superb propaganda. You cannot see it without having your sense of humor gratified and your human sympathies stirred. It has an emotional appeal that paralyzes the intellect. The direction by William Wyler is sensitive and subtle. Robert Sherwood's script is rich in strong situations, appealing characters, and Left Wing propaganda. The cast is remarkably good. Fredric March, Dana Andrews, Myrna Loy, Hoagy Carmichael, Teresa Wright, and Virginia Mayo coordinate expert individual portraits into a dramatic pattern seldom equaled. Never has the class war been preached by abler recruiting sergeants.

"Even truth is artfully invoked to help put over falsehoods. The inspiring work of Harold Russell, the serviceman who portrays a disabled veteran, makes acting seem inseparable from life.

"The film's compassion for servicemen can only be applauded. But, having aroused compassion, it proceeds to exploit it. It tries to make the serviceman feel that American business is against him. And, in order to make him feel that, it does not hesitate to falsify the record.

"The first shot in "The Best Years" shows Dana Andrews, as a returning hero, denied a plane seat to make room for an obnoxious business man who arrives at the airport, puffing a big cigar and lugging a thicket of golf-clubs. Thus, in its initial five minutes, the picture preaches class antagonism by means of falsification. Actually the aviation industry, during the first six months after the war, allocated seventy percent of its seats to returning servicemen. Between December 1, 1945, and February 15, 1946, the Los Angeles office of T.W.A. reports that it made priorities available to 11,000 returning veterans. The company says its other offices were equally cooperative. So were other airlines. So were the railroads.

"From this it would seem that business men and the aviation industry did not conspire to keep returning soldiers off airplanes. Perhaps, Mr. Sherwood, a ghost-writer for New Deal speeches during the war, just remained in Washington so long that he finally couldn't tell a business man from Faye Emerson's dog, Blaze.

"This note of class prejudice is repeated again and again as the plot of "The Best Years of Our Lives" unfolds.

"Upon returning home, the hero visits the pharmacy where he was formerly employed. It has been absorbed by a national chain drug system. The manager is a small-souled fellow who receives the hero with every evidence of antagonism. When the veteran goes to work there he is put under the humiliating supervision of a 4-F straw boss who seems scarcely as mature as a high-school sophomore. The hero endures the insolence of this pip-squeak in order to live.

"How does the sequence square with the facts? The producer must have been thinking of a drug chain similar to the Rexall organization because he made an effort to shoot these scenes in an actual Rexall store. The company refused permission after reading the script. And small wonder! The true facts are that Rexall maintains a special training school for store managers and home office executives. This school is, according to a representative of the company, operated primarily for servicemen. Instead of discriminating against veterans Rexall discriminates in their favor. When the Federal Government reduced the allotments paid student druggists under the GI Bill of Rights, Rexall petitioned for permission to pay the difference to those in its employ out of its corporate pocket. The government rejected this offer. At present Rexall lists some two thousand servicemen among its eighteen thousand employees. About half of these worked for Rexall before the war. The others are new with the company. Rexall favors service applicants and does its best to encourage service employees. So do most of the other drug companies. These facts would scarcely occur to one who drew his impressions of the drug industry from "The Best Years of Our Lives."

"But when the picture takes up banking, it is not content with mere misrepresentation of business practice. Here it advocates an irresponsible economy in the name of moral responsibility. The bank president is represented as a smugly inhuman reactionary who, basely, inquires concerning collateral before endorsing a GI loan to be made with his depositors' money. If he did anything else he would be criminally negligent. The picture doesn't say this but the Law does. Much of the economic distress after the first world war was caused by just such unsecured loans as "The Best Years" advocates. And those who suffered most when the banks failed were GI depositors.

CONFIDENTIAL

"If the veteran lacks economic security it is not the fault of private bankers. It is the fault of the political party Mr. Sherwood wrote speeches for. That party, in the Presidency and in Congress, has been in power fourteen years. Regardless of who is at fault, the American public owes a debt to its soldiers. Decent Americans believe that this debt should be paid---if it takes the last nickel in the public treasury and the last penny of the public's taxes. But it is a public debt that should be paid with the public's money. It cannot be paid by private banks with their depositors' money.

"Only those hoping to profit by the economic collapse of the United States would advocate such a plan.

"The picture also argues that no American should be permitted to criticize Russia. And that any who does should be knocked down. It employs a trick taught to all young writers in Communist indoctrination schools. This consists of identifying all criticism of Russia with anti-Semitism, Jim Crowism, Ku Kluxism and every belief that the American public, so rightly, considers obnoxious. Mr. Sherwood's script does not even trouble to disguise this hackneyed device. He employs it in all the stark simplicity that the schools recommend to Communist beginners.

"He uses it in the scene where the fight occurs in the drug store. Here, an arrogant character enters and begins to wonder out loud concerning the success of the United Nations. The picture seems to regard all such doubts as villainous. The stranger next wonders what the Reds are up to. Despite the fact that this thought also has occurred to Secretary Marshall and his predecessor Mr. Byrnes, as well as to Bernard M. Baruch, it too seems to be regarded as villainous--in this picture. Wickedness knows no bounds when the repulsive fellow proceeds to say that he would consider it a pity if our democracy should be destroyed by our former Allies. Plenty of veterans are concerned about this too. But, to a Communist, such questions can only be answered by a poke in the nose.

"So the character gets a poke in the nose.

"But, of course, the poke must be justified. So the international comments are interlaced with a scurrilous tirade against the Negroes and the Jews. Now, if Samuel Goldwyn only wished to indict Ku Kluxism, why didn't he confine this villain's dialogue to Ku Klux remarks? All America would agree with him in condemning that. Why did he have to mix this up with the behavior of Russia and the future of the United Nations, unless Mr. Goldwyn wanted these legitimate questions to seem equally villainous and deserving of contempt? Does he feel that a free discussion of America's position in international affairs should be suppressed by force? That's what this scene implies.

"Such seem to be the political flaws that deface a beautiful picture. But are they? Are they the flaws of the picture or the core? Did the false politics creep into this script accidentally? Or was a humanly moving story prepared to serve as a convoy and protective umbrella for a political tract deliberately falsifying American democracy and its attitudes toward the soldier?

"If this is true, "The Best Years of Our Lives" is a vicious and dangerous film. It has not scrupled to use the heroism and fortitude of the serviceman, Harold Russell; and to make him an unwitting party to an attack upon the country he made such great sacrifices to protect. This is a more deplorable exploitation of the serviceman than any attempted by the fictional villains in the Goldwyn picture. It is a shock to think that Leftist propagandists are willing to use the country's defenders for the purpose of creating subversive and misleading political capital.

"No one in Hollywood who has seen Sam Goldwyn do battle for a dollar can believe that he is a Communist. Before taking his political prophecies too seriously it is well to remember that, in 1923, he produced a version of "The Eternal City" which hailed Mussolini and his Blackshirts as the saviors of modern Europe. We'd probably have a Fascist government today if the propaganda in that film had succeeded. And we'll have a Communist government tomorrow if the propaganda in "The Best Years of Our Lives" fools enough people.

"Up to date it has fooled a great many. The beauty of the film has blinded many a reputable commentator to its underlying purpose. It does not lack endorsements. And to see that it gets more, the Communist clique in Hollywood is working tirelessly. A terrific campaign was waged by the West Coast Reds to have this picture---and no other--win the the Motion Picture Academy's highest award. The Left Wingers now feel confident it will set the pattern for much of their kind of movie-making during the 1947 season.

"According to them, "Art is a weapon." But to artists, Art must be Truth."

MRS. WILLIAM A. BURK, President of the Southern California Motion Picture Council, Inc., 359 No. Bronson, Los Angeles, advised as follows: (The above organization represents the following listed organizations: Alhambra Chamber of Commerce, Alpha Rho Chi, American Legion Auxiliary, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Camp Fire Girls, Canadian Women's Club, Carthay Women's Club, Council of Church Women, Daughters of the American Revolution, Daughters of the British Empire, Daughters of the Revolution, Ebell Club, Federation of Women's Clubs, Florence Motion Picture Council, Friday Morning Club of Los Angeles, General Richard Gridley Chapter D.A.R., Girl Scouts of America, Hollywood Opera Reading Club, Interfraternity Mothers Club of U.C.L.A., Interfraternity Mothers Club, U.S.C., Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority Mothers Club, U.S.C., Kappa Sigma Mothers Club, U.S.C., Los Angeles Cosmos Club, Los Angeles County Library, Los Angeles Section--National Council of Jewish Women, Matinee Musical Club, National Film Music Council, Neighborhood Music School, Omega Rho Delta Sorority, Phi Kappa Sigma Mothers Club, U.C.L.A., Phi Sigma Kappa mothers Club, U.S.C., Psi Psi Psi, Public Library of Los Angeles, Robert E. Lee Chapter of U.D.C., Rotary Ann, Sigma Chi Mothers Club of U.S.C., Southern California Council of Church Women, Tuesday Afternoon Club, Glendale, Women's Auxiliary, L.A. Railway Mail Assn., Women's Club of Hollywood, Women's Committee for Philharmonic):

The Southern California Motion Picture Council is non-commercial, non-political, and non-sectarian in its activities. Each of the organizations furnish a representative to review motion pictures as they are released and make certain recommendations. Particular attention is paid to the moral character of the motion pictures and this group is alert to any false, misleading, and offensive pictures as well as the injection of subversive or un-American propaganda. MRS. BURK disclosed there was a definite trend toward the breaking-down of the moral character of the family as portrayed by many motion pictures. Also there appeared to her to be an attempt to break down constituted law-enforcement and belittle such in the eyes of the public. It was the opinion of MRS. BURK that the Communists in the motion picture industry were responsible primarily for this activity, although she was unable to name specifically any Communist or Communists suspects who were representative for the production of the questionable pictures. In connection with "The Best Years of Our Lives", reference was made by MRS. BURK to the periodical entitled "Unbiased Opinions of Current Motion Pictures", issued weekly by the Fox West Coast Theaters, Public Relations Department, 1609 W. Washington Blvd., Los Angeles 7, California.

This periodical publishes weekly the opinions in summary form of the Southern California Motion Picture Council together with that of other interested groups, as to pictures reviewed. MRS. BURK referred to the issue of December 14, 1946, and reference was made to the low moral character of the film, "The Best Years of Our Lives".

Quoting from "Unbiased Opinions" of this issue the American Legion Auxiliary says "The moral of the picture is good, but the excessive drinking is objectionable". The National League of Decency says, "This picture reflects the acceptability of divorce; conclusion of the film implies divorce and remarriage".

The Daughters of the American Revolution (Western Committee) says, "The Use of sympathetic propaganda is apparent although subtly induced, and the problems of the ex-G.I. are the same here as always and are solved too satisfactorily to be convincing. Drinking is condoned for the sake of rehabilitation and the drug store scene is an abhorrent example of America's principles of freedom of speech."

Business and Professional Women's Club says, "The scene in the drug store in which the ex-G.I. takes exception to a remark by a non-veteran offered an excellent opportunity to demonstrate the meaning of democracy which was lost because of lack of emotional control. Dialogue would have been more effective in convincing the audience that the ideas of the character were false than the physical force".

MRS. BURK explained that above were good examples of subtle propaganda in the picture to break down the moral state of this country and substitute the use of force to settle issues.

In discussing the picture, "The Best Years of Our Lives", Informant T-6 stated that the picture portrayed the upper class in a bad light. He recalled that the banker was portrayed as a mean, avaricious individual. In one scene which the informant discussed as illustrating his point occurred when FREDERIC MARCH went to see his boss, the banker, to tell the latter that he, MARCH, had made a loan to a GI. As soon as MARCH turned away the banker's face changed wherein he registered disapproval of the former's action. This tended to show the banker as a mean individual. In the picture MARCH attacked the banker at a public meeting and the informant stated this tended to give the audience the impression that bankers as a class were evil because in MARCH's speech informant said, "Other unnecessary stuff was pushed in".

"IT'S A WONDERFUL LIFE"

Released by RKO PICTURES, Inc. on December 19, 1946.

Producer Frank Capra
Director Frank Capra
Screen play by Frances Goodrick - Albert Hackett - Frank Capra

Cast Starring James Stewart
Donna Reed
Lionel Barrymore

T-1 and T-2 advised that this was another picture where the screen credits failed to reflect non-registered Communists. However, T-1 stated that the writers, FRANCES GOODRICK and ALBERT HACKETT were very close to known Communists and on one occasion in the recent past while these two writers were doing a picture at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, GOODRICK and HACKETT practically lived with known Communists and were observed eating lunch daily with such Communists as LESTER COLE, screen writer, (Identified by CNDI [redacted] as a registered Communist for years 1944 and 1945) and EARL ROBINSON, writer, (Identified by CNDI [redacted] as registered Communist in 1944 and 1945). b7D

Concerning FRANK CAPRA, producer, T-1 and T-2 did not believe he was a registered Communist, but was known to have associated with Left-wing groups and on one other occasion to have made a picture which was decidedly Socialist in nature entitled, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington", starring JAMES STEWART, which was made several years ago.

Concerning the picture, "It's A Wonderful Life", T-1 and T-2 said in substance it represented a rather obvious attempt to discredit bankers by casting LIONEL BARRYMORE as a "scrooge-type" so that he would be the most hated man in the picture. This, according to informants, is a common trick used by the Communists.

A subtle attempt was made to magnify the problems of the so-called "common man" in society. Otherwise, the picture was described as very entertaining.

T-6 stated that in his opinion this picture deliberately maligned the upper class attempting to show that people who had money were mean and despicable characters. Informant stated that if he had made this picture portraying the banker that he would have shown this individual to have been following rules as laid down by the state bank examiners in connection with making loans. Further, the informant stated that the scene wouldn't have "suffered at all" in portraying the banker as a man who was protecting funds put in his care by private individuals and adhering to rules governing the loan of that money rather than portraying the part as it was shown. In summary, the informant states, "It was not necessary to make him such a mean character and I would never have done it that way".

T-6 recalled that approximately 15 years ago a picture entitled "The Letter" was made in Russia and was shown in this country. He recalled that in the Russian picture an individual who had lost his self-respect as well as that of his friends and neighbors because of drunkenness was given one last chance to redeem himself by going to the bank to get some money to pay off a debt. The old man was a sympathetic character and was so pleased at his opportunity that he was extremely nervous inferring he might lose the letter of credit or the money itself. In summary, the old man made the journey of several days duration to the bank and back with no mishap until he fell asleep on the homeward journey because of his determination to succeed and the package of money dropped out of his pocket. Upon arriving home the old man was so chagrined he hung himself. The next day someone returned the package of money to his wife saying it had been found. The informant draws a parallel of this scene and that of the picture under discussion showing that THOMAS MITCHELL who played the part of the man losing the money in the Capra picture suffered the same consequences as the man in the Russian picture in that MITCHELL was too old a man to go out and make money to pay off his debt to the banker.

"THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER"

Released by RKO, Pictures, Inc., on May 6, 1947

Starring Loretta Young
Joseph Cotten
Ethel Barrymore

T-5 advised that the Communist propaganda in this picture was undoubtedly condoned by DORE SCHARY, producer, whom T-5 knows personally, and has had numerous arguments concerning the Communist form of government. SCHARY is known to have been an instructor in the recent past at the "People's Educational Center", a Communist sponsored school, according to T-5, at 1717 N. Vine Street, Hollywood. Some of the known Communists sponsoring this school where SCHARY talked are JOHN HOWARD LAWSON on the Board of Directors in the spring of 1947 previously heretofore identified as a registered Communist, SIDNEY DAVIDSON, Executive Secretary, (Identified by CNDI [redacted] as a registered Communist as of May 17, 1947) and FRANK TUTTLE on the Board of Trustees, a director, heretofore identified in this report as a registered Communist. b7D

T-5 said in substance this was an obvious attempt to belittle the present Congressional form of government in this country.

UPTON CLOSE, previously identified, stated as follows concerning the picture, "The Farmer's Daughter":

"Delightful play hinging on crooked politician. Cleverly loaded with some anti-capitalistic and what might be regarded as left-wing propaganda.

"1. A totally misleading version of the story of Woodrow Wilson and the League of Nations, in which American Senators who asked for a reservation on America's entry into the League are represented as "Vicious men refusing to face the truth". The implication is that if the presented United Nations fails, it will be due to the same kind of "Vicious Americans" and not a word of Russian or other influences that might cause the failure.

"2. Opposition to milk for children or any other such appealing measure is represented in every case as being maintained on the part of politicians of a crooked political machine who go to such length as to endeavor to defeat a girl candidate with blackmail and hire gangsters and who are revealed as having belonged to the Ku KluxKlan."

WILLIAM MOORING in an article entitled "From the Hollywood Sets", appearing in the National Catholic Monthly magazine issue of August, 1947, on page 4 says:

"Pictures like "The Farmer's Daughter", which stars LORETTA YOUNG, one of Hollywood's few Catholic stars, presents an interesting example of how likely and effectively political argument can be presented so as to steer public sympathies toward the left. MISS YOUNG herself is greatly perturbed that anyone should "consider" the picture a Pro-Lefist film. It is conceivable that MISS YOUNG does not perceive the slightest element of propaganda in the story. If she had she might have declined to play in it."

MOORING points out that the underlying effect of the film, viewed as one of the steady diets of such things, is to throw mud at the political factions known to oppose Communism, and furthermore, at the same time without naming the "Progressive" party whose politics it upholds. It leaves with us the thought that only those who, like the farmer's daughter, believe in the naturalization of the banking system and other familiar tenets of Communism, are honest or humanitarian.

In this same article MOORING briefly comments on two other films as follows:

"The Long Night", written by a Lefist sympathizer WEXLEY (JOHN WEXLEY, screen writer identified by CNDI [redacted] as a registered Communist for the years 1944 and 1945) and brought to the screen by another sympathizer named LITVAK, (ANATOLE MICHAEL LITVAK, director, Russian born, 1946 Motion Picture Almanac) in similar fashion while presenting no direct political argument conveys the same feeling as the picture, "The Best Years of Our Lives, viz: that the ex-GI is not getting a fair deal from "the system". b7D

T-6, a well-known motion picture producer, advised that this picture, "The Farmer's Daughter" contains no direct Communist ideology. It exposes the crooked dealings of the upper class in politics. It shows the complete control by political methods of a wealthy family in a community. It is tempered, however, and this family is not shown as a vicious one.

One character, a butler portrayed by CHARLES BICKFORD, enables the writer to poke much fun at the wealthy family, but it leaves a favorable impression in the audience's mouth as the butler is in the end loyal to the family.

"CROSSFIRE"

Released by RKO Pictures, Inc. June, 1947.
Produced by Adrian Scott, Director Edward Dmytryk
Screen play by JOhn Paxton

Adopted from novel "The Brick Foxhole" starring Robert Young.

T-1 and T-2 advised that this is a good example of a picture in which the racial angle has been unduly emphasized. The producer, ADRIAN SCOTT and the director, EDWARD DMYTRYK are both identified as Communists by these informants. CNDI [redacted] identified ADRIAN SCOTT as a registered Communist for the years 1944 and 1945. The same source identified EDWARD DMYTRYK as a registered Communist from 1944 to 1945. b7D

A summary of the various reports submitted by the members of the Southern California Motion Picture Council, Inc., heretofore identified was made available by MRS. WILLIAM A. BURK which disclosed as follows:

CONFIDENTIAL

"This picture is near treasonable in its implications and seeming efforts to arouse race and religious hatred, through mis-leading accusations; the use of a drunken, mal-adjusted soldier to typify our courageous service men and the use of minority groups to arouse suspicion and sympathy. This country was founded for religious freedom and has ever been the haven of security for the oppressed and persecuted of all nations. Here they have found peace, security and prosperity under just and equitable laws. Any effort to arouse class consciousness or antagonism is un-American; morally unsound; a perversion of facts and a seeming effort to create pernicious propaganda against unity and peace. It could have been a great picture, had the message of love instead of hate been consummated but it missed the mark, because one group was presented as intollerant, cruel and murderous, when all classes involved were to blame. The technical qualities are excellent. The photography is unusual. The opening scenes and music, which was impressive throughout, create an atmosphere of impending deem. The story, a complex murder mystery, involves four service men, Keeley, Montgomery, Mitchell, Floyd and Samuels, a Jew. The picture is socially and moral ly unsound and cannot be commended for any audience."

An example of the placing of one race against the other is brought out in this picture, according to MRS. BURK. The picture attempts to put across a message of love instead of hatred but the attempt is not carried far enough. It tries to prove there are discriminations between gentiles, Jews, and others and that the gentiles should have more love and less hatred for others than those who believe as they do. The picture fails to point out that the Jews and others should likewise have more love and tolerance for gentiles.

The Army will resent depicting a soldier as showing hatred. They were supposed to have fought to s top such things and not to spread hatred. The character, Sammy, portrayed by SAM LEVINE, the Jew, represents all the maligned Jews in the world. His philosophy is good, that is, that we should stop hating each other and like each other, but to use him as a medium to show that all the gentiles thought that all the Jews had soft jobs in the war where in reality they did not creates a false impression. The picture, "Crossfire" represents one group as being intolerant and wrong instead of all groups being wrong.

MRS. BURK furnished the opinion of another reviewer, a member of her group who stated as follows:

"The producer and director, decidedly taking the wrong approach to overcome race hatred, have taken a subtle thrust at our police by showing the soldier murderer as a former cop and by the police captain saying nobody likes cops. T-2 advised that certain of the speeches made by actors in the film, "Crossfire" were changed on the set and did not show up in the script, specifically, a speech made by ROBERT YOUNG in which he stated, "Jews have been killed; Catholics have been killed. That is the history of America". It was altered on the set by the addition of the latter phrase, "That is the history of America."

T-1 and T-2 identified JULES DASSIN, a director, as a known Communist of long standing in the motion picture industry. CNDI [redacted] b7D identifies DASSIN as a registered Communist for the years 1944 and 1945. MRS. WILLIAM A. BURK made available summary reviews of the Southern California Motion Picture Council, Inc. This informant was of the opinion that "Brute Force" was a good example of an attempt to break down constituted law-enforcement. Quoting from the summary review furnished by MRS. BURK was as follows:

> "The writer of this story and of "Crossfire" seems determined to arouse opposition to constituted authority. The complete failure in social value lies in the subtle white-washing of crime as the reasons for imprisonment of six of the main characters. It is shown in flash-back form in such a manner that the sympathy is with the criminals. There is something definitely wrong with that kind of philosophy; particularly while men of the law are presented as drunkards, sadists, and weakling brutes, constructive effort is lacking."

Quoting from the July 19th issue of "Unbiased Opinions" heretofore described, the reviewers representing Zeta Phi Eta (Professional Speech Arts Federation for Women), 6948 Valjean, Van Nuys, California, concerning "Brute Force" stated:

> "As present stories go this is magnificantly done, but the picture stresses the wrong propaganda, that if, if you go straight you get kicked. It depicts the ugly picture of injustices inflicted on criminals who are trying to get paroled but are denied the chances to go straight."

Quoting from the review "Unbiased Opinions" made by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, 6235 Mt. Angelus Drive, Los Angeles 42, California.

"The characters portraying the officers are as follows: the Captain of the guard is a Hitler type, the warden is a weakling holding on for retirement; the prison doctor is a humanitarian who can endure the suffering he sees only by using drink as a narcotic."

The review in this periodical by the California Federation of Business and Professional Clubs, 472 So. Odgen Drive states in parts as follows:

"Socially, it is insidious for sympathy is directed toward criminals while officers pledged to uphold the law are presented as cruel, vicious, and sadistic."

T-7 stated that during the making of "Brute Force" JULES DASSIN, the director, attempted to insert a scene which in the informant's opinion was Communist propaganda. DASSIN intended showing negroes and white occupying the same cells and intended depicting some sort of strife between the races. According to the informant this plan of DASSIN was contrary to established prison regulations and practices as explained by his technical director and the informant had a conference with DASSIN instructing the latter to throw out this scene and to follow the informant's instructions, specifically as to the relationship between the white and negro races.

It was the opinion of all the informants that there is definite Communist conspiracy among certain producers, directors, and writers in motion pictures in Hollywood to carry out the aims and purposes of the Communist Party, specific examples of which have been set forth above.

Enclosures to the Bureau:

1. Photostatic copies of newspaper clippings taken from the Chicago Tribune depicting a column written by FRANK HUGHES. UPTON CLOSE furnished these clippings for the purpose of more fully explaining why a list of suspected films given on page 12 of this report were thought to contain Communist propaganda.

Congressman J. Parnell Thomas called from his summer home in Mystic, Connecticut, telephone 431J3. He wanted to say hello and to inquire how we were getting along. He asked that his best regards be extended to the Director. He stated he would be at Mystic until September 14, would then spend a ~~couple of~~ days in Washington, then return to Allentown. He was hopeful that we would be able to help him in connection with the Hollywood matter and he thought that if anything was available it could be turned over to Stripling to save time. I told him I thought to carry out the relationship the Director would prefer that anything be turned over directly to him.

He stated he would call me when he arrived in Washington on the 15th and if anything was available it could be given to him then or if anything was available prior to that time it could be furnished to him up in Connecticut.

He then inquired if Stripling had been in touch with us on the list of 40-some names. I told him he had, that we were working on it now, that as soon as it was completed he would be advised.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON

Mr. Stripling, chief investigator for the House Un-American Activities Committee, called referring to a conversation which Mr. Thomas and the Director had some weeks ago concerning cooperation, at which time the Director indicated he would gladly be of help in the work of the Committee. Mr. Stripling advised that the hearings on the Hollywood situation are to start on September 24th, and Mr. Thomas is interested in unofficially getting some background on a number of unfriendly witnesses and since Mr. Nichols was not in the city today Mr. Stripling wondered if Mr. Russell, a former Bureau Agent, might stop down. He was told this would be satisfactory.

Accordingly, later in the afternoon Mr. L. J. Russell left the attached list of 41 names of persons in whom the Committee is interested, explaining that these individuals will probably be called in connection with the Hollywood inquiry, and if blind memoranda giving the background, association, Communist Party membership, etc., could be furnished to Mr. Thomas it would be of great help. Mr. Russell suggested that should any difficulties arise we can contact him at the Committee office at the House, Extension 1405. He was told that the request would be called to the Director's attention.

Respectfully,

L. B. Nichols

RE: HOUSE COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN AFFAIRS

Dear Sir:

H. A. SMITH, investigator for the above committee, has advised me that the following individuals will, undoubtedly, be used as friendly witnesses at the hearings to be held by the above committee in September:

ROY E. BREWER (IATSE)
GARY COOPER (ACTOR)
CEDRIC GIBBONS (SUPERVISING ART DIRECTOR MGM)
RUPERT HUGHES (AUTHOR)
THOMAS LEO McCAREY (PRODUCER)
JAMES McGUINNESS (EXECUTIVE, MGM)
ADOLPH MENJOU (ACTOR)
RONALD REAGAN (ACTOR - PRES. SCREEN WRITERS GUILD)
MORRIS RYSKIND (SCREEN WRITER)
ROBERT TAYLOR (ACTOR)
SAM WOOD (PRODUCER

He advised that he has interviewed HOWARD EMMETT ROGERS, writer and prominent in the activities of the Motion Picture Alliance, and he believes that ROGERS is disappointed in not being the star witness around whom the investigation will center and, consequently, SMITH does not contemplate using him at all. He stated ROGERS had given him bad information; for example, stating that ADOLPH MENJOU would not even talk to him because of the way he had been treated by the committee when the hearings were held in this city some time ago. SMITH told him he did not believe it and immediately called MENJOU from ROGERS' home and in the latter's presence made an appointment to see MENJOU immediately. The latter was most receptive and cordial.

SMITH states he has not experienced any difficulty in obtaining consent of these individuals to appear as friendly witnesses and he has explained to them his own sincere desire to accomplish something by this investigation and assures them he is not engaging in a witch-hunt. SMITH is a little concerned at the attitude of ROBERT STRIPLING and Chairman J. PARNELL THOMAS because in discussing some of the friendly witnesses on the telephone with STRIPLING, when SMITH has indicated that they might not be desirable witnesses for some reason, STRIPLING has stated "we will subpoena them any way". SMITH feels that to subpoena anyone as an alleged friendly witness when they do not desire to testify would result in the same type of a proceeding that has been conducted heretofore and he simply will have no part of it and he has told STRIPLING that.

SMITH will proceed to Washington before long to make definite plans for the hearings and he is going to have an outline of exactly what testimony he expects from each witness and he will go over it with them in advance and he has assured them that this is the only type of questioning that will be pursued and that they need not fear any embarrassment will result as a consequence of their testimony.

In the immediate future, the Bureau will receive from the committee a list of possible unfriendly witnesses with a request for information concerning them. It is believed that this list will be as follows:

BERMAN, LIONEL
BESSIE, ALVAH
COLE, LESTER
COLLINS, RICHARD J.

Re: House Committee on Un-American Affairs

SMITH stated that recently in an interview with DORE SCHARY at RKO Studios, the latter admitted that he was a Liberal and he is still a New Deal Roosevelt Democrat; that he does and will continue to hire Communists at the studio, even if he knows they are such, until such time as Congress sees fit to pass a law against these people. SCHARY remarked that he is an intimate acquaintance of Assistant Director L. B. NICHOLS and that he had talked over his belief with NICHOLS and was informed by NICHOLS "we know all about you SCHARY and we are not going to investigate you".

Very truly yours,

Reference is made to the attached memorandum which Mr. Nichols submitted August 29, 1947, relating to the requests which have been received from the House Committee on Un-American Activities for a check of our files on 40 individuals identified with the moving picture industry. The House Committee on Un-American Activities is considering the advisability of subpoenaing these individuals before the Committee when it reactivates its inquiries into the subject of Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry beginning September 24, 1947.

For your information, the list of 40 individuals was received on August 26, 1947. A listing of the main files and references on each of the 40 subjects was obtained from the Files Section and the proper handling of the requests will require the examination of literally thousands of files before we can prepare the desired memoranda.

Blind memoranda will be prepared on these subjects, which memoranda will: 1. include all pertinent public source data; 2. exclude all data received from technical and microphone surveillances, as well as from other highly delicate media; and 3. if the public source data alone does not suffice, the memoranda will have included therein on a selected basis information received from live confidential informants which will be prepared in such a fashion as to obviate the possibility of jeopardizing our informants.

In this connection, however, I desire to point out that since this project is being handled in the Internal Security Section of this Division it will be necessary that we take a number of Supervisors in that Section from their current work on the Communist front write-ups for you and the Attorney General, if we are to get these 40 write-ups out in a reasonable length of time.

To that end, some of the Supervisors have already been taken off the Communist fronts and assigned to this project and it is contemplated that others will be taken off the Communist front project in the immediate future.

In view of the vast number of references appearing in our files on these 40 individuals and inasmuch as all main files and all references will have to be examined, it is difficult at this time to estimate when the project will be completed. However, I think that we should be able to complete all 40 memoranda by September 17, 1947, by taking some of the men off the Communist front project as indicated. We will make every effort to meet this dead line and if we are successful in completing the project by September 17, there will be an eight-day lapse between the time of completion of the project and the time when the House Committee on Un-American Activities reactivates its Hollywood inquiry. It would seem that this should be sufficient time for the interested Bureau officials to examine these memoranda and it would likewise seem that this eight-day period would be sufficient to satisfy the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

You may be assured that this project is being given very careful attention in the Internal Security Section and that every effort will be made to have the project completed as expeditiously as possible.

With reference to the last paragraph in Mr. Hood's letter of August 22, 1947, reporting that Dore Schary had told H. A. Smith, investigator for the Un-American Activities Committee, that he was an intimate acquaintance of mine and had talked to me of his beliefs and was informed by me that "we know all about you, Schary, and we are not going to investigate you," I wish to advise that when Schary was assigned by MGM as Executive Producer on the picture we were working on with MGM we ascertained that Schary was on the faculty of a school of writers sponsored by the League of American Writers in Hollywood, in 1940. The League of American Writers has a strong Communist background. We also had a reference in the file that Schary along with numerous others in the Hollywood colony had attended meetings of a Communist nature and helped raise funds by allowing the use of their names and were sympathetic with Party aims. We had Hood make a check on Schary at the time and from intelligent sources were told that Schary had been challenged as to why he participated in the school run by Communists, to which he replied that it was necessary for someone to get on the faculty who would challenge the teachings of known Communists.

The sum total of the inquiries was that Schary was an idealist, was quite active in Jewish organizations, violently anti-fascist and pro-Negro. Several rather conservative individuals, such as Bryan Foy, characterized him as being foolish.

When Schary was in Washington on February 1 and 2, 1943, I took him to Quantico and on the way back a discussion arose in which I egged him on, as to these situations. He stated he had been accused of being a Communist, that these accusations came from an element in Hollywood which had been fighting organizations such as B'nai Brith and Anti-Defamation League. He observed that at the time of the Moscow-Berlin pact a lot of individuals out there had been duped into joining various front organizations; however, he never participated in organizations. This was borne out by inquiries at the time. He was jittery on the point of anti-Semitism and I recorded in my memorandum at the time that he said he felt Jewish children should not be brought into the world at this time.

We, of course, now know what Schary is; however at no time did I tell him we were not going to investigate him or in any way vouch for him. As I recall, I did tell him we had not investigated him which is a correct statement.

As regards the captioned request, I wish to advise that I have issued instructions to the Supervisors preparing the memoranda that it will be unnecessary for them to include in the memoranda any information which appears in our files having as its original source the reports of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. I have issued these instructions not only because adherence thereto will substantially decrease the amount of time and work necessary to fulfil the request of the House Committee on Un-American Activities but also - and especially - because it seems to be unnecessary and, in fact, inadvisable for us to give back to the Committee information on these subjects which the Committee originally compiled.

I am sure that the Committee does not intend to utilize our memoranda as the sole and complete basis for subpoenaing and questioning the 40 individuals under consideration. Instead, it would appear logical that the Committee has made this request in order to secure any supplementary information not now in its possession which will serve to augment the data currently available to the Committee. Frankly, I believe that we would look a little ludicrous if we were to give back to the Committee information originally received from it and, consequently, unless advised to the contrary, the previously mentioned instructions will be carried out.

In the event the interested Bureau officials deem it advisable to include in the memoranda information emanating from the House Committee on Un-American Activities, I would appreciate being advised as expeditiously as possible in order that the instructions given to the men on this project may be altered immediately.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON

Constantine Brown told me in the strictest confidence that a few days ago Tom Dewey called Congressman J. Parnell Thomas and urged him to go easy on the Hollywood investigation on the basis that the people in Hollywood had been very helpful and their assistance would be needed in 1948 in connection with the Republican elections. Thomas told Dewey he was not going to pull any punches, that he had the goods and was going to shoot the works.

Brown also stated he understood Joe Martin also talked to Thomas and pointed out that the motion picture industry was a great one, that it was being smeared and that the investigation should be handled with caution.

Respectfully,

L. B. Nichols

Congressman J. Parnell Thomas called on Monday afternoon. I was out. As I was getting ready to call him about 7:30 that evening he called again.

He wanted to inquire how the material was coming. I told the Congressman that we were working on it and doing the best that we could, that we did not get the material in the first instance until the latter part of August, that it involved pulling thousands of files. The Congressman in his rather pompous manner said, "You are not going to let me down, are you?" I told him we were not. He then said he was a tough man to deal with. I told him we were used to dealing with tough men. I am frank to confess he made me a little bit irked. He then said that he was not an easy man to cross and that he didn't want to have to put pressure on us. I told him to keep his pants on and keep his feet on the ground. He said I was using pretty strong language. I told him not half as strong as he had been using and to come down off his high horse in a hurry. He laughed and said, "Well, you are not going to let me down, are you?" I asked him if we ever had. He said no, that we were the only agency in Washington worth a damn and he was so stating in a speech he is to make in Hartford on September 12.

I told him of course it was very simple for him to be up in Connecticut enjoying the breeze and taking it easy while other people were working and that maybe his committee might go a little smoother if he was down here in Washington working with them. The Congressman laughed at this point and said, "There are no hard feelings between us, are there?" I told him there were not but for him to keep his pants on, that we had probably dealt with as many tough guys as he had.

Thomas stated that he had a very important meeting on September 16 and he had to have some of the material and that if we did not have it all to let him have what we could. I told him we would be in touch with him with some of the material as soon as he returned to Washington.

With reference to your inquiry as to the status and program for the submission of the 40 memoranda upon the individuals in whom Congressman J. Parnell Thomas is interested, you are advised that approximately 10 of these memoranda will be finished this evening. Since the majority of the file reviews and research work is now completed, Mr. Coyne expects to be able to finish an additional 20 of the memoranda by late tomorrow; that is, Saturday night. About half of the balance; that is, 5 additional memoranda, will be finished on Monday and the additional 5 on Tuesday.

As the memoranda are completed and approved by Mr. Coyne, they are being routed to Mr. McIntire, Mr. Carlson and Mr. Nichols for their observations, their observations being incorporated into the memoranda or discussed with them. The memoranda are then approved by Mr. Ladd and routed to me. After my approval, they are routed to Mr. Tolson for approval prior to submission to you. All memoranda are being submitted as they are completed. We are not waiting for any accumulation or until the close of business on the day to send them through, but rather we are sending the memoranda through immediately upon their preparation and approval.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR:

RE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

On July 23rd, I had a lengthy interview with L. B. MAYER of MGM Studios and he discussed at length the activities of the House Un-American Committee when it was in Los Angeles two months ago.

MAYER stated the Committee did itself a great deal of harm by publishing the testimony of ROBERT TAYLOR, inasmuch as it was understood by TAYLOR and the other witnesses that their testimony was to be "off the record". MAYER stated that ROBERT TAYLOR was mistaken about the actual facts to which he referred and MAYER attributed this to his antagonism towards Communism and if ever necessary, MAYER would have to state that TAYLOR was mistaken.

MAYER related that at one time during the war he received a telephone call from ELMER DAVIS, the head of OWI, requesting that the film "MRS. MINIVER" be released nation-wide as soon as possible in an effort to combat the strong anti-British feeling that was developing in this country. Instead, therefore, of playing large houses in the big cities for months as is done with a big picture, it appeared almost simultaneously throughout the entire country and as a result the studio's gross was approximately $5,000,000.00 less than it would have been had it been distributed in a normal way.

MAYER states that sometime later, government officials were most anxious that some kind of a picture be made to put the Russians in a better light with the American people and as a result the film "SONG OF RUSSIA" starring ROBERT TAYLOR was made by MGM. MAYER could not, or would not, state exactly who had requested this film be made. He stated there were so many governmental agencies maintaining liaison with the studio he could not recall which one of them handled this particular picture. MAYER recalled that there was some Communist propaganda in the script as it first appeared and he ordered that all references to collective farming and the like be stricken, and he is certain that the film contains no Communist propaganda. He has offered to show the film to the House Committee if they want to see it to prove his point. MAYER told LOWELL MELLETT and Secretary of the Navy FRANK KNOX that he did not care whether they made the picture or not but if the Government wanted it made and wanted TAYLOR in it, then it would be necessary that his induction into the Navy Air Service be postponed until the picture could be completed. It was felt that if his Naval induction were held up, he might be inducted into the Army by his draft board and, therefore, it was necessary to make a deal with the draft board to defer his induction. As a result, TAYLOR was permitted to remain and the film was made. MAYER stated positively this was the real truth of the story and TAYLOR was not ordered by anyone to make the film and he feels that when hearings are held in Washington in September, MELLETT'S testimony, and MAYER'S if he is called upon, will make the Committee look ridiculous for having jumped at the publicity on TAYLOR'S erroneous statement.

MAYER frankly admitted that he knew there were some Communists at his studio and he referred to writer LESTER COLE by name and this individual is actually a party member. He stated that he was willing to discharge all of the Communists in his studio but that if he did so, these writers would be grabbed up by other studios immediately and paid more money than he is paying them at the present time. This is apparently his excuse for having these people on the pay roll of MGM.

Respectfully submitted,

There is attached hereto a series of questions which you may desire to give to a friendly Congressman should Eric Johnston be recalled to testify before the Un-American Activities Committee on Communism in the movie picture industry.

As you will recall, the Washington Post for April 13, 1947, quoted Mr. Johnston as stating:

> "As for there being Communist influence in the movies, such an accusation is absurd. If Hollywood were a Communist network, I should not be attacked every morning in the Daily Worker--as I can assure you I am. And some of the people out there who are attacked as Communists are no more Commies than I am. They have a right to their convictions and while some of them may be critical, they have a perfect right to be".

In view of Johnston's statement concerning Communism in the motion picture industry, these questions have been prepared in such a manner that if Johnston answers them truthfully, he will be embarrassed and it will reflect that he did not know what he was talking about when he made the aforementioned statement to the press.

Memo submitted on Cole. 9/16/47

Washington, D. C.
September 6, 1947

Mr. Johnston, as I recall, following your testimony before this Committee last spring, a Washington newspaper quoted you as stating: "As for there being Communist influence in the movies, such an accusation is absurd....Some of the people out there (Hollywood) who are attacked as Communists are no more Commies than I am". Now Mr. Johnston, isn't it a fact that John Howard Lawson, former President of the Screen Writers Guild, and Dalton Trumbo, screen writer, both of whom have written several prominent motion pictures are Communists? In addition, some well-known motion picture directors, such as Sidney Buchman, are Communists? (The Hollywood Reporter dated August 20, 1946, and the testimony of John Howard Leech, set out Lawson's affiliations with the American Youth for Democracy, the successor to the Young Communists League, the fact that he has publicly endorsed Communist candidates for public office and that he was brought to Hollywood by the Communist V. J. Jerome to improve the Communist Party's cultural work. --The Hollywood Reporter for August 21, 1946, asks Buchman if he is Communist and if he held Communist card #46802; also if he was not a member of the Young Communists League.---The Hollywood Reporter of August 22, 1946, asks Trumbo if he is a Communist, whether or not his Party name or alias is Hal Conger and if he was not a member of Group 3, Branch A of the Communist Party as well as holder of Communist Party Book #36802)

Have you ever had an occasion to read the testimony of John Leech, a former Organizational Secretary of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, before the Los Angeles County Grand Jury on August 14, 1940, when he testified concerning the Communist Party's activities directed at infiltrating the motion picture industry?

Have you examined the testimony set out in the Reports on Un-American Activities in California prepared by the Joint Fact-Finding Committee of the California State Legislature which contain voluminous testimony on the subject of Communism in the motion picture industry?

Mr. Johnston, has the motion picture industry in the past 10 years produced a motion picture showing the evils of Communism--no.

Dear Sir:

Re my telephone conversation with Mr. Nichols on this date.

In compliance with your request, there are being transmitted herewith eighteen photostats (actual size) of executed 1945 registration cards of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association, which represent the registrations of a number of Party members in the old Northwest Section. You will note that all of these individuals were connected with the motion picture or radio industry. As the Bureau has been advised, the old Northwest Section has since been broken down with the return of the Communist Political Association to the Communist Party U.S.A. The units which formerly comprised the cultural groups of the old Northwest Section have since become and are now known as the Cultural Subsection of the Hollywood Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.

The Party members represented by the enclosed exhibits are certain well known figures connected with the motion picture or radio industry in this area, concerning each of whom the Bureau's files will reflect considerable additional information. It will be noted that the photostatic copies of the CPA registration cards enclosed herewith set out, in addition to the members named, such additional data as the 1944 membership card number, address, occupation, industry, union affiliation, and the date on which the membership card for the ensuing year was issued.

CONF. INFT.

These exhibits are copies of the photographic evidence maintained in the files of this office and may be retained by the Bureau. The original evidence was obtained by this office through CNDI [redacted] whose identity is known to the Bureau.

"Last autumn Hollywood film producers had to put up with a grave failure. On the occasion of the first post-war international film festival held in Cannes, Hollywood film producers were removed to the third place. The first place was given to Soviet films--they received seven prizes--and the second to French films.

"There is nothing extraordinary in this. U.S. films are passing through a deep ideological crisis. A disgusting racial propaganda, the enjoyment of mental perversions, murder and sadism, decay and mysticism, these are the characteristic traits of post-war production in Hollywood. Neither the highly developed film techniques nor the participation of the best U.S. artists compensate for the poverty of the contents.

Hollywood and U.S. Foreign policy

"The failure experienced in Cannes was the more noteworthy since a prominent place in the U.S. expansion program is allocated to the Hollywood films produced at great expense. They must conquer the world for the American way of thinking.

"The Hollywood knights who suffered a failure in Cannes had made up their minds to take revenge at the film festival in Brussels held in June 1947. A special information center had been set up to publicize U.S. films. Enormous amounts were spent on advertising. A great delegation consisting of the leading film producers and of the most popular film stars attended the film festival in Brussels.

"The leader of this delegation was Eric Johnston. Having in mind the experience of the failure endured in Cannes, Johnston declared at a press conference before the opening of the festival that the U.S. film had entered a new era. According to him, no propaganda films will be produced. 'We regard the film as a vehicle for the expression of artistic talent,' he said.

"On the basis of this not very intelligent invention Johnston demanded that U.S. films should nowhere in the world be subjected to political censorship. The Hollwood businessmen were kept hopeful and successful not only by the ruthless propaganda but also by the fact that the Soviet Union did not attend the Brussels festival.

Eric Johnson's New Era.

"Obviously the revenge to be taken in Brussels did not, however, succeed. Even the absence of Soviet films and U.S. techniques for widespread propaganda and the prediction of a new Era, were of no avail. French films, and after them Italian films, were recognized as the best films presented at the festival. The Americans who had shown dozens of their best films at the competition hardly managed to receive two prizes.

"The reputation of the U.S. film industry, which had already suffered in Cannes, did not improve in Brussels. Eric Johnston was so excited he even forgot why he had gone to Brussels. At a press conference held at the conclusion of the festival he remained silent about the festival's results. Instead of speaking about the shortcomings of U.S. films he started to praise U.S. policy. He declared in particular that the struggle against Henry Wallace and people like him, who are endangering U.S. capitalism, must be the ideal of present-day U.S. and of U.S. culture and film.

"It seems the new era of U.S. films announced by Johnston himself will serve this purpose."

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C
Bureau File No. 100-138754.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is the report of SA EMMETT C. McGAUGHEY dated September 12, 1947, dealing with the above captioned subject.

As will be noted on the page setting forth Confidential Informants, the Los Angeles Office is desirous that the identity of the persons with whom the Agents are working not be divulged outside the Bureau. It is imperative that one studio not become aware of the fact that its scripts are being read by people associated with another studio. The scripts are difficult to obtain, and in utilizing the services of the individuals who have been reviewing these scripts these arrangements were made on the basis that their identity would be kept confidential and that they were aiding the FBI in its work in conducting an investigation and were not part of any expose of Hollywood conducted by any political committee.

It is further pointed out that many persons in the motion picture industry are extremely nervous about the impending hearings in connection with Congressional activities and some of them are not convinced that the Congressional Committee intends an honest and thorough investigation. Some persons are of the opinion that the chief interest of the Committee is in potential headlines gained through the utilization of prominent persons in the industry.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS: Pictures scheduled for production and or release by Paramount and Universal-International Studios during next four months have been analyzed and results set forth. The new LILLIAN HELLMAN-VLADIMIR POZNER picture, entitled "Another Part of the Forest", now in production at Universal-International, allegedly "is most certainly propaganda for Communism, or, more specifically, it is vicious propaganda against the Capitalist system". FREDERICK MARCH, actor, and his wife, FLORENCE ELDRIDGE, have agreed to play the leads.

Tactics used in the Injection of Communist Propaganda, or The Rejection of Anti-Communist Scenes in Motion Pictures.

As an example of how Communists attempt to alter scripts so that propaganda can be inserted, T-6 stated that MGM Studios is currently making the picture "If Winter Comes" based on a book by the same title, written by A.S.M. HUTCHINSON (phonetic), an English author. This picture was produced in the silent version by Fox Studios some years ago and T-6 states that MARGUERITE ROBERTS, a writer at MGM, is a Communist, and altered the script while it was being readied for production.

Concerning MARGUERITE ROBERTS, CNDI [redacted] advised on August 31, 1944 and January 14, 1945 that the records of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles Communist Political Association reflected the name MAGGIE S. and JOHN S. who had been tentatively identified as JOHN and MARGUERITE SANFORD. T-6 states that MARGUERITE ROBERTS is married to JOHN SANFORD. b7D

The plot of the story in the original form portrays a man who takes into his home a woman who has been seduced and is pregnant, and who has been disowned by her parents for her indiscretion. The man who furnishes her a haven is a likeable, sympathetic character, and in the original story loses his job in a furniture factory because of the scandal attached to his taking this woman in.

In the present version which MARGUERITE ROBERTS has worked on, the informant stated that he found that she had succeeded in giving the audience the idea that the man was discharged from his job because "he wrote pieces for the paper". This, in the informant's mind, was the act of "including an additional little slant" and that the man was fired because of the scandal, but that "The reason his employer discharged him was because of the writing and the employer was simply looking for an out".

Analyzation of Specific Motion Pictures, Past and Current, Disclosing Communist Connections with the Production and the Identification of Specific Communist Propaganda therein.

"CROSSFIRE"

Reference is made to Page 34 of the reference report wherein this picture was discussed.

T-1 viewed this picture and stated that the picture portrays class hatred in America. He went on to say that the picture exemplified the "discontent of the masses, of the under-dog, and the villainous habits and character of the successful man".

According to informant, the audience would as a result of the picture "dislike the so-called upper class, the successful class".

Informant continued in his opinion: "It would arouse you against the groups that are not tolerant; it shows the extent to which hatred can go; that race hatred towards Jews becomes a mania to destroy the other race.

It is quite a good picture; I don't think it will be a terrific success. It holds your interest. YOUNG gives a beautiful performance."

The picture brings out class hatred concerning the Jews, and in discussing Communists the informant said "their hatreds are political instead of racial. The Communist has a terrible hatred; instead of hating a class or a race, it is a political hatred". He further states: "The picture I think would do well in Russia, like the 'Grapes of Wrath'. There is nothing pleasant in it anywhere; these men are all affected except the Copper. He is a sympathetic role." The informant summarized his remarks by saying, "There is nothing that is anti-capitalistic about it in any way that I could see, but it is propaganda for race tolerance".

"BRUTE FORCE"

Reference is made to Page 36 of the previous report wherein this picture was treated.

T-1, in discussing this production, said: "In 'Brute Force' there is a prison story that would show well in Russia too. There is nothing good in it, nothing that is constructive or helpful or American in it, and you drop back into the regular theme. The only good character in it is the liquor-drinking Doctor who is drunk most of the time - the Prison Doctor. You have a weak Warden, a vacillating character who was threatened by the man (evidently from the State Prison Board), it doesn't mention what his authority is, but he is a Superintendent apparently, who tells the Warden he will remove him unless he changes conditions. He says what this Prison needs is Absolute discipline, not charity. Then the Captain of all the Guards, the head man, is a sadist who wants to be Warden, and by the end of the picture he is Warden. He is a sadist who tries to make the prisoners inform on each other, and one scene is brutally sadistic where he beat a man with a rubber hose.

"One of the bad prisoners is a Veteran. They use a Chapel to plan their escape while they are at services, and take food. One of the lines, 'is it so great a crime to take food from those who deprive us of it', is the sort of line you get. They are always picking on the successful."

Concerning the actual Communist propaganda in the picture the informant stated "I do not see much in it except for the general pattern; the story is frightfully sadistic. The convicts are really superior to the men in authority. The convicts are the characters whom your sympathy is with. In flash-backs we see how each convict got into prison, robbing, etc., but one robbed for a crippled girl -- each one was a lovely character. But the ones in authority were a bunch of (pardon the expression) bastards."

Continuing his discussion of the impression the picture made on him, the informant said: "All the way through, with every look and act, the fine strength and manhood of the convicts is what the Director has worked to show, and the craven weaknesses and sadistic qualities of the authorities. That is what a Director can do. He can show that the convicts are good, and who are the brutes. The general pattern is showing that the upper class, the class in authority, isn't any good, and the convicts are good. The only other thing in the picture is sadism."

"BODY AND SOUL"

Released by Enterprize Productions
Produced by R. B. ROBERTS
Director - ROBERT ROSSEN
Screen Play by ABRAHAM POLONSKY
Starring JOHN GARFIELD
LILI PALMER
ANNE REVERE

CONF. INFT. ROBERT ROSSEN was identified as a member of the Communist Party by CI [redacted] who furnished information to establish his membership on August 31, 1944, January 16, 1945, and November 19, 1945. b7D

Concerning ANNE REVERE, an actress in this picture, CI [redacted] furnished information to establish her membership in the Communist Party on the following dates: August 31, 1944; January 8, 1945; January 16, 1945; February 26, 1945, and November 19, 1945.

T-1 reviewed this picture and states that it deals with the prize fight racket, and as far as Communistic propaganda is concerned the informant said: "It is not as hot as others I have seen". "It portrays the rich and successful man in a bad light and the finest character of them all is a colored fighter". The colored fighter is managed by a dishonest promoter and is maneuvered into a position where he fights a bout with a clot on his brain and is killed. His manager, informant states, "knows it will kill him and in the picture uses the line 'so what, it's business'".

In bribing various fighters, the white man takes the bribe and the negro refuses $60,000. to throw a fight; portraying the negro in a fine light, according to the informant, is the principal form of propaganda in this picture. The negro fighting while injured, knowing that he is injured, and his manager knowing that it may be his death, and the negro refusing a bribe while the white man accepts it, shows the former as a noble character and sympathetic character, while the successful promoter is shown an an unscrupulous, dishonest, heartless character.

"KEEPER OF THE FLAME"

Reference is made to Page 16 of the previous report wherein this picture was reviewed.

T-1 ran the film and stated that the picture follows the line of attacking regular things as being Fascist. The informant said that the picture portrayed a self-made man and followed the Communist line of "Tearing down a great, heroic character and showing him rotton underneath". The informant said that in his opinion the film was aimed at such persons as "CARNEGIE, ROCKEFELLER, or FORD - any man who has built great things is being torn down".

"ANOTHER PART OF THE FOREST"

Presently in production at Universal-International Studios
Producer, JERRY BRESLER
Director, WILLIAM GORDON
Screen Play by LILLIAN HELLMAN
Screen Adaptation by VLADIMIR POZNER

Starring: FREDERICK MARCH
FLORENCE ELDRIDGE

T-2 furnished the script of this picture which is being readied for production at Universal and is scheduled to go before the cameras within the next several months. According to the informant, the studio acquired this property when it desired a "big name" story and it assigned BRESLER for the production. Informant went on to say that HELLMAN has a big name and is generally regarded as a successful writer.

CONF. INFT. b7D

LILLIAN HELLMAN was described by CNDI [redacted] in 1944 as a high-ranking Communist who had associated exclusively with known Communists and Communist front organizations for at least 20 years. CNDI [redacted] and is basing his statement as to HELLMAN's membership on his past experiences.

Briefly the story deals with, according to T-1, "the most degenerate characters I know". He further said that the story has to do with a Southern family living in the period immediately following the Civil War. The father has made considerable money by profiteering during the War and he and the members of his family have continuous squabbles over money. The informant continued that the story deals with the reconstruction period and portrays the Southern aristocracy as a degenerate, ignorant class.

The script was read by T-3, whose remarks are being set out verbatim hereinafter:

"This script as a whole, in story, theme, intention, and implication, is most certainly propaganda for Communism - or, more specifically, it is vicious propaganda against the capitalist system.

"The story presents a family of monsters in a small Southern town in the year 1880. All the members of the family are unspeakably depraved (except the mother, who is insane) and indulge in every possible kind of villainy, including incest. They are shown in a manner which implies that they represent a rising new social class - the businessmen.

"The sole motive of the family is greed for money. The father got his start by alleged 'profiteering' during the Civil War and by betraying Confederate soldiers to the Union Army for a financial reward. (He led Union soldiers to a Confederate camp, with the result that 27 young Confederates were slaughtered in their sleep - not a very flattering incident for the Union Army, incidentally.)

"The father, the two sons and the daughter now spend all their time lying, cheating, doublecrossing, blackmailing one another and everybody - in order to get money. The pursuit of money is made to appear evil and sickening - and the audience is left with the impression that money can be obtained only by such methods, that these are the only kind of people who can become rich. This is not said explicitly, but it is implied very forcefully - because there is not one line of dialogue, not a single reference to any honest method of acquiring wealth. The Hubbards are not presented as a freak family of scoundrels. They are presented, by implication, as the rich.

"All the other characters of the story, everybody in the town where the action takes place, are poor, ruined by the Civil War. The Hubbards are the only rich in the midst of general devastation. If there are any other kind of rich people in the town, the story never mentions them.

"There is not a single 'good' or actually sympathetic character in the whole story. As sole contrast to the Hubbards, there are only some ruined Southern aristocrats, who are futile, helpless and stupid - such as the stuffy John Bagtry and the half-witted Birdie. These are presented as the only honest people and are placed in the position of 'sympathetic' characters - yet here is what they stand for:

"Pages 101-102:

BIRDIE

"John wants to go to Brazil right now.
The radical people down there are trying to abolish slavery, Mr. Hubbard, and ruin the country. The planters have been looking for Confederate officers so John will be able to fight again for his ideals.

MARCUS
"Why don't you choose the other side?
Every man needs to win once in his life.

JOHN
"I don't like that way of saying it. I fight for a way of life.

"Here it is clearly driven home that John is not just a character in a story, but the representative of a 'way of life'. The only representative of the other, new 'way of life' which has defeated him, the representative of the capitalistic North as against the feudal South, the accomplice of the Union Army - is Marcus Hubbard (and his vicious children). No, Marcus is not just a villain - he is the symbol of the new economic order. This is stressed explicitly on page 102, where Marcus says to JOhn:

MARCUS
"Well, I disapprove of you. Your people deserved to lose their war and their world. It was a backward world, getting in the way of history. Appalling that you still don't realize it.

"The political message of the picture is certainly appalling. It tells people, in effect, that the course of American history consisted of a slave system which was replaced by something still worse, by the rise of capitalism - as exemplified by Marcus Hubbard. America had nothing to offer - except a choice between the 'ideals' of John Bagtry and the modern world of the Hubbards.

"This is not left merely to implication. It is stressed in a conversation between the two sub-human Hubbard sons, when Ben, the oldest, takes over his father's fortune through blackmail and looks forward to a brilliant financial future for himself.

"Pages 155-156:

BEN
"Big things doing all over the country.
Railroads going across, oil, coal.

OSCAR
(eagerly)
"Think we got a chance to be big rich, Ben?
Ben smiles.

"Here you have the filthy, contemptible implication that the magnificent progress of American industry in the last 19th century, the great spurt of productive energy unequalled in history, the 'railroads, oil and coal' were created by or for the profit of men such as Ben and Oscar!

"If the audience took this picture seriously, they would go out of the theater and murder the first person wearing a mink coat. The only thing to prevent this, will not be the authors' intention, but the lurid preposterousness of the story. The non-discriminating, however, will leave the theater with a good charge of hatred and indignation against the rich, the businessmen and the American system as a whole.

"DETAILS:

"On page 119, Marcus Hubbard describes his past as follows:

"At nine years old I was carrying water for two bits a week. I took the first dollar I ever had and went to the paying library to buy a card. At fourteen I was driving mules all day and most of the night. But that was the year I learned my Greek, read my classics, taught myself ---

"This is a fairly subtle point, and the audience might safely miss it, but this passage is a parody on the life story of a self-made man. If Marcus Hubbard were intended to be taken as a plain criminal, he would have been shown spending his youth in reform schools or indulging in petty larcenies. But no, he is given the standard biography of a hard-working, ambitious self-made man. Only Communists would sneer at and discredit the kind of effort Hubbard claims to have made in order to rise and educate himself.

"On page 44, Hubbard's wife explains how he made his money during the Civil War:

LAVINIA

"People were dying for salt, and I thought it would be a kindness to run the blockade and bring it to them..... Only I didn't think he would be asking eight dollars a bag for it - a tiny little one pound bag. Making money out of other people's misery!

"Most people are quite confused on what constitutes war profiteering - so it is a standard Communist practice to denounce legitimate capitalist methods in the guise of denouncing "war profiteering". By the proper definitions of a free economy, only dishonesty in obtaining or executing government contracts can be classified as 'war profiteering'. The activity denounced in the above dialogue - a man running a blockade and making a profit on a product which he alone is able to supply - is not profiteering, and is not reprehensible. People were not forced to buy his product, they needed it desperately, and there is no defineable limit to how much profit a man may or may not make. The mere conception of limiting profit is a collectivist idea. In a free economy, profit is established by supply and demand - and nothing else whatever.

"Such a line as the suggestion that somebody should run a blockade out of 'kindness' is economic demagoguery of the worst kind. Neither 'kindness', nor 'noble intentions', nor altruistic motives can produce goods or pay for them. Somebody has to produce them and somebody has to pay. It is this mixture of 'kindness' with economics that is the sure sign of someone preaching a Communist economy.

"The line 'Making money out of other people's misery!' is practically a bromide of the Communist Propaganda machine. If such a slogan is repeated often enough and people actually accept it, it would justify any hungry bum in looting any grocer, because the grocer, too, could be defined as making money out of the bum's misery. The implication here is that it is evil to make money on something which others need. Since nobody buys anything unless he needs it, the further implication is that all profitmaking business is evil.

" -- you got rich, bringing in salt and making poor, dying people give up everything for it. Right in the middle of the war, men dying for you, and you making their kinfold give you all their goods and money!

Page 110 Marcus Hubbard says about his son:

"And he steals a little. Nothing much, not enough to be respectable.

"This may be just a wise-crack - or it may imply that you have to steal a lot in order to become respectable in our society.

"STRICTLY PHILOSOPHICAL NOTE:

"The following is only an academic observation, just a curious point. It will not endanger the public, will not help spread Communism and will not be noticed by anyone, except the initiated. It is curious that the philosopher who is mentioned and stressed continuously throughout the picture as Marcus Hubbard's favorite (there is even a bust of him featured) - is Aristotle.

"Aristotle (the rationalist and individualist) is hated by Marxists - as opposed to Plato, who is the father of all collectivist philosophies and the patron saint of Marxism. The courses of dialectic materialism in the Soviet Universities always include Plato as the philosophical ancestor of Hegel and Marx (which he is). In our American colleges, right now, (and in recent book publications) there is quite a campaign by the Communists featuring the philosophy of Plato, while Aristotle is being discredited. It must be noted that Aristotle is the Philosophical ancestor of Thomas Aquinas, who is the leading philosopher of the Catholic Church and of the present-day revival of Catholic philosophy known as neo-Thomism. So the battle lines in this issue are quite logically drawn, and not as academic and removed from everyday politics as it may appear at first glance.

"The cheap, vulgar little smear of Aristotle in this picture is just a gratuitous touch of propaganda "for the elite". The intention here is the hope that it may have some influence on college students who are just learning about Aristotle and Plato for the first time."

T-1 read the script and stated: "The Children's Hour", "The Little Foxes" and now this". "Three in a row dealing with the most degenerate characters I know". "The Children's Hour was a great picture, but made you sick at your stomach. The Little Foxes - you wanted to go out and brush your teeth after you saw it. It was diseased; every character in it was diseased, and yet it was beautifully written. This script is beautifully written, and every character in it is diseased. There is no character here that has any virtue unless it be the mother who was sick-minded, with the exception of three negroes, the three servants in the house. When they appear they are bright and good.

"This picture deals with the South in 1880. It starts with a celebration of a kind of Memorial Day for 20 young Confederates who were murdered, massacred by the Union Army because someone led them to the place where the men were camping and it had never been known who led them. Well, the story develops that it was the rich man of the town today who led the Army to the hiding place. His name is Marcus; he is a money lender and owns the store and lends money at tremendous rates; he is either a Greek or he likes Greeks; he is always reading Aristotle. The mother is a weak, frightened woman, Lavinia, as we first see her, and she is nervous and jumpy and comes down to pray at this field and her husband has forbidden her to go to it. This fine young colored girl gets her in time to bring her back to the house because her husband is a martinet. There is a character of a fine decent Northern money lender who comes down to loan money at 7% and not the 10 and 15% that Marcus has been charging, and the Ku Klux Klan, of which the younger son of Marcus is a member, rides him down and beats him up. The suggestion here was that his father had ordered him to do it because he tried to get money from his father for the act.

"Regina, the younger sister, and daughter of Marcus, has been sleeping with one of the young Confederate men with whom she is in love who does not love her, and the elder brother plots against that situation in order to mix it up because he wants the sister to marry another young rich man. The Southern boy does not have any money. The brother wants his sister to marry a rich man instead of a poor one.

"It is a completely diseased group mentally and morally. The family attitudes and life are beyond belief when you read it, however every character is believable because it is so finely done; that is to say, it is the same in all three plays. The characters are as believable in this play as they were in The Little Foxes and The Children's Hour because they are so magnificently drawn; because the woman is a magnificent writer."

The author, in portraying the characters, as has been stated above, showed them to be a completely degenerate lot. T-1 said: "They are the same people we met in The Little Foxes, decayed gentry. Oscar, the second son of Marcus, is going to marry a little chippy that he calls one of the lower class, a little dance-hall girl. The father answers: 'Some people are democrats by choice and some by necessity'. Ben, one of the brothers, tells his sister, in speaking of his father - 'Go up to him Regina, put your arms around him. Lie to him like you always do'; and in talking about his daughter's lover Marcus epitomizes him as follows: 'A dead man, a foolish man from an idiot world, a man who wants nothing but war, any war, just a war; a man who believes in nothing and never will'."

This line, according to the ~~informant~~, portrayed anti-war propaganda. ~~The informant~~ considered it significant that "all the children hate each other; the line occurred 'John wants to go to Brazil right now. The radical people down there are trying to abolish slavery and ruin the country. The planters have been looking for Confederate Officers, so John will be able to fight again for his ideals'". Informant stated that this gave him the opinion that this character wanted war anywhere at any time.

The speech on page 102 saying "Your people deserved to lose their war and their world. It was a backward world, getting in the way of history" was, according to ~~informant~~, Communist propaganda. Other Communist propaganda lines, according to the informant, was a speech on page 111 when a character named Lorette said: "How you got rich, bringing in salt and making poor, dying people give up everything for it; right in the middle of the war, men dying for you and making their kinfolk give you all their goods and money".

~~Informants~~ considered Communistic propaganda the following line when MARCUS, speaking of his son, said: "He steals a little. Nothing much, not enough to be respectable".

~~Informant~~ further said "the only characters there that are decent are the negroes and the insane mother". One incident was portrayed wherein none of the members of the family remembered the mother's birthday but the three negroes appeared in the scene in the midst of a family quarrel, carrying a cake which they had baked, showing that they were the only persons in the house who remembered the mother's birthday.

~~The informant~~ considered significant the following incident in the script when the elder son returned home. He tells the negro to carry his suitcase upstairs, whereupon Marcus says: "Take your valise to your room. It is not seemly for a man to load his goods on other men, black or white".

~~The informant~~ saw Communistic propaganda in the following line of the father: "Though ignorance becomes a Southern Gentleman, cowardice does not". And in speaking of his sons, Marcus says: "My eldest, a penny-grubbing trickster; my second, a proud illiterate". The scene wherein Colonel Isham, who represents the best people in the town, accepts bribe from Marcus because the Ku Klux Klan rode down and injured a waiter, is propaganda because it portrays the entire community as rotten and penurious. The informant summarized this picture by saying: "It is as straight a piece of propaganda as you could have for poisoning the mind against successful people".

T-2 furnished a schedule of 15 pictures which Universal-International Studios expects to go into production with before January 1, 1948. The picture, "Letter from an Unknown Woman", to be produced by Rampart Producers, an independent unit within Universal and directed by MAX OPULS is based on a novel, "Only Yesterday", by STEFAN ZWEIG. The adaptation assignment and original story were by Bertram MILHAUSER and HOWARD KOCH.

This script was reviewed by informants who failed to detect any Communist propaganda. The same process was followed in connection with a picture currently under production called "Abbott and Costello Meet Frankenstein". The producer on this picture, ROBERT ARTHUR, and the Director, CHARLES BARTON. Screen credits for the original assignment and screen adaptation will go to BERTRAM MILHAUSER, ROBERT LEES and FREDERIC RENALDO. Upon reviewing this script the informants likewise reported no evidence of Communistic propaganda.

The production schedule of Paramount stories upon examination revealed that a picture called "My own True Love" will finish shooting approximately the first of September, 1947, according to T-4. This picture is produced by VAL LEWTON and directed by COMPTON BENNETT. The writers on the story are TED STRAUSS and JOE MISCHEL. This picture stars PHYLLIS CALVERT and MELVYN DOUGLAS. The script was reviewed and no evidence of Communistic propaganda was noted according to the informants.

Contemplated Change in Management at RKO Studios.

Informant T-2 stated that the motion picture industry, at his instigation, is going to take a positive stand concerning the allegation that Communists control the industry. A meeting was held in this informant's office last week which was attended by sixteen individuals who represent studios and the major independent producers, wherein the informant outlined the program he believes the industry should follow in meeting probes by investigating committees of Congress. Informant said that the committee will defend the industry and that any allegation that it is presently controlled by Communists the industry will vigorously deny.

He went on to say that the pictures "Mission to Moscow" and "Song of Russia" were deliberately made by the industry to placate an ally and to help keep this ally in the war in order to save American lives until this country was ready from a military standpoint. In making pictures such as these the industry was doing exactly what the Administration was doing when it gave airplanes and munitions of war to Russia. No denial will be made of the fact that these pictures were pro-Russian and probably were definite Russian and Communistic propaganda.

At this meeting the informant made the public statement that he had always heard that DORE SCHARY, Executive Producer at RKO Studios, leaned to the left in his political thinking and the informant was advised by the RKO representative to "talk to SCHARY and get your own version of his political philosophies".

Informant explained to the writer that when HARRY KOERNER, former head of RKO, died, PETER RATHAVON took over as President of the Studio and installed DORE SCHARY as Executive Producer. RATHAVON, according to the informant, also has an interest in a motion picture studio in Mexico. The largest block of stock is owned by FLOYD ODLUM of the Atlas Corporation. ODLUM owns approximately 40% of the common stock, which is approximately one million shares, out of a little less than three million total. Several months ago ODLUM wanted to sell seven or eight hundred thousand shares of his stock at approximately $14.00 a share and RATHAVON was attempting to get a group of men together in order to help him buy out ODLUM, who, according to the informant, is Chairman of the Board of RKO. JULES STEIN, of Music Corporation of America, a large agency, and SOL LESSER, a producer, were two that were approached by RATHAVON. The informant was also approached, however he pointed out the stock is now down to about $8.00 a share and nothing has been done lately to the best of his knowledge.

Informant pointed out that SCHARY was put in RKO on the recommendation of RATHAVON and the informant recalled that A. B. LECKE, an investigator for the House Committee on unAmerican Affairs, stated that he had interviewed RATHAVON and when asked whether he would continue to employ people whom he knew to be Communists RATHAVON said that a man's political leanings were none of his business; that he was interested only in talent and ability and that if a man were a Communist and could do a job RATHAVON would only consider important the fact that the man had ability.

The new committee being formed by the informant will "join with, assist and help to expose Communists, but we will fight to the inth degree the labeling of the whole motion picture industry as Communist dominated".

As an example of how DORE SCHARY places persons in RKO Studios CNDI [redacted] has reported that persons seeking jobs at RKO sometimes contact WALDO SALT, who has been reported by CNDI [redacted] as being a member of the Communist Party, and who is presently Organizer of the Cultural Sub-Section of the Communist Party within the Motion Picture Industry, asking SALT to use his influence with SCHARY. SALT has "put in a good word" for certain of his friends with DORE SCHARY in helping them obtain employment at RKO Studios. b7D

As a matter of interest, WILLIAM Z. FOSTER arrived in Los Angeles from New York September 10th to confer with Local Party Leaders. He is to address a mass meeting Friday, September 12th. On the afternoon of September 10th FOSTER met in a local hotel with WILLIAM SCHNEIDERMAN, the California State Secretary of the Communist Party, who came to Los Angeles from San Francisco for that purpose, and NED SPARKS, Chairman of the Los Angeles County Communist Party. They discussed a number of issues and one topic was certain Hollywood motion picture productions. FOSTER, in speaking of the motion picture "The Best Years of our Lives" said: "That was real stuff". He commented on the pictures "The Farmer's Daughter" and "Crossfire", stating: "they are standing them on their ears". Also in the conversation FOSTER indicated that he considered these three pictures as very fine productions. All three of these pictures have been discussed in the reports in this case. This information was furnished by Source T-7.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS: Pictures scheduled for production and or release by Paramount and Universal-International Studios during next four months have been analyzed and results set forth. The new LILLIAN HELLMAN-VLADIMIR POZNER picture, entitled "Another Part of the Forest", now in production at Universal-International, allegedly "is most certainly propaganda for Communism, or, more specifically, it is vicious propaganda against the Capitalist system". FREDERICK MARCH, actor, and his wife, FLORENCE ELDRIDGE, have agreed to play the leads.

At a meeting of the Executive Conference on September 10, 1947, attended by Messrs. Tolson, Tamm, Glavin, Tracy, Nease, Mohr, Nichols, Clegg, Rosen, Long and Ladd, the Conference was advised that it was suggested that the Los Angeles Office be instructed to put into effect the following procedure for the purpose of determining the "effect of the Communist activity in the motion pictures in Hollywood."

It was suggested that the Los Angeles Office be instructed to list and submit to the Bureau the names of pictures in which known Communists and Communist sympathizers have parts, together with the identities and roles of Communists and Communist sympathizers.

It was also suggested that qualified Agents be designated to review on a confidential basis the motion picture films which responsible critics or reliable informants have indicated to contain Communist propaganda, pointing out carefully that they should not attempt to obtain scripts or make direct approach to studios for this purpose; that the Agents should thereafter set out scene or scenes which contain the Communist propaganda, identifying this scene with the Communist Party line on the particular issue involved. Such information should then be submitted to the Bureau by the Los Angeles Office on a quarterly basis.

The Executive Conference was unanimously in favor of this provision with the safeguards listed above. In the event you approve the suggestion of the Conference, a letter is attached for the Los Angeles Office.

RE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Dear Sir:

With reference to your telephone request, there are being forwarded photostatic copies of Communist Party membership cards of the following persons:

ALVAH BESSIE
KAREN MORLEY
BUD COHNEN
JOE BROMBERG

You will note that BOHNEN'S first name is given as "BUD" on the card. This is, in fact, ROMAN BOHNEN who was mentioned in the telephonic conversation. JOE BROMBERG is identical with EDWARD BROMBERG inasmuch as his correct name is EDWARD JOSEPH BROMBERG.

There are also enclosed photostatic copies of the membership cards of;

DALT T. (DALTON TRUMBO)
SAM O. (SAM ORNITZ)
ALBERT M. (ALBERT MALTZ)
RING L. (RING LARDNER, JR.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 4-18-95 BY 6810 BTW/CM

With reference to this last mentioned group of individuals, this office has records to show that although the last name is not given on these cards, they were, in fact, issued to the individuals whose names are set forth in parenthesis.

The other individuals mentioned in Mr. NICHOL'S conversation have not, so far as is known, been issued any party membership cards.

Very truly yours,

On September 18, 1947, Mr. H. A. Smith, Investigator for the above-named Committee in Los Angeles, called on me and stated he had just returned from the East, having conferred with Congressman Thomas and Chief Investigator Stribling of the Committee.

Mr. Smith stated that the meeting in the East produced practically no results and, as far as he is concerned, was not at all worth while. Apparently he and Stribling clash on their ideas about how the Hearing is to be held and from what Smith said, there is little likelihood of them reaching a compromise on their divergent views. He pointed out that there was some talk about attacking the motion picture industry at the Hearing and Smith is of the definite opinion this should not be done, and he has told Stribling that, but the latter is apparently convinced that some of this should be done. He kept telling Smith that he had been in this type of work for seventeen years and that Smith was a novice at it and could not tell him how to run it. They talked a great deal about having "big names" for the Hearing and apparently they are still more concerned with having "big-named" people appear than with developing some real information of value. Stribling kept telling Smith that he would come out of this thing a very well-known man and he would be able to "write his own ticket here in California." Smith says he never saw anyone who came out of a Committee Hearing who could write his own ticket.

Smith stated that he was asked expressly if he was going to continue with the Committee and he assured them that he was. He pointed out to me that he would certainly never let the Bureau down by resigning from the Committee's work until after this Hearing and he hoped that the Bureau would understand his position. He states he has worked long and hard on this matter and feels that, having been on the scene, he is entitled to make some recommendations as to how it ought to be handled and he thinks that some of them should be accepted.

He advised that the following individuals are being subpoenaed immediately for the Hearings now scheduled to begin on October 23, 1947:

In the preparation of the current summary for the Director on Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry, it has been noted that the Bureau has developed considerable data reflecting the cause of the Communist activity in the motion picture industry. By that I mean that a very extensive investigation has been conducted to determine the identities of the Communists and Communist sympathizers in Hollywood as well as their activities. We have also conducted a thorough investigation of the Communist infiltration into the labor field and the various Communist front organizations active in the Hollywood area. On the other hand, the effect of this Communist activity in the motion picture industry has not been determined. That is, the actual Communist propaganda in the motion pictures, which is the ultimate objective of the Communist Party program in Hollywood, has not been developed.

In 1945 SAC Hood of the Los Angeles Office proposed to the Bureau that Agents be assigned to review certain motion pictures for the Communist propaganda content in order for the Bureau to have available this type of information so that if at some future date it was necessary to point out examples of actual Communist propaganda in the film industry, the Bureau could be in a position to do so. Mr. Hood's suggestion at that time was vetoed by the Bureau due to the fact that it was felt we should not undertake a project to have such analysis prepared of films of a social and political nature. The review of these films would constitute the opinion of the reviewing Agents and they could not be classified as expert witnesses. In addition, it was felt that the Communist line at that time, at least on the surface, was most harmonious with the nation's policies and in many instances it would have been most difficult to show that a line or sequence in a motion picture had been wilfully injected as Communist propaganda.

The above reasons for vetoing Mr. Hood's suggestion are well considered; however, the Communist Party has returned to its basic principles of Marxist-Leninist ideology. The nation has become aware of the Communist menace within our borders and the Bureau may be called upon to specifically state the scenes in certain motion pictures which may contain Communist propaganda. It is believed that the following policy should be established: (1) Pictures in which known Communists or Communist sympathizers have a part should be listed and submitted to the Bureau together with the identities and roles of these Communists and Communist sympathizers. (2) Qualified Agents, well schooled in Communism and Communist propaganda techniques, should be designated to review, on a confidential basis, the script and film of all motion pictures which responsible critics or reliable informants have indicated contain Communist propaganda. These Agents should then set out, verbatim whenever possible, the scene or scenes which contain Communist propaganda. Each scene should then be followed by a quotation which gives the Communist Party line on the particular issue involved. These quotations should be taken whenever possible from official publications of the Communist Party such as "Political Affairs;" and, (3)

The procedure is to become effective immediately and should be submitted to the Bureau on a quarterly basis hereafter.

It is believed that this procedure, if put into effect, will give the Bureau an authoritative, graphic picture of the Communist propaganda in current motion pictures and will provide the Bureau with the effect of the activity of these Communists and Communist sympathizers active in the motion picture industry. Therefore, if you approve, there is attached hereto a letter to the Los Angeles Office requesting them to put this procedure into effect at once.

The Bureau desires that your office put into effect immediately the following procedure in developing the effect of the Communist activity in the motion pictures in Hollywood.

1. Pictures in which known Communists or Communist sympathizers have a part should be listed and submitted to the Bureau together with the identities and roles of these Communists and Communist sympathizers.

2. Qualified Agents, well schooled in Communism and Communist propaganda techniques, should be designated to review all motion pictures which responsible critics or reliable informants have indicated contain Communist propaganda. In the event you believe it possible to obtain, subsequent to the release of the picture, copies of the scripts of these motion pictures from confidential informants, you should advise the Bureau of the identity of such informants and the possibilities of obtaining such scripts for prior Bureau authority. If such Bureau authority is granted, these scripts may be utilized in reviewing those motion pictures. No direct approach should be made to the studios to obtain the scripts or review the films.

   These Agents should then set out in a most accurate and authoritative manner the scene or scenes which contain Communist propaganda. Each scene should then be followed by a quotation which reflects the Communist Party line or the Communist program utilized by the Communists or pro-Communist writer, producer or director in his attempt to disseminate Communist propaganda in the particular scene. These quotations should be taken whenever possible from an official publication of the Communist Party, such as "Political Affairs". The utilization of this quotation should indicate the parallel existing between the particular scene and the Communist Party line.

3. The procedure should be instituted immediately and desired information submitted to the Bureau on a quarterly basis thereafter.

It is realized that in most instances the script of the film will not be available. It is, therefore, incumbent upon the Agents reviewing the film to be most accurate in their description of the particular scene and the setting forth of the dialogue. The Bureau is desirous of having available an authoritative, graphic picture of the Communist propaganda in the motion pictures and the review, therefore, must set forth factual information rather than opinions of Agents.

September 18, 1947

Reference is made to our teletype to your office dated September 6, 1947, and your reply dated September 8, 1947, captioned Communist Infiltration of Motion Picture Industry, Internal Security - C.

In the referenced communication to your office you were instructed to re-examine the information set out in the report of Special Agent James G. Findlay, dated August 4, 1947, with reference to Allen Rivkin, wherein it was indicated he was a member of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, according to Source T-2. Upon re-examining the information obtained from Source T-2, your office advised that the original information set out in the referenced report was in error and that actually there was no evidence, according to this source, that Allen Rivkin was a member of the Communist Party.

I desire to call to your attention that it is of the utmost importance that extreme care and caution be exercised in the preparation of our reports. An error of this type is most serious and could prove very embarrassing to the Bureau, particularly in view of the present interest of the nation as a whole and the Congressional Investigating Committees concerning Communist activities in the Motion Picture Industry. The Bureau will not tolerate errors of this type and you are accordingly instructed to personally see that this type of reporting does not occur in the future.

This speech was made at a public forum sponsored by the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization as part of their "Counter-Attack" series. The forum on January 13, 1947, was called the "Attack on Hollywood". The speakers besides IRVING PICHEL were:

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON

ROBERT W. KENNY

The original of instant photograph was made available from the files of the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization through the cooperation of Mr. JACK PEASE, Security Officer, University of California at Los Angeles, to Special Agents JAMES G. FINDLAY, LESLIE F. WARREN, and JOHN KEANE of this office on May 16, 1947.

This is being forwarded to the Bureau inasmuch as it is felt that it may be of interest to the Bureau in connection with the above captioned case.

GARY COOPER INAUGURO LA F. COMUNISTA DE FILADELFIA

ANTE 90.000 personas, Gary Cooper pronunció el siguiente discurso inaugurando la Federación Comunista de Filadelfia:

"Compañeros, ciudadanos: La roja bandera que veis flamear al viento en la inmensa torre de la Federación está para indicaros que también aquí, en Filadelfia, se ha dado un nuevo paso hacia el porvenir. En cualquier lado en que se enarbole uno de estos rojos pendones, allí se colocan las bases para la felicidad, la libertad y la paz de los trabajadores de todo el mundo. Nuestra bandera es roja, como roja es la sangre de los millones de hombres de todas las edades y todas las épocas muertos en nombre de una mayor justicia social; como el ardor que nos invade a todos en la edificación de un nuevo mundo.

"Ser comunista es hoy el más grande honor. Ser comunista significa tener el sol, la luz en todo el espíritu, significa amar, luchar!

"Yo quisiera que todos los hombres entendan y comprendan qué somos nosotros los comunistas; entonces no habría ninguno que de buena fe pueda sostener que somos enemigos del hogar, de la humanidad y de la paz.

"Es preciso conocer primero qué es el ideal comunista para poderlo juzgar. Especialmente los americanos tienen necesidad de ello. Fuera de nuestro continente, millones de hombres miran hacia América como el país de la civilización moderna, pero nadie, como nosotros los americanos puede comprender cuán equivocada es esta creencia. Todos lo sabemos, pero quizá no tengamos el coraje de confesárnoslo, porque podría parecernos casi... degradante. Todo el mundo tiene fe en nosotros, y por qué no debemos ser nosotros mismos los primeros en admitir nuestros defectos, el error de nuestro sistema de vida, y confesar todo lo que hay de equivocado y de vano en nuestra existencia? Esta es la única razón que ha impedido hasta ahora nuestro despertar, el saber verdaderamente, mostrar, reconocer los errores del sistema social vigente y transformar, con una decidida intervención quirúrgica el estado de cosas que sofoca a nuestra sociedad.

"Sí, debemos ser sinceros. Nuestro país es el país del oro y de la plata, del carbón, del petróleo, de las grandes vías ferroviarias, de los transatlánticos... Pero nuestro también el país donde Rockefeller, Ford y Rotschild mandan emplear gases lacrimógenos contra los trabajadores que hacen huelga para que se les conceda un nivel de vida más digno y humano. Nuestro país es el país de Lincoln, de Roosevelt, de las cuatro libertades, pero también el país del senador Bilbo, el país donde se lincha a los negros y donde son exterminados los pielrojas haciéndolos emborracharse con aguardiente y ginebra... El nuestro es el país de la democracia de palabra, pero también el país donde existe el Ku-Klux-Klan y donde se golpea al negro Bob por si se le ocurre ir a votar... Nuestro es el país de los rascacielos, pero también el país de los millones de desocupados. El nuestro es el país que ha combatido contra Alemania y el Japón, pero también el país que ha permitido que un MacArthur cualquiera deje en pie la autoridad del Tenno en el lejano imperio del Sol Naciente, autoridad sacudida ya por la bomba atómica y que un ligero vientecillo habría podido derrocar... Y es también el país que a pesar del sabio proverbio de Franklin, ha incrementado el contrabando de opio y cocaína en el Extremo Oriente, y ha invertido millones de dólares para experimentar con la energía atómica para fines de guerra y de paz... Nuestro es el país de las "leyes morales y humanitarias", pero también el país de la silla eléctrica, de la ejecución de inocentes animalitos y de la utilización de inmensas cantidades de materiales preciosos para los experimentos con proyectiles bacteriológicos de tétano y lepra... Este es el país que los hombres de los otros continentes creen feliz...

"Compañeros, ciudadanos:

"Yo os digo: sólo el socialismo podrá garantizar la verdadera paz, el verdadero bienestar, no sólo a los Estados Unidos sino también a todo el mundo. Ustedes estarán de acuerdo con esto: todo el mundo marcha hacia el socialismo. En una inmensa federación de repúblicas, la sexta parte del mundo, la Unión Soviética se marcha hacia el cumplimiento total del socialismo... En todas las naciones eslavas, Polonia, Checoslovaquia, Rumania, Yuroslavia, Bulgaria y Albania, se han instaurado verdaderos regímenes populares, típicas expresiones de justicia y de libertad... En Inglaterra, aunque aún no se ha dado un gran paso verdadero hacia el socialismo, los conservadores han sido de todos modos derrotados... En el Brasil y en varias repúblicas de Sud América el Partido Comunista, poco tiempo antes casi inexistente, ha conquistado puestos predominantes en la dirección política del país. En Francia es el primer partido nacional; en Italia ha obtenido casi cinco millones de votos, mientras que el socialista ha obtenido casi seis. En Hungría, los comunistas han conquistado puestos importantes, superando a los partidos de la media burguesía. En todas las colonias [illegible] en Palestina, desde la Indonesia hasta [illegible] de revolución [illegible] Grecia y España combaten encarnizadamente contra sus respectivos dictadores, ayudados por el capital financiero de la City y de Nueva York, mientras que la China, una vez derrotado el invasor nipón, se levanta en masa contra el gobierno militarista y feudal de Chang-Kai-Shek.

"Y en los Estados Unidos?... También para nosotros es hora de despertarnos, de reencontrar el justo camino trazado por Roosevelt, de terminar de una buena vez y para siempre con estos reyes del petróleo, del café, del carbón, del azúcar, de la limonada... de terminar de una vez con estos Al Capone de guantes amarillos, con los especuladores de los trusts y los carteles, para quienes la vida de un hombre no vale más que sus sucios intereses...

"Cuando nuestros padres llegaron a estas orillas, tenían un programa claro: estaban cansados de las luchas del viejo mundo del que venían, de las intrigas, de la Inquisición y del feudalismo. Ellos quisieron construir algo inmensamente grande, inmensamente bello: en un nuevo mundo! Nosotros debemos realizar su ideal, porque no es una utopía: puede tornarse realidad si cada hombre lo tiene presente en su vida como meta, si cada día lucha por su realización con coraje indómito y con tenacidad y fe!... No más guerras entre pueblo y pueblo por la supremacía de este o aquel gobierno; no más el espectáculo vergonzoso de algunos pocos maniobrando en un inmenso país con el único objeto de aumentar su capital...

"Ellos deben comprender que sólo cambiando la faz del mundo el joven Bob no se verá más obligado a dejar a la bella y buena Jane para ir a morir sin saber por qué, combatiendo contra pueblos como el chino y el indonesio que, igual que los americanos, quieren prosperar y vivir sin injusticias...

"Sólo así el minero jamás terminará de recibir bastonazos y rasos por protestar porque morran vive en un rascacielos y tiene automóviles fabricados especialmente para él mientras él se consume en el fondo de una mina en las montañas Rocallosas... Sólo así el buen Tom podrá votar tranquilamente, sin temor a ser golpeado por los hombres de Bilbo... Sólo así trusts y Rockefeller, Ku-Klux-Klan y Al Capone podrán desaparecer de la circulación.

"Sólo el socialismo podrá hacer esto, eliminando a todas las escorias y parásitos, abatiendo el ídolo del dinero, realizando el ideal de la igualdad de derechos y de la justicia social...

"Para lograr esto os invito a todos a ver en el Partido Comunista norteamericano no un instrumento de tiranía y abyección, como quieren haceros creer los agentes del capital, sino como un instrumento de liberación, de progreso y de elevación. ¡Viva América libre! ¡Viva el Partido Comunista!"

El discurso de Gary Cooper fué saludado con clamorosas ovaciones. De noche se organizó una gran manifestación, se lanzaron fuegos artificiales, se cantó y hubo ediciones extraordinarias de diarios. Los participantes del desfile llevaban carteles que decían: "Basta de Rockefeller". "¡Viva el Partido Comunista!". "¡Queremos ser hombres libres!". "¡Vivan Roosevelt y Stalin!". "¡Venceremos con los hechos, construiremos un mundo nuevo!"

GARY COOPER INAUGURATED THE COMMUNIST FEDERATION OF PHILADELPHIA

Before 90,000 people Gary Cooper made the following speech to inaugurate the Communist Federation of Philadelphia:

"Comrades, citizens: The red banner that you see flaming in the breeze on the immense tower of the Federation is to indicate to you that here in Philadelphia also a new step has been taken toward the future. Wherever this red banner flies is where there are bases for the happiness, liberty and peace of the workers throughout the world. Our banner is red, red as the blood of the millions of men of all ages and all epochs who were killed in the name of better social justice; red as the ardor which invades us all in the construction of a new world.

"To be a Communist is the greatest honor in the world today. To be a Communist means to have the sun, and the light in the spirit, it means to love and to fight!

"I would like for all men to understand what we the Communists are: then there would not be anyone who in good faith would support the belief that we are enemies of the home, of humanity and of peace.

"It is necessary to first know what the Communist ideal is in order to judge it. Especially the Americans must know it. Outside our continent, millions of men look toward America as the country of modern civilization, but no one can understand how mistaken this belief is like the Americans. We all know it, but perhaps we haven't the courage to confess it to ourselves...because it would seem almost...degrading to us. The entire world has faith in us and why shouldn't we be the first to admit our defects, the errors in our way of life and confess all that is wrong and useless in our existence? This is the only reason that has prevented thus far our awakening, the knowledge of how to truly demonstrate and recognize the errors of the social system in force and to transform by a surgical intervention the state of the things that suffocate our society.

"Yes, we must be sincere! Our country is the country of gold and silver, of coal and oil, of the great railroad systems, of the transatlantic lines..But our country is also the country where Rockefeller, Ford and Rothschild order tear gas to be used against the workers who strike for a more worthy and human standard of living. Our country is the country of Lincoln, of Roosevelt, of the four liberties, but also the country of Senator Bilbo, the country where negroes are lynched and where the redskins are exterminated by making them drunk on gin and firewater... Ours is the country of word democracy, but also the country where the Ku-Klux-Klan exists and where Negro Bob is beaten if he goes to vote.... Ours is the country of the skyscrapers, but also the country of the millions of unemployed. Ours is the country that fought against Germany and Japan, but also the country that permitted any MacArthur whatever to leave the authority of the Tenno in power in the far-off empire of the Rising Sun, authority which was removed by the atomic bomb and which a light wind could have overthrown... And it is also the country which in spite of the wise proverb of Franklin has increased the contraband of opium and cocaine in the Far East and has invested millions of dollars into experiments with atomic energy for purposes of war and peace... Ours is the country of the "moral and humanitarian laws", but also the country of the electric chair; of the execution of innocent animals and the utilization of immense quantities of precious materials for experiments with bacteriological projectiles of tetanus and leprocy...This is the country which the men of other continents believe to be happy.

"Comrades, citizens:

"I tell you: only Socialism can guarantee real peace, real well-being, not only in the United States but throughout the world. You will be in accordance with this: the whole world marches toward Socialism. In an immense federation of republics, the sixth part of the world, the Soviet Union is marching toward the complete fulfilment of Socialism...In all the slavic nations, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania true popular regimes have been installed, typical expressions of justice and liberty...In England, although not a real step has been taken toward Socialism, the conservatives have been defeated...In Brazil and in several republics of South America the Communist Party, almost non-existent a short time before, has won predominant posts in the political leadership of the country; in France it is the first national party; in Italy it has obtained almost five million votes, while the Socialist has obtained almost six. In Hungary, the Communists have gained important posts, overcoming the small parties of the middle bourgeoisie...In all the colonies from India to Palestine, from Indonesia to Indo-China there are winds of liberty and social revolution...Greece and Spain are fighting bloody battles against their respective dictators, aided by the financial capital of the City and of New York, while China, after defeating the Japanese invader is raised in mass against the military and feudal government of Chiang-Kai-Shek.

"And in the United States?...It is also time for us to wake up, to find the just road outlined by Roosevelt, to put an end for once and for all and forever to these oil, coffee, coal, sugar, and lemonade kings...to put an end to the Al Capones with the yellow gloves, the speculators of the trusts and placards, for whom the life of a man is worth no more than their dirty interests.

"When our fathers reached these shores they had a clear program: they were tired of the struggles of the old world from whence they came, of the intrigues, of the Inquisition and of fedudalism. They wanted to construct something immensely large, immensely beautiful: in a new world! We must realize their ideal, because it is not a utopia; it can become reality if each man keeps it alive in his life as a goal, if each day he struggles for its realization with indomitable courage and with tenacity and faith!...No more wars between people for the supremacy of this or that government; no longer the shameful spectacle of a few working in an immense country for the only purpose of increasing their capital...

"They should understand that only by changing the face of the world can young Bob no longer be obliged to leave the beautiful and kind Jane to go out and die without knowing why, fighting against people like the Chinese and Indonesians who, like the Americans, want to prosper and live without injustice...

"Only in this manner can the miner Jim stop receiving bastinados and gas for protesting because Morgan lives in a skyscraper and has cars custom made for him, while he is consumed in the bottom of a mine in the Rocky Mountains...Only in this manner can good Tom vote peacefully, without fear of being beaten by Bilbo's men...Only in this way can trusts and Rockefeller, Ku-Klux-Klan and Al Capone be put out of circulation.

"Only Socialism can do this, eliminating all the scoriae and parasites, overthrowing the idol of money, realizing the ideal of the equality of rights and of social justice.

"In order to attain this I invite all of you to see in the North American Communist Party not an instrument of tyranny and abjection such as the agents of capital would have you believe, but an instrument of liberation, of progress and of elevation.

"Long live free America! Long live the Communist Party!"

*********

The speech of Gary Cooper was received with a clamorous ovation. At night a great manifestation was organized and there were artificial fires, singing, and extra editions of daily newspapers. The participants in the parade carried placards that read: "Enough of Rockefeller", "Long live the Communist Party!", "We want to be free men", "Long live Roosevelt and Stalin!", "Let us conquer the facts and construct a new world!"

INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Reference is made to the report of Special Agent James G. Findley, dated August 4, 1947, at Los Angeles, entitled, "Communist Infiltration of the Motion Picture Industry, Internal Security - C."

The referenced report on page 8 reflects that in 1934, according to confidential source T-16, there were only 35 or 40 Communist members in Hollywood in the motion picture industry who were attached to the Los Angeles Sub-Section of the Communist Party.

The Bureau desires that your Office give consideration to ascertaining whether or not this source can provide the Bureau with the identities of these individuals. If this data can be obtained, it is recommended that an effort be made to ascertain whether or not these individuals are still affiliated with the movement in Los Angeles, and if not, an inquiry should be conducted to ascertain whether or not it is advisable to interview these people relative to the Communist Party activities in the Los Angeles area and in particular with regard to the motion picture industry.

It is requested that you immediately advise the Bureau concerning the information available from source T-16 and your views concerning the possibility of interviewing these individuals in an effort to obtain additional information concerning Communist Party activities in Hollywood and in particular in the motion picture industry.

Recently, Informant [redacted] advised that JOYCE O'HARA of the Motion Picture Producers Association advised him that "the FBI has given EDWARD CHEYFITZ a complete bill of health" in so far as membership in the Communist Party is concerned. The Bureau will recall that CHEYFITZ is employed by ERIC JOHNSTON, President of the Motion Picture Producers, and he was formerly a member of the Communist Party in Cleveland. Informant advised O'HARA that he doubts this very much and reminded him that the newspapers recently carried a story stating CHEYFITZ had taken part in a CIO strike in 1942.

b7D

The Informant stated that PAUL McNUTT has agreed to represent the Policy Committee of the Motion Picture Industry in the pending hearings and that JAMES BYRNES will act in the capacity of Advisor. He believed that it was not proper for a former Justice of the Supreme Court and a former Secretary of State to become involved in the political end of these hearings. It is anticipated that McNUTT will be in constant attendance during the sessions and will attempt to formulate questions and handle the people who are appearing from the industry in order to prevent a smear of the Hollywood Picture Industry.

The Informant advised that the Policy Committee is composed of NATE SPINGOLD, AUSTIN KEOUGH, ROBERT RUBIN and JOE HAZEN of New York; MENDEL SILBERBERG, MAURICE BENJAMIN, AL WRIGHT and FRANK FREEMAN of Hollywood. For the most part, these individuals are attorneys.

DEFERRED ACTION

The Informant advised that BYRNES was thinking of asking the Bureau in Washington to give him the names of persons prominent in motion pictures who are Communists so that they can really be exposed at the forthcoming hearings.

For the Bureau's information, during the visit of BYRNES to Hollywood last week, I was introduced to him by FRANK FREEMAN of Paramount Studios. Obviously, there was no mention of the hearings or anything else relating to the security investigations being made in Hollywood.

HOLLYWOOD BREEDS 'SUPER-AMERICANS'

Moscow, TASS, Soviet Press Service, in Russian Hellschreiber to Europe, Sept. Sept. 21, 1947, 4:00 a.m. EST--L

"ISKUSSTVO KINO (CINEMATOGRAPHIC ART--Ed.) has published a lengthy article about the American cinema. The usual impression of American cinematography is that it diverts, entertains, and comforts. This correctly describes the general trend of Hollywood films. At the same time American cinematography is extremely tendentious. The gist of this tendency is to present an ideal of youth and the average man of America. What sort of a man is represented in these films? On the surface he is very charming, 'this 100 percent American.' However, he has other qualities hidden behind the facade of surfaced charm. The hero of the film holds only one religion, the religion of 'the sharp elbow and the mailed fist.'

"At every available opportunity American cinematography presents fights, face-bashings, and the famous punch on the jaw as a most handy and suitable method. But the mentality of these people of the mailed fists is extremely limited. Yet this limitation is painted as the height of present-day culture. Why does Hollywood strive to create such a standard? The answer is obvious. The man who feels himself to be exceptional gladly joins the ranks of people of a similarly patterned exclusiveness and such 'super-Americans' can become the perfect material for the creation of cadres essential to American imperialism which is marching toward big battles. It is time that this should be stated so that it should be understood what the creation of such a standard American can lead to. The press, the literature, and the noble art of cinematography are used in his education. These civilized, but in reality uncultured spectators of Hollywood films, can be set at, urged forward--an army can be hammered out of them and hurled into the mincing machine of war.

"In conclusion the journal notes that the progressive part of America can no longer stand the heroes of Hollywood films and protests against the Hollywood standard are becoming the usual accompaniment to the release of every new film."

SUBJECT: MOTION PICTURE, "CROSSFIRE"
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Motion Picture INDUSTRY

Reference is made to the summary memorandum submitted to you on October 2, 1947, captioned, "Communist Infiltration into the Motion Picture Industry", wherein on pages 161 and 162, the Communist background and reported Communist character of this motion picture are set out.

BEING REVISED

In connection with the pending hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the San Francisco Office advised that through a technical surveillance maintained on Bartley C. Crum, it ascertained that Crum has been asked to represent the producer and director of the picture, "Crossfire" before the Committee.

Crum, in a conversation with David Wahl, Washington Secretary of the American Jewish Congress, on September 29, 1947, informed Wahl of his contact with the producer and director of this picture and asked who the most effective person in Washington would be for him to discuss this matter with. Wahl advised him to talk to Martin Popper of the National Lawyers Guild, who in turn would get him in touch with one "John Rogers", most probably referring to O. John Rogge.

According to Crum, he was to have a conference with Adrian Scott, the producer of the picture; Edward Dmytryk, director; and Dore Schary, Director of Productions at RKO Studios. Concerning Scott and Dmytryk, it should be pointed out that these two individuals have been identified through a highly confidential but a most delicate source as Communists, and that Schary has been reported as a continual follower of the Communist Party line. In the conversation Crum asked Wahl if he, Crum, could do these individuals any good, to which Wahl replied, "I think you could and I think it would be wonderful if you were in Washington at that occasion. You represent a hell of a lot that Paul McNutt and Jimmie Byrnes do not. You would command a lot of respect", to which Crum replied, "Of course, I have been smeared by that committee too."

The above data has been furnished to you for your additional information concerning the pending hearings to be held by the House Committee on Un-American Activities regarding Communism in the motion picture industry.

In the future the Bureau desires that your office furnish the Bureau every thirty days with an up to date report covering Communist infiltration into the motion picture industry. This report should reflect all significant developments uncovered by your office concerning Communism in the motion picture industry during the preceding 30-day period.

All sources for each and every statement made should be clearly set out. That is, the symbol number of the informant, or the identity of the source, together with the date the information was received, should be indicated.

This procedure should be placed into effect immediately so that as of the 15th of each month, including the month of October, the Bureau will be furnished with an up to date report covering the subject matter.

In addition, your office is instructed to prepare a letter for the New York Office outlining the ramifications of the motion picture industry which have New York connections that have been subjected to Communist activity directly or indirectly. The New York Office should then likewise be requested to submit to the Bureau every thirty days a report covering the significant developments uncovered by that office on the subject matter.

The New York Office is being furnished a copy of this communication so that they may be aware of the Bureau's instructions to your office concerning the handling of this matter and can be guided accordingly. The Bureau desires that your office furnish the Bureau with a copy of the communication which your office directs to the New York Field Division concerning the ramifications within the New York Field Division of Communist activity within the motion picture industry.

DIGEST

COMMUNISM IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

In 1934 the Communist Party first became cognizant of the propaganda possibilities of the motion picture. This realization caused the Communist leaders to issue instructions in September of 1935 to all Communist Party Units in Hollywood to intensify their infiltration tactics among the cultural and labor groups in the motion picture industry. The Hollywood Units were instructed to capture the labor unions and to secure the assistance of the cultural group, that is the directors, writers, artists, actors, actresses, and highly paid technicians, in their effort to influence the production of motion pictures and thus serve the Communist cause.

These instructions have resulted in the formation of a well-schooled group of Communists in the motion picture industry who, through deception, trickery, and artifices, have promulgated the Communist cause.

Four hundred eighty-three individuals affiliated with the motion picture industry or the closely allied radio industry in Hollywood have been identified as being members of the Communist Party or its predecessor, the Communist Political Association. These individuals are not only writers and trade unionists but also include directors, actors, and actresses.

EXAMPLES

Writers - Dalton Trumbo
John Howard Lawson

Trade Unionist - Matthew Mattison, Business Agent for the Screen Story Analyst Guild

Director - Herbert Biberman

Actors - Frederic March
Roman Bohnen

Actresses - Florence Eldridge
Ruth Nelson
Anne Revere

Possibly more dangerous are the many more Communist sympathizers and fellow travelers in the motion picture industry. Many of these individuals have, with Communist support, been given high executive positions such as directors or production executives. This type of penetration can be described as more insidious because of the reputation and influence gained by these individuals.

EXAMPLE

Dore Schary - Director of all productions at RKO Studios, a Communist Party line follower and supporter of Communist influenced groups

The tactical lines and method of operation of the Communist Party at the present time appear to be another device or deceptive measure used to protect their forces. They are now replacing the outspoken Communist and Communist sympathizer with the "liberal" or "progressive" who is not so well known while the former leaders draw back into their shells to lead the Communist operations from behind the scenes. Yes, they will even go so far as to penetrate the anti-Communist movement, their objective being to direct these anti-Communist movements to less harmful channels, the result of this activity on the part of these Communists and Communist sympathizers being that they are actually attacking themselves but not sufficiently vigorously enough to basically harm themselves or their movement. Here they are employing a tactic laid down in the Leninist School of Strategy and Tactics.

Among the labor element in Hollywood the principal force of the Communists has been the Conference of Studio Unions. This group is described as a bloc of Communist controlled unions under the leadership of Herbert K. Sorrell, who has been identified as a former member of the Communist Party. The purpose of the Conference of Studio Unions has been reported as twofold: (1) That the union desires to keep the general labor situation in Hollywood agitated in line with the Communist Party program of creating confusion in the United States, and (2) to maintain intact the leadership of Herbert K. Sorrell. The strikes which have developed between the Conference of Studio Unions and the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees have been for the most part purely jurisdictional disputes caused by the Communist bloc in the Conference of Studio Unions as a part of their disruptionist tactics to gain control of the labor element in Hollywood.

The Screen Writers Guild is one of the first unions to be formed in the motion picture industry in the cultural field. It has been under the influence of Communists and Communist sympathizers since its inception. These Communists and fellow travelers have propagated the Communist cause in the Screen Writers Guild by disseminating Communist teachings to the unsuspecting writers who are also members of this Guild. The Communist writers and innocents then inject into motion picture scripts Communist veiled propaganda or eliminate anti-Communist statements or scenes from the original motion picture script.

In the cultural field, the Hollywood Communists and fellow travelers have been most successful in influencing organizations such as the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, People's Educational Center, Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, and the Actors Laboratory.

The Communists and fellow travelers in the Hollywood Writers Mobilization played an important part in the writing and production of the documentary films for the Overseas Branch of the Office of War Information. In the spring of 1945, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization Editorial Committee on Overseas Films was composed of fourteen members. Seven of these have been identified as Communists.

The People's Educational Center in Hollywood is an outgrowth of the Hollywood Writers School formed by the Communist front group, the League of American Writers in Hollywood. This group is under the influence of Communists and Communist sympathizers and has had such well-known Communists as Herbert Biberman, Frank Tuttle, and Edward Dmytryk in an executive or teaching capacity.

The Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions is an organization which was supported and backed by the Communist Party and its press during its existence. A national Communist functionary (Lionel Berman) has been given credit with participating in the formation of this group. In Hollywood, the Communist penetration of this group was no exception, for the Executive Council at the time the Hollywood Unit was established, had fifteen individuals as Council members who have been described as Communists. Many more have been affiliated with other organizations known to have been infiltrated or influenced by the Communists. This organization in Hollywood has been described as having taken a part in or supported all local activities in the Hollywood area which were inspired or propagated by the Communist Party.

The Communist Party has concentrated on the writers and directors of the motion picture industry for a considerable period in an effort to have Communist propaganda injected into motion pictures. The writer who creates the dialogue and action and the director who interprets the same are in a position to influence the political philosophy contained in any given picture. For this reason, the political views and background of the writer and director are utilized to the fullest extent by the Communist Party in their effort to disseminate propaganda through the motion picture. During World War II, these writers and directors who acted under Communist guidance were said to have inserted sequences and episodes into pictures in a most clever manner. The crowning achievement in this respect was the picture "Mission to Moscow." However, the open propaganda in this picture raised a controversy throughout the United States based upon the criticism of the picture by several newspapers which reported that the picture contained pro-Soviet propaganda. This action resulted in the Communists changing their tactic to a more subtle approach. The Communists and Communist sympathizers are said to be now content with inserting a line, a sentence, or a situation into a picture which will carry the Communist Party line into an otherwise nonpolitical picture. It has been said that they have found this method to be more effective by reason of the fact that it does not appear to be purposeful but rather incidental. This subtle method of getting propaganda into pictures has not been limited to the serious drama but has also included the musical comedies. The Communists have not only endeavored to inject propaganda into pictures but have also prevented material which the Party might consider objectionable to its current program from appearing in pictures.

Summarily, it may be said that the Communists and Communist sympathizers have been most successful in their infiltration tactics among the labor and intellectual groups for through the labor element they have utilized their disruptionist tactics causing strife and unrest and through the intellectual groups they have been able to disseminate Communist propaganda or prohibit the filming and production of anti-Communist material.

Reference is made to your request for a summary on Communism in the motion picture industry which was based upon the pending inquiry by the House Committee on Un-American Activities into the Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry. Accordingly, there is attached hereto a summary based upon available information of the Communist infiltration into the motion picture industry. This summary contains information developed by the Los Angeles Office and contained in the running memorandum maintained for you on "Communist Infiltration into the Motion Picture Industry."

In order, however, that you may have the most current information as well as the verification of the reports submitted to the Bureau by the Los Angeles informants, the field has been requested to conduct additional investigation. This investigation is being directed at obtaining the following information: (1) An exact and complete list of all known Communists in the motion picture industry showing, in addition to their last known Communist membership, their occupations and, whenever possible, their present places of employment; (2) An analysis of current motion pictures in which Communists have played an important role; and (3) The interview of additional informants by the Los Angeles Office and the interview of Louis F. Budenz by the New York Office have been requested to obtain additional facts concerning Communism in the motion picture industry and in an effort to substantiate the reports received to date from reliable informants such as [redacted] of the Los Angeles Office. b7D

In addition, the Los Angeles Office is in the process of preparing a summary type report on the Cultural Section of the Communist Party in Hollywood. The Cultural Section is composed of the artists, actors, actresses, directors, writers, and highly paid technicians in the motion picture industry.

The field has been requested to expedite the furnishing of the requested data to the Bureau in order that this information may be incorporated into a revised summary for you prior to the hearings of the Un-American Activities Committee on this subject.

Also, separate summaries are being prepared for you on individuals in the motion picture industry who have been closely affiliated with Communist or Soviet circles in Los Angeles such as Charles Chaplin, Edward G. Robinson, John Garfield, Herbert Biberman, and John Howard Lawson.

A digest of the Communist activity set out in the summary will preface the summary for your convenience. This summary is broken down into the following headings:

I. Communist Party Membership in Hollywood and Method of Operation
II. Communist Infiltration of Labor Groups
III. Communist Infiltration of Intellectual Groups
IV. Communist Influence in Motion Pictures
V. Soviet Activities in Hollywood
VI. Investigation of Communist Activities in the Motion Picture Industry by the Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives.

There is attached an up-to-date memorandum on the Communist Infiltration into the Motion Picture Industry. This memorandum outlines completely all of the information which we have in our possession at this time concerning the infiltration into the motion picture industry. Detailed instructions have been sent to the field outlining the Bureau's desires as regards the question of more completely rounding out our picture on the degree and nature of the infiltration in Hollywood.

You will note that on the one hand a great deal of our information is based upon data supplied by Confidential Informant [redacted] while on the other, the information is the result of repeated black bag jobs performed by our Agents in Los Angeles. b7D

We are fully cognizant of the fact that it is most desirable that we secure additional good live informants and we have instructed the Los Angeles Office to make a concerted endeavor in this regard.

It is expected that in the not too distant future (two or three weeks) we will have additional pertinent data to include in the memorandum and, of course, when that data is received the memorandum will be appropriately supplemented in order that it will constitute a complete factual picture of the Communist penetration in Hollywood.

COMMUNISM IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

The Executive Committee of the Communist International in March of 1925 instructed the Communist Parties of the world to turn the motion picture into an arsenal of agitation and propaganda weapons of the Communist Party.

Willi Muenzenberg, a former member of the Executive Committee of the Communist International, authored two articles printed in the American Communist newspaper, The Daily Worker, in 1925, which pointed to the significance of the motion picture as a propaganda medium of the Communist Party. Muenzenberg quoted one of the fathers of Communist teachings, V. I. Lenin, as follows:

> "You must powerfully develope film production, taking especially the proletarian kino (motion picture theaters) to the city masses and still a much greater extent to the village. You must always consider that of all the arts, the motion picture is for us the most important."

Muenzenberg, in his articles, also made the following statements:

> "We must develope the tremendous cultural possibilities of the motion picture in the revolutionary sense....One of the most pressing tasks confronting Communist Parties on the field of agitation and propaganda is the conquest of this supremely important propaganda weapon, until now the monopoly of the ruling class. We must wrest it from them and turn it against them."

> "There must no longer be any country in which the Communist Party and its group do not make extensive use of the motion picture film."

The printing of these articles by the Daily Worker can be considered as a directive to the American Communists in that it was authored by an internationally famous Communist propagandist.

Communists in the United States following these instructions have employed the strategy and techniques outlined by the great Communist fathers, Marx and Lenin.

In order to understand the operational procedures of the Communists it is well to consider the aim of the Communist Party in the United States. According to a "Manual on Organization of the Communist Party," by J. Peters, which was published in 1935, this aim is to overthrow capitalism and establish a dictatorship of the proletariat..

William Z. Foster, present National Leader of the Communist Party in the United States in his book, "Toward Soviet America," stated:

> "The leader of the revolution in all its stages is the Communist party....The establishment of an American Soviet Government will mark the birth of real democracy in the United States."

As an additional indication of the allegiance of the American Communists it should be noted that William Z. Foster, when testifying before the Fish Committee of the 71st Congress in 1930, stated:

> "The workers of this country (United States) and the workers of every country have only one flag. That is the Red flag. That is the flag of the proletarian democracy."

Indicative of the revolutionary character of the Communist Party is the following quotation taken from the "Manual on Organization of the Communist Party," by J. Peters, in which the author quotes from a pledge given by Earl Browder to two thousand individuals that were being initiated into the Communist Party in New York City in 1935:

> "I pledge myself to rally the masses to defend the Soviet Union, the land of victorious Socialism. I pledge myself to remain at all times a vigilant and firm defender of the Leninist line of the Party, the only line that insures the triumph of Soviet power in the United States."

The deceptive tactics, including the use of trickery and subterfuge, by Communists, are also indicated in the teachings of Lenin. Lenin stated:

> "It is necessary to be able to withstand all this, to agree to any and every sacrifice, and even--if need be--to resort to all sorts of devices, maneuvers, and illegal methods, to evasion and subterfuge, in order to penetrate into trade unions, to remain in them, and to carry on Communist work in them at all costs."

In order to fully understand the full import of the Communist propaganda which is disseminated by the Party and its sympathizers in written or spoken words, the deceptiveness of Aesopian language utilized by the Communists must be considered.

Lenin, in referring to this brand of Communist doubletalk, stated:

> "....that cursed Aesopian language...which...compelled all revolutionaries to have recourse, whenever they took up their pens to write a 'legal' work."

Lenin used Aesopian language for the purpose of avoiding censorship. Communists today are using it to mislead the public.

Information has been received that in 1935, the Communist Party, USA, issued instructions to the Hollywood Section of the Communist Party to intensify and concentrate their activities in Hollywood and the motion picture industry. This directive emphasized the fact that the Communists must try to capture the labor unions and pointed out that if this were done the unions could be of tremendous service in influencing the type of picture produced. The directive also contained a specific call to the Communists requesting them to concentrate on the so-called intellectual groups in Hollywood which are composed of directors, writers, artists, actors, actresses, and highly paid technicians.

The infiltration of the motion picture industry, commencing in 1935, was one of the important objectives of the Communist Party in the United States. The Communists recognized the motion picture as an excellent means of molding and influencing public opinion. The noted Communist theoretician, V. J. Jerome, was sent by the Communist Party, USA, to Hollywood on several occasions to carry out the orders of the Communist Party with regard to the motion picture industry. The general plans of the Communist Party included schemes to capture the labor unions, influence management, make friends among the company executives and to penetrate the so-called intellectual groups.

V. J. Jerome, in the late 1930's, was assisted in the labor field in Hollywood by Jeff Kibre, a Communist labor leader, who was active in the Communist crafts and unions in Hollywood.

John Howard Lawson, the Communist screen writer, and Edward Biberman, Communist Director, who in 1941 were reported as functionaries of the Communist Party in Hollywood, played an important role in the Communist plan of attack. Lawson, as a leader of the Screen Writers' Guild, was instrumental in getting many Communist writers such as Albert Maltz, Alvah Bessie, Dalton Trumbo, and Henry Blankfort, who were sent to him by the National Headquarters of the Party, into the motion picture industry. Hanns Eisler, brother of Gerhardt Eisler, indicated on one occasion that he intended to go to Hollywood through the efforts of John Howard Lawson.

The Communist Party in Hollywood, has undergone many structural changes since it was first organized. The last major change occurred in December, 1945, under the leadership of John Stapp, Hollywood Section Organizer for the Communist Party. Stapp caused the formation of three sub-sections, namely the cultural, the industrial, and the community. The latter two have just recently merged into one group. In addition, there are five studio shop units or branches located at Universal International, RKO, MGM, Paramount, and Columbia Studios. Waldo Salt, the Communist screen writer, is the organizer of the cultural sub-section in Hollywood. A studio grip, Paul Perlin, is the organizer of the consolidated community and industrial sub-sections.

A very reliable source has indicated that there are six hundred Communists employed in the motion picture and radio industries, in Hollywood, California. Five hundred and twenty of these individuals have been identified as Communists in that they are now or were members of the Communist Party, USA, or were members of the Communist Political Association, USA. The occupational breakdown of these Communists whose occupation has been ascertained is as follows:

|---|---|
| Actresses | 45 |
| Actors | 47 |
| Directors | 15 |
| Producers | 8 |
| Writers | 127 |
| Publicists | 5 |
| Musicians | 42 |
| Analysts | 9 |
| Technicians | 12 |
| Cameramen | 3 |
| Film Editors | 1 |
| Miscellaneous (cartoonists, laborers, office employees, artists, and so forth) | 62 |

A noticeable change has been reported to be taking place in the tactical operations of the Communists in Hollywood. This change appears to be the result of the attitude now taken by the Government and the country as a whole, toward the Communist movement in the United States.

Former outspoken leaders of the Communist Party, as well as other Communist sympathizers, have drawn back into less important positions and have less to say openly in Communist affairs, while those who have not been so active or so well known have been forced to the front to carry on the program, not as Communists, but camouflaged as "liberals" and "progressives."

Following the Leninist teachings on tactics and strategy, the Communists in the motion picture industry are reported to be boring within the anti-Communist movement, their objective being to direct these anti-Communist movements to less harmful channels. The result is that Communists are actually attacking themselves or their movement.

According to a reliable source the Communists have actually lost ground in the trade union field because of the failure of the Conference of Studio Unions. The Communists have, however, more than made up for this failure by having their sympathizers placed in high executive positions in the motion picture industry, such as directors and writers. This latter type of penetration is more insidious because of the reputations and influence gained by those elevated in this manner.

Among the labor element in Hollywood the principle force of the Communists has been the Conference of Studio Unions. This group is described as a bloc of Communist controlled unions under the leadership of Herbert K. Sorrell, who has been identified as a former member of the Communist Party. The purpose of the Conference of Studio Unions has been reported as two-fold; (1) that the Union desires to keep the general labor situation agitated in Hollywood in line with the Communist Party program of creating confusion and (2) to maintain intact the leadership of Herbert K. Sorrell.

The strikes which have developed between the Conference of Studio Unions and the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees have been for the most part purely jurisdictional disputes caused by the Communist bloc in the Conference of Studio Unions as a part of their disruptionist tactics to gain control of the labor element in Hollywood.

The Screen Writers' Guild is one of the first unions which was formed in the motion picture industry in the cultural field. It has been under the influence of Communists and Communist sympathizers since its inception. The purpose of the Screen Writers' Guild has been to obtain better conditions for its members and to propagate the Communist Party strategy in influencing public opinion. These Communists and their fellow travelers in the Screen Writers' Guild have furthered the Communist cause by the dissemination of their Communist ideology to unsuspecting writers who are also members of the Guild. The Communist writers and "Innocents" then inject into motion picture scripts Communist-veiled propaganda or eliminate anti-Communist statements or scenes from the original motion picture script.

The Screen Actors' Guild has been infiltrated by many Communists and Communist sympathizers. Forty-two individuals who have been identified as Communists are known to be members in good standing of the Screen Actors' Guild.

The Screen Cartoonists' Guild is another group which has been under the influence of Communists and Communist sympathizers. Known Communists and/or Communist sympathizers have held official positions in the Guild. Close cooperation has existed between the Communist Party in the Hollywood area and the Screen Cartoonists' Guild.

The Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions is an organization allegedly formed to fight the so-called "Fascist" activities of the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals. Known Communists and Communist sympathizers, active in the motion picture industry, participated in the formation of this group and many of these individuals have continued in executive capacities in this organization.

In the cultural field the Hollywood Communists have been most successful in influencing organizations such as the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, the People's Educational Center, the Hollywood Independent Citizen's Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, and the Actors' Laboratory.

The Communists and fellow travelers in the Hollywood Writers Mobilization played an important part in writing and producing documentary films for the Overseas Branch for the Office of War Information. In the Spring of 1945 the Hollywood Writers Mobilization Editorial Committee on Overseas Films was composed of fourteen members. Seven of these have been identified as Communists.

The People's Educational Center in Hollywood is an outgrowth of the Hollywood Writers School, a Communist school in Los Angeles, and it was formed by known Communists and active Communist sympathizers. Since its inception this group has offered courses on political and cultural matters as well as instructional courses with regard to the motion picture industry. The majority of its instructors have been identified as Communists or active Communist sympathizers in that they have been prominent in known Communist Front organizational work in the motion picture industry. Such well-known Communists as motion picture Directors Herbert Biberman, Frank Tuttle and Edward Dmytryk have been connected with it in an executive or teaching capacity.

The Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions is an organization which was supported by the Communist Party and the Communist press during its existence. A national Communist functionary (Lionel Berman) has been given credit for participating in the formation of this group. In Hollywood the Communist penetration of this group was no exception for the Executive Council, at the time the Hollywood unit was established, had fifteen individuals as Council members, who have been described as Communists. Many more members of the Executive Council have been affiliated with other organizations known to have been infiltrated by the Communist element.

This organization in Hollywood has been described as having taken a part in, or supported, all local activities in the Hollywood area which were inspired or propagated by the Communist Party.

On February 11, 1947, the Hollywood Chapter of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, went out of existence and its membership formed a new group known as the Progressive Citizens of America, which action was precipitated by similar action being taken by the National organization on December 28 and 29, 1946, in New York City. It is known that this same National Communist functionary, (Lionel Berman), who was active in the formation of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, was active in laying the plans for the formation of the Progressive Citizens of America. The Progressive Citizens of America has established in Hollywood a Council of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions of the Progressive Citizens of America. This group recently sponsored a Conference on Thought Control which was actively participated in by many known Communists and Communist sympathizers.

The Communist Party has concentrated its efforts on the writers and directors of the motion picture industry for a considerable period of time in an effort to have Communist propaganda injected into motion pictures. The writer who creates the dialogue and action and the director who interprets the same are in a position to influence the political philosophy contained in any given picture. For this reason, the political views and background of the writer and the director are utilized to the fullest extent by the Communist Party in their effort to disseminate propaganda through the motion picture.

During World War II, these writers and directors, who acted under Communist guidance, were reported to have inserted excerpts into pictures in a most clever manner. The crowning achievement in this respect was the picture "Mission to Moscow." However, the open propaganda in this picture was so obvious that throughout the United States the picture was criticized by numerous newspapers. This action resulted in the Communists changing their tactics to a more subtle approach. The Communists and Communist sympathizers are now said to be content with the inserting of a line, a sentence, or a situation into a picture which will carry the Communist Party line into an otherwise nonpolitical picture. It has been said that they have found this method to be more effective by reason of the fact that it does not appear to be purposeful but rather incidental. This subtle method of getting propaganda into the motion pictures has not been limited to the serious drama but has also included the musical comedies. The Communists have not only endeavored to inject Communist propaganda into pictures but have also prevented material which the Party might consider objectionable to its current program from appearing in pictures.

It is significant to point out that William Z. Foster, national leader of the Communist Party, USA, in a conversation on September 10, 1947, at Los Angeles with William Schneiderman and Ned Sparks, West Coast Communist Party leaders, commented concerning the motion picture "The Best Years of Our Lives" that it was the real "stuff" and commented on the pictures "The Farmer's Daughter" and "Crossfire" by stating "They are standing them on their ears." He referred to all three of these pictures as very fine productions. These three pictures are discussed in Section IV of this memorandum.

Summarily, it may be said that the Communist Party, through its members and Communist sympathizers, has been most successful in its infiltration tactics among the labor and intellectual groups in Hollywood motion picture industry. Through the labor element they have utilized their disruptionist tactics causing strife and unrest. Through the intellectual groups they have attempted to disseminate Communist propaganda in a very subtle and disguising manner through the motion picture, or have prohibited filming or production of anti-Communist material.

In describing his contact with CHAPLIN to SALT, PEPPER stated that he called the residence and he was certain CHAPLIN had answered, but that the individual who answered posed as CHAPLIN's butler and offered to deliver a message to CHAPLIN. PEPPER stated he told this individual he "didn't like telephones at great moments in history" and that he should advise Mr. CHAPLIN this call did not relate to a social gathering or a money-raising affair, but had an important bearing on an event that was to happen next month. The person at the CHAPLIN residence stated that he understood and would be glad to help out.

With regard to his contact with KATHERINE HEPBURN, GEORGE PEPPER remarked that HEPBURN was attending a luncheon being given by DORE SCHARY, executive producer at RKO Pictures Corporation, in honor of Senator CLAUDE PEPPER, who was currently in Los Angeles. GEORGE PEPPER stated that KATHERINE HEPBURN told him that she had already been visited by some representatives of the House Committee on un-American Activities, who had questioned her about a speech she had made. According to GEORGE PEPPER, KATHERINE HEPBURN told him the representatives of the House Committee on Un-American Activities had insisted to her that the speech was written by DONALD OGDEN STEWART, but that she had told them that she had written it herself. SALT and PEPPER chuckled over this and SALT commented, "Good for her."

GEORGE PEPPER remarked that KATHERINE HEPBURN had commented there were no actors on the list of subpoenaed persons and when he pointed out to her that there was an actor, namely, LARRY PARKS, she expressed surprise, whereupon he, GEORGE PEPPER, told HEPBURN this was very easily understood since they undoubtedly felt that if they could intimidate LARRY PARKS and break him down, they could then move on to bigger game.

They then discussed a number of persons who had been invited to the meeting at ROBINSON's house and remarked they did not want to get any more people with slips, possibly referring to subpoenas. GEORGE PEPPER stated EDWARD G. ROBINSON did not mind how large the meeting was, but that he, PEPPER, felt it should not be too large since it would be difficult to get down to the business at hand.

WALDO SALT then asked GEORGE PEPPER to read to him the final list of the persons who were expected to attend the meeting on October 2, 1947, at which time PEPPER read off the names listed below, the first or last names which appear in parentheses having been inserted by Agents of this office:

Mrs. IRA (GERSHWIN)
HOWARD (KOCH)
NORMAN (CORWIN)
DORE (SCHARY)

PEPPER mentioned that DORE SCHARY might not be able to come because of his meetings with Senator CLAUDE PEPPER. WALDO SALT mentioned that ADRIAN SCOTT was quite ill and possibly could not make it and, in addition, PEPPER listed the following who might come, but had not promised definitely:

KATHERINE HEPBURN
(GENE) KELLY
(CHARLES) CHAPLIN

WALDO reminded GEORGE PEPPER that it was very important that "MILLY" should be asked, whereupon PEPPER stated that he had listed him. It is believed MILLY is identical with LEWIS MILESTONE. PEPPER then made the comment he was hesitant to invite any more "pink slippers" and in this regard listed the following:

BOB (ROSSEN)
(SAM) ORNITZ
(FRANK) TUTTLE
(LESTER) COLE
(CLIFFORD) ODETS
RING (LARDNER, JR.)

It should be noted that whereas the list of persons actually invited contained several who are known to be members of the CP and several regarding whom such information is not available, this last list of names is made up of five persons whose Party membership has been established by CNDI [redacted] the exception being CLIFFORD ODETS. b7D

The last thing GEORGE PEPPER asked of WALDO SALT was that he should look over HERBERT's outline, apparently referring to HERBERT BIBERMAN. He indicated HERBERT had prepared an outline of the topics to be discussed at the scheduled meeting which was somewhat emotional and included some topics which might cause a split, such as the question of forming a third party. On this point WALDO SALT became quite excited and stated it was essential that this meeting should be limited strictly to the industry. He reiterated this point indicating this meeting was to take the position that the motion picture industry was under attack and that the purpose of the meeting conceivably was to get together a group of persons to fight in its defense.

At 4:30 p.m. on October 2, 1947, Special Agents GEORGE D. THOMSON, BERNARR M. PTACEK and FRED G. DUPUIS conducted a surveillance of the home of EDWARD G. ROBINSON at 910 N. On October 6, 1947, CNDI [redacted] reported some conversations between JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and GEORGE PEPPER regarding plans for a mass meeting to be staged in Washington, D. C., either the day before the hearings commence or possible the night before the individuals subpoenaed from the Hollywood motion picture industry are to appear to testify. b7D mentioned that he wanted to get into New York and talk "to the people" before going to Washington. However, he could arrange his plans to stop in Washington for the mass meeting, if necessary, and then proceed to New York, or go directly to New York and then drop down to Washington for the meeting.

PEPPER indicated to LAWSON that he was conferring with New York by telephone on this matter, possibly the New York office of the P.C.A. LAWSON

LAWSON mentioned that HERBERT BIBERMAN and BEN MARGOLIS were quite insistent upon having the meeting prior to the commencement of the hearings and felt that it would lessen its effect to have it after the hearings started. LAWSON stated that since they felt so keenly about it they had agreed to their proposed date of October 19; however, he himself could not see why it would not be just as effective to have the demonstration the night before he and the others were slated to testify. PEPPER indicated that it might not be possible to arrange it by the nineteenth anyway, so the latter date, which would probably be the twenty-first, might actually be the one set.

LAWSON commented that the speakers to be used should be people involved in the case. It should also be pointed out here that BEN MARGOLIS is an attorney in Los Angeles whose CP membership has been established by CNDI [redacted] Also, BEN MARGOLIS is representing HANS EISLER, brother of GERHARD EISLER, and who has been indicted by the Immigration and Naturalization Service and is scheduled to appear in Washington for a hearing as to whether or not he should be deported. b7D

GEORGE PEPPER indicated to LAWSON it was contemplated that the following individuals would speak at the scheduled meeting:

CHARLES CHAPLIN
RING LARDNER, JR.
PAUL HENREID
BARTLEY CRUM

BARTLEY CRUM is an attorney from San Francisco who has represented LOUISE ROSENBERG BRANSTEN. PEPPER indicated CRUM's topic would be literature and that RING LARDNER's topic would be "Mass Media of Communication and Why Reaction Attacks the Artists."

PEPPER and LAWSON discussed the possible places of holding this meeting in Washington and PEPPER remarked that a theater was available, but that it was more probable it would be held at the Press Club. LAWSON and PEPPER mentioned that similar demonstrations contemplated by San Francisco and Chicago had not yet materialized.

On September 17, 1947, the P.C.A. held a meeting at the Masonic Temple in Los Angeles, which was attended by SA BERNARR M. PTACEK, and at this meeting it was decided that a reception would be held in Washington for the Hollywood celebrities who were subpoenaed to testify before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. They also decided to sponsor a send-off for this group upon their departure from Los Angeles.

Also, at this meeting, LARRY ADLER, the rather well known harmonica virtuoso, offered a motion that the P.C.A. employ the National Lawyers Guild to compile information regarding Representative JOHN RANKIN which could be used to ridicule him. Though no specific plans were completed at this meeting, there was considerable indication that attempts would be made through use of the press to smear and discredit RANKIN prior to or during the hearings scheduled for October 20.

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON plans to leave Los Angeles on October 17, 1947, via the Golden State Limited of the Southern Pacific Lines and will arrive in New York on the morning of October 20, 1947. If the mass meeting mentioned herein is held on the twentieth in Washington, he will go from New York to Washington for it. It is anticipated that his specific accommodations and exact schedule will be determined soon, at which time consideration will be given to asking the New York Office to conduct a surveillance of him upon his arrival in New York inasmuch as he has indicated that he "wants to talk to the people there.

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Dear Sir:

On October 1, 1947, CNDI [redacted] reported a conversation between WALDO SALT and GEORGE PEPPER. SALT is a screen writer and a member of the Cultural Section of the CP in Hollywood, according to CNDI [redacted] GEORGE PEPPER is Executive Secretary of the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of the Progressive Citizens of America. He too, according to CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] is a member of the CP. PEPPER previously was active in this area on behalf of the Hollywood Democratic Committee and later the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions prior to its consolidation with P.C.A. (X) b7D

According to [redacted] PEPPER was arranging meetings to discuss the forthcoming hearings to be held in Washington regarding Communism in the motion picture industry. PEPPER advised SALT that he had talked to HOWARD KOCH, who had told him that LEWIS MILESTONE, motion picture director; JOHN HUSTON, an actor; DAVID SELZNICK, motion picture producer, and FRANK CAPRA, a producer and director, had gotten together and were plotting a line of attack upon the Senate investigation under which they thought it would be smart to go to Washington as friendly innocent witnesses. PEPPER stated KOCH had asked his opinion of the idea and he told KOCH he thought it was "dreadful and must be knocked in the head." WALDO SALT agreed with PEPPER. (X) b7D

PEPPER then advised SALT that he had been working on and virtually completed arrangements for a meeting to be held the next day, October 2, at 5:00 p.m. at the home of EDWARD G. ROBINSON and a second meeting to be held on the following day. He stated he was making every effort to get EVELYN KEYES and JOHN HUSTON, film players, to attend the meeting at ROBINSON's house. SALT pointed out that HUSTON had not been subpoenaed before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, but PEPPER commented that he was looking ahead, apparently feeling that HUSTON might be subpoenaed in the future. He advised SALT they had made certain admissions previously which he had now corrected, namely, he had contacted KATHERINE HEPBURN, GENE KELLY and CHARLES CHAPLIN and he thought it was possible these three might attend the meeting at ROBINSON's home. Thomas then stated that his information is that most of the Hollywood group is staying at the Shoreham and that apparently Gardner Moore, the manager, is very friendly with [redacted] and Mickey Lesner. Thomas said he didn't have the facilities to put any people out at the Shoreham but he thought it would be very interesting if there was any way whereby a line could be secured as to their activities and what they are up to. By reference from your office, I took a call from Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt who indicated she was calling because of her close and intimate friendship with you through many years. Mrs. Willebrandt stated she is the attorney for the Screen Directors Guild and went into some detail in describing the relative position of a producer in the motion picture hierarchy. Mrs. Willebrandt indicated she had just returned from Hollywood where she attended a meeting of the Guild, at which time many of the members were very much concerned over the fact that they have been subpoenaed to appear before the House Committee on un-American Activities. Mrs. Willebrandt stated that from 10 to 25 producers had been subpoenaed and they were very much shocked at this fact because they are all very proud of their positions in the movie industry. She stated the subpoenaeing of these individuals carries an imputation of subversive activities and indicates Communist leanings which, of course, would jeopardize the security and positions of these directors. She stated they had asked her to determine what their rights were, how they could resist or overcome the imputation of subversive activities, whether they could issue statements to the press, or whether, if the hearings were held on an executive basis, they would be unable to make a statement to the press upon leaving the committee hearing. She mentioned Lewis Milestone whom she described as the producer who had made "White Russia" and stated he thought that Sam Goldwyn should be subpoenaed.

I told Mrs. Willebrandt that I was not at all familiar with the legal formulas relating to these subpoenaes but told her I would bring her call to your attention the next time you called by long distance telephone, in order that she might be furnished the benefit of any observations which you had to make.

Subsequent to talking to you about this matter, I called Mrs. Willebrandt and told her you were frankly not familiar with the plans or procedure of the House Committee on un-American Activities but that you wanted to suggest she might consider the desirability of talking to the chairman of the committee, Mr. J. Reference is made to the Los Angeles letter to the Bureau dated October 7, 1947, captioned as above, a copy of which was furnished to your office, wherein information was set out concerning a proposed meeting of the individuals involved in the pending hearings of the Un-American Activities Committee of the House of Representatives concerning Communism in the motion picture industry.

As you undoubtedly noted, the "Evening Star" for Monday, October 13, 1947, carried an article reflecting that this meeting was to be held under the sponsorship of the National Lawyers Guild on the evening of October 20, 1947, in the auditorium of the National Press Building.

The Bureau has been following the activities of the Communists in the motion picture industry most closely and consequently is extremely interested in all reports which your office may receive concerning this pending meeting as well as the actual meeting itself. You are instructed to arrange for coverage of this meeting through established and reliable sources and promptly report all information received concerning this group to the Bureau. It is most important that all reports, received by your office of significance be handled very expeditiously and furnished to the Bureau without any delay.

I desire that you personally supervise the handling of this particular matter in order that all available sources are utilized to the fullest extent in obtaining full coverage concerning the arrangements for this meeting as well as the actual meeting itself.

At noon today Supervisor Ryan of the Washington Field Office called and stated that, with reference to the titled matter, they had ascertained that Bartley Cavanaugh Crum, an attorney from San Francisco who is actively interested in opposing the inquiries into the Hollywood Motion Picture Industry, had obtained Suite 418 in the Hay Adams House and that he would move into it this afternoon. He is sponsoring some type of meeting to be held at the Press Club on Monday.

Mr. Ryan was of the opinion that the microphone installation could be made to cover suite 418 with the proper security, if it was desired by the Bureau. You will recall that I recommended that this installation not be made and that you instructed that Mr. Ryan be informed that the installation should not be attempted, having in mind that the House Un-American Activities Committee might attempt a similar installation which would jeopardize any Bureau activity of a similar character.

BALDWIN stated he planned talking with CLAUDE PEPPER about the matter Sunday and that POPPER had already talked with PEPPER. BALDWIN said the affair should not be sponsored by PCA but PCA would probably do all the work. He wanted PEPPER to hold a hearing with HELEN DOUGLAS, GLEN TAYLOR, and someone else he can get and let them sit as an informal committee against the un-American Activities Committee. Such hearing would be held in one of the caucus rooms of the Senate or House office buildings. BALDWIN said PEPPER is interested but he BALDWIN had not talked with him personally.

WILSON inquired what BALDWIN thought of the mass meeting idea, and BALDWIN said it was wonderful suggesting it be held at the Watergate. However, WILSON said it was too late, and it would be better to hold it at Turner's Arena which accomodates six or seven thousand people. WILSON mentioned CHAPLIN and GENE KELLY or people like that could make a special appearance, and they could have a colossal thing with all the trimmings. BALDWIN agreed they could put on something like that if they get the thing rolling. BALDWIN further mentioned CLAUDE PEPPER is going to the West Coast for the United Jewish Appeal organization. He stated he attempted to call GEORGE (PEPPER ?) and ascertain if Senator PEPPER could stay at EDDIE ROBINSON's and whether EDDIE would have a bunch of people in and get them steamed up about the affair. In that way they might be able to gather an entire group at an informal meeting or dinner party. They further agreed perhaps Congressman SABATH could be used in connection with the idea. WILSON raised the question whether BALDWIN's idea might conflict with Congressional courtesy.

[redacted] On the afternoon of September 26, 1947, MARTIN POPPER contacted MARVIN BALDWIN, New York City, asking whether BALDWIN had received any word on this appointment for the 29th. BALDWIN stated he had been unable to reach CLAUDE (PEPPER) until 9 p.m. last night, and CLAUDE is to wire whether BALDWIN should meet him in Stamford, Connecticut, at 4 p.m., Sunday afternoon, and drive him over to see WALLACE. BALDWIN told POPPER he had talked with their California committee, GEORGE PEPPER, and had asked him to talk with the Robin (?) about having a meeting at EDDIE ROBINSON's house and to see if they could get a dozen or fifteen or twenty of the most prominent people in the Hollywood group, particularly those who have been subpoenaed, and then put the heat on CLAUDE there to have this meeting.

BALDWIN indicated he would be in the office tomorrow and then go to Boston for three or four days on the WALLACE trip. BALDWIN inquired if POPPER knew BOB KENNEY is coming in and said he would take BOB up there. MARTIN inquired if KENNEY would make that whole tour, and BALDWIN said he would certainly make the first part of it. BALDWIN said he would be in Boston Tuesday and Wednesday, in Pittsfield Thursday, and then thought he would leave them and spend Friday in his office. BALDWIN mentioned BOB

CONFIDENTIAL

(KENNEY) had cancelled out all the loafing (phonetic) in Minneapolis and decided to go to a PCA meeting in Portland instead.

POPPER indicated because of this appointment he hoped to have with CLAUDE PEPPER, he would have to be in Washington Monday. However, from what BALDWIN said, that is out. BALDWIN said they should know by noon tomorrow (Friday) whether PEPPER would stop off to see WALLACE as he BALDWIN was to meet him in Stamford and drive over there, and then BALDWIN said he would get in touch with POPPER. BALDWIN added he thought it extremely important that he and POPPER sit down with KENNEY on this political thing and believed it extremely important that POPPER and BALDWIN get together even before talking with KENNEY.

BALDWIN suggested POPPER arrive MONDAY and have dinner with him. BALDWIN said KENNEY is very confused about this whole independent candidacy thing, and POPPER commented they would have to get the picture from him and determine what is happening out there. BALDWIN said BOB's tardiness and the tendency of all these guys from California is they are inclined to view these things in terms of the situation in California and not nationally.

POPPER said it would be a good idea if they could persuade WALLACE and PEPPER to let BOB be a sort of informal campaign manager within the Democratic Party. POPPER said that is the sort of thing HAROLD (ICKES ?) was supposed to do but is not doing, and PEPPER believes KENNEY is the only Democrat around the country who could do that. BALDWIN said he thought that is all right as long as "We have a firm understanding with him about what has to follow," with which POPPER agreed. POPPER added he thought in that context KENNEY would understand that and go for it a whole lot better because he will see a practical effort made along the lines he believes are sound, and at the same time see the ultimate goal which is the result of at least the effort he wants to make, and WALLACE publicly indicates he is going to make.

POPPER stated after all what we say we have got to show the people we mean seriously, and he feels the more they come into that convention with strength, the more likely they are to get guys like KENNEY and CLAUDE PEPPER and others to see the ultimate solution. BALDWIN stated he had talked for forty minutes with PEPPER on the phone and it is obvious he regrets the thing. POPPER stated he had stayed with PEPPER until 3 o'clock in the morning last week, and PEPPER tried in forty different ways to tell POPPER how unhappy he is. POPPER guessed the idea now is to get PEPPER and WALLACE together publicly in some form.

BALDWIN mentioned he had arranged this meeting yesterday and today went over to see WALLACE, that CLAUDE is all for it and it is just a matter of when he can get down here. POPPER inquired how CLAUDE PEPPER reacted to the idea and BALDWIN stated terrific. POPPER said the hearing should take three or four days and should involve three or four people besides CLAUDE. BALDWIN said they should try and get HELEN DOUGLAS and GLEN TAYLOR and POPPER suggested SMITH.

CONFIDENTIAL

Director October 9, 1947

[redacted] On September 26, 1947, CHARLES KRAMER conversed with WAHL who stated the only thing he had on his mind was he had been planning to tell KRAMER that he had spoken with Mr. WALLACE on the phone a couple of weeks ago and later had about an hour's talk with HAROLD YOUNG up at PCA. During the course of this YOUNG told WAHL that HENRY (WALLACE) is going to Palestine during October which has not yet been announced, and he wanted WAHL to make some introductions for him, etc. WAHL said he asked who would go with HENRY, and HAROLD said maybe MIKE STRAIGHT. WAHL said he told YOUNG he did not believe that was the right combination for that kind of trip adding WALLACE is going straight out there, spend ei ht days, and come right back. WAHL said he was wondering whether KRAMER could go instead of STRAIGHT, and KRAMER said, "Oh boy, I'd love it." WAHL asked if KRAMER was not having rather intimate relations with these people. WAHL stated he was supposed to call YOUNG back last week but had been putting it off until he could discuss it with KRAMER. They agreed to get together in WAHL's office that afternoon.

[redacted] Subsequent to the above two conversations, BEN HAROLDS, Los Angeles, contacted POPPER concerning a legal case. POPPER inquired of HAROLDS concerning who is handling the people subpoenaed by the House un-American Activities Committee, and BEN said he is handling it locally and present plans are not to have anyone come east. POPPER said he would look forward to their arranging counsel in the east through him. BEN requested POPPER to dictate a brief of any ideas he has adding they should not discuss it at that time. POPPER informed HAROLDS GEORGE PEPPER has been told about one of his ideas, and BEN can talk to him right away and should request PEPPER to tell him about the discussion BEANIE (BALDWIN) had with him.

b7D

[redacted] On the morning of September 29, 1947, BEANIE BALDWIN, New York City, contacted POPPER stating their plans were greatly upset, that ROB (KENNEY) could not get to New York and is flying to Boston. BALDWIN continued he is flying to Boston and requested POPPER to fly there also. POPPER inquired if BALDWIN thought it worthwhile for him to do this, and BALDWIN stated he did. BALDWIN said the present plan is for KENNEY and BALDWIN to leave WALLACE and this group Thursday at midnight, arrive in New York Friday, and go on to Philadelphia Friday afternoon. POPPER asked what BALDWIN had in mind which would make it useful for POPPER to go to Boston, and BALDWIN replied to be sure they have no conflict on this independent ticket business.

BALDWIN continued that he (BOB) would be with WALLACE for the next three days. POPPER inquired whether BOB would talk at any of the meetings, and BALDWIN said we have put him on at this big meeting in Boston tomorrow night.

BALDWIN said on this thing with CLAUDE (PEPPER) we met CLAUDE yesterday at 5 o'clock and we had dinner with H. A. (WALLACE), with him for five hours, and he put him on the train at 1 o'clock this morning. He declared the guy is unresponsive on this un-American campaign thing and right now his mind is on this book and the general political situation but they are not giving up. BALDWIN suggested POPPER should try and see him today as he would be in his office all day, and POPPER stated he had this in mind which was one of the reasons he did not wish to come to Boston. BALDWIN stated he did not think there was much POPPER could do with CLAUDE and it might be just as well if he handled it by phone.

BALDWIN stated he was shifting this thing to Hollywood because ——— (garbled) is excited about it. BALDWIN stated he had not mentioned the project to H. A. at all. POPPER then stated he thought BALDWIN was right in shifting it to Hollywood and thought BALDWIN should let CLAUDE PEPPER know that he (CLAUDE PEPPER) is willing to meet him for dinner. BALDWIN said he had to get in touch with CLAUDE tonight and CLAUDE wants to talk with KENNEY which is very important. BALDWIN said he thought CLAUDE is pretty well straightened out on what he would do in California and POPPER remarked he hoped CLAUDE does not get himself in the middle between KENNEY and JIMMY ROOSEVELT.

(U) Following conversation with BALDWIN, MARTIN POPPER contacted BENJAMIN DREYFUS, [redacted] thanking DREYFUS for sending him that thing (letter concerning political matters) and stating that the second thing he asked DREYFUS, namely, what to do about our friend, had not been done. DREYFUS said he did not know what the solution is. POPPER related BALDWIN had called urging him to go to Boston, and that he is willing to go but does not know what to do about ironing out the differences between JIMMY ROOSEVELT and BOB KENNEY. DREYFUS said BALDWIN thinks BOB needs straightening out and POPPER wants DREYFUS' advice.

b7C

DREYFUS said he thought it would be useful for POPPER to go. DREYFUS mentioned that he had attended a Democrats for Wallace meeting on the peninsula and he (KENNEY ?) had spoken but never mentioned the third party anywhere and POPPER commented he understood KENNEY's position is that it is unmentionable as far as he is concerned. DREYFUS said he counted it a lucky break that nobody asked him any questions (on the subject). POPPER said BALDWIN seems of the opinion KENNEY has to be sold on the fact he should cooperate with the third party movement. DREYFUS stated he thought KENNEY's attitude is still that he thinks it is a dead duck and is not going to work. He thinks it is a failure before it starts. POPPER accused DREYFUS of becoming a lousy politician and said he could not tell from the letter whether DREYFUS thought it would work either. DREYFUS stated, "I'll be damned if I'm going to put anything in writing like that, POPPER."

POPPER then inquired what he was supposed to say (to KENNEY) and asked what does DREYFUS say to him as he wants to say the same thing. DREYFUS stated the main thing he said to him is that we are very serious about this Democrats for Wallace and we are not going to leave it out on a limb and let it die in favor of this more attractive possibility, that there is a genuine worthwhile objective to seek the Democratic nomination and we think we can help him get it. POPPER then stated it gets down to this to say the Democrats for Wallace Movement cannot be harmed by having a friendly relationship with these people and in fact it can be helpful.

DREYFUS said right after the third party thing was launched he (KENNEY) wanted to put the Democrats for Wallace on ice and not do anything about it which DREYFUS thinks is not a good idea. POPPER said he wanted to make sure it is all right to tell KENNEY it is very imperative and they were going to give him all the support in the world and have him go ahead on the Democrats for Wallace. POPPER inquired if the Democratic Party was still fighting and if DREYFUS saw any immediate prospect of KENNEY and JIMMY ROOSEVELT getting together. DREYFUS related the statements of ROOSEVELT on Meet the Press radio program in which he stated he would prefer TRUMAN to WALLACE in the White House. DREYFUS stated however there was the possibility of their working together on issues and matters such as Congressional candidates.

[redacted] (S)(U) On the same afternoon, September 29, 1947, POPPER contacted BEN MARGOLIS, [redacted] talking with one JOHN ——. JOHN mentioned they represent a number of people in Hollywood who have been subpoenaed to appear before the un-American Committee and they would like a place where these people could stay in Washington outside of a hotel. JOHN mentioned there would be twelve or fifteen and suggested renting a house. POPPER said this could be done although it would be rather difficult.

b7C

JOHN inquired whether POPPER knew what their objective is and stated he would not discuss his legal theory on this because POPPER knows what it is. JOHN requested POPPER to give some thought to whether the Guild could arrange the thing and POPPER asked him to call GEORGE PEPPER and discuss the thought which POPPER advanced and has been generally approved as a method for taking the offensive. He explained this involved a Senator who is going to be out there tomorrow and the day after who is supposed to get together with a group of people. POPPER said [illegible] (PEPPER) is supposed to be helping to arrange it. The plan was a simultaneous hearing by a group of senators and representatives in the Capitol where these people could really say what they wanted to say. JOHN said he thought this was discussed last night and did not hit because they felt this type of hearing can't attract much interest. PEPPER explained he is talking about a hearing at the Capitol by a group of Congressmen and Senators including the senator who is going out there and also MARGOLIS' Congresswoman which could be a terrific forum.

Director October 9, 1947

b7D

[redacted] Subsequently on the same afternoon, September 29, 1947, Senator CLAUDE PEPPER contacted MARTIN POPPER mentioning he had a very pleasant week with CHARLES (possibly CHARLES MAYER, publisher) and then had gone up to see ANGUS (CAMPBELL of Little Brown Company) who was pleased with the book idea and thought they had the right thing to tie up domestic and foreign policy. He quoted ANGUS as saying, "I believe you have got the right slant on it now," so that PEPPER should go ahead with it and ANGUS is working on it there with the company. POPPER remarked he saw CHARLIE (KRAMER) and HERBERT (SCHEMEL) in New York yesterday and he had a talk with Mr. WALLACE. PEPPER mentioned about his book stating anything in the form of ideas which would fit in POPPER should put down adding they were just following the general thesis that war is impossible as it costs too much and is too deadly and destructive, and that we must find peace; further that the ideal course is to aid and side with the democratic forces throughout the world in building peace and democracy.

The way to do this is to realize that foreign policy is the reflection of the domestic policy and to put in power those people and philosophies of democracy, and this is the best way to start untangling this complicated web. POPPER agreed and said he would do all he can. POPPER said MARTIN has helped a great deal and suggested he dictate a note or memo which would fit in adding "Let us enrich as much as we can." POPPER inquired whether CLAUDE had gotten the information he had given the boys about the discussions POPPER had with ——— ——— ——— and PEPPER stated he had but there were no developments, and if it turns out they are very anxious for PEPPER to be in Florida on October 6 to deal with the flood situation.

POPPER asked if PEPPER had decided to call CHEEN directly, and PEPPER said he thought he would not. Apparently this conversation concerns efforts to have PEPPER speak before the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor on the West Coast. POPPER stated the impression he had gotten in talking to SATCHER (phonetic) is that it would not be a bad idea for PEPPER to call CHEEN and indicate he was going to be in California and felt as he did about the possibility of speaking on the Taft-Hartley

BILL. PEPPER indicated SATCHER and FENTON had spoken to DREES and on the basis of their discussion he thought DREES's reaction might be good if PEPPER approached him.

PEPPER again urged that he had to be in Florida for the final meeting on October 6, and TOPPER suggested PEPPER arrive in San Francisco on October 4 or 5 when all the leaders would be there and sort of get together in some sort of press conference where the press could see him with them and demand some kind of statement on the Taft-Hartley Bill. PEPPER added "just so long as everybody saw you together with them the day before the convention, that you talked with them about the coming session of Congress in relation to the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Bill. That would be just as great an effect on the country." PEPPER agreed with this.

[redacted] On the afternoon of October 3, 1947, CHARLES KRAMER contacted WAHL who related he had talked with CLAUDE (PEPPER) last week about CLAUDE's getting together with a number of others and holding a kind of informal hearing at the same time this (un-American Activities Committee hearings) was being held at which these guys could come forward and really put on a good show. WAHL mentioned CLAUDE is out there at present in Los Angeles and is going up to San Francisco, and that if BART (CROW) is going to take this over or decides to do so BART should have a talk with him about combining their efforts to really do a job, and there is a terrific opportunity.

WAHL stated as a matter of fact CLAUDE last week talked with him (!) in New York and CLAUDE was going out there to have a talk with some of the people in the industry about putting on a real fight. WAHL stated with BART as the front man they could really outdo HOWARD HUGHES all over. CHARLIE said the best way to get to CLAUDE in Los Angeles is through EDDIE ROBINSON and through a guy by the name of JAMES SHEPPARD who is a big lawyer in Los Angeles. KRAMER thought it terribly important to get BART in on the thing and WAHL said BART is disposed. WAHL mentioned he had been contacted by BART while WAHL was in New York and checked with a couple friends and both decided BART should get in with both feet.

WAHL mentioned the job required a lot of cooperation and he had asked HERMAN (EDELSBERG) to do something but HERMAN does not seem to be following through. CHARLIE said he gave HERMAN a number of suggestions the principal one to see BUCK who has a considerable file but more important the personality of a good guy like that could do more with less material than ———. It is believed EDELSBERG is presently employed by Anti-Defamation League. KRAMER remarked he knew a lot of writers and his own feeling is this is closely related to WAHL's work and he is very much impressed with the Jewish angle here. KRAMER said he knew GOLDWIN's feeling about this whole business; that a lot of the big time, particularly Republican producers, are driving a wedge between the producers and the workers in the industry, but a guy like CRUM can do the job of presenting a united front for all of them. He said the Jewish angle is terribly important for GOLDWYN, for WALTER WANGER, Warner Brothers, and so on. WAHL agreed CRUM has a terrific press appeal and anything he had to say would be lapped up. KRAMER said he wished DAVE would call CRUM and have him grab hold of PEPPER and have a long talk with him and it might be a good idea to bring BARNEY DENNIS into the talk.

[redacted] On the same afternoon, October 3, 1947, BARTLEY CRUM, San Francisco, contacted WAHL who asked if BART is going through with that thing in Washington, and CRUM stated he assumed so but has not definitely made up his mind. DAVE said there is a good body of organizations ready to work with BART here, and that WAHL heard PEPPER is in Los Angeles. CRUM stated he saw PEPPER yesterday and CLAUDE thinks they should make an affirmative fight but CRUM does not think the industry is prepared to make such a fight. CRUM does not know about GOLDWYN.

WAHL said a couple of his boys spoke with him about this thing the other night and felt he was interested in returning to Washington while this was going on on the House side and set up an informal committee of liberal senators and congressmen and hold some informal hearings for these people where they could really speak openly and correctly and have that as a sort of press conference forum for the real facts and real answers to this committee. CRUM thinks that's the way it should be done. CRUM said PEPPER was leaving Los Angeles today but added he would help in any way he can and that is already arranged for.

WAHL urged that people around here feel CRUM is the guy to handle it and CRUM stated there is a basic weakness, not on his part, in the position which he could not go into at this time but said WAHL could guess. CRUM stated therefore he was very eager to find out from WEISMAN (phonetic) if he was going ahead--if they wanted to go ahead with the pictures deal because then they might make representations to the committee to get these two fellows on their way to Germany lining up shots. BART said the first thing to find out is whether WEISMAN and SILZ are going ahead with the financing of it, certainly the film will be needed. Further conversation concerned the majority UN report on Palestine and whether the government would support this report.

[redacted] On the morning of October 4, 1947, BOB SILBERSTEIN, secretary, National Lawyers Guild, contacted attorney DAVE REID who was co-counsel for GERHART EISLER, stating they are thinking seriously of organizing a meeting under the auspices of the Guild's National Committee on Civil Rights at which they will discuss the activities of the Congressional Committee from the standpoint of procedure and violation of basic policies with an address by CHARLES HILTON (local colored attorney) on the significance of the Committee's attitude toward minority groups. This would be followed by a spokesman of the subpoenaed movie people, the idea being that CHARLES CHAPLIN, KING VIDOR and one other person would speak at a tentative date, October 17, with ROGGE presiding. SILBERSTEIN said his problem is to get a committee to carry on the necessary work and they would have to obtain a professional publicity man. He said his wife had volunteered to give her entire time to the project to contact various organizations.

REIN stated he thought FCA was going to have a meeting in this regard and SILBERSTEIN advised FCA was considering such a meeting but the people in California had indicated preference for a non political forum and FCA now understands the Guild is considering the meeting and though reluctant will give up its plans. They are reluctant because they have already scheduled a two-day conference on October 25 and 26 in New York which he described as a thought control conference. REIN inquired about the size of the meeting contemplated, and SILBERSTEIN stated MARTIN POPPER had said unless CHAPLIN and some other key people would speak they would not undertake the project, and if they did they expected a thousand or more people. REIN suggested they have someone sing, and when SILBERSTEIN stated there was no one in the group in that category, REIN suggested they obtain someone.

REIN stated he had discussed this project briefly with [illegible] WILSON and understood from WILSON the Congressional Committee had deliberately avoided issuing a subpoena for anyone with a real reputation other than CHAPLIN for fear of such persons' getting favorable public reaction although they were just as subversive as some of the other people subpoenaed. REIN suggested to counter this they get KATHERINE HEPBURN and GENE KELLY on the ground it is as much a threat to them as the others.

[redacted] On the night of October 4, 1947, HERB SCHRYVER talked with CHARLES KRAMER referring to a small news item reflecting a statement by POPPER on the west coast. SCHRYVER stated it was an interesting statement in which POPPER lashed out against this whole loyalty business and was very similar to the one he had made to KRAMER and SCHRYVER that day discussing the same subject. SCHRYVER quoted POPPER as saying if he were asked about his loyalty he would say, "I am an American citizen and I have certain opinions and I have committed no crimes." KRAMER commented POPPER must have had a session with those guys out there. SCHRYVER replied they were his own thoughts from way back. They agreed he must have had a meeting with the producers. KRAMER said ROBINSON must have gotten him around to WANGER. SCHWERZ mentioned PEPPER had made another funny statement which came from the heart that he thinks we are going to have peace and he is not willing to be one of those who are joining the attack against Russia in order to get votes. KRAMER mentioned to SCHWERZ he thought BOB KENNEY was going to be there too (Philadelphia--PCA meeting :) and suggested discussing these terms with BOB KENNEY. KRAMER suggested if possible he should try and have KENNEY call CLAUDE PEPPER out there and have a little session with him.

b7D

[redacted] On the night of October 6, 1947, BOB KENNEY at MARTIN POPPER's contacted KRAMER and asked if CLAUDE (PEPPER) is coming back and what's the story. KRAMER indicated PEPPER is in Florida and may be back late tomorrow or the next morning. KENNEY stated he had a reservation to return to Washington on the 19th on that Texas Committee thing. At least he was told he had an assignment back here. KENNEY stated he talked with MIKE SCHWERZ in Philadelphia with reference to their plans in Washington. KENNEY added it looked as if they would have quite a show. KRAMER said it was too bad KENNEY and PEPPER had missed each other and KENNEY stated they would be able to pick up the pieces when he returned here on the 19th. KRAMER inquired if KENNEY saw the newspaper account of CLARK's advice to the people out there. No. CHARLIE said they should make a very simple statement: (1) We are American citizens; (2) We have committed no crime; (3) Our opinions are our own. BOB thought the last could be established as a matter of law but the other two are matters of opinion at which both laughed.

b7D

[redacted] On the morning of October 6, 1947, DAVID REIN conferred with BOB SILVERSTEIN who stated he had the Press Club tied up tentatively which has a seating capacity of 700. REIN commented the Press Club would be small. REIN suggested that PAUL PORTER of Arnold Fortas and Porter should be invited to participate, adding PORTER is heavily involved in the State Department cases, and that people have said PORTER is outraged. SILVERSTEIN stated he had read about these cases which are very mysterious to him. REIN explained the people were fired from the State Department and have no reason why except for being disloyal. SILVERSTEIN corrected this stating the people were fired because they were considered poor risks.

On the afternoon of October 6, 1947, BOB KENNEY advised MARTIN POPPER he was going to the Press Club to listen to the ball game and would return by 6 p.m. to the University Club and wanted POPPER and his wife to join him for dinner.

b7D

[redacted] On the afternoon of October 6, 1947, MARTIN POPPER contacted BEN MARCOLIS, Los Angeles, stating he wanted to discuss the back problem about which MARCOLIS called BOB (KENNEY). POPPER mentioned speaking with BOB last week and said BOB wants to have a meeting

here before the opening day. POPPER continued the only available place is the Press Club which will enable them to get a lot of publicity. POPPER further stated the meeting would be under the auspices of the National Civil Rights Committee (Lawyers Guild ?) with the emphasis on civil rights, and they will get BOB to preside and BART (GREEN) to be one of the speakers, and will also try and secure KARL MARRISON, Dean of the Pennsylvania Law School, and two guys out there (Los Angeles). POPPER stated the two they would need from out there are the actor and RING LARDNER, and POPPER will also contact DONALD OGDEN STEWART who is in New York.

They discussed the most opportune date and POPPER said it should be on October 20 or 21 because the 19th is on Sunday and would be bad from a publicity standpoint. POPPER said MARGOLIS' guys don't go on until the 23rd.

Thereafter POPPER was contacted by GEORGE PEPPER (Los Angeles ?) who stated in order to arrange transportation his people would have to know the date of the meeting in Washington. PEPPER informed him they had decided on the Press Club. He stated they had to have two guarantees. One was that they get LARRY PARKS and RING LARDNER, Jr. He continued they would have to have enough money to run the thing. POPPER stated the Guild could not put up the money and PEPPER said PCA in Southern California is broke and cannot put up the money. POPPER suggested PEPPER contact MARGOLIS about money and get it straightened out. POPPER said as far as personalities are concerned they will have the whole nineteen here. POPPER said all cannot speak but they can advertise that LARRY PARKS will speak. They again discussed the date, and PEPPER said some of his people would like to have it on the 19th, the night before the opening of the general hearing on October 20.

With reference to the meetings in New York involving WALLACE and PEPPER, confidential sources indicate HERBERT SCHERMER and CHARLES KRAMER drove to New York on the morning of September 28, 1947, and returned to Washington around 4 p.m., October 1, 1947. During this time KRAMER indicated on September 29, 1947, they accomplished as much as could be done and it was not too bad. He told his wife they had spent a very pleasant late afternoon and evening with the two gentlemen and really in many respects it was quite wonderful but he did not know how much practical ——— will come out of it.

On September 30, 1947, KRAMER indicated to his wife he would probably be at DEANIE BALDWIN's and stated they had a piece of work to do.

Very truly yours,

For the information of the Bureau and interested offices, there is set forth hereafter a summary of conversations containing plans and suggestions to obstruct and otherwise the House Committee on un-American Activities in its forthcoming hearings pertaining to communist activities in Hollywood.

The identity of the persons involved (including individuals under current investigation) and the pattern of activities are believed to be of interest to the Bureau. A considerable portion of the material is concerning political matters involving HENRY WALLACE and CLAUDE PEPPER. Confidential sources and the page references (logs) are set forth.

As a matter of interest having possible bearing on later conversations, it is noted on the evening of September 16, 1947, a conference was held in the apartment residence of Senator CLAUDE PEPPER, 1651 Crescent Place, N. W., from approximately 8:30 p.m. until 3:07 a.m. In attendance were observed subject CHARLES CHAPLIN; MARTIN POTTER, vice president, National Lawyers Guild; HERBERT SCHIMEL, presently with Congressman GEORGE MAHON's Subcommittee on per diem bills; and MEANS KIRSCHBERG, now with Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

[redacted] On September 25, 1947, LEE WILSON, local representative, Progressive Citizens of America, and Communist Party sympathizer and "angel," contacted C. R. BALDWIN to present an idea for BALDWIN or some other organization in Washington. WILSON suggested a super duper mass meeting in Washington about the time of the Hollywood hearings which start October 20, 1947, with (CHARLES) CHAPLIN and other Hollywood celebrities especially invited to rally around. BALDWIN stated they were already working on this. WILSON inquired whether BALDWIN could get H. A. (HENRY WALLACE ?) but BALDWIN stated he would be in Palestine. BALDWIN asked if MARTY POTTER had discussed the matter with WILSON who answered in the negative.

The Los Angeles Office has suggested to the Bureau that consideration be given to the suggestion that qualified informants obtain the scripts from the motion picture studios, turn these scripts over to the Agents and then the Agents in turn furnish the scripts to other qualified informants to review the scripts for their Communist propaganda content.

The Los Angeles Office is being advised to follow the Bureau instructions to the letter as contained in Bureau letter to the Los Angeles Office dated September 18, 1947, the yellow of which is attached hereto for your information. It is pointed out that it is believed the suggested practice is most dangerous primarily due to the fact that the office is taking material from one studio and giving an employee of another studio the opportunity to review this material for its possible Communist content.

This procedure is, of course, most dangerous and undesirable. Accordingly, the Los Angeles Office has been advised to follow the Bureau's original instructions in this regard.

MR. LADD

Mr. Earl Wilson of the New York Post called to advise that he is attending the hearings on the investigation of the Communist Infiltration of the Motion Picture Industry by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Mr. Wilson stated there is a Broadway Committee of the Hollywood Committee for the First Amendment of the Constitution which is the free speech amendment, which group held a press conference this afternoon after the other session. This group includes John Garfield, and they indicated that they plan to attend the hearings next week, to hold their own press conferences, and defend the 19 writers, producers, and actors who have been subpoenaed. Mr. Wilson stated that during the press conference today they were asked how they stood on the question of Communism, and the group said they were "anti." Mr. Wilson said he was interested in checking on this group if possible. I told Mr. Wilson that the Bureau files were confidential; however, I would be glad to furnish him any information that was available in our files that was of a public nature which information he could obtain if he knew where to look. Mr. Wilson asked if he could discuss this matter with a Bureau representative. I told him that this would be fine, and he will call at my office within the next 30 minutes.

preparatory stages if we were to review only pictures that have been produced. It has been learned that frequently changes will be made in the script and that propaganda can be cut out or added to the script as it progresses. It will be interesting to know the attitude of the individuals responsible for the adding of propaganda or the deleting of propaganda.

The difference between this suggestion and that proposed by the Bureau is that the scripts are obtained and read first by qualified informants, and Agents' time in reviewing pictures would only be spent on those pictures in which there is reportedly something of definite interest. I believe that this would result in a considerable saving of Agents' time. It is believed that by submitting scripts to our informants, we are in a position to give definite constructive assistance in analyzing Communist propaganda appearing in the scripts. We can get the most out of our informants and also keep abreast of efforts on the part of employees at the studios to inject propaganda into the scripts or delete propaganda that has already been inserted by some Communist sympathizer. Obviously, there is a limited number of informants through whom these scripts can be obtained and to whom they can be submitted for examination, but I believe that we will be able to use sufficient informants to readily handle the program as outlined.

In the event it were not possible to obtain the script and we had to wait for the finished film, then the Bureau's procedure would be most effective, and competent Agents would be assigned to review the completed product to determine whether any propaganda had been inserted into the picture.

The Bureau's comments on this alternative suggestion are requested.

RE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE

SECURITY MATTER - C

Dear Sir:

Reburlet September 18, 1947, setting up a new procedure to be followed by this office in developing the effect of the Communist activity in the motion pictures in Hollywood. Regarding the Bureau's plan of procedure, may I make the following observations:

1. We are able to secure the names of pictures in which known Communists or their sympathizers have a part and these lists will be furnished to the Bureau;

2. With reference to the Bureau's suggestion that qualified Agents review the motion pictures which responsible critics or reliable informants indicate contain Communist propaganda, it is suggested that the Bureau consider the procedure which has been used in recent months by this office with considerable effectiveness. As soon as a script is prepared which involves a writer, director or producer who is a member of the Communist Party or a sympathizer, we are able to obtain the original script for a temporary period through confidential informants and have an Agent read the script to determine whether there is any possible Communist Party line involved in the writing. If so, the script is assigned to one or two of the confidential informants available in this office who are responsible critics of motion pictures and who know what the finished product will look like on the screen. These individuals prepare an analysis of the propaganda in the scripts. This analysis is then submitted to the Bureau. It is suggested that following the analysis of the script, we work through our informants to learn of any changes made in the script by the management of the studios or by the writers, producers, etc. as the script approaches production. Then following production of the film, it is suggested that the finished product be reviewed by Agents who are in a position to point out the Communist Party line followed by the pictures.

It is not believed that we would uncover attempts to insert Communist Propaganda in motion pictures during the Reference is made to your letter to the Bureau dated October 8, 1947, captioned as above. The Bureau has carefully reviewed the content of the reference letter and your suggestions contained therein.

However, the Bureau feels that it cannot authorize the usage of the program as outlined in the reference communication, for it is believed that it is a most dangerous practice to utilize authorities in the motion picture industry who are employed by one company to review material prepared by another.

The Bureau's fundamental purpose in authorizing the coverage set out in the letter to your office dated September 18, 1947 was to determine the amount of Communist propaganda injected into the films of today which ultimately reach the public. It is believed that in most instances, Communist writers, producers and directors, if they are true Communists, will endeavor to inject some type of propaganda into their work. However, if the motion picture company for which these individuals work screen the particular product and eliminate any Communist propaganda contained in the picture, it is believed that the purpose for which this inquiry is being made has been accomplished at the source.

You are, accordingly, instructed to follow to the letter the instructions set out in the communication to your office dated September 18, 1947, wherein the procedure is outlined for the developing of the effect of the Communist activity in the motion picture industry.

Dear Sir:

CLASS. & EXT. BY SP2 Taylor

[redacted] and [redacted] have now advised that a group of the motion picture people, subpoenaed to appear in Washington, D.C., is leaving Los Angeles on October 16, 1947 via T.W.A. and will arrive in Chicago at 9:05 A.M. on October 17, 1947.

WALDO SALT has stated that a reception has been arranged in Chicago for the group which, it is anticipated, will be attended by 500 to 700 people. HERBERT BIBERMAN has expressed disappointment that a mass meeting was not arranged but feels that a reception is better than having nothing at all. According to SALT, their contacts in Chicago are attempting to get people as influential as possible who will be able to mobilize the city and try to make it a "big civic event". BIBERMAN expressed high praise for the CHICAGO SUN, which paper, he states, intends to give them the fullest coverage and present their case in the "right light".

With regard to the mass meeting to be held in Washington, D.C., which was discussed in the referenced letter, it has now been ascertained that the meeting will be held at the Press Club under the auspices of the Civil Rights Division of the National Lawyers Guild and those participating would be persons subpoenaed by the House Committee. Although the dates of the mass meeting are not definite, according to [redacted] it is believed the meeting will be held on the evening of October 20 or 21, 1947.

b7D

[redacted] has advised that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, leader of the Communist movement in the motion picture industry, has expressed a desire to go to New York to talk to the people there prior to going to Washington, D.C. In this connection, [redacted] advised on October 6, 1947 that LAWSON stated he could see considerable value of going to New York and "setting up some of this stuff".

BUREAU FILE 100-138754

Dear Sir:

For the information of the offices receiving copies of this letter, the code word "COMPIC" has been designated by the Bureau for this case and will be used in future communications.

Re my letters of October 7 and 15, 1947. On the evening of October 15, 1947, a Testimonial Rally was held at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles in honor of seventeen motion picture personages who were leaving the following day for Washington, D. C. to testify before the House Un-American Committee. This Rally was sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America and throwaways distributed to publicize it described the Rally as follows:

"Hear the documented expose how the Un-American Committee is attacking the Motion Picture industry and YOU.

"Learn how self constituted thought police are seeking to dictate the content of your films.

"Honor some of the Screen Personalities subpoened by the House Un-American Committee."

The following persons, together with their occupation, were listed as scheduled to appear in person:

ALVAH BESSIE - Writer
HERBERT BIBERMAN - Assoc. Producer
BERTHOLD BRECHT - Author
LESTER COLE - Writer
EDWARD DYMTRYK - Director
GORDON KAHN - Writer
HOWARD KOCH - Writer
RING LARDNER, JR. - Writer
JOHN HOWARD LAWSON - Writer
ALBERT MALTZ - Writer
LEWIS MILESTONE - Director
SAMUEL ORNITZ - Writer
LARRY PARKS - Actor

Committee. However, WALDO SALT was of the opinion that the people concerned about EISLER and MARZANI would try to turn the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council to their own purposes and he felt the ASP should keep clear, "Think of the long range - the '48 politics."

On October 18, 1947, after WALDO SALT had left for Washington, D. C. in response to his subpoena, his wife, MARY DAVENPORT SALT, discussed the hearings in the presence of [redacted] at which time she expressed the opinion the Committee made a big mistake by picking on "big shots" like DORE SCHARY. She stated such men were very brainy and the Committee was nothing but a bunch of "dumb politicians." She said, "They are so dumb they don't realize that each script is checked over and over and over; that the WILL HAYS office gets all the scripts and that she believes the thing will boomerang right back on the Committee, inasmuch as after all they are just trying to gain control of the movie industry." MARY SALT said the Los Angeles Daily News was going to support their fight and that VIRGINIA WRIGHT, the drama editor of that paper, had already written several favorable columns. b7D

With regard to this Rally, it is interesting to note that [redacted] (whose identity should be protected), [redacted] motion picture actress, stated that certain persons had been attempting to get [redacted] to address the Rally. [redacted] stated that those individuals who had been contacting her were what he would call "liberals" and not Communists and whose identities he preferred to keep confidential, but her answer to them was that she would address this meeting with the understanding that her speech would contain a "blast" against Communists and Communism. [redacted] intended to preface her remarks by saying that she is personally against Communism and that her statements would not be construed as a defense of Communists. When this background was explained to those persons seeking to utilize her services in connection with the Rally, it developed that they had other plans and she was not asked to go through with the project. b6 b7C b7D of these people to stand firm against any efforts to invade their constitutional rights. He stated he had counselled the witnesses not to answer any questions which appeared to be a violation of their personal liberties; that it was their duty to continue the industry's struggle to keep motion pictures free of political intimidation and censorship. The closing speakers were BURGESS MEREDITH and MARCIA HUNT. MEREDITH, an actor, read a resolution directed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives to the effect that the people assembled at this meeting protested the continued existence of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

MARCIA HUNT, an actress, stated that the Rally was an affirmation of faith in America and spoke the lines of the song "America" with dramatic emphasis and requested the audience to join her in singing this number which brought the Rally to a close.

The names of several persons who contributed funds during this Rally were secured and are being retained in the Los Angeles file. The Agents who attended this Rally were:

JAMES G. FINDLAY
LESLIE F. WARREN
BERNARR M. PTACEK
EMMETT C. McGAUGHEY
FRED G. DUPUIS.

On October 16, 1947, the day after the above Rally, CNDI [redacted] b7D reported a conference between GEORGE PEPPER and WALDO SALT. PEPPER, in referring to the Rally, stated that as a result he now understood disaster could be turned into victory. He didn't know where all the people came from but they did despite the fact PCA had not contacted any other organizations to speak of. He stated the results were fine and there would be important repercussions. He saw HENRY BLANKFORT shed tears during the singing of "My Country Tis of Thee." PEPPER felt the Rally "got at the basic thing - the people look at them as a group of patriots, heroes." PEPPER expressed his hope that, as an outgrowth of this meeting, a national group might be formed to conduct the campaign on a nation-side scale. (X) U

PEPPER was of the opinion the defense of HANS EISLER should be closely tied in to the defense of the persons subpoenaed before the House (X) U

Director, FBI

RE: COMPIC

EVELYN KEYES in her paper dealt particularly on the character of the members and motion picture alliance from the preservation of American ideals which organization she stated had raised the clamor that was a contributing factor to the holding of the investigation by Congress.

LARRY PARKS read a paper dealing with the subject: "What Is Loyalty?" in which he raised many points, such as asking "Do you believe in adequate housing for veterans" and would then proceed to show how groups advocating such a program had been smeared and and labeled "subversive." It should be noted that a few days prior to the meeting WALDO SALT told CNDI [redacted] b7D that an individual by the name of REUBIN was writing the paper on the subject, "What Is Loyalty?" and that he, WALDO, considered it the most important topic to be presented at the Rally. He advised the informant that he had conferred with REUBIN to be certain that he did not need any assistance and that several of the other fellows, such as LESTER COLE and RICHARD COLLINS were very willing to help on this paper. The informant did not know exactly to whom SALT was referring by REUBIN; however, should the identity of this person be positively determined, the Bureau will be advised. (X) U

After these speeches a collection speech was made by BURT WITT on behalf of the Progressive Citizens of America and, according to CNDI [redacted] b7D approximately $6100 was realized. Many prominent persons made contributions of $100 and less; however, BEN ZUKOR, believed to be the owner of a chain of women's apparel stores bearing his name, contributed $500. (X) U

Following the collection speech ROBERT W. KENNY, formerly Attorney General of the State of California and now an official of the National PCA organization, made a few brief remarks and introduced BARTLEY CRUM, San Francisco attorney, and BEN MARGOLIS, a Los Angeles attorney, who, according to KENNY, were to tell the audience how PCA proposed to defend the witnesses at the forthcoming hearing. It should be noted that BARTLEY CRUM formerly worked for the late WENDELL WILKIE and more recently has represented LOUISE ROSENBERG BRANSTEN of San Francisco. BEN MARGOLIS is a member of the firm of GALLAGHER AND MARGOLIS and a member of the Communist Party, according to CNDI [redacted] b7D

BARTLEY CRUM in his remarks to the audience described the subpoenaed individuals, all of whom were seated on the stage throughout the program, as good men and great men whom he and MARGOLIS were going to help in their struggle for freedom of conscience and that it was the duty of each

RE: COMPIC

However, at the meeting, which was chaired by actor GENE KELLY, it was announced that BERTHOLD BRECHT and HOWARD KOCH were unable to attend, although one additional person did appear, namely - RICHARD COLLINS, a screen writer. Of the persons listed, all except BRECHT, KOCH, MILESTONE and PICHEL have been members of the Communist Party in Hollywood, according to CNDI [redacted] b7D [redacted] This informant has also furnished evidence of membership on the part of RICHARD COLLINS.

Of the above the individuals who read papers at this meeting were:

ALBERT MALTZ
IRVING PICHEL
ADRIAN SCOTT
LARRY PARKS.

In addition, NORMAN CORWIN, radio writer, and EVELYN KEYES, motion picture actress, read papers. All of these people bitterly assailed the motives of the House of Un-American Activities Committee and conveyed the general theme that the current Congressional inquiry is an attack upon the motion picture industry and an attempt to control and censor motion pictures. ADRIAN SCOTT dwelt particularly on the point that the average writer, director or producer has virtually nothing to say as to the content of a film. He outlined at length the various administrative procedures through which a script went in the hands of top executives of the motion picture studio before it was even purchased, let alone submitted for screen adaptation.

NORMAN CORWIN explained his presence, although not among the people subpoenaed to appear in Washington, by stating that an attack on the motion picture industry indicated to him that the radio industry likewise might not be immune to similar attack in the future. In his speech he also made a statement somewhat to the effect - assume that some of these men may be Communists; of what pertinence is that when you realize that none of them as an individual has much to say as to what goes into a motion picture. He also outlined several types of action which are considered characteristic of Communism which tries to overthrow the Government by force. Among the types of conduct he listed, should a revolution occur, were: lynching of minorities; forcible seizure of government buildings, destruction of food supplies; etc. He then went on to say that all of the things he had listed had actually occurred in the United States but not by Communists, for example, lynchings in the South; the seizure of the State Capitol by Governor Talmadge in Georgia; and food price manipulation by big business.

Dear Mr. Johnston:

I have had Mr. Eisenstein, the dean of Soviet film directors, for dinner at Spaso on several occasions and to see the American films with which the industry has so kindly provided us. His comments after the showings were usually non-committal or mildly approbational. Attached is his official reaction, a recent article appearing in "Culture and Life".

It seems to me this demonstrates very clearly, if demonstration were required, the correctness of your stand in opposition to exporting certain films like "Grapes of Wrath" and "Tobacco Road" to the Soviet Union unless an equal number of films showing more favorable aspects of life in the United States were also exported.

Faithfully,

THE PURVEYORS OF SPIRITUAL POISON
About the Contemporary American Cinema.

By S. M. Eisenstein

The American cinema has produced more than a few ultra-reactionary pictures in the past. We have only to remember a very early film "Birth of a Nation" which celebrated the formation of the Klu Klux Klan, a fascist organization.

There have also been in the American cinema, however, quite a number of really vital themes treated in a convincing manner, although this was usually contrary to the intention of the makers of the film, and certainly against the wishes of their bosses. But in one way or another there have appeared from time to time on the American screen films giving with unexpected objectivity a true picture of the code of behaviour of the gentlemen of the "God's own country", as the Americans like to call their United States.

In the thirties there appeared a film "The Big House" (the American name for prisons), giving an extraordinarily realistic picture of prison conditions and showing a revolt, and its suppression - with the use of tanks.

Later came a film "I Was a Fugitive from a Chain-gang", a striking document revealing the injustice and obscurantism of the American legal system, a sinister machine showing no mercy to those who fall into its clutches.

Films like "Grapes of Wrath" and "Tobacco Road" give a picture every bit as clear as the original novels of the ruthless exploitation of the unemployed and the full horror and dark abyss facing the ruined small farmers of the Southern states and reducing them to a subhuman condition.

Quite recently the cinemas of America were showing "Boomerang", a film which reveals with full and accurate detail the backstage machinations pursued by small town politicians in the interests of their small caste, and leading to the passing of the death sentence on an entirely innocent man. The film gives a vivid picture of the methods of interrogation and extortion of confession. "The law forbids beating during interrogation" says one of the characters, "but the law says nothing about preventing the man from sleeping", and this means is used to reduce a man to a state in which he is prepared to sign any confession.

Films of this kind, however, giving a more or less objective picture of the actual state of affairs are becoming rarer and rarer. Their place is being taken by films of quite another type. The American cinema is no longer what it was twenty years ago.

The time has passed when we could merely shrug our shoulders and smile at the empty irrelevant entertainment provided by American films; or admire, somewhat condescendingly, the exploits of Robin Hood or "The Thief of Bagdad", or the athletic prowess of Pearl White or Ruffy Rollan.

The wave of reaction is pressing more and more heavily on the entire life of the country, and its art as well. At the present time the disciples of the Klu Klux Klan are drawing up black lists of all those who, during the war, dared to use the American cinema to address humanity on vital questions. The people on this list will be condemned to unemployment and starvation. Already the black clouds are gathering threateningly over Charlie Chaplin. There are already instances of anti-fascist actors being subjected to merciless baiting; and American films show more and more clearly how progressive elements are being swamped by the wave of reaction and themselves often contain praise of the same fatal reaction. Even "non-political" American films propagate the poison in subtle form. It is not only those films openly devoted to erotic themes or to the praise of power in the person of gangsters or bandits that have a disentegrating effect.

Whatever hypocritical pretences these films make of exposing gangsters the fact remains that they are a panegyric of the gangsters' shameless methods, persistance in the pursuit of their own selfish interests and utter disregard of everything beyond these interests.

What else can we expect from the producers of these films? After all, this code of morals, based on plunder and violence is also the code of the "honest" businessmen, although they sit in the soft armchairs of the directors of firms and companies instead of sitting like ordinary criminals, in the electric chair.

Even more harmful sometimes are films which are not so obvious in their praise of the basest and the most animal instincts of man. The spectator is more strongly affected by a film where the poison is wrapped up in warm humanity, soft humour and touching pathos.

There are also such "enchanting" films as "Going My Way" with a well-known American actor Bing Crosby, which was awarded a prize and advertised all over Europe. Here the nets for the spectators' hearts are so musical and laid so cunningly (it is not for nothing that the hero of the film is an unusually cunning snarer of human souls - a young priest) that it is only after the end of the film that the spectator realises how shamefully he has been participating in the action during the two hours while it has been shown.

This film cleverly combines humour, a patriotic theme, lyricism and religious singing for the purpose of slurring over the real cause and the tragedy of prostitution and asserting that child delinquency is best dealt with not by changing the social conditions driving the children to crime, but by collective singing in a church.

And the film as a whole serves as an apologia for the owner of a block of cheap flats making him out to be a benefactor, though this is in fact one of the most repulsive forms of exploitation of the poor classes in America.

Or there are such "enchanting" films as "Anna and the King of Siam" singing unqualified praise of the superiority of the white races over the Siamese semi-apes and of the missionary role played by an American governess who set out to win the savages over to the biblical virtues of humility and love. The action takes place in the sixties of the last century when the Siamese were concentrating all their efforts on asserting their independence against the attempts of England and France to seize Siam in their colonising claws. There is no mention of all this, instead we see a light ironical sometimes moving picture, often dramatic, always witty and apparently quite innocent. But it would be difficult to find more subtle propaganda of the colonial politics which make the average American either indifferent or sympathetic to disgraceful acts now being committed in places so far from Siam as Indonesia, in the lawless realm of Field-Marshal Smuts - the Union of South Africa - and the "independent" Philippines.

The makers of films are particularly cunning when it comes to dealing with the problem of the relations between employers and employees, whether it be a factory owner and the workers, or a big landowner and his tenants. Films showing clashes between labour and capital now appear fairly frequently on the American screen: reality is too full of these problems and interest in them is morbidly keen. And the American cinema loses no opportunity of expressing an opinion on all questions which interest, trouble or excite the spectator. The spectator is worried over problems of social injustice? All right, here we have this little theme, adapted and effectively treated. The magic hand of the film director makes it harmless whilst preserving the external drama.

The methods of treatment are many and various. As an example let us take an average horror film "Dragonwyck", a film about a crime punishable by death. The slightly unbalanced owner of the castle "Dragonwyck" using a magnolia bush slowly poisons his wives one after another because they are unable to give him their heir he desires. A considerable part of the film, however, is devoted to showing the differences between the owner of vast lands and the semi-beggared tenants working for him.

The film is interesting because of the topicality of the theme. But how to avoid coming up against the sacred principle of the right to possession of vast areas of land? The answer is very simple. The crime of the owner of the castle attains such monstrous proportions that the typical is lost sight of in the exaggeration of the individual case. The film shows not the evil of the system, but the evil of the individual representative of the system. As a result, the spectator's anger is roused by the fact of a rare screen criminal, and not by the sight of the evil of the system, one completely putting the other out of mind.

And no one notices that a clever substitution has been made before his eyes: the screen criminal heroically takes the bullet that should have been aimed at the system.

And at the end of the film the criminal too is absolved of his sins - posthumously. For this purpose he is declared mad which makes it possible to excuse the dastardliness of his crimes and to exaggerate them to a point impossible in real life, thus dissociating them from the actual social system.

The wolves have eaten their fill, but the sheep are still alive; the spectator has been thrilled by a film on a dangerous contemporary theme. The film earned money. Crime has been shown in the most vivid colour. Crime has been punished. The basic principle has not been shaken. And the evil doings of which the criminal is "medically" innocent are expiated by allowing the victim to shoot the criminal.

The ability to take any theme, even one which in view of conditions in America would appear most slippery and dangerous; not to avoid such a theme but to retain its outward form and by means of exaggeration (or some other means) to reduce it slowly and smoothly to self-destruction and final nothingness - this is probably one of the most cunning characteristics of the American cinema.

Films of this type give rise to a cynical inhuman attitude to reality. The men behind the Hollywood businessmen aim to deprive the average American of all feelings of honour, to make him cynical and egoistical. This is necessary left he protest against the violation of laws and justice occurring daily, hourly in America. It is necessary lest there well up in his heart indignation against the betrayal of those who shed their blood in the battle of Stalingrad, on the vast fronts of the Soviet Union where the fate of mankind was decided. At that time the papers, the radio and books all spoke about the Russians as valiant allies. Now all the filthy, dirty, dank elements have come to the surface, so that the muddy water obscures the thought of everything fine, pure and progressive.

The American cinema is well equipped with the latest filming and projecting apparatus, uses all the latest production technique. On the sets of Hollywood towns, forests, or Egyptian scenes can be built in an instant. But this technically advanced cinema is used in the service of ideas only slightly in advance of the stone age. The statue of Liberty at the entry to New York port has long ceased to be a symbol of liberty even for the United States. In "democratic" America the cinema has become one of the weapons in the fight against freedom and democracy. How far behind us "advanced" America is lagging! As regards social problems, America belongs not even to the 19th century, but rather to the period of the middle ages and the crusade whose bonfires twinkle so familiarly at the bonfires of the lynch courts fed with high-quality petrol.

The skill, inventiveness and technical mastery of the American cinema are used in the service of darkness and oppression - fundamental characteristic features of the cruelty and injust system of imperialistic society.

American films contribute actively to the consolidation of this society by imposing ideas upon the people.

Thus the most vital of the arts - the cinema - is playing the most deadly and destructive role.

When we think of this, it makes us appreciate even more our young, healthy growing art - a vital, national art.

I checked with ASAC Ellsworth of Los Angeles, who advised that they knew of nothing of a derogatory nature involving McCarey. He will be recalled as the producer-director of Bing Crosby's pictures "Going My Way" and "Bells of St. Mary's."

We ascertained early in 1946 that McCarey, along with other Hollywood executives, had closed a deal for a million dollars to purchase land near the MGM studios. Johnny Meyer and Howard Hughes were apparently provoked at Meyer not having been cut into the deal.

The name of Leo McCarey was on the invitation list extended by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship in honor of Kalatozo, a Soviet film producer. His name was not mentioned in our reports as among those who attended.

He appeared before the Un-American Activities Committee hearings out on the West Coast voluntarily and testified with Rupert Hughes and Howard Emmett Rogers. His only comment to the press was, "I only came down because I was glad of an opportunity to cooperate with the Committee," which would seem to indicate a cooperative attitude.

In 1942 McCarey was listed as a contact of Winfield R. Sheehan and his wife, Maria Fritzi Sheehan. Nothing happened in this investigation. There is nothing to reflect unfavorably on McCarey.

[redacted] who now is a confidential informant, on January 12, 1944, contacted the studio where McCarey was working and inquired if he was on the lot. His secretary stated she would find McCarey for him. b7D

According to Who's Who, McCarey was born in Los Angeles on October 3, 1898. The University of California has awarded him an LL. D. degree. He has been connected with Universal, Hal Roach, Pathe, Fox, United Artists, Paramount, Columbia and RKO studios. Among his better known pictures are "Kid From Spain," "Ruggles of Red Gap," "The Milky Way," "Make Way For Tomorrow," "The Awful Truth," "Love Affair," "My Favorite Wife," "Going My Way" and "The Bells of St. Mary's." He is married and has a daughter.

A newspaper clipping from the Washington Star of May 29, 1944, reports that a kidnaper's ruse to lure Leo McCarey into a trap was reported to the police. Apparently nothing happened.

PAUL DRAPER made several remarks condemning the THOMAS Committee and numerous remarks that he made were recognized as having previously been published in the "Daily Worker" and were of the general Communist party line throughout. The conference broke up after possibly 30 minutes.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated October 21, 1947, in the above-entitled matter.

This is to advise that after the Un-American Activities Committee hearings were concluded on this date, October 23, 1947, JOHN GARFIELD, motion picture actor from Hollywood, after grouping numerous people around him signing autographs, announced that they all follow him into the corridor where he would hold a press conference. He proceeded to the elevator well immediately outside of the Caucaus Room where he climbed half-way up the stairway and began to read a resolution which denounced the THOMAS Committee and indicated that the hearings held by this Committee were an outrage to human decency. After numerous caustic remarks of this type he stated that he, along with eight other individuals, had formed a committee which was going to attempt to defend the 19 witnesses from Hollywood who had been subpoenaed before the Committee, and demand that cross examination be conducted by the Committee. The other individuals accompanying GARFIELD were his wife, JULIUS EPSTEIN, WILLIAM EPSTEIN, brother, BERNIECE PARKS, CANADA LEE (colored), IRWIN SHAW, HALL STEWART, PAUL DRAPER, UTA HAGAN and OSCAR SENLIN. All of the above names are spelled phonetically.

At this point in the gathering the crowd became voluminous and unruly and GARFIELD was asked to adjourn to the Caucaus Room for his press conference, and he indicated a desire that he wanted the public to hear what he had to say. At this point the guards forcibily escorted him back into the Caucaus Room from which the general public was excluded. The members of the press still remaining in the Caucaus Room proceeded to question GARFIELD and the EPSTEIN brothers concerning this newly formed organization and they denied vigorously that it was Communist or anyone connected with it was a Communist or fellow traveler and the purpose of forming this committee was for constitutional democracy. It was obvious after a very few minutes that none of the press representatives present desired to further question these individuals, other than a representative from the newspaper P.M. The indications were that the P.M. reporter knew that this conference was to be held and he had a prepared group of questions

Information has come to the attention of this office that certain groups in this area are making efforts to raise funds for the purpose of combatting the House Committee on Un-American Activities which is presently conducting hearings into Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry. u

On October 22, 1947, confidential informant [redacted] whose identity is known to the Bureau, advised that MARGUERITE HENDERSON, a clerical employee in the offices of the CIO Maritime Committee and a prominent member of the Washington Bookshop, contacted one BOB SILVERSTEIN and asked him where the funds raised to fight the THOMAS-RANKIN Committee should be sent. SILVERSTEIN indicated that the funds collected were allocated to the Southern Conference for Human Welfare and the National Lawyers Guild who had set up a special fund. SILVERSTEIN stated that he had heard that PAUL DRAPER in New York was handling it but stated that he was not sure of this and suggested that MARGUERITE call MARTIN POPPER of the National Lawyers Guild, who could be reached at room 100-C of the Shoreham Hotel. u

The informant learned that HENDERSON subsequently contacted a man whom the informant was unable to identify at room 100-C of the Shoreham Hotel, and asked where the funds for the fight against the THOMAS-RANKIN Committee should be directed. The man advised that he did not know but would try to have POPPER contact MARGUERITE. u

Later on the same date the informant advised that HENDERSON was contacted by DON ROTHENBERG, Organizational Director of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare in Washington, D. C., and a registered member of the Communist Party, who said that he had found out that the funds were being raised for "the movie people" and that PAUL DRAPER was the treasurer and his offices were located at 131 East 66th Street, New York City. It is impossible to determine at the present time for what purpose the funds raised by these people will be used and in the event that any additional information is obtained it will be furnished to you promptly. u

A copy of this letter is being directed to the New York Office inasmuch as the information indicates that PAUL DRAPER is located there and it is possible that the New York Office may obtain certain information which will assist in clarifying this. u [redacted] former Screen Star, on October 15, 1947, advised that he had received a mimeographed memorandum dated October 14, 1947, from John Garfield, actor, Paul Draper, dancer, and Jerome Chodorov, writer, inviting him to attend a meeting to be held on October 16, 1947 at Draper's apartment, [redacted] for the purpose of organizing a counterattack against the inquiries being made by the House Un-American Activities committee concerning the motion picture industry.

[redacted] on October 17, 1947, made available to an Agent of this Bureau at New York City the notes he compiled after attending this meeting, which reflect that the meeting was held and Paul Draper presided. About 30 persons were present, mostly writers, and in addition to those previously named, [redacted] stated that a lawyer Rosenwein and an individual by the name of Pomeranz, believed to be a writer, were also present. The name Pomeranz was phonetic.

Draper sarcastically outlined the work of the Un-American Activities Committee in Hollywood and belittled the charges against those who had been subpoenaed. Pomeranz charged that the Un-American Activities Committee was instigated to break up various guilds and that the producers were behind the move. Garfield denied this and [redacted] observed that Pomeranz was personally under suspicion and had a grievance. The individual referred to as Pomeranz by [redacted] is believed to be identical with M. W. (Bill) Pomerance, former business representative of the Screen Writers' Guild.

b7D

Lawyer Rosenwein was introduced and he spoke concerning the Bill of Rights, Free Speech and Civil Rights, and after his remarks, he left the meeting. Draper indicated that this person was one of a number of defense lawyers who could not act because the investigation would be closed to any defense and would be held behind closed doors. Various unknown persons spoke of their grievances, mostly personal in nature, and one young, unidentified man insisted upon some positive action such as having the Supreme Court indict the Un-American Activities Committee and have the investigation stopped until the law was changed. [redacted] expressed the opinion that there were several crackpots present.

100-138755-270

Draper finally brought out the real purpose of the meeting which was to take out full page ads in the New York Times, the Washington Post and Variety. There was a discussion on how to raise the money. There were a considerable number of arguments concerning the value and cost of the ads and people began to leave the meeting. During this discussion, Garfield suggested working with a California committee which recently met at the home of William Weiler, which committee planned a protest broadcast from the West Coast.

THE DIRECTOR

During the meeting Draper was called by long/distance telephone by one of the persons subpoenaed, believed to be Howard Koch, screen writer and reportedly a member of the Communist Party. Draper stated to the meeting that this person had asked for help of any type in the way of ads, money and radio broadcasts. The purpose of all the advertising was to bring before the public information that certain artists were being discriminated against on charges which were ridiculous, that witnesses for the government were "mealy-mouthed," that the investigation was unconstitutional and that the Un-American Activities Committee read meanings into speeches in certain pictures as Communist propaganda which was childish.

[redacted] left the meeting before it was over and at that time there were about 20 persons left. [redacted] requested that his contact with the Bureau and the information he supplied be treated as highly confidential since any publicity would greatly affect his future employment and present commitments. b7D

" Paul Draper presided. About 30 people present including Chodorov, Garfield and Pomeranz (?), Lawyer Rosenwein, other unknown women and men, some with a 'discrimination' complex, mostly writers, Pomeranz particularly, as he was one of those expecting to be subpoenaed. He, I gathered was a former officer in the S.W.G. (Screen Writers Guild).

" Draper outlined, with sarcasm, the work of the Un-American Committee in Hollywood and belittled the charges against those subpoenaed. He read a list of these, over twenty names, mostly writers (Milestone).

" Pomeranz charged that the Un-American Committee was instigated to break up the various guilds and that the producers were behind this move. Garfield denied this. Pomeranz was personally under suspicion and had 'a grievance'.

" Lawyer for 'defense of the Subpoenaed' Rosenwein was introduced. He spoke brilliantly of the Bill of Rights, Free Speech, Civil Rights, etc. and then left the meeting. It was pointed out by Draper, I believe, that he was one of a number of defense lawyers who could not act, as the investigation would be closed to any defense. It was said that the investigation would be held behind closed doors.

" Various unknowns spoke of grievances, mostly personal and one young man insisted upon action of some sort - such as 'having Supreme Court indict the Un-American Committee and have the investigation stopped until the law was changed'. Several crack-pots.

" Draper finally brought to attention the purpose of the meeting - to take out full page ads in the New York Times, The Washington Post and Variety. (There was a reporter from Variety present, who will probably write up the meeting). How to raise the money? (Garfield suggested working with the California Committee which met recently at the home of William Weiler. They plan a protest broadcast from the coast). Arguments pro and con re the value and cost of the ads. By this time people were leaving the meeting.

" Draper was called long distance by one of the 'subpoenaed' (Koch?) and quoted him as saying that help for them of any sort was urgently requested - ads, money, radio.

" It was discussed that the meeting had not enough representative names and couldn't raise the money now, committees must be formed, the "time was short, etc, etc. The whole sense of the meeting - to bring before the public that certain artists were being discriminated against by the Un-American Committee for petty charges which were ridiculous, that Hollywood witnesses for the Government were 'mealy mouthed' (Menjou, etc.), that the investigation was unconstitutional and while the term wasn't mentioned, that it was virtually a 'Witch Hunt'. That the Un-American Committee read meanings into speeches in certain pictures as having Communistic propaganda, which was childish. That these writers, etc. were being threatened with loss of their work, and that there were other 'purge' lists to be investigated in theatre, radio, etc.

" When I left they were still discussing how to approach the job and how to raise the money. There were probably twenty people left - about four of whom were important."

[redacted] requested that his contact by this office and the information he supplied the Bureau be treated as highly confidential since any publicity in this regard would greatly affect his future employment and present commitments. b7D

It is believed, from a review of reports emanating from the Los Angeles Division in this matter, that the individuals referred to by [redacted] [redacted] as Pomeranz (?) and KOCH (?) are identical with M. W. (Bill) POMERANCE, former Business Representative of the Screen Writers Guild, and HOWARD KOCH, Screen Writer both of whom are reported members of the Communist Party. b7D

For the further information of the Bureau and the Los Angeles Division, Confidential Informant [redacted] advised on October 11, 1947 that in a conference between Dr. EDWARD K. BARSKY, National Chairman of the JOINT ANTI FASCIST REFUGEE COMMITTEE, and JOHN GARFIELD the latter informed Dr. BARSKY that he was not satisfied with the prepared speech of the JAFRC and declined to appear at all because of his obligation to a new group being formed in Hollywood to combat the Congressional hearing. Dr. BARSKY offered to change the speech to conform with GARFIELD's ideas and JOHN T. MC MANUS, President of NEW YORK NEWSPAPER GUILD and member of the JAFRC Executive Board, prevailed upon him to appear but GARFIELD refused. According to this informant MC MANUS stated on October 16, 1947 that the "Hollywood bunch are pretty scared now." b7D

We once talked at Irving Reis's house about the writers' motion picture co-op, of which I am one of the founders, and you expressed an especial interest in the script of Constancia de la Mora's "A Place of Splendor," which we were preparing. I'm sending it to you now so that in case you think it's a possible vehicle for you, we can arrange a meeting to discuss it.

"A Place of Splendor" is planned as the first production of Mundo Films, whose members, besides myself, are Dalton Trumbo, Allan Scott, Richard Collins, Hugo Butler, and, for variety, a producer (R. T. Roberts) and an actor (John Garfield.) As you know, Miss de la Mora's book was a factual autobiography but because several of the characters involved are still living, we decided with her to make the screenplay a fictional work based on the book.

Though it is a cardinal precept of our company not to proceed with production plans until we are sure the script is right, we have relaxed the rule somewhat in this instance because Miss de la Mora, who is much more interested in having the picture made than in money, is extremely anxious that preliminary arrangements at least get under way as soon as possible. However, though we don't feel this script is quite the final draft, it is certainly close enough to it for you to form an opinion of the whole project.

I'd appreciate it if you would call or write me about the script at 20th Century-Fox or at the address below.

Sincerely,

Ring Lardner, Jr.

"All My Sons"
(Final Shooting Script, Sept. 11, 1947)
Universal-International Pictures

"This story is the product of a thorough-going Collectivism. It presents two basic tenets of the real Collectivist philosophy: that man has no right to exist for his own sake, and that all industrialists are criminal monsters.

"This is pernicious political propaganda, the more pernicious because it deals with fundamentals and never refers to politics as such nor to any political issue of the moment. There is no mention of Communism by name nor of Soviet Russia. But what the play accomplishes is to tell the audience that capitalism is a horrible evil and that a man's concern for himself or his family is a form of depravity.

"The story is about a small town industrialist who sells defective airplane parts to the Army during the war and causes the deaths of twenty-one pilots in plane crashes. He manages to frame his partner for the crime and gets himself exonerated, while his partner goes to jail. He tries to hide his guilt from his son, but when his son discovers it, the father commits suicide.

"The technique employed here is one used very frequently in stories written by Reds: the plot, ostensibly, deals with the evil of making money through fraud; but the whole piece is slanted and twisted into an indictment of money-making as such; under guise of denouncing 'dishonest greed', the story denounces honest profit and all profit.

"JOE KELLER, the villainous industrialist, is not presented as a freak, an exception or a plain criminal--but as the typical representative of all industrialists.

"Not a word is said in the entire screenplay about the existence of any other kind of industrialist. There is not a single reference to the magnificent performance of American industrialists during the war, to the miracles of production which they achieved, which supplied the whole world and which won the war. No, the impression left by this play is that all American industrialists were greedy monsters who sold defective munitions for the sake of making profits, that profits cannot be made in any other way, and that American boys lost their lives because of the capitalists' greed. How we won the war and where did our munitions come from, if such was the case, is not explained.

"It is important to note that in all the actual cases of war frauds involving defective munitions (such as the cases that made newspaper headlines recently), the men involved were not professional, established industrialists,

"but fly-by-nighters and shiftless speculators; they were men with political pull who got government loans and went into war production temporarily, as a racket. If the intention of this play were merely to expose a war profiteer--and not to damn the capitalist system--the wicked industrialist would have been presented as some such racketeer.

"But that is not the way JOE KELLER is presented. He is not a shady character--he is a solid, respectable member of the community. He is not a drifter or speculator--he is a self-made industrialist who built his factory and established his business through his own effort, hard work and competence. This point is stressed throughout the play deliberately and repeatedly. There are innumerable references to JOE's technical ability. A great emphasis is laid on the fact that the workers in his factory have coined a slogan of their own--'If you want to know, ask JOE,' because JOE always knows what to do about any technological problem, when everyone else is stuck.

"This sort of characterization is a smear on the best type of American industrialist--the self-made man. To my knowledge, there is no case of this sort of industrialist putting out defective materials, in war, in peace or at any time; the creative industrialist is as proud of the integrity of his product as an artist.

"The propaganda effect achieved by JOE KELLER's characterization tells the audience that his crime is not the result of his personal viciousness, but of his position as an industrialist, that it is an unavoidable consequence of the capitalist system.

"This is not left merely to implication, but is made explicit in the climax, where the whole thesis of the play comes through clearly. When his son corners him, JOE KELLER confesses his guilt--and gives the following explanation (Page 107):

Joe

> "I'm in business--a man is in business--a batch of bad cylinders, and you're out of business. Out of business! You don't know how to operate, they tell you--your stuff is no good. They close you up--tear up your contracts. What's it to them? You lay forty years into a business, and they knock you out in five minutes. What could I do? Let them take forty years? Let them take my life away?'

"THIS is the whole and only explanation for JOE's crime given in the entire play. On the face of it, it is merely plain nonsense, written by

"some sophomore who knows nothing about business and has never been inside a factory. Why would one batch of bad cylinders put an established manufacturer out of business? How? Who are the 'they' referred to? How would 'they' close him up, and why? How can a business built in forty years be destroyed in five minutes?

"None of this is explained. But it is precisely the loose nonsense that serves the purpose of propaganda: to an uneducated, unthinking audience, this speech conveys the impression that such is the normal course of all American business. It is not the speech of a crook or a criminal talking about a racket. It is the speech of a man talking about business. The only thing that comes across clearly in the speech is a man's concern for his business. That is what the audience is urged to consider as vicious.

"To make sure that nobody misses the point, it is stressed and cinched on Page 108. JOE KELLER's son cries to him accusingly: 'Kids hanging in the air by those cylinders, and you knew it! I was so proud you were helping us to win, and you were worrying about your business!'

"If the play's intention were to expose a criminal, and not all business men, such a line as the above could not and would not be written. One does not accuse a criminal of 'worrying about business.'

"On Page 114, JOE KELLER, speaking about his son who condemns his crime, says: 'I should've put him out when he was ten, like I was put out. And made him earn his keep. Then he'd know how a buck is made in this world!'

"This is saying quite plainly that all money is made the way JOE KELLER made it, and that there is no other way to make it.

"To stress the fact that JOE's morals are typical of the whole business community, it is shown that he is held in high esteem by all the best people in town. ANN, the daughter of his framed partner, thinks that this is a proof of JOE's innocence. Then she is horrified to learn from SUE, one of the town's respectable women, that SUE and all the others believe JOE to be guilty: (Page 60A)

Ann

"'But that can't be!--they're on the best terms with everybody in the block. They play cards all the time, and--'

Sue

"'So what? They give Joe credit for being clever. I guess I do, too.'

"It is never explained how JOE managed to be exonerated by a court. Again, in a kind of sophomore's conception of law, it is merely stated that JOE denied a telephone conversation (in which he told his partner to ship the bad cylinders) and this was all he had to do: he went free and the partner went to jail. Apparently the court needed and made no investigation, called no witnesses. What impression does this leave with the audience about our law, our justice and our courts? Well, the play makes a point of cinching that impression, too. On Page 64, a young lawyer, the son of the framed partner, is asked: 'How's the law?' And answers: 'I don't know. When I was studying it seemed sensible. But outside there doesn't seem to be much of a law.'

"The manner in which JOE KELLER passes the defective plane cylinders to the Army is worse than preposterous: he sneaks into his factory on a Sunday, when no one is around, removes the rejection tags which are attached to the bad cylinders, and replaces them with tags marked 'Ship' (pp. 90-91). It's as simple as that. Nothing is said about any government inspections after the cylinders left the factory. A fraud committed through such a procedure is blatantly impossible. But what is accomplished here? The audience gets the impression that the sole, personal action of one greedy manufacturer could be and was responsible for the wholesale slaughter of American flyers. What sort of an impression does this give the audience about our entire system, both economic and political, both in regard to our business and to our government?

"The above points cover one major part of the play's theme. The other major part is the constant emphasis, hammered throughout the play, that the real evil in JOE KELLER's heart, the motive for his crime, was his love for his own family. It is implied that such a love is vicious, anti-social selfishness. The play's thesis, in effect, is as follows: love of family is individual and, therefore, vicious--as opposed to love of society, which is collective and, therefore, virtuous.

"Pages 114-115. Here is how JOE KELLER justifies himself to his wife:

Joe

"You wanted money, so I made money. A man has to take care of his family. That's the first thing--he has to take care of his family. What must I be forgiven? You needed money, didn't you? To buy clothes and food and send them to school. You had to have money, didn't you?'

Kate

'Not that way, Joe.'

Joe

"'I didn't want it that way, either. What difference is it as long as you've got it... I could live on a quarter a day myself. But I got a family, so I--'

Kate

"'Joe!--it doesn't excuse it that you did it for the family.'

Joe

"'It's got to excuse it!'

Kate

"'There's something bigger than the family to him.'

Joe

"'...I'm his father and he's my son. Nothing is bigger than that. And you're going to tell him, understand? I'm his father and he's my son. And if there's something bigger than that, I'll put a bullet in my head!'

"This scene is a plain, open attack on the family as an institution. It uses the terms of a man's proper, decent concern for the support of his family ('You needed money...to buy clothes and food and send them to school,') and presents this concern as a murderous evil. It stresses that there is 'something bigger than the family.' What? Why, the collective, of course.

"Page 124. CHRIS, the son, makes his final speech when his mother asks him what she and his father can do now about their guilt. CHRIS answers: 'You can be better! Once and for all, you can know now that the whole earth comes in through those fences--there's a universe outside, and you're responsible to it.'

"What 'fences'? The only meaning that can be attached to this piece of wooziness is that concern for the family (or for the individual) is a vicious form of building a fence around oneself--and that 'the whole earth' of 'the universe' (that is, the collective) will 'come in through.'

"Page 123. In his last speech, before he walks out to commit suicide, JOE KELLER speaks of LARRY (his older son who killed himself on learning about his crime) and says: 'I think to him they (the dead flyers) were

"'all my sons. And I guess they were--all my sons.'

"That is the title of the play. The tenet that a man must love everybody's children, all children, just exactly as much as his own (not in the sense of respecting their rights or feeling benevolence, but literally love them as much as his own, making no distinction whatever) is an old one among collectivist writers. It is found quite often in the books and plays written by Reds. This is not a 'Communist Party Line' in the narrow, political sense of the word. It's a little deeper than that: it's the Collectivist 'party line.'

"Page 125. The play ends on a speech by KATE, the mother, when CHRIS leaves his home forever with the girl he loves.

Kate

> "'Make a clean world for yourselves, you two--forget us--and what we were. And never look back. Never! Larry is dead--and Joe is dead--so live--live!'

"If the play were merely denouncing one criminal--why should the mother tell CHRIS to 'make a clean world'? If JOE KELLER were intended to be taken as an exception, his crime would not make the world dirty. The implication here is obvious: JOE KELLER represents the world of American business--so his son must make a new world, which would be 'clean'. What kind of new world?

"Translated from the double-talk, here is what this speech conveys to the audience: 'Make a collectivist world for yourselves--forget the past--and what America was. And never turn reactionary. Never! Business men are dead--so Live--live!'

"This theme and all the implications listed above come across quite clearly in the screenplay. (There are many other passages preaching or hinting at Collectivism, too numerous to mention.) That is the effect the movie will have on an audience, and those are the ideas it will convey.

"Now it is extremely interesting to note that in the STORY TEST REPORT of Audience Research, Inc. (which accompanied this script), there is a synopsis of the original stage play from which this screenplay was adapted--and the stage play states its theme openly, in undisguised language. On page 15 of the synopsis, there is the following scene, which has been omitted from the screenplay:

> "'What should I do?' Joe begs. 'Jail? You want me to go to jail?' Chris is silent. Tears brim in his eyes.

"'Near tears himself, Joe moves toward him. 'What's the matter, why don't you tell me? I'll tell you why you can't say it. Because you know I don't belong there. Because you know! If my money's dirty, there ain't a clean nickel in the United States. Who worked for nothin' in that war? When they work for nothin', I'll work for nothin'. Did they ship a gun or a truck outa Detroit before they got their price? Is that clean? Nothin's clean. It's dollars and cents, nickels and dimes, war and peace, it's nickels and dimes. The whole goddam country is gotta go if I do! That why you can't tell me?'

"'That's exactly why,' Chris says.

"'Then am I bad?'

"'I didn't call you bad. I know you're no worse than most, but I thought you were better.'

"On Page 12 of the synopsis, CHRIS's angry speech to his father is given at greater length than it is in the screenplay, and in greater detail. Observe the nature of the detail:

"'...I was dying every day and you were killing my boys and you did it for me? I was so proud you were helping us win and you did it for me? What the hell do you think I was thinking of, the goddam business? Is that as far as your mind can see, the business? What is that, the world--the business? What are you made of, dollar bills?...'

"To suggest that a factory can and should produce 'guns and trucks' without payment is an idea that could be preached seriously only by a moron or a scoundrel. How long would such a factory remain in business? What would it use to pay the salaries of its workers and the bills for its raw materials? There is only one economic system under which a factory could produce without profit (in theory and on paper only), the system which is apparently advocated by this play--the system of Communism. In practice, of course, factories under Communism simply do not produce. As witness--the lend-lease from our capitalistic factories to Soviet Russia.

"There is only one economic system under which men 'work for nothin'.' And they literally work for nothing--not getting even enough food. As witness--the slave labor camps of Soviet Russia.

"Note also CHRIS' line to his father: 'I know you're no worse than most.' This is saying plainly that most business men--and most Americans, for that matter--earn money through fraud, treason and murder.

"This is sickening.

"The fact that the above passages have been omitted from the screenplay does not change the nature of the story nor of its message nor of its propaganda effect. The omission merely makes the propaganda a little less crudely blatant. But all the implications are still there, in the whole plot, action, characterizations and dialogue of the screenplay. The audience will make its own conclusions--and these conclusions will, in substance, be precisely what the omitted passages had said openly. It's all there.

"Here are some quotations from audience reactions, as given in the same STORY TEST REPORT:

"'A clever, interesting story manifesting the weaknesses of man. Particularly strong in denunciation of American capitalists.'

"'....although it probably was fictional, it seems as if it might be about any American family.'

"'The story is a fine expose of the many defective weapons that were made during the war and which caused many deaths.'

"The following quotations are answers given to the STORY TEST REPORT's question: 'What did you like most about the story itself?'--

"'The conflict of today's idealistic veteran (CHRIS) and the whole world as consisting of the JOE's and KATE's. A story of our times.'

"'The illusion to American industry implying it is all corrupt and instrumental in killing many American boys.' (I believe the word intended here was: 'allusion.')

"'Perhaps it would show some of these business men to do less finagling around, especially if it's tampering with lives.'

"Now is there any excuse for the producers of this movie to claim that they do not know what sort of thing they are producing?"

The cast of the picture "All My Sons" was furnished by T-1 and is as follows:

LA 100-15732

EDWARD G. ROBINSON
BURT LANCASTER
MADY CHRISTIANS
LOUISA HORTON
LLOYD GOUGH

ARLENE FRANCIS
HENRY MORGAN
ELIZABETH FRASER
HOWARD DUFF
FRANK CONROY

Writer-Producer - CHESTER ERSKINE
Director - IRVING REIS

Of the above, LLOYD GOUGH has been reported to be a member of the Hollywood Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, according to CNDI [redacted] b7D
CONF. INF.

T-1 was unable to identify ARTHUR MILLER except to say that in his opinion the latter is a New York playwright. ERSKINE did all the local work in connection with the motion picture version of the production.

T-1 in reading the confidential reports of Audience Research, Inc., said that he was personally very much concerned with the studio's production of this picture, saying that in his opinion it will not make money, and that pictures of this type are not in the same class with pure amusement stories when it comes to profits.

Informant went on to say that in recent conferences the studio management has decided to make no more pictures of this type, and he said that the management of Universal-International is concerned over this production, as well as the one entitled "Another Part of the Forest", which was reviewed in a previous report in this case, as well as a third picture which has been completed and is now ready for production entitled "The Senator Was Indiscreet." This last-named picture is the work of NUNNALY JOHNSON and pokes fun at law makers generally, showing how a man who is without scruples or morals can almost be elected President of the United States. Informant said that the studio is apprehensive of the reaction of certain members of Congress when this picture hits the screens.

Information in the files of the Los Angeles Field Division fails to reveal that ARTHUR MILLER is a member of the Communist Party. However, a lead is being set out for the New York Field Division to verify or disprove this allegation. However, the script is included because, according to T-2, it "is the product of a thorough-going Collectivism."

The script entitled "In Place of Splendor" by CONSTANCIA de la MORA was also reviewed by T-2. This script was furnished by T-3, who stated that it had been sent to a prominent screen actress by RING LARDNER, JR. The letter transmitting this script to the actress is set out below:

"Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation Studios
Beverly Hills, California

"December 11, 1946

"We once talked at IRVING REIS's house about the writers' motion picture company of which I am one of the founders, and you expressed an especial interest in the script of CONSTANCIA de la MORA's In Place of Splendor, which we were preparing. I'm sending it to you now so that in case you think it's a possible vehicle for you, we can arrange a meeting to discuss it.

"In Place of Splendor is planned as the first production of Xanadu Films, whose members, besides myself, are DALTON TRUMBO, ALLAN SCOTT, RICHARD COLLINS, HUGO BUTLER, and, for variety, a producer (R. B. ROBERTS) and an actor (JOHN GARFIELD.) As you know, Miss de la MORA's book was a factual autobiography but because several of the characters involved are still living, we decided with her to make the screenplay a fictional work based on the book.

"Though it is a cardinal precept of our company not to proceed with production plans until we are sure the script is right, we have relaxed the rule somewhat in this instance because Miss de la MORA, who is much more interested in having the picture made than in money, is extremely anxious that preliminary arrangements at least get under way as soon as possible. However, though we don't feel this script is quite the final draft, it is certainly close enough to it for you to form an opinion of the whole project.

"I'd appreciate it if you would call or write me about the script at 20th Century-Fox or at the address below.

"Sincerely,

/s/ RING LARDNER, JR.

Ring Lardner, Jr.

[redacted] b6 b7C

"RL:FM

CONF. INFT.

It was noted in the above letter that of the individuals making up the firm, according to LARDNER, the following are members of the Communist Party, according to information furnished by CNDI [redacted] this information was sent to the Bureau in Los Angeles letter of June 28, 1947: b7D

DALTON TRUMBO
RICHARD COLLINS
HUGO BUTLER
RING LARDNER, JR.

All carry current cards in the Screen Writers Guild.

Informant T-3 said that when the actress to whom this script was sent had read a portion of it, she threw it on the floor in disgust, calling it outright Communist propaganda, and refused to have any further contact with LARDNER concerning this production.

The script was read by MERVYN LeROY, a producer at MGM, who said that in his opinion the script was "obvious propaganda and would make a lousy picture." He went on to say that he felt sure no one in Hollywood would attempt to produce such a picture, because it would be very poor box office, and the fact that it was purely propaganda made it lack entertainment value.

The address of Xanadu Films is given on the frontispiece of the script as 1052 Carol Drive, Los Angeles. This is the address of the R. B. ROBERTS Agency, whose secretary-manager is KATHRYN ETTA JANE O'NEILL, alias KATHRYN ETTA JANE ROBERTS, alias KATIE ROBERTS, who was a member of the Communist Party in 1943, according to CNDI [redacted] b7D

T-3 has been active in the Screen Writers Guild for many years but recently has not been attending meetings. However, he states that in his opinion the men who comprise the membership of this firm constitute the "Communist corps" within the Guild who carry out orders given by others and who, together with JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, constitute the menace to the Guild from the standpoint of outside control. This informant doubted that JOHN GARFIELD is a member of the Party but said that in his opinion actors were not important, because they had little or nothing to do with the Communist content of a script or picture.

The remarks of T-2 concerning the script of "In Place of Splendor" are set out below:

"[illegible]"

Screenplay

by

Michael Collins

From the Book by Constancia de la Mora

This screenplay is crude propaganda, and quite sickening. It has no plot, story or drama. Its characters serve only as puppets who move through and talk about political events. The theme is ostensibly the Spanish Revolution, but since very little is said or shown about the concrete event or conditions pertaining specifically to the political history of Spain, the impression one receives is the theme is revolution as such, revolution entering class war.

The only idea that emerges constantly from the very messy action is the idea that the lower classes must seize the power from the upper classes, that the poor are noble victims and the rich vicious monsters. The revolution is treated, not as an issue of political freedom for everybody, but as an issue of the poor against the rich. This, of course, is a Marxist standard.

All the characters who come from the upper classes are vicious, with the exception of the heroine and a few of those sympathetic to her. But those few are all "for the Republic" or, "for the people", even though they are born in aristocracy. Everyone who is not "for the Republic" is presented as a monster. All the poor -- servants, peasants, or workers, are presented as golden-hearted creatures full of nothing but kindness and maternal love. This is all as crude as that.

The story opens with a sequence which casts an ugly reflection on the Catholic Church. It shows the children of the rich in the Convent School, being drilled and ordered about like soldiers. The first words of the screenplay come from Maria, (the heroine as a child) reading to the class the story of a Catholic saint as follows:

Maria's Voice
(distinctly)
...There can be little room for doubt that Margaret shortened her life by her austerities. At the end of every Lent she was in a pitiable state from fasting, deprivation of sleep, and neglect of her person.

The rest of what she reads is on the same order. It is a description of religion definitely slanted in such a way that it makes it sound revoltingly cruel and senseless about a Saint who died of privation.

ECM:HEY
LA 100-15732

The cruelty and hypocrisy of the rich is emphasized in the next scene when the rich little girls are marched in a straight line to a row of poor little girls and each rich girl hands a bun with a piece of chocolate to each poor girl, undoubtedly in dead silence. This is apparently a caricature on the futile charity of the rich. The "social significance" is stressed as follows:

"CLOSE SHOT - MARIA AND HER POOR GIRL

"Maria puts out her hand with the bun and piece of chocolate in it. The little girl automatically raises hers, but her eyes are fixed on Maria's coat -- it's warm -- and then, almost unconsciously, without taking her eyes away, the little girl reaches out and touches Maria's black coat very gently for a second, just long enough so that her hand, blue with cold, can sense the warmth and softness of the wool. On her face is the most complete and wonderful absorption. And Maria, watching her, is suddenly and inexplicably ashamed -- ...."

In the next scene, Maria, a small child, talks to her grandfather and is given the following incredible dialogue:

Don Antonio
We have had a great and proud history.

Maria
Will we always be great?

Don Antonio
Only if we deserve it.

Maria
Paco says "only if we can solve our social problems".

Maria grows up and marries Perrin, a rich young man of noble family, then discovers that he is arrogant, superficial and cruelly indifferent to her feelings. Her life with him in his ancestral mansion is shown as stiff and unhappy. "His mother is a large woman with a strikingly arrogant face, but it is a face from which all dignity has gone." (Page 38) The maid of the family is a "young peasant girl wearing an ugly maid's uniform...." Perrin and his brothers are ardent monarchists. An old uncle, who is a Republican, says of the family: "Except for Maria, there is not a decent person among you."

In the next scene, Perrin is shown firing the maid and her husband, because the husband voted in an election and Perrin had forbidden the husband or peasants to vote (how he could forbid it is not explained). Then Perrin is shown punishing his and Maria's little daughter with pointless cruelty.

ECM:HEY
LA 100-15732

In the next scene "social significance" comes up with a bang when we see two members of the Civil Guard drag "a ragged, half-starved, rain-soaked peasant boy," into Ferrin's house. They demand that the boy tell them who stole an automobile tire. The boy begs for mercy, protests he doesn't know. With the approval of Ferrin and his brothers, the guards proceed to beat and torture the boy. Ferrin's brother explains: "The peasants must learn that if a tire is stolen, someone will be punished."

Suddenly a crowd of peasants breaks into the house. The Republic has won the election, therefore the peasants now have a right to break into a private house. It is here implanted that the Republic is not a political victory, but a class victory -- the triumph of the lower classes. One of Ferrin's brothers yells: "Get out or we'll call the police!" The peasant answers: "They are our police now -- not yours." This is politics, not in terms of ideas (which would be the American conception of politics), but in terms of class warfare (which is Marxism).

Maria leaves her husband, unable to stand him any longer and goes back to the city, taking their little daughter Elvira. At the railway station in Madrid she sees the hero of the story, Jose d' Alberti, and hears him make a speech about the new Republic. Jose is an officer of the Air Force and a nobleman, but he has been in exile for revolutionary activities against the monarchy and he has now returned as a national hero.

Jose

> It (Spain) must become dear and sweet to all of us. It must become precious to our peasants in our land -- to the people in our villages, and to the workers in our cities. All must work for it.

Note here that the only two official classes named specifically are: "Peasants and workers." The "Republic of Workers and Peasants" was an (and still is) official slogan of Soviet Russia.

In the next scene a taxi driver talks to Rosita, Maria's maid. He explains to her: "Perhaps it is all right for your mistress to be sad. But you! You should be all smiles! ..... You do not seem to understand that you and I are now running the country." On page 68, the taxi driver says further: "I have a cousin who is a servant for such a great lady as your own -- she is treated like a dog." On page 70 they see a new flag of the Republic being raised. The taxi driver exclaims: "There it goes -- over the Bank of Spain! Over the War Ministry! This is for you, my little bird, as well as for me...". Why should it be stressed that a republican flag is raised over a bank? A free and proper republic is based on property rights -- therefore a change from a monarchy to a republic would not effect property or banks. What seems to be implied here is an economic issue -- a republic that would affect banks, in some unstated way, for the benefit of taxi drivers and servants. There is only one kind of economic system that takes over property--Communism (or Socialism, which is the same thing).

On page 74, a group of railway workers stand watching the departure of the King of Spain. "They do not regret the king's departure. They are rather pleased by the sense of their new legally arrived-at power." It would be interesting to know how one conveys "legally arrived-at power" by a facial expression.

Maria and Jose D'Alberti fall in love. There is no divorce in old Spain. But the Republic passes a law permitting divorce. Jose brings Maria to listen to the Cortes (parliament) discussion of the new law (pages 96 - 98). Even though this sequence is worded merely as a defense of a person's right to divorce, the general impression it leaves is that of an attack on the institution of marriage. There was no plot or story reason for including this scene in the Cortes. For story purposes, we merely had to know that a new law had been passed, and that the heroine was permitted to divorce her husband. Why was it necessary to show a scene with long speeches advocating divorce? The impression that this was intended as an indirect attack on marriage is heightened by the fact that the Rightist Deputy, who is here presented in the position of a villain standing in the way of the heroine's happiness, has the following lines in his speech: "The Spanish home is the foundation of our Spanish life. It is the bulwark of our nation." (Page 98). One may gather that those who speak of the home as the bulwark of a nation are made to appear most unsympathetic.

The scene on pages 99 - 103 in which Maria's husband, Perrin, comes to confer with her with two lawyers and announces he has the power to deprive her of all rights--leaves the ugliest kind of impression about marriage as a legal institution. Of course, it deals specifically with the marriage laws of Spain. But the impression it leaves may and can apply to all marriage in general, marriage as such.

Next, there is a sequence showing Maria and Jose attending a performance of a play given for the peasants in the village. This sequence deals specifically with the fact that the theater is brought "to the peasants" for the first time and suggests the impression of a class approach to art, art brought to the masses. The author of the play which is being presented to the peasants says: "The Republic has brought them our imagination and our poetry, and has given us our real audience." (Page 108). Why? Why is art a matter of politics?

On page 113 there is an extremely silly line that carries some pretty awful implications. Maria comes to tell her father, who disapproves, that she is going to take advantage of the new divorce law and is then going to marry Jose. She says: "....I am going to be happy with him. I have this chance...

"it has been given me legally by my government." It is only from a collectivist or statist perspective that anybody could permit himself to speak, either carelessly or accidentally, about receiving one's chance of happiness as a gift from the government.

The rest of the story, after Maria's divorce, is taken up with politics almost entirely. It now presents in newsreel fashion the rise of Franco and the Spanish Civil War. All the rebels are presented as Fascists and monsters. All the Loyalists as pure angels fighting for freedom and for the people.

Maria and Jose are fighting on the Loyalist side in beseiged Madrid. In this part of the story the political trend is quite clear. The Loyalists are shown fighting desperately, alone, abandoned by the whole world. On page 132 there is the following dialogue:

Maria

> But why can't we stop them? Almost all of Spain is on our side.

Jose

> We have the Spaniards. But they have the steel...We cannot buy arms from France, England, or the United States even though we are the duly elected government.

On page 134 Maria and Jose are on their way to their wedding and are caught in the bombardment of the city by Fascist planes. Buildings collapse around them, and all seems lost when Jose cries:

Jose

> If you will turn and look, you will see a miracle.

The miracle is a squadron of new planes "flying with impossible speed" that descends on the Fascist planes, beats them, and saves the day. Jose explains to Maria:

> Four days ago these planes which Russia sold us arrived in Cartagena...

This speaks for itself!

As things get worse in beseiged Madrid, Jose and Maria are worried about their little daughter, Elvira, and the following scene takes place between them:

ECM:HEY
LA 100-15732

Jose
I've been thinking. We're really not able to take care of Elvira.

Maria
You think we should send her with the other children to Russia?

Jose
I think it would be better for her -- school, and food, and no bombings. And it would be better for us -- we'd know she was safe.

The next scene shows Maria and Jose taking Elvira aboard the Russian ship. The dialogue is:

Elvira
(in a sudden moment of panic)
I don't want to go! I'll be eating all kinds of good things and living in your rooms -- and you'll still be eating lentils --

Jose
(to Elvira -- reassuring her)
You will like it! It is a big country and very interesting -- Only remember that you are their guest.

The cabin of the Russian ship is described as follows: "It has two bunks in it and it is gaily decorated. A Russian stewardess shows Elvira and Maria in. There are some little hand made toys on the bunk. Elvira goes up to the desk and looks at two pictures of two smiling little girls. The pictures are decorated with flowers."

The dialogue is as follows:

Stewardess
They are my children...and I put their pictures in this cabin so that Elvira and the other little Spanish girl will not be lonely for their playmates.

The stewardess goes out. Maria sits down with Elvira.

Maria

It's exciting. You are going to find it a gay adventure.

Elvira

I'll have a good time. You need not worry about me...I will not even cry.

The Civil War continues and Jose is badly hurt in a plane crash. The doctor advises Maria that Jose needs rest and safety.

Doctor

...Let him have good food--music, perhaps. Get him out of Barcelona. Get him to sleep.

Maria

But where can we go?

Doctor

France...Maybe Russia. They have taken many Spanish children.--Perhaps the Crimea would be very good for him.

However, Jose does not go to the Crimea. Maria smuggles him across the border into France, but he recovers and flies back to fight with the losing Loyalist forces in Spain. Maria is interned by the French authorities in a horrible kind of concentration camp. It is not explained why the refugees from Spain are put into this camp and kept in such miserable conditions. It is merely shown that this is the way the French treat them. One wonders whether the contrast with the smiling stewardess on the Soviet Russian ship is intentional or accidental.

The last scene shows this concentration camp with "miles of beach without shelter, surrounded down to the sea by barbed-wire, and protected at various points by machine guns aimed at the beach....A group of people, ragged, torn, weary, are entering the camp. Among them is Maria." She is described as follows: "She is desperately weary. Her clothes are poor, she has no belongings, she is dirty and hungry." But Maria still holds hope for the future of her political fight in Spain. As an appeal to the whole world, and, one must assume, specifically to America, she gives the following message to an American newspaperman who asks her for a statement:

ECM:HEY
LA 100-15732

Maria (quietly)

> Tell them--they will have to pay and dearly for the loss of our freedom. Tell them that all that one people can do we have done. Now it is up to them.

The last shot of the picture is a symbolic expression of true collectivism:

> "She (Maria) starts to move off, CAMERA PANS WITH HER, she moves to rejoin her countrymen and women--she merges with--becomes one of them--as we
> FADE OUT."

The individual merging in the mass?

The political thesis of this screenplay is too clear to need further comment.

received less than seven days notice to arrange for the reception. She advised that MILLER was somewhat displeased with the shortness of the time they were given to arrange for such a gathering, stating that with a little more time a mass meeting could have been arranged which could have reached thousands in Chicago instead of a reception which would probably only draw about 200 people. It is to be noted, however, that it has been reported that approximately 700 attended the reception during the evening.

Miss HEIMAN advised that each of the representatives from Hollywood spoke briefly at the reception. She said that DALTON TRUMBO stated during his talk that he and the other representatives of Hollywood were proud to be associated with people such as HANS EISLER. She said that this was the nearest thing to an open reference to matters pertaining to Communism. Miss HEIMAN advised that all of the others stated that their purpose in going to Washington was to combat the activities of the "House Un-American Committee", and seek to have its powers taken away from it even if it became necessary to take the matter to the Supreme Court of the United States. She said that each gave the indication that they had agreed as to which questions they would refuse to answer, and that they were going before the Committee as a unified group with respect to their aims and purposes.

CONF. INFT.

[redacted] on October 18, 1947 furnished information pertaining to remarks which had been made by GIL GREEN, Chairman of the Communist Party in the Chicago Area. GREEN had stated that on the previous evening, October 17, 1947, the PCA had held a reception for a group of persons from Hollywood en route to Washington to appear before the Un-American Activities Committee. He stated that plans were made for about 200 to appear, but that 700 showed up. Among those who attended were LARRY PARKS, who played in "The Jolson Story" and ROBERT KENNY. The informant stated that GREEN went on to say that they are going to state to the Committee that they are defending the Constitution of the United States, and that they align themselves with all the victims of the Committee, such as GERHARDT EISLER and EUGENE DENNIS. They also have agreed, regardless of their differences politically, that they are going to refuse to answer certain questions and let the "Un-American Committee" make the most of it. b7D

According to the same informant, FRED WINE, a functionary of the Communist Party in Chicago, later remarked, in referring to the PCA reception, that if the people in the Chicago Area had been told about it the Coliseum could have been filled. The Coliseum is a large arena in Chicago. The informant reports also that GIL GREEN had stated he had not been present but that RUBY COOPER,

100-135 [illegible]-275

"Daily Worker" correspondent for Chicago, was present, and that JONES was also present. This probably refers to SIDNEY JONES of the Urban League.

CONF. INFT.

[redacted] has furnished information pertaining to the reception which was obtained from RUTH BELMONT, Executive Secretary of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee in the Chicago Area, on October 18, 1947. RUTH BELMONT is reported to have stated that the reception was wonderful, and that the representatives from Hollywood had so many basic things to say about how they felt and in pointing out what the attack really means. She remarked that it was unfortunate that more people did not learn about the affair. She particularly stated that it was wonderful to think that a man like BARTLEY CRUM had joined the group. She is also reported to have stated that the group is united, and when they go to Washington they are going to break up the Un-American Activities Committee. b7D

Miss ILEENE HEIMAN, previously referred to, has advised this office that on October 14, 1947 she attended a meeting of the Arts Division of the Progressive Citizens of America in Chicago. This meeting was held at the Chicago Headquarters of PCA, 112 East Chestnut. BILL MILLER, State PCA Director, was present, and at this time he stated that PCA in Chicago had received only one week's prior notice for the arrangement of a reception for the Hollywood representatives. He also stated that an Arts Division meeting was being planned in New York with respect to thought control, and that EDWARD G. ROBINSON and KATHERINE HEPBURN would be present. He announced that he had received advice that Hollywood was now willing to send people to various parts of the country for such special purposes.

This is to advise that on the evening of October 22, 1947, Mr. FREDERICK BLUMENTHAL of the Democratic National Committee with offices at the Mayflower Hotel, telephonically reported that he was Public Relations Officer and Assistant to the Director of Public Relations of this Committee. He stated that he was a former Captain in the Army Air Forces and at approximately 9:30 P.M. that date, he contacted Mr. ROBERT KENNY, one of the attorneys for the 19 Hollywood witnesses before the House Un-American Activities Committee, and was referred to Mr. CHARLES KATZ of room 100-C at the Shoreham Hotel.

Mr. KATZ invited Mr. BLUMENTHAL up to the room and immediately asked for his identification card. At this point, Mr. BLUMENTHAL related, he presented his Army AGO pass for identification and KATZ, upon seeing this, immeduately ushered BLUMENTHAL out of the room post haste. BLUMENTHAL indicated that there were 15 or 20 people in the room and they looked like "busy beavers" to him. He said that he felt it was a very strange crowd and made him uncomfortable. Mr. BLUMENTHAL related that his purpose was to ascertain the kind of defense the witnesses were going to offer at the hearing. His interest in this was purely from a political standpoint.

On October 23, 1947, Mr. BLUMENTHAL was recontacted by Agents of this office for any further information he might have concerning the activities of this group with headquarters in the Shoreham Hotel, and he was unable to furnish any additional information. Mr. BLUMENTHAL said he did not contact any member of the House Committee counsel and simply wanted to advise the FBI of his encounter at the headquarters of the witnesses.

This information is being submitted and no further action is being taken by this office in this matter.

Dear Sirs:

I was terribly perturbed to hear the program so ably put on the air by various Movie Stars yesterday afternoon.

The activies of that "Un-American Committee" seem most UN-American, as described by the people who were presenting their side of the case.

Will you three gentlemen, for the good of the Country, and the honor of our State, give this matter your most serious consideration, and if you find the situation as described I am sure you will do your utmost to stopping such activities - I hold no brief for Hollywood, but when one set of people are INVESTIGATED it does lay the way wide open for any group against whom another group might have a "grudge" to be inquisitioned.....

Things like this worry me - and I'm glad we have three able men in Washington to speak for the KENTUCKIANA.

Am not so sure now, that I should have written this letter ... BUT from the way the investigati is proceeding - IF those people aremembers of the Communist Part (AND THE COMMONIST PART ISN'T OUTLAWED IN OUR COUNTRY) they are withi their Constitutional Rights .... They certainly know their way around! IF THEY ARE MEMBE OF A "FOREIGN AG ORGANIZATIO isn't this insest an F.B.I. matter than a Congressi Investigating matter?

In larger type, underneath the names, were these slogans:

"Defend the film industry.

"Abolish un-American committee."

In its efforts to be impartial or something, the House Un-American Activities Committee insisted that the first witnesses called would be members of the alliance.

This happens to be a strategic blow to the alliance. It will now be cast in the role of placing charges against the industry, in the course of placing charges against the Communists.

It should be comparatively simple for the southpaws, once they are on the stand, to cry down these charges with little more than a snort of contempt or a repetition of the sanctified flag-waving protests uttered earlier by studio heads who just don't like investigations.

Because of this manipulation, there are three groups involved in the current hearing instead of two.

The underdog becomes the alliance, which is genuinely concerned by the screen's tendency to make all of our free press manpower drunkards, all legislators crooked, all business men scoundrels, all employers exploiters of human flesh.

The alliance, naturally, is not nearly as well organized or as persevering as the active forces that smear it.

It is perhaps not as clever.

The Bureau desires that your Office furnish all available facts developed through informants, technical and microphone surveillances and other sources on the Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry in report form.

All information reported by your Office should be carefully set out. All individuals referred to in this report should be fully identified and the source of each statement made should be set out completely in the report. For example, information obtained from a confidential informant should indicate the symbol number of the informant and the date that the informant obtained the information or reported the information. You are instructed to submit a report to the Bureau every fifteen days on the captioned subject matter until the present hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities are completed. A report should be prepared by your office at once containing all available information developed to date.

REMARKS

Miss Churchill requested to see Mr. Hoover in reference to the present investigation of the Hollywood actors, writers and producers by the Committee on Un-American Activities.

When informed of Mr. Hoover's absence from the city, Miss Churchill declined to speak to an assistant and stated that she would call back.

Special Agent Robert W. Wall, Washington Field Office, has advised that the Committee on Un-American Activities cited Dalton Trumbo for contempt today as a result of Trumbo's refusal to answer the questions as to whether or not he was a member of the Communist Party and whether or not he was a member of the Screen Writers Guild.

By way of identification Dalton Trumbo has been identified as a Communist and is employed in the motion picture industry as a screen writer. Trumbo has been the screen writer for such well known motion pictures as "Thirty Seconds over Tokyo," "Tender Comrade" and "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes."

This is to advise that this morning motion picture writer, Sam Ornitz, and motion picture writer, director, and producer, Herbert Biberman, were cited by the un-American Activities Committee on a contempt charge. This citation was the result of their failure to answer questions similar to those propounded to the writers who were cited by the committee yesterday. Both Ornitz and Biberman have been identified as Communists by the Bureau through a most highly confidential and delicate source.

The above information was furnished by Special Agent William Ryan of the Washington Field Office.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON

Jim Walter of the Times-Herald told me that there was quite a rumpus at the hearings this afternoon when one of the lawyers named Katz, who claimed he was representing the same people that Bartley Crum was representing, was thrown out. Crum shouted that this was Un-American. George Dixon then jumped into the affray and told Crum to shut up or "I'll knock your g..d... head off." George then told Crum and Katz both that they ought to be loaded up on a ship and sent to Russia.

Walter also told me that they have an anonymous tip that Boyan Vitchanassov, head of the Bulgarian Mission to the United Nations, was coming to Washington tonight to attend a reception arranged by his wife, Fep, to meet Bartley Crum and some of the witnesses. Walter stated they also got an anonymous tip from the same source that they will meet at 3716 Woodley Road tonight. They are now going to try to cover the matter and get photographers.

Respectfully,

L. B. Nichols

This is to advise that Chairman Thomas of the House Committee on un-American Activities suddenly adjourned the current hearings being held by his Committee on Communism in the motion picture industry this afternoon. Mr. Thomas adjourned the meeting by reading a statement in which he stated that of the 79 individuals his Committee had information on, he had 68 yet to consider. He related that these people would be given a chance to testify at future hearings of the Committee either in Washington or Los Angeles. He stated that the investigation by his Committee would be continued of this subject matter.

Louis J. former SA

Investigator Russell of the Committee testified concerning the atomic scientist connected with Communist matters prior to the adjournment. This information was furnished by Special Agent William Ryan of the Washington Field Office, who indicated that a letter would be forthcoming in the immediate future from the WFO concerning the testimony of Russell.

Investigator Louis J. Russell of the Un-American Activities Committee has indicated that the surprise testimony which is to be given today has reference to the material which Chairman Thomas discussed with the Director recently, particularly with regard to the linking of an atomic scientist with Communist matters.

The above information was furnished by Special Agent Charles G. Cleveland of the Washington Field Office.

This morning at the hearing being held by the Un-American Committee of the House of Representatives on Communism in the motion picture industry, screen writers Ring Lardner, Jr. and Lester Cole were cited for contempt because of their failure to answer the questions propounded to them by the Committee. These questions were, as in the cases of the other individuals who have been previously cited by this Committee, (1) Are you a member of the Screen Writers Guild, and (2) Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party.

By way of identification concerning Lardner and Cole, it should be pointed out that both of these individuals have been identified as Communists by the Bureau through a most highly confidential and reliable source.

In addition screen writer Bertolt Brecht, a German alien, also testified. Brecht answered the questions propounded to him by the Committee over the objections of his attorney Robert Kenney. Brecht denied membership in the Communist Party and having attended meetings which he knew to be Communist meetings.

C. I. R. 4

With regard to Brecht's background, it should be pointed out that there is no information available of a documentary nature indicating that Brecht has been a member of the Communist Party in the Los Angeles area. However, Brecht has an extensive record of Communist connections and affiliations as well as having been in contact with on several occasions representatives of the Soviet Diplomatic Corps in the United States.

Brecht has been associated with numerous Communist front organizations and is reported to be associated with or participated in many affairs sponsored by the German Communist Party. It has further been reported that both he and his wife were Communists in Germany and there was no doubt about their political attitude as it was evidenced in the Brechts' activities and associations.

Brecht is supposed to have co-authored with Hanns Eisler in writing a march known as "Song of Solidarity" which was later adopted, with their permission, as the song of the Communist Youth Organization in replied in the affirmative. They then asked him: "Does he now or has he ever held a Communist Membership Card?" ~~Lawson~~ Russell replied in the affirmative. He was asked: "How do you know?" and Russell replied that he held in his hand the registration card of John Howard Lawson giving the date and number on the card. They then put Stripling on the stand and Stripling read into the record a nine-page single spaced statement on John Howard Lawson. This is undoubtedly something that they have prepared as our statement on Lawson ran 26 pages. (u)

He stated that Eric Johnston was scheduled to testify yesterday afternoon; that Johnston would probably try to avoid testifying, and that the presence of Lawson's card and record had a very visible reaction upon the audience. (u)

Thomas told me that they were going to give Johnston a real good going over; that all the members of the Committee were pretty much irked at the statement that Johnston issued to the press yesterday; that they were frankly going to go after him on the basis that he has a former Communist on his payroll; namely, Edward T. Cheyfitz. (u)

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON

Sunday evening Congressman Thomas called me and outlined that following a radio program participated in by several of the movie stars which lambasted the Un-American Activities Committee, he received a call from a woman in Evanston, Illinois. She called the Mayflower Hotel and asked for his room by number. (u)

The Congressman thinks that his presence at the Mayflower is a closely guarded secret. He gave me his room number last week and wondered since the woman calling said that the FBI should do something about the Communists, as to whether or not we had referred her to him. I told him we had not. (u)

He then stated that there were very few people who had his room number and he thought the number might have been given out by the Bureau. I told him frankly if he was entertaining any such thought he was simply crazy; that as a matter of fact I was the only one in the Bureau who had the number, although I would venture to say that he has had calls from newspaper men and others at the Mayflower. He obviously became flustered and said he might be barking up the wrong tree. I frankly told him to keep his pants on. (u)

Yesterday noon he called again. He said he wanted to give a brief account of what happened that morning, but that the primary purpose of his call was to ask that his heartfelt appreciation be extended to the Director because the Director more than any other person is responsible for his Committee not being put out of business. He then stated that yesterday morning Robert Kenny and Bartley Crum appeared before the Committee and asked for a ruling on a motion. They then heard the motion which namely was to declare the Committee unconstitutional. They went into Executive Session and then came out and ruled on the motion that they were not unconstitutional. (u)

They then called John Howard Lawson. Thomas stated he was most unruly and lamented the fact that he had broken his brand new gavel that morning, which some friends had presented to him. Each time they would ask Lawson a question, Lawson would launch into a harangue on the Committee being unconstitutional. They asked him the question: "Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?" He refused to answer and launched into a harangue. They forthwith excused him, cited him for contempt in that he failed to testify before a Congressional Committee. They then called former Agent Russell to the stand and asked whether he had ever investigated Lawson. He (u)

Reference is made to my letter dated October 18, 1947, in the above captioned matter which included a lengthy conversation between BARTLEY CRUM on the one hand and MAX LOWENTHAL, DAVID WAHL, and CHARLES KRAMER in which LOWENTHAL outlined his ideas for CRUM's activities in Washington at considerable length. Confidential sources reported in this letter disclosed that efforts on the part of LOWENTHAL, WAHL, and KRAMER to assist in opposing the House Un-American Activities Committee in its Hollywood Hearings have continued, and it further appears NATHAN WITT, New York City, has worked with them as well as in the current Gregory Case - Espionage - R.

The sources listed herein indicate that MARTIN POPPER, National Lawyers Guild, is actively participating in the hearings as co-counsel along with BOB KENNY, BART CRUM, SAM ROSENWEIN, BEN MARGOLIS, and CHARLES KATZ. Agent observers at the hearings report POPPER has been attending the hearings daily in the role of counsel. It further appears from these sources that JOHN DIERKES arrived in Washington October 18, 1947, and has operated very actively behind the scenes. In a conversation between DAVE WAHL and DIERKES, WAHL credited DIERKES with performing a great job in coordination and press activity.

The same sources revealed BOB SILBERSTEIN, secretary, National Lawyers Guild, and DAVID REIN of Greenberg, Forer & Rein, Attorneys, who was counsel for GERHART EISLER, have continued to be interested in the Hollywood hearings and with their respective wives apparently are contributing as much support as they are able. The above summarizes the data from October 16 to 28, 1947, which material is outlined hereafter in chronological order for the most part.

On the morning of this date DAVID WAHL contacted ELEANOR LOWENTHAL for MAX who was at doctor's office. WAHL indicated he wished to advise LOWENTHAL that IZZY (I. F. STONE of P. M.) was in New York and could be reached at his office. WAHL also requested MAX be advised there was a follow-up on that article in a Washington paper which is infinitely worse and today's article goes to greater length mentioning 60 possible indictments and referring pretty specifically to a man in WAHL's New York office (MAURICE HALPERIN) with several mis-statements. WAHL added if MAX missed IZZY, WAHL planned to see him in Washington in the morning.

[redacted] On the same afternoon PHILIP DUNAWAY, NYC, advised WAHL he talked with WAHL's friend (MAX LOWENTHAL ?) last night and for personal and business reasons PHIL decided not to come to Washington. However, he stated he would help from New York and had some excellent ideas which he was reducing to writing and would send by letter to WAHL's friend in care of WAHL. DAVE instructed they be sent to his office. PHIL suggested if his ideas were adopted and WAHL or his friends felt DUNAWAY entitled to compensation, that would be wonderful. However, if otherwise, it would be all right. (X) b7D

The ideas referred to appear to be suggestions in connection with the Hollywood hearings. DUNAWAY also referred to some rather startling news in one of the Washington papers and stated the fellow to whom he was talking (LOWENTHAL) knows all about what has happened in New York and can tell or show WAHL about it. (X)

[redacted] On the afternoon of this date ELLA SHALIT, secretary of DAVE WAHL, made reservations for JOHN DIERKES at the Hay Adams House. (X) b7D

[redacted] POPPER and WAHL conversed in the evening of this date at which time WAHL informed POPPER that BOB KENNY and BEN MARGOLIS would arrive in Washington at 11 a.m. They discussed a press conference with these lawyers, and POPPER stated the press was interested in the glamour guy (LARRY PARKS) rather than the lawyers. WAHL suggested it would be a good idea for the lawyers to get off a blast, and POPPER stated he would see if he could get hold of this guy (CHARLES) MICHIE regarding a press conference. (X) b7D

WAHL said he thought it would be a good idea if the press people met the plane and have them make a brief punchy statement setting the stage for a future press conference. WAHL mentioned contacting the Herald Tribune guys and FELIX BELAIR of the New York Times. POPPER indicated he would leave the matter to MICHIE, their press representative. (X)

CONF. INFT.

[redacted] (X)(u) On the morning of October 17, 1947, HELEN BRYAN, Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, New York City, advised MARTIN POPPER they were having a dinner on civil liberties on October 30 and asked if there was any possibility of having any of the Hollywood group as guests of honor. POPPER stated they would arrive Saturday, October 18, 1947, and he would be glad to discuss it with them although October 30 would be in the middle of the hearings. POPPER requested a copy of the invitation and said they would have a staff meeting Sunday or Monday. (X) b7D

[redacted] (u) On the same date JOE CARROLL in the office of RALPH SHIKE (phonetic), Progressive Citizens of America, New York City, inquired of POPPER as to the chance of getting any of the Hollywood group to New York for a press conference on Tuesday, October 21. CARROLL said he thought he (X) b7D could put out a lot of publicity prior to the conference. POPPER did not relish the idea but stated he would take the matter up with the Hollywood people when they arrived.

[redacted] (u) On the afternoon of this date POPPER conversed with BENJAMIN MARGOLIS, Ambassador Hotel, Chicago, stating the Washington News Service wanted to know about the arrival of LARRY PARKS in connection with the press release on the meeting Monday night. POPPER mentioned they could get fifteen minutes on a local radio station Sunday and should take advantage of this as a build-up for the Monday night meeting at the Press Club. He said tentatively DALTON TRUMBO, RING LARDNER, Jr., and BOB KENNY would be the speakers. He also mentioned after the press club meeting there would be a cocktail party where fifty or sixty wealthy people would be invited for the purpose of raising dough. b7D

[redacted] (u) On the same afternoon POPPER and DAVID REIN discussed the debate referred to in previous letters. REIN indicated he had heard nothing from Congressman (JOHN) McDOWELL who is a member of the Un-American Activities Committee. POPPER stated they had checked on the Hollywood guy (FRANCIS HENSON) and the general thought is that he is very important. They agreed if they could only get two unimportant guys they would not put on the debate. b7D

[redacted] (u) On the same afternoon JIM PROCTOR, NYC, advised POPPER that MAY REIS, a crack secretary, is available and should be down there in Washington and would come for $75 per week plus expenses. POPPER instructed that she be sent down and stated they would work it out here. POPPER stated they needed someone in addition (press agent ?) and PROCTOR suggested PETE (WEINSTEIN ?), and POPPER said bring him down also. POPPER further mentioned they need a research guy as well as a press agent. PROCTOR mentioned PETE would probably charge $250 plus expenses and stated he himself does not want to be paid. b7D

CONF. INFT.

[redacted] On the evening of this date CHARLES KRAMER contacted Senator CLAUDE PEPPER who stated United Press had requested him to write a four or five hundred word commentary on the book by former Secretary JAMES BYRNES. PEPPER stated JIM thinks the best thing is not to do it, and if anyone wants to read his comments on BYRNES' book, they could read them in "our book" if and when it is published, with which KRAMER agreed. b7D

During a lengthy conversation, PEPPER told KRAMER he wanted to have a talk with him Monday on that other thing and asked if KRAMER had seen that Times Herald article (long article on Gregory Case). KRAMER said he had, and PEPPER stated he would have a chat with CHARLIE about that.

[redacted] On the afternoon of October 17, 1947, BETTY HAYS advised DAVID REIN that TERESA LISS had said there would not be any collection at the meeting. She said there would be a reception at the home of BELFORD LAWSON following the Monday night meeting. She also mentioned the Lawyer's Guild and Southern Conference were supposed to split the proceeds. (X) b7D

Thereafter REIN contacted POPPER stating he had received a call from BETTY HAYS whom he had got as captain of ushers for POPPER's collection. She explained that TERESA LISS of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare said there would be no collection at the meeting, but there would be a reception following the meeting at the home of BELFORD LAWSON (Southern Conference). POPPER stated there would be both, apparently meaning that collection would be taken at both functions. He indicated that Southern Conference alone would handle the money but they would meet tomorrow and suggest sharing the proceeds, the money to be used by each organization for a specific campaign against the Committee. He stated the general feeling was there would not be much raised at the meeting but they expected a few thousand dollars at the reception afterwards. (X)

Following the above conversation, REIN told BETTY HAYS there would be two collections and explained they were inviting fifty or sixty people with money, such as the GERBERS, to the reception. (X)

October 18, 1947

[redacted] On the morning of October 18, 1947, JOHN DIERKES was contacted by WAHL at the Hay Adams House. They discussed the fact that CRUM and KENNY were delayed because of plane trouble and DIERKES suggested WAHL put the arrival of KENNY and CRUM on the AP ticker when he gets a definite time. WAHL informed DIERKES that MARTY (POPPER) would like to talk with DIERKES to which the latter commented, "He would." DIERKES however stated he wanted to talk with WAHL. (X) b7D

[redacted] Shortly thereafter WAHL contacted the Hay Adams House concerning a suite arranged for BARTLEY CRUM and requested that it be placed in the name of JOHN DIERKES. He explained they would like to have Mr. CRUM's incognito preserved for awhile and added Mr. DIERKES is here with Mr. CRUM. (X) b7D

Shortly thereafter CARL GREEN in the office of WAHL conversed with DIERKES who stated he was acting as an errand boy again. GREEN inquired as to how long DIERKES would be in Washington, and DIERKES stated, "Long enough I trust." DIERKES told GREEN he was no longer living at [redacted] but is now at [redacted] They agreed to get together definitely. CARL GREEN is a close associate of most of the Gregory subjects and is believed to be a Communist Party member. (X) b6 b7C

On this date KIM SILBERSTEIN, speaking for the Lawyers Guild, invited WAHL to the meeting Monday night at the Press Club. She inquired if WAHL could contact some people in the Jewish groups, and WAHL suggested she approach PHILIP SCHIFF, Jewish Welfare Board, and JACOB KAMEN, head of the Jewish Community Council, indicating it would be all right to use WAHL's name. He also suggested the name of Rabbi METZ. WAHL stated unfortunately most of his contacts on the Jewish side are not in Washington, but said SCHIFF and KAMEN are key people in the local community. (C)

Later WAHL also suggested MARCUS COHN of the American Jewish Committee. (C)

[redacted] (U) On the morning of October 18, 1947, MARTIN POPPER conferred with CHARLES (MICHIE) discussing press matters and the arrival of KENNY, CRUM, and MARGOLIS that morning by plane. MICHIE indicated he had talked with a lot of the guys and they were all against a Sunday press conference. MICHIE stated he could employ his time this morning by talking with CARL LEVIN, OLIVER PILOT, and HERMAN of Hollywood Reporter, just briefing them. He mentioned he was getting into difficulty with Variety, Hollywood Reporter, and Motion Picture Daily because they always want something new, something not mentioned in press releases. (C) b7D

CONF. INFT [redacted] (U) On this morning Mrs. KIM SILBERSTEIN contacted SELMA REIN for names of people to contact. SELMA stated she had extensive lists of people who would probably be interested but had not sent invitations to them. She said she just sent invitations to heads of important organizations, ministers, and people in church groups, etc. KIM stated she thought there would be some spot announcements on that radio station (WQQW). SELMA commented their listening public was small, not supposed to exceed about 10,000. SELMA stated she would give KIM the names later. (C) b7D

[redacted] (U) BOB SILBERSTEIN talked with one PETERSON (phonetic) explaining about the Monday night meeting at the Press Club auditorium where CHARLES HOUSTON (colored attorney), BOB KENNY, BART CRUM, and eight key people from Hollywood would speak. He mentioned in talking with BELFORD LAWSON (colored) the latter thought PETERSON's people might be interested and inquired if PETERSON could get some printed announcements out to his people. PETERSON thought he could and requested SILBERSTEIN send them to 605 D Street, N. W. (C) b7D

[redacted] (U) On the same morning SILBERSTEIN talked with DAVID REIN who said he was disturbed about the publicity and thought they really need an ad in the papers. POPPER talked him out of this theory stating they were getting a man who would get them a lot of publicity. SILBERSTEIN stated it is very curious that they get a great deal of publicity in New York but in (C) b7D

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Washington they kill "us." They discussed having a man for the outside at the Monday night meeting and asking people to register. However, SILBERSTEIN stated it would take time and be somewhat out of order as many people would not be lawyers. (It is believed this conversation concerns efforts to enlist membership in the Lawyers Guild because REIN suggested one of the speakers could indicate that membership cards for the local chapter were available.)

At noon this date MARTIN POPPER spoke with HELEN FULLER, New Republic Magazine, who inquired if it were true the Screen Writers Guild is not participating at the hearing. POPPER stated he had not heard but would learn when they get in tonight. FULLER stated she heard from Hollywood there was a big row and the Screen Writers Guild decided to duck the whole thing. FULLER also stated she had a peek at the testimony to be given by JACK WARNER, and he takes a more enlightened line than the rest and his position will be close to the position of WILLKIE. She said JACK WARNER would say there are probably some communists around and some in his studio, etc., but he is the guy responsible for the pictures. She stated it is not a good forthright statement that he skirts the nasty parts.

POPPER inquired what some of the other guys are going to say, and she said (LOUIS) MAYER is going to take a stand for the appeasement position and no one seems to know what (SAM) GOLDWYN is going to do. POPPER inquired about ERIC JOHNSON, and FULLER did not know. He asked about PAUL McNUTT and whether he would make an open statement, and she stated they were not sure, but the committee had made it clear they did not like it.

On the morning of this date SELMA REIN informed KIM SILBERSTEIN she had the names ready for KIM and some of them may have received the announcement. She stated some might be contacted for the cocktail party but KIM would have to use her discretion. Thereafter she furnished a lengthy list set forth hereafter at the end of this letter.

CONF. INFT.

October 19, 1947

[redacted] On this date HERMAN (GREENBERG) stated to DAVID REIN he heard that CRUM and KENNY issued a press release that afternoon and a telegram to THOMAS (Senator ELBERT ?) to quash the subpoena on five grounds, and that this was going to be a declaratory judgment in the District Court since apparently some of the nineteen persons summoned cannot afford to take this stand, adding as we were in the position with those CPA (?) guys. REIN commented he was the first to raise such a point, and HERMAN stated CRUM and KENNY may not understand the legal theory. HERMAN stated he did not know what lines of communication REIN had with KENNY and CRUM and thought perhaps he could make some suggestions to them. REIN stated POPPER could be a link between but that POPPER is probably trying to horn in and thus would be an obstacle. GREENBERG suggested SILBERSTEIN, and REIN stated he doubted whether BOB would want to interfere.

b7D

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Thereafter REIN contacted SILBERSTEIN to inquire if he had heard anything about filing suit and BOB stated POPPER was one of their attorneys. REIN mentioned he would like to confer with them since he had done considerable work on this subjedt in connection with the threat at the time of the Henry Wallace address.

REIN then spoke with GREENBERG stating SILBERSTEIN indicated POPPER has been retained as one of counsel and any work done by REIN would be on a voluntary basis.

[redacted] (U) On the morning of this date KATHRYN POPPER advised LIL ----- BART CRUM would do collecting at the reception. KATHRYN mentioned he had done it for CRC (Civil Rights Congress ?) or something in New York and was very good. KATHRYN stated a committee has been set up in New York and PAUL DRAPER, treasurer, should receive checks for funds collected at the meeting. She said JOHN GARFIELD is head of it, and KATHRYN doesn't know the name of it but supposes they are people in the theater and on the stage in New York. LIL stated she thought at their affair checks should be made out to Southern Conference. KATHRYN indicated she would settle this point and recontact LIL. KATHRYN stated apparently this group is very adamant about where the funds they raise will go. KATHRYN mentioned they had gotten a crackerjack girl from New York, one whom KATHRYN knew in Hollywood and added one of the guys' secretary is coming in from the coast and that MARTIN's secretary will be there. b7D

[redacted] (U) On the same morning FEO ATHANASSOV, wife of the official Bulgarian representative to this country, invited KATHRYN POPPER and MARTIN POPPER to her home Tuesday night stating the Professor (NICCEM MEVORAH) and BOYAN (ATHANASSOV) would be there as would the BEN APPELS (author). FEO mentioned she planned to attend the Press Club meeting on Monday night. b7D

Through another source [redacted] it was learned that Mrs. ATHANASSOV indicated that she was inviting some of the Hollywood people to her home on Tuesday night, and that she invited ELIZABETH and DICK SASULY. b7D

[redacted] On the afternoon of this date FEO ATHANASSOV invited DICK SASULY to her party Tuesday night mentioning the APPELS, the Professor, and her husband BOYAN would be there; also that Dr. (SERGIJE) MAKIEDO, Yugoslav counselor, would also be there. b7D

[redacted] On the evening of this date MADELINE (DONNER), wife of FRANK DONNER, CIO official, invited the SASULYS to the Press Club meeting Monday and to BELFORD LAWSON's reception later. MADELINE stated the party was primarily for people with money but SASULY was invited so he could help induce the others. MADELINE said she heard GREG SILVERMASTER b7D

[redacted] On the morning of this date WAHL contacted CARL GREEN to borrow sleeping pills for BART CRUM. GREEN indicated shortage and suggested WAHL contact IZZY (STONE) for pills. WAHL mentioned CRUM had put the pressure on WAHL insisting he go up to New York but only in order to make proper financial arrangements. He stated CRUM believed WAHL should get $20,000 a year. This conversation undoubtedly concerns WAHL's joining the Hagannah organization. b7D

In the afternoon Mrs. (GERTRUDE) RODMAN contacted WAHL mentioning the name of HYMAN GOLDMAN. WAHL suggested him as a good man to get there tonight. GERTRUDE remarked that back in the Spanish days that guy was good. GERTRUDE thought the BART CRUM angle should shove some of these kind of guys into "our" field. WAHL mentioned at one time GOLDMAN considered buying stock in WQQW but left for the Philippines without doing so. They discussed the broadcasts over WQQW yesterday, and it was mentioned LARRY PARKS wrote most of his own speech. GERTRUDE mentioned that they (Southern Conference for Human Welfare) were putting on the cocktail party and sharing proceeds with the Lawyers Guild but POPPER did not want them to mention the Southern Conference at any time because he felt it might be poor public relations.

[redacted] Shortly thereafter WAHL contacted JACK KAMEN, Jewish Community Council, first discussing mutual Jewish matter. WAHL then mentioned BART CRUM's being in town and the Lawyers Guild meeting and stated he had been asked if he would speak to some Jewish people and whether KAMEN or HYMAN GOLDMAN would like to go to the Guild meeting and cocktail party afterwards at BELFORD LAWSON's, [redacted] KAMEN inquired if this was the residence of a negro, and WAHL blandly suggested that since CRUM is a friend of the negroes, it might be. KAMEN inquired who was running the party, and WAHL stated a group of women, some of whom may be connected with the Southern Conference. KAMEN stated it looked like a Southern Conference affair to him and mentioned it is not too popular these days. WAHL asked KAMEN if he thought that was so. b7D b6 b7C

[redacted] On the morning of this date ELIZABETH SASULY informed KRAMER that NAT WITT had called advising WITT would arrive by plane the following evening, and she had made reservations for him at the Raleigh Hotel. b7D

On the same morning Mr. BAYER (TED B. ?), NYC, endeavored to locate KRAMER and requested KRAMER's wife to have KRAMER get in touch with the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Murray Hill 3-2080. BAYER stated he had an urgent matter to take up with CHARLIE.

[redacted] In the morning JOHN DIERKES talked with WAHL making reference to the thing they were working on Sunday. DIERKES said they would like to get a list of the best Protestant ministers and any supplementary lists, such as instruments. DIERKES said what they want is an endorsement of the position taken by these people to supplement the position taken by the group in Hollywood headed by SELZNICK. WAHL stated he did not have such a list but thought such a list would be in the hands of a citizens' group. WAHL mentioned he had talked with MAX (LOWENTHAL) and MAX would be coming down today. He asked if it might be possible for them to have a couple quiet hours with MAX and BART CRUM also. DIERKES stated CRUM has got all of these notions already and recognizes the situation, but the problem is selling it to these guys. (X) b7D

[redacted] On the same morning WAHL contacted JACK WATSMAN (phonetic), Citizens Committee (on Displaced Persons) advising him a group of highly placed people in Hollywood had gotten out a statement about the Thomas Committee and would like to have some leading Protestant clergymen join them. WAHL thought JACK might know some people who have expressed themselves in support of the Stratton Bill. Thereafter they discussed a number of liberal churchmen not set forth herein. (X) b7D

[redacted] WAHL then contacted DIERKES stating two people from the Federal Council of Churches worth getting would be CHARLIE TAFT and ALLEN T. BURNS, both in New York. WAHL stated he was told FRANK ADELOT of Princeton is an important name involving Quaker side. WAHL also mentioned LAWRENCE PICKET which DIERKES corrected as CLARENCE PICKETT. WAHL mentioned Mrs. HARPER SIBLEY. (X) b7D

The same morning WAHL contacted the office of Congressman (JACOB) JAVITS of New York stating he would like to use the facilities of the Congressman's office to have BART CRUM, ADRIAN SCOTT, and ED DMYTRYK interviewed together with a couple selected people from the press to take their pictures and interview them about the movie "Crossfire." WAHL indicated SAM ROSENBERG (WAHL's nephew) who is one of the best photographers in the country would need clearance to get into the office building. After some discussion the woman answering the phone stated they assume it will be all right for WAHL to use the office indicating the room number is 312. The woman stated CRUM is a personal friend of Mr. JAVITS and she is anxious to see him herself. (X)

[redacted] Immediately thereafter DIERKES and CRUM spoke with WAHL. DIERKES inquired if WAHL had a list of newspapers to which the editorial in the Washington Post could be wired. WAHL did not have such a list but thought it comparatively easy to obtain a list from the classified (X) b7D

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

phone book. CRUM stated he knew a lot of these people personally and thought it might be effective to wire directly MARSHALL FIELD, JOHN KNIGHT, GARDNER COLES, JAMES of New York Times, ED THACKERY (phonetic), and PAUL SMITH of the Chronicle. (X)

WAHL also told CRUM he is working on a list of Protestants, and CRUM indicated he was also interested in Rabbis. CRUM inquired if there were any liberal Catholics and WAHL stated, "Are you asking me?" CRUM stated Bishop SHIELD of Chicago, if he could do it. (X)

[redacted] On the afternoon of this date ELLA SHALIT informed WAHL he (MAX LOWENTHAL) had arrived and was going to be at the Capitol, extension 100, until 4:30 p.m. DAVE indicated he was at the office of Senator PEPPER and would contact him at the Capitol. (X) b7D

[redacted] On the morning of this date HERBERT BIBERMAN, one of the subpoenaed witnesses, endeavored to locate KRAMER stating he had seen him on the previous night (at National Press Club ?) and KRAMER had asked him to get in touch with him. (X) b7D

[redacted] At 9:40 p.m., on this date KRAMER advised his wife he was going to LEE PRESSMAN's place and then would come home from there. KRAMER also mentioned he had met NAT (WITT) at the hotel. (X) b7D

[redacted] On the afternoon of this date BETTY HAYS endeavored to locate MARTIN POPPER stating she had a letter for him to sign which he knew about. RUTH RIFKIN (Gregory subject), secretary of POPPER, suggested BETTY leave the letter with KATHRYN POPPER at the Shoreham Hotel. BETTY stated she could not as it is a letter with a lot of big-shot signatures which is going to the President tomorrow and she has to get other signatures on it. (X) b7D

[redacted] On the afternoon of this date DAVID REIN conferred with BOB SILBERSTEIN. He inquired if BOB had gotten an opportunity to talk with KENNY and CRUM about their reaction to a reception by the local Lawyers Guild in their honor. They stated KENNY could give a talk on the Guild to the members and agreed tentatively on the date as Saturday, November 1. They discussed speakers and REIN said they had considered a big dinner with ELEANOR ROOSEVELT but MARTIN POPPER would not let them have it. He said when they can get speakers who will draw a crowd, the question arises as to whether they want them. SILBERSTEIN suggested someone like (CHESTER) BOWLES or LEON HENDERSON. REIN mentioned WENDELL BERGE. (X) b7D

[redacted] At noon on this date KATY (KATHRYN POPPER) advised DICK SASULY she wanted to talk with him about a paying job. She was very circumspect in her manner but divulged the job would commence immediately and is something which had to be done every day. She stated she would be in room 100C at the Shoreham Hotel and DICK said he would get there by mid afternoon. b7D

[redacted] At 4:45 p.m. that evening CHARLOTTE (YOUNG ?) contacted SASULY stating she may be able to help out tomorrow from one to five. SASULY stated BIBERMAN, one of the directors, is in charge but KATY POPPER can be contacted in connection with it. CHARLOTTE said she thought four hours should be enough to cover one day's testimony. SASULY indicated $75 a week had been offered. b7D

October 22, 1947

[redacted] On the morning of this date JOHN DIERKES at WAHL's office contacted Mr. SCOVILL, Columbia (Broadcasting System ?), stating ED MURROW in New York told him to contact SCOVILL regarding some space on this Hollywood matter. DIERKES understood SCOVILL is interested in getting CRUM or some of his clients on a program Monday night. SCOVILL said (HY) SHULSON had contacted him. SCOVILL indicated he held open a spot on his Monday night program "In My Opinion." It was arranged SHULSON would meet SCOVILL in the latter's office. b7D

[redacted] In the afternoon CHARLIE (KRAMER) contacted WAHL and inquired if WAHL had a fruitful session. WAHL answered "I think very ------, if it's fallen (garbled) through. It has got to be sold to the other boys." b7D

Later WAHL stated he did not know whether it had been. If it isn't sold WAHL indicated they can all go home. WAHL stated they were talking about it now and KRAMER inquired if it was at "his place." WAHL stated no, no, that his friend had gone. KRAMER then stated he thought he would drop by the Shoreham, and reference was made to the plan "he suggested." WAHL stated he felt their local friend here has got to behave himself better and will have to get away from the kid stuff. WAHL stated he was very depressed unless they change. He urged KRAMER to be a good influence and hit them hard.

It is believed the local friend referred to may be BART CRUM, and the individual who had gone is MAX LOWENTHAL.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

b7D

[redacted] Later the same afternoon KRAMER recontacted WAHL advising that it looks a little better but they are terribly disorganized. KRAMER inquired if WAHL knows anything about the Chairman's (J. PARNELL THOMAS) change of name--when it occurred, to which WAHL answered no. DAVE inquired if some of those people can't take BART's word for things as far as strategy and procedure are concerned adding BART had the advantages of one of the most brilliant ----- (garbled) DAVE has ever seen put on last night and this morning. KRAMER inquired what the point of it was, and DAVE said therewere two parts, one about the chairman, his relations---. WAHL stated he could not go into details then. The other is there should be one witness if possible who should without destroying the pattern of the whole group be able to say to the press prior to becoming a witness I ---- ---- ----. WAHL then explained he would protect all of them and put the proper prospective on what all will say. DAVE stated BART had all that written out. (X)

It is thought this conversation may refer to advice and suggestions advanced by MAX LOWENTHAL who apparently arrived in Washington on the afternoon of the previous day. (X)

b7D

[redacted] (X)(u) On October 22, 1947, KATHRYN POPPER was contacted by one POLLY SHERMAN who stated EDNA STARK had mentioned KATHRYN needed some help down at MARTIN's office. POLLY indicated she did not believe she would be available steadily as she had to move and KATHRYN advised she would contact her later. (X)

b7D

[redacted] (X)(u) Thereafter KATHRYN POPPER told MAY REIS a girl she had contacted originally had recommended someone else about whom she knew nothing in terms of stenographic work "or anything else." MAY inquired if KATHRYN meant that literally and KATHRYN replied yes. MAY stated she could use another hand. MAY also stated she did not suppose CHARLOTTE (YOUNG) was going to ask for her MAY, and KATHRYN stated CHARLOTTE was supposed to ask for HERBERT (BIBERMAN ?). MAY mentioned this stating she was casual and polite because she did not know who CHARLOTTE was or what she wanted and had suggested CHARLOTTE contact KATHRYN. (X)

b7D

[redacted] (X)(u) In this connection a few minutes earlier CHARLOTTE YOUNG had contacted KATHRYN POPPER stating she had gotten over here about ten minutes late and BIBERMAN was out and apparently no one else knew what she is supposed to do. (X)

KATHRYN then spoke with MAY REIS inquiring about several Hollywood individuals. She spoke with WALDO SALT advising him the girl there is CHARLOTTE YOUNG and she is the one who is going to do the breakdown on the transcript. KATHRYN requested SALT to start her on it rather than have her wait for HERB (BIBERMAN) to return. It is again noted CHARLOTTE YOUNG is membership director of the local Communist Party. (X)

Director November 1, 1947

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

(u) Later the same afternoon KATHRYN POPPER conferred with EDNA STARK concerning POLLY SHERMAN. EDNA explained why she could not do any work for POPPER, first because she is endeavoring to get a full time job as they are terribly broke, and second, with JOHNNY (husband ?) working for the government she must take it easy as she has a rotten record anyway and "just for the time being, you know." EDNA explained that POLLY SHERMAN is a swell person, very capable, and that her husband is or was public relations guy for the Joint Anti-Fascist Committee when they had their trouble about a year and a half ago. She added POLLY is very interested, very sympathetic, and a good secretary and stenographer. (X) b7D

(u) On the same afternoon unidentified man talked with KATHRYN POPPER who said MARTIN wanted to talk with this man. The man indicated he had talked with BART (CRUM) who said (CHARLES) KATZ, MARTIN (POPPER), and LEE (PRESSMAN ?) were having lunch together. The man stated he was going to drop in on the committee and see what was cooking and was leaving at 6 p.m. (for New York). KATHRYN indicated everybody was going up except MARTIN and requested the man to see how NAT (WITT ?) feels about leaving right away. (X) b7D

(u) On the morning of October 22, 1947, RUTH RIFKIN (Gregory subject) contacted JUDY GOLDSTEIN at the Shoreham Hotel discussing electric mimeograph machine. JUDY stated they were going to send out a reprint of an editorial to 500 newspapers that afternoon and would need envelopes. She stated they were then making up the list of names. RUTH inquired what became of the girl who was to come from Hollywood to assist in the work, and JUDY said one girl came but she is not working and she assumed she just came to work with the man for whom she usually works. (X) b7D

(u) Same afternoon RUTH RIFKIN called Mr. DENNETT, Columbia Press Clipping Service, stating she wanted clipping service on all New York and Washington papers beginning yesterday on the Un-American Activities Committee hearings. She requested him to send the clippings to PETE WEINSTEIN, Suite 100C, Shoreham Hotel. (X) b7D

In the morning DAVID WAHL contacted CARL GREEN, Pall Mall Apartments. CARL inquired whether WAHL had conveyed the idea to his friend in New York that the whole thought that they come into this was GREEN's idea. WAHL stated not to worry about that. He would talk with him later. WAHL stated what concerned him at the moment was how to reach HAROLD, and there was some discussion as to whether there are two s's in HAROLD's last name. (X) b7D

Shortly thereafter WAHL contacted HAROLD (WEISBERG), Glebe 7380, and stated he wondered if someone might have information concerning (X) b7D

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

the chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee--something that was worthwhile. HAROLD stated it is quite possible and they agreed to meet at Group Health at 12:30. (X)

HAROLD WEISBERG is one of the ten State Department employees recently dismissed for reasons of security. (X)

[redacted] b7D

Later same afternoon CHARLIE (KRAMER) contacted WAHL who stated he had seen HAROLD, that fellow who used to work ----- -----, and he would gather he has some very rich possibilities but it would require someone going out to his house and helping him with his carpentry work. WAHL stated he had not been able to get hold of any of his friends but understood one of the lawyers has talked about it but has not done anything about it. KRAMER stated he did not really know because they had shied off him for one reason or another, possibly referring to HAROLD WEISBERG. WAHL stated it was not a case of him but a case of what he has got. (X)

KRAMER complained he began to make some demands, and WAHL stated why shouldn't he as far as remuneration is concerned. After some conversation KRAMER indicated he would see what he could do. WAHL added he would probably want some help by way of copying the thing, and KRAMER indicated he would explore into that. (X)

[redacted] b7D

On the same date WAHL talked with ADRIAN SCOTT at the Mayflower Hotel concerning a piece by SCOTT about "some of my worst friends." WAHL indicated there are some friends of his in New York, a nice young couple, who are doing some educational films. WAHL identified this friend as MAYNARD GERTLER who works with (JOHN) GRIERSON and said he told him about SCOTT's plan and GERTLER seemed interested in looking into it and talking about it with SCOTT. SCOTT stated he could be reached in New York at BENNETT CERF's. WAHL explained Mrs. GERTLER is of the STRAUS family, and they try to do some decent educational things with some of their money. (X)

[redacted] b7D

On the late afternoon of October 23, 1947, WAHL contacted JOHN DIERKES. They discussed the whereabouts of BART CRUM and WAHL indicated the last he knew about him was a 3 o'clock appointment with WAYNE MORSE (phonetic). DIERKES related an interesting story to WAHL involving a friend who is an old friend of ERIC JOHNSTON. DIERKES stated he went around to see him and when he got there this friend walked into JOHNSTON's office with McNUTT, JOHNSTON, CHAYFITZ, and a public relations man, and McNUTT said "We are up a creek without an oar. Have you got an oar?" Thereafter DIERKES indicated this show was nobody's game except that of TAYLOR, MENJOU, GARY COOPER, and a variety of people and the really important characters have been really screwed, and he believes it time for BART or some (X) reasonable person to go around and put the heat on these ------, and he does not feel the kids in his place are prepared to let him do it.

Apparently DIERKES' idea was to persuade the movie magnates to stronger action and to point out that they were dupes in the hearing. DIERKES continued that their position was to be that the real idea to to put such a thing out of business suggesting editorials in the New York Times, Washington Post, and Times Herald, that there is really substantial stuff in this business. He referred to some statement that the President had made that afternoon and stated this committee business is Presidential stuff and it is knocking them right off the front page.

[redacted] HERBERT SCHIMMEL talked with MILDRED KRAMER asking if CHARLIE told her about the Hollywood celebrities they met last night. MILDRED stated the party the other night after the meeting (Press Club meeting) seemed like old home week to CHARLIE as there were so many California people there. b7D

[redacted] At noon on this date confidential informant advised CHARLES KRAMER was at the office of MARTIN POPPER at which time he advised FRITZIE MANUEL he had been up until 3 a.m. and that SCHIMMEL had driven him home. b7D

[redacted] In the evening DAVE WAHL endeavored to locate KRAMER ascertaining that he would be in the office of HERB SCHIMMEL during that evening. WAHL indicated CHARLIE KATZ would like to have CHARLIE contact him as soon as possible at 1000, Shoreham Hotel which is headquarters for the Hollywood group. b7D

[redacted] In the morning ARTHUR WEBB, London Daily Herald, contacted WAHL advising he had been asked to write an article about any anti-Semitic propaganda in this country which "Crossfire" and "Gentlemen's Agreement" are endeavoring to combat. WEBB mentioned they had a lot of this growing in England and wanted to hit back at it quickly. WAHL referred him to the Anti-Defamation League and the Law and Social Action Committee of American-Jewish Congress, and then suggested WEBB talk with people who have made studies of this matter suggesting HERMAN EDELSBERG as one to see. He said the director and producer of "Crossfire," namely DMYTRYK and SCOTT, are in the Mayflower Hotel and WEBB should contact them. b7D

[redacted] At noon WAHL talked with ELLIE (ELEANOR LOWENTHAL), NYC, inquiring whether MAX LOWENTHAL had made connection with WAHL's friend (BART CRUM). ELLIE indicated as far as she knew they had not. b7D

She indicated some displeasure stating when he (CRUM) had called he seemed a bit surly and indicated he was supposed to call LOWENTHAL. She explained at least it was her impression. WAHL apologized for CRUM saying he was very tired and tense. WAHL stated he was most anxious for them to get together and remarked his friend (CRUM) was having dinner in Washington tonight with FELIX (FRANKFURTER).

[redacted] In the afternoon ELLA SHALIT, secretary of DAVID WAHL, informed Western Union she had a straight wire to be sent to about 20 important people which begins like this: "You together with ------," and then lists the other names in the body of the wire. ELLA inquired whether she could furnish the names, addresses, and one copy of the message, and the operator thought it could be handled that way. b7D

Shortly thereafter JOHN (DIERKES) inquired of WAHL and SHALIT if the kids had printed their memoranda referring to the above telegram. DIERKES stated the telegram is awful, and WAHL commented he is ashamed of it. DIERKES indicated CRUM had not seen it and stated if they were trying to get people to the cocktail party it is silly, and they agreed no one will come. DIERKES suggested DAVE might call CHARLIE K. (KRAMER). DAVE mentioned no one had even checked to find out whether these men are here (in Washington) and DIERKES said most of them are not. DIERKES stated that telegram commits a man, and that it would make it possible to send that telegram to the press committing a man to a point of view. He stated the recipient would be confronted with two problems: one, whether he wanted to go, and two, if he would commit himself to anything if he appeared, and if he were a Congressman he would say "Hell, I can't have any part of this." Also it would automatically break the rules of Congressional courtesy.

DAVE inquired what time DIERKES expects the boy (BART CRUM), and DIERKES stated he is still up there (New York) talking, and he has an appointment at FRANKFURTER's at 7:30 p.m. so if he gets a plane he can just make it. WAHL commented the boy is wasting a lot of valuable time with unnecessary people to which DIERKES agreed. They agreed to hold the telegrams until later that day but continued to deplore the wire prepared by "those two sillies" over there (at the hotel).

DIERKES stated if one didn't know they were so stupid, you would think this was a planned piece of damaging stuff. WAHL asked if they made it up themselves, and DIERKES stated, "Yeah, they dreamed that up." WAHL stated, "Well, to hell with that. I veto it. I believe in dictatorship." DIERKES added, "Yeah, so do I believe if it was ever necessary, here it is."

[redacted] Later same afternoon DIERKES contacted WAHL who inquired if DAVID (SILVER) was with DIERKES. WAHL stated SILVER had called a few minutes ago to ascertain whether the telegram had been sent. WAHL stated he would have to tell him he had talked with some people and the question of propriety was raised, and WAHL also wondered what had happened in connection with PEPPER's idea of doing this, and WAHL thought it had better be held up, particularly since at least ten of the people on the list are not going to be here Monday. (X) b7D

DIERKES agreed and also stated a press conference that day was a flop. DIERKES stated KENNY had said "What the hell was that conference for?" and he had asked if KENNY did not know it was coming off. KENNY stated he did not. DIERKES declared he then asked KENNY if he did not think it high time someone figured out who is running this thing or what goes on. DIERKES mentioned MAX HOBBS had called him and complained about a press conference to which he was not invited. (X)

WAHL then spoke with DAVID SILVER, Hay Adams House stating he had found practically all the Congressmen, especially Senators, would not be around Monday and also thought the wording of the telegram a little difficult. SILVER suggested WAHL get the views of LESTER COLE or HERBERT BIBERMAN or CHARLIE KATZ, mentioning there were two drafts of the telegram, two different ideas, and they selected this one. (X)

[redacted] Thereafter WAHL talked with HERB BIBERMAN, Shoreham Hotel, relating DAVE SILVER and CHAUNCEY McKEEVER (phonetic) came in earlier with a draft of a telegram to some senators and congressmen. WAHL mentioned the wording of the telegram and also suggested deleting one sentence, namely: "We feel that this inquiry is in effect a trial under guise of investigation devoid of any semblance of due process and constitutes an attempt by the Committee to censor the screen." BIBERMAN rejected these suggestions and WAHL indicated he would send the telegram as given. (X) b7D

During the same afternoon DIERKES talked with WAHL about the hearings mentioning before the war his business was public opinion testing which he had been doing the past several days, and he has it from various people throughout the country that thanks to a variety of editorial and columnist opinion this thing is going better than they had reason to expect. WAHL also said they had a wonderful press and much better than expected. However, WAHL stated that is not what they are there for. They are there to see that the gentlemen accused get a fair hearing, that their names are straightened out and their reputations saved, and this depends upon winning the case before the committee rather than upon press and public opinion. (X)

[redacted] On the afternoon MARCUS COHN spoke with WAHL about Jewish matters. Then WAHL inquired if MARCUS' people are interested in the Un-American hearings. COHN stated they are having an administrative committee meeting a week from Tuesday, and he thinks this will be on the agenda. COHN stated he wants them to take more steps then merely going on record. WAHL said he happens to know ADRIAN SCOTT who did "Crossfire" and the guy is a prince and so honestly and sincerely interested in the question of anti-Semitism. WAHL mentioned the director EDDIE DMYTRYK and stated they are both Catholics by the way--wonderful. (X) b7D

[redacted] In the afternoon JOHN DIERKES contacted WAHL who informed him of the arrival of BART CRUM from New York. DIERKES stated he had just talked to WAHL's friend (LOWENTHAL or WITT) in New York who said he had talked to their friend at length and that two of their other friends who have recently been incarcerated in an establishment north are having a little meeting with him this afternoon once they arrive. WAHL inquired if the meeting was up there and DIERKES stated it was. DIERKES asked if WAHL knew about that and the latter stated he had a suspicion but was not able to put everything together. DIERKES inquired as to who they were and WAHL said he thinks one is LEE (PRESSMAN ?) adding "I wonder if he is referring to NAT WITT." DIERKES inquired to whom and WAHL stated NAT, adding "Oh well, I'll see you." This reference is obviously to the Gregory case. (X) b7D

[redacted] In the morning an individual believed NAT WITT, NYC, contacted KRAMER referring to his friend (JOHN ABT) who went there the other day. WITT stated this is Friday and he was there Wednesday (before Grand Jury in New York) and yesterday he received a call from reporter WALTERS of the Times Herald. WITT further mentioned Mr. X (possibly VICTOR PERLO) has stated he had received a call from the Herald Tribune bureau in Washington asking the same question. (X) b7D

WITT then made reference to their friend who was in Washington early this week (MAX LOWENTHAL) and stated he had gotten hold of WITT and had a lot of stuff along the same lines and is quite worked up, (apparently referring to material of damaging character concerning Chairman THOMAS and Committee). WITT indicated he only wants to work through BOB (KENNY) and wants him to run the show. WITT indicated he had discussed it with his other friend (BART CRUM) who protested that BOB is the top guy but the stuff should go to him so he could give it to BOB. (X)

WITT indicated he spent the whole evening with his friend who would not agree so he called back and his guy there (DIERKES ?) said o.k., if that's the way it's going to be, and when he again talked with a friend he was angry at even the suggestion that he would consider that. WITT continued his friend there is very worked up about it especially against MARTY (POPPER) claiming he is over his head on this stuff and he would not have anything to do with POPPER. (X)

In the afternoon KRAMER was in the office of WAHL and unsuccessfully endeavored to locate CHARLES KATZ inquiring of GAIL (McDONALD) at the Shoreham Hotel whether JULIE DAVIS had typed the thing he left at her typewriter. KRAMER endeavored to reach HENRY COLLINS, I. F. STONE of P.M., PALMER WEBER, CIO, (WILLIAM) POMERANCE, AU 3-7330, NYC.

[redacted] On October 25, 1947, IRVING KAPLAN (Gregory subject) invited JOHN DIERKES to breakfast the following morning. Accepted. b7D

CONF. INFO

[redacted] DIERKES at KAPLAN residence contacted HERBERT BIBERMAN to advise DAVID KARR (reporter for DREW PEARSON) wanted BIBERMAN, DALTON TRUMBO, MILEY (LEWIS MILESTONE ?), and whoever else HERBERT suggests to come to KARR's place that afternoon. BIBERMAN indicated it would be impossible for everyone as they plan a meeting at 4 p.m. and DIERKES suggested they go to KARR's at 6. Agreed. b7D

October 27, 1947

[redacted] WAHL conversed with KRAMER indicating they would have to drop this matter because his friend (CRUM) had not worked the thing out and does not feel he can do so on the basis which WAHL's friend (LOWENTHAL) in New York outlined rather clearly. WAHL added it might be that the New York end may be willing to give in a little. WAHL stated his friend here indicated there is nothing to do except see how things go today (at hearing). KRAMER said this was obvious and he wants to see this thing done so it is up to JOHN (DIERKES) and others of them to see that it is, and that he is protected in this way, apparently referring to CRUM. KRAMER stated the question is whether JOHN can do it and WAHL said DIERKES says he can. DAVE then inquired whether he should give any definite word about KRAMER's movements, and KRAMER indicated tomorrow morning although he was not sure he could leave in the morning. This conversation apparently concerns KRAMER's going to New York to discuss material and methods with MAX LOWENTHAL. b7D

[redacted] Later the same afternoon WAHL told KRAMER the idea he wished KRAMER would pass on to their friend (LOWENTHAL) is that anything done will be turned over to JOHN (DIERKES). WAHL said the main thing is that our friend down here (CRUM) is so touchy about being in the position of doing anything that he is keeping from his colleagues. WAHL said he wants this thing done and it is up to JOHN and the others to see that he is protected. KRAMER agreed. WAHL inquired if KRAMER got the picture and CHARLIE said he did. b7D

[redacted] Shortly thereafter WAHL contacted LOWENTHAL, NYC, advising this fellow (KRAMER) is leaving Washington this evening and will see b7D

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

MAX sometime tomorrow. LOWENTHAL inquired whether WAHL's friend (CRUM) had been apprised of this or whether he had made any objection, and WAHL stated JOHN (DIERKES) had authorized it. LOWENTHAL explained any suggestions made would simply be available to WAHL's friend (CRUM) if and when he wanted to use them; that is, the research and so on would have been done. (X)

Same afternoon DIERKES talked with WAHL who inquired if EMMETT LAVERY (?) was in town. DIERKES did not know. DIERKES stated he had called the Tribune which would run an editorial tomorrow letting go a real blast at this guy (Chairman THOMAS ?). (X)

[redacted] On this date KRAMER conversed with HERBERT SCHIMMEL discussing the committee developments. SCHIMMEL asked if KRAMER heard that 8 o'clock broadcast which he described as wonderful. He indicated that HARLEY (phonetic) did fine, possibly referring to Senator HARLEY KILGORE. KRAMER said he thought he did very well and what he said seemed very much in keeping. KRAMER inquired if SCHIMMEL had gotten him and HERB stated he did not, that he guessed BOB KENNY or someone else got him, that he thought he was "getable" but it had to be from somebody else. KRAMER mentioned ELBERT (Senator ELBERT THOMAS ?) had delivered too. SCHIMMEL asked if KRAMER saw CLAUDE (PEPPER) in New York. KRAMER stated he got there so late but HANNAH (DORNER ?) told him there was a party somewhere; however, KRAMER could not find the address so he did not see PEPPER. (X) b7D

[redacted] On the afternoon of October 27, 1947, HERBERT SCHIMMEL informed KRAMER of a message from LEE PRESSMAN to call NAT WITT in New York. (X) b7D

Same evening KRAMER talked with WITT who stated their mutual friend had gotten hold of WITT and WITT wanted to know what LOWENTHAL had discussed with KRAMER. KRAMER stated all he wanted to know was whether MAX wanted him to stay, and MAX indicated everything was in a mix-up, and he was retiring, so KRAMER thought the best thing to do was to come back to Washington, and he informed MAX he would be perfect willing to return. WITT stated that is the point, he wants KRAMER to come back but refuses to find out what happened to the other guy down there, and he doesn't want KRAMER back unless the other guy gives his o.k. with no conditions. KRAMER stated he had been talking with WAHL every half hour and apparently he does not want to make any commitments but wants KRAMER to go up to New York and get what he can and then they will introduce it through one of his assistants. KRAMER said he thought that is all right, otherwise he would not go. KRAMER indicated he would come to New York tomorrow if possible and get in touch with NAT after he talks with the guy (LOWENTHAL). (X)

[redacted] (U) In the afternoon BOB SILBERSTEIN talked with ABE UNGER, NYC, who said JOHN ROGGE agreed he would attend an all-day conference at the (X) b7D

State Department on the proposed international bill of rights, and that MARIAN PERRY would go down with him. SILBERSTEIN stated he is very anxious for them to have their meeting on the 22nd and adopt a report on the current activities of the Thomas Committee and the general question of power to investigate as to which the Guild has never taken a lead, and it should be in such a character as to be distributed. SILBERSTEIN stated he has some funds earmarked for that purpose.

[redacted] During this morning VIRGINIA DURR, wife of CLIFFORD DURR, Federal Communications Commissioner, talked with KATHRYN POPPER who stated the Lawyers Guild is giving a cocktail party Saturday at the house for BOB KENNY and BART CRUM to which VIRGINIA is invited. VIRGINIA mentioned being on the board of Progressive Citizens of America. b7D

[redacted] On the evening of October 27, 1947, MADELINE DONNER advised SELMA REIN the Southern Conference is working on a mass meeting with the Hollywood group to be held at the new National Guard Armory Friday. Apparently this did not materialize as no information has been received of such a meeting. b7D

[redacted] CAROL KING advised DAVID REIN she is coming to Washington for the hearing Thursday as a visitor but thought she should warn REIN she won't do anything and spare him the shock. Presumably this reference is to hearing in the case of GERHARD EISIER rather than Un-American Activities hearings. b7D

[redacted] WAHL contacted MARCUS COHN indicating the Committee is going to have this discussion on the whole question of our police state down here, communist business, question of firings, and all that. COHN indicated he was trying to compile some factual stuff and inquired about sources, such as what happened at the State Department and Central Intelligence. WAHL indicated one of the people who would have such information would be PAUL PORTER, and COHN agreed as far as State Department matters are concerned. b7D

WAHL also stated ALIX GINSBERG has a good deal of information if he will talk about it because he has handled a number of cases involved in this Grand Jury hearing up in New York. COHN was surprised at this, and WAHL stated it happens to be true but he does not know if he talks about it.

They also discussed the possibility of PM files containing material and COHN stated he talked with IZZY STONE this morning, and he will make his files available--the press files. COHN also stated he is calling a fellow by the name of JAFFE (phonetic) at the Lawyers Guild who is head of their civil liberties thing, and he may have some material. WAHL inquired if IRVING VENGEL (phonetic) will be involved and COHN said yes. WAHL stated it would be a good idea if IRVING ENGEL would speak to MAX LOWENTHAL in New York on this subject because he has a great deal of material at his fingertips, and if IRVING is sufficiently interested, MAX could probably hand him a great deal. (X)

October 28, 1947

[redacted] JOHN DIERKES endeavored to locate WAHL who had gone to see BART CRUM. ELLA SHALIT informed DIERKES that CHARLIE KRAMER had gotten away to New York fifteen minutes earlier. DIERKES said for WAHL to call our friend (MAX LOWENTHAL). (X) b7D

Later JOHN DIERKES requested ELLA SHALIT to send a wire to LEONARD LYON, New York Post, as follows: "WYNN NATHANSON suggested I give this information to you. Yesterday when Congressman THOMAS said to ERIC JOHNSTON that the motion picture industry was not cooperating with the government, it so happened that the association of Motion Picture Exhibitors under the direction of TED GAMBLE was being briefed by CHIP BOHLAN, JOHN JAY McCLOY, Secretary of State MARSHALL, and Mr. LOVETT at State Department in regard to the Marshall Plan. (X)

[redacted] At noon DAVID WAHL contacted LOWENTHAL, NYC, advising him that fellow (KRAMER) would arrive in New York about 2 o'clock. LOWENTHAL inquired if WAHL got this letter he sent from ENGEL. WAHL stated he had and sent it back to MAX with a note yesterday and added he is going to speak to that fellow and have someone else speak to him. (X) b7D

[redacted] In the afternoon WAHL talked at length with JOHN DIERKES. WAHL mentioned the statement by HERBERT MALTZ as the most beautiful piece of prose—a Gettysburg address—and said it was terrific. DIERKES said he hoped all nineteen were cited and mentioned ED MURROW said if they will indict all nineteen then without further ado the case is won. He said MURROW made a speech on the air last night that is being quoted all over the press. He said there has never been a crack that lit up the boards the way this one did. He indicated MURROW said many people have compared this with the Palmer business but that it is not, that this has the smell of Reichstag fire in it. (X) b7D

DIERKES said the (Pittsburgh) Courier, Afro-American, and Defender came out tonight and are going to let go a blast with 76-point type, the like of which you have never seen. (X)

WAHL asked if DIERKES is going to the Chairman, and DIERKES said he is very hesitant about that place these days. They spoke about BART CRUM's returning to the hotel and DIERKES said he thought he would because of GERTRUDE (CRUM). WAHL stated ELLA SHALIT was taking BART's boy on a tour of (X)

the FBI and JOHN said "Oh, good, that's wonderful. That is really wonderful," which amused WAHL. DIERKES said he thought now that they are being successful the community should know that "we ran this publicity." WAHL said they certainly will know who was in there pitching. They agreed it could not possibly have been done without a guy like CRUM, and WAHL said this thing would not have gotten anywhere without him. "It would have been a horrible thing. I hate to think of it."

JOHN asked WAHL if he could imagine CHARLIE running this, and WAHL said he couldn't have stood it, possibly referring to CHARLES-MICHIE. WAHL congratulated DIERKES stating he was terrific and had really delivered and they should learn something from this. DIERKES said he is confident they have but believes it too bad they did not do the "other things we suggested to them."

[redacted] CHARLES KRAMER, NYC, advised his wife he would return in the morning. He stated the trip has by no means been wasted because steps are being taken to correct a lot of things and in that sense he believes it was extremely valuable. He said even on the narrower one the reason he first came up on his ——ah——it was worthwhile. This double reference may concern the Gregory case as well as the Hollywood thing. (X) b7D

Later this evening Senator CLAUDE PEPPER spoke with MILDRED KRAMER stating he is leaving for Florida ~~and will return~~ November 5. He indicated (ANGUS) CAMERON stated publicly in New York that PEPPER is going to write a book which indicated CAMERON decided to go ahead with it. PEPPER instructed that CHARLIE show the outline they had prepared and work as far as he can getting up the records on people who have to do with our foreign policy and summarize them and to work on the thesis that whenever you find a liberal administration which puts emphasis upon democracy in a country you seldom find that country taking an imperialistic attitude abroad. (X)

Any further information from confidential sources will be furnished to the Bureau. (X)

From the several confidential sources listed in this letter, it appears that the following persons assisted JOHN DIERKES and the other leading figures, apparently working from headquarters in Suite 100C, Shoreham Hotel: (X)

SUBJECT : MOTION PICTURE INVESTIGATION

SAC Boardman of Philadelphia telephonically advised this afternoon that the Progressive Citizens Association is sponsoring a mass meeting in Independence Square in Philadelphia Saturday morning, November 1, with reference to the House Un-American Activities Committee investigation of the Motion Picture Industry; the The City of Philadelphiahad refused to grant them the use of the Square, and thereupon the Progressive Citizens Association went into the U. S. District Court and Judge Kard granted an injunction restraining the city from denying the use of Independence Square for this meeting. Mr. Boardman stated all the above information had been obtained over technical surveillances, that the same source also reflected information indicating that a Committee of Jewish War Veterans was alleged to have stated they would not permit the meeting to be held. It was indicated that the Communist Party was telephoning all members and instructing them to be present at this mass meeting, pointing out the belief that the American Legion, Catholic War Veteran and Purple Heart Veterans would endeavor to break up the meeting.

Instructions were issued to SA Boardman to discreetly pass on the information to the Philadelphiapolice Department, cautioning him to be carefulto protect the source in order that they would not be aware that it came from technical sources. He stated this would be done.

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to previous correspondence from this office to the Bureau regarding reports from Confidential Informant [redacted] whose identity is known to the Bureau. (U) b7D

This informant has advised this office on this date that BOYAN ATHANASSOV, acting representative of the Peoples Republic of Bulgaria, has dispatched a note of protest to the State Department with regard to an incident which occurred on the evening of October 21st at the ATHANASSOV residence, at which time guests of ATHANASSOV were photographed by persons unknown. (U)

In his note of protest to the State Department on this date ATHANASSOV indicated that the FBI was responsible for the photographing; that the photographers used the residence of JOHN STRINGER, an FBI Agent, who resides presumably at [redacted] next door to the ATHANASSOV residence, which is at [redacted] (U) b6 b7C

The note indicates that later in the evening of October 21st the FBI Agents were picked up in two police cars in front of the ATHANASSOV residence, which cars carried front and real aerials. (U)

It is presumed that this note was delivered to the State Department this afternoon. U

With regard to the above matter, Confidential Informant [redacted] advised on October 30, 1947 that CHARLOTTE YOUNG received a subpoena from the House Un-American Activities Committee on October 27th or 28th, to appear before the Committee on October 29, 1947. This subpoena has caused consternation in the local Communist Party branch to such an extent that WILLIAM TAYLOR, Chairman of the local party, has ordered all party members to stay away from the Committee Hearings.

b7D

Additional data obtained by informant reveals that CHARLOTTE YOUNG has been instructed to stay away from all party meetings and under no circumstances is she to go to Communist Party headquarters. It will be recalled that CHARLOTTE YOUNG is the membership secretary of the Washington, D. C. Communist Party, and as such she is in the midst of the 1948 registration for the party. In this connection, all papers and records which would implicate YOUNG in party affairs, have been taken from her person, as well as from the home of her parents, where she resides.

In concluding, informant states that WILLIAM TAYLOR is more upset and concerned over the discovery that YOUNG has been a paid employee of the nineteen defendants in their office in the Shoreham Hotel, than he has been about anything else for some time. The main objective of the party at the present time is to disallow any knowledge of Communist Party affiliations on the part of CHARLOTTE YOUNG.

The above is submitted for informational purposes.

COMMIC;
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Reference is made to your letter to the Bureau dated October 18, 1947, captioned as above.

It was noted in the referenced communication that Confidential Informant [redacted] has indicated Harold J. Ashe, a former functionary of the Communist Party in the Los Angeles area during 1934 and 1935, to have a considerable amount of information concerning Communist activities in Hollywood. This source also indicated that Ashe would be willing to furnish this information to the Government in view of the fact that he had [illegible] his connections with the Communist Party. b7D

A review of the Bureau's file entitled "Harold Jesse Ashe, with aliases; Security Matter - C", reflects that this case was closed on June 18, 1944 by your office due to the fact that upon release from the United States Army, Ashe ceased his activities in Communist Party affairs in Los Angeles.

In view of the information obtained from Confidential Informant [redacted] and the data set out in the Bureau's file on this individual, the Bureau recommends that your office interview Ashe in an effort to obtain any information he might have concerning the early history of the Communist Movement in Hollywood. A discreet approach should be made to this interview and an attempt should be made to feel out Ashe concerning his present sympathies and attitude toward the Communist Party before he is questioned at any length concerning Communism in Hollywood. It is further recommended that Agents who are well schooled in Communist matters be assigned to this interview in order that a complete and exhaustive interview may be conducted should Ashe be a willing witness. b7D

The Bureau should be advised immediately following this interview concerning the information developed.

SUBJECT: COMPIC
INTERNAL SECURITY - C
(Bureau file 100-138754)

Reference is made to Bureau letter dated October 4, 1947 re "Communist Infiltration of the Motion Picture Industry, Internal Security - C."

CNDI [redacted] was contacted for further information relative to the identity of the Communist members in the motion picture industry who were attached to the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934. CNDI [redacted] was also contacted. Since the source of information is the same for these two informants, the information obtained from them is being reported together. b7D

They stated that they had no definite list of known Communists who were in the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party, but they gave the matter consideration and the list appearing below was compiled. They stated that the evidence which they had in 1934 against these parties indicated that these parties were Communist Party members, and they further state they consider their sources of information reliable.

Unless otherwise stated in this report, the parties on this list are not known to be active Communist Party members at the present time. Informants have given the best information available to them relative to the present location of these persons. This list is as follows:

1. NEIL BRANT

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] stated that BRANT was an official of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934. In 1933 he was speaking in behalf of the Scottsboro Conference and was Educational Director of the ILD. They stated he taught in the Workers' School in 1934 and that he was a member of the John Reed Club and was very active in Communist Party affairs. BRANT left Los Angeles about ten years ago and went to New York City, where he is believed to be at the present time. CNDI [redacted] said that he sat in closed Communist Party meetings of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934 and 1935 with BRANT. b7D

2. HARRY CARLISLE
wa. Stephen Peacock

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] stated that CARLISLE was a laboratory worker and reader in the Hollywood studios in 1934. They stated that he was head of the Western Writers Congress in San Francisco, which later developed into the League of American Writers. They stated that he was a delegate to the "Friends of the Soviet Union Anti-War Conference" in 1932 and that he was also a teacher in the Workers' School. b7D

CNDI [redacted] has informed that to his personal knowledge CARLISLE was a member of the Communist Party in 1933 and is still active in Communist affairs. This informant stated that CARLISLE was a member of the John Reed Club. All three informants stated that CARLISLE is well informed on Communist matters and could give valuable information, but they stated that they did not believe he would do so. b7D

Informants stated that CARLISLE is in Hollywood at the present time and is an active member of the Communist Party, according to CNDI [redacted] b7D

3. IRWIN P. HENTCHEL
wa. John F. Meyers

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] informed that HENTCHEL was a technical worker in 1933 in the motion picture field and was an active Communist. They stated that he has engaged in Communist activity recently. CNDI [redacted] states that HENTCHEL was a Communist Party member to his personal knowledge in 1934 and he believes that he is a Communist Party member at the present time. b7D

4. ED M. GILBERT

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] stated that in 1934 GILBERT was a set draftsman in the Hollywood studios and an active member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party. CNDI [redacted] states that from his personal knowledge GILBERT was an active member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934 and that he, within the past year, has been active in the Conference of Studio Unions. Informant states that he participated in the studio strike and is now under indictment for conspiracy to violate an injunction order in the State Court. The informant states that GILBERT was a teacher in the People's Educational Center. GILBERT lives in Los Angeles, and according to CNDI [redacted] is an active Communist Party member at the present time. b7D

5. RUDOLPH KOHL

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] have informed that KOHL was a painter in the Hollywood studios and that he was active in the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934. CNDI [redacted] states that from his personal knowledge KOHL was an active member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934. This informant states that he has no knowledge of KOHL's membership in the Communist Party at the present time but that he has observed he is active in front organizations which are considered as being Communist controlled. He resides in Los Angeles at the present time. b7D

6. HELMER PEDERSEN

[redacted] b6 b7C

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] informed that PEDERSEN was a carpenter in the Hollywood studios and a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934, and was a delegate to the First Pacific Coast Congress Against War and Fascism which was held at San Francisco on April 27 and 28, 1935. They further advised that he has not been very active recently. b7D

CNDI [redacted] states that from his personal knowledge PEDERSEN was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934 but informant states that he has never been very active.

7. SAM GOLDBLATT

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] stated that GOLDBLATT was a laboratory worker in the Hollywood studios in 1934 but was never very active in the Communist Party. They also advised that he has been a member for many years but their records on this party are not current. b7D

CNDI [redacted] informs that he has personal knowledge that GOLDBLATT was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1935 as he sat in many closed Communist Party meetings with him. b7D

GOLDBLATT resides in the Los Angeles area at the present time.

8. DON GORDON

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] stated that GORDON was a cabinet maker in the Hollywood studios and was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of b7D the Communist Party in 1934. They also informed that he was a member of the American Russian Institute in 1947. They believe he resides in the Los Angeles area at the present time.

CNDI [redacted] states that he knows of his own personal knowledge that GORDON was a member of the Communist Party, Hollywood Sub-Section, in 1934 as he sat in many Communist Party meetings with him. b7D

CNDI [redacted] reveals that GORDON is a member of the Communist Party at the present time. b7D

9. LOUIS HEIFETZ

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] stated that their records show that HEIFETZ was a laboratory worker and writer and a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934, although HEIFETZ denied that he was a member. In 1945 HEIFETZ was associated with BARTLEY C. CRUM of San Francisco, MERVYN RATHBORNE of San Francisco, and LOUIS BLOCK. b7D

CNDI [redacted] states that HEIFETZ sat in closed unit meetings of the Communist Party of the Hollywood Sub-Section in 1934 and 1935. Informant stated that HEIFETZ denied he was a member of the Communist Party but the fact that he sat in closed unit meetings would show that he was trusted by the party. b7D

10. NORA HELGREN

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] stated that HELGREN is a writer and that she had charge of organizing the League of Women Shoppers. CNDI [redacted] states that she is a well known inter-national Communist, but he can not produce record proof of that fact. b7D

CNDI [redacted] states that to his personal knowledge HELGREN was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934 and 1935 as he sat in closed Communist meetings with her on a number of occasions. CNDI [redacted] reveals that HELGREN is an active member of the Communist Party at the present time. Informant also stated that HELGREN allegedly made a trip to Sweden some three or four months ago and has not returned to date. b7D

11. EDWARD O'TOOLE

CNDI [redacted] stated that he had a record showing O'TOOLE was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party for a short time in 1934. CNDI [redacted] states that to his personal knowledge O'TOOLE was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party for a few months in 1934 but was not very active while he was in the party. The present whereabouts of O'TOOLE is unknown. b7D

12. HELMER W. BERGMAN

CNDI [redacted] informed that BERGMAN is a studio electrician and shop steward. Informant stated that BERGMAN was the Secretary of the John Reed Club in 1933 and that he was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934. CNDI [redacted] advised that BERGMAN participated in the 1945 motion picture strike. Informant also stated that BERGMAN was a teacher in the People's Educational Center and was a member of the 59th A.D. Communist Club in 1945. He resides in the Los Angeles area. b7D

CNDI [redacted] has informed that to his personal knowledge BERGMAN was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934 and 1935 as he sat in a number of Communist closed meetings with him. b7D

13. WILLIAM (BILL) GEER (HERE)
Motion Picture Actor

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] have informed that GEER was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934 and that he was a member of the John Reed Club in 1933. They stated that GEER has been called "the most radical Communist in Southern California" and that he was always complaining of police brutality, and one case in particular in 1935 of which he himself was the subject. b7D

CNDI [redacted] states that GEER was to his personal knowledge a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934 and 1935 as he sat in many closed Communist Party meetings with him. b7D

GEER is in Vinalhaven, Maine at the present time working on a picture now being made by the Twentieth Century Fox Studio and directed by HENRY KING. The name of the play is "Deep Water".

14. LIONEL STANDER
wa. J. Rand
Screen and radio writer

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] stated that the records which they have indicated that STANDER was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934. It is possible that it was some time in 1935 before he was a member of this Sub-Section. CNDI [redacted] states that STANDER came to Los Angeles in 1934 or early in 1935 and revealed to him that he was a member of the Communist Party. STANDER lives in the Los Angeles area. b7D

15. DON ALEXANDER GORDON

CNDI [redacted] states that GORDON was a screen reader in 1934 and 1935, presently called screen analyst. Informant further states that GORDON's home was used for closed Communist Party meetings. The informant states that GORDON was at that time a member of the Communist Party. In 1936 he approached informant and advised informant that he had joined the Communist Party and asked informant to rejoin the Party. b7D

CNDI [redacted] informs that in March, 1947, GORDON was head of the Reading Department of Paramount Studios. In 1945 he contributed liberally to the movie strike fund and is very active in Communist Party activities. b7D

16. JOHN WEXLEY
Screen and Dramatic Writer

CNDI [redacted] has records that indicate that WEXLEY was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party about 1934 or 1935. b7D

CNDI [redacted] states that WEXLEY, LOUIS HEIFETZ and MEYER BAYLIN met at a restaurant called the Coconut Grove in 1935 where they had a discussion. During the conversation Communist inner affairs were discussed. The substance of WEXLEY's conversation caused informant to believe that WEXLEY was a member of the Communist Party.

WEXLEY presently resides in the Los Angeles area.

17. RALPH SMITH
Studio Painter

CNDI informed that SMITH was a member of the YCL, the exact date being unknown but believed to be 1934 or 1935. CNDI stated that SMITH was a member of the YCL in 1934 and as such member he took part in closed consultations with members of the Communist Party in the Hollywood Sub-Section. SMITH is a member of the Communist Party according to CNDI He resides in the Los Angeles area. b7D

18. ROY STAUFFER
Laborer at MGM Studios

In 1934 and 1935 STAUFFER was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party, according to CNDI Informant advises that STAUFFER was the organizer of what was called the Studio Unit of the Communist Party, confined only to Communist Party members. This informant has sat in closed Communist Party meetings in the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party with STAUFFER. The informant states that STAUFFER was in Los Angeles from 1933 until some time in 1936 and was the organizer of that unit of the Communist Party in 1934 and 1935. Informant further advised that STAUFFER left Los Angeles in 1936 and his present whereabouts is unknown. However, it was understood at the time he was in Los Angeles that he came from the State of Washington. b7D

19. GEORGE FRETSON
Painter in Hollywood Studios

CNDI states that FRETSON was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934 as informant sat in many closed meetings with him. Informant states that FRETSON was a German alien. He further advised that in the summer of 1935 FRETSON announced that he was leaving the party. Soon afterwards FRETSON left the Los Angeles area and his present whereabouts is unknown. b7D

20. JOHN LOOSCHEN
Carpenter in Hollywood Studios

CNDI informs that in 1934 and 1935 LOOSCHEN was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party as informant sat in b7D closed meetings with him. Informant states that he knows of no record of Communist activity on the part of LOOSCHEN since 1935. Informant further advised that LOOSCHEN at the present time resides in the San Fernando Valley.

21. WILLIAM COLFAX MILLER
Camera man in the Motion Picture Industry

CNDI informs that in 1934 and 1935 MILLER was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party as he sat in closed Communist Party meetings with him on a number of occasions. The informant further advises that MILLER went to Spain in 1938 and has been reported to have been one of the OGPU executioners in Spain. The informant also stated that it was reported in Los Angeles by CNDI who was a Communist Party member, that MILLER was in Mexico in 1940 and was reported as having been implicated as one of the machine gunners in the abortive attempt to assassinate LEON TROTSKY. His whereabouts is unknown. b7D

22. BENNO PRIVAL
Artist, Hollywood Studios

CNDI states that in 1934 and 1935 PRIVAL was a member of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party as he sat in a number of closed Communist Party meetings with him. Informant further states that in 1934 and 1935 PRIVAL was a registered Communist Party voter. The informant also advised that PRIVAL was arrested in the motion picture strike in 1945. He is believed to be residing in the Los Angeles area at the present time. b7D

23. GENE BRADY
Teamster, A.F. of L., Local 399
Studio Drivers

CNDI states that in 1934 and 1935 BRADY was a very active member of the Young Communist League, and as such a member had contact with informant and others in the Communist movement. Informant advises that he was expelled from the A.F. of L. Local No. 399 because of his Communist Party membership. His present whereabouts is unknown. b7D

Re: COMPIC
Bureau file 100-138754

Of the above-named Communist Party members of the Hollywood Sub-Section of the Communist Party in 1934 and 1935, the following persons, according to CNDI [redacted] should have an intimate knowledge of the Communist activities in the motion picture industry from that date to the present time: b7D

HARRY CARLISLE
ED M. GILBERT
DON ALEXANDER GORDON
NORA HELGREN
LIONEL STANDER
IRWIN P. MENTCHEL
SAM GOLDBLATT
LOUIS HEIFETZ
HELMER W. BERGMAN
JOHN WEXLEY

CNDI [redacted] further informs that there is no information in his opinion which leads him to believe that any of the above-named persons would be in a frame of mind to aid the Government in its efforts at this time. b7D

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] expressed the opinion that none of the parties named above would voluntarily be of assistance to the Government in this investigation at the present time. b7D

44 The Communist activities of the above-named parties are well known to the agents of the Los Angeles Office. These parties have carried on the work of the Communist Party and have followed the Communist Party line faithfully. Nothing appears on the surface which would indicate that any one of them would willingly aid the Government in this investigation.

CNDI [redacted] informs that one person, HAROLD J. ASHE, who was a functionary of the Communist Party in the Los Angeles area in 1934 and 1935, would have a great deal of information regarding the Communist activities in Hollywood and might be willing to furnish information to the Government as his connection with the party has been severed. This informant advises that ASHE was the Secretary of the Los Angeles Section of the Communist Party in 1935 and later, and as such Secretary would have had constant contact with the Communists in the Hollywood Sub-Section. This position would have made him familiar with conditions and persons in the motion picture industry. b7D

Attention of the Bureau is called to the fact that there is a subject file on ASHE in the Los Angeles Office (LA file [redacted] Bureau file [redacted] which reveals that an SI card was issued July 23, 1942, which was cancelled by the Bureau July 16, 1945. It is the opinion of the Los Angeles Office that ASHE might be induced to cooperate with the Government. Inquiry will be made to ascertain his present address and employment, but no effort will be made to interview him unless instructed to do so by the Bureau. b6 b7C

There are enclosed herewith copies of a statement furnished by confidential informant [redacted] regarding a party held at the home of BOYAN ATHANASSOV, [redacted], on the evening of October 21, 1947. At this party a number of Hollywood celebrities now under investigation by the House Un-American Activities Committee were included among those invited.

It will be noted that the informant advises that photographs were taken of guests arriving at the ATHANASSOV home, which was the cause of considerable disturbance among the guests at the party. It is also noted that those present were of the opinion that the photographs were being taken by FBI Agents, and that the headquarters of these Agents was a house next to the ATHANASSOV home at which an FBI Agent allegedly resides.

RECORDED

In this regard the Bureau is advised that this party was not covered in any fashion by Agents of this office and further you are advised that the records of this office do not reflect that there is any Special Agent of this Bureau residing next to the ATHANASSOVS. No coverage was made of this party in view of the fact that the informant had assured this office that he would be present at the party and furnish full information concerning it to this office. It should be noted that BOYAN ATHANASSOV has indicated that he intended to protest the alleged coverage of the party by [redacted] State Department.

October 23, 1947

The following is a statement made by [redacted] (X) b7D

FEO ATHANASSOV had planned a party in honor of BENJAMIN APPEL at the home of BOYAN ATHANASSOV, [redacted] on the evening of October 21. Presumably at the suggestion of MARTIN POPPER, some of the Hollywood celebrities now under investigation in Washington were included in Mrs. ATHANASSOV's invitation and were expected to attend the party later on the same evening. (X) b6 b7C

DECLASSIFIED BY SP2 BTJ/GWM
ON 4-19-95 377272

The first arrivals at the party, Dr. and Mrs. ALPHER, and lady friend, were met in front of Mr. ATHANASSOV's home by several photographers and their pictures were taken as they entered. They apparently called the attention of the host that photographers were planted in front of his house and guests arriving subsequently confirmed the fact that their pictures were being taken by two or three photographers who, incidentally, were stationed in the house next to ATHANASSOV's where, on ATHANASSOV's assertion, an agent of the FBI lived who in ATHANASSOV's own words had openly admitted he was one, in the past. The photographers were quartered in this house apparently and while waiting for the guests to arrive, sat in that house. (X)

The fact that guests were being photographed aroused the ATHANASSOVS very considerably. At one point, BOYAN ATHANASSOV went outside and tried to get them to leave. He says that he was met with considerable impertinence and insolence on the part of the photographers who snapped his own picture a number of times. Some time later two automobiles, which ATHANASSOV considers police cars or FBI cars, came by and picked up the photographers. By ten o'clock the photographers had gone but only about fifteen or eighteen people had arrived and there were indications that when the ATHANASSOVS found out about the photographers in front of their house, they got in touch with presumably MARTIN POPPER and informed him not to come to the party and to warn the Hollywood people not to attend. That is a presumption on my part but there are indications that it was true. (X)

The incident naturally ruined the festive spirit of the guests some of whom, for example, the Press Secretary of the Rumanian Legation, VOGEL, and his wife, decided to leave the party as soon or sooner than was actually permissible from the point of view of etiquette and good graces. (X)

COPIES DESTROYED

Everyone present was very excited and commented in a different manner on this event. FEO ATHANASSOV was particularly disturbed and in a state of excitement and tension. Generally speaking, there seemed to be no doubt in anyone's mind that the incident had been planned by the FBI with the object of intimidating American citizens from associating with representatives of the Communist regimes. Words and statements to that effect were made by practically everyone present. It was also assumed by the hosts that knowledge of the party and the people asked to (X) attend was procured by the FBI through tapping telephone wires and generally keeping close watch on the activities of the ATHANASSOVS.

At the party it was suggested that a note of protest immediately be dispatched to the Department of State describing the incident. A memorandum to that effect is now being prepared by BOYAN ATHANASSOV and will be dispatched to the Under Secretary of State LOVETT in the immediate future, either from New York or Washington.

In view of the excitement, the main topic of conversation at the party was centered around the activities of the FBI and their Fascist methods of procedure regarding the accredited diplomatic representatives of Southeastern European countries.

At about 10:15 P. M. to 10:30 P. M., I don't know exactly, DOROTHY TODD arrived alone and stated that her husband could not attend because he had been sick for several days and that this had been his first day to work which had tired him and he had gone to bed. A few minutes later DAVID WAHL and BARTLEY CRUM arrived together and it is my impression they had been notified of the incident before they got to the house. Both made ridiculing statement on the incident and CRUM distinctly stated that he loved to have his picture taken at any time.

CRUM, who had apparently made a speech the night before at the National Lawyers Guild, which meeting had been attended by a number of the people present, was heartily congratulated on the excellence of his speech, and for a few minutes general conversation was centered on the events of the previous night.

In the meantime, and in my opinion entirely due to the fact that NISSIM MEVORAH does not speak English, DAVID WAHL sat with her and for a period of at least two hours carried on a conversation in German. The remaining guests, without exception, centered their attention on CRUM who held the floor until almost 1:15 A. M. and did most of the talking himself.

Being apparently one of the attorneys of the Hollywood celebrities now investigated in Washington, he was asked a number of questions regarding the said interrogations. His attitude to the investigation generally was one of ridicule and on a number of occasions he emphasized the fact that this whole investigation, and for that matter the Congressional Committee for Un-American Activities, was a ridiculous affair and a procedure not unlike the methods used in the past by Hitler and Mussolini. Of the investigations themselves, he spoke very lightly, apparently wishing to convey the impression that they were unfounded, uncalled for, and were definitely a breach of the rights and liberties of the American people.

Referring to a certain picture which had evidently been considered as Un-American, he made the statement that he and his clerks had written a number of letters and had approached openly on occasions the members of the Congressional Committee with the request that the picture be brought before them and shown to them so that they could, for themselves, decide whether its subject could by any stretch of the imagination be considered un-American, however, he stated that to date the Committee had not complied with their request and had not apparently even answered their letters. (C)

Gradually conversation shifted from the un-American investigations to the more general topic of Communism and the reaction of the American public to certain events concerning the relationship of this country with Soviet Russia. (C)

BARTLEY CRUM startled several of those present by stating that he considered the Soviet attitude as represented by Andrei Vishinsky at the United Nations is, in particular, with regard to his vicious attack on warmongers, indicative of the poor knowledge and lack of intelligence on the part of the Russians of the attitude and position of the average American. CRUM admitted that whereas warmongers did exist in the United States in large numbers, it was a mistake and a grave mistake at that, for VISHINSKY to include in his list a person like Governor EARLE for example, former Governor of Pennsylvania and former Minister to Bulgaria, who in the opinion of CRUM is absolutely of no consequence in the United States and who was actually being honored by being placed in the list of warmongers along with AUSTIN and the rest of them. CRUM maintained that the Russians did not understand the sentiments and feelings of the American public and that by their attack on warmongers, they had chosen the wrong approach. (C)

Discussing the possibility of eventual cooperation between the Soviet conception of Democratic social order and the American conception of Democracy, CRUM expounded the theory rather well substantiated that such cooperation was not only feasible but had, in effect, taken place throughout the whole war and thus had given sufficient proof that it could be attained. According to him, the split between the Soviet Union and this country came immediately after the San Francisco Conference. Without attempting to lay the blame on one side or the other, CRUM maintained that in spite of the ideological differences that separated the two countries up until the said San Francisco Conference, they had cooperated rather effectively in defeating National Socialism and there was no reason why this cooperation could not be extended over the period of peace. (C)

Confidential

At this point he was vehemently attacked by several members of the party, notably Mrs. GERTRUDE EVANS and the lady with the bushy hair who came to the party with Dr. ALPHER and his wife, both of whom maintained that only the United States was at fault for the breaking up of the good relations because the capitalists of this country had brought pressure to bear on the people in the Government and as soon as the war was over had more or less taken over the dictation of the United States foreign policies. (X)

BARTLEY CRUM again emphasized that he was not prepared to discuss the faults of either side but that he maintained that such were committed on both sides and no useful purpose would be gained by going over these faults and trying to place the blame on one side or the other. (X)

Reverting temporarily to the investigations of the House Committee for Un-American Activities, he expressed the hope that sooner or later someone of the accused or, as he put it, if he himself had been a Communist, he would have taken the stand officially that under the First Amendment of the American Constitution he was entitled to his beliefs and convictions and thereby free expression. This point was warmly seconded by DOROTHY TODD who also expressed the desire to see someone challenge the said Committee for Un-American Activities with the stand under the First Amendment of the Constitution. He said in effect he would say if challenged, "Yes, gentlemen, I am a Communist, so what!" But on several occasions throughout the evening he emphasized the fact that he was not a Communist, that he was a Roman Catholic and his political sympathies were with the Republican Party of this country. That is outstanding because on several occasions he emphasized that point. (X)

Some time was spent on discussing the various acts of unfriendliness that had taken place since 1944 between this country and the Soviet Union. DOROTHY TODD, ALICE STAPLETON, GERTRUDE EVANS and the lady with the bushy hair were particularly interested in showing that they considered the Soviet Union as absolutely justified in taking the stand such as we, not because they had been provoked by American capitalists and its machinations and because in self-defense the Soviet Union could not react in any other manner. Examples were cited with the menace to Soviet satellite countries as represented by the presence of American or British troops of occupation in Greece and elsewhere. It was stated that these troops were intended to either attack the Soviet Union or else to exercise intimidation to the local population. (X)

In the effort on the part of the United States Department of State to procure even a fraction of the liberties guaranteed by the (X)

Confidential

Charter of the United Nations was interpreted as American intervention in the internal affairs of the respective countries which has been for some time the official line of the Communist Party throughout the world.

The four persons mentioned were very conspicuous in following this line quite openly. Discussing the possibilities of eventual co-operation between the Soviet Union and America, BARTLEY CRUM made the statement that in his opinion the one person who seemed to be indicated to be able to carry out such a policy of cooperation was General EISENHOWER. In his opinion if General EISENHOWER ran for President in 1948 on either ticket, Republican or Democratic, he would be elected hands down and it would be the best think that could happen to this country. On the grounds of General EISENHOWER's successful fulfilment of his war-time job as Allied Commander in Chief in which he was not only able to co-ordinate the efforts of all the Allied countries but also co-ordinate them with the efforts of the Soviet Union, he seemed to be the most desirable person for the White House in 1948. This statement was accepted without comment but with visual dissatisfaction on the part of some of the guests present.

While I was there the following persons were in attendance: BOYAN and FEO ATHANASSOV, Dr. MEVORAH, Dr. and Mrs. ALPHER, ALICE STAPLETON, GERTRUDE EVANS, DOROTHY TODD, WERNER IMHOOF and his wife, Mrs. SERGIO MACIEDO, BARTLEY CRUM, DAVID WAHL, a woman who came with Dr. ALPHER with bushy hair, a lady about forty-five years of age who lives in the neighborhood of ALICE STAPLETON and who had little to say during the course of the evening's entertainment. BOYAN ATHANASSOV questioned the logic of certain remarks made by CRUM because they apparently did not follow the Party line as closely as he followed it and it was in that connection that he did take issue on a few of the statements. It was actually when they were discussing the various unfriendly acts committed by both sides.

I said there that the four persons named, the lady with the bushy hair, GERTRUDE EVANS, ALICE STAPLETON and DOROTHY TODD, made rather nasty cracks which seemed to indicate that the United States alone was at fault for the break down of the good relations and ATHANASSOV contributed to that effect by asking questions and making statements to that effect. This is perfectly true.

But it must be pointed out that the approach of BARTLEY CRUM was so logical that even hard-boiled members of the Party and followers of the Party Line could not take open issue with them. BARTLEY CRUM repeatedly maintained that he was not blaming one side more than the other.

He was not taking the side of the United States against the Soviet Union or vice versa but the question so far as he was concerned was a question of principle and he was more interested in the after effects rather than in the causes of this split that has occurred whereas they invariably diverted back to the causes. If I had an indication that BARTLEY CRUM was one of the top Communists and had positive proof like I have of MEVORAH, I could assume that the Politburo of the Communist was passing down the line a new method of approach and had been called upon to do so by the existing circumstances in this country. But I don't know anything about BARTLEY CRUM except from what I saw of him the other night. The difference there is this: That if I listen to MEVORAH, I know his background, I know who he is, I know that if he comes forth with a new approach to an existing problem, you can damn well take it for certain that this is the latest designation of the Politburo; that they are going to pass this down the line and in six months or a year he would have the little functionaries throughout the whole Party expounding on this new approach and shifting their opinion from what it had been formerly. (C)

Dr. ALPHER made absolutely no comments throughout the evening. I was under the impression that he had been unpleasantly surprised and rather shocked by the incident with the photographers and he was not going to participate in any of the discussions. But his wife rather actively participated in the discussions with BARTLEY CRUM. She was rather more middle of the road. She indicated a definite leftist tendency or sympathy but was not as radical, not as clear-cut as the rest of them. (C)

The IMHOOFS made no remarks with BARTLEY CRUM. (C)

At one point during the evening DAVID WAHL interrupted BARTLEY CRUM and informed him that he has only fifteen more minutes at his disposal because he, DAVID WAHL, was taking him home and putting him to bed and that he needed a fresh man and a fresh man in the morning. (C)

After BARTLEY CRUM, DAVID WAHL, and DOROTHY TODD had gone, the remaining guests sat around for a little longer and at that time IMHOOF talked to MEVORAH in French and more or less discussed with him the same problem which had been under discussion by BARTLEY CRUM. If that is of any interest, in his conversation with IMHOOF and MEVORAH, IMHOOF indicated that he was convinced beyond any shadow of a doubt that there is going to be another war soon and that the present stages of international relations would invariably lead to an armed conflict. In your absence, ASAC Belmont telephoned from New York at 5:05 p.m. today and stated that tonight's issue of the New York Sun carried double headlines reporting "Ex FBI Agent Says Soviet Tried to Get 'A' Secret." The article stated that Ex FBI Agent Lou Russell testified today before the House Committee on Un-American Activities that Robert Oppenheimer had been approached at the Radiation Laboratory, University of California, to get secrets of the A bomb and the paper carried a picture of Russell.

HANDLED BY STOP DESK

Mr. Belmont stated he was calling this to the Bureau's attention to reflect the coverage the matter was being afforded in the New York papers. He stated that the article was an UP dispatch.

Apparently, according to [redacted] after discovering the photographers, Athanassov had contacted Martin Popper of the National Lawyers Guild, who in turn had got in touch with a number of the Hollywood celebrities, and they then did not attend the reception.

On October 23, 1947, Sergie Romanovich Striganov, First Secretary of the Soviet Embassy, who is in charge of cultural relations at the Embassy, made arrangements to meet [redacted] and during a discussion which followed, b7D mentioned the photographers being present at the reception, saying the Soviet Embassy had "heard some rumors about the trouble with the photographers". Striganov was interested in knowing if the incident might have had any connection with the posters placed in front of the Soviet Embassy several months ago. He speculated as to whether the photographers were FBI agents and how they had received information concerning the party. [redacted] informed him that Bartley C. Crum and others at the reception believed the incident had been planned by the FBI with the specific objective of intimidating American citizens associating with representatives of various governments who have shown a friendly and cooperative attitude towards Soviet Russia. Striganov heartily agreed with this.

[redacted] has further advised that on October 27, 1947, Athanassov, in a b7D note of protest to the State Department, indicates that the FBI was responsible for the photographing and that the photographers used the residence of John Stringer, an FBI agent, who resides at [redacted] near Athanassov's b6 residence. The note indicates that later in the evening of October 21, 1947, the b7C FBI agents were picked up in two police cars in front of Athanassov's residence, which cars carried front and rear aerials.

Needless to say, we do not have an agent by the name of John Stringer. We had no physical coverage on the reception and had nothing to do with the presence of the photographers at the reception.

John D. Stringer, according to Stone's Mercantile Credit Agency, resides at [redacted] and is an attorney-advisor, employed by the Labor Department. b6

Fatherland Front of Bulgaria, and the informant after making a studied reflection of STRIGANOV'S attitude and the tone of his few remarks, is convinced that STRIGANOV mentally compared him, the informant, with other representatives of the satellite governments many of whom are known to the United States Government to be Communists and to support the Soviet policies.

The informant feels that there is an excellent possibility that he may be further approached by the Soviets and that there is a good possibility that they may approach him from an intelligence standpoint. He pointed out that no definite statements were made by STRIGANOV regarding the informant's use by the Soviets along intelligence lines, but that the above was an impression gained by him. It is noted at this time that [redacted] has not been prone to overestimate any situation in the past, but has displayed a conservative attitude toward his potential value to the Bureau. b7D

Upon departing from this luncheon STRIGANOV assured the informant that he was desirous of having the latter attend the Soviet party in November at the Soviet Embassy, and noted that he will see the informant at the Czech party on Monday, October 27, 1947. The informant feels he is gradually gaining the confidence of the Soviet officials and is endeavoring to maintain a position which would be conducive to closer friendship with the Soviet officials.

The Bureau will be kept immediately advised of any further developments with regard to this matter.

Very truly yours,

Director, FBI
RE: BULGARIAN MISSION TO THE U.S.

The informant mentioned that MARTIN POPPER of the National Lawyers Guild and FEO ATHANASSOV had arranged for the party and that POPPER was supposed to bring some of the Hollywood celebrities. STRIGANOV said that the Embassy had complete knowledge of MARTIN POPPER and BARTLEY CRUM.

The second possible object for this luncheon meeting was to determine whether or not the informant could be relied upon by the Soviet Embassy. He gained the definite impression that the Soviet Embassy, through YURI M. BRUSLOV, Soviet Second Secretary and STRIGANOV, was interested in determining whether or not the informant could be relied upon by the Embassy. A report has been submitted to the Bureau with regard to a meeting between BRUSLOV and the informant at the September 9th Bulgarian celebration at the Bulgarian Legation, at which time BRUSLOV appeared to be interested in cultivating the friendship of this informant. This office is acquainted with the fact that BRUSLOV and STRIGANOV work closely together and this point was brought out as a possibility by the informant who feels that BRUSLOV, having satisfied himself that the informant was reliable, sent STRIGANOV to meet with him for verification of BRUSLOV'S opinion.

STRIGANOV asked him if he had met VAVILOV (MICHAIL S. VAVILOV, First Secretary of the Soviet Embassy) and the informant replied in the affirmative. STRIGANOV asked him if he had met other Russians in this country. Informant referred to a reception for MOLOTOV in New York City in 1946 and that the informant and his superior, General STOYCHEFF, were with a selected few who drank toasts with MOLOTOV in a private dining room reserved for MOLOTOV at that reception. STRIGANOV said that he had been to this reception but had not been in the private dining room and that that was probably the reason why he had not met the informant at that time. The informant is definitely of the impression that STRIGANOV had already been aware of the fact that the informant was present at that reception. STRIGANOV knew of STOYCHEFF and indicated that he was impressed by STOYCHEFF'S reputation.

STRIGANOV indicated that he knew that the informant is not a member of the Communist Party and is aware that the informant has taken no active part in Bulgarian politics, and further that he has made no effort to conceal the fact that he is not a party man, but has privately earnestly endorsed all policies of the Bulgarian Fatherland Front and the Soviet Union.

STRIGANOV gave the impression of satisfaction for this situation; namely, that the informant was not an open supporter of Communism and the

Director, FBI
RE: BULGARIAN MISSION TO THE U.S.

Miscellaneous conversation was had concerning [redacted] b7D employment here, whether he was interested in cultural affairs, whether many of the Bulgarian colony in the United States were interested in returning to Bulgaria, how many Bulgarians were in the United States, and generally their attitude toward the Fatherland Front Bulgarian Government. STRIGANOV was asked how long he had been here, whether he had a family, and gradually a feeling of friendliness developed between the two. It is pointed out that STRIGANOV had not previously met the informant.

STRIGANOV then referred in a vague, off-hand manner to a Bulgarian party "two or three weeks ago" at which time the persons attending the party were "registered". STRIGANOV'S ability to express himself in English is extremely limited and informant thought he meant the Bulgarian party of September 9th at the Bulgarian Legation. STRIGANOV quickly referred to the party held at the residence of BOYAN ATHANASSOV, whom he has met, which took place on the evening of October 21.

STRIGANOV stated that the Soviet Embassy has "heard some rumors about the trouble with the photographers" and wanted to make it appear that the incident was unimportant; however, he was unable to conceal his interest in determining whether or not the photographers had been identified. STRIGANOV made reference to the fact that some signs or posters had been placed in front of the Soviet Embassy several months ago, and it is the informant's opinion that STRIGANOV was attempting to determine whether or not the two incidents were caused by the same individuals. [redacted] b7D displayed a highly indignant attitude toward these incidents and told STRIGANOV that the Bulgarian Mission, now an authorized Legation, was sending a strong note of protest to the State Department. STRIGANOV speculated as to whether the photographers were FBI Agents or newspaper photographers and how they had received the information about the party. Informant stated that ATHANASSOV and his guests were satisfied that the photographers were FBI Agents and that the information had been acquired by them through the tapping of the telephone lines at ATHANASSOV'S home. The informant was vehement in his denunciation of the FBI and reflected that the attitude of BARTLEY CRUM and the others at the party was that the incident had been planned by the FBI with the specific object in intimidating American citizens from associating with representatives of the various governments who have shown a friendly and cooperative attitude toward Soviet Russia. STRIGANOV warmly agreed.

RE: BULGARIAN MISSION TO THE UNITED STATES
INTERNAL SECURITY - R

SERGIE ROMANOVICH STRIGANOV
INTERNAL SECURITY - R

On October 23, 1947, confidential informant [redacted] whose identity is known to the Bureau, was telephonically contacted at his office by SERGIE ROMANOVICH STRIGANOV, First Secretary of the Soviet Embassy in charge of Cultural Relations. After several unsuccessful attempts to reach the informant, STRIGANOV was successful and made a luncheon appointment with the above informant for 1:00 P.M. on October 24, 1947, at the Carlton Hotel. b7D

The informant has advised that it appears that STRIGANOV'S purpose in contacting him was twofold. It cannot be determined which purpose might have been uppermost in STRIGANOV'S mind. One purpose was to have the informant clarify for the Soviet Embassy the incident which occurred on the evening of October 21, 1947, at the residence of BOYAN ATHANASSOV, Acting Political representative to the United States from Bulgaria.

By letter dated October 23, 1947, entitled "COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY, INTERNAL SECURITY - C", the Bureau was made acquainted with the circumstances which occurred at ATHANASSOV'S party and a six-page report from confidential informant [redacted] covering this affair was enclosed with the letter. This incident involved the presence of photographers in front of ATHANASSOV'S residence who photographed the persons attending the party, which party was meant to include several of the Hollywood celebrities presently testifying or about to testify before the Congressional Un-American Activities Committee. b7D

When seated at the dining table, STRIGANOV asked the informant if he desired a cocktail, to which he replied that he enjoyed vodka but that this hotel did not keep it in stock. STRIGANOV made a toast over a glass of wine looking toward the development of a warm friendship between the two men.

ANNOUNCER

.....and here is HUMPHREY BOGART who's seen some of the proceedings and talked to a great many officials in Washington. What statement do you care to make at this time? (u)

HUMPHREY BOGART

All the way across the country we had heard that the Washington press was very tough, tremendously intelligent and very tough, and we realized that in coming to Washington we were going to have a difficult time making our mission quite clear. (u)

We were amazed to find out when we got there that 95% of the Washington press thought as we did. They were just wonderful. There were about 5% of the press which would think always the same way, no matter how long you talked to them. I discount those. (u)

The reason we went there was because the Constitution of the United States we felt was being attacked by the Committee now sitting by a...just happens that we stopped here, and a great many years ago the Constitution of the United States was signed here. Originally it did not include the Bill of Rights, the Ten Amendments. John Adams refused to sign until those Bill of...the Bill of Rights and the Ten Amendments were included in the Constitution because he felt that would protect the individual citizen and give him the right to free speech, freedom of worship, and so on. I'm sure you're all familiar with it. (u)

We went to Washington because we felt the Bill of Rights was being attacked. (u)

ANNOUNCER

Mr. BOGART, would you care to answer this? In your opinion...rather, what is your opinion of the Sub-Committee in referring yesterday's witnesses to the main Committee for contempt of court? (u)

HUMPHREY BOGART

I don't think I'd be able to answer that question because I'm not well-versed enough in law. I'm an actor, not a lawyer. (u)

ANNOUNCER

Thank you very much, Mr. BOGART. (u)

4-19-95 12/2/88 SP-7 mac/DB #293,176

I see Miss BACALL here. I wonder if she'd care to come to the microphone for just a moment. Miss BACALL, now that you've absorbed some of the Washington atmosphere and discussed the matter with many officials, what's your viewpoint at this time? (u)

SP10-BJ6cm

LAUREN BACALL

Well, I officially would like to say that I'm not in sympathy with Communism and I don't like it. But after witnessing the conduct of the hearing, I was really amazed and a little bit frightened by it, and I felt all through the...both the hearings that I witnessed, that every American man, woman and child should be there to see what was going on and see the way it was being conducted and the way I felt the Bill of Rights was being abused. (u)

ANNOUNCER

Thank you very much for your opinion. (u)

Mr. BACALL, do you have something else to say? (u)

HUMPHREY BOGART

No, I'm just obliging a photographer at the moment. (u)

ANNOUNCER

DANNY KAYE is in the room. I wonder if I could talk to him for just a moment. (u)

DANNY, we're very happy to welcome you here to Philadelphia. You know your charming female lead in "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty" -- plug -- VIRGINIA MAYO was in town just last week. (u)

DANNY KAYE

Oh, fine! Does that have anything to do with Constitutional rights? (u)

ANNOUNCER

No, I'm afraid it doesn't. We just wanted to welcome you here to Philadelphia.

DANNY KAYE, what's your opinion of the Un-American activities...the hearings going on in Washington?

DANNY KAYE

Look! Actually, I would like to talk to you people on the radio audience for just a minute. I was a member of a group that was present at the hearings one morning, and the industry, of which I am very proud to be a member, was constantly smeared and attacked as being Communist-led, Communist-dominated, Communist-infested, which in turn makes us seem like complete fools.

So I would like to put this question to you ladies and gentlemen listening right this moment: Have you seen and enjoyed any of the pictures we have made? Have you ever read a line or heard a line, or seen any overt act? Have you ever left the theatre thinking that perhaps you might like the form of government that was being portrayed on the screen better than the American form of government?

Actually, your voices are what we need. You are the ones who are supposed to tell the people who are running this Committee that you don't believe that what you are seeing in pictures is Communist-dominated, or acts of Communists, or that they are trying to overthrow the government. We are not doing that in the motion picture industry. We are very proud of our industry being a clean, wholesome entertainment, and we'd like to hear your voices on it agreeing with us in that matter.

ANNOUNCER

Thank you very much, DANNY KAYE.

I understand that JOHN HOUSTON, the spokesman for this group, is in the room. I wonder if he'd care to make comment this morning. Mr. HOUSTON?

JOHN HOUSTON

We came to Washington as moving picture people who were very worried ab out a danger they felt their professions were in. We are coming away from Washington as Americans who are deeply disturbed that their rights as citizens are being violated.

We saw in many instances the rights guaranteed by our Constitution violated in the investigation that's taking place at this time.

ANNOUNCER

Thank you very much, Mr. HOUSTON.

And now here's another famous Hollywood personality -- one of the great actors of the screen, Mr. PAUL HENREID, who would have something to say at this time. Mr. HENREID?

PAUL HENREID

I don't think it can be repeated enough that we came to Washington as citizens of the United States of America, not to attack any person or group of persons, and not to defend any person or group of persons. We came there to witness the hearings and come to our own conclusions, and be reaffirmed in the belief that our Constitution, our Bill of Rights, has been invaded seriously.

ANNOUNCER

Thank you very much, Mr. HENRID.

I see GENE KELLY here in the room. I wonder if he wouldn't step over for just a moment and say, "Hello" to the Philadelphia audience.

GENE KELLY, I'd like to say before I ask you to say something that we're all very sorry here in Philadelphia to read in the papers and hear over the radio about your hurt ankle. How are you coming along with it?

GENE KELLY

Just fine. Thank you very much. Philadelphia is practically a second home to me, so I feel very much at home here on your radio. I was married in Philadelphia, born in Pittsburgh, and of course first saw the light of day...well, we'll let that go.

Like another song-and-dance man, a much greater song-and-dance man years ago said, "I wonder what's all the shootin' fur?" As Mr. KAYE has remarked, it's pretty hard to find any propaganda in pictures, mainly because the motion picture industry is such a large one, and it needs to make pictures which are box office successes. You can't make a picture for entertainment that the American public will accept and inject any propaganda in it. So I think so far, we're pretty safe.

Thank you.

ANNOUNCER

Thank you very much, GENE.

Now I see Mr. and Mrs. STERLING HAYDEN are in the room. I wonder if they wouldn't step forward and talk with us for just a moment. Here's STERLING HAYDEN now coming up to our microphone here at the Southwest Airport in Philadelphia.

Mr. HAYDEN, what are your comments, please?

STERLING HAYDEN

As we all know in this matter, one of the most difficult things is to keep our minds on the basic principal issue. In any political discussion with our friends, we always get off on all sorts of tangents. That's why I would like to point out that the issue involved here is not one of Communism. It is one of the right of every American to think as he chooses. That is guaranteed to us under the Bill of Rights.

We feel so strongly about this that before we left yesterday, we submitted a petition for the redress of grievances. We urge very, very strongly that you do the same thing. Write to your Congressman, or wire him, and by so doing, you will be protecting every American as well as yourself.

ANNOUNCER

Thank you very much, Mr. HAYDEN.

And now I see MARSHA HUNT here in the room. I wonder if she wouldn't oblige us by coming forward and giving her views on this very important matter.

Miss HUNT?

MARSHA HUNT

Thank you.

It seems to me that many of you listeners may well be confused about these issues which are being so loudly discussed on both sides, and perhaps we can clear up something for you by telling you our position about this.

You may wonder why, if Communism is a dangerous threat to our national security, why we seem to be in a position of objecting to some of the procedure of the Committee that is investigating this very movement in our country. It's our feeling that the cart is before the horse. If Communism is as dangerous as we are told, and it may well be...this is not our authority to decide...then surely the proper authorities, such as the FBI, should be appointed by the government to arrive at this, and if it is this dangerous, then it must be outlawed. We feel it should be outlawed before reputations are put at stake, and people's lives and jobs are jeopardized through only being suspected of belonging to a party which is at this moment still a legal party. And we feel that the order has been reversed rather shamefully for the publicity for a government's group.

ANNOUNCER

Thank you very much, MARSHA HUNT.

As we all know, ladies and gentlemen, thus far this morning we've heard only from the actors' part of the Hollywood profession. We have here one of the famous Hollywood writers with us, Mr. PHILLIP DUNN, and I'd like to have his viewpoint this morning.

Mr. DUNN?

PHILLIP DUNN

As a writer I'm particularly conscious that one of the big jobs the American motion picture industry has is to present the American way of life to peoples overseas. There's a great deal of competition in the world and there are many ideologies, and we feel that Democracy is the best way and the only way.

Now, how do you think somebody in Europe reacts when we make a picture talking about Democracy, and they hear from our House Committee of the Congress of the United States that this picture is subversive and Communistic? And how does it help us when by their activity in nullifying the Bill of Rights, they are giving all our enemies, the people who don't like us overseas, the chance to say, "What's the difference?".

ANNOUNCER

Thank you very much, Mr. PHILLIP DUNN.

Miss EVELYN KEYES is in the room. I'd like to go back to one of the better-known actresses in Hollywood for just a moment.

Miss KEYES, what's your opinion of the Un-American activities affair going on now in Washington?

EVELYN KEYES

Well, what I would like to do is ask all of you to join us in this fight because an attack on the screen is an attack on you, too, the American people, and if they succeed in what they are trying to do, next will be the radio, the newspapers, the pulpit and even into our homes. Please join us. Write your Congressman, or write to us in care of the Committee for the First Amendment, Hollywood, California. Now remember that -- the Committee for the First Amendment, Hollywood, California. For after all, in all due respect to Congressional committees, civil liberties do come first.

ANNOUNCER

Thank you very, very much, EVELYN KEYES.

I'd like to ask Miss JANE WYATT, another one of the lovely Hollywood actresses, if she wouldn't care to make a statement at this time.

JANE WYATT

Well, I might say a few words about patriotism. I'm very proud of my country, and I'm proud that one of my ancestors, Robert Livingstone, was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. And one of the things that make me most proud of America is the position that she holds in regard...in the eyes of the rest of the world. Now I'd like to read you something from the "Lady Observer", which is one of the most conservative and one of the greatest of the British newspapers: "The Investigating Committee of the American Congress threatens the freedoms which are the secret of America's greatness". Now, if freedom is the secret of our greatness, and I believe that it is, let's fight for that freedom.

ANNOUNCER

And there you have the statements by a number of film personalities, transcribed exclusively by WIP's Special Events Department, as the Hollywood-bound TWA plane stopped at Southwest Airport in Philadelphia at 10:23 this morning.

Heard on the program were HUMPHREY BOGART, LAUREN BACALL, PAUL HENREID, DANNY KAYE, STERLING HAYDEN, MARSHA HUNT, EVELYN KEYES, GENE KELLY and others.

Join us tomorrow at 9:30 AM, and again in the afternoon at 4:15 for more testimony before the House Un-American Activities Committee now meeting in Washington.

This is the Mutual Broadcasting System.

The Gimbel Broadcasting Service, WIP, Philadelphia.

The correct time, 10:15.

LUCILLE WALLACE, Office Secretary, Eastern Pennsylvania District of the IWO, was advised by SAM GORENZWIT, member of the IPFO Lodge #464, IWO, that his lodge had sent a telegram to the Committee for the Defense of the First Amendment. LUCILLE related that a wire had been received at the IWO Office in Philadelphia on October 29, 1947 from HUMPHREY BOGART indicating his TWA Constellation Plane would arrive in Philadelphia enroute to Hollywood at 9:30 on the 29th and he would welcome the opportunity of explaining to the IWO what he and his party were striving for and what they had accomplished in Washington. (U)

[redacted] confidentially advised agents of the Philadelphia Office as follows. b7D

A Mr. KING and a Mr. PHELPS, officials of the TWA, on October 28, 1947, had arranged with him for members of the staff of the WIP radio station in Philadelphia to use a lounge room at the airport for interviewing the Hollywood stars led by HUMPHREY BOGART and his wife, LAUREN BACALL, when they stopped at the Philadelphia Airport on October 29, 1947. The above TWA officials also requested police protection for the Hollywood stars. BOGART and his party, consisting of approximately twenty-five people, arrived at the Philadelphia Municipal Airport at 10:15 AM on October 29, 1947 aboard the TWA Constellation Plane bearing the number NC 90818. BOGART and the various members of his party were interviewed by an announcer of WIP and the entire interviews were transcribed. There was no sign of disorder during these interviews and it was not believed many outsiders were permitted to hear them. The above mentioned plane departed Philadelphia at 10:52 AM with BOGART and his party for New York City and then intended to proceed to Hollywood. (U)

HE WILL READ THE AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY AS WELL AS THE BILL OF RIGHTS TO THE GROUP. THEN HE WILL ASK THE PEOPLE WHICH DOCUMENT THEY PREFER. HE WILL ALSO SAY THAT IF THERE ARE ANY COMMUNISTS PRESENT THEY SHOULD STAND AND RESIGN IMMEDIATELY BECAUSE THE STUDIO INTENDS TO DISCHARGE THEM AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. THE SAME PERFORMANCE WILL BE REPEATED THE NEXT DAY ON THE FOX LOT BY DARYL ZANUCK. [redacted] SAID THAT IT IS ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY THAT THIS BE KEPT CONFIDENTIAL BECAUSE MAYER HOPES THAT LESTER COLE AND DALTON TRUMBO WILL NOT LEARN OF THIS AND BE IN THE AUDIENCE. IT IS KNOWN THAT CARDINAL SPELLMAN IS IN LOS ANGELES TODAY. IN A CONVERSATION WITH JAMES MCGUINNESS, EXECUTIVE OF MGM, HE STATED THAT MAYER IS HAVING HIM AND SPELLMAN OVER TO DINNER TONIGHT. LATTER HAS BEEN A CLOSE FRIEND OF MAYER FOR YEARS.

At the hearings of the Un-American Activities Committee this afternoon Albert Maltz and Alvah Bessie, writers, were held in contempt as a result of their failure to answer the questions, Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party; and, Are you a member of the Screen Writers Guild?

Both of these individuals, according to the information contained in our files, obtained through a highly confidential source, have been identified as Communists.

As a result of the press quoting Robert Kenney as stating that he had advised his clients not to answer questions of the type indicated above, he was called to the stand by the Un-American Activities Committee. On this occasion Kenney claimed that the press misquoted him and then claimed counsel to client privileges with regard to the other questions propounded to him.

This information was furnished by Special Agent William Ryan of the Washington Field Office.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Numerous individuals in Hollywood, California, banded together in early October 1947 to plot a line of attack upon the House Un-American Activities Committee in order to defend those people subpoenaed to testify on their Communist affiliation. A testimonial rally was held on October 15, 1947, at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles, California, in honor of the nineteen subpoenaed who were leaving on the following day for Washington, D. C., to testify. The rally was sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America. Several read prepared papers which bitterly assailed the motives of the House Committee and conveyed the general theme that the current Congressional Committee inquiry is an attack upon the motion picture industry and an attempt to control and censor motion pictures. A total of $6,100 was realized from a collection taken at this rally which was to be used for publicity on behalf of the "nineteen witnesses" and against the House Committee. A reception was arranged in Chicago on October 17, 1947, for the witnesses while enroute to Washington, D. C. It was anticipated that approximately five hundred to seven hundred people would attend this reception. On the evening of October 20, 1947, a "publicity rally" was held at the National Press Club Auditorium, Washington, D. C., sponsored by the National Lawyers' Guild and the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. Several of the "nineteen witnesses" read prepared papers which were defiant in their remarks toward the Committee and stated that it was their intention to "break up" the Thomas Committee so that there would be no censorship of thought in connection with the production of motion pictures

REFERENCE: Bureau File 100-138754.
Bureau letter dated October 14, 1947.

DETAILS: At Washington, D. C.

The Los Angeles Division by letter dated October 7, 1947, to the Bureau reported that WALDO SALT and GEORGE PEPPER had instigated a movement along with others to complete arrangements for a meeting to be held at the home of EDWARD G. ROBINSON on October 2, 1947. This office also reported that other meetings were in the process of being planned and among these meetings indicated was to be a mass meeting staged in Washington, D. C., either the day before the hearings commenced or possibly the night before the individuals subpoenaed from the Hollywood motion picture industry are to appear to testify. It was also reported by the Los Angeles Division that PEPPER, who is Executive Secretary of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions Council of the Progressive Citizens of America, indicated to JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, a prominent writer for the industry, that he, PEPPER, was conferring with New York by telephone on the matter of this mass meeting. JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, while talking to PEPPER, mentioned that HERBERT BIBERMAN and BEN MARGOLIS were quite insistent upon having the meeting prior to the commencement of the hearings and felt it would lessen its effect to have it after the hearings started. LAWSON stated that since they felt so keenly about it, they had agreed to their proposed date of October 19th; however, he LAWSON could not see why it would not be just as effective to have the demonstration the night before he and the others were scheduled to testify. PEPPER indicated that it might not be possible to arrange it by the 19th anyway so the later date, which would probably be the 21st, might actually be the one set. LAWSON commented that the speakers to be used should be people involved in the case. It should be pointed out here that BEN MARGOLIS is an attorney in Los Angeles whose Communist Party membership has been established by Los Angeles Confidential Informant [redacted] Also, BEN MARGOLIS is representing HANS EISLER, brother of GERHARD EISLER, who has been indicted by the Immigration and Naturalization Service and is scheduled to appear in Washington for a hearing as to whether or not he should be deported. GEORGE PEPPER indicated to LAWSON that it was contemplated that the following individuals would speak at the scheduled meeting: CHARLES CHAPLIN, RING LARDNER, JR., PAUL HENREID, BARTLEY CRUM. BARTLEY CRUM is an attorney from San Francisco who has represented LOUISE ROSENBERG BRANSTEN. PEPPER indicated CRUM's topic would be "Literature" and that RING LARDNER's topic would be "Mass Media of Communication and Why Reaction Attacks The Artists". PEPPER and LAWSON discussed the best places for holding this meeting in Washington and PEPPER remarked that a theater was available but that it was more probable it would be held at the Press Club. LAWSON and PEPPER mentioned that similar demonstrations contemplated by San Francisco and Chicago had not yet materialized. (U)

Information received by this office through Confidential Informant [redacted] regarding the proposed hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities in the motion picture industry reflected that on October 15, 1947, MARTIN POPPER, Vice-President of the National Lawyers' Guild, was contacted by ROBERT W. KENNY, Director of the National Lawyers' Guild, who furnished POPPER with a press release which is entitled, "An Open Letter to the Motion Picture Industry on the Issue of Freedom of the Screen From Political Intimidation and Censorship." Following the conversation mentioned above wherein KENNY furnished the press release, there was a long conversation between BARTLEY CRUM, BEN MARGOLIS, AND MARTIN POPPER. Inasmuch as it is considered that this conversation is of pertinent value to this investigation, it is being set out hereinafter as received from Confidential Informant [redacted] (U) b7D b7D

The press release as furnished by ROBERT W. KENNY is as follows:

In 1941 WENDELL WILKIE, as council for the motion picture industry, submitted a letter to the WHEELER-NYE Committee investigating "war propaganda disseminated by the motion picture industry." WILKIE said: "The motion picture screen is an instrument of entertainment, education and information -- the impression has now arisen, and very naturally, that one of the hoped for results of the pressure of your investigation will be to influence the industry to alter its policies, so that they may accord more directly with the views of such of its critics as Senator NYE. The industry is prepared to resist such pressure with all of the strength at its command."

And Mr. WILKIE wrote further:

"I cannot let pass this opportunity to warn of the very genuine danger involved in the type of investigation which you are now proposing to start. The radio business is already included in the original resolution. From the motion picture and radio industries, it is just a small step to the newspapers, magazines, and other periodicals And from the freedom of the press it is just a small step to the freedom of the individual to say what he believes."

We honor Mr. WILKIE for the clarity and cogency of his statement. The WHEELER-NYE investigation was not successful. For six years the screen remained free of further harrassment. But now there is a new investigation of the film industry, this time by the THOMAS-RANKIN Committee on un-American Activities. What will the result be? Will the screen remain free--or, at least, as free as it is at present? To our minds the issue is in grave doubt.

We remind our colleagues in the film industry that the screen already suffers partial censorship. This censorship is the direct result of an earlier witch-hunt also allegedly directed at radicals and the "red menace." In the years 1917 to 1922, in an atmosphere of manipulated hysteria, laws were passed against criminal syndicalism, loyalty oaths were exacted, elected legislators were illegally removed from office because they were Socialists, thousands of Americans were illegally arrested. And during this period, film censorship laws were passed to keep the screen free of "subversive influences."

Today the names of PALMER and LUSK are forgotten. The nation protested their witch-hunt activities, the American people repudiated them. The hysteria passed, and the arrested ones were set free--but the film censorship laws passed during that period were never repealed.

PALMER and LUSK tried it and succeeded.

WHEELER and NYE tried it, but they faced such united fighting opposition that they failed.

RANKIN and THOMAS are trying it today. If there is any doubt about this, let me quote RANKIN directly. From the Congressional Record, July 9, 1945, "but I want to say to the gentlemen from California that these appeals are coming to us from the best people in California, some of the best producers in California are very much disturbed because they are having to take responsibility for some of the loathesome, filthy, insinuating, un-American undercurrents that are running through various pictures sent throughout the country to be shown to the children of this nation."

Which films, we ask? MARGIE, PRIDE OF THE MARINES, THE BEST YEARS OF OUR LIVES?

Let us be clear. The issue is not the historically phony one of subversion of the screen by communists--but whether the screens will remain free. The issue is not the "radicalism" of nineteen writers, directors, actors who are to be singled out, if possible, as the fall guys. They don't count. No one of them has ever been in control of the films produced in Hollywood. The goal is control of the industry through intimidation of the executive heads of the industry--and through further legislation. The goal is a lifeless and reactionary screen that will be artistically, culturally, and financially bankrupt.

In 1941, before the WHEELER-NYE Committee, HARRY WARNER said: "I have no apology to make to the Committee for the fact that for twenty years Warner Brothers has been attempting to record history in the making. We discovered early in our career that our patrons wanted to see accurate stories of the world in which they lived." In 1941 WILKIE said: "The industry is prepared to resist such pressure with all of the strength at its command."

What will the industry say in October, 1947, to RANKIN and THOMAS? Who will decide what stories are to be bought, what artists hired, what films released? Who will hold the veto? Who will be in control?

Who?

(Signatures:) ALVAH BESSIE, HERBERT BEIDERMAN, LESTER COLE, RICHARD COLLINS, EDWARD DMYTRYK, GORDON KAHN, HOWARD KOCH, RING LARDNER, JR., JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, ALBERT MALTZ, LOUIS MILESTONE, SAMUEL ORNITZ, IRVING PICHEL, LARRY PARKS, ROBERT ROSSEN, ADRIAN SCOTT, WALDO SALT, GOLVIN TRUMBO (last name phonetic).

After the above press release was dictated by ROBERT W. KENNY to KATHERINE POPPER, wife of MARTIN POPPER, BARTLEY C. CRUM and MARTIN POPPER had the following conversation:

BART: Hello.
MARTY: Who is this?
B: BART.
M: Hy-a kid.
B: Say MARTY, just wondering if KATIE has the whole damn thing and wanted to read it back or not. Did she get the names of the signers?
M: Well, she's not on, I'll take it. Hold it. — Go ahead, roll them off.
B: Did she get the names?
M: No she didn't, they weren't given to her.
B: ALVAH BESSIE, HERBERT BEIDERMAN, BERTEL WREN (ph), take his name off.
M: Take BERTEL's name off?
B: LESTER COLE, RICHARD COLLINS, EDWARD DMYTRYK, GORDON KAHN, HOWARD KOCH, RING LARDNER, JR., JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, ALBERT MALTZ, LOUIS MILESTONE, SAMUEL ORNITZ, IRVING PICHEL, LARRY PARKS, ROBERT ROSSEN, ADRIAN SCOTT, WALDO SALT, GOLVIN TRUMBO. Now the head of this is, "An Open Letter to the Motion Picture Industry on the Issue of Freedom of the Screen from Political Intimidation and Censorship". Now MARTY, do you know what kind of work (JIM) PROCTOR (ph) is doing?

M: I spoke to him in Chicago, yesterday (by phone). He is taking up with his employer the possibility of working straight thru on this and will call me tomorrow.

B: Well that isn't time enough, MARTY.

M: You want this released, is that the point?

B: Absolutely.

M: I'll take of this.

B: Now listen, MARTY, number one, you ought to get hold of LARRY RESNOR (PH) at the New York (Post?).

M: I already spoke to him yesterday.

B: OK, but I mean on this one. Here's the way we would like to handle it, if possible. Not only a news release for tomorrow, but you can change the head and said to the editor of the New York Times and have a Sunday letter of the whole thing. Now I think you can do that with JAMES. Now, number two, get hold of JOE BARNES (ph) of the New York Herald Trib(Tribune) just tell him I would like this to really get the splash and I think he will do it. Now, number three, will you call up PAUL TIERNEY (ph) of the New York Post, give him the whole thing. Now it ought to be done individually, MARTY to get the coverage. Then it ought to be taken to the Associated Press Offices in the Rockefeller Center and hand it to the AP guys there and it ought to be given to the UP people.

M: Now do I understand you that you want this released in New York?

B: We do want it released in New York, yes, for A.M. release tomorrow morning.

M: Now its too late for that BART, if you want to get the full value of it.

B: Well, let's see, it's four now.

M: It's 4:30 here, by the time you get this up, I mean in duplicate copies and so forth and get it up to —

B: All right, do it for Friday (10-17-47) if you can.

M: That's better, that's better.

B: Do it for Friday AM. Now here is the problem, no just mailing the crap.

MARTY: No, we'd never do that anyway.

BART: Now there is a fellow who will help you —

M: I'll get JIM PROCTOR to do this tomorrow, whether he is on the whole thing or not. He's up in New York, now, see.

B: All right. Now if you need any help today, call up BILLIE FRIEDBERG, F-R-I-E-D-B-E-R-G at Circule 6-6070 and tell him that it comes from Mr. BLOUIETT (ph), who is handling the public relations business out here in Hollywood.

M: What is his name?

B: BLOUIETT, BILL BLOUIETT (ph), is that clear?

M: Right.

B: Now, it ought to be gotten to BERT ELLISON (ph) at the Washington Post. How if you are talking to PROCTOR today, he ought to drop in and see MARSHALL FIELDS (ph) and tell him that it comes from me and there ought to be an editorial in the Chicago Sun. He also ought to see KNIGHT (ph) of the News, it ought to go in there. He ought to call the St. Louis Post Dispatch and tell them that is coming and he thinks it deserves editorial attention. No on the Washington Post angle, I think its awfully important that they take an editorial position and I think the Herald Trib oughta, too.

M: I spoke to FRANK KELLY about it yesterday and I'll call him again.
B: Now I hate to give you all these chores —
M: That's all right, fellow.
B: It's very important that we get the jump, MARTY, on a lot of these guys that are not so hot.
M: It will be done.
B: Wait a second. BOB KENNY suggested both the Washington Post and the Herald Tribune, use it as a letter to the editor. Now on the Herald Tribune MARTY, as you probably know, PAUL PORTER's firm represents its staff.
M: You mean the Times Herald?
B: The Tribune in Washington.
M: Times Herald.
B: Times Herald, and he won't be too bad on this issue, MARTY. You know PAUL (PORTER) pretty well, don't you?
M: Yep.
B: Well, I think we are going to do a lot of work with a lot of people, maybe we don't like to. Now MARTY, BEN (MARGOLIS) wants to talk to you about the motion to (garbled).
M: Now look, BART, what we'd rather do is to get a helluva good news story on it, - if we do that, they probably will not carry it in a letter to the editor.
B: Get your news story out first, MARTY, and then and then explain it to LARRY and LARRY will get it over to JAMES, and also to JOE BARNES that the newspapers and _____ (garbled) are next on the list and I know JOE will go right to hell and _____ (garbled) and we want to line up those papers particularly. All ready talked to the Post and the Herald Trib people and I know the Post will go all the hell out, but it has to be handed to them MARTY, it has to be a physical, a manual G-- D-- thing. It can't be trusted to the Postal Authorities. All right BEN wants to talk to you about the motion to _____ (garbled).
BEN MARGOLIS: First of all, MARTY, on that debate that we talked about, they decided here, that we'll participate with BART CRUM and instead of the agent SCOTT, whom I talked to you about, EDWARD DMYTRYK, who is the director of "Cross Fire" and who is himself a Catholic.
MARTY POPPER: I got it.
MARGOLIS: Now on the motion to CLARK, we think that it is absolutely necessary that that be ready for presentation Monday morning.
POPPER: Well it is - it's on that way for that purpose.
M: It is on its way for that purpose?
P: I think that you get here early enough Saturday so we can go over the draft.
M: I see. All right, now what will we have on Monday, do we have set-ups to mimeograph it and so forth?
P: Yah, everything is being set up.
M: Will you see to it that we get up a letter or a notice of some sort to the committee that we are going to make this motion —

P: Yah, that's going to be sent for Monday's press.
M: Monday's Press? No, let's make that for Sunday's press because -- P: That's all right.
M: All right?
P: It will tend to get killed in Sunday's paper, but that's O'Kay. Well listen, are you bringing a press guy with you?
M: No we are not.
P: You're not bringing him here at all, all right.
M: No, we are relying on you to get somebody else. --
P: I'm trying to get JIM PROCTOR.
M: And you are authorized to get someone else. Now look, on this thing, the discussion has been along these lines, so you can keep it mind when you are drafting the motion, that in effect we want to be able to say, we have gone in from the beginning to fight these things and the producers are running; that we are the ones who are making the fight and the producers are surrendering and running and its gotta to more than just simple a legal document.
P: Yah, I understand.
M: All right then, MARTY, we'll get in as early Saturday as we can.
P: Okay, kid. Let me know when you are arriving.
M: By the way, did you get us reservations?
P: Yah, at the Shoreham.
M: Shoreham, it's definitely the Shoreham.
P: Yep, mostly double, BEN, can't get singles.

There is set forth hereinafter a summary of conversations containing plans and suggestions to obstruct and embarrass the House Committee on un-American Activities in its hearings pertaining to Communist action in Hollywood. (X) U

The identity of the persons involved (including individuals under current investigation) and the pattern of activities are believed to be of interest to the Bureau. A considerable portion of the material is concerning political matters involving HENRY WALLACE and CLAUDE PEPPER. Confidential sources and the page references (logs) are set forth. (X) U

As a matter of interest having possible bearing on later conversations, it is noted on the evening of September 16, 1947, a conference was held in the apartment residence of Senator CLAUDE PEPPER, 1661 Crescent Place, N. W., from approximately 8:30 p.m. until 3:07 a.m. In attendance were observed subject CHARLES KRAMER; MARTIN POPPER, vice-president, National Lawyers' Guild; HERBERT SCHIMMEL, presently with Congressman GEORGE BENDER's Subcommittee on per diem basis; and HERMAN EDELSBERG, now with Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. (X) U

INFT [redacted] (C) On September 25, 1947, LUKE WILSON, local representative, Pro- b7D
INFT (U) gressive citizens of America, and Communist Party sympathizer and "angel", contacted C. B. BALDWIN to present an idea for BALDWIN or some other organization in Washington. WILSON suggested a super duper mass meeting in Washington about the time of the Hollywood hearings which start October 20, 1947, with (CHARLES) CHAPLIN and other Hollywood celebrities especially invited to rally around. BALDWIN stated they were already working on this. WILSON inquired whether BALDWIN could get H. A. (HENRY WALLACE ?) but BALDWIN stated he would be in Palestine. BALDWIN asked if MARTY POPPER had discussed the matter with WILSON who answered in the negative. (C)(U)

BALDWIN stated he planned talking with CLAUDE PEPPER about the matter Sunday and that POPPER had already talked with PEPPER. BALDWIN said the affair should not be sponsored by PCA but PCA would probably do all the work. He wanted PEPPER to hold a hearing with HELEN DOUGLAS, GLEN H. TAYLOR, and someone else he can get and let them sit as an informal committee against the un-American Activities Committee. Such hearing would be held in one of the caucus rooms of the Senate or House office buildings. BALDWIN said PEPPER is interested but he BALDWIN had not talked with him personally. (C)(U)

WILSON inquired what BALDWIN thought of the mass meeting idea, and BALDWIN said it was wonderful suggesting it be held at the Watergate. However, WILSON said it was too late, and it would be better to hold it at Turner's Arena which accommodates six or seven thousand people. WILSON mentioned CHAPLIN and GENE KELLY or people like that could make a special appearance, and they could have a collossal thing with all the trimmings. BALDWIN agreed they could put on something like that if they get the thing rolling. BALDWIN further mentioned CLAUDE PEPPER is going to the West Coast for the United Jewish Appeal organization. He stated he attempted to call GEORGE (PEPPER?) and ascertain if Senator PEPPER could stay at EDDIE ROBINSON's and whether EDDIE would have a bunch of people in and get them steamed up about the affair. In that way they might be able to gather an entire group at an informal meeting or dinner party. They further agreed perhaps Congressman SABATH could be used in connection with the idea. WILSON raised the question whether BALDWIN's idea might conflict with Congressional courtesy. (C)(U)

INFT [redacted] (C) On the afternoon of September 26, 1947, MARTIN POPPER contacted b7D
INFT (U) BEANIE BALDWIN, New York City, asking whether BALDWIN had received any word on this appointment for the 29th. BALDWIN stated he had been unable to reach CLAUDE (PEPPER) until 9 p.m. last night, and CLAUDE is to wire whether BALDWIN should meet him in Stamford, Connecticut, at 4 p.m., Sunday afternoon, and drive him over to see WALLACE. BALDWIN told POPPER he had talked with their California committee, GEORGE PEPPER, and had asked him to talk with the Robin (?) about having a meeting (U)

at EDDIE ROBINSON's house and to see if they could get a dozen or fifteen or twenty of the most prominent people in the Hollywood group, particularly those who have been subpoenaed, and then put the heat on CLAUDE there to have this meeting. (X) U

BALDWIN indicated he would be in the office tomorrow and then go to Boston for three or four days on the WALLACE trip. BALDWIN inquired if POPPER knew BOB KENNEY is coming in and said he would take BOB up there. MARTIN inquired if KENNEY would make that whole tour, and BALDWIN said he would certainly make the first part of it. BALDWIN said he would be in Boston Tuesday and Wednesday, in Pittsfield Thursday, and then thought he would leave them and spend Friday in his office. BALDWIN mentioned BOB (KENNEY) had canceled out all the loafing (phonetic) in Minneapolis and decided to go to a PCA meeting in Portland instead. (X) U

POPPER indicated because of this appointment he hoped to have with CLAUDE PEPPER, he would have to be in Washington Monday. However, from what BALDWIN said, that is out. BALDWIN said they should know by noon tomorrow (Friday) whether PEPPER would stop off to see WALLACE as he BALDWIN was to meet him in Stamford and drive over there, and then BALDWIN said he would get in touch with POPPER. BALDWIN added he thought it extremely important that he and POPPER sit down with KENNEY on this political thing and believed it extremely important that POPPER and BALDWIN get together even before talking with KENNEY. (X) U

BALDWIN suggested POPPER arrive MONDAY and have dinner with him. BALDWIN said KENNEY is very confused about this whole independent candidacy thing, and POPPER commented they would have to get the picture from him and determine what is happening out there. BALDWIN said BOB's tendency and the tendency of all these guys from California is they are inclined to view these things in terms of the situation in California and not nationally. (X) U

Martin POPPER said it would be a good idea if they could persuade Henry WALLACE and PEPPER to let BOB be a sort of informal campaign manager within the Democratic Party. POPPER said that is the sort of thing HAROLD (YOUNG?) was supposed to do but is not doing, and PEPPER believes KENNEY is the only Democrat around the country who could do that. BALDWIN said he thought that is all right as long as "We have a firm understanding with him about what has to follow," with which POPPER agreed. POPPER added he thought in that context KENNEY would understand that and go for it a whole lot better because he will see a practical effort made along the lines he believes are sound, and at the same time see the ultimate goal which is the result of at least the effort he wants to make, and WALLACE publicly indicates he is going to make. (X) U

tion with strength, the more likely they are to get guys like KENNEY and CLAUDE PEPPER and others to see the ultimate solution. BALDWIN stated he had talked for forty minutes with PEPPER on the phone and it is obvious he regrets the thing. POPPER stated he had stayed with PEPPER until 3 o'clock in the morning last week, and PEPPER tried in forty different ways to tell POPPER how unhappy he is. POPPER guessed the idea now is to get PEPPER and WALLACE together publicly in some form. (X) U

BALDWIN mentioned he had arranged this meeting yesterday and today went over to see WALLACE, that CLAUDE is all for it and it is just a matter of when he can get down here. POPPER inquired how GEORGE PEPPER reacted to the idea and BALDWIN stated terrific. POPPER said the hearing should take three or four days and should involve three or four people beside CLAUDE. BALDWIN said they should try and get HELEN DOUGLAS and GLEN TAYLOR and POPPER suggested SABATH. (X) U

[redacted] (X) (U) On September 26, 1947, CHARLES KRAMER conversed with WAHL who stated the only thing he had on his mind was he had been planning to tell KRAMER that he had spoken with Mr. WALLACE on the phone a couple of weeks ago and later had about an hour's talk with HAROLD YOUNG up at PCA. During the course of this YOUNG told WAHL that HENRY (WALLACE) is going to Palestine during October which has not yet been announced, and he wanted WAHL to make some introductions for him, etc. WAHL said he asked who would go with HENRY, and HAROLD said maybe MIKE STRAIGHT. WAHL said he told YOUNG he did not believe that was the right combination for that kind of trip adding WALLACE is going straight out there, spend eight days, and come right back. WAHL said he was wondering whether KRAMER could go instead of STRAIGHT, and KRAMER said, "Oh boy, I'd love it." WAHL asked if KRAMER was not having rather intimate relations with those people. WAHL stated he was supposed to call YOUNG back last week but had been putting it off until he could discuss it with KRAMER. They agreed to get together in WAHL's office that afternoon. (X) (U) b7D

[redacted] (X) U Subsequent to the above two conversations, BEN MARGOLIS, Los Angeles, contacted POPPER concerning a legal case. POPPER inquired of MARGOLIS concerning who is handling the people subpoenaed by the House un-American Activities Committee, and BEN said he is handling it locally and present plans are not to have anyone come east. POPPER said he would look forward to their arranging counsel in the east through him. BEN requested POPPER to dictate a brief of any ideas he has adding they should not discuss it at that time. POPPER informed MARGOLIS GEORGE PEPPER has been told about one of his ideas, and BEN can talk to him right away and should request PEPPER to tell him about the discussion BEANIE (BALDWIN) had with him. [redacted] (X) U

On the morning of September 29, 1947, BEANIE BALDWIN, New York City, contacted POPPER stating their plans were greatly upset, that BOB (KENNEY) could not get to New York and is flying to Boston. BALDWIN continued he is flying to Boston and requested POPPER to fly there also. POPPER inquired if BALDWIN thought it worthwhile for him to do this, and BALDWIN stated he did. BALDWIN said the present plan is for KENNEY and BALDWIN to leave WALLACE and this group Thursday at midnight, arrive in New York Friday, and go on to Philadelphia Friday afternoon. POPPER asked what BALDWIN had in mind which would make it useful for POPPER to go to Boston, and BALDWIN replied to be sure they have no conflict on this independent ticket business. (X) U b7D

BALDWIN continued that he (BOB) would be with WALLACE for the next three days. POPPER inquired whether BOB would talk at any of the meetings, and BALDWIN said we have put him on at this big meeting in Boston tomorrow night. (X) U

BALDWIN said on this thing with CLAUDE (PEPPER) we met CLAUDE yesterday at 5 o'clock and we had dinner with H. A. (WALLACE), with him for five hours, and he put him on the train at 1 o'clock this morning. He declared the guy is unresponsive on this un-American campaign thing and right now his mind is on this book and the general political situation but they are not giving up. BALDWIN suggested POPPER should try and see him today as he would be in his office all day, and POPPER stated he had this in mind which was one of the reasons he did not wish to come to Boston. BALDWIN stated he did not think there was much POPPER could do with CLAUDE and it might be just as well if he handled it by phone. (X) U

BALDWIN stated he was shifting this thing to Hollywood because ——— (garbled) is excited about it. BALDWIN stated he had not mentioned the project to H. A. at all. POPPER then stated he thought BALDWIN was right in shifting it to Hollywood and thought BALDWIN should let GEORGE PEPPER know that he (CLAUDE PEPPER) is willing to meet him for dinner. BALDWIN said he had to get in touch with CLAUDE tonight and CLAUDE wants to talk with KENNEY which is very important. BALDWIN said he thought CLAUDE is pretty well straightened out on what he would do in California and POPPER remarked he hoped CLAUDE does not get himself in the middle between KENNEY and JIMMY ROOSEVELT (X) U

[redacted] (X) U

Following conversation with BALDWIN, MARTIN POPPER contacted BENJAMIN DREYFUS, [redacted] thanking DREYFUS for sending him that thing (letter concerning political matters) and stating that the second thing he asked DREYFUS, namely, what to do about our friend, had not been done. DREYFUS said he did not know what the solution is. POPPER related BEANIE BALDWIN had called urging him to go to Boston, and that he is willing to go but does not know what to do about ironing out the differences between JIMMY ROOSEVELT and BOB KENNEY. POPPER said BALDWIN thinks BOB needs straightening out and POPPER wants DREYFUS' advice. (X) U b6 b7C b7D

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

DREYFUS said he thought it would be useful for POPPER to go. DREYFUS mentioned that he had attended a Democrats for Wallace meeting on the peninsula and he (KENNEY ?) had spoken but never mentioned the third party anywhere and POPPER commented he understood KENNEY's position is that it is unmentionable as far as he is concerned. DREYFUS said he counted it a lucky break that nobody asked him any questions (on the subject). POPPER said BALDWIN seems of the opinion KENNEY has to be sold on the fact he should cooperate with the third party movement. DREYFUS stated he thought KENNEY's attitude is still that he thinks it is a dead duck and is not going to work. He thinks it is a failure before it starts. POPPER accused DREYFUS of becoming a lousy politician and said he could not tell from the letter whether DREYFUS thought it would work either. DREYFUS stated, "I'll be damned if I'm going to put anything in writing like that, POPPER." (X)U

POPPER then inquired what he was supposed to say (to KENNEY) and asked what does DREYFUS say to him as he wants to say the same thing. DREYFUS stated the main thing he said to him is that we are very serious about this Democrats for Wallace and we are not going to leave it out on a limb and let it die in favor of this more attractive possibility, that there is a genuine worthwhile objective to seek the Democratic nomination and we think we can help him get it. POPPER then stated it gets down to this to say the Democrats for Wallace Movement cannot be harmed by having a friendly relationship with these people and in fact it can be helpful. (X)U

DREYFUS said right after the third party thing was launched he (KENNEY) wanted to put the Democrats for Wallace on ice and not do anything about it which DREYFUS thinks is not a good idea. POPPER said he wanted to make sure it is all right to tell KENNEY it is very imperative and they were going to give him all the support in the world and have him go ahead on the Democrats for Wallace. POPPER inquired if the Democratic Party was still fighting and if DREYFUS saw any immediate prospect of KENNEY and JIMMY ROOSEVELT getting together. DREYFUS related the statements of ROOSEVELT on Meet the Press radio program in which he stated he would prefer TRUMAN to WALLACE in the White House. DREYFUS stated however there was the possibility of their working together on issues and matters such as Congressional candidates. (X)U

[redacted] (X)U On the same afternoon, September 29, 1947, POPPER contacted BEN MARGOLIS, [redacted] talking with one JOHN ----. JOHN mentioned they represent a number of people in Hollywood who have been subpoenaed to appear before the un-American Committee and they would like a place where these people could stay in Washington outside of a hotel. JOHN mentioned there would be twelve or fifteen and suggested renting a house. POPPER said this could be done although it would be rather difficult. (X)U

JOHN inquired whether POPPER knew what their objective is and stated he would not discuss his legal theory on this because POPPER knows what it is. JOHN requested POPPER to give some thought to whether the Guild could arrange the thing and POPPER asked him to call GEORGE PEPPER and discuss the thought which POPPER advanced and has been generally approved as a method for taking the offensive. He explained this involved a Senator who is going to be out there tomorrow and the day after who is supposed to get together with a group of people. POPPER said GEORGE (PEPPER) is supposed to be helping to arrange it. The plan was a simultaneous hearing by a group of senators and representatives in the Capitol where these people could really say what they wanted to say. JOHN said he thought this was discussed last night and did not hit because they felt this type of hearing can't attract much interest. PEPPER explained he is talking about a hearing at the Capitol by a group of Congressmen and Senators including the senator who is going out there and also MARGOLIS' Congresswoman which could be a terrific forum. (X) U

CONF. INF [redacted] (X) U Subsequently on the same afternoon, September 29, 1947, Senator CLAUDE PEPPER contacted MARTIN POPPER mentioning he had a very pleasant week with CHARLES (possibly CHARLES MARSH, publisher) and then had gone up to see ANGUS (CAMERON of Little Brown Company) who was pleased with the book idea and thought they had the right thing to tie up domestic and foreign policy. He quoted ANGUS as saying, "I believe you have got the right slant on it now," so that PEPPER should go ahead with it and ANGUS is working on it there with the company. POPPER remarked he saw CHARLIE (KRAMER) and HERBERT (SCHIMMEL) in New York yesterday and he had a talk with Mr. WALLACE. PEPPER continued about his book stating anything in the form of ideas which would fit in POPPER should put down adding they were just following the general thesis that war is impossible as it costs too much and is too deadly and destructive, and that we must find peace; further that the ideal course is to aid and side with the democratic forces throughout the world in building peace and democracy. (X) U

The way to do this is to realize that foreign policy is the reflection of the domestic policy and to put in power those people and philosophies of democracy, and this is the best way to start untangling this complicated web. POPPER agreed and said he would do all he can. POPPER said MARTIN has helped a great deal and suggested he dictate a note or memo which would fit in adding "Let us enrich as much as we can." POPPER inquired whether CLAUDE had gotten the information he had given the boys about the discussions POPPER had with ----- ----- ----- and PEPPER stated he had but there were no developments, and if it turns out they are very anxious for PEPPER to be in Florida on October 6 to deal with the flood situation. (X) U

POPPER asked if PEPPER had decided to call GREEN directly, and PEPPER said he thought he would not. Apparently this conversation concerns (X) U efforts to have PEPPER speak before the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor on the West Coast. POPPER stated the impression he had gotten in talking to SATCHER (phonetic) is that it would not be a bad idea for PEPPER to call GREEN and indicate he was going to be in California and felt as he did about the possibility of speaking on the Taft-Hartley Bill. POPPER indicated STACHER and FENTON had spoken to GREEN and on the basis of their discussion he thought GREEN's reaction might be good, if PEPPER approached him. (X)U

PEPPER again urged that he had to be in Florida for the flood meeting on October 6, and POPPER suggested PEPPER arrive in San Francisco on October 4 or 5 when all the leaders would be there and sort of get together in some sort of press conference where the press would see him with them and demand some kind of statement on the Taft-Hartley Bill. POPPER added "Just so long as everybody saw you together with them the day before the convention, that you talked with them about the coming session of Congress in relation to the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Bill. That would be just as great an effect on the country." PEPPER agreed with this. (X)U

[redacted] (X) On the afternoon of October 3, 1947, CHARLES KRAMER contacted WAHL who related he had talked with CLAUDE (PEPPER) last week about CLAUDE's getting together with a number of others and holding a kind of informal hearing at the same time this (un-American Activities Committee hearings) was being held at which these guys could come forward and really put on a good show. WAHL mentioned CLAUDE is out there at present in Los Angeles and is going up to San Francisco, and that if BART (CRUM) is going to take this over or decides to do so BART should have a talk with him about combining their efforts to really do a job, and there is a terrific opportunity. (X)U b7D

WAHL stated as a matter of fact CLAUDE last week talked with him (?) in New York and CLAUDE was going out there to have a talk with some of the people in the industry about putting on a real fight. WAHL stated with BART as the front man they could really outdo HOWARD HUGHES all over. CHARLIE said the best way to get to CLAUDE in Los Angeles is through EDDIE ROBINSON and through a guy by the name of JAMES SHEPPARD who is a big lawyer in Los Angeles. KRAMER thought it terribly important to get BART in on the thing and WAHL said BART is disposed. WAHL mentioned he had been contacted by BART while WAHL was in New York and checked with a couple friends and both decided BART should get in with both feet. (X)U

WAHL mentioned the job required a lot of cooperation and he had asked HERMAN (EDELSBERG) to do something but HERMAN does not seem to be following through. CHARLIE said he gave HERMAN a number of suggestions the principal one to see BUCK who has a considerable file but more important the personality of a good guy like that could do more with less material (X)U

than ———. It is believed EDELSBERG is presently employed by Anti-Defamation League. KRAMER remarked he knew a lot of writers and his own feeling is this is closely related to WAHL's work and he is very much impressed with the Jewish angle here. KRAMER said he knew GOLDWYN's feeling about this whole business; that a lot of the big time, particularly Republican producers, are driving a wedge between the producers and the workers in the industry, but a guy like CRUM can do the job of presenting a united front for all of them. He said the Jewish angle is terribly important for GOLDWYN, for WALTER WANGER, Warner Brothers, and so on. WAHL agreed CRUM has a terrific press appeal and anything he had to say would be lapped up. KRAMER said he wished DAVE would call CRUM and have him grab hold of PEPPER and have a long talk with him and it might be a good idea to bring BARNEY DREYFUS into the talk. (X)U

CONF. INFT. [redacted] U On the same afternoon, October 3, 1947, BARTLEY CRUM, San Francisco, contacted WAHL who asked if BART is going through with that thing in Washington, and CRUM stated he assumed so but has not definitely made up his mind. DAVE said there is a good body of organizations ready to work with BART here, and that WAHL heard PEPPER is in Los Angeles. CRUM stated he saw PEPPER yesterday and CLAUDE thinks they should make an affirmative fight but CRUM does not think the industry is prepared to make such a fight. CRUM does not know about GOLDWYN. (X)U b7D

WAHL said a couple of his boys spoke with him about this thing the other night and felt he was interested in returning to Washington while this was going on on the House side and set up an informal committee of liberal senators and congressmen and hold some informal hearings for these people where they could really speak openly and correctly and have that as a sort of press conference forum for the real facts and real answers to this committee. CRUM thinks that's the way it should be done. CRUM said PEPPER was leaving Los Angeles today but added he would help in any way he can and that is already arranged for. (X)U

WAHL urged that people around here feel CRUM is the guy to handle it and CRUM stated there is a basic weakenss, not on his part, in the position which he could not go into at this time but said WAHL could guess. CRUM stated therefore he was very eager to find out from WEISMAN (phonetic) if he was going ahead--if they wanted to go ahead with the pictures deal because then they might make representations to the committee to get these two fellows on their way to Germany lining up shots. BART said the first thing to find out is whether WEISMAN and WILT are going ahead with the financing of it, certainly the film will be needed. Further conversation concerned the majority UN report on Palestine and whether the government would support this report. (X)U

[redacted] (C)(U) On the morning of October 4, 1947, BOB SILBERSTEIN, secretary, National Lawyers Guild, contacted attorney DAVE REIN who was co-counsel for GERHART EISLER, stating they are thinking seriously of organizing a meeting under the auspices of the Guild's National Committee on Civil Rights at which they will discuss the activities of the Congressional Committee from the standpoint of procedure and violation of basic policies with an address by CHARLES HUSTON (local colored attorney) on the significance of the Committee's attitude toward minority groups. This would be followed by a spokesman of the subpoenaed movie people, the idea being that CHARLES CHAPLIN, RING LARDNER and one other person would speak at a tentative date, October 17, with ROGGE presiding. SILBERSTEIN said his problem is to get a committee to carry on the necessary work and they would have to obtain a professional publicity man. He said his wife had volunteered to give her entire time to the project to contact various organizations. (C)(U) b7D

REIN stated he thought PCA was going to have a meeting in this regard and SILBERSTEIN advised PCA was considering such a meeting but the people in California had indicated preference for a non-political forum and PCA now understands the Guild is considering the meeting and though reluctant will give up its plans. They are reluctant because they have already scheduled a two-day conference on October 25 and 26 in New York which he described as a thought control conference. REIN inquired about the size of the meeting contemplated, and SILBERSTEIN stated MARTIN POPPER had said unless CHAPLIN and some other key people would speak they would not undertake the project, and if they did they expected a thousand or more people. REIN suggested they have someone sing, and when SILBERSTEIN stated there was no one in the group in that category, REIN suggested they obtain someone. (C)(U)

REIN stated he had discussed this project briefly with LUKE WILSON and understood from WILSON the Congressional Committee had deliberately avoided issuing a subpoena for anyone with a real reputation other than CHAPLIN for fear of such persons' getting favorable public reaction although they were just as subversive as some of the other people subpoenaed. REIN suggested to counter this they get KATERINE HEPBURN and GENE KELLY on the ground it is as much a threat to them as the others. (C)(U)

[redacted] (C)(U) On the night of October 4, 1947, HERB SCHIMMEL talked with CHARLES KRAMER referring to a small news item reflecting a statement by PEPPER on the west coast. SCHIMMEL stated it was an interesting statement in which PEPPER lashed out against this whole loyalty business and was very similar to the one he had made to KRAMER and SCHIMMEL that day discussing the same subject. SCHIMMEL quoted PEPPER as saying if he were asked about his loyalty he would say, "I am an American citizen and I have certain opinions and I have committed no crimes." KRAMER commented PEPPER must have had a session with those guys out there. SCHIMMEL (C)(U) b7D replied they were his own thoughts from way back. They agreed he must have had a meeting with the producers. KRAMER said ROBINSON must have gotten him around to WANGER. SCHIMMEL mentioned PEPPER had made a rather funny statement which came from the heart that he thinks we are going to have peace and he is not willing to be one of those who are joining the attack against Russia in order to get votes. KRAMER mentioned to SCHIMMEL he thought BOB KENNEY was going to be there too (Philadelphia--PCA meeting ?) and suggested discussing these terms with BOB KENNEY. KRAMER suggested if possible he should try and have KENNEY nail CLAUDE PEPPER out there and have a little session with him. (C)(U)

CONF. INFT [redacted] (C)(U) On the night of October 6, 1947, BOB KENNEY at MARTIN POPPER's contacted KRAMER and asked if CLAUDE (PEPPER) is coming back and what's the story. KRAMER indicated PEPPER is in Florida and may be back late tomorrow or the next morning. KENNEY stated he had a reservation to return to Washington on the 19th on that Thomas Committee thing. At least he was told he had an assignment back here. KENNEY stated he talked with HERB SCHIMMEL in Philadelphia with reference to their plans in Washington. KENNEY added it looked as if they would have quite a show. KRAMER said it was too bad KENNEY and PEPPER had missed each other and KENNEY stated they would be able to pick up the pieces when he returned here on the 19th. KRAMER inquired if KENNEY saw the newspaper account of CLAUDE's advice to the people out there. No. CHARLIE said they should make a very simple statement: (1) We are American citizens; (2) We have committed no crime; (3) Our opinions are our own. BOB thought the last could be established as a matter of law but the other two are matters of opinion at which both laughed. (C)(U) b7D

CONF. INFT [redacted] (C)(U) On the morning of October 6, 1947, DAVID REIN conferred with BOB SILBERSTEIN who stated he had the Press Club tied up tentatively which has a seating capacity of 700. REIN commented the Press Club would be small. REIN suggested that PAUL PORTER of Arnold Fortas and Porter should be invited to participate, adding PORTER is heavily involved in the State Department cases, and that people have said PORTER is outraged. SILBERSTEIN stated he had read about those cases which are very mysterious to him. REIN explained the people were fired from the State Department and have no reason why except for being disloyal. SILBERSTEIN corrected this stating the people were fired because they were considered poor risks. (C)(U) b7D

On the afternoon of October 6, 1947, BOB KENNEY advised MARTIN POPPER he was going to the Press Club to listen to the ball game and would return by 6 p.m. to the University Club and wanted POPPER and his wife to join him for dinner. (C)(U)

CONF. INFT [redacted] (C)(U) On the afternoon of October 6, 1947, MARTIN POPPER contacted BEN MARGOLIS, Los Angeles, stating he wanted to discuss the book problem about which MARGOLIS called BOB (KENNEY). POPPER mentioned speaking with BOB last week and said BOB wants to have a meeting (C)(U) b7D

here before the opening day. POPPER continued the only available place is the Press Club which will enable them to get a lot of publicity. POPPER further stated the meeting would be under the auspices of the National Civil Rights Committee (Lawyers Guild ?) with the emphasis on civil rights, and they will get BOB to preside and BART (CRUM) to be one of the speakers, and will also try and secure EARL HARRISON, Dean of the Pennsylvania Law School, and two guys out there (Los Angeles). POPPER stated the two they would need from out there are the actor and RING LARDNER, and POPPER will also contact DONALD OGDEN STEWART who is in New York. (X) U

They discussed the most opportune date and POPPER said it should be on October 20 or 21 because the 19th is on Sunday and would be bad from a publicity standpoint. POPPER said MARGOLIS' guy don't go on until the 23rd. (X) U

Thereafter POPPER was contacted by GEORGE PEPPER (Los Angeles ?) who stated in order to arrange transportation his people would have to know the date of the meeting in Washington. PEPPER informed him they had decided on the Press Club. He stated they had to have two guarantees. One was that they get LARRY PARKS and RING LARDNER, Jr. He continued they would have to have enough money to run the thing. POPPER stated the Guild could not put up the money and PEPPER said PCA in Southern California is broke and cannot put up the money. POPPER suggested PEPPER contact MARGOLIS about money and get it straightened out. PEPPER said as far as personalities are concerned they will have the whole nineteen here. POPPER said all cannot speak but they can advertise that LARRY PARKS will speak. They again discussed the date, and PEPPER said some of his people would like to have it on the 19th, the night before the opening of the general hearing, on October 20. (X) U

With reference to the meetings in New York involving WALLACE and PEPPER, confidential sources indicate HERBERT SCHIMMEL and CHARLES KRAMER drove to New York on the morning of September 28, 1947, and returned to Washington around 4 p.m., October 1, 1947. During this time KRAMER indicated on September 29, 1947, they accomplished as much as could be done and it was not too bad. He told his wife they had spent a very pleasant late afternoon and evening with the two gentlement and really in many respects it was quite wonderful but he did not know how much practical will come out of it. (X) U

On September 30, 1947, KRAMER indicated to his wife he would probably be at BEANIE BALDWIN's and stated they had a piece of work to do. (X) U

A review of the information received in this office from various confidential informants reveals that the information set out hereinafter and appropriately designated to the proper informant is of pertinent interest in connection with the Hollywood hearings of the House Un-American Activities Committee. (X) u

The most significant is a conversation at 5:10 P. M., October 16, 1947, between BARTLEY CRUM in San Francisco, California, and MAX LOWENTHAL, Advisor to the American Jewish Conference with offices in New York City, DAVID WAHL and CHARLES KRAMER in Washington, D. C. LOWENTHAL apparently is in Washington for the additional purpose of attending a conference or conferences with General CLAY and various Jewish organizations. This conversation is being summarized below: (X) u

CONF. INF. [redacted] u (X) MAX (LOWENTHAL) first contacted CRUM and began by stating he understood when CRUM arrived in Washington there is going to be so much going on they would wish to God they never heard of this committee, still less of CRUM. MAX inquired whether JOHN (DIERKES ?) had sent CRUM something, and BART said it had not arrived yet. CRUM indicated he was flying east tomorrow, would be in Chicago tomorrow morning, and in Washington Saturday arriving about noon. LOWENTHAL inquired specifically concerning CRUM's program upon arrival. (X) u b7D

CRUM explained they were not going to be recalcitrant, not going to be offensive, not going to be defiant. He said they would make a motion to squash the subpoenas immediately on the ground that there was no lawful legislation, and that no ---- (?) legislation can come about as a result of this investigation; secondly, that this is a thought control deal. He stated they were all going to take the oath and remarked he had a hell of a row with the extreme left group and last night made them take the oath of allegiance and pledge to the flag. (X) u

CRUM continued that on the hearing they would demand open hearings and the right to cross-examine adverse witnesses. Also they were going to demand the right to file statements and would try and make a headline every morning before 11 o'clock. WAHL interrupted to inquire if CRUM desired to be met by the press at the plane, and CRUM indicated he did. (X) u

LOWENTHAL then volunteered his personal views declaring CRUM could throw them (Committee) in the wastebasket and recalled in a previous instance on the Senate side WENDELL WILKIE had scared the life out of Committee members without doing a really good job. LOWENTHAL declared this committee has been set up by Congress to conduct thought control and stated there is no sense trying to attack it on that ground or on the ground of civil liberties. (X) u

CONFIDENTIAL

~~Confidential~~

LOWENTHAL stated they are so weak and open to attack on grounds which will appeal to the public that if CRUM chooses grounds with which the public is unsympathetic, he will throw away a wonderful opportunity. LOWENTHAL argued CRUM's big fight is not at the time of the hearings at all but must be before the hearings. He stated CRUM will have to make the issue for the press and should take the offensive before the hearings begin. (X) U

LOWENTHAL told CRUM he should get off the plane and WAHL would have a few people to meet him. He suggested that CRUM would have to do something in the beginning and should not go into detail but make it very short advising them (press) that he would have plenty more to say at a conference for the press, probably on Monday. MAX said CRUM should take the gloves off and say these guys should be removed from Congress, and this is one of CRUM's principal purposes in coming to Washington to present the facts on that. (X) U

LOWENTHAL continued on Monday at a press interview CRUM should present some of the movies in which the witnesses participate, not the whole list, but three or four. CRUM commented they have the whole list of everything. LOWENTHAL observed they are completely American in the American tradition and what the committee is trying to do is interfere with this industry telling it how it should operate. He said they are trying to set up a Congressional board of censorship which is an interference with private American enterprise. (X) U

LOWENTHAL continued CRUM should consider a further pressinterview on Thursday. He counseled taking up the question of the Committee and what they have failed to do and mentioned material is being prepared for CRUM now. LOWENTHAL said two members of that committee are on the Veterans Affairs Committee and have bottled up necessary veterans' bills. Further, a couple of men on the committee are on the House Committee on Education and Labor which has to do with housing and they haven't done a damn thing about that. Instead they take a hundred and fifty-day holiday and run off a little fracas of this kind. Further, they have a few other points like that, all indicating these tax-exempt Congressmen should be removed. (X) U

LOWENTHAL mentioned he had a lot of stuff for CRUM, and that JOHN (DIERKES) had sent him some stuff. LOWENTHAL said he was meeting JOHN tonight and also meeting another guy in New York tonight who may have to come down here. LOWENTHAL said he would be back Sunday night or Monday. (X) U

LOWENTHAL again referred to the legal motions CRUM had mentioned and stated he does not think very well of these motions, that they are small stuff and will get him absolutely nowhere, and if he has not won his battle by that time, he is licked. (X) U

At this time LOWENTHAL had ELLA SHALIT read to CRUM a statement (press release) to be given to the press Friday, October 17, a copy of which was furnished to the Bureau on October 17, 1947, and is not being set forth at this time. (X)u

Thereafter LOWENTHAL continued with his suggestions. He observed the Committee may be unwilling to allow CRUM to have available the necessary facilities to enable the public to know what's going on including television, radio, movie tone, cameras, etc. He urged CRUM not to ask for a damn thing but have them there and produce them and be able to show all the facilities for getting the facts to the public are proper and if any are excluded the newspaper boys will write the necessary stories. CRUM remarked the camera men are already on their way. LOWENTHAL said when the men go into action the Committee will be scared to death and every flash bulb which goes off will look like a bomb. (X)u

LOWENTHAL further suggested at the second or third press conference prior to the hearings CRUM should have present a committee of actors and actresses. CRUM advised LOWENTHAL that DAVID SELZNICK, KATHERINE HEPBURN, and a group of about ten others of similar stature are going east and want to know why they have not been subpoenaed. LOWENTHAL indicated they should be at his press conference after CRUM said they would be working with him. LOWENTHAL said they want some beautiful girls for the press boys to see. (X)u

In concluding, LOWENTHAL admonished CRUM he was going to help him all he could but wanted CRUM to bear in mind that in his talks with CRUM only one other person was present and that is DAVE (WAHL) and he does not want anyone else to learn about it. (X)u

DAVE WAHL conversed with CRUM briefly concerning clearing a matter in DAVE NILES' shop, presumably Palestine matter at the White House. Then DAVE again referred to the hearings stating CRUM and LOWENTHAL should get together Sunday and from then on alone with very few other people, only people in whom they have confidence. WAHL mentioned how touchy MAX is about other people. (X)u

CHARLIE KRAMER then spoke with CRUM suggesting having the mobilization people send BOB SHAW along although he is not on the list of those subpoenaed. KRAMER said he is an old experienced newsman who would possess excellent contacts here and be very valuable in correlating a lot of things. KRAMER also suggested CRUM should deputize three or four of them to act as their own publicity agents here. He specifically recommended for this SAM MOORE, president of the Radio Writers Guild. (X)u

CRUM concluded by stating he would wire WAHL about the time of arrival and if WAHL could have the pressmeet him at the plane he would have this statement to release to them. CRUM requested WAHL to get him a suite at the Hay-Adams or similar hotel as he did not wish to stay at the Shoreham, which WAHL thought a good idea. CRUM inquired about DIERKES and WAHL said he was coming down from New York tomorrow. CRUM mentioned last night the meeting went off wonderfully. Everyone in Hollywood is united on this deal including very conservative forces. In reply to WAHL's question, he said the producers are split on this thing. WAHL asked if CRUM could not get them excited about the anti-Semitic implications of this thing, and CRUM stated he was bringing that into the picture. (X)U

Other conversations of interest in this matter are summarized hereafter arranged according to date of conversation. (X)U

[redacted] (X)U On October 7, 1947, BEN (MARGOLIS), Los Angeles, contacted POPPER advising he plans to come east some time this weekend and inquired whether POPPER would be in New York Saturday and Sunday. POPPER stated he would be in New York Saturday but would like to avoid being there Sunday. POPPER mentioned there is a meeting Saturday of the National Executive Committee of the Guild and "Most of us" will probably be tied up with that meeting, so POPPER suggested making it definite "to spend Sunday at this." (X) U b7D

[redacted] (X)(U) On October 8, 1947, DAVID REIN contacted BOB SILBERSTEIN, National Lawyers Guild. BOB inquired if REIN had made a start on the meeting. REIN said he did not know what to do unless they have a meeting set up to let people know about it. SILBERSTEIN stated as soon as they can get clearance from CRUM they can proceed. REIN mentioned he had a thought, that when they get all of the collective talent together from Hollywood, they could put on a little skit or something of the sort rather than merely have speeches but he did not know how the Hollywood people would react to this suggestion. BOB commented all of the Hollywood people are writers except one person. REIN insisted after all this is Hollywood, and they should be able to do something more than mrerly have someone say the Committee stinks. (X)(U) b7D

[redacted] (X)U On the same date POPPER contacted ABE UNGER, New York City. UNGER said he had been up to see JAVITS (Representative JACOB K. JAVITS) but JAVITS has a meeting that night. UNGER still thinks the idea of a congressman is good. POPPER remarked he had thought of JAVITS or (ADOLPH) SABATH. UNGER wondered whether there was anyone outside New York City, and POPPER said the only one he could think of was (RICHARD J.) WELCH of California. POPPER also thought of GEORGE H. BENDER but said he would have to check on BENDER. UNGER also mentioned ENGEL (phonetic) and added maybe CIO from the record could advise POPPER whom they considered a good man. (X)U b7D

UNGER said it was too bad they did not have a woman. POPPER advised him no woman had been subpoenaed but they do have HELEN DOUGLAS, but it was difficult to get her unless they could persuade the people in California to put pressure on her. UNGER suggested KATHERINE HEPBURN's mother, and POPPER stated they had thought of that, not only her mother but KATHERINE HEPBURN herself, and observed she had attended a meeting in California the other day. UNGER mentioned HOPPER SIBLEY who, he said, is from Russia and a very classy person. (C) U

POPPER stated in conclusion thus far the plans seem to be on the hearing itself and that BEN MARGOLIS, CRUM, KENNEY, and POPPER will be working on it. He said MARGOLIS is coming east and POPPER thought they could work together on this Sunday. (C) U

[redacted] (C) U On the same date POPPER contacted BEN MARGOLIS, Los Angeles, advising the Washington meeting is set for October 20, and he is calling BOB (KENNEY?) to agree to get him to speak, and he wanted to make sure CRUM is coming. He said they would like to have a couple congressmen speak and asked MARGOLIS to put the heat on HELEN DOUGLAS to speak and to get some glamorous women. MARGOLIS stated he would arrive in New York Saturday morning. POPPER requested him to attend the National Executive Committee meeting Saturday (October 11) at 10 a.m. at 36 West 44th Street. POPPER stated he is getting out a release and asked if it was all right to use the names of LARRY PARKS and RING LARDNER, Jr. BEN stated it was o.k. but POPPER would have to check for use of DONALD STEWART's name. (C) U b7D

CONF. INF [redacted] (C) U On October 12, 1947, SELMA REIN talked with KATHRYN POPPER who advised there was going to be a dinner for defendants who will testify before the un-American Activities Committee, a lot of movie people. KATHRYN said she is trying to get people who might be interested in helping. SELMA suggested BETTY HAYES and her husband BILL HAYES. KATHRYN stated the Civil Rights Congress is running the affair. She recalled GERTRUDE RODMAN and THERESA LISS had done this many times before but SELMA expressed doubt whether RODMAN or LISS would handle this. (C) U b7D

CONF. INF [redacted] (C) (U) On October 13, 1947, BOB EHRLICH, AVC, contacted DAVE REIN and inquired who is handling arrangements for the big affair Monday. BOB stated REIN's chapter and his chapter and a couple other AVC chapters would be interested in arranging some kind of affair around one of these Hollywood guys in addition to REIN's meeting. REIN stated he had no direct contacts excepting a west coast lawyer but when they all arrive, POPPER, SILBERSTEIN or REIN will talk with them and REIN will advise EHRLICH. EHRLICH stated AVC has organized a student lawyers' guild on George Washington University campus, and that LEON KAHN (phonetic) had done most of the organizing on the campus. ERHLICH indicated he wanted KENNEY, CRUM, or PARKS to appear before the student guild on the campus along with a movie star. REIN asked about possible friction with the University administration, and EHRLICH stated if the student guild of AVC could not hold the meeting it would get another student organization to do so. [redacted] (C) (U) REIN immediately advised BOB SILBERSTEIN, National Lawyers Guild, some GWU students were anxious to have CRUM or KENNEY with some movie star and preferred PARKS claiming he would draw a full house. (C) (U) b7D

CONF. INFT.

On the same date BOB EHRLICH informed REIN the student council of GWU can use Lisner Auditorium for a debate between CRUM or KENNEY and PARKS against FRANK WALDROP, Times Herald, or Congressman PORKONSKI for Wednesday or Thursday, October 22 or 23, 1947, and EHRLICH said he can get radio time with WINX. REIN immediately relayed this information to BOB SILBERSTEIN. (C) (U)

[redacted] (C) (U) On the following day, October 14, 1947, BOB (SILBERSTEIN or possibly EHRLICH) advised REIN he had gotten the auditorium but had been unable to line up a speaker. BOB inquired whether REIN knew FRANCIS HENSON who had been recommended by (BEN) MANDEL, research director for the un-American Activities Committee. BOB explained he had been directed to MANDEL by Dr. SCHMIDT (phonetic), director of research for Chamber of Commerce. They discussed the opposition witnesses and REIN stated the names of ROBERT TAYLOR, GARY COOPER, ADOLPH MENJOU, and Mrs. ROGERS had appeared in the paper, but he did not think BOB would want them. BOB stated none of the members of the committee would speak. They discussed a number of individuals, the apparent purpose being to select some individuals to oppose their speakers in debate which individuals would have publicity appeal without possessing any debating ability. (C) (U) b7D

[redacted] (C) U On October 14, 1947, MARTIN POPPER in New York City conversed with RUTH RIFKIN advising he would arrive in Washington about 11 p.m. that night. He instructed RUTH to have KATHRYN POPPER secure a full time secretary to begin work Monday morning on the Hollywood deal and preferred she hire someone known to KATHRYN or RUTH. He told RUTH to obtain supplies and a mimeograph machine to be delivered to the Shoreham Hotel which will apparently be the location for the group and secretary. (C) U b7D

[redacted] (C) U On the morning of October 16, 1947, KATHRYN POPPER contacted DICK SASULY to inquire if he knew any excellent stenographer who would accept a temporary position with BOB KENNEY and BARTLEY CRUM at the Shoreham Hotel. KATHRYN stated they need two girls, one to start Saturday, and she will be working with them practically all the time. (C) U b7D

[redacted] (C) U On the same date KATHRYN POPPER conversed with an unknown woman (believed to be GERTRUDE LEEDS, Leeds Employment Agency, 914 G Place) advising of the need for two crack stenographers for a temporary job to last about three weeks which will include a lot of night work as well as Saturdays and Sundays. The unidentified woman inquired whether KATHRYN wanted just good stenographers or the right kind of people. She inquired about their political thinking and said it would be more difficult if KATHRYN wanted her to be careful about that. KATHRYN supposed that would be the thing to do. (C) U b7D

[redacted] (X) U On the afternoon of October 15, 1947, BOB KENNEY, Los Angeles, contacted POPPER stating he was sitting with BART (CRUM), BEN (MARGOLIS), and CHARLIE ----. He stated they had decided the motion to quash could be presented Monday, October 20, 1947, and they assumed the stuff will be ready Saturday night or Sunday. KENNEY inquired whether they could get the notice of motion over there before that, and POPPER stated they could not because they would merely deny it in advance and they would not have the chance to even go up there. (X) U b7D

At this time KENNEY stated he wanted to read a statement (press release) to POPPER and gave this statement to KATHRYN POPPER described as an open letter to the motion picture industry on the issue of freedom of the screen from political intimidation and censorship. This is the press release previously furnished the Bureau mentioned on page 3 of instant letter. It is noted this statement originated on the west coast. (X) U

[redacted] (X) U Thereafter POPPER contacted HELEN FULLER, New Republic Magazine, advising her of the open letter from the Hollywood people to be ready for press Friday, October 17, 1947. FULLER requested a copy for a preliminary story. POPPER explained the people would be at the Shoreham Hotel beginning Saturday and invited FULLER to attend. (X) U b7D

Thereafter POPPER contacted HANNAH DORNER, New York City, advising her of the release and mentioning that JIM PROCTOR is a press agent and POPPER wanted it released to the New York papers Friday morning. DORNER informed him the release must come from some office so the newspapers could call and ask questions. She suggested it would get a bigger play if released from Washington and asked him to call CARRY EVIN, a Herald Tribune correspondent, in Washington. (X) U

[redacted] (X) U POPPER also contacted IDA BOGAN (phonetic) at the office of POPPER's law firm in New York and dictated the statement received from BOB KENNEY. He instructed her to deliver copies to RITA VAN DOREN and FRANK KELLY of the Herald Tribune, LAWRENCE REISNER (phonetic), New York Times, and make arrangements for HANNAH DORNER to obtain four or five copies. He also requested SAM ROSENWEIN, attorney, get one or two copies. (X) U b7D

[redacted] (X) U POPPER thereafter conversed with (HERBERT) ELLISTON, editor, Washington Post, stating he is associated with BARTLEY CRUM and BOB KENNEY representing directors and writers from Hollywood and would like to come in and acquaint ELLISTON with the background and their general approach and inform him of an open letter to the motion picture industry being released tomorrow morning. ELLISTON inquired if he would like to see the newsmen too and said he would be in all afternoon. (X) U b7D

CONF. INFT. [redacted] POPPER next informed WILLARD SHELTON of PM explaining he is one of the attorneys representing the Hollywood group, and that BARTLEY CRUM, BOB KENNEY, BEN MARGOLIS and SAM ROSENWEIN in New York are also attorneys. He explained to SHELTON the open letter was the first release outlining their fundamental viewpoint and declared fundamentally they think the purpose of the investigation is to attack and control the motion picture industry. POPPER stated he wanted to suggest the names of the signers are very important, and PM might let the desk know that it is coming in order to set aside space for it. SHELTON inquired why only 18 of the 19 people summoned had signed the letter, and POPPER stated he did not know but did not think there was anything significant in that. (X) U b7D

CONF. INFT. [redacted] On the evening of October 15, 1947, MARTIN POPPER contacted BEN MARGOLIS, Los Angeles, advising the public relations people believed their release would get bigger play if released from Washington. MARTIN talked with CRUM who stated KENNEY had arranged to hire CHARLES MICHIE as public relations man mentioning MICHIE used to work with PM and that MICHIE would get in touch with POPPER that night or the following day and POPPER is to put him to work. MARGOLIS inquired if POPPER had made arrangements with JIM PROCTOR, also apparently in public relations capacity. However, POPPER did not reply to this question. (X) U b7D

[redacted] On October 16, 1947, POPPER again contacted MARGOLIS discussing the proposed GWU debate. He stated presumably the other side will get FRANCIS HENSON, supposed to be known as a public relations man in Hollywood and a leader of ADA who was also associated with ROBERT MONTGOMERY. He also mentioned Congressman McDOWELL of the Committee may be the other speaker. POPPER stated the question had arisen as to whether it might be sound policy to provide a forum where the other side can debate the issues and that MICHIE is of the opinion it is not a good idea from a press relations standpoint. POPPER continued that Congressman McDOWELL is one of the worst reactionaries in Congress and will undoubtedly use the forum for the usual thing and is doubtful why they should provide that forum. (X) U b7D

MARGOLIS argued usually these guys make fools of themselves and their people handle themselves better, and he is in favor of debate. He said out there in the past these people have made themselves ridiculous and "our people have come out with increased prestige." He admitted HENSON and McDOWELL may be smarter adding they had never debated against them. POPPER requested MARGOLIS to obtain any background on HENSON and advise him. (X) U

Later that night MARGOLIS stated he could obtain no information concerning HENSON and that apparently he was never connected with MONTGOMERY. He said no one in Hollywood knew anything about it. They again (X) U discussed Congressman McDOWELL and POPPER stated perhaps they could obtain FRANK WALDROP as an opponent. However, MARGOLIS questioned the advisability of tangling with a newspaperman and suggested they should get a politician and a member of the committee would be most desirable. (X) U

CONF. INFT [redacted] (C) (U) On the morning of October 16, 1947, DAVE REIN advised BOB SILBERSTEIN that they had the auditorium and the debate had been approved. BOB stated (BOB) KENNEY and DMYTRYK will speak at GWU. SILBERSTEIN indicated he was with POPPER and made arrangements for all three of them to get together at 5 p.m. (C) (U) b7D

CONF. INFT [redacted] (C) (U) On the morning of this date DAVE WAHL endeavored to locate CHARLES KRAMER and told MILDRED KRAMER he wanted to see CHARLIE today. At 5:48 p.m., KRAMER informed his wife he was "still down here and is on tap to be around this evening." It is recalled KRAMER was with WAHL when they and MAX LOWENTHAL conversed at great length with BART CRUM. (C) (U) b7D

CONF. INFT [redacted] U At noon, October 16, 1947, JOHN DIERKES, New York City, advised WAHL about the contact with BART CRUM set forth above in this report. DIERKES indicated he would probably remain in New York today and tomorrow stating he had to see ED MURROW. He mentioned he had seen RITA VAN DOREN (phonetic) and she is definitely on their side. WAHL stated she had better damn well be. (X) U b7D

DAVE WAHL contacted MARTIN POPPER requesting him to make extra room for JOHN DIERKES at the Shoreham Hotel. (X) U

CONF. INFT. [redacted] U On the afternoon of October 16, 1947, WAHL again conversed with POPPER stating he understands BIRKHEAD (phonetic) in New York has the most definitive file on some of the people—staff and Congressman—involved in this situation, adding he wondered if perhaps BEANIE's (BALDWIN) office could assist. He mentioned EDITH PRATT is up there these days, and he wonders whether someone could go over and secure the significant material for their use in Washington. POPPER stated he thought JIM PROCTOR may possibly be working on this. (X) U b7D

POPPER inquired about PHIL (DUNAWAY) and WAHL stated he hoped to talk with him this afternoon. POPPER asked if WAHL thought BIRKHEAD had more stuff than PHIL and WAHL stated he did not know but knew someone down here other than PHIL had amassed a great deal of material out of the Committee files and it wound up in BIRKHEAD's office. POPPER stated (garbled) "—— the friends of democracy?" and WAHL replied "Yeah." (X) U

PHIL mentioned the Washington and New York papers had some rather startling news (concerning alleged forthcoming indictment in Gregory Case) and that the fellow he was talking with (LOWENTHAL) knows all about what happened in New York and can tell or show WAHL. On the afternoon of October 16, 1947, DAVID WAHL tried to contact CHAT PATTERSON, AVC, but spoke with one NEWMAN asking if he had any specific gripes against Congressman RANKIN with respect to any specific legislation they wanted to get through. On the afternoon of October 17, 1947, WAHL conversed with BART CRUM, Ambassador Hotel, Chicago, who advised the material had not arrived. WAHL stated this was due to bad flying weather and added he had talked with MARTY (POPPER) and they had some rather correlated stuff worked on. CRUM indicated he would be arriving with a small group, just BOB KENNEY, BEN MARGOLIS, and himself. WAHL mentioned he had obtained a room for JOHN (DIERKES). (X)U

Information has been received from the Los Angeles Office that a reception had been arranged in Chicago for the group, which was enroute to testify at the hearings, which it was anticipated would be attended by five-hundred to seven-hundred people. HERBERT BIBERMAN has expressed disappointment that a mass meeting was not arranged but feels that the reception was better than having nothing at all. According to SALT, their contacts in Chicago were attempting to get people as influential as possible who would be able to mobilize the city and try to make it a "big civic event." BIBERMAN expressed high praise for the Chicago Sun which paper he states intends to give them the fullest coverage and present their case in the "right light". (X)U enroute to Washington, D. C., and had attended a reception where those individuals subpoenaed before the un-American Activities Committee had presented their case before the people of Chicago and had received a great deal of sympathy and support from the citizens of Chicago.

On Saturday afternoon October 18, 1947, BARTLEY C. CRUM, ROBERT W. KENNY and BEN MARGOLIS arrived at the Washington National Airport from San Francisco, California, by way of Chicago. They were met at the airport by DAVID WAHL, JOHN DIERKES, MARTIN POPPER, and POPPER's wife KATHERINE. It is to be noted that JOHN DIERKES arrived in Washington, D. C., from New York City on the night of October 17, 1947, and obtained rooms at the Hay-Adams Hotel where he also obtained a suite of rooms for BARTLEY C. CRUM who was to reside at the Hay-Adams Hotel during his stay in Washington incognito. JOHN DIERKES, according to information received by this office, appears to be one of the "steerers" for the legal staff representing the nineteen subpoenaed witnesses from Hollywood and is doing the majority of the contact work for them with various individuals in Washington. It is further to be noted that JOHN DIERKES was formerly with the Treasury Department in the Internal Revenue Bureau and was sent to Hollywood as an official in connection with the preparation of a moving picture short concerning the Internal Revenue Department. It is believed that he is currently connected with a law firm in Los Angeles either closely associated with or a part of the firm of Margolis, Katz, & Gallagher. While in Washington DIERKES has been observed to be in close association with CHARLES KRAMER, who is employed in the offices of Senator CLAUDE PEPPER in an advisory capacity, and DAVID WAHL, the local representative of the American Jewish Congress, a well-known Communist Party sympathizer and believed to be a Communist Party member. Upon arriving in Washington, the three attorneys mentioned above were escorted immediately to the offices of MARTIN POPPER where they remained a few moments and then proceeded to Room 100C of the Shoreham Hotel, which suite of rooms had been obtained as a headquarters for the legal staff while handling the affairs during the Congressional hearings. These rooms were used by the attorneys for preparing press releases, holding press conferences, and to prepare and counsel each of the witnesses whom they represent.

Confidential Informant [redacted] advised on October 23, 1947, that CHARLOTTE YOUNG is presently employed at Room 100C of the Shoreham Hotel, working during the hours from one to five p.m., daily and in addition to this, does some work for this group during her evening hours at home. CHARLOTTE YOUNG engages in general stenographic and clerical work for this group and made the statement to the informant that she hopes she will at least be instrumental in bringing about the "death knell" of the House un-American Activities Committee. The informant stated further that CHARLOTTE YOUNG would have to have considerable pull to obtain this job and in the informant's opinion, ELIZABETH SASULY, Washington Legislative Representative of the Food, Tobacco, Agricultural, and Allied Workers of America, CIO, probably had a large part to play in this connection. The informant stated that LARRY PARKS, (star of "The Jolson Story") is very much in evidence in Suite 100C of the Shoreham Hotel. It is to be noted that CHARLOTTE YOUNG is presently acting as Membership Director of the Communist Party of the District of Columbia according to Confidential Informant [redacted] b7D

The publicity rally which has been previously referred to in this report was held on the evening of October 20, 1947, at the National Press Club Auditorium, Washington, D. C., in opposition to the hearings as schedule by the House un-American Activities Committee which were scheduled to start on Monday morning October 23, 1947. MARTIN POPPER, Vice-President of the National Lawyers Guild, acted as chairman at the rally and after introducing each of the nineteen witnesses subpoenaed from Hollywood by the Committee, introduced ROBERT W. KENNY, Attorney for the group. Mr. KENNY, who is President of the National Lawyers Guild, made the characterization that a "retrogression of centuries to the days when the Elizabethean Master of the Revels passed on the plays" is the objective of the House Committee on un-American Activities in its current investigation of the motion picture industry. KENNY in his statements continued by saying that the Committee is "engaged in a conspiracy to control communication and destroy free speech." KENNY in referring to his unsuccessful attempt before the Committee in its opening session to argue in behalf of a motion to squash the subpoenas issued to his clients, declared the Committee "very well knew that our motion went to the essential validity of the entire inquiry." Continuing his attack on the investigation, the former Attorney General of California, KENNY, called it "a blatant and undisguised attempt to exercise a dictatorship over a medium of expression." According to a newspaper account in the Washington Evening Star for October 21, 1947, more than six-hundred persons, who filled the auditorium, also heard attacks on the inquiry by BARTLEY C. CRUM and MARTIN POPPER, associated with Mr. KENNY as counsel for the so-called "hostile" witnesses: actor, LARRY PARKS; producers, EDWARD DMYTRYK and LEWIS MILESTONE; screen writers, DALTON TRUMBO and RING LARDNER, JR.; and others. LARRY PARKS, calling himself a "Wilson, Roosevelt, Wallace Democrat" declared that certain political figures are setting new standards of loyalty and are trying to impose their own private and peculiar definition of Americanism on which we must all base our answers. Mr. DMYTRYK, Director of "Crossfire", a current mystery with an anti-Semiticism angle, in his remarks stated that a small energetic group of reactionaries in Hollywood are bent on branding as subversive propaganda such treatment of social problems on the screen and any suggestion that all is not perfect in our country, any characterization of a businessman as greedy for profits (perish the thought), or of a politician who is less than pure in heart. BARTLEY C. CRUM, before making his remarks, indicated that he was tearing up his prepared speech before the audience and proceeded to unmercifully attack J. PARNELL THOMAS, Chairman of the House Committee on un-American Activities, and other members connected therewith. After making numerous derogatory remarks concerning the appearance of Mr. THOMAS and numerous caustic remarks in general concerning the hearings, members of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare took up a collection. CRUM stated that money received from this collection was to be sent to PAUL DRAPER, well-known dancer in New York City who was the treasurer selected by the Lawyers Guild and this money was to be used for publicity purposes in order to defeat and disband the Congressional Committee. Agents of this office who were in attendance observed that very few individuals present contributed when the collection boxes were passed. In concluding his remarks, BARTLEY CRUM stated that he had never appeared before such a nauseating-appearing individual as Mr. THOMAS and as the day went on, he found it difficult for him to control himself to prevent his being sick to his stomach. He then said if there were any F. B. I. Agents present in the auditorium, he wanted them to go and tell THOMAS what he said and then both THOMAS and the Agents could go to hell.

Confidential Informant [redacted] reported on the afternoon of October 20, 1947, that at the conclusion of the rally that evening, there would be a cocktail party held at BELFRED LAWSON's place under the auspices of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare. In connection with BELFRED LAWSON, the records of this office reveal that he is a prominent attorney in Washington, D. C., and on numerous occasions has appeared to be a Communist sympathizer and active in the affairs of the Southern Conference For Human Welfare. b7D

Confidential Informant [redacted] furnished a report regarding a party held in the home of BOYAN ATHANASSOV, [redacted] on the evening of October 21, 1947. At this party a number of Hollywood celebrities now under subpoena by the House Committee on un-American Activities were included among those invited. It will be noted that among other information furnished by the informant, he advises that photographs were taken of guests arriving at the ATHANASSOV's home which was the cause of considerable disturbance among the guests at the part. It is also noted that those present were of the opinion that the photographs were being taken by F. B. I. Agents and that the headquarters of these Agents was the house next to the ATHANASSOV's home at which place an F. B. I. Agent allegedly resides. It is to be further noted that this party was not covered in any fashion by Agents of this office and further, that the records of this office do not reflect that there is any Special Agent of this office residing next to the ATHANASSOV's nor has any Agent ever resided there. No coverage was made of this party in view of the fact that the informant had assured this office he would be present at the party and furnish full information concerning it to this office. The informant stated that the above incident naturally wrecked the festive spirits of the guests, some of whom, for example, the Press Secretary of the Roumanian Legation, VOGEL and his wife, decided to leave the party sooner than was actually permissible from the point of view of etiquette and good graces. In the informant's report he stated that at about 10:15 P. M., to 10:30 P.M., DOROTHY TODD arrived alone and stated that her husband could not attend because he had been sick for several days and that this had been his first day at work which had tired him and he had gone to bed. It is to be noted that DOROTHY TODD is the wife of LAWRENCE TODD who is a writer with the Tass News Agency. A few minutes later, according to the informant, DAVID WAHL and BARTLEY CRUM arrived together and it was the informant's impression that they had been notified of the above incident before they arrived at the ATHANASSOV's home. Both made ridiculing statement on the incident and CRUM distinctly stated that he loved to have his picture taken at any time. CRUM, who had apparently made a speech the night before at the National Lawyers Guild, which meeting had been attended by a number of the people present, was heartily congratulated on the excellence of his speech and for a few minutes general conversation was centered on the events of the previous night. In the meantime, and in informant's opinion entirely due to the fact that NISSIM MEVORAH does not speak English, DAVID WAHL sat with her and for a period of at least two hours carried on a conversation in German. The remaining guests without exception centered their attention on CRUM who held the floor until almost 1:15 A. M., and did most of the talking himself. As one of the attorneys of the Hollywood celebrities now in Washington, he was asked a number of questions regarding the said interrogations. His attitude to the investiation generally was one of ridicule and on a number of occasions he emphasized the fact that this whole investigation and for that matter the Congressional Committee for un-American Activities, was a ridiculous affair and a procedure not unlike the methods used in the past by HITLER and MUSSOLINI. Of the investigations themselves, CRUM spoke very lightly, apparently wishing to convey the impression that they were unfounded, uncalled for, and were definitely a breach of the rights and liberties of the American people. In addition the informant reported that in referring to a certain picture which had evidently been considered as un-American, CRUM made the statement that he and his clerks had written a number of letters and had approached openly on occasions the members of the Congressional Committee with the request that the picture be brought before them and shown to them so that they could for themselves decide whether its subject could by any stretch of the imagination be considered un-American; however, he stated that to date the Committee had not complied with their request and had not apparently even answered their letters. Gradually conversation shifted from the un-American investigations to the more general topic of Communism and the reaction of the American people to certain events concerning the relationship of this country with Soviet Russia. BARTLEY CRUM startled several of those present by stating that he considered the Soviet attitude as reported by ANDREI VISHINSKY at the United Nations is, in particular with regard to his vicious attack on war-mongers, indicative of poor knowledge and lack of intelligence on the part of the Russians of the attitude and position of the average American. CRUM admitted whereas war-mongers did exist in the United States in large numbers, it was a mistake and a grave mistake at that, for VISHINSKY to include in his list a person like Governor EARLE for example, former Governor of Pennsylvania and former Minister to Bulgaria, who in the opinion of CRUM is absolutely of no consequence in the United States and who was actually being honored by being placed on the list of war-mongers along with AUSTIN and the rest of them. CRUM maintained that the Russians did not understand the sentiments and feelings of the American public and that by their attack on war-mongers, they had chosen the wrong approach. (X)U

Confidential Informant [redacted] further reported that while (X)U b7D discussing the possibility of eventual cooperation between the Soviet conception of a democratic social order and the American conception of Democracy, CRUM expressed the theory rather well substantiated that such cooperation was not only feasible but had in fact taken place throughout the whole war and thus gave sufficient proof that it could be attained. According to CRUM, the split between the Soviet Union and this country came immediately after the San Francisco Conference. Without attempting to lay the blame on one side or the other, CRUM maintained that in spite of the idealogical differences that separated the two countries, up until the said San Francisco Conference they had cooperated rather effectively in defeating national socialism and there was no reason why this cooperation could not be extended over the period of peace. At this point CRUM was vehemently attacked by several members of the party, notably Mrs. GERTRUDE EVANS and an unknown woman who came to the party with Dr. ALPER and his wife, both of whom maintained that only the United States was at fault for breaking up the good relations because the capitalists of this country had brought pressure to bear on the people in the Government and as soon as the war was over, had more or less taken over the dictiation of the United States' foreign policy. The informant reported that BARTLEY CRUM again emphasized that he was not prepared to discuss the faults of either side but that he maintained that such were committed on both sides and no useful purpose could be gained by going over these faults and trying to place the blame on one side or the other. Reverting temporarily to the investigation of the House Committee on un-American Activities, CRUM expressed the hope that sooner or later someone of the accused, or as he put it, if he himself had been a Communist, he would have taken the stand officially that under the First Amendment of the American Constitution, he was entitled to his beliefs and convictions and thereby free expression. This point was warmly seconded by DOROTHY TODD who also expressed the desire to see someone challenge the said Committee for un-American Activities with the stand under the First Amendment of the Constitution. CRUM said in effect he would say, if challenged, "Why gentlemen I am a Communist — so what"; but on several occasions throughout the evening, he emphasized the fact that he was not a Communist, that he was a Roman Catholic and his political sympathies were with the Republican Party of this country. (X)U

Informant pointed out that this statement was outstanding because on several occasions during the evening, he emphasized that point. The informant's report contained no further information of pertinent interest to the current investigation. Another interesting side-light event in connection with the un-American Activities Hearings occurred on October 23, 1947, after the official adjournment of the Congressional Committee Hearings for that day. JOHN GARFIELD, motion picture actor from Hollywood, after grouping numerous people around him and signing autographs, announced that they all follow him into the corridor where he would hold a press conference. He left the Caucus Room of the old House Office Building and proceeded to the elevator well immediately outside of the Caucus Room where he climbed halfway up the stairs and began to read a resolution which denounced the THOMAS Committee and indicated that the hearings held by this committee were an outrage to human decency. After numerous caustic remarks of this type, he stated that he along with eight other individuals had formed a committee which was going to attempt to defend the nineteen witnesses from Hollywood who had been subpoenaed before the Committee and demand that a cross-examination be conducted by the committee. This committee was to be known as the Committee for the Defense of the First Amendment of the American Constitution. The other individuals accompanying GARFIELD were his wife, JULIUS EPSTEIN, WILLIAM EPSTEIN, BERNICE PARKS, CANDIDA LEE (colored), IRWIN SHAW, PAUL STEWART, PAUL DRAPER, UTA HAGAN, and OSCAR SENLIN; all of these names are spelled phonetically. At this point in the gathering, the crowd became boisterous and unruly and GARFIELD was asked to adjourn to the Caucus Room for his press conference by the building guards and he indicated the desire that he wanted the public to hear what he had to say. At this point the guards forcibly escorted him back to the Caucus Room from which the general public was excluded. Several members of the press still remained in the Caucus Room and they proceeded to question GARFIELD and the EPSTEIN brothers concerning this newly formed organization and they denied vigorously that it was Communistic or anyone connected with it was a Communist or fellow-traveler and they asserted the purpose of forming this committee was for Constitutional Democracy. It was obvious after a few minutes that none of the press representatives present desired to further question these individuals other than a representative from the newspaper PM. The indications were that the PM reporter knew that the conference was going to be staged and had a prepared group of questions and he was the only individual who continued to question GARFIELD and the EPSTEIN brothers concerning their newly formed group. PAUL DRAPER made several remarks condemning the Thomas Committee and numerous remarks that he made were recognized by Agents present as having previously been published in the Daily Worker and were of the general Communist Party line throughout. The conference broke up after approximately thirty minutes' duration. J(X)U

Information has come to the attention of this office that certain groups in this area are making efforts to raise funds for the purpose of combatting the House Committee on un-American Activities which is presently conducting hearings into the Communist infiltration into the motion picture industry. On October 22, 1947, Confidential Informant [redacted] whose identity is known to the Bureau, advised that MARGUERITE HENDERSON, a clerical employee in the offices of the C. I. O. Maritime Committee and a prominent member of the Washington Bookshop, contacted one BOB SILVERSTEIN and asked him where the funds raised to fight the Thomas-Rankin Committee should be sent. SILVERSTEIN indicated that the funds collected were allocated to the Southern Conference for Human Welfare and the National Lawyers Guild which had set up a special fund. SILVERSTEIN stated he had heard that PAUL DRAPER in New York City was handling it but stated he was not sure of this and suggested that MARGUERITE call MARTIN POPPER of the National Lawyers Guild who could be reached at Room 1000 of the Shoreham Hotel. The informant learned that HENDERSON subsequently contacted a man whom the informant was unable to identify at Room 1000 of the Shoreham Hotel and asked where the funds for the fight against the Thomas-Rankin Committee should be directed. The man advised he did not know but would try to get POPPER to contact MARGUERITE. Later on the same date the informant advised that HENDERSON was contacted by DON ROTHENBERG, Organizational Director of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare in Washington, D. C., and a registered member of the Communist Party, who said that he had found out that the funds were being raised for "the movie people" and that PAUL DRAPER was the treasurer and his offices were located at 131 East 66th Street, New York City.

It was previously determined by this office that these funds were to be used for publicity purposes to defeat the aims and success of the House Committee on un-American Activities.

Prior to the opening of the morning session of the hearings in connection with the Communist Infiltration of the Motion Picture Industry on October 28, 1947, ROB HALL, Daily Worker correspondent for Washington, D. C., and a member of the National Committee of the Communist Party, USA, was observed engaged in conversation with MARTIN POPPER, Vice-President of the National Lawyers Guild. This conversation lasted approximately fifteen minutes and the individuals were observed to look over unidentified pieces of paper in each other's possession. In addition to the above, ROB HALL was observed to converse with ROBERT W. KENNY, Attorney for the nineteen defendants subpoenaed before the Committee, a short while prior to the afternoon session of the Committee hearings. From observation of KENNY's face by Agents in attendance, it seemed that KENNY was well acquainted with HALL. The above observations were made by Agents of this office who were in attendance at the hearings.

On Tuesday, October 28, 1947, Mr. WILLIAM ROWELL, Executive Director of the House of Representatives Committee on Small Business, stated that a friend of his, Mr. FRED BAKER, a Republican Committeeman in the State of Washington, is presently in Washington, D. C., on business. Mr. BAKER is an acquaintance of Mr. BARTLEY C. CRUM, one of the defense lawyers for the nineteen writers, producers, and directors under subpoena and who is also a member of the Republican Party. CRUM on at least a half dozen occasions within a period of two days tried to contact FRED BAKER and eventually BAKER did see CRUM. CRUM told BAKER that he had been anxious to talk with him because he wanted BAKER to assist him in contacting Speaker JOE MARTIN, Majority Leader in the House of Representatives. BAKER asked why CRUM wanted to see MARTIN and CRUM replied "to stop these contempt charges." BAKER advised CRUM that it was not necessary for him BAKER to assist CRUM in seeing MARTIN because CRUM was already acquainted with MARTIN. CRUM nevertheless insisted that BAKER, a Republican Committeeman, accompany him to see JOE MARTIN. According to Mr. ROWELL, BAKER did not accompany CRUM and he does not know if MARTIN has been contacted. During the course of CRUM's conversations with BAKER, CRUM said, "We are losing a lot of good Republicans over this thing." (Referring to the Thomas Committee hearings on Hollywood). CRUM said, "We don't want to stoop to a low level in the course of our defense but we do have information that THOMAS is a former member of the Catholic Church which he has drifted away from and that in fact his true name is not THOMAS, but FINNY or FEENEY, and in addition to this, THOMAS was in some way connected with the Van Sweringin Railroad Fraud in 1932. CRUM indicated that he did not want to be forced to use this material against the Committee. (It was previously brought out at the time that EUGENE DENNIS was subpoenaed before the Committee that THOMAS' true name is FEENEY.)

At 10:30 A. M., on the morning of October 23, 1947, Representative J. PARNELL THOMAS, Republican of New Jersey and Chairman of the House Committee on un-American on un-American Activities, opened the hearings to determine the degree of penetration of Communism into the film colony. Beside the Sub-Committee present, the Committee's staff of technical experts headed by ROBERT E. STRIPLING, Clerk and Chief Investigator,, and who was assisted by LOUIS J. RUSSELL, former Agent of the F. B. I., H. A. SMITH, former Agent of the F. B. I., and Mr. GASTON, Investigator, were present. The Caucus Room of the old House Office Building is the scene of the hearings and is so arranged whereby numerous newsreel cameramen as well as radio and recording devices are set up. Seats were reserved for approximately one-hundred newspapermen and the Capitol Police were instructed to limit spectators to about four-hundred. During the course of the first day, JACK L. WARNER, First Vice-President of Warner Brothers Picture Corporation, confirmed testimony given the Committee at a secret hearing in Los Angeles last May in which he listed sixteen screen writers as having been dropped from his company's payroll as "un-American". SAM WOOD, independent producer-director, also testified and said that the trouble makers were "Communist Agents of a foreign power." He also stated that the Hollywood film industry today was being infiltrated by propaganda-spreading subversive elements. Mr. WOOD said the writers were the group most to be feared. He said that included a "clique" of followers of the party line which sought to get its propaganda past anti-Communist production executives and on to the screen. WOOD charged JOHN CROMWELL, IRVING PICKEL, EDWARD DMYTRYK, and others with trying to lead the Screen's Director Guild into the "Red River." He added he didn't think there was any doubt that DALTON TROMBO, DONALD OGDEN STEWART, and JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, writers, were Communists. Mr. TROMBO and Mr. LAWSON were among the writers named earlier in Mr. WARNER's testimony. Telling of the organization, the Anti-Communist Motion Picture Alliance, Mr. WOOD declared that Producer WALTER WANGER had attacked the organization as breeding "home grown Fascists." He suggested the Committee look up Mr. WANGER's background. Mr. WOOD was followed to the stand by LOUIS B. MAYER, Executive Head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Film Corporation, who stated, "If, as has been alleged, Communists have attempted to use the screen for subversive purposes, I am proud of our success in circumventing them." As the hearings opened at the morning session, ROBERT W. KENNY, former Attorney General of the State of California and prominent attorney in Los Angeles, who is head of the staff of attorneys representing the nineteen witnesses subpoenaed from Hollywood, attempted to introduce a motion before the Committee to quash the subpoenaes so that his clients would not have to appear on the witness stand. This motion was presented to the Committee in mimeographed form and KENNY was advised that inasmuch as the individuals whom KENNY represented would not be called until the following Monday, he, THOMAS, would take the motion under advisement with the Sub-Committee and its legal staff and would issue a ruling concerning the motion when the first client was called to the stand. Mr. THOMAS agreed to accept the brief as mentioned above but refused to hear any arguement at that point. Concerning the testimony of Mr. WARNER, Mr. WARNER stated that in his Hollywood testimony which was read at the morning session on October 20, 1947, he estimated that ninety-five per cent of the Communism in Hollywood was among the writers. The names of the men WARNER said he fired as read out loud by Committee Counsel ROBERT E. STRIPLING, included: RING LARDNER, JR., CLIFFORD ODETS, EMMETT LAVERY, Mr. TRUMBO, ALVAH BESSIE, GORDON KAHN, GUY ENDORE, HOWARD KOCH, Mr. LAWSON (JOHN HOWARD LAWSON), ALBERT MALTZ, ROBERT ROSSEN, IRWIN SHAW, JOHN WEXLEY, JULIUS and PHILIP EPSTEIN, and SHERIDAN GIBNEY. Mr. WARNER said he didn't know whether they were Communists but, "I could tell from what they were putting in their scripts, they were un-American." Later, when asked whether he still stood by the list as given last spring, Mr. WARNER said he had been somewhat emotional when he testified this spring in Hollywood and named those men. He said he had made an investigation since of one or two men and they should come off the list. After being advised by Mr. THOMAS to name these men, Mr. WARNER listed Mr. ENDORE and Mr. GIBNEY. Mr. WARNER also said the EPSTEINS in portraying rich men as villians had only done something as "old as the world is itself." But outside of that, Mr. WARNER said he could say those he named have written un-American material. PAUL V. McNUTT, former Ambassador to the Phillippines, appeared as an attorney for Mr. JACK L. WARNER in the place of JAMES BYRNES, former Secretary of State, who had previously been obtained by the moving picture industry as their legal counsel. Later in the hearings, Mr. McNUTT was questioned as to why he appeared instead of Mr. BYRNES, and he stated that it was Mr. BYRNES' agreement with the industry that he would appear before no legislative bodies while employed by the industry and for that reason, Mr. McNUTT stated that his services were obtained. At one point during the hearings, Mr. McNUTT entered an opposition to the proceedings, stating they were harming the moving picture industry in that the Committee was putting the industry in a bad light before the public and desired that the Committee take appropriate steps to mend this erroneous conception of the motion picture industry. At this point Mr. McNUTT was asked specifically what organization of the motion picture industry he represented to which he stated there were some twenty-six companies and when asked to name them, he was only able to name three; namely, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Warner Brothers, and Fox Film Corporation. He was then asked if those individuals whom he represented knew that he was making this motion before the Committee and he stated that the only one to his knowledge who knew of it was Mr. JACK L. WARNER of Warner Brothers Studios.

While questioning Mr. JACK L. WARNER, Mr. THOMAS and other members of the Sub-Committee, after explaining resolutions before that committee outlawing Communism, inquired whether Mr. WARNER would be in favor of their enactment. Mr. WARNER said he would "provided it did not take away the rights of a free citizen and a good American to make a livelihood." Pressed for his views on legally backing the Communist Party, Mr. WARNER said he would be in favor of "making it an illegal organization." The questioning then turned to the motion picture entitled "Mission To Moscow". Mr. WARNER was asked whether or not his organization was requested to make this film and Mr. WARNER answered he would say that they were to a degree but he was unable to say that the request was put in one form or another. Mr. WARNER then called attention to a later portion of his previous testimony in which he stated he was not sure whether the first overture was made to or by Mr. DAVIES. Then Mr. WARNER testified to having checked on the situation and finding out it was his brother, HARRY WARNER who had approached Mr. DAVIES, after reading Mr. DAVIES' book, in order to secure rights to producing it. The questioning then turned to the motion picture entitled "The Curtain Rises" based upon the book by Mr. REYNOLDS, written in 1944. Mr. WARNER stated, "It's the first time I've ever known that Mr. REYNOLDS had been in Russia or had written a book"; when asked by Mr. STRIPLING what he had to say of its disparagement. After Mr. WARNER had pointed out he was not qualified to appraise the picture's accuracy because he had not been in Russia, Mr. STRIPLING asked if he did not feel he was on "factually dangerous grounds in making the production." Mr. WARNER replied he did not consider that to be the case considering the war situation and added, "When you're in a fight, you don't ask who the fellow is who's helping you." Mr. STRIPLING then asked Mr. WARNER if he could defend a picture which is a fraud in fact. The witness answered there could be inaccuracies in anything but reiterated his company regarded the film as a national service.

WFO 110-18990

In connection with the testimony of Mr. JACK L. WARNER, he requested that he be allowed to read a prepared statement before the Committee. In his statement Mr. WARNER declared his firm belief that no Warner Brothers picture "can be fairly ~~Confidential~~ charged as being hostile to our country or Communistic in tone or purpose". He said he and his brothers would be "happy to subscribe generously to a pest removal fund" to ship to Russia "people who don't like our American system of government and prefer the Communistic system to ours". He recalled that in his Hollywood testimony he stated that "certain people whom we let go were subsequently hired by other studios", but he emphasized that "the producers who hired the men we discharged are good Americans". When Mr. WARNER finished his statement, Mr. STRIPLING repeated his question about Communist infiltration in Hollywood. Mr. WARNER replied, "I have never seen a Communist and I wouldn't know one if I saw him". At this point Mr. STRIPLING began to read testimony as given by Mr. WARNER in May of 1947 at the secret hearings held in Los Angeles, California. Several times Mr. WARNER interrupted to change the word Communist to un-American. Chairman THOMAS spoke up on several occasions and made the observation that there was little difference if the person is Communist or Fascist as long as he is un-American. Mr. WARNER said some of the writers he named had worked eight or ten months on a picture and had not produced anything. Mr. WARNER was then asked to name the pictures in which these writers attempted to inject Communist propaganda. Mr. WARNER listed the following pictures with the name of the writer preceeding:

| Name of writer | Picture |
|---|---|
| ALVAH BESSIE | "The Very Thought of You" |
| GORDON KAHN | "Her Kind of Man" |
| HOWARD KOCH | "In Our Time" |
| RING LARDNER, JR. | "The Kokomo Kid" |
| JOHN HOWARD LAWSON | "Action in the North Atlantic" |
| ALBERT MALTZ | "Pride of the Marines" |
| ROBERT ROSSEN | "They Won't Forget" and "Dust Be My Destiny" |

It was learned from the press that a telegram of protest from a group of Hollywood celebrities not under subpoena was released. The message read: "We the undersigned as American citizens who believe in Constitutional Democratic Government are shocked and outraged by the continuing attempts of the House Committee on un-American Activities to smear the motion picture industry. We hold that these hearings are un-Democratic because:

1. Any investigation into the political beliefs of the individual is contrary to the basic principles of our Democracy.

2. Any attempt to curb the freedom of expression and to set arbitrary standards of Americanism is in itself disloyal to both the spirit and the letter of our constitution."

The next witness called to the stand was JOHN CHARLES MOFFITT, screen writer and critic. At the early part of his testimony Mr. STRIPLING asked Mr. MOFFITT to name writers he considered Communists, and at this point CHARLES J. KATZ, who stated he represented the Screen Story Analysts Guild and is also associated with a battery of attorneys in the defense of nineteen actors and writers subpoenaed by the Committee, rose from his seat and marched toward the witness stand. Mr. Chairman rapped his gavel for order and advised KATZ that he was out of order. As this outbreak occurred the spectators rose from their seats for a better view, and at KATZ'S insistence to be heard he was escorted from the room by Chairman THOMAS. Several Capitol Police ushered Mr. KATZ from the caucus room and took him outside the office buildings where the hearings were being held. Immediately BARTLEY C. CRUM rose to his feet to protest the manner in which the chairman acted and was advised that he was also out of order and would be evicted in a similar manner if he did not follow the proceedings as outlined by the chairman. At this point CRUM again took his seat and it was observed by agents in attendance that MARTIN POPPER, vice president of the National Lawyers Guild; ROBERT W. KENNY, a member of the legal staff representing the witnesses; and DAVID WAHL, a full time employee of the American-Jewish Congress and believed to be a Communist Party member in Washington, D. C., gathered in a huddle and began to discuss the incident. Chairman THOMAS rapped his gavel and ordered the Capitol Police to break up that conference. It was observed at this point that DAVID WAHL immediately left the caucus room and a few minutes later BARTLEY CRUM left.

In continuing his testimony Mr. MOFFITT explained to the Committee that the Story Analysts Guild was a union of workers who read stories submitted to the movies and prepared the synopsis to guide producers in choosing scripts. He charged it was the experience of many non-Communists that the analysts damned stories not favorable to the Communists. MOFFITT stated he understood that FRANCES MILLINGTON, head of the story department at Paramount and head of the Story Analysts Guild, followed the Communist Party line. As did Mr. MENJOU, MOFFITT pointed out that Communists are active in Hollywood, and both named JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, the film writer, as a Communist. Mr. MENJOU had testified that he has heard on numerous occasions that LAWSON is a Communist but could not prove it himself. Continuing, Mr. MOFFITT said that "the leading departments of the publishing houses have been very very heavily infiltrated by Communists. Broadway is practically dominated by them. Hollywood, I believe, is the only place where they have been strongly resisted". MOFFITT then testified that 44 of 100 plays produced on Broadway between 1936 and the current season have contained material to further the Communist line, and 32 others favored Communism.

In connection with Mr. MENJOU'S testimony he told the Committee that the film, "Mission to Moscow", is a thoroughly dishonest picture. He called it an example of the sort of screen production he thought should not be made because of un-American implications. Mr. MENJOU also named "North Star" as an ill advised picture and added "fortunately both of these pictures were unsuccessful". Mr. MENJOU at thi

On the second day of the hearing, October 21, 1947, before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Mr. ADOLPH MENJOU was called to the witness stand. Mr. MENJOU in his testimony stated that Hollywood is one of the main centers of Communist activities in America and it is the desire "of the masters in Moscow to use motion pictures with a propaganda medium to overthrow the American government". As Mr. JACK WARNER above, Mr. MENJOU had given the same testimony in a secret session of a committee in Los Angeles in May, 1947. This testimony was made public as Mr. MENJOU was rated an expert on subversive influences by Representative McDowell conducting the hearings. Mr. MENJOU appeared before the Committee to blame the long and disasterous Hollywood strike on Communist leadership and to call an outlawing of the Communist Party.

point was asked by Mr. STRIPLING whether he knew of any actors of other industries who were Communists and Mr. MENJOU replied that he had not seen their Communist Party membership cards but he knows a great many people who act a great deal like Communists. When asked for other individuals with un-American leanings, Mr. MENJOU stated that "we have many many dangerous directors and actors. They made a picture called 'North Star' on orders from Washington I am told—I have no proof. It was a dreadful picture that drew Russian life as idyllic. The orders by JOHN HOWARD LAWSON to the Screen Actors Guild were 'in every picture put in key principles of propaganda, particularly in the expensive set so that it cannot be retaken', that was their orders". Mr. MOFFITT later testified that he had heard Mr. LAWSON advise others of his craft to try to get five minutes of Communist doctrine into each of their scripts, preferably in an expensive set. On another occasion the witness said Mr. LAWSON told a group of acting students it was their duty "to further the class struggle". The advice included hints to appear "decadent" if playing a person of wealth and "downtrodden" if a tenament dweller. Mr. MENJOU when asked whether or not he knew JOHN CROMWELL, a director, was a Communist or not Mr. MENJOU stated he did not know, but in his opinion acted a great deal like one. Continuing, Mr. MENJOU testified that in his own home he told him that Capitalism was through and that he would live to see the end of it in America. Mr. MENJOU stated that this was a very strange statement for a man who makes upwards of $200,000 a year under the Capitalist system, and owns a large amount of Los Angeles real estate. Mr. STRIPLING then asked who should be responsible for keeping un-American tinges out of films and MENJOU replied he felt that the manufacturer of any product is responsible for the quality of his product. Mr. MENJOU prefaced his testimony by stating he was not appearing before the Committee to smear the industry and reiterated this statement at the conclusion of his testimony.

Chairman THOMAS remarked that he also wanted to say that the Committee was not holding the hearings to smear the industry or the people in the industry, and further that the Committee has no intention to do anything or suggest that the Committee or the government censor the screen. Mr. MENJOU went on to tell the Committee of the Screen Actors Guild meeting he had attended to discuss the strike in Hollywood. He said that RONALD REAGAN, president of the Guild at the time of the strike, described for more than an hour and a half his efforts to get the strike settled, and his final conclusion was that the strike was a jurisdictional one which Mr. HERBERT SORRELL did not want to settle. Mr. MENJOU explained if SORRELL and his followers had gained control of the Guild it would have meant more trouble, more chaos, and that the union was under the domination of the Communists. Mr. MENJOU stated that fortunately sanity prevailed and Mr. REAGAN was upheld. Mr. MENJOU charged that the Communist Party has no intention of peace of any kind in Hollywood. When Chairman

THOMAS referred to charges made by those opposing the investigation that the Committee was trying to censor the screen, Mr. MENJOU stated, "It is juvenile to say this Committee would try to control the motion picture industry..... I do not see how that statement could be made by any man with the intelligence of a louse". Mr. MENJOU described as "innocent dupes" the Hollywood celebrities who telegraphed a statement that they were shocked and outraged by the inquiry. Mr. MENJOU repeatedly called for legislation to outlaw the Communist Party in America. Because the Party is not outlawed, producers can't take action against the Communists. It was his theory that the Communists are underground now and that if the Party was outlawed it could be watched. An actor with Communist affiliations would not last long. Mr. MENJOU was then asked to give an example of behavior which might be considered Communistic. Mr. MENJOU stated the following: "Attending meetings at which PAUL ROBESON appeared, applauding him, and listening to him sing his Communist songs in America. I would be ashamed to be seen doing such a thing".

Mr. MENJOU concluded his testimony by stating that he first became interested in Communism during World War I when he was with the 5th Infantry and was stationed in "the birthplace of KARL MARX". Mr. MENJOU stated that he tried to read MARX'S "Das Kapital" and it was a tough job. Continuing, he stated that Hollywood became aware of Communism during the early 1930's when groups began to be formed and many of them have been labeled Communist fronts. One of these groups was the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions. It was labeled a Communist front organization and when its directors at a board meeting refused to make an anti-Communist statement there were wholesale desertions from it. Among the first to go was its president JAMES ROOSEVELT, according to Mr. MENJOU. He concluded by saying that in his opinion the people remaining in it would be Communists. Mr. MENJOU received a strong ovation as he left the stand.

On the morning of October 22, 1947 the first witness appearing before the Committee was screen actor ROBERT TAYLOR. Mr. TAYLOR stated that he has seen more indications of Communist activities in Hollywood in the last four or five years than previously. He stated that if he had his way the Communists in the movie capital would all be sent back to Russia or some other unpleasant place. During the testimony Mr. TAYLOR was asked if he had been forced into making the film "Song of Russia", and Mr. TAYLOR stated that he would like to correct the impression, and that he was not forced because "they can't force you to make any picture". Mr. TAYLOR added that he had objected strenuously to appearing in the film "Song of Russia" because it seemed to foster ideologies with which he did not agree. Mr. TAYLOR said it was his opinion "Song of Russia" contained Communist propaganda and should not have been made. He added, however, that most of the features to which he objected in the script first shown him were eliminated later. The actor told of discussing films in the office of LOUIS B. MEYER, Metro Goldwyn Meyer Production Chief, with LOWELL MELLETT, then chief of the Bureau of Motion Pictures of the Office of War Information and now a columnist for the Washington

Evening Star. It was at this point TAYLOR said he wanted to deny having been forced to act in the picture. Mr. TAYLOR said he thought "Hollywood would free itself of Communism quickly if it were given some sort of legislation or an attitude on the part of the government as such". TAYLOR named actress KAREN MORLEY and actor HOWARD DeSILVA as among members of the Screen Actors Guild he felt acted like Communists in meetings of the Guild. He added he had heard LESTER COLE, a screen writer, was a Communist but he had no personal knowledge of this.

The next witness to appear before the Committee was HOWARD RUSHMORE, New York Herald Tribune newspaper man, who said he once held a card in the Communist Party but resigned over the handling of a film review of "Gone With the Wind". RUSHMORE named JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, a former president of the Screen Writers Guild, as the "Commissar" of the propaganda in the industry. RUSHMORE stated that movie scripts were sent to New York to be examined in the Communist Party headquarters and if a proposed film was considered objectionable from the Communist point of view protests were organized and statements sent to various labor leaders for their use. Communist front organizations were similarly enlisted. RUSHMORE stated that he met LAWSON in Communist Party headquarters at a meeting in 1938 attended by CLARENCE HATHOWAY, then editor of the "Daily Worker", and V. J. JEROME whose real name was ISAAC ROMAINE, head of the Cultural Commission of the Communist Party. LAWSON asked at this meeting for new writers whom he could place in the studios. RUSHMORE stated that CHARLES CHAPLIN and EDWARD G. ROBINSON, actors, were "sacred cows" to the "Daily Worker", whose pictures always had to be placed whether good or bad by the "Daily Worker".

Continuing his testimony RUSHMORE stated that JOE NORTH, editor of the "New Masses", a Communist publication, complained that JOHN GARFIELD, another actor, had turned down an appeal for funds and remarked, "That's what happens when a comrade goes to Hollywood". NORTH boasted, however, that he had raised $20,000 in one week in Hollywood for the "Daily Worker", and the Communist officials told HATHOWAY and RUSHMORE that the film colony was their best source of revenue.

MORRIE RYSKIND, co-author of "Of Thee I Sing" and " Louisiana Purchase" told the Committee that he and his wife had been inveigled into joining anti-Fascist organizations in Hollywood which they discovered later to be Communist fronts. Continuing, RYSKIND said that the Communists got many innocent persons into such outfits, adding that President ROOSEVELT was induced into joining the League of American Writers, later pronounced a Communist front by the Attorney General. There was no publicity about it because a New York University Professor heard of it and called the White House and Mr. ROOSEVELT withdrew. RYSKIND also said that funds collected in Hollywood for the purpose of the defense of TOM MOONEY actually went to the Communist headquarters "which wanted to keep MOONEY in Jail for propaganda purposes".

JAMES K. McGUINESS, Metro Goldwyn Meyer executive in charge of script production, was the next witness. The films marked for attack, McGUINESS said, were "Tennessee Johnson", a portrayal of the life of President JOHNSON, and a production featuring the life of EDDIE RICKENBACKER, first World War flight ace and a noted foe of Communists. Both pictures described the rise of American youths to national eminence despite the handicap of poverty, and thus emphasized the merits of the American free enterprise system in a manner distastful to the superiors of the Soviet System. McGUINESS noted that the campaign against the Rickenbacker film was unsuccessful but the Johnson picture although distributed was not exploited in the usual manner. "Tennessee Johnson" was an American success story showing the rise of an illiterate backwoodsman to the White House who put his own career in jeopardy because of his devotion to the ideal of Abraham Lincoln. It did not portray in a favorable light THADDEUS STEVENS who has been adopted by American Communists as a heroic figure. Consistent followers of the Party line who campaigned to suppress the picture were named by McGUINESS as HYCRAFT, RICHARD COLLINS, JEWELS DASSEIN, and RING LARDNER, JR., all motion picture script writers receiving $1,000 and upwards per week. The campaign curbed showing of the Johnson picture to some extent. Then, according to McGUINESS, Pearl Harbor occurred and Metro Goldwyn Meyer decided against anything which would create any kind of a disturbance as detrimental to the War effort. McGUINESS said that Communists began penetrating the movie industry in the early 1930's, playing up the hatred of Hitler in the Colony. The Slavish following of the Communist line during the Stalin-Hitler Pact and the abrupt reverse following the invasion of Russia by Germany involved many people but the Pro-Soviets were by that time entrenched, he added. When asked how the industry could go about eliminating Communists, McGUINESS said, "Congress has an obligation to recognize that we have in our midst a fifth column, a group of quizzlings who intend to destroy our government and who are in the service of a foreign government. If they ever get control that will be the end of a free screen in America". McGUINESS said he agreed with LOUIS B. MEYER, president of the Metro Goldwyn Meyer, that legislation should be drafted permitting an employer to dismiss any employee whom he has reasonable grounds to conclude is acting in an attempt to overthrow the government.

On October 23, 1947 along with others, GARY COOPER, the screen star from Hollywood, advised the House Un-American Activities Committee he had turned down quite a few scripts because he thought they were tinged with Communism. Mr. COOPER agreed with other persons that appeared on the witness stand that only a small minority of screen actors followed the Communist Party line, estimating that possibly one per cent are Communists. Mr. COOPER branded as totally false two documents described as having been circulated in Italy and Yugoslovia this summer.

Confidential

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

These documents given by the State Department to the House Committee purported to show that Mr. COOPER was a Communist and had been imprisoned in the United States for holding Communist views. Communists, he said, have operated largely through social gatherings in Hollywood and by word of mouth. COOPER stated that he has heard people say that we would have a more efficient government without Congress, and added that he thought that was very un-American. The pamphlets said Mr. COOPER had addressed a crowd of ninety thousand in Philadelphia and told it, "In our day it is the greatest honer to be a Communist". Mr. COOPER said this pamphlet is not true and added that "you would have a hard time getting a crowd of ninety thousand out for anything in Philadelphia".

Another witness who appeared before the Committee was RONALD REAGAN, Hollywood motion picture actor. Mr. REAGAN is currently president of the Screen Actors Guild and told the Committee that as much as he detests Communist philosophy and tactics he did not want to see the United States compromise any of its Democratic principles in its fight against Communism. Mr. REAGAN declared the Screen Actors Guild has done a pretty good job in preventing Communism from making gains in the organization.

FRED NIBLO, JR., a member of the Screen Writers Guild and a writer, said he was convinced the Screen Writers Guild was the spark plug and spearhead of the Communist activities in Hollywood. He and fellow writers who joined the Motion Picture Alliance for the preservation of American ideals were virtually put on trial by the Guild in an atmosphere that suggested the Moscow Purge Trials.

Another veteran screen writer RICHARD MACAULAY told the Committee that anti-Communists who attempted to speak up at Guild meetings were subjected to a constant program of intimidation by a well organized clique. Mr. MACAULAY gave the Committee a list of twenty-eight screen writers who he said followed the Communist Party line, always voted as a block, indulged in a campaign of abuse against anti-Communist colleagues, and consistently joined Communist front organizations. The list included:

ALVAH BESSIE
GORDON KAHN
LESTER COLE
RING LARDNER, JR.
JOHN HOWARD LAWSON
MARIAN SPITZER
PAUL TRIVERS

Another witness and former president of the Screen Actors Guild, ROBERT MONTGOMERY, also testified before the Committee. Mr. MONTGOMERY said that Communists have been operating in the Guild since 1933 and never under any circumstances were they successful in dominating the Guild. He went on to describe the efforts made by a Left Wing group within the Guild to prevent the Guild from issuing a statement last year announcing vigorously opposed to any real Fascists or Communists in the motion picture industry or in the ranks of labor. The resolution, MONTGOMERY said, was made public three months after he first offered it. During that period he recalled various compromise resolutions were offered, from all of which the flat statement of the Guild's opposition to Communism was strangely absent. When asked if he was aware of Communist influences in other Hollywood Guilds, he said he assumed they were small minorities. He added the fact that these minorities are tiny does not change the picture as far as their danger is concerned. They are well organized and well disciplined. They appear at meetings with a completed program for the evening. MONTGOMERY then told the Committee that in 1939 he gave up his job to fight a totalitarianism called Fascism and was quite willing to give up his job again to fight a totalitarianism called Communism.

Another witness appearing was GEORGE MURPHY, another actor and member of the Screen Actors Guild, told of his efforts in connection with the Hollywood strike and their attempts to settle the strike. It was then Mr. MURPHY said that he got an estimate of the number of Communists among the actors. After a mass meeting at which the strike was discussed he reported a secret ballot was distributed to members of the Actors Guild. He said 97.3 per cent of the actors voted not to join the strike. On the basis of that he placed the number of active Communists at below one per cent of the actors because he assumed "all of their people voted and some of ours may not have." Mr. MURPHY said he had definite evidence of Communist activity but he did not believe the motion picture industry had been propagandizing Communism. Mr. MURPHY stated that he would refuse to read Communist Party lines if asked to do so in a picture. He described the Communists as not being in a hurry and warned that the motion picture industry must always be on guard lest infiltration become saturation. In connection with being asked whether or not the Party should be outlawed he commented that if the government decides that the Communist Party is taking orders from a foreign government then the Communist Party and its agents in the United States should not be able to hide under the guise of a political party.

On October 24, 1947 Mrs. LELAE ROGERS, mother and manager of actress GINGER ROGERS, appeared before the Committee and said she had recommended against production of "None But The Lonely Heart", based on the novel by RICHARD LLEWLYN, while she was serving as reader at RKO Studios. She said she felt the story lent itself to propaganda. Mrs. ROGERS also testified that for years she had heard that CLIFFORD ODETS was a Communist. Mrs. ROGERS based her statement on a column written by O. O. MacINTYRE dated January 8, 1936 which stated that Mr. CLIFFORD ODETS, playwright, is a member of the Communist Party and that she never saw that article denied. Mrs. ROGERS explained to the Committee what she thought was the type of propaganda being injected into the movies and stated that she and her daughter had turned down many scripts because some of the lines were un-American.

Another witness appearing on the 24th of October was OLIVER CARLSON, author, teacher, amd one time Communist from Hollywood, California. He told the Committee that Hollywood Leftists had been apparently able to practice some measure of thought control by keeping from the screen, films presenting Soviet Russia unfavorably. Mr. CARLSON also supplied the Committee with a fresh list of names and told a story of a Communist leader whose job was to soften up the elite of the film colony to make them susceptible to front organizations, the names of which some have cracked up repeatedly during the Committee's hearings, including those who directed or taught at the Peoples Educational Center in Los Angeles, which Mr. CARLSON termed is the Communist School in Hollywood. Those names mentioned by Mr. CARLSON included:

Director FRANK TUTTLE
Writer JOHN HOWARD LAWSON
Actor Director IRVING PISCHEL Writer HERBERT BIBERMAN
Actress KAREN MORLEY
Writer GUY ENDOR
Director EDWARD DYMTRYK

The Communist leader who Mr. CARLSON said came to him in fear of his life in 1938 was ELI JACOBSON, one time director of the Workers School in New York. Mr.

JACOBSON had left Los Angeles and Mr. CARLSON stated he does not know if he is dead or alive. Mr. CARLSON also stated that the Los Angeles Local Chapter of the American Federation of Teachers has been dominated by Communists. Many teachers, he added, have refused to join the union because of its Communist leanings and have complained to the Parent Union. Mr. CARLSON related that a recent school board election in the City of Los Angeles brought out 24,543 votes for an unsuccessful Communist candidate which in itself is a small percentage but indicates the strength of the Party.

WALT DISNEY also appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities on October 24, 1947 and stated that the artists had been trapped by Communist labor leaders and that one Hollywood union leader once said he could use the National Labor Relations Board "as it served its purpose". Mr. DISNEY named Mr. HERBERT K. SORRELL, head of the Conference of Studio Unions, as the man who called a strike at the Disney Studios and refused to agree to an election in the plant. At the insistance of his artists, Mr. DISNEY said he demanded a plant election to determine if Mr. SORRELL had the majority he claimed among the artists. Mr. DISNEY, the last witness before the Committee recessed its investigation of Communism in Hollywood for the weekend, said he believed Mr. SORRELL was a Communist and added that the first groups to smear him after the strike was called were the Communist front organizations throughout the world. Mr. DISNEY listed as Communist front organizations "The League of Women Voters", "The Peoples World", "PM", and "The Daily Worker". Mr. DISNEY said Communists were behind the labor movement and believed they should be smoked out so that true liberalism by real Americans can go on without the taint of Communism.

On the following day Mr. WALT DISNEY sent a telegram to the House Committee on un-American Activities and stated that he had erred the previous day in his testimony wherein he called the "League of Women Voters" a Communist front organization. He wanted to have this statement stricken from the record, stating that he was in error and that the "League of Women Voters" was not a Communist front organization as he had previously stated. This telegram was read into the record by Chairman THOMAS of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

The Un-American Activities Committee of the House of Representatives conducted its hearings on Monday, October 27, 1947 at 10:30 a.m., and Mr. ERIC JOHNSON, president of the Motion Picture Association of America testified as a witness. In charging Mr. JOHNSON had not lived up to the promises that the industry would cooperate fully with the inquiry, Chairman THOMAS told him that prominent persons had approached the Committee to lay off or postpone the hearings. Chairman THOMAS added that one man had given all the signs of an offer in an attempt to persuade the Committee to refrain from calling certain witnesses.

CONFIDENTIAL

Confidential

Mr. JOHNSON denied any such overtures had originated in his organization and stated that it was his opinion that he had given the Committee every cooperation asked. Under questioning by Committee Counsel ROBERT STRIPLING, Mr. JOHNSON admitted the Association of Motion Picture Producers which he heads refused a resolution urged by him which would have had them agreeing not to hire proven Communists. Mr. JOHNSON explained he had agreed to drop the resolution after the local council had pointed out it might give rise to charges of conspiracy and had called attention to the problem of deciding how to prove anyone a Communist.

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON was called to the witness stand on the morning of October 27, 1947 and immediately began in an antagonistic voice to demand his civil rights and civil liberties. Mr. LAWSON'S brief but stormy appearance followed the Committee's denials to question subpoenaes against nineteen witnesses who have previously been outlined. Mr. LAWSON was the first of the nineteen witnesses represented by Attorneys KENNY, CRUM, HOPPER and MARGOLIS, which attorneys had signed motions to question subpoenaes on the opening day of the hearings. Chairman THOMAS, after consulting the Committee in sessions during the week concerning the motion, denied the motion and called LAWSON as the first witness. LAWSON requested of the Chairman that he be allowed to read a prepared statement, and after the Chairman and other members of the sub-committee refused the statement, denied LAWSON the right to read it stating it was not pertinent and was only an attempt to harass the Committee. As Mr. STRIPLING asked the first question, Mr. LAWSON started his answer by stating the Committee was invading his private rights in inquiring his membership and affiliations. Each time Chairman THOMAS rapped his gavel to stop LAWSON from these lengthy protests. The witness finally answered the question. Once LAWSON yelled, "I am not on trial here, the Committee is on trial before the American people--let's get that straightened". As Mr. LAWSON shouted that he was being treated differently from other witnesses, Chairman THOMAS stated this would have to stop. Mr. LAWSON shouted that THOMAS was trying to intimidate him and finally Mr. STRIPLING asked the question, "Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?" Mr. LAWSON replied that the question was in no way related to the inquiry and attempted to continue into a lengthy tirade against the Committee. Chairman THOMAS again rapped the gavel attempting to stop LAWSON and LAWSON yelled it was unfortunate and tragic that he has to teach this Committee. At this point Chairman THOMAS rapped his gavel loudly and ordered the witness removed from the stand.

Chairman THOMAS announced that the sub-committee had unanimously voted to request that Congress cite JOHN HOWARD LAWSON in contempt for refusing to answer questions as propounded by the Committee. Mr. STRIPLING then requested permission from the Chairman to read into the record a summary of the information obtained during the investigation and after being given permission, Mr. STRIPLING read into the record a nine page single spaced summary revealing the affiliations and activities of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON in connection with Communist activities.

On Tuesday, October 28, 1947, the first witness appearing before the House Un-American Activities Committee was DALTON TRUMBO, a writer and member of the Screen Writers Guild. Mr. TRUMBO appeared before the Committee in answer to a subpena served on him by the Committee in the latter part of September, 1947, and immediately upon being sworn in as a witness, he began to make a speech berating the Committee for violating his constitutional rights and liberties, and it was with difficulty that Chairman J. PARNELL THOMAS quieted him so that Mr. STRIPLING could propound questions to him. Immediately after identifying himself, DALTON TRUMBO again attempted to make a statement and requested that he be allowed to read a prepared statement to the Committee. After review of the statement by Chairman THOMAS and other members of the Sub-Committee, they agreed unanimously that the statement was not pertinent to the inquiry and that it was nothing other than a blast against the Committee in an effort to discredit the efforts of the Committee to enlighten the public on the Communist activities of those involved. At this point, TRUMBO again attempted to blast derogatory statements toward the Committee, and then, after stopping this tirade, Mr. STRIPLING asked if TRUMBO was a member of the Screen Writers Guild, and at this time TRUMBO again attempted to make a long speech concerning the unjust practices of the Committee.

After numerous attempts to secure an answer from TRUMBO to this question, it was decided futile, and Mr. STRIPLING then asked if he was or had ever been a member of the Communist Party. Again Mr. TRUMBO attempted to go into a tirade against the Committee, and again, after numerous attempts to secure an answer to this question, Chairman THOMAS had the witness removed from the stand. Later in the morning, after consulting other members of the Sub-Committee, Chairman THOMAS stated that the Sub-Committee had reached a unanimous opinion that DALTON TRUMBO should be cited in contempt of Congress.

After TRUMBO had left the stand, Special Investigator LOUIS J. RUSSELL took the stand and presented to the Committee the registration card of DALTON TRUMBO, quoting from the card his Party registration number, as well as his Communist Party membership card for the years 1944 and 1945.

Following the testimony of Investigator RUSSELL, Mr. STRIPLING read into the record a voluminous summary report concerning the Communist activities on the part of DALTON TRUMBO and citing numerous specific instances where he has been engaged in Communist Party activities.

CONFIDENTIAL

The next witness to take the stand was Mr. ALBERT MALTZ, who also is a writer in Hollywood and conducted himself in a very similar manner to DALTON TRUMBO above. In fact, his attitude was identical, and he also refused to answer the two questions as mentioned above: namely, whether he was a member of the Screen Writers Guild, or whether he was or had ever been a member of the Communist Party. After many attempts to secure an answer to these two questions, he was removed from the witness stand and, as TRUMBO, was cited for contempt to Congress.

Confidential

A third witness, ALVAH BESSIE, upon being called to the stand on the same day, conducted himself in an identical manner. He likewise was cited for contempt of Congress by the members of the Sub-Committee present.

It is to be noted that the EVENING STAR newspaper stated that when DALTON TRUMBO left the witness stand, there was a large ovation attributed, according to the STAR, to Mr. TRUMBO. It is the opinion of the Agents who were in attendance, as well as others to whom the Agents talked, that the applause was not for TRUMBO but for the efficient manner in which Chairman THOMAS refused to allow this individual to dominate the hearings and to disrupt all order in connection therewith. It is observed that this is not the first occasion on which the press has made this mistake, although on several occasions there has been a small segregated group who did applaud the manner of these individuals who refused to testify, claiming a violation of their constitutional liberties.

After ALBERT MALTZ was removed from the stand, Mr. STRIPLING requested Chairman THOMAS to call ROBERT W. KENNY, attorney, to the stand. Mr. THOMAS, after swearing in Mr. KENNY, asked him about a newspaper article which quoted the lawyer as saying he had advised his clients, who include Messrs. LAWSON, TRUMBO, and MALTZ, to "invite prosecution and walk the plank." Mr. KENNY protested that Representative THOMAS was inquiring into the private relationship between attorney and client. When Mr. THOMAS pressed the point, however, after reading the Federal Conspiracy Statute to Mr. KENNY, Mr. KENNY stated the quotation was not quite accurate. He explained he had told his clients to "conduct themselves in a manner which would not invite successful prosecution." The lawyer, the former Attorney General of California, added that the "walk the plank" reference apparently was to his statement that his clients "probably would be invited to walk the plank." Mr. THOMAS then cautioned Mr. KENNY that he had squirmed out of this one and warned that the matter would be referred to the U. S. Attorney if the Committee found that Mr. KENNY was giving advice of that sort as asserted in the newspaper article.

Upon the removal of Mr. MALTZ from the witness stand, Mr. PAUL V. McNUTT requested to take the stand. He was afforded this opportunity and sworn in by Chairman THOMAS, and then stated to the Committee that the Committee had yesterday accused the organizations which he, Mr. McNUTT represents, of having tried to stifle the investigation. He said the charge was made without proof and on the basis of insinuation and innuendo. Continuing, Mr. McNUTT charged that the public was entitled to know if there were any proof of these "gratuitous insinuations." Mr. McNUTT, on behalf of his clients, denied that the industry had tried to stifle the inquiry, and stated that statements of this kind made by Mr. THOMAS to ERIC JOHNSTON, head of the Motion Picture Association, "hardly become a Committee of Congress which has expressed its intention to conduct a fair and impartial hearing." Chairman THOMAS promised to reply to Mr. McNUTT in full at a later time.

During the time that Mr. McNUTT was on the stand, he was asked by Mr. STRIPLING to name the organizations which he was representing as counsel, and after much stumbling he was able to name only three of 26 organizations that he claimed to represent. He was then asked why Mr. JAMES BYRNES, former Secretary of State, was not representing the clients, as he had been engaged to do, and Mr. McNUTT stated that he believed, although he was not sure, that Mr. BYRNES had agreed to represent them and counsel them only wherever there was no legislative body concerned. Mr. McNUTT was then asked if all those agencies that he represented were aware of the stand that Mr. McNUTT had taken concerning the insinuating remarks about the industry, and he stated that to his knowledge only one individual knew of it, and that was Mr. JACK L. WARNER, of Warner Brothers Studio.

Mr. LOUIS J. RUSSELL was called back to the stand, and he produced a photostatic copy of the registration card for both ALBERT MALTZ and ALVAH BESSIE, reading the registration Party number, as well as the membership card number, for the years 1944 and 1945, of these two individuals. Mr. STRIPLING also had read into the record a long summary memorandum concerning the Communist Party activities on the part of these two individuals, as he did DALTON TRUMBO.

Another witness appearing before the Committee on October 28 was ROY M. BREWER, representative of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Machine Operators. Mr. BREWER in his testimony blamed the four Hollywood strikes in the past three years on Communist domination of the Conference of Studio Unions, and expressed the belief that much of the violence accompanying the strikes was due to Communist influence. He gave the Committee a list of film personalities who he said alleged they were observers on the strike scene but actually assisted the strikers. The list included JOHN GARFIELD, JOHN WEXLEY, SIDNEY BUCHMAN, HOWARD KOCH, LARRY ADLER, LEWIS MILESTONE, DALTON TRUMBO, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, CAREY McWILLIAMS, FRANK TUTTLE, ROBERT ROSSEN, and WILLIAM POMERANCE. He told the Committee that while the Communists' plan to control the Hollywood unions had been defeated thus far, the real American Federation of Labor unions in the studios have had to make tremendous sacrifices.

Continuing, Mr. BREWER stated that Hollywood workers have fought valiently to prevent their unions from becoming an adjunct of Soviet foreign policy. Hundreds have suffered personal injuries, homes have been bombed, automobiles destroyed, and children threatened. Intimidation and coercion have caused many to live for weeks in terror. Mr. BREWER contended that the Conference of Studio Unions, headed by HERBERT K. SORRELL, had tried to disrupt and destroy the AF of L unions in the studios and throw the working people into a Communist-controlled industrial union. The plan, he said, started with JEEP KIBRE, whom he described as a Communist agent sent to Hollywood in 1935, and was carried on by Mr. SORRELL, whom he identified as another Communist.

Mr. BREWER during his testimony listed the Painters Union--Local 644, Screen Cartoonists Guild, and the Screen Story Analysts Guild among Hollywood unions "completely dominated by Communists."

On Sunday, October 26, 1947, the Sunday STAR newspaper published an article bearing a New York, New York, deadline of October 25 by the Associated Press, entitled: "PEPPER and RANKIN Debate Film Inquiry in Radio Broadcast." This article relates to a speech delivered by Senator CLAUDE PEPPER, Democrat, of Florida, in New York City on Saturday evening, October 25, 1947. Senator PEPPER said the House Committee on Un-American Activities investigation of Hollywood is censorship in violation of the Bill of Rights, and Representative RANKIN, Democrat, of Mississippi, member of the Committee, replied that the criticism "'comes with poor grace from a Senator.'" Continuing, the article stated that Senator PEPPER said: "'If censorship begins with the movies, it will next reach the press, the radio, the painter, the musician, and in time the pulpit.'" According to the article, this speech was made by Senator PEPPER in a Mutual Broadcasting System radio broadcast from New York. Senator PEPPER referred to the investigation as a "'witch hunt,'" and said the danger of such investigations comes from the fact that they stifle the American genius for growth and development. They "'attempt to produce a safe and even pusillanimous conformity to a stereotype of mediocrity dictated by some self-constituted censor.'" He said the First Amendment forbids laws censoring in advance, and also laws imposing subsequent punishment, and added: "'Fear of punishment, whether through imprisonment or through Congressional Committee defamation, can and does result in a silencing of those who have a right to speak out.'" Senator PEPPER said witnesses were permitted to testify to heresay and third hand information, unadmissible in any court of law, under the cloak of Congressional immunity, and some of those damaged may never get a chance to defend themselves. The article further states that earlier on the day of October 25, 1947, former Assistant Attorney General O. JOHN ROGGE said that Hollywood figures should refuse to appear before the Committee. Speaking at a Conference on Cultural Freedom and Civil Liberties, sponsored by the National Arts, Sciences, and Professions Council of the Progressive Citizens of America, Mr. ROGGE said: "My advice to our Hollywood friends and to all others is not to appear at all." He declared that Senator PEPPER did not go far enough when he advised Hollywood artists and writers to appear but to answer no questions pertaining to their private political beliefs or ideas.

Continuing, Mr. ROGGE stated that in his opinion the House Committee is unconstitutional. It violates not only the First Amendment, but the Fifth, Sixth, Ninth, and Tenth Amendments, as well. In his opinion, Mr. ROGGE continued, no one need appear and testify before such an unauthorized and unconstitutional agency of the Government.

CONFIDENTIAL

In the same article it was stated that Representative JOHN E. RANKIN, Democrat, of Mississippi, a member of the Committee, made a talk on the same date from McComb, Mississippi. Congressman RANKIN spoke immediately after Senator PEPPER's broadcast, and on the same program. Mr. RANKIN said civil liberties guarantees do not give the right to anyone to plot to overthrow their government or attempt to spread Communism or any other "ism" to our destruction. Mr. RANKIN said the Committee is rendering a great service "'by exposing the enemies within our gates and it comes with poor grace for a United States Senator to be giving them aid and comfort by criticizing the Committee.'" Mr. RANKIN also stated that so far as attempting to persecute anyone, there is not a word of truth to it; the Committee has done all possible to get at the facts, and those who squawk the loudest always seem to be those who are later convicted. According to the article, Representative RANKIN concluded his remarks by stating: "'We have a right to investigate the activities of those Communists who are trying to spread propaganda through the moving pictures. Communism is the greatest menace our civilization has ever known, and anyone who attempts to spread it in this country is an enemy of our Government and ought to be dealt with as such.'"

There is being set out below a summary of all information obtained in the files of this Field Division as furnished by both confidential technical informants and confidential informants. It is believed that this information is self-explanatory, and is as follows:

CONF. INF. [redacted] U On the morning of this date DAVID WAHL contacted ELEANOR LOWENTHAL for MAX, who was at the doctor's office. WAHL indicated he wished to advise MAX LOWENTHAL that IZZY (I. F. STONE of PM) was in New York and could be reached at his office. WAHL also requested MAX be advised there was a follow-up on that article in a Washington paper which is infinitely worse and today's article goes to greater length, mentioning 60 possible indictments and referring pretty specifically to a man in WAHL's New York office (MAURICE HALPERIN) with several mis-statements. WAHL added if MAX missed IZZY, WAHL planned to see him in Washington in the morning. (X) U

[redacted] On the same afternoon PHILIP DUNAWAY, NYC, advised WAHL he talked with WAHL's friend (MAX LOWENTHAL ?) last night and for personal and business reasons PHIL decided not to come to Washington. However, he stated he would help from New York and had some excellent ideas which he was reducing to writing and would send by letter to WAHL's friend in care of WAHL. DAVE instructed they be sent to his office. PHIL suggested if his ideas were adopted and WAHL or his friends felt DUNAWAY entitled to compensation, that would be wonderful. However, if otherwise, it would be all right.

The ideas referred to appear to be suggestions in connection with the Hollywood hearings. DUNAWAY also referred to some rather startling news in one of the Washington papers and stated the fellow to whom he was talking (LOWENTHAL) knows all about what has happened in New York and can tell or show WAHL about it.

[redacted] On the afternoon of this date ELLA SHALIT, secretary of DAVE WAHL, made reservations for JOHN DIERKES at the Hay Adams House.

[redacted] POPPER and WAHL conversed in the evening of this date, at which time WAHL informed POPPER that BOB KENNY and BEN MARGOLIS would arrive in Washington at 11 a.m. They discussed a press conference with these lawyers, and POPPER stated the press was interested in the glamour guy (LARRY PARKS) rather than the lawyers. WAHL suggested it would be a good idea for the lawyers to get off a blast, and POPPER stated he would see if he could get hold of this guy (CHARLES) MICHIE regarding a press conference.

WAHL said he thought it would be a good idea if the press people met the plane and have them make a brief punchy statement setting the stage for a future press conference. WAHL mentioned contacting the Herald Tribune guys and FELIX BELAIR of the New York Times. POPPER indicated he would leave the matter to MICHIE, their press representative.

[redacted] On the morning of October 17, 1947, HELEN BRYAN, Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, New York City, advised MARTIN POPPER they were having a dinner on civil liberties on October 30 and asked if there was any possibility of having any of the Hollywood group as guests of honor. POPPER stated they would arrive Saturday, October 18, 1947, and he would be glad to discuss it with them although October 30 would be in the middle of the hearings. POPPER requested a copy of the invitation and said they would have a staff meeting Sunday or Monday.

On the same date JOE CARROLL in the office of RALPH SHIKE (phonetic), Progressive Citizens of America, New York City, inquired of POPPER as to the chance of getting any of the Hollywood group to New York for a press conference on Tuesday, October 21. CARROLL said he thought he could put out a lot of publicity prior to the conference. POPPER did not relish the idea but stated he would take the matter up with the Hollywood people when they arrived. On the afternoon of this date POPPER conversed with BENJAMIN MARGOLIS, Ambassador Hotel, Chicago, stating the Washington News Service wanted to know about the arrival of LARRY PARKS in connection with the press release on the meeting Monday night. POPPER mentioned they could get fifteen minutes on a local radio station Sunday and should take advantage of this as a build-up for the Monday night meeting at the Press Club. He said tentatively DALTON TRUMBO, RING LARDNER, Jr., and BOB KENNY would be the speakers. He also mentioned after the Press Club meeting there would be a cocktail party where fifty or sixty wealthy people would be invited for the purpose of raising dough. (X) U

On the same afternoon POPPER and DAVID REIN discussed the debate referred to in previous letters. REIN indicated he had heard nothing from Congressman (JOHN) McDOWELL, who is a member of the Un-American Activities Committee. POPPER stated they had checked on the Hollywood guy (FRANCIS HENSON) and the general thought is that he is very important. They agreed if they could only get two unimportant guys they would not put on the debate. (X) U

On the same afternoon, JIM PROCTOR, NYC, advised POPPER that MAY REIS, a crack secretary, is available and should be down there in Washington and would come for $75 per week plus expenses. POPPER instructed that she be sent down and stated they would work it out here. POPPER stated they needed someone in addition (press agent ?) and PROCTOR suggested PETE (WEINSTEIN ?), and POPPER said bring him down also. POPPER further mentioned they need a research guy as well as a press agent. PROCTOR mentioned PETE would probably charge $250 plus expenses and stated he himself does not want to be paid. (X) U

On the evening of this date, CHARLES KRAMER contacted Senator CLAUDE PEPPER, who stated United Press had requested him to write a four or five hundred word commentary on the book by former Secretary JAMES BYRNES. PEPPER stated JIM thinks the best thing is not to do it, (X) (U) and if anyone wants to read his comments on BYRNES' book, they could read them in "our book" if and when it is published, with which KRAMER agreed. (C) (U)

During a lengthy conversation, PEPPER told KRAMER he wanted to have a talk with him Monday on that other thing and asked if KRAMER had seen that Times Herald article (long article on Gregory Case). KRAMER said he had, and PEPPER stated he would have a chat with CHARLIE about that. (C) (U)

[redacted] On the afternoon of October 17, 1947, BETTY HAYS advised DAVID REIN that TERESA LISS had said there would not be any collection at the meeting. She said there would be a reception at the home of BELFORD LAWSON following the Monday night meeting. She also mentioned the Lawyers Guild and Southern Conference were supposed to split the proceeds. (C) (U)

Thereafter, REIN contacted POPPER, stating he had received a call from BETTY HAYS, whom he had got as captain of ushers for POPPER's collection. She explained that TERESA LISS of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare said there would be no collection at the meeting, but there would be a reception following the meeting at the home of BELFORD LAWSON (Southern Conference). POPPER stated there would be both, apparently meaning that a collection would be taken at both functions. He indicated that Southern Conference alone would handle the money but they would meet tomorrow and suggest sharing the proceeds, the money to be used by each organization for a specific campaign against the Committee. He stated the general feeling was there would not be much raised at the meeting but they expected a few thousand dollars at the reception afterwards. (C) (U)

Following the above conversation, REIN told BETTY HAYS there would be two collections and explained they were inviting fifty or sixty people with money, such as the GERBERS, to the reception. (C) (U)

[redacted] U On the morning of October 18, 1947, JOHN DIERKES was contacted by WAHL at the Hay Adams House. They discussed the fact that CRUM and KENNY were delayed because of plane trouble and DIERKES suggested WAHL put the arrival of KENNY and CRUM on the AP ticker when he gets a definite time. WAHL informed DIERKES that MARTY (POPPER) would like to talk with DIERKES, to which the latter commented, "He would." DIERKES, however, stated he wanted to talk with WAHL. (X) U

On this date KIM SILBERSTEIN, speaking for the Lawyers Guild, invited WAHL to the meeting Monday night at the Press Club. She inquired if WAHL could contact some people in the Jewish groups, and WAHL suggested she approach PHILIP SCHIFF, Jewish Welfare Board, and JACOB KAMEN, head of the Jewish Community Council, indicating it would be all right to use WAHL's name. He also suggested the name of Rabbi METZ. WAHL stated unfortunately most of his contacts on the Jewish side are not in Washington, but said SCHIFF and KAMEN are key people in the local community. Later WAHL also suggested MARCUS COHN of the American Jewish Committee. (X) U

[redacted] (X) U On the morning of October 18, 1947, MARTIN POPPER conferred with CHARLES (MICHIE), discussing press matters and the arrival of KENNY, CRUM, and MARGOLIS that morning by plane. MICHIE indicated he had talked with a lot of the guys and they were all against a Sunday press conference. MICHIE stated he could employ his time this morning by talking with CARL LEVIN, OLIVER PILOT, and HERMAN of Hollywood Reporter, just briefing them. He mentioned he was getting into difficulty with Variety, Hollywood Reporter, and Motion Picture Daily, because they always want something new, something not mentioned in press releases. (X) U

[redacted] (X) U On this morning Mrs. KIM SILBERSTEIN contacted SELMA REIN for names of people to contact. She said she just sent invitations to heads of important organizations, ministers, and people in church groups, etc. KIM stated she (X) U thought there would be some spot announcements on that radio station (WQQW). SELMA commented their listening public was small, not supposed to exceed about 10,000. SELMA stated she would give KIM the names later. (X) U

[redacted] (X) U On the same morning, SILBERSTEIN talked with DAVID REIN, who said he was disturbed about the publicity and thought they really need an ad in the papers. POPPER talked him out of this theory, stating they were getting a man who would get them a lot of publicity. SILBERSTEIN stated it is very curious that they get a great deal of publicity in New York but in Washington they kill "us." They discussed having a man for the outside at the Monday night meeting and asking people to register. However, SILBERSTEIN stated it would take time and be somewhat out of order, as many people would not be lawyers. (It is believed this conversation concerns efforts to enlist membership in the Lawyers Guild, because REIN suggested one of the speakers could indicate that membership cards for the local chapter were available.) At noon this date, MARTIN POPPER spoke with HELEN FULLER, New Republic Magazine, who inquired if it were true the Screen Writers Guild is not participating at the hearing. POPPER stated he had not heard but would learn when they get in tonight. FULLER stated she heard from Hollywood there was a big row and the Screen Writers Guild decided to duck the whole thing. FULLER also stated she had a peek at the testimony to be given by JACK WARNER, and he takes a more enlightened line than the rest and his position will be close to the position of WILLKIE. She said JACK WARNER would say there are probably some Communists around and some in his studio, etc., but he is the guy responsible for the pictures. She stated it is not a good forthright statement--that he skirts the nasty parts. (X) U

POPPER inquired what some of the other guys are going to say, and she said (LOUIS) MAYER is going to take a stand for the appeasement position (X) U and no one seems to know what (SAM) GOLDWYN is going to do. POPPER inquired about ERIC JOHNSTON, and FULLER did not know. He asked about PAUL McNUTT and whether he would make an open statement, and she stated they were not sure, but the committee had made it clear they did not like it. (X) U

On the morning of this date, SELMA REIN informed KIM SILBERSTEIN she had the names ready for KIM and some of them may have received the announcement. She stated some might be contacted for the cocktail party but KIM would have to use her discretion. Thereafter, she furnished a lengthy list set forth hereafter at the end of this report. (X) U

October 19, 1947 (C)(U)(X) U

[redacted] On this date, HERMAN (GREENBERG) stated to DAVID REIN he heard that CRUM and KENNY issued a press release that afternoon and a telegram to THOMAS (Senator ELBERT ?) to quash the subpoena on five grounds, and that this was going to be a declaratory judgment in the District Court since apparently some of the nineteen persons summoned cannot afford to take this stand, adding as "we" were in the position with those CPA (?) guys. REIN commented he was the first to raise such a point, and HERMAN stated CRUM and KENNY may not understand the legal theory. HERMAN stated he did not know what lines of communication REIN had with KENNY and CRUM and thought perhaps he could make some suggestions to them. REIN stated POPPER could be a link between but that POPPER is probably trying to horn in and thus would be an obstacle. GREENBERG suggested SILBERSTEIN, and REIN stated he doubted whether BOB would want to interfere. (C)(U)(X) U b7D

Thereafter, REIN contacted SILBERSTEIN to inquire if he had heard anything about filing suit and BOB stated POPPER was one of their attorneys. REIN mentioned he would like to confer with them since he had done considerable work on this subject in connection with the threat at the time of the Henry Wallace address. (C)(U)(X) U

REIN then spoke with GREENBERG, stating SILBERSTEIN indicated POPPER has been retained as one of counsel and any work done by REIN would be on a voluntary basis. (C)(U)(X) U

[redacted] (X) U On the morning of this date, KATHRYN POPPER advised LIL _____ BART CRUM would do collecting at the reception. KATHRYN mentioned he had done it for CRC (Civil Rights Congress ?) or something in New York and was very good. KATHRYN stated a committee has been set up in (X) U b7D

New York and PAUL DRAPER, treasurer, should receive checks for funds collected at the meeting. She said JOHN GARFIELD is head of it, and KATHRYN doesn't know the name of it but supposes they are people in the theater and on the stage in New York. LIL stated she thought at their affair checks should be made out to Southern Conference. KATHRYN indicated she would settle this point and recontact LIL. KATHRYN stated apparently this group is very adamant about where the funds they raise will go. KATHRYN mentioned they had gotten a crackerjack girl from New York, one whom KATHRYN knew in Hollywood, and added one of the guys' secretary is coming in from the coast and that MARTIN's secretary will be there. (X) U

[redacted] On the same morning, FEO ATHANASSOV, wife of the official Bulgarian representative to this country, invited KATHRYN POPPER and MARTIN POPPER to her home Tuesday night, stating the Professor (NICCEM MEVORAH) and BOYAN (ATHANASSOV) would be there, as would the BEN APPELS (author). FEO mentioned she planned to attend the Press Club meeting on Monday night. (X) U b7D

Through another source [redacted] it was learned that Mrs. ATHANASSOV indicated that she was inviting some of the Hollywood people to her home on Tuesday night, and that she invited ELIZABETH and DICK SASULY. (X) U b7D

[redacted] On the afternoon of this date, FEO ATHANASSOV invited DICK SASULY to her party TUESDAY night, mentioning the APPELS, the Professor, and her husband BOYAN would be there; also, that Dr. (SERGIJE) MAKIEDO, Yugoslav counselor, would also be there. (X) U b7D

[redacted] On the evening of this date, MADELINE (DONNER), wife of FRANK DONNER, CIO official, invited the SASULYS to the Press Club meeting Monday and to BELFORD LAWSON's reception later. MADELINE stated the party was primarily for people with money but SASULY was invited so he could help induce the others. MADELINE said she heard GREG SILVERMASTER was in the housing business, which SASULY confirmed, adding he would tell MADELINE more about it tomorrow. (X) U b7D

[redacted] On the morning of this date, WAHL contacted CARL GREEN to borrow sleeping pills for BART CRUM. GREEN indicated shortage and suggested WAHL contact IZZY (STONE) for pills. WAHL mentioned CRUM had put the pressure on WAHL, insisting he go up to New York, but only in (X) U b7D order to make proper financial arrangements. He stated CRUM believed WAHL should get $20,000 a year. This conversation undoubtedly concerns WAHL's joining the Haganah organization. (X)(U)

In the afternoon, Mrs. (GERTRUDE) RODMAN contacted WAHL, mentioning the name of HYMAN GOLDMAN. WAHL suggested him as a good man to get there tonight. GERTRUDE remarked that back in the Spanish days that guy was good. GERTRUDE thought the BART CRUM angle should shove some of these kind of guys into "our" field. WAHL mentioned at one time GOLDMAN considered buying stock in WQQW but left for the Philippines without doing so. They discussed the broadcasts over WQQW yesterday, and it was mentioned LARRY PARKS wrote most of his own speech. GERTRUDE mentioned that they (Southern Conference for Human Welfare) were putting on the cocktail party and sharing proceeds with the Lawyers Guild but POPPER did not want them to mention the Southern Conference at any time because he felt it might be poor public relations.

[redacted] (U) Shortly thereafter, WAHL contacted JACK KAMEN, Jewish Community Council, first discussing mutual Jewish matter. WAHL then mentioned BART CRUM's being in town and the Lawyers Guild meeting and stated he had been asked if he would speak to some Jewish people and whether KAMEN or HYMAN GOLDMAN would like to go to the Guild meeting and cocktail party afterwards at BELFORD LAWSON's, [redacted] KAMEN inquired if this was the residence of a negro, and WAHL blandly suggested that since CRUM is a friend of the negroes, it might be. KAMEN inquired who was running the party, and WAHL stated a group of women, some of whom may be connected with the Southern Conference. KAMEN stated it looked like a Southern Conference affair to him and mentioned it is not too popular these days. WAHL asked KAMEN if he thought that was so. (X)(U) b7D b6 b7C

[redacted] U In the morning, JOHN DIERKES talked with WAHL, making reference to the thing they were working on Sunday. DIERKES said they would like to get a list of the best Protestant ministers and any supplementary lists, such as instruments. DIERKES said what they want is an endorsement of the position taken by these people to supplement the position taken by the group in Hollywood headed by SELZNICK. WAHL stated he did not have such a list but thought such a list would be in the hands of a citizens' group. WAHL mentioned he had talked with MAX (LOWENTHAL) and MAX would be coming down today. He asked if it might be possible for them to have a couple of quiet hours with MAX and BART CRUM, also. DIERKES stated CRUM has got all of these notions already and recognizes the situation, but the problem is selling it to these guys. (X) U b7D

[redacted] U On the same morning, WAHL contacted JACK WATSMAN (phonetic), Citizens Committee (on Displaced Persons), advising him a group of highly placed people in Hollywood had gotten out a statement about the Thomas Committee and would like to have some leading Protestant clergymen join them. WAHL thought JACK might know some people who have expressed themselves in support of the Stratton Bill. Thereafter, they discussed a number of liberal churchmen not set forth herein. (X) U b7D

[redacted] U WAHL then contacted DIERKES, stating two people from the Federal Council of Churches worth getting would be CHARLIE TAFT and ALLEN T. BURNS, both in New York. WAHL stated he was told FRANK ADELOT of Princeton is an important name involving Quaker side. WAHL also mentioned LAWRENCE PICKET, which DIERKES corrected as CLARENCE PICKETT. WAHL mentioned Mrs. HARPER SIBLEY. (X) U b7D

The same morning, WAHL contacted the office of Congressman (JACOB) K. JAVITS of New York, stating he would like to use the facilities of the Congressman's office to have BART CRUM, ADRIAN SCOTT, and ED DMYTRYK interviewed together with a couple of selected people from the press to take their pictures and interview them about the movie "Crossfire." WAHL indicated SAM ROSENBERG (WAHL's nephew), who is one of the best photographers in the country, would need clearance to get into the office building. After some discussion, the woman answering the phone stated they assume it will be all right for WAHL to use the office, indicating the room number is 312. The woman stated CRUM is a personal friend of Mr. JAVITS, and she is anxious to see him herself. (X) U

[redacted] Immediately thereafter, DIERKES and CRUM spoke with WAHL. DIERKES inquired if WAHL had a list of newspapers to which the editorial (X) U b7D in the Washington Post could be wired. WAHL did not have such a list, but thought it comparatively easy to obtain a list from the classified phone book. CRUM stated he knew a lot of these people personally and thought it might be effective to wire directly MARSHALL FIELD, JOHN KNIGHT, GARDNER COLES, JAMES of New York Times, ED THACKERY (phonetic), and PAUL SMITH of the Chronicle. (X) u

WAHL also told CRUM he is working on a list of Protestants, and CRUM indicated he was also interested in Rabbis. CRUM inquired if there were any liberal Catholics, and WAHL stated, "Are you asking me?" CRUM stated Bishop SHIELD of Chicago, if he could do it. (X) u

[redacted] u On the afternoon of this date, ELLA SHALIT informed WAHL he (MAX LOWENTHAL) had arrived and was going to be at the Capitol, extension 100, until 4:30 p.m. DAVE indicated he was at the office of Senator PEPPER and would contact him at the Capitol. (X) u b7D

They stated KENNY could give a talk on the Guild to the members and agreed tentatively on the date as Saturday, November 1. They discussed speakers, and REIN said they had considered a big dinner with ELEANOR ROOSEVELT, but MARTIN POPPER would not let them have it. KATHRYN then spoke with MAY REIS, inquiring about several Hollywood individuals. She spoke with WALDO SALT, advising him the girl there is CHARLOTTE YOUNG, and she is the one who is going to do the breakdown on the transcript. KATHRYN requested SALT to start her on it rather than have her wait for HERB (BIBERMAN) to return. It is again noted CHARLOTTE YOUNG is membership director of the local Communist Party.

[redacted] Later, the same afternoon, KATHRYN POPPER conferred with EDNA STARK concerning POLLY SHERMAN. EDNA explained why she could not do any work for POPPER--first, because she is endeavoring to get a full-time job, as they are terribly broke, and, second, with JOHNNY (husband ?) working for the Government she must take it easy as she has a rotten record anyway and "just for the time being, you know." EDNA explained that POLLY SHERMAN is a swell person, very capable, and that her husband is or was public relations guy for the Joint Anti-Fascist Committee when they had their trouble about a year and a half ago. She added POLLY is very interested, very sympathetic, and a good secretary and stenographer. b7D

The man stated he was going to drop in on the committee and see what was cooking and was leaving at 6 p.m. (for New York). KATHRYN indicated everybody was going up except MARTIN and requested the man to see how NAT (WITT ?) feels about leaving right away. b7D

[redacted] On the morning of October 22, 1947, RUTH RIFKIN (Gregory subject) contacted JUDY GOLDSTEIN at the Shoreham Hotel, discussing electric mimeograph machine. JUDY stated they were going to send out a re-print of an editorial to 500 newspapers that afternoon and would need envelopes. She stated they were then making up the list of names. [redacted] In the morning, DAVID WAHL contacted CARL GREEN, Pall Mall Apartments. CARL inquired whether WAHL had conveyed the idea to his friend in New York that the whole thought that they come into this was GREEN's idea. WAHL stated not to worry about that. He would talk with him later. WAHL stated what concerned him at the moment was how to reach HAROLD, and there was some discussion as to whether there are two "s's" in HAROLD's last name. b7D

[redacted] Shortly thereafter, WAHL contacted HAROLD (WEISBERG), GLebe 7380, and stated he wondered if someone might have information concerning the chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee--something that was worthwhile. HAROLD stated it is quite possible and they agreed to meet at Group Health at 12:30. b7D

HAROLD WEISBERG is one of the ten State Department employees recently dismissed for reasons of security.

[redacted] Later the same afternoon, CHARLIE (KRAMER) contacted WAHL, who stated he had seen HAROLD, that fellow who used to work _____ _____, and he would gather he has some very rich possibilities but it would require someone going out to his house and helping him with his carpentry work. WAHL stated he had not been able to get hold of any of his friends but understood one of the lawyers has talked about it but has not done anything about it. KRAMER stated he did not really know because they had shied off him for one reason or another, possibly referring to HAROLD WEISBERG. WAHL stated it was not a case of him but a case of what he has got. b7D

KRAMER complained he began to make some demands, and WAHL stated why shouldn't he as far as remuneration is concerned. After some conversation, KRAMER indicated he would see what he could do. WAHL added he would probably want some help by way of copying the thing, and KRAMER indicated he would explore into that.

[redacted] On the same date, WAHL talked with ADRIAN SCOTT at the Mayflower Hotel concerning a piece by SCOTT about "some of my worst friends." WAHL indicated there are some friends of his in New York, a nice young couple who are doing some educational films. WAHL identified this friend as MAYNARD GERTLER who works with (JOHN) GRIERSON, and said he told him about SCOTT's plan and GERTLER seemed interested in looking into it and talking about it with SCOTT. SCOTT stated he could be reached in New York at BENNETT CERF's. WAHL explained Mrs. GERTLER is of the STRAUS family, and they try to do some decent educational things with some of their money. (X) U b7D

[redacted] On the late afternoon of October 23, 1947, WAHL contacted JOHN DIERKES. They discussed the whereabouts of BART CRUM and WAHL indicated the last he knew about him was a 3 o'clock appointment with WAYNE MORSE (phonetic). DIERKES related an interesting story to WAHL involving a friend who is an old friend of ERIC JOHNSTON. DIERKES stated he went around to see him and when he got there this friend walked into JOHNSTON's office with McNUTT, JOHNSTON, CHAYFITZ, and a public relations man, and McNUTT said, "We are up a creek without an oar. Have you got an oar?" Thereafter, DIERKES indicated this show was nobody's game except that of TAYLOR, MENJOU, GARY COOPER, and a variety of people and the really important characters have been really screwed, and he believes it time for BART or some reasonable person to go around and put the heat on these _____, and he does not feel the kids in his place are prepared to let him do it. (X) U b7D

Apparently DIERKES' idea was to persuade the movie magnates to stronger action and to point out that they were dupes in the hearing. DIERKES continued that their position was to be that the real idea was to put such a thing out of business, suggesting editorials in the New York Times, Washington Post, and Times Herald, that there is really substantial stuff in this business. He referred to some statement that the President had made that afternoon and stated this committee business is Presidential stuff and it is knocking them right off the front page. (X) U

[redacted] HERBERT SCHIMMEL talked with MILDRED KRAMER, asking if CHARLIE told her about the Hollywood celebrities they met last night. MILDRED stated the party the other night after the meeting (Press Club meeting) seemed like old home week to CHARLIE, as there were so many California people there. (X) (U) b7D

At noon on this date, confidential informant advised CHARLES KRAMER was at the office of MARTIN POPPER, at which time he advised FRITZIE MANUEL he had been up until 3 a.m. and that SCHIMMEL had driven him home. (X) U b7D

(C) (U)

CONF. INF [redacted] In the evening, DAVE WAHL endeavored to locate KRAMER, ascertaining that he would be in the office of HERB SCHIMMEL during that evening. WAHL indicated CHARLIE KATZ would like to have CHARLIE contact him as soon as possible at 1000, Shoreham Hotel, which is headquarters for the Hollywood group. (C) (U) b7D

October 24, 1947 (X) U

CONF. INF [redacted] U In the morning, ARTHUR WEBB, London Daily Herald, contacted WAHL, advising he had been asked to write an article about any anti-Semitic propaganda in this country which "Crossfire" and "Gentlemen's Agreement" are endeavoring to combat. WEBB mentioned they had a lot of this growing in England and wanted to hit back at it quickly. WAHL referred him to the Anti-Defamation League and the Law and Social Action Committee of American-Jewish Congress, and then suggested WEBB talk with people who have made studies of this matter, suggesting HERMAN EDELSBERG as one to see. He said the director and producer of "Crossfire," namely DMYTRYK and SCOTT, are in the Mayflower Hotel and WEBB should contact them. (X) U b7D

CONF. INF [redacted] U At noon, WAHL talked with ~~ELLIE~~ (ELEANOR LOWENTHAL), NYC, inquiring whether MAX LOWENTHAL had made connection with WAHL's friend (BART CRUM). (X) ELLIE indicated as far as she knew they had not. She indicated some displeasure, stating when he (CRUM) had called he seemed a bit surly and indicated he was supposed to call LOWENTHAL. She explained at least it was her impression. WAHL apologized for CRUM, saying he was very tired and tense. WAHL stated he was most anxious for them to get together and remarked his friend (CRUM) was having dinner in Washington tonight with FELIX (FRANKFURTER). (X) U b7D

CONF. INF [redacted] U In the afternoon, ELLA SHALIT, secretary of DAVID WAHL, informed Western Union she had a straight wire to be sent to about 20 important people, which begins like this: "You together with _____ _____," and then lists the other names in the body of the wire. ELLA inquired whether she could furnish the names, addresses, and one copy of the message, and the operator thought it could be handled that way. (X) U b7D

CONFIDENTIAL

Shortly thereafter, JOHN (DIERKES) inquired of WAHL and SHALIT if the kids had printed their memoranda referring to the above telegram. DIERKES stated the telegram is awful, and WAHL commented he is ashamed of it. DIERKES indicated CRUM had not seen it and stated if they were trying to get people to the cocktail party it is silly, and they agreed no one will come. DIERKES suggested DAVE might call CHARLIE K. (KRAMER). DAVE mentioned no one had even checked to find out whether these men are here (in Washington), and DIERKES said most of them are not. DIERKES stated that telegram commits a man, and that it would make it possible to send that telegram to the press, committing a man to a point of view. He stated the recipient would be confronted with two problems: one, whether he wanted to go; and, two, if he would commit himself to anything if he appeared, and if he were a Congressman he would say, "Hell, I can't have any part of this." Also, it would automatically break the rules of Congressional courtesy. (X)U

DAVE inquired what time DIERKES expects the boy (BART CRUM), and DIERKES stated he is still up there (New York) talking, and he has an appointment at FRANKFURTER's at 7:30 p.m., so if he gets a plane he can just make it. WAHL commented the boy is wasting a lot of valuable time with unnecessary people, to which DIERKES agreed. They agreed to hold the telegrams until later that day but continued to deplore the wire prepared by "those two sillies" over there (at the hotel). (X)U

DIERKES stated if one didn't know they were so stupid, you would think this was a planned piece of damaging stuff. WAHL asked if they made it up themselves, and DIERKES stated, "Yeah, they dreamed that up." WAHL stated, "Well, to hell with that. I veto it. I believe in dictatorship." DIERKES added, "Yeah, so do I believe if it was ever necessary, here it is." (X)U

(X)U

[redacted] Later the same afternoon, DIERKES contacted WAHL, who inquired if DAVID (SILVER) was with DIERKES. WAHL stated SILVER had called a few minutes ago to ascertain whether the telegram had been sent. WAHL stated he would have to tell him he had talked with some people and the question of propriety was raised; and WAHL also wondered what had happened in connection with PEPPER's idea of doing this, and WAHL thought it had better be held up, particularly since at least ten of the people on the list are not going to be here Monday. (X)U b7D

DIERKES agreed and also stated a press conference that day was a flop. DIERKES stated KENNY had said, "What the hell was that conference for?" and he had asked if KENNY did not know it was coming off. KENNY stated he did not. DIERKES declared he then asked KENNY if he did not think it high time someone figured out who is running this thing or what goes on. DIERKES mentioned MAL HOBBS had called him and complained about a press conference to which he was not invited. (X)U

WAHL then spoke with DAVID SILVER, Hay Adams House, stating he had found practically all the Congressmen, especially Senators, would not be around Monday and also thought the wording of the telegram a little difficult. SILVER suggested WAHL get the views of LESTER COLE or HERBERT BIBERMAN or CHARLIE KATZ, mentioning there were two drafts of the telegram, two different ideas, and they selected this one. (X)U

[redacted] Thereafter, WAHL talked with HERB BIBERMAN, Shoreham Hotel, relating DAVE SILVER and CHAUNCEY McKEEVER (phonetic) came in earlier with a draft of a telegram to some Senators and Congressmen. WAHL mentioned the wording of the telegram and also suggested deleting one sentence, namely: "We feel that this inquiry is in effect a trial under guise of investigation devoid of any semblance of due process and constitutes an attempt by the Committee to censor the screen." BIBERMAN rejected these suggestions and WAHL indicated he would send the telegram as given. (X)U b7D

During the same afternoon, DIERKES talked with WAHL about the hearings, mentioning before the war his business was public opinion testing, which he had been doing the past several days, and he has it from various people throughout the country that thanks to a variety of editorial and columnist opinion this thing is going better than they had reason to expect. WAHL also said they had a wonderful press and much better than expected. However, WAHL stated that is not what they are there for. They are there to see that the gentlemen accused get a fair hearing, that their names are straightened out and their reputations saved, and this depends upon winning the case before the committee rather than upon press and public opinion. (X)U

[redacted] In the afternoon, MARCUS COHN spoke with WAHL about Jewish matters. Then WAHL inquired if MARCUS' people are interested in the Un-American hearings. COHN stated they are having an administrative committee meeting a week from Tuesday, and he thinks this will be on the agenda. COHN stated he wants them to take more steps than merely going on record. WAHL said he happens to know ADRIAN SCOTT, who did "Crossfire" and the guy is a prince and so honestly and sincerely interested in the question of anti-Semitism. WAHL mentioned the director, EDDIE DMYTRYK and stated they are both Catholics, by the way--wonderful. (X)U b7D

[redacted] In the afternoon, JOHN DIERKES contacted WAHL, who informed him of the arrival of BART CRUM from New York. DIERKES stated he had just talked to WAHL's friend (LOWENTHAL or WITT) in New York, who said he had talked to their friend at length and that two of their other friends who (X)U b7D have recently been incarcerated in an establishment north are having a little meeting with him this afternoon once they arrive. WAHL inquired if the meeting was up there, and DIERKES stated it was. DIERKES asked if WAHL knew about that and the latter stated he had a suspicion but was not able to put everything together. DIERKES inquired as to who they were and WAHL said he thinks one is LEE (PRESSMAN ?), adding, "I wonder if he is referring to NAT WITT." DIERKES inquired to whom and WAHL stated "NAT," adding, "Oh well, I'll see you." This reference is obviously to the Gregory case. (C) (U)

[redacted] (C) (U) In the morning, an individual believed NAT WITT, NYC, contacted KRAMER, referring to his friend (JOHN ABT), who went there the other day. WITT stated this is Friday and he was there Wednesday (before Grand Jury in New York) and yesterday he received a call from reporter WALTERS of the Times Herald. WITT further mentioned Mr. X (possibly VICTOR PERLO) has stated he had received a call from the Herald Tribune bureau in Washington, asking the same question. (C) (U) b7D

CONF. INF.

WITT then made reference to their friend who was in Washington early this week (MAX LOWENTHAL), and stated he had gotten hold of WITT and had a lot of stuff along the same lines and is quite worked up (apparently referring to material of damaging character concerning Chairman THOMAS and Committee). WITT indicated he only wants to work through BOB (KENNY) and wants him to run the show. WITT indicated he had discussed it with his other friend (BART CRUM), who protested that BOB is the top guy but the stuff should go to him so he could give it to BOB. (C) (U)

WITT indicated he spent the whole evening with his friend, who would not agree, so he called back and his guy there (DIERKES ?) said o.k., if that's the way it's going to be, and when he again talked with a friend he was angry at even the suggestion that he would consider that. WITT continued his friend there is very worked up about it especially against MARTY (POPPER), claiming he is over his head on this stuff and he would not have anything to do with POPPER. (C) (U)

In the afternoon, KRAMER was in the office of WAHL and unsuccessfully endeavored to locate CHARLES KATZ, inquiring of GAIL (McDONALD) at the Shoreham Hotel whether JULIE DAVIS had typed the thing he left at her typewriter. KRAMER endeavored to reach HENRY COLLINS, I. F. STONE of PM, PALMER WEBER, CIO, (WILLIAM) POMERANCE, AU 3-7330, NYC. (C) (U)

[redacted] DIERKES at KAPLAN residence contacted HERBERT BIBERMAN to advise DAVID KARR (reporter for DREW PEARSON) wanted BIBERMAN, DALTON TRUMBO, MILEY (LEWIS MILESTONE ?), and whomever else HERBERT suggests, to come to KARR's place that afternoon. BIBERMAN indicated it would be impossible for everyone, as they plan a meeting at 4 p.m., and DIERKES suggested they go to KARR's at 6. Agreed. (U) b7D

October 27, 1947 (U)

[redacted] WAHL conversed with KRAMER, indicating they would have to drop this matter because his friend (CRUM) had not worked the thing out and does not feel he can do so on the basis which WAHL's friend (LOWENTHAL) in New York outlined rather clearly. WAHL added it might be that the New York end may be willing to give in a little. WAHL stated his friend here indicated there is nothing to do except see how things go today (at hearing). KRAMER said this was obvious and he wants to see this thing done so it is up to JOHN (DIERKES) and others of them to see that it is, and that he is protected in this way, apparently referring to CRUM. KRAMER stated the question is whether JOHN can do it, and WAHL said DIERKES says he can. DAVE then inquired whether he should give any definite word about KRAMER's movements, and KRAMER indicated tomorrow morning, although he was not sure he could leave in the morning. This conversation apparently concerns KRAMER's going to New York to discuss material and methods with MAX LOWENTHAL. (U) b7D

[redacted] (U) Later the same afternoon, WAHL told KRAMER the idea he wished KRAMER would pass on to their friend (LOWENTHAL) is that anything done will be turned over to JOHN (DIERKES). WAHL said the main thing is that our friend down here (CRUM) is so touchy about being in the position of doing anything that he is keeping from his colleagues. WAHL said he wants this thing done and it is up to JOHN and the others to see that he is protected. KRAMER agreed. WAHL inquired if KRAMER got the picture and CHARLIE said he did. (U) b7D

[redacted] (U) Shortly thereafter, WAHL contacted LOWENTHAL, NYC, advising this fellow (KRAMER) is leaving Washington this evening and will see MAX sometime tomorrow. LOWENTHAL inquired whether WAHL's friend (CRUM) had been apprised of this or whether he had made any objection, and WAHL stated JOHN (DIERKES) had authorized it. LOWENTHAL explained any suggestions (U) b7D made would simply be available to WAHL's friend (CRUM) if and when he wanted to use them; that is, the research and so on would have been done. (X) u

On the same afternoon, DIERKES talked with WAHL, who inquired if EMMETT LAVERY (?) was in town. DIERKES did not know. DIERKES stated he had called the Tribune, which would run an editorial tomorrow letting go a real blast at this guy (Chairman THOMAS ?). (X) u

[redacted] u On this date, KRAMER conversed with HERBERT SCHIMMEL, discussing the committee developments. SCHIMMEL asked if KRAMER heard that 8 o'clock broadcast, which he described as wonderful. He indicated that HARLEY (phonetic) did fine, possibly referring to Senator HARLEY KILGORE. KRAMER said he thought he did very well and what he said seemed very much in keeping. KRAMER inquired if SCHIMMEL had gotten him, and HERB stated he did not, that he guessed BOB KENNY or someone else got him, that he thought he was "getable" but it had to be from somebody else. KRAMER mentioned ELBERT (Senator ELBERT THOMAS ?) had delivered, too. SCHIMMEL asked if KRAMER saw CLAUDE (PEPPER) in New York. KRAMER stated he got there so late, but HANNAH (DORNER ?) told him there was a party somewhere; however, KRAMER could not find the address so he did not see PEPPER. (X) (u) b7D

[redacted] (X) (u) On the afternoon of October 27, 1947, HERBERT SCHIMMEL informed KRAMER of a message from LEE PRESSMAN to call NAT WITT in New York. (X) (u) b7D

On the same evening, KRAMER talked with WITT, who stated their mutual friend had gotten hold of WITT and WITT wanted to know what LOWENTHAL had discussed with KRAMER. KRAMER stated all he wanted to know was whether MAX wanted him to stay, and MAX indicated everything was in a mix-up, and he was retiring, so KRAMER thought the best thing to do was to come back to Washington, and he informed MAX he would be perfectly willing to return. WITT stated that is the point, he wants KRAMER to come back but refuses to find out what happened to the other guy down there, and he doesn't want KRAMER back unless the other guy gives his o.k. with no conditions. KRAMER stated he had been talking with WAHL every half hour and apparently he does not want to make any commitments but wants KRAMER to go up to New York and get what he can and then they will introduce it through one of his assistants. KRAMER said he thought that is all right, otherwise he would not go. KRAMER indicated he would come to New York tomorrow if possible and get in touch with NAT after he talks with the guy (LOWENTHAL). [redacted] (X) In the afternoon, BOB SILBERSTEIN talked with ABE UNGER, NYC, who said JOHN ROGGE agreed he would attend an all-day conference at the State Department on the proposed international bill of rights, and that MARIAN PERRY would go down with him. SILBERSTEIN stated he is very anxious for them to have their meeting on the 22nd and adopt a report on the current activities of the Thomas Committee and the general question of power to investigate, as to which the Guild has never taken a lead, and it should be in such a character as to be distributed. SILBERSTEIN stated he has some funds earmarked for that purpose. (X) U b7D

[redacted] (X) During this morning, VIRGINIA DURR, wife of CLIFFORD DURR, Federal Communications Commissioner, talked with KATHRYN POPPER, who stated the Lawyers Guild is giving a cocktail party Saturday at the house for BOB KENNY and BART CRUM, to which VIRGINIA is invited. VIRGINIA mentioned being on the board of Progressive Citizens of America. (X) U b7D

[redacted] (X) (U) On the evening of October 27, 1947, MADELINE DONNER advised SELMA REIN the Southern Conference is working on a mass meeting with the Hollywood group to be held at the new National Guard Armory Friday. Apparently this did not materialize as no information has been received of such a meeting. (X) (U) b7D

[redacted] (X) CAROL KING advised DAVID REIN she is coming to Washington for the hearing Thursday as a visitor but thought she should warn REIN she won't do anything and spare him the shock. Presumably this reference is to hearing in the case of GERHARD EISLER, rather than Un-American Activities hearings. (X) U b7D

[redacted] U WAHL contacted MARCUS COHN, indicating the Committee is going to have this discussion on the whole question of our police state down here, Communist business, question of firings, and all that. COHN indicated he was trying to compile some factual stuff and inquired about sources, such as what happened at the State Department and Central Intelligence. WAHL indicated one of the people who would have such information would be PAUL PORTER, and COHN agreed as far as State Department matters are concerned. (X) U b7D

WAHL also stated ALIX GINSBERG has a good deal of information if he will talk about it, because he has handled a number of cases involved in this Grand Jury hearing up in New York. COHN was surprised at this, and WAHL stated it happens to be true but he does not know if he talks about it. (X) U

They also discussed the possibility of PM files containing material, and COHN stated he talked with IZZY STONE this morning, and he will make his files available--the press files. COHN also stated he is calling a fellow by the name of JAFFE (phonetic) at the Lawyers Guild, who is head of their civil liberties thing, and he may have some material. WAHL inquired if IRVING ENGEL (phonetic) will be involved, and COHN said "Yes." WAHL stated it would be a good idea if IRVING ENGEL would speak to MAX LOWENTHAL in New York on this subject, because he has a great deal of material at his fingertips, and if IRVING is sufficiently interested, MAX could probably hand him a great deal. (X) U

[redacted] U JOHN DIERKES endeavored to locate WAHL, who had gone to see BART CRUM. ELLA SHALIT informed DIERKES that CHARLIE KRAMER had gotten away to New York fifteen minutes earlier. DIERKES said for WAHL to call our friend (MAX LOWENTHAL). (X) U b7D

Later, JOHN DIERKES requested ELLA SHALIT to send a wire to LEONARD LYON, New York Post, as follows: "WYNN NATHANSON suggested I give this information to you. Yesterday when Congressman THOMAS said to ERIC JOHNSTON that the motion picture industry was not cooperating with the government, it so happened that the Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors under the direction of TED GAMBLE was being briefed by CHIP BOHLAN, JOHN JAY McCLOY, Secretary of State MARSHALL, and Mr. LOVETT at State Department in regard to the Marshall Plan. (X) U

[redacted] U At noon, DAVID WAHL contacted LOWENTHAL, NYC, advising him that fellow (KRAMER) would arrive in New York about 2 o'clock. LOWENTHAL inquired if WAHL got this letter he sent from ENGEL. WAHL stated he had and sent it back to MAX with a note yesterday and added he is going to speak to that fellow and have someone else speak to him. (X) U b7D

[redacted] U In the afternoon, WAHL talked at length with JOHN DIERKES. WAHL mentioned the statement by HERBERT MALTZ as the most beautiful piece of prose--a Gettysburg address--and said it was terrific. DIERKES said he hoped all nineteen were cited and mentioned ED MURROW said if they will indict all nineteen, then without further ado the case is won. He said MURROW made a speech on the air last night that is being quoted all over the press. He said there has never been a crack that lit up the boards the way this one did. He indicated MURROW said many people have compared this with the Palmer business but that it is not, that this has the smell of Reichstag fire in it. (X) U b7D

DIERKES said the (Pittsburgh) Courier, Afro-American, and Defender came out tonight and are going to let go a blast with 76-point type, the like of which you have never seen. (X)(U)

WAHL asked if DIERKES is going to the Chairman, and DIERKES said he is very hesitant about that place these days. They spoke about BART CRUM's returning to the hotel and DIERKES said he thought he would, because of GERTRUDE (CRUM). WAHL stated ELLA SHALIT was taking BART's boy on a tour of the FBI, and JOHN said, "Oh, good, that's wonderful. That is really wonderful," which amused WAHL. DIERKES said he thought now that they are being successful the community should know that "we ran this publicity." WAHL said they certainly will know who was in there pitching. They agreed it could not possibly have been done without a guy like CRUM, and WAHL said this thing would not have gotten anywhere without him. "It would have been a horrible thing. I hate to think of it." (X)(U)

JOHN asked WAHL if he could imagine CHARLIE running this, and WAHL said he couldn't have stood it, possibly referring to CHARLES MICHIE. WAHL congratulated DIERKES, stating he was terrific and had really delivered and they should learn something from this. DIERKES said he is confident they have but believes it too bad they did not do the "other things we suggested to them." (X)(U)

[redacted] (C)(U) CHARLES KRAMER, NYC, advised his wife he would return in the morning. He stated the trip has by no means been wasted, because steps are being taken to correct a lot of things and in that sense he believes it was extremely valuable. He said even on the narrower one the reason he first came up on his ____ ah ____ it was worthwhile. This double reference may concern the Gregory case, as well as the Hollywood thing. (C)(U) b7D

Later this evening, Senator CLAUDE PEPPER spoke with MILDRED KRAMER, stating he is leaving for Florida and will return November 5. He indicated (ANGUS) CAMERON stated publicly in New York that PEPPER is going to write a book which indicated CAMERON decided to go ahead with it. PEPPER instructed that CHARLIE show the outline they had prepared and work as far as he can getting up the records on people who have to do with our foreign policy and summarize them and to work on the theory that whenever you find a liberal administration which puts emphasis upon democracy in a country you seldom find that country taking an imperialistic attitude abroad. TITLE

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

CHARACTER OF CASE

INTERNAL SECURITY - C

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Numerous individuals in Hollywood, California, banded together in early October 1947 to plot a line of attack upon the House Un-American Activities Committee in order to defend those people subpoenaed to testify on their Communist affiliation. A testimonial rally was held on October 15, 1947, at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles, California, in honor of the nineteen subpoenaed who were leaving on the following day for Washington, D. C., to testify. The rally was sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America. Several read prepared papers which bitterly assailed the motives of the House Committee and conveyed the general theme that the current Congressional Committee inquiry is an attack upon the motion picture industry and an attempt to control and censor motion pictures. A total of $6,100 was realized from a collection taken at this rally which was to be used for publicity on behalf of the "nineteen witnesses" and against the House Committee. A reception was arranged in Chicago on October 17, 1947, for the witnesses while enroute to Washington, D. C. It was anticipated that approximately five-hundred to seven-hundred people would attend this reception. On the evening of October 20, 1947, a "publicity rally" was held at the National Press Club Auditorium, Washington, D. C., sponsored by the National Lawyers' Guild and the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. Several of the "nineteen witnesses" read prepared papers which were defiant in their remarks toward the Committee and stated that it was their intention to "break up" the Thomas Committee so that there would be no censorship of thought in connection with the production of motion pictures

Martin Popper, a National Executive of the National Lawyers Guild and one of the attorneys for the "unfriendly" witnesses in connection with the recent hearings held by the un-American Activities Committee concerning Communism in the Motion Picture Industry, today contacted Ben Margolis in Los Angeles who was also one of the attorneys for the "unfriendly" witnesses. Popper informed Margolis that he received a wire this morning from Speaker Martin of the House of Representatives to appear before him this afternoon in order to present the arguments in favor of his clients. Popper stated that he immediately contacted Speaker Martin's Office in an effort to get a postponement but was advised by a Mr. Milne (phonetic) that Mr. Martin was leaving town and, consequently, the latest Mr. Martin could see him would be at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning (November 11, 1947). Popper requested Margolis to get in touch with Bartley Crum and Robert Kenney, also attorneys for the "unfriendly" witnesses, and request that they immediately wire Speaker Martin to postpone the hearing. Popper also requested that Margolis contact the Committee for the First Amendment requesting that they likewise wire Mr. Martin requesting a postponement of the hearing. Popper also contacted James B. Procter who is reportedly acting as a public relations representative in New York for the Committee for the First Amendment. He requested that Procter contact well-known individuals and ask them likewise to send telegrams to Speaker Martin requesting that he postpone the hearing. It was indicated during this conversation that the Committee for the First Amendment had received a loan of $25,000, eight thousand of which would be spent on a radio program, the remainder on research. Martin also contacted Bill Hayes, local attorney in Washington for the CIO, concerning this matter. It was agreed that Hayes and Popper would hold a Press Conference in the Press Club this afternoon at which time it would be pointed out to the Press that Speaker Martin was not giving them ample time to present their case.

HAND DELIVERED

It would appear from the above that Popper is endeavoring to instigate a pressure campaign in an effort to influence Representative Martin and possibly postpone Mr. Martin's decision until Congress has convened.

The above information was furnished by supervisor William Ryan of the Washington Field Office.

SAC Kimball called me on the night of November 3, 1947, in connection with Haakon Chevalier, who he advised had been subpoenaed by the Tenney Committee in San Francisco. Mr. Kimball stated that he had received a telephone call from Chevalier's attorney, one Francis McCarty of Oakland, California. McCarty advised that he is representing Chevalier in this regard in the "San Francisco Call Bulletin" on the evening of November 3, 1947; that McCarty appeared before the Tenney Committee on that day and asked for a continuance for Chevalier until Bartley Crum had returned from the East and had had an opportunity to confer with Chevalier. Mr. Kimball stated that McCarty asked him two questions: First, McCarty stated he understood that when the Bureau interviewed Chevalier, he, Chevalier, had been asked not to discuss this matter with anyone. Mr. McCarty desired to know whether the Bureau would release him from this obligation.

Mr. Kimball stated he told McCarty that the Bureau had no hold whatsoever over Chevalier, that he was perfectly free if he were under subpoena to discuss any matters which he might be called upon to discuss.

McCarty also inquired if he could obtain a copy of the statement furnished by Chevalier at the time the Bureau interviewed him several months ago. Mr. Kimball states he advised Mr. McCarty that the Bureau records were confidential and that he could not furnish him with a copy of this statement.

Mr. Kimball stated it is not known when Chevalier will appear before the Tenney Committee inasmuch as Bartley Crum's return is indefinite.

The San Francisco Office of the Bureau has advised that Haakon Chevalier has been subpoenaed by the Tenney Committee in San Francisco. It has been brought to your attention previously that Haakon Chevalier is the individual who approached Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer for information on the Atomic Bomb Project in the latter part of 1942. Chevalier, who is a personal friend of J. Robert Oppenheimer, was requested to contact the latter for this information by George Charles Eltenton, then an employee of the Shell Development Corporation. Eltenton in turn had been requested by Peter Ivanov, Secretary of the Soviet Consulate in San Francisco, to obtain this information for the benefit of the Soviet Government. Oppenheimer refused to furnish Chevalier any information.

Francis McCarty, stating that he was the attorney for Haakon Chevalier, contacted the San Francisco Office November 3, 1947 and advised that he had appeared before the Tenney Committee on November 3, 1947 and had asked for a continuance for Chevalier until Bartley Crum, also an attorney, had returned from the East and had had an opportunity to confer with Chevalier. McCarty wanted to know if the Bureau would release Chevalier from his promise, given at the time of his interview by Bureau Agents, not to mention the matter to anyone. He was told that upon subpoena, Chevalier should feel perfectly free to discuss any matters which he might be called upon to discuss. McCarty also inquired if he could obtain a copy of the statement given by Chevalier at the time he was interviewed by Bureau Agents. McCarty was advised that the Bureau records are confidential and he could not be furnished with a copy of this statement.

The statements of Chevalier and Eltenton appear in the report of Special Agent Charles F. Brusch dated March 27, 1947 at San Francisco, entitled "Haakon Maurice Chevalier, with alias, Internal Security R," a copy of which was furnished to you April 22, 1947. The results of the Bureau's interview with Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer are set forth in the report of Special Agent William A. Branigan dated September 18, 1946 at San Francisco, entitled "George Charles Eltenton," a copy of which was furnished to the Department, along with a summarization memorandum for the attention of Assistant Attorney General Theron L. Caudle, October 4, 1946. The Department's reply, advising that no prosecutions would be authorized, was dated October 22, 1946 initialed "JEH-vmg," File 146-28-2049. BACKGROUND: COMPIC

The San Francisco Field Division has advised that Haakon Chevalier has been subpoenaed by the Tenney Committee in San Francisco. You will recall that Haakon Chevalier is the individual who approached J. Robert Oppenheimer for information on the Atom Bomb Project in the latter part of 1942. Chevalier, who is a personal friend of J. Robert Oppenheimer, was requested to contact Oppenheimer for this information by George Charles Eltenton, an employee of the Shell Development Company. Eltenton in turn had been requested by Peter Ivanov, Secretary of the Soviet Consulate in San Francisco, to obtain this information on behalf of the Soviets. Oppenheimer refused to furnish Chevalier any information and the facts were presented to the Department and prosecution was declined. This is the same incident that was recently publicized through the testimony of former Special Agent Russell, who is now an investigator for the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

STATUS:

The San Francisco Office has advised that on November 3, 1947, Francis McCarty contacted the San Francisco Office on behalf of Chevalier. He stated that he was Chevalier's attorney and that he had appeared before the Tenney Committee on November 3rd and asked for a continuance for Chevalier until Bartley Crum had returned from the East and had had an opportunity to confer with Chevalier. McCarty asked SAC Kimball two questions:

(1) When the Bureau had interviewed Chevalier concerning the above incident, Chevalier had been asked not to discuss the matter with anyone and McCarty desired to know whether the Bureau would release Chevalier from this obligation. (He was told that upon subpoena, Chevalier should feel perfectly free to discuss any matters which he might be called upon to discuss.)

HANDLED BY ETGP DESK

(2) McCarty inquired if he could obtain a copy of the statement furnished by Chevalier at the time he was interviewed by Bureau Agents. In this regard, it is noted that Chevalier was interviewed by Bureau Agents on June 26, 1946, at which time in a signed statement, he admitted approaching J. Robert Oppenheimer at the request of Eltenton for information on the Atom Bomb Project. McCarty was advised by SAC Kimball that the Bureau records were confidential and he could not furnish McCarty with a copy of this statement.

Remylet dated November 1, 1947. It will be noted that on page 17 reference was made to one DAVID SILVER.

On November 18, 1947, Special Agent VINCENT W. HUGHES of this office contacted Mr. BRICKER, Assistant Manager of the Hay Adams House in connection with the registration of DAVID SILVER. SILVER registered on October 19, 1947, and checked out on October 31st. He gave his forwarding address as Mills Building, San Francisco, California. During part of his stay at the Hay Adams House SILVER was in room 324 alone, but later he shared room 414 with JOHN DIERKES. Two long distance telephone calls were made by SILVER, according to the records of the Hay Adams House. On October 23rd and again on October 25th he called Norwalk, Connecticut #69824.

Mr. BRICKER stated that the other members of this group who stayed at the Hay Adams House were BARTLEY CRUM, JOHN DIERKES and a Mr. CHAUNCEY McKEEVER, who left a forwarding address of [redacted] San Francisco. Mr. BRICKER stated that all of the bills for these four individuals were paid by Mr. BARTLEY CRUM.

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY. INTERNAL SECURITY (C)

Reference is made to a letter from the Bureau captioned as above dated October 15, 1947, with a carbon copy to New York City, in which the request was made that this office was to prepare a letter for the New York City Office "outlining the ramifications of the motion picture industry which have New York connections and have been subjected to communist activities directly or indirectly." In accordance with this request the following analysis of the motion picture industry has been prepared and it is being outlined in the sub-headings set out below. It is realized that some of the information contained may be rudimentary but nevertheless it is being incorporated herein so that the reader can get a general picture of the importance and influence exerted in New York City upon the motion picture industry. It is imperative that the identity of the persons mentioned in this letter be kept confidential and no mention of their names made in the course of any investigation.

PRODUCTION AND FINANCE

JOHN HYDE, one of the three partners owning the William Morris Agency, a large actors agency, states that the ownership of the studios is centered in New York. All studios of any major importance maintain New York offices where financing arrangements are handled. Also the distribution of the finished production is handled from New York City with branch offices maintained in larger cities throughout the country. In his opinion, the main influence that New York could have upon production, which is centered entirely in Hollywood, would be in giving decisions concerning large expenditures. For example, he pointed out that if MGM contemplated the erection of a set costing $50,000 to $100,000.00, L. B. MAYER might contact New York officials of MGM to get their reaction to this single item. Otherwise, New York would not volunteer or inject itself into the actual production of a picture. New York might be consulted in the purchase of a play or book, the price of which would require consultation with the heads of the corporation, but generally speaking, other than these decisions affecting broad policies, the New York offices do not have any influence on the production of any picture. Mr. HYDE said that "normally, they go along with production."

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY.
INTERNAL SECURITY (C)

On November 12, 1947 JAMES E. NEVILLE, Attorney, 411 West Fifth Street, telephone Trinity 6101, residence [redacted] Los Angeles, California, furnished the following information: b6 b7C

NEVILLE represents the Bankers Trust Company, 16 Wall Street, New York, N.Y. City. All legal matters dealing with the financing of motion pictures by various Hollywood independent producers. Particular emphasis is placed on loan agreements between these independent producers and the above trust company by NEVILLE. This being primarily his responsibility.

It was learned that among the Bankers Trust Company clientele in this case there were such well known independent producers as HUNT STROMBERG, JAMES CAGNEY, DAVID SELZNICK, et al.

NEVILLE, who described himself as a former Assistant United States Attorney in Los Angeles during the late twenties, said he was alert to communist tactics but had not encountered any attempts by any of his clients or others to inject or attempt to inject any communistic influence in their financial dealings. A review of the scripts involved is a part of NEVILLE'S job, although his purpose for reviewing scripts is primarily legal, and the final approval is had by the New York Office of the Bankers Trust Company. In making the above statement NEVILLE took into consideration the indirect approaches and methods of influence utilized by communist groups and front organizations. He felt that so far as his knowledge was concerned, communist influence had not been felt in the financial end of the motion picture productions handled by the Bankers Trust Company. NEVILLE could not state definitely whether or not Bankers Trust Company financed any stage plays in the New York area or not. It was his off-hand opinion that they did not. Informant has agreed to be more alert in the future and will advise this office of anything which comes to his attention which might have a bearing on the subject matter heretofore discussed.

JACK MOFFITT, [redacted], telephone Webster 4683, upon November 7, 1947 and November 8, 1947 advised as follows: b6 b7C

MOFFITT remarked that he had recently testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee hearing in Washington, D.C. concerning communist

Director, FBI November 14, 1947

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY.
INTERNAL SECURITY (C)

infiltration in certain motion pictures. He also related he had furnished information to the California State Committee on Un-American Activities headed by Senator JACK TENNEY. MOFFITT said that he had recently been fired by Esquire Magazine for what he believed was not conforming to the Communist Party line. He said that the reason given him for being fired by DAVID SMART, publisher of Esquire, was not in so many words that he was not following the line, but the letter terminating his employment made it very plain that MOFFIT'S works might again be acceptable if he changed his writing tactics.

One of the articles published by Esquire Magazine which apparently was not approved by the publisher was entitled "The Business Man Cometh," which dealt with communist influence in several motion pictures. It is believed that the Bureau and New York Office are familiar with this article.

MOFFITT recently did an article on CECIL B. DeMILLE, well known motion picture producer, which was published in Esquire Magazine. His most recent article submitted to Esquire Magazine dealt with a review of CHARLIE CHAPLIN'S current picture "Monsieur Verdoux", but it was rejected. MOFFITT was critical of CHAPLIN and his communistic leanings in this review and he believes the submission of this material to Esquire hastened termination of his contract with them, as he was fired shortly afterwards and approximately a week before he testified in Washington, D.C. before the House Committee.

MOFFITT said that he had done considerable research on the communist influence within the New York theatrical set-up and had touched upon this subject in his testimony in Washington, D.C. MOFFITT has made available to this office certain material dealing with these reviews which will be made available to the Bureau and New York Office in report form.

MOFFITT said that he had on one occasion received some definite information that the publishers of Esquire Magazine were favorable to the Communist Party cause. This evidence was in the form of a letter sent to him by the editor of Esquire Magazine in which it was suggested that MOFFITT write an article criticizing the release of the old picture "The Birth of A Nation," produced by D. W. GRIFFITH, which dealt with the rise of the Klu Klux Klan in the South following the American civil war. It was mentioned in this letter that the request for criticism of this picture had come direct from

Director, FBI November 14, 1947

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY.
INTERNAL SECURITY (C)

the editor of the Daily Worker in New York City. Copies of this letter will also be furnished this office in the immediate future and same will be forwarded to the Bureau.

Concerning communist influence in the financing and producing of motion pictures, MOFFITT felt that there had been no direct approach by the communists themselves or their fronts into the field of financing pictures. He did feel, however, that the approach, although indirect, had been very effective in the following manner: During the past fifteen years the communists laid the ground work in the theatrical and literary fields which made certain themes of communism very popular; that is, the discrediting and breaking down of proven American systems and principles which were accepted frequently in a humorous and very entertaining manner. These novels and plays were then produced on Broadway, in most instances by individuals, some of whom were no doubt favorable to the communist cause. After these plays became successful, and in many instances they did, the motion picture companies purchased them and subsequently produced them. Frequently the motion picture productions of these plays were financed by the large financial institutes of New York City and Los Angeles. Thus, these capitalistic institutes actually indirectly financed productions which were designed, in part at least, to further the communist cause.

MOFFITT said that aside from the out-right communistic producers like ADRIAN SCOTT, et al, there were a number of motion picture producers who, though circumspect in their advocation of communism, would give them aid and comfort, and produced pictures which, in his opinion, contained an indirect communist message or attempted to belittle the present form of government in this country. He mentioned specifically as examples of this type of producer JERRY WALD and VINCENT SHERMAN on the Warner Bros. lot, although he knew of no New York connections which the motion picture industry had in this latter respect.

TALENT

JACK MOFFITT, previously identified in this letter, said that the real tie-in between New York and Hollywood was very evident in the field of talent. For the purposes of discussion, MOFFITT said talent included actors, actresses, script writers, directors, readers, and agencies dealing with same. The New York City field in all of the above, according to Informant, was completely sewed up and controlled by communistic groups and had been for a number of years. The set-up starts with the communistic writer who publishes either a novel or writes a script for a play. The readers, who have been infiltrated by communists, make recommendations of plays or scripts, which are always favorable to their cause, which in turn are produced.

The communists have controlled the young actors, actresses and directors in New York for a number of years by controlling the talent schools which sprung up during the OPA days and, ironically, were financed by tax-payers money. These plays, as mentioned before, become successful and are reproduced in Hollywood as pictures.

The actors, actresses, and directors, after they have been groomed in the local theatrical field where they are possibly subjected to and bombarded with communism, are then moved through the various talent agencies, also communist infiltrated, to the Hollywood scene where they further carry on for the cause of communism at every opportunity, particularly furnishing financial aid through the various front organizations.

It was pointed out by MOFFITT that a very large percentage of the young players, writers, and directors have graduated from this New York "set up" and are either communists for all practical purposes or actually are card-carrying members. Proof of the latter, MOFFITT said, was lacking so far as personal knowledge was concerned.

Specific examples of graduates of the New York school were LARRY PARKS, actor, and SAM WANNAMAKER, Director and actor.

Approximately a year ago the communist group in New York decided that Hollywood should be a closed shop for communism and sent two individuals out here for the purpose of making it a closed shop. Persons selected to carry out this phase were MOSS HART and ROBERT SHERWOOD. These individuals were believed to have both kept out of the Communist Party but were probably selected for this purpose because of that very reason, therefore, lending an air of respectability to their endeavor. About the time HART and SHERWOOD arrived, certain Congressional and local inquiries were being made regarding communist infiltration in motion pictures which resulted in their sudden withdrawal from the scene and postponement of this proposed phase of their activity. MOFFITT was unable to supply details of their plan but said in general it was to be patterned after the system used in New York by the communists and to a more or less minor degree in Hollywood.

LA #100-15732

Director, FBI November 14, 1947

INTERNAL SECURITY (C)

It should be noted that the Daily Variety issue of November 12, 1947, under a New York dateline of November 11, 1947, disclosed that MOSS HART had recently been elected as President of the Dramatist Guild.

The talent agencies were definitely being used as a link in this communist conspiracy. MOFFITT said that WILLIAM MORRIS, JR., Head of the William Morris Agency in New York, was a "cocktail pink" and hired individuals who were either communists or furthered their cause. A person specifically mentioned was JOHN WEBER, assigned to the Beverly Hills Office of the William Morris Agency, who was sent out to Hollywood for the specific purpose of channeling talent into the motion picture fields who were either communists or favorable to their cause. WEBER'S true name was believed to be ISADOR WEINSTEIN.

MOFFITT believes that all of the large agencies dealing in talent in New York City and Hollywood have been so infiltrated that it appears much easier for a person with communistic leanings to obtain contracts within the theatrical or motion picture industry than a person of non-communistic leaning. MOFFITT was unable to furnish the names of specific individuals but felt that a little inquiry would establish his belief as fact.

The reviewing and critic field has not been overlooked by the communists. It is very important that plays and pictures showing the communist cause receive favorable comments. Critics of communism have not lasted very long. MOFFITT gave as a concrete example, himself. (Reference details above under heading of Production and Finance.)

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY.
INTERNAL SECURITY (C)

MOFFITT mentioned specifically one IRVING HOFFMAN, columnist-type of critic who has given various plays and pictures which MOFFITT felt had been influenced by communists, a good "send off." HOFFMAN was described as a member of the Progressive Citizens of America and was undoubtedly well known in the New York area. HOFFMAN writes a column which is published in the Hollywood reporter entitled "The Tales of Hoffman." In this column, communists, communist-influenced plays, pictures and artists, both actors and musicians, are frequently plugged. HOFFMAN allegedly showed his true colors recently when he upheld the communist attack on the House Un-American Activities Committee hearing in Washington, D.C.

Regarding screen magazines or so-called fan magazines, MOFFITT said there was not too much evidence of communist influence; that these magazines deal largely with the various personalities and biographies of various artists in the motion picture industry, and among writers these magazines are classified "pulp" magazines. According to Informant, Photoplay Magazine occasionally runs an editorial which sometimes touches on, and is favorable to communism. Communists have, however, made a more definite attempt to influence the readers of the so-called "Slicks" Magazines such as Saturday Evening Post, Collier's, Ladies' Home Journal, Esquire, etc.

In discussing the recruiting of new talent in the motion picture industry, JOHN HYDE pointed out that "A talented person can come to Hollywood more easily from New York than from here. Talent in Hollywood is held cheaply and lightly." He went on to say that the Group Theatre in New York is a recruiting ground for talent and said that HAROLD CLURMAN and JOHN GARFIELD both originated from this source.

In discussing the purchase of plays and stories for possible production, Mr. HYDE said that large agencies such as his cover the field as far as is humanly possible of all new magazine stories, books, and plays which might lend themselves to motion picture production. He said that in his opinion some of the things CLIFFORD ODETS has done "would fall flat on its face" if anyone attempted to make it into a picture because it has no commercial value. The box office regulates what is purchased for production and any material which is tainted too strongly with propaganda would not be made into a picture in spite of any success it might have had on the New York stage.

ROY BREWER, International Representative of the IATSE, is of the opinion that "thousands of very talented people never rose to stardom or prominence in motion pictures because they didn't have the proper view point,"--speaking of communist sympathies. In his opinion the process by which young actors and actresses are indoctrinated in New York with communism would be extremely interesting. He went on to say that young talented persons in the New York area are influenced by such persons as FREDERIC MARCH, who prefers to spend his time on the stage in New York rather than in Hollywood in motion pictures. A person like MARCH carries a great deal of influence and weight, as the programs and philosophies persons such as he expound cannot help but influence young minds, according to BREWER. What BREWER characterized as "those theatre movements in New York which have big names" are able to influence young talent and many of them are indoctrinated there. As an example of this type of person he pointed out GENE KELLY, GREGORY PECK, JOHN GARFIELD, and HOWARD DaSYLVA. BREWER went on to say that in his opinion DaSYLVA is an organizer for the Communist Party. In his opinion the atmosphere of a picture or play is set by the star and thus young people who desire to get ahead and who are easily influenced, become sympathetic to the thinking of the person they admire and respect.

DASILVA

Along these lines it is observed in the recent hearing held in Washington, D.C. that "none of the younger actors or actresses are fighting communism. Those who were, with the exception of RONALD REAGAN, are people who ten years from now will not be in pictures." He said that while this does not mean that all or even a majority of the younger talent in Hollywood is in sympathy with communism, nevertheless the control exerted by communists and fellow travelers is so intense that these people do not dare to take a stand for fear it will hurt their career, whereas others like ROBERT MONTGOMERY and ROBERT TAYLOR are so well established that their careers cannot be injured or hampered by others.

BREWER expressed himself as extremely concerned and worried over this fact and went on to say that from sources of his own, which he deems reliable, he has ascertained that GENE KELLY is a member of the Party and has a card. KELLY is an example of a young actor who is on his way up. MGM is raising him to stardom and has at least one unreleased major picture featuring KELLY in its inventory.

Continuing, BREWER said that those people in New York who are active in the theatre movement and are communists "have the ability to make stars. They start an organized movement to get behind their own people." Another contributing factor BREWER called the "racial angle". He said that a considerable number of influential persons are of Jewish extraction and they will occasionally promote a person of the same race, thus facilitating that individuals rights in the theatre and subsequently in Hollywood.

As an example of a young actor who has been through the New York-to-Hollywood process, BREWER pointed to the career of HUME CRONYN who came from New York and is now active in the Actors Laboratory. This organization, which BREWER considers to be communist dominated, trains young persons for the motion picture industry in Hollywood.

BREWER summarized his view point by saying, "You will have to stop the indoctrination of young actors and writers--they are show business."

KATE THORN, who presently resides in Hollywood, was a member of the Young Communist League in New York and a young stage actress there. She said that her experience in New York began in the year 1936 through 1942. As a young actress she alined herself with the Neighborhood Playhouse and the New Theatre League. Each dramatic school in New York had a cell of the Young Communist League which operated through the American League Against War and Fascism.

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY (C)

She recalled that YSERI LIEBMANN was a paid party organizer and he has since adopted the name PAUL MANN.—(New York Office undoubtedly has records of this individual. According to Informant, he is a Canadian and was deported once on a charge of rape.)

KATE THORN traced her own experiences saying that in the summer of 1935 she got a job in Dream Mansions, which was a theatre group operating what is spoken of in the New York area as the "Borstch Circuit". The group operated out of a sort of summer camp and a person named MARTIN SLOAN led a movement among the actors and actresses to go on strike so that the waiters employed at the camp could be unionized. The camp management took the position that if the waiters could be unionized they would hire regular union waiters, thus throwing these college boys, who were employed only for the summer, out of a job. All the young actors and actresses in the group became intensely emotional over this proposed discharge of these boys. Secret meetings were held at a cabin in the woods with a sentry posted outside thus appealing to the dramatic sense of the young actors and actresses and serving in this manner to indoctrinate many of them with communistic doctrines. Through SLOAN she got into the Neighborhood Playhouse on a scholarship which was arranged by MORRIS CARNOVSKY. From there she went to the Group Theatre. It was here she met JOHN GARFIELD alias JULIE GARFIELD. While at the Playhouse she became a member of the Young Communist League. She recalled that on one instance members of the Playhouse decided to march in a May Day Parade in New York and it set off an intense dispute, which finally resulted in a splinter faction seizing the banner of the group and marching in the parade. It subsequently developed that EDDIE O'BRIEN led a group which tore the banner down. All this was pointed out by the Informant as a method in which the dramatic sense of the young people was played upon and how they became in sympathy with the communist aims.

In speaking of JOHN GARFIELD, Informant said that she has known ROBERTA GARFIELD intimately for years and, in her opinion, Mrs. GARFIELD "is the power behind JOHN," so far as communism is concerned.

In various meetings held for the young people it was her observation that the wives of the actors attended but their husbands seldom did.

MARTIN SLOAN was a close friend of the GARFIELDS who went insane and and finally killed himself because of communist influence. Informant re-

LA #100-15732

Director, FBI November 14, 1947

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY (C)

called that SLOAN was a talented puppeteer and was going to Russia to appear there. He had his passport and necessary clearances when, on the point of leaving, a ruling came from Russia saying he would not be permitted to leave. This was due to the fact that some of his puppets portrayed BILL ROBINSON, a negro, and SLOAN was accused of chauvinism. Because of this he went insane and later killed himself, presumably because of the fact that he could have committed such an offense.

The young actors held meetings twice a week, one, having to do with dialectics and planning, and one for rehearsals.

All the Young Communist League members were impressed with the fact that they must be perfect in their lines, since a communist must be looked up to and thus they were rigidly rehearsed and given excellent schooling in the matter of dramatics.

Along these lines, Informant pointed out that HOWARD DaSYLVA, referred to above, visited the Pine Brook, Connecticut summer camp of the Group Theatre, and at that time DaSYLVA was a paid organizer in the New Theatre League in Chicago. In the Informant's opinion, one reason why people in the theatre become communists and fellow travelers is due to the fact that Russia has such people on the state payroll offering them security. This appeals strongly to people in the acting profession and consequently the party organization, as far as the theatre is concerned, parallels the Russian set up. Many of the young people are opportunists and they follow the lead as it is set down by people they respect and admire and hope to use in furthering their careers.

Following the Russian pattern the New Theatre League was formed to establish theatre units in every major city in the United States. This is patterned on the National Theatre as it exists in Russia, and HOWARD DaSYLVA represented the Chicago effort along these lines.

In the Informant's time, many young people joined the American Peace Mobilization in order to keep out of war. The draft was coming up and many actors were terrified of the prospects of having to serve in the armed forces.

Informant recalled that ART SMITH was "political mentor" of the group and when any of them had any questions or any doubts arose in their minds they were told to "talk if over with ART SMITH". SMITH explained all their questions and indoctrinated them with communism.

LA #100-15732

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY.
INTERNAL SECURITY (C)

There was a group called the Theatre Collectives which was established for young fellow travellers and they graduated into the Theatre of Action, which was for communist party members only. An intensive screening process took place before a person was inducted into the Theatre of Action. They were told that once they made the grade they would have financial security and the Party would give them support.

The Actors Laboratory in Hollywood has many members on its staff from the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York. Informant considers it vicious that the Actors Laboratory has qualified itself with the Veterans Administration and is securing funds from GIs while they attend this school and become indoctrinated with communism. Which of the New York theatre groups are so qualified, the Informant did not know.

Informant continually pointed out that the young people are opportunists and many found their way from the Theatre Collectives into the Theatre of Action, thus becoming Communist Party members while endeavoring to further their own careers.

Informant's teacher at the Neighborhood Playhouse was MARY TORSCIA, who introduced the Informant to LIEBMANN, mentioned above. Informant recalled that another group, the Theatre Union, was closely associated with the efforts to recruit the Abraham Lincoln Brigade and the union existed mainly to provide dramatic skits for Madison Square Garden rallys. Another school of the same type was the New Theatre League school which existed mainly to send actors out to put on skits before union groups. Two products of this school are CONSTANCE DOWLING and ELIA KAZAN aka GADGE KAZAN. Another product of this school was SHEPHARD TRAUBE who is now employed at RKO Studios in Hollywood. He is a writer and a producer and did "Angel Street." Informant did not know the identity of the actual persons who, in New York and Hollywood, developed, promoted, and raised to stardom those persons who, as youngsters, were taken through the various steps finally becoming full-fledged communists. She gave as an example, JOE REVNEY who was a director in the New Theatre League School and is now prominent in motion pictures as an actor.

Re: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Informant recalled that RICHARD (NICK) CONTE was a waiter in one of their summer camps who later became an actor. His mentor was SANFORD MEISNER who induced PEVNEY to cast CONTE in a part in a New York production. MEISNER was a homo-sexual and CONTE lived with him, finally becoming prominent through the latters efforts and is now in Hollywood receiving prominent parts in pictures.

Informant said that the recent statement of FRANCES FARMER'S Mother to the Press to the effect that FRANCES FARMER was morally ruined by communists is true. Informant stated she knew FRANCES and her husband LEIF ERICKSON intimately and they were "clean American kids when they came to New York," and FRANCES' moral decline was directly attributable to the influence of communists in control of the theatre projects in New York. In speaking of morals, Informant was emphatic in saying that a communist must lead a moral life as far as homo-sexuality is concerned and that no trace of homo-sexuality could exist or a person would not be taken into the Party.

SANFORD MEISNER, mentioned above, was extremely disappointed because he could not get into the Party, and it was for this reason that he was refused.

The example of HUME CRONYN was cited. He is of a very wealthy New England family and in his effort to get to the top in New York and in Hollywood he associated with communists and while the Informant is not of the opinion that he is a party member, he has had to be active with these persons and is now one of the most prominent persons in the Actors Laboratory in Hollywood.

Persons from New York who are active in bringing these young persons into the HOLLYWOOD scene are ROBERT ROSEN, DORE SCHARY and MIKE BLANKFORT. The first is a writer and director; the second is the head of RKO Studios; and BLANKFORT is a writer.

Informant listed the following persons as those who have been through the mill in New York and are now active in Hollywood: FRANCIS CHENEY (wife of RING LARDNER, JR.); JANET DEUTCHMAN; DEVOE SERON; ROBERT ROSEN; MORRIS CARNOVSKI (active in the Theatre Arts Committee, which is a communist front); MARY TARCAI; ROMAN BOHEN; ART SMITH; HOWARD DaSILVA; HAROLD CLERMAN (Brought out from New York under contract to Columbia Studios as a "producer learning the business"); MIKE GORDON; VINCENT SHERMAN; PAUL DOUGLAS; BETTY GARRETT (went through the same summer camps with Informant; wife of LARRY PARKS.); SAM LEWINE; DAVID PRESSMAN; NORMAN CORWIN; GENE KELLY; BETSY BLAIR.

Informant is of the opinion that much valuable information could be gained by analyzing the political maneuvering in New York at the time the Actors Equity passed a resolution effecting Junior Equity as a result of which the latter organization was dissolved. Informant stated the purpose behind the formation of Junior Equity was to indoctrinate young theatrical people with communist ideology so that when these people later entered Senior Equity, upon furthering their careers, the Party organization would have reliable people within the Equity organization and could conceivably gain control of it.

Informant went on to say that many of these persons are sending their children to the Progressive School in Hollywood. She continued "that all of the communists have their children going to this school."

Informant's former husband, JOHN HARDING, is now married to ISOBEL LENNART, who is a successful writer at MGM Studios and a member of the Communist Party. Through her influence, HARDING has secured a contract at MGM as a writer.

One of the individuals in New York who sponsors and trains young communists is HELEN TAMIRIS who Informant described as "one of the foremost choregraphers of Broadway and a Communist Party member."

LABOR

ROY BREWER states that "not more than one per cent of the pictures are made in New York" and he went so far as to say that in his opinion the industry "doesn't average one picture a year in New York." Some location shots and background material is obtained there but from a standpoint of possible infiltration of motion picture labor in New York, Informant considers it negligible. He did point out, however, that the motion picture projectionist local does have some communists in its membership but they are not in control. The reason why the communists will never dominate the projectionists throughout the country is due to the fact that the balance of power is in the smaller groups made up of individuals living throughout the United States; secondly, the turnover is small and the communists "Cant get their men in."

The strike presently under way in Hollywood on the part of the conference of studio unions is the culmination of a direct communist campaign to get control of the industry in Hollywood via the labor route. The Informant said that had the CSU been able to accomplish its aims by taking over the film technicians it would have controlled the industry indirectly through this one union, since no pictures can be made or negatives developed without the work of this local.

He pointed out that the RICKENBACKER picture was declared by the CSU to be undesirable because RICKENBACKER was "unfriendly to labor" and the CSU passed a resolution that none of its members would work on the production of this picture. However, after EDDIE RICKENBACKER visited Russia and came back to this county with laudatory remarks concerning the Russian soldier the ban was withdrawn and CSU members completed the work on the picture. This is an example of how labor could control the production of a picture if communists had the power in the local unions. Their leaders would simply declare a certain picture which they did not like as "unfriendly to labor", thus exercising an indirect but neverthless thorough censorship on what could be produced in Hollywood.

PUBLICATIONS

ROY BREWER is of the opinion that certain critics in New York are communists and through their efforts certain plays are built up to where their purchase by Hollywood studios becomes possible.

MARCUS GOODRICH, husband of OLIVIA DeHAVILLAND, states that "before the war the communists dominated literary, stage and motion picture reputations" through the efforts of certain New York critics who are communists or fellow travelers. In his opinion, HOWARD BARNES of the New York Tribune, and JAMES A. GIFF

AGEE who reviews pictures for the Nation Magazine and formerly for Time Magazine, are communists. A young actor or writer had to be acceptable to communist-dominated groups among critic circles in order to get favorable press notices. A writer, on the way up, must have favorable notices and since more money is to be made in Hollywood than in New York in the writing game, the Informant used this as an example to show how a young writer must please certain critics in order to build himself a reputation.

Mr. GOODRICH was speaking of New York before the war because of his personal experiences there at that time, but he added in summarizing it that "a writer in New York has to be accepted by the communists. They get control of a literary clique and use sarcasm and the smear method in reviewing certain writers. In order to acquire a literary background in New York a person must have a political philosphy which is acceptable to these communist-dominated groups of critics." (An example of this process probably exists in the current picture under production at Universal Studios entitled "All My Sons" which was written by ARTHUR MILLER of New York. ELIA KAZAN produced this play and it was given some critics award in New York as an outstanding play. The New York Office has a report wherein this production is called communist propaganda, and also has a lead to determine whether or not MILLER is a member of the Party.)

The possibility that certain screen or fan magazines might be a means of communist influence on the motion picture industry was given consideration. HELEN FERGUSON, an independent publicist in Hollywood, stated that most of the prominent motion picture fan magazines are published in New York. She listed them as follows:

Modern Screen (published by DELL Publications)

Silver Screen
Screenland (published by PAUL HUNTER Publications)

The Informant is of the opinion that there is little communist propaganda in the fan magazine field. Most of the publications contain personality stories having to do with the lives of motion picture people. The publications very seldom knock a picture or say anything derogatory about Hollywood because they want the studio advertising, which naturally would not be placed in the publications if they made unfavorable comments. These magazines have tremendous circulations, according to Miss FERGUSON, and the possibility of their containing communist propaganda is being set out for the New York Office to determine.

Will determine which of the theatre and dramatic schools are approved for veterans and if such are eligible to receive federal funds.

Will secure information concerning the Senior Equity when the Junior Equity Association attempted to act as an under-graduate body for the Senior organization. The files of the meetings having to do with the dissolution of the Junior Equity would give considerable information if they are obtainable. The Los Angeles Office desires to know what persons, who were active in sponsoring the movement, are in Hollywood today, since they would be in a good position to sponsor other communists in motion pictures.

Will develop information concerning the influential critics in New York, stating which of these are communist party members or fellow travelers.

SECURITY MATTER (C)

In a conversation with MARCUS GOODRICH and his wife, OLIVIA DeHAVILLAND, on November 6, 1947, these people, whose identities should be concealed, pointed out that the current feeling among Communist and left-wing groups in Hollywood since the hearings in Washington is distinctly "anti-LAVERY". It will be recalled that EMMETT LAVERY is the head of the Screen Writers Guild and the current feeling is to the effect that LAVERY, since he is in favor of the Committee for the First Amendment, should have refused to answer the question as to whether or not he was a Communist. Instead of that, however, he stated that he is not a member of the Party and has never been. The Communists are currently stating that they were actually defending the First Amendment of the Constitution by their refusal to answer concerning their political beliefs.

DEFERRED ~~RECORDING~~

Along this line, the Communists in Hollywood are attempting to convince people that the THOMAS Committee is a "Catholic-inspired committee," continuing that THOMAS is a Catholic and that he and other members of his committee are carrying out instructions of the Church in attempting to expose people whom the Church has singled out for persecution.

Informants went on that "Hollywood is split into two camps," and that gradually sides are being chosen, so that eventually a clear split will take place.

JOHN HYDE, one of the owners of the WILLIAM MORRIS Agency, stated that he sees this movement in the making, and that he regrets it since it will further complicate the making of motion pictures. For example, he pointed out that a star may refuse to work with a person whom he considers to be a Communist. This will cause dissension, and in some instances the information on which the star is acting may be in error, with resultant hard feelings and difficulty in getting people to work together.

Re: COMPIC
HOUSE UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES
COMMITTEE HEARINGS
SECURITY MATTER - C

DECLASSIFIED BY 2040
ON 8/8/77

Dear Sir:

On November 1, 1947 following his return from Committee Hearings in Washington, Mr. JAMES McGUINNESS, Executive, MGM Studios, related the following information to SA Emmett C. McGaughey and ASAC James C. Ellsworth which will be of interest to the Bureau.

Mr. McGUINNESS related that during the time he was in Washington he was in conference most of the evenings with either members of the Committee or the investigative staff, namely STRIPLING, SMITH and LECKE, going over the witnesses who were yet to be called and planning procedure. He stated that during these conferences and his stay in Washington, as well as during a short trip to New York, he gathered many impressions, both concerning the Committee, and the successes and failures of the Committee.

Regarding the successes of the Committee, McGUINNESS said that he feels that for the first time in the history of the Committee they had enough big names to win over public opinion and the newspapers to the Committee's side. He also feels that if the Committee reconvenes and calls before it some of the weaker Communists, such as RING LARDNER, JR. and LARRY PARKS, they will now be able to get some breaks and obtain some information. He also feels that enough public opinion may be generating now to get the public into the attitude of not going to a motion picture which carries the name of a Communist writer, director or actor. He said if this happens it will be the only means of pressuring studio owners into discharging top Communist personnel. He also feels that the hearings have resulted in many of the weaker Communists becoming frightened, although he is certain that the top Communists now feel stronger than they ever did as they feel that the manner in which they conducted themselves on the stand proved to be too much for the Committee and resulted in the Committee disbanding the hearings.

It was quite apparent that McGUINNESS was disappointed in the over-all results of the hearings as will be shown in some of the following statements made by him. He said, for example, that if the Committee holds any more hearings he doubts that they will be able to get the cooperation of big names in Hollywood as the Committee cannot be trusted to keep its promises. He feels that they did a 65% job when they could have done a 90% job. The Committee refused to listen to the suggestions of McGUINNESS and his group, particularly with reference to putting the Communists on the stand first and then putting the pro-Committee witnesses on the stand. He is certain that if this had been done the press would have been much quicker in reacting favorably to the pro-Committee witnesses, having a knowledge of the ammunition which the Committee really had against the Party members.

With respect to the keeping of promises, McGUINNESS said that the Committee seriously injured two of its strongest supporters. He said that one night in his suite in the Mayflower Hotel there were present besides his wife, M. CAPPY DUVALL and ROY BREWER, both of the I.A.T.S.E., LELA ROGERS, Mr. and Mrs. THOMAS, LEO McCAREY, and SMITH, LECKE and STRIPLING. During the evening THOMAS told Mrs. ROGERS that she should not worry about the law suit against her filed by EMMETT LAVERY, President of the Screen Writers Guild, as when THOMAS got through with him in the Hearing he would not have a leg to stand on. He said that THOMAS then let LAVERY say pretty much as he pleased, which was all right, but he did not subject him to any serious questioning, although he had a dossier which appeared to be four inches thick containing all types of information about LAVERY. To use McGUINNESS' words, he said: "LAVERY came back to Hollywood with a whitewash, a halo, two wings with white side-wall tires and a spare to boot". He said that LAVERY needs to have his feathers ruffled in order to get him to commit himself and THOMAS or STRIPLING did nothing but accept what he had to say. McGUINNESS feels that it is very important that Mrs. ROGERS not lose this law suit or none of the Hollywood group will ever expose the Communist Party again on the radio.

McGUINNESS feels that the other injured party is SAM WOOD, Producer-Director, who on the witness stand put the finger on various directors such as IRVING PICHEL and LEWIS MILESTONE. The Committee failed to call a single director, and now WOOD is in a position where his whole guild is sniping at him. By comparison, those writers who testified now have some ammunition as far as other members of the Screen Writers Guild are concerned. Why the Committee failed to call another director after WOOD had gone out on the limb in this manner is not known to McGUINNESS.

McGUINNESS has the opinion that the Committee stopped its hearings for the following reasons:

1. GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY and WESTBROOK PEGLER advised THOMAS to stop the hearings as the testimony of these Communist witnesses was getting repetitious and was losing headline value.

DIRECTOR, FBI November 3, 1947

RE: COMPIC
HOUSE UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE HEARINGS
SECURITY MATTER - C

2. The fan mail was running 3 to 1 in favor of the Committee.

3. THOMAS was afraid that RANKIN was about to appear on the scene.

4. Two of the Committee members were sick and unable to attend.

McGUINNESS learned while in Washington that many influential people have tried to influence THOMAS not to hold these hearings; that even THOMAS E. DEWEY continually tried to stop the hearings until THOMAS finally told him to "go to Hell", for which McGUINNESS said he admired THOMAS.

McGUINNESS said he found that the Committee as a whole was rather weak. He said that Congressman WOOD was obviously in the hip pocket of the producers all the way, which he considered logical as FRANK FREEMAN also comes from Georgia. He said that none of the Committee has any vision; that all they appeared to visualize was day to day headlines rather than the long range effect of the hearings. He said they need a PECORA instead of a STRIPLING to handle the examination. He said STRIPLING is not sophisticated; "I don't mean night club sophistication but mental sophistication". He said they failed repeatedly to take advantage of opportunities in the testimony to weaken the opposition and strengthen their own position. He considered JOHN McDOWELL to be a "Pennsylvania Hick"; that he had nothing against a Pennsylvania Hick, but felt that he, with the others, was unable to deal with these exceedingly smart manipulators who were subpoenaed as the Communist Party representatives. He said the Committee had RING LARDNER almost to the cracking point but let the opportunity pass to break him. He said it was obvious that THOMAS was only seeking for headlines and to make a name for himself. He considered it all right for a man to try to make a name for himself because that is the American way of getting a better job, however he considered THOMAS a heavy-weight fighter who was unable to handle the light-weight boxers who came before the Committee towards the end and were always feinting to his left.

Regarding McNUTT, McGUINNESS was told by newspaper men that McNUTT is politically dead and thought that this would be a good chance for him to stage a comeback. He was told that McNUTT always had one foot in each camp and that when he went to the Philippines he took three Communist Party members on his staff; that McNUTT feels that President TRUMAN needs a running mate in the next election who is favorable to the leftists; that WALLACE is too far to the left and that McNUTT would be the ideal individual to run for Vice President.

DIRECTOR, FBI November 3, 1947

RE: COMPIC
HOUSE UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE HEARINGS
SECURITY MATTER - C

McGUINNESS stated that L. B. MAYER had attempted to bribe the Committee, at least STRIPLING, into cancelling his appearance before the Committee. He said that through VIC ORSATTI, who is already well known to the Bureau as an associate of the hoodlum element, MAYER got hold of one ROSNER (obviously MORRIS ROSNER, alias MICKEY ROSNER, on whom the Bureau has a file) and sent ROSNER to Washington to see STRIPLING. McGUINNESS heard that ROSNER practically caused STRIPLING to eliminate MAYER from the hearing, saying that he came as a representative of the Motion Picture Producers Association, and produced the letter which the Committee wrote to MAYER asking him to appear. He said that toward the end of the conference with STRIPLING, ROSNER practically pulled a roll of bills out of his pocket.

One of those who apparently knows of this is WESTBROOK PEGLER, an old time friend of McGUINNESS, who chided McGUINNESS about the incident and asked if MAYER does not talk to him. McGUINNESS replied, "Why are you so hard on my boss", whereupon PEGLER said: "As long as the top men in that industry deliberately choose pimps, hoodlums and underworld characters to represent them officially I will take a crack at them". He told McGUINNESS that all McGUINNESS had to do was call PEGLER or anyone of several newspaper men who would have been glad to help him get out of the hearing as everyone knew that he didn't know anything anyway. McGUINNESS said that he had told the Committee when they were in Los Angeles and MAYER had personally requested that he be called before the Committee that they should not call MAYER as he gets emotional and doesn't know anything anyway.

Another item of grapevine information which McGUINNESS brought back and which will be of interest to the Bureau is the rumor that the POPE has transferred the authority to Cardinal SPELLMAN to call a conference of the Cardinals and select a new Pope should the Communists take over Rome, as the Pope does not expect to be left alive if this incident occurs.

McGUINNESS went to New York and with his wife had dinner with Cardinal SPELLMAN, Bishop McINTYRE and his Secretary and later took a ride with the Cardinal. This particular matter did not come up in the conversation, but Cardinal SPELLMAN expressed a great deal of concern over the Communist situation in the United States and over the results of the Committee Hearing. He asked McGUINNESS why L. B. MAYER, a friend of SPELLMAN's, does not get rid of the Communists in the industry. McGUINNESS then told him of the story he had heard that Communist representatives had gone to MAYER before the hearing and had told him that he had better not name names or say anything derogatory against particular actors, etc. or it would ruin the two pictures he has in the can starring GENE KELLY and his five million dollars would go down the drain. Cardinal SPELLMAN said, "Doesn't MAYER realize that we are in a time when five million dollars means nothing?" McGUINNESS pointed out that five million dollars is MAYER's Achilles Heel and he still thinks that anybody can be bought with a dollar. It will be recalled that GENE KELLY personally chairmaned the send-off rally at the Shrine Auditorium for the nineteen unfriendly witnesses and is an MGM star.

McGUINNESS is of the opinion that there will be some legislation against Communism. He felt that it would take the form of the Communists having to be registered as foreign Agents and he said: "If they try to do any more than that they are fools".

McGUINNESS said that he doubted that Hollywood would immediately begin ousting Party members from its payroll, the reason being that the movie industry is still in the hands of the first generation. He said in confidence, and without desiring to name names, that the industry grew up in the hands of junk dealers, fur traders, push cart operators and their like and that these people have never learned that there is a moral code in America against which you cannot buck. They still feel that the man with the dollar can do anything he likes. He said that these men apparently fail to recognize the fact that they got where they did through the American form of government and that they have an obligation to the citizens of America. He therefore was a little apprehensive as to any real good coming from the Committee Hearings as far as getting Communists out of Hollywood is concerned.

The Bureau will be kept advised of any further information that McGUINNESS may offer.

On this date confidential informant [redacted] (U) furnished information concerning a phone call between BILL HAYES, Publicity Director for the Hollywood group, MARTIN POPPER and DAVE WAHL in which a press release was discussed. HAYES indicated that this press release would be given to the press for publication on Monday, November 17, 1947, and it would be released simultaneously with a large advertisement in the Washington Post newspaper. The press release is as follows: (U)

"Hollywood writers and directors recently subpoenaed by the House Un-American Activities Committee in an open letter to the House of Representatives, call upon them to undo the harm which has been done to the Congress, the prestige and dignity of the American people, and urge the voting down of the citation. The witnesses are certain that Congress will not be stampeded, will inform itself fully concerning the records of the hearings and will act only when it is in complete possession of all the facts. We believe it is not too late for Congress to undo the harm which has been done it, the American people, thus placing itself on record in support of a way of life based upon law, tradition and human freedom and dignity." (U)

In discussing the above release WILLIAM HAYES stated that we are not asking for abolition of the Committee in the above release, but in our letter to the Congressmen we should show that there is a clear violation of the First Amendment and stress the desire for abolition of the Un-American Activities Committee. HAYES also stated that he had ordered 500 copies of a reprint of the above press release which they are going to mail on Tuesday. POPPER then advised HAYES that HOYT HADDOCK, Chairman of the Civil Rights Committee, was calling a meeting for Monday morning at 10:00 A.M. at NATE CALLAN'S house. HADDOCK requested POPPER to come to this meeting in order to brief the meeting on the activities of the Hollywood case. POPPER indicated that he would be too busy over the week-end including Monday, and suggested that he would call either FRANK DONNER, Assistant to LEE PRESSMAN, General Counsel, CIO, or GENE COTTON who were familiar with the case and would brief HADDOCK regarding it. HADDOCK had assured POPPER that the Civil Rights Committee will throw every (U)

WILLIAM HAYES also contacted TOM KEENE (phonetic), Executive Secretary of the Legislative Committee for Social Action of the Congressional Church, and requested that he, along with as many members of his church as possible, join in the lobbying campaign against the Un-American Activities Committee. HAYES also contacted GILBERT HUNTER, another representative of a church group, requesting the same assistance. Later, MARTIN POPPER recontacted DAVE WAHL and instructed him that POPPER not only wanted individual lobbyists to assist, but he wanted each of these individuals obtained by WAHL to secure the cooperation of all members of their groups, requesting that they aid in the lobbying by writing the various members of Congress. WAHL indicated that he did not believe his group, the Americans for Hagannah, would go along, but suggested that in his opinion the American Jewish Committee would be glad to assist in the lobbying campaign. Hollywood writer Lawson challenged the authority of the House Un-American Activities Committee to summon him and 18 other witnesses. The Committee refused to rule on its own constitutionality, stating that the remedy is in the courts.

The House Un-American Activities Committee voted Lawson in contempt for refusing to tell whether he is or if he was a Communist.

Dear Sir:

On November 14, 1947 Mr. PAUL P. RAO, Assistant U.S. Attorney General, Customs Division, Department of Justice, telephonically advised Special Agent in Charge Edward Scheidt that DANNY SCHOLL, the leading singer in the current Broadway production "CALL ME MISTER" had advised him that he and BILLY CALLAHAN, a dancer in the same show, were being forced to attend Communist meetings. Mr. RAO advised he was referring SCHOLL to this office.

On the same date Mr. SCHOLL was interviewed by Agents of this office and furnished the following information:

SCHOLL, a War Veteran, who has been with the aforementioned show since its opening twenty months ago, and his close friend BILLY CALLAHAN have been approached on several occasions by various members of the cast and management to sign petitions and attend meetings of liberal groups such as the Progressive Citizens of America and the American Labor Party.

HANDLED BY STOLBERG

Most of the members of the cast and management were indicated to be liberals with the most vociferous being ALLAN MANSON, (actor), PAULA PURNELL (singer), GEORGE IRVING (actor), MARIA KARNILOVA (ballarina), AL TINNIAN (singer-negro), BEN KRANZ (stage manager) and DAVE KANTOR (Assistant Stage Manager). This group attempted to get SCHOLL and CALLAHAN to cast their votes against the FRANK FAY Anti-Communist slate in the recent Actor's Equity elections and have also circulated petitions in favor of P.R. Representation) and denouncing the House Committee on Un-American activities in its probe of Hollywood.

ALLAN MANSON was characterized as the worst of the instigators and continually was making backstage speeches extolling the Negro and Russia's interest in the working class. PAULA PURNELL in the spring of this year offered the cast free meals if they would march in the May Day Parade and generally talks about current events from the liberal-leftist viewpoint.

None of the aforementioned group are known by SCHOLL to be members of the Communist Party nor did he have any knowledge concerning any Communist Party meetings or activities. He pointed out that both he and CALLAHAN are known to the rest of the cast to be Catholics and hence are the targets of the aforementioned group who prod them about being reactionary, anti-negro and pro-FRANK FAY.

Mr. SCHOLL stated the aforementioned activities of the cast have been going on since the show opened and has caused the entire cast, no matter what their personal views may be, to be labled as "Reds". He indicated that BILLY CALLAHAN's fiancee is Mr. RAO's niece and while they were discussing the activities of the cast recently she told him to report it to her uncle.

For the information of the Los Angeles Office it is to be noted that in a recent N.Y. newspaper article it was indicated that BILLY CALLAHAN who attends FORDHAM UNIVERSITY in the morning and dances in the show "CALL ME MISTER" in the evening was signed to appear in pictures for TWENTIETH - CENTURY FOX commencing in January, 1948 and will continue his education at U.C.L.A.

The above is furnished the Bureau and Los Angeles Division for their information.

INFORMATION CONCERNING

Information was received through highly confidential sources indicating that Bartley Crum had arranged for an appointment with you this morning at 10:45 a.m. concerning the Hollywood personalities who were cited by Congress on a contempt charge. According to these sources, Bartley Crum, Martin Popper and Robert Kenny, who have acted as attorneys for the Hollywood personalities, have prepared a brief on these citations which will generally indicate that the Attorney General has the power not to present the Congressional citations to the Grand Jury and, secondly, that if the citations are presented to the Grand Jury the Attorney General has the power to tell the Grand Jury there is no violation of law and, therefore, an indictment should not be handed down.

It has been indicated that Crum might attempt, at the suggestion of Martin Popper, to arrange for a formal conference this afternoon at which time Crum and possibly his cohorts would attempt to tell you what your legal duties are concerning this matter. On this occasion the attorneys will present you with a petition, the contents of which are not known.

In addition, information has been received indicating that following the conference with you Crum and his associates have an immediate appointment at the Press Club with a representative of the Herald Tribune newspaper.

It is of additional interest to point out that through these same sources it was ascertained that Max Gordon of the "Daily Worker" on November 25, contacted Martin Popper concerning this matter, at which time Popper advised him that "we" are going to see the Attorney General and requested Gordon not to print this information, advising him that he would have something for Gordon within the next day or so.

On November 25, Martin Popper held a conversation with David Wahl, and Crum. Wahl, by way of identification, is an alleged Communist and suspected Soviet agent who is Washington representative of the American Jewish Conference. In the conversation Crum told Wahl that he was seeing you tomorrow (November 26, 1947) at noon and that it is all set in New York and "both the Managing Editor and it will be an exclusive on a question and answer basis." It was indicated that Popper will set up the questions and forward them so that "they" will get a chance to examine them. Crum stated that he would give "him" (probably referring to you) the questions tomorrow and that "it" is set for next Monday. It was indicated that this document containing the questions was to be released to the newspapers and that it should be a world-wide story.

Reference is made to my memorandum to you earlier today concerning the captioned subject matter.

A confidential and reliable source has reported that Bartley Crum indicated to Robert Kenny concerning his contact with you this morning that the Attorney General "didn't want it" or "none of us."

In addition, this same source has reported that in a contact had between Martin Popper and Robert Kenny, Popper related that he had made an appointment with United States Attorney George M. Fay concerning the presentation to a Federal Grand Jury the citations of the Hollywood personalities for this afternoon between 4:30 and 5 P.M. It was indicated that Kenny, Popper and Crum would all take part in this meeting. Immediately following this contact, Bill Hayes, who has been employed by this group of attorneys as a publicist, contacted the various news services concerning this conference to take place in United States Attorney Fay's office. Hayes advised that Crum, Kenny and Popper would have a statement for the press in Fay's office at 4:45 P.M. this afternoon.

In the contact had between Kenny and Popper, no further reference was made to a formal appointment with you this afternoon.

The above data have been furnished to you for your additional information.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Activities of CP members in the motion picture industry during past 30 days have centered about the THOMAS Committee Hearings held in Washington, D.C. Rallies supporting the alleged "unfriendly nineteen witnesses" have been held and their stand taken before the Committee applauded. The results of the hearings were considered a partial victory by the Party and their current program is to agitate for the postponement of the contempt citation hearings and for the abolishment of the House Un-American Activities Committee. Support of their position has been manifested primarily through Party control of the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of PCA in Hollywood. Public and motion picture industry reactions to hearings described. L. B. MAYER has invited Communists at MGM to quit. Current pictures "So Well Remembered," "Hazard," "Crossfire," "Gentleman's Agreement," and "Monsieur Verdoux" considered from standpoint of possible Communist propaganda. Reactions of local and Hollywood trade press to House Committee Hearings and New York ramification set forth.

DETAILS:

HOUSE UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

The activities of Communists employed in the motion picture industry during the past thirty days have centered primarily around the hearings conducted in Washington, D.C. by the House Un-American Activities Committee Chairman, J. PARNELL THOMAS. Nineteen so-called "unfriendly witnesses" were subpoenaed to appear, and prior to their departure a testimonial rally in their honor was held at the Shrine Auditorium on October 15, 1947 under the auspices of the Progressive Citizens of America. At this meeting the witnesses sat on the stage and several of them read papers to the effect that the hearings were an attempt to impose a censorship on motion pictures and control the content of films. The details of this meeting, including a brief summary of persons who spoke and their remarks, were forwarded to the Bureau by letter on October 20, 1947. (u)

These witnesses publicized their position further through large ads in the motion picture trade magazine Hollywood Reporter dated October 16, 1947. The caption for this ad was "An Open Letter to the Motion Picture Industry on the Issue of Freedom of the Screen From Political Intimidation and Censorship." This two-page ad listed the names of the witnesses as fighters and contains several notations from remarks made by the late WENDELL WILKIE at the time he served as counsellor for the motion picture industry at the time the WHEELER-NYE Senate Committee conducted an investigation of the motion picture industry. (u)

A similar advertisement appeared in Daily Variety on October 16, 1947. A copy of the former advertisement is being forwarded to the Bureau under separate cover. (u)

Additional support for the alleged "Unfriendly Witnesses" was distributed by the Arts, Sciences and Professional Council of Progressive Citizens of America in the form of a mimeographed throw-away entitled "The Other Side of the Story" which attacks Congressman J. PARNELL THOMAS and the aims and purposes of the un-American Activities Committee. It also attempts to discredit the so-called "friendly witnesses" who testified at the hearings. The issue of this publication contains a request that contributions to support it be sent to SONJA DAHL, c/o Progressive Citizens of America, 1515 Crossroads of the World, Los Angeles 28, California and it should be noted that this individual is SONJA DAHL BIBERMAN, ~~wife~~ sister-in-law of HERBERT BIBERMAN, one of the subpoenaed witnesses, both of whom have been reported as members of the Communist Party in Hollywood by [redacted] b7D [redacted] A copy of this publication is being sent under separate cover to the Bureau. (u) Sonja Dahl Biberman is the wife of Edward Biberman.

The group of "unfriendly witnesses" left Los Angeles together by plane and on October 17, 1947 a reception was held for them in Chicago, Illinois at the Surf Hotel Roof Garden under the auspices of the Progressive Citizens of America. (u)

The Chicago Office by letter dated October 27, 1947 reported the events of this reception and the Communist affiliations of some of the people who organized it and attended. According to the Chicago letter, approximately 700 persons attended this reception at which speeches were made by DALTON TRUMBO, Screen Writer, and LARRY PARKS, Actor. All of the witnesses made brief speeches in which they stated their purpose was to combat the House Un-American Activities Committee and seek to have its powers taken away. The witnesses stated they had agreed as to which questions they would refuse to answer and they were going before the Committee as a unified group. The speakers indicated pride at being associated with HANS EISLER. (u)

The events which transpired during the actual hearings in Washington, including a summary of the testimony of each of the witnesses, were reported by the Washington Field Office by report of Special Agent CHARLES G. CLEVELAND on November 8, 1947. (u)

Upon the conclusion of the hearings in Washington, a rally in support of the alleged "unfriendly witnesses" was held at Independence Hall Square in Philadelphia on November 1, 1947, which rally was heckled throughout by an organized group of individuals who wore veteran's insignia, and information as to the individuals who participated in this rally was furnished the Bureau, Washington Field, and Los Angeles by the Philadelphia Office in a teletype dated November 1, 1947. According to the Philadelphia Office, among the speakers at this rally were SAUL WALDBAUM, a Communist, and STETSON KENNEDY, who was introduced as an author and claimed to have joined the Ku Klux Klan and the Columbians, Incorporated. FRANCIS FISHER KANE, former United States Attorney for Eastern Pennsylvania, was also a speaker at this rally. (u)

In the motion picture industry trade publication Variety for November 5, 1947, the Progressive Citizens of America ran a large ad publicizing the fact that "The Nineteen Hostile Witnesses" were arriving in Los Angeles Municipal Airport the evening of November 5. This ad stated "PCA says to 'Nineteen Americans' welcome Home, well done," and was continued with the statement "Write your congressman to kill the contempt charges against the hostile witnesses. Write President TRUMAN and speaker of the House, JOSEPH W. MARTIN, JR. to support HR46 to abolish the Un-American Activities Committee. (u)

In the "Daily Variety" for October 31, 1947, a one-page ad, signed "The Unfriendly Nineteen," appeared, which ad stated many of the arguments of these witnesses against the continued existence of the THOMAS Committee, and contained allegations that the Committee violated the First Amendment to the Constitution and statements to the effect that not only freedom of the screen but every free institution in America is jeopardized as long as the Committee exists. A copy of this advertisement is being furnished to the Bureau under separate cover. (U)

EFFECTS OF THE HEARING

COMMUNIST PARTY REACTION:

On November 1, 1947, CNDI [redacted] advised the following concerning the reactions of the Communist Party in the Los Angeles area. (U) b7D

The Party believes that there will be a qualitative gain from the recent hearings, and that for the first time the Un-American Committee is on the defensive rather than the offensive. According to Informant, [redacted] Organizational Secretary of the Communist Party in Los Angeles County, did not believe the hearings were over but that the House Committee was "just licking its wounds". (U) b7D

The Party claims a moral victory for the progressive movement. The House Committee has been forced to retreat, and if they continue will have to take a different approach. (U)

The Party believes that they have sufficiently ridiculed the Committee's current approach, and have brought out the point that agencies of the Government such as the FBI should handle any kind of investigation, and that Congress' business is not investigating any part of the American life. (U)

Some of the recent editorials in the "People's World" are beginning to narrow down to the fact that they are going to "tie in" the anti-lynch campaign and are going to become very aggressive in this connection. (u)

17113

[redacted] mentioned above, and BEN DOBBS, Los Angeles Labor Chairman for the Communist Party, have indicated the Party's position regarding the defense of the ten Hollywood writers and directors, etc., who were recently cited by the House Sub-Committee for contempt of Congress, as follows: b7D

It was decided not only to challenge the power of the Committee, but also to turn the whole thing around so that it became an offensive rather than a defensive. The Reichstag trials were to be tied in. Considerable play was to be made regarding the Constitution, and questions raised as to the invasion of individual rights. (u)

The tactics to be used called for an aggressive organization to carry on the campaign on a broad scale and tie in everything on the above basis. The theory of the above policy is that every court room can be turned into a forum and a class for the education of everyone who can hear the defense of the Party. (u) X CONF. [illegible]

According to CNDI [redacted] Communist Party functionaries in the motion picture industry were disappointed in a sense at the abrupt ending of the hearings, for the reason it deprived them of an active cause around which to rally an attack upon the House Un-American Activities Committee. (u) b7D

According to this informant, some of the functionaries felt it would be more difficult to maintain enthusiasm for the campaign to eliminate the Committee now that the hearings had ended. (u)

Industry Reactions

This office reported to the Bureau by letter dated November 3, 1947 the reactions of Source A concerning the hearings in Washington, D.C. to which he had been summoned. In his opinion the Committee had had enough big names as friendly witnesses that public opinion had been won over through the press. He went on that in his opinion some of the "weaker Communists" such as RING LARDNER, JR. and LARRY PARKS would "break" if the Committee has another hearing and summons either or both of these individuals. (u)

In Informant's opinion, the public is now getting to the point where those pictures having Communists connected with them will suffer financially at the box office. This, in the Informant's opinion, is the only method of pressuring studio production officials into discharging top Communist personnel. (u)

The people, described by the Informant as "strong Communists", feel that the manner in which they conducted themselves before the Committee proved too much for the latter, thus resulting in the cessation of the hearing. The Informant's opinion of the effect of the hearing on Hollywood was that he doubted that the industry would immediately begin discharging Communists from its payroll. (u)

Informant also feels certain that in the event the Committee reconvenes, the persons who attended as friendly witnesses will not cooperate in subsequent hearings because of disapproval of the manner in which the Committee handled itself generally. He feels "that they did a sixty-five per cent job when they could have done a ninety per cent job." (u)

Source B reported on November 7, 1947 that on Tuesday, November 11, 1947, L. B. MAYER intended calling the entire personnel of MGM Studio together on the sound stage. At this time it was his intention to read the Bill of Rights and the "aims of the Communist Party," asking persons in the audience as to which document they preferred living under. Also he would ask whether any Communists were present, if so they were to stand and consider themselves discharged. Further, that those who did not volunteer to take this action would be fired. Informant followed this matter closely and the meeting was held as a dinner on November 12, 1947. Present were the producers, some directors, and the department heads of MGM. L. B. MAYER said that the box office was beginning to feel the pressure of public opinion; that theatres in certain sections were being picketed and that several exhibitors had refused to book "Song of Love" because KATHERINE HEPBURN appeared in it. MAYER told the group that his door, as well as that of EDDIE MANNIX, would always be open in the event any Communist wanted to come in and quit. (u)

The Hearst Papers have been carrying a series of editorials advocating government censorship of motion pictures. (u)

Source C is of the opinion that WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST and L. B. MAYER are working together in an effort to do something positive about Communists employed in the industry. Concerning MAYER, this Informant pointed out that the former represents the minority stockholders of Loew's Incorporated and that most of the majority policy decisions are made by EDDIE MANNIX who represents NICK SCHENK, President of Loew's. The Informant went on that, in his opinion, the Mayer-Hearst combination is working through the Hearst newspapers in an effort to arouse public opinion and to force the industry to clean house by frightening production heads with the prospect of government censorship. Informant stated that it is not his opinion but comes from persons he considers "students" of the current situation. He said that he felt that if MAYER had the backing of the majority of stockholders he would personally take more direct action than attempting to work the situation out as described above. (u)

Source C states that "the industry is worried and if the Committee will continue to expose Communists they will be dropped from the payrolls." Continuing, the Informant said "industry has completely under-estimated the reaction of the public, and production heads are alarmed." (u)

Source C said that some exhibitors had had incidents where patrons had demanded their money back because LARRY PARKS appeared in a picture and his name had been removed from the marquee by the exhibitor. This Informant likewise is of the firm opinion that box office pressure, due to the Committee hearings, will force the studios to take definite action of some sort. (u)

Along this line it has also been noted that newspaper ads publicizing the current film "Forever Amber" for a few days carried the name of RING LARDNER, JR. as the author of the screen play, however, subsequent ads were notices which made no mention who authored the screen play. It is generally understood that Screen Writers' Guild contracts provide that all advertising relating to a film on which a Guild member worked in a major capacity must give credit to him. (u)

The Los Angeles Examiner on November 14, 1947 carried an article entitled "No Reds To Get Jobs RKO Tells Stockholders." This article carried the story that due to letters from RKO stockholders protesting the employment of Communists, FLOYD ODLUM, Chairman of the Board, and N. PETER RATHBON, President of RKO, mailed out a letter to protesting stockholders, part of which reads as follows:

> "The Board of Directors of RKO Radio-Picture, Incorporated who, without exception, are unalterably opposed to Communism have adopted a company policy not to engage the services of any known Communist. (u)
> "This policy does not mean that the management will be carried away by hysteria or words. Calling a man a Communist does not make him one. (u)
>
> "Unwarranted attacks on Mr. DORE SCHARY, the Executive Producer at our studio in Hollywood, are a clear example of what is meant by this last statement. (u)
>
> "Your company employed Mr. SCHARY in this top position on accounts of his outstanding abilities and after careful investigation. (u)
> "At that time we gave him our confidence and he still has our confidence." (u)

The letter of the Board went on that it supported Mr. SCHARY and that it agreed with his oath made at Washington, D.C. before the House Committee which is as follows: "I am not a Communist. I have "never been a Communist. I never contemplated becoming a Communist, and I am opposed to Communists. I have fought the Communist line at any time I have seen it becoming apparent." (u)

The article goes on that the Examiner attempted to reach SCHARY for a clarification of his statement before the Committee that "he would refuse to ban Communists from his employ until it is proved that such persons are dedicated to the overthrow of the government by force or violence." (u)

The article went on to say that it sought to obtain from the studio a statement as to whether the contracts of EDWARD DMYTRYK and ADRIAN SCOTT would be renewed and whether any of the accused writers that appeared before the hearings would be employed in the future and the article closed saying "Again there was no comment." (u)

Source C is of the opinion that SCHARY will be replaced; however, he pointed out that RKO has had so much difficulty with production and SCHARY has whipped things into line where the studio is doing much better than previously, and replacing SCHARY will be no easy task. Men who can function as executive directors are in great demand and SCHARY, according to Informant, has done an excellent job in handling production. Informant quoted CHARLES BOREN, who is handling labor problems for the producers, as saying, "the industry has been hurt tremendously. SCHARY did the most damage by his testimony before the Committee." (u)

Concerning the possibility that producers can discharge people for being Communists, Informant went on that he has had his attorneys check this thing and they report that there have been no other decisions along those lines. His attorneys tell him that the federal government is currently conducting a check of Employees and intends to discharge those whom it deems subversive and that "if the government can do it, why can't private industry?" (u)

HEDDA HOPPER, a movie columnist, has reported to this office that her office has received a very voluminous mail response to her columns criticizing the Communist influence in motion pictures and supporting the THOMAS Committee. HEDDA HOPPER stated that she has received literally "a flood of mail" from people who state they do not intend to patronize pictures in which those individuals cited for contempt by Congress had a part. She also stated that the second day that the film "Song of Love" was shown at a Wilshire District theatre in Los Angeles, there were exactly thirty-two people in the audience during the afternoon show. She pointed out that this film had for its stars, KATHERINE HEPBURN, PAUL HENREID, and ROBERT WALKER, and was, in fact, an average movie in quality. According to HEDDA HOPPER, this reaction on the part of the public, which hurts the box office receipts, is the one thing that will stimulate the heads of studies, the actual producers of motion pictures, to take action against the Communists in the industry. (u)

An example of reaction in this community to numerous Communist investigations conducted of the motion picture industry and to be conducted by the federal and county governments concerning alleged disloyal employees, is a new news letter which appeared on the Los Angeles scene on November 7, 1947. This news letter is entitled "Alert" and deals with Communism in California. Brochure in possession of this office described Alert as a weekly publication in the form of a confidential report for executives and civic leaders on Communist activity in California and what to do about it. The first report dealt with the Communist Party's effective and carefully planned campaign to use American freedoms to balk any investigation and exposure of Communists and Communistic activities. (u)

This periodical is edited and published by NORMAN JACOBY, Managing Editor, and ED GIBBONS, Editor, Room 409 at 127 South Broadway, Los Angeles 12, California, telephone, Madison 7834. The subscriptions to "Alert" are twenty-five dollars per year. It appears to have been fashioned after the news letter "Counter-Attack" published in New York City. (u)

For the Bureau's information GIBBONS was formerly director of public relations for the Teamsters Local, A.F. of L. in Los Angeles, and JACOBY was formerly associated with the Newspaper Guild and has been described by Informants of this office as a member of the faction of that guild which fought the Communist domination. (u)

Screen Writers Guild

As early as September of this year the Screen Writers Guild publicly announced that they intended to fight the House Committee probe. An article appearing in the Hollywood Reporter on September 4, 1947 carried a notice to that effect. (u)

Articles appearing in the Trade Press, the Hollywood Reporter, and the Daily Variety of September 10 and 11, 1947 mentioned that the Screen Writers Guild had been split over two main subjects--(1) A proposed royalty of one per cent of the take on all films which was to go to the Screen Writers Guild; (2) A move by EMMETT LAVERY, President, to have all executive board members sign non-Communist affiliation certificates. This split resulted in F. HUGH HERBERT's resignation for this Guild, resignation. HERBERT amplified his resignation with his endorsement of the Taft-Hartley Law dealing with the above-mentioned affidavits, and denounced the film royalty payments as proposed. The latter proposal was subsequently adopted by the Board and the proposal is to be submitted to the membership by mail. (u)

Articles appearing in the Hollywood Reporter on November 4, 1947 and November 1947 disclosed that the date of election would be November 19, 1947 and that SHERIDAN GIBNEY was unopposed for president. A group, identified as right wingers, threatened to write in RICHARD MACAULEY for president of the guild, as his name apparently did not appear on the ballot. (u)

On November 12, 1947 in the Hollywood Reporter, an article disclosed that a pointed request had been made of House Speaker MARTIN yesterday in a wire from the Screen Writers Guild that he let the House act on the citations. The Guild had seven members among the accused. This action was voted on at a board meeting on November 10, 1947. (u)

The Hollywood Citizen News on November 12, 1947 carried an article which stated that the Screen Writers Guild leftist had been offered sanctuary in England by the British Screen Writers Association. The guild announced that an official welcome would be given to all the eminent and liberal-minded writers who had been attacked. (u)

It should be noted that this article mentioned that JAMES M. CAIN, a member of the guild and author of the proposed American Authors Authority, told fellow members of the guild that it is loaded with Communists. CAIN sent a letter to all guild members in connection with the election coming up in which he asserted that the charges by RUPERT HUGHES, Congressman THOMAS, and State Senator JACK B. TENNEY that the guild teems with Reds, is true "whether we like it or not. (u)

CAIN likened the Guild Magazine Pravdushka to a lesser, Pravda, the Moscow newspaper that is the mouth-piece for STALIN. (u)

Screen Actors Guild

The Screen Actors Guild held its annual elections on September 16, 1947 and at the meeting adopted a resolution to the effect that no Communist or person with Communist affiliations could be an officer of the Guild Committee. This action was publicized in the motion picture trade magazine Variety on November 17, 1947 and also in the Los Angeles Examiner of that date. It should be noted, however, that LARRY PARKS and ANNE REVERE were both elected to the executive board, and since these individuals have been reported to be members of the CP (CNDI [redacted]) it is possible the resolution adopted will be put to a test before these two are allowed to take office inasmuch as they will have to sign a non-Communist affidavit. (u) b7D

Screen Directors Guild

Both the Hollywood Reporter and Daily Variety on October 23, 1947 publicized the fact that the Screen Directors Guild Board did not approve of Director SAM WOOD'S testimony before the House Committee. Formal objections to WOOD'S remarks were made to JOSEPH MARTIN, JR., Speaker of the House, by telegram which read: "The Board of Directors of the Screen Directors Guild feels called upon to deny the testimony of SAM WOOD regarding Communistic activities in the Screen Directors Guild and it is our considered belief that WOOD'S remarks are without foundation." The wire was signed by GEORGE STEVENS, President of the Guild, and the Board of Directors. (u)

Screen Cartoonists Guild

The executive board of the Screen Cartoonists Guild, Local Number 852, A.F. of L. made it known by an ad appearing in the Hollywood Reporter on October 30, 1947 that it unanimously voted to refute the statement made by WALT DISNEY before the House Committee regarding the DISNEY Strike of 1941 that "it was not a labor problem at all." (u)

BILL MELENDEZ, President of the Screen Cartoonists Guild, stated that the strike was caused by (1) the company's unwillingness to recognize the union and to bargain and negotiate a contract; (2) the firing of one of our members for union activities. It was also pointed out that the National Labor Relations Board later reinstated this discharged member with full pay for the time he was out. (u)

It should be noted that the business representative for the Screen Cartoonists Guild is MAURICE NOWARD, a member of the Communist Party, according to (CNDI [redacted]) (u) b7D

LA #100-15732

Hollywood Screen Publicist Guild 17121

Four hundred members of the Hollywood Screen Publicist Guild offered a public relations service in helping combat increasing attacks against the motion picture industry. This service was offered to the motion picture association and publicity was given to this offer in the Daily Variety on September 12, 1947. (u)

A.F. of L. Motion Picture Painters, Local 644

The above local is, according to the Hollywood Citizens News, dated November 12, 1947, releasing copies of a letter they had mailed to the Speaker of the House, JOSEPH MARTIN, JR, in which strong denial is made of the testimony given in the hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities to the effect that the union is dominated by Communists. (u)

This letter pointed out that union officers have filed a non-Communist affidavit required by the Taft-Hartley law and was signed by the officers which were headed by ROBERT RUSK, et al, including HERBERT K. SORRELL, listed as business representative. (u)

SORRELL has been identified as a member of the Communist Party by the California State Committee on Un-American Activities headed by Senator JACK B. TENNEY. (u)

LA 100-15732 CONF. INF.

CNDI [redacted] on November 4, 1947, advised as follows: b7D

While this investigation by the House Committee was one of Communism, Communists and propaganda in the Hollywood motion picture industry solely; and while it did show that there had been serious infiltration into the industry by the Communist apparatus; and while it did show fairly clearly that the Hollywood Communist infiltration and attempted influence over pictures is part of a world-wide conspiracy directed by, and in the interest of, the Soviet Union, it did develop a most illuminating angle which showed the enormous influence of the Communist Party in directions outside its own circle. It showed that it wields an influence in those groups that pretend to be anti-Communist. It showed that a section of the capitalist world threw its influence into the attempt to halt the investigation—for reasons other than sympathy for Communism, of course.

Following is an enumeration of various groups and interests which merged their power and influence with the Communists and sympathizers to halt the investigation and protect the Communist infiltration into the Hollywood motion picture industry as furnished by CNDI LA 1138:

MOTION PICTURE ASSOCIATION

The MPA is composed of an alliance of all the major producing companies in the motion picture industry.

First, it must be remembered that the producers of motion pictures in Hollywood have been aware for many years of theCommunist activity in their industry. Investigations have been attempted heretofore, but they have always been headed off. For example, the Dies Committee investigation in 1946

Although Mr. LOUIS B. MAYER and JACK L. WARNER, two of the top producers in Hollywood and representing Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation and Warner Bros. respectively, both condemned Communism and Communists and all such activity in the industry, nevertheless the MPA, of which they are leading figures employed PAUL MC NUTT, former governor of Indiana and Governor-General of the Phillipine Islands, to do everything possible to halt the investigation. He fought right alongside the Communist attorneys, used the same arguments as to free speech and violation of Constitutional rights; in fact almost used the same physical tactics that the Communists used to stop the proceedings. Inasmuch as he was employed for the purpose of stopping the investigation, it must be presumed that he was following the desires of his employer, the MPA in this matter.

In addition to Mr. MC NUTT, Mr. ERIC JOHNSON who is the supreme political and economic representative of the Hollywood producers and the MPA, likewise did everything in his power to have the investigation called off. Again we must presume that he too was following the wishes of his employer the MPA. (u)

In addition to the foregoing position of the Hollywood producers irrespective of pretended aversion to Communist activities, hundreds of persons employed in responsible positions in the industry joined together in an organization called "Committee for the First Amendment" and sent letters of protest to the Committee, placed large display advertisements in the trade and other papers denouncing the investigation and in general staging a Hollywood demonstration in favor of the Communists being heard. Anyone familiar with Hollywood is well aware that such activities can be stopped by a word from the producers on the ground that it would bring censure of the industry--an old Hollywood tradition. (u)

In fact, with the exception of a relatively small minority, all Hollywood was lined up against the investigation. (u)

AMERICANS FOR DEMOCRATIC ACTION (ADA)

This organization was formed by self-styled "liberals" such as LEON HENDERSON, WILSON WYATT, Mrs. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT and other prominent persons. The organization will not permit known, or suspected, Communists within its membership and professes to be opposed to Communism. Yet, this organization nationally, and locally through MELVYN DOUGLAS, screen actor, protested most violently against the investigation. (u)

DEMOCRATIC CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF LOS ANGELES COUNTY (Democratic Party)

This Central Committee of the regular Democratic Committee protested against the investigation by special resolution, copies of which were sent to the Committee. (u)

NEW YORK TIMES

This ultra-capitalist publication came out editorially against any investigation of the Hollywood Communists, using the same arguments standardized by the Communist Party. (u)

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

This Republican newpaper came out editorially against the investigation and maintained that Hollywood was not being investigated but the Congress of the United States was the culprit. (u)

CONFIDENTIAL

17124

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

Mrs. ROOSEVELT, in her daily syndicated column, took the same position, indicting the Congress of the United States and its Committee for an invasion of civil rights. (u)

DOROTHY THOMPSON

Miss THOMPSON, syndicated columnist, condemned the investigation as a witch hunt. She pretends to be very anti-Communist at other times. (u)

HAROLD ICKES

Mr. ICKES, in his syndicated column, excoriated the Committee as an invader of civil rights and called for a stop to its activities. (u)

B'NAI B'RITH MESSENGER

This publication is the principal Jewish weekly paper on the Pacific West Coast. It denounced the investigation as an outrage and called for a stop to its activities. (u)

AMERICAN BROADCASTING SYSTEM

This broadcasting system carried a resume of the daily proceedings of the Committee. Using one half hour of time only, it was necessary to condense the program. In doing so, it repeated all the highlights of the speeches of the Communists and played down the remarks of the Committee or the interrogator. The tone of the entire broadcast each day was subtly anti-investigation. (u)

The foregoing is only a partial list of the diverse elements who came to the rescue of the Communists in the hearings. This demonstrates, when all the masks are down, that the Communist Party wields a power of considerable strength outside its own realm. Particularly is this true with respect to the so-called "liberal" groups who pretend to follow the middle road, but when the occasion demands promptly "go left" (u)

EFFECTS OF THE HEARINGS ON THE INDUSTRY IN HOLLYWOOD DIRECTLY

Despite all protestations by the producers of motion pictures, they consider these hearings to be the biggest blow the industry ever suffered; even bigger than the 75% tax levied on American pictures shown in England. Having been aware themselves all along that the Communist influence in Hollywood was exceedingly strong, and having, in fact, openly and tacitly abetted themselves, they now see an unfavorable reaction among theatregoers all over the United States; in fact, they are already feeling the effects. (u)

Anticipating months ago that the reaction to the hearings might be serious for the industry, the Hollywood producers and studio heads began a slow-down in the industry. This has continued to date, with the result that production in the industry is now the lowest ever in its history. Thousands have been laid off and the process continues day by day. (u)

There is no doubt whatever that motion pictures have been loaded with propaganda for years. The producers knew this and permitted it. Now that these facts have become public and people are sharpened so that many themselves can detect the slanted scenes and dialogue, the entire Hollywood industry is badly afflicted with a case of nerves. (u)

Coming with such suddenness, the makers of pictures are in a quandary. They do not know just yet what kind of pictures to make. In fact, there is a sort of nervous panic in the upper brackets of the industry. (u)

To create further tension, thousands of letters are being received from theatregoers throughout the nation to the effect that they will never attend another theater where pictures are being shown wherein any of the characters mentioned in the investigation or any others who have records of sympathy with the Communists appear, or have anything whatever to do with the picture. (u)

All in all, the Hollywood motion picture industry has gotten itself into a bad jam, according to CNDI [redacted] (u) b7D

ORGANIZATIONS UPHOLDING THE "UNFRIENDLY 19"

Committee for the First Amendment

The Committee for the First Amendment was formed, according to their advertisement in the "Hollywood Reporter" on October 21, 1947, as follows:

"We, the undersigned, as American citizens who believe in constitutional democratic government, are disgusted and outraged by the continuing attempt of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to smear the motion picture industry. (U)

"We hold that these hearings are morally wrong because: (U)

"Any investigation into the political beliefs of the individual is contrary to the basic principles of our democracy; (U)

"Any attempt to curb freedom of expression and to set arbitrary standards of Americanism is in itself disloyal to both the spirit and the letter of our constituion. (U)

This ad was signed by a number of individuals. According to Source D, JOHN HUSTON is the person who contributed the original idea and seemed to be most closely associated with the formation of this group. HUSTON told the informant that it had been his intention to concentrate on his career and retire from politics, but the conduct of the hearings in Washington made it impossible for him to remain on the sidelines. (U)

Several meetings were held at his home while the organization was being formulated, and HUSTON personally recruited HUMPHREY BOGART and LAUREN BACALL to the movement. It will be recalled that these two Hollywood personalities were among others who flew to Washington while the hearings were in progress. [redacted] stated that HUSTON kept BOGART up all one night until six in the morning "getting him all fired up over this thing". CONF. INFT. b7D

This Committee indulged in considerable publicity, mostly in the Hollywood trade papers, and Source E stated that after the witnesses began being cited for contempt by the Committee, many members of the protesting delegation who had gone to Washington were upset and disturbed because they found that they were defending persons who were actually members of the Communist Party. (U)

This same informant observed that the Committee for the

CONFIDENTIAL

First Amendment was not able to secure many of the big names in Hollywood because OLIVIA DeHAVILLAND and BETTE DAVIS refused to have any part in the activity. These two actresses, according to the informant, are responsible for swinging a great many other persons in the film colony, and the fact that they refused to lend their names to the Committee's activities acted as a damper on the promotional aspects. (U)

Originally the Committee for the First Amendment started out to defend ROOSEVELT's reputation because the Un-American Committee asked questions of certain witnesses as to whether or not they knew that the pictures "Mission to Moscow" and "North Star" had been made at the instigation of anyone in Washington. The Un-American Committee made no further reference to this line of questioning after the first day's hearing, and the liberals who had been attracted to HUSTON's movement became convinced that the Committee did not intend to become a "smear ROOSEVELT" instrument but rather was honestly attempting to seek out Communists. (U)

The Committee for the First Amendment intended to swing into the defense of HANS EISLER and CARL MARZANI. However, this procedure was abandoned because the liberals and front organizations did not join in what was thought would be a tremendous mass movement. (U)

This was reported to the Bureau in letter from this office dated October 25, 1947. (U)

According to this same informant, the Hollywood liberals are aware of the fact that they have been used by the Communists and many of them are dying low as the town is gradually splitting into two groups. (U)

Several radio programs were sponsored by the Committee for the First Amendment, according to an article in Variety on October 27, and the programs "in general condemned the procedure of the Committee in attacking and smearing the picture business" (U)

Some of these clippings are being sent to the Bureau under separate cover. (U)

The same informant pointed out that many of the persons prominent in the motion pictures are "politically naive," and many of them were surprised to learn that some of the unfriendly witnesses were actually identified as Communist Party members. This informant had been in telephonic communication with some of the Committee for the First Amendment people who flew to Washington in protest against the hearings, and informant pointed out that "certain members of the delegation and a lot of people in the delegation are shocked," and that some of them wished they had not made the trip. The informant went on that certain members of this Committee were spreading the rumor in Hollywood to the effect that the THOMAS Committee is practically an instrument of the Catholic Church, that THOMAS is a Roman Catholic, and that church circles in New Jersey have brought pressure to bear, which accounts for the THOMAS Committee hearings. (U)

CONFIDENTIAL

Source E continued that BILLY WILDER is pro-English and anti-French. WILDER admires the Socialistic experiment in England, and has expressed his antipathy toward the French people of late since the recent elections in which DeGAULLE signified great political strength. WILDER, as has been pointed out above, has been active in the Committee for the First Amendment. (U)

Source F said that he is personally acquainted with IRA GERSHWIN, brother of GEORGE GERSHWIN, deceased. Informant has written several shows with IRA and characterized the latter as one of the laziest men he ever knew. He said "IRA just hates to move". The fact that GERSHWIN took the plane to Washington to protest the hearings, along with BOGART, was significant to the informant because it showed that someone was putting a great deal of pressure on him. In informant's opinion, LEE GERSHWIN, IRA's wife, is a member of the Communist Party. (U)

This same informant went on that Mrs. WILLIAM WYLER, whose husband worked closely with JOHN HUSTON in the formation of the Committee for the First Amendment, gave $8000 to the Committee to further its work. (U)

Americans for Democratic Action

This organization has received considerable publicity indicating that it is distinguished from other liberal groups, particularly the PCA, by the fact that it has adopted a resolution to the effect that Communists can not hold office in it and are not desired as members of the organization. However, Americans for Democratic Action did run a large advertisement in the "Hollywood Reporter" and "Variety"—the ad in the "Reporter" on October 11, 1947, and in "Variety" on October 15, 1947—in which ADA criticized the House Un-American Activity Committee hearings. The subheadline for this advertisement read: "Unless you conduct your hearings in the American tradition of fair play for all witnesses and tolerance for all viewpoints, you will injure both Hollywood and your committee". (u)

The tenor of the body of this ad was to the effect that a democratic system does not fear ideas and because cultural freedom "is so basic and meaningful, Americans for Democratic Action view with deep concern any move that narrows the realm of cultural liberty and imprisons the imagination of writers and artists. Opposing Communists no less vehemently than we resist fascism, we are determined to combat with equal vigor any attempt to impose the kind of mental straitjacket which stifles culture under dictatorship". (u)

This ad is signed as follows: "LEON HENDERSON, Chairman of the Executive Committee, Americans for Democratic Action. MELVYN DOUGLAS, Chairman, California Organizing Committee, ADA". (u)

A copy of the ad which appeared in the "Hollywood Reporter," October 11, 1947, is being forwarded to the Bureau under separate cover. (u)

The National Lawyers Guild

The Motion Picture trade magazine "Variety" in its issue October 30, 1947, reproduced a telegram sent by Western Union to the President of the United States on October 29, 1947, signed: "Hollywood - Beverly Hills Chapter, National Lawyers Guild, SAM HOUSTON ALLEN - Chairman". This telegram is quoted as follows:

> "AS LAWYERS SWORN TO UPHOLD THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, INCLUDING THE FIRST AMENDMENT WHICH GUARANTEES TO ALL MEN THE RIGHT TO THEIR OWN SOCIAL, ECONOMIC, POLITICAL AND RELIGIOUS VIEWS FREE FROM OFFICIAL INQUISITION, WE REAFFIRM THE FOLLOWING PRINCIPLES: THAT AN ACCUSED HAS THE RIGHT TO CONFRONT AND CROSS-EXAMINE HIS ACCUSERS; THAT THERE IS A SACRED PRIVILEGE GUARDING THE CONFIDENTIAL RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN LAWYER AND CLIENT. WE DEPLORE THE BRANDING AS SUBVERSIVE OF THE GREAT ENTERTAINMENT INDUSTRY AND ITS PEOPLE BY UNCHALLENGED HEARSAY AND RUMOR. WE FEAR THE THOMAS-RANKIN COMMITTEE HAS NO CONCEPT OF A TRIBUNAL ESTABLISHED AND CONDUCTED IN THE AMERICAN WAY. WE ARE PROUD THAT THERE HAVE ALWAYS BEEN AND STILL ARE MEN WITH COURAGE TO DEFY

THOSE WHO WOULD ABANDON THE TRADITIONAL AMERICAN IDEAL OF JUSTICE AND FAIR PLAY. WE URGE YOU TOO MR. PRESIDENT TO SPEAK OUT AGAINST THE UNPRECEDENTED PRACTICES OF THIS COMMITTEE." (u)

It should be noted that CNDI [redacted] has reported that SAM HOUSTON ALLEN is a member of the Hollywood Section, Los Angeles County Communist Party; also, ROBERT W. KENNY, one of the pricipal attorneys defending the "Unfriendly Nineteen", is President of the National Lawyers Guild (u) b7D

Progressive Citizens of America

CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] have reported that the Hollywood Chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America has been very active on behalf of the "unfriendly nineteen." Prior to the hearings, when defensive plans were being made on behalf of these witnesses, surveillances by Bureau Agents disclosed that WALDO SALT, GEORGE PEPPER and HERBERT BIBERMAN met at the PCA Office, 1515 Crossroads of the World Building in Hollywood, and that BIBERMAN and SALT on two occasions thereafter proceeded to the law offices of BEN MARGOLIS. CHARLES J. KATZ, attorney who was evicted from the hearings, was formerly a partner of MARGOLIS. In addition SONJA DAHL BIBERMAN, according to CNDI [redacted] has been working in the PCA Office in Hollywood with GEORGE PEPPER, and both of these individuals have been identified as members of the Communist Party by CNDI [redacted] (u) b7D

The throw-aways publicizing meetings held on behalf of these witnesses have indicated that many of the meetings are under the auspices of the PCA (u)

ADDITIONAL COMMUNIST FRONT ACTIVITY

Los Angeles Informants [redacted] and [redacted] have furnished information indicating the principal concern of WALDO SALT, GEORGE PEPPER, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and HERBERT BIBERMAN at the present time is to mobilize public support to bring pressure upon Congress to dismiss the contempt citations lodged against some of the witnesses. At the same time a vigorous campaign is desired by these men to urge abolishing the House Un-American Activities Committee, which is the purpose of the resolution before the House by Congressman SABATH of Illinois (u) b7D

These objectives have been stated at public meetings addressed by many of the so-called "unfriendly nineteen." (u)

PCA Rally, November 1, 1947

The Hollywood Council, representing the Arts, Sciences and Professions of the Progressive Citizens of America Meeting above, held a rather hurriedly called open meeting at 6841 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood, California, November 1, 1947, which was designed to inform members of this area of the outcome of the Congressional hearings in Washington dealing with Communist infiltration into the motion picture industry. This meeting was covered personally by Special Agents BERNARR M. PTACEK and LESLIE F. WARREN of this office. (u)

The above meeting, which took place in the Masonic Hall, was well attended, having an audience estimated at approximately 1,000 persons. The master of ceremonies was later identified as EDWARD BIBERMAN, brother of HERBERT BIBERMAN, Hollywood writer who is presently being considered by the above Congressional Committee for contempt of Congress. It should be noted that the master of ceremonies was not introduced by name. (u)

Following an allegiance to the Flag in which the audience participated, the master of ceremonies gave a brief opening address and pointed out that their group had gained a partial victory in Washington. He said the hearings were scheduled to run three weeks and in reality ran only eight days. (u)

Emphasis was given to the fact that ROBERT W. KENNEY, counsel for the "unfriendly 19," was not given a chance to present any defense whatsoever. The unfriendly witnesses were described as being the "shock troops" for the fight of civil liberties in this country. These troops, however, were backed by many organized groups and real American people. The PCA will consider the battle only beginning and will follow the THOMAS committee's tactics and prepare a dossier on the committee itself. (u)

Brief mention was made of the PCA meeting held at Philadelphia that day, which was broken up by a group of organized hecklers who threw stench bo bs and knocked down innocent women. The fact that the meeting was a legal one was upheld by two Federal courts, but in pite of this ruling violence appeared. The question was raised: "Do you thin THOMAS will rush to Philadelphia to investigate the violence caused by the organized hecklers?" (u)

EDWARD MOSK, who was identified as a prominent Los Angeles attorney, and Vice-Chairman of the PCA, spoke regarding the legal aspects of the recent Washington hearings. He mentioned that "the circus is over but the memory and the legal phases of the hearing will linger indefinitely." (u)

The PCA et al expect to go into the courts to fight their battle as, undoubtedly, the contempt charges recommended by the Sub-Committee in Congress will be upheld. MOSK mentioned that no doubt representatives of the THOMAS Committee were present at the meeting. Consequently, MOSK would speak slowly so that they would be able to understand the legal points on which the "unfriendly 19" would win the battle. (u)

In substance, MOSK's speech dealt with the fact that the Constitution must be upheld. He discussed the Bill of Rights, with particular attention given to a labor union's rights to protect the identity of its membership. He also spoke of the various rights of religious and minority groups. (u)

Mention was made of the PALMER raids which took place after World War I. The facts of these raids were finally released but the damage was done. The HARRY BRIDGES case was discussed briefly and it was said that even though this case was won, the loss of time was great and the cost expensive. Also discussed was the WILLIAM SCHNEIDERMAN case, which was successfully defended by the late WENDELL WILKIE. (u)

MOSK prophecied that HOWARD FAST of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee and the "unfriendly 19" witnesses would be finally cleared of all contempt charges. He further prophecied that the Supreme Court will throw out the Government's Loyalty Program. He said it will take time and that groups like the PCA et al must take the responsibility; and the lawyers must make special effort to aid in the civil liberty cases, and that it is the responsibility of the public in general to defeat at the polls the people who are responsible for conducting such hearings as those originally held in Washington. (u)

MOSK stated that the Lawyers Guild would uphold the First Amendment. He mentioned a Supreme Court citation in 1936, JAMES versus the Security Exchange Commission, which in substance says that "a citizen must know the reason for any inquiry made of him by an investigating committee, and this inquiry must be a legal and a pertinent one or a citizen may refuse to answer and be within his legal rights". Mention was made that it was upon this point of law that ten of the "unfriendly 19" based their refusal to answer. (u)

The purpose of the Un-American Committee, according to MOSK, was ostensibly to secure facts for drafting legislation. He pointed out that Congressional committees on un-American activities had been in existence for ten years, and that the only bit of legislation enacted deprived LOVETT (Phonetic) et al of their Government salaries, and which act was later declared unconstitutional. Therefore, MOSK said that all inquiries by similar committees for legislative purposes are illegal. (u)

MOSK said the Committee hearings left the mark of fear in Hollywood. He said the job of fighting must not be left to the courts but that this group must use all legal means possible, specifically the polls, but before that exert pressure to abolish the Committee before the next election, if possible. (u)

As a final quotation MOSK stated that "our job is to see that the legal vindication that will ultimately come does not come too late" (u)

The next speaker was introduced as an executive director of the Arts, Sciences and Professional Council of the Progressive Citizens of America, Mr. GEORGE PEPPER (identified by CNDI-[redacted] as a member of the Communist Party in 1944 and 1945). He was to give a first-hand report of the recent hearings in Washington. (u) b7D

Mr. PEPPER said in substance as follows: That he will never forget his experiences in Washington and New York. The unfriendly witnesses and the persons working with them got no sleep. They were nervous and, above all, there was work to be done. There was terror in their hearts, intimidation by the Committee, telephone lines tapped, detectives trailing them around, and as a whole the atmosphere was bad. (u)

The Committee was described as being smart, and even brilliant at times, and the speaker wanted to convey definitely to the audience that they must recognize they are not dealing with a stupid group this time. He said the Committee will stop at nothing and may even at this time be devising a shortcut to establish their purposes. (u)

PEPPER said that ERIC JOHNSON, during his testimony, did satisfactorily for about three-fourths of his speech. However, he at this point went to pieces and lost his case by agreeing with the Committee. In fact, JOHNSON, "sold the industry down the river". JOHNSON told the Committee that JOHN HOWARD LAWSON should not be in the motion picture industry and, in fact, any Communist so proved should not be employed in the industry (u)

PEPPER mentioned that he noticed JOHN M. COSTELLO, formerly of the DIES Committee, in the audience, and PEPPER felt that COSTELLO recognized him and later identified PEPPER to THOMAS, inasmuch as the latter frequently glared at PEPPER throughout the remainder of the hearings. COSTELLO was believed to be associated with the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington at the present. (u)

Regarding the Press, PEPPER mentioned that they were very interesting and favorable to the so-called "friendly witnesses" and particularly to the actors. He mentioned in a sarcastic manner the large amount of publicity given to ROBERT TAYLOR, ADOLPH MENJOU, et al, and the uncomplimentary remarks published about the "unfriendly 19". PEPPER remarked ironically that ROBERT TAYLOR stated he would not work on a picture if he knew a Communist was connected with it, but upon his return he was going to work on a picture which had been written by LESTER COLE. This remark got applause from the audience. The picture was identified as "High Wall" (u)

PEPPER said the hearing was highlighted by the expulsion of CHARLES KATZ (Los Angeles attorney) from the hearing room. KATZ allegedly had a "heat job done on his back" by jiu jitsu experts who escorted him from the room. PEPPER also quoted from the column of GEORGE DIXON, who writes for the Hearst papers. This quote dealt with a portion of DIXON's column written during the hearing when the latter mentioned that some of the unfriendly witnesses should be "taken out and have their heads beaten in". The New York Times and the Herald Tribune were described by PEPPER as the only papers which reported the hearings in an unbiased manner. He said all the other metropolitan press members were unfavorable to "our cause". (u)

The morale of the attorneys and the "unfriendly 19" was described as being "wonderful". They worked together as a unit night and day. Regarding counseling of the witnesses by attorneys, PEPPER made a point of the fact that all decisions as to policy and procedure were based upon a majority opinion of the parties involved (u)

Regarding the purpose of the attack upon Hollywood by the Un-American Committee, PEPPER said that this is not a Democratic committee. Therefore, the first time since 1932 it is controlled by Republicans and a few Southern Democrats. He mentioned the Republican character of the friendly witnesses, particularly those associated with the Motion Picture Alliance, which was organized to fight Communism and preserve the American ideals. He said that many of the motion picture alliances were now members of a newly organized group known as the Hollywood Republican Committee. PEPPER said: "We must expose these Republican connections as they are thinking in terms of 1948, and must divert the people from the real issues of these times, particularly, housing, health, discrimination among minorities, the concentrated drive against Labor in general, etc." (u)

PEPPER said the Hollywood hearings recently held were just the beginning of a 9-point program. The next field of inquiry would touch radio, and then there would be Education, and there would be no end. He reiterated "they must stop the Committee". (u)

The next topic dealt with what the PCA did during the period of the hearings. Mention was made of the various organizations in Hollywood and Broadway who held successful rallies and demonstrations in these cities as well as Washington. He mentioned the Committee for the First Amendment as "wonderful". PEPPER mentioned that they had a clear civil liberties job to do and, in addition, that they must carry the fight into the political arena for 1948. PCA meetings were held in New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, and requests had been received from PCA organizations in twenty other cities asking for a presentation of the "unfriendly 19" and Senator CLAUDE PEPPER as a speaker. Large advertisements which appeared in numerous publications, supported the unfriendly witnesses. A rally sponsored by the Conference of Civil Liberties and Cultural Freedom was held in New York. The response resulted in "turn-away" crowds. There were numerous speakers, and among them were: HARLOW SHAPLEY (phonetic); O. JOHN ROGGE, former Assistant U. S. Attorney General; AL PALMER; Senator CLAUDE PEPPER, OLEN DOWNES (ph); and RUFUS CLEMENT (phonetic). The resolutions passed at this meeting were clear cut and were as follows:

(1) Abolish, not clean up, the THOMAS Committee

(2) Prevent smear of Hollywood

(3) Establish the right of all political parties as equal. In the latter connection it was mentioned that the Democrats and the Republicans should have no more political rights that any other party, whether it be the Communists or Prohibition Party. (u)

It was said that the Committee could kill the First Amendment and could smear anybody desired by calling them Communists. (u)

PEPPER said the policy of the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council for the PCA, as outlined by National Chairman HARLOW SHAPLEY (phonetic) and HOWARD BUMFORD JONES (phonetic), cautioned against saying that a complete victory had been won. It was emphasized that only a partial victory had been won in Washington, and that if they had lost there would be no PCA. Mention was again made of the violence in Philadelphia that day. The National Council felt that they must join forces with Labor, minorities, and decent people to win the battle. (u)

The immediate plan is to send at least a million signatures to the President and Speaker MARTIN of Congress, recommending: (1) Abolish the Committee outright; (2) Withdraw all contempt charges against and release the unfriendly witnesses. It was suggested that they start with Representative NIXON of California at the polls in 1948. It was stated that united action was a "must". (u)

EDWARD BIBERMAN, who described himself as an artist, spoke briefly as to how the PCA in Hollywood took the hearings. He mentioned that they were "caught short". He said that the Congressional Committee had, however, "tipped their hands" more than once during the early days of the hearings, which aided their witnesses to map a defense. The speaker mentioned the charges made by friendly witness MOFFITT, who said that 44% of the best plays on Broadway and 233 other plays contain Communist messages or lines. (U)

The speaker further scoffed at MOFFITT's claims that numerous studio reading departments in the motion picture industry had been infiltrated by Communists. The speaker asked the question: "Are only creative people involved?" He answered this question by stating that the receiving end, that is, persons who read the books and see the plays, is also a victim of the Congressional Committee's attempt at censorship. He said the fight "touches all levels of life." (U)

The speaker claimed that the PCA et al had been alerted properly and were now "in high gear". He mentioned that the Speakers Bureau during the hearings had furnished from ten to twenty daily, and that a fact sheet giving the other side of the story had been published daily (5000 copies); that the Radio Division had monitored the situation from coast to coast, and that next week they would be active in the Federal Communications Commission hearings. The actors developed mobile theatrical units and would dramatize individual statements made by the unfriendly witnesses throughout many areas in the U.S. (U)

It was suggested that all persons present initiate as many wires as possible to President TRUMAN requesting that he back the SABBATH Bill, identified as HR-46, which was designed to abolish the THOMAS Committee He further reiterated that they wire or write Speaker MARTIN, as mentioned above, to abolish the Committee and crush the contempt citations against their people. (U)

The Hollywood group was also planning to send 50,000 air mail letters to President TRUMAN to acquaint him with "our side of the story". The audience was told that packages of these letters had been prepared, together with air mail stamped envelopes, and were being made available to the audience in the lobby of the building at cost. (U)

A brief speechwas made by SELENA ROYALE, introduced as the Vice-Chairman of the Actors Commission of the PCA, and who appeared as an actress in the film, "Romance of Rosy Ridge" (U)

ROYALE attempted to sell the audience a set of six booklets priced at $2.50 per set, which described the program outlined by a recent Thought Control Conference sponsored by the PCA and held at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel in the recent past. Another appeal was made for money. Various divisions of the PCA, including the Arts, Medical, Publicity and Music Divisions, plan to run advertisements in the Daily News. Further money was needed by the Actors Commission to finance the aforementioned mobile entertainment units. (u)

KAREN MORELY (identified by CNDI-[redacted] as a member of the Communist Party in 1944 and 1945), representative of the Actors Division, PCA, made a brief speech in which she said that the Actors Division had raised $500 to send her to Washington to protest the Committee's smearing of her name. MORLEY felt that she was not important enough to attract much attention so decided to stay at home and "do the dirty work". She said she could do more work in furthering the cause. She mentioned that she had been very active in the past few days speaking before various organizations, among which were the Synagogue where RABBI MAGNIN presides, the Jewish Labor Council, the PCA in San Francisco, Arts, Sciences and Professions (Doctors Division), YWCA, and the Southland Jewish Organizations. MORLEY said that she would make up for not going to Washington; that the $500 would be used in the best way possible. (u) b7D

At this point a record was played for the audience which was described as the voice of HERBERT BIBERMAN, one of the "unfriendly 19". This recording was a transcription of a telephone call made by HERBERT BIBERMAN to PCA in Hollywood at close of hearings in Washington. The recording was hardly audible but in substance it proclaimed that there was no satisfaction in winning a single battle, and that the Committee must be abolished. (u)

Announcements were made of a homecoming rally to be held at the arrival of the "unfriendly 19" by TWA Airlines at Mines Field, Los Angeles Municipal Airport, Inglewood, California, on Wednesday, November 5, 1947. It was stated that the brass band would be there "with all the trimmings". (u)

Another announcement dealt with a huge rally to be held Sunday, November 16, 1947, in the afternoon, this rally to be held in the Hollywood Bowl if it can be obtained; otherwise in a suitable place to be identified later. (u)

The Radio Division of the PCA was scheduled to have a meeting Wednesday, November 12, 1947, at 8:00 P.M. at 6000 Sunset Boulevard, Hollywood, California. (u)

The meeting closed with the following statement being made to the audience in an emphatic manner: "Let's be Americans - Let's fight the Un-American Activities Committee". (u)

Return of the "Unfriendly Witnesses"

For some time prior to the return to Hollywood of the so-called "Unfriendly Witnesses" before the HOUSE COMMITTEE, it was learned from several sources, particularly CNDI [redacted] and CNDI [redacted] that considerable preparation was being made for a welcome-home rally for the returning witnesses. It developed that this rally would be in the name of the Hollywood Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of the Progressive Citizens of America. (u) b7D

A telephone campaign was made to assure that as many friendly sympathizers and well wishers of the so-called "Unfriendly Nineteen" as possible would be at the Los Angeles Airport to create a welcoming home rally. (u)

According to Informants it was hoped that the welcoming rally would total two or three thousand people. (u)

On the evening of November 5, 1947 the so-called "Unfriendly Witnesses" arrived at the Municipal Airport by TWA Plane. (u)

Special Agents BERNARR H. PTACEK and MARCUS M. BRIGHT were present at the time of the arrival and estimated the crowd which had gathered as a welcoming committee at not more than five hundred. Prior to the arrival of the plane, Klieg lights were set up, a loud speaker was arranged and a preliminary meeting of the families of the witnesses was held in an airport waiting room. A great many of those present were noted to be wearing PCA arm bands. (u)

Among those observed waiting for the arrival of the plane were ROBERT ROSSEN, IRVING PICHEL, CHARLES J. KATZ, PAULINE LAUBER, JACQUES THERY, TIBA WILLNER. CNDI [redacted] has identified all of the above, excepting IRVING PICHEL, as being members of the Communist Party. PICHEL has been suspected of being a Communist Party member by Sources A, B, and C. (u) b7D

As the arriving plane approached the field, representatives of the welcoming committee brought out a huge twenty-foot banner with large letters announcing "Welcome home--well done." This banner was held up high on standards alongside the airport gate and a number of pictures were snapped with several of the welcoming group standing in front of the banner. Among those identified in this pose were ROBERT ROSSEN, IRVING

CONFIDENTIAL

PICHEL, PAULINE LAUBER, CHARLES KATZ, and others. (u)

As the plane arrived and taxied up to the gate the crowd cheered. The "unfriendly witnesses" apparently, according to plan, stayed aboard until the regular passengers on the plane had disembarked. Immediately thereafter, CHARLES J. KATZ, and IRVING PICHEL and ROBERT ROSSEN went aboard where apparently some preliminary conference was held. (u)

Thereafter spotlights were turned on the plane and the so-called "unfriendly witnesses" began to disembark. As each did so, his identity was announced over the loudspeaker to the cheers of the audience and they requested each to say a few words over the microphone. (u)

Among those identified by surveilling agents as they left the place were: HERBERT BIBERMAN, WALDO SALT, GORDON KAHN, EDWARD DMYTRYK, RICHARD COLLINS, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, ALVAH BESSIE, RING LARDNER, JR., ADRIAN SCOTT, and LARRY PARKS. Also leaving the plane to the cheers of the crowd were BEN MARGOLIS and CHARLES J. KATZ, both attorneys, and IRVING PICHEL and ROBERT ROSSEN who had gone aboard when the plane landed. Of the disembarking writers, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON received by far the most applause from the crowd. (u)

Apparently the welcome was not unexpected inasmuch as RING LARDNER, JR. immediately climbed to the top of the plane's mobile steps and read a prepared statement to the crowd as spokesman for all of the "unfriendly witnesses." LARDNER called for an immediate letter-writing campaign to Congress, during the twelve days then remaining before Congress meets, demanding that the contempt citations against the witnesses be voted down. (u)

After a number of publicity pictures were taken, the arriving witnesses gather in a room in the airport building for a press conference. It was announced that a gigantic rally would be held in the near future at which the "unfriendly witnesses" would make talks. (u)

Mobilization for Democracy Rally, November 9, 1947.

On November 9, 1947, Special Agents MARCUS M. BRIGHT and BERNARR M. PTACEK attended a "Stop Operation Witch Hunt" meeting held at the Shrine Auditorium, Jefferson and Royal Streets. The main speakers for this meeting were O. JOHN ROGGE, Former Assistant United States Attorney General; and HOWARD FAST, author of "Freedom Road". (u)

The meeting was sponsored by Mobilization for Democracy, the CIO United Public Workers, and the A.F. of L. State, County and Municipal Workers Local 558. Newspaper accounts estimate approximately five thousand persons were in attendance. In the estimation of the attending agents, the Shrine Auditorium was filled to approximately three-quarters of its capacity. (u)

As the agents approached the Shrine Auditorium, several young girls requested contributions to the American Youth for Democracy. Memorandum sheets headed "Protect Your Freedom" were freely distributed. These handbills advocated the abolition of the House Committee on un-American Activities and also the Tenney Committee on un-American Activities in California, as they were both said to be dangerous to the civil liberties of the American people. This handbill was circulated by the Socialist Party-USA, address listed as 2984 West Eighth Street, Los Angeles. It was noted that this handbill stated that the "Socialist Party fights against any type of dictatorial activity, whether Communist, Fascist, or that of the House Committee". (u)

The agents noted Mr. SIDNEY DAVISON, Director of the People's Educational Center in Hollywood, passing out leaflets advertising the PEC Carnival Bazaar to be held November 15 and 16 at 1358 North La[illegible]a in Hollywood. In this connection, it should be noted that CNDI [redacted] advised that DAVISON is a member of the Smolan Fixed Club of the Communist Party in Hollywood. (u) b7D

The meeting began with MORRY GOODSON and SONNY VALE leading the audience in the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner". ROBERT W. KENNY, former Attorney General of the State of California, was Chairman of the meeting. He opened with a remark that J. PARNELL THOMAS was the "hatchet man for democracy". He further commented as follows: "A movie like 'The Best Years of Our Lives' could not be produced in the future if the THOMAS Committee continued to function. At the Washington hearings the tables were turned so that the accused became the accuser". He stands for "a screen free of intimidation," and stated that "a free screen means screen equality for all". (u)

He had just returned from the "seat of government" (with emphasis on the word "seat"). He said he could now see why Washington was known as the "seat of government" as the word "seat" was very significant. (This brought a big laugh from the audience.) He called for all persons present to let their Federal Congressmen know that they stood for the abolition of the THOMAS-RANKIN Committee (House Committee on un-American Activities headed by J. PARNELL THOMAS), and request that they stand up in Congress and let other members know that they stand for the abolition of this kind of action. (U)

He stated that the first stone in a great cemetery is now in the making if the THOMAS-RANKIN Committee is not abolished. They (THOMAS Committee and who they represent) profit by the loss of the civil rights of the people. "The THOMAS Committee got on first base in the last two weeks. Whether or not they score any runs depends on you people." He ended this portion of his preliminary comment by stating that the National Association of Manufacturers was an enemy of democracy. (U)

Since the Conference of Thought Control was held in Hollywood by the Arts, Sciences and Professions Branch of the Progressive Citizens of America, agents have noticed the consistent reference of Communists and Party liners to the idea that thought control is now being forced on the American people. KENNY used the term "thought control" in his reference to the THOMAS Committee. (U)

In announcing the next portion of the meeting KENNY made reference to "that militant cultural organization known as People's Songs". He then announced selections to be sung by entertainers SONNY VALE and MORRY GOODSON of People's Songs. They sang a composition entitled "Freedom Train". VALE and GOODSON received hearty applause but did not take an encore at this time. They did, however, invite all those present to a "hootenany" being conducted by People's Songs the following Saturday night. (U)

KENNY then announced O. JOHN ROGGE as the next speaker, stating that he was the author of "Truth and the People". He commented that "all publishers to a mouse shied away from it after 'operation witch hunt'". ROGGE, according to KENNY, was fired from his position as Assistant Attorney General when he failed to suppress certain information which should have been known to the people. KENNY is proud of the term "former". (KENNY is former Attorney General of California; ROGGE is former Assistant Attorney General of the United States.) (U)

CONFIDENTIAL

O. JOHN ROGGE began his speech by stating that he was from Illinois, and further stated that he would talk about freedom. He stated that reaction is more terrifying now than ever before and monopolies are having a field day. After World War I we had the Palmer Red Raids. We are making the same mistake after World War II, according to ROGGE. As an example, he stated that we now have the Truman Loyalty Order of March 22, 1947. "Today we are headed in the direction of a Fascist police state. The Taft-Hartley Act is a step in the direction of a Fascist state." Big business is making more money "on the people" than ever before. The meat packers are making so much money that they are afraid to put out a statement showing their profits. The Truman Loyalty Check Program is government for the few at the expense of the many." "Truman is the best water boy big business has ever had." (u)

He illustrated this point by indicating numerous advisors and cabinet members of the Truman administration, in each case pointing out his past experience in big business. Some of them were as follows:

JAMES FORRESTAL, former member of Dillon, Reed & Company, New York;
WILLIA M H. DRAPER, formerly with Dillon, Reed & Company;
ARTHUR S. BURROWS, formerly with Sears-Roebuck;
LOUIS W. DOUGLAS, formerly with an insurance company;
EUGENE BLACK, formerly with the Chase National Bank, New York;
LEO N. WIGGINS, President of the Bankers Association. (u)

He closed his list with the comment, "What a roster!" TRUMAN obviously has a cartel outlook rather than a philosophy of abundance. TRUMAN's advisors have pointed out to him, first, the necessity of war with Russia and, second, the destruction of the civil liberties of the people." (u)

According to the THOMAS Committee, the Executive Board of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee is under attack because they have given aid to FRANCO and because opposition to FRANCO Spain is un-American. (u)

ROGGE says the THOMAS Committee is being used for political purposes. They used the Committee to oust former Governor OLSON of California and to get liberal commentators off the air, such as JOHANNES STEEL and RAYMOND GRAHAM SWING. If the THOMAS Committee is successful in imposing thought control on the motion picture industry, it will then move on the book publishing houses. According to ROGGE, the THOMAS Committee violates constitutional amendments 1, 5, 6, 9 and 10. "In my opinion, no one need answer questions of the Committee. They should ignore subpoenas and battle them to the Supreme Court." (u)

ROGGE told of being an attorney for someone who was picked up by the FBI. The person was allegedly from the Treasury Department and was arrested on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Espionage Act. In counseling his client he found he had never been to the Russian Embassy and had never been a member of a Communist front organization. He told his client to answer all questions and be honest, as he was guilty of no violations. (u)

He believes the Truman Loyalty Check to be the best method of engendering fear in government workers. A government worker can be considered disloyal by being a member of any organization listed by the Attorney General as being subversive. In this way the Attorney General of the U. S. has control over the economic life of government employees. (u)

He told of an incident where the loyalty of a government employee was being questioned. Prior to losing his position he was given a statement to read. In Section Number 1 of the statement it stated that the charges against the person were confidential. In Section 2 the statement advised the accused that he was given five days to answer the charges in Section 1. (This brought a big laugh from the audience.) ROGGE said, "The best way to get along in government today is to be anti-Union, anti-Soviet, and just a little bit anti-Semitic." (u)

He told of a State Department employee, one JANE ANDERSON, whose loyalty had been questioned. ANDERSON cautioned ROGGE against walking with her in public as this might lead to his being called a Communist. (u)

ROGGE's advice to farmers is to "raise less corn and more hell." "People must rise up to win the fight for human freedom." This closed ROGGE's speech. (u)

ROBERT W. KENNY commented on ROGGE's speech, saying that this was the most fighting, courageous speech we have heard in a long time. KENNY then announced another number to be sung by People's Songs representatives GOODSON and VALE. They sang a selection called "Red Boogie". (u)

KENNY then commented that 20,000 people in the Los Angeles county government are now under attack in the county loyalty program. "During the war these employees ran the county without a hitch. Now in peacetime the Board of Supervisors puts them under suspicion. It is an attempt to impose thought control on 20,000 people." Two unions have taken up the challenge. (CIO United Public Workers, and A.F. of L. State, County, and Municipal Workers Local 558) (u)

The speaker was announced as one SAMUEL J. BERLAND, International Representative of the United Public Workers, CIO. In this connection, it should be noted that [redacted] was advised that BERLAND is a member of the Communist Party. (u) b7D

CONF. INFT.

BERLAND commented that the Los Angeles Board of Supervisors, not to be outdone by the THOMASES and TENNEYS, had now undertaken a loyalty program. Each county employee is asked to fill out a blank on which are listed 150 allegedly subversive organizations compiled by Senator JACK B. TENNEY, Chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee in California. BERLAND enumerated a few of the organizations listed as subversive. They were:

Anti-Hearst Examiner
Citizens Committee for Better Schools
League of Women Shoppers
Political Action Committee
National Committee to Abolish Poll Tax (u)

BERLAND commented that one supervisor said that membership in certain organizations would not necessarily give grounds for dismissal but would only give grounds for further investigation. BERLAND said that he maintained the committee was not designed to check loyalty but was designed to spread terror among county employees, as is the Federal loyalty check. "What they want is loyalty to the particular group in power." They fight the FEPC and adequate housing for the people. "It is the desire of the witch hunters to split those who oppose them.....our struggle is a non-partisan fight. The CIO and A.F. of L. Public Workers have pooled interests in fighting the Los Angeles County loyalty checks." He stated that we must unite so that the THOMAS and TENNEY Committees would be eliminated. (u)

Three girls then came on to the stage, one carrying a large picture of J. PARNELL THOMAS, another a picture of JOHN RANKIN, and a third a picture of Senator JACK B. TENNEY of California. BERLAND stated that the City Refuse Department has a good idea what they would like to cover up the pictures with (the audience laughed), but that that would not give the necessary satisfaction. Instead, BERLAND said they were going to lay the pictures on the floor and cover them with money. In the ensuing fund-raising campaign the agents noted the following contributions:

(u)

Agents tabulated a total of $210.00 given under the pseudonym "A Friend". (u)

Three resolutions were read and unanimously adopted. Telegrams were to be sent. (u)

1. This telegram requested TRUMAN to withdraw Presidential Order No. 9835 (loyalty checks). The loyalty check has put fear in the minds of the government employees. (u)

2. A similar telegram was to be sent in regard to the county employees. (u)

3. The third was a telegram to be sent to TRUMAN and Attorney General TOM CLARK. This telegram stated, in effect, "We demand the Department of Justice cease cooperating with the Un-American Activities Committee. We demand the abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The undersigned (the people at the Shrine Auditorium) support House Rule 46, the Sabath Resolution to abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee. (u)

ROBERT W. KENNY then introduced HOWARD FAST. He stated that he had written "Conceived in Liberty," and "Citizen Tom Paine". He stated that his new book, "Story of the Strike," is not published yet because of the fears of the book publishers. (u)

FAST gave an emotional speech, dwelling chiefly on his experience with the THOMAS Committee. He stated he was examined on two different occasions and that he sat through the Committee hearing, at which time the outlawing of the Communist Party was considered. In this connection, he stated that from his observation THOMAS could not be a Communist as he lacked, first, love of his fellow man; second, dignity; and, third, courage. (u)

He stated that he had spent a great deal of time examining the mannerisms and facial expressions of THOMAS, TOOD and ~~[illegible]~~ RICHARD M. NIXON of California. He mentioned that J. PARNELL THOMAS's real name is FEENEY (phonetic). (u)

He gave the following questions as examples of RANKIN's type of questioning: According to FAST, RANKIN leaned over his desk and asked Mr. BULLITT, "Is it true that the Russians eat their children?" RANKIN said to BULLITT, "Is it true that the Ukrainians are the only White Russians?" RANKIN asked BULLITT if it were true that Zionists are Communists, to which BULLITT stated that Zionism is not a Communist front. (u)

FAST said that loyalty on the lips of this Committee is like the word love on the lips of a whore. He ended stating, "We will win this fight. Our slogan will be 'Forward to Victory'" (u)

ROBERT W. KENNY ended the meeting stating "This meeting may be the turning point against Fascism in the United States. (u)

The "Los Angeles Times" for November 11, 1947, contained an article entitled, "Tenney Group Demands Rogge Prosecution". The article stated that the Legislative Committee on Un-American Activities, headed by State Senator JACK TENNEY, yesterday demanded the prosecution of former Assistant U. S. Attorney General O. JOHN ROGGE on charges growing out of remarks ROGGE assertedly made in a speech here last Sunday. ROGGE was quoted in the Committee's statement, issued following an executive session in Los Angeles, as suggesting to an audience of some six thousand at the Shrine Auditorium that "your best bet is to raise hell" in order to fight "the Fascism which is growing in America". ROGGE also was accused of advising his listeners to "ignore subpoenas". (U)

A copy of a throw-away publicizing this meeting is being included among the items forwarded to the Bureau under separate cover. (U)

By way of identification of the "Peoples Songs" referred to above as part of the rally program, is should be noted that this organization is headed by MARIO CASETTA who has been identified by CNDI [redacted] as a member of the Communist Party. (U) b7D

X Conf. Infs

As an additional indication of the position of the Progressive Citizens of America on the matter of the THOMAS Committee, the "Hollywood Reporter" of November 3, 1947 carried a full-page ad sponsored by the Actors Division of PCA, which ad stated: "The THOMAS-RANKIN Committee must go". This ad listed a great many members of the acting profession who acclaimed LARRY PARKS and other actors who appeared in Washington to protest the "star chamber" proceedings. (u)

A copy of this ad is also being forwarded to the Bureau under separate cover. (u)

Meeting of November 16, 1947: (Sponsored by Progressive Citizens of America.)

A third meeting with a similar theme was held on Sunday, November 16, 1947 at Gilmore Stadium. This meeting was publicized by handbills distributed throughout the Hollywood area, left on front doorsteps and passed out on street corners. These throw-aways read: "You are summoned to jury duty in the court of public opinion. The People of America, Plaintiffs, versus the THOMAS-RANKIN Un-American Activities Committee, Defendants." Witnesses for the people listed in the throw-away were the following: (u)

LARRY PARKS (CP Member -- CNDI [redacted]
EDWARD DMYTRYK (CP Member -- CNDI [redacted]
JOHN HOWARD LAWSON (CP Member -- CNDI [redacted] (C)
LEWIS MILESTONE
IRVING PICHEL
ROBERT W. KENNY
Mrs. PHYLLIS ZIFFREN
NORMAN HUSTON
DANIEL MARSHALL (u)

b7D

The handbill indicates that the purpose of the meeting is to "prove this indictment": "1. The Un-American Activities Committee is illegally violating Article I of the Bill of Rights in stifling freedom of conscience and organization. 2. The Committee is seeking to impose political censorship upon the movies to prevent any real portrayal of working people, Negroes, Jews and other minorities. 3. The Committee is trying to institute a blacklist of workers--if their private ideas do not conform to the Committee's. 4. The foregoing is admitted to be only a prelude to further control over our newspapers, books, radio, schools, unions, civic organizations." (u)

The handbill states the above meeting will be held under the auspices of the PCA, California Chapter. (u)

One of these handbills, which was left at the door of Special Agent JACK D. MORGAN, is being forwarded to the Bureau under separate cover. (u)

The meeting on November 16 at Gilmore Stadium was attended by Special Agent FRED G. DUPUIS and it was observed that BERT WITT, Executive Director for the PCA in Los Angeles, was Master of Ceremonies. The speakers platform was in the middle of the stadium football field, and WITT introduced the "unfriendly 19" by welcoming "our team," whereupon the nineteen witnesses emerged from the football dressing room of the stadium and marched onto the field in single file and proceeded to take their places on the speakers platform. (u)

Chairman WITT then introduced an attorney for the nineteen who "was not always at the hearings, CHARLES J. KATZ". This remark obviously referred to the fact that KATZ was evicted from the hearing room on one occasion. (u)

The first speaker was BEN MARGOLIS, a former law partner of KATZ, who participated in the defense of the nineteen, and MARGOLIS was followed by the following speakers: (u)

HOWARD KOCH, screen writer
JACK BURKE (phonetic), legislative officer - CIO
Mrs. PHYLLIS ZIFFREN, President of Hadassah, Jewish Women's organization
DAN MARSHALL, attorney and Chairman, Catholic Inter-Racial Council
JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, screen writer
ALBERT MALTZ, screen writer (CP Member - CIDI [redacted]) b7D
HERBERT BIBERMAN, screen writer and producer (CP Member - CIDI [redacted])
LARRY PARKS, actor
ROBERT W. KENNY, attorney. (u)

These individuals all spoke briefly from prepared statements. However, no attempt is being made to set forth the individual remarks. It can be stated that without exception each speaker had as his theme two points, namely: dismissal of the contempt proceedings, and abolition of the House Un-American Activities Committee. (u)

All the speakers based this contention upon the alleged fact that the House Un-American Activities Committee investigation was in effect "an inquisition"; that the committee was seeking to censor motion pictures and control the content of films. The speakers contended the witnesses who dared to oppose the committee were in fact defending not only the entire motion picture industry from a vicious attack, but also the press, radio, and "the American people". (u)

HOWARD KOCH and LARRY PARKS described the treatment afforded them in Washington, and expressed concern over the fact that such things were permitted to happen in America. (u)

HERBERT BIBERMAN made the collection speech, it being noted that the largest contributions, which were in the form of checks for $100, were received from Comedian HENRY MORGAN and actors Agent GEORGE WILLNER, the latter being a CP member, according to CNDI [redacted] (u) b7D

At the meeting men and women wearing PCA armbands circulated through the crowd soliciting signers to petitions calling for the abolition of the House Un-American Activities Committee. In addition, two mimeographed letters were distributed, one of which was addressed to U. S. Attorney General TOM C. CLARK, which urged that the deportation proceedings against HANS EISLER and his wife be dropped at once and their application for permission to depart be approved. The second letter was addressed to HARRY TRUMAN, President of the United States, and called for his support of the SABATH Resolution for abolishing the House Un-American Activities Committee. These mimeographed letters were given to people to sign and they were asked to furnish five cents, whereupon the PCA ushers would address the envelopes and see that the letters were sent to Washington via air mail. (u)

One copy of each of these letters is being included among the items forwarded to the Bureau under separate cover. (u)

Also distributed at this meeting was a throw-away publicizing a meeting to be held November 21 at the Embassy Auditorium in Los Angeles under the auspices of the American-Russian Society, at which the featured speaker would be KONNI ZILLIACUS, Labor member of Parliament, who was to deliver a report on the topic "Russia and World Peace". (u)

Also distributed were copies of JOHANNES STEEL's report on World Affairs. This pamphlet had a cover letter explaining that since JOHANNES STEEL along with "other liberal commentators" had been "thought controlled" from the radio networks, his report was being distributed by hand under the auspices of the PCA. (u)

CONFIDENTIAL

Press accounts of the above meeting estimated the attendance to be from 2000 to 4000, and described it as a "flop" (u)

[CNDI [redacted]] reported the seat sale went poorly and PCA officials were very disappointed at the turnout. (u)

PROPAGANDA IN MOTION PICTURES

"So Well Remembered":

This picture was produced by RKO and ARTHUR RANK. It was directed by EDWARD DMYTRYK and produced by ADRIAN SCOTT. The musical score was written by HANNS EISLER, and the screen play by JOHN PAXTON. (u)

HEDDA HOPPER in her column in the Los Angeles Times appearing October 30, 1947, stated: "If there were a command performance in Moscow I don't believe the boys would find a picture made under the banner of democratic freedom more to their liking than 'So Well Remembered'. While there is not a single mention of Communism in the film, not one suggestion of the hammer and sickle, capitalism is represented as decaying, corrupt, perverted, unfeeling, first by a father who served twenty years in prison for gambling with his employees' money..... (u)

"Politics under the system of free election are represented as crooked. When one of the bigwigs whitewashes the slum situation to get the young social reformer to run for Parliament, fortunately the candidate discovers the capitalistic plot in time to withdraw from the race and stick to his fight for reform. He, who is described as a 'radical' in the picture, is the one Simon Pure, completely sympathetic character depicted. (u)

"There are two schools of thought on such a picture as 'So Well Remembered'. The Lefties argue that by inspiring social reform through such mediums we may prevent Communists from taking over. Others claim that such pictures are paving the way for the Reds to take over our country..... I urge you to see it, then decide for yourself whether or not Hollywood is capable of inserting Leftie propaganda in its films." (u)

Both ADRIAN SCOTT and EDWARD DMYTRYK are members of the Communist Party, according to CNDI [redacted] (u) b7D

It should be noted that on December 19, 1946, LEON GOLDBERG, executive in charge of RKO Studios, contacted the Los Angeles FBI Office, at which time he desired to know whether HANNS EISLER was a member of the Communist Party or was in any way involved with his brother, GERHARDT EISLER, who had previously been arrested by Bureau Agents in New York City and identified by the press as being a top Communist in this country. (u)

GOLDBERG was advised of the Bureau's regulations against disseminating information, following which GOLDBERG stated he was aware that the FBI records were confidential, but he was seeking verification of HANS EISLER's possible Communist connection. The reason given was that RKO had approximately one and one-half million dollars tied up in a picture which had been recently shot in England by the ARTHUR RANK ALLIANCE PRODUCTIONS. This picture was to be released under the title, "So Well Remembered," and was being completed in this country. It was contemplated that HANS EISLER would be employed to write the musical score for this picture. (u)

Certain individuals under contract to RKO, according to GOLDBERG, were putting pressure on him to hire EISLER to write the musical score. These persons were identified as ADRIAN SCOTT and EDWARD DMYTRYK. It was the opinion of GOLDBERG that if any derogatory publicity relating to HANS EISLER reached the press, or he was arrested in any manner and it subsequently became known that he had anything to do with this picture, the results might affect the box office returns unfavorably. (u)

GOLDBERG stated that he wanted it plainly understood that he was looking at the situation from a purely monetary viewpoint, and was not otherwise interested in whether or not HANS EISLER was a Communist. (u)

GOLDBERG went on to state that he did not care what a man's political beliefs were as long as they did not affect the company's business operations from a financial standpoint. GOLDBERG did not evidence any apprehension over the security of this country, but dwelt primarily on the protection of the company's financial investment. (u)

On November 7, 1947, Mrs. WILLIAM A. BURK, [redacted] Los Angeles, President of the Federation of Women's Clubs, who conducts motion picture reviews and reports under the name of the Southern California Motion Picture Council, Inc., furnished the following information: b6 b7C

Mrs. BURK advised that a review as published of this picture in "Unbiased Opinions of Current Motion Pictures," a weekly periodical published by the Fox West Coast Theaters in Los Angeles, did not entirely agree with her personal beliefs. Mrs. BURK said she was outvoted, and that her opinion of the picture was that it contained subtle Communist propaganda. She said the proof would be difficult, but it was a definite attempt to portray the idea that socialistic action was the only solution to the poverty and housing questions. The picture was a direct slap at the U. S. A.'s way of doing things. (u)

Mrs. BURK called attention to the fact that HANS EISLER, ADRIAN SCOTT and EDWARD DMYTRYK were responsible in part for the production of this picture, which made her believe more definitely that her opinions were true. (u)

It should be noted that the Southern California Motion Picture Council review heretofore mentioned was not derogatory, and no mention was made in it of Communistic or Socialistic propaganda. (u)

"Hazard":

CONF. INFT. [redacted] stated that Paramount Studios are currently readying for production a picture based on the book, "Hazard," written by RAYMOND CHANSELOR. The story deals with a girl of wealth and background who becomes infected with the gambling fever and runs through her inheritance in short order, eventually winding up in a cheap hotel in California, having fled from the attentions of a mobster in some eastern city who wants her to return to him. The girl's part is played by PAULETTE GODDARD who, when she arrives at the cheap hotel mentioned above and is shown to her room, asks the negro porter where she can place a bet on the horses. The porter replies that he does not know; that he is a Sunday school teacher and is not interested in such matters as this. (u)

b7D

According to the informant, up to this point no character appearing in the picture has any good qualities, all are hoodlums, gamblers, and underworld persons. (u)

It develops that the hotel in which GODDARD is staying has a crap table in the basement which is operated for small stakes, and she is down there shooting crap when the place is raided. At this point in the plot it happens that the negro porter, recognizing latent good qualities in the heroine, is in the room attempting to dissuade her from gambling. Since he is in the room the porter is arrested with the others and taken before the Judge. When they appear in court all of them are low underworld characters except the negro, and GODDARD makes a plea for his release, saying he had no part whatever in the gambling. The negro appears as a fine, upstanding individual in comparison to everyone else in the cast. (u)

Informant questioned why the negro would be working in such a hotel, and pointed out to studio executives that in the South this sequence would be cut out of the picture entirely, since negroes are not portrayed on the screen. (u)

Informant continued that the studio is having difficulty with GODDARD because she is firmly refusing to go ahead with the picture since the informant had the negro removed and a white porter substituted in his place. (u) CONF. INFT. (u)

[redacted] volunteered the information that the studio's defense in its trouble with GODDARD is that, in accordance with the rules of the Screen Actors Guild, the studios have agreed not to portray negroes as redcaps, bootblacks, porters, and other alleged menial types. GODDARD has taken the stand that she wants to see the negro character portrayed exactly as he was in the original script. (u) b7D

[redacted] is of the personal opinion that this entire matter represents what he considers to be Communist propaganda in motion pictures. (u) b7D

As an example of how negro scenes are placed in pictures so that they can be cut out by Southern exhibitors, he referred to the Paramount production "Variety Girl" currently being shown. A negro does a song and dance act and it is so placed in the picture that the entire sequence can be cut out without affecting the continuity of the production. This is done deliberately so that Southern exhibitors can remove this part. (u)

"Crossfire":

This picture has been discussed in previous reports in this office. It was seen and reviewed by CNDI [redacted] whose report is as follows: (u) b7D

"A motion picture produced by RKO Studios in Hollywood. This picture was produced by ADRIAN SCOTT, exposed as a member of the Communist Party by the House Committee on Un-American Activities now in session in Washington, D. C. (u)

"The director of the picture is EDWARD DMYTRYK, a member of the Communist Party exposed by the same Committee now in session. (u)

"The picture has very little entertainment value and is one of propaganda solely. The theme is the subject of anti-Semitism, designed to increase better feeling between Gentiles and Jews, basically an admirable gesture. (u)

"However, it is highly debatable whether the picture serves the purpose, or whether it stimulates the opposite effect, namely, increases the tension in a very subtle manner. There is a great division of opinion in this respect among the Jewish people themselves. Some uphold the picture, particularly those who follow along with or sympathize with the aims of the Communist Party or the Soviet Union, and some think the picture should not have been made. The latter constitute the more conservative section of the Jewish people. (u)

"The scene is laid among the most sordid surroundings, and involves a group of soldiers in the army of the United States. The principal characters are:

"An army captain, a large powerful man, who is pictured as a rabid Jewhater and, practically, a psychopathic case. (u)

"A Young Jew invalided out of the army. (u)

"A captain of police who solves the crime of murder on which the picture is based. (u)

"A young woman, in effect a prostitute, who works as a dancing girl in a night club of ill repute. (u)

"The rest of the characters are inconsequential. (u)

"The scene opens at a bar where a group of soldiers, including the young Jew, are drinking. The captain is the positive character who dominates the scene and who seems to have complete influence over all present. The young Jew says nothing, just sits and drinks. (u)

"During the action here, the captain constantly makes remarks about the 'Jew Boy,' ridiculing him and otherwise calling attention to his racial characteristics, but patronizing him at the same time. (u)

"The scene then shifts to the apartment of the young Jew, who has an appointment with one of the girls of the joint. Four of the soldiers, including the captain also go to the apartment where the party is turned into a drinking orgy. During this party the captain kills the Jewish boy, but not before the other soldiers, except one, have left. (u)

"From here on to the finish, when the crime is proved on the captain, there is the usual melodramatic detective work by the Captain of Police and assistants who eventually solve the crime. During this action there are the usual sequences on the sordid level, of one of the soldiers going to the apartment of the bar girl and coming into contact with her pimp; the killing by the captain of the one soldier who was present when he committed the murder to keep him from telling; the portrayal of the soldiers as drunks and misfits, or morons. (u)

"In all the picture, there is only one character, the wife of one of the soldiers, the one who gets trapped into the apartment of the young prostitute, who seems to possess a measure of admirable qualities. Her part is very limited. (u)

"As this picture is most simple in plot, a psychopathic anti-Semite whose whole nature is distorted by hatred of the Jews and who kills one in a drunken orgy, the dialogue and lines of the picture determine its nature. In this respect, this reviewer draws the following inferences: (u)

"1. The portrayal of the average American soldier drawn from Civilian ranks as a drunkard or a semi-moron, a dissolute individual sexually and as one who is naturally attracted to the lower levels of social life. Only one of the soldier characters, the young man from Tennessee, who showed any tendency at all of possessing ethical or moral qualities, was entrapped by the prostitute. He was described by the Captain, the villain of the picture, as being a moron that had never worn a pair of shoes before he entered the army. This is in line with Hollywood's conception of anyone who comes from the Southern States. (u)

"2. Deprecation of the armed forces of the United States. In this, the lines are put in the mouth of the Captain who evinces hatred of the soldier drawn from civilian ranks, he being a professional soldier. (u)

"3. Anti-Semitism: As the picture is based on this theme, it is here that this reviewer concludes that the picture will contribute, very subtly, to an intensification of Anti-Semitism. In those scenes wherein the Captain evinces his hatred of the Jews he reiterates all the cliches and criticisms of Jews such as are heard over and over again, such as 'they live off the fat of the land,' that they are 'parasites,' that during the war they always succeeded in getting 'non-fighting' positions behind the lines, that they 'held all office jobs,' etc. etc. It is the opinion of this reviewer that the recitation of such slogans or cliches really contributes to Anti-Semitism by implanting in the minds of people ideas on the subject that they might never have held before and when they do come across a situation in which a Jew might commit some breach of ethics they would damn the entire race therefor. In other words, it would contribute to the feeling expressed frequently by people who say: 'After all, Hitler did one good job when he went after the Jews'. This, in the opinion of this reviewer, is wherein this picture might contribute seriously to Anti-Semitism and intensification of racial antagonisms in the United States. If this should be the result in any degree, it plays right into the hands of the Communist movement which thrives in large part on racial antagonisms. (u).

"3. This reviewer interviewed seven persons who had seen the picture. All seven labelled it as pure propaganda. Five said it was a flop as a picture from the standpoint of entertainment. Two actually sympathized with the Captain's views on the Jews. The five who did not care for the picture becaus. of lack of entertainment value, when questioned as to the propriety of the picture, stated they thought such a picture should not be made because of the 'touchy' nature of the subject. The two who sympathized with the Captain's views said they thought the Communists were behind it. (u).

ADRIAN SCOTT, in an article appearing in the "Hollywood Reporter" on October 10, 1947, urged the motion picture industry to issue a series of films blasting national prejudices. SCOTT commented:

"One 'Crossfire' is not enough to smother anti-Semitism". He proposed a continuous rolling barrage of specialized shorts, each riddling a national prejudice, which would be furnished free to exhibitors, clubs, churches, etc. He would like to see twenty to start, with most services donated he thinks they can be made for $10,000 each. (U)

SCOTT further commented: "One week every year is not enough to devote to the discussion of prejudices. It is a full-time job. The motion picture program is a start and a big start. Only one aspect of anti-minority practice would be dealt with in a film, and the shorts would be designed for the consumption of all age groups. For the very young, obviously a cartoon. For college groups a more mature analysis". SCOTT would have psychologists, social workers and field experts sit in on the preparation of scripts. (U)

SCOTT was satisfied that a great many producers, directors, writers and actors would be willing to donate their talents to the project. SCOTT's optimism was based on an informal poll preliminary to making "Crossfire". Among those to whom he put the question no one refused. They agreed to make time if they were busy. (U)

EDDIE CANTOR, radio and screen personality, placed the following advertisement in the Hollywood trade papers on October 9, 1947:

"EDDIE CANTOR

October 9, 1947

"Mr. DORE SCHARY,
RKO Radio Pictures, Inc.,
780 Gower Street,
Los Angeles 38, Calif.

"Dear Dore:

"So 'Crossfire' opens in the local theatres today. I saw it four times at the Rivoli Theatre in New York. The first time I had to go—(RKO, y'know)—the last three times I wanted to. What a picture! ADRIAN SCOTT did himself proud. Great screen play by JOHN PAXTON. EDDIE DMYTRYK's job of direction is something all producers dream about. You'll not find better performances by any three men this season than those of ROBERT (U)

YOUNG, ROBERT MITCHUM and ROBERT RYAN.

"As for yourself, here's a great big kiss for having the guts to go through with 'Crossfire.' It has the rare combination of great entertainment and a message which should be heard and seen by every man, woman and child in America. Judging from the boxoffice returns, it looks like that's exactly what will happen.

"'Crossfire' is sure-fire.

"Congratulations!

"Cordially,

"EDDIE"

Concerning CANTOR and his present viewpoint, the following is significant:

CNDI [redacted] advised of a conversation between JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and GEORGE WILLNER which took place on November 10, 1947. WILLNER advised that he had been in contact with various persons in the motion picture industry regarding their reaction to the film hearings. WILLNER advised LAWSON that "they all say that JACK LAWSON is going to work here anytime he wants to". GEORGE further stated that he had spoken to EDDIE CANTOR, at which time CANTOR stated he was "going to hire whomever he wished to but, of course, when he talks to other people....." b7D

"Gentleman's Agreement":

This picture is currently being shown and was produced at Twentieth Century Fox. [redacted] furnished the screen credits, which are as follows: b7D

CONF. INFT.

Screenplay by MOSS HART, based on the book by LAURA Z. HOBSON.
Director ELIA KAZAN
Producer DARRYL ZANUCK
Music ALFRED NEWMAN
Camera ARTHUR MILLER
Editor HARMON JONES
Starring GREGORY PECK, DOROTHY McGUIRE and JOHN GARFIELD, Featuring ANNE REVERE, ALBERT DEKKER and JUNE HAVOC

Of the above, ROBERTA GARFIELD, wife of JOHN GARFIELD, and ANNE REVERE are both members of the Communist Party, according to CNDI [redacted] b7D

Source B pointed out that in this picture a Police Lieutenant, in uniform, is a party to anti-Semitism and as such is subjected to much criticism. He went on that in his opinion this was a deliberate slap at law enforcement on the part of someone responsible for the production of the picture.

"Monsieur Verdoux":

This picture was produced by CHARLES CHAPLIN and released through the United Artists Studios. CHAPLIN was also the writer, director and leading character. Among the supporting cast the most well known are MARTHA RAYE and WILLIAM FRAWLEY.

On October 28, 1947, CNDI [redacted] advised the following: b7D

MIRIAM BROOKS SHERMAN (full-time paid Communist Party functionary; Chairman of the 13th CD Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party) discussed "Monsieur Verdoux" with EVELYN AVERBUCK (identified by CNDI [redacted] as a member of the Communist Party, wife of ALVIN ABRAM AVERBUCK, full-time paid Communist Party functionary, further identified as a Communist Party member by CNDI [redacted] for the year 1947). SHERMAN raved about the new CHAPLIN picture, saying, "The guy is a genius. The message at the end was marvelous. It is a real indictment of our system. The anti-religious b7D theme was wonderful, although some people booed at the end of the picture because of it" (u)

SHERMAN was very enthusiastic about this picture and said, "This and 'Crossfire' really prove the worth of Hollywood. If no other pictures were turned out during the year I would still be satisifed. Both were so good I must see them again" (u)

[Source E] who reviewed the picture, said that in his opinion "Monsieur Verdoux" was "anti-capitalistic propaganda. It contains a clear implication that nations make war for property; it carries the message that wars such as England and France have engaged in are imperialistic. 'Monsieur Verdoux' does as an individual what nations do in waging war" (u)

A review of the picture as published in the above mentioned Fox West Coast Theaters publication "Unbiased Opinions," and made by the Southern California Motion Picture Council, says in part:

"Dangerous and destructive are the theories advanced that society owes one comfort, security, even luxury, and that crime committed for love of family or because of need makes the perpetrator an object of sympathy and forgivable. Exonerating the individual and blaming society for all evils, is a very wrong kind of philosophy. (u)

"The picture tells the story of a bank clerk who, having lost his position during depression, decides that big business is organized thievery, and that henceforth he will live by his wits. Having a crippled wife and son to support, he gets his money by attracting and marrying women of wealth, murdering them when necessary. After a number of such murder episodes the law catches up with him and, according to French law, he is guillotined, but to the bitter end he remains smirking, cynical, and without remorse, ridiculing the proffered services of the priest." (u)

NEW YORK RAMIFICATIONS

By letter to the Bureau dated November 14, 1947, a copy of which was sent to the New York Field Office, considerable detail was set forth concerning the New York training ground for young actors, writers, and producers, as it exists in the various theater groups and dramatic schools in that city. It was pointed out in that letter by [Source C] that persons in New who are active in the theater movement and are Communists "have the ability to make stars. They start an organized movement to get behind their own people." (u)

Certain young persons in the New York area are thoroughly indoctrinated with Communist philosophy and are subjected to personal influence by such persons as JOHN GARFIELD and FREDERIC MARCH, and since many of them are opportunists they pattern themselves after these persons in an attempt to get ahead. Also, since the Russian government offers financial security to actors and actresses, their system has an appeal to young Americans who desire such security in the acting profession. (u)

It was pointed out by Source E in this letter that many New York critics have banded together and are responsible for making and furthering careers of individuals on the stage and screen. Unless a young person conforms to their viewpoints, the smear method is used to bring him into line. (u)

It was pointed out in this letter that DORE SCHARY, Executive producer of RKO; ROBERT ROSSEN and MIKE BLANKFORT, both of whom are writers, are responsible for bringing young New York people out to Hollywood. SCHARY has been referred to previously in this report. ROBERT ROSSEN is a member of the Communist Party, according to CNDI [redacted] (u) b7D

Many young persons are presently in motion pictures who went through this New York indoctrination process, and the New York City Office is presently getting information as to the identity of the persons who are responsible for the promotion of certain persons on the stage in New York. ELIA KAZAN, mentioned above, is a product of the New York school now in Hollywood, as are the following: (u)

PRESS REACTIONS TO HEARINGS

A summary of the press reactions is being set forth for the information of the Bureau and New York Division, particular emphasis being given to that of the so-called Hollywood trade papers which reflect the thinking of many prominent members of the motion picture industry. (u)

Local Press

All phases of the local press carried detailed articles concerning the Washington hearings under Washington datelines. (u)

As these articles were syndicated nationally, no details will be given regarding them. It should be noted that of the large Los Angeles metropolitan newspapers, the Los Angeles Times, and the Los Angeles Examiner articles were usually supplemented by editorials which were favorable to the committees action. The Los Angeles Examiner carried editorials advocating federal censorship of motion pictures. (u)

The Daily News editorials were frequently slanted to criticize the committees actions and advertisements were carried by this paper denouncing the committees activities which had been purchased by various organizations in the Hollywood area supporting the so-called "unfriendly nineteen witnesses." More details concerning these advertisements will be furnished elsewhere in this report. The Hollywood Citizens News generally carried editorials endorsing the committees activities. (u)

VICTOR RIESEL, Columnist for the Hollywood Citizens News, wrote an article which appeared November 3, 1947 entitled "Hollywood Dupes of L.A. Reds." This article in substance criticized a lazy, cynical, and sometimes crooked citizenry for allowing the Communists to take over the political and union activities in Southern California which resulted in the present situation. His article tied in the machine which made HARRY BRIDGES such a power in Pacific Coast Maritime Labor circles with the group currently controlling the Communist factions within the motion picture industry. (u)

RIESEL accused this machine of controlling or dominating scores of middle-class organizations which fight for minor rights and from which the Communists mulct out thousands of dollars regularly. This machine was also accused of having a large faction in the Democratic Party, but it had been weakened by JAMES ROOSEVELT'S fight against it in the past year. (u)

Motion Picture Industry Press

This field is dominated by the two trade papers, the Hollywood Reporter and the Daily Variety. Of the two, the Hollywood Reporter has been most favorable to the House Committee activities, however, it has primarily supported the motion picture industry and frequently carried advertisements by the various groups within the motion picture industry who have consistently supported the so-called "unfriendly nineteen witnesses" and have emphatically denounced the House Committee in general. (u)

LA #100-15732

W. R. WILKERSON, publisher of the Hollywood Reporter, is known to have associated closely with the Motion Picture Alliance, composed of individuals within the industry who are openly fighting Communism. WILKERSON has written numerous editorials which have been anti-Communistic in nature and has attempted to point out the fallacy of the motion picture industry as such where individuals therein support communistic causes. (u)

As an example of WILKERSON'S type of editorial, the following summaries are taken from some of his columns:

On September 5, 1947 WILKERSON, in his column which he entitled "Trade Views", attacked an article appearing in the New York World Telegram on Thursday, August 28, 1947 which was headlined "Only One In Hollywood Against Commies?". This question dealt with a story that out of ten people asked to speak on the affirmative in a radio debate on the question "Is communism really a threat to Hollywood?", only one accepted. WILKERSON further pointed out how the article took one small fact, only slightly distorted, and played it up to where it became a major lie. (u)

On September 15, 1947 WILKERSON wrote an editorial criticizing the Screen Writers Guild and accused them of Communist domination and spoke of the upheaval within the Guild as a result of President ELLETT LAVERY'S request that the executive board file National Labor Relation Board certificates of non-Communist affiliation or resign. (u)

On September 16, 1947 WILKERSON'S editorial advocated that this country and Hollywood must have a show-down on the Communist question. (u)

On September 22, 1947 WILKERSON'S column explained why Hollywood had replaced New York as the center of Communist activities in the United States. It was of the opinion that if this was so, it was made so (1) because of the financial situation, (2) because a Hollywood dateline on a story will get a quicker print and more readers than from any other part of the country, (3) because the "Commies" here are working harder and have more to give for the cause. (u)

On October 3, 1947 WILKERSON'S column brought up the question of what would happen if the House Un-American Activities Committee did investigate the "Commie" infiltration into the newspapers of our country. It was pointed out that the committee would be afraid to go into the newspaper ranks, specifically the newspaper guild, for the simple reason they would be afraid that the newspapers would knock their political hats off and probably drive them out of their chairs. WILKERSON also questioned J. PARNELL THOMAS' motive to really dig out the Communist infiltration into the motion picture industry. (u)

On October 10, 1947 WILKERSON'S article brought out the point that the Communists recognized the power of the screen; they realized its effect on thinking and the resulting action, and in reality, they want the industry to join them in the feeding of not only their own people but ours. (u)

On October 20, 1947 WILKERSON criticized the House Un-American Activities Committee, describing it as one shaped and designed particularly for politics and publicity for that committee and its membership. WILKERSON remarked that it would be simple for the Committee to ascertain if Communist propaganda existed in pictures by taking a look at the pictures. He said the Committee would not do this because (1) it would take up too much of their time and (2) it would not get them the newspaper space they seek. (u)

Another issue and the one which should be the main point, according to WILKERSON, is the actual infiltration of Communists into our business. He said that if the committee is sincere on that question they would only have to subpoena the files of the FBI, which knows virtually every "Commie" and "fronter" in this and every other United States business. He closed this article by admitting that there was a "Commie" infiltration in the industry as well as every other great American business. (u)

WILKERSON'S article of October 22, 1947 emphasized the testimony of SAM WOOD'S before the House Committee which suggested that the Communists were angling for federal censorship of motion pictures in the belief they were so well organized that they could control that censorship, and, in fact, be able to dictate to quite a degree what our customers would be shown in our motion picture theatres. In this article WILKERSON complimented J. PARNELL THOMAS and his Committee for the very dignified and thorough handling of the first day's hearing staged by his group. (u)

On November 3, 1947 WILKERSON'S column disclosed that regardless of the result of the temporary shut-down of the House Committee hearings, the picture industry ended up in defeat, the extent of which is impossible to calculate at this time. (u)

It was pointed out that the hearings caused the worst press the motion picture industry ever received. WILKERSON commented that the band of players who inserted themselves into the picture minus invitation or subpoena to criticize the activity of a committee representing our law-makers, did nothing for the cause or themselves. Instead, they returned to Hollywood burdened with ridicule heaped on their shoulders by part of the nation. (u)

WILKERSON denounced the yells and rantings of the men subpoenaed and that of their attorneys; their refusuals to answer questions, their general conducts were recognized by the public as strictly a Communistic technique to discredit any activity which tends to show up communist activities and brand as such. (u)

The testimony of one of the top studio heads (DORE SCHARY) that he would continue to employ communists until it was proven to him that those employed had a design for the overthrow of our government, was additional feed that whipped up criticism and general disgust from the customers of motion pictures. (u)

In articles on November 4 and November 5, 1947 WILKERSON pointed out that the industry must take steps to rid Communists from their midst or there would be federal censorship as advocated by an editorial in the Hearst paper on November 3, 1947. He emphasized a critical point at which the picture industry had arrived insofar as public opinion of its customers were concerned. He advocated members of the industry to stop joining the causes, stop making speeches, stop the liberalism that the Communists have played up to the hilt. He also advocated that the campaign against our government and those who have been elected to run it cease. (u)

On November 6, 1947 WILKERSON prophecied that the "unfriendly nineteen" who were subpoenaed to Washington felt that they had a cause in which they could interest many of the top names in the industry. They also felt that they could win a lot of favor in spots they could hardly scratch before to raise money--much needed money. (u)

WILKERSON pointed out that the THOMAS Committee did have a legal right to ask those witnesses whether or not they belong or ever belonged to the Communist Party, in spite of the smoke-screen that had been set up by these witnesses, et al, to question this legal right. (u)

WILKERSON on November 7, 1947 advocated that all the liberals who had been supporting the Communist cause turn their sights towards supporting the industry which, in turn, supports them so lavishly. (u)

He suggested that it would be a good thing for the industry to set up an organization for protection of the suckers who had donated money and otherwise supported Communist funds. He suggested something like the former War Activities Committee which operated successfully within the industry during World War II. (u)

On November 14, 1947 WILKERSON reprinted in substance the text of a column syndicated by GEORGE DIXON which was printed by his local outlet in Washington, D.C. but was not printed on the West Coast. This article by DIXON dealt with STERLING HAYDEN, recently under contract as an actor to Paramount Studios. HAYDEN was described as a member of the Communistic group who, during a dinner party recently held in Washington, D.C., attempted to convert MARY BENTON GORE, a member of one of Washington's most respected families, to the Communistic cause, even to the extent of offering her a handful of pamphlets which she described as the "most vicious Communist propaganda I have ever seen. (U)

On November 17, 1947 WILKERSON made an appeal to the motion picture industry to stop soft-peddling "Commies" activities. He cited as an example of the true Communist colors as displayed during the past few days in France and Italy. He said that the time had arrived for action against the destroyers (Communists) and the motion picture industry should take the lead in this activity because it presents the greatest source of information for our nation (and others). The industry also has the best means of disseminating that information. (U)

It should be noted that the Hollywood Reporter carried full-page ads on October 11, 1947 which advertised the News Letter counter-attack and solicited subscriptions for this publication which was described as a detailed expose of Communist intrigue infiltration. (U)

The Hollywood Reporter published a pamphlet which was released approximately six weeks ago entitled "Facts About Hollywood, USA", subtitled, "Information for the Nation". This booklet quoted numerous statistics gathered from various sources concerning the motion picture industry and the type of people who make up its personnel. The book, consisting of thirty pages, is complimentary to the industry, and motion picture workers are charactorized as similar to those who populate any "home-town, USA". (U)

LA #100-15732

SAMUEL GOLDWYN, President Samuel Goldwyn Productions; BYRON HARVEY, JR., President, Fred Harvey System; HENRY GINSBERG, Vice President in Charge of Production, Paramount Studios; F. G. GURLEY, President of the Santa Fe Railroad; DORE SCHARY, Executive Vice President in charge of Production, RKO Radio-Pictures, Inc.; DONALD L. NELSON, President, Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers; GRADWELL L. SEARS, President, United Artists Corp.; General DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, Chief of Staff, War Department; BOB HOPE, Actor-Writer. (u)

This booklet was published to offset some of the criticism which has been heaped upon Hollywood by relating the true facts accumulated by the Hollywood Reporter survey. (u)

Commenting on this booklet, the Hollywood Reporter of October 23, 1947, under a New York dateline, carried an article disclosing the New York Sun's reaction to this booklet which was very favorable. (u)

It was also mentioned that CHARLES SIEVERT devoted an entire column in the New York World Telegram. It was pointed out that newspapers, magazines, and periodicals from all parts of the world were requesting copies of this booklet. (u)

ARTHUR UNGER, Editor and Publisher of the Daily Variety issued in Hollywood, frequently carried editorials which were critical of the House Committee hearings. (u)

On October 21, 1947 UNGER'S column dealt with the hearing testimony of JACK L. WARNER and LOUIS B. MAYER. He commented that their testimony "laid the cards on the table" and that the industry had nothing to hide. It was suggested that PARNELL THOMAS, if they are not political minded and if they wanted to delve further into the information supplied by the above individuals, that they have governmental agencies seek out alien propagandists in all industries as well as the film business. (u)

The Reporter on October 23, 1947 reprinted an editorial which appeared in the New York Herald Telegram on October 22, 1947. This editorial was not too complimentary to the Committee hearings and may be summarized in the following: "To date THOMAS has brought up nothing to make the whole affair seem anything more than an attempt to seek personal aggrandizement on the tax payers funds." (u)

On October 31, 1947 UNGER further criticized the House Committee's hearings and remarked "that the most sensible thing done was the Committees suspension of it's nine-day inquiry into Communist Party activities in Hollywood, and so far as the public is concerned, considering the bad and

"loose manner in which it was conducted, it need never be reopened." UNGER did not deny that there might be Communistic endeavors involved in motion picture production but felt that the executives in charge must do the eliminating of subversive material as well as the people responsible for it. UNGER described the Committee hearings as a "flea hunt." (u)

UNGER'S editorial on November 4, 1947 criticized WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST for advocating federal censorship of motion pictures. HEARST was reprimanded for advocating freedom of the press, but, at the same time, asking for censorship of some other form of communication. (u)

UNGER on November 6, 1947 continued his attack on HEARST and called the latter's attention to the fact that some of the later witnesses who testified voluntarily before the House Committee had stated that ninety-eight to ninety-nine per cent of the people employed in motion pictures were okay and had no Communist or subversive tendencies. UNGER felt that this small percentage of so-called Communists did not warrant HEARST'S charges that the industry was infested with Communists. (u)

UNGER on October 27, 1947 criticized HEARST for allowing WESTBROOK PEGLER to continue lambasting show business, particularly Hollywood. UNGER referred to PEGLER'S column in which it was alleged that underworld characters were used by LOUIS B. MAYER in an attempt to bribe a member in the House Committee Hearing Group so that MAYER would not have to testify. (u)

UNGER further recommended that the FBI and other government agencies conduct any investigations necessary. It is suggested that "maybe he (PEGLER) ought to be investigated by the Un-American Activities Committee." (u)

An article appeared in Variety on October 29, 1947 which disclosed that HAROLD E. STASSEN, who arrived in town on Monday night, had been approached by a group of Republicans and Democrats and asked to lead the screen freedom fight. This anti-communist group felt there was a grave danger of confusion over the difference between liberalism and communism. It wants to utilize every effort to prevent Congress from trying to tell the industry what it can and cannot do. The theme of the new group is that freedom of the screen is as important as freedom of the press. Among those on the committee were: CHARLES BRACKETT, LIONEL BARRYMORE, DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, JR., WILLIAM WYLER, ROSALIND RUSSELL, SPENCER TRACY, and ARTHUR HORNBLOW, JR. The committee will not have as a member any person who appeared as a witness before the House Committee hearings. DAVID L. SELZNICK has been heading the committee. (u)

LA #100-15732

Columnist FLORABEL MUIR in the issue of Variety dated November 17, 1947 disclosed that it was a losing fight no matter how you looked at it, that is, the skirmish between the so-called "unfriendly nineteen witnesses" and the United States Congress. This opinion was based upon the fact that the judge and jury is the American public and this public has indicated beyond a shadow of a doubt that it does not like Communism and the majority will not stand for our government being changed by force or any other way. (u)

MUIR commented that it was not J. PARNELL THOMAS that certain members of the industry were fighting but that it was public opinion. MUIR mentioned that the heads of RKO came out with a flat statement that no Communist would be employed at that studio, but the statement got a "little fuzzy" as to how to tell a Communist when you see one. It was suggested that if the executives were in doubt they could send a few names around Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, and other states that are one hundred per cent American and that they would soon find out what names are box office poison. SYNOPSIS OF FACTS: ~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Activities of CP members in the motion picture industry during past 30 days have centered about the THOMAS Committee Hearings held in Washington, D.C. Rallies supporting the alleged "unfriendly nineteen witnesses" have been held and their stand taken before the committee applauded. The results of the hearings were considered a partial victory by the Party and their current program is to agitate for the postponement of the contempt citation hearings and for the abolishment of the House Un-American Activities Committee. Support of their position has been manifested primarily through Party control of the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of PCA in Hollywood. Public and motion picture industry reactions to hearings described. L. B. MAYER has invited Communists at MGM to quit. Current pictures "So Well Remembered," "Hazard," "Crossfire," "Gentleman's Agreement," and "Monsieur Verdoux" considered from standpoint of possible Communist propaganda. Reactions of local and Hollywood trade press to House Committee Hearings and New York ramification set forth. (U)

Re: COMPRC
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Dear Sir:

Enclosed are two photostatic copies of a memorandum dated October 16, 1947, which is being circulated among various executives in the motion picture industry in the form of a petition. This memorandum was furnished by [redacted] who stated that DAVID O. SELZNICK and JOHN HUSTON are the persons behind this activity. The informant said that in his opinion SELZNICK "is as far to the right as you will find anyone in this business" and he feels sure that this memorandum is the work of SELZNICK personally, because of the wording and manner in which it is set down. The informant was asked to sign this document and to subscribe to its principles but he refused, saying that he is a member of a group which has its own campaign currently going forward in connection with the contemplated Congressional hearings and his group hopes for exposure for every Communist in Hollywood. Also informant said that he does not agree with the document because "I have every moral and legal right to get rid of a Communist working in my studio." Also the informant said that he sees no "point in pitting the Committee against the FBI" in connection with the investigation of Communism. He is of the opinion the wording in the memorandum "I resent the careless hurling of the word 'Communist' at every left wing member of the Democratic Party and even its more radical splinter groups," is an error and that so far as he is concerned "the Communist spear heads are those groups which are far to the left." These arguments were used by the informant in his refusal to sign the petition when it was presented to him.

In an interview on another confidential matter with [redacted] one of the three partners comprising the firm William Morris Agency (one of the large actor's agencies) [redacted] said that on October 17, JOHN HUSTON was at his home for dinner and was discussing his activities in connection with the Republican and Democratic joint committee of Hollywood. HUSTON said that when he came out of the Army he decided to devote his entire time to his career but that the current Congressional hearings have forced him to go back into political activity and he asked [redacted] to subscribe to the principles set forth in this memorandum. The latter declined for somewhat the same reasons as outlined by [redacted] said that allegedly a committee of 15 is actually doing the work in connection with files on progressive people they encounter in door-to-door campaign work. All Comrades should be activated in this connection.

The Screen Actors Guild under the leadership of RONALD REAGAN, refused to become a part of it and when EMMETT LAVERY, head of the Screen Writers Guild was contacted for his stand, he was non-committal, neither giving approval or disapproval of the project.

Source A advised as set forth above that Shop Units have been established at the Universal-International Studios, RKO Studios and Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios. Informant further advised that in a conversation with PAUL PERLIN he had learned that an Industrial Branch had been established at the Paramount Studios, and that this is one of the largest branches of the Industrial Subsection. Informant further advised that he had learned from DOROTHY STEIN, formerly Membership Director of the Community Subsection of the Hollywood Section, Communist Party, that the Communist Party also has an Industrial Branch at the Columbia Studios.

Sources C, D, E, F, G, H, I, and J were contacted for their knowledge of information concerning the Industrial Branches at the Universal-International Studios, Paramount Studios, RKO Studios, Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studios, Columbia Studios, Eagle Lion Studios, Twentieth Century Fox, and Warner Brothers Studios with negative results.

CONSOLIDATION OF INDUSTRIAL AND COMMUNITY SUBSECTIONS HOLLYWOOD SECTION, COMMUNIST PARTY

Source A advised during June, 1947, that he had learned in conversation with DOROTHY STEIN, Chairman of the Gung Ho Club, Community Subsection, Hollywood Section, Communist Party, that the Industrial Subsection had been greatly weakened by the strike of the Conference of Studio Unions, and that the time which should have been spent in recruiting had been spent by the Industrial Comrades in endeavoring to keep the Conference of Studio Unions alive.

To revitalize the Industrial Subsection and to provide further for closer coordination between the Community and Industrial Subsections, these two were consolidated during June, 1947, and the following are the officers of the Consolidated Subsection:

PAUL PERLIN, Organizer
DOROTHY FORREST, Organizational Secretary
DOROTHY RIVERS, Membership Director
HELMER BERGMAN, Educational Director
JACK FLIER, Literature Director
JACK SNIFFIN, Press Director
NOUM LIGHT, Finance Director

It is contemplated under the reorganized Community Industrial Subsection that the makeup of the membership of the various clubs will remain the same, but the representatives from the club will meet together every two weeks at Chairmen's Council meetings for the purpose of more closely coordinating the activities of the two types of clubs.

THE LOS ANGELES OFFICE

At Los Angeles, California, will develop further information regarding the organization of shop units within the various motion picture studios and will identify the officers and members of each unit.

Will make necessary inquiry through informants at the studios and in the Party to secure the full and correct names as well as identifying data regarding the people set out in this report, such as on pages 8 and 13.

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Reference is made to Bureau letter dated October 14, 1947, in the above-captioned matter. (U)

On Monday evening, October 20, 1947, a publicity rally was held in the National Press Club auditorium sponsored by the Southern Conference for Human Welfare and the National Lawyers Guild. The first speaker was MARTIN POPPER, Vice President of the National Lawyers Guild, who after a few opening remarks, introduced to the audience each of the 19 witnesses who have been subpoenaed before the Congressional Committee on un-American Activities. While introducing each of the witnesses he related numerous films which they have worked on, emphasizing the more patriotic titles and those of widespread human interest, and at the conclusion of each of the remarks concerning the films he would add, "and this is the one which brought him a subpoena from the THOMAS Committee". (U)

POPPER, at this point, introduced ROBERT KENNY, attorney from Los Angeles, California, who is counsel for the 19 witnesses. After a few remarks by Mr. KENNY relating to the purpose of his trip to Washington, he then introduced several of the witnesses who had prepared speeches and delivered them before the audience. Mr. KENNY indicated that it was his purpose as an attorney to quash the hearings and to break up the "THOMAS Committee", because it was illegal, un-American and a disgrace to the United States Government. (U)

Among the witnesses who spoke were DALTON TRUMBO, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, RING LARDNER, JR., HOWARD KOCH and LARRY PARKS. All of the witnesses who gave the prepared speeches were defiant in their remarks toward the Committee, and stated that it was their intention to "break up" the THOMAS Committee so that there would be no censorship of thought in connection with the production of motion pictures in the United States. (U)

BARTLEY CRUM, another attorney representing the witnesses, along with KENNY, made numerous caustic remarks while the members of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare took up a collection. CRUM stated that the money received from this collection was to be spent on publicity (U) in order to defeat and disband the Congressional Committee. Agents who were in attendance observed that very few individuals present contributed when the collection boxes were passed.

During CRUM'S remarks he unmercifully tongue-lashed Mr. THOMAS, making numerous derogatory remarks concerning his appearance as well as his method in chairing the un-American Activities Committee. In concluding his remarks, BARTLEY CRUM stated that he had never appeared before such a nauseating appearing individual as Mr. THOMAS, and as the day went on he found it difficult for him to control himself to prevent being sick to his stomach. He then said that if there were any FBI Agents present in the auditorium he wanted them to go and tell THOMAS what he said and then both THOMAS and the Agents could "go to Hell".

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to my teletype dated October 21, 1947, concerning "The Committee for the First Amendment" and its activities in connection with the current Congressional hearing on Communism in motion pictures.

[redacted] furnished a telegram addressed to his wife, [redacted] dated October 24, 1947, which reads as follows: b7D

"THIS INDUSTRY IS NOW DIVIDING AGAINST ITSELF. UNITY MUST BE RECAPTURED OR ALL OF US WILL SUFFER FOR YEARS TO COME. YOUR AID IS REQUIRED IN THIS CRITICAL MOMENT. PLEASE BE AT [redacted] BEVERLY HILLS, TONIGHT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24, AT 8:30 P.M. THIS IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN ANY PICTURE YOU EVER MADE." /S/ JOHN HOUSTON, WILLIAM WYLER, BILLY WILDER. b6 b7C

DEFERRED RECORDING

[redacted] said that so few people attended this meeting that the Committee is seriously hampered in its intentions to convert the hearings in Washington to its own purposes. He stated that it has been the intention of the people sparkplugging this Hollywood movement to sponsor a big mass meeting at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles on November 9, 1947, and he furnished a handbill which is being attached hereto. b7D

He also furnished a booklet entitled, "The Case of CARL MARZANI," which is also being enclosed.

The entire plan, according to [redacted] was to attract liberals and famous names locally, getting them to donate huge sums of money in defense of the 19 individuals being subjected to a "witch hunt" b7D by the Un-American Committee, and when the movement was well under way to swing the publicity into a defense of HANS EISLER and CARL MARZANI.

At the meeting last night only $3000 was collected, and the informant went on to say that "terrific pressure" has resulted in the collection of another $7000, so that $10,000 is now available, and this entire sum is being spent on the radio in an attempt to attract support.

Both BETTE DAVIS and [redacted] refused to lend their names to this enterprise and, consequently, according to the informant, it has "misfired because they could not suck in the fronts," since they were unable to get the big names they desired to sponsor this movement. b7D

[redacted] went on that FREDERIC MARCH, HUMPHREY BOGART and LAUREN BACALL are the biggest names they have been able to get, and without DAVIS and [redacted] the entire movement will fall flat locally because the people in Hollywood who follow the lead of others will not respond to the MARCH, BOGART, BACALL leadership. According to [redacted] "None of the real toppers are in the movement". He is emphatic in stating that the entire plan of the Communists who started out to defend civil liberties, using the 19 "unfriendly witnesses" as potential martyrs and then swinging into the defense of EISLER and MARZANI, has fallen flat. Now that this has taken place he doubts whether the rally scheduled for the Shrine Auditorium on November 9 will be held. b7D

He went on that liberals in Hollywood are pleased that the Un-American Committee has apparently ceased its "smear ROOSEVELT" tactics and is "going after the real meat".

The identities of [redacted] and [redacted] [redacted] must be kept confidential, and the Bureau will be advised as more information is available. b7D

Very truly yours,

"Human rights are more in peril in the United States today than at any time since the Civil War."

HENRY WALLACE

Your rights are in danger.

Your liberty is in jeopardy.

Any undermining of American democracy is a direct threat to every citizen. The conviction of Carl Marzani is a conscious attempt to restrict freedom of thought and freedom of political action.

The basic issues of the Marzani case will now be argued before the Federal Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. If necessary this fight for freedom of thought will be carried to the United States Supreme Court.

There are no short cuts in legal procedures. Appeals are expensive. In your own defense, send in your contribution today.

Union. After Pearl Harbor he went to Washington to do his share in the war. As a direct result of this action, he won his most recent reward, a jail sentence in 1947.

Carl Marzani is thirty-five years old with a family of wife, mother, one three year old daughter and another baby expected. He is a law abiding, peaceful citizen. He is also a thoughtful, well-educated and widely travelled man with considerable knowledge of domestic and foreign affairs. He has tried through the medium of films to teach the truth as he sees it, even if it involves criticism of those who make our policies. But the government today fears criticism. Because of its fears it is undermining our democratic rights. As a result, America is changing. Writes I. F. Stone from Washington,

> There were moments during the trial of Carl Aldo Marzani when one imagined oneself back in pre-revolutionary Russia. In the prisoner's dock was a young man of poor family. He had made a brilliant scholastic career, won a scholarship abroad, settled on his return in a working-class neighborhood, and been drawn into the radical movements. The testimony of a police spy and agent provocateur was now sending him to jail. The old czarist files must contain many such cases. The files of the American government will contain many more if Marzani's conviction is upheld on appeal.

Marzani had resigned on November 15 to set up a film business for the service of trade unions. His resignation was accepted by high officials of the State Department with protestations of regret, good will and personal well wishes. Six weeks later these same officials notified him that he was "fired." Yet he had not been paid, his resignation had been processed, and at the trial it was shown that his resignation documents had been changed.

Shortly after this he was indicted. The FBI watched his office, trailed his friends, harassed his film technicians. A laboratory that processed his film declined further work because of "pressure."

In the year 1947 in the United States of America, Marzani can testify concretely to the paraphernalia of an incipient police state: shadowings, wire-tapping, terror. The road to American Fascism has not been built, but there are too many signs of MEN AT WORK.

Is Marzani a Criminal?

If Marzani is a criminal, then words have lost their meaning. A consideration of his life and background shows inescapably that he is a good American citizen.

Carl Marzani was born in Rome, Italy. His father brought the family to America precisely to escape Italian Fascism. Ironically enough, the specific drive to the escape was a "loyalty" oath instituted by Mussolini. The year was 1924.

Marzani grew up in Scranton, Pa. and graduated from high school with a fine scholastic record which won him a scholarship to Williams College. He made an excellent record, despite the fact that he had to work for his living. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year, was editor of the literary magazine, director of the Little Theatre, president of the non-fraternity club and on the executive of the student government. He was voted most brilliant of his class.

The president and faculty of Williams College thought highly of the young Italian immigrant. They granted him a two-year fellowship to Oxford University and Marzani went abroad to study. He received a degree with honors. While abroad Marzani went to Spain in the civil war for several months, and later married an American girl.

In 1939 the couple returned to America. They settled on the East Side of New York, and after vainly seeking work Marzani went on WPA rolls. Later he became an assistant instructor in economics at New York University and then full instructor. While on the East Side Marzani helped progressive organizations particularly the National Negro Congress and the American Labor Party. He became executive secretary of the East Side Defense Council to promote friendship among the peoples of the East Side and to support President Roosevelt in his program of aid to Britain, China and the Soviet loss. A conversation is sufficient to prosecute and the penalty is much heavier than for perjury. This statute is broad enough to prosecute a person who made any false statement to any OPA employee on any matter such as rationing or rent even though such a statement was oral and no witnesses were present.

Furthermore, perjury cannot be prosecuted after three years. But during the war, this customary statute of limitations was extended in the case of frauds until three years after cessation of hostilities. The primary purpose was to catch fraudulent war contractors. But the government applies this extension to false statements as well, so that any such offense committed as far back as August 25, 1939 is subject to prosecution during the next two years. Not only government employees, therefore, but anyone who during the war had any contact with government matters, including servicemen, may find themselves in serious trouble if the government chooses to prosecute.

If the courts uphold the government's use of these legal tricks, a powerful new weapon for witch-hunting will have been created. This is the reason why the Department of Justice is so pleased with the conviction of Marzani. It is a strange and bitter situation when the Justice Department, charged with the protection of civil liberties, uses its vast powers to subvert the freedom of American citizens.

MY DAY

'This Column Deals With a Very Serious Subject'

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

ON top of this incident, I received a sheet from the Congressional record, into which Rep. Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois had read an article by I. F. Stone on the subject of a man called Marzani. This man, a month after resigning from the State Department, was discharged and then indicted under an act of Congress, passed in 1944, which extended the Statute of Limitations three years after the cessation of hostilities in case of fraudulent war-contract claims. He is not accused of having tried to defraud the Government, but is accused of falsely denying certain statements made in 1940 and 1941. He is now in jail, sentenced to from one to three years and denied bail while waiting appeal of the case.

As to his innocence or guilt, I know nothing, but on reading the article I feel that our civil liberties are being endangered. Thru fear and undisciplined prejudice, we are becoming the very thing which we have condemned other people for being.

It is time we took a look at ourselves and made up our minds that we can no longer joke about questions of race prejudice or religious differences. And even if we do not agree with the political beliefs held by some, we must not reach a state of fear and hysteria which will make us all cowards. Either we are strong enough to live as a free people or we will become a police state. There is no such thing as being a bystander on these questions.

Why the Trial at this Time?

In legal theory, motivation for prosecution is irrelevant. In political practice, motivation indicates the plans and fears of the government.

The chief motivation of the Marzani case is to develop a technique for the terrorization of government employees. It is a weapon to be used in conjunction with the "loyalty" order. False statements are common in application forms, although usually trivial and neither harmful nor malicious. Two million Federal employees will now have to run the gauntlet of investigation with possible prosecution for anyone the government considers "disloyal." The recent firings in the Department of State, without hearings, recourse, or charges, are samples of things to come in Federal employment.

The technique of the Marzani case is to be applied to trade unionists, as revealed by Senator Taft. Unless a determined fight is made in the higher courts, the technique of prosecution for false statements will become a major weapon in the anti-labor campaign.

Such is the motive for the new techniques. But why did the Department of Justice choose Marzani for their test case? Marzani had resigned from the government and, in fact, the trial revealed that the State Department had to tamper with their own documents in a vain effort to prove Marzani had been "fired". Moreover, Marzani is a veteran with a good war record. Why in spite of these considerations was Marzani chosen for a test case? The reasons for the choice throws an unpleasant light on the attitude of our government.

In late summer Marzani produced a film for the United Electrical Workers (UERMWA-CIO). The film, Deadline for Action, is a powerful attack on American monopolies and current foreign policy. It was widely distributed and was very successful with trade union audiences. Big Business was furious, particularly companies like General Electric which were specifically named. Meetings were held, the film shown.

The key witness against Marzani and the only one who testified to the highly improbable speeches which formed the basis for the more horrendous sections of the indictment was a New York City policeman, Archer S. Drew, who was assigned to spy on radical activities on the East Side. Drew's testimony showed that he also acted as an agent provocateur. He is a Negro, and one of the organizations he was to watch was the National Negro Congress. When he found no branch in existence on the East Side he proceeded to form one and to recruit Negroes for it. Drew's reports were the source of the Whales story, and these were available to other government investigating agencies at the time. One is forced to assume that the FBI and the Civil Service Commission did not put much stock in those reports or Marzani would never have been cleared in 1943. But Marzani was unable to subpoena the records of these agencies, and the judge, Richmond B. Keech, kept the question of the past inquiries out of the trial.

Judge Keech also barred evidence which seems to indicate that even the New York City police in September, 1941, did not credit Drew's identification of Marzani with Whales. At that time Drew's reports were available in the Police Department. Marzani had just been made executive secretary of the East Side Conference to Defend America. The organization was investigated by Inspector O'Brien, and he told the chairman, Meyer Goldberg, then a Republican member of the City Council, that he had information showing Marzani was a Communist. Goldberg, now a member of Dewey's state Labor Mediation Board, came to Washington prepared to testify that he went with Marzani to O'Brien's office. The Inspector withdrew his accusation and apologized after talking with Marzani. In February, 1942, O'Brien voted to elect Marzani executive secretary of the Office of Civilian Defense on the East Side. Judge Keech refused to let Goldberg testify, and shut Marzani off with a rebuke when he tried to get the O'Brien incident into the record.

Drew could not have been produced as a witness at the Civil Service Commission hearing given Marzani in April, 1943, because that would have ended his usefulness as a spy. But later that year Drew was exposed and expelled from the Communist Party as a police spy, and if the government believed his Whales story it should then have tried Marzani for perjury. That it did not do so but on the contrary retained him in a confidential post leads one to believe that checks by other investigating agencies had failed to support the identification with Whales.

A New Weapon for Witch-hunts

The prosecution and the judge both made a great point to the jury that Marzani's political beliefs were not on trial. But as soon as the conviction was secured, the government publicly proclaimed that the trial was political in concept, motivation and application. Attorney General Clark was reported in the press as saying,

> "When the Justice Department has evidence sufficient to prosecute such subversives as Marzani, it will do so as expeditiously and as vigorously as was done in this matter."

And Senator Taft in the debate on the Taft-Hartley bill declared,

> "With the agreement of all conferees . . . it is provided that (union) officers shall file statements to the effect that they are not Communists. If a man who files such a statement tells an untruth he is subject to the same statute under which Marzani was convicted last week."

The statute to which Taft triumphantly refers provides that any false or fraudulent statement made willfully or knowingly to any agency of the U. S. Government on any matter within its jurisdiction may be punished by a fine of $10,000, imprisonment for ten years, or both. As interpreted in the Marzani case, the scope of this statute gives the government a shocking degree of power, with few safeguards.

In the comparable statute on perjury, for example, the statement must be made under oath, on a material matter, before a competent tribunal with considerable formality including advance notice, a written record, notice of penalty and usually, benefit of counsel. The penalty for a false statement is a fine of $2,000 and imprisonment of not more than five years. On the other hand, in the fraud statute as interpreted in the Marzani case, the statement need not be made under oath, or before a court, no written record is required, no advance notice given, no notice of penalties, no benefit of counsel, and although the statute is for fraud, the government does not have to suffer any monetary

The Case

On June 27, 1947 in the Federal Court of the District of Columbia Justice Richmond B. Keech sentenced Carl Marzani, a former Government employee, to serve from one to three years in jail.

A few days later, in the same court, Justice Henry Schweinhaut sentenced Andrew J. May, former chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee to serve from eight to eighteen months in jail.

Ex-Congressman May had exploited his high position for personal, financial profit. Bribes of at least $50,000 had been accepted and in return May had brought pressure on officials for contracts, interfering with the production plans of a nation at war. Through his activities, some GI may have died. In the deepest sense, May had been disloyal to his country.

Marzani too was charged with "disloyalty." The press hinted at treason. Obviously his sentence, heavier than May, must reflect some equally shameful, self-seeking activity, detrimental to the war, Strangely however, the trial showed that Marzani had worked hard and efficiently during the war both as a civilian and as a soldier. He had performed a variety of services, including picking targets for the Doolittle raid on Tokyo and producing films such as War Department Report to stimulate production. His most important work had been the preparation of top-secret reports for military leaders, taking complex statistics, digesting them and presenting them visually. He had saved valuable time for men such as General Marshall, General Arnold, Admiral Leahy and other officers of the General Staff. Because of Marzani's work, some GI may have lived. Lack of patriotism was not Marzani's crime.

What then was this man's crime? What had he done while the nation was at war to warrant prosecution? What damning crime must he have committed to offset his war work, cancel his military service and justify punishment more severe than that given a corrupt Congressman?

The "crime" was this: The jury found Marzani guilty of concealing membership in the Communist Party in 1940-41.

The Trial

The trial has been vividly summarized by I. F. Stone in an article in The Nation of July 12, 1947:

The nature of the indictment—not for Communist activities but for false statement to government investigators—made possible rulings which fatally handicapped the defense when Marzani came to trial. The prosecution could lug in inflammatory matter to show how Marzani served the Communists, but the defense was limited to character witnesses and Marzani's denials.

Marzani's defense never really got into the record. The jury was told that in 1940 and the first half of 1941 Marzani operated on the East Side of New York as a branch organizer and section educational director for the Communist Party under the name of Tony Whales. During the last half of 1941 and the early part of 1942 Marzani, under his own name, was active in the same area as executive secretary of the East Side Conference to Defend America. Thus many people must have seen and heard him in both capacities, and one wonders how he could have been cleared for government employment in 1942 if he had been openly active as a Communist official under such circumstances. The transcripts of Marzani's questioning in 1942 and 1943 by the FBI and the Civil Service Commission show that the Government knew of the Tony Whales charge. Marzani admitted then that he had once circulated a Browder petition but denied having been a member of the Communist Party under the name of Whales or any other. The upshot of the rather extended investigations and hearings at that time was his clearance for government employment. He went into the OSS, first as a civilian, then with military status as deputy chief of the branch which prepared complex data for quick presentation to the General Staff. He went to the State Department when it absorbed the OSS. Marzani's war record, highly commended by his superiors, was not challenged.

August 27, 1947.

I have been asked why I have joined the defense counsel in the Marzani appeal. The answer is simple. I don't like witch hunts. I don't like trials for heresy. I am suspicious of prosecution when made on stale charges, particularly when those charges were investigated years ago by the State Department, the Civil Service and the F.B.I., which agencies passed Marzani for government employment. I object to prosecution which the government instituted only after Marzani resigned from his government job. This was in November 1946. Despite this, he was fired on December 20, 1946. The indictment was brought only after he had produced a motion picture film for the United Electrical Workers, which film criticised the State Department and big industry, and was accordingly labelled Communistic.

The government says that Marzani was convicted not because of heresy (Communism) but because he lied in denying his heresy. But if that was the crime, why wasn't Marzani charged with perjury? He couldn't be, because the statute of limitations had run out. Marzani was charged with "defrauding" the government. The evidence against him might well have led a jury to infer guilt by association. There were many social evils in connection with which he made the horrendous error of associating with Communists, Socialists, liberals and other suspects.

Marzani was a soldier assigned to the O.S.S., and rendered exemplary service both in this country and abroad. At his trial, his loyalty and veracity were testified to by Gen. Edward S. Greenbaum, lawyer, and Garson Kanin, playwright, both of whom are friends of mine. Other soldiers or government employees may be tried for heresy or for denying it. This case and the pending so-called loyalty investigations, might well deter any man of independence and intelligence from accepting government service. Under the present hysteria, any liberal and progressive minded person is likely to be recklessly charged with being a Communist. As Representative Sabath said in the House of Representatives:

> "The latest sordid episode in the decline of human freedom in our beloved country is the conviction of Carl Marzani."

Finally, I wish to say that I am defending Marzani not because of his views, but because of mine.

Where Are We Drifting?

OF

HON. ADOLPH J. SABATH

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Saturday, July 26, 1947

Mr. SABATH. Mr Speaker, where are we drifting?

Are we going to forget our 170 years of glorious liberty and freedom and go back to the days of the czars, the kaisers, the Austro-Hungarian emperors?

Let us open our eyes to the facts.

Under the hysteria whipped up by a few professional Red baiters from the subversive smear bund, who day in and day out inject their poison of discord and disunity into our national life, we are faced in this country with such restrictions of thought and speech and writing as we have not known since the days of the Sedition Acts.

According to these reactionaries, many of whom are open disciples of Hitler and Goebbels, every liberal and progressive-minded person is recklessly charged with being a Communist.

Some of these smear artists who masquerade as patriots are open advocates of the Nazi-Fascist ideologies.

Others are merely dupes who make themselves victims of the race baiting and the bigotry of the zealots.

The net effect is to attempt to drive from public life every progressive and to use any legal or even illegal weapon at hand without scruples.

The latest sordid episode in the decline of human freedom in our beloved country is the conviction of Carl Marzani.

I know nothing about Marzani except what I have read in the papers.

I have never, so far as I am aware seen him or spoken to him.

I express no sympathy for or against him personally, or for or against his views, for I do not even know what his views are.

I do know, merely from the record of the trial as published in the daily papers and in weekly magazines, that the circumstances of his prosecution are dangerous to political freedom, and to economic freedom, and even to religious freedom.

Marzani was fired from the State Department weeks after he had resigned, and was not indicted until 2 months after he had submitted his resignation.

He was not charged with treason, or with sedition, or even with perjury. He was, instead, indicted under a statute which this Congress adopted to safeguard the Government against fraud by war contractors.

Mr. Speaker, I am inserting in the RECORD part of a report on the Marzani case written by I. F. Stone, one of the most brilliant journalists in the United States, and published in a liberal weekly, The Nation, of July 12, 1947.

As I said before, I have no personal knowledge of the Marzani case, but I do have personal knowledge of what life can be under a rigid despotism. I love this country very much. I love it because it is free. I want it to stay free. I hope you will read this report, and ponder carefully what Mr. Stone says, that we may not risk the precious heritages of our Constitution and its Bill of Rights.

The report follows:

Marzani is Italian born, the son of a minor anti-Fascist official who came to this country in the early twenties and settled near Scranton, Pa. Marzani worked his way through school and went to Williams, where he was editor of the college literary paper and won a scholarship. He had 2 years at Oxford, visited Loyalist Spain—a damning fact in Washington today—and returned in 1939. He and his wife settled on the East Side, and he taught economics for a while at New York University. He did not come to public attention until last fall.

Marzani, to put it mildly, hardly fitted into the State Department. His own opinions—opinions he did not hide—were pretty much those of a fellow traveler. He was uncomfortable in the Department, to which he had been transferred with the remains of the Office of Strategic Services. Efforts were made to get him fired immediately on his transfer there in the spring of 1946. Marzani wanted to resign but was urged by his superiors to stay on. He began to organize a business to make films for labor unions and took leave of absence last summer to do a film, Deadline for Action, for the United Electrical Workers. General Electric and other firms bought prints to show at a private meeting as a horrid example of red propaganda. The film was attacked in the New York World-Telegram as "communistic." The heat was on. Marzani resigned from the State Department in November after being assured that he was not resigning under fire. But a month later the department informed him that he had been discharged, and in January he was indicted. He has been sentenced to from 1 to 3 years in jail and denied bond pending appeal.

The indictment was framed in terms calculated to make the hair bristle on the heads of southern Congressmen, and reflect credit

THE DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF
WAR DEPARTMENT
WASHINGTON

October 22, 1942.

Mr. Carl Marzani,
Office of Strategic Services,
26th and Constitution Avenue,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Marzani:

I wish to express my sincere appreciation and thanks for your work in producing the film, "The United States Army."

You should be highly pleased and derive great personal satisfaction from the fact that the film, completed of necessity in such a brief period of time, has been well received by General Marshall, Admiral Leahy, Admiral King, and many others who have had the opportunity to see it. This is due in large part to your efforts. I am aware of your enthusiatic participation and strenuous work, involving frequent all-night sessions and a complete disregard for normal hours in order that the technicians might be kept busy on a very strenuous schedule. Your attention to duty, initiative, and technical competency contributed greatly to the favorable reception which the film has received. I am pleased to extend my commendation.

Sincerely,

JOSEPH T. McNARNEY,
Lieutenant General, U. S. Army,
Deputy Chief of Staff.

Upon direct request of General George C. Marshall a film "The United States Army" was prepared covering the organization and activation schedules of the army. The film was intended primarily for the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

[redacted] has advised this office that on November 21, 1947 BARTLEY C. CRUM was contacted by one HERBERT ____ (possibly HERBERT BIBERMAN) from Los Angeles. This person indicated that there had been considerable opposition to CRUM's opinion that the unfriendly Hollywood witnesses at the recent Thomas Committee hearings should issue public statements stating their position. HERBERT ____ advised CRUM that a person identified only as EDWARD M. had in New York City spread the rumor that there was a rift among the witnesses and their legal counsel. HERBERT asked CRUM specifically if CRUM felt the witnesses should make "an open declaration of exact political affiliation before a Federal judge." Informant indicated some of the witnesses felt that CRUM had felt this should be done and the informant learned that HERBERT ____ had told the witnesses that he had been in contact with in Los Angeles that this was not CRUM's position.

DECLASSIFIED BY SP2-CCC
ON 8-28-96

Informant was unable to provide CRUM's specific response. However, CRUM indicated that it was most necessary that a statement of some sort be made. He expressed the further opinion, "We have failed in convincing the American public that our guys are loyal Americans. As to the methods used, I am not interested. I don't care. All I want is an end result. I just want to win. Is that plain?"

~~DEFERRED RECORDING~~

Informant advised that CRUM had been in contact with an individual identified only as DAVID, apparently a resident of Los Angeles. To DAVID, CRUM indicated that he felt that the statement by ERIC JOHNSTON (apparently statement made in New York in which JOHNSTON expressed the opinion that the Hollywood unfriendly witnesses had done the country and the motion picture industry a disservice) was a statement that should be fully answered.

CHARLES KATZ indicated that ROBERT W. KENNY, former Attorney General of California, and associated with CRUM in the defense on behalf of the unfriendly witnesses differed with CRUM on the issuance of a statement. KATZ indicated that it was CRUM's opinion that a statement that was unequivocal would not win public opinion and that it would be proof of the unwilling witnesses' contempt since it would reveal publicly what the witnesses had refused to answer at the time of the hearing.

Informant advised CRUM felt that he had been misunderstood in his opinion, but later when KATZ got specific, CRUM, according to informant, stated KENNY had not told KATZ the truth. CRUM said, however, he would not want to get into a dispute with KENNY about it and was then interrupted by KATZ who asked, "What would happen if statements like that were made? It may be that people with the best of intentions would assume that it would rally the American peace. I would doubt it because Hoover has said it doesn't matter whether you got a card or not, if you support the American Peace Mobilization, if you took this stand that proves you're a Communist and that's enough for us. Now that's his statement, (profanity) and he requires more proof than the Thomas Committee does. Now to assume, it seems to me, that that kind of statement would win over public opinion . . . .".

At this point, according to the informant, CRUM interrupted, "There's no such assumption. All I'm saying or trying to say and all I ever tried to say is, that my guess is and my belief is that on that front, namely whether or not our guys are loyal, we have not won the battle. Now the only question I raise is how to correct it. So far as the producers are concerned, I told them to (profanity). I don't care about them."

CRUM had indicated that he had been invited to a meeting of producers but he could not go as he had to be in Washington. KATZ then indicated that KENNY could handle the business in Washington whereupon CRUM replied, "No, you couldn't get in to see Tom Clark without me, kid."

CRUM indicated his dissatisfaction with ERIC JOHNSTON because JOHNSTON allegedly said there would be no black listing and no one would be fired as a result of the Thomas Committee hearings. In this connection CRUM indicated that he would be delighted to call JOHNSTON a liar.

INTERNAL SECURITY - C

This is to advise that prior to the morning hearings with regard to captioned matter in the committee room of the House Committee on Un-American Activities on October 28, 1947, ROB HALL, Daily Worker correspondent for Washington, D. C. and a member of the National Committee of the Communist Party, USA, was observed engaged in conversation with MARTIN POPPER, Vice President of the National Lawyers Guild. This conversation lasted approximately 15 minutes and the individuals were observed to look over unidentified pieces of paper in each other's possession.

In addition to the above, ROB HALL was observed to converse with ROBERT KENNY, attorney for the 18 defendants before the Committee, a short while prior to the afternoon session of the Committee hearings. This conversation lasted for approximately two minutes and appeared to be on a friendly basis. From observation of KENNY'S face it seemed to Agents that he was acquainted with HALL.

The above observations were made by Agents of this office.

According to MATTHEWS, the real purpose of the meeting was to raise funds for HANS EISLER. The meeting which was set for October 26, at the home of JOHN HUSTON, in Tarzana, California, was not held due to the fact that many of the principals flew to Washington in order to protest the committee hearings. However, MATTHEWS had his men cover the above address and they noted the following registrations in the vicinity of the HUSTON residence on that morning;

MATTHEWS stated it was his personal opinion "one of the hottest persons in this whole set up is CHARLES EINFELD" who has gone to New York within the last few days. MATTHEWS pointed out he knew nothing specific but that he knows that EINFELD "used to work with and is very close to ROBERT ROSSON and there is no doubt in my mind that he is handling the EISLER thing. So far as the defense of the motion picture industry is concerned that's secondary. EINFELD will always have someone working as a front and right now it's publicity of Enterprise Studios." MATTHEWS stated "EINFELD is one of the most dangerous men in the country. He is master of intrigue and has always had Red tie-ups."

On October 28, 1947, [redacted] and her husband, [redacted] were contacted and [redacted] stated that she had listened to the radio transcriptions of the committee hearings in Washington and that in her opinion "THOMAS is handling this thing abominably. He threatens and intimidates the witnesses." She stated that when LAWSON was on the stand, THOMAS spoke up pointing out that the former should answer the questions and that "other people on that stand have been cited for contempt and have gone to jail." In the informant's opinion this is a "disgusting exhibition and not American."

b7D

Informants pointed out that so far as Hollywood is concerned "they nailed LAWSON. The town is shocked. People didn't believe that LAWSON was a Communist. The only thing they will believe is the Party card." [redacted] pointed out that he and his wife have been in telephonic conversation with "certain members of the delegation and a lot of people in the delegation are shocked." Those in Washington now feel that "there are only 8 or 9 of those subpoenaed who are Communist". [redacted] continued that should Party cards be produced for the unfriendly witnesses "right down the line" that "the effect on this town will be a bomb shell.

Re: COMPIC

The newspaper ads and presentation of ERIC JOHNSTON are considered rational and in view of the fact that JOHNSTON with his Chamber of Commerce background, has stated the position of the industry so lucidly [redacted] says that the conservatives in the motion picture business feel that JOHNSTON has represented the industry very well. b7D

In discussing the committee generally, [redacted] said that many of his friends whom he considers "liberal" in Hollywood, are convinced of the fact that SMITH and LECKIE are still in the employ of the FBI and despite the fact that they are called ex-Agents, certain people feel that the FBI has made investigators available for the committee. [redacted] knows this is not true and has attempted to convince his friends but in most occasions without success. He has pointed out to these persons that these two men were either fired or quit of their own will and have been in other lines of endeavor since severing connection with the FBI, but he feels that he has not convinced anyone of this fact. b7D

In connection with the hearings being conducted by the House Un-American Activities Committee, this is to advise that two more of the witnesses were cited for contempt today; namely, LESTER COLE and RING LARDNER, JR. Both of these witnesses, as did the eight previous witnesses cited for contempt, refused to answer the question as to whether or not they were members of the Screen Writers Guild and whether or not they were or ever had been members of the Communist Party.

BERTHOLD BRECHT, German born poet and writer, also testified and emphatically denied membership in the Communist Party now or at any time, and stated that to his knowledge he had never attended any Communist Party meetings.

As the session ended this afternoon at approximately 3:00 P.M. Chairman THOMAS announced that the hearings would be discontinued until recall by the Chairman at a later date. Special Investigator LOUIS J. RUSSELL was contacted by Agents of this office and he advised that the reason for this continuing was that the Committee was running short of funds, and further that the "friendly press" had advised them that it would be hard to hold the public's interest any further in the hearings if they were drawn out. It was suggested that it might be a good psychological move to discontinue while they were being well received by the public. Another reason for the postponement is the fact that, according to RUSSELL, they had received indirect word that LARRY PARKS and WALDO SALT had indicated a desire to turn friendly witness and tell all information in their possession concerning Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry. They felt that by postponing the hearings it would give these two men a chance to prepare their material and aid the hearings at a later date.

In connection with the testimony furnished at the hearing by Special Investigator LOUIS J. RUSSELL, he testified that an approach was made to Dr. J. ROBERT OPPENHEIMER in 1942 while Dr. OPPENHEIMER was engaged in the radiation laboratory in the University of California, Berkeley, California. Mr. RUSSELL stated that the approach to Dr. OPPENHEIMER was made by HAAKON CHEVALIER, a Professor of the University, who attempted to find out from the Doctor what was being done in the laboratory on a highly destructive weapon. It was not mentioned in the testimony what the weapon actually was, but it was assumed to have been the atomic bomb because of Dr. OPPENHEIMER'S connection. Mr. GEORGE CHARLES ELTENTON approached Mr. CHEVALIER and told him that Russia as an ally of the United States at the time, 1942, was entitled to any technical data. Mr. CHEVALIER said that Mr. ELTENTON wanted the information and could relay the information to the Soviet Government. Mr. RUSSELL testified that the scientist told Mr. CHEVALIER he considered it a treasonable act and certainly would have nothing to do with it.

Mr. RUSSELL then brought out the fact that PETER IVANOV, who is connected with the Russian Consulate, had told ELTENTON to seek the information. During the course of the questioning Mr. RUSSELL brought out that CHARLES A. PAGE, a former State Department employee who was identified as a one-time free lance writer in Hollywood and described by a Mexican Communist as one of our men, was closely associated with one LOUISE BRANSTON, a California heiress, and it was in this manner that contacts were made with individuals in and out of the Communist Party. Mrs. BRANSTON, according to RUSSELL, was closely associated with Mr. ELTENTON and he also mentioned several McKay radiograms sent to Moscow by IVANOV in connection with the above matter and also asking the officials in Moscow if they had seen the Warner Brothers picture that IVANOV had sent to them. RUSSELL further tied the motion picture industry into the testimony by recalling a meeting between ALEXANDER STEPHENS, also known as J. PETERS, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, HERBERT BIEBERMAN, WALDO SALT and PAUL JERICO in Los Angeles and the purpose of these meetings was to raise funds and to discuss methods to release BROWDER from the penitentiary.

Special Agents EARL L. FUOSS and VINCENT W. HUGHES attended the hearings of the THOMAS Committee on this date and the occurrences at the hearings are being reported herein.

The first witness on the stand was SAMUEL ORNITZ. The second witness was HERBERT BIBERMAN. Both of these witnesses refused to answer the questions as to whether or not they were members of the Screen Writers Guild or the Communist Party and they were held in contempt for refusing to answer.

The third witness was Mr. EMMETT LAVERY, President of the Screen Writers Guild. Mr. LAVERY readily admitted that he was the President of the Guild and attempted to answer all of the Committee's questions in a cooperative manner. LAVERY stated that he would not deny that there are probably Communists in Hollywood and in the Guild, but he does not believe they have taken a dominant position. He stated that he was not and never had been a member of the Communist Party. During the course of his testimony, Mr. LAVERY stated that when he first became aware of the fact that the Screen Writers Guild was being accused of being Communist infiltrated, he voluntarily went to the Los Angeles Division of the FBI and advised that office that the complete records of the Screen Writers Guild and complete cooperation of the Guild were being offered to the FBI. He stated that since the time he contacted the FBI he has not been re-contacted by anyone in that office. LAVERY was asked by a member of the Committee if he thought it would be a good thing to outlaw the Communist Party and he stated, "I depend on the word of J. EDGAR HOOVER who said it would not be a good policy to outlaw the Communist Party". At another point in his testimony Mr. LAVERY stated that he was in doubt as to whether or not Communists are agents of a foreign power, and Chairman THOMAS of the Committee then said "Would you accept the word of J. EDGAR HOOVER that Communists are agents of a foreign power?". LAVERY'S answer to this question was not direct and no further reference was made to the Director.

Being Checked

During the afternoon session of the hearings Mr. EDWARD DYMTRYK and ADRIAN SCOTT refused to answer the question as to whether or not they are now or had ever been members of the Communist Party and they were held in contempt. The third witness in the afternoon session was Mr. DORE SCHARY.

an executive at the RKO Studios. Mr. ~~SHERRY~~ SCHORY was questioned regarding the hiring of HANS EISLER by RKO and the general attitude of the RKO Studios toward hiring known Communists. ~~SHERRY~~ SCHORY stated that he has always been anti-Communistic, but that it has never been proven to his satisfaction that Communists are agents of a foreign power and he believes they are therefore entitled to think the way they want to politically. He would not give a direct answer as to whether or not he would rehire HANS EISLER now that he knows him to be a member of the Communist Party.

Mr. M. W. ROWELL, Executive Director of the Small Business Committee, House of Representatives, ~~who~~ is known to Agents CLEVELAND, HUGHES and FUOSS of this office. He was introduced to them by Miss KAY KEYES, who is presently employed by the Small Business Committee and who is a former stenographer of the Washington Field Office. Mr. ROWELL, who is a member of the Republican Party, stated that a friend of his, a Mr. FRED BAKER, Republican Committeeman in the State of Washington, is at the present time in Washington, D. C. on business. Mr. BAKER is an acquaintance of BARTLEY CRUM, one of the defense lawyers for the 19 writers, producers and directors and who is also a member of the Republican Party. CRUM on at least a half dozen occasions within a period of two days tried to contact BAKER and eventually did see him. He told BAKER that he had been anxious to talk to him because he wanted BAKER to assist him in contacting JOE MARTIN, Majority Leader in the House of Representatives. BAKER asked why CRUM wanted to see MARTIN and CRUM replied, "to stop these contempt charges". BAKER advised CRUM that it was not necessary for him, BAKER, to assist CRUM in seeing MARTIN because CRUM was already acquainted with MARTIN. CRUM, nevertheless, insisted that BAKER, a Republican Committeeman, accompany CRUM to see JOE MARTIN. According to Mr. ROWELL, BAKER did not accompany CRUM and he does not know if MARTIN has been contacted.

During the course of CRUM'S conversation with BAKER he said, "we are losing a lot of good Republicans over this thing" (referring to the THOMAS Committee hearings on Hollywood). CRUM said, "we don't want to stoop to a low level in the course of our defense but we have information that THOMAS is a former member of the Catholic Church which he has drifted away from, that his true name is not THOMAS but FINNY or FEENEY and that he was in some way connected with the Van Sweringin railroad fraud in 1932".

Director, FBI
RE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF

CRUM indicated that he did not want to be forced to use this material against the Committee. (It was previously brought out at the time that EUGENE DENNIS was subpoenaed before the Committee that THOMAS' true name is FEENEY).

DATE OF REVIEW 10/19/92

Reference is made to my letter dated October 9, 1947, entitled "Gregory; Espionage - R," concerning the above subject matter.

There have been a number of conversations concerning plans for activity in Washington, D. C., in connection with the "Hollywood Hearings" of the House un-American Activities Committee since reference letter was dictated, the most significant being a conversation at 5:10 p.m., October 16, 1947, between BARTLEY CRUM in San Francisco, California, and MAX LOWENTHAL, DAVID WAHL, and CHARLES KRAMER in Washington, D. C. LOWENTHAL apparently is in Washington for the additional purpose of attending a conference or conferences with General CLAY and various Jewish organizations. The conversation mentioned is summarized herein, and a copy of the log is being enclosed for further assistance of the Bureau.

[redacted] MAX (LOWENTHAL) first contacted CRUM and began by stating he understood when CRUM arrived in Washington there is going to be so much going on they would wish to God they never heard of this committee, still less of CRUM. MAX inquired whether JOHN (DIERKES ?) had sent CRUM something, and BART said it had not arrived yet. CRUM indicated he was flying east tomorrow, would be in Chicago tomorrow morning, and in Washington Saturday arriving about noon. LOWENTHAL inquired specifically concerning CRUM's program upon arrival.

CRUM explained they were not going to be recalcitrant, not going to be offensive, not going to be defiant. He said they would make a motion to squash the subpoenas immediately on the ground that there was no lawful legislation, and that no ----- (?) legislation can come about as a result of this investigation; secondly, that this is a thought control deal. He stated they were all going to take the oath and remarked he had a hell of a row with the extreme left group and last night made them take the oath of allegiance and pledge to the flag.

CRUM continued that on the hearing they would demand open hearings and the right to cross-examine adverse witnesses. Also they were going to demand the right to file statements and would try and make a headline every morning before 11 o'clock. WAHL interrupted to inquire if CRUM desired to be met by the press at the plane, and CRUM indicated he did.

LOWENTHAL then volunteered his personal views declaring CRUM could throw them (Committee) in the wastebasket and recalled in a previous instance on the Senate side WENDELL WILLKIE had scared the life out of Committee members without doing a really good job. LOWENTHAL declared this committee has been set up by Congress to conduct thought control and stated there is no sense trying to attack it on that ground or on the ground of civil liberties.

LOWENTHAL stated they are so weak and open to attack on grounds which will appeal to the public that if CRUM chooses grounds with which the public is unsympathetic, he will throw away a wonderful opportunity. LOWENTHAL argued CRUM's big fight is not at the time of the hearings at all but must be before the hearings. He stated CRUM will have to make the issue for the press and should take the offensive before the hearings begin.

LOWENTHAL told CRUM he should get off the plane and WAHL would have a few people to meet him. He suggested that CRUM would have to do something in the beginning and should not go into detail but make it very short advising them (press) that he would have plenty more to say at a conference for the press, probably on Monday. MAX said CRUM should take the gloves off and say these guys should be removed from Congress, and this is one of CRUM's principal purposes in coming to Washington to present the facts on that.

LOWENTHAL continued on Monday at a press interview CRUM should present some of the movies in which the witnesses participate, not the whole list, but three or four. CRUM commented they have the whole list of everything. LOWENTHAL observed they are completely American in the American tradition and what the committee is trying to do is interfere with this industry telling it how it should operate. He said they are trying to set up a Congressional board of censorship which is an interference with private American enterprise.

LOWENTHAL continued, CRUM should consider a further press interview on Thursday. He counseled taking up the question of the Committee and what they have failed to do and mentioned material is being prepared for CRUM now. LOWENTHAL said two members of that committee are on the Veterans Affairs Committee and have bottled up necessary veterans' bills. Further, a couple of men on the committee are on the House Committee on Education and Labor which has to do with housing and they haven't done a damn thing about that. Instead they take a hundred and fifty-day holiday and run off a little fracas of this kind. Further, they have a few other points like that, all indicating these tax-exempt Congressmen should be removed.

LOWENTHAL mentioned he had a lot of stuff for CRUM, and that JOHN (DIERKES) had sent him some stuff. LOWENTHAL said he was meeting JOHN tonight and also meeting another guy in New York tonight who may have to come down here. LOWENTHAL said he would be back Sunday night or Monday.

LOWENTHAL again referred to the legal motions CRUM had mentioned and stated he does not think very well of these motions, that they are small stuff and will get him absolutely nowhere, and if he has not won his battle by that time, he is licked.

At this time LOWENTHAL had ELLA SHALIT read to CRUM a statement (press release) to be given to the press Friday, October 17, a copy of which was furnished to the Bureau on October 17, 1947, and is not being set forth at this time.

Thereafter LOWENTHAL continued with his suggestions. He observed the Committee may be unwilling to allow CRUM to have available the necessary facilities to enable the public to know what's going on including television, radio, movie tone, cameras, etc. He urged CRUM not to ask for a damn thing but have them there and produce them and be able to show all the facilities for getting the facts to the public are proper and if any are excluded the newspaper boys will write the necessary stories. CRUM remarked the camera men are already on their way. LOWENTHAL said when the men go into action the Committee will be scared to death and every flash bulb which goes off will look like a bomb.

LOWENTHAL further suggested at the second or third press conference prior to the hearings CRUM should have present a committee of actors and actresses. CRUM advised LOWENTHAL that DAVID SELZNICK, KATHERINE HEPBURN, and a group of about ten others of similar stature are going east and want to know why they have not been subpoenaed. LOWENTHAL indicated they should be at his press conference after CRUM said they would be working with him. LOWENTHAL said they want some beautiful girls for the press boys to see.

In concluding, LOWENTHAL admonished CRUM he was going to help him all he could but wanted CRUM to bear in mind that in his talks with CRUM only one other person was present and that is DAVE (WAHL) and he does not want anyone else to learn about it.

DAVE WAHL conversed with CRUM briefly concerning clearing a matter in DAVE NIES' shop, presumably Palestine matter at the White House. Then DAVE again referred to the hearings stating CRUM and LOWENTHAL should get together Sunday and from then on alone with very few other people, only people in whom they have confidence. WAHL mentioned how touchy MAX is about other people.

CONFIDENTIAL

CHARLIE KRAMER then spoke with CRUM suggesting having the mobilization people send BOB SHAW along although he is not on the list of those subpoenaed. KRAMER said he is an old experienced newsman who would possess excellent contacts here and be very valuable in correlating a lot of things. KRAMER also suggested CRUM should deputize three or four of them to act as their own publicity agents here. He specifically recommended for this SAM MOORE, president of the Radio Writers Guild.

CRUM concluded by stating he would wire WAHL about the time of arrival and if WAHL could have the press meet him at the plane he would have this statement to release to them. CRUM requested WAHL to get him a suite at the Hay Adams or similar hotel as he did not wish to stay at the Shoreham, which WAHL thought a good idea. CRUM inquired about DIERKES and WAHL said he was coming down from New York tomorrow. CRUM mentioned last night the meeting went off wonderfully. Everyone in Hollywood is united on this deal including very conservative forces. In reply to WAHL's question, he said the producers are split on this thing. WAHL asked if CRUM could not get them excited about the anti-Semitic implications of this thing, and CRUM stated he was bringing that into the picture.

Other conversations of interest in this matter are summarized hereafter arranged according to date of conversation.

[redacted] On October 7, 1947, BEN (MARGOLIS), Los Angeles, contacted POPPER advising he plans to come east sometime this weekend and inquired whether POPPER would be in New York Saturday and Sunday. POPPER stated he would be in New York Saturday but would like to avoid being there Sunday. POPPER mentioned there is a meeting Saturday of the National Executive Committee of the Guild and "Most of us" will probably be tied up with that meeting, so POPPER suggested making it definite "to spend Sunday at this." b7D

[redacted] On October 8, 1947, DAVID REIN contacted BOB SILBERSTEIN, National Lawyers Guild. BOB inquired if REIN had made a start on the meeting. REIN said he did not know what to do unless they have a meeting set up to let people know about it. SILBERSTEIN stated as soon as they can get clearance from CRUM they can proceed. REIN mentioned he had a thought, that when they get all of the collective talent together from Hollywood, they could put on a little skit or something of the sort rather than merely have speeches but he did not know how the Hollywood people would react to this suggestion. BOB commented all of the Hollywood people are writers except one person. REIN insisted after all this is Hollywood, and they should be able to do something more than merely have someone say the Committee stinks. b7D

CONFIDENTIAL

[redacted] On the same date POPPER contacted ABE UNGER, New York City. UNGER said he had been up to see JAVITS (Representative JACOB K. JAVITS) but JAVITS has a meeting that night. UNGER still thinks the idea of a congressman is good. POPPER remarked he had thought of JAVITS on (ADOLPH) SABATH. UNGER wondered whether there was anyone outside New York City, and POPPER said the only one he could think of was (RICHARD J.) WELCH of California. POPPER also thought of GEORGE H. BENDER but said he would have to check on BENDER. UNGER also mentioned ENGEL (phonetic) and added maybe CIO from the record could advise POPPER whom they considered a good man. b7D

UNGER said it was too bad they did not have a woman. POPPER advised him no woman had been subpoenaed but they do have HELEN DOUGLAS, but it was difficult to get her unless they could persuade the people in California to put pressure on her. UNGER suggested KATHERINE HEPBURN's mother, and POPPER stated they had thought of that, not only her mother but KATHERINE HEPBURN herself, and observed she had attended a meeting in California the other day. UNGER mentioned HOPPER SIBLEY who, he said, is from Russia and a very classy person.

POPPER stated in conclusion thus far the plans seem to be on the hearing itself and that BEN MARGOLIS, CRUM, KENNEY, and POPPER will be working on it. He said MARGOLIS is coming east and POPPER thought they could work together on this Sunday.

[redacted] On the same date POPPER contacted BEN MARGOLIS, Los Angeles, advising the Washington meeting is set for October 20, and he is calling BOB (KENNEY ?) to agree to get him to speak, and he wanted to make sure CRUM is coming. He said they would like to have a couple congressmen speak and asked MARGOLIS to put the heat on HELEN DOUGLAS to speak and to get some glamorous women. MARGOLIS stated he would arrive in New York Saturday morning. POPPER requested him to attend the National Executive Committee meeting Saturday (October 11) at 10 a.m. at 36 West 44th Street. POPPER stated he is getting out a release and asked if it was all right to use the names of LARRY PARKS and RING LARDNER, Jr. BEN stated it was o.k. but POPPER would have to check for use of DONALD STEWART's name. b7D

[redacted] On October 12, 1947, SELMA REIN talked with KATHRYN POPPER who advised there was going to be a dinner for defendants who will testify before the un-American Activities Committee, a lot of movie people. KATHRYN said she is trying to get people who might be interested in helping. SELMA suggested BETTY HAYES and her husband BILL HAYES. KATHRYN stated the Civil Rights Congress is running the affair. She recalled GERTRUDE RODMAN and THERESA LISS had done this many times before but SELMA expressed doubt whether RODMAN or LISS would handle this b7D

[redacted] On October 13, 1947, BOB EHRLICH, AVC, contacted DAVE REIN and inquired who is handling arrangements for the big affair Monday. BOB stated REIN's chapter and his chapter and a couple other AVC chapters would be interested in arranging some kind of affair around one of these Hollywood guys in addition to REIN's meeting. REIN stated he had no direct contacts excepting a west coast lawyer but when they all arrive, POPPER, SILBERSTEIN or REIN will talk with them and REIN will advise EHRLICH. EHRLICH stated AVC has organized a student lawyers' guild on George Washington University campus, and that LEON KAHN (phonetic) had done most of the organizing on the campus. EHRLICH indicated he wanted KENNEY, CRUM, or PARKS to appear before the student guild on the campus along with a movie star. REIN asked about possible friction with the University administration, and EHRLICH stated if the student guild of AVC could not hold the meeting it would get another student organization to do so. b7D

[redacted] REIN immediately advised BOB SILBERSTEIN, National Lawyers Guild, some GWU students were anxious to have CRUM or KENNEY with some movie star and preferred PARKS claiming he would draw a full house. b7D

On the same date BOB EHRLICH informed REIN the student council of GWU can use Lisner Auditorium for a debate between CRUM or KENNEY and PARKS against FRANK WALDROP, Times Herald, or Congressman OLKONSKI for Wednesday or Thursday, October 22 or 23, 1947, and EHRLICH said he can get radio time with WINX. REIN immediately relayed this information to BOB SILBERSTEIN.

[redacted] On the following day, October 14, 1947, BOB (SILBERSTEIN or possibly EHRLICH) advised REIN he had gotten the auditorium but had been unable to line up a speaker. BOB inquired whether REIN knew FRANCIS HENSON who had been recommended by (BEN) MANDEL, research director for the un-American Activities Committee. BOB explained he had been directed to MANDEL by Dr. SCHMIDT (phonetic), director of research for Chamber of Commerce. They discussed the opposition witnesses and REIN stated the names of ROBERT TAYLOR, GARY COOPER, ADOLPH MENJOU, and Mrs. ROGERS had appeared in the paper, but he did not think BOB would want them. BOB stated none of the members of the committee would speak. They discussed a number of individuals, the apparent purpose being to select some individuals to oppose their speakers in debate which individuals would have publicity appeal without possessing any debating ability. b7D

[redacted] On October 14, 1947, MARTIN POPPER in New York City conversed with RUTH RIFKIN advising he would arrive in Washington about 11 p.m. that night. He instructed RUTH to have KATHRYN POPPER secure a full time secretary to begin work Monday morning on the Hollywood b7D deal and preferred she hire someone known to KATHRYN or RUTH. He told RUTH to obtain supplies and a mimeograph machine to be delivered to the Shoreham Hotel which will apparently be the location for the group and secretary.

[redacted] On the morning of October 16, 1947, KATHRYN POPPER contacted DICK SASULY to inquire if he knew any excellent stenographer who would accept a temporary position with BOB KENNEY and BARTLEY CRUM at the Shoreham Hotel. KATHRYN stated they need two girls, one to start Saturday, and she will be working with them practically all the time. b7D

[redacted] On the same date KATHRYN POPPER conversed with an unknown woman (believed to be GERTRUDE LEEDS, Leeds Employment Agency, 914 G Place) advising of the need for two crack stenographers for a temporary job to last about three weeks which will include a lot of night work as well as Saturdays and Sundays. The unidentified woman inquired whether KATHRYN wanted just good stenographers or the right kind of people. She inquired about their political thinking and said it would be more difficult if KATHRYN wanted her to be careful about that. KATHRYN supposed that would be the thing to do. b7D

[redacted] On the afternoon of October 15, 1947, BOB KENNEY, Los Angeles, contacted POPPER stating he was sitting with BART (CRUM), BEN (MARGOLIS), and CHARLIE ----. He stated they had decided the motion to quash could be presented Monday, October 20, 1947, and they assumed the stuff will be ready Saturday night or Sunday. KENNEY inquired whether they could get the notice of motion over there before that, and POPPER stated they could not because they would merely deny it in advance and they would not have the chance to even go up there. b7D

At this time KENNEY stated he wanted to read a statement (press release) to POPPER and gave this statement to KATHRYN POPPER described as an open letter to the motion picture industry on the issue of freedom of the screen from political intimidation and censorship. This is the press release previously furnished the Bureau mentioned on page 3 of instant letter. It is noted this statement originated on the west coast.

[redacted] Thereafter POPPER contacted HELEN FULLER, New Republic Magazine, advising her of the open letter from the Hollywood people to be ready for press Friday, October 17, 1947. FULLER requested a copy for a preliminary story. POPPER explained the people would be at the Shoreham Hotel beginning Saturday and invited FULLER to attend. b7D

Thereafter POPPER contacted HANNAH DORNER, New York City, advising her of the release and mentioning that JIM PROCTOR is a press agent and

CONFIDENTIAL

POPPER wanted it released to the New York papers Friday morning. DORNER informed him the release must come from some office so the newspapers could call and ask questions. She suggested it would get a bigger play if released from Washington and asked him to call CARR LEVIN, a Herald Tribune correspondent, in Washington.

POPPER also contacted IDA BOGAN (phonetic) at the office of POPPER's law firm in New York and dictated the statement received from BOB KENNEY. He instructed her to deliver copies to RITA VAN DOREN and FRANK KELLY of the Herald Tribune, LAWRENCE REISNER (phonetic), New York Times, and make arrangements for HANNAH DORNER to obtain four or five copies. He also requested SAM ROSENWEIN, attorney, get one or two copies. b7D

POPPER thereafter conversed with (HERBERT) ELLISTON, editor, Washington Post, stating he is associated with BARTLEY CRUM and BOB KENNEY representing directors and writers from Hollywood and would like to come in and acquaint ELLISTON with the background and their general approach and inform him of an open letter to the motion picture industry being released tomorrow morning. ELLISTON inquired if he would like to see the newsmen too and said he would be in all afternoon. b7D

POPPER next informed WILLARD SHELTON of PM explaining he is one of the attorneys representing the Hollywood group, and that BARTLEY CRUM, BOB KENNEY, BEN MARGOLIS and SAM ROSENWEIN in New York are also attorneys. He explained to SHELTON the open letter was the first release outlining their fundamental viewpoint and declared fundamentally they think the purpose of the investigation is to attack and control the motion picture industry. POPPER stated he wanted to suggest the names of the signers are very important, and PM might let the desk know that it is coming in order to set aside space for it. SHELTON inquired why only 18 of the 19 people summoned had signed the letter, and POPPER stated he did not know but did not think there was anything significant in that. b7D

On the evening of October 15, 1947, MARTIN POPPER contacted BEN MARGOLIS, Los Angeles, advising the public relations people believed their release would get bigger play if released from Washington. MARTIN talked with CRUM who stated KENNEY had arranged to hire CHARLES MICHIE as public relations man mentioning MICHIE used to work with PM and that MICHIE would get in touch with POPPER that night or the following day and POPPER is to put him to work. MARGOLIS inquired if POPPER had made arrangements with JIM PROCTOR, also apparently in public relations capacity. However, POPPER did not reply to this question. b7D

October 18, 1947

[redacted] On October 16, 1947, POPPER again contacted MARGOLIS discussing the proposed GWU debate. He stated presumably the other side will get FRANCIS HENSON, supposed to be known as a public relations man in Hollywood and a leader of ADA who was also associated with ROBERT MONTGOMERY. He also mentioned Congressman McDOWELL of the Committee may be the other speaker. POPPER stated the question had arisen as to whether it might be sound policy to provide a forum where the other side can debate the issues and that MICHIE is of the opinion it is not a good idea from a press relations standpoint. POPPER continued that Congressman McDOWELL is one of the worst reactionaries in Congress and will undoubtedly use the forum for the usual thing and is doubtful why they should provide that forum. b7D

MARGOLIS argued usually these guys make fools of themselves and their people handle themselves better, and he is in favor of debate. He said out there in the past these people have made themselves ridiculous and "our people have come out with increased prestige." He admitted HENSON and McDOWELL may be smarter adding they had never debated against them. POPPER requested MARGOLIS to obtain any background on HENSON and advise him.

Later that night MARGOLIS stated he could obtain no information concerning HENSON and that apparently he was never connected with MONTGOMERY. He said no one in Hollywood knew anything about it. They again discussed Congressman McDOWELL and POPPER stated perhaps they could obtain FRANK WALDROP as an opponent. However, MARGOLIS questioned the advisability of tangling with a newspaperman and suggested they should get a politician and a member of the committee would be most desirable.

[redacted] On the morning of October 16, 1947, DAVE REIN advised BOB SILBERSTEIN that they had the auditorium and the debate had been approved. BOB stated (BOB) KENNEY and DMYTRYK will speak at GWU. SILBERSTEIN indicated he was with POPPER and made arrangements for all three of them to get together at 5 p.m. b7D

[redacted] On the morning of this date DAVE WAHL endeavored to locate CHARLES KRAMER and told MILDRED KRAMER he wanted to see CHARLIE today. At 5:48 p.m., KRAMER informed his wife he was "still down here and is on tap to be around this evening." It is recalled KRAMER was with WAHL when they and MAX LOWENTHAL conversed at great length with BART CRUM. b7D

[redacted] At noon, October 16, 1947, JOHN DIERKES, New York City, advised WAHL about the contact with BART CRUM set forth above in this letter. DIERKES indicated he would probably remain in New York today and tomorrow stating he had to see ED MURROW. He mentioned he had seen b7D

CONFIDENTIAL

RITA VAN DOREN (phonetic) and she is definitely on their side. WAHL stated she had better damn well be.

DAVE WAHL contacted MARTIN POPPER requesting him to make extra room for JOHN DIERKES at the Shoreham Hotel.

[redacted] On the afternoon of October 16, 1947, WAHL again conversed with POPPER stating he understands BIRKHEAD (phonetic) in New York has the most definitive file on some of the people--staff and Congressmen--involved in this situation, adding he wondered if perhaps BEANIE's (BALDWIN) office could assist. He mentioned EDITH PRATT is up there these days, and he wonders whether someone could go over and secure the significant material for their use in Washington. POPPER stated he thought JIM PROCTOR may possibly be working on this. b7D

POPPER inquired about PHIL (DUNAWAY) and WAHL stated he hoped to talk with him this afternoon. POPPER asked if WAHL thought BIRKHEAD had more stuff then PHIL and WAHL stated he did not know but knew someone down here other than PHIL had amassed a great deal of material out of the Committee files and it wound up in BIRKHEAD's office. POPPER stated (garbled) "---- the friends of democracy?" and WAHL replied "Yeah."

[redacted] On this same afternoon WAHL located PHIL DUNAWAY and inquired if PHIL would come to Washington to do some public relations work on the conference. DUNAWAY stated he had a moving problem and WAHL suggested that PHIL meet his friend (MAX LOWENTHAL) at the train in New York and they could talk about the job to be done in Washington. b7D

[redacted] On the following morning PHIL DUNAWAY informed WAHL he had talked with his friend (LOWENTHAL) and PHIL decided not to come for personal and business reasons. He stated he was going to help from here (New York City) though and had some excellent ideas which he is writing up and would send in a letter to LOWENTHAL care of WAHL. PHIL mentioned the Washington and New York papers had some rather startling news (concerning alleged forthcoming indictment in Gregory Case) and that the fellow he was talking with (LOWENTHAL) knows all about what happened in New York and can tell or show WAHL. b7D

[redacted] On the afternoon of October 16, 1947, DAVID WAHL tried to contact CHAT PATTERSON, AVC, but spoke with one NEWMAN asking ie he had any specific gripes against Congressman RANKIN with respect to any specific legislation they wanted to get through. NEWMAN stated RANKIN and VAIL were opposed to AVC on matters and between them AVC has a personal battle with RANKIN who hates them and the feeling is mutual. He mentioned they were for FEPC, poll tax, lynch legislation. b7D

[redacted] On the afternoon of October 17, 1947, WAHL conversed with BART CRUM, Ambassador Hotel, Chicago, who advised the material had not arrived. WAHL stated this was due to bad flying weather and added he had talked with MARTY (POPPER) and they had some rather correlated stuff worked on. CRUM indicated he would be arriving with a small group, just BOB KENNEY, BEN MARGOLIS, and himself. WAHL mentioned he had obtained a room for JOHN (DIERKES). (C) b7D

Rebulet dated October 14, 1947.

This is to advise that confidential informant [redacted] informed that the following conversation occurred between MARTIN POPPER of the National Lawyers Guild and HELEN FULLER (phonetic) of the "New Republic", on October 18, 1947.

b7D

FULLER - I had a peek at JACK WARNER'S testimony and he takes a more enlightened line than the rest of them will take. He comes closer to the WILLKIE position than any of the others. He says substantially that there are probably some Communists in his studios, etc., but "I am the guy who is responsible for the pictures".

POPPER - That's very good. Did you see about the Committee's right to go into it?

FULLER - I didn't see anything about that. It's not a good forthright statement. He skirts the nasty part.

DECLASSIFIED BY 2040
ON 8/18/77

POPPER - What do some of the other guys say?

FULLER - Well, MAYER will take straight appeasement position. No one knows yet what position GOLDWYN will take.

POPPER - Have they given out their statements to the press?

FULLER - No. I was just allowed to see it. Those are the only ones I know about.

POPPER - When you say appeasement, do you mean they recommend the investigation and will help expose the Reds in the industry and will cooperate, etc.?

FULLER - Yes, and then most of the producers' line will be that whatever they did was non-objective; whatever they did they were forced to do by the Government.

In connection with the following of the activities of the various people involved in the recent hearings of the House Committee on un-American Activities, on Communism in the motion picture industry, the following information was obtained concerning Bartley Crum and the political aspirations of Louis B. Mayer from a conversation which occurred between Bartley Crum and Charles J. Katz (Los Angeles Communist attorney) and an unknown Phil---. This information was obtained from the technical surveillance maintained by the San Francisco Office on Bartley Crum.

During the conversation, Katz referred to the Tenney Committee hearings held in Oakland, California, concerning Communist infiltration into various organizations in the California area. During this hearing, newspaper commentator, Sidney Roger was subpoenaed. While he was testifying, Senator Tenney of California saw fit to comment that Bartley C. Crum and Robert W. Kenny, both of whom are associates of Roger, were for all practical purposes Communists. When Katz in the conversation referred to this matter, Crum indicated that he was going to sue Tenney for this statement. Crum indicated in the conversation "That's one thing he can't prove, kid." To which Katz replied, "Maybe the FBI can." Crum answered, "I know, but that ain't evidence." This would appear to be a backhand admission on the part of Crum that he is a Communist.

DECLASSIFIED BY SP2 Clm
ON 8-28-96

Later on during the conversation when Crum is conferring with Phil---, Crum refers to a terrible thing that happened to Louis B. Mayer when Hiram Johnson, California Senator, died. According to Crum, Mayer and other San Francisco and Hollywood individuals called on Governor Warren at his summer home in Long Beach and indicated there was only one living ex-President, namely, Herbert Hoover, and that this group thought that it would be appropriate for Warren to appoint him to the vacancy created by the death of Senator Johnson. Governor Warren said, "What about Mr. Mayer?" Whereupon, according to Crum, they dropped the Hoover idea and Mayer took a year's leave of absence. In two weeks, however, Governor Warren appointed William F. Knowland to the Senate. Crum indicated that Mayer took this most seriously.

The entire transcript of this conversation is attached hereto for your information. The material concerning Crum's Communist Party connections can be found on page 1 and 2, and the data concerning Mayer on page 7.

Reference is made to Washington letter dated November 1, 1947, to the Director, captioned as above, copies of which were forwarded to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and New York.

Immediately subsequent to the hearings by the Thomas Committee in Washington, D. C., the California Legislative Committee on un-American Activities, popularly known as the Tenney Committee, held hearings in Oakland, California, concerning possible Communist infiltration into a number of organizations. During this hearing, SIDNEY ROGER was subpoenaed, and during the period of his testimony, Senator TENNEY saw fit to comment that BARTLEY C. CRUM and ROBERT W. KENNY, both of whom are associates of ROGER, were for all practical purposes Communists.

DEFERRED RECORDING

Confidential Informant [redacted] on November 11, 1947, has advised that SIDNEY ROGER contacted BARTLEY CRUM to congratulate him apparently on his work in Washington in connection with the recent hearings concerning Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry. ROGER then apologized to CRUM for what he, ROGER, said was his maneuvering State Senator TENNEY into calling CRUM a Communist. ROGER then indicated he would provide CRUM with a copy of his testimony when he received it, and according to the informant, CRUM indicated he was very anxious to have a copy of this transcript and stated that he intended to sue TENNEY for libel. CRUM, according to the informant, was considerably worked up over this statement of Senator TENNEY and indicated that he desired to have SIDNEY ROGER appear as a witness for him. A press release by CRUM shortly after his return from Washington indicated that he would sue Senator TENNEY if TENNEY would not claim privilege for remarks he made during the hearing at which time CRUM was called a Communist.

PHIL _____ comes on the line; remarks in fun about having one of those secret meetings.

CRUM: I know, very very secret.

PHIL: We are talking about strategy.

CRUM: You knew, didn't you, that MILLIE _____ and I went to see GOLDWYN, etc?

PHIL: It had to do with _____ (sounds like CAMDEN MAVERICK)...

CRUM: We had a wonderful talk with him, and I haven't had a chance to report to BOB (KENNY) or to CHARLIE _____ on the fact that I also talked with (BARNEY) BALABAN.

PHIL: . . .

CRUM: Well, BALABAN feels that the industry must stand united, of course. And he told me that he would see NICK SCHENK (ph.). SCHENK was very, very good.

PHIL: . . .

CRUM: Well, PHIL, believe, me, SCHENK was wonderful, and BALABAN said this. SCHENK and I are really pals, and we compare notes practically every day, and frankly, PHIL, because of this Jewish thing, I had become rather close to BARNEY BALABAN. I'm sure what we need to do is to follow up, both with NICK SCHENK and BALABAN.

PHIL: . . .

CRUM: And the only question on that is when. I wrote a note to NICK SCHENK. His only complaint to MILLIE and to me was that we hadn't come in to see him two or three weeks before the hearing.

PHIL: ...

CRUM: That's right. Well, they don't. At least, NICK SCHENK didn't, and BALABAN--

PHIL: ...(something about a Republican).

CRUM: Well, see, I don't mind that, PHIL. You can use the synonym "republican." It is all right with me.

CRUM: He does need help.

PHIL: ...

CRUM: The fellow he apparently wants to deal with and through. He had a person with him at the meeting I didn't know about, but you probably know very well about, a person named (BOB REUBEN (ph.).

PHIL: BOB REUBEN...he is very close to KNOWLAND and the _____.

CRUM: Well, REUBEN and SCHENK were really quite surprised at the report MILLIE and I gave them about the treatment accorded LOUIE MAYER.

PHIL: ...

CRUM: Well, see, they got an entirely different report from this fellow, JOE LOEB's (ph.) office. This fellow from his office told him that MAYER had been treated with utmost respect and had been thanked. Thanked by the committee.

PHIL: That's why I'm--

CRUM: When we told them what really had happened, they were quite surprised, or seemed so, and said they had an entirely different report from Mr. BENJAMIN, I think his name is.

CRUM: Then NICK SCHENK said, "Well, BART, look, what we must do is get a committee consisting of producers, say myself, or whoever we designate from MGM. Get BARNEY BALABAN, get someone from RKO. Incidentally, BALABAN told me, he said, hell, we're the only company that's really in the glue now, we're making it roll in. Whether it's true or not, PHIL, I don't know, but that's what he said. What they'd like to do would be to have a small producer committee, topside, PHIL, and a writers' committee, topside, and whoever the boys would want, plus directors and producers--you seem to use that term in several different senses in Hollywood.

PHIL: ...

CRUM: I know that both SCHENK and GOLDWYN and BALABAN are for that idea, PHIL. And then out of that they thought would come a common strategy.

PHIL: ...I can't get any private information...there was to be a meeting toward the endof this week in New York...recommend a _____, Hollywood people combat.

CRUM: I understood that was so. I can check very easily either through BALABAN or through NICK SCHENK.

PHIL: ...SCHENK said these Hollywood people are bad ones to frighten.

CRUM: Well, SCHENK was not at all frightened, he said, and I quote him that their money was wasted on (PAUL) McNUTT.

PHIL: Well, I'm glad they know that.

CRUM: Well, that he knew, at any rate. He said, BART, I'm ashamed of you that you didn't come to see me after all the WILLKIE business. I said, "well, gee, I just regarded you was a little guy in a big office. Honest to God, I didn't know you were the big shot in MGM." Which was true, I didn't.

PHIL: ...

CRUM: Oh, hell, no! Don't you like me a little better than that, Phil?

PHIL: ...

CRUM: Oh, hell, no! But in any event I know that I always could talk to NICK.

I know I can always talk to BARNEY. GOLDWYN I would have to reach through GEORGE SLAFF (ph.), but I think there are plenty of others who could--

PHIL: GOLDWYN is a sort of a maverick.

CRUM: Yes, but GOLDWYN was very interesting, PHIL, he said to me--

PHIL: He's not a member of the club.

CRUM: Well, here's what he said, he said, "BART, I haven't spoken to NICK SCHENK for fifteen years, but I'm going to talk to the s--o--b-- because this crisis threatens the industry."

PHIL: BOB (KENNY) wants to break into something. (Moment's silence). Oh, we've already talked to JENSEN (ph.) (may be JOHNSON), about SALAVERY, ph.). He went both ways at once.

CRUM: Well, tell him he can have it.

PHIL: (They laugh). This is purely my personal idea about Mrs. GRAYSTONE (ph.) and I would waste years with my employer. These people are terrible snobs. ...

CRUM: I think it might be rather nice if HELEN REED (ph.) invited NICK SCHENK to dinner.

PHIL: That's exactly what I'm talking about...

CRUM: HELEN would bring out her butler, and really go to town. You could get DELL to say yes, and PHIL: ...WALTER WINCHELL type, he impresses...

PHIL: That I don't know until we found out about when the...should be.

CRUM: Are these such characters as WANGER (ph.), etc.?

PHIL: No. The characters that will go back are not like WANGER--be more like the rest of us...The guys we understand will go back will be more like MAYER and MANICH (ph.) and maybe JOE's gang, BRADSTEN (ph.)...the executive heads of studios last year...they take HEDDA HOPPER..editorials.

CRUM: The Time Magazine, and I'm sure the check was pretty accurate, said that the press was almost unanimous.

PHIL: ...they don't understand it. They will believe LOUELLA PARSONS and (JIMMY) FIDLER...

CRUM: You know that terrible thing that happened to LOUIE MAYER when HIRAM JOHNSON died. On the square, LOUIE MAYER and LOUIS LURIE from San Francisco and a group of other gents from Hollywood called upon Governor WARREN at his summer home at Long Beach and said there is only one living ex-President, HERBERT HOOVER, and we think it would be appropriate for you to appoint him to the vacancy created by the death of Senator JOHNSON. Governor WARREN said, "What about Mr. MAYER?" Whereupon they dropped the HOOVER thing and MAYER got a year's leave of absence. In two weeks, WARREN had appointed young KNOWLAND to the Senate. And what's that blonde peroxide B-----that works for MAYER?

CRUM: IDA said to me, "If it's the last act in my life, I'll get that s--o--b--WARREN." It's true. MAYER took it most seriously. Today at lunch, with LURIE, he asked me about this meeting, and this must be the reason. He said, "I'm particularly anxious to check for it to see whether MAYER was really treated as badly as you say." And I said I can get you the transcript. He was ordered curtly to stand aside, or words to that effect. LURIE said it is quite important that I really know the facts. His interest is in a very amusing operation down there in your country. He is the half owner of the Tarazan Pictures, with LESSER (ph.), and also is a partner with MAYER in some operations. Then he told me how displeased NICK was with both ERIC and with Governor McNUTT. He said this is assuming serious proportions (referring to WARREN). NICK said, "J--C--, if WILLKIE were only still alive, we'd be all right."

PHIL: One more point--a few editorials should come out now...key jobs and censorship.

I didn't write to Marshall Field and John Knight of Chicago, Daily News and Detroit Free Press, who are on our team. Well, you see, KNIGHT is a very curious guy. CRUM: I get it. That's enough. You are right. I think the thing to do is for us to re-establish our contacts with NICK SCHENK, BALABAN, and these other guys.

KENNY: That's right. We just don't talk about things like that. It's unheard of. I think it would be a good thing if you could show up down here for several reasons, including cash, if you could show up here. Look over your calendar and wire me if you can come down tomorrow and we will roll out the carpet and start conferring with the lawyers here.

CRUM: I think NICK SCHENK and BALABAN very much want us to form a committee from our side of the street to meet with their side of the street to work out the strategy.

KENNY: Look over your calendar and come on down, Bart, but not in a DC-6.

This is to advise that on October 29, 1947, confidential informant [redacted] reported to this office that LEE PRESSMAN, General Counsel for the CIO National Organization, telephonically contacted CHARLIE KATZ in room 100-C of the Shoreham Hotel and requested that he be permitted to see KATZ the same evening inasmuch as he had to leave town the following day. According to the informant, KATZ told him to come on to the hotel around 8:00 o'clock.

A physical surveillance was conducted by an Agent of this office in the lobby of the Shoreham Hotel, and at 8:05 P.M. BARTLEY C. CRUM was observed to leave the hotel dressed in a tuxedo. At 8:20 P.M. LUKE WILSON, who is connected with the Progressive Citizens of America in Washington, D. C., and known to be a fellow traveler and "angel" of the Communist Party, entered the lobby and paced up and down the corridor across the lobby until 8:50 P.M. At this time he was observed to proceed up the elevator on the side of the lobby which leads to room 100-C. It is not known whether he went to 100-C or not.

At 8:35 P.M. LEE PRESSMAN entered the hotel and proceeded immediately to the coffee shop where he joined CHARLES KATZ and BEN MARGOLIS, two of the legal staff which is representing the 19 subpoenaed witnesses from Hollywood. Also at the same table were seated ALVA BESSIE, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and one other of the subpoenaed witnesses whose name is not known at this time, but who is described as short, gray hair, very Jewish appearing and wearing a monocle over his right eye. This group conversed steadily during the time they were at the table, and at 9:00 P.M. JOHN HOWARD LAWSON left the group, proceeded to the news stand, purchased a copy of each newspaper on the stand and left the hotel.

At 9:03 P.M. RING LARDNER and his wife, FRANCES CHANEY LARDNER, were observed to leave the coffee shop, proceed to the news stand and likewise purchase a copy of each newspaper on the stand. They then boarded an elevator and went upstairs.

At 9:15 P.M. Agent observed LEE PRESSMAN, BEN MARGOLIS, CHARLES KATZ and the unknown man with the monocle, leave the coffee shop and proceed to room 504-C of the Shoreham Hotel.

At 10:05 P.M. LEE PRESSMAN left room 504-C, returned to the lobby and left the hotel immediately.

Immediately thereafter CHARLES KATZ left the room, went down to the lobby carrying a book which appeared to be a mimeographed transcript of some sort, which was a bound volume approximately one inch in thickness and the size of legal size paper. As he walked through the lobby he was intently perusing this document and proceeded directly to the terrace, went out on the terrace and sat down in a chair in the dark by himself. At 10:30 P.M. KATZ was observed to come back in the lobby, board an elevator and go upstairs.

At 10:12 P.M. JOHN DIERKES, a small blond woman and HERBERT J. BIBERMAN were observed to enter the lobby and proceed to room 100-C. It was determined later that the blond woman was GERTRUDE CRUM, the wife of BARTLEY C. CRUM, who is representing the 19 witnesses along with the other attorneys.

At 10:45 P.M. the surveillance was discontinued and up to this point LUKE WILSON had not left the hotel.

With respect to the numerous petitions and letters being sent to Congress urging abolishment of the House Un-American Activities Committee, the following log entry of CNDI [redacted] of November 19, 1947, is being quoted for the information of the Bureau, the names in parentheses again having been inserted by the Los Angeles Office: b7D

For the information of the Bureau, CNDI [redacted] has reported several conferences between WALDO SALT and GEORGE PEPPER, during the course of which SALT and PEPPER indicated it was difficult for them to figure out why LARRY PARKS was included among the individuals subpoenaed before the House Committee. The conclusion expressed by PEPPER was that the Committee probably hoped to intimidate PARKS, possibly breaking him down and then proceeding to bigger game. b7D

At a Rally in the Shrine Auditorium on October 15, 1947, at which LARRY PARKS and sixteen others, subpoenaed by the Committee, were honored, GENE KELLY, the master of ceremonies, in introducing PARKS placed considerable emphasis on the fact that out of the thousands of members of the Screen Actors Guild only one actor, and he reiterated this, one actor had been subpoenaed and then asked the audience why just this one actor.

DEFERRED RECORDING

"Can it be they feel he is afraid or can be intimidated because he is on the threshold of his career; if so, I believe they are in for a surprise and you will agree with me after listening to LARRY PARKS."

Also it was noted during the course of this Rally at the time the collection speech was made about the middle of the evening, all of the seventeen subpoenaed persons, who were on the stage, broke up into small groups of two or three except LARRY PARKS, who was left all by himself.

It is considered possible this concern over the coming testimony of LARRY PARKS may be prompted by the fact that during the past several years he has not been an intimate member of the group of Communists in the motion picture industry who more or less formed the core of the Communist Party activity in the industry, and has not been through the trials some of the others have, such as appearing before State committee hearings.

Re: COMPIC
Bureau file 100-138754

Dear Sir;

A report in the above-captioned case has been prepared and is being forwarded to the Bureau.

Attached to this letter are two clippings from the Los Angeles Examiner of November 19, 1947, which deal with a meeting in New York to be held next Monday, November 24, where the heads of the motion picture industry will deal with the subject of Communists employed by them.

CNDI-[redacted] who is Y. FRANK FREEMAN, Vice President of Paramount Studios, stated that meetings were held in New York on November 5 and 6 last which were attended by PAUL McNUTT, ERIC JOHNSTON, BARNEY BALABAN, President of Paramount, Y. FRANK FREEMAN, NICK SCHENK, and BOB RUBIN, representing Loew's, Inc., JOE HAZEN, representing Hal Wallis, AUSTIN KEOUGH, representing Paramount, NED DEPINET, representing RKO, NATE BLUMBERG and CHEVER COWDIN, representing Universal, ALBERT WARNER, representing Warner Brothers, SPYROUS SKOURAS, representing Fox, NATE SPINGOLD and JACK COHN, representing Columbia, and JOYCE O'HARA, one of Johnston's assistants. At these meetings there was a full discussion of the situation facing the motion picture industry. FREEMAN told the group that it was absolutely essential that the industry "restore the confidence of the American public" in Hollywood, and that a two-point resolution should be adopted to the effect that: first, we will not employ Communists, and second, we will not employ those who are members of Communist front organizations. A discussion ensued as to what constitutes a front organization, and the suggestion was made that the "FBI list" dealing with those organizations be utilized. FREEMAN said to the group that speaking for his corporation he is determined to go ahead and fire Communists and fellow travelers and stand the risk of the ensuing law suits. The corporation recognizes that if all studios go ahead on this program they are laying themselves open to law suits on the ground that a conspiracy exists to blacklist certain persons, preventing them from securing employment.

ERIC JOHNSTON took the position that the industry should not employ Communists in spite of law suits, and all the men in attendance finally came to an agreement on this point. JOHNSTON was then instructed to go down to Washington and get together with JAMES BYRNES to work out an edict and the industry would support him in what stand he took. FRANK FREEMAN called JOHNSTON in Washington and told him not to issue any such ultimatum. On Friday, the 14th, when it was to have been made public, FREEMAN told JOHNSTON that anything he said would be "empty words and it won't mean anything. You can't enforce it unless you have the machinery behind you." Then FREEMAN and JOHNSTON discussed whether or not the studio heads and JOHNSTON and his executives should come to Hollywood to issue such a statement or whether it should be made in New York. It was decided that New York was the place; consequently the meeting on Monday, the 24th, is the result of this groundwork.

JOHNSTON appreciated FREEMAN's views because the latter told the former that many persons had been in similar positions before and had "sawed the limb off behind them" and that unless the industry definitely agreed to certain positive steps JOHNSTON would be doing himself and the industry a disservice in any ultimatum.

In the New York meetings a discussion ensued as to whether the heads of the various guilds should join the producers in their statement, and it was decided that the production end of the business should take its own stand and the guilds asked to approve it after it was made public. FREEMAN is of the opinion that some positive declaration will come out of the meeting on Monday. This is necessary because the press throughout the country has taken the stand that the industry should rid itself of Communists and fellow travelers. FREEMAN pointed out that the position of the industry is vulnerable because, in spite of the stand taken that the industry can control Communist propaganda in pictures, nevertheless the press is bringing pressure to bear because the industry continues to employ men at high salaries who have been exposed as Communists who are in the industry for the purpose of inserting propaganda in its product; therefore Communists must be done away with.

The RKO statement which was publicized in the press, wherein the Board of Directors supported DORE SCHARY, was branded a lie by NED DEPINET, the RKO representative at the New York hearings. It was branded as a "complete reversal of our stand" by the men present at the meetings, and DEPINET was emphatic in saying that the statement was untrue. MENDEL SILBERBERG told FREEMAN he was present at this Board of Directors meeting and that no such statement was made. RKO intends to discharge EDWARD DMYTRYK and ADRIAN SCOTT immediately if their contracts can be canceled on the violation clause, which states that any person bringing disrepute upon the studio can be discharged for this reason.

Between the cessation of the New York meetings and the ones to be held next Monday, JAMES BYRNES is attempting to get information which will result in a list or formula which can be presented to the group to be used as a basis for discharging Communists and fellow travelers. This will be comprised of front organizations which are Communist controlled and which could be used as a basis for discharging undesirables.

According to Mr. FREEMAN, Hollywood will have to clean its own house and cannot be guilty of leaving persons named as Communists in the industry. He is convinced that Congress wants some private group to take the initiative in discharging Communists, going through the necessary legal steps to the Supreme Court to establish the legal principles involved. He personally has committed his studio as being willing to go ahead with this program. In his private opinion, Congress is using the motion picture industry to awaken public opinion to the danger of Communism.

The hearings should be continued, Mr. FREEMAN says, with what he termed "a better handling of witnesses"; it should continue to oppose Communism in the motion picture industry as well as in all industries; it should also go to work on the churches and schools. The latter point is where "the indoctrination is going on and represents the greatest danger." He estimates that Paramount Studios have received approximately one hundred letters from motion picture fans protesting the employment of Communists. He does not know the volume of mail the other studios have received on this matter, but pointed out that Paramount has no current releases which have been worked on by persons publicized as Communists. He had heard that in Chapel Hill, North Carolina, a trailer was run advertising the forthcoming attraction, "Song of Love," starring KATHARINE HEPBURN, and she was booed from the audience, persons saying, "She is a Communist; that's one I won't see." Outside of that, FREEMAN has not heard of any organized public reaction. He believes contents of individual pictures should be defended from a charge of containing propaganda, but pointed out that the picture "So Well Remembered" in his mind is "a deliberate attempt to build up the antagonism of the masses against other classes." Each picture should be defended on its merits, but the industry should not permit the public to get the idea that it is dominated by Communists or that all pictures contain propaganda.

Mr. FREEMAN is of the opinion that the stand of the Catholic Church on the picture "Forever Amber", together with the reaction of the press to the industry's continuing to employ Communists, is having the effect of negating all the public relations and good will built up by the industry with the American public; consequently a definite stand must be taken and acted upon. "BARNEY BALABAN, President of Paramount, is unqualifiedly behind me as far as my expressions on Communists in the industry are concerned." NICK SCHENK is "not nearly as strong in his expressions as BARNEY on this matter." SCHENK offered a suggestion to the group in their New York meeting that it should include a clause in each personal service contract to the effect that if any person becomes a member of the Communist Party his contract can be canceled. BALABAN has expressed himself to FREEMAN as perfectly in accord with the Un-American Committee and its efforts, and said that the Committee should not be attacked by Hollywood personalities because of its methods. Paramount intends, if it gets the necessary approval of the State Department, to release in its newsreels "some of the facts on Russia." It is BALABAN's idea to show the American people what Communism has done to the Russians in Russia and how they live there under that system. FREEMAN does not feel that any difficulty will be experienced in getting the necessary approval of the State Department. In discussing Congressional hearings in general, he is of the opinion that "the Hughes hearings have sold the American public on committee inquiries."

ROY BREWER, International Representative of the IATSE, in discussing the forthcoming meeting in New York next Monday, said that "the tremendous reaction of the American public is forcing the producers to take a definite stand." (FREEMAN pointed out that in the meeting Monday, in addition to those mentioned previously who attended other meetings, L. B. MAYER, DORE SCHARY, HENRY GINSBERG, and other executive producers would be in attendance.) In his opinion it was good box office for the industry to fight the Nazis and now it will be good box office to fight the Communists. He is of the opinion that the producers will go to the Government to get a list of front organizations which are deemed Communist controlled, and in his opinion "that means the FBI." He is of the opinion that the Un-American Committee should continue to expose Communists in the industry and that it would be "a very serious mistake to quit now."

Very truly yours,

R. B. HOOD, SAC

Film Studios Begin Communist Purge

By Leslie Gould
(Special to the Los Angeles Examiner)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Under the leadership of two or three of the larger motion picture companies, a movement has been started to purge the industry of Communists, fellow travelers and other supporters of the Red party line.

These companies have called on the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America—the so-called Johnston organization—to set such a policy for the entire industry.

A showdown on these demands is expected within the next 10 days.

Unless the organization, now headed by Eric Johnston, takes a positive stand on the Communists, these two or three companies will act independently.

Directors' Boards to Act

The boards of directors of two of these companies—Paramount Pictures, Inc., and Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation—are meeting this week and will take action against Communists on their payrolls.

The directors will consider firing anyone, regardless of the present status of their contracts, for refusing to answer questions of a congressional committee as to their Communist affiliations.

The demands of the industry call for:

1. A ban on hiring any known Communists.

2. Refusal to purchase the works of any Communist writer.

3. A ban on the employment of and the works of any writer, actor or director who follows the Communist Party line and supports or is a member of any of the known Communist front organizations.

The demands are a direct outgrowth of the recent disclosures by the House Un-American Activities Committee and have split the motion picture industry wide open.

Public Reacts to Hearings

They follow a strong public reaction, as reflected in letters to the companies concerning the behavior of many Hollywood personalities in Washington during the hearings.

Eric Johnston, who first attempted to steer a middle-of-the-road course during the Washington investigation, is now reported to be standing firm for an industry policy to rid the companies of Communists.

Those in the industry supporting the purge are concerned over some of the subversive propaganda slipped into recent films and the smear attacks on Congress and the American private enterprise system.

Lawyers are being consulted on the legal aspects of any purge. Some contend those with contracts cannot be fired and that nothing can be done until these expire.

Seek to Counteract Bad Publicity

The directors of one company, however, are prepared to ignore such legal advice and fire any known Communist or anyone else who defies a congressional inquiry. They believe a suit by anyone fired for these reasons would be good publicity and would counteract some of the bad publicity generated by the Washington inquiry.

As part of the new policy, curbs will be imposed on the outside activities of big-name Hollywood actors, actresses, directors, such as the junket to Washington by several stars during the House investigation.

The Washington inquiry cited 10 Hollywood writers and producers for contempt for failing to answer a congressional question as to whether or not they were even members of the Communist Party.

INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Dear Sir:

Under date of October 10, 1947, a letter was addressed to the Director transmitting an original letter which was addressed by GEORGE PEPPER, Executive Director of the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of the Progressive Citizens of America. The letter had been received by PETER LAWFORD to whom it was originally addressed.

Attached to the original letter was a two-page personal professional text: Call to Conference on Cultural Freedom and Civil Liberties.

It appears that inadvertently the original of this letter and attachment, which should have been attached to the letter to the Director, dated October 10, 1947, failed to be attached to that letter.

The original letter, the attachment, and the envelope in which the letter was addressed to Mr. LAWFORD are being attached hereto.

Very truly yours,

Re: JOINT ANTI-FASCIST REFUGEE COMMITTEE
INTERNAL SECURITY - C
Bureau file 100-7061 DECLASSIFIED BY 8040 ON 8/8/77

Dear Sir:

Confidential Informant [redacted] has advised that on October 11, 1947, JOHN GARFIELD, an actor, endeavored to talk with Dr. EDWARD K. BARSKY, JAFRC National Chairman. The informant, who is familiar with the voice of BOB KAMMERER, an office employee of the JAFRC, advised that KAMMERER identified himself as Dr. EDWARD K. BARSKY to GARFIELD, who thereupon conversed with KAMMERER under the impression he was doing so with Dr. BARSKY. Forwarded herewith to the Bureau is the original and three copies of the log of this conversation. A copy of the log is being furnished to the Los Angeles office. b7D

The log reflects that GARFIELD had read a speech which apparently the JAFRC had prepared for him, as he was being considered as a speaker for a dinner to be held by the JAFRC November 5, 1947.

The log reflects that GARFIELD did not approve of the speech, and that GARFIELD stated that he had been in constant communication with Hollywood "on the investigation". He stated that there was a committee being organized in Hollywood, which had asked him not to talk and not to take part in any discussions. He stated that he felt that his allegiance belonged to "these people". GARFIELD stated that he felt that after talking to California, he agreed "with them" that "he should wait and work with them".

RECORDED 100-138754-346

The log mentiones one NORMAN COHEN (phon.). It is possible that reference is being made to NORMAN CORWIN, the writer.

48 DEC 2 1947

EX-82

Confidential Informant [redacted] advised on October 10, 1947, that HELEN BRYAN, National Executive Secretary of the JAFRC, conferred with JACK McMANUS, an official of the Newspaper Guild, and that during this conversation BRYAN mentioned the speech which had been written for GARFIELD. She said "it is a little vehement to say the least". McMANUS indicated that he would endeavor to contact GARFIELD and find out from him what sort of speech would be satisfactory to him. McMANUS said "I know him enough to talk Dutch Uncle to him anyway". b7D

The same informant advised on October 1, 1947 that PAUL DRAPER, a dancer, advised HELEN BRYAN that JOHN GARFIELD was still with the DONALD OGDEN STEWART's.

The informant indicated on October 9, 1947, that the JAFRC was using DRAPER in an effort to obtain the services of GARFIELD at the November 5th function.

Same informant advised on October 16th, that HELEN BRYAN told JACK McMANUS that GARFIELD was not going to speak at the dinner.

The same informant has also advised that MABEL POLLOCK, a fund raiser of the JAFRC, told VITA BARSKY, the wife of Doctor EDWARD K. BARSKY, on September 24, 1947, that HEIDI DRAPER was bringing Mrs. JOHN GARFIELD to a meeting of the Women's Division. MABEL said that Mrs. GARFIELD wanted to help the Women's Division.

B: Yeah.
G: And I said if the material was good I would do it.

B: Yeah.
G: But if it wasn't good I wouldn't do it.

B: Yeah.
G: And I also promised the P.C.A. Source Control (?) Conference....

B: Yeah.
G: That I was scheduled to talk there and I told them the same thing.

B: Yeah.
G: In the meanwhile, this happened yesterday. There is a committee being organized in Hollywood.....

B: Yeah, I understand. Well, look, first on the... on the... on the speech itself, as I told you in the letter, we'd be willing to write it a hundred times if we have to to get the kine of speech that you'd like to say.
G: Well, listen....

B: That is not a great problem with us because naturally we'd have the understanding with you that you don't have to speak unless you agree to the kind of speech that has been written.
G: I.... In looking this over, it is not the thing I want to say....

B: Yeah.
G: Primarily since because talking to California, I feel that I agree with them, that I should work in conjunction with them....

B: Yeah.
G: You know.

B: Hm hm. Well, look, I wonder if you couldn't just come in and take a bow and say a couple of words anyway, where you don't have to make a speech.
G: Yeah.

B: Where you can say I'm with you and we have the same thing out in Hollywood and I'm gonna.... we're gonna fight it out there and we're glad to see you're fighting it here, without making a speech.
G: Well, let me.... I don't know whether I should do that. I'd rather not make any bows....

B: Hm hm.
G: Very frankly, Doctor BARSKY.

B: Hm hm.
G: I.... That's... that's.... That doesn't ring true. I'd rather make a speech.

B: Yeah. Well, we'd rather have you make a speech too and we'd do anything to get the kind of speech that you want to make.
G: Well, I don't feel that....

B: You know we have a Public Relations Department and some pretty shrewd men who could....
G: Look, let me....

B: Work it out for you.
G: Let me make something clear to you.

B: Sure.
G: I feel at this time that after talking to California, I agree with them that I should wait and work with them.

B: Allright. I mean that's... that's a decision, of course, that you have to make. As far as the speech is concerned, we would really work that out, but if there is this other angle, that's something else that we can't, of course, work out for you.
G: I'll tell you. I'm gonna call them again....

B: Yeah.
G: See. My own public relations guy too, who feels very, very strongly...

B: Hm hm.
G: About me, personally.

B: Hm hm.
G: And I think they have a point. Not that I'm.... I think that the most effective way.... the most useful way that I can work is to work the most effectively.

B: Yeah, sure.
G: Now, I've been talking to him also and I'm expecting to hear from him (Ind.) in another hour or so.

B: Uh huh.
G: Now you people are going to press and are anxiously awaiting my decision...

B: That's right.
G: And I don't want to hold you up.

B: Right. Well, we'd be willing to be held up if there were a chance you see, but we don't like to otherwise because we really have to get our invitations out into the mails and we don't want to have the presses running at all on Sunday because it costs a lot of money and we want to save that money for the refugees. So, I'll tell you, we can leave it this way, then, GARFIELD, if you'll speak to your man and give us another ring and let us know. I mean if you feel that there's any possibility at all, why we'd be willing to wait awhile.
G: Well, unless you want to check with me this evening at five o'clock.

B: At five o'clock.
G: Well, let's see. Wait a minute. I don't want to hold you up. When are you supposed to go to the press, today?

B: Well, we've been.... We were supposed to yesterday, but we've been holding it up, of course.
G: Well, look, you go ahead....

B: Hm hm.
G: And I think that's the best thing.

B: Well, look.... We can do.... We could still get out a notice, you know, to our people in case you'll decide that you can do it one way or another. And....
G: I think you better leave it that way.

B: Okay?
G: Are you gonna call me again....

B: Yeah.
G: I....

B: We'll get it off, but in case there's still a chance, we can get the notice out to our people that you're gonna be there.
G: I'd ....

B: We'd like to have your name.
G: I.... I.... I, however, feel that this is not the thing I want to say and....

B: Yeah.
G: I'm not happy with it. I'm....

B: Well, we want to make you happy and we're willing to write anything but.... see, the thing is that I didn't know what you wanted to say. I didn't have an opportunity to talk it over with you, so....
G: Doctor BARSKY....

B: Yeah.
G: It happens all the time.

B: Sure, I know.
G: And I... I went to him two or three times. I.... PAUL will tell you because we did a tour during the summer.

B: Yeah.
G: And I don't want to do it any more.

B: Sure, I appreciate that.
G: That.... This is not .... By the way, that's the primary thing. The other thing came up yesterday....

B: Yeah.
G: And that's the situation on that.

B: Yeah.
G: And I'm gonna hear more details about it later.

B: Well, if you could get that worked out....
G: I don't see myself doing this.

B: Yeah. Well, if you could get this other thing worked out where they feel that it would be okay for you to say a few words.... to make a short speech, then I don't think that the speech is the important thing because we will promise you now that we'll work it out to your satisfaction and if we can't get it right for you, well, we.... you just can't do it, that's all.
G: Well, let me find out some more. You go ahead with your press....

B: Okay.
G: And call me about six o'clock.

B: Six o'clock.
G: Will you?

B: Sure I will.
G: I'm sorry that I wasn't awake. My wife told me....

B: It's allright. Okay.
G: Thank you.

B: Bye.

Please be advised that on November 13, 1947, confidential informant [redacted] of this office, who is known to the Bureau, advised that BILL HAYS, who is handling the public relations for the 19 unfriendly witnesses who appeared before the THOMAS Committee, was in contact with a Mr. KITNER (phonetic) of the American Broadcasting Company. HAYS was requesting KITNER for time on his Company for Sunday, November 16, 1947, in order to present some Congressmen who were to argue against the contempt citations of 10 of these unfriendly witnesses. When HAYS introduced himself to KITNER on the phone he said he represented the "Committee for a Free Screen". KITNER advised HAYS that he could not grant him this time. (C)

b7D

The same informant advised that HAYS subsequently contacted Mr. WHITEHEAD of the Washington Post advising that he wanted to make a reservation for the back page of Monday morning's Post, and when HAYS first spoke to Mr. WHITEHEAD he said he represented the "Committee for a Free Screen". (C)

This is the first information which this office has received that such a committee exists. Apparently it is a parallel organization to the Committee for the First Amendment. (C)

This information is being submitted to the Bureau simply to advise them of the existence of an organization by the name of "Committee for a Free Screen".

Dear Sir:

Confidential Informant [redacted] advised November 4, 1947 that HELEN BRYAN, JAFRC National Executive Secretary, thanked ALVAH BESSIE, a screen writer, for appearing at the recent JAFRC dinner at the Hotel Astor, New York City, October 30, 1947. In addition to BESSIE, ALBERT MALTZ and JOHN HOWARD LAWSON also appeared at the JAFRC dinner. BESSIE said "we" are to leave by plane for California on November 4, 1947. BRYAN asked BESSIE if he would appear at a JAFRC function at the "Scottish Rights Auditorium" in San Francisco on November 11, 1947 at which O. JOHN ROGGE, JAFRC Attorney, and HOWARD FAST, writer and member of the JAFRC Executive Board would speak. She also asked BESSIE to appear at a mass meeting in Berkeley, California, on November 10, 1947. BESSIE agreed to appear at both affairs unless other matters interfere. BESSIE said "There's a meeting this weekend in Hollywood and I understand that there's going to be a meeting in San Francisco of this whole group... sometime next week I understand". He is possibly referring to those recently cited by the House Committee on Un-American Activities in connection with its investigation into the movie industry. b7D

BRYAN advised that JAFRC affairs would occur in Los Angeles on November 7, 8 and 9; that FAST and ROGGE would be there; that a big meeting would take place "in the Shrine"; that a mass meeting would be held in Long Beach, California; that various parties would be held, one at the home of LEWIS MILESTONE (ph).

The same informant advised that on October 31, 1947 FAST conferred with HELEN GAHAN, but before doing so conversed with GLADYS SIMMONS, JAFRC switchboard operator. The following conversation took place:

F: Wasn't that a wonderful meeting?

S: Oh, Mr. FAST, wasn't it really wonderful. I was so proud of--you know, when I worked in Hollywood with ALVAH BESSIE we used to talk about Spain and there was a producer, HENRY BLANKE (ph), who had said he might produce "In Place of Splendor".

F: Um hum.

S: So I ran up to see him and everything else and he said that WARNERS would buy it because the price isn't much but this isn't the time. So I said, "Well, Mr. BLANKE, it's always the time if you want to make it the time." You know?

According to the DAILY WORKER issue of January 16, 1946 CANADA LEE appeared in a sketch at the Lenin Memorial meeting held at Madison Square Garden on January 15, 1946 under the sponsorship of the Communist Party.

In the DAILY WORKER issue of May 19, 1946 on Page 5, Column 4, under the caption "Big Three Unity for Colonial Freedom -- A Rally to Turn Spotlight on Colonial People Everywhere", it was stated the aforesaid rally would be held at Madison Square Garden on June 6, 1946 under the sponsorship of the COUNCIL ON AFRICAN AFFAIRS. PAUL ROBESON was scheduled as principal speaker at the affair and CANADA LEE was listed under "All Star Entertainment".

In the DAILY WORKER issue of July 9, 1946 on page 9, column 1, it was reported that WILLIAM Z. FOSTER would speak at a testimonial luncheon on the aforesaid date for FREDERICK N. (BLACKIE) MYERS, the luncheon to be held at the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel New Yorker in New York City. According to the DAILY WORKER the testimonial would honor MYERS' many years as a Communist Maritime Trade Union leader. Among the other scheduled speakers was CANADA LEE.

In the DAILY WORKER issue of July 29, 1946 on page 3, column 3, under the heading "Harlem Seethes at Georgia Lynchings -- Huge Rallies Demand U.S. Action", it was reported that the Non-Partisan Committee for the election of CHARLES A. COLLINS to the New York State Senate held a mass outdoor rally at 125th Street and 7th Avenue, New York City. Speakers at the rally, according to the paper, were as follows: BENJAMIN J. DAVIS, CANADA LEE, FRANK G. WHITE, ADAM CLAYTON POWELL, MAMIE BATTICE, ROSE GAULDEN, CHARLES COLLINS, VITO MARCANTONIO and MAX YERGAN.

In the November 19, 1946 issue of the DAILY WORKER on Page 11, Column 1, it was stated that the New York Committee of the SOUTHERN NEGRO YOUTH CONGRESS announced a "Boot Out Bilbo" Ball to be held at the Savoy Ballroom in Harlem, New York City on November 29, 1946 under the sponsorship of CANADA LEE.

In the May 16, 1947 issue of the DAILY WORKER on Page 12, Column 3, under the caption "Call 20 PCA Rallies on May 22nd To Protest Slave Bill" it was reported that the New York State Committee of the PROGRESSIVE CITIZENS OF AMERICA would hold simultaneously, 20 rallies in New York City on May 22, 1947 to fight the TAFT-HARTLEY Labor Bill. CANADA LEE, according to the DAILY WORKER, was scheduled to speak at the affair.

The name of CANADA LEE appeared as a sponsor on a 1945 letterhead of the INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS, INC.

The name of CANADA LEE appeared as a sponsor on a 1946 letterhead of the AMERICAN YOUTH FOR GREEK DEMOCRACY.

The name of CANADA LEE appeared as a member of the Board of Directors in the Fall-Spring, 1943 School Catalogue of the George Washington Carver School located at 57 West 125th Street, New York City.

On October 16, 1942 the "Artists Front To Win the War" held a meeting at Carnegie Hall, New York City, at which CHARLES CHAPLIN was Honorary Chairman and SAM JAFFE was Chairman. On a program issued at the affair the name CANADA LEE appears as sponsor.

On a program distributed at the New Masses Award Dinner held at the Hotel Commodore, New York City on January 22, 1945 the name CANADA LEE appeared as a sponsor.

Re: LEONARD BERNSTEIN

The New York Times for March 3, 1945 contains an ad by the VETERANS OF THE ABRAHAM LINCOLN BRIGADE entitled, "For Heaven's Sake - Break with Franco Spain". BERNSTEIN is listed as one of the sponsors.

The Shield, Volume 1, No. 1, July, 1947, contains an article entitled, "Reds Employ Lofty Terms for Fronts". This article stated that on December 12, 1945, the AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY held a dinner at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York City and that BERNSTEIN was a co-chairman for this dinner.

The San Francisco Chronicle, February 10, 1946, carried the headline, "Spanish Refugee Appeal Banquet To Honor MONTEAUX". This article stated, "Pierre Monteux, San Francisco symphony conductor, and LEONARD BERNSTEIN, assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic, will be guests of honor at a banquet sponsored by the Spanish Refugee Appeal".

A letterhead dated August 24, 1945 reveals BERNSTEIN's name appears as a national sponsor of the SPANISH REFUGEE APPEAL, 192 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

A letterhead dated June 16, 1947 indicates that BERNSTEIN was listed as a sponsor of VOICE OF FREEDOM COMMITTEE, 122 West 71 Street, New York City.

A pamphlet dated January 5, 1945 lists BERNSTEIN as one of the sponsors of the COMMITTEE FOR EQUAL JUSTICE FOR MRS. RECY TAYLOR.

A letterhead dated March 13, 1947 lists BERNSTEIN as being on the National Committee of the AMERICAN BIROBIDJAN COMMITTEE, an alleged Communist Front organization.

The New York Times, March 14, 1946, contains a full page ad by the CITIZENS UNITED TO ABOLISH THE WOOD-RANKIN COMMITTEE. BERNSTEIN appears here as a sponsor.

The Daily Worker, November 26, 1944, page 15, column 1, lists LEONARD BERNSTEIN as a sponsor of the AMERICAN YOUTH ORCHESTRA.

The Daily Worker for September 25, 1945, page 12, column 1, lists LEONARD BERNSTEIN as one of the sponsors of the ARTISTS, WRITERS AND PROFESSIONAL DIVISION OF THE DAVIS NONPARTISAN COMMITTEE FOR THE REELECTION OF BENJAMIN J. DAVIS, JR., New York City Communist City Councilman.

The Daily Worker for September 30, 1945, page 14, column 2, verifies the above information and also contains a photograph of LEONARD BERNSTEIN.

The Daily Worker for November 11, 1945, page 14, column 2, lists LEONARD BERNSTEIN as a member of the Music Division of the FIRST CONFERENCE ON AMERICAN-SOVIET CULTURAL COOPERATION, and states that a conference is to be held on November 18, 1945 at the Engineering Society's Building in New York City, under the sponsorship of the COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS of the NATIONAL COUNCIL OF AMERICAN SOVIET FRIENDSHIP.

The Daily Worker for November 19, 1945, page 2, column 5, indicates that LEONARD BERNSTEIN addressed the Music Panel of the above conference.

The Daily Worker for March 17, 1946, page 5, column 3, lists LEONARD BERNSTEIN as a member of the National Board of the NATIONAL CITIZENS RELIEF COMMITTEE TO AID STRIKERS' FAMILIES, 570 Seventh Avenue, New York City.

The Daily Worker for May 16, 1946, page 4, column 3, lists LEONARD BERNSTEIN as conductor and composer and one of the endorsers of the THREE DAY TAG DAY DRIVE of the AMERICAN COMMITTEE FOR YUGOSLAV RELIEF, 235 East 11th Street, New York City.

The Daily Worker for December 5, 1946, page 8, column 3, contains an announcement that the AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY, 3rd ANNIVERSARY, SALUTE TO YOUNG AMERICA RALLY was to be held at Manhattan Center, December 20, 1946, and that LEONARD BERNSTEIN and FERDINAND SMITH were co-chairmen of the sponsoring committee.

The Daily Worker of October 17, 1946 describes the formation of a CITIZENS COMMITTEE FOR DECENT DEPARTMENT STORE WAGES. Included among the sponsors were WILLIAM GAILMORE, CANADA LEE, JOHANNES STEELE, HOWARD FAST, LOUIS ADAMIC, and LEONARD BERNSTEIN.

At the SALUTE TO YOUNG AMERICA dinner in honor of the youth of America, given by the AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY on its first anniversary in the ballroom of the Hotel Commodore, New York City, October 16, 1944, LEONARD BERNSTEIN, assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, was presented with an AYD scroll of achievement.

The letterhead of the AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR CULTURAL RELATIONS WITH ITALY, INC. listed among the friends of Italian Democracy, LEONARD BERNSTEIN. The World Telegram for April 15, 1947 carried an article which stated in part that the publicity agent for the above society had resigned charging that the object of the society was to "swing the Italian-American group to the Left" and that "its cultural aspects were merely a front".

The Independent, dated February 13, 1946, published twice monthly, by the INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES, AND PROFESSIONS, listed LEONARD BERNSTEIN as a member of the Board of Directors of the Committee.

RE: LOUIS CALHERN

The "Daily Worker" of December 22, 1944, on Page 11, contained an article announcing a children's party to be presented at the New York City Center on December 23, 1944, under the auspices of the Theatre Committee of Russian War Relief. The Chairman of the Committee was listed as LOUIS CALHERN. The price of admission to the affair was a gift of some useful article for a Soviet child.

The "Fraternal Outlook" of April, 1945, Volume 7, No. 4, Page 10, contained several photographs under the general caption "Order Doings". The "Fraternal Outlook", according to this issue, is published monthly with the exception of June-July and August-September when it is published on a bi-monthly basis, by the International Workers Order, Incorporated, 85th Avenue, New York City. This particular issue listed MAX BEDACHT, General Secretary of the I.W.O., as the Editor. It also listed as General President of the I.W.O., ROCKWELL KENT.

Page Ten relates that the Broadway stage celebrity LOUIS CALHERN, who is shown in a photograph on the same page, star of the Broadway play "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" was Chairman of a luncheon in honor of "Young Heroes of This War". Other Broadway stars who introduced the "Young Heroes of This War" to the committee were listed as CELESTE HOLM, BETTY GARRETT, HILDA SIMMS, DAVID BROOKS and ALFRED DRAKE.

On the same page of this issue of "Fraternal Outlook" appears a photograph of the "Young Heroes" and others who were honored at the luncheon at the Hotel Commodore, which was given under the auspices of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee and supported by the I.W.O. The main speaker was FRANK GERVAST, Editor of Colliers Magazine. DOROTHY PARKER, noted author, made a posthumous award to the distinguished hero, CAPTAIN HERMAN BOTTCHER, who was killed on Leyte. Other heroes introduced at the luncheon were former Private First Class WALTER MULLIGAN, NMU (CIO) Seaman HAROLD HARPER, Sergeant AARON DECHORETZ and Staff Sergeant BOB THOMPSON.

Concerning CAPTAIN BOTTCHER, the "Daily Worker" of December 18, 1942, on pages 1 and 4, contained an article praising the bravery of United States Army Captain HERMAN H.L. BOTTCHER in the New Guinea fighting. The article mentioned that he fought with the Spanish Loyalists whom he joined in 1937. It also mentioned that he came to the United States in 1930 from Germany by way of Australia and was naturalized but had his citizenship taken away when he went to Spain to fight.

It should be noted that BOB THOMPSON is Chairman of the New York State Communist Party and a member of the National Board and of the National Committee of the Communist Party.

The "Daily Worker" of March 17, 1946, Page five, Column three, contains an advertisement of the National Citizens Emergency Relief Committee to Aid Strikers' Families, 570 Seventh Avenue, Room 1003. It contained a plea for contributions to feed families of A.F. of L., C.I.O. and independent striking unions. The article mentioned that the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America had been on strike for eight weeks already against Westinghouse and General Electric. The other unions mentioned were the Food and Tobacco Workers, the Farm Equipment Workers, the Steel Workers, the Auto Workers, and the Textile Workers, no A.F. of L. unions being mentioned at all.

The above mentioned advertisement listed the National officers of the Committee as follows:

|---|---|
| Chairman | DR. FRANK KINGDON |
| Treasurer | MICHAEL M. MISSELSON |
| Executive Director | IRA L. CAHN |

Among the National Board, consisting of fifty-six members, the following names appeared:

|---|---|
| LOUIS CALHERN | JAMES G. PATTON |
| NORMAN CORWIN | SENATOR CLAUDE PEPPER |
| JOSEPH E. DAVIES | MR. and MRS. GIFFORD PINCHOT |
| MELVIN DOUGLAS | MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT |
| HOWARD FAST | JAMES ROOSEVELT |
| ELEANOR GIMBEL | AUBREY WILLIAMS |
| | MRS. STEPHEN S. WISE. |

Re: AGNES DE MILLE

A program issued on October 16, 1942 at Carnegie Hall, New York City, by the "ARTISTS FRONT TO WIN THE WAR" contained in the list of sponsors under the "Theater" Subdivision the name AGNES DE MILLE.

On March 3, 1945, the VETERANS OF THE ABRAHAM LINCOLN BRIGADE had an advertisement published in the New York Times newspaper entitled, "For America's Sake; Break With Franco Spain." In the list of sponsors and supporters of the statement connected with the above New York Times advertisement there appeared the name AGNES DE MILLE.

An invitation to a dinner which was scheduled for March 22, 1945 and which was sponsored by the SPANISH REFUGEE APPEAL of the JOINT ANTI-FASCIST REFUGEE COMMITTEE listed the name AGNES DE MILLE as one of the sponsors.

According to a program issued at a dinner given by MARGARET WEBSTER and OLIN DOWNES in honor of the "Spanish Republicans in Exile and Their Staunch American Friends" at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York City on March 18, 1946 at 6:30 p.m., AGNES DE MILLE was a member of the dinner committee. This program reflected that the affair was being held under the auspices of the JOINT ANTI-FASCIST REFUGEE COMMITTEE.

The letterhead of the "INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES, AND PROFESSIONS, INC.," Hotel Astor, New York 19, New York lists the name AGNES DE MILLE under the caption "Initiating Sponsors."

A throw-away pamphlet entitled, "Equal Justice Under Law" distributed by the COMMITTEE FOR EQUAL JUSTICE FOR MRS. RECY TAYLOR contained on the list of "Committee of Sponsors" under the New York State subdivision the name Miss AGNES DE MILLE.

RE: GEORGE S. KAUFMAN

In the Daily Worker for June 30, 1943 (page 5, column 5) appeared an advertisement announcing a reception for the official delegation from the U.S.S.R. to be held at the Polo Grounds, New York City, July 8, 1943, at 7 P.M. for the purpose of welcoming SOLOMON MICHOELS, described as "People's Artist of the U.S.S.R." and ITZIK FEFFER, described as "outstanding Jewish poet of the U.S.S.R." The reception was sponsored by the Committee of Jewish Writers and Artists, 55 West 42 Street, New York City, and GEORGE S. KAUFMAN's name was listed as one of 40 honorary co-chairmen of the National Reception Committee to the Soviet delegation. Among the other honorary co-chairmen were noted the names of PAUL ROBESON, BEN GOLD (member of the National Committee of the Communist Party, USA) and RUBIN SALTZMAN (one of the five general vice presidents of the International Workers Order).

On Page 40 of the New York Times for December 22, 1943 appeared an advertisement of the Reichstag Fire Trial Anniversary Committee, Room 743, 55 West 42 Street, New York City, of which PAUL ROBESON was indicated as chairman, and FREDERICK N. MYERS as co-chairman. The advertisement, which was entitled, "The Fire that has been Burning for Ten Years", was a declaration eulogizing GEORGE DIMITROV, one of the chief defendants at the Reichstag Fire Trial, and presently (1947) Communist leader in Bulgaria.

Part of this declaration read: "Where once DIMITROV stood alone, we now march with the strength and unity of nations. On this, the 10th Anniversary of the Reichstag Fire Trials, we honor the name and courage of GEORGE DIMITROV."

Under a heading, "Signors of this Declaration" appeared 217 names of individuals of which GEORGE S. KAUFMAN was one. Among the other names were EARL BROWDER, WILLIAM GROPER (Cartoonist for Daily Worker), LOUIS WEINSTOCK (member of the National Committee, CP, USA) and PETER V. CACCHIONE (Communist City Councilman from Brooklyn).

In the August 14, 1944 issue of the Daily Worker (page 2, column 5) appeared an article announcing the establishment of a new group, The American Committee for Spanish Freedom, which urged the United States to break diplomatic relations with Franco Spain, and also encouraged support of Congressman COFFEE's resolution on that subject. Among the sponsors listed for this organization, was GEORGE S. KAUFMAN, and others included NORMAN CORWIN, ALLAN CHASE, and LOUIS ADAMIC.

In the Sunday Worker of November 11, 1945 (Section I, page 7, column 5) appeared an advertisement of the American Committee for Spanish Freedom, 55 West 42 Street, New York City. This contained a statement by Congressman COFFEE urging support of his House resolution calling for the break of diplomatic and commercial relations with FRANCO.

The name of GEORGE S. KAUFMAN appeared as one of the 35 individuals described in the advertisement as sponsors of the American Committee for Spanish Freedom. Among the other names appearing as sponsors were those of MICHAEL J. QUILL and JOHANNES STEEL (former radio commentator who ran for Congress on the American Labor Party ticket in New York City in 1946 and received the open support of the Communist Party).

Re: PHIL LOEB

In the January 11, 1945 edition of the New York Times an announcement was made that PHILIP LOEB was elected a member of the Board of Directors of Stage for Action. Stage for Action is a reported front organization whose members consist of actors and writers who produce shows and skits for union meetings and progressive clubs. The skits pertain to matters in which the Communist Party is much interested such as racial discrimination, veterans' rights, etc.

On July 1, 1940 Congressman LAMBERTSON made a statement found in volume 86, part 16, page 4298 of the Congressional Record to the effect that PHILIP LOEB is one of seven Communists who were then on the governing council of the Actors Equity.

The Daily Worker on December 9, 1943, page 5, contained an article to the effect that PHILIP LOEB had assisted in the producing of the CIO musical review "Marching With Johnnie" and intended to appear in several of the comedy songs and sketches.

A pamphlet distributed by the Committee for Equal Justice for Mrs. Recy Taylor contained a list of sponsors one of whom was PHILIP LOEB of New York. It was noted that there were numerous well-known Communist Party members on this committee and this committee is believed to be a Communist Front organization.

Re: OSCAR SERLIN

The November, 1935 issue of the magazine "New Theater" published by the New Theater League and League of Workers Theaters of U.S.A. Section of the International Union of the Revolutionary Theater reflects that OSCAR SERLIN planned to present a Soviet produced puppet film in the United States.

The July 26, 1942 issue of the Daily Worker, page seven, reflects a list of artists, writers, actors, and musicians who believed in a second front and included the name of OSCAR SERLIN.

A program of the Artists Front to Win the War, October 16, 1942 reflects that OSCAR SERLIN of the theater was a sponsor of this organization.

A letterhead of the Stage for Action, Inc., dated September 19, 1944 lists OSCAR SERLIN as being on the advisory committee of this organization and an undated pamphlet of the Stage for Action entitled "Here's Your Answer" lists OSCAR SERLIN as a sponsor.

The New York Times of January 11, 1945, page two, reflects that OSCAR SERLIN was known as a newly elected member of the Board of Directors of Stage for Action.

It is to be noted that the above referred to organizations are known Communist Front organizations.

Re: HAROLD ROME, also known as Harold J. Rome

The Daily Worker, April 5, 1941, Page 7, Column 2, carried an article captioned, "In Defense of Culture" and subcaptioned, "Call To Fourth Congress of League of American Writers". This article stated in substance that HAROLD J. ROME was included among the initial signers of the Call to the Congress, sponsored by the above mentioned organization on June 6-8, 1941, in New York City.

The Daily Worker, November 12, 1944, page 8, column 4, Section 2, indicated in an article appearing in said issue that HAROLD J. ROME was a sponsor of a U. S. - SOVIET FRIENDSHIP celebration in New York City, scheduled for November 16, 1944.

Re: MOSS HART

In the DAILY WORKER for 12/8/43, page 5, column 6, there appeared an article which advised that HART was scheduled to attend a luncheon on 12/14/43 at the Hotel Commodore, New York City, in honor of LILLIAN HELLMAN. This luncheon was being given under the auspices of the Women's Division of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, a reported Communist front organization then located at 425 Fourth Ave., New York City.

In the DAILY WORKER for 11/12/44, Section 2, page 6, column 2, there appeared an article which stated that HART was one of the sponsors at a meeting being held 11/16/44 at Madison Square Garden, New York City, under the auspices of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, 114 E. 32 St., New York City. This meeting was being held to mark the anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The DAILY WORKER for 12/24/44, Section 1, page 14, column 1, carried an article which advised that HART was an initiating sponsor of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, which organization is now known as the Progressive Citizens of America.

According to the DAILY WORKER for 11/11/45, page 7, column 5, HART was a sponsor of the American Committee for Spanish Freedom, 55 W. 42 St., New York City. This organization advocated a complete diplomatic and commercial break with Spain.

A letterhead dated 7/5/46 listed the name of MOSS HART as a sponsor of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. This organization was ostensibly formed to further better relations between the United States and the Soviet Union. However, recently the propaganda put out by this organization has shown that it is violently opposed to the present foreign policy of the United States.

The program for "Salute to Young America Dinner," held 10/16/44 at the Hotel Commodore, New York City, by the American Youth for Democracy, listed the name of MOSS HART as a member of the committee for this dinner. The A.Y.D. is the successor organization to the Young Communist League and is a known Communist front organization.

MEMO:

Hotel Biltmore, New York City, under the auspices of the American Committee to Save Refugees and the United American Spanish Aid Committee, contained the name of MOSS HART as one of the guests in attendance at this dinner.

A bulletin issued by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship in January 1944 listed the name of MOSS HART as a sponsor of this organization.

A letterhead for the American Committee for Anti-Nazi Literature, 20 Vesey St., New York City, listed the above individual's name as a sponsor of this organization for the year 1938.

A letterhead for the publication "Equality," 220 Fifth Ave., New York City, reflected that MOSS HART was on the editorial council of this magazine. According to this letterhead, "Equality" was described as a monthly publication to defend democratic rights and to combat anti-Semitism and racism.

A letterhead dated 2/18/43 from the "We Will Never Die" Committee listed the name of MOSS HART among those working on its rally for 3/9/43. On this letterhead this organization was described as a mass memorial dedicated to the two million Jewish dead of Europe.

A pamphlet published by the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions reflected that HART was a member of the Board of Directors of this organization for the year 1945.

The name of MOSS HART was listed as a sponsor of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship on a letterhead of this organization dated 10/13/43.

RE: CHERYL CRAWFORD

The DAILY WORKER issue of November 11, 1945, Page 14, Column 2, contains an announcement of the First Conference on American-Soviet Cultural Cooperation to be held at the Engineers Society Building, 29 West 39th Street, New York City, on November 18, 1945. CHERYL CRAWFORD is listed as one of the speakers on the theater. This conference was sponsored by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, 114 East 32nd Street, New York City.

The DAILY WORKER of November 19, 1945, Page 2, Column 14, reported that CHERYL CRAWFORD had described the operations of the Soviet theater at the above conference.

A pamphlet distributed by the Committee of Equal Justice for Mrs. Recy Taylor, entitled "Equal Justice Under Law" listed CHERYL CRAWFORD as one of the sponsors. This committee was also known as the Provisional Committee to Procure Justice for Mrs. Recy Taylor, and was formed to bring several young white men to justice for the alleged rape of Mrs. Recy Taylor in Abbeville, Alabama on March 3, 1944.

The DAILY WORKER of May 7, 1945, Page 8, Column 5, states that a telegram was sent to Representative Brent Spence, Chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, asking approval of the Bretton Woods Plan. This telegram was sent by the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. Among the signers, the article listed CHERYL CRAWFORD. Other signers were Jo Davidson, Frederick March and Howard Fast.

The school catalog for 1941-42 of the New Theater School, 135 West 44th Street, New York City, listed CHERYL CRAWFORD as a member of the Advisory Board.

An invitation to a dinner given at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City, on April 2, 1944 by the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties listed as one of the sponsors CHERYL CRAWFORD.

A dinner known as the "Salute to Young America Dinner" in honor of the youth of America, was given by the American Youth for Democracy on its first anniversary in the ballroom of the Hotel Commodore, New York City, on October 16, 1944. American Youth for Democracy scrolls of achievement were awarded and CHERYL CRAWFORD presented one to Norman Corwin, Radio Director. It was also noted that CHERYL CRAWFORD sat at the speakers' table.

Re: UTA HAGEN

The Daily Worker of April 22, 1947, Page #4, Column #4, contains an article headlined "Noted Artists, Professionals Back May Day; Parley Spurs Parade Preparations." This article reported that some of the outstanding names in the cultural and other professional fields had lent their names to the coming May Day Parade and urged a unity of professionals and trade unionists in the battle for peace and security. The article further noted that famous names connected with the stage, as well as writers, artists and radio top notchers were on the list urging a May Day turnout as an answer to the war makers by the American people. Among those listed was UTA HAGEN, actress.

In the Daily Worker of June 22, 1946, on Page #5, Column #2, there appears an article headed "Civic Leaders Sponsor Win - Peace Conference." The article reports that a Win the Peace Conference was to be held at Manhattan Center on June 29, 1946, and a number of sponsors were listed from various fields. Among those listed as artists, actors and writers sponsoring the conference, there appeared the name UTA HAGEN.

The Daily Worker of October 15, 1946, Page #12, Column #5, has an article entitled " 'Cyrano' Backs Collins". This article reports that JOSE FERRER, the star of Cyrano de Bergerac, had endorsed CHARLES A. COLLINS, Negro A. F. of L. leader in his campaign for election to the New York State Senate. Among the celebrities listed as supporters of COLLINS was UTA HAGEN, described as star of Othello. It may be observed that JOSE FERRER is the husband of UTA HAGEN.

It may also be observed that COLLINS was Executive Secretary of the Negro Labor Victory Committee, a well known Communist front, which is now defunct.

A program put out by the "Artists' Front to Win the War" was distributed at Carnegie Hall on October 16, 1942, on the occasion of its meeting in support of the war and its call for a second front. The honorary chairman of this organization was listed as CHARLES CHAPLIN. Listed as a sponsor of this organization from the theatre section was UTA HAGEN.

A throwaway, distributed by American Relief for Greek Democracy, 152 West 42nd Street, New York City, in 1946, stated that the relief to be administered by this organization was to be made available to the democratic people of Greece, to the twenty thousand resistance leaders in jail, as well as their families, and to the two hundred thousand resistance fighters hiding in the hills. UTA HAGEN was listed in this folder as one of the sponsors of American Relief for Greek Democracy.

Re: PAUL DRAPER

On October 21, 1942, the "Allied Voters Against Coudert" sponsored a rally at Carnegie Hall, New York City. Representative VITO MARCANTONIO was Chairman of the program. The list of sponsors included the name PAUL DRAPER. During the discussion, COUDERT was denounced for the action which he had taken against the Communist Party.

Daily Worker, 11/27/43, p. 5, c. 3 -

This edition carries the picture of PAUL DRAPER under the caption "U.S. Cultural Leaders Send Gifts to Soviet Artists." The article described a reception held at the Soviet Consulate at New York City, at which CORLISS LAMONT was Master of Ceremonies. The article states in part, "The ceremony launched a nation-wide campaign of America's entertainment and cultural industry for the exchange of information and material in the fields of arts and letters..... An album of autographed photos of American dancers was presented by PAUL DRAPER to be sent to the Bolshoi Theater in Moscow."

An advertising pamphlet issued by the Committee of Women of the National Council of American Soviet Friendship, 232 Madison Avenue, New York City, announced a program to be held on March 6, 1944, at Carnegie Hall, entitled "Women for Victory, a meeting in tribute to the women of the USA and USSR." This program listed various guests, which included PAUL DRAPER, Madame ANDREI GROMYKO, ROSE SCHNEIDERMAN, DOROTHY THOMPSON, ESTHER SONDERGAARD, JOAN ALEXANDER, and others.

Daily Worker, 4/22/46, p. 4, c. 4 -

This issue under the caption "Noted Artists, Professional, Back May Day; Parley Spurs Parade Preparations" stated in part, "Some of the outstanding names in the cultural and other professional fields today lent their support to the forthcoming May Day Parade and urged a unity of professionals and trade unionists in the battle for peace and security." Included in the list of names who "urged a gigantic turn-out on May Day" is the name "PAUL DRAPER, dancer."

Peoples Voice, 11/2/46, p. 22, c. 3 -

This issue carries a picture of PAUL DRAPER, CHARLES A. COLLINS, Rev. BEN RICHARDSON, and Rabbi ZAHAVY. The article states, "PAUL DRAPER is being presented with a scroll in appreciation of his work as a great citizen by the Reverend BEN RICHARDSON, P.V. staff member and Editor of "The Protestant.' At this and other gatherings DRAPER expressed the hope that COLLINS and POWELL be elected. From left to right are CHARLES A. COLLINS, candidate for State Senator; PAUL DRAPER; the Reverend BEN RICHARDSON; and Rabbi ZAHAVY."

Daily Worker, 11/22/46, p. 2, c. 5 -

Under the caption "UN Delegates to be at 'Spanish Salute'" this article relates that DOROTHY PARKER, Chairman of the Spanish Refugee Appeal, announced a Christmas Salute to Spanish Republicans, to be held at Madison Square Garden December 16th. PAUL ROBESON and PAUL DRAPER were among the celebrities to appear.

A letterhead of the Voice of Freedom Committee dated June 16, 1947, lists the name PAUL DRAPER in the list of sponsors. A partial list of sponsors included CHARLES A. COLLINS, LANGSTON HUGHES, PAUL ROBESON, Rev. BEN RICHARDSON and DOROTHY PARKER. The Voice of Freedom Committee has sponsored a dinner in honor of JOHANNES STEEL, former radio commentator who received Communist Party support when he ran for Congress, and a program entitled "Behind the Electronic Curtain" which featured as guest speakers JOHANNES STEEL, WILLIAM S. GAILMOR, and J. RAYMOND WALSH.

Re: MINERVA PIOUS

The "Peoples World" dated October 23, 1943, in an article entitled, "To Fete Ten Years Of Friendship," announced that the LOS ANGELES COUNCIL OF AMERICAN SOVIET FRIENDSHIP (Local branch and affiliate of the NATIONAL COUNCIL OF AMERICAN SOVIET FRIENDSHIP, INC.) would join in the nation-wide Congress of American Soviet Friendship held in the leading cities throughout the United States by sponsoring a giant mass meeting in the Shrine Auditorium, Los Angeles, on November 16, 1943.

On the latter date approximately 5,500 persons attended the mass meeting. The program included a Cantata entitled, "Song of a Free People", which according to the program was written especially for this occasion by BERNARD SCHOENFELD and EARL ROBINSON. Participants in this Cantata included MINERVA PIOUS.

The publication "Spotlight" in its April, 1944, issue(page 19) contained an article entitled, "AYD's National Sponsors." The opening part stated "More than 20 nationally prominent people representing every aspect of American life from the Church to the colleges to Hollywood to the sports arena have endorsed American Youth For Democracy and consented to act as national sponsors of the organization." The list of sponsors included the name of MINERVA PIOUS, radio actress.

A SALUTE TO YOUNG AMERICA DINNER was held in honor of "the youth of America" by the AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY on its first anniversary at the Hotel Commodore, New York City, on October 16, 1944. This was one of a series of nation-wide dinners under the auspices of the SALUTE TO YOUNG AMERICA COMMITTEE.

Among the participants were LILLIAN ROSS, Executive Secretary of the New York State AYD, the actress ELIZABETH BERGNER, Captain OREST SHEVTSON of the Red Army, and representative of the INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICE in the United States, who greeted the AYD on behalf of the ANTI-FASCIST COMMITTEE OF THE SOVIET UNION, and WILLIAM S. GAILMOR, radio commentator. AYD scrolls of achievement were presented among others to HOWARD FAST, author, and LEONARD BERNSTEIN, Assistant Conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

According to the program, the SALUTE TO YOUNG AMERICA COMMITTEE included MINERVA PIOUS.

The "Daily Worker" in its September 30, 1945, issue(page 14, column 2) contained an article entitled, "Ben Davis Backed by 1,000 Leaders in the Arts" written by SAMUEL SILLEN.

~~ENCLOSURE~~

This article deals with the campaign to reelect BENJAMIN J. DAVIS to the New York City Council, which campaign "is winning strong support from outstanding figures in the various cultural fields", according to the article.

It was stated that headed by PAUL ROBESON more than 1,000 citizens, "leaders in the theater, radio, motion picture, literature, fine arts, music, dance, education and allied fields", announce the formation of ARTISTS, WRITERS AND PROFESSIONAL DIVISION of the DAVIS NON PARTISAN COMMITTEE. The article stated that "They believe with PAUL ROBESON, that 'if Ben is reelected that means we're in there'".

Sponsors of the ARTISTS, WRITERS AND PROFESSIONAL DIVISION included the name of MINERVA PIOUS.

Mention, similar to the above, of MINERVA PIOUS as a sponsor of the mentioned group was made in the September 25, 1945, issue of the "Daily Worker"(page 12, column 2), which announced more briefly the formation of the artists, writers and professional group under the chairmanship of PAUL ROBESON for the reelection of BENJAMIN DAVIS.

On December 12, 1945, at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City, on the occasion of the 2nd anniversary of the AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY, that organization held its SECOND ANNUAL SALUTE TO YOUNG AMERICA DINNER to "Welcome Home Joe". About 725 persons attended. In the words of the AYD, the purpose of the dinner was "To welcome home discharged veterans, to pay tribute to the contribution of the young men and women of our armed forces and to dramatize the postwar problems of youth". REV. JACK McMICHAEL, and REV. WILLIAM H. MELISH were Chairmen of the dinner, and the movie actor EDWARD G. ROBINSON was introduced to the audience.

AMERICAN YOUTH FOR DEMOCRACY awards were given to various individuals, among them Captain CARSON KANIN, movie director, and Sgt. WALTER BERNSTEIN, "Yank" staff writer.

Among those presenting awards were DANNY KAYE, stage and screen actor, and GENE KELLY, movie actor. One of the sponsors of the dinner was MINERVA PIOUS.

During December, 1946, a playbill listed MINERVA PIOUS as one of the entertainers who were to participate in a program advertised as "Stars Entertain For Republican Spain", staged for the benefit of the VETERANS OF THE ABRAHAM LINCOLN BRIGADE.

RE: PAUL STEWART

Daily Worker, May 27, 1942, on Page seven, carried an article concerning the "Win the War" radio show, sponsored by the Greater New York Industrial Union Council CIO. The first program was broadcast over Station WQXR, at 9:30 P.M. on May 22, 1942, and was devoted to the opening of a second front.

PAUL STEWART, well known radio producer and director, produces the show. The Daily Worker on the same page sets forth a picture of PAUL STEWART and his cast rehearsing this radio show.

Sergeant STEVENS of the Anti-Subversive Detail, Los Angeles Police Department, has advised that one of his informants within the Communist Party was present at an informal gathering on October 29, 1947, at the home of ROBERT (BOB) GARY, [redacted] b6 b7C

By way of identification, BOB GARY is believed to be undoubtedly a member of the Communist Party inasmuch as the records of CNDI [redacted] reflect that one JERRY CHANDLER, [redacted] a receptionist in the motion picture industry, was recruited into the Party by BOB GARY and ROBERT BESSING, and that CHANDLER was assigned 1947 membership book No. 49989. It may be noted that the recruit's address is the same as that of BOB GARY, and it is believed that JERRY CHANDLER is the party name for his sister. b6 b7C b7D

CONF. INF.

Sergeant STEVENS' informant states that one of the individuals at the informal gathering at the GARY home told him in effect that "something is going to break soon which will make the Thomas Un-American Activities Committee look sick because the Committee is offering as evidence against JOHN HOWARD LAWSON and the others certain alleged Communist Party cards dated in 1944; that what they (the Committee) do not know or realize is that these are 1944 cards of the Communist Political Association and that during that year the Communist Party had been dissolved and replaced by the CPA."

DEFERRED RECORDING

The above is being forwarded to the Bureau inasmuch as it is possible, based on the above information, that a point of defense of the so-called unfriendly witnesses before the Thomas Committee who were cited for contempt may be the fact that the membership cards which the Committee claims to have could not in fact be membership cards of the Communist Party.

At 1:25 p.m. SAC Hood called and stated that he had forwarded a letter AMSD, dated November 20, 1947, in the titled matter, which referred to a meeting to be held at New York City Monday, November 24, by the executives of the Motion Picture Industry. The purpose of the meeting was to formulate a policy on Communism.

SAC Hood stated he was bringing this matter to our attention because he thought the letter might be of above average interest and we might desire to place a stop on its arrival.

Supervisor Casper was advised of this letter and he advised that stops had been placed on all mail concerning the titled matter for the present.

The Los Angeles Office reported that the Los Angeles "Times" on November 7, 1947, carried an article reflecting that Rabbi Max Nussbaum, Chief Rabbi at Temple Israel, Hollywood, California, was to deliver a sermon that evening on the topic, "Freedom versus Witch Hunting." This service was attended by an Agent of the Los Angeles Division, who stated that Nussbaum referred to the Freedom Train and its historical documents as standing for the freedom of the individual. He then referred to the activities of the House Committee on Un-American Activities as an Un-American Committee investigating American committees.

He said that the American people must have the courage to say "yes" with regard to the Freedom Train and "no" with regard to the House Committee investigations. He indicated his opinion might be different with regard to the Committee if it had proved there was in existence in this country activity which was directed by a foreign power and which was detrimental to our democracy. He said the Committee had failed in its proof concerning this.

He referred to the resolution offered by the Russian representative against war mongering talk in the United States before the United Nations Assembly. According to Nussbaum, the Soviet representative stated that such talk violated freedom of speech, characterizing it as being synonymous with free speech violations outlined by the late Justice Holmes, who said that the spirit of free speech is violated by shouting "fire !" in a crowded theater when there is no fire.

(1 ENCL.)

Nussbaum then referred to the retort resolution as made by Mr. Austin, U. S. representative to the UN, to the effect that we can not have such a resolution as it is impossible to control people's thoughts and that to have true freedom we must have freedom of thought. He pointed out that in Washington the House Committee on Un-American Activities was doing the very thing Mr. Austin was finding fault with before the UN. Nussbaum referred to the report of the President's Committee on Civil Liberties which he indicated was "done" so as to dovetail the House Committee's recent hearings. He left the impression that the report of the President's Committee was just so much "lip service."

It should also be noted that at this same Temple on April 18, 1947, an associate Rabbi of the Temple, namely, Rabbi Morton Bauman, delivered a sermon at a regular Friday evening service entitled, "Must We Fight Communism." At the outset of his sermon, Rabbi Bauman said that he was not for Communism, but that he was personally opposed to it. After a few introductory remarks, Bauman then stated in effect that truth is lacking in matters disseminated by the press and radio and that actually there is no such thing as freedom of the press and radio in the United States. He referred to the "bogey" of Communism existing in the United States today as akin to the state of affairs that existed in Germany after the First World War, particularly those conditions that existed in the early 1930's.

In a further attempt to substantiate his opinion that people in the United States are not being told the truth, he referred to the support our Government at that time wished to give Greece and Turkey with the taxpayers money without advising the taxpayers why this is being done.

Bauman referred to a recent incident in one of the Glendale, California, schools wherein a book concerning Russia was removed from the school. He listed this as an unfriendly act toward Russia under the "bogey" guise of Communism. He referred to a move on the part of the American Jewish Congress to eliminate discrimination from an eastern scholastic institution which measure, he stated, was defeated as being Communistic.

Again referring to the "bogey" of Communism in the United States, he made reference to the information disseminated to the effect that there were about 5,000 Communists in the Los Angeles County, stating inasmuch as the entire county population numbered about 2,000,000 people, it should not be that the welfare of Los Angeles County was in danger.

Bauman referred to the comments of the Director before the Un-American Activities Committee at which the Director indicated there were 75,000 Communists in the United States. Bauman commented that this is about 2/10 of 1% of the population of the United States and he could consequently see no danger to the United States therefrom. He then commented, "Mr. Hoover is a policeman and there are sedition laws in the United States to prosecute people for any seditious statements or acts. Why doesn't he discuss all the Fascists in the United States? There are 20,000,000 of them, according to reports contained in John Rey Carlson's book, 'The Plotters.'"

For your further edification the original communication received from the Los Angeles Office is attached hereto which in more detail sets out the remarks of these two Rabbis.

It was observed in the November 7, 1947 edition of the LOS ANGELES TIMES newspaper that RABBI MAX NUSSBAUM, Chief Rabbi at Temple Israel, 1740 North Ivar, Hollywood, California, was to deliver a sermon that evening on the topic, "Freedom versus Witch Hunting", at the regular Friday evening service conducted at that temple. This service was attended by SA SIDNEY M. WOLF.

In charge of the service was a temple organization known as the League of Young Adults, the service being read byarepresentative of this group. Thereafter, the President of the League read some prepared remarks relative to some of the functions of the League, saying that its organization is composed of young people from the ages of 20-35, that they engaged in social functions, and found the organization a useful one, particularly in these days when the problem of anti-Semitism seems to have become so acute. In his prepared remarks, he admitted in a remark directed toward RABBI NUSSBAUM that the League did not have perhaps in their program as much as they should have along the religious theme.

DEFERRED RECORDING

RABBI NUSSBAUM thereafter delivered his sermon entitled as above and remarked that what he had to say seemed to fit in with the remarks made by the President of the League who preceded him. He said that during recent weeks there have been in progress in the United States two big shows going on simultaneously. One show was the Freedom Train with all of its historical documents from the Magna Carta down through the United Nations documents, including the United States Constitution and its Bill of Rights. All of these,he remarked, stand for freedom of the individual. The other show, said RABBI NUSSBAUM, is the investigation that was made by the House Committee on un-American Activities. He said that people must have courage to say "yes" to one show (The Freedom Train) and "no" to the other. (House Committee investigation) In his opinion, the Committee actually is an un-American Committee investigating American committees, said RABBI NUSSBAUM. When it became known the Committee was to have its hearing, he thought it would investigate such un-American activity as lynching, such un-American activity as degradation, Jim Crowism and class restrictions. He indicated that his opinion might have been different about the Committee if it had proved there was going on in this country activity which was directed by a foreign power, which was detrimental to our democracy. He stated that as to this, the Committee had failed in its proof. Instead it had summoned before it ten people, virtually charging them with un-American activity without permitting them the benefit of calling to their defense their own friendly witnesses. Further explaining his feeling relative to the "big shows", he remarked that only a few short hours away from Washington another show was in progress at Lake Success. He referred to the resolution offered by the Russian representative against war mongering talk in the United States, stating that this representative said that, in his opinion, such talk violated freedom of speech, characterizing it as being synonymous with free speech violations outlined by the late Justice HOLMES, who said that the spirit of free speech is violated by shouting "Fire !" in a crowded theater when there is no fire.

RABBI NUSSBAUM then referred to the retort resolution as made by Mr. AUSTIN, United States representative to the United Nations, to the effect that we cannot have such a resolution as it is impossible to control people's thoughts, and that to have true freedom we must have freedom of thought, even against those whose thoughts we hate. He said that simultaneously in Washington, the House Committee investigating un-American activities was doing the very thing with which Mr. AUSTIN saw fit to find fault at Lake Success.

At the outset of his sermon, RABBI NUSSBAUM referred to prophetic remarks, dating centuries back, when it was said that when civilizations begin to crumble, it is a "non-conforming minority" that will be called upon to collect the remnants thereof such civilization and mould it together so that such civilization will not collapse entirely but will be perpetuated. It was in this same vein that he felt that today a "non-conforming minority" is attempting to preserve the Bill of Rights under the United States Constitution, obviously with reference to individuals such as those who were brought before it accused by the House Committee as well as those who sympathize with them.

He made reference to the recent report of the President's Committee on Civil Liberties, which he opined was "done" so as to dovetail with the House Committee's recent hearings. He left the impression that the report of the President's Committee was just so much "lip-service".

Letter to the Director November 15, 1947

RE: COMPIC
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

In his sermon, RABBI NUSSBAUM stated if it was a matter of fact the Communist Party is considered un-American and unlawful, there should be legislation to make it so, indicating that until that time, in his opinion, it is un-American to inquire about those who attached themselves to, or sympathize with, it. He referred rather cynically to the branding by the House Committee of such movies as "The Best Years of Our Lives" as being subversive or un-American just because such movie portrays a United States banker in the roll of one who might seek to take advantage of the returning service man, "as if", commented RABBI NUSSBAUM, "United States bankers do not engage in the practices as portrayed." RABBI NUSSBAUM offered his protest to the branding by the House Commitee of Hollywood and movies it produces.

RABBI NUSSBAUM referred to a statement he said was made by THOMAS JEFFERSON during his lifetime that there would be effort made to thwart the Bill of Rights of the Constitution as, alleged the RABBI, is being done today by a Committee such as the House Committee before mentioned and intimated it is the duty of the "non-conforming minority" to oppose such tactics.

In conclusion, RABBI NUSSBAUM expressed concern that the present trend is toward placing too much emphasis on power and material things. He then counselled his audience, which numbered some 200 people, to refuse to do this as it tends to unbalance the scales and breed totalitarianism.

It should be stated that at this same Temple on April 18, 1947, an associate Rabbi of the Temple, namely, RABBI MORTON BAUMAN, delivered a sermon at a regular Friday evening service entitled, "Must We Fight Communism". At the outset of his sermon, RABBI BAUMAN emphasized that his sermon was not for Communism and that he is personally opposed to it. He said that, as he understands, both Leninism and Marxism favor atheism and, therefore, not by any stretch of the imagination could he be classed as favoring Communism.

After certain other introductory remarks in which he deplored the talk of more war as tending to destroy civilization entirely, RABBI BAUMAN made observations of certain conditions, which he claimed existed in the United States at the present time, which were to the effect that truth is lacking in matters disseminated by the press and radio and that actually there is no such thing as freedom of the press and radio in the United States. He remarked that Mr. LUCE, of TIME magazine, served on a Committee which found that there is no such thing as a free press in the United States and that actually people are permitted to read only what they are supposed to know. He observed that only a short time before had Commentator WILLIAM L. SHIRER been removed from the air because he was delving in matters not considered right for people to hear.

RABBI BAUMAN referred to what he called pernicious branding as Communists by California State Senator JACK TENNEY of such individuals as RABBI EDGAR F. MAGNIN and RABBI NUSSBAUM.

He referred to the "bogey" of Communism, as he put it, existing in the United States today as akin to the state of affairs that existed in Germany after the first World War, particularly those conditions that existed there in the early 1930s when we were startled at the rantings of HITLER that Jews, a small German minority, were responsible for the Germans losing World War I. At that time, he stated, people generally considered these accusations as ridiculous and not worthy of serious concern.

In a further attempt to substantiate his opinion that people in the United States are not being told the truth, he referred to the support our Government then wished to give Greece and Turkey with taxpayers' money without advising the taxpayers why this is being done.

RABBI BAUMAN referred to what he said was a recent incident in one of the schools in Glendale, California when a book about Russia was removed from the school. He listed this as an unfriendly act toward Russia under the "bogey" guise of Communism. He referred to a move on the part of the American Jewish Congress to eliminate discrimination from an eastern scholastic institution which measure, he stated, was defeated as being Communistic. He said that 247 Bills had recently been defeated at Sacramento, California because branded as Communistic in nature.

Letter to the Director November 15, 1947

RE: COMPIC
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Referring again to the "bogey" of Communism in the United States, RABBI BAUMAN made reference to the information that had been disseminated to the effect that there are about 5,000 Communists in Los Angeles County and that inasmuch as the entire Los Angeles County population numbers some 2,000,000 people, it should not be that the welfare of Los Angeles County is in danger.

During his sermon, RABBI BAUMAN remarked that he had recently witnessed a newsreel showing the appearance of Director J. EDGAR HOOVER of the FBI before the House Committee on un-American Activities. He noted that Mr. HOOVER remarked there were 75,000 Communists in the United States. RABBI BAUMAN commented that this being about only two tenths of 1% of the population of the United States, he could see no danger to the United States therefrom. Thereupon RABBI BAUMAN made the remark, "Mr. HOOVER is a policeman and there are sedition laws in the United States to prosecute people for any seditious statements or acts. Why doesn't he discuss all the Fascists in the United States? There are 20,000,000 of them, according to reports contained in JOHN ROY CARLSON's book, 'The Plotters'."

In his sermon, RABBI BAUMAN denounced the idea of blandly following our country's leaders as was done in Germany. He also made the point that some people have a tendency to brand as Communist inspired those things which cannot be otherwise explained, as in situations where apparently Negroes are denied certain privileges.

The foregoing information is furnished to the Bureau for its information.

"I am shocked to read in 'The Observer' that the Sisterhood is sponsoring a series of book reviews in which Alvin Wilder is featured with yourself and Rabbi Bauman. I am as shocked as if I had read that Gerald Smith was to appear under the auspices of Temple Israel. Mr. Wilder, by no stretch of the imagination, can lay claim to being a literary figure: he is, as purely and simply as Mr. Smith, a sheer political figure. And he is going to be there, I must assume, to uphold his political doctrines which, since they never deviate from the Communist party line, I detest as much as I do those of Mr. Smith. Under the guise of liberalism, Mr. Wilder, in every radio utterance, urges the destruction of genuine liberalism by bidding us put ourselves into the clutches of that greedy power-grabbing monster, The State: similarly, Mr. Smith, under the guise of Americanism, urges us to destroy genuine Americanism by his incitement of race and religious hatred.

"To have Wilder as a representative speaker then must be the result of sheer ignorance or of careful design. I doubt the ignorance so I am compelled to believe in the design. The design grows a little clearer when I recall that Rabbi Baumann, of the High Holidays of last year, denounced the Republican Party from the pulpit; and I know from Mr. WILDER's statements that he believes that every Republican is, ipso facto, an evil-minded, Negro-hating, Franco-loving, labor-baiting anti-Semite.

"Now I happen to be a believer in free speech; and certainly you and Dr. Baumann and Mr. Wilder have the right to denounce Republicans, provided that you speak as individual citizens. (You spoke as such in a paid advertisement in the L. A. Daily News when your name appeared in what I regarded as dubious company--among a list of citizens who urged the support of Henry Wallace's doctrines.) My quarrel with you and Dr. Baumann begins only when you use your cloth to link the faith of the Jews with your faith in your own political party, with the obvious implication that, because you speak from a temple, Jehovah is on your side. I am obviously not as versed in the Bible and its commentaries as you and Dr. Baumann--nor do I pretend to be. But I have read the Good Book and I remember no chapter or verse in it that tells me that I have to follow Wm. Z. Foster or Henry A. Wallace to be a good Jew. Indeed, to me Foster and Wallace represent the false gods Jehovah thundered against.

"I think you and Dr. Baumann will have to make up your minds whether Temple Israel is to be a synagogue or a left-wing political organization. If it is to be the latter, obviously no Republican heretics can be tolerated, and I must ask you to accept my resignation.

"Yours sincerely,

Concerning the San Francisco letter, it is desired to point out that on Page 2, Paragraph 1, the letter should have read, "KATZ indicated that it was KENNY's opinion that a statement that was unequivocal would not win public opinion and that it would be proof of the unwilling witnesses' contempt since it would reveal publicly what the witnesses had refused to answer at the time of the hearing." Referenced letter had CRUM's name in place of KENNY's.

Paragraph 4 of Page 2 of this letter should have CRUM quoted, "No, he couldn't get in to see TOM CLARK without me, kid."

Referenced letter of Washington Field Office dated November 18, 1947 requested San Francisco to determine the identity of DAVID SILVER and CHAUNCEY McKEEVER. DAVID SILVER is undoubtedly former Special Agent DAVID A. SILVER, as this individual subsequent to his resignation had desk space in the office of BARTLEY C. CRUM and recently obtained an office in the Mills Building, San Francisco. CHAUNCEY McKEEVER is an attorney with offices in the One Eleven Sutter Street Building, and residence at [redacted] b6
This office has no information associating McKEEVER with the Communist Party or any activity in Communist front groups. b7C

On November 22, 1947, Confidential Informant [redacted] advised that b7D
BARTLEY C. CRUM was contacted by an individual identified only as DAVID, apparently DAVID A. SILVER, who was then in Los Angeles. It appears likely now that the DAVID mentioned in my letter of November 24, 1947 also is DAVID A. SILVER.

DAVID indicated that he had tried to contact CRUM at the request of EDDY (EDWARD DYMTRYK?), and that EDDY is upset and worried as he feels that if the unwilling witnesses declare themselves, such a declaration would "throw a couple of people to the wolves." DAVID continued there was no question but that the producers are on record to fire, or let the contracts lapse, of those persons who appeared as unwilling witnesses before the Thomas Committee hearings.

CRUM interrupted by saying that all of them would be fired anyway including EDDY. SILVER then stated that EDDY in view of the statement by ERIC JOHNSTON is in favor of the group coming out with a prepared statement in which they state in effect that the Thomas Committee asserted that its purpose in this investigation was to investigate individuals and activities designed to overthrow the Government by force and violence, agents of foreign principles, traitors, and so forth. The statement then would point out that if that was the purpose of the investigation, why weren't they asked questions concerning such activities, as they would then have answered, "No, we are not agents of foreign principles,.... We wholeheartedly support and abide by this Constitution and the Government." (C)

CRUM then repeated his observation that the average citizen is not convinced that this group is loyal to the United States and to the Constitution. DAVID then continued that the Committee did not ask the kind of questions that should have been asked to find out about any possible traitors, agents of foreign principles, and so forth, but instead asked the plain question, "Are you, or were you, a Communist?" Then the statement would assert that the fact remains that the Communist Party is a legalized minority party, and the witnesses would be derelict in their duty as citizens to support a persecution of such a party, no matter how unpopular. DAVID indicated that the statement then would compare their refusal to answer such a question to a demurrer, and that the resulting situation is designed to test the right of the Thomas Committee. (C)

DAVID continued, "Here's the thing, BART. If the Supreme Court of this land rules that they must answer, and they will, and if a valid law is passed which will prove that Communism is synonymous of traitor and...., well then, they will answer, and furthermore, here's another thought--I don't see why then it isn't possible for this Committee, this group, to say that if the Thomas Committee defines Communism, whatever it is--there's no true definition or accurate definition, if what they mean by a Communist is a person who wants to overthrow this country by force and violence, aid to Russia and so forth, then no, they are not Communists, but go on to say, that's not the true and legal definition, and therefore they cannot answer the question under the true and legal definition, but they could answer under the Thomas definition, which is irrelevant. (C)

DAVID then continued that EDDY--is worried as he has heard that CRUM is in favor of having the unwilling witnesses declare themselves, at which CRUM answered that he was. DAVID then stated, "I don't agree with you, you know." CRUM, "That may be so also." DAVID, "I'm your subordinate on this, if you don't mind my saying so." CRUM, "No, of course not." DAVID, "I feel this, BART, (C) dammit." CRUM, "Look, DAVE, I don't care whether they say specifically whether they are or are not, I simply say to them that they are making a very grave mistake in under-estimating the impact of the Thomas stuff, the Johnston stuff, on the general public mind, plus the Russian business. I think the average fellow in the public is of the opinion that Communists are traitors to the United States. All I don't want them to do, DAVE, is to lose the public relations battle." DAVID, "We don't want to either, BART." CRUM, "Well, thus far they have." CRUM continued that the only thing he wanted to accomplish was to establish "the fact that these guys are loyal Americans." He continued that he didn't know how it was to be done, and he didn't care. Informant reported that DAVID then stated that the unwilling witnesses had been looking to CRUM for guidance on this thing, and that CRUM thereupon answered that he had suggested to ROBERT W. KENNY on November 20 that answer be made to the Johnston statement. He then stated that apparently KENNY told him (CRUM) one thing, but told the unwilling witnesses (clients of CRUM and KENNY) another thing.

Informant reported that DAVID and CRUM conferred for several minutes during which time CRUM expressed the opinion that the motion picture producers, who are expected to fire the unwilling witnesses, are cowardly. DAVID was interrupted by CRUM, the informant stated, when he suggested that the producers will probably fire the unfriendly witnesses, because they, the producers, feel that the public feels that anyone suspected of being a Communist is an agent of a foreign principal or advocates the overthrow of the Government. DAVID then asked, "Then specifically you are not urging them to come out and declare themselves whether they are or are not Communists?" CRUM, "No, if that is the way in which we wouldn't help convince the American people of their loyalty." DAVID, "That is the point, BART, that's what ED would like...." CRUM, "My own feeling is, DAVE, that if I ever had been a Communist--I'm now giving my own opinion to which I am entitled and intend to be--if I were or ever had been a Communist, I would certainly say so. I would think enough of my principles to say so, not before the (profanity) Thomas Committee at all, but I certainly would say so publicly. I would say, 'Yes, I am a Communist' if I were....." DAVE, "Which means they would be fired....." CRUM, "Well, they are going to be fired anyway....." DAVID desired to know from CRUM if there were anything he could do when he returned to San Francisco. Informant stated that CRUM could not think of anything, and commented, "Except to hold EDDY's hand. I'm sorry as _____."

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

House Un-American Activities Committee hearings adjourned October 30, 1947, temporarily. ROBERT W. KENNY, BARTLEY C. CRUM, and BEN MARGOLIS, attorneys, after several public appearances, have returned to the West Coast. MARTIN POPPER, vice president, National Lawyers Guild, continues to function as the local counsel representing the "19 hostile witnesses" and is active in promoting a propaganda campaign on behalf of the witnesses. Also has secured aid of the Progressive Citizens of America in this propaganda venture and numerous rallies are being held throughout the country. Main points in the campaign are to abolish the Un-American Activities Committee and to prevent the citation by Congress of the ten individuals recommended in contempt of Congress by the committee. Summaries of the testimony for October 29 and 30, 1947, as well as information obtained from informants and other sources set out. (U)

DETAILS: AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

At the conclusion of the hearings on October 30, 1947, Chairman J. PARNELL THOMAS announced that the hearings in connection with the Un-American Activities would adjourn at that point. He further stated that the hearings would be resumed in the near future but was unable to say definitely whether they would resume in Washington, D. C. or in Los Angeles, California. (u)

Special Investigator LOUIS J. RUSSELL was contacted by agents of this office and he advised that the reason for this discontinuing was that the Committee was running short of funds and further, that the "friendly press" had advised them that it would be hard to hold the public's interest any further in the hearings if they were drawn out. It was suggested that it might be a good psychological move to discontinue while they were being well received by the public. (u)

Another reason for the postponement is the fact, according to RUSSELL, that they had received indirect word that LARRY PARKS and WALDO SALT had indicated a desire to turn friendly witnesses and tell all information in their possession concerning Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry. The Committee felt that by postponing the hearings it would give these two men a chance to prepare their material and aid the hearings at a later date. (u)

Chairman THOMAS stated that only a small portion of the testimony had been heard inasmuch as they had approximately 68 witnesses scheduled to appear before the Committee. According to an article appearing in the Washington Times Herald newspaper of Tuesday, November 11, 1947, it was announced that the House Un-American Activities hearings would resume on December 1, 1947. There was no indication as to the location of the hearings reported by this article. (u)

From investigation and information obtained by this office, it was determined that ROBERT W. KENNY, BARTLEY C. CRUMM, and BEN MARGOLIS, three attorneys from the West Coast who were in Washington, D. C., having been obtained as counsel by the "19 hostile witnesses", had returned to the West Coast where their activities would be resumed in that area, leaving MARTIN POPPER, vice-president of the National Lawyers Guild and also who has been retained as counsel, to carry on any legal endeavors in Washington, D. C. (u)

Informants have reported numerous contacts between MARTIN POPPER and the attorneys on the West Coast, a detailed summary of which will be set out later in this report. MARTIN POPPER has been engaged almost full time in an effort to secure favorable newspaper and radio publicity on behalf of his client. (u)

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

He has held numerous press conferences and has secured radio time so that favorable talks could be given on behalf of the witnesses. POPPER has been assisted to a great extent by WILLIAM HAYS, who is employed as an assistant to LEE PRESSMAN, General Counsel for the CIO. (X) (u)

On Monday, November 10, 1947, MARTIN POPPER received word from Congressman JOSEPH MARTIN, Speaker of the House of Representatives, to the effect that he was to appear in his, Congressman MARTIN's office, that afternoon in order to present any argument POPPER may have to show cause why the clients should not be cited for Contempt of Congress. POPPER immediately contacted Speaker MARTIN complaining of the short notice and was able to secure a postponement until 9 o'clock the following morning. POPPER immediately contacted WILLIAM HAYS and requested HAYS to call a press conference which he did for that afternoon. The conference was scheduled for 4:30 P. M. on Monday afternoon, November 10, 1947, in the National Press Club. (X)

From a review of the local newspapers, this press conference did not react as favorable as was expected by POPPER and his associates and the only release made was an editorial appearing in the Washington Evening Star on Tuesday, November 11, 1947, which mentioned the fact that POPPER had been called to show cause but turned the trend of the article as a criticism toward the witnesses rather than unfavorable blast at Speaker MARTIN and the Congress in general.

On the evening of October 29, 1947, Confidential Informant [redacted] reported to this office that LEE PRESSMAN, General Counsel of the CIO national organization, on that date contacted CHARLIE KATZ in room 100-C, of the Shoreham Hotel and requested that he be permitted to see KATZ the same evening inasmuch as he had to leave town the following day. According to the informant, KATZ told him to come over to the hotel around 8:00 P. M. (C) (X) (X) b7D

A physical surveillance was conducted by agents of this office in the lobby of the Shoreham Hotel and at 8:05 P. M., BARTLEY C. CRUMM was observed to leave the hotel dressed in a tuxedo. (C) (X) (X) (u)

At 8:20 P. M., LUKE WILSON, who is connected with the Progressive Citizens of America in Washington, D. C. and known to be a fellow traveler and "angel" of the Communist Party, entered the lobby, paced up and down the lobby until 8:50 P. M. At this time, he was observed to proceed up the elevator on the side of the lobby which leads to room 100-C. It was impossible to determine whether or not he entered this room. (X) (u)

CONFIDENTIAL

At 8:35 P. M., LEE PRESSMAN entered the hotel and proceeded immediately to the coffee shop where he joined CHARLIE KATZ and BEN MARGOLIS, two of the legal staff which is representing the 19 subpoenaed witnesses from Hollywood. Also at the same table were seated ALVA BESSIE, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, and GORDON KAHN. This group conversed steadily during the time they were at the table and at 9:00 P. M., JOHN HOWARD LAWSON left the group, proceeded to the news stand, purchased a copy of each newspaper on the stand, and left the hotel. (C)(X)(X)(U)

At 9:03 P. M., RING LARDNER, Jr. and his wife, FRANCES CHANEY LARDNER, were observed to leave the coffee shop, proceed to the news stand, and likewise purchased a copy of each newspaper on the stand. Mr. and Mrs. LARDNER then boarded an elevator and went upstairs. (C)(X)(X)(U)

At 9:15 P. M., agents observed LEE PRESSMAN, BEN MARGOLIS, CHARLIE KATZ, and GORDON KAHN leave the coffee shop and proceed to room 504-C of the Shoreham Hotel. It is to be noted that room 504-C of the Shoreham Hotel is registered to CHARLIE KATZ. (C)(X)(X)(U)

At 10:05 P. M., LEE PRESSMAN left room 504-C, returned to the lobby, and left the hotel immediately. (C)(X)(X)(U)

Immediately thereafter, CHARLIE KATZ was observed to leave this room, went down to the lobby carrying a volume of the transcript of the proceedings of the Un-American Activities Committee, proceeded immediately to the terrace and after sitting on the terrace for approximately 25 minutes alone, returned to the lobby, entered an elevator and went back to his room. (C)(X)(X)(U)

At 10:12 P. M., JOHN DIERKES, a small blond woman later identified as Mrs. BARTLEY C. CRUMM, and HERBERT J. BIBERMAN were observed to enter the lobby and proceed to room 100-C. (C)(X)(X)(U)

At 10:45 P. M., the surveillance was discontinued and up to this point, LUKE WILSON, as mentioned above, had not left the hotel. (C)(X)(X)(U)

Confidential Informant [redacted] advised on October 30, 1947, that CHARLOTTE YOUNG, Membership Secretary of the Communist Party in Washington, D. C., had received a subpoena from the House Un-American Activities Committee on October 27 or 28, 1947, to appear before the Committee on October 29, 1947. This subpoena has caused consternation in the local Communist Party office to such an extent that WILLIAM TAYLOR, Chairman of the local party, has ordered all party members to stay away from the Committee hearings. (U) b7D

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Additional data obtained by informant reveals that CHARLOTTE YOUNG has been instructed to stay away from all party meetings and under no circumstances is she to go to Communist Party headquarters here in Washington. As Membership Secretary of the local Communist Party, CHARLOTTE YOUNG was engaged in the 1948 Registration Campaign of the party. In this connection, all papers and records which would implicate YOUNG in party affairs have been taken from her person as well as from the home of her parents where she resides. The informant stated that WILLIAM TAYLOR was more upset and concerned over the discovery that YOUNG has ~~been a paid~~ employee of the 19 hostile defendants in their office at the Shoreham Hotel than he had been about anything else for some time. The main objective of the party at the time is to disallow any knowledge of Communist Party affiliations on the part of CHARLOTTE YOUNG.

On October 31, 1947, confidential sources of this office advised that the Progressive Citizens of America were sponsoring a rally on behalf of the 19 writers, producers, and directors who have been previously described as the "unfriendly witnesses", which meeting was to be held in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. It was determined that application had been made to use Independence Square for the meeting which was scheduled for 2:00 P. M. on November 1, 1947. The application for the use of Independence Square had been denied by the city officials and those individuals sponsoring the meeting took the matter into the District Court, asking that an injunction be issued against the city officials for their failure to provide the location for a political rally.

It appears that Independence Square has been set aside by the city officials of Philadelphia for a place for political gatherings only. At the last moment, permission was obtained to use this location and from newspaper accounts it was learned that the rally was heldbut numerous veterans and other loyal Americans were successful in disrupting the meeting to such an extent that they had to discontinue their program. The details of this meeting are not available at this office but on October 31, 1947, this information was transmitted to the Philadelphia Division with the instruction that the activities of this meeting be reported.

During the period in which Congress was conducting the hearings, namely October 20 through 30, 1947, the Washington Post newspaper in Washington, D. C., carried a daily editorial which thoroughly denounced the House Committee and the method used by this Committee in conducting the hearings.

On October 29, 1947, an editorial entitled, "As Others See Us", appeared in the Washington Post, the opening paragraph is as follows:

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

"It is doubtful whether the efforts of the State Department to spread international understanding of American ideals are much enhanced by the invasion of civil rights currently countenanced and even fostered in the name of security by the government of the United States. The probe into the personal political opinions of motion picture industry employees now being conducted by the House Committee on Un-American Activities must seem especially anomalous. Americans have more reason to feel grateful than offended that the London News Chronicle characterizes this committee as 'The Most Un-American Feature' of life in the United States."

The article further comments on the article as appearing in the London News Chronicle and states that the British paper observed "The inquisitors appear to have opened their Court by announcing their findings. And when an attorney protested at something they had him thrown out." The editorial continues to ridicule the method as used by the Committee during the hearings.

On October 28, 1947, an editorial appeared in the Washington Evening Star under the caption, "Mr. JOHNSTON Says It Well". This editorial discusses the general criticism as made by ERIC JOHNSTON, President of the Motion Picture Association of America, in pointing out that some of our self appointed liberals would apparently like to deprive the House Committee on Un-American Activities of the right to investigate Communism in Hollywood. The article further states that Mr. JOHNSTON is not of that school. He contends that the broad power of Congress to investigate is one of the great sentinels of public welfare and further that no thinking person would question that Congress has the right to make investigations.

Mr. JOHNSTON further observes that in many instances, the Congressional investigation, with all of its shortcomings, is the only instrument that can probe into the dark spots of our society and bring the truth out into the open. Mr. JOHNSTON also expressed his opinion, according to the article, that too often individuals and institutions have been condemned without a hearing or a chance to speak in self defense, slandered and libeled by hostile witnesses not subject to cross examination and immune from subsequent suit or prosecution.

The article further observed that JOHNSTON has stated that legal counsel cannot be heard except at the Committee's pleasure and too often this protection is limited to advice on constitutional rights. The Committee, at its discretion, can accept or reject explanatory statements for the record. The editorial is of the opinion that this is a fair and comprehensive criticism of the investigative processes of most Congressional Committees.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

The article further states that it does not apply with any greater force to the Committee on Un-American Activities than to many other committees but as long as it applies to any committee there remains an obligation to correct an unwholesome condition. The article concludes by stating that the responsibility rests with Congress, and its members should be mindful of the fact that the prestige of the national legislature is going to suffer unless something constructive is done about this matter.

On October 27, 1947, according to an Associated Press dispatch from New York, 1200 persons heard a speech by Senator PEPPER (D. of Florida) in the closing session of a two day conference on "Cultural Freedom and Civil Liberties". The information was also received by this office that BARTLEY C. CRUMM also appeared and spoke at this conference. The article states "abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and revocation of President TRUMAN's loyalty order effecting Federal employees were demanded in resolutions adopted yesterday by the Progressive Citizens of America. Senator PEPPER, endorsing these and other resolutions as heartening, declared, 'The Crypto-Fascist may as well know that the people of America throw down before their evil feet the gauntlet of defiance.'" The Senator likened the meeting to the battle of Stalingrad and said, "The American people have reached the point from which they will retreat no longer." He further said the House Committee's investigation of alleged Communism in Hollywood is an attack against all Americans.

On October 31, 1947, the Washington Evening Star carried an article written by FRANK R. KENT, entitled, "The Great Game of Politics". There is a sub-heading under this title, "Communists Have Made Congress Almost Seem Silly in Film Probe". Mr. KENT starts his article by saying, "If the men who rule Russia have a sense of humor (which is not too sure) they must be laughing until their sides ache over the manner in which they have been able to handle the investigation of the House Committee on Un-American Activities into Communist saturation of the influence on the motion picture industry. On the other hand, many discerning citizens of this country are filled with humiliation and chagrin. It is no laughing matter with them. For the plain truth is the Communists have made monkeys of us in this position of showing them up. Instead of themselves being discredited, they have almost succeeded in discrediting the investigation. Instead of suffering from exposure of our subversive enterprises, they have made Congress seem silly and our system inept. The mortifying phase of this is that it has been accomplished through resort to the great traditional institutions upon which this nation was founded and to the destruction of which all Communists are pledged. In addition, they have had the enthusiastic aid of many of our leading liberals, literary and political - also of the CIO - all the radical publications and strangely enough some usually conservative newspapers whose detestation of all things Communistic is not to be doubted."

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Further in the article, Mr. KENT comments that the Committee has fumbled on several occasions during the hearings and yet the Committee is charged with uncovering un-American activities and is making an honest effort to drive out the anti-American propagandists known to infest it. This effort comes at a time, according to Mr. KENT, when the Soviet Republic is strenuously striving to poison the mind of all other nations against us. It would seem stupid to permit its sympathizers, whether many or few, to nest in Hollywood or anywhere else where they have an opportunity to drop the white lid in the coffee cup of our own people. The job of putting an end to this should commend itself to every normal American. Yet what has happened? Immediately the Committee started to sustain the charge which every informed man knows to be true that Hollywood is a hot bed of Communism, the individuals affected plus their hired attorneys, their radical supporters, all the cheap little left wing agitators, journalists, and politicians set up a tremendous caterwauling about their 'Constitutional rights'. They scream about freedom of speech and freedom of expression, they invoke the Bill of Rights, and squeal about the invasion of their civil liberties. The window dressing highly paid and extremely smug representatives of the industry impudently urging Congress to reform portentously proclaim that the next step will be censorship of the press and radio.

Mr. KENT concludes the article by stating that no clear headed person has the remotest idea that following this investigation there will be any censorship of press, radio, or screen. That anyone's Constitutional rights or civil liberties have been invaded is nonsense. Nor as a result will the Communist Party operating within our laws be outlawed though a majority of our people would like to see just that. As a final statement, Mr. KENT says that from now on, the nose of the average American movie customer will be more sensitive to the smell and they will make everybody connected with the movie production more circumspect, which surely is a gain.

In an editorial appearing in the Washington Star on October 30, 1947, it is stated that some sincere people are afraid that the House Committee on Un-American Activities, by investigating the maneuvers of the Communists in Hollywood, is inciting a mood of hysteria in this country which may lead to the sweeping away of all of our civil liberties. The article further states that this is possible even though the procedure of the Committee has been clumsy. At times, the Committee compares rather favorably with the so-called hostile witnesses who have been appearing before it. The Committee has disclaimed any belief that Hollywood is dominated by Communists and any desire to indict the motion picture industry as a whole. It has concentrated for the most part on trying to establish whether particular individuals are Communists.

The editorial then reviews several of the witnesses' testimony and their antagonistic nature when appearing before the Committee. The editorial concludes by upholding the Committee and making the observation that it is not of great importance whether this is an act or whether the witnesses really believe what they have been saying. The important thing is that a good many Americans who are by no means Communists seem to believe every word of it. They forget that the Un-American Activities Committee is after all a pretty small potato. They forget that these witnesses, if prosecuted for Contempt, will enjoy the full benefits of trial by jury and through appeal to the Supreme Court, the full protection of whatever safeguards the Constitution provides against intrusion on one's political beliefs.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

The article concludes by stating that it is "they" (the hostile witnesses), either in good faith or by design, who are really the hysterical actors in this performance.

On November 5, 1947, the Washington Post carried an editorial entitled, "Speaking of Americanism". The article is more or less a review of previous editorials appearing in that paper and continues to deride and denounce the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The article states that the Committee has the power and judicial authority to question various individuals in order to obtain information for future legislation. According to the article, it is the opinion of the editorial staff that the Thomas Committee has broken through the reasonable bounds of a legislative agency and invaded the judicial sphere. The article states that one member of the Committee is said to have remarked that it was functioning as a national grand jury - a judicial body. One of the Committee lawyers inadvertently told witnesses that they were charged with Communism as if they had been before a Court and the atmosphere of the hearing has been that of condemning culprits for an alleged offense that has of course no legal foundation.

The article further observes that to cap the climax of unfairness, the Thomas Committee has attempted to make the alleged Communists of Hollywood testify against themselves or if they refuse to throw them into jail. The Fifth Amendment guarantees that no person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. If it were a crime to be a Communist, the article continues, no Court in the land could force a defendant to take the stand and testify as to his political affiliation. Yet the Thomas Committee is seeking to punish 10 film colony witnesses for their refusal to testify against themselves under circumstances in which such testimony might be extremely damaging. The article continues that the use of these methods to pry into personal beliefs certainly has the effect of denying rights that are implicit in our constitutional philosophy and if the courts should approve such misuse of the congressional contempt power, the result would be to punish an individual for demanding freedom of conscience even in peacetime.

After continuing along this line at some length the article concludes by stating that whatever the menace from Communism may be, Congress only

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

discredits itself by attempting to fight it by means that are repugnant to our constitutional system as well as to our native sense of fair play.

The Washington Post on November 5, 1947, carried an article which stated that MARTIN AGRONSKY, radio commentator, charged that the House Un-American Committee's probe of Communism in Hollywood was "un-American to the core". The article further stated that no-one in his "right mind would object to the exposure of Communism", AGRONSKY declared, at the second in a series of luncheon meetings on citizens' rights sponsored by the Washington Committee of Southern Conference for Human Welfare. AGRONSKY warned simultaneously however that the manner of exposure must not in itself be allowed to become destructive of the American way of life.

Dr. CLARK FOREMAN, President of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, urged the audience which was meeting at the YWCA to "Prepare for the vote in the District". He warned that "If we allow people like NEWELL (CLIFFORD H. NEWELL, Past President of the Federation of Citizens' Association) and his organization to control this city's politics, we will be very little better off than the people of Virginia and the other poll tax states." (The above statement by NEWELL refers to the statement that he made to the press recently wherein he claimed that the National Lawyers Guild was carried on a list as issued by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as one of the Communist front organizations.)

On November 8, 1947, the New York Times carried an article outlining an interview reporters of that paper had with Congressman J. PARNELL THOMAS upon his return to his home in Allendale, New Jersey. The article stated that in defending the procedure of the Committee, THOMAS said that the Committee has allowed more civil liberties in the Washington hearings on Hollywood than any Civil Court would ever allow. Mr. THOMAS, according to the article, said he was not disappointed on the hearings and that the Committee's job is to spotlight the Communists. Mr. THOMAS reported to the paper that the work of the Committee had just begun and the next hearing would open December 1, 1947 and continue for two weeks, at which time, "two items which never have been disclosed will be brought to light". Mr. THOMAS estimated in the press interview, that the number of dues paying Communists in the United States was 100,000. He said there were another 100,000 who follow the Party line and 2000 or 3000 "bleeding hearts", chief of whom is HENRY WALLACE.

Special Investigator LOUIS J. RUSSELL reported to agents of this office that Chairman THOMAS had attempted to secure 15 minutes of time on the Mutual Broadcasting System in order to make a statement concerning the proposed program of the Un-American Activities Hearings and also to answer the charges made by the Hollywood group in their radio broadcast in denouncing the Committee and the method of conducting the hearings. The Mutual Broadcasting System agreed to give him time, provided he furnished a manuscript of his remarks eight hours prior to the time of the anticipated broadcast.

Chairman THOMAS agreed to this, and he subsequently learned that the Mutual Broadcasting Company contacted PAUL V. McNUTT, Attorney for the Motion Picture Producers of America, so that he might prepare a 15 minute answer to Chairman THOMAS immediately following the time which Chairman THOMAS would appear on the air. A member of the staff of the Mutual Broadcasting Company contacted WALTER TROHAN, who is the Washington correspondent for the Chicago Tribune and who is the ghost writer for JAMES A. FARLEY in his book, and TROHAN in turn contacted Chairman THOMAS and outlined to him the procedure that had been taken by the Mutual Broadcasting System.

When again contacted by the Mutual Broadcasting System, Chairman THOMAS advised that he was no longer interested in time on the air. When asked why his change of attitude, he advised the Mutual Broadcasting System officials of the above facts and stated that the only condition upon which he would go on the air would be at the conclusion of his remarks, to introduce PAUL V. McNUTT and outline exactly what had taken place to the public over the air. The Mutual Broadcasting Company was chagrined and embarrassed to find out that their plan had leaked back to Chairman THOMAS and of course would not allow Chairman THOMAS to go through with this plan.

Arrangements were then made by Chairman THOMAS with the American Broadcasting System for the time as originally desired by Chairman THOMAS in a satisfactory manner.

On November 9, 1947, the newspaper PM in an article by JAMES T. HOWARD takes a strong stand against the HEARST newspaper syndicate. HOWARD claims that the HEARST newspapers have been sponsoring a campaign for federal censorship of the screen and he further states that this campaign is not enlisting any stout supporters. Several individuals were interviewed concerning their opinions as to whether or not there should be federal censorship of the screen and Chairman THOMAS upon being interviewed stated, "Personally I am opposed to censorship of any kind. Our committee is investigating Communism in the motion picture industry. We have at no time even considered censorship nor have we considered any legislation having to do with the moving picture industry." The article further relates that PAUL V. MC NUTT, counsel for the Motion Picture Association of America, upon being interviewed, also was against any type of legislation which would permit federal censorship of the screen. Likewise ERIC JOHNSTON, spokesman for the film producers and head of the Motion Picture Producers of America, stated he intended to use every influence at his command to keep the screen free. The article further quoted JOHNSTON as saying he did not propose that the government should tell the motion picture industry directly or by coercion what kind of pictures it should make. (u)

ROBERT W. KENNY of the legal staff representing the Hollywood group also was interviewed, according to the article, and he took the position that censorship is what THOMAS and his colleagues have been after all the time. The article quoted KENNY as saying: "The real purpose of the THOMAS committee has at last been made clear by its own reliable ally in the American press. From this source there has now come a ball faced demand for federal censorship. This brings the fight out into the open. The "hostile' witnesses have been saying all along that the real issue is censorship versus a free screen and the HEARST press has now confirmed this. Unintimidated Americans have traditionally hated censorship in any form. Now that the HEARST-THOMAS real intentions have been unmasked, I am confident that the THOMAS committee will be promptly and overwhelmingly repudiated by the American people." (u)

On November 6, 1947, the Boston Division furnished this office with information obtained from [redacted] concerning a conversation which occurred on October 29, 1947, between HENRY F. PRINGLE of Washington, D. C., and HARLOW SHAPLEY. In the conversation, according to the informant, PRINGLE identified himself as a writer and a resident of Washington, D.C., who had close contact with the persons in the movie industry and subpoenaed by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. SHAPLEY had never before talked to PRINGLE who suggested that if he were interested in his background that SHAPLEY read the current issue of Who's Who in America which carried some paragraphs on HENRY F. PRINGLE. PRINGLE advised SHAPLEY that he was assisting particularly MELVIN DOUGLAS, and WALTER WANGER who were arranging a radio program on Sunday afternoon, November 2, 1947, at 2:30 p.m. The purpose of the program would be to carry the testimonials of belief in the First Amendment of those subpoenaed by the Congressional committee, as well as their friends. SHAPLEY was advised that a 30 to 90 second script would be prepared for him if he would be in Washington in time to read it at the radio station. SHAPLEY readily agreed but pointed out that the script must be dignified and appropriate to his station as the director of the Harvard Observatory. SHAPLEY commented that NORMAN CORWIN had written a script for him which he had read over the air on Sunday, October 26, 1947, from a New York station to a nation-wide hookup. He suggested that CORWIN prepare the Washington script also. PRINGLE assured him that if possible CORWIN would do so and if not, he, PRINGLE, an accomplished writer, would do his best to satisfy the Harvard professor. (C) (X) (C)

The Washington Daily News on Monday, November 10, 1947, carried large headlines in the city edition stating that the "U.S. Commies Seek 500,000 Dupes to End House Probe." On Page 3 of the newspaper there was a Scripps-Howard release by FREDERICK WOLTMAN carrying a dateline of New York November 10th, stating that a gigantic hoax on Congress, as well as on many innocent liberals and distinguished citizens, has been launched by the Communist Party. The article went ahead to describe a communication directed by the national headquarters of the Communist Party to its various districts throughout the country directing the members to collect by December 15, 1947, a half million signatures to petitions backing the resolution of Representative ADOLPH J. SABATH, Domocrat of Illinois, to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The order was signed by HENRY WINSTON, national organization secretary, and was sent on Communist Party letter-heads. The article went on to state that the 500,000 signatures are to be presented to the House not by the Communist Party but by a "delegation of distinguished citizens" and the delegation that goes to Washington will be acting not in the name of the Communist Party but in the name of a Party front known as the Civil Rights Congress. According to the WINSTON letter, it was the Civil Rights Congress that came to the Communist Party for help. The thousands of petition blanks now being circulated by the Party all bear the name of the congress although it denies it is a Communist front. Mr. WINSTON, according to the article, refers to the Communist-Civil Rights Congress venture, has a "major front in our fight to keep Comrade DENNIS out of jail." The communication further indicated that the Communist Party considered this campaign of the greatest importance as a weapon in the battle to stem the rising tide of Fascism in the United States and therefore agreed to enlist the aid of the entire Party in helping the Civil Rights Congress reach its goal of a half million signatures by December 15th. The article concluded by stating that "speedy action in circulating these petitions is essential and we urge you to act as soon as you receive those now being sent to you." There was also enclosed with the directive, according to the article, a Civil Rights Congress appeal for $150,000 defense fund.

On November 10, 1947, the New York Times carried an article with a Los Angeles, California, dateline indicating that ROBERT W. KENNY, counsel for the Hollywood defendants, had protested the short notice of Speaker MARTIN in calling a certification hearing in connection with the citation of contempt of Congress by the defendants. KENNY stated that notice had reached him at 10:30 a.m. Pacific Standard Time that the hearing had been called for 9:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time the following day and he added it was physically impossible to prepare a brief and reach Washington in that time. He had wired a request to Speaker MARTIN for a postponement until Friday. According to the article, KENNY called cowardly a move to submit the citations to the District of Columbia District Attorney without formal action by the House of Representatives. The article quotes KENNY as stating that it is apparent that the Committee wishes to avoid debating the rights of these individuals on the floor of the House. KENNY concluded his statements by stating that under the law the Speaker could make such certification after a hearing when Congress was not in session.

The first witness to appear on the stand before the House Un-American Activities Committee on October 29, 1947, was SAMUEL ORNITZ. Following ORNITZ, HERBERT BIBERMAN took the stand and both of these witnesses refused to answer the questions as to whether or not they were members of the Screen Writers Guild or the Communist Party and after consultation by the Subcommittee both were held in contempt of Congress for refusing to answer.

The third witness was EMMETT LAVERY, president of the Screen Writers Guild, Mr. LAVERY readily admitted he was the president of the Guild and attempted to answer all the Committee's questions in a cooperative manner. LAVERY stated he would not deny there are probably Communists in Hollywood and in the Guild but he does not believe they have taken a dominant position. He stated he was not and never had been a member of the Communist Party. During the course of his testimony, Mr. LAVERY stated that when he first became aware of the fact that the Screen Writers Guild was being accused of being Communist infiltrated he voluntarily went to the Los Angeles Division of the FBI and advised that office that the complete records of the Screen Writers Guild and the complete cooperation of the Guild were being offered to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He stated that since the time he contacted the FBI he has not been recontacted by anyone in that office. LAVERY was asked by a member of the Committee if he thought it would be a good thing to outlaw the Communist Party and he stated: "I depend on the word of J. EDGAR HOOVER who said it would not be a good policy to outlaw the Communist Party." At another point in his testimony Mr. LAVERY stated he was in doubt as to whether or not Communists are agents of a foreign power and Chairman THOMAS of the Committee then said: "Would you accept the word of J. EDGAR HOOVER that Communists are agents of a foreign power?" LAVERY's answer to this question was not direct and no further reference was made to the Director.

During the afternoon session of the hearings, Mr. EDWARD DMYTRYK and ADRIAN SCOTT, both screen writers, refused to answer the question as to whether or not they are now or had ever been members of the Communist Party and it was voted by the Subcommittee that they be held in contempt of Congress. The third and last witness during the afternoon session was DORY SHERRY, an executive at RKO Studios. Mr. SHERRY was questioned regarding the hiring of HANS EISLER by RKO and the general attitude of RKO Studios toward hiring known Communists. SHERRY stated he has always been anti-Communistic but that it has never been proved to his satisfaction that Communists are agents of a foreign principle, and he believes they are therefore entitled to think the way they want to politically. SHERRY would not give a direct answer to whether or not he would rehire HANS EISLER now that he knows him to be a member of the Communist Party.

In the morning session on October 30, 1947, screen writers RING LARDNER, JR. and LESTER COLE refused to answer whether or not they have been members of the Communist Party and as a result the Subcommittee of the House Committee on Un-American Activities recommended that they be held in contempt of Congress. As had previously been done at the hearings, a member of the investigative staff read into the record the information concerning Communist Party affiliations and activities on the part of these two men.

BERTHOLD BRECHT, a 49 year old German-born poet and writer, in testifying readily denied membership in the Communist Party or any activity in behalf of that organization. BRECHT told in halting speech the story of his flight from Nazism and although he admitted being personally acquainted with HANS EISLER, he denied ever having attended any Communist activities with EISLER. BRECHT denied ever being a member of the Communist Party in any country of the world and as all other "hostile" witnesses, requested permission to read a prepared statement into the record. After review of this statement by Chairman THOMAS, he stated it was a very interesting story of German life but not at all pertinent to this inquiry. Mr. STRIPLING, chief investigator for the House Un-American Activities Committee, in his questioning brought out that Mr. BRECHT came to this country in 1941 on a quota immigration visa and has taken out his first papers. He also asked BRECHT if he had written a number of poems, songs and plays of a revolutionary nature. BRECHT replied: "I have written a number of poems, songs and plays and of course they can be considered revolutionary because I called for the overthrow of the German government." BRECHT was then questioned as to whether or not he had ever visited the Soviet consulate in Hollywood and he said he had been there three or four times to receptions and festivities. He was then asked if GERHARDT EISLER had ever visited him. He said GERHARDT had been there several times with his brother, HANS, and several times alone. BRECHT stated that he and the EISLERS had played chess and talked about politics. When questioned as to the nature of the political talks, he stated GERHARDT is a specialist in such and knew very much more about the political situation in Germany.

Special Investigator LOUIS J. RUSSELL took the stand and as he had done previously furnished information concerning the Communist Party card issued to RING LARDNER, JR. and to LESTER COLE. He also furnished information for the record concerning the numerous Communist affiliations of these men. Special Investigator RUSSELL also testified that an approach was made to Dr. J. ROBERT OPPENHEIMER in 1942 while Dr. OPPENHEIMER was engaged in the radiation laboratory of the University of California, Berkeley, Calif. Mr. RUSSELL stated that the approach to Dr. OPPENHEIMER was made by HAAKON CHEVALIER, a professor at the university who attempted to find out from the doctor what was being done in the laboratory on a highly destructive weapon. It was not mentioned in the testimony what the weapon actually was but it was assumed to have been the atomic bomb because of Dr. OPPENHEIMER's connection. Mr. GEORGE CHARLES ELTENTON approached Mr. CHEVALIER and told him that Russia as an ally of the United States in 1942 was entitled to any technical data. Mr. CHEVALIER said that Mr. ELTENTON wanted the information and could relay the information to the Soviet government. Mr. RUSSELL testified that the scientist told Mr. CHEVALIER he considered it a treasonable act and certainly would have nothing to do with it. Mr. RUSSELL then brought out the fact that PETER IVANOV who is connected with the Russian consulate had told ELTENTON to seek the information.

During the course of the questioning, Mr. RUSSELL brought out that CHARLES A. PAGE, a former State Department employee who was identified as a one-time free lance writer in Hollywood and described by a Mexican Communist as one of our men, was closely associated with one LOUISE BRANSTEN, a California heiress, and it was in this manner that contacts were made with individuals in and out of the Communist Party. Mrs. BRANSTEN, according to RUSSELL, was closely associated with Mr. ELTENTON and he also mentioned several McKay radiograms sent to Moscow in connection with the above matter and also asking the officials in Moscow if they had seen the Warner Brothers picture that IVANOV had sent to them. RUSSELL tied the motion picture industry into the testimony by recalling a meeting between ALEXANDER STEPHENS, also known as J. Peters, JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, HERBERT BIBERMAN, WALDO SALT and PAUL JERICO in Los Angeles, the purpose of which was to raise funds and to discuss methods to release BROWDER from the penitentiary.

On October 29, 1947, Mr. M. W. ROWELL, executive director of the Small Business Committee, House of Representatives, advised agents of this office that he is a member of the Republican Party and stated that a friend of his, a Mr. FRED BAKER, Republican committeeman in the state of Washington, is at the present time in Washington, D. C. on business. Mr. BAKER is an acquaintance of BARTLEY C. CRUM, one of the defense attorneys for the "19 hostile witnesses" and who is also a member of the Republican Party. CRUM on at least a half dozen occasions within a period of two days tried to contact BAKER and eventually did see him. He told BAKER that he had been anxious to talk to him because he wanted BAKER to assist him in contacting JOE MARTIN, majority leader in the House of Representatives. BAKER asked why CRUM wanted to see MARTIN and CRUM replied "to stop these contempt charges." BAKER advised CRUM that it was not necessary for him, BAKER to assist CRUM in seeing MARTIN because CRUM was already acquainted with MARTIN. CRUM nevertheless insisted that BAKER accompany CRUM to see MARTIN. According to Mr. ROWELL, BAKER did not accompany CRUM and he does not know if MARTIN had been contacted at the time he furnished the information to the agents.

During the course of CRUM's conversation with BAKER, CRUM said: "We are losing a lot of good Republicans over this thing" (referring to the THOMAS committee hearings on Hollywood). CRUM said: "We don't want to stoop to a low level in the course of our defense but we have information that THOMAS is a former member of the Catholic Church which he has drifted away from, that his true name is not THOMAS but FINNEY or FEENEY, and that he was in some way connected with the VAN SWERINGIN railroad fraud in 1932." CRUM indicated that he did not want to be forced to use this material against the committee. (It was previously brought out at the time that EUGENE DENNIS was subpoenaed before the committee that THOMAS's true name was FEENEY.)

There is being set out below information as received from confidential informants and it is believed this information is self-explanatory.

Confidential Informant [redacted] reported a meeting which was between DAVE WAHL and SAM SAGE from Detroit, Michigan. SAGE identified himself as being with the Wayne County CIO Council and stated that IRVING RICHTER had advised him to get in touch with WAHL. The purpose of the contact was to arrange if possible to have two or three of the Hollywood celebrities who are connected with the Un-American Activities Committee to come to Detroit and appear before the CIO convention about November 9 or 10, 1947. WAHL asked if this was a United Automobile Workers convention and SAGE replied that it was but it was not the convention as scheduled for Atlantic City. SAGE then outlined to WAHL what had happened in Detroit in the last few days. He stated that one of the very, very conservative newspapers in Detroit has (C) joined in the cry for abolition of the House Un-American Activities Committee. He related it was the Detroit Free Press and that it was very strongly opposed to the Committee in an editorial on October 28, 1947. He stated this was a reversal of its earlier policy and WAHL stated this has been happening with lots of papers throughout the country and especially the Herald Tribune in New York has been very good. SAGE advised WAHL he could get some free radio time when the celebrities arrive in Detroit. He also stated he has a daily radio commentator on a station in Detroit that has a very big following in the afternoon. He stated this station has the best disc jockey show with the best hooper rating of any rpogram in the area. This station has agreed to give SAGE time right in that disc jockey show. SAGE then indicated that it would have to be a hurry up job because of the elections the following Tuesday at which there has been considerable hysteria raised about Reds taking over the city. WAHL stated he would talk to some of these people but did not think they would be able to leave Washington until the hearings are over and possibly they could stop on their way back to Hollywood. DAVE asked SAGE where he could contact SAGE and SAGE stated at Cadillac 8120 and his address is [redacted] (X) b6 b7C

At 12:03 p.m., approximately one hour later, JOHN DIERKES contacted DAVID WAHL and told WAHL that BIBERMAN and ORNITZ were both cited at the hearings that day. WAHL then advised DIERKES of the above information concerning the request for Hollywood celebrities to appear in Detroit and DIERKES remarked that he thought that was wonderful, especially as the Detroit Free Press is a Scripps-Howard paper. He advised WAHL that he would immediately endeavor to ascertain people as requested. He called WAHL back a few minutes later saying that all the Hollywood people had checked out of the Hotel Statler and were probably in New York City. DIERKES stated he would follow up on the request and try to obtain these people for Mr. SAGE in Detroit. (X)

At 2:00 p.m. on the same date JOHN DIERKES again contacted DAVE WAHL and DIERKES advised that JOHN KNIGHT of the Knight papers had breakfast with BARTLEY CRUM some three weeks ago in Chicago and CRUM had remarked that the State Department had a file on the "mufti" and that he had information that was as accurate and useful as that of the State Department and KNIGHT wants this and wants to publish it. CRUM indicated that he could obtain this information for KNIGHT and would send it to him. DIERKES asked WAHL if he would call Metropolitan 2844, which is Mr. PAUL LEECH, a representative of Mr. KNIGHT here in Washington, and was told to get in touch with CRUM in regard to this and asked what, why and where as to securing the above records. WAHL said he would make the call. (X)

At 11:32 a.m. this date Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that b7D
SELMA REIN had at that time contacted Mr. WIGGINS at the Washington Post. SELMA spent approximately 12 minutes telling Mr. WIGGINS that she has been a reader of the Post for ten years and that their accounts of the Un-American Activities hearings are not being reported accurately. SELMA said that the news reports on the front pages do not conincide with the editorial page. WIGGINS replied that is the way we try to run the paper--we try not to have the news colored by our editorial views. SELMA then pointed out a particular article which she called as being colored by Miss MARY SPARGO (phonetic) who wrote the article. WIGGINS said he had no evidence to indicate that Miss SPARGO does not write impartially. SELMA said she is sure that someone like SPARGO who was once a spy for the Un-American Activities Committee is highly prejudiced in their favor. WIGGINS said he has followed the accounts of the hearings in the other papers and found that SPARGO's accounts are the same. SELMA said five times as many people read the news as read the editorials so that five times as many people are influenced by MARY SPARGO's news articles. WIGGINS then pointed out to SELMA that her figures were not accurate and that a study of the readers was made three times per year and the editorials are read by as high as 35% to 38% of the readers. SELMA again brought up the fact that SPARGO was once in the pay of the Committee and testified before them as a spy. WIGGINS said we have a lot of people in the government of the United States who are engaged in a reputable business of getting information for government bodies and I don't carry my antipathy of the Committee where I don't think a committee of Congress has a right to operate or where it is not reputable to be employed by them. SELMA objected to the way Miss SPARGO refers to the National Lawyers Guild as "the organization that was cited as a Red front by Attorney General BIDDLE." WIGGINS said he thinks it pertinent for the readers to know that the National Lawyers Guild is widely believed to be a part of a Red front organization. Continuing WIGGINS added if there is not anything in reproach about being a Communist, he does not know why people object to being identified with them. SELMA replied "I don't know one way or the other." At no time during the conversation did SELMA REIN give her name or identify herself to WIGGINS. (b) (4) (4)

HERB indicated he did not know how much longer he would be able to retain his present employment but possibly may be able to hang on. (b)(4)

PALMER stated that we will fight it out with GEORGE BENDER when he comes in. SCHIMMEL stated that the reason he contacted WEBER is to see whether WEBER thinks GEORGE BENDER might do something on these hearings before the Un-American Activities Committee. PALMER was of the impression that he did not think he would, stating that BENDER could not afford to. SCHIMMEL then asked PALMER if it would be worthwhile to have BARTLEY CRUM call BENDER. PALMER replied in the affirmative and SCHIMMEL said he was going to do it, but wanted to first know what WEBER's reaction was. PALMER indicated he was in favor of CRUM's calling BENDER. (U)

At 4:20 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that MARTIN POPPER had contacted his wife at home and said they have a great victory with the termination of the hearings and he would tell her more about it later. KATHERYN POPPER stated that CLEO and DALTON TRUMBO were coming to their home for dinner that evening and that MARTY could invite eight more people. They decided they would also have BEN MARGOLIS, CHARLIE KATZ, HERBERT BIBERMAN and SAMUEL ORNITZ and their wives. b7D

At 7:58 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported a conversation between KATHERYN POPPER and FEO ATHANASSOV who is the wife of BOYAN ATHANASSOV, Bulgarian minister to the United States. KATHERYN invited the ATHANASSOVS over to meet some of the Hollywood people who are dining with them and FEO promised they would be over at approximately 9:30 p.m. KATHERYN also asked FEO to call the MAKIEDOS and invite them as KATHERYN had lost the number. b7D

At 8:05 p.m. LETSA MAKIEDO contacted MARTIN POPPER and stated they were sorry but they could not come to the POPPERS' that evening.

At 8:10 p.m. MARTIN POPPER contacted VLADOV HOUDEK of the Hungarian Mission and invited him and his wife over to meet some of the Hollywood people. HOUDEK stated he would be over but his wife would have to remain with the children.

At 8:16 p.m. MARTIN POPPER invited FRANK DONNER and his wife, MADELINE, over to meet his Hollywood friends. MADELINE DONNER stated her husband, FRANK, was in Ohio but she would come over if POPPER would promise to see that she got a cab home.

At 9:57 a.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that DON MURTHA asked if DAVE REIN had been in touch with the committee on the reception for the Hollywood people tomorrow. DAVE said he is the committee and in charge of the arrangements and LOU LEEDS is in charge of the tickets. DAVE will purchase the food and liquor for the reception. DAVE replied that the tickets are going fairly well but he has not had a final report from LEEDS. DON is afraid because of the hearings coming to a close that some of the Hollywood people might leave town before tonight. DAVE said the Hollywood people are scheduled for a big cocktail party in New York on November 2, 1947 therefore the 19 Hollywood defendants will not leave the East Coast. DON said he had been talking to RUTH RUFKIN who said that BOB KENNY was staying over for the party but she was not sure of BARTLEY CRUM. DAVE said he would check with BOB SILVERSTEIN on this immediately. DON said if it has not been going well and it appears as though it is going to be a flop, they should get some people together at noon today to call people on the phone, that if they had to dig up a hundred people they could do it. b7D

At 2:52 p.m. DAVID REIN contacted DON MURTHA at the Labor Department and said that BOB KENNY will be at the reception tomorrow night but BOB SILBERSTEIN and MARTIN POPPER are still working on CRUM to stay. DAVE said he was unable to contact LOU LEEDS and as a result did not know the result of the ticket sales. JOE FORER, DON MURTHA and DAVE REIN will serve the drinks and FRANK REEVES, a Negro member, has tickets but DAVE does not know whether he sold any. DAVE also stated LEEDS will be at the door to collect the money. The admission is $1.50 and the drinks will be sold. They then discussed the amount of liquor they should buy for the affair.

At 10:17 a.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] stated that VIRGINIA DURR and KATHERYN POPPER talked about the party tomorrow afternoon. KATHERYN said that MARTY is going to New York on Sunday and that most of the 19 went to New York that day. KATHERYN thinks the lawyers are going to be in New York tomorrow. KATHERYN said she spoke to BOB SILBERSTEIN last night and he said the party is still going on. Both KATHERYN and VIRGINIA discussed the Un-American Activities hearings and both agree they have won a temporary victory and that the reason the hearings were stopped was because the committee began to feel that public opinion was against them. KATHERYN said that last night they all felt very good about it and that they had forced a retreat if only temporarily. VIRGINIA stated she spent Wednesday at the hearings and "it's real frightening--a dreadful witch burning atmosphere." VIRGINIA said she b7D sat with MARTHA GILHORN (phonetic) who has been through all these things everywhere. MARTHA said it was just exactly like the beginnings of the kangaroo courts in Germany. They do not send them to jail but they deprive them of their livelihood if they can. VIRGINIA said she does not think it quite that bad and the newspapers were not as bad as they might have been. VIRGINIA said it seems to her they were trying to get the motion picture industry to promise to fire them all and get a black list of people they consider subversive. KATHERYN said the Committee also wants the industry to commit itself to make anti-Soviet and anti-Communist pictures. VIRGINIA said she went to the hearings particularly to hear LOWELL MELLETT, stating he is a great friend of theirs and lives out by them. She complained that MELLETT was not called to the stand. VIRGINIA goes on to say that the terrifying thing about the hearings is that it is all being done on a completely false basis. KATHERYN said as far as she knows the party is still on tomorrow afternoon so they will see each other then. VIRGINIA mentions that KENNY and CRUM are the only ones she particularly wanted to ask out tomorrow afternoon so if they are in town she, VIRGINIA, will personally invite them. (C)

At 11:55 a.m. according to Confidential Informant [redacted], KATHERYN POPPER contacted ROBERT KENNY at the University Club and said that Mrs. VIRGINIA DURR had wanted them to come out to their house Sunday. KENNY said he would be on the 20th Century going up to New York Saturday night but will be here for cocktails and leave on the midnight train. KENNY stated he is going to be on the Meet the Press radio program tonight-- "I have IZZY STONE, JIMMY WEXLER and PHELPS ADAMS of the New York Sun." ROBERT KENNY said IZZY is coming over to have dinner with him so they can plan the questions. KATHERYN asked how BOB feels about the thing and BOB said he thinks we are in very good shape. BOB thinks the committee exposed itself. (C) b7D

At 4:50 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that RHODA BUXBAUM asked MIRIAM DRIMMER (phonetic) how her collections of money were coming. MIRIAM replied not too well. Then RHODA stated that Congressman SABATH had introduced a bill to terminate the House Un-American Activities Committee and the bill is now with the House Rules Committee. RHODA said it will take a lot of pressure to get the bill out of the committee and suggested that they either preparea a letter or postcards or get the individual union members to write their own members to the House Rules Committee and tell them to send the bill forward. Also, they want all the union members to write to their Congressmen and tell them to terminate the Committee. RHODA suggests she will draw up a sample letter saying that it is a labor baiting committee. MIRIAM said that there has been so much name calling already and it is unsuccessful. She suggests they get (C)(U) b7D some legal reasoning or something. RHODA said she gets so mad she could probably write a letter of three pages herself. She said the basis on which you attack the Committee is that it has promised to investigate the KKK and a lot of other things and it has not. RHODA said so far all they have investigated is the Winston-Salem strikers which was plainly an effort to intimidate them, the anti-Fascist committee, and the movie industry. RHODA said that the Committee did not substantiate their charges on the movie industry. RHODA then read part of a transcript of an interview between BARTLEY CRUM and ED HART on the radio. In it CRUM was saying that the Committee has developed the following standards on un-Americanism and anyone who believes in the following things is either a Communist or un-American. The list includes: If you listen to PAUL ROBESON, you are a Communist; if you believe there is prejudice against Jews or Negroes; if you poke fun at rich people; if you live over a grocery store; if you laugh in such a manner that you look downtrodden. RHODA said CRUM took all of these quotes from the transcripts of the Committee of the "friendly witnesses." They both believed that it is a very good idea to write the letter and they plan to meet on the following Tuesday to get the letter prepared and decide to get 50 cards and 50 envelopes. They will stamp and address the envelopes to be sure the people sent them in. RHODA said in a later conversation that the address to which the letter should be sent is LEO A. ALLEN, Chairman, House Rules Committee, House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

At 10:47 p.m. BEANIE BALDWIN from New York contacted MARTIN POPPER and asked if MARTY OSTRANDER (phonetic) had seen MARTY that night. MARTY said no that he was probably at the Hotel Shoreham right now. They then discuss the difficulty being had in Philadelphia concerning the obtaining of Independence Hall in order to have a rally sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America. MARTY stated that they did not desire the meeting to be held in Independence Square in Philadelphia because they were afraid they would be jeered or booed and as a result there would be screaming headlines throughout the country stating that a meeting which they addressed in Independence Square was either broken up or a large fight took place. MARTY said it was on this basis they desired an indoor meeting in Philadelphia. MARTY became very excited in contending that the witnesses have a tremendous job to carry on without getting into a fight in Philadelphia and that they should not have to be used to make a free speech fight in Philadelphia. MARTY feels that under the circumstances in Philadelphia harm has already been done when a whole city administration says they do not want "these guys" to come in and that is not very helpful in the fight against the Un-American Committee. MARTY tells BEANIE that he (BEANIE) does not have to persuade him about building the PCA as MARTY is a member of the board and on the council of PCA. BEANIE points out he is not thinking of this thing in connection with PCA but in terms of the whole broad side. MARTY explains this is not the way to conduct a broadside as it was agreed by everyone there that it was a mistake and we should ~~not jam down~~ astrander their throats something they do not think is sound. MARTY explains that "all of us" should agree that a "lousy mistake" was made as "these guys" should never have gone through a city fight involving "these guys" at this time because of all over the nation there will be headlines that "these guys" were refused the right to speak by the city administration and had to get court injunction and a bunch of Legionaires booed them and a bunch of other people were against them. MARTY adds that BEANIE knows the press will not be with us on it. The situation being what it is, MARTY can not understand why the Philadelphia people could not have got us "off the spot" and have an indoor meeting. BEANIE's explanation is that their problem is that they advertised this meeting. MARTY can not understand why their Philadelphia people can not hail this as a victory for free speech and hold it in a hotel. MARTY adds that their Philadelphia people got this injunction and why does the issue have to be forced. BEANIE stated that the thing is being argued tomorrow in the Circuit Court. MARTY explains that makes it even worse since suppose the Circuit Court reverses the District judge and then the meeting can not be held in Independence Hall. BEANIE said he understands that every step of these plans were cleared, not with MARTY, but that they (Philadelphia people) talked with BIBERMAN right along. MARTY said he (BIBERMAN) is over at the Shoreham Hotel now and that MARGOLIS is with him and is giving him the whole story and BIBERMAN will undoubtedly check with New York with some of the leaders.

MARTY confirms that "these guys" are willing to come up there (New York) and can really do a job by saying there is victory, etc., and now they are placed in an embarrassing position. MARTY explains that it is not fair to get LEWIS MILESTONE having eggs thrown at him on the steps of Independence Hall as that is what the THOMAS committee would like. MARTY remarks that this is the major civil liberties fight in this country and the first good one and he can not understand why their record should be blemished and public relations issues created. POPPER remarks that early in the week when the Philadelphia meeting was proposed they would not have a meeting at Independence Hall if there was any problem and the next thing they heard was late this afternoon the city council had said no and the court injunction was sought--- "that really raised our skins off our backs because we know what the hell that means. We don't want a repitition of the Trenton thing with EISLER---that isn't going to help us." MARTY then asked BEANIE if he heard KENNY on the Meet the Press program and BEANIE answered he had not and then MARTY said he did very good. BEANIE thinks KENNY did a "terrific job" when they called him on the stand the other day. MARTY remarks "brilliant" and adds it is the first real counteroffensive since ROOSEVELT's death. They conclude the conversation by stating that MARTY believes he is coming up to New York on Monday and hopes to see BEANIE.

CONFIDENTIAL

At 11:04 P.M. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported a conversation between MARTIN POPPER and BEN MARGOLIS and MARTY OSTRANDER (ph). During the course of this conversation these three individuals were discussing the difficulty being had in obtaining Independence Hall in Philadelphia for a rally sponsored by the PCA at which the featured speakers were to be the "Hollywood Group." The main trend of this conversation was the difficulty had in obtaining the Hall and the fact that their attorneys in Philadelphia were going to fight a ruling handed down by the United States District Court preventing them the use of the Hall, and were going to appeal to the Circuit Court in Philadelphia. MARTY OSTRANDER indicated that SOL WALBAUM, local Philadelphia attorney, was handling the case for them in Philadelphia. (SOL WALBAUM is a known Communist of the Philadelphia Field Office and has been Communist Party attorney as well as a Director of the Philadelphia School of Social Science, a Communist Party organization, for the past several years) It was also indicated that the appeal was scheduled for hearing just three hours before the scheduled time for the rally and due to the large amount of newspaper publicity they were afraid that a large group of "Vets" as well as "the whole damned town" was going to be there and interrupt any attempt at holding a rally. b7D

MARTIN POPPER indicated that it was his opinion that the whole situation in Philadelphia was handled badly and that such adverse publicity in connection with the meeting would "put the guys (LARRY PARKS and LEWIS MILESTONE) on the spot and they could not stand such adverse publicity." The conversation was concluded by MARGOLIS stating that it was a question of how it was handled, and that if the people there can handle it so that it comes out that way, maybe we could take a chance on the meeting.

At 2:45 P. M. on this day Confidential Informant [redacted] reported a conversation between an unidentified woman in WYNN NATHANSON'S office in New York City and DAVID WAHL. She advised WAHL that they had not been able to get anything as yet for BARTLEY C. CRUM at the St. Regis Hotel. WAHL said that CRUM had come up with something at the New Yorker, but in case they did get someting at the St. Regis to call CRUM here in Washington at the Hay Adams Hotel. DAVE stated that CRUM would be at the Hay Adams Hotel until 9:00 P. M. tonight. He also advised the unidentified woman that he, DAVID WAHL, is leaving on the 4:00 o'clock train for New York City and upon arrival would contact NATHANSON. The woman gave WYNN NATHANSON'S new phone number as REgent 4-6212. DAVE mentioned in the conversation that CRUM is to see NATHANSON and FEINBERG (ph) on the following afternoon. b7D

At 10:00 A. M. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported a discussion between COLEMAN ROSENBERGER and HENRY COLLINS wherein COLEMAN advised COLLINS that he just discovered that the Lawyers Guild reception for BARTLEY CRUM and ROBERT KENNY was being held this evening from 4:00 to 6:30 P. M. COLEMAN said he thinks maybe he will stop by the reception as he is going to his office. COLEMAN asked if b7D

HENRY COLLINS was coming in to the reception. HENRY stated that he was having some people come out and COLEMAN said he is sorry that he had misinformed HENRY on it as he thought it was for Monday. HENRY said one of the persons coming is a lawyer who is probably a Guild member and the other two are girls. COLEMAN advised COLLINS that they are charging a dollar for admission to the reception, which was to be at the POPPER home. COLEMAN stated he would come out to HENRY's place after he stopped by the reception. COLLINS indicated that he might come in to the reception himself.

At 5:30 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that JOHN MC TERNEN (phonetic) talked to MARTIN POPPER from California and asked how MARTIN and everything was progressing. POPPER indicated that "we feel pretty good." MC TERNEN then stated that "the same thing (Un-American Activities investigation) is developing out here and the state committee is going into session Monday--the Peden (ph) Committee. They are apparently going to pick up certain of the things that were left off in the THOMAS Committee. We want to work out a similar campaign here and we feel it terribly important to have one of the guys who was in on the THOMAS Committee back here Monday morning." b7D

POPPER indicated that all of the men are out of town at present and suggested that JOHN call BEN MARGOLIS directly. MARTIN stated further that MARGOLIS is in Philadelphia but will be back in New York City tonight where he is stopping at the Park Central Hotel. He said BEN was attending a meeting in Philadelphia and JOHN asked if it would be possible to get through to LOUIS MC DAY or anyone immediately. POPPER indicated that it was very doubtful, inasmuch as the reception in Philadelphia was probably over by this time. POPPER also advised MC TERNEN that CHARLEY KATZ, another Los Angeles attorney, is also with BEN MARGOLIS in Philadelphia and that he also will be back in New York that evening. CHARLEY KATZ, according to POPPER, is staying at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. JOHN then asked POPPER if he would send him all copies of all motions that were made in Washington before the Un-American Activities Committee and requested POPPER to address them to RICKIE GLADSTEIN (ph), [redacted] MARTIN indicated that he would try to send the copies that evening, stating that he may have trouble inasmuch as most of the material has been taken with the attorneys to Philadelphia and New York, but he probably has copies of most of the motions. JOHN asked if MARTIN has any suggestions and POPPER replied that JOHN knows the general pattern of the hearings "and I don't think there is anything more that one should say over the phone." b6 b7C

They then discussed how their propaganda campaign is progressing and JOHN replied that it is going over great on the West Coast and the reaction was just magnificent. They concluded the conversation by stating that it was vitally important to get these motions out to California by Sunday so that BERT MEDISES, JOHN MC TERNEN and RICKIE GLADSTEIN could spend some time Sunday evening looking them over.

At 2:57 P. M. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that BOB SILBERSTEIN on that date contacted MARTIN POPPER and said he had just remembered that the editor of the Harvard Law School Record, which has a circulation of all the law students and about 5,000 of the Harvard Alumni, wrote to him enclosing a letter to KENNY. BOB thinks it would be very useful "to get such an article in," and asked if POPPER will write it. POPPER will see that an article is written for the Harvard Law School Record and will have it signed by ROBERT KENNY and possibly BARTLEY CRUM also. He then advised SILBERSTEIN that he would be going to New York early on the following morning, since there are a couple of conferences on "this Hollywood thing" before the people go back to Hollywood. b7D

[November 3, 1947]

At 10:00 A. M. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported a discussion between PEGGY McINTYRE and KATHRYN POPPER wherein PEGGY said she spent Saturday evening with GAIL McDONALD, who told PEGGY that she had had the most wonderful time of her life doing work with the POPPERS the preceding week. PEGGY stated that on the basis of such a recommendation she wondered if there was any possibility of any additional work coming up that she might obtain. KATHRYN advised that the hearings have been called off and everyone had left Washington and MARTIN had gone to New York that morning. KATHRYN told PEGGY that she knew of nothing at the moment, but would like to have her phone number so that if an occasion arose she would be able to contact her. PEGGY stated that she has been out of work for about two weeks and that most of the preceding week she was just a volunteer down at the Southern Conference for Human Welfare offices. PEGGY McINTYRE gave her phone number as REpublic 5983. She said she could type and is an economist or statistician, and has what the Government calls a P-3 classification. She also advised that she has just quit the President's Commission on Higher Education. The Commission's report is now finished, according to PEGGY, so that they dismissed three individuals, one of which was PEGGY. PEGGY indicated that she needs something awfully bad and would like something along the lines that we all believe in. KATHRYN said that apparently there is not going to be much doing in Washington because the group is going back to the Coast and KATHRYN supposes that most of the attorneys' work will be done from there. b7D

PEGGY also stated that although she would like to work for money at the present time, she would also be willing to volunteer. PEGGY asked if there would be anything for her at the LAWYERS GUILD office and KATHRYN stated that there was nothing for money at the Guild because the Guild is broke. PEGGY stated that so far as any volunteer job of any duration was concerned, she has been a Board Member of the SOUTHERN CONFERENCE FOR HUMAN WELFARE since the first meeting in Birmingham, Alabama, about ten years ago, and GORDON McINTYRE, her husband and she were both workers in the South and there is some sentimental attachment.

She stated if KATHRYN attempted to call her and was unable to reach her at home, KATHRYN was to call her husband at EXecutive 3300, Extension 46, at his office, which is at the Bureau of the Budget, and suggested that if there should be any message, for KATHRYN not to leave the name of the organization, but just leave her name and the phone number.

KATHRYN then asked where PEGGY resides and PEGGY asked KATHRYN if she ever knew LEROY and MARTHA DAVIDSON. KATHRYN answered in the negative and PEGGY said LEROY is the boy who bought all the art for the State Department this year--"that wonderful stuff that the President called a bunch of trash." PEGGY said they live in the same apartment the DAVIDSONS had and it is on [redacted] They concluded the conversation by agreement to meet for lunch some day the following week.

November 5, 1947

At 12:10 P. M. Confidential Informant [redacted] advised that MARTIN POPPER had on that date contacted CHARLEY KRAMER while he, POPPER, was in New York, and KRAMER was in DAVID WAHL'S office, inquiring whether CHARLEY has ever heard of BETTY HAYS' husband, WILLIAM HAYS, (in the Office of General Counsel, CIO) who has the reputation of being a good public relations man, and who is doing public relations for "this outfit" against World War III. POPPER was unable to recall the name of the organization and KRAMER indicated that he may have run into HAYS, however could not recall him, but would check around that afternoon and recontact POPPER. POPPER advised KRAMER that he thinks the setup will be that he, MARTIN, will continue as Washington counsel. MARTIN wants to have a long talk with KRAMER about the set up and what can be done, and CHARLEY wanted to discuss WILLIAM HAYS with MARTIN because MARTIN has RANDY FELTUS in mind also. CHARLEY advises against using FELTUS and MARTIN stated that he was reluctant to, but there was no other one around. KRAMER stated that they had been thinking about this matter earlier in the day and were discussing who could be obtained for this position.

b7D

KRAMER will try to recontact MARTIN after checking on HAYS and one other person that KRAMER had discussed earlier in the day. MARTIN suggested that they have a long talk on the following day because there were several aspects and "maybe you (KRAMER) can be involved." CHARLEY then discussed with MARTIN the item of appearing in the Washington newspapers this morning to the effect that the THOMAS COMMITTEE will resume its investigation and hearings and MARTIN thinks the press release is based upon THOMAS' radio speech on the previous night, of which KRAMER was not cognizant. CHARLEY indicated that there are two divergent stories--that the Committee will resume activities and that the press release was merely publicity to keep the thing alive. CHARLEY related another story to the effect that general Press Club gossip is that the leadership stepped in and intervened in this thing.

CONFIDENTIAL

CHARLEY started to relate that he has two ideas which he had discussed with a couple of people that morning and which they thought well of in connection with the possibility that the hearings will continue in a couple weeks which will concide with the reopening of Congress. At this point KRAMER decided that his discussion would keep until the following day and thought best not to discuss it further over the phone. They agreed to arrange a meeting on the following day.

At 12:20 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that WYNN NATHANSON had contacted DAVID WAHL and NATHANSON stated that he had a call from a fellow named HAUSER of the National Zionist Fund who had stated that BARTLEY CRUM was speaking for them in New Rochelle, New York, on the 13th of November. WAHL indicated that he believed it impossible inasmuch as CRUM left by train for San Francisco on November 4th and will spend the weekend in Aptos, California. WAHL suggested that HAUSER wire CRUM to confirm this, inasmuch as CRUM probably did not know what he was doing when he accepted the invitation to speak. b7D

NATHANSON then asked WAHL if he had a good biography of CRUM and WAHL stated that he did not but suggested that WYNN contact JOHN DIERKES and if IDERKES is unable to dash off a biography, WAHL then suggested that WYNN write or wire Miss ULLNER in CRUM's office telling her what he desires. The balance of the conversation concerned the organization in which DAVID WAHL has recently secured employment, namely The Americans for Hagannah.

[November 6, 1947]

At 10:25 a.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that ROBERT KENNY had contacted MARTIN POPPER and POPPER advised KENNY that he had just returned from New York that morning. KENNY said that the Hearst correspondent, SENTNER (ph), has a signed story this morning saying that ROBERT STRIPLING, chief investigator for the House Un-American Activities Committee, has just discovered a short cut in that the citations for contempt of Congress can be referred directly to the Speaker of the House and then to the Courts, and that is what Representative THOMAS is going to do. POPPER said that he has two things in mind but as yet Speaker MARTIN hasn't arrived in Washington. POPPER will make a formal call on Speaker MARTIN and second, have some other people see MARTIN. POPPER indicated that he particularly was going to have Congressman BENDER of Ohio "who seems to be more possible than anybody else in the way of help." b7D

George H

CONFIDENTIAL

POPPER wonders if anything can be done in this line with WARREN of California. BOB feels that WARREN would not be willing. BOB suggested also that someone ought to get BARTLEY CRUM to contact his friend, JACOB JAVITZ, Congressman from New York, to contact Speaker MARTIN. POPPER also suggested that WELCH of California also be contacted. BOB says the Hearst papers are behaving badly and WELCH plays ball with them pretty closely. BOB said for POPPER to have his secretary, RUTH RIFKIN, air mail BOB's accounts out to him today as he will be needing them.

POPPER said that "we are anxious to have DOUGLAS (HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS) begin moving in on this stuff." BOB asked if POPPER meant MELVIN DOUGLAS and he stated, no that he meant HELEN DOUGLAS. Someone should see her, according to POPPER, and get a commitment as to what she is willing to do on this. BOB stated he will find this out as the liaison is not too good in Washington.

At 11:43 a.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that MARTIN POPPER contacted WILLIAM HAYS who is employed in the general counsel's office of the National CIO Organization with LEE PRESSMAN and asked BILL what he was doing these days. BILL stated that he was representing a couple of trade associations but that all of his time was not taken up. MARTIN stated that he would like to talk to BILL about a job that would take a lot of time on this Hollywood business. BILL said that he is interested and asked when he should come down. MARTIN told him that the sooner the better and BILL stated that he would contact POPPER at approximately 2:30 p.m. this day. They concluded the conversation but agreed to have lunch together at 12:30 p.m. that day. b7D

At 3:35 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that SELMA REIN contacted BETTY HAYS and BETTY mentions that her husband, BILL HAYS, is now working for ROBERT KENNY and is to work for the "bill" on the citations. BETTY said that they are both very thrilled about it and SELMA thinks it an excellent idea. The balance of the conversation was not pertinent to this investigation. b7D

November 7, 1947

At 9:47 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] advised that JOSEPH HANLON had contacted MARTIN POPPER and advised that he was with the Washington bureau of the St. Louis Post Dispatch and he is trying to get hold of JOHN ROGGE tonight because of the broadcast of ED MURROW tonight which quoted him, ROGGE, as saying that there were going to be six people indicted in the New York Grand Jury investigation of supposed Communist activities in Washington, and that ROGGE knew about it because he had been employed as attorney for three of them. b7D

HANLON said that CHARLEY KRAMER said that MARTIN POPPER might be able to suggest how to get in touch with ROGGE. HANLON said the broadcast incidated that ROGGE is in Los Angeles. POPPER said if he is in Los Angeles, he doesn't know how to reach him and he, POPPER, hasn't seen him for weeks. HANLON then asked if POPPER would be available the following day if he, HANLON, doesn't reach ROGGE, and POPPER stated, "Yes, either at home or at the office."

CONF. INFT.

At 10:05 P. M. Confidential Informants [redacted] and [redacted] reported that MARTIN POPPER, while talking to PALMER WEBBER, suggested that WEBBER ought to help him persuade Congressman BENDER to do a couple of things. PALMER has already talked to BENDER about it, and BENDER said that he will see what he can do for POPPER. POPPER indicated that he will go to see BENDER in his office on Monday. PALMER stated that HERBERT SCHIMMEL would go up to the Congressman's office with POPPER. PALMER indicated that BENDER said he would do everything within reason that he could. PALMER told POPPER to go in and see SCHIMMEL first and SCHIMMEL will go in to BENDER'S office with him. PALMER then asked if "they" were on the offensive yet, and PALMER countered by asking if "you" lawyers have quit quarreling like a bunch of legal bloodhounds and gotten down to doing a real mass job. POPPER said they were trying like Cain and then asked PALMER how CIO PAC was going to help us. PALMER did not answer this query and they concluded by stating that they would contact each other again the following day. b7D

At 10:10 P. M. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported a conversation between MARTIN POPPER and BILL HAYS at which time BILL said "we" got the following Congressmen for the broadcast: b7D

HERMAN P. EBERHARTER
EMANUEL CELLER
VITO MARCANTONIO
ADOLPH JOHN SABATH
GEORGE G. SADOWSKI

POPPER said that that was good stuff and MARTIN advised that he would be seeing Congressman BENDER on Monday. BILL said Congressman CHET HOLIFIELD wouldn't go and said no, because even though he, HOLIFIELD was 100% with us, he was worried about the political situation there in California and this would be an ideal target for his opponents. POPPER, after considering a little bit, said "We are going to put the head on them out there." MARTIN said he will con BOB KENNY, that they can't get away with that stuff. BILL said HOLIFIELD worked very hard here for THE COMMITTEE FOR THE FIRST AMENDMENT, but is not the least bit set on his vote against the contempt citations, although he, HOLIFIELD, agrees right down the line. BILL said HOLIFIELD is afraid of the coming election and MARTY says, "We'll make him afraid, since we have votes out there too." BILL said that HOLIFIELD isn't even sure that he will vote against us. MARTY indicated that was very good information, since that meant that they really had to go to town out there in California. BILL said if that holds for HOLIFIELD that conclusion will go right down the line on the delegation. BILL has held up calling Congressman HAVENNER. MARTY suggested that BILL lay off California since HOLIFIELD indicated what the problem was.

CONFIDENTIAL

POPPER stated that he was expecting a call from Los Angeles about 9:00 A. M. the following day and will give them this information about HOLIFIELD and tell them to get on the ball, otherwise will be scooped, since it is the whole delegation out there. BILL indicated that that depends on the dinner and everything else. BILL said that SABATH was out as far as the dinner was concerned, since SABATH does not know when he will be back, but SABATH would be on the broadcast by transcription or pickup. BILL said that Congressman SABATH is not coming for the opining session of Congress, since he is not well. POPPER indicated that that was bad, since SABATH wouldn't be on the floor then.

MARTIN knows Congressman SADOWSKI pretty well personally. BILL said SADOWSKI will be here and wants to get together with us about Friday and get the stuff to go. MARTY said he was glad about SADOWSKI. MARTY asked about Congressman JACOB JAVITS and BILL said JAVITS, although he did not know what his calendar is, would let BILL know on Tuesday when he, JAVITS, is in town. POPPER stated that he would go up to see JAVITS at his office. MARTY is going to try to get some comments from JAVITS friends and shame JAVITS, and also get the New York people after JAVITS. BILL thought that JAVITS could stand a little pressure.

BILL will see Congressman MORRIS tomorrow at 10:00 o'clock. BILL stated that the broadcast will need more work since BILL had a turndown on the two broadcasts. MARTY said that "We will have the FCC after us." BILL said that it was the All-American Hookup and MARTY said "Both American?" and BILL said, "Yes." It was not turned down in Washington, but in New York. BILL said that they carried very good news converage of the House Un-American Activities hearings and also on-the-spot broadcasts and BILL admitted that was right and, secondly, they said there had been two broadcasts for the Committee for the First Amendment, at which time POPPER interrupted to say that they had paid for it, and thirdly, after the hearings were suddenly terminated, the hookups asked KENNY for a statement and KENNY made a statement, which MARTY said was one and one half minutes. BILL said that the above is their hookup story and actually our argument is not in Washington, but in New York. MARTY corrected him and said, "No, the FCC."

BILL said that the two broadcasts by Congressman J. PARNELL THOMAS and O'NEIL of the American Legion, were in answer to the two by the Committee. The hookups feel that they have given it equal balance. MARTY said they haven't since the Committee paid for it. MARTY says we need three or four more guys which we should be able to get by Monday or Tuesday.

BILL said that WALTER HUBER of Ohio was going to call BILL about midnight. BILL was perturbed about running up the telephone bill. BILL wanted to get together with MARTY tomorrow night, but MARTY said he and KATHRYN are going out somewhere. (From previous information, the POPPERS are attending a reception at the Soviet Embassy on the following evening). MARTY will contact BILL tomorrow afternoon. BILL stated that he has to see Congressman SOL BLOOM tomorrow, but BILL is not going to touch this on BLOOM because BLOOM is out on this, but BILL has to see BLOOM on some other matters. MARTY will contact BILL tomorrow and will leave a message if BILL isn't there.

Confidential Informant [redacted] advised that on the same morning POPPER talked with BEN MARGOLIS, Los Angeles, advising he saw Speaker MARTIN today and MARTIN takes the position under the law if Congress is not in session and the Committee recommends certification (citations), it is mandatory for him to do so. POPPER claimed this is untrue and incorrect, and that he had gotten a concession from MARTIN to allow oral argument before him. POPPER stated he is working on the brief on the legal point, but there is not much law on the subject and it is very clearly a matter of discretion for the Speaker. He argued if Congress can vote it down, there is no reason why the Speaker can not do so. POPPER mentioned bad news in that someone had spoken to CHET HOLIFIELD, who is not convinced he will not vote against the citation, and he will not go on the broadcast, and the same is true of HELEN DOUGLAS. MARGOLIS stated so far it looked as if HOLIFIELD will vote for the citation. MARGOLIS advised POPPER they would send a check for two or three thousand dollars to get the thing started and the budget POPPER had proposed yesterday is approved, but they could not send all the money yet. b7D

Confidential Informant [redacted] advised that POPPER spoke with CHARLES KRAMER, who related in the opinion of SCHIMMEL and WEBER, Congressman GEORGE BENDER would not be available for that thing. However, for behind the scenes operations or contacting Speaker MARTIN he would be OK. KRAMER stated that they are compiling a list of Congressmen who voted against the thing and maybe they can get someone from that list. POPPER stated he wanted to know when CLAUDE PEPPER will be back, and KRAMER stated tonight or tomorrow. POPPER said he wanted to know as soon as CLAUDE returns, so he can see him about getting together with McGRATH (Senator J. HOWARD McGRATH?). b7D

POPPER related he had put BILL HAYS to work, and BILL has an organized idea of what it is all about. POPPER asked if KRAMER talked with HERMAN (EDELSBERG). KRAMER stated he had not been able to do so yet, but SCHIMMEL reporter HERMAN's position was not too secure and he might not be willing to risk taking leave to work on this. (EDELSBERG is believed employed by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.) POPPER mentioned DAVE ZISKIND

CONFIDENTIAL

(phonetic) had indicated he was available and willing to work on this thing. POPPER stated he thought ZISKIND all right but wanted to talk to LEE (PRESSMAN?) and PALMER (WEBER) about him. KRAMER suggested DAVID CARLINER (believed to be Communist) as a good research man. POPPER agreed he would be all right if he was under somebody, but declined the suggestion.

Confidential Informant [redacted] stated that BILL HAYS inquired of POPPER about HAROLD ICKES and LOWELL MELLETT. POPPER stated they were all right and the only test is whether or not they are willing to speak against the contempt citation. HAYS observed right now there are many guys he could not reach, Senator KILGORE for instance. POPPER stated they would do what they could and try and obtain at least ten. b7D

C. B. BALDWIN, New York City, conversed with POPPER advising HERBERT BIBERMAN had called ALBERT MALTZ to see whether MALTZ could make some of the WALLACE meetings. BALDWIN said he would call MALTZ later, but wanted to consult with POPPER first. They discussed the WALLACE schedule and BALDWIN mentioned MALTZ would have about a ten minute spot on each program of the meetings, which have been planned for six weeks. BALDWIN mentioned all these organizations are broke and he assumed they would not expect a cut on funds collected. POPPER suggested a small cut such as five per cent, pointing out these people had shelled out of their pockets terrifically and have had very little hlep and now they are in a desperate fight which is a common interest to all of them. POPPER urged that the Hollywood people should go around to these meetings in any event and that PCA should also identify itself in this issue. He stated he did not want them (Hollywood) to feel they are being let down and it is the greatest use to them and PCA in fighting this issue.

POPPER stated these guys are heroes to any progressive movement. POPPER mentioned on November 25, 1947, the Southern Conference is having a meeting in Washington and wants one of these guys (from Hollywood?). He indicated the meeting would be at the A. M. E. Zion Church, which is a Negro church and the Southern Conference will ask Senator PEPPER to appear.

[November 8, 1947]

Confidential Informant [redacted] advised BOB KENNY, Los Angeles, spoke at length with POPPER, who related developments with Speaker MARTIN, whose position is it is mandatory for him to certify the citation recommendation. KENNY thought legally this was favorable for them, arguing it gives them one more point to attack the statute as an improper delegation, and in the event they don't win they can go into court arguing it was just one man's opinion, and they would not have the weight of the whole Congress pressing down upon the District Judge, who would rule on the case. KENNY stated he was delighted personally; that they could contend this is not the work of the Congress but merely the ___ ___ Speaker. b7D

POPPER agreed concerning the sentiment of a particular judge, but contended this fight will be won in the long run on the basis of public opinion, and then both agreed they would have to contend with the Speaker that he should not certify.

POPPER told KENNY about being granted the privilege of making an oral argument before the Speaker which was news to KENNY. POPPER stated the Committee had not yet made formal recommendation, but they would be granted right of argument when recommendation was made. POPPER mentioned the broadcast planned for Sunday evening before Congress opens is similar to the Hollywood broadcast, except this would emanate from Washington with a string of Congressmen on it.

KENNY stated there is only $17,000 in the bank and the personal expenses of POPPER and KATZ are unpaid, as well as the return fare of KATZ and CRUM. POPPER explained the broadcast is not being arranged on the dough in the bank, but is being arranged at the request of these guys who said they were going to raise dough at the meeting out there and through other ways before the broadcast. POPPER also stated if they can get 50 or 60 votes in the House of Representatives, including guys who will get up and say what they think that it would be the most effective first start against this Committee and would be helpful to them. POPPER added he thinks there is every reason to believe 50 or 60 votes can be gotten.

Confidential Informant [redacted] further advised that thereafter on the same morning POPPER contacted ABE UNGER, New York City, relating some people visited him last night and said in New York they wanted DAN PRITT, Britism member of Parliament, to come down to Washington Wednesday and have a meeting organized for him. POPPER explained they (Lawyers Guild) could arrange a luncheon for about thirty lawyers and besides POPPER would be glad to take him up on the Hill and introduce him around and perhaps ask Senator PEPPER to get a few people together. POPPER then explained the present status of the Hollywood witnesses and the position Speaker MARTIN had taken with reference to certifying the contempt citations. b7D POPPER indicated concern with regard to the New York delegation (in Congress) and requested something be done to have every member visited by some organization or group on this matter before Congress convened. POPPER stated they are trying to arrange a national broadcast on the eve of Congress by a group of Congressmen and one they want to get is (JACOB) JAVITS. POPPER said BILL HAYS had spoken with JAVITS yesterday and he is not inclined to do it. UNGER stated he will speak to him and mentioned RAYBURN should be spoken to. POPPER stated they had spoken to RAYBURN and he would not do it now, although he indicated he would vote against a citation.

UNGER again talked with POPPER at which time POPPER and UNGER both mentioned they had not heard from these people (with reference to DAN PRITT).

POPPER stated he had spoken with BEANIE BALDWIN on the previous day and BALDWIN said ZILLIACUS (phonetic) was coming and therefore POPPER is all mixed up.

UNGER confirmed the fact that POPPER had read ROGGE'S remarks in that day's New York Times and UNGER stated he thought he would make some calls to some people in New York like BURLINGHAM, CLARK, FRANKLIN, and a few others. UNGER suggested KENNY should be called and he should talk with DOUGLAS and HOLIFIELD and GRANTER from Utah to really step out and say something. POPPER inquired if UNGER meant in support of the position taken by ROGGE and UNGER stated yes and to demand that this thing stop. UNGER suggested contacting (CLAUDE) PEPPER and GLEN TAYLOR. (It is believed this particular conversation referred to the Grand Jury action in New York.)

Later in the conversation UNGER stated, "On this thing here. If these Congressmen could stop and say something, were actually to send wires that is a violation of democracy in the worst sense; this is a repetition, a threat of repetition of the Palmer raids--coming from a responsible source." POPPER asked if ROGGE could be prevailed upon to have a wire sent in his name to a group of Senators and Congressmen suggesting that they do something. ABE said he did not know where ROGGE could be reached, that he is traveling around for the Joint Anti-Fascist Committee. POPPER suggested ABE could get WAGNER (Senator ROBERT F. WAGNER) through his son, which would be most important because it is a New York Grand Jury.

On the morning of this date, [redacted] advised, POPPER talked with CHARLES KRAMER concerning the return of Senator PEPPER. POPPER related his visit with Speaker MARTIN yesterday and declared they were out to "do us fast." POPPER complained things being as they are in California they are in a really tough spot. POPPER explained one reason he is so anxious to talk with PEPPER is that he wanted to ascertain what could be done through McGRATH and RAYBURN. POPPER inquired if KRAMER had talked with MERMAN (EDELSBERG). No. POPPER remarked MARTY KURASCH might be available and would be very good. KRAMER agreed with this. Apparently these individuals were being considered for research work in instant project. b7D

Confidential Informant [redacted] advised that late in the afternoon POPPER talked with BEN MARGOLIS, Los Angeles, and inquired if there was any news on HELEN DOUGLAS. MARGOLIS stated the latest word is they have commitments from her, HOLIFIELD, and HAVENNER that they will oppose the citations. However, MARGOLIS is not too confident about it as they take the position they will appear neither on the radio nor at a dinner, contending this is an undignified way of doing it and they will fight it on the floor. MARGOLIS stated they were going to discuss tomorrow whether to go ahead with the radio program and leave them out. POPPER expressed the opinion if twenty guys from all over the country could be put on the radio it would have a good effect toward b7D stiffening their backs. POPPER mentioned having an appointment with GEORGE BENNING who has already been spoken to. POPPER asked if there were any actors or actresses beside the eleven who could appear on a program with the Congressmen as he considered it important. MARGOLIS replied they can surely try.

MARGOLIS mentioned a mass meeting in Los Angeles tomorrow night for the mobilization for democracy which is a meeting for HOWARD FAST and (O. J.) ROGGE. POPPER then asked about BEN'S last meeting and the latter said it is at Gilmore Stadium on the 16th. POPPER stated it is in connection with the ROGGE thing that he really contacted him, and MARGOLIS said he knew about ROGGE'S press conference yesterday in Los Angeles. POPPER declared it is a very key thing and "we are calling people all over the country to see if we can get support from prominent people on this in various communities for the position he took--for alarming the American people as to the real possibility of forthcoming raids." POPPER stated he would like MARGOLIS to speak to BOB KENNY to issue a statement to the wire services and perhaps get BART CRUM and others to do so, also to wire the Attorney General saying ROGGE'S speech creates alarm and they do not want anything like that (Palmer raids) to happen. POPPER stated this is a very, very big thing or he wouldn't bother BEN.

Immediately thereafter POPPER contacted NELWIN SMOKLER, Detroit, mentioning JOHN ROGGE had made a speech indicating a federal grand jury investigation has been going on for months in New York, but it looks like it will end up in another edition of the Palmer raids. He stated the Attorney General is in cahoots with the grand jury and is going to descend upon people in the middle of the night, etc. POPPER stated the government started to build up a big spy scare that is being exposed as phony according to ROGGE, and they are now turning to the idea of arresting Communists on passport things, etc. SMOKLER had heard about it from ED MURROW on Columbia broadcasting.

POPPER declared this is one of the most important developments since the war in the civil rights field and presents a most dangerous and terrible problem. He stated a number of lawyers had been calling around the country tring to get disturbed members of communities to wire the Attorney General and their Congressmen expressing indignation on the basis of ROGGE'S statements that they will not stand for this kind of thing. POPPER said people like Judge O'BRIEN and others in Detroit should be reached immediately. POPPER explained the whole idea is to prevent it (arrest of Communists) and that once it happens there will be a whole lot of publicity although there has not been very much publicity.

SMOKLER mentioned they have a statement prepared commending BOB KENNY for his position and they were going to send it to KENNY, MARTIN, RAYBURN, and their own Congressmen. SMOKLER explained KENNY had called in connection with getting some prominent people on a statement concerning the Un-American Committee. POPPER stated in the statement they should commend KENNY and also express outrage at voting a contempt citation against the ten people. SMOKLER stated their membership had debated it and voted the statement without reference to contempt citation.

November 9, 1947

Confidential Informant [redacted] advised that on the afternoon of November 9, 1947, CHARLES KRAMER talked with HERMAN EDELSBERG asking if he was in a position to take a couple of months' leave of absence for an intensive research job. EDELSBERG stated he was not, that he had just returned from New York and the people up there have plans for him. EDELSBERG inquired what KRAMER had on his mind, adding he was a bit conscious stricken about the general [illegible]. Without explaining what he had in mind, KRAMER stated he just wanted to find out what EDELSBERG'S position was and whether he would definitely be unavailable even if for example he was asked by a Senator or an organization. KRAMER stated he would explain it later. EDELSBERG stated his disposition is to say no although conceivably it would be something, that his moral sense of values generally would dictate what he should do. KRAMER indicated it would involve doing a legal research job of a very comprehensive character of a very high caliber. b7D

EDELSBERG then stated while the guys up in New York were definitely against what is going on here they wouldn't do anything about. KRAMER asked, "Not even to the extent of organizing some meetings on the subject?" EDELSBERG stated, "So far, no," that the guy practically put it to him that he was ashamed that they had been unable to see a way of doing anything.

At 11:30 a.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that MARTIN POPPER had called BEN MARCHE long-distance at [redacted] and informed BEN he had received a wire from Speaker JOSEPH W. MARTIN, JR. of the House of Representatives that morning which stated: "If you desire to present brief contending it is not mandatory for me to sign contempt citations, please present it as soon as possible as I (MARTIN) must take action this afternoon." POPPER stated that he had called the Speaker's office and complained about the short notice and the best concession POPPER could get was that Speaker MARTIN will stay in Washington overnight and will allow POPPER to argue the points on the following morning at 9:00 a.m. and that POPPER would appear at the Speaker's office under protest. POPPER stated he believed the full House Un-American Activities Committee had met that morning and apparently told Speaker MARTIN to make b7D b6 b7C a certification of the citations by that afternoon. POPPER suggested to MARGOLIS that he have BARTLEY CRUM and ROBERT W. KENNY call Speaker MARTIN from California and they should tell Speaker MARTIN that this is an unreasonable notice and the Speaker should give them a couple days at least to prepare their arguments. MARTY also suggested that MARGOLIS get a wire sent by a large number of screen people protesting the inadequate notice and secondly that Congress will meet within a week and the Speaker should let this important matter be voted by the people's representatives and they should be given an opportunity to know what the issues are. MARTY thought that MARGOLIS should put HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS, CHET HOLIFIELD and GORDON L. MC DONOUGH on the spot on this issue. MARGOLIS said that the meeting was held yesterday by the Hollywood group and they decided to borrow $25,000 which will be paid back over a period of six months so that they could underwrite the radio program. POPPER stated that whether or not they should put the radio program on and whether it is worth the amount of money they will spend on it he does not know but from a political point of view POPPER thought they should put the Republicans on the spot. MARGOLIS said that in the event Speaker MARTIN does not certify, POPPER is authorized to go ahead on the radio program. POPPER asked what the cost of the radio program would be and MARGOLIS replied $8,000. POPPER said that they should get COWAN (phonetic) and ADAM CLAYTON POWELL for the radio show. MARGOLIS said that they could get them. POPPER asked if in that sum of $25,000 was included funds for the research project. MARGOLIS replied yes and said that BOB KENNY is mailing POPPER a check for $1500. MARGOLIS asked if POPPER did anything about getting free reply time on the air to J. PARNELL THOMAS' program. POPPER said they took it up with the radio company and with CLIFFORD J. DURR of the Federal Communications Commission. He also stated that the feeling of the law is that the THOMAS & O'NEIL of the American Legion time on the air was a reply to the two broadcasts of the Committee for the First Amendment. CLIFFORD J. DURR suggested to POPPER that they make a protest to the company which they are going to do. MARGOLIS said that individual statements are being drafted for the Congressmen and they will try to get the Committee for the First Amendment to sign these statements but if they do not get the First Amendment group to sign, he asks POPPER what they should do. POPPER suggested they get as many prominent people, including members of the Committee for the First Amendment. POPPER asked MARGOLIS to call him back later in the day to keep him informed and to have Speaker MARTIN relay any change in mind to POPPER.

At 11:55 a.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] advised that MARTIN POPPER had telephonically contacted LESTER LEVIN in POPPER's New York office and LESTER said that SR-2037 refers to the 1936 amendment to Section 104 and that it is this amendment which gives the speaker the power when Congress is not in session and the purpose of the amendment is to permit contempt prosecutions when Congress is not in session in view of the long delay that may be caused when committees meet when Congress is not in session. LESTER then read the following from the report to POPPER: "The requirement that the statement of facts first be filed with the President of the Senate or the Speaker of the House constitutes a check against hasty action on the part of the committee." LESTER said there are no new cases since this statute was passed in 1936 and then POPPER related his visit to LESTER that he had had with Speaker MARTIN. POPPER wants to delay everything so that Congress will be in session and it can be taken up by Congress rather than the Speaker. POPPER suggested that LESTER bring or send a memo down to Washington. POPPER said what they are trying to do is show that the committee is trying to censor the movies and that a citation is a specific means to censor the movies; further that they are trying to get rid of any differences in opinions or ideas which are different from the committee. POPPER suggested that LESTER call him back later in the day to inform POPPER what is going on and when he can expect a memo. (C)

At 12:15 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that MARTIN POPPER had contacted Mr. MILNE in Speaker MARTIN's office and asked MILNE if the full committee met and certified the citations. MILNE did not know and said POPPER would have to ask the clerk of the committee. POPPER phrased the question in several forms as to determine if recommendations of the committee were before Speaker MARTIN. MILNE said he did not know and POPPER finally got MILNE to say that the recommendation is expected to be before Speaker MARTIN. POPPER then asked how MILNE could know what the recommendation would be and he again replied that POPPER would have to ask the clerk of the committee. POPPER tried all means in this conversation to try to persuade MILNE to get Speaker MARTIN to postpone the date for filing the brief and oral argument. POPPER said that this will be construed to mean that the Speaker is insisting that he has to act this afternoon even before the committee has officially put anything before him. It will also be construed to mean that the Speaker is putting himself in a position to take certain action before the committee itself has acted and it will be construed by the Speaker to have the committee act favorably under pressure. MILNE replied he could not help how anyone construes this information and stated he will put the information before Speaker MARTIN. (C) b7D

At 12:20 p.m. the same informant reported that MARTIN POPPER had on that date furnished the same information as furnished above to BEN MARGOLIS to SAM ROSENWEIN who at that time was in New York City. POPPER stated there was a lot of pressure against them and he asked ROSENWEIN to come down to Washington to accompany him before Speaker MARTIN to present (C) the arguments. ROSENWEIN declined, stating he was very busy. POPPER then made several attempts to call various members of the House of Representatives with negative results.

At 12:35 p.m. the same informant reported that POPPER had contacted JAMES D. PROCTOR, [redacted] and told PROCTOR to get as many Broadway figures as possible to send wires to Speaker JOSEPH MARTIN telling MARTIN that they object to the short notice and further that Speaker MARTIN should not act upon the citations himself but wait for the special session of Congress and let the complete boyd act on the citations. PROCTOR indicated that this would be almost impossible because he does not know whom he can get within the next few hours. POPPER then informed PROCTOR that he had just received this information and PROCTOR replied and said "you were taken off your guard." POPPER said you mean we were not given any chance and we expected something like this was going to happen. POPPER then related he had seen Speaker MARTIN just three days before and MARTIN advised that POPPER would be given sufficient time to argue the case. POPPER then advised PROCTOR that after insisting Speaker MARTIN had allowed them until nine o'clock the following morning to present the arguments and POPPRT stated: "Unless we can put a lot of heat on him, he will insist on the arguments being heard as scheduled." POPPER told PROCTOR to address the wire to JOSEPH W. MARTIN, JR., and to say in the wire: "We object to the untimely haste within which you insist upon acting, that more time should be given and secondly that you urge the issue is so important that the liberty of the people is involved; that Congress is coming into session within less than a week and therefore he should not certify the contempt citations." PROCTOR said he would do what he could even if he only secures a half dozen names. POPPER then urged PROCTOR to get on the phone and reach New York Congressmen and ask them to call the Speaker. POPPER told PROCTOR that if he gets a dozen or so names PROCTOR should give this information to the press.

At 2:02 p.m. this informant reported that MARTIN POPPER had contacted ABE UNGER in New York City and UNGER had advised that JACOB JAVITZ was on his way to Washington at that time and then after a tirade of cursing by POPPER he stated that JAVITZ could at least have called. POPPER then told him of his call, above mentioned, to JAMES D. PROCTOR who he stated is a leading public relations man on Broadway and that he was helping to get a wire signed to send to JOE MARTIN. UNGER stated he was trying to get some attorneys from New York to send a wire to Speaker MARTIN. UNGER then asked about Congressman VITO MARCANTONIO and POPPER stated that he has WILLIAM HAYS working on the Congressman.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

At 2:09 p.m. POPPER contacted WILLIAM HAYS at the general offices of the CIO and HAYS advised he was contacting all Congressmen by wire or phone insisting that they talk to Speaker MARTIN urging that he leave this matter for Congress and let the representatives of the people decide whether the citations should be confirmed or not. POPPER then asked HAYS to set up a press conference around 4:00 p.m. today at the Press Club so that he can tell the reporters how he feels concerning this matter. HAYS was instructed to call the New York and Washington Posts, the wire services, the radio news service in New York, California and Philadelphia, as well as the Chicago and Detroit newspapers.

At 2:50 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that MARTIN POPPER had talked with WILLIAM HAYS and told HAYS that he was sending GAIL MC DONALD, former secretary to Senator MYERS, to work with BILL and assist him in the phone calls. GAIL MC DONALD is the former wife of IRVING RICHTER and is the present wife of ANGUS MC DONALD. b7D

At 2:59 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that one ALBERT (E. BLUMBERG) contacted MARTIN POPPER and stated he had just arrived in town. POPPER then related his dealings with Speaker MARTIN. ALBERT then asked if he had seen CHARLIE (KRAMER) lately and POPPER replied that he had and KRAMER is around town today. ALBERT wanted to have dinner with CHARLIE KRAMER and MARTIN POPPER that evening and they made tentative appointment for dinner at 6:00 p.m. but ALBERT would confirm this later. It is to be noted that ALBERT E. BLUMBERG was definitely identified by agents of this office in a surveillance on November 11, 1947, and further that he is well known to the Baltimore and New York Offices as national legislative director of the Communist Party, U.S.A., as well as chairman of the Communist Party in Baltimore. b7D

At 3:32 p.m. this informant also reported that IZZY (ISIDORE) STONE, the Washington correspondent for PM, contacted MARTIN POPPER asking if he was going to have a prepared statement ready for the afternoon press conference. POPPER replied in the negative and STONE stated according to the news ticker which he read to POPPER the hearings were going to be closed in Speaker MARTIN's office and POPPER indicated that that was what the press conference was about. STONE said that BOB KENNY had a protest on the ticker also and POPPER said he called KENNY and asked him to place one. They then discussed the various conversations had by POPPER with MARTIN and POPPER said he told MARTIN that it was not mandatory for MARTIN to certify and POPPER said: "I said it was within his discretion and said he should act against certification of the contempt citations. I said it would be outrageous to act less than a week before Congress convenes." POPPER continued to point out to STONE theposition that the attorneys were taking and POPPER said that the purpose of the first conference is to protest the outrageous attempt to push the thing through and told STONE about being notified only this morning and even before the committee had made a formal recommendation to MARTIN. POPPER then related how he had found out from MILNE that there was nothing formal before Speaker MARTIN and was going to make a flat statement to the press that the Speaker had no recommendation before him from the committee prior to the Speaker's contacting POPPER to appear.

CONFIDENTIAL

MARTIN POPPER immediately after the above conversation contacted DAVID REIN, asking that REIN read over the phone the United States Code dealing with citations on contempt. REIN read Section 194 to POPPER and POPPER said they were taking the position that it was within the Speaker's discretion to certify or not. REIN disagreed, that he read the statute to mean that it was mandatory upon the Speaker to certify the committee recommendations. POPPER stated they were taking the position that POPPER could act or not and REIN said he guessed they could read that into it although POPPER did not have much grounds and was doubtful whether or not POPPER could make such a case.

At 5:42 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that MARTIN POPPER at that time contacted BEN MARGOLIS, Los Angeles, California, and BEN advised that HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS had left California the previous night and was to have arrived in Washington this morning, and suggested POPPER contact her to see if she made contact with Speaker MARTIN. BEN stated he was attempting to reach other California Congressmen but was having difficulty due to the short notice. POPPER stated he had been wiring Congressmen all day and POPPER seemed determined to go ahead according to schedule anyway. POPPER stated he held a press conference and the press seems to be sympathetic and carried all his stuff. POPPER said that SABATH had called Speaker MARTIN and EBERHARTER said he would call. He told BEN that wires were in from Broadway and from the POA all over the country. BEN stated that wires were going out of California, however, very few from Republicans. BEN stated that BOB KENNY had sent a wire and he then read the wire to POPPER. In it KENNY requested to present arguments personally to MARTIN, saying he was not notified in time to get there and asking that hearings be continued until Friday, November 14th. BEN said other wires were on the same general theme requesting that the Speaker not issue the citations. MARGOLIS told POPPER that he believed POPPER should try to get some Congressmen to go on the radio and protest against MARTIN. He told POPPER that they were getting out a statement to go to the Congressmen and it would probably revolve around the SABATH (ADOLPH J. of Illinois) bill instead of the citations. POPPER said that it should also contain a criticism of the actions of the Speaker as illegal and saying that the committee was afraid to present it before the House for public debate and that the Lawyers Guild would fight it to the destruction of the committee. BEN then said that that argument might make the Congressmen want to wait until the courts decide. He then told POPPER they were getting out statements and would mail them direct from California and POPPER asked under what letterhead. BEN replied he would not know until he saw what kind of signatures they obtain. POPPER said he thought BEN ought to let his office do it because they would get a better press out of Washington. They decided then that BEN would complete the whole thing and then send it to POPPER for release.

At 6:53 p.m. this informant reported that Senator CLAUDE PEPPER of Florida had talked to MARTIN POPPER informing POPPER that he had to return to Florida on the 7:45 p.m. train. PEPPER stated that things were in a bad state in Florida and he was sorry that he had to leave and also regretted having to leave the Howard Hughes hearings. POPPER then told PEPPER of the "outrageous" action by Speaker MARTIN in the case of the Hollywood writers who were cited for contempt. PEPPER stated he was not really astonished at MARTIN's actions and never expected that MARTIN would give them any help. PEPPER said: "If I were you all, I'd get it out and let it be known." POPPER said he had and also BOB KENNY in California. POPPER said he was sorry to hear about MARTIN's action and that it was part of this fanaticism and hysteria which is so common now. POPPER thanked Senator PEPPER for his help during the hearings and PEPPER related that he had received a letter from a friend of his in Jacksonville, Florida, that commended him (PEPPER) for his stand. POPPER said the ten writers cited for contempt put up a grand fight and on the whole they did well.

At 9:17 p.m. this informant reported that POPPER contacted Congressman JACOB JAVITZ and JAVITZ told POPPER that he understood his position and would do what he could to help in his own way rather than through POPPER. JAVITZ said it was a delicate situation and it was easy to go off the deep end. He told POPPER that the writers would be cited in any event but POPPER said what they wanted was a public hearing and the press was on their side in pressing this issue. JAVITZ concluded by stating he would turn the matter over in his mind and see what he could do.

November 11, 1947

At 10:24 a.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported a conversation overheard while MARTIN POPPER was in contact with the House press gallery waiting for a United Press reporter. POPPER was conversing with BOB SILBERSTEIN in his office and said to BOB that the parliamentarian of the House was there and that Speaker MARTIN reserved judgment on the statement of fact as furnished him by the House Committee on Un-American Activities on the previous afternoon. MARTIN stated that the statement of fact which was presented him turned out to be technically incorrectly drafted and so this morning MARTIN still had the statement before him. POPPER related to SILBERSTEIN that he had protested to Speaker MARTIN and MARTIN replied: "You people don't seem to realize that out of the generosity of my own heart I gave you my own hearing which was never done before and you don't think that I am being generous and you, POPPER, probably state so." POPPER stated that ABE FORTIS, a member of his staff, did say after the hearing was over that this procedure was unprecedented in Congress. POPPER said he had accomplished all that a lawyer could expect to accomplish at a hearing like that especially when the guy (Speaker MARTIN) is not a lawyer; that MARTIN started out that it was absolutely mandatory and then became confused about the issue during their discussion. MARTIN concluded that he would have to get his lawyer to study the statute or reconvince him and POPPER stated: "Of course, which he won't have any difficulty in doing." POPPER stated: "Actually though, I think we can make it a hell of a good case." At a point later POPPER said it was ministerial in effect. At this point POPPER hung up the receiver without getting an answer from the press gallery reporter.

At 10:39 a.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that AL GOLDSMITH (phonetic) of the Independent Film Journal, had talked to MARTIN POPPER and asked if POPPER was all through now that he had presented his views to the Speaker of the House. POPPER replied that he is not all through but they intend to persuade the Speaker and all members of the House that there should be no certifications. GOLDSMITH asked what POPPER's basis was for the statute as not mandatory for Speaker MARTIN to sign the certification and they then discuss at length the various points of the statute concerning this point. b7D

At 11:02 a.m. this informant reported that MARTIN POPPER called ROBERT E. STRIPLING of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and identified himself as one of the counsel for the ten witnesses from Hollywood and said he had been up before Speaker MARTIN that morning on oral argument regarding his powers to certify. He also stated that JOE MARTIN told him at that time that there had not been an official statement of the fact before him from the House Committee and that he (MARTIN) did not know when that was expected at that time. POPPER then asked direct if STRIPLING could tell POPPER when the statement of fact is expected to be before MARTIN and STRIPLING replied that he could not tell. POPPER then asked, "Well, when will you know?" STRIPLING replied, "I don't have any comment to make about it, Mr. POPPER, not to you." b7D stated that KENNY said he heard over the radio that POPPER was battling away and asked if POPPER won. POPPER replied "decision reserved." POPPER thinks that the committee is "over a barrel" because the committee does not have anything official before JOE MARTIN and that they have not given JOE MARTIN a statement of fact upon which he must act. They then discussed whether or not it was mandatory for Speaker MARTIN to act. POPPER then related his conversation with STRIPLING, saying that JOE MARTIN had before him the statement of fact which was turned down by the House parliamentarian because of technical deficiencies in that the committee had gotten votes by telephone and telegram and had not met. KENNY asked where all this leads to in the radio program as planned and POPPER said they must assume this will come up on the House floor and he is finding out what is the latest time they can cancel the radio program in case they must. KENNY stated they are nearly broke and that he had sent POPPER $1500 today. POPPER said that MARGOLIS told him the group will borrow $25,000. KENNY replied that is the kind of money they will need for lawyers and in the radio show. KENNY stated that COWAN will take care of the mechanics of the radio show. POPPER stated he would like to be advised as soon as possible because he is working on the Congressmen. KENNY then asked if they are holding the banquet and POPPER replied that they were not, that HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS will not issue the invitations, that ADOLPH J. SABATH is sick in Chicago, and that POPPER will see BENDER tomorrow to see if BENDER can get a group of Republicans into a small private dinner. KENNY stated he would pass this information on to BEN MARGOLIS and POPPER stated that if the committee puts a statement of fact before JOE MARTIN he is of the opinion that MARTIN will sign it. POPPER stated that he put the fight in such a way that he believes it has done them a lot of good. KENNY then asked about the press and POPPER told him that he had a press conference last night which was pretty well carried in the East and the press picked up a copy of his memo and that all the reporters were there at the hearing and POPPER thinks the press will carry the memo. JOE MARTIN would not grant a private hearing and MARTIN told the reporters that POPPER's arguments and brief are now under consideration to gether with the parliamentarian's brief and would await his (MARTIN) lawyer's advice. KENNY then talked to RUTH RIEKIN, secretary to MARTIN POPPER, and advised her he has a check in the mail for $1500 and she would open an account with that and then asked her to get all the bills together and send them to him. POPPER asked KENNY to get the fellows on the West Coast to get together 12 five-minute speeches that he can give to 12 friendly Congressmen to use on the floor when they bring this citation matter up. POPPER will give the speeches to DOUGLAS, SABATH, GEORGE G. SADOWSKI, and HERMAN P. EBERHARTER would be primed up for this issue. POPPER stated that his speeches should be in the mail by Thursday, November 13, 1947.

At 1:35 p.m. MARTIN POPPER contacted ROBERT KENNY in Los Angeles and [redacted]

CONFIDENTIAL

At 1:47 p.m. Confidential Informant [redacted] reported that BILL HAYS had contacted Congressman GEORGE P. MILLER of California in line with the efforts to delay the citation. After discussing the matter with MILLER, MILLER stated that as far as the House Un-American Activities Committee is concerned and since the committee was regularly formed by Congress, he does not subscribe to people flaunting the committee. He continued he is quite disturbed about some of the newspaper reports and is going to check into it before doing anything. HAYS said that Mrs. MILLER had told him when HAYS previously tried to get in touch with MILLER that MILLER saw a movie while in Ohio on some of the questioning and had also seen the committee in operation here and that he saw EUGENE DENNIS make a fool of himself here before the committee and naturally he voted to sustain the committee in that case. MILLER stated he wanted to make sure that people are not going before the Congress of the United States and any of its committees and stipulate what they shall do in testifying before it. MILLER stated that before any contact was made with MARTIN by himself he intended to give the matter some thought and investigation. HAYS continued to argue with MILLER pointing out various parts of the testimony and MILLER said that it was not necessary as he is familiar with the function of the various committees. MILLER stated when asked if he would appear on a radio program in support of the question as presented by POPPER and staff that is something he has always completely steered away from as he did not believe in the politician's usual method of doing business. b7D

At 4:45 p.m. this informant reported that the Washington bureau of the Daily Worker talked to RUTH RIFKIN, secretary to MARTIN POPPER, and asked if she was in a position to tell them anything concerning POPPER's meeting with Speaker MARTIN. She referred the representative to POPPER and finally after contacting POPPER, RUTH RIFKIN called the Daily Worker back and advised them POPPER had no statement as a result of his meeting with Speaker MARTIN for that paper.

In an effort to identify the numerous individuals who were in Washington, D.C. and who had connection with the House Un-American Activities Committee hearings concerning Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry the records of the Hay-Adams and Shoreham Hotels were checked and it was determined that BARTLEY C. CRUM, JOHN DIERKES, CHAUNCEY MC KEEVER, and DAVID SILVER had stayed at the Hay-Adams Hotel, having registered there on October 19, 1947 and checked out October 31, 1947. The bills for all these men were paid by BARTLEY C. CRUM. DAVID SILVER gave his forwarding address as the [redacted] and while at the Hay-Adams Hotel made two long distance telephone calls to Norwalk, Connecticut, on October 23 and 25, 1947, both calls to Norwalk 69824. CHAUNCEY MC KEEVER left a forwarding address of [redacted] A letter has been directed to the Los Angeles and San Francisco Divisions transmitting this information and requesting that the identities of these men be ascertained. b6 b7C

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

House Un-American Activities Committee hearings adjourned October 30, 1947, temporarily. ROBERT W. KENNY, BARTLEY C. CRUM, and BEN MARGOLIS, attorneys, after several public appearances, have returned to the West Coast. MARTIN POPPER, vice president, National Lawyers Guild, continues to function as the local counsel representing the "19 hostile witnesses" and is active in promoting a propaganda campaign on behalf of the witnesses. Also has secured aid of the Progressive Citizens of America in this propaganda venture and numerous rallies are being held throughout the country. Main points in the campaign are to abolish the Un-American Activities Committee and to prevent the citation by Congress of the ten individuals recommended in contempt of Congress by the committee. Summaries of the testimony for October 29 and 30, 1947, as well as information obtained from informants and other sources set out. (u)

It was learned from Confidential Informant [redacted] that BARTLEY C. CRUM, advised his wife, GERTRUDE, on November 15, 1947, that he had a very interesting meeting in Los Angeles. It is felt that the following information pertains to CRUM's continued activities on behalf of hostile witnesses at the recent hearing of the House Committee on un-American activities.

b7D

According to the informant, CRUM indicated, "I can save these fellows, but it is only possible under one way. The only way I could save them would be if now they would declare to the public whether they are, or are not, Communists, with an accompanying statement from each of them, which I think they ought to do." Informant indicated that GERTRUDE was doubtful as she felt these witnesses were too stubborn to make such statements. CRUM, however, indicated that in his opinion, it was the only way that he could save the jobs of these hostile witnesses. He continued "They may not care to but I should think that they would as it amounts to a considerable amount of money."

CRUM indicated that he had spoken to a Mr. MANIX (ph.) of MGM, whom he identified to GERTRUDE as being directly under LOUIS B. MAYER. CRUM indicated he told MANIX "I don't give a G--D--- about the motion picture industry or you, Mr. MANIX. You are not important to me. You're just a guy that holds an office." CRUM indicated further that he told MANIX to lower his voice as he was not being impressed by MANIX at all. Continuing, CRUM indicated that he told MANIX the nineteen men that he condemns (hostile witnesses) "went over the entire strategy with your council, Governor McNUTT, and with ERIC JOHNSTON." CRUM continued, according to the informant, that JOHNSTON had lied to him as CRUM had been told by JOHNSON that there would be no black list, and it subsequently appeared in the testimony the next day that he proposed a black list. CRUM indicated that he planned to again go to Los Angeles in approximately a week, apparently as a follow-up on behalf of his clients.

Rerpt SA LESLIE F. WARREN, Los Angeles, 11/17/47.

Enclosed are copies of the numerous advertisements appearing in the motion picture trade presses, namely, THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER and the daily VARIETY, which reflects the activity of the numerous individuals and groups who supported the so-called "Unfriendly Nineteen Witnesses", who were subpoenaed to testify before the recent hearings in Washington held by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Also included are certain letters and "throw aways", some of which were mentioned in referenced report, andwill give the Bureau an idea of the type of literature which was distributed in this area during and immediately following afore-mentioned hearings.

This material need not be returned to the Los Angeles Field Division and may be retained by the Bureau or disposed of at their discretion.

Further reference is made to my letter of 11/14/47 in above-captioned matter, carbon copies of which were forwarded to New York City, reflecting the ramifications of the motion picture industry which had New York connections. The following corrections are made in this letter and should be correspondingly made in the records of the Bureau and the New York Office:

DEFERRED

On page 8, second paragraph, line 14 and 15 of the above letter, the name, HOWARD DE SYLVA, should read HOWARD DA SILVA. A similar correction should be made in the spelling of this individual's name on page 11, paragraph 4, line 1, as well as on page 13, last line, last paragraph. Also, on page 13, paragraph 5, line 2, the name, ROBERT ROSEN, should read ROBERT ROSSEN. This same correction should be made in the last paragraph on page 13, third line.

For the information of the New York Office, persons identified by informant who had been through the mill in New York, as listed on page 13, last paragraph and continuing to first paragraph on page 14 of thisletter, who are known to this office as members of the Communist Party, are the following, all of whom were identified as Communists by CNDI [redacted] b7D

DATE 9/30/88 INITIALS

Confidential Informant [redacted] furnished the following information obtained by him through conversation with JOHN HESS, a correspondent of the Daily Worker newspaper. HESS discussed briefly the life of movie actor JOHN GARFIELD and described him as one born in one of the poorest neighborhoods in New York City, that before starting his brilliant movie career he was practically starving and the reason why he is now willing to defend civil rights and liberties is because he knows and sympathizes with the other side of life. b7D

HESS stated that GARFIELD was very much inclined to the left and HESS thought that at one time GARFIELD belonged to the C.P. although he was not sure of this. HESS mentioned that at the present time GARFIELD is not connected with the C.P. but possesses progressive political beliefs.

HESS also stated movie actor LARRY PARKS is another progressive and that any attack made by PARKS against the House Un-American Committee is jeopardizing his position in the movies. HESS mentioned that he was sure that LARRY PARKS' wife belongs to the CP. He continued to advise [redacted] that the House Un-American Committee can do nothing to the nineteen subpoenaed Hollywood writers because they are considered the best writers in Hollywood and if this company took action against them another company would hire the writers because of their ability. b7D

HESS mentioned that the owners of the movie industry DEFERRED RECORDING knew very well that these writers were progressive and some of them members of the CP, that in the case of JOHN HOWARD LAWSON it is very well known that he has been a writer for the Daily Worker and the New Masses using his true name for about ten years.

The above is being furnished for the Bureau's information.

TO: MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

FROM: D. M. Ladd

SUBJECT: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY; INTERNAL SECURITY - C.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 8-28-96 BY SP3 [illegible]

With regard to the recent hearings of the Un-American Activities Committee of the House of Representatives on Communism in the Motion Picture Industry, the following observation has been made by Communists in Hollywood concerning the Communist Party membership of the ten individuals who were cited by Congress for contempt:

As you will recall, press accounts of the hearings reflected that in those instances where Communist Party membership cards were introduced as evidence reflecting the individuals' membership in the Communist Party, they were dated in 1944. From May of 1944 until July, 1945, the Communist Party, USA, went out of existence and was known as the Communist Political Association, being reconstituted on July 29, 1945, to the Communist Party, USA. It would, therefore, appear that the evidence introduced by the Committee made specific reference to membership in the Communist Political Association rather than the Communist Party, USA.

In this regard a meeting was held in Hollywood at the home of Robert (Bob) Gary, [redacted] of Communists in the Los Angeles area. By way of identification, Bob Gary is believed to be a member of the Communist Party inasmuch as the information obtained through a highly confidentia but most delicate source from the records of the Los Angeles County Communist Party maintained by Lillian Alexander, reflected that Jerry Chandler of [redacted] a receptionist in the Motion Picture Industry, was recruited into the Party by Bob Gary and Robert Bessing. It should be noted that the recruit's address is the same as that of Bob Gary and it is believed by the Los Angeles Office that Jerry Chandler is the party name for his sister.

Sergeant J. E. Stephens of the Anti-Subversive Detail of the Los Angeles Police Department related that one of his informants within the Communist Party was present at this meeting, at which time it was indicated by one of those in attendance that "something is going to break soon which will make the Thomas Un-American Activities Committee look sick because the Committee is offering as evidence against John Howard Lawson and the others certain alleged Communist Party cards dated in 1944; that what they (the Committee) do not know or realize is that these are 1944 cards of the Communist Political Association and that during that year the Communist Party had been dissolved and replaced by the CPA."

The above facts are being called to your attention in view of the fact that it is possible one of the points of defense of the so-called unfriendly witnesses may be the fact that the membership cards which the Committee claims to have, could not in fact be membership cards of the Communist Party.

INFORMATION CONCERNING

RECORDED 100-13-754-364

EX-32

The following information, which is believed to relate to the defense of the above-described group, was made available by a reliable, confidential source. This source reported a discussion concerning the case by Martin Popper and an individual believed to be Ben Margolis. Both of these individuals have acted as attorneys for this group.

Margolis was reported to have stated that "on a motion to dismiss you have questions as to the sufficiency of the indictment, the question as to whether the indictment states a public offense. On the removal proceedings, the issue is whether it is comparably clear that no public offense is stated. In other words, if even there is a question concerning that, the court will not determine on removal proceedings but will leave it for the trial court to determine." Popper and Margolis indicated that their position was going to be that there was no possible public offense on the theory that the questions asked were illegal in character.

They then discussed the desirability of arguing the illegality of the resolution. It is believed that they referred to the resolution setting up the Committee on Un-American Activities. It was agreed that since several lower courts had held it constitutional, they were not in a position to argue that it was "comparably clear that the resolution was void." They then discussed presenting a petition in California to the effect that "the resolution as applied and interpreted by the committee rendered the whole proceedings comparably void and unconstitutional because of the fact they evaded the first amendment and constituted a denial of due process." They stated that they could ask the court, at least in California, to take official notice of a number of things, including the legislative history of the committee, the legislation it had introduced, etc. They then stated that it (the committee) hasn't a valid legislative purpose and its only function is one which violates the first amendment. Margolis was of the opinion that the only point on which they had a chance of winning was to argue that the asking of the questions was improper.

In a further discussion of the case, Margolis read the following from a letter which he had prepared, "Only by properly utilizing the successes of the proceedings and even the set-backs, themselves, (can) a case like ours achieve the necessary mass support. This requires that at every opportunity the basic issues be presented, not merely in terms of general legal principles.

"but within the actual context of what the committee has done and is doing. Then the skeleton of legal principles takes on flexible form. Then the public can understand what the fight is about. I do not mean that we should advance arguments that have no substance. I do mean that at every stage we must seek and find a way to overcome the technical obstacles which may seem to stand in the way of presentation of the basic issue. If we do this, the very presentation of these issues will advance our objectives even though the court rules against us at any particular stage of the proceedings."

Margolis stated that he planned to surrender the individuals concerned and then refuse to waive removal proceedings. He discussed the possibilities of action in connection with the hearings on the removal proceedings. They discussed going direct to the Supreme Court through habeas corpus proceedings. They indicated that this approach might be wrong because the issue that they could take to the Supreme Court would be the question as to "whether or not it is probably clear." They decided this procedure was not desirable.

Martin Popper was reported to have stated "the manner in which you present the argument to the court, the atmosphere in which the court (can) be compelled to make a decision, should include a complete condemnation, a complete picture of this committee, what it is and how it has operated, and what the real meaning of this thing is."

If any additional information is received in clarification of the issues which will be made in this case, it will be brought to your attention immediately.

In connection with the above-entitled case, there is being transmitted herewith a transcript of the telephone conversation between MARTIN POPPER, Vice President of the National Lawyers Guild and a member of the legal staff representing the 19 Hollywood witnesses before the House Un-American Activities Committee, and BEN MARGOLIS, also of the legal staff representing the Hollywood group, which conversation occurred at 4:15 p.m. on December 7, 1947.

The main discussion is based upon the procedure to be followed when the witnesses who were recently indicted are called up for removal hearings in connection with their appearance for trial in Washington, D. C.

MARTIN POPPER to BEN (HARGOLIS ?) in Los Angeles. (BEN placed called approximately 10 minutes earlier to POPPER when POPPER was out. BEN left word for POPPER to call him.)

P: I see the Hollywood Writer Mobilization got kicked in the teeth too.

M: Yeah, you mean by Clark's List.

P: Yes

M: That's a funny list, isn't it?

P: I really almost hit it on the nose. On that, by the way, a number of us have been asked by various clients and we have already begun to discuss the question of an approach to that whole thing. I imagine you guys probably represent the Writer's Mobilization, don't you?

M: Well, there isn't any Writer's Mobilization. It's been out of existence for some time so many that are on the list.

MARTY, I called you primarily for the purpose of taking my own judgment on something. I am all by myself here in disagreement with BOB, CHARLIE, and MORRIS in connection with the scope of the argument on the removal procedure.

P: BOB called me yesterday and told me what your plans were and I've done - - I have an agreement with SAM that he and I are going to spend the next two days looking over what's warm (ph-garbled) on on the thing and that we think and arrive at what, at least, is a judgment on our own that we might recommend to you guys. I was in no position when BOB called me yesterday morning, he said that you, CHARLIE, and he had met and agreed this is course of action you're going to take.

M: I'm not calling you about the question - - - I think that the argument here is the lower court must be made.

P: There's only one problem which I want to check you, a technical one, that is whether the course of action in the argument on a Rad has any possible effect in having any rights on making necessary motions in the event - - -

M: It has nothing to do with motions of dismissals, if that's what you mean. The question that is determined is entirely different question. On a motion to dismiss you have questions as to the sufficiency of the indictment, the question as to whether the indictment states a public offense. On the removal proceedings, the issue is whether it is comparably clear that no public offense is stated. In other words, if even there is a question concerning that, the court will not determine on removal proceedings but will leave it for the trial court to determine.

P: Right, of course, you position, apparently is going to be that no possible public offense on the theory that the question which were asked were illegal in character. That right?

M: That's right. Here's the things appeared to be happened. We've not decided that that was the main point to be made here and then to discussed whether certain other points should be made. We disagreed whether we should argue the illegality of the resolution and agreed that as far as arguing the legality of the constitutionality of the resolution, that because of the fact that several of the lower courts had held it constitutional, that we are hardly in a position to argue that it was comparably clear, that the resolution was void. Then we argued whether we should present the petition here, that the resolution as applied and interpreted by the Committee rendered the whole proceedings comparable void and unconstitutional because of the fact they evaded the first Amendment and constituted a denial of due process. On that we can ask the court, at least on the Calif, to take official notice of a number of things including the legislative history of the Committee, what legislation it has introduced, proceedings, etc. We cannot ask them to take official notice of statements made off the record and things like that but we can ask them to take official notice and in ruling on this motion, considering the decency of the indictment.

P: I think you're saying two things. I'm not sure I'm clear on your point. Are you saying that you can prove on the California procedure that the course and history of the Committee show - - - you mean no valid legislative purpose?

M: That's right. It hasn't a valid legislative purpose. That's its only function which it has, is one that violates the first amendment.

P: Oh, I see. You mean that is aside or in addition to the specific question that as applied in this case. Namely: in relation to the specific question asked that violated the first amendment.

M: That's right. I believe this should be argued. There are a number of technical obstacles to present in both of these arguments. The argument on the validity of the resolution and the argument on the validity of the resolution as applied, as applied generally to so show no legislative purpose violates the first amendment.

P: What I'm not clear on is that you say under the removal proceedings it has to be absolutely clear on its face, no public offence now, it's hard for me to understand how a court is going to say on the argument regarding a non-legislative purpose, that there's no possible question involved.

M: I think there's practically no chance of it saying that. The only point on which we have a chance of wining, I think we have practically no chance at all, is the asking that the questions were improper.

P: The thing that worries me about that and I'm going into it some length tomorrow and Tuesday is whether or not the decision will constitute the law of the case here.

M: No, it won't. All that this court has power to determine is whether it so comparably clear-it can not determine even whether the complaint states a public offense in holding that it does state a public offense. It can hold that it is absolutely comparably clear that it does not state a public offense.

P: I see. There's no jeopardy. It seems to me the procedure is sound.

M: I've taken the trouble to write a long letter and I want to read you just a part of this letter. "One of the princial argument made was that we will undoubtedly lose on this point, the point I want to argue later on and this will damage our public relations. It is here that I find myself for fundamentally (ph-garbled) in disagreement. During the various courses of ——— - - - (garbled) we will undoubtedly receive many set-backs. Only by properly utilizing the successes of the proceedings and even the set-backs, themselves, in a case like ours achieve the necessary public support. This requires that at every opportunity the basic issues be presented, not merly in terms in general legal principals but within the actual context of what the Committee has done and is doing. Then the skelton of legal principals take on flexible form. Then the public can understand what the fight is about. I do not mean that we should advance arguments that have no substances. This is my feeling about this thing - - to argue this thing in a vacuum of broad legal principals involved without giving the court the feeling of the whole background of this thing and what this is all about is a mistake. That even though we can't win on these other points, it is important to urge them to give the court a feeling what this is all about so it can understand the context. I think it will improve our chance of wining on the only point we have a real if any chance at all. This is my feeling about the matter in which this should be presented. I think it's also important that the policy matter, - ~~[illegible]~~

I think it's the same sort of thing on the type of controversy you had with CRUM in Washington about the presentation of certain matters to the Attorney General. I think the proper presentation is the basic presentation in a way that people can understand them at all points is of great importance, and that presentation on single high legal principals is not enough.

P: I get your question now. Just one or two questions. The form of this proceedings, as I understand it - you do surrender the guys, don't you?

M: Oh yes.
P: After surrendering the guys, what?
M: They ask you to waive removal hearings.
PO Yes.
M: We refuse to work so the court has to have a hearing, at that hearing, either the court or the Commissioner has the hearing. If the Commissioner has the hearing he has to report to the court and we have another opportunity to argue before the court on the question on his findings as to whether he made sufficient findings. The matter when we surrender them, we refuse to remove removal hearings, then the matter is is sent down for a hearing even before the Commissioner or the Court will argue about date, etc.

b7D

P: On the argument on removal hearing the sole question is actually if the court should decide that there is probably on the face no public offense, the court decides there should be no removal and dismisses the defendant, discharges the bail. I assume the government has the right of appeal.

B: Yes. We have no right of appeal. There was an amendment in 1928 to the Amendment. We may be able to go direct to the ~~Supreme~~ Supreme Court by Habeas-Corpus, but we think that would be wrong because the issue we'd be taking to the Supreme Court would be the question as to whether or not it's probably clear and it's one thing to present this to a lower court to have a decision which merely would call for removal of proceedings and another thing to have the Supreme Court write a decision on this subject. We'd be presenting our issues in the worst possible context.

P: Yes. Your question is very clear to me now. There is now some merit to the argument that you don't want to give the impression that the effect of what we lose here is a determination that what the Committee did in asking the questions, etc was proper because that I think would tend to have adverse effect, not on the court here, because I think we could dispose of that in an argument, that the court knows just as well as we what removal proceedings are. That's not the problem. The problem in in terms of the atmosphere out there in relation specifically to the suits you guys are bringing what will be the effect of that in terms of public opinion, court, etc. You're in a better position than I to judge that. (The manner in which you present the argument to the court, the atmosphere in which the court be compelled to make a decision should include a complete condemnation, a complete picture of this Committee, what it is and how it has operated and what the real meaning of this thing is.) SAM will be working in New York on This Monday and Tuesday and will come down here Wednesday.

B: That might be too late. I don't know when the proceedings will be held. I will put it off as long as I can but things may get out of control.

POPPER and BEN continue discussing the attitude to take in presenting the argument to the court. POPPER assures BEN that his (BEN) idea of procedure is perfectly right. POPPER asked BEN if there was any further word on the Research project. BEN said no, that they had no money yet. That they would hold a meeting Monday night and were having dinner with the finance committee and would know more about it Tuesday night. POPPER asked BEN if he raised the radio issue. BEN said ~~xx~~ yes but that they were busy with a million other things. BEN said he would bring it up again Monday night. POPPER will call BEN late tomorrow.

WRITERS ORGANIZATION WARNS AGAINST SCREEN CENSORSHIP

A warning against political censorship of motion pictures was issued today by the Executive Board of the American Writers Association, in a statement signed by Rupert Hughes, president and Edna Lonigan, secretary, of the organization.

The Board declared that Congress "has both the right and the duty to ascertain the facts" about Communist infiltration of the movie industry, adding that the Thomas Committee on Un-American Activities "is doing a necessary job" in this respect.

At the same time it declared itself "unalterably opposed to any form of political censorship." That, the Board said, "would amount to a surrender to totalitarian methods and the beginning of the end for American free institutions."

Statement by the Executive Board of the American Writers Association:

Congressional exposure of the extent of Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry has led to suggestions in some quarters for legal censorship of films. The Executive Board of the American Writers Association wishes to go on record, clearly and firmly, against political censorship in any field of creative endeavor, the screen included.

A film producer, like an editor or publisher, has every right to eliminate agents of foreign governments and propagandists for un-American and anti-American movements from his enterprise. Because of the importance of the screen in shaping the public mind, that right becomes a solemn obligation.

Moreover, Congress has both the right and the duty to ascertain the facts about any conspiratorial attempts by totalitarian forces to influence or dominate channels of creative expression. The Communists and the motion picture industry are entitled to no special immunity in this matter. We believe the House Committee on Un-American Activities is doing a necessary job in inquiring into the nature and scope of Communist infiltration of the motion picture field.

But these things are quite different from the proposed political censorship through law, which would amount to a surrender to totalitarian methods and the beginning of the end for American free institutions. We believe that voluntary action within the pattern and spirit of our free American system will suffice to neutralize the activities of totalitarian fifth columns in our midst -- provided that these activities are fully and boldly uncovered and identified.

We are unalterably opposed to any form of political censorship. At the same time we support fully every legitimate step to unmask and identify Communist borers-from-within.

RUPERT HUGHES, President

EDNA LONIGAN, Secretary

Director, FBI [redacted] CONFIDENTIAL 12-6-47

SAC, Boston

PROGRESSIVE CITIZENS OF AMERICA
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

[redacted] has advised of a conversation which occurred on November 26, 1947 between ALICE BARROWS of the PCA Office in New York City and Dr. HARLOW SHAPLEY, Director of the Harvard Observatory and Chairman of the ASP Division of the PCA. BARROWS asserted that the PCA-New York was preparing a statement to the movie industry at Hollywood regarding the "purge order" which followed the recently concluded hearings of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. She wished SHAPLEY's approval of not only the statement, but also a cover letter which would be addressed to prospective signers. Both documents would be issued first in his name. b7D

The statement addressed to the movie picture groups referred to the "capitulation of a great industry" before a discredited committee, the ready loss of civil liberties in the face of political censorship; that permitting the government to force such action opened the door for censorship of the press, radio and other mediums of public expression. It referred to the conduct of the employers of the dismissed Thomas Committee "victims" as "shocking and degrading."

SHAPLEY felt that the last quoted phrase should be stricken because it had become a stock phrase in such statements. He was further concerned because the statement made no effort to explain that the action of the motion picture groups was probably brought about by the almost unanimous Congressional vote which authorized the citations for contempt. The two persons discussed at length various ways and means through which the Congressional vote could be explained away, and when none satisfactory to both could be found, it was decided to ignore the matter.

It is interesting to know, however, that SHAPLEY feels that the statement will be replied to by the motion picture industry with a reference to the Congressional vote as an expression of the opinion of the masses of people who elected the Congressmen and who also pay to see the products of Hollywood. SHAPLEY was reluctant to allow the cover letter which would transmit copies of this statement to the persons it was desired to have sign it bear his signature, because he felt he had been so active in these matter recently that his name and position had lost their effect. He ultimately instructed BARROWS to have the statement mailed to the prospective signers under the signature of FRANK KINGDON, but it is noted that he first approved its text.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

[redacted] The motion picture box office has fallen off 20% on a national basis as result of public reaction to Washington hearings. This has forced public retractions from HUMPHREY BOGART and KATHERINE HEPBURN; the 10 unfriendly witnesses are through in the industry. Motion picture producers holding meetings with the talent guilds in attempt to work out formula for getting rid of Communists. This move forced by economic reasons and not patriotism, according to L. B. MAYER. Screen Directors Guild and Screen Actors Guild taking positive stand against Communism but Screen Writers Guild supporting the 10 discharged persons, and tabled a resolution against Communism. DALTON TRUMBO called SCHARY, MANNIX and WANGER "liars, hypocrites and thieves" in a public meeting and stated he had ghost written speech of STETTINIUS, then Secretary of State, at San Francisco at specific request of WANGER. Feeling exists that hearings must continue and Communists exposed because the producers are powerless to move against Party members in the industry and are "floundering" as to method of procedure in getting rid of them.

I. THE WASHINGTON HEARINGS

CONF. INFT. CNDI [redacted] on December 5, 1947, expressed an opinion that ERIC JOHNSTON was a "phony" who had given the appearance of being frank and outspoken, and had given Russia a "whitewash" following his return from an extended visit there several years ago. JOHNSTON's stories concerning Russia had been refuted by WILLIAM L. WHITE, who also toured Russia at about the same time. JOHNSTON was considered as strictly a front man, with no real power, nor the heart to oust the Communists from the motion picture industry. b7D

On December 3, 1947, informant attended a Motion Picture Alliance meeting in Hollywood, during which it was disclosed that STRIBLING of the House Committee had just talked to JAMES McGUINNESS by telephone from Washington. The sum and substance of the call was that if the Motion Picture Alliance felt that the motion picture industry was actually cleaning house there would be no further hearings by the Congressional Committee on Communism in motion pictures. Informant felt that too much emphasis was being placed on the Motion Picture Alliance's knowledge and decisions regarding Communism in Hollywood by the House Committee.

It was further said that, naturally, McGUINNESS, who was being paid by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios, was not going to jeopardize his job, although it was believed that he was sincere in his fight against Communism, but that his fight was restricted by the attitude of all the studio heads. Many of them did not sincerely believe that Communism should be purged. The only reason action was taken against the so-called "unfriendly ten witnesses" was because of public pressure which was beginning to be felt in the box office. Informant is of the opinion that the Communist conspiracy reaches into certain phases of the executive departments of the studios and will not be expelled until these higher-ups are fully exposed as Communists or as giving aid and comfort to Communists, and the public reaction is so strong that the industry is forced to clean house.

CNDI [redacted] was thoroughly disgusted with the manner in which the House Committee hearings were held. As an example, some of the early testimony concerned the motion picture "Song of Russia," which had been whitewashed by L. B. MAYER of MGM Studios. This picture was described as a "dead duck," and although it contained Communist propaganda there were many more current pictures which should have been presented to the Committee in which Communist propaganda could have been identified. Failure to take up the question of Communist propaganda in pictures when ample material was available was severely criticized by informant. There was also plenty of background material on individual suspects, such as EMMETT LAVERY, former president of b7D

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Writers Guild, which was not used. LAVERY got "one of the smoothest whitewashing jobs" ever witnessed by informant. Concerning LAVERY, he plans to drop his suit against LELA ROGERS for alleging that a stage play written by LAVERY entitled, "Gentleman from Athens" contained Communist propaganda. This claim was made over the American Broadcasting System during a recent "Town Hall" program. (u)

Informant said that LAVERY intends to sue the Motion Picture Alliance as a body, as he thinks this group aided Mrs. ROGERS in preparing the script which she used during the broadcast. Apparently, LAVERY expects to cover more ground by attempting to prove that the Motion Picture Alliance, as well as Mrs. ROGERS, was wrong when it alleged his play contained Communist propaganda. LAVERY's play, according to informant, was completely rewritten after the broadcast and has since opened on Broadway. (u)

It is noted that the "Daily Variety" issue of December 15, 1947 publicized the fact that LAVERY's play closed December 13, 1947 after seven performances. (u)

CNDI [redacted] was of the opinion that pressure was brought by the motion picture industry through JAMES McGUINNESS of MGM, a friendly witness at the House hearings, to prevent Communist propaganda in motion pictures from being discussed. This opinion is based upon the fact that STRIBLING and THOMAS had maintained on their schedule several witnesses to discuss propaganda in pictures until just before the hearings closed. At this point STRIBLING, following a conference with McGUINNESS in a hotel room, suddenly changed his mind and made public that the Committee was not going to discuss propaganda in pictures at this time but was going to make further preparation of same and take it up at a later date. (u)

JAMES McGUINNESS was known to informant to have protested the appearance of witnesses on the stand who were going to discuss propaganda in pictures. (u)

Informant was also of the opinion that PARNELL THOMAS was sincere but not too well-versed in Communism and Communist tactics. Informant felt that STRIBLING was no good as he seemed to be an opportunist, interested in eventually getting himself public recognition and a better position than he was in actually exposing the Communists. (u)

It was mentioned that BEN MENDEL and H. A. SMITH, who advised the Committee, seemed to be well-versed in Communism, probably because MENDEL was believed to be a former member of the Communist Party, and knew their operations, and SMITH had had experience investigating the (u)

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Communists.

Informant believed that the "unfriendly witness" BERTHOLD BRECHT, was a Communist even though he denied being a member while on the stand. This opinion was based upon the tactics he used during the testimony.

The Hollywood American Legion Post plans to give citations of merit to the friendly witnesses who testified before the House Committee, according to informant.

In discussing the hearings in Washington, T-1 said that BOB KENNY was "by far more impressive than CRUM". He described KENNY as "a skilled, suave operator before the Committee," whereas CRUM was all but drunk on the occasion when he attempted to declare the hearings out of order. Informant continued that when the Capitol Police approached BARTLEY CRUM to force him to be seated the latter was under the influence of liquor to the extent that he almost missed his chair.

The Washington Office has covered the hearings in detail in reports and letters, and the above material is included in this report since the information was gained incidental to this investigation.

II. REACTION OF THE INDUSTRY TO THE COMMITTEE HEARINGS

1. Box Office:

Immediately following the hearings of the Un-American Committee in Washington, the motion picture box office fell off 20% on a national basis, according to T-1. This had a tremendous effect upon the management of the industry because the informant pointed out, "all we have to sell is time," and if people stay away from the theater the revenue has been lost to the industry and is not recovered in subsequent showings of the picture. Informant compared the motion picture business with the steel industry, where the latter has raw materials in storage which can be converted into finished products so that in the event of a strike there is simply a storing up of consumer demand and the product eventually reached the ultimate customer. This is not true in the motion picture business and, as has been pointed out above, if people stay away from the theater the revenue to the individual production is never recovered.

Informant went on that the effect of the hearings on people in other parts of the country than New York and Los Angeles has been tremendous, and the natural reaction against motion pictures has evidenced itself in the dropping off of box office returns. Those persons who have been exposed as Communists by the Committee hearings "are dead in the industry, and their usefulness to the Party is over".

Because of this situation, the informant continued, the bankers are now inquiring of the producer when negotiations are entered into relative to the financing of a picture as to what the picture deals with and who will appear in it before the loan is granted. This, in informant's opinion, will tend to exert more influence on Communists and their propaganda in pictures than any other one factor.

NEIL McCARTHY, a prominent Los Angeles attorney with extensive connections in the motion picture industry, advised two banks not to make any more funds available for any motion picture in which HUMPHREY BOGART appears. T-1 did not state which banks were involved, but in showing the importance of the financial institutions to the industry, informant said that even though a major studio would carry a credit line of from ten to twenty million dollars with certain banks or group of banks it sometimes is necessary to borrow large sums for short periods. For example, a picture, by holding it off the market for sixty to ninety days, might conceivably make a million or more in net profit than would naturally accrue if it were released immediately. Informant used this to illustrate the power and influence which the banks exert on the motion picture industry because the two banks referred to above intend to act upon McCARTHY's advice concerning BOGART, which will make it extremely difficult for the latter to appear in motion pictures.

In discussing BOGART, informant drew a parallel between JOHN GARFIELD and HUMPHREY BOGART as far as these two persons taking a protest trip to Washington is concerned. GARFIELD, in comparison to BOGART, "escaped an unfriendly press" when he went to Washington because he attempted to hold a press conference one noon during the hearings when the reporters were in a hurry to file their stories, so no one was interested enough to wait and listen. BOGART, on the other hand, held a press conference in the afternoon at a Washington hotel after the reporters had filed their stories so a great many of them showed up, which resulted in BOGART's "getting the complete treatment" as far as the press was concerned, whereas GARFIELD through luck escaped the notoriety and publicity which the former has received. BOGART has been "begging ED SULLIVAN to tell people he didn't want to go," and informant considered the former's statements to the press recently as proof that he has felt the pressure of public opinion.

Along the lines of public opinion and its effect on the box office, T-1 said that KATHERINE HEPBURN's latest picture, "Song of Love," did very wel at the box office for two weeks prior to the Committee hearings in Washington, but since that time exhibitors have canceled showings, the public has stayed away, and the picture has not done at all well. Informant related HEPBURN's failure at the box office to the testimony of SAM WOOD before the Committee. WOOD allegedly said that HEPBURN was instrumental in raising some $70,000 for the PCA at a Hollywood rally, and when the witness was asked by the interrogator whether or not this money would finally get to the Communist Party, WOOD replied, "Well, you can bet it won't go to the Boy Scouts". This statement of WOOD's received considerable publicity, according to informant, and accounts for the fact that HEPBURN's picture has been doing so poorly.

Informant was emphatic in stating that people in New York and Los Angeles have no idea of the effect the Un-American Committee hearings have had on the motion picture industry. Currently, MGM is worried about BETTY GARRETT (wife of LARRY PARKS), because of her alleged Communist connections. The management of the studio does not want to "build someone up who will be a liability. A person who has been created a star should accept the studio's position concerning joining and signing". Informant is of the opinion that a star in motion pictures should have no public stand on controversial issues, but should limit himself to his acting profession, practicing whatever politics he desires privately. "A star is a person who has been created at a great expenditure, and as such that person's reputation is the product of the firm putting out that money. Therefore, the studio should be able to exercise control as to what an individual does with his reputation."

Along the same lines, GENE KELLY, currently under contract to MGM, spoke to the informant saying he was very worried over what future steps the Committee might take, and asked permission to come and talk with informant concerning his own stand. KELLY is extremely worried about his career and the effect upon his career which any testimony he might have to give before the Committee would have.

It will be recalled that KELLY chairmaned a mass meeting for the "Unfriendly 19" prior to the departure of any of these people for Washington.

In discussing the effects of the Committee hearings upon the industry, T-2 stated that "BOGART is hurt" in speaking of the latter's box office, and continued that this was the only actor he knew of who has seen fit to withdraw from the Committee for the First Amendment, and the only one who has made a retraction of his statements in regard to the hearing. Informant is of the opinion that adverse public opinion is what caused BOGART to withdraw, and that eventually people would come to admire BOGART for his stand in recognizing his error.

CONFIDENTIAL

This informant is concerned about the fact that many ambitious young actors are indoctrinated with Communist philosophy in the theater groups. In discussing younger talent which is being groomed for possible stardom informant said "they all come out of these small theater groups in New York. The Actors Lab in Hollywood serves the purpose of indoctrinating some of these people with Communist philosophy, according to informant.

Along these lines, T-3 remarked that WALTER WANGER has been responsible for bringing a number of "weird and radical people" from New York to Hollywood. Some of these are: ROBERT TALLMAN, believed to be a writer; ROMAN BOHNEN (a member of the Communist Party, according to CNDI IF. IN [redacted]); JOHN WILDBERG, HAROLD CLURMAN, and ELIA KAZAN, a director. b7D

T-4, an executive at RKO Studios, Hollywood, on December 3, 1947, made available the following information:

ADRIAN SCOTT and EDDIE DMYTRYK were cut off of the RKO payroll and given only three days advance pay. It is possible, although unlikely, that RKO would take them back if they are freed of the charges currently against them.

It was the personal opinion of informant that SCOTT, DMYTRYK and other Communists who have received adverse publicity are "washed up" in the motion picture industry. They have suddenly become "hot" and no one will hire them. RKO and other companies are very alarmed about the downward box office trend which they attribute in part at least to the public's reaction against the Communists identified as prominent members of the motion picture industry.

The RKO executives are "burned up" at DORE SCHARY, executive producer, for his attitude. They felt that RKO and the industry would be much better off if SCHARY had "kept his mouth shut". Informant referenced SCHARY's statement, which apparently was made to the press without authorization by other company executives and which in substance stated SCHARY's opinion that even though he was obligated to carry out the policies of RKO and fire SCOTT and DMYTRYK, his personal opinions as stated before the House Committee had not changed.

Informant thinks it is such attitudes as SCHARY's

CONFIDENTIAL

that are causing the unfavorable public reaction.

It was thought that the New York motion picture company executives mean business and will oust the Communists if identified by the Government and certain legal definitions of Communist and Communist organizations are clearly set forth by the Federal Courts. It was believed that, undoubtedly, SCOTT and DMYTRYK would legally fight their suspension from RKO.

Informant said that such political utterances as made by HUMPHREY BOGART, who was described as "an alcoholic bum," likewise did not do the motion picture industry any good.

In speaking of DORE SCHARY, T-1 said that SCHARY was "told in no uncertain terms to carry out the policies of the Board of Directors of RKO or else submit his resignation". Informant continued that the attitude taken by the directors of both FOX and RKO left no doubt as to where the stockholders of these organizations stand. They wanted the Communists discharged and at once. This permits the studio heads to adopt the stand that they themselves "are employees like anyone else and have been told to carry out orders".

CONF. INFT. [redacted] is of the opinion that SCHARY will make a good man for the Producers Committee and can eventually be brought around to seeing eye to eye with the producers. Informant considers it significant that never during negotiations in New York did SCHARY take exception to plans for discharging Communists.

b7D

2. Effects of the Hearings on the Motion Picture Producers Association:

The Bureau was advised by letter dated November 20, 1947, concerning the meetings in New York held by the financial and production heads of the major studios concerning the stand the industry would take on Communism. This information was furnished by CNDI [redacted], who made the statement before the group in New York that it was absolutely essential that the industry "restore the confidence of the American public" in Hollywood, and that a two-point resolution should be adopted to the effect that first, the industry will not employ Communists and, second, it will not employ those who are members of Communist front organizations.

b7D

These meetings laid the groundwork for an industry-wide session which was called in New York on November 24, 1947. Those persons representing the production end of the industry in Hollywood were called in for these sessions. CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Informant stated that as a result of the meetings in New York the producers appointed a committee comprised of L. B. MAYER, DORE SCHARY, WALTER WANGER, EDWARD MANNIX and JOE SCHENK. This committee is headed by L. B. MAYER. The reason SCHARY and WANGER were included, according to the informant, was at his own suggestion. He had pointed out that EDDIE MANNIX, FRANK FREEMAN and BENJAMIN B. KAHANE had represented the producers in labor negotiations, and that the new committee should have "new faces to make the new start".

In New York, WANGER expressed himself as being in favor of the committee and its purposes. DORE SCHARY made a speech to the group in New York in which he pointed out that he had received considerable unfavorable publicity as a result of his statement before the Un-American Committee, and that he wished to remind the men present that his speech had been made upon the advice of the industry. He had discussed this talk and his remarks had been approved, and the men in the meeting agreed that this was true.

Informant feels that SCHARY will do a good job on the committee and that having SCHARY and WANGER active will eliminate any possible charges of red baiting on the part of liberals or leftists in connection with the committee's work.

T-1 personally regrets the fact that SCHARY and WANGER were included because he considers them skilled parliamentarians, and said, "They will outmaneuver the others" and as a result the committee will prove ineffectual.

[redacted] expressed himself as definitely of the opinion that the House Committee should continue its hearings and should expose Communists wherever they may be found in motion pictures, as well as in other industries. b7D

The Producers Committee referred to above is presently meeting with representatives of the individual guilds in an effort to work out a standard policy so that the guilds will back up the producers in the latter's attempts to do something positive about Communism.

[redacted] stated that he is "floundering" as to what the next step should be in the producers' efforts to get rid of Communism. He is against the formation of an investigative agency on the part of the b7D

CONFIDENTIAL

producers and believes it will be of great help if the Committee will continue its hearings into Communism. As to what the producers will do in ruling out and finding out who the Communists are, informant said, "I just don't know how we'll do it".

Along these lines, the informant feels it will be of great assistance if the Attorney General would publish as complete a list as possible of known Communist fronts and keep this list current. The industry then might be in a position to take action against a person if the individual had belonged to a sufficient number of these front organizations. However, the informant was most emphatic in stating he did not feel that the industry should attempt to police the situation, summarizing it by saying, "We don't want to be called a Gestapo".

He went on that it took a great deal of courage for the management of MGM to suspend DALTON TRUMBO and LESTER COLE because "MGM has a definite liability of about $400,000 on the unexpired terms of these contracts". Whether or not COLE and TRUMBO will sue, informant did not know, but in the best of his opinion MGM has a definite liability.

Contrasted with the above, T-1 was of the opinion that if the industry takes a positive stand concerning Communism and its expulsion there will be no more hearings. He feels that the Committee expects the industry to clean its own house, and that if it does not do so the Committee will resume hearings.

T-1 is of the opinion that the motion picture producers should set up an "information bureau" which will exist for the sole purpose of getting data on organizations before people join, furnishing a prospectus of the various organizations, pointing out their backers and financial contributors, and the actual persons spearheading the movement. Also, persons in the industry should be required to sign a pledge or oath that they have never been, are not now, and never will be a member of the Communist Party. If the industry takes these steps and discharges known Communists, informant feels there is no further need for hearings, and while all the Communists will not have been routed out, their effectiveness will be hampered.

Informant indicated that he had been in telephonic communication with some member of the House Committee, and that the Committee was waiting to see what steps the motion picture industry would take before it resumed its hearings, if at all.

Informant continued that, due to the fact that the industry "refused to treat the sore while it was festering, preferring to wait for it to break out," the Un-American Committee has had to take action. He pointed out that his opinion as to how best to combat Communism has not been asked for and his analysis of the "information bureau" is purely a personal opinion. However, he went on that he is "very unpopular around here," and the Motion Picture Alliance is being blamed for having brought on the hearings by the Committee. Informant said that he has done his best to explain that he has "no inside pipeline to the THOMAS Committee," but apparently some influential people in the industry feel that the Motion Picture Alliance goaded the THOMAS Committee into acting.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

Informant continued that MENDEL SILBERBERG and MAURICE BENJAMIN "gave the industry some poor advice, just as if they were dealing with a fine legal point before the Supreme Court". These two attorneys did not realize that they were dealing with "an aroused public opinion" in their advice given to the motion picture producers in the New York meetings.

Informant felt that a good publicity man, such as STEVE HANNEGAN, would have done a better job than the two lawyers mentioned above. As proof of his contention that these two men gave bad advice to the producers, he pointed out that "ERIC JOHNSTON had to reverse himself three or four times. The industry should have had a publicity man and not a lawyer".

As a result of the meetings held by the producers ERIC JOHNSTON made a statement which has received considerable publicity in the press. "'The ten men cited for contempt by the House Un-American Activities Committee have done a tremendous disservice to the motion picture industry and to the cause of democracy' ERIC JOHNSTON said tonight. 'We believe they have done a tremendous disservice to the industry which has given them so much in material rewards and opportunity to exercise their talents. Their refusal to stand up and be counted for whatever they are could only result in a confusion of the issues before the Committee, and it did'".

In speaking of the meetings in New York, CNDL [redacted] said that during one of the recesses SAM GOLDWYN told ERIC JOHNSTON that he personally intended to hire any of the Communists who were fired and pick up some good talent and then watch them closely for possible propaganda. When the meeting resumed JOHNSTON asked permission to address the group and gave a brilliant and bitter speech, in which he said: "Gentlemen, I don't know why you hired me. I don't need this job. You won't listen to me. You won't take my advice. You don't mean what you say, and you have no guts". From there on out JOHNSTON criticised the fact that the group would not make and

b7D

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

abide by a decision.

When he sat down, SAM GOLDWYN stood up and said, "ERIC, I feel you were talking to me". At this point JOE SCHENK said, "Don't make a speech, Sam. Sit down and shut up or get out". GOLDWYN sat down and the meeting proceeded.

Informant pointed out this incident as one which helped to clarify the air in the New York sessions.

ED GIBBONS, who is one of the writers of the periodical "Alert," a local anti-Communist publication, volunteered the information that from a reliable source he has learned that the motion picture producers do not have a serious intention to make a drive on the Communists. GIBBONS continued that the producers are discharging the ten reluctant witnesses in order to assuage the public feeling that they were resentful of the Motion Picture Alliance and those in other organizations who are trying to dictate to the industry what its attitude should be in respect to Communists.

T-5, an executive within the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc. (Hollywood Division, ERIC JOHNSTON's Office), on December 2, 1947 advised that the motion picture industry was very upset over the American public's reaction to the recent House Committee hearings. Their feelings, it was felt, were divided among the actual members of the association as to whether or not Communists should be exposed and "kicked out" at this time, but they were all in agreement that something must be done to avoid disaster at the box office.

More recently, since the industry executives have been having hearings in New York, and following their return to Hollywood, the dissension within the ranks is beginning to subside. Some of the Association members, particularly Y. FRANK FREEMAN, Vice-President of Paramount Studios, and HERBERT FRESTON, Counsel for Warner Brothers Studios, et al, are not sure that ERIC JOHNSTON exercised good judgment in selecting a former Communist as a special assistant. Specifically, informant identified this assistant as EDDIE CHEYFITZ. JOHNSTON was accused of embarrassing himself and the Association before the American public when it became known that CHEYFITZ had been associated with the Communist movement.

The final outcome of the matter was that JOHNSTON admitted that he did not know too much of CHEYFITZ's background at the time he was hired, that it was chiefly upon the recommendation of others.

Concerning FREEMAN's attitude toward CHEYFITZ, the former had openly expressed his opinion in CHEYFITZ's presence that "leopards never change their spots".

Informant did not prophecy the outcome of the current meetings held by the producers beyond the fact that the industry would follow through and discharge other individuals who might be accused by the House Committee of being Communists, as were the so-called "unfriendly 10". This action would be taken in spite of the anticipated legal suits which would be instituted by those discharged.

Informant expressed a wish that the Government would clarify the legal position of Communists in this country so that the proper steps could be taken to get rid of them.

Ex-Judge STEPHEN S. JACKSON, according to informant, formerly handling juvenile matters as a Judge in New York City, was hired several months ago by the JOHNSTON Office and has been working as an assistant to JOSEPH I. BREEN, head of the Censorship and Production Code of the Association. BREEN, it was believed, due to ill health, was going to retire and at present is on an extended leave. JACKSON, who was described as a high type individual, is new to the motion picture industry but is feeling his way cautiously and should make a valuable executive in this position. Informant further described JACKSON as a man who was believed to be anti-Communistic and one to take a legalistic approach to all questions. His position will deal largely with the censorship and the moral code of motion pictures presented to the Association by its members and other producers within the industry who wish to make this Association service available.

In speaking of CHEYFITZ, T-8 said, "I feel he is sincere. I am positive in my own mind that he is doing the right thing. I know he has helped in keeping JOHNSTON straight".

This informant went on that CHEYFITZ knows the labor picture and that he personally considers CHEYFITZ to be strongly anti-Communistic. He continued that it is his intention to hire an investigator who will furnish CHEYFITZ information concerning possible Communists in the motion picture industry. This will be along the lines mainly of actors, directors and writers, and T-8 said that "This would be an unofficial list. They (the producers) would then quietly attempt to weed out Communists as their options came up, with no publicity".

Informant is of the opinion that the producers will have to do something definite concerning Communists employed in the industry. Informant said, "I think they are going to do something; the box office is forcing them. That's one language they can understand; even SAM GOLDWYN can understand it."

[redacted] attended a meeting of the Motion Picture Producers Association on December 5, 1947. This meeting was called for the purpose of acquainting the individual guilds with the action of the producers concerning Communism in motion pictures and what they intended to do about it. Also, the producers presented to the representatives of the guilds their thinking concerning the employment of Communists in the industry. This was the pipeline through which the local guilds would be brought up to date on the actual mechanics of the working arrangement to be entered into by the production end of the motion picture industry concerning Communism. b7D

At this meeting, WALTER WANGER took the floor and attacked the THOMAS Committee (it will be recalled that WANGER is a member of the Producers Committee to enforce its demands regarding the expulsion of Communists). WANGER when making his speech referred to above was interrupted from the floor by CECIL B. DeMILLE, who stated he did not feel that this meeting was the proper place for an individual to attack the Congress of the United States. DeMILLE told WANGER publicly that if the latter felt that the Committee should be criticised he should go to Washington and make the complaints to Congress. CECIL B. DeMILLE continued that he personally felt that Mr. THOMAS would be very glad to have the benefits of WANGER's observations, but that a meeting such as this was no place for an individual to castigate the Congress of the United States.

Informant said that WANGER made "one very good comment" as far as Communism was concerned, saying that it should be thrown out of the motion picture industry, but he also engaged in the debate with DeMILLE referred to above, so the informant does not know where WANGER actually stands concerning Communism.

Informant went on that after DeMILLE had taken issue with WANGER, as pointed out above, L. B. MAYER stood up and said, "For the first time in my life I am forced to disagree with my old friend, CECIL DeMILLE". MAYER then went on in the meeting saying, "If you could have seen how they treated me CECIL," speaking of the Un-American Committee. MAYER went on to defend to some extent WANGER's criticism of the Un-American Committee and its methods of procedure. In any event, the informant said that GEORGE STEVENS, who had had a couple of drinks before the meeting, finally succeeded in maneuvering L. B. MAYER into making a statement concerning the reason behind the producers' action to eliminate Communists from the industry. STEVENS asked, "Are you taking this action for economic reasons or for patriotism?" MAYER replied that the action was taken for economic reasons.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

This remark of MAYER's caused consternation, and the Directors Guild, which had taken a positive stand the night before, felt that much of the good which the Producers Committee could hope to do was automatically nullified by MAYER's statement.

The unions present at this meeting were: Screen Directors Guild, Screen Actors Guild, and Screen Writers Guild. After recess was declared these organizations broke up into separate units to discuss the matter of cooperating with the producers and eliminating Communists. A certain member of the Actors Guild passed a note to the informant on which he had written, "What now?".

WALTER WANGER took the floor immediately after MAYER's statement referred to above, and said that economic and patriotic reasons were one and the same; that American motion pictures are the emissaries of the American way of life, and that if they are not good and the box office does not reflect approval of the pictures they naturally will not be successful and will not be sent abroad. Thus, the American message would not be seen by the people whom it should reach.

However, in the opinion of [redacted] WANGER's apology "was too late. The damage had been done". b7D

Both EDDIE MANNIX and HENRY GINSBERG attempted to follow up WANGER's talk and take the sting out of what MAYER had said, but, in the opinion of the informant and other members of the Directors Guild with whom he discussed the matter, nothing could ever be done to erase the impression L. B. MAYER created.

The entire purpose of this meeting was a desire on the part of the producers to be sure that the guilds would support their position in expelling Communists. In the course of the discussions, JOE SCHENK made the remark from the floor, "I don't hate them like CECIL DeMILLE hates them, but I don't like Communists". Informant said that DeMILLE immediately got to his feet and challenged SCHENK's statement, saying that it was impossible not to adopt a positive stand; that it simply boiled down to whether or not a man was for America or against it, and that there is no middle ground.

As a result of this meeting it was agreed to form a Committee, each guild to be represented by two members who would report back to their own guild the joint actions taken by the group. In this manner each guild would be kept informed at all times as to steps taken by the producers in controlling Communism and expelling its adherents.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

In speaking of the meeting referred to above, wherein the producers met with representatives of their various guilds, [redacted] furnished the following report which had been drawn up by an informant who attended the meeting: b7D

"I was appalled at the lack of honest attempt to get rid of the Communists. Felt it opened everyone's eyes to the producers' attitude, so short sighted. Actors' group had been in the mood to take it on the chin if need be for a while until the Guild had been cleaned up--but with the producers' liberal stand, everything the right group on the Actors' Board had accomplished has been undone. There is a strong leftist group on the Actors' Board so the other side has full representation at every meeting, to keep them under control--they openly say they are out to create chaos and hinder everyone--They have no particular quarrel with the others on the Board--their job is to object and keep any action from being taken.

"DORE SCHARY has not turned over a new leave; he is in bad with the bankers and directors of RKO and is trying to pacify them and yet keep faith with his liberals--believe SCHARY would re-employ the men in a minute if he could do so. Big relief on everyone's part when DeMILLE straightened out what McCAREY wanted to say. Big lesson to learn from his method; Don't argue but listen and then get up and clearly make your stand. I felt the whole meeting last night would have dissolved into the producers' hands if DeMILLE hadn't been there.

"WANGER came out more in the open than usual last night. He is a bad one.

"Before DeMILLE arrived WANGER and the crowd were tearing at the THOMAS Committee.

"I think MAYER as Chairman for the producers a very bad choice--no one to balance his actions. Can't the JOHNSTON office put some better men on the committee. They had to do it in the ACTORS' GUILD to overbalance leftists.

"HARRY COHN could not go last night and asked later how it went. He was told that 'our hero, Mr. DeMILLE' came in at the crucial moment. COHN said, 'He always does; C. B. always crashes through when you need him.'

"A distinct feeling of the leftists feeling they were not as whipped as they thought they were the night before by both the DIRECTORS' and ACTORS' GUILD."

3. The Hollywood Guilds:

A. The Screen Directors' Guild

SNDI [redacted] and [redacted] got together and decided that they would attempt to exercise control over the Screen Directors' Guild by packing the meetings with people friendly to "the American system." Consequently on December 4, [redacted] called a meeting in his office and those in attendance besides himself were SAM WOOD, LEO McCAREY, GEORGE MARSHALL, DAVID BUTLER, and TAY GARNET. These men laid out a plan of attack to be used at the meeting the next night, December 5. The Screen Directors' Guild had sent out the usual innocuous notice of the meeting, according to T-6, simply stating that routine business would be handled. b7D

[redacted] called GEORGE STEVENS, President of the Guild, and asked whether the topic discussed in the letter would be the only one brought up at the meeting, and the latter replied to the effect that this business would not take long and then they would get down to the real meat of the meeting. When the informant questioned him as to what this was, STEVENS replied that it would deal with the present anti-Communist drive on the part of the producers. This informant states that he, as well as SAM WOOD and GEORGE MARSHALL, have not been able to figure out just where STEVENS stands on the matter of Communism; he has refused to take a definite stand but in his position as President he attempts to administer the affairs of the meetings in an impartial manner. b7D

[redacted] together with the men mentioned above, went through the list of members of the Screen Directors' Guild and checked the following men who in their opinion are Communists: CURTIS BERNHARDT, JOHN BERRY, HERBERT BIBERMAN, JULES DASSIN, EDWARD DMYTRYK, PETER GODFREY, HENRY HATHAWAY, ALFRED HITCHCOCK, PHIL CARLSON, ELIA KAZAN, HERBERT KLINE, ZOLTAN KORDA, ALBERT LEWIN, ANATOLE LITVAK, LEWIS MILESTONE, JACK MOSS, MAX NOSSECK, CLIFFORD ODETS, IRVING PICHEL, OTTO PREMINGER, LEWIS J. RACHMIL, IRVING REIS, JEAN RENOIR, ROBERT ROSSEN, VICTOR SAVILLE, VINCENT SHERMAN, S. SYLVAN SIMON, ROBERT SIODMAK, FRANK TUTTLE, JOSEF VON STERNBERG, BERNARD VORHAUS, ORSON WELLES, BILLY WILDER, WILLIAM WYLER. b7D

The informant pointed out that naturally the group with which he is associated does not know that the above-named are members of the Party, but in meetings of the Screen Directors' Guild these individuals seem to act as a group and, in the opinion of the informant, represent the faction within the Guild from whom control must be wrested. Consequently the informant and his associates each called a certain number of men belonging to the Guild and packed the meeting on December 5.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

The informant stated that he and his associates had been successful in forming a "militant group" and they have secured proxies from at least seventy-five directors in order to "blast the Communists."

In discussing the meeting, T-6 said, "We talked them off their feet." According to the informant, "they did not expect a crowd and we licked them." [redacted] introduced a resolution which reads as follows: b7D

"Whereas, we do not deny the civil right of any person to be a member of the Communist Party, however we do affirm that a member of the Communist Party has an obligation to the Communist Party which transcends his other obligations and which transcends his obligation to the Screen Directors' Guild, as a member of the Board of Directors or as an officer or executive officer of the Guild.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that no person shall be eligible to hold any office or executive office with the Screen Directors' Guild nor to serve on its Board of Directors nor on any Guild committee unless and until such person signs an affidavit that he is not a member of the Communist Party nor affiliated with such a party or sympathetic to its aims."

HERBERT BIBERMAN attempted to offer a substitute motion and in the course of his remarks began to attack the Thomas Committee, whereupon C. B. DeMILLE took the floor and stated that BIBERMAN was out of order and that a meeting such as this was no place to criticize the Congress of the United States. DeMILLE was supported by various people from the floor, according to T-6, and BIBERMAN never got to introduce a motion or to complete his talk.

During the discussion that ensued, WILLIAM WYLER got up to make some remarks and DeMILLE immediately challenged him from the floor, asking the question, "Are you pro-American or un-American; that is the only question." As a result of the quarterbacking of the informant and his group, the motion to demand the above resolution of all members was passed by a vote of about 115 to 10. The Board of Directors, which includes LEWIS MILESTONE, JOHN HUSTON, IRVING PICHEL, did not vote on the original ballot. People from the floor challenged the Board asking for a second vote so that the members of the Board would have an opportunity to clearly register their feelings. As a result the second vote was taken and MILESTONE, HUSTON and PICHEL voted against the resolution; the informant did not know who else opposed it because it was a vote calling for a show of hands.

The resolution itself was introduced by GEORGE MARSHALL and seconded by C. B. DeMILLE. CLARENCE BROWN and one other member of the Board of Directors were absent. Under the Guild ruling, if a member of the Board of Directors is absent at three consecutive meetings, a new member can be appointed in his place. As a result, SAM WOOD and C. B. De MILLE were appointed to the Board of Directors in the places of the two who had been removed.

In the course of the meeting, WILLIAM WYLER "gave a double-talk speech," according to [redacted], in which he stated that the motion picture industry's committee to combat Communism had announced that "as few innocent persons as possible will be hurt." Informant immediately jumped to his feet challenging this statement, and proceeded to read the actual resolution as passed by the committee, which tore down WYLER's speech point by point and showed that he had deliberately misinterpreted the facts. Informant accused WYLER of using double talk and asked him to state the facts and state the truth and leave out his own opinion and insinuations. WYLER then began to discuss the black list which he said is forming in the industry, and [redacted] challenged that statement from the floor, telling WYLER that blacklisting was against local, state and Federal laws; that if he knew of any such list it was his duty as an American citizen to report that fact to the Department of Justice and that a meeting such as this was no place for such a discussion. In the informant's opinion, "WILLIAM WYLER is a badly confused guy." b7D

Following WYLER's speech, SAM WOOD took the floor and made a statement to the effect that "this man is not reporting anything but his own opinion." When the discussion was proceeding concerning the passing of the resolution set out above, some inquiry was made as to how a person could detect a Communist. C. B. De MILLE got to his feet and said, "Does teaching in the third largest Communist school make one a Communist?" [redacted] reported that at this point PICHEL "gripped the arm of his chair and glared at De MILLE." (The informant states that PICHEL has been on the faculty at the People's Educational Center.) b7D

This meeting of the Guild did not break up until ten minutes after two, having been called at 8:30 p.m., and as a result [redacted] said, "That crowd got the first thorough licking they have ever had, and our group was swept into power." It was decided at the meeting that the resolution would be sworn to before a notary in proper legal fashion, and [redacted] considered it significant that PICHEL, HUSTON and MILESTONE were ready to swear they were not Communists. b7D

In speaking of WILLIAM WYLER, [redacted] has noticed that the former is actively promoting the possible sale of a script worked on by LILLIAN HELLMAN. The informant is of the opinion, and qualified his remarks as being purely an opinion, that WYLER possibly has an obligation of some kind to HELLMAN because he is so active in attempting to promote the projected property on which she will work. b7D

CONFIDENTIAL

The informant said that BARNEY BALABAN, President of Paramount, called WYLER into his office and showed him a long list of front organizations to which HELLMAN had belonged or contributed. BALABAN showed WYLER this information thinking he was bringing the latter around by pointing out that there was nothing pro-American in this record, but that everything in which HELLMAN had been interested seemed to be for the benefit of causes which were, if not un-American, not solely for the interests of the United States. WYLER then accused BALABAN of creating a black list and has used this instance to point out that the industry is deliberately blacklisting certain individuals.

The action of the Screen Directors' Guild as set out above occasioned considerable publicity in the trade press. [redacted] reports that the "affidavits are coming in" at the present time. b7D

The assistant directors have a guild which is known by the name Screen Directors' Guild, Junior Branch. The President of this organization is ROBERT ALDRICH. [redacted] and his group are of the opinion that ALDRICH "seems to be on the other side" as far as his actions within the Guild are concerned, and his group, as stated above, bases this on the actions he has taken in Guild meetings. b7D

B. The Screen Cartoonists' Guild

In discussing the Screen Cartoonists' Guild, T-7 pointed out that this union is not affiliated with the Motion Picture Producers' Association, but is linked in with the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers, which was headed by DONALD NELSON. As a consequence, the Cartoonists' Guild has not been asked to form a committee to meet with the producers in an attempt to combat Communism, as have the other talent guilds. However, the informant pointed out that a new election comes up in June 1948, at which time undoubtedly some action will be taken concerning Communism.

T-7 pointed out that the Disney Studios employ the largest percentage of Cartoonists' Guild members, having approximately 250 on the regular pay roll, so that as the employees of Disney Studios vote so will the entire membership. T-7 is of the opinion that the Communist problem for the Cartoonists' Guild came to a head when Technicolor Studios were struck in the recent CSU-IATSE struggle. At that time Disney Studios laid off four hundred workers, and in this group were all persons suspected of being Communists. As a result the studio took back eighty and the total membership of the Screen Cartoonists' Guild has fallen to approximately five hundred, of which 250 work in one studio, the balance being split up among MGM, Warner's, Paramount, and various independent cartoon units.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

BONAR DYER, Director of Labor Relations for Disney Studios, stated that the contract of that studio runs until next August with the Cartoonists' Guild. In Mr. DYER's opinion the difficulty with the Cartoonists' Guild and its possible Communist infiltration is due to the fact that "our people can't get their friends out to meetings". However, "people are becoming alarmed" and are taking a more active interest in the possible Communist infiltration in the Guild.

MAURICE HOWARD, Business Agent for the Screen Cartoonists' Guild, according to T-7, is a Communist. This informant was most emphatic in stating that he believes the Un-American Committee should continue its hearings until all persons on its list have been exposed. Mr. DYER said that the Disney Studios' twenty-five layout and background men are petitioning to drop out of this Screen Cartoonists' Guild and are attempting to form a local of a new guild in the Disney Studios. As an example of how determined some persons are to get rid of HOWARD, the Business Agent, Mr. DYER pointed out that certain Guild members at Disney owe assessments to the Guild in connection with the motion picture strike which the Guild has been unable to collect. They have gone on record that they will pay these assessments if HOWARD is gotten rid of. HOWARD does not occupy an elective position, but was appointed as business agent. He is not an officer of the union, although union rules state that he should be. However, at the recent election in June certain members of the Guild at Disney intend to elect a new business agent.

Mr. DYER is of the opinion that if the Screen Cartoonists' Guild does not comply with the provisions of the TAFT-HARTLEY Bill by August, it will cease to be the bargaining unit for the cartoonists in the motion picture industry. Mr. DYER went on that members of the Guild are bored with meetings and disgusted at the amount of propaganda that is sometimes presented at these meetings. He recalled having seen "revolutionary posters" from certain South American countries on the bulletin boards of the Guild offices, and when questioned as to why these were in evidence HOWARD said they had been placed there to enable members of the Guild to "study cartooning". Mr. DYER stated that at one time he was attempting to negotiate a labor point in the offices of the Screen Cartoonists' Guild building while a meeting was going on in the room alongside. Some girl was speaking in such a loud voice that Mr. DYER and his associates were unable to hear each other, and she was attempting to sell the persons assembled there on the reasons for taking the People's Daily World. She used as a selling point the fact that the People's Daily World "is the only local newspaper using a direct wire to Moscow". This incident was pointed out by Mr. DYER as an example of how the Screen Cartoonists' Guild building has been used by Communists. Both T-7 and Mr. DYER were of the opinion that there is no movement in any of the other studios among the cartoonists to attempt to get rid of MAURICE HOWARD, the reason being that the groups are so small.

In speaking of this Guild, T-8 said that there is a movement going on at Disney Studios to more or less take over the Cartoonists' Guild inasmuch as workers in that studio had banded together, realizing that they constitute the largest single group within the Guild.

C. The Screen Actors' Guild

On December 3, 1947, Source T-9, a well known motion picture actress, advised the following information:

The Screen Actors' Guild appears to be waging a successful fight to keep out radical actors and actresses from executive positions. She said that there were a few, however, who mysteriously seemed to remain in positions of prominence within the organization, which enabled the radical group to bring about discord. Some of the radical actors and actresses identified as possible Communists were HOWARD da SILVA, LLOYD GOFF, LARRY PARKS, ALEXANDER KNOX, KAREN MORLEY, HULE CRONYN, and ANNE REVERE. Informant was of the opinion that RONALD REAGAN, executive officer of the Guild, had "seen the light" and was sincere in his efforts to keep the radical members out of controlling positions.

Informant's attention was attracted to JANE STRUDWICK, also known as JANE SHEPPARD, wife of JOHN SHEPPARD, actor. STRUDWICK had the reputation of being very influential behind the scenes in directing Communist policy for various organizations in Hollywood, particularly in American Veterans' Committee, Beverly Hills Post. Informant subsequently identified STRUDWICK as being identical with JANE MEAD, a person whom she knew during the early part of World War II when MEAD was actively engaged in raising funds for the Russian War Relief. MEAD was at that time allegedly raising $175,000 for this relief organization at a Shrine Auditorium gathering during the early part of the war. MEAD has always been suspected of being a Communist but there was no documentary proof available to informant. The belief was based primarily upon the associations of MEAD, who is known to be close to HOWARD da SILVA and HERBERT BIBERMAN, et al., in the Hollywood left wing circles.

It was thought that JANE STRUDWICK, nee MEAD, now being married to an actor, might be one of the persons behind the scenes manipulating communistic activity in the Screen Actors' Guild. One thing of possible interest to the FBI concerning JANE STRUDWICK, according to informant, is that the former specifically claims to be associated with the British Ministry of Information, commonly referred to as the "BMI." STRUDWICK is known to be a contact of numerous British visitors to Hollywood, particularly the theatrical group, which informant thinks are Communists or Communist fellow travelers. It is not known whether STRUDWICK is actually employed by or is merely working with the BMI.

CONF. INFT.

Concerning STERLING HAYDEN, informant discussed recent press releases given to HAYDEN's alleged social contact with a daughter of a prominent Washington, D. C. family, at which time he was supposed to indoctrinate the girl with his Communist philosophy. Informant said that even though HAYDEN denied this accusation in the Hollywood trade press, the story must be true as HAYDEN had handed out similar "lines" in Hollywood.

Informant mentioned that WARRICK TOMPKINS, a close friend of HAYDEN and a personal acquaintance of informant, had recently expressed apprehension over HAYDEN's being subpoenaed before the House Committee as it was felt HAYDEN might "break," and if he did he would spill enough information "to hang us all," including "a lot of high Government officials." Informant is of the opinion that both HAYDEN and TOMPKINS are members of the Communist Party, but he has no documentary proof.

CONF. INFT. (b)4 TOMPKINS has been identified as a member of the Communist Party by CNDI [redacted] in 1944 at Sausalito, Marin County, California, and by CNDI [redacted] in West Los Angeles in 1947.

b7D

T-10 advised Special Agent FRED G. DUPUIS that he has been made a member of a committee headed by L. B. MAYER, the purpose of which allegedly is to "purge" the motion picture industry of Communist Party members, which committee was an outgrowth of the THOMAS Committee hearings in Washington and the subsequent meeting of motion picture producers in New York City.

With regard to the hearings in Washington, T-10 stated that he somewhat regretted the "whole affair" because he did not feel the hearings were conducted in the most desirable manner possible. He also felt that the questioning of the unfriendly witnesses could have been better planned and designed to bring out more pertinent information. He was of the opinion the men should have been allowed to make any statement they cared to make, with a possible limitation as to its length, because he felt in this way these men would have condemned themselves in the eyes of the American public far more efficiently than the Committee was able to do.

CONFIDENTIAL

One incident which lessened his respect for the Committee involved the Committee's Chief Investigator, STRIBLING. T-10 advised that the night before he was scheduled to testify, STRIBLING came to his hotel room and asked him numerous questions, some of which led T-10 into a "pretty good defense of the motion picture industry", although by no means a defense of the Communist element therein. However, the following day when he was on the stand STRIBLING failed to ask him any of these questions which would have enabled him to get in a good word for the motion picture industry as a whole.

With regard to the Committee on which he is now serving to try to formulate a policy for eliminating Communists from the motion picture industry, T-10 stated that his opinion (and he was confident that it was also the opinion of the Executive Board of the Screen Actors Guild) was that such a program was not sound. He stated he did not feel it was within the authority or ability of any single man or group of men within the motion picture industry to be able to determine accurately and fairly who should be fired and who should not be fired. He made the statement, "Do they expect us to constitute ourselves as a little FBI of our own and determine just who is a Commie and who isn't?".

He stated that in the Screen Actors Guild, for instance, he is virtually positive in his own mind that certain members are members of the Communist Party, but he definitely would not be able to prove this conclusively, and he felt this situation was equally true in the other guilds, and also in the studio as a whole.

T-10 stated it is his firm conviction that Congress should declare, first of all, by statute, that the Communist Party is not a legal Party, but is a foreign-inspired conspiracy. Secondly, Congress should define what organizations are Communist-controlled so that membership therein could be construed as an indication of disloyalty. He felt that lacking such a definitive stand on the part of the Government it would be very difficult for any committee of motion picture people to conduct any type of cleansing of their own household.

With regard to the Screen Actors Guild, there has been no unusual difficulty at guild meetings with the Communist element. However, the provisions of the TAFT-HARTLEY Law did create an issue, in that ANNE REVERE, the Guild's treasurer, recently resigned rather than sign a non-Communist affidavit. He also stated that the recently concluded elections, which resulted in LARRY PARKS and ANNE REVERE being elected members of the Executive Board, may create a similar issue inasmuch as these individuals will also be required to sign non-Communist affidavits. However, this has not yet materialized.

D. Screen Writers Guild

On December 15, 1947, a meeting was called of the Screen Writers Guild, where the members of that organization were to discuss cooperating with the Producers Committee concerning some stand on the employment of Communists within the industry.

On December 14, 1947, BILLIE DAVENPORT, mother-in-law of screen writer WALDO SALT, told Informant T-11 that WALDO had just advised her that his option had not been taken up at RKO, and that he would be out of a job after finishing the script for the coming picture "Ivanhoe". She stated that DORE SCHARY, executive producer at RKO, talked to WALDO for more than an hour and a half, and had explained to him that RKO's action was not for political reasons but because it had been necessary to cut down. According to BILLIE DAVENPORT, WALDO was not taken in by this talk and was certain in his own mind that DORE had been told to get rid of him. X(W)(E)(4)

In a humorous vein she mentioned that DORE SCHARY receives a salary of $8000 a week, so WALDO was quite flattered that SCHARY should spend a full hour and a half talking to him about the matter. X(X)(8)(4)

On the same date, WALDO SALT advised Informant T-12 that he was reminding a few people of the Guild meeting scheduled for Monday night, December 15, 1947, inasmuch as he did not want the Screen Writers Guild to have the same difficulty the Screen Directors Guild encountered at its meeting. On this occasion WALDO stated he had conferred with DORE SCHARY, and that SCHARY was really frightened. He stated SCHARY wanted to secure everyone's opinion and was urging them not to criticise the producers, and assuring people this matter of firing and blacklisting would happen only to the five so far involved. X(D)(8)(4)

SALT stated SCHARY explained his change of attitude from a month ago to him by remarking, "Back in 1938 we had the worst mudding of our waters, 'peace in our time,' and I think the producers just say 'peace in our time'". SALT told informant he could not help but agree that SCHARY's stand was his only way out. X(D)(8)(4)

CONFIDENTIAL

SALT also mentioned that ALLEN RIVKIN had addressed a small meeting held on the RKO lot, at which time RIVKIN advanced a point of view identical with that held by DORE SCHARY and supporting SCHARY's present position. According to SALT, RIVKIN is touring the studios one by one and conducting similar meetings among writers.

On December 15, 1947, approximately 500 members of the Screen Writers Guild met with the representatives of the Producers Committee to discuss the latter's actions concerning the matter of handling Communism in the motion picture industry. T-13 and T-14 in discussing it were emphatic in stating that the Communists, as usual, had been able to control the conduct of the meeting. These informants said that DALTON TRUMBO brought a crowd of 500 writers to startled attention when he attacked DORE SCHARY, EDWARD J. MANNIX and WALTER WANGER as being liars, hypocrites and thieves. TRUMBO's firy outburst followed an appearance before the Guild of the three producers who came to request the writers to "lay off the present situation , and instead of criticism of the producers to fire Communists, to work with the producers in an all-industry public relations campaign." SCHARY spoke to the writers while MANNIX and WANGER sat on the speakers platform. After SCHARY finished his speech and left the meeting TRUMBO took the floor to attack the three producers. At this point there were shouts of "Out of order," but TRUMBO succeeded in grabbing a microphone.

He shouted, "These three men have come here to force their weasel-minded policies down the throat of this guild. I want to denounce them for what they are. Liars, hypocrites and thieves".

Informants said that the audience then quieted down for the anticipated fireworks and TRUMBO continued: "First," said TRUMBO, "Take this hypocrite, DORE SCHARY, who has betrayed every principle this guild was founded on. Read his testimony in Washington. I came back on the same train with him. Three times he sent for me, finally I saw him and for an hour I told him to his face what a hypocrite he was. Then this MANNIX. During the last year and a half time and again he has told me he didn't care if Communists were working at Metro. During the last strike he told me to be quiet because he felt just as strongly as I did against the red-baiting tactics of ROY BREWER. And WANGER! that idiot hasn't made one public utterance in the past five years that he hasn't begged me to write for him. Everything he's ever said I had to write for him. Even more than that; during the United Nations meeting in San Francisco he telephoned me long distance, got me an A-1 priority to fly to Frisco and had me ghost the speech for EDWARD STETTINIUS. I worked five nights on that speech with WANGER and STETTINIUS. Now they come here and ask you, my fellow guild members, to turn your back on me when I am fighting for a principle that concerns every man in this room. I haven't changed one bit during the past year and a half. I am now what I was then. Are we going to be swayed by this lying hypocrisy?".

TRUMBO took his seat with a loud burst of applause. TRUMBO's speech had come as an answer to SCHARY's remarks before he, WANGER and MANNIX left the room, after SCHARY had presented the following arguments to the group: He expressed the wish that "In the spot I am in tonight I would much rather be down there with you than up here. You know how I felt in Washington, but I work for RKO; they determined the policy. I voted against that policy but now I believe in it. Our job is public relations. The producers told me that as soon as the spotlight is removed things will get back to the way they used to be. We have got to make the people of America regain confidence in our industry. We need your help. We ask you to please be patient about the first two points of our program. We do not ask that you endorse or condone; only be patient. We do ask that you assist us in our public relations job".

The focal point of the meeting was a statement of policy adopted by the newly elected all-Guild board, which submitted it to the membership for its approval. Some of the important points in this declaration of policy were:

(a) Recognition that there was a Communist menace in America;
(b) The expressed belief that both the THOMAS Committee and the Communist Party were equally subversive;

(c) Disapproval of three members of the Screen Writers Guild who testified as friendly witnesses in Washington, because they made public utterances to the effect that the Guild was Communist-dominated;

(d) Disapproval of the actions of the ten witnesses who refused to answer the questions;

(e) Criticism of the four members of the Screen Writers Guild among the "unfriendly witnesses" for refusing to say whether or not they were members of the Screen Writers Guild. "By doing this," the statement continued, "They placed the Guild and the Communist Party in the eyes of the public as two similar organizations".

Two resolutions were affixed to the statement of policy. They were as follows:

1. The Guild will appear as amicus curiae in the civil suits to be instituted against the studios by the writers who have been fired for Communist activity, and the Guild will supply "the best available counsel" to this end.

CONFIDENTIAL

2. The Guild will combat any effort on the part of the producers to form a blacklist of writers for their Communist activity, and will begin its fight in the form of a court injunction to restrain the producers from firing any more writers.

As a sharp debate began to loom it was decided to vote on the two "be it resolved" resolutions first. Both were carried by a majority of five to one.

Then came the debate on the statement of policy, which turned into a two-hour free-for-all, with DALTON TRUMBO, ALBERT MALTZ, LESTER COLE and RING LARDNER, JR. fighting for its defeat. The vote was finally taken at 1:00 A.M., and by virtue of 127 proxies the proponents of the statement of policy were able to get it passed by a slender margin of two votes. An immediate challenge was started by the opponents of the statement of policy on the grounds that Guild policy should not be determined by such a slender margin. Many supporters of the statement of policy began to speak in favor of a move to reconsider. This was brought to vote, and by a two-thirds margin the vote to reconsider was passed and the statement of policy was tabled by an overwhelming vote.

Many of the anti-Communist members of the Guild had left the meeting when the vote was announced on the statement of policy, and a motion was before the Guild to adjourn. With these departing members had gone many proxies and, according to informants, "It was the same old story. The Communists outlasted their opponents and won the battle at 2:00 A.M.".

T-14 said that after TRUMBO had spoken in such a derogatory manner concerning SCHARY, DON HARTMAN (a screen writer) took the floor and said he would have to defend DORE SCHARY. HARTMAN went on that SCHARY had spoken out in Washington for political tolerance as he did in New York, and that he had tried to get RKO to vote down this action on the part of the producers.

HARTMAN went on that at this point he would have to violate a confidence but that he thought under the circumstances he could be excused for so doing. He said DORE SCHARY has to take this action or quit and "if he quits he is playing into the hands of the other side".

Informant said that he got the distinct impression

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

that SCHARY, who makes $8000 a week, is going along with the producers so that the post of executive producer at RKO won't go to an anti-Communist and also, naturally, "he wants that old pay check".

During the debate TRUMBO spoke in a disparaging manner about the three writers who had acted as friendly witnesses, and said that he would anonymously write "the other three into the poorhouse. They are not going to stop me". T-14 took this to mean that TRUMBO would merely adopt a pen name and would continue writing, and unless it were necessary to have him in for story conferences his identity might not be revealed.

Both T-13 and T-14 said that because the "unfriendly witnesses" had refused to testify before Congress as to their membership in the Screen Writers Guild this has resulted in the common impression being gained throughout the United States that the Screen Writers Guild and the Communist Party are one and the same.

The informants are watching with interest the public reaction to the Guild's resolutions, and are of the opinion that it may be the end of the Screen Writers Guild.

Along these lines, a resolution was introduced at the meeting to the effect that the Screen Writers Guild had been embarrassed and had not been consulted by the "unfriendly witnesses" prior to their going to Washington. LESTER COLE immediately grabbed the microphone and said this resolution was false in its entirety; that the Guild had gone on record prior to their departure for Washington, and he reminded them that MAURICE COHN, one of the attorneys for the Guild, had read a statement that the Un-American Committee was without authority to question anyone as to political beliefs. T-14 had been at this meeting and recalled that this was true.

T-15 on December 15 and 16, 1947, verified in substance the information set forth by T-13 and T-14. In addition, he advised that the new Board members, as far as he was concerned, were Communist fellow travelers, and there had been no real change of heart within the Screen Writers Guild as publicly claimed following the recent election of new officers. Anti-Communist groups within the Screen Writers Guild are attempting to establish a proxy voting system whereby they can control voting, as they are believed to outnumber the Communistic group, but in the past have been much more inactive, consequently the Guild has been controlled by the Communists.

There is some evidence that the motion picture industry, as far as the producers are concerned, is taking a definite stand against the unfriendly ten witnesses.

DALTON TRUMBO has reportedly attempted to secure work for his wife, thinking he might circumvent the situation and ghost write for her. She has been turned down by the studios 100%. Likewise, the WILLIAM MORRIS Agency has been unable to secure a job for RING LARDNER, JR., and there are well-established rumors that the various agencies servicing the industry will fall in line with the producers and refuse to hire known Communists.

Informant is of the opinion that the efforts taken by the industry to date in firing certain of the unfriendly witnesses is strictly window dressing, and they hope that the public will think that "Hollywood's house" has been thoroughly cleaned. This is wishful thinking, as the House Committee is aware of the situation and undoubtedly will conduct further hearings and identify other individuals connected with the Communist Party in Hollywood.

ABRAHAM POLANSKY, screen writer, is being groomed to take over JOHN HOWARD LAWSON's position as top Communist functionary in the Guild, and in Hollywood cultural groups. POLANSKY has been most active. He was a Communist conspirator in Labor circles before he became a writer, and might be described as a "tough character," one thoroughly schooled in street fighting and violent revolutionary tactics.

Informant commented that DALTON TRUMBO showed his true colors in the above described meeting of Screen Writer Guild members on December 15, 1947.

Informant is of the opinion that the Government should investigate TRUMBO's assignments during World War II when the latter covered certain areas of the South Pacific as a news correspondent for the Government. The story behind TRUMBO's assignment undoubtedly would disclose Communist connections in high Government circles. Informant was unable to furnish any details concerning this.

T-15 disclosed firsthand information that STRIBLING of the House Committee had been in touch with certain members of the Motion Picture Alliance on December 16, 1947, and had been advised of the action taken by the Screen Writers Guild. STRIBLING at that time seemed incensed and said that, undoubtedly, the House Committee would continue hearings in the immediate future to expose additional Communists in Hollywood.

4. The Committee for the First Amendment:

Reference is made to Page 18 of the report of Special Agent LESLIE F. WARREN made at Los Angeles, California, November 17, 1947, wherein considerable information concerning the Committee for the First Amendment was set forth.

On December 3, 1947, T-9 advised he had become cognizant of Communist infiltration into the organization known as the Committee for the First Amendment, which grew out of a group organized to protest the House Committee hearings, and who originally called themselves "Hollywood Fights Back". Informant believed the Committee for the First Amendment was inspired by a so-called "liberal" group and non-Communists. However, it has recently been learned by observation and information developed that a person believed to be a Communist was very influential behind the scenes in directing policy for this organization. This individual is identical to the one previously mentioned in this report who had been directing policy behind the scenes for the American Veterans Committee, Beverly Hills Post, that is, JANE STRUDWICK, also known as JANE MEAD.

MEAD has been identified to this office as a member of the Communist Party by CNDI [redacted] as mentioned heretofore in this report under "Screen Writers Guild" section. b7D

In speaking of various individuals who had gone to Washington to protest the hearings, T-16 recalled that DANNY KAYE was undecided whether or not to make the trip until he was pressured at a dinner by JOHN HUSTON. SYLVIA FINE, DANNY KAYE's wife, told informant that she had attempted to argue DANNY out of going, and she discussed with informant her regret that DANNY was intent upon accompanying BOGART to Washington. She explained that their marital relations had come to the point where any stand she took was just the opposite of what DANNY would ultimately wind up doing. In an attempt to convince him of the folly of his plan she had his agent, his lawyer and his public relations man advise him that going to Washington was an unwise move. However, at the dinner JOHN HUSTON publicly challenged KAYE about taking the trip and said something about "Remember what happened in Germany. People were afraid to take a stand".

In speaking of DANNY KAYE and HUMPHREY BOGART, BLAYNEY MATTHEWS, Plant Superintendent at Warner Brothers Studios, said that the studio has contracts calling for one picture a year from each of the two above named, and that the management was extremely concerned about what to do with these contracts because the public is thoroughly aroused concerning these personalities among others.

By a memorandum dated November 20, 1947, Special Agent EDMUND D. MASON reports that from his contacts at Fox Studios "there is a general feeling that the persons who went to Washington to protest, including BOGART, BACALL, GARLAND, et al, were very much frightened because of their ill-advised actions, and there is further a general sentiment that these persons have hurt themselves in the box office. Nevertheless, no action is contemplated against them by the studios".

The local trade papers have carried very little recent publicity or news concerning the activities of the Committee for the First Amendment. However, an advertisement was noticed in the "Hollywood Reporter" on Monday, December 15, 1947, signed "The Freedom From Fear Committee". According to the advertisement, those people representing the Freedom From Fear Committee are: RICHARD COLLINS, GORDON KAHN, HOWARD KOCH, LEWIS MILESTONE, IRVING PICHEL, LARRY PARKS, ROBERT ROSSEN and WALDO SALT. Of the above, COLLINS, KAHN, PARKS, ROSSEN and SALT are members of the Communist Party, according to CNDI [redacted]. The address given is [redacted] - Telephone Gladstone 4141. It was ascertained that this number is listed under the name HERBERT BIBERMAN, [redacted] BIBERMAN, according to CNDI [redacted] is a member of the Communist Party. The advertisement is quoted below: b6 b7C b7D

On the next page of the "Reporter" is a quarter page advertisement captioned, "Freedom From Fear," and asking the question, "Fed Up With the 'bi-partisan' attack on the film industry--on your basic American liberties? HERE IS YOUR ANSWER: Build the Independent Progressive Party to unite all liberals in defense of our American liberty....." This ad states that the following people will appear as speakers: EUGENE CONNOLLY, N. Y. City Councilman, American Labor Party leader; SIDNEY JONES, JR., whom the ad states is a prominent negro attorney, leader of the Chicago Progressive Party, and Secretary of the Cook County Bar Association; HUGH BRYSON, President, Marine, Cooks and Stewards; Chairman of the Independent Progressive Party Organizing Committee; Dr. FRANCIS TOWNSEND of the Townsend Plan; HARPER M. POULSON, Chairman, Association of Veteran Home Buyers; Director, Southern California Region, Independent Progressive Party.

This ad states that a meeting will be held at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles, December 17, 1947, at 8:00 P.M., and that information and tickets can be obtained at the Independent Progressive Party of America, 426 South Spring Street, Los Angeles.

Informant T-13 said that these ads appearing on consecutive pages in the "Hollywood Reporter" were proof to him that the PCA and the Freedom From Fear Committee were one and the same. However, informant feels that the possibility exists that the Freedom From Fear Committee intends to take up where the Committee for the First Amendment left off.

5. The Communist Party:

CONF. INFT.

On December 19, 1947, CNDI [redacted] advised that the recent hearings on Communism in the Hollywood film industry by the House Committee on Un-American Activities has brought into opposition the entire strength of the Communist Party nationally and even internationally. Every group or organization attached to the Communist Party as a front or mask for its activities has been enlisted to discredit the investigation and to have this committee of the Congress of the United States abolished. b7D

Informant advised that the general theme on which the campaign is carried out is that any investigation of Communism or Communists is an invasion of civil rights guaranteed by the Constitution and, further, that such investigation is a sign of the rise of fascism in the United States. Every press item in the official press of the Communist Party, all literature put out by front organizations, every speech at mass meetings or otherwise repeats the same slogan and chants the same line of propaganda, according to informant.

CNDI [redacted] stated that in addition to the official Communist press, the Daily Worker, People's Daily World, New Masses, etc., the Communist Party is utilizing such organizations and groups as: PCA, locally and nationally; CIO, locally and wherever Communist control is certain; CIO Council; some A. F. of L. unions; such Jewish organizations as the Jewish Labor Council, B'nai B'rith, American Jewish Committee, International Workers Order, etc. b7D

In the Los Angeles area the following organizations and groups have fallen into line: Los Angeles County Democratic Committee of the regular Democratic Party; CIO Industrial Union Council; Hollywood Screen Writers Guild; Mobilization for Democracy; Southland Jewish Organization, every unit or cell masked as a democratic group; Arts & Sciences Council of the Hollywood PCA, and the regular daily newspaper and illustrated daily news where the American Newspaper Guild has strong influence.

In addition to the foregoing, mass meetings have been and are being held or planned to raise this issue before the people, accompanied by their false interpretations. At the same time the Communist Party uses this campaign to make the ten exposed individuals appear as martyrs and thus take advantage of the opportunity as a sounding board to get their distorted program before the American people.

6. Progressive Citizens of America:

Informant T-17, a member of the Los Angeles County Communist Party in 1946 and 1947, on December 10, 1947, advised that the PCA was quite active at present and was circulating petitions for the establishment of a third political party in this country. Due to the "heat" on Communist activities, many of these petitions were being secretly circulated among persons in the entertainment industry. Also due to the same reasons the "boys in the cell," that is, Communists, had been warned to avoid political issues as much as possible but to support the PCA, the Committee for the First Amendment, and other similar organizations which might be used to further the Communist Party cause, which in this locality is almost 100% fighting the House Un-American Activities Committee, supporting the position of the so-called "unfriendly 10 witnesses," and attempting to establish the aforementioned third party.

Informant was of the opinion that the Progressive Citizens of America was Communist-inspired. This opinion was based upon the reference to the PCA in closed Communist meetings which informant had attended in the early part of this year. He said the directors of these meetings were careful not to say outright that the PCA was a Communist organization, but they always referred to the PCA as "our organization" without exception, whereas organizations like the Committee for the First Amendment were referred to in a different manner, namely, discussions were held as to how the latter organization might be used to further their cause, giving the inference that they had not originally inspired or set up the Committee for the First Amendment.

"Undoubtedly," said informant, "a group of Communists followed by the left wing faction of the old Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, had organized the Hollywood Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions Division of the PCA, specifically to direct Communist Party activity under the guise of a political organization." Informant had no further proof other than expressed above at the present time.

7. Motion Picture Personalities:

The effect of the hearings upon the industry, particularly in the box office, has been set out above. However, certain motion picture people, particularly those who flew to Washington in protest, and those who lent their names to villifying the THOMAS Committee, are being reported to this office by informants. Some of the information is set out below which is felt will be of interest to this investigation:

Source T-18, a department head of Columbia Pictures, Inc., on November 4, 1947, advised that "most of the radical element at Columbia Pictures, Inc. has been laying low" since all of the Congressional hearing activity had been taking place. Specifically, informant mentioned SIDNEY BUCHMAN, an independent producer associated with Columbia Pictures. BUCHMAN frequently lent his name to various petitions and articles circulated in behalf of radical groups in Hollywood. It was believed that BUCHMAN was a Communist. If not, he was certainly "Red" in his political beliefs and associations. "There has not been a 'peep' out of BUCHMAN lately," according to informant. It should be noted that CNDI [redacted] has identified BUCHMAN as a member of the Communist Party. b7D

On November 7, 1947, LEON CHARLES, co-owner of the Federal Printing Company, 345 South Wall Street, Los Angeles, and publisher of the book "Red Fascism," written by California Senator JACK TENNEY, advised the following:

CHARLES mentioned that it was a pity that Senator JACK TENNEY was not subpoenaed before the House Committee as TENNEY could have "aided them a lot". The question arose as to whether the evidence submitted against the Communist suspects at the House hearings was legally admissible in a court of law, particularly the ex-FBI Agent's testimony concerning the Communist Party cards allegedly held by the unfriendly ten witnesses. CHARLES volunteered that, undoubtedly, the House Committee could produce legal evidence, and remarked that TENNEY had considerable legal evidence concerning actual card numbers of many people in Hollywood. He said, "We've got hundreds of them".

At this point CHARLES disclosed that he was an official special investigator for the California State Committee on Un-American Activities, and further emphasized that TENNEY had plenty of records which might be made available to the Committee if TENNEY were approached properly.

T-13 said that he heard a broadcast of FULTON LEWIS, JR. last week wherein the latter said he had been approached by an individual representing KATHERINE HEPBURN, stating that she wanted to go on record to the effect that she did not know what she was signing when she joined the Committee for the First Amendment, nor did she realize the type of speech she was reading when she appeared at a PCA rally in Gilmore Stadium recently.

Informant went on that ADOLPH MENJOU had told him

BEST AVAILABLE COPY

CONFIDENTIAL

that SPENCER TRACY had made the remark to MENJOU that HEPBURN wanted to make a statement in order to clear herself with the American public and, furthermore, that FRANK CAPRA wanted her to make it. (u)

T-13 said that H. A. SMITH, the investigator for the Committee, had said that he personally had approached HEPBURN about two weeks prior to the hearing, and had told her, in effect, that the Committee did not want to be arbitrary, nor did it wish to hurt anyone, and that if she had any explanation concerning the speech she read at Gilmore Stadium this was her opportunity to make a statement to the Congress. Informant said that she "drew herself up" and asked SMITH if she did not look like an adult. Furthermore, she said she knew what she was saying, that she was fully capable of writing her own speeches, and that she had no defense to make of her position. This, according to the informant, shows that she has done an absolute turnabout because of the pressure of publicity. He has been trying to find out why no printed article concerning HEPBURN's alleged change of heart has appeared, but to date has been unsuccessful. (u)

T-13 and T-14, in speaking about HUMPHREY BOGART and his public retraction, were emphatic in stating that this was directly due to box office and not due to any change of heart basically, because they recalled that after returning from Washington and appearing before the Committee "where he saw ten party cards," BOGART attended a dinner party at EDDIE CANTOR's, where he "bawled out people" and continued collecting funds for the defense of the unfriendly witnesses. (u)

T-1 stated that since DALTON TRUMBO has been subjected to so much publicity that someone at MGM told informant TRUMBO had admitted to him that he was a member of the Communist Party several years ago. T-1 is actively attempting to find this person. (u)

The same informant stated that HOWARD RUSHMORE when he was Business Manager for the "Daily Worker" was present on one occasion when CHARLES CHAPLIN paid his membership dues in the Communist Party, and T-1 was told this personally by RUSHMORE. (u)

Informant continued that when he was in the East he spent some time with JACK VALTIN, author of the book "Out of the Night," and it was VALTIN's observation that "Russia is the weapon in the plan for world Communism. The Communists are not trying to carry out Czarist imperialism. That plan just happens to coincide with the Politburo's plan to make Russia strong". (u)

The ten witnesses have been ordered returned to (u)

CONFIDENTIAL

Washington, D. C. by Judge J. F. T. O'CONNOR in Los Angeles, California. DALTON TRUMBO, the only one of the ten who had not been served with a warrant by the Marshal, surrendered on December 11, 1947. (u)

BEN MARGOLIS and ROBERT KENNY, attorneys for the defendants, argued that the Congressional Committee did not have the power to inquire into political beliefs and attempted to get O'CONNOR to set aside the indictment. MARGOLIS asked and got permission for ALBERT MALTZ and "some of the others" to leave the jurisdiction of the court, indicating they were going to San Francisco and Seattle. (u)

[redacted] is personally of the opinion that Congress must pass legislation concerning Communism if the motion picture industry is to get rid of its Communists. He stated that he had recommended to BARNEY BALABAN that Paramount make a short and distribute it to the 14,000 or 15,000 theaters in the United States, which will graphically portray some of the scenes as set forth in the cartoon book, "Is This Tomorrow?". This booklet allegedly portrays scenes that will take place in America if the Communists seize power. Informant feels that certain scenes can be lifted directly from newsreels that are in the studio files showing strikes and riots as they are set out in the booklet. In addition, he stated that since there is one central character in the booklet, in this instance a man named JONES, a short could be built around him as its central character. (u) b7D

At the conclusion of the short the audience would be urged in as strong a manner as possible to communicate with their Congressmen and demand action concerning outlawing Communism. Then the names of the Congressmen and the Senators from the district in which the theater is located would be flashed on the screen. This would bring the message to fifty to seventy-five million people and, in informant's opinion, would be one of the best methods of exerting pressure on Congress. (u)

Informant was most emphatic in saying that the Congressional hearings must continue and every Communist known to the Committee exposed so that the industry can continue in taking positive action. He is doubtful that Congress will act, but until it does he is of the personal opinion that very little can be done about expelling Communists from the industry because producers lack the knowledge as to Party membership. He is of the opinion that the resolutions being passed calling upon people to swear they are not Communists are of negligible value. Both he and [redacted] are of the opinion that Communists will not hesitate to violate their oath, and that the signing of such documents means nothing as far as membership in the Party is concerned. (u) b7D

T-13 and T-14 believe that RING LARDNER, JR. and (u)

CONFIDENTIAL

LARRY PARKS both will eventually be swayed from the Communist Party because both of them are frightened and worried about their careers.

T-13 stated that during the hearings in Washington recently FREDERIC MARCH and his wife, FLORENCE ELDRIDGE, were invited to the home of ex-Secretary of State, JIMMY BYRNES for cocktails. MARCH began to castigate the THOMAS Committee and BYRNES asked him and his wife to leave his home at once, which they did.

The Hollywood trade press has been carrying articles to the effect that those persons who are expelled from the motion picture industry locally because of their political leanings had been offered refuge in England by the film industry there.

TITLE: COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

CHARACTER OF CASE: INTERNAL SECURITY (C)

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

[redacted]

The motion picture box office has fallen off 20% on a national basis as result of public reaction to Washington hearings. This has forced public retractions from HUMPHREY BOGART and KATHERINE HEPBURN; the 10 unfriendly witnesses are through in the industry. Motion picture producers holding meetings with the talent guilds in attempt to work out formula for getting rid of Communists. This move forced by economic reasons and not patriotism, according to L. B. MAYER. Screen Directors Guild and Screen Actors Guild taking positive stand against Communism but Screen Writers Guild supporting the 10 discharged persons, and tabled a resolution against Communism. DALTON TRUMBO called SCHARY, MANNIX and WANGER "liars, hypocrites and thieves" in a public meeting and stated he had ghost written speech of STETTINIUS, then Secretary of State, at San Francisco at specific request of WANGER. Feeling exists that hearings must continue and Communists exposed because the producers are powerless to move against Party members in the industry and are "floundering" as to method of procedure in getting rid of them.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 8-28-96 BY SP2 ALC/CM

Dear Sir:

It has come to the attention of this office that some of the individuals within the motion picture industry who are to be subpoenaed to Washington as witnesses in the House Un-American Activities Committee hearing later this month desire to meet the Director, if possible, and to take a tour of the Bureau. They may call you while in Washington.

Specifically, two informants have made requests to meet the Director. These are JAMES McGUINNESS, [redacted] and AYN RAND, 10,000 Tampa Street, Chatsworth, California. Both are members of the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals, which is known to the Bureau and was organized to fight Communism within the industry.

b6

DEFERRED RECORDING

McGUINNESS is employed by MGM Studios and holds an executive position, being in charge of all writers at the studios. RAND is a novelist who is known internationally, her best known novels being "The Fountainhead" and "We the Living." She is of Russian extraction and birth but is now a citizen of this country. Both McGUINNESS and RAND have been cooperative with the Los Angeles Office in connection with recent inquiries concerning communistic propaganda in specific motion picture films. RAND published a booklet which was designed for furnishing information concerning the type of Communist propaganda used in motion pictures. This booklet was distributed to producers and publishers. It is her intention to testify before the House Committee regarding the contents of this booklet. McGUINNESS is expected to testify generally concerning his knowledge of communistic activities among the writers in Hollywood.

Very truly yours,

On December 27, 1947, Martin Popper of the National Lawyers Guild and one of the local legal representatives of the captioned individuals contacted Robert Kenny also an attorney for the captioned group in Los Angeles concerning the possibility of lobbying on behalf of the ten Hollywood defendants in order to secure a delay in the arraignment until the day of the trial.

Popper requested that Kenny come to Washington to see you in an effort to cause a delay in the case involving the ten Hollywood defendants. Kenny was of the opinion that it would be just as well if he telephonically contacted you upon his arrival in New York City on December 30, 1947. Popper, however, was quite insistent upon Kenny's coming to see you in person. He stated that he believed that if Kenny went in and saw you face to face he might have a better chance. Popper also indicated that he was going to see the assignment commissioner here in Washington, D. C., and secure a date for a hearing on the first day that Justice Pine is back in Washington. Popper indicated that he was also going to continue lobbying on behalf of the ten Hollywood defendants.

Kenny also advised Popper that he and Bartley Crum, also an attorney for the ten Hollywood defendants, were leaving California together and would arrive in Chicago at 11:30 A. M. on December 29, 1947. Kenny stated that he plans to leave Chicago at 4:30 P. M. December 29, 1947, and arrive in New York City on the evening of December 30, 1947. During the stop-over in Chicago Kenny related that he expected to have a long talk with Henry A. Wallace concerning the political ventures of Wallace and the possibility of Wallace's running for president on a third party ticket. Kenny stated that he believes it would be better if Wallace were to run on the democratic ticket in California rather than cause a [illegible] in the Democratic Party.

CONF. INFT. [redacted] has advised of a telephone conversation on December 27, 1947, between MARTIN POPPER and ROBERT KENNY, the latter being in Los Angeles, California. During the conversation, POPPER and KENNY discussed the possibility of lobbying on behalf of the ten Hollywood defendants in order to secure a delay in the arraignment until the day of the trial. b7D

KENNY advised POPPER he and BARTLEY CRUM were leaving California together and would arrive in Chicago at 11:30 a.m., December 29, 1947. KENNY plans to leave Chicago on the 4:30 p.m. train, December 29, and arrive in New York City on the evening of December 30, 1947. During the stop-over in Chicago, KENNY expects to have a long talk with HENRY A. WALLACE concerning the political ventures of WALLACE and the possibility of WALLACE's running for president on a third party ticket.

KENNY believes it would be better if WALLACE were to run on the Democratic ticket in California rather than cause a split in the party. POPPER suggested KENNY come to Washington and see Attorney General CLARK in an effort to cause a delay in their case. KENNY was of the opinion it would be just as well if he telephonically contacted CLARK upon his arrival in New York City. POPPER was quite insistent upon KENNY's coming to see CLARK in person and stated he believed if KENNY went in and saw CLARK face to face and had a long talk with him he might have a better chance.

At the time of this call, it was not decided exactly which method would be used but POPPER was insistent that KENNY give CRUM this information and suggested either KENNY or CRUM come to Washington and see the Attorney General in person. POPPER stated he was going to see the assignment commissioner and secure a date for a hearing on the first day that Justice PINE is back in Washington. POPPER indicated he was going to continue lobbying on behalf of the ten Hollywood defendants.

MARTY said it will be all right for ANDREWS to shoot the questions, but he has seen some of the questions ANDREWS wrote on the Hollywood thing before and they have to be careful, although it is all right to have him write something. MARTY said he doesn't see any harm in ANDREWS submitting the questions as long as it is understood by him that a final determination as to whether or not they would be answered would be left to "us" and there would be nothing written by him which says that "we" fell down on the deal. BOB said he'll call ANDREWS. BOB asked if there would be any danger of this opening up the matter for another committee hearing. MARTY thinks it is all right to submit questions.

BOB asked if anyone has ever done a job on the composition of the jury in Washington, D. C., the group classification aspect--Seal (ph) vs. Southern Pacific. MARTY said they are absolutely clear on Negroes (on juries). They discussed presence of government employees on grand jury and petty jur. MARTY said the only basis he could figure out for excluding government employees is because of the nature of the offense and because of the hysteria and terror existing in Washington. MARTY said government employees on the whole are low paid people. BOB said, "That's what's wrong. We've got all these rich communists..." (laughter) MARTY said he discussed the jury problem with SAM ROSENWEIN today. BOB said they should look into the the method of selection of government employees for jury duty.

BOB said they had a rumor that the JOSEPHSON (ph) case was affirmed. MARTY said it was affirmed with a very good dissenting opinion by CLARK. They discussed this case and MARTY said "we" are very encouraged by it.

MARTY said he will contact BOB before 1 o'clock tomorrow.

MARTY said he is very concerned about the job they wanted to do to prove the non-legislative purpose of this committee (Un-American). BOB said "we" still haven't got a nickle in the till. MARTY said would like to contact one or two guys around the country who could be classified as experts, like GELLERMAN (ph) or OGDEN (of Catholic U.), to see if they'd be willing to testify. ## COMMUNIST ACTIVITY IN THE FIELD OF MOTION PICTURES

With reference to the International Motion Picture Committee, an intense development of Communist activity in the field of motion pictures has been observed in France in the past few months. Influence over motion picture production is regarded by the Communist Party of France as an important factor in ideological warfare. Communist publications (NOTRE JEUNESSE of September-October, 1947) discussing the "Cinema as a weapon of propaganda" describe it as "the most formidable and the most effective method of exerting pressure on public opinion." Prominent Party leaders have likewise often stressed the propaganda value of motion pictures. Andre MARTY, in his speech at the meeting of the Central Committee on September 13, 1947, listed "a weapon of great power, the cinema, with films capable of causing emotion, of elevating the masses, and of driving to action," among suggestions for the successful "education of the masses." (HUMANITE, September 14-15, 1947).

The importance attributed by the Party to motion pictures was confirmed recently by Maurice THOREZ who described in his speech of October 29, 1947, the "pernicious" influence exercised by American pictures which "aim at turning the French people into slaves crushed by an iron heel." THOREZ stressed the necessity for action in this sphere and advocated the formation of an "Association for the Defense of the French Cinema" uniting actors, musicians, and workers of the film industry.

It is not surprising therefore, that the campaign launched against the United States and American civilization by the Communist Party in October, 1947, was accompanied by a particularly violent attack in the field of motion pictures. This attack which was preceded by many months of less obvious but persistent anti-American propaganda in this domain, follows two main lines of approach. On one hand, it aims at undermining the American motion picture industry, diminishing the popularity of American pictures, and obstructing their penetration into France. On the other, it is directed toward penetrating the French motion picture industry and toward using the latter as a point of departure for infiltration in the motion picture world of other countries.

RECORDED

1. Communist Struggle Against American Motion Pictures

INDEXED 100-138754-379

Communist activity aimed at opposing the pro-American propaganda often unintentionally conveyed by American motion pictures is by no means a recent development. A veiled battle against American films has been conducted by the Party since the liberation of France. It grew in intensity after the conclusion in January, 1946, of the Blum agreement which gave rise to numerous Communist inspired demonstrations.

The most common weapon used by the Party in this battle is criticism of American production which is subjected to harsh censure and even ridicule in the Communist influenced press. Favorable reviews in the case of American pictures are restricted to films which may be used for anti-American propaganda purposes (THE LOST WEEKEND, for example, which was used as proof of the prevalence of alcholism in the United States). Every possibility of provoking anti-American feeling is utilized. American motion picture companies and their administrators are presented as narrow-minded tyrants while American actors are portrayed as victims struggling vainly for freedom of expression in an atmosphere of moral turpitude and depravity. In January 1947, for example, the Paris Communist press (HUMANITE, CE SOIR, LA MARSEILLAISE) made much ado of the alleged "persecution" of Lou BUNIN and a group of technicians by Walt Disney, their employer, who was described as a "shameless fomentor of racial prejudice." On the other hand, in August 1947, the Lille Communist weekly NOTRE NORD featured prominently Gary COOPER as having spoken in favor of Communism at the "inauguration of the Communist Federation of Philadelphia" and against the "speculators of trusts and cartels for whom the life of a man has less value than their dirty interests." NOTRE NORD claimed that actor Cooper invited his audience to "regard the Communist Party as an instrument of liberation and progress" stating that membership therein is "the greatest honor in existence." (The full text of the speech attributed to Gary Cooper is attached hereto in a separate appendix).

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 8-28-96 BY SPAC LCG/m

Since the publication in HUMANITE on October 24, 1947, of a summons addressed to the people of France to fight the "degrading spirit" of American civilization, the Communist campaign in the sphere of motion pictures has assumed fantastic proportions. An invitation of a general nature to boycott American production, which appeared in the Communist press at the end of October 1947, was soon followed by more definite injunctions, i.e., "to boycott Robert Taylor," "to hiss during the presentation of American films," etc. Faithfully adhering to Party slogans, the Communist press of the last few weeks has been attributing every instance of attempted murder committed in France to frequent attendance at American picture showings, since American films are "one of the predominant elements in the work of wholesale brutalization undertaken by the high financiers across the Atlantic."

Simultaneously with the campaign directed against American motion picture production, the French Communist influenced press given extensive and favorable publicity to American actors which it believes to be holding Communist or fellow-traveller views. Similar treatment is afforded French Communist or fellow-traveller producers and actors, as well as the films in which they take part. Four names stand out particularly in the group of American actors favored by Communist publications. They are: Edward G. ROBINSON, Paulette GODARD, Charlie CHAPLIN, and Rita HAYWORTH.

French favorites of the Communist press are Jacques BECKER (Communist), Marc ALLEGRET (brother-in-law of Marie Claude VAILLANT-COUTURIER), Pierre BLANCHAR (Communist), and Michele MORGAN.

Another aspect of the anti-American campaign conducted by the Party is its exaggerated praise of Soviet motion picture enterprises and its effort to intensify interest in Soviet films.

2. Communist Penetration in the Sphere of French Motion Pictures

A careful study of French Governmental and government subsidized motion picture organizations indicates that the Communist Party has been most successful in penetrating their services. At the same time it exercises considerable influence in French motion picture production through agents in various French companies.

The Party has a strong hold over the French National Center of Cinematography a governmental organization supervising the French motion picture industry. Michel POURREY CORMERAY is the director general of this organization. He is a fellow-traveller described by reliable sources as "putty in Communist hands." One of his immediate collaborators is Claude JAEGER, a Communist who occupies the position of Deputy Director for Production and Technical Services. Motion picture censorship is likewise in Communist hands. Georges HUISMANS, an ardent fellow-traveller, is President of the governmental motion picture control commission. He has several Party members to assist him in his work.

The Higher Institute for Motion Picture Study (IDHEC or "Institut des Hautes Etudes Cinematographiques") appears to be a Communist dominated organization. Its Director is Leo JOUSSINAC (Communist). His Assistant is J. LODS (Communist) while Georges SADOUL (prominent Communist militant) is one of the professors. The Government supported "Cinemateque," an organization operating a motion picture library and supplying films to schools, clubs, and other cultural enterprises, is likewise under Communist management. The Director is GREMILLON (Communist militant) with H. LANGLOIS (Communist) to assist him. Another organization subsidized by the Government is the Federation of Motion Picture Clubs ("Federation des Cine-Clubs") which, while uniting certain non-Communist elements, is composed principally of pro-Communist groups and is under direct Party control. This is evident from the composition of its Bureau, the president of which is Jean PAINLEVE (ardent fellow traveller), and the Secretary General Georges SADOUL (Communist militant).

The CPF has further penetrated the "French Motion Picture Committee for the United Nations." The President of this Committee is Georges HUISMANS (mentioned above) and the Assistant Secretary Ch. CHEZEAU (Communist).

Several French motion picture producing companies are under Communist control. It is of interest in this connection that a number of films Communist in character have been produced by the CPF for propaganda purposes. Among the most recent are LES LENDEMAINS QUI CHANTENT and NOUS CONTINUONS LA FRANCE, both of which have been shown repeatedly to the Paris population free of charge. These pictures are distributed by the Party Motion Picture Distributing Center at 8 Rue de Maubeuge, Paris.

One of the larger companies under Communist influence is CINE FRANCE, which, judging from the Party affiliation of most of its associates, is almost entirely Communist (five of seven associates are known to be Party members). A definite Communist trend may likewise be observed in ACTUALITES FRANCAISES, a French news reel producing company.

3. Communist Activity in the International Motion Picture Field

Apparently with the thought of using motion picture groups formed in France as a point of departure for infiltration in the motion picture industry of other countries, the Party has recently inspired the establishment of several international associations embracing various aspects of motion picture activity. Three such associations were formed in September, 1947. They were the following:

1. International Federation of Cinema Clubs
2. International Association for Scientific Motion Pictures
3. International Filmology Bureau

In addition, several assemblies were held in France in September, 1947, with the object of forming subsequently associations of an international character. The following assemblies seem to be worthy of attention:

1. International Conference for Youth Motion Pictures
2. International Congress of Scenario Writers

Each of the above international movements will be discussed in a separate memorandum.

Translation

"Gary Cooper Speaks to You of Socialism" Published in NOTRE NOMD, August 8, 1947

We publish here below the text of a speech that Gary Cooper, the celebrated actor, gave before an enormous crowd at the inauguration of the Communist Federation of Philadelphia and which was sent throughout the entire world by the American press agencies.

Comrades;

The red flag which you see floating in the breeze on the huge tower of the Federation is there to show you that Philadelphia has made a new step toward the future; that wherever the red flag is flying there lies the basis of happiness, liberty and peace for the workers throughout the world.

To be a Communist is today the greatest honor that exists! To be a Communist means to have sunshine, enlightenment in one's soul; it means to love and to fight.

First, one must know what the Communist ideals are before being able to judge them. Americans particularly are in need of this enlightenment. Beyond our continent millions of people regard America as a modern civilization, but no one knows better than we Americans how false and erroneous this opinion can be.

Our country is the country of gold, silver, coal, oil, tremendous railway lines, trans-Atlantic steamers.... but is also the country where Rockefeller, Ford, and Rothschild use tear gas against the workers who strike to obtain more dignified and more humane working conditions.... Our country is the country of Lincoln, of Roosevelt, the four freedoms; but is also the country of Senator Bilbo, the country where Negroes are lynched and where the Redskins were exterminated by permitting them to get drunk on whisky and gin. Our country is the country of democracy by words, but it is also the country where the Klu Klux Klan exists and where Negroes are beaten if by chance they want to vote.... Our country is the country of skyscrapers, but is also the country of millions of unemployed. Our country is the country which fought against Germany and Japan, but is also the country which permits some MacArthur to substitute his authority for that of the Emperor of Japan in the far off Empire of the Rising Sun, an authority already staggering from the atomic bomb and where a light breeze could make it crumble.

Comrades,

I say to you: Only Socialism can guarantee happiness and real peace not only in the United States, but in the entire world.

You know it already: The entire world is now marching toward Socialism. In a vast federation of republics which cover almost one-sixth of the globe, the Soviet Union advances toward total Communism.

In all the Slav countries, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Roumania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania, have been established true popular governments, true expression of justice and liberty... In England, even though they have not embraced real Socialism, the Conservatives have nevertheless been beaten.

In numerous South American republics the Communist Party, formerly non-existent, has acquired imminent positions in directing the politics of these countries. In France, it is the first national party and in Italy it has attained almost five million votes.

In all the colonies, from India to Palestine and from Indonesia to Indo-China is running a current of liberty and social revolution... Greece and Spain are stubbornly fighting against their respective dictators who are supported by the New York financial capital, while China having defeated the Japanese invader is revolting in mass against the militaristic and feudal government of Chang Kai Chek.

And the United States? It is time for us too to wake up and to grasp again the great and just path traced by Roosevelt and to finish once and for all the kings of oil, coffee, sugar and lemonade... to finish with the Al Capones in white gloves, with these exploiters of misery for their own dirty interests.

When our forefathers landed in this country, they had a definite program; they were tired of the struggles of the Old World; of the intrigues of the Inquisition and of feudalism. They wanted to construct something grand and something beautiful in the New World! We must work for their ideals, for it is not Utopia unless each man has this ideal as his purpose in life and unless each day he fights for its realization with indomitable courage and tenacious faith!

No, no more war among people for the supremacy of such and such a government. Never again the shameful spectacle of a handful of capitalists who manoeuver an immense country only for their profit.

Americans must understand that it is only by changing the face of the world that one "Bob" will not again be forced to leave his beautiful "Jane" to go to die without knowing why he is fighting since the Chinese and the Indonesians, like Americans, ask only to be permitted to prosper and to live in justice.

It is only in this way that the miner will no longer be beaten and gassed when he protests because Morgan lives in a skyscraper and passes him in his specially built Ford with his numerous mistresses at his side, while he, the miner, spends his years in the mines of the "Rocky Mountains."

It is only in this way that "Tom" can go to the polls in peace without having to fear the clubs of Bilbo's henchmen... It is only in this way that the Rockefeller trusts, the Klu Klux Klan and the Al Capones will disappear.

To accomplish this, I invite you all to find in the Communist Party not an instrument of tyranny and objection as the capitalist agents would have you believe, but an instrument of liberation, progress and the elevation of mankind.

Long live free America! Long live the Communist Party!

"BOB" (ROBERT KENNY) to MARTIN POPPER.

BOB: The latest s tory that these guys give, that McGRATH gave to SULLIVAN, is that the judge didn't to do it this way, and thats why this guy had to double cross us (ph).

MARTIN: That's full of baloney.

B: So, I got BART (CRUM) calling them Monday.

M: Calling McGRATH?

B: Yeah.

B: Good. I'll go in to see him too, I know him pretty well.

B: By this time McGRATH is aware of the whole thing. And I put it on the basis that we were about to be fired as lawyers. Our clients figured if we didn't have enough prestige , to be able to get ah - to keep the department (garbled) to keep a bargain with us we were going to be throw out.

M: Do you think McGRATH wants you to stay on as lawyer?

B: Oh, I don't know. I was putting that up to the personal appeal of the guy here.

M: I was only kidding.

BOB said that the only guy that has impressed me, if they want to bring in talent, is LLOYD PAUL STRIKER (PH). BOB just read STRIKER's book ERSKIN(PH). BOB said that MARTIN should read the chapters on ERSKIN's defense of all of the English Jackapins (ph), "it is a remarkable parallel." The book is called, "For the Defense."

They discuss ERSKIN at length. MARTIN thinks he is a "reactionary." BOB said he is tremendously impressed with the guy's philosophy. MARTIN agrees to read the book on Monday; although he said that ERSKIN hasn't been useful in a single civil rights case in recent years.

MARTIN said that FAY (U.S. Attorney?) told us that they will try one person at a time, not all ten at once.

BOB again refers to the book (For the Defense), and said that it would be a wonderful thing to read to a jury in one of these cases.

BOB (KENNY ?) to MARTIN POPPER from Los Angeles, Calif.
B - Well, I've got another call now. SULLIVAN says he took it up with TOM CLARK. SULLIVAN says he and McGRATH took it up with TOM CLARK and CLARK took it up with FAY. Well, the new theory is that you're the villain. b7D
P - Hows's that?
B - Well, that you so antagonized the judge that the judge took the matter in his own hand and there was nothing FAY could do about it.
P - How do you figure that out when the first thing after I made my little formal speech the judge did was to ask the District Attorney whether he had any objection?
B - Well, now. I think the way to nail that and I think this is important, that the very first thing in the morning, or today if you can find out who the reporter is, to get him to write up the transcript of those proceedings and make them available for delivery to TOM CLARK, and one in your own possession and one to shoot out to me.
P - OK
B - Don't you think that's the answer?
P - Yeah. I'll see what there's to be done. I don't know whether these - - usually these are not taken down.
B - Well, in all our federal courts here the reporter is busy with the stenotype machine.
P - Well, I'll check and see if there is a report. If there is, why then ——
B - I rather think the proceedings would be reported.
P - All right. I'll certainly check on that.
B - And when around with that, I mean that's the way to nail that one.
P - OK. I mean that's just a pure out-and-out fabrication.
B - Yeah. Well, I know. And fortunately we have a way of nailing that kind of a thing. You might wire or phone me —— at home here in the morning on the progress of the transcript and then I'll hold off CRUM from phoning because I think that's the way to nail that. This little bastard FAY is just running around but apparently they've been putting some pretty high-grade pressure on the jury. He's working down on your now as being an overbearing, aggressive character. (Laugh)

P - OK. Well, I'll - I had a talk with FAY immediately after the hearing in which —— I bumped into him out in the hall and I said, "you know, in fifteen years of law practice this is the first time a thing like this ever happened to me." He said, "well, well, we-"

He just blubbered as a matter of fact, and he said that well he didn't really promise and so forth and so on and I had promised that we would never ask for any continuance on the return day or any motion and I hadn't said that to the judge and that's why he objected. I mean it was just a pure concoction of blubbery lies and, Jesus-Christ, I mean, to reach the point now where — doesn't he admit, whoever called you, doesn't he —?

B — He asked for the continuance on the return day but for gosh sake, they regarded them as defendants there.

6 P — That's right. Well, I mean, there's just nothing to this and just another way of trying to squirm out of it, that's all.

B — I know. Well, I think it's very important that we nail this thing. They left it. They said you, KENNY, should call FAY and talk to him. Well, obviously, I'm not going to do that until I have a transcript before me and he knows I have one.

P — OK, I'll see if I can get it in the morning.

B — I'm going on — I'm going to meet WALLACE in Tulsa on the 28th and go up to Chicago with him on the 29th. Now if may be that on the 2nd if I went on to Washington Maybe this thing — mayble something could be done with it. But I think the main thing is tomorrow morning to get that transcript if you possibly can.

P — OK, fine.

B — You're a good man, POPPER. BOB asks POPPER to get the measure of "this guy tractor (ph)" since what he (BOB) is thinking of in a guy that would make "a hell of a jury argument." POPPER promises to do

DOLLY (pho) told me there were two things; first, unwillingness to go to bat against (TOM) CLARK, and second, CUMMINGS (HOMER?) said to him that things were getting awful tough and he is looking at things in the light of events and the attitude of the courts with a jaundiced eye." ABE asked, "How about his coming in on any of the appeals?" (on the Un-American Activities Committee.) POPPER said he was sending over to him (CUMMINGS?) CLARK's dissenting opinion, "which he is anxious to read." POPPER said, "He spoke to CUMMINGS about that and the answer is not a negative one yet, so it's still possible. From the way DONNELLY (pho) spoke it's quite clear that the old man is a little leary at the rapid way events are going, but he thinks this minority opinion may be helpful. But he is eliminated from these cases." POPPER then asked if ABE had been in touch with LLOYD PAUL STRYKER (pho) and what his opinion was of him. ABE said he didn't know. POPPER asked if ABE knew about (con't.) gpb

STRYKER's reputation and ABE replied that he knew STRYKER wrote a book THAT was supposed to be pretty good. POPPER then explained that BOB KENNY had called him and seemed a little afraid to try the case (Hollywood Reds). POPPER said that KENNY keeps urging that STRYKER be seriously considered. He said that KENNY'S main impression was on reading STRYKER's book. POPPER said he told KENNY he would look over the situation. He said that generally speaking STRYKER was supposed to be a Republican and had quite a reputation as a trial lawyer. POPPER said, "I haven't said this to KENNY, but I don't want to get a guy on the case who doesn't want to try it. ABE asked what was behind it. POPPER said he thought a couple of guys out there (Hollywood) are beginning to get a little leary. "They want the biggest national guy they can get---that is (ADRIAN) SCOTT and DMYTRYK. BOB (KENNY) is a little worried about that. And because of that I think he is a little afraid of getting licked. I don't suppose he feels he's a big trial man. I have tried to bolster him up. There's no point in yielding at this stage of the game to anything that is justified. He (KENNY) shouldn't worry until after the motion to dismiss has been considered. Maybe the BARSKY case will have been decided by that time." ABE said he'd make inquiries about STRYKER. POPPER said the whole thing was predicated on the inability to convince the D. A. and court that "these guys" should not be arraigned until the day of the trial. "SCOTT and DMYTRYK made the point that if we had someone who was close to the administration they would not dare refuse us." ABE said that maybe CUMMINGS could have been got for just that one request. POPPER said he spoke to the judge on it this morning and was working on it through MCGRATH and GAEL SULLIVAN. He said he still thought BOB (KENNY) was a little leary. ABE asked if CUMMINGS answer was a flat no, and POPPER said yes. BOB GILBERSTEIN came on the line and asked POPPER how KATIE (his wife) was. POPPER said bad. He told BOB that he had an answer from the bar council of Great Britain saying they appreciated the invitation and thanked them, but they couldn't sent anyone over. He said he got a letter from (DAN) PRITT which indicated at was lack of funds that kept them from sending som ebody. BOB asked if POPPER had a chance to look at the DENNIS brief. POPPER said no. BOB said he expected to be back in Washington Friday night. gpb

He said when he talked to the judge he put it on a personal basis, saying that he had meant to come in but had been in a bad way with his whole family laid up. He explained to KENNY that his kids had been sick and KATIE (POPPER) had an abcessed ear. POPPER said he told the judge that he would have been glad to waive removal hearings if he could have got in Thursday. KENNY said that he had told the judge (in California) in court and in chambers that they wanted to get the jurisdiction to Washington. POPPER asked if that was done in open court. KENNY said yes. POPPER asked that he be sent that transcript because it would prove useful. KENNY asked why in POPPER's opinion the judge wanted to talk with him. POPPER explained that when he went up to talk to the stenographer on the transcript, the judge thought he wanted to talk with him, so he thought he might as well. POPPER then said, "What it all hinges on is this bastard (GEORGE) FAY. I could go in and move to reconsider without FAY's permission but that would not help because if FAY takes the same position now as he did last time the judge would not grant it." He told KENNY that he was going to try and see (J. HOWARD ?) MCGRATH and tell him the story about this morning. POPPER said, "Maybe that will help him too." Subjects in the above entitled case were arraigned before Justice KEECH of the District Court on January 9, 1948.

All ten of the subjects were arraigned en masse and all pled not guilty to the indictments. Subjects were represented by attorney, Mr. KENNEY, who was assisted by MARTIN POPPER of the National Lawyers Guild.

Mr. KENNEY requested that he have thirty days in which to file a motion for dismissal of the indictment. However, this was not permitted by Justice KEECH. Mr. KENNEY also requested that the defendants not be subjected to being fingerprinted again, inasmuch as they had previously been fingerprinted in Los Angeles. However, on the objection of Assistant United States Attorney HITZ, Justice KEECH ruled that the defendants be handled in the ordinary manner as other persons and would be fingerprinted again.

Justice KEECH set the first trial for JOHN H. LAWSON for February 9; DALTON TRUMBO - February 16; ALBERT MALTZ, February 23; ALVAS BESSIE, February 25; SAMUEL ORNITZ, March 8; HERBERT J. BIBERMAN, March 10; EDWARD DMYTRYK, March 15; ROBERT ADRIAN SCOTT, March 17; RING LARDNER, JR., March 22; and LESTER COLE, March 24.

DEFERRED RECORDING

Attorney KENNEY requested that permission be granted to ADRIAN SCOTT and EDWARD DMYTRYK to proceed to London, England, on a business mission and added that they would return in time for trial. There was no objection by U. S. Attorney HITZ, and permission was granted by Justice KEECH.

Justice KEECH inquired of KENNEY whether fifteen days would be sufficient for him to file a motion to attack the indictment and KENNEY requested twenty days. However, at the objection of Attorney HITZ, Justice KEECH set fifteen days as the time limit in which KENNEY had to file his motion.

Dear Sir:

In compliance with your request, there are being transmitted herewith ten photostats (actual size) of executed 1945 Registration Cards of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association, which represent the registrations of ten individuals who were members of the Communist Political Association at that time and who were members of the so-called cultural groups of the Communist Political Association at that time and who were and still are employed in the motion picture industry. Photostatic negatives were prepared in order not to diminish the clarity of the exhibits any more than possible in their reproduction.

These exhibits are copies of the photographic evidence maintained in the files of this office and may be retained by the Bureau. The original evidence was obtained by this office through CNDI [redacted] whose identity is known to the Bureau. b7D

It is important to note that these exhibits are registration cards of the Communist Political Association and not the Communist Party. As the Bureau is aware, the Communist Party officially changed to the Communist Political Association in ~~June,~~ May 1944 and remained the Communist Political Association until that organization officially changed back to the Communist Party at the Los Angeles County Convention held in September, 1945. The distinction is, of course, a technical one since it could be proved that the Communist Party and the Communist Political Association were in fact the same organization; however, the point is being mentioned inasmuch as the contention that these are not Communist Party records might possibly be raised as a point of defense.

It will be further noted in connection with these exhibits that for the most part the name of the particular club or branch is not indicated. By way of explanation, it may be noted that each of the exhibits is dated in November or early December, 1944 at the time when the Communist Political

Re: EOMPIC,

Bureau File 100-138754.

Association was taking its annual registration of membership prior to issuing 1945 membership cards. It was at this particular time that the local organization was disbanding the old Northwest Section which comprised the cultural groups in Hollywood. The old Northwest Section up to that time consisted of a number of so-called "concentration branches" under which the branch or club membership comprised those cultural members who were employed in one particular type of industry. For example, Branch "A" of the Northwest Section comprised the motion picture writers; Branch "D", the radio artists; Branch "F", motion picture actors, etc.

With the dissolution of the Northwest Section set-up, the cultural membership was grouped according to branches depending upon the geographical area in which they lived and regardless of their particular professions in the motion picture industry. This organizational change was being made in late 1944 and early 1945. The fact that the inclosed exhibits do not reflect the particular branch or club was undoubtedly due to the fact that the organizational change in the club set-up was contemplated at the time these registration cards were being executed.

The inclosed exhibits have been identified numerically on the back as listed herewith:

(1) JOHN WEBER
1945 Registration Number 47422
1944 Membership Card Number (not designated)
Occupation Story Editor, Motion Picture Industry.

A reliable informant advises that as of the present date, WEBER still holds the position of Story Editor at the William Morris Agency, Beverly Hills, California.

(2) META REIS
1945 Registration Number 47241
1944 Membership Card Number 46856
Occupation Executive, Motion Picture Industry.

According to CNDI [redacted] META REIS is currently employed as a Story Editor at the Berg-Allenberg Agency, Beverly Hills, California. b7D

1944 Membership Card Number 44638
Actress, Radio Industry.
Assigned to Club Northwest-D.
(Northwest Section, Branch D) (Radio)

This individual is GEORGIA BACKUS, also known as GEORGIA ALEXANDER. Primarily she is a radio writer and actress, but has appeared in a number of pictures for Paramount Studios in the past. Her photograph and screen credits appear at page 152 in the July, 1947 issue of THE PLAYERS DIRECTORY put out by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

(5) HOWARD DA SILVA
Occupation Actor in the Theater, Film and Radio Industries.
Member of American Federation of Radio Artists, Actors Equity, and Screen Actors Guild.
Assigned to the AA Cultural Club, New York City.

It is to be noted that this exhibit is slightly different from the others listed and apparently is a registration form used by the Communist Party and Communist Political Association in New York. Apparently HOWARD DA SILVA was transferred to the Los Angeles County Communist Party from New York to the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association from New York and had already registered for 1945. HOWARD DA SILVA is currently under contract to Paramount Studios in Hollywood. His photograph and studio affiliation appear at page 414 of the July, 1947 issue of THE PLAYERS DIRECTORY put out by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Rebulet October 2, 1948, concerning a talk given by Mr. MYRON C. FAGAN at the Wilshire-Ebell Theater, Los Angeles, on October 22, 1948, entitled "Hollywood, The Red Fortress in America".

Further, reference report of Special Agent [redacted] dated at Los Angeles, October 22, 1948, in the above captioned matter. Page 14 of this report disclosed information furnished to the Los Angeles Office by Mr. FAGAN on September 22, last. At this time Mr. FAGAN advised that he would forward the Los Angeles Office a copy of the text to be used in the speech on October 22. Mr. FAGAN furnished a copy of the speech, as agreed, which has been photostated and is being forwarded as an enclosure with this letter. This photostat need not be returned to Los Angeles and may be retained or disposed of by the Bureau.

A copy of a pamphlet-type book entitled "Moscow Over Hollywood", by MYRON C. FAGAN, has been mailed to the Los Angeles Office. A cursory examination disclosed that it "carries on" in the same vein as FAGAN's speech on October 22. It will be forwarded to the Bureau at a later date after further examination by this office.

CGII [redacted] by a letter dated October 13, 1948, called the attention of this office to Mr. FAGAN's speech and the fact that informant's source was a small item in the "Rambling Reporter" column in the Hollywood Reporter of October 13, 1948. b7D

Mr. WALTER SCRATCH attended Mr. FAGAN's speech on October 22, last, and on October 25, 1948, furnished to this office a marked-up proof of an item which the Hollywood Citizen News intended to run on October 23, 1948, reporting FAGAN's lecture. Mr. SCRATCH is the Assistant Publisher of the Hollywood Citizen News. The item was cut to short length, according to Mr. SCRATCH, but it was the best part of FAGAN's talk. This item, in substance, disclosed that HOWARD HUGHES, presently controlling stockholder of RKO Pictures, Inc., has shown that Hollywood motion picture producers could clear the Reds out of their studios if they wished, according to MYRON C. FAGAN, who spoke the previous night. FAGAN, in the speech, according to the news item, said that several Hollywood producers refused to fire many known Reds and give the excuse that they don't believe they can fire an employee because of his "political beliefs", but HUGHES has exploded this phony excuse.

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION INTO MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
INTERNAL SECURITY - C

CNDI [redacted] also attended the speech given by Mr. FAGAN on October 22, 1948, and, in substance, advised that there were only about 250 persons present, most of them elderly people, and inquiry by informant revealed that they were from several women's clubs; that some few were from the motion picture industry, none of them, however, of prominence. This informant said that Mr. FAGAN gave a picture of Communist influence and infiltration of the motion picture industry; that he, in his analysis of the problem, showed conclusively how the producers themselves had aided and abetted the infiltration, and produced some evidence that certain producers had protected and condoned this infiltration. b7D

CNDI [redacted] made inquiry as to the background and previous activities of Mr. FAGAN before he took up Communist activities in the studios and found him not too favorably liked. This information was secured by informant from persons of the latter's acquaintance who had no interest in the Communist question, for or against. These individuals pictured Mr. FAGAN to informant to be a sort of promoter of plays of no particular worth and a hanger-on in Hollywood who might have used some questionable methods in promotion. b7D

On October 25, 1948, Mr. FAGAN telephonically confided to Agents of this office that one of his sources of information in the Hollywood area was JIMMY FIDLER, former newspaper columnist and currently a radio commentator over the ABC Network in Hollywood. Mr. FAGAN said that he had been trying to get evidence concerning the "Unfriendly Ten" writers in Hollywood, who allegedly had been working in the industry under assumed names. Mr. FAGAN thought that there might possibly be a violation of some Federal statute there dealing with either income taxes or social security regulations. He had no specific information in this connection as to how they were allegedly operating. Mr. FAGAN referred Agents to JIMMY FIDLER who was interviewed in this connection on October 25, 1948, at his office at 1759 North Gower Street, telephone HIllside 8181. It should be noted that Mr. FIDLER called the Los Angeles Office prior to this interview and discussed the matter with an Agent stating that he had been referred to the FBI by Mr. FAGAN and suggested a personal interview.

Mr. FIDLER, however, was unable to furnish any specific information other than rumors that certain of the "Unfriendly Ten" had been doing "ghost writing" for other individuals in the motion picture industry. Mr. FIDLER confidentially said his information had been obtained through confidential sources at the PAUL KOHNER AGENCY, 9169 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles 46, telephone CRestview 15165. Mr. FIDLER said he was still working on this particular phase of the matter and, if he were able to secure anything specific, would notify the Los Angeles Office.

TEXT OF MYRON C. FAGAN'S LECTURE AT THE EBELL THEATER

Los Angeles, California, October 22, 1948, 8:15 P.M.

Robert Burns, Scotland's immortal poet, said that no matter how good or bad one may be.... "a man's a man for a'that"....but Robert Burns never met a communist.

Ever since the night I first produced "Thieves Paradise" here in Hollywood, I have been receiving letters, telegrams and even long distance phones asking me - how Red is Hollywood. Not IN Hollywood Red - but HOW RED. My answer is: "How deep is the ocean, how high is the sky? That's how Red Hollywood is.

Henry Wallace recently unconsciously emphasized that fact. Some of you may not know who Henry Wallace is. Well, he is an Iowa farm boy who is running around the country crooning a torch song for Joe Stalin. I believe he thinks he is also running for President. Two or three weeks ago Henry dashed into Hollywood - to pick up a hundred thousand dollars - and to be wined and dined by 400 of the faithful - at Ciro's. The first remark he made was: "Hollywood is the one place where I am sure I will get tomatoes only in my salad."

On Sunday, April 11, this year, the night before "Thieves Paradise" was scheduled to reopen at the El Patio Theatre, Jimmie Fidler broadcast a seaman warning to the F. B. I., the Police of Los Angeles, and the American Legion, to guard that theater on the following night..."because the Reds were determined to prevent the reopening of that anti-communist play with a riot ... and if necessary, with bloodshed."

In a further statement, Mr. Fidler announced that after the play I would deliver a curtain speech in which I would expose the incredible control The Reds have achieved in the Film Industry.

"I have talked with Fagan," Jimmie said: "if he will make the expose he outlined to me --- and name all the names he told me he will name, he will rock the nation."

Well, "Thieves Paradise" reopened....I delivered my curtain speech...I made my expose...as promised... and I named the names I said I would name.

But right here I will stop to emphasize that that curtain speech hardly so much as scratched the curface! The hundred names I named by no means included all the Reds and their pelsy-walsies, and the expose of that night was just a children's bedtime story compared with the evidence I will present tonight...that Hollywood is the strongest Red Fortress in America! Now, you may be wondering why I did not present all that evidence on that night. I'll tell you: Forevery name I named that night, for every accusation I made, I had unimpeachable and documentary proof. That's why nobody ever dared to contradict me! I could have named many more names that I did, made many far more serious charges, but that night I did not have documentary proof, to back them up. Tonight I have that documentary proof. I will prove that American citizens - not to mention the aliens - whom you regard with awe and great respect..... whom your children worship and follow - deliberately worked for building Hollywood into a sinister propaganda machine for Communism.

Back in the very early Twenties, "The Cinema Bureau of the International Union of the Revolutionary Theatre" was organized in Moscow. I will quote verbatim two secret directives by that organization: One: Quote,"Organize mass demonstrations and rally audiences in protest against reactionary Films and popularize all Revolutionary films." Order No. 2: Quote "Unite the creative and technical workers of the Film Industry in all countries...and especially in America...S.on an International scale, for the purpose of creating Revolutionary films in all those countries." The job of mastermind-ing this operation was handed over to a Comrade named Willi Muenzenberg. This is the same Muenzenberg who organized "Friends of Soviet Russia," "The Society for Technical Aid to Soviet Russia," and other blazing Red Front organizations. In 1922 this hard working Comrade gleefully reported to Moscow that "Comrade Hillman was raising a million dollars for dear Mother Russia." This was Sidney Hillman - remember Sidney? Roosevelt's "Clear it thru Sidney"? By 1925 Muenzenberg was so confident of success that on July 23 of that year he boldly and brazenly announced his mission in a signed editorial in the "Daily Worker," under the caption: Quote: "Capture the Film!" and it read as follows:

"Quote: "We must develop the tremendous cultural possibilities of the Motion Picture in a revolutionary sense...One of the most pressing tasks confronting the Communist party in the field of agitation and propaganda is the conquest of this supremely important propaganda weapon until now the monopoly of the ruling class. We must wrest it from them and turn it against them." Unquote.

Comrade Muenzenberg frequently visited Hollywood - do I have to tell you what for? Comrade Muenzenberg got all his orders direct from Moscow....and he made all his reports direct to Moscow.

How do you like that - for a starter? But wait - as Al Jolson used to say: "You ain't heard nothing yet!" It took me four solid months to accumulate documentary evidence for the atomic revelations I will make tonight. And you can thank my doctor for it - not for accumulating that evidence, for for giving me the opportunity to do so.

Shortly after I reopened "Thieves Paradise" I announced that late in May I would launch a nationwide lecture tour under the auspices of "Counter-Attack". The fight to reopen the play, and keep it open in the face of the sabotage by the Reds and the most vicious kind of back-knifing treachery by a certain professional patriot who was supposedly cooperating with me, had taken a terrific toll of my health. My doctor ordered at least three months and seclusion.

What greatly amused me was that my sudden inactivity was accepted by the Reds as my hoped-for oblivion. They gleefully rumored that I was dying--- some even said I was dead. Others, softer-hearted, tearfully proclaimed that I was desperately ill and in frightful financial straits. They felt that something should be done... to provide me with a decent funeral. My professional patriot, friends came out with a vicious smear campaign in the hope that they would inherit what I had built up. Of course , they never dreamt that I would come back!

That's why, as soon as I felt fit, I instucted my Sponsor to set my first lecture right here in Los Angeles.... for two reasons: No. 1 - I want to drop my first bombshell right here in the camp of the enemy, and I have a bombshell for them! No. 2. - To personally assure those who were - and still are- loyal to me, that I have not given up the fight - and that I never will until the battle is won! I may be stopped again and again and again - but I will come back again and again and again!

Those four months of seclusion gave me an opportinity for research, into when the Red's conquest of our screen was decided upon - and how it was accomplished. That was to feature my present lecture. Some of this research had to be done in New York. I wrote to a Publisher friend of mine and asked him to do it for me. He dug up the data I required , and - on a bunch, came flying out here. When I showed him my accumulation of facts and data, he became keenly interested. "Fagan", said he, "this is terrific! Every American should know this story in its entirety. You can't do it in just a lecture. First of all, you can't tell the half of it even in an hour-long lecture. Secondly, at best, your lectures will reach thousands - put it into a book - I will publish it - hold the price down to one dollar so that it will be within the reach of every pocketbook, and within three months, I will have millions reading it."

And that's exactly what I did. I wrote "Moscow over Hollywood", a hundred and ten page book, in which I show, step by step, incident by incident, the events which led up to the Reds' final capture of Hollywood. In this lecture I shall endeavor to give you some of the highlights of this book.

In my curtain speech on April 12, I named one hundred names. Some of them are really great names from the standpoint of fame. But not all of them-plus the additional hundred I have named in my book, all put together, could have transformed Hollywood into the Red citadel that it is, without the blessing, or, at least the failure to stop them, of the real powers who control the Film Industry.

Here is Dory Schary, strutting about, defying a Congressional Investigating Committee --- and the American people -- with an open and brazen declaration that he would employ known Communists if he chose -- and he did!

Lewis Milestone holding conferences in his home with heads of the Communist party - I will later tell you who these heads are.

There is Katherine Hepburn flaunting and screeching her scorn of the American way of life, before huge gatherings of Reds and Red Sympathizers. We have the pudgy little J. Edward Bromberg and Roman (Buck) Bohnen and Morris Carnovsky, not big names, but more sinister and far more dangerous figures than any "names" I've mentioned, by reason of the "Actors Lab.," a vicious school of Communism, which they are operating under the wing of Hollywood, as openly and as brazenly as if it were within the gates of the Kremlin in the heart of Red Moscow!

Upon what meat have these people been feeding that they have grown so bold?

Do you think anyone of them would have dared to so openly and brazenly have given financial succor and moral support to the known mortal enemy of America, if the powers-that-be had sternly said "NO"!

There are just a Half Dozen men who control Hollywood. Their control is undisputed and undisputed unless, of course, the American people step into the picture. That half-dozen could, within six months, two months, if they really got busy, clean Communism out of Hollywood,(like the Atom bomb cleaned the war spirit out of the Japanese Nation)!

BEST COPY
AVAILABLE

Howard Hughes proved that when he took control of the R.K.O. Studio. During Dore Schary's regime on that Lot it was crawling and seething with Commies, big and little-but-no-more! The same thing can be done on every Lot in the Industry. It must be done-with, or without the help of those Half-Dozen men--if our America is to survive as a free America. Now to some of you that may sound like the wildest kind of an alarmist's statement. How can a little thing like the "Movie" be that much of a menace to our great and powerful nation? Allright, I'll show you.

Lenin's and Stalin's pet theory has always been: "give me the youth of a nation today, and tomorrow I own that nation."

The surest-fire medium to capture the imagination of youth is the "Movie". and to almost an equal degree, the Radio-which now goes hand in hand with the "Movie".

As matter of actual fact, both mediums have measureless influence over all American audiences! Do you remember the nation wide panic and hysteria Orson Welles created some years ago with his broadcast about an "Invasion from Mars"? Do you remember the violently hysterical hatred which swept the nation as picture after picture against the Nazis was released? That swept us into the war! If you have the slightest doubt that Hollywood if controlled by the Reds, try to recall just one picture in which Stalin is depicted as another Hitler! In Siberia the Reds have ten slave labor camps for every Dachau the Nazis had in Germany, fully as hellish! -but do we see any motion pictures exposing that? There has been no "Beast of Moscow"- no "Children of Stalin". Instead there were "Mission to Moscow", "Song of Russia". No wonder Stalin ordered the capture of Hollywood.

Now, let us go back to that first directive, issued in 1921 by Moscow's

BEST COPY

Cinema Bureau for the conquest of Hollywood. I will take you step by step, incident by incident thru the process that led to that conquest. Also, as I go along, I shall establish: (1) That William Z. Foster actually came to Hollywood, and held conferences in the home of Lewis Milestone, with Milestone and others of the faithful.(2) That the "faithful"of Hollywood are pledged to pour more than $30,000 per week, into the propaganda chest of the Commies and their Red Fronts--(3) That during and before the War, Hollywood moguls aided and abetted an influx of known European Reds under the guise of writers and actors..writers who didn't know how to write American Movie scripts, because they didn't even know how to write English..or read English..or SPEAKEnglish. Yet Hollywood issued blanket writer contracts to them, which, in turn, provided their visas. (4) I shall establish that Hollywood Producers know they are Reds thru their writings in their own languages (translated into Engilsh).. and in their public utterances. Writers who flayed America-and eulogized the Soviet. But now that Moscow secret directive.

In 1922 there appeared on the Broadway scene a small group of tatterdemalion actors who announced themselves as the "Russian Art Theatre Group". They leased a little cast-off flea-box of a theater on a side street and put on a campaign for subscriptions a la the "Theatre Guild". They called themselves "Intellectual Liberals", spouted Karl Marx and Engel, and, of course, sought a following of that type-in the Cloak and Suit trades Unions,-the Furriers Union,-on the East side of Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx. The plays they put on were translations from the Russian, always glorifying the Communist way of Life.

Within the next year or two, other little groups, similar in type and personnel, sprang up all over New York and Brooklyn. None of them met financial success, but they kept going in a shabby sort of way.

Suddenly, around 1930, ALL THESE GROUPS MERGED and adopted a new name: "The Theatre Group". And lo and behold, they had plenty of money! No longer were they tatterdemalion--no longer was their scenery shabby. No longer were they depending on Russian translated plays. They began putting on plays like "Waiting for Lefty" (a proper title for them), "Golden Boy", "Gentle People". And they leased the Belasco theater, no less: The roster of this "group" carried such names a Morris Carnovsky, J. Edward Bromberg, Luther Adler, Roman Bohnen, John Garfield, Harold Clurman--and, from time to time Franchot Tone, Sylvia Sidney, Lief Erickson, Frances Farmer, etc.,and their favorite playwrights were Clifford Odets, author of "Waiting for Lefty", and Irwin Shaw. And then the secret of their affiliance was no longer a secret! Their backers were the "liberals" in the Movie Industry. The Trojan Horse had arrived at the Gates of Hollywood! The Communist had under way!

BEST COPY
AVAILABLE

Around 1938 the "Group Theater" disintegrated. Their mission in the Broadway theater had been fulfilled. They had siphoned their vicious ideology into the Actors Equity Association, The Scenic Artists Union, - even the Authors League and Dramatists Guild were shot thru with Reds. They had so poisoned the entire Broadway atmosphere that the trend of the theater had gone to the left. Year after year, play after play, idealizing the Communist way of life arrives on Broadway, but nobody has dared to write or produce a play exposing the menace of Communism. One owner of a group of theaters told me that he would be afraid to beat and anti-communist play, because he had been warned that his theater would be stench-bombed out of existence. Yes, there was no need for the Group in New York any longer - they had educated plenty of others to carry on on Broadway. So on to Hollywood for the Garfields and the Bromberg and the Bohnens and the Carnovskys - to do an even more important job. I'll return later.

The writer is the nerve center of the Film Studio. He is the man who put a seemingly innocent line into an actors mouth and have it come out loaded with Commie propaganda. So..the Commies first objective was the Screen Writer's Guild. Under the direction of John Howard Lawson,(one of ten indicted writers), they they transformed that Guild into their first absolute Red Stronghold. Of course, Lawson had plenty of help from Donald Ogden Stewart, John Huston, Ring Lardner Jr. , and all the others I name in my book. All good Americans who scream villification at Parnell Thomas for daring to expose their treachery to the land they live in. And the craft and the guile those men employ puts all of Americans to shame and chagrin!

AVAILABLE

For example: since the public's hue and cry against Commie propaganda in pictures, American minded producers and Directors are on the alert. So the writer is instructed by the Commie "control board" not to write a complete Commie scene, but to inject a few T.N.T. lines in an important and costly scene--- lines that seem innocent enough, until they are heard from the screen. If the Director is smart enough to catch such lines in the writing, they come out; but if he overlooks them--well, the Studio will spend fifty or a hundred thousand dollars to remake that scene for just a few lines.

Here is another trick that's worked time and again: John Ford, or Cecil B. DeMille, or Sam Wood is about to do a picture and needs a writer. Some agent,--who plays ball with the Commies is instructed to turn on a super-sales talk and sell that Director a mediocre hack writer who is seemingly untainted. A good agent can do it,--particularly if he also has a Star that the Director wants----and especially as the writer will work for "peanuts",.i.e."peanuts", in Hollywood, is about $500.00 a week.

All right.....the hack writer is handed the story. He takes it home with him. That night that story is analyzed by a group of really sne writers. They find the spots where Commie lines can be injected and carefully wrapped up in vital scenes---and so innocently, that even a Sam Wood wouldn't suspect the writer of malice aforethought.

They work nights on it. Several weeks later the hack writer walks into the Studio and nonchalantly hands in his script----and knocks the Director off his feet with its excellence. Why not? He has $50,000 worth of writing in it for perhaps two or three thousand. He is so elated with the dialogue and construction, he completely forgets to scrutinize it---and then the picture is released a choice bit of Commie propaganda is passed out to the audience.

Unfortunately, these tricks are not necessary as often as we would like to think: there are many, many Directors and Producers who will engage none but Red writers---the Redder the better!

What struck me as very amusing the other day.....ironically amusing...was a newspaper item that the Screen Writers Guild had entered suit to enjoin the M. P. A. A. (Motion Picture Producers Association) from refusing to hire known Communist writers. What a joke---with practically all the lots full of Red writers!

Next week, no doubt, the Screen Writers' Guild will enter another suit to enjoin the Producers Association from enjoining the Screen Writers' Guild from enjoining the Producers Association from refusing to hire known Communist writers.

It reminds me of that old song "The music goes round and round and round--BUT MOSCOW MARCHES ON !!!!!!

The conversation must be very funny when all these "enjoiners" get together at their swimming pools. They probably say to each other: "Ain't we got fun? Who's going to enjoin who now?"

And don't be surprised if the final Injunction will require the Producers Association to refuse to hire any writer who is NOT a known Communist.

And we, poor sap, pour hundreds of millions of dollars each year into their box offices to keep this trickery a'going.....shades of the Marshall Plan! In the Screen Actors Guild, the Commies met with more robust resistance. They had powerful storm-troopers in Edward G. Robinson, John Garfield, Frederic March, Gene Kelly, Humphrey Bogart and hundreds of others whom I name in my book---but pitted against them they had such loyal Americans as the Robert Taylors, Barbara Stanwycks, Adolphe Menjous, George Murphys, Bob Montgomerys, and the fight was a long and bitter one. Unfortunately "American fair play" did more to loose the Screen Actors Guild to the Commies than any other one single thing-----just as American "fair play" and decency (horribly and fatally stupid with this enemy) will give Moscow the jump on us when Stalin gives the word. Here is what I mean:

The Star actually has the last word in the selection of cast and Director. A Clark Gable, or a Bob Taylor, feels it is un-American to take advantage of that power to discriminate against a co-worker's "politics". But look back at all of the pictures of the Robinsons, the Marchas, and the Hepburns--analyze the cast, director, writer! A non-communist was tolerated only because a Red was unavailable for that particular job!

What is the result? Every actor outside the Star strata is at the economic mercy of the Commies. I know many an actor who in his heart despises the Commies....and ordinarily would fight their poisonous ideology, who is forced to play along with them....or at least, maintain a discreet silence in order to eat.

That condition is also a very potent magnet to the Commie cause for the young actor who arrives in Hollywood with a free and open mind. He finds breaking into the Studios a tough job. Aside from his Agent, he has nobody to " pull the strings" for him. After a few heartbreaking months of disappointments--and starvation---this young actor is very ripe for the Commies. They have had their eye on him. They cultivate him, sympathize with him, offer a helping hand,---all the time slowly, but surely planting the seed that the "American way of life" means oppression for the "little people" whilst Communism is salvation for them. Then they get him a small part in a picture, then a better one, then perhaps a term contract with a Studio, and they can do it.....through Dore Schary, a Lewis Milestone, a Walter Wanger. During the Schary regime at R.K.O. I know of many young actors and actresses who were on the payroll at $200.00 and $250.00 a week who hardly ever looked into a camera. But they became "eager beavers" on behalf of Communism.

Now...a few minutes ago I said I would prove that the Kings of Hollywood are directly responsible for an influx of notorious and known Reds from Europe into Hollywood....Reds who could never have entered America without their direct help. Here goes!

Back in the early thirties, when Hitler came into full power, there was created a wave of sympathy throughout America for the poor devils trapped in his web of persecution. Aiding the escape of those unfortunates was not only made popular, but seemed the humane thing to do.

The Motion Picture Industry became very active in this----particularly as it affected Writers, Directors and Actors. All this was before Communism had succeeded in "taking over" in Hollywood, and few people gave that menace any real thought.

Year after year the Masters of Hollywood went to Europe and returned with a few "rescued" writers, directors, actors. It soon developed into an influx----especially after The League of American Writers" was organized. This League was notoriously and brazenly Red! Finally, American writers, Radio Commentators, newspaper Columnists, began to protest bitterly against the manner in which the Hollywood producers---and that meant the Half-Dozen- were replacing American-born writers, directors and actors with "rescued" artists. The same thing was happening to all types of American labor on the various lots. Of course, the "Big Six" quickly and heatedly denied this, but statistics were against them. Jimmie Fidler joined in the outcry against this displacement of Americans in favor of "Refugees"---among whom were many known Reds.

"I am left seething", said Jimmie, "by a newspaper report, bearing a New York date line, that "Movie" talent scouts are at the New York docks searching refugee lists for new film prospects".---It's bad and dangerous enough for Studios to quietly give jobs to refugees, but when they begin flaunting the practice with newspaper publicity, it is high time for someone to raise an official fuss. By official, I mean the Immigration Department, Labor, Washington, Government authorities."

"With millions out of work in this country, millions who would gladly work if there were jobs, what lack of patriotism prompts certain Motion Pictures Executives to take more jobs away from American-born men and women and give them to foreigners?

"The New York story relates that case histories of more than 100 Refugees are on file in the office of a certain Film Company. If the heads of that Company will make a tour of their own Hollywood Studios with me, I can introduce them to scores of potential American-born Stars, who only need opportunities, but are apparently forgotten."

Not forgotten, Jimmie, shunted aside!

It wasn't long before every Writer's Row - on every Lot - began to resound with accents - and foreign languages.

A well known screen writer, whose name I will not divulge, because, if I did, he would promptly be blacklisted, - protested to Sheridan Gibney, then President of the Screen Writers Guild.

This screen writer said to Gibney: "What have we got a Guild for?...if all the best "credits" go to a lot of foreigners. I get a collaborator assigned to me who either talks like Gregory Ratoff, or can't talk English at all, let alone write English - and he gets the top credit!"

"Credits" mean the writer's name on a film by which his worth is measured by Producers.

"Don't talk to me," replied Gibney, "Take it up with Harry Warner and Eddie Mannix".

Harry M. Warner and E. J. Mannix, one of MGM's top executives, had worked out a plan to bring over a number of certain European writers and guarantee them employment in Hollywood studios. The Screen Writers Guild was requested by Warner Brothers to state whether or not that organization would oppose this plan.

The Screen Writers Guild was even in those days very much leftish, but they could not ride too roughshod over their American members as yet.

They held a meeting of their Executive Board - which consisted principally of Pinkos - the decision was that the Guild being an open shop organization could not oppose the bringing of writers, either native or foreign, into the motion picture industry - although - as a grand gesture, or alibi, or what have you, to their American members...the Guild pointed out to the Producers that none of the prospective writers had had experience in motion pictures - and few of them could speak English, let alone write English.

The retort of the Producers was that inasmuch as they never used less than three or four writers on a picture anyway, those "no spik'a de English" and no "write de English" could "sit in and lend their cultural story minds tothe American screen writers."

Now, while Warner and Hannix were the active movers in this plan, at a meeting of all the Producers all favored it, except Mr. Frank Freeman of Paramount Pictures Corporation.

One of the others commented that this "stunt" would run up a cost of millions of dollars per year. This was greeted with raucous laughter: "So what?" was the grand retort: "So there will be much less taxes for Uncle Sam".

The next day the following item appeared in the Hollywood Reporter:

"REFUGEE WRITERS AIDED BY PACTS FROM STUDIOS."

"In an effort to bring over here number of prominent writers now ducking concentration camps allover Europe, a movement has been started to facilitate their entrance into this country by obtaining Studio contracts for them. Practically all major companies have subscribed to the idea, which of sponsored by the League of American Writers.

"Known to be still playing hide-and-seek with the Hitlerian controlled regimes are Leon Feuchtwanger, Franz Werfel, Frederick Wolfe, Robert Neumann and others. The Studios will issue contracts to these individuals, for whom the going will thus be much easier in obtaining visas."

How many Reds made their way into the United States, as a result of those contracts - and visas?...which they could not have secured otherwise.

ENOUGH TO CARRY OUT THE MOSCOW CINEMA BUREAU'S DIRECTIVE TO TRANSFORM HOLLYWOOD INTO THE RED CITADEL IT HAS BECOME!!!

Hanns Eissler was one of the "Rescued". He is a brother of that other Eissler, nabbed in New York, and identified as a secret "Mr. Moscow" in America. This Moscow trained Red, Hanns Eissler, Continued to work in Hollywood Studios even after he was exposed - the Immigration authorities finally had to take action and deport him.

Another gentleman, who adores Stalin and what he stands for...and who was one of the"rescued"...is Leon Feuchtwanger. I will briefly touch on this "Refugee's" background, to give you an idea of what kind of people swarmed into Hollywood - as a result of these contracts which automatically provided visas!

Feuchtwanger went to Moscow in 1937 - as a guest of Joseph Stalin. While there he wrote a book: "Moscow 1937". Here is one of the statements he made in that book:

"The air which one breathes in the West is stale and foul. In the Western civilization there is no longer clarity or resolution..."

On the very next page of the same book he said: "One breathes again when one comes from that oppressive atmosphere of a counterfeit democracy and hypocritical humanism into the invigorating atmosphere of the Soviet Union."

In addition, he wrote a series of articles in "Pravda" and "Izvestia" which revealed him completely as a brazen and shameless apologist for the bloodiest dictator since Ghengis Kahn.

Now, why did this hater of Western democracy and lover of Communism have to be "Rescued" and brought over into the "foul and stale" United States?

He is a pal of Stalin - certainly he was safe in his beloved Communist Moscow!

Why? The answer is found on page 80 of his book "Moscow - 1937" in which he declared:

"Stalin, the great practical psychologist has worked the miracle of mobilizing the patriotism of many peoples for the ends of international socialism."

He had a "job" to do over here! And I'm not speaking of his job in a Studio - which enabled him to get into this "foul and stale" United States!

His arrival in Hollywood was greeted with cheers and hosanas by the "League of American Writers" and all the Biggies of the Motion Picture Industry - plus a welcome delivered to him by John Howard Lawson on behalf of THE DAILY WORKER!

In an interview shortly after his arrival, the Los Angeles Times quoted him: "This war is a detour of history for planned economy for the whole world. Russian Communism is socialism...it is planned economy with the elimination of capital. The New Deal? Ah! That of the best kind of socialism!"

And this man was "rescued" by the Half-Dozen Masters of Hollywood!

Who is responsible for Hollywood becoming the Moscow of America?

YOU TELL ME!!!

Now, all these "rescued" writers could not be expected to live in Hollywood like the hoi polloi, you know. They had to have estates, with swimming pools - and cars - and Secretaries - and servants. That called for big salaries. The fact that they can't "spika de English", or "writa de English" can best be brushed off by that Gilbert and Sullivan refrain.."the flowers that bloom in the Spring, tra la, have nothing to do with the case,-tra la!

Their names appeared as the "writers" on top A. Films - and that should satisfy any stockholder who might become inquisitive about those swollen pay checks.

How do you like that, Mr. and Mrs. Stockholder in the Hollywood Motion Picture Industry?

Your money was used to support these termites in ease and luxury - whilst they were boring away the foundations of our country.

And the worst of it is that, like the mad genius who created Frankenstein who finally destroyed him, the Kings of Hollywood have created their own Frankenstein by leavening our American traitors with their "rescued" emissaries from Stalingrad. I will cite proof of it.

During November, 1947, when I was arranging to produce "Thieves Paradise", I spoke before various groups in Hollywood and Beverly Hills and stated that the only way for true Americans to regain control of the Film Industry is for all America to register their protest at the Box Offices: empty theaters for Red Stars, Red writers, Red directors - FULL HOUSES for the TRUE AMERICAN pictures. Those statements spread like wild-fire. It reached the "Kings". It alarmed them, because they know that Mr. and Mrs. America are ripe for just that kind of a revolt - the Thomas Committee investigation proved it. That jeopardized their pocketbooks - maybe their scalps!

They called into conference the heads of the various Guilds, such as Screen Actors Guild, Screen Writers Guild, Directors Guild, etc., and laid the situation before them: the time had come when all Hollywood must "pipe down" on all Red activities - anyway, for a while. The Guild officials agreed. Special meetings were called. All the Guilds and Unions accepted the order - some cheerfully, some silently, some grumblingly. The Screen

Writer's Guild defiantly and violently refused! The meeting broke up in a riot of fist fighting and chair swinging. The hall resounded with cursing and swearing in broken English, Russian, German, Czech and what-have-you.

The "Rescued" had finally turned on the "Rescurers".

The entire front page of the Reporter on December 17th, 1947, was devoted to a detailed description of this Hollywood Donnybrook Fair. It is too long a report to be read at this time, but it is reprinted verbatim in my book. That report leaves no doubt in anybody's mind that the Moscow Cinema Bureau's directives to get control of "The creative and technical workers of the Film Industry in Hollywood" has been fulfilled.

The Hollywood Reporter concluded it's report with the statement that there are several ways to cure that situation. I say there is only one way when a body has a cancer you must cut out that cancer, or it will destroy the body! But the Kings of Hollywood will never cut out that cancer- until they are forced to do so by public indignation expressed at the box offices. I will give you concrete proof for that statement.

Last year ten Hollywood writers were cited for contempt by the Parnell Thomas Committee. Their secret membership in the Communist Party was publicly exposed. Several of them were given penitentiary sentences - although they all have appealed and are still out on bail. That expose badly frightened the Kings of Hollywood. They all faithfully promised that none of these men would ever be allowed to work in the Film Industry. Now I can tell you that all these men are working in the Studios, writing screen plays, under fictitious names. Their Agents know it, the Producers - who vowed never to employ them - know it. These ten branded Communists can work on the pictures you and your children will pay to see, while Fred Niblo, Jr., Jack Moffett and other loyal Americans are blacklisted.

However, I've gone a little ahead of my story. The Reds had actually achieved their control long before that disgraceful Screen Writers Guild meeting.

As early as 1937 we saw Hollywood begin to slant films in Joe Stalin's direction. That wasn't too reprehensible in those days. The Nazi was the monsoo - the Communist was just a funny harmless screwball. So the Screen writer became bolder and bolder. Hitler was the big bad werewolf - Joe Stalin was the kindly little bear.

Then came August, 1939. The Werewolf and the kindly little bear became partners. That stopped our Commies dead in their tracks. The suddenness of that partnership caught them flatfooted. They didn't know what to do. They couldn't scream at Hitler any more - that would be rank heresy to pal Joey. Tosoir, they were a sadly bewildered lot. But not for long. Clever people these Chinese - I mean, Commies! An order came from Moscow: "Isolate America! America must not be allowed to aid the Allies!" And that became the order of the day. Films, Shorts, Newsreels, all began to scream against selling planes and armament to Britain and France. They went into hysteria against lend lease - that was a crime against the human race! They exhorted the mothers of America against the war-monger Roosevelt. America must stay out of the war! Sending even one of our boys to the aid of Britain would be cold-blooded murder. They encouraged and aided and abetted strikes in airplane plants, munition factories, ship yards.

Then came June - 1941. Kamerad Hitler attacked Comrade Stalin! Instantly our Reds changed their tune.

All the old slogans reappeared! All the old bugaboos were flashed on the screens! The Nazi would destroy civilization. Uncle Sam must throw in all his resources to save the world - meaning Joe Stalin - who was now screaming to stale and foul America for help. We must work night and day to build planes, tanks, ships, munitions - for dear Mother Russia. We must give her lend lease!

We must send ten million of our boys to create a second front - to ease the pressure on Pal Joey!

Film after film appeared on our screens - showing what savage beasts the Nazis were - how they were butchering the kind and simple Russians. News reels depicted their atrocities against the innocent women and children - and how nobly the Russians were fighting with bare hands to save the world. Many of these News reels, my friends, were skillfully 'doctored' to make you see what they wanted you to see !

Now all this is old hat. It has been repeated and repeated, but I am again repeating it tonight for one very vital reason: The greatest editorial ever written to describe the bestiality of the Nazis was forgotten the day after it was printed, but the sight of a Russian woman or child bayonetted by a Nazi trooper was never erased from memory. What I am emphasizing tonight is the fiendishly clever misuse of our films. Because, my friends, that, even more than Pearl Harbor, swept us into the war!

That, my friends, was why Roosevelt declared curtar in the Pacific the secondary war - until we could create a second front in Europe - to save Russia! Only the comparitively few Commies in America were screaming for that second front - but they had the Screen and the Radio thru which to do their screaming - and they made it sound like all America.

That, my friends, was why Roosevelt ordered our armies to hold back and let the Russians capture Berlin.

That, my friends, was why Roosevelt betrayed America at Teheran and Yalta...that is why we now have the Berlin crises - and many others the world over.

That, my friends, is why we are on the threshold of the Third World War today!

And now that we are on the threshold of the Third World War, do you think the Reds in Hollywood will step any the softer? Not if you know them as well as I do! They will do it more carefully, more craftily, but they will continue to work Moscow's game until the hammer and the sickle will replace the Stars and Stripes - they hope!

You think that statement is wild? All right I'll prove it. Earlier I told you that William Z. Foster, Headman of the Communist Party in the United States came here in September, 1947 - and conferred with Milestone and others of the faithful. I will read a sworn statement by this Mister Foster. Quote: "No Communist, no matter how many votes he should secure in a national election, could, even if he would, become President of the present government. When a Communist heads the government of the United States - and that day will come just as surely as the sun rises - the government will not be a capitalist government but a Soviet government, and behind this government will stand the Red Army, - to enforce the dictatorship of the proletariat." Unquote.

That statement is on official record in Washington!

Now, Mr. Lewis Milestone is not one of the powers - that be, - in Hollywood. But he is a very prominent Director who owes all his wealth and fame to the American people - he also owes all his allegiance to the American people. Now, Mr. Milestone, on behalf of the American people, I'd like to ask you a few very pertinent questions:

I have been informed, by very excellent authority, that this William Zere Foster was an honored guest in your home - and that you arranged for a gathering of the most important of the "Faithful" to meet with him. What was the reason for that "gathering"? Was it to formulate plans for the tightening of the Red hold on Hollywood? - which had been slightly shaken by that first Parnell Thomas investigation and expose'held here in Hollywood.

Was it for the purpose of increasing the "donations" from the "Faithful" to the Commie propoganda funds? It is known, you know, that the take from the Hollywood "Faithful" is now OVER $30,000 per week. Who collects that "take"? WHO IS THE LOCAL COMMISSAR WHO ISSUED THE KREMLIN'S ORDERS IN HOLLYWOOD? Just what did you discuss that night, Mr. Milestone? Or did Willie Z. come to your home just to play a game of dominoes with you?...and that "gathering" there merely as an admiring "gallery"?

Now, you see, Mr. Milestone, I am trying to be fair. I am not going to ask you if you are a Red. I am merely saying that...on very excellent authority...you are paley waley with William Z. Foster - let alone a host of the lesser Reds! No man who is paley waley with the Reds can be a good American. Don't you think I'm right, Mr. Milestone? Every good American thinks I am.

Mr. Milestone, here is a bit of valuable information for you: The Thomas Committee has not been frightened into dropping their Hollywood investigation. In fact, they will be out here very shortly to ask you boys and girls a lot of questions. Well, when they get to you, the first question they will ask is (A) Are you a member of the Communist Party? (B) Do you belong to any Red Front organizations? Well, don't, - I bag of you - don't "refuse to answer on the ground that it might tend to degrade or incriminate you". First of all; I'm terribly afraid that that answer is sure to land you in the clink. Secondly: it will prove that you know that Communism is degrading and criminal - criminal as soon as Congress passes a law to that effect.

You see what a nice guy I am, Mr. Milestone? Out of the sheer goodness of my heart, I am giving you very good advice - and even plead with you to heed it.

Now, just one more question, and then you can go back to your story conference with Ring Lardner, Jr. Say! isn't he one of the original TEN HEARSEY MEN? What was that old saying about birds of a feather flocking togeth--

Never mind, let's get back to my final question:

If you and all your pals love Communism so much, why the Gehenna don't you go to Russia? - and stay there? -and leave America to those who do love America!

That's all, Mr. Milestone.

------ o ------

And now I come, with great sorrow and deep regret, to Harry M. and Jack Warner:

My dear Harry and Jack:

"First of all, I will remind you that I have known you for many years - thirty-five, to be exact. My relationship, at least with you, Harry, has always been very friendly. So what I have to say at this time cannot be ascribed to ill-will. In fact, I'd like you to look upon this open letter as a bit of friendly counsel.

You two men, heads of Warner Brothers Film Corporation, are two of the Half-Dozen Undisputed and Indisputable Masters of Hollywood. You are two "Greats" who can make or break anybody in the Industry by a nod of your heads. You have achieved fame, terrific power, and tremendous wealth - which is all very fine for you - and to which you are entitled. But AMERICA HAS GIVEN YOU EVERYTHING YOU POSSESS! You, above anybody, should thank and praise God for America. Yet, you produced "MISSION TO MOSCOW", a picture that has greatly hurt the prestige of America all over the world!

All right: You will say that when you made that picture "it was the popular thing to do"....FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT HAD SET THE PATTERN....but YOU KNOW RUSSIA - did you have to glorify that Hell on Earth into a Paradise?..... and SANCTIFY that gang of blood-stained hell hounds?....whose known aim is a "world enslaved or a world destroyed!"

BEST COPY

The moment it came out, "Mission to Moscow" became a Russian "must" wherever they had the power to make it "a must"....because that picture, made by Americans, made Russia look like the power of the world....and gravely belittled America by inference. You don't believe it? Talk to a Bulgarian... a Russian.....a Yugoslav.....a Manchurian.....a Korean!

We won the war...."Mission to Moscow" is one of the things that lost us the Peace.

That's how much power the screen has! And nobody knows it better than you do....yet, YOU made "Mission to Moscow"!

If you don't know it, boys.....everybody else does.....Stalin laughed himself into hysterics when he saw your picture. But....so I am told.... he said that if a Russian film producer would ever dare to make that kind of a picture - and glorify America as you did Communist Russia - he would promptly have him shot!

Now, boys, you are both shrewd and astute men. You both knew the score. You knew that when Stalin was holding meetings at Teheran and Yalta with the physically dying and mentally dead Roosevelt, he was craftily directing these "deals" into channels that would facilitate his long-planned RAPE of AMERICA,.... yet, YOU made "Mission to Moscow" - and zapped the courage of those in the Balkans who might have resisted him, if that picture had not made Soviet look so great and America so small.

You knew that, even in the very days when you were preparing the script for that picture, the Communists' secret toast to America was: "Friends today - Enemies tomorrow!" ....yet, you made "Mission to Moscow" - and convinced the Koreans and the Manchurians that Moscow was the great and America the small.

Why? I ask this incredulously....is it because you are for Communism?

I ask that.....because you have not done anything - and are not doing anything - to prove that you are against it!

BEST COPY
AVAILABLE

I ask that - because you are TWO of the Half-Dozen men in Hollywood who COULD wipe Communism out of Hollywood with a nod of your heads - BUT - YOU DON'T.

I ask that - because you, Harry, were the chief developer of a scheme to import known European Reds into Hollywood.

Jack: In Washington you vowed that you would clear your Lot of all Reds and Pinks at once! You were cited for that statement by the American Legion. Yet - your Lot is still crawling with them! Why? You won't tell me that you can't make good pictures without them? If that is your excuse - I will show you three good Americans for every one of these Commies, who can do their jobs fully as well - and better!

Or, perhaps, you will say as Louis B. Mayer said:....that you don't know how to tell a Commie when you see one. Well, if that is your only problem, I'll solve it for you: when you see an animal that looks like a dog, barks like a dog, bites like a dog, and runs like a dog - you can be sure it is a dog.

You see how temperate I am - even when I am describing a Commie for you. In my simile, instead of a dog I could have used some other animal - say, a skunk? Come to think of it. I am unfair to the dog - a dog is a nice and faithful friend of man.

Now, boys, I know you were "peeved" with me for that speech I made on April 12, this year. This may make you even more so. But, please believe me, I am writing this letter to you with charity in my heart. You two can go a long way to restore Hollywood to America. If you don't - well, when and if (the "if" is superfluous) Moscow calls her Pearl Harbor on us, the American people will be asking a lot of very harsh questions - maybe as harsh as those at Nuernberg.

So from here on out - with my best wishes - let your conscience be your guides - don't let the mistakes of yesterday go on into tomorrow.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) Myron C. Fagan.

One of the boldest Knights in the Crusade to transform Hollywood into a RED-land, is one DORE SCHARY. He is well known to movie Theater goers, as he never fails to take his due bows - and even 'undue' ones, as Hedda Hopper publicly proclaimed - for his achievements in Film land.

During the past couple of years - until, metaphorically speaking - EDWARD DMYTRYK tied a can to his tail! - he was the Pooh Bah on the R. K. O. lot, - his name appeared with much flourish on all their pictures, such as "Crime [illegible]", "The Bachelor and the Bobby Soxer", - in which ONE Judiciary was made to look [illegible] - and others with a "liberal" abortation for "telegraph". Now, in the days B. S. (before Summerlin) whenever a Deportation smacked a Third [illegible] Executive, the record of reports [illegible] to his employers [illegible] propagandist. In those days the [illegible] Hollywood did realize [illegible] colleagues. Naturally those who [illegible] Motion Pictures don't give a [illegible] the [illegible] of their Deportation. During Mr. [illegible] days [illegible] were [illegible] [illegible] of applause [illegible]. [illegible] off the payroll, [illegible] those [illegible] days we had our [illegible] [illegible] - and it's looked very [illegible], a [illegible] of those "[illegible]" which looked like a [illegible] - [illegible] of Mine for Deportation [illegible]. The more zealous the "[illegible]" the [illegible] for us, and, for him - and the less dividend for the [illegible].

In those days R. K. O. was facetiously referred to as "Little Moscow", "Red Kingdom" and other such delightful nicknames. Every film made on that lot was made to be "slanted" in the right direction - that is, way over to the left, if it were at all possible. That was the lot on which the Adrian Scotts and Dmytriks flourished and revelled - and feared at the mouth in Washington, when they were asked if they were Reds.

To indicate the the boldness with which pictures were "slanted" on that Lot in Schary's days, when Howard Hughes had "The Boy with the Green Hair", (Schary's pet picture - still unreleased), screened in the R. K. O. private projection room, he promptly ordered that it be "unslanted", but when it was discovered that it would cost at least $150,000 to "unslant" Schary's cute "slants", other 'Biggies' on the Lot let out such shrieks of anguish that - anyway, up to the present - it was decided to release it as is. Watch for it, Mothers and Fathers, it is said that your teen agers will EAT it up - with "a great message of "Tolerance",as it's seasoning!....The Communists use the word "Tolerance" as a camouflage for their propaganda.

Throughout Howard Hughes' negotiations to buy control of R. K. O., Dore Schary was a very unhappy man. He, himself, felt safe enough - his contract had still approximately three years to go, but he was heartsick about all his Commie pets. His most uneasy mental questions were: could he protect his "Missionaries?" Could he continue to "educate" America in the "Liberal Way of Life"?

His uneasiness was quite justified, as I have already related. But what he hadn't anticipated was that Hughes was determined to also get rid of the Great Schary! Of course, Hughes could have bought up the remainder of Schary's contract, but Hughes saw no reason to operate that way. First, he gave Schary's protests against the "firing" of his pets a curt brush-off. This, of course, was a blow to his dignity - and prestige with all the little pishes. Next, Hughes scrutinized the stories Schary had scheduled for production - and had several of the nicely "slanted" ones striken off, despite Schary's cries of anguish.

The final blow to his dignity, however, was "The Boy with the Green Hair!" When Hughes announced a "re-make" of that film, Schary sent his secretary to him with a note to the effect that "The Boy with the Green Hair" would be released as is,or that note was his resignation. Hughes merely remarked to the secretary: "Resignation accepted".

At this point I will reiterate an earlier statement to the effect that not all the Reds in Hollywood, all put together, could have Moscow-ized the Motion Picture Industry against the wishes of the HALF DOZEN KINGS of HOLLYWOOD.

I follow with a concrete example of that tragic fact!

Schary's "resignation" from R. K. O. was a bad blow to the "Liberal" cause in Hollywood. His "dignity" would not permit him to take a similar job with a minor Lot, or a lesser job with one of the other Major Lots. In view of his brazenly open statement in the Press, at the time his pals, Scott and Dmytrik were bragged in Washington, that "he would continue to hire Communists, etc.," and his known prodigality with millions of R. K. O. stockholders dollars, it was hardly likely that any Studio would offer him the power he enjoyed at "Little Mosco". It looked as if Mr. Dore Schary was in for a long "vacation" - and that all the little pinkos would have to find another "Daddy". But those who looked for that to happen were due for a sad disappointment.

One day, shortly after that redoubtable champion of "Liberalism", (Mr. Schary) lost THE Battle of "The Boy with the Green Hair", Nick Schenck, President of Loew's, Inc. (M.G.M.) long-distanced his brother, Joe Schenck, in Hollywood, that he (Nick) and J. Robert Rubin, Executive Vice-President and Chief Counsel of Loews' Inc., were leaving for Hollywood. He instructed Joe to arrange a meeting at his (Joe's) home for the night of their arrival with Louis B. Mayer, the Big Boss of M. G. M. in Hollywood, and Dore Schary. The meeting was held - and Dore Schary emerged with an ironclad contract as "Chief Production Executive of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer" the top lot of the Industry", with carte blanche to hire and fire whom he chose, and full control of the pictures to be made."

Boy, Oh Boy, NOW will Mr. Schary be able to go to town!!! And will every M. G. M. picture be PERFECT!!!

Louis B. Mayer, Nick Schenck and Joe Schenck are three of the Half-Dozen undisputed and indisputable Masters of the Motion Picture Industry.

Does that prove who are responsible for Hollywood having become the Kremlin in America?

Louis B. Mayer, who said he didn't know how to tell a Red from a good American won't have to strain his eyes any more!

This is the same Louis B. Mayer who at a recent testimonial banquet for Charles B. Skouras, President of Fox-West Coast Theatres, toasted him with the following statement:

"How we can have Communism in a country that has men like Charlie Skouras is more than I can answer".

Oh, Louie, Louie, "Methinks thou dost protest too much!"

The Irish call that "blarney". Charlie Skouras can also tell you 'that the Greeks have a word for it".

Incidently, Messrs Mayer, Nick and Joe Schenck - and Bob Rubin, a vagrant thought has just flitted through my mind: if George Washington had given Benedict Arnold sanctuary, or condoned his act, or aided and abetted him, the Father of our Country would have gone down in history as a greater traitor than Arnold - and I prophecy that the day is not far off when Congress will pass a law making the aid and abetting of Communism an act of treason!

And now I present my final indictment! A documentary one, provided by another one of the Film Industry's Frankensteins. It is a full page advertisement by the Actors Lab in "Daily Variety" on Wednesday, February 18th, 1948.

As you will recall, I previously stated that the Group theater of New York disintegrated around 1938 - and the individuals of that group came to Hollywood. Well, in 1945 I discovered that far from having disintegrated, they were more closely knit together than ever! I found them the same old "group" under a new name: "The Actors Lab".

As in New York, they picked up a little flea-box of a theater, at 1455 North Laurel Avenue, Hollywood. They produced a couple of plays with lavishly rich productions and with really superlative casts. The theater could hardly hold two hundred people. Their gross box office receipts, at capacity, could never pay half the weekly salaries of the actors, let alone the other overhead. However, that was no grief to them. They had a more vital.... for the Commie cause....objective, as follows:

Hollywood was....and still is...full of young people ambitious to "get into the Movies". The "Actors Lab" established a "School of Acting". The names on the "staff" were very impressive. The "names" behind the organization were even more so. Those "names" hypnotized and enrolled hundreds - and I mean hundreds - of students each year, the vast majority of them G. I.'s, Wacs, Waves. And to the everlasting shame of our present Administration in Washington, under our G. I. Bill of Rights, the tuition was - and still is - paid by the Government!

I'll guarantee that every graduate of the Actors Lab is far better grounded in Communistic propaganda than in the technique of acting! I know - I've talked with many of them.

The United States Government is supporting a brazenly outright School in Communism!

In February, 1948, the Jack Tenney Committee decided to investigate the Directors of the Actors Lab. They retorted with this full page adv. in Variety - I will analyze it in sequence. It starts off with:

"MEMO: To the Film Industry". You will note - not to the public....but to the Film Industry.

"A Free Theatre"? I will answer that later: "...an acting school approved for veterans!" I fully exposed that outrage a moment ago.

Now I will take up the ITEMS they present as their record:

"ITEM 1: FOURTEEN LEGITIMATE PRODUCTIONS PREPARED FOR THE U. S. O. PLAYED BEFORE AUDIENCES OF OVER A MILLION SERVICE MEN IN THIS COUNTRY AND ABROAD".

Naturally! These boys were fighting to save "Mother Russia!" And what a perfect opportunity to "sell" the Glory of Communism to the boys! Don't try to kid people, Mr. Bromberg!

I will skip Items 2, 3 and 4. I've already covered them, but here is:

"ITEM 5: GAVE TRAINING TO CONTRACT PLAYERS FROM UNIVERSAL-INTERNATIONAL, 20TH CENTURY FOX, R. K. O., and JAMES CAGNEY STUDIOS, WITH OFFICIAL APPROVAL AND FINANCING OF SAID STUDIOS".

Ah! That...as Hamlet would say...."is wherein I will catch the conscience of the King!" Because that Item establishes, beyond all doubt, that the Motion Picture Industry has financed and morally supported the growth of Communism in Hollywood!!!

"ITEM 6: OVER 15,000 LOS ANGELES COMMUNITY AUDIENCE SPONSORS WHO HAVE HELPED BUILD OUR THEATRE DURING THE 6 YEARS OF ITS EXISTENCE BY THEIR SUPPORT AND BELIEF IN OUR WORK".

What do you mean by "community audience sponsors"? Do you mean that there are only 15,000 Commies in the Motion Picture Industry?

"ITEM 7: NO PRODUCTIONS LISTED HERE SHOW CONTENT AND VARIETY OF PRODUCTION BESPEAK THE PROGRAM OF THE LAB AS A BROAD CULTURAL INSTITUTION".

My answer to this is: Show me one play in the 40 that is FOR America - and I will show 5 that, in one way or another, are for Communism.

Now....that last statement on the adv:

"ON THE RECORD, JACK TENNEY IS OUT TO STIFLE FREE THEATRE AND SMEAR ITS PROPONENTS. AGAIN, THE TIME HAS COME TO TAKE SIDES - TO STAND UP AND BE COUNTED. LET US KNOW WHERE Y-O-U STAND -WITH TENNEY OR WITH THE LAB".

That is their final appeal to "The Film Industry". I shall answer that piecemeal - for the people of America. "ON THE RECORD, JACK TENNEY IS OUT TO STIFLE FREE THEATER...." Free for you to spew your poison, but not free for anybody who dares to present the truth about Communism!....is that what you mean, Messrs. Bragberg, Dehnen and Garnevsky? "....AND SMEAR ITS PROPONENTS." The word is "expose", chums - EXPOSE!!!

"....AGAIN THE TIME HAS COME TO TAKE SIDES....." What "sides?".. ..against the land that has fed and cuddled you into wealth and luxury?

"...TO STAND UP AND BE COUNTED". You, chums, refused to stand up and be counted - for fear that it would "tend to decrease my lucrative work".

"....LET US KNOW WHERE YOU STAND -WITH TENNEY OR WITH THE LAB." You know where my true American stands. Tenney is a grand American, doing a grand job!

You of the Actors Lab....and all those "names" I've named....and the kind of people Sir Walter Scott meant, when he said: "Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said 'This is my own, my native land!'"

There is one more type of individual who can be - and is - even more treacherous and dangerous than any outright Commie or Fellow traveller. He is commonly known as the Professional Patriot.

We have them in every community in America, especially where the Commies are thickest. He makes our fight against Communism a personal professional racket for all the money he can gouge out of it. He usually calls himself a professor - or a doctor - for no reason at all - as a mask of especial respectability. His background usually discloses that he was anti-Jap, anti-Nazi, anti-any-ism that is hot at the moment. And the reason he is so particularly dangerous is that he is constantly screaming Americana, waving the flag with one hand and, if you in any way interfere with his racket, - secretly stabs you in the back with the other hand - even if he thereby furthers the cause of Communism.

AVAILABLE

Such a one attached himself to me when I first produced "Thieves Paradise". At that time I also created a plan whereby the club women of Southern California organized in a body to fight Communism in Hollywood. This professional patriot immediately decided to get personal control of this organization - and it's treasury. Of course, I promptly stopped that. From that moment on that man worked feverishly to destroy that organization. He secretly created friction among the women on the Board of Directors. He frightened others out with intimations that they would be made co-defenders with me in law suits by those I had named as Commies. A group of women in Santa Monica had decided to organize a local Commie fighting unit of their own. This man heard about it - he promptly began phoning these women, many of whom he did not even knew and frightened them out of the fight. I have a record of most of those calls - here and in Santa Monica.

This man, this professional patriot, did more to destroy the fight against Reds than any outright Red could ever have achieved. He fought an organized movement which a very high official in Washington had pronounced as the one sure-fire way to destroy Communism in Hollywood - because he was afraid it would interfere with his personal racket.

The reason this type is doubly dangerous is that so many people believe that he is unselfishly devoting his life for America - and he no more cares about America per se than I do about Patagonia. This type is without honor, without scrunle without shame! Yet he can periodically promote a testimonial banquet for himself - plus a plea for cash gifts to enable him to take a vacation - and a lot of foolish people fall for it.

Now, I'm not going to mention any names, for the same reason that a certain colored G. I. refused to identify the person he meant. This colored G. I. was playing poker with three other colored G. I's in an army hospital. One of the three had lost a leg, another one had lost an eye, the third one had lost a hand, but he could shuffle and manipulate those cards with his one hand better than any of the others could with their two hands. My particular colored boy had been having bad luck all evening. Finally he became suspicious. He stopped the game for a moment, pulled out a huge trench knife and laid it down in front of him.

"Look'e here, all you niggers", said he,"Dar's skullduggery goin' in dis yere game. One 'e'you three is cheatin'. An'e not gonna mention any names, but de nextest time ah ketches him dealin' from the bottom o' the deck - ah'll cut his other eye out."

Earlier I said that I had a bombshell for the camp of the enemy this evening.

Last April when I announced that I would reveal the Red conditions in Hollywood all of the Los Angeles newspapers, also the Associated Press, United Press and other publications asked me for transcriptions so as to avoid misquotations. I supplied the transcriptions. But not one newspaper published the actual text or the names. I don't have to tell you why - the Film industry spends many, many millions of dollars in advertising. Some publications used the excuse that they were afraid of libel suits. The printed word is vitally necessary to spread such a movement - if only thru which to educate the members of an organized body such as had been planned by the Southland's Clubwomen.

Well- during the past month I negotiated an arrangement with a National magazine which has the courage to publish my statements verbatim. In this magazine I will, month after month, publish the case histories of all the names I have named. I will, in very plain language, state whom are outright

BEST COPY

Reds, whom are Fellow-travellers, so that the front organizations they belong, secretly or openly, and whom are gullibles and dupes.

Bombshell Number two: Under the coordination of this magnetic we are organizing "Anti-Communists United" to take over the job the Southern California Clubwomen had undertaken last April. The governing board of this organization will be a tightly knit and carefully chosen one with no opportunities for Professional Patriots to horn in and create frictionation. We are now launching a nation-wide drive for one million members - the subscribers of that magazine becoming the foundation nucleus. They will be men and women who will seek no self-aggrandizement, no honors, no glory, but stand together and united to serve a mass protest at the box offices all over the United States until we have wrested Hollywood out of the hands of Moscow!

Now, ladies and gentlemen, this has been a rather lengthly dissertation on the Reds in Hollywood. I have about said all I intended to say this evening, but it seems that my sponsor has promised that I would read the list of names I have named in my book - two hundred of them. Would you really like to hear them.

Very well, In this list there are names of outright Reds who hold Communist Party membership cards under fictitious names, others are members, secretly and openly of Red Front organizations; others are Fellow-Travellers, whom I look upon as worse than the outright Commies. Some are Producers who employ Reds and Fellow-Travellers at huge salaries, which salaries are used to support Communism. In addition there are some who are merely poor fools who seek to ingratiate themselves with the Comrades by giving them financial and/or moral support by the use of their names. I will not at this time stop to segregate them, because, per se, they are all friends of Russia and enemies of America. Without the support of all these types of people there would be no Communism in Hollywood - or in America.

The list of names includes Stalinists, Fellow-travellers, panderers, dupes and importers, employers and supporters of Communists. The last three classifications I ~~will~~ mentioned are more deadly than the others:

Now, my friends, I am going to take a moment to make my most earnest and sincere appeal to all who love the freedom of our America - including those thoughtless ones who joined in the attacks against a properly constituted Congressional Committee of investigation.

It has come to my attention that some people have been wondering why I have seemingly declared a war on an Industry with which I have had such close ties practically since it's inception. So I want to go on record:

I have never had one word of dispute or argument with any one of the names I mentioned tonight except on the question of loyalty to the land we live in.

I have never had the slightest reason to quarrel with the Film Industry - except on the question of loyalty to the land we live in.

The Screen is the most cherished possession of the American nation. It is our chief form of entertainment. It has great educational - and cultural values. By that very same token, however, it can be - AND IS THAT - a most sinister menace to the American way of Life.

I have seen youngsters come home from "Mission to Moscow", completely sold on Russia - to the detriment of their own America! I have seen kids come home from "Crossfire", utterly nauseated by the sight of an American in our Army uniform committing a foul murder. I heard one sixteen year old say: "I'll bet they wouldn't allow that in Russia!" I've heard similar reactions about "Gentleman's Agreement", "The Farmer's Daughter", "The Bachelor and the Bobby Soxer", - Oh, so many others! Just as we won the War and lost the Peace to Moscow, I could see us losing the Screen that we created - to Moscow. I could see us losing our youth to Communism. AND I COULD SEE NOBODY DOING ANYTHING ABOUT IT! So I stuck my neck out - in the hope that I could SHOCK our people into doing something about it. Sure, I knew I'd be smeared for it; sure, I knew I'd be pilloried - sure, I knew my best friends would say I've "gone haywire". But that is the way I felt - and that is the way I am acting.

At that, I am far more moderate than people realize: Tonight I named approximately 200 names - I could have named 300: I refrained: not merely because of lack of time, but for a far more important reason:

There are four types of Subversives in Hollywood: the outright RED - the Fellow Traveller - the Panderer (Jack Tenney calls him Opportunist) - the Dupe.

The Red and the Fellow Traveller are forever lost to true Americanism. But in the Panderer and the Dupe there are many worthwhile and talented people who still can and must be saved for our Screen. For example: Rita Hayworth. She has several times lent her name to Red Front activities. She did it because it had become "the popular thing to do" - besides she was then married to Orson Welles and under his influence. But she didn't have to do it, her position is too secure to be threatened by the Commies - and if she had given the matter a little more thought she would not have done it. The same is true of Olivia De Havilland, Myrna Loy, many others.

Lending their names to any Red activities gives great moral support to Communism. It has great effect with those who idolize them - especially the kids! If a Rita Hayworth, or a Myrna Loy says Congress has no right to investigate Communists, all those kids promptly believe that our American Congress is no good and Communism is OKay!

And we might as well face it: gentle ethods will not bring them back to their senses. Only if their positions and their pocketbooks are threatened will they begin to think. Only an overwhelming public protest at the box office will frighten them back to being just actors and actresses - not amateur politicians - and stupid cats-paws for the most poisonous and wiliest enemy America ever faced!

I am accused of "trying" to destroy the Film Industry - THEY ARE destroying it. Right now the entire Industry is in a panic - every big Executive is wringing his hands and using up bales of crying towels over the waning attendance at the theatres. Yet, the answer is so simple: they have been so busy injecting "messages" into their pictures - "slanting" them with "tolerance" and "Liberal" viewpoints they've had no time to put entertainment into them.

AVAILABLE

Far from trying to hurt the Film Industry, I have made of myself a target for every type of smear and attack, to help them. I can hear their raucous laughter at that statement. In reply, I will use Teddy Roosevelt's famous words: "Sometimes you have to use a big stick to beat sense into some people's heads".

My advice to the men who control the Industry is that they make an open statement in the Press - and a FREEDOM - that from today on they will restore the American Screen to the American people ---that never again will they permit a Moscow "Message" in their pictures.....or allow a "slanting" of that type of "ideology"....and that they will root out of the Industry all those that have been responsible for that kind of "slanting".

That, and only that, is their solution - and salvation.

I THANK YOU.

UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES,
Washington, D. C.

PUBLIC HEARING

The Committee on Un-American Activities met pursuant to adjournment at 10:15 a.m. in room 226, Old House Office Building, Hon. John S. Wood (chairman) presiding.

Committee members present: Representatives John S. Wood (chairman), Francis E. Walter, Morgan M. Moulder, Clyde Doyle, Harold H. Velde, Bernard W. Kearney, Donald L. Jackson, and Charles E. Potter.

Staff members present: Frank S. Tavenner, Jr., counsel; Thomas W. Beale, Sr., assistant counsel; Louis J. Russell, senior investigator; William A. Wheeler, investigator; John W. Carrington, clerk; and A. S. Poore, editor.

- - -

Mr. Wood. I will ask that the people in the audience please refrain from audible conversation during the hearings.

Mr. Counsel, are you ready to proceed?

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Chairman, I would like to give Mr. Martin Popper, an attorney from New York, an opportunity to make a motion before the committee at this time.

Mr. Popper. Mr. Chairman, and members of the committee, I represent Mr. J. Edward Bromberg.

Mr. Wood. For the purposes of identification, will you give your name and address.

Mr. Popper. Martin Popper, 160 Broadway, New York.

Mr. Bromberg has been subpenaed to appear before this committee tomorrow morning. I have submitted to the counsel for the committee a number of medical documents indicating the serious condition of Mr. Bromberg's health, and at his suggestion I am now making a formal application to have Mr. Bromberg's subpoena vacated on the ground of serious physical condition.

Mr. Bromberg is the victim of heart disease, having suffered a heart attack within the past month, and as the medical certificates submitted to Mr. Tavenner indicate, Mr. Bromberg would be in serious danger of suffering another heart attack under any kind of anxiety, under any kind --

Mr. Wood. Have you the certificate?

Mr. Popper. Yes, I do. I have already submitted photostatic copies.

Mr. Wood. Suppose you read the certificates you have.

Mr. Popper. There are two. The first is from Dr. Walter Modell, a distinguished heart specialist of New York, under whose care Mr. Bromberg presently is, who says:

"Mr. J. Edward Bromberg has asked me to write to you. Mr. Bromberg has rheumatic heart disease. He first visited me because of this in August 1944, and since he has taken residence in this city I have attended him regularly for it. Mr. Bromberg discovered that he had rheumatic heart disease in his youth. The exact time it developed has not been established. Since its discovery and until recently his heart disease has been well compensated and he has required no treatment. Since December of 1950 he has complained of symptoms of cardiac dysfunction. This was treated with mercurial diuretics with relief. In March 1951, in Philadelphia, he suffered a frank attack of congestive failure. This was treated with digitalis and mercurial diuretics. This form of treatment has been continued, and Mr. Bromberg is now symptom free. Treatment and dietary restriction will be required for an indefinite period. I have also advised Mr. Bromberg to refrain from emotional upsets and to avoid tensions and anxieties. There is the possibility that unless this practice is followed there will be further attacks of heart failure."

I also have a certificate from the physician at Philadelphia who treated Mr. Bromberg at the time of his heart attack within the past month, and if the committee wants me to I shall be glad to read that as well, but it merely confirms that fact and indicates the course of treatment.

I am also ready to present to the committee the electrocardiographs taken of Mr. Bromberg's condition in March of 1951 at the time of the heart attack, for which attack and general symptoms he is still under treatment.

I would under these circumstances suggest that reason and safety itself would indicate the correctness of vacating the subpoena, a course which is followed even in its most normal sense even in judicial proceedings of a kind which don't bring in this kind of anxiety.

Mr. Walter. Do those affidavits go so far as to express the opinion that if your client appears his health and his life would be endangered?

Mr. Popper. There is no question but that --

Mr. Walter. Do the affidavits say that?

Mr. Popper. First of all, they are not affidavits, sir. They are medical certificates. It says that any kind of emotional upset or anxiety create the possibility of a further heart attack at this time. There is no doubt in my mind that any inquiry of any of these physicians, because they have already been asked this question, would indicate that an appearance before this committee at this time leads to the definite danger of a heart attack, with whatever serious and terrible consequences may come therefrom.

I should imagine, Congressman Walter, that under these circumstances the gravity of the responsibility on any public body is immeasurable.

Mr. Walter. We realize that, except I know, having practiced law for a great many years, that you can get doctors to make statements as to almost anything, and even though those statements don't go so far as to indicate that this man's health would be endangered by an appearance here --

Mr. Popper. Not quite. I mean as far as these certificates are concerned. In the first place, I offered to the committee the electrocardiographs of Mr. Bromberg, and as a matter of fact I have already indicated to Mr. Tavenner that we haven't the slightest objection to any check being made on this by anybody that the committee sees fit.

Mr. Wood. Let's see if I get that statement correctly. Say it again.

Mr. Popper. I have already indicated to Mr. Tavenner at the time of the submission of the certificates that we haven't the slightest objection to your making your check as to the accuracy of these certificates.

Mr. Wood. If the committee approves, we will continue the subpoena in force for thirty days, to give us an opportunity to make a further investigation about it.

Mr. Popper. By all means. I have no objection at all. Does the committee want the document?

Mr. Wood. File it, please.

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Chairman, I think I should ask counsel a question or two, since he has appeared here. I would like to know whether or not the witness is employed and working at the present time.

Mr. Popper. He is not.

Mr. Tavenner. I should state to the committee what I have done in connection with this matter, which of course has been very little, in view of the work that is piled upon the staff at the present moment.

I have had copies of these certificates since Saturday, and I was called on the phone by counsel a day or two prior to that and I made the suggestion at the time that in a matter of this kind I would want to make a very thorough investigation, and he cooperated in every way about the making of that investigation. We have not had the opportunity to make it. However, at the time of service on March 7th the witness was engaged in the production of a play and was served at the theater.

Mr. Doyle. Nighttime or daytime?

Mr. Tavenner. I don't know the hour, but it is the play "Springtime for Henry" which was playing at the time. Effort had been made to serve him at his home, unsuccessfully, and I want to investigate all the circumstances about that, as well as the medical situation.

Mr. Popper. By all means. However, Mr. Chairman, I think there are one or two implications that are unfair. In the first place, Mr. Bromberg is an actor. In the second place, he couldn't have been served at his home, since he was opening in a play at Baltimore, where he was served at that time. The heart attack of which these certificates speak occurred after the time of service. They occurred several weeks thereafter.

Mr. Russell. He was served in Wilmington, Delaware, at the duPont.

Mr. Tavenner. He was served in Wilmington after several attempts over several days in order to make the service. We have here the investigator to testify if necessary.

Mr. Popper. I think it is fair to tell the committee the place in Wilmington where he was served.

Mr. Russell. Put Mr. Jones on. He served him at the duPont Hotel in Wilmington, Delaware.

Mr. Wood. I don't think it is necessary to go further into it. In light of the statements here, I feel that the staff should make further investigation, and we will undertake to designate some physician. I assume that you, Mr. Popper, will be cooperative with us in having him examined.

Mr. Popper. Of course. I have already indicated that to counsel.

Mr. Wood. If it develops he is unable to come here for that purpose, the committee will take under advisement the question of sending a subcommittee up to his place to take his testimony.

Mr. Tavenner. I would like to call Mr. Marc Lawrence.

Mr. Madden. Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I am Murdo Madden, a Washington attorney, 1830 Jefferson Place, N. W. I represent Mr. Lawrence. He is under subpoena to appear today and is presently in a sanitarium in Alhambra, California.

I first contacted the committee through Mr. Tavenner on that matter about ten days ago, and at that time I had not myself verified his condition. I went out there and satisfied myself that he physically could not appear at this time and checked with his doctors and got doctors' statements, which I have with me today.

I am not asking that the committee vacate the subpoena. The man's condition is such and can readily be verified as such that if it would be possible for the committee to take testimony there at the sanitarium or at his home, if he is in his home, within a reasonable time in the future, that is the request that I would like to make now.

Mr. Wood. How long in your opinion would it be before he would be able to come here?

Mr. Madden. When I left California four days ago the doctors thought that it would be maybe two to three weeks. I got word yesterday that he had since been sent to the sanitarium, and the doctors now will not say when he might improve. His is a mental and physical breakdown that is bordering on complete breakdown at this time, as I understand it.

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. [illegible] al got in touch with me about it, we endeavored to have our investigators who were then in California make some check of this matter. They were unable to locate the physicians at the time, or the witness. We have found out later that the witness had gone out into the country where he could be alone, but we have not been able at this time to make a check of the medical facts reported here or to interview the doctors in the short period of time which we have had to work on it. For that reason, we feel that we should have a sufficient amount of time to investigate it.

Mr. Wood. Supposing we continue the subpoena in force for a period of two weeks and in that time get some definite statement from the physician if we possibly can and submit it to counsel for the committee here, and we will be able to take appropriate action and notify you what is desired.

Mr. Madden. Thank you. I would like to repeat the request that if it appears that he will then be in no condition to come if it would be possible for a subcommittee or some other type of questioning to be taken out there. He is fully prepared to answer completely and honestly all the questions of the committee.

Mr. Wood. I am sure the committee will explore that possibility and take whatever action it thinks the circumstances will warrant.

Mr. Madden. Thank you.

Mr. Doyle. May I ask this question, Mr. Chairman, of counsel: Would his doctors stipulate that he was physically able to testify out there, or would we be confronted with a surprise statement by a doctor out there that he wasn't physically able to testify there either, if his health was so bad?

Mr. Madden. No, Mr. Doyle. I think that it is possible that the questioning might be similar to the questioning that I had to conduct last week, which was very tenuous and took a great deal of time, but I am sure that if the man is alive he will submit to questioning.

Mr. Doyle. Thank you very much.

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Chairman, I would like to call Mr. Will Geer.

Mr. Wood. Is Mr. Geer present?

Mr. Geer. Which one is the hot seat?

Mr. Wood. Mr. Geer, do you solemnly swear that the evidence you give this committee shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

Mr. Geer. I do, sir.

Mr. Kenny. Do you wish counsel to identify themselves again, Mr. Chairman?

Mr. Tavenner. Just a moment, please.

SWORN TESTIMONY OF WILL GEER

Mr. Tavenner. What is your name, please?

Mr. Geer. My name is Will Geer.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you represented here by counsel?

Mr. Geer. I am, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Will counsel please identify themselves for the record?

Mr. Kenny. My name is Robert W. Kenny, Los Angeles, California.

Mr. Margolis. Ben Margolis, 112 West Ninth Street, Los Angeles, California.

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Geer, when and where were you born?

Mr. Geer. I was born in Frankfort, Indiana, Clinton County, March 9, 1902.

Mr. Tavenner. What is your present place of residence?

Mr. Geer. My present place of residence is 1015 Fourth Street, Santa Monica, California, for the past three years.

Mr. Tavenner. What is your present occupation?

Mr. Geer. I am an entertainer, actor, in the theater and screen and in television.

Mr. Tavenner. Will you state for the committee briefly your educational background?

Mr. Geer. High school; University of Chicago, Ph.B; graduate work at Columbia University and, of course, at

Mr. Tavenner. When did you complete that course of educational training?

Mr. Geer. I finished about 1926, but I am still a student.

Mr. Tavenner. Well, we all are. But what is the subject of which you are a student?

Mr. Geer. Philosophy, but my main hobby is agriculture and horticulture.

Mr. Tavenner. How have you been employed since 1926?

Mr. Geer. Since 1926 mainly in the theater in stock, small shows in stock, and all around the country on tour with people like Otis Skinner, Minnie Madden Fiske, Ether Barrymore; radio when it came along and television when it came along, and the last two years I have been doing some motion pictures on the side, and I teach agriculture and victory gardening.

Mr. Tavenner. How are you now employed?

Mr. Geer. I am unemployed at the present moment. I would have been employed. This interfers with spring planting.

Mr. Tavenner. What was your last employment?

Mr. Geer. My last employment -- I just finished a picture called "The Tall Target or the Man on the Train," written about Lincoln's coming to Baltimore and the attempt of his assassination in 1861.

nner. For whom did you dothat work?

.. Geer. M-G-M.

Mr. Tavenner. When was that?

Mr. Geer. Just about during the month of March; February and March, I would say.

Mr. Tavenner. Who employed you to engage in that work?

Mr. Geer. My agent got me the job.

Mr. Tavenner. Who is your agent?

Mr. Geer. Paul Wilkins, 9006 Sunset Boulevard.

Mr. Tavenner. With whom did you contract?

Mr. Geer. Contracted with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you negotiate yourself with any of the officials?

Mr. Geer. We have agents in the business. They do all the negotiating. We are just entertainers, and they sell us and get 10 percent of us. Our ashes we will them.

Mr. Tavenner. You did not participate in the negotiations for that transaction?

Mr. Geer. No, not at all.

Mr. Tavenner. What was your employment prior to that picture to which you referred?

Mr. Geer. A picture called "Lights Out," at Universal Studio, which is about a blind war veteran. I played the father -- the boy's adjustment to coming back to life after being blinded in the war.

Mr. Tavenner. What studio was that?

Mr. Geer. Universal Studio at Universal City, California.

Mr. Tavenner. What was the date of that employment?

Mr. Geer. The date of that employment was -- let's see, would be roughly, well, that would be about October, I guess. After that I did a picture at Columbia.

Mr. Tavenner. October of what year?

Mr. Geer. Of last year. After that I did a picture. I am mistaken. I did a picture called "Barefoot Mailman" at Columbia Studios along about Christmastime, I think.

Mr. Tavenner. With whom did you contract in the performance of those two pieces of work?

Mr. Geer. Columbia Pictures and Universal Pictures.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you deal directly with them?

Mr. Geer. Not at all.

Mr. Tavenner. Through your agent?

Mr. Geer. Yes.

Mr. Tavenner. Was it the same agent?

Mr. Geer. The same agent.

Mr. Tavenner. You did not personally take part in the negotiations with those studios?

Mr. Geer. Just to make an appearance and see whether they thought I was a fit subject for the particular role they had in mind.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you furnish any references of any character to those studios in connection with your employment?

Mr. Geer. References?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes.

Mr. Geer. I don't understand that question, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. I said did you furnish any references to those studios in connection with your employment in those two contracts?

Mr. Geer. I have been in the theater for about twenty-five years, sir. I think I am well enough known to all of them from the roles I have played.

Mr. Tavenner. You felt that was not necessary?

Mr. Geer. I don't believe so, no.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you ever furnished references to the studios with which you sought to make contracts?

Mr. Geer. No. I think a person's work is usually the judge of whether you get a part or not.

Mr. Tavenner. Yes, after twenty-five years; but you have to have a beginning place, some place along the line. So I am asking you if at any time you did that.

Mr. Geer. Well, I don't believe so. It is always a question of which comes first, the hen or the egg about an actor getting a job. You get the job or the egg or the hen which hatches first.

Mr. Tavenner. Will you answer my question as to whether or not you furnished references to any studio in connection with your employment?

Mr. Geer. No, I never felt it necessary, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you do it?

Mr. Geer. No.

Mr. Tavenner. Whether you felt it necessary or not, did you?

Mr. Geer. No. We just make an appearance and we are sold like --

Mr. Tavenner. How long have you lived in California?

Mr. Geer. The last two and a half years, in Santa Monica.

Mr. Tavenner. And prior to that time where did you live?

Mr. Geer. I have a farm in Rockland County, in the Hudson Valley, New York State.

Mr. Tavenner. And how long did you live in New York State?

Mr. Geer. Ten years. Long enough to get the farm, the home. It is a blueberry farm.

Mr. Tavenner. How long were you in the state of New York in the theatrical profession?

Mr. Geer. Well, I would say off and on. Of course, New York is a center of show business, so we naturally gravitate there for jobs. I imagine since the year 1924 I have gone to New York off and on. Sometimes you would go on tour all over the country, and again we would be in New York.

Mr. Tavenner. First I will ask you whether you were living in the state of New York in 1942.

Mr. Geer. 1942. I imagine so. Let's see. I was campaigning for Wendell Willkie along about that time. I don't know whether it was 1942 or not. No, Wendell Willkie died.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you also interested at that time in the Communist Party, as indicated by your signing of a Communist Party independent nominating petition July 23rd, 1942?

Mr. Geer. 1942?

Mr. Tavenner. I hand you a photostatic copy of what purports to be such a petition.

Mr. Geer. Well, that, Gentlemen, is an emotional, hysterical question based on the date. I stand on my rights, the Fifth Amendment, on the grounds it might incriminate or degrade me.

Mr. Tavenner. I ask you again to look at the Communist Party nominating petition which I hand you and state whether or not the name Will Geer appears on that petition, and if so whether or not it is your signature.

Mr. Geer. I stand on the same grounds.

Mr. Tavenner. I desire to file the document in evidence and ask that it be marked Geer Exhibit No. 1.

(The document referred to above was marked "Geer Exhibit No. 1.)

Mr. Geer. 1942? This is 1951. Actors are so gabby, I beg your pardon.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you a member of the Communist Party in 1942?

Mr. Geer. I stand on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment.

Mr. Tavenner. What do you mean you stand on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment?

Mr. Geer. Well, it might incriminate or degrade me. The word "Communist" is an emotional, hysterical word of the day, like the word "witch" in Salem.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you refusing to answer the question because you consider it an emotional and hysterical matter? Is that the grounds of your refusal, or is it some other ground?

Mr. Geer. On the grounds of tending to incriminate.

Mr. Tavenner. In other words, you are refusing to answer the question because to do so might tend to incriminate you?

Mr. Geer. Incriminate.

Mr. Tavenner. And you place yourrefusal to answer squarely upon that ground?

Mr. Geer. Upon that ground.

Mr. Tavenner. Will you state to the committee the basis for your refusal to answer that question or give the committee some information upon which it may judge whether or not to answer that question might tend to incriminate you?

Mr. Geer. I answered that question on the advice of counsel and refused it.

Mr. Tavenner. So you refuse to furnish any information to the committee upon which it may act or judge --

Mr. Geer. That's correct.

Mr. Tavenner. -- the requirement of your answering that question?

I have before me an issue of October 20, 1936, of "The Daily Worker," in which there is an article under the title "Miner Talks in the Bronx Tomorrow." In the body of this article appears this language:

"All the members and friends of the Jewish Bureau of the Communist Party and the Furriers Union which have endorsed Gold's candidacy have been asked to attend this meeting, the Bronx County Committee of the Communist Party announced. Chairman of the meeting will be Harry Yerris, county secretary, who will open the gathering with brief introductory remarks. In addition to the speaking, an elaborate program has been arranged, featuring Will Geer."

Do you recall that meeting?

Mr. Geer. I refuse to answer the question on the same grounds of the Fifth Amendment, because it is an emotional question, out of date.

Mr. Tavenner. Is your answer based upon the date of the document? Is that the basis of your refusal?

Mr. Geer. On the grounds of the Fifth Amendment, as I have already stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Then place your refusal on the grounds that you actually rely upon.

I have before me the September 25, 1945, issue of "The Daily Worker," in which there appears an article entitled "Th usand Artists, Writers Back Davis," and I read as follows:

"Formation of an artists, writers, and professionals group for the election of Benjamin J. Davis was announced yesterday by Paul Robeson, chairman of the new group. More than one thousand citizens, including some of the most outstanding in the theater, radio, and motion pictures, fine arts, dance, publishing, literature, educational and allied fields have already joined the division which will actively campaign for the reelection of Davis."

And then further in the article appears the statement of those who were connected with the formation of that group, in which this language is used, "also Howard Da Silva"; and then naming numerous others. And finally in the list the name of Will Geer appears --

Mr. Geer. Among a thousand.

Mr. Tavenner. -- as a signer.

Did you participate in the formation of that organization?

Mr. Geer. I claim the privilege.

Mr. Tavenner. What privilege?

Mr. Geer. On the grounds of incriminatio fifth Amendment. Incrimination, Fifth Amendment.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you entertain at any meetings of the Communist Party or branches of the Communist Party other than the matters I have already referred to?

Mr. Geer. Ancient history. I stand on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment.

Mr. Tavenner. On the grounds of the Fifth Amendment or ancient history?

Mr. Geer. Well, on the amendment.

Mr. Tavenner. To answer the question might tend to incriminate you? Is that what you mean?

Mr. Geer. Correct, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Since so much emphasis has been placed by you on the question of ancient history, are you a member of the Communist Party now?

Mr. Geer. I refuse to answer on the same grounds.

Mr. Tavenner. Ancient history?

Mr. Geer. No; same grounds.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Geer, we can get along a lot faster if you will make your answers responsive to the questions that are asked you.

Mr. Geer. I will try to, sir.

Mr. Wood. It will help the committee a lot and save a lot of time.

Mr. Geer. I will do my best.

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Geer, I have before me an April 27,

1948, issue of "The Daily Worker," in which under the column "Broadway Beat" there is an article relating to you entitled "Actor's Reply to Columnist." I will read the first paragraph and then go down into the body about a matter which I want to ask you about, "Will Geer sounds off in a letter to the editor of a theater publication."

"We see that a certain columnist has attempted to slough off unemployment in our theater by attacking what he calls the censorship of the artist in the Soviet Union. He tells a discouraged actor to beware of casting envious glances at the good employment of the Soviet actor because some Soviet composers have just been criticized by the Soviet state."

Then in the body of the article appears this statement attributed to you:

"The clucking that has gone on about control of the Soviet composer has been largely hearsay. He is unaware apparently of the Soviet cultural program. As an American who has worked in the Soviet theater and cinema, I am all for government participation in show business. Over a period of twenty-five years the Soviet theater has given infinitely more variety than has been evidenced in the London or New York stages. It has given year-round work for the artist, vacations with pay, free day's salaries to young students of the theater. Whenever I write to the young would-be artists of the theater that have given up probably or have been unable to afford study, I am reminded of the young actor I talked to in Moscow before the war. He was to enroll as a student at the Trade Union Theater, a theater of repertory that was largely supported by trade unionists of a ball bearing factory. I asked him if he was just starting out. 'Oh, no. I have spent one season already in the Realistic Theater and one in the Molle Theater'" and so forth.

Were you correctly quoted in that article?

Mr. Geer. I stand on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment.

Mr. Tavenner. Did that article correctly reflect your views about government participation in the show business --

Mr. Geer. Thanks for reading it, but I stand on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment.

Mr. Tavenner. -- at the time it was alleged to have been made by you?

Mr. Geer. I stand on the same privilege.

Mr. Tavenner. That you refuse to answer?

Mr. Wood. The reporter can't get your indication.

Mr. Geer. I am sorry.

Mr. Tavenner. When were you in Russia?

Mr. Geer. I went on a theatrical tour to see the Moscow Art Festival in 1935.

Mr. Tavenner. Was that the first time that you had been to Moscow?

Mr. Geer. It was.

Mr. Tavenner. The first time you had been in the Soviet Union?

Mr. Geer. It was, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Is it the only time you have been there?

Mr. Geer. Yes, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. What was the purpose of your trip?

Mr. Geer. To see the theaters. Our theater was in a pretty bad state at this time. It was a repertory theater.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you go alone?

Mr. Geer. I went alone.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you go in a representative capacity of any character?

Mr. Geer. No, just the theater festival tour.

Mr. Tavenner. And did you pay all of your own expenses, or were part of your expenses contributed?

Mr. Geer. Paid my own expenses.

Mr. Tavenner. Was Harold Ware in Russia at that time?

Mr. Geer. Not that I know of, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Was Harold Ware your brother-in-law?

Mr. Geer. No, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you related in any manner to him?

Mr. Geer. No, sir, not related.

Mr. Tavenner. What was your wife's name?

Mr. Geer. Herta Ware.

Mr. Tavenner. Was she related to Harold Ware?

Mr. Geer. I imagine she was. He has been dead for a number of years.

Mr. Tavenner. What was her relationship?

Mr. Geer. I hadn't met the lady at that time.

Mr. Tavenner. Well, the relationship would be just the same, wouldn't it, then?

Mr. Geer. It would be an in-law relationship. I don't call an in-law a relative.

Mr. Tavenner. I asked you whether he was your brother-in-law.

Mr. Geer. Brother-in-law?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes.

Mr. Geer. No, he is not my brother-in-law.

Mr. Tavenner. What was the relationship of Harold Ware to your wife?

Mr. Geer. I would call him an uncle-in-law.

Mr. Tavenner. An uncle-in-law?

Mr. Geer. Yes.

Mr. Tavenner. What was the relationship of your wife to Mother Bloor?

Mr. Geer. My wife is the granddaughter of an 88-year-old lady known as Mother Bloor to many people who have no truck with Communism.

Mr. Tavenner. And did Harold Ware have any connection of any kind with your trip to Russia?

Mr. Geer. I have never met Harold Ware. I hadn't met my wife at the time either. I had not met my wife.

(Mr. Walter left the hearing room at this point.)

Mr. Tavenner. I hand you a photostatic copy of a passport application which was obtained from the State Department by subpoena duces tecum of a person by the name of Thomas Gilbert, where you appear or the name Will Geer appears as the identifying witness. Will you examine it, please?

Mr. Geer. (After examining document) What was the question you wanted to ask of me, sir?

Mr. Tavenner. I don't recall how the question was worded, but I will now ask you whether or not you were a witness to that application.

Mr. Geer. I recognize the picture. I don't remember the name, but I certainly signed the application.

Mr. Tavenner. And it is your signature?

Mr. Geer. Yes. People frequently ask for favors of that sort, recommendations.

Mr. Tavenner. The man's name appears as Thomas Gilbert in the application. You say you recognize the photograph?

Mr. Geer. I recognize the photograph but not the name.

Mr. Tavenner. You do not know him by the name of Thomas Gilbert?

Mr. Geer. I do not.

Mr. Tavenner. Whose photograph is that if that is not Thomas Gilbert?

Mr. Geer. I wouldn't remember the -- oh, well, I might. It has been a number of years ago. What date was that? I might have remembered the name, but we meet so many people that it is impossible for me to connect the name with the picture.

Mr. Tavenner. You have just told us that you did not remember him by that name. I want to know by what name you did know the individual whose picture appears there.

Mr. Geer. I just don't recognize that name.

Mr. Tavenner. But who is the man?

Mr. Geer. I don't know.

Mr. Tavenner. You know the man?

Mr. Geer. I know the man's face, but I do not know his name.

Mr. Tavenner. Is it Whitey Roland?

Mr. Geer. I never heard that name.

Mr. Tavenner. Never heard the name Whitey Roland?

Mr. Geer. Never heard the name. 1937 is the date?

Mr. Tavenner. You stated in your affidavit that you had known this individual, Thomas Gilbert, for a period of four years.

Mr. Geer. At that time. That's 1937. At that time I probably did.

Mr. Tavenner. I desire to introduce this photostatic copy into evidence and request that it be marked Geer Exhibit No. 2.

Mr. Tavenner. I hand you another application for passport, purporting to be under the name of Thomas Gilbert, a photograph attached, in which Isabel S. C. Wright appears as the identifying witness. Will you examine that application and look at the photograph of Thomas Gilbert?

Mr. Geer. I have never seen that man before.

Mr. Tavenner. It is an entirely different photograph from the one in the application which you signed as a witness, is it not?

Mr. Geer. I would say so, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Do you know the person whose photograph appears on the application?

Mr. Geer. I have never seen --

Mr. Tavenner. On the application just handed you?

Mr. Geer. I have never seen this face before to my knowledge. I have never seen his face before.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you ever confer with the party whose photograph appears in Exhibit No. 2, which was the first copy I handed you, --

Mr. Geer. To my knowledge --

Mr. Tavenner. Just a moment. -- about his acting as a witness to an application for passport by you?

Mr. Geer. As far as I can recollect, never, to the best of my memory. I don't believe I really understood that, Mr. Tavenner.

Mr. Tavenner. To simplify the question, did you ever talk to the person whose photograph appears on the Exhibit 2 and ask him to act as the identifying witness in an application to be filed by you?

Mr. Geer. To the best of my knowledge, I have never seen the man.

Mr. Tavenner. Let me hand you again Exhibit No. 2, which contains the photograph of the individual whose photograph you recognize.

Mr. Geer. This is No. 1? Is this Exhibit No. 1?

Mr. Tavenner. Well, it's Exhibit No. 2, but it is the first of the photostats which I handed you.

Mr. Geer. You've got me all mixed up on 2's and 1's. I'm sorry.

Mr. Tavenner. That's easily understandable. So I am handing you now the application which is marked Geer Exhibit No. 2 and contains the photograph of the person known in the application as Thomas Gilbert, and I ask you whether you at any time made an arrangement with the individual whose photograph appears there by which he was to act as the identifying witness for you if you acted as the identifying witness for him.

(At this point, Mr. Potter left the hearing, and Mr. Doyle entered the hearing.)

Mr. Geer. I believe, to the best of my recollection, sir, when I applied for a passport in 1935 my witness was a woman and had nothing to do with this person at all.

Mr. Tavenner. I know, but will you answer my question as to whether or not you ever had conversation with the individual whose photograph appears there of the character that I mentioned to you?

2 Mr. Geer. To the best of my recollection, never.

Mr. Tavenner. How many passports have you obtained?

Mr. Geer. In 1935, the year I went to the festival, and in 1920 I went over in a cattle boat, one of Harold Swift's cattle boats, after I got out of school, but I don't think I had to have a passport then as I remember. Maybe I did. That's about 1920. It's when I was just a kid. I remember I worked over on a cattle boat. And I have forgotten if we had to have passports or not.

Mr. Tavenner. What were the circumstances under which you signed this application which is Exhibit No. 2 as an identifying witness?

Mr. Geer. It's entirely vague in my mind. Someone just asked me that they wanted to get a passport. People frequently come by --

Mr. Tavenner. Had you known the individual for four years?

Mr. Geer. Yes. I think he was something to do with the merchant marine or something or other.

Mr. Wood. Counsel, we are going to have to suspend here for about 20 minutes so the members may answer this call, and we will resume at eleven-thirty.

(Thereupon, at 11:10 a.m., a recess was taken until 11:45 a.m., at which time the following proceedings were had:)

Mr. Wood. Come to order, please.

3 By virtue of the authority vested in me as Chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, I have designated Mr. Doyle and Mr. Jackson and Mr. Wood as a subcommittee to continue this hearing.

Proceed, Mr. Tavenner.

(Mr. Kearney was also present.)

Mr. Tavenner. Yes, sir.

Mr. Geer, do you know the purpose for which Thomas Gilbert sought permission to travel abroad?

Mr. Geer. To the best of my recollection, no. Just he wanted to go. He's a merchant seaman. I think I should add, if you would permit me, that I worked as a merchant seaman in between jobs on shore and naturally I met a great many seamen at that time, and there would be dozens and dozens -- hundreds of people, in fact -- that I couldn't recall the name of and still at the same time I'd be perfectly willing to help them out on getting a reference for a job or anything of that sort.

(At this point, Mr. Velde entered the hearing.)

Mr. Geer (continuing). At the same time, you wouldn't remember their name but you'd know their face.

Mr. Tavenner. You don't mean that you would sign an identifying affidavit that you had known a person for four years if you hadn't known him, would you?

Mr. Geer. I certainly wouldn't.

4 Mr. Tavenner. Well, can you state whether or not the person whose photograph appears on Exhibit No. 2, which I will hand to you again, is a person who was known to you by the name of Roland?

Mr. Geer. No, I have no recollection about the name whatever. The face does look familiar. Just as the face of a lady in the back court there I hadn't seen for 20 years.

Mr. Tavenner. I desire to offer in evidence the second passport application and ask that it be marked Exhibit Geer 3.

Mr. Wood. It will be admitted. I thought it was admitted already.

(The document referred to was marked Exhibit Geer 3.)

Mr. Tavenner. And also the other excerpts from the papers which I read in evidence, namely, the issue of the "Daily Worker" of October 20, 1936, which I ask be marked Exhibit Geer 4, and of the "Daily Worker" of April 27, 1948, which I ask be marked Exhibit Geer 5.

Mr. Wood. They may be marked.

(The documents referred to were marked Exhibits Geer 4 and Geer 5, respectively.)

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Geer, were you a member of or affiliated in any way with the American Peace Mobilization?

Mr. Geer. Well, there are about four or five hundred organizations listed as being here, and I'd have to really 5 consult this book to find out.

Mr. Tavenner. To find out whether you were a member?

Mr. Geer. No. To find out whether it's -- what it's listed. There are several hundred organizations. It's difficult to remember the names of them, as it is difficult to remember the names of people. So I ask the privilege of looking at this book to find out whether that's one so listed.

Mr. Tavenner. What difference does it make, in answer to the question of whether or not you were a member, as to whether it's listed in a book?

Mr. Geer. I simply list all things like this as an -- emotional words used in a time that's altogether-- It's like --

Mr. Tavenner. That doesn't change the fact of your membership or non-membership, does it?

Mr. Geer. No. I just simply stand on the grounds of the Amendment.

Mr. Tavenner. In other words, you refuse to answer on the grounds that to do so --

Mr. Geer. Might incriminate me.

Mr. Tavenner. -- might tend to incriminate you?

Mr. Geer. Those things are years ago.

Mr. Kearney. That is again a period of ancient history, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Geer. Yes. At the present time, hospital benefits. I play veterans' hospitals. A little group goes around and plays veterans hospitals. For all I know they might be listed in another six months as something altogether out of order. Things change very rapidly nowadays.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you at any time a sponsor of the Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace?

Mr. Geer. The name doesn't sound familiar, but I'd like-- I really don't recall the name of that one, sir. I'm sorry.

Mr. Tavenner. All right. It was held on March 25th, 26th and 27th of 1949 in New York City under the sponsorship of the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

Mr. Wood. What is your answer?

Mr. Geer. The name sounds unfamiliar to me, but I would stand on the grounds of the same privilege.

Mr. Wood. You mean you decline to answer the question?

Mr. Geer. On the ground of the same privilege, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you at any time been a member of or affiliated with the International Workers Order?

Mr. Geer. I would stand on the same privilege.

Mr. Wood. That isn't an answer, Mr. Geer. Do you answer the question?

Mr. Geer. I refuse to answer on the grounds of the same privilege. That is the correct wording? Thank you, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you at any time a member of or 7 affiliated with the International Labor Defense?

Mr. Geer. I refuse to answer the question on the same grounds, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you at any time affiliated with the Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade?

Mr. Geer. I would decline to answer that on the same grounds, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you at any time affiliated with the Theater Arts Committee?

Mr. Geer. I would decline to answer that question on the same grounds, sir, on advice of counsel.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you at any time affiliated with the Workers Alliance of Greater New York either as a sponsor of any of its programs or policies or activities?

Mr. Geer. I would decline that answer tending to incriminate me. I couldn't be responsible for the use of my name.

Mr. Wood. Well, now, which?

Mr. Geer. May I link them together, sir? I'd appreciate it.

Mr. Tavenner. You are a member of the Screen Actors Guild?

Mr. Geer. I am, sir. I pay dues. I am a life member of the Actors Equity Association and AFRA, radio organization. Those are the only organizations I can think of I paid dues to in my life.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you ever paid dues to the Communist Party?

Mr. Geer. Decline on the grounds it might tend to incriminate me.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you ever questioned by officials of the moving picture industry regarding your alleged activity in Communist front organizations -- that is, organizations which have been cited as Communist fronts by the Attorney General of the United States and this Committee or other committees?

Mr. Geer. No. They simply told me they didn't believe everything they read.

Mr. Tavenner. Then, they discussed the matter with you prior to your employment?

Mr. Geer. Just casually. People around the studio. I wouldn't remember the names.

Mr. Tavenner. Who was it said to you they didn't believe everything they read or heard?

Mr. Geer. That's an old saying of mine too. I don't know which one.

Mr. Tavenner. You quoted some official of the moving picture industry as having made that statement.

Mr. Geer. I wouldn't recall who it was, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Well, whom did you talk to on the subject of Communist front organizations within the industry?

Mr. Geer. I can't remember. There are many people that discuss the subject, but they would probably be in the hundreds. I couldn't possibly remember their names.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you discuss it with them at the time of your employment on any of the projects that you undertook?

Mr. Geer. To my recollection, no, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you employed by any of the people with whom you had discussed that subject?

Mr. Geer. I imagine so.

Mr. Tavenner. Who were they?

Mr. Geer. I wouldn't recollect offhand, sir, but I would presume so because I have done 15 pictures with four major studios.

Mr. Tavenner. And did any of those producers talk to you about your activities either within -- alleged activities within the Communist Party or in Communist front organizations? That is, organizations cited as being Communist front organizations?

Mr. Geer. I discussed it with one director perhaps, and he asked me just what I was anyway, and I told him I was a conservationist.

Mr. Tavenner. Conservationist?

Mr. Geer. Conservationist, sir. That is my philosophy. I believe in returning the land to the same shape we found it in. I believe also in conserving the things that one-world Wendell Willkie talked about and FDR got for us. That's my philosophy.

Mr. Tavenner. Now, did he ask you about communism?

Mr. Geer. No, not to my recollection. He asked me what I was anyway. That was my answer.

Mr. Kearney. Who was that director? What was his name?

Mr. Geer. I can't recollect the name of it, the particular occasion, but I do remember making that statement, because the man happened to be opposed to FDR, and he didn't think much of it, whoever it was.

Mr. Tavenner. But you did not tell him that you had been connected with Communist front organizations?

Mr. Geer. I stand on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment in answering that question, sir, because I already said that that's a hysterical word.

Mr. Tavenner. I do not see how it could tend to incriminate you to state whether or not you discussed the subject with an employer, an employer with you.

Mr. Geer. Well, I'm-- I really-- That's just something casual that happens in everyday life. I have really-- That's all the conversation I happen to recall on it. I say that would happen, oh, an average of once a day during the past few years, discussions with people about philosophy.

Mr. Tavenner. I'm speaking of with your employers. Did your employers discuss your activities with you daily?

Mr. Geer. Never in connection with employment to the best of my knowledge. I would be quite willing to discuss it with them any time.

Mr. Tavenner. More willing than you have been with this Committee?

Mr. Geer. I should say so, sir, because this is a peculiar atmosphere we are living in today. And the citizen has to see clearly all the time how important it is to preserve individual rights.

Mr. Tavenner. You would answer then questions propounded to you by your employer as to whether or not you had been or are at the present time a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. Geer. I should think I would, sir.

Mr. Tavenner. I have no further questions.

Mr. Geer. Thank you very much.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Doyle?

Mr. Doyle. No questions.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Velde?

Mr. Welde. Do you consider yourself to be a patriotic citizen?

Mr. Geer. I do indeed, sir. I love America. I love it enough to want to make it better.

Mr. Velde. In the event of an armed conflict in which the United States would find itself opposed to Soviet Russia, would you be willing to fight on the side of the United States?

Mr. Geer. Factually, I would grow vegetables for victory for the Farm Bureau as I did before and play hospitals. It would be a wonderful idea, in fact, if they put every man my age in the front lines and in Washington fellows on the other side. I think wars would be negotiated immediately. I approve of that.

Mr. Velde. You say you would be willing to join the army?

Mr. Geer. Indeed I would, sir, if they could take me.

Mr. Velde. That's all.

Mr. Geer. My function is growing vegetables and entertaining, however.

Mr. Kearney. Mr. Geer, there is one thought running through my mind on your various answers here, and I wish you would explain to me because I just can't get your reasoning. Will you tell this Committee as to membership in these various organizations that have been asked you by counsel and that you have declined to answer on the ground it might incriminate you how such an answer would incriminate you?

Mr. Geer. Well, in my opinion it's something set up outside. It's the committee setup. And you yourself or this Committee has made these stipulations. It's something that has been set up and to my mind created artificially.

Mr. Kearney. You mean to say that this Committee has set up the fact that if you said that you belonged to any one of these particular organizations asked by the counsel that we would have you in the position where you have incriminated yourself?

Mr. Geer. I don't quite understand that, but so far as this Committee is concerned I believe so, sir. That's my feeling today in 1951.

Mr. Kearney. In other words, you think that this Committee is a persecuting committee?

Mr. Geer. To my mind there's great similarities between the Inquisition and people like in our country that have been persecuted, like Mormons.

Mr. Kearney. Is that yours or your counsel's?

Mr. Geer. That's my own opinion.

Mr. Kearney. I see counsel advising you on your answers there.

Mr. Margolis. I will be glad to give you my opinion, Mr. Kearney.

Mr. Kearney. You're not testifying.

Mr. Margolis. No, but I'd be glad --

Mr. Geer. I'd be glad to answer that question.

Mr. Kearney. Do you believe, Mr. Geer, that the Congress of the United States has the right to set up a committee such as this is to search out subversive activities in this country?

Mr. Geer. I'm an entertainer and not a lawyer. I wouldn't know whether it would be right or not.

Mr. Kearney. Well, you seem to have enough answers on all other subjects here, questions. Can't you answer that question yes or no?

Mr. Geer. As an entertainer simply and not a lawyer, I really couldn't answer that question, sir. In my opinion, I think it would be more important right now to investigate inflation and the high cost of living. That's my own opinion.

Mr. Kearney. Well, I think you've got something there too.

Mr. Geer. We all of us have to appear in a turkey once in a while. I don't think the public is seriously interested in the fact --

Mr. Kearney. That's all, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Jackson?

Mr. Jackson. Mr. Geer, you say you appeared in a picture called "The Tall Target" in February or March?

Mr. Geer. February or March of this year, sir.

Mr. Jackson. I should preface this for the record that the introduction of names, if any, has no particular connotation. Who was the producer of "Tall Target"?

Mr. Geer. The producer of the picture was I believe Mr. Richard Goldstone.

Mr. Jackson. Who did the script?

Mr. Geer. I wouldn't know about that, sir. I met a man named -- on the set -- but I couldn't recollect his name.

Mr. Jackson. Who was the director of the picture?

Mr. Geer. The director of the picture was Anthony Mann.

Mr. Jackson. And on "Lights Out" who was the producer?

Mr. Geer. The producer on that picture was a man named Buckner, a very brilliant producer, and the director was an exceptionally remarkable director named Marc Robeson, who has had several successes.

Mr. Jackson. Who did the script on "Lights Out"?

Mr. Geer. I imagine the producer did. He usually does his.

Mr. Jackson. On "The Barefoot Mailman," who was the producer?

Mr. Geer. The producer on that, Mr. Cohn I think. He's the son-in-law of Harry Cohn. I believe that's the name. Robert Cohn.

Mr. Jackson. Do youknow who wrote the script on that?

Mr. Geer. No. It was a western laid in Florida. That's about all I recollect about it.

Mr. Jackson. And the director?

Mr. Geer. The director of that was quite a brilliant young director named Earl McAvoy from Boston.

Mr. Jackson. What is your agency, Mr. Geer?

Mr. Geer. My agency is Paul Wilkins, 906 Sunset Boulevard.

Mr. Jackson. On the Strip, is it? On the Strip?

Mr. Geer. Yes. On the Strip, sir.

Mr. Jackson. I stress again that the answers to the questions necessarily have no connection with any subversive activities.

That's all, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Geer. Thank you very much.

Mr. Wood: Mr. Geer, did I understand you to say in response to counsel's question a while ago concerning the conversations that you had had with the employers that some one of them had told you that he didn't believe all he read about your connection with --

Mr. Geer. Yes. And I added I don't believe all I hear either.

Mr. Wood. Well, in connection with the organizations about which you have been interrogated by counsel, particularly concerning your affiliation or membership with them, don't you think that it would be enlightening to the party, whoever it was in connection with your employment that made that expression that he didn't believe all he read in the paper, to set him completely right about it now by answering the questions frankly here?

Mr. Geer. I think there is too decided an atmosphere of fear nowadays and hysteria to answer that, sir.

Mr. Wood. Don't you feel now that your declination to answer questions here leaves you in the position of either giving false testimony or of tacitly admitting your membership therein?

Mr. Geer. I don't feel so, sir.

Mr. Wood. You don't?

Mr. Geer. No, I don't really.

Mr. Wood. If you're not a member of such organizations, to say so wouldn't incriminate you, would it?

Mr. Geer. I'd appreciate it so much, Mr. Wood, if you'd ask me questions about the thousands of other benefits I played.

Mr. Wood. I'm asking you about the questions I'm concerned about and that this Committee is concerned about.

Mr. Geer. That's why --

Mr. Wood. And I would very much appreciate a frank answer. I ask you the question: If you are not a member of a single one of these organizations about which you have been interrogated, do you admit that it wouldn't incriminate you to say you are not a member of them? Don't you admit that?

Mr. Geer. Mr. Wood, --

Mr. Wood. I'd like an answer to that question if I may.

Mr. Geer. I frankly don't know how to answer that question.

Mr. Wood. You don't know how to answer it?

Mr. Geer. I don't know how in this day, 1951.

Mr. Wood. I will try to make it a little more explicit. You are asked particularly about membership -- well, in the Communist Party. Now, if you are not a member of the Communist Party and have never been, do you think it would incriminate you to say so?

Mr. Geer. At this particular time, although the Communist Party is a perfectly legal one, I think they should --

Mr. Wood. I'm asking if you're not a member would it incriminate you to say you're not a member?

Mr. Geer. I'm standing on the Constitution. I believe that they're being persecuted now like the Mormons, the Jews, the Quakers, the Masons --

Mr. Wood. That isn't responsive.

Mr. Geer. -- even radical Republicans in Lincoln's day.

Mr. Wood. That's not responsive to my question.

Mr. Geer. I'm trying to answer directly, sir.

Mr. Wood. I want to know what your conception is about what incriminates you to tell the truth before this Committee, if it is the truth, that you are not a member of the Communist Party. That wouldn't in any sense incriminate you, would it?

Mr. Geer. I really believe, sir, that the best answer to that, that I'm just allergic to meetings and things of that sort, and I stand on the advice of my counsel that --

Mr. Wood. And decline to answer that question?

Mr. Geer. In this particular day, April 11, 1951, I do, sir, with the situation of the world as it is. It's a hysterical situation.

Mr. Wood. That's all.

Mr. Geer. Thank you, sir.

Mr. Velde. I have one more question. Did I understand you to say that you felt the Communist Party was a legal party?

Mr. Geer. I understand so. I believe that.

Mr. Velde. You understand it is?

Mr. Geer. To my understanding.

Mr. Velde. Would it be any crime to admit your membership in a legal party then?

Mr. Geer. In this day of hysteria it is, sir.

Mr. Velde. That's all.

Mr. Geer. Because they're like --

Mr. Wood. Then you want to leave it before this Committee then that in your opinion it would subject you to the danger of self-incrimination to either admit it or deny it?

Mr. Geer. I think so, sir.

Mr. Wood. Even if your denial was true? If you should deny it and it should be true, that would still incriminate you? Is that the way you want to leave it?

Mr. Geer. Well, I'm just simply an entertainer, and I'm not a lawyer, sir, and I can't testify.

Mr. Wood. Is that all the answer you desire to give the Committee?

Mr. Geer. That is, sir. We don't get the training in law that you do down in Athens, Georgia.

Mr. Wood. You have a couple of very astute counsel. You can confer with them.

Mr. Geer. I trust lawyers even when they back shows I'm in. I have had some bad experiences in one called "Tobacco Road."

Mr. Wood. I didn't ask your opinion about lawyers. I'm just commenting on the fact you have one on each side of you.

Mr. Geer. I trust the lawyers, sir.

Mr. Wood. Did the lawyers advise you to say that it would tend to incriminate you to deny your membership in an organization to which you have never belonged?

Mr. Geer. Well, I take a lawyer's backing if he backed a play, but in this situation --

Mr. Wood. I asked if they advised you --

Mr. Geer. Mr. Wood, --

Mr. Wood. You said you answered on the advice of counsel. I want to know if the counsel have advised you that that is a correct answer and bona fide, straightforward --

Mr. Geer. I think we're getting out of bounds, Mr. Wood, about the lawyers and things. I'm just simply an entertainer and like to entertain for the public.

Mr. Wood. Then do you want to decline to answer that question as to whether or not the attorneys advised you?

Mr. Geer. I think it would be advisable, sir. I'm sorry.

Mr. Wood. All right, if you want to leave that cloud on them.

Mr. Geer. Oh, there are lots of clouds, war clouds, all sorts of clouds.

Mr. Wood. That's all.

Mr. Geer. Thank you, Mr. Wood and Committee.

(Witness excused.)

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Robert Lees.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Lees, do you solemnly swear that the evidence you give this Committee shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

Mr. Lees. I do.

Mr. Wood. For the purpose of this investigation, Mr. Reporter, let the record disclose that there is a quorum of the full Committee present -- Mr. Jackson, Mr. Velde, Mr. Kearney, Mr. Doyle and Mr. Wood.

SWORN TESTIMONY OF ROBERT LEES

Mr. Tavenner. What is your full name, please, sir?

Mr. Lees. Robert Lees.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you represented here by counsel?

Mr. Lees. Yes, I am.

Mr. Tavenner. Will counsel please identify themselves for the record?

Mr. Kenny. Robert W. Kenny, Los Angeles.

Mr. Margolis. Ben Margolis, Los Angeles.

Mr. Lees. I happen to have a statement here I would like to introduce at this time if I may.

Mr. Wood. When counsel has finished his examination, we will be glad for you to file any statement with the clerk for the record.

Mr. Lees. Thank you.

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Lees, will you state when and where you were born, please, sir?

Mr. Lees. I was born in San Francisco, July 10, 1912.

Mr. Tavenner. What is your present place of residence?

Mr. Lees. Los Angeles. 742 Schumacher Drive, Los Angeles 48.

Mr. Tavenner. What is your present occupation?

Mr. Lees. I am a screen writer.

Mr. Tavenner. How long have you lived in California?

Mr. Lees. All my life.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you been engaged in the practice of your profession elsewhere or solely in California?

Mr. Lees. Only once, sir, I believe I would say was outside of California, when I came to Washington to write a film for General Sommerville called "Substitution and Conversion" during the war. It was a film that was necessary for conservation of critical materials at the time.

Mr. Tavenner. What has been your educational background and training?

Mr. Lees. I was in grammar school in San Francisco, Lowell High School, San Francisco. I came to Los Angeles and started at U.C.L.A., and unfortunately there was a depression on at the time and I couldn't finish my freshman year, and that's the conclusion of my education formally.

Mr. Tavenner. Will you give the Committee a brief account of your employment record?

Mr. Lees. I started writing-- Well, let me put it this way. I started acting in an extra capacity, bit capacity, for the years 1930 to 1934. Starting in 1934 I became a writer at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, where I did some 55, roughly, short films -- Robert Benchley, Pete Smith, Crime Doesn't Pay.

Quite a few shorts, two of which won Academy Awards at the time.

Then I started writing features. And they were primarily comedies. There was one, "No Time for Love," with Fred MacMurray, Claudette Colbert.

Mr. Tavenner. When was that?

Mr. Lees. It's going to be very difficult for me to get exact dates on these things. I think that roughly was about 1942 I believe, 1941, something like that. I can't really recall exactly the dates of these films.

But then I worked at Universal-International and did quite a few films for them, mostly Abbott and Costello comedies; I think about five or six of them. "Hold That Ghost," "Meet Frankenstein," the present one "Meet the Invisible Man," "Widow of Wagon's Gap." I can't recall them. Must have been five or six of those.

Mr. Tavenner. What was the last production that you worked on?

Mr. Lees. The last production released?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes.

Mr. Lees. Or the last employment?

Mr. Tavenner. Let us say the last employment.

Mr. Lees. The last employment I had was at Republic Studios where I was employed to write a picture for Judy Canova.

Mr. Tavenner. When was that?

Mr. Lees. I don't quite know, but it was about-- I would think about a week or two before I received my subpoena, and I remember attributing the fact that I was suddenly let go to the fact that maybe my appearance before this Committee was responsible.

Mr. Wood. You were just asked when it was.

Mr. Lees. Well, I couldn't understand why I was not working in the middle of the assignment was all. I wanted to explain the reason, Mr. Wood, as I understand it.

Mr. Wood. Well, now, will you now answer the question when it was?

Mr. Lees. I say about three or four weeks before -- oh -- I received my subpoena. It was the beginning of this year sometime.

Mr. Tavenner. What was your last employment prior to that?

Mr. Lees. My last employment prior to that, at Universal-International Studios where I was working on a picture for Jimmy Durante and Donald O'Connor.

Mr. Tavenner. And what was the last production that you worked on?

Mr. Lees. The last production was "The Real McCoy" for Abbott and Costello, which hasn't been released, and the one before that which is now playing the theaters is "Meet the Invisible Man."

Mr. Tavenner. And what was the date of your work on those productions?

Mr. Lees. It's going to be very difficult.

Mr. Tavenner. I mean the date of your employment let us say.

Mr. Lees. Well, it's hard for me to say this, for the simple reason that some of these pictures have been written I would say maybe a year before they were released. The latter part of 1950 I was working on the Jimmy Durante-Donald O'Connor film. The Abbott and Costello film I guess was at the beginning of that year approximately, 1950.

Mr. Tavenner. Will you tell the Committee the circumstances and the details of your employment for those two pictures, "The Real McCoy" and-- What was the name of the other one?

Mr. Lees. "Meet the Invisible Man." The circumstances I believe are similar to the circumstances of any writer in Hollywood who's employed. You're called up by your agent and told to go out to the studio, that you have a job. If you're not called by your agent, you're not working.

Mr. Tavenner. Who was your agent?

Mr. Lees. My agent is the Sam Jaffe Agency. It's on Sunset Boulevard. I don't know the exact address.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you confer with your employer before accepting the employment, or was that done entirely through your agent?

Mr. Lees. No, sometimes there would be a discussion as to the story and whether or not we felt like -- whether I felt the story could be done or not.

Mr. Tavenner. That was prior to your employment?

Mr. Lees. Sometimes. Usually you would have the script to examine to see whether you felt suitable as a writer or that you liked the story or that you thought you could do the job. If you felt that you could and the studio wanted to hire you, you said that you could and you were hired.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you represented by any other agency other than the one you have mentioned?

Mr. Lees. I was represented by two other agencies in the time that I have been working in films. I was represented for a great number of years by the Paul Kohner Agency. I was represented a short time --

Mr. Tavenner. Will you state the name again, please?

Mr. Lees. Paul Kohner, K-o-h-n-e-r. The Paul Kohner Agency. And for a short time with the Nat Goldstone Agency.

Mr. Tavenner. Was a person by the name of George Wilmer your personal agent in connection --

Mr. Lees. He was the agent in charge of writers for Nat Goldstone, and on that basis he represented me along with others in the agency who were assistants in the literary department.

Mr. Tavenner. Has that representation continued on to the present time?

Mr. Lees. That representation was terminated. I don't know exactly what day it was or what date it was, but I believe I have been with the Jaffe Agency for over two years or something like that. Two years I believe.

Mr. Tavenner. What was the reason for the termination of your relationship?

Mr. Lees. I felt, as when I left Mr. Kohner, that I was not getting the story sales and the jobs at the time. Whether it was the agent's fault or whether it was the fact the industry was in a slump because of the world situation some two years back-- It's picked up since. I left anyhow and have been working with the Sam Jaffe Agency. I have been represented, rather, by the Sam Jaffe Agency.

Mr. Tavenner. Did others leave that agency at the same time that you did?

Mr. Lees. I don't know who left or who didn't leave, but there has been a great number of circulations among agents and their clients. You stay with an agency for a while, and if you don't like the jobs you're getting or if you don't think you're getting jobs, you change. You change for reasons that maybe a new agency would want to make an impression with you and get you a job because you're fresh, and you might feel like you're an old "has been" if you have been with an agency too long. There's a constant movement around. Some are satisfied for a while with their agents, but I have known writers to leave one agency and go to two or three others and come back to the original one.

Mr. Tavenner. You spoke of the practice of conferring with officials of your various employers about the story --

Mr. Lees. Yes.

Mr. Tavenner. -- prior to your employment, --

Mr. Lees. Yes.

Mr. Tavenner. -- which is a reasonable and natural thing.

Mr. Lees. That's right.

Mr. Tavenner. Who are some of those with whom you have conferred?

Mr. Lees. Robert Arthur has been the producer of quite a few of the Abbott and Costellos I have worked on.

Mr. Tavenner. Of what movie industry?

Mr. Lees. At Universal-International.

Mr. Tavenner. All right. Will you name others?

Mr. Lees. Let me see. Sidney Pickert was the producer at Republic on our last picture -- my last picture. I can't-- I worked for Jack Chertok originally in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Shorts Department.

Mr. Tavenner. Will you spell that, please?

Mr. Lees. C-h-e-r-t-o-k I believe is the spelling. Let's see. My mind has suddenly gone blank. I can't recall any other producers, but I know there are quite a few. I'm trying to think of them.

Mr. Tavenner. I'm not asking for the names of producers generally. I'm asking for those with whom you had discussions of your script and the story.

Mr. Lees. Oh, that's very hard to say in the sense that I don't know what you'd call discussions. Sometimes there would be no discussion. The script would be taken to me by the agent. I'd say I would want to go to work on this. And if the studio had already made up its mind that I was the man to write the film, the job was done and the discussions took place after I was hired. There have been many interviews I have gone on in which no one has been hired because of a feeling of mutual dissatisfaction perhaps with story and concepts.

Mr. Tavenner. Have there been any instances in which there was refusal for other reasons?

Mr. Lees. I don't know what you mean by "other reasons."

Mr. Tavenner. Reasons other than story concept.

Mr. Lees. Not particularly that I know of. There might have been reasons of maybe a personality problem, but that's whether the producer felt he could get along with you. That might be a reason.

Mr. Tavenner. In any of the instances in which you were not employed were you questioned about your affiliations with the Communist Party or any Communist front organizations? That is, organizations which had been cited by the Attorney General of the United States or this Committee or other organizations, Government organizations?

Mr. Lees. Was I questioned?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes.

Mr. Lees. One moment, please.

I wanted to be sure about my legal ground on this. The reason-- There has been no question of political affiliations in terms of my employment that I have discussed or have been asked to discuss by any of the people I have worked for. Even up to the very last time I was hired the general concept seemed to be that a man was hired on his ability as a writer and not on any kind of political affiliations he might have, and simply as to whether he could do the job or not do the job.

Mr. Tavenner. When you were employed by Universal and various of the other groups, who within those groups were actually responsible for your employment?

Mr. Lees. I really don't know how the ladder of studio officialdom works, whether the individual producer could make the decision or whether the story department could make the decision or whether it had to travel all the way up to Mr. Yates or whoever it might be who was in charge of the studio. I never quite know where these decisions come from. I believe that most producers have an autonomy to hire within their own story problems, their stories they have been assigned to.

Mr. Tavenner. With whom did you deal?

Mr. Lees. Oh. Sometimes with the story editor and mostly with the producer directly in charge of that production. And sometimes, well, naturally, after you have been at work on a picture, you do talk with the director, you do talk with the executive producer, and sometimes you might even have conferences, I have heard, with the head of the studio.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you have an associate writer or partner?

Mr. Lees. I think that's a matter of public record, the associate that I have worked with. I have been a member of a team for a great number of years.

Mr. Tavenner. Well, who's on the team?

Mr. Lees. I think you could find that out very simply by consulting the public records. It's on the screen and so forth and so on.

Mr. Wood. Well, do you know? You know who it is, don't you?

Mr. Lees. Well, I just simply say that this is something that the Committee is asking me about which, as I said, is a matter of public record, and I think that the Committee could find out very simply by consulting those records. It probably knows by consulting those records already. I'm curious as to --

Mr. Wood. You're asked to name them.

Mr. Lees. What's that?

Mr. Wood. You're asked who they were. Do you know?

Mr. Lees. I say that this is a matter of public record. I know who I collaborated with.

Mr. Wood. Well, would you mind telling the Committee? I don't know.

Mr. Lees. Is there any particular reason in regard to this question?

Mr. Tavenner. A very definite reason.

Mr. Lees. Could you clarify that?

Mr. Tavenner. No. I'm asking you to answer the question.

Mr. Lees. On this question I'd like to first give you my reasons why I might be claiming this privilege at a future date, and I think the ground should be put in the record. I'm claiming the right not to answer that question on the grounds of the First Amendment, which I believe guarantees freedom of belief and expression, and the Fifth Amendment which says that a man is not required to testify against himself. And for this reason I decline or do not wish to answer that question.

Mr. Tavenner. Do you contend that it might tend to incriminate you to state before this Committee who are engaged in the writing profession with you?

Mr. Lees. Well, I do know this: That there are a great number of organizations that this Committee has deemed to be subversive, and my connections with any individual that can be connected with these organizations can tend to incriminate me, and for this reason I have declined to answer that question.

Mr. Tavenner. You didn't hesitate to answer as to the names of producers and various other persons with whom you had conferred in connection with the employment for the writing which you have done. I can't understand why you claim that to name the individuals who assisted you in the writing might tend to incriminate you.

Mr. Lees. Well, I believe this is a problem that is up to me as an individual to decide what will incriminate me and what won't, and I so decide at this moment.

Mr. Tavenner. Well, you have your counsel to advise you, but it is certainly outside the law, at least in my personal opinion.

Mr. Lees. What was that again?

Mr. Tavenner. I said in my personal opinion it's certainly the weight of authority that a person has not the right, a witness has not the sole right to determine that question; that it is a duty resting upon him to give information to the tribunal, in this case the Committee, upon which it might base a decision as to whether or not you should be asked to answer the question. You have counsel there. I suggest that you confer with them.

Mr. Lees. Well, --

Mr. Tavenner, on the advice of counsel I stand on the reasons previously stated.

Mr. Kearney. Even though you previously stated this was a matter of public record?

Mr. Lees. Well, I said --

Mr. Kearney. Did you state that?

Mr. Lees. What's that, sir?

Mr. Kearney. Did you state that?

Mr. Lees. I stated --

Mr. Kearney. That the names of your associates were public record?

Mr. Lees. That's true.

Mr. Kearney. And even with it being public record you decline to answer on the ground that it might incriminate you?

Mr. Lees. Well, that's true, because of the fact that this Committee can make me testify against myself. This is something I refuse to do.

Mr. Kearney. How is that testifying against yourself?

Mr. Lees. This is my feeling and the feeling of my counsel, and I have taken that advice and I have considered that as correct advice.

Mr. Doyle. May I ask the witness one question there, please?

Mr. Lees, will you direct my attention to where in the public record the names of all your associates with whom you associated may be found?

Mr. Lees. You can consult the --

Well, I-- What I was trying to point out, Mr. Doyle, was the fact that the Committee could find this information, and that drawing this information from me -- the right to find out what the reasons were -- and I found instead of definite reasons I had a feeling that this was something that required my standing on the Fifth Amendment, which I did. In talking that way previously I merely want to say this was no information I felt that was being withheld from the Committee's examination that way.

Mr. Doyle. I can understand that, but now will you answer my question? You say it is a matter of public record. Where? As a member of this Committee and fellow citizen, I am not familiar with where your name has appeared with your associates. Apparently your name appeared with your associate writers voluntarily on your part. You're rather proud of them, of the fact that you have made a great success in the profession, and I compliment you on your success. But where may I go if I want to find that record, please? You're not ashamed of the names of those associates I presume or they wouldn't be with your permission a matter of public record.

Mr. Lees. I do decline to answer it because I believe that's the same question I declined to answer before, Mr. Doyle.

Mr. Doyle. Well, very frankly, I figured it was an honest-to-God way, my question, to ask you a frank, open question. I'm not trying to trap you. But when you voluntarily allow your name to be associated in the public record on a film or script and tell us that it is a public record, why then you hesitate to tell us the names of those people or where the record is I don't savvy.

Mr. Lees. Mr. Doyle, I think you just answered the question yourself. You said where the names can be found.

Mr. Doyle. Well, where can they be found?

Mr. Lees. You just said so.

Mr. Doyle. Where?

Mr. Lees. It's in the record at the moment I believe, if you want to reexamine the question you just asked.

Mr. Doyle. What record?

Mr. Lees. I think you answered the question.

Mr. Doyle. I don't know any record. I haven't seen any record where your associates are listed.

Mr. Lees. Well, Mr. Doyle, I do feel that I have answered the question as clearly as I can, and I have stood on my privilege, and that's the best I can do.

Mr. Kearney. If you were given the names of those associates, would you admit them?

Mr. Lees. I have claimed the privilege on that reason.

Mr. Wood. Further questions by counsel?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes, sir.

You state that you refuse to answer because to do so might tend to incriminate you. Do you mean that to answer the question as to who was your associate in writing any of these works, these productions, that to divulge that name might subject you to criminal prosecution of some kind?

Mr. Lees. I explained my reasons when I first declined to answer the question.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you consulted or collaborated in any of your work with an individual by the name of Fred I. Rinaldo?

Mr. Lees. I refuse to answer the question on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you acquainted with an individual by the name of Elizabeth Leech?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer.

Mr. Tavenner. Sometimes referred to as Elizabeth Leech

Glenn?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer that question on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you acquainted with Carl Winter?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer that question on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you acquainted with Waldo Salt?

Mr. Lees. Waldo Salt happens to have traveled across the country with me. I know him as a writer.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you attend a meeting in September of 1943 with Waldo Salt -- rather, at the home of Waldo Salt -- which was attended by Carl Winter and Elizabeth Leech?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer the question on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Lees, the Committee is in possession of information indicating that you were issued a registration card No. 47172 in 1944 in the Communist Party. In fact, it was -- yes, I think that is right -- for the year 1945. Were you issued that card, that registration card?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer that question, Mr. Tavenner, on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. In 1944 were you the holder of Communist Political Association Book bearing number 4607?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer that question for the same reasons.

Mr. Tavenner. Was there issued to you a 1943 Communist Party book bearing number 25136?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer on the previous grounds, previously given.

Mr. Tavenner. There was testimony given here before this Committee yesterday by Mr. Sterling Hayden. Do you know Mr. Hayden?

Mr. Lees. I was in the room at the time Mr. Hayden made that statement, and I recall him saying something to the effect that he was a member of some sort of cell that contained back-lot workers and the only white collar worker he knew about was someone named "Bernie." And I was surprised when he mentioned the name Robert Lees in this hearing. And the Committee declined or didn't seem to bother to question further Mr. Sterling Hayden on that question.

Mr. Wood. You are asked now if you know him.

Mr. Lees. What was that?

Mr. Wood. The question was asked you by counsel if you know Sterling Hayden.

Mr. Lees. Well, I have seen him here at this meeting.

Mr. Tavenner. You know that wasn't my question. Are you acquainted with Sterling Hayden -- not whether you have seen him.

Mr. Lees. Well, on the basis of what happened here the other day and the name and the questions you're asking me, I decline to answer that question on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Well, you heard his testimony here. Is it true you were a member of the Communist Party? Is that true or false?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer that question, Mr. Tavenner, I have told you, on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you at any time been a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer that statement, Mr. Tavenner.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you now a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer that statement, Mr. Tavenner, on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you ever attended meetings of any kind at the home of Abe Polansky?

Mr. Lees. What do you mean by "meetings"?

Mr. Tavenner. Meetings. Have you ever been at the home of Abe Polansky when other persons were there?

Mr. Lees. Well, since I had been in the hearing room the other day and heard the gentleman mentioned by Mr. Hayden among others, I decline to answer that question for the reason I have given in declining to answer anything about Mr. Hayden previously.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you a subscriber to the "Daily People's World," "The Worker," and "The Daily Worker" or any of them?

Mr. Lees. I believe that there is an addition to a list of organizations that have been deemed subversive quite a number of publications that are also deemed subversive. I believe these publications are on that list, and I refuse to answer that question on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you made contributions to any of the organizations which you have referred to as having been cited as Communist organizations, including specifically the American Youth for Democracy?

Mr. Lees. That --

Mr. Tavenner. As one of them?

Mr. Lees. Mr. Tavenner, is that on your list?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes, it has been cited.

Mr. Lees. If it's on your list, I decline to answer that question for the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you made contributions to the People's Educational Center?

Mr. Lee. I see it's on your list, Mr. Tavenner, and I refuse to answer on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you a delegate to the state --

Mr. Wood. Just a moment, Mr. Tavenner. Other members of the Committee may be better advised on this subject than

I am. I didn't know that you had a list, Mr. Tavenner.

Mr. Lees. This list that I am looking at here is prepared and released by the Un-American Activities Committee, United States House of Representatives, "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications (And Appendix)."

Mr. Wood. You're talking about a list of Mr. Tavenner's.

Mr. Lees. Oh, I'm sorry. I included Mr. Tavenner in this Committee. I considered that it was the Committee's list. I'm sorry.

Mr. Wood. I believe the list to which you refer embodied in this publication issued on March 3, 1951 is the list of organizations that have been cited by the Attorney General --

Mr. Lees. Oh.

Mr. Wood. -- as Communist front organizations, as well as by this Committee.

Mr. Lees. I'm talking about the list of organizations that is in this publication.

Mr. Wood. Is it because of the fact that it is listed there that you decline to answer the question?

Mr. Lees. Well, it says "subversive" on the cover of the book. It calls these organizations subversive.

Mr. Wood. I asked you is it because it's listed there that you refuse to answer the question.

Mr. Lees. I refuse on the ground previously stated -- on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you a member of the Board of Trustees of the People's Educational Center in Los Angeles?

Mr. Lees. I refuse to answer on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you a delegate to the state conference on civil rights held in San Francisco on August 27th and 28th, 1941 which was sponsored by the Northern California Civil Rights Council and the Southern California Branch of the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties?

Mr. Lees. I understand that that organization is also on this long list of organizations, and I decline to answer for the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you attend a political rally of the 59th Assembly District, Victory Council of the Communist Club of the Los Angeles County Communist Party --

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer that.

Mr. Tavenner. Wait a minute. -- on March 12, 1944 at Marketville in Los Angeles?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer that question for the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Do you know a writer by the name of E. Y. Harburg?

Mr. Lees. Yes, I believe so.

Mr. Tavenner. Do you recall having attended a benefit party for the People's World at his home in 1944?

Mr. Lees. Since that paper is on the list and I have told you that it has been and my reasons for it, I decline to answer the question on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. If the "People's World" had not been listed in the "Guide to Subversive Organizations" to which you referred, would you answer the question?

Mr. Lees. I would then seek the advice of my counsel under those circumstances, Mr. Tavenner.

Mr. Tavenner. Do you recall an instance in which the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee was denied the use of the hotel premises by the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles in February 1945?

Mr. Lees. Would you repeat that again, Mr. Tavenner?

Mr. Tavenner. I say do you recall the occurrence when the Ambassador Hotel at Los Angeles refused the use of hits hotel premises to the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee? If it's a question of refreshing your recollection, I can tell you something more about that.

Mr. Lees. Well, since the organization you refer to is on that list, I decline to answer for grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you protest at the action of the Ambassador Hotel?

Mr. Lees. This is connected with the previous question, and I decline to answer for the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you a member of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee?

Mr. Lees. There are so many organizations down here, Mr. Tavenner, that make it impossible for any other answer but the fact that I decline to answer on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Wood. He's only asking you about the one.

Mr. Lees. What's that, Mr. Wood?

Mr. Wood. He was only asking you about the one.

Mr. Lees. I know. It's down there. I looked through this.

Mr. Wood. Well, confine your answer, please, specifically to the organization about which you were asked.

Mr. Lees. Yes, Mr. Wood.

Mr. Wood. Do you decline to answer as to that organization?

Mr. Lees. I decline to answer as to that organization on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you a member of the Screen Writers Guild?

Mr. Lees. The Screen Writers Guild today has a hundred per cent guild shop, and every writer who works in Hollywood is a member of the Screen Writers Guild or almost all.

Mr. Tavenner. Then do I infer you are a member?

Mr. Lees. I am.

Mr. Tavenner. How long have you been a member?

Mr. Lees. I was a member of the Screen Writers Guild I guess from almost the time that it was made a Screen Writers Guild by the NLRB election which finally allowed many unions to come into being. I think that was in 1936 the Screen Writers Guild was founded as it is today.

Mr. Tavenner. You recall that a number of personalities in Hollywood were subpoenaed before this Committee back in 1947. After that date were you a candidate for election to the Executive Board of the Screen Writers Guild?

Mr. Lees. I have been a candidate for the Board for the Screen Writers Guild on several occasions.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you a candidate in 1948?

Mr. Lees. I think-- I might have been. I don't know whether that was the year I was nominated by the nominating committee of the Screen Writers Guild, but I have been nominated, as I say, for the Board of the Screen Writers Guild on several occasions. It might very well have been in 1948 I was also nominated.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you sought election to that Board since 1947?

Mr. Lees. Since 1947?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes.

Mr. Lees. I don't know. Actually what happens is the nominating committee puts your name up, and if you're willing to run you run, and if you're elected you're elected. I don't know if the nominating committee has had my name up since then or not.

Mr. Tavenner. Well, at least you have not been elected to the Board since 1947, have you?

Mr. Lees. No. I have never been elected to the Board actually.

Mr. Tavenner. The Hollywood Writers Mobilization was an organization brought into being during the period of the war, was it not?

Mr. Lees. Well, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is on that list, and I decline to answer further questions about that organization on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. You refuse to state what your connection was with that organization?

Mr. Lees. I refuse to answer the question on the grounds previously stated, Mr. Tavenner.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you write a script on the subject of atomic energy for the Atomic Energy Commission of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization which was intended for a transcontinental radio program?

Mr. Lees. This is connected with the previous question concerning the organization, and I decline to answer for the ground previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. You decline to answer whether you prepared a script for that organization?

Mr. Lees. That's right.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you a member of the Actors Laboratory Theater?

Mr. Lees. That organization is also listed, and I decline to answer for the ground I previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. I believe there was filed in the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of John Howard Lawson and Dalton Trumbo a brief in behalf of Alexander Micheljohn and certain other persons as amicus curiae. Were you one of the persons in whose name this brief was filed?

Mr. Lees. Will you repeat that question again? An amicus curiae brief?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes.

Mr. Lees. I think as I recall I might have been. Will you repeat that question again, please, Mr. Tavenner? Amicus curiae brief to the Supreme Court?

Mr. Tavenner. That's right.

Mr. Lees. That's right. I believe I did sign it.

Mr. Tavenner. Who sought your signature to that brief?

Mr. Lees. I actually don't recall who sought my signature to that brief. I know that it was about, and I was very anxious to ask the Supreme Court to render a decision in the case of the Hollywood ten, which the Supreme Court has not done. And I feel that the questions of the First Amendment that were involved in that case really should have been decided by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Mr. Tavenner. Was there any Communist Party connection as far as you know with the movement to present that brief?

Mr. Lees. This question involves an organization which is on your list, and I decline to answer the question on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Albert Maltz was one of the individuals who appeared before this Committee in 1947 and was a defendant in a contempt proceeding. After that time, namely, in 1949, were you the signer of a petition to have him elected to membership on the Board of the Screen Writers Guild?

Mr. Lees. Yes. I signed that petition.

Mr. Tavenner. Was he elected?

Mr. Lees. No, he was not that I recall.

Mr. Tavenner. Has the Screen Writers Guild to your knowledge made an effort to remove not from membership but to curtail the activities of persons thought to be members of the Communist Party within its group?

Mr. Lees. I don't know how, in what way, I could know about this, whether they have curtailed or tried to curtail. I don't know.

Mr. Tavenner. You do not know?

Mr. Lees. Not that I know of. I might say that there is a statement of policy in the Screen Writers Guild which says that anyone can be a member of the Screen Writers Guild without any ban because of race, creed, religion, political beliefs, something similar to the First Amendment. Nobody is required to be anything but a writer to join the Screen Writers Guild.

Mr. Tavenner. Has there at any time in the past been a group or groups within that organization which from your viewpoint were endeavoring to influence the action of that Guild along Communist Party lines or in Communist Party interests?

Mr. Lees. Well, the question that you have asked involves an organization on the list that I have before me here, and I decline to answer that question on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. You do not by your reply mean to indicate that the Screen Writers Guild has ever been listed as a Communist organization?

Mr. Lees. I simply answered the question as you presented it, and I don't know what implication-- Can you repeat it?

Mr. Tavenner. Then, let us make certain as to what you mean, because I understood you to say you refused to answer because the organization appeared on the list of subversive organizations.

Mr. Lees. Oh, I see what you mean. No. The organization that you have mentioned along with the Screen Writers Guild in the question.

Mr. Tavenner. In other words, by reason of my reference to the Communist Party --

Mr. Lees. That's --

Mr. Tavenner. -- you would not answer?

Mr. Lees. I refer to that organization.

Mr. Tavenner. You do not mean to imply --

Mr. Lees. I certainly do not mean to imply --

Mr. Tavenner. -- that the Screen Writers Guild is a Communist organization?

Mr. Lees. I don't think it's been listed in any of your organizations, but anything is possible in this day and age.

Mr. Tavenner. Well, do you mean that it's possible that the Screen Writers Guild is a Communist organization?

Mr. Lees. It's not a Communist organization, Mr. Tavenner.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you certain?

Mr. Lees. As I understand it.

Mr. Tavenner. And you did not mean to infer that it was by your answer?

Mr. Lees. I do not mean to infer that it was, but I did mean that it's possible for any labor union or any organization at some future date perhaps to be listed. That's all I meant.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you any reason to believe that this organization would ever be listed as a Communist front organization?

Mr. Lees. I have no reason to believe that. Neither have I had reason to believe that some of the organizations or other organizations that have been listed could have been listed. Since that's been possible, almost any organization can become suspect.

Mr. Tavenner. Well, will you refer by name to any organization which you did not have reason to believe would be cited and which has been?

Mr. Lees. I decline to get into the discussion of organizations that have been listed, because I cannot, unfortunately, because of involving myself and incriminating myself.

Mr. Tavenner. Referring again to the play "Meet the Invisible Man," is it not true that Frederick I. Rinaldo was a joint writer with you in that screenplay?

Mr. Lees. I refuse to answer that question on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Kearney. Even in view of the fact it's public knowledge?

Mr. Lees. I think this is all a matter of record.

Mr. Kearney. I didn't ask you what you thought. Will you please answer my question?

Mr. Lees. I mean I was referring to earlier questions on this subject where I have claimed the privilege, and I am claiming the privilege on exactly the same basis that I claimed it before.

Mr. Kearney. I would like to ask one more question.

Mr. Tavenner. I have no further questions.

Mr. Kearney. To your knowledge, are any of the convicted Hollywood ten writers now working for the motion picture industry?

Mr. Lees. Not to my knowledge.

Mr. Wood. Any further questions?

Mr. Kearney. No.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Velde?

Mr. Velde. Mr. Lees, is it L-e-e-s?

Mr. Lees. That's correct.

Mr. Velde. You have refused to answer quite a number of very pertinent questions on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate you. I wonder if you honestly feel that you are more in danger of being incriminated by refusing to answer than you would in answering truthfully?

Mr. Lees. Would you repeat that again, please? I'm sorry.

Mr. Velde. Do you honestly feel that you would be more in danger of being incriminated by refusing to answer these pertinent questions than you would be by answering them truthfully?

Mr. Lees. May I point out that as I understand the use and the privilege of the Fifth Amendment is such that drawing inferences as to guilt or non-guilt by claiming the privilege is something that is not correct.

Mr. Velde. Well, you realize, of course, Mr. Lees, this is not a court of law. I mean we can't possibly prosecute you as a defendant. This is an investigative body of the Congress, and as such it is charged with the duty of gathering information about subversive, disloyal activities of the United States. You realize that, don't you?

Mr. Lees. I realize that the Committee is functioning along its lines of investigating what it considers subversive. These are the opinions of the Committee. And I have opinions about subversion or non-subversion or what is democratic or what is patriotic, and those are my opinions. I think we're getting into a matter of opinion.

Mr. Velde. Apparently you have an idea that admission of Communist Party membership would tend to incriminate you. You have so refused to answer questions about your membership on that basis. Do you want this Committee to assume that there is something more subversive or that you know of other activities that are more subversive than being a member of the Communist Party, or do you know of activities that the Communist Party is engaged in that are more subversive?

Mr. Lees. I have just stated I don't think it is correct for this Committee to assume on the basis of the fact that I have taken a stand on this Amendment, and that is what I said, and you have just pointed out that you're assuming something which I don't want to be assumed.

Mr. Velde. It's a question of whether or not you feel that there is actual danger of you being prosecuted as a result of your truthful answers here.

Mr. Lees. Well, I believe that in claiming the privilege on the basis of self-incrimination or on the basis that I might tend to incriminate myself makes that quite clear.

Mr. Velde. Well, can you mention anyone who has been incriminated by this Committee by answering questions truthfully?

Mr. Lees. I think this is a matter of personal feeling on the subjects, and, as I say, I don't think you should assume from my answers anything other than what is said.

Mr. Velde. There have been quite a number of cooperative witnesses who admitted to this Committee that they have been members of the Communist Party and have answered the questions to the best of their ability. Have any of those in your knowledge been prosecuted for any type of crime whatsoever?

Mr. Lees. I don't know actually what's happened in prosecution, but I do know that there has been a great deal of reaction generally to people who have come before this Committee and have cooperated with it. I know that there has been all kind of problems. I know that people who are simply subpoenaed by this Committee have found themselves blacklisted or no longer able to work. I figure there's all kinds of jeopardy involved in this Committee, either whether you're friendly or not.

Mr. Velde. There's quite a difference between incrimination by public opinion and incrimination by a court of law.

Mr. Lees. I'm not a lawyer on that subject. I don't know. But I do know I have claimed the privilege in the way I understand it, and that's why I have claimed it.

Mr. Velde. Do you state whether or not you knew Abraham Polansky?

Mr. Lees. Could I be refreshed by counsel?

Oh, I declined I gather. I declined.

Mr. Velde. And do you now decline to state whether you are acquainted with him?

Mr. Lees. I still decline to state on the basis that I have previously stated.

Mr. Velde. Was Abraham Polansky engaged in some kind of disloyal or subversive activities that would cause your admission of acquaintance with him to make you refuse to answer on the ground of self-incrimination?

Mr. Lees. Well, as I said, when we discussed this previously or when this subject was brought up, that that name was brought into this Committee by an informer I believe that puts me or anyone else involved in connection with this person in a position whereby he can be incriminated.

Mr. Kearney. Did I understand you to say brought before this Committee by an informer?

Mr. Lees. Well, as I feel, --

Mr. Kearney. Or by someone who was telling the truth?

Mr. Lees. Well, I don't know how to get into this discussion as to what is truth or what is informing or what isn't, but I do know --

Mr. Kearney. I will say for the benefit of the gentleman testifying that the whole line of testimony of all these witnesses who have appeared before this Committee seems to have a particular pattern with reference to the word "informer."

Mr. Velde. I just have one more question. Are you acquainted with Sylvia Morrow?

Mr. Lees. What was that name again?

Mr. Velde. Sylvia Morrow.

Mr. Lees. I don't --

Mr. Velde. I think she's the former wife or possibly at the present time of Abraham Polansky.

Mr. Lees. Well, if this is connected with the same question that I have refused to answer for reasons I have stated previously, I refuse on the same basis.

Mr. Velde. That's all, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Jackson?

Mr. Jackson. No questions.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Doyle?

Mr. Doyle. Mr. Lees, you feel you're really informed and acquainted with the purposes of this Committee before which you're a witness now? Do you really feel you are?

Mr. Lees. Informed on this Committee?

Mr. Doyle. Yes.

Mr. Lees. In what way?

Mr. Doyle. Well, do you feel you know what the purpose of this Committee is? Let me ask it this way: If you feel you are informed of the purpose of this Congressional Committee, tell me, please, what you think the purpose of this Committee is under the law. What are we trying to do? What is our purpose?

Mr. Lees. Well, I don't know why you're asking me what you're trying to do. Actually I think this is something you know -- what you're trying to do. If it's a matter of information on this, I have fine legal advice here that would be --

Mr. Doyle. I know, but they are both brilliant lawyers I happen to know. I happen to know that you are a very brilliant writer apparently and a very brilliant witness.

Mr. Lees. Thank you, Mr. Doyle.

Mr. Doyle. And you and I were both born in a great state, by the way.

Mr. Lees. We were.

Mr. Doyle. But I'm wondering if you are under any misapprehension as to the purpose, objectives or good faith of this Committee. I'm kind of under the impression that perhaps you don't know what the purpose of this Committee is, and I'm not asking that, Lees, to embarrass you, to try to trick or trap you. I'm talking with you as one American to another. But I'm wondering if you really know what we are trying to do as a committee.

Mr. Lees. Well, Mr. Doyle, I'm glad you have asked me this question as one American to another, --

Mr. Doyle. All right.

Mr. Lees. -- because as an American I have very definite views about certain policies in the past and what has been said about this Committee, the activities of this Committee.

Mr. Doyle. I mean what is the purpose of it at this session in Congress?

Mr. Lees. I know what has been listed organizationwise.

I know the number of people who have been blacklisted. I know the number of people who no longer can work. I know the number of careers that have been completely destroyed. I know a great number of things that have happened.

Mr. Kearney. Is that due to the company they kept?

Mr. Lees. All I know is that these people are respected citizens, and I have been living a very respectable and very, very upright life. I have been born in a great state and lived in that state, as Mr. Doyle has just pointed out. And I feel that 17 years of work in the motion picture industry of which I have devoted my time and my effort has been destroyed by this Committee.

Mr. Doyle. Now, I would assure you that as a member of the Committee there is no purpose or intent to destroy the career of any person nor harm any person. But as long as it appears you rely upon your counsel because you haven't had the time or taken the time to read the law and the jurisdiction of this Committee, let me just quote the purpose of it, if I may, to you and see if you are in accord with this sort of purpose.

Under Public Law 601 the Committee on Un-American Activities as a whole or by subcommittee is authorized "to make from time to time investigations of the extent, character and objects of un-American propaganda activities in the United States."

Do you or do you not feel that that is a worthy purpose?

Mr. Lees. Mr. Doyle, I have my opinion on what constitutes disloyal activities, and I base my opinion on the First Amendment, and I consider disloyal activities that abridge anyone's right to speak or to join organizations of his free will, any rights of religion or beliefs, and I know some organizations that do persecute people because of their religion or their beliefs. I know of organizations that have persecuted people because of their race.

Mr. Doyle. So do I.

Mr. Lees. I believe that these organizations infringe on the rights of the American people in the First Amendment, and I feel that any infringements on the rights of the First Amendment must be defended and the organizations that do these things must be attacked.

On this basis I clearly see the right of this Committee to attack those organizations and to ferret those organizations out, as I understand the First Amendment and the right of the people under the First Amendment.

Mr. Doyle. A few minutes ago you stated, "I have opinion of what is subversive and what is not." Do you remember so stating? And, of course, perhaps we all do that try to be patriotic citizens. We are trying to arrive at some fair conclusion as to what subversive is and what it is not.

Now, let me ask you again, Mr. Lees. I don't think you answered my question. I don't want to be unfair with you nor press it unduly, but in view of your voluntary statement a few minutes ago, and I quote, "I have opinion what is subversive and what is not,"-- You weren't pressed for that statement. You volunteered that statement just a few minutes ago. I wrote it down. I think I wrote it down verbatim. Do you remember so stating?

Mr. Lees. I believe that's correct.

Mr. Doyle. All right. If we are in agreement on that, I will ask you again. The law says that we are authorized by the Congress of the United States to examine into the extent, character and objects of un-American activities in the United States.

Mr. Lees. Yes.

Mr. Doyle. Now, assuming, therefore, that we are today examining --

Mr. Lees. Are you asking me to assume that, Mr. Doyle, I mean?

Mr. Doyle. Yes, I'm asking you.

Mr. Lees. Because why I said my opinion was on the First Amendment is that I felt that there were a great number of things under the First Amendment that were being infringed upon by organizations, and because these organizations were not attacked, were not brought here, were not exposed by this Committee, I do not feel that this Committee was doing the thing that you say that they should be doing.

Mr. Doyle. In other words, you don't feel to date we have done a thorough enough job? Is that correct?

Mr. Lees. I feel that for a great number of years that this Committee has failed to go ahead and do the job that the --

Mr. Doyle. All right.

Mr. Lees. -- that the statement you make there is, according to my interpretation of the Bill of Rights.

Mr. Doyle. All right. Now, Mr. Lees, do you feel that that statement in the law, just the statement I have read you, to examine and investigate into the extent, character and objects of un-American propaganda activities in the United States, is a worthy objective?

Mr. Lees. According to the way I see it, I think that the exposure of any infringement of the First Amendment is a worthy objective.

Mr. Doyle. Well, now, is that your final answer to that question?

Mr. Lees. Yes, that is the final answer.

Mr. Doyle. Now, let me go to the next section. This Committee then is also charged with examining, investigating the diffusion within the United States of subversive and un-American propaganda as instigated from foreign countries. Do you feel that is a worthy objective of the committee of the Congress or not?

Mr. Lees. Un-American propaganda in terms of what?

Mr. Doyle. Well, you said you had your opinion of what is subversive.

Mr. Lees. I base my opinion on what I can clearly see is subversion of the Constitution, which is the rights, as I understand them, of freedom of religion, speech, thought, press, --

Mr. Doyle. Well, --

Mr. Lees. -- rights of trial by jury. I could go on if you want.

Mr. Doyle. In other words, in your opinion what is subversive conduct?

Mr. Lees. Well, I think actually if you ask my opinion on this, which you have, I think where subversion becomes a matter of opinion or the fact that a man has said something that you disagree with, I don't think that disagreement should put a man in a position of not being an American, because I feel that disagreement is the only way that this country has ever grown. There has been disagreement, for example, with General MacArthur today, and what's happened has been the result of a discussion back and forth and conclusions made through disagreement. I believe if no agreement was made or disagreement allowed to be had --

Mr. Doyle. May I ask you don't think for one minute that this Committee or any member of it is interested in holding subversive a person just because we disagree with that person.

Mr. Lees. I don't know about that. That's what bothers me.

Mr. Doyle. I want to set you right. That's a lot of baloney.

Mr. Lees. I'm glad to hear that. I'm still somewhat bothered.

Mr. Doyle. As one American to another, I want to tell you it's a lot of baloney when somebody tells you that this committee of Congress is interested in persecuting or holding a person subversive just because they differ with that person. I have one more question.

Mr. Lees. All right, Mr. Doyle. I would like to give you an opinion on that.

Mr. Doyle. I asked you for your opinion.

Mr. Lees. I'd like to continue.

Mr. Doyle. Now, one step more. I'm reading from the law, trying to get an honest-to-God answer from you.

Mr. Lees. I'm giving you that, Mr. Doyle.

Mr. Doyle. (Reading) ". . .or subversive propaganda of a domestic origin and which attacks the principles of the form of government as guaranteed by our Constitution."

Now, don't you feel that is a worthy objective and a necessary function in the United States Congress that we investigate into ways and means which are devised and used to upset if need be by force the form of American constitutional government? Aren't we justified? Aren't we charged with that duty as American Congressmen?

Mr. Lees. I think the upholding of the Constitution is not only the job of a Congressman; it is the job of every citizen in this country.

Mr. Doyle. Well, then, you would agree with me that we should go every honest-to-God limit within the law to find out who is subversive and what organizations are subversive and what are not, wouldn't you?

Mr. Lees. As I defined very clearly, I hope, what I consider subversion, and since you're asking me my opinion, Mr. Doyle, I can only give you my opinion.

Mr. Doyle. That's all I want.

Mr. Lees. My feeling is that subversion involves abridgments of the First Amendment. When there is no abridgment of the First Amendment, where it comes an area in which there is no question of a matter of free speech or certain rights guaranteed by the American people, I believe there becomes a very clear line between what is --

Mr. Doyle. Wouldn't you feel --

Mr. Lees. -- abridging one's right.

Mr. Doyle. Wouldn't you feel, Mr. Lees, that if there was any person or organization which propagandized that it was okay if necessary to upset the American Constitutional form of government by force, that that person or organization was subversive and ought to be smoked out and be stamped for what they are, or not?

Mr. Lees. Well, the point is in this question what involves force and violence and what's being said here by this question in terms of-- Let me put it this way: I think that any action of force or violence against this country should be treated and is treated as a breaking of the law by the forces that are in charge of the law.

Mr. Doyle. You have heard Mr. Hayden on yesterday. You said you were in the room here. I think you said you had been here a couple of days and heard all the testimony. That's good, because it gives you the benefit and the Committee the benefit of your testimony in light of the fact that you have heard all the testimony for a couple of days.

I am now reminding you that you heard the testimony of Mr. Hayden, an actor from Hollywood, in answer to my question I think it was. I asked him in substance whether or not it was his opinion that the Communist Party in the United States had as one of its objectives the overthrow of the constitutional form of government in the United States by force if necessary. Do you remember that question?

Mr. Lees. Yes.

Mr. Doyle. Your answer is "yes." You remember he said that his answer was "yes." Do you remember that?

Mr. Lees. Yes.

Mr. Doyle. All right. Would you feel that in view of that sort of testimony from a former Communist and admitted Communist that this Committee is doing any less than its full duty towards the American people to go every legal limit to ferret out every member of the Communist Party in the United States and to smoke out the ways and means which they devise and use to overthrow the constitutional form of government by force if necessary, as Hayden testified?

Mr. Lees. Mr. Doyle, you're now getting onto a question which I feel throughout the testimony here I have claimed the privilege, because of this kind of organization and other organizations being branded as subversive, and I feel, although I would like to discuss these questions with you at length, that this in a sense can be self-incriminating, and I decline to answer that question.

Mr. Doyle. Mr. Lees, this is my final statement or question. One reason I have asked you these questions involving more or less the philosophy of certain thinking is that I wanted to try to convince you if I could as a much younger man that this Committee is not interested in persecuting anybody, not you, not even the Communist Party. We are interested in fulfilling our responsibilities to the American people, which charges us with ferreting out and discovering and bringing before the law, as you stated, every person and every organization that is interested, has an objective in upsetting by force if necessary the American form of government. And I hope you will go back to Hollywood and to my native state with a firm knowledge of the fact that this Committee is not apparently functioning the way you thought it was functioning when you came here as a witness. In other words, we are not interested in persecuting.

Mr. Lees. Well, --

Mr. Doyle. I want to try to convince you of that as a much younger man.

Mr. Lees. Mr. Doyle, I would like to go back to California and believe that, but I am going back to California and I know other witnesses and other people who have been before this Committee maybe can't go back to California because there's no point in going back there because they can no longer work in the motion picture industry, and they might try to find a job somewhere else. I don't know how you term this, as persecution or what, but I feel that this certainly comes under the heading of some kind of pressure that can be termed "blacklist," if you will, and that I don't feel that a blacklist denying people employment for whatever political beliefs they might hold is American.

Mr. Doyle. Not even if those people directly or indirectly are interested in using force and violence to upset the constitutional form of government in this country as testified to yesterday by your fellow actor Hayden?

Mr. Lees. I said this: I have to make myself very clear about this. I said that anyone who uses force or violence should be treated by the proper authorities and should properly be treated by the proper authorities.

Mr. Doyle. All right.

Mr. Lees. I also stated that matters of opinion are sacred under our First Amendment, and when you go into the area of thought -- and, believe me, I as a writer make my living in the area of thought -- in the matter of research, in the matter of reading, in the matter of all these things, I feel that any infringement on perhaps opinions or thoughts which this Committee or some other future committee might deem suddenly un-American becomes a very dangerous thing in this country. Very dangerous.

Mr. Doyle. Well, one question more. Don't you think, in view of your statement, that you felt that persons who had the philosophy of overthrowing this government by force if necessary should be brought before the bar of the law and prosecuted within the law, in view of that statement by you, don't you think it is our duty as American Congressmen charged with this responsibility by all of the Congress to find out who those persons are in a public session like this and then see to it they are prosecuted within the law? That's what you have just stated, isn't it?

Mr. Lees. I stated a matter of action. As far as getting into the realms of what people believe, if a matter of advocating these things, of trying to talk about these things in terms of destroying our Constitution, as I have said before, I'm a great upholder and believer in our Constitution.

Mr. Doyle. Then do I understand that a courteous answer to me, and I appreciate your courteous answer-- Do I understand then that you feel that if members of the Communist Party, as an American, as testified to by your fellow actor Hayden, just talk about overthrowing the United States of America by force, that is okay as long as they don't take any action to do it? You differentiated just now in action and talking. Do I understand that that is your --

Mr. Lees. Mr. Doyle, I did get into this discussion with you before, and you have now gone again to that area where discussion becomes impossible, and I'm sorry I must claim my privilege not to get into that discussion, in the same way I have claimed my privilege all through this hearing.

Mr. Doyle. Thank you very much.

I want to say again, Mr. Chairman, and I want to emphasize this, that I think that some of these folks from Hollywood, my native state, as well as other places, are under a firm conviction, whatever the reason is, that this Committee is interested in persecuting rather than protecting our nation. I want to say to you again, Mr. Lees, I hope wherever you go that I have raised a question mark in your mind as to the accuracy of that, because it's damnably false. And I wouldn't be on this Committee for 30 seconds if I felt the objective of this Committee was to persecute any person or any group of persons in America.

But I am also firmly under the conviction that it is the duty of this Committee and it is your duty as an American citizen to help this Committee ferret and smoke out any person that is interested in using force to overthrow the constitutional form of government of the United States.

Thank you very much.

Mr. Kearney. Mr. Chairman, I move we adjourn.

Mr. Wood. Any further questions, Mr. Counsel?

Mr. Tavenner. No, sir.

Mr. Wood. The Committee will recess until ten o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Kenny. Is the witness excused, Mr. Chairman?

Mr. Wood. Yes.

(Thereupon, at 1:35 p.m., the hearing was adjourned, to be reconvened at 10:00 a.m., Thursday, April 12, 1951.)

UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES,
Washington, D. C.

PUBLIC HEARING

The Committee on Un-American Activities met pursuant to adjournment at 10:10 a.m. in room 226, Old House Office Building, Hon. John S. Wood (chairman) presiding.

Committee members present: Representatives John S. Wood (chairman), Francis E. Walter, Morgan M. Moulder, Clyde Doyle, Harold H. Velde (appearance as noted in transcript), Bernard W. Kearney, Donald L. Jackson, and Charles E. Potter.

Staff members present: Frank S. Tavenner, Jr., counsel; Thomas W. Beale, Sr., assistant counsel; Louis J. Russell, senior investigator; William A. Wheeler and Courtney E. Owens, investigators; John W. Carrington, clerk; and A. S. Poore, editor.

Mr. Wood. The committee will be in order.

Let the record show that there are present the following members of the committee: Mr. Walter, Mr. Moulder, Mr. Doyle, Mr. Kearney, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Potter, and Mr. Wood, a quorum of the full committee.

Mr. Tavenner. I would like to call as the first witness Mr. Waldo Salt.

Mr. Wood. Will you raise your right hand and be sworn, please? You solemnly swear the evidence you give this committee shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth?

Mr. Salt. I do.

Mr. Wood. Have a seat.

TESTIMONY OF WALDO SALT

Mr. Tavenner. You are Mr. Waldo Salt?

Mr. Salt. I am.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you represented by counsel?

Mr. Salt. Yes, I am represented by Mr. Margolis and Mr. Kenny.

Mr. Tavenner. I believe counsel have already identified themselves for the record.

(Counsel had previously identified themselves as Robert W. Kenny, Los Angeles, California; and Ben Margolis, 112 West Ninth Street, Los Angeles, California.)

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Salt, will you please state the date of your birth, your present residence, and occupation?

Mr. Salt. I was born in Chicago, Illinois, October 18, 1914. My present residence is 1221 North Kings Road, Los Angeles.

Mr. Tavenner. Will you give the committee a brief statement of your educational training?

Mr. Salt. The period of grammar school I went to a British private school in Victoria, British Columbia. High school was in the San Raphael Military Academy; the Menlo School for Boys, Menlo Park, California; and I took my A. B. at Stanford.

Mr. Tavenner. What has been your employment since you completed your education?

Mr. Salt. I spent one school year as instructor in dramatics and music at Menlo Junior College, and from then on have been employed in the motion picture industry.

Mr. Tavenner. Are you employed in the industry at this time?

Mr. Salt. Not exactly at this time.

Mr. Tavenner. What was the nature of your last employment in the industry?

Mr. Salt. I was at work on an original screen play for Norma Productions, which is an independent with Warner Brothers.

Mr. Tavenner. What was the name of the company?

Mr. Salt. Norma, as in the girl's name.

Mr. Tavenner. What other employment have you had in Hollywood besides that? What are some of the principal pictures in which you have worked as a writer?

Mr. Salt. From present to past, or past to present?

Mr. Tavenner. Well, you begin either way you desire.

Mr. Salt. I started as a junior writer. Shall I give a history?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes, I believe that would be more satisfactory if you would start from the beginning and tell about your experience and career in Hollywood.

Mr. Salt. I began as a junior writer, I believe I was twenty years old, at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; worked there for five years, five and a half years.

Mr. Tavenner. And when was that?

Mr. Salt. I think it began in 1936 and ran through to 1941, as I remember. During that period I had credit on "Shopworn Angel"; in a picture called "Wild Man of Borneo" in collaboration;--

Mr. Tavenner. Will you speak a little louder?

Mr. Salt. I am sorry.

Mr. Wood. The members of the committee can't hear you up here.

Mr. Salt. I am very sorry. The picture "Shopworn Angel" and the picture "Wild Man of Borneo" for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The picture "Tonight we Raid Calais" for Twentieth Century-Fox. "Mr. Winkle Goes to War" for Columbia. "Rachel and the Stranger" for RKO. And the most recent, "The Flame and the Arrow" for Warner Brothers and Norma Productions.

Mr. Tavenner. The last picture to which you referred, "The Flaming Arrow," --

Mr. Salt. "The Flame and the Arrow."

Mr. Tavenner. --"The Flame and the Arrow," was based upon the book of Albert Maltz, was it not?

Mr. Salt. No, it was an original screen play.

Mr. Tavenner. By you?

Mr. Salt. By me.

Mr. Tavenner. What agency has represented you in the past four or five years, if any?

Mr. Salt. I think that I have been represented by two in the past five years. I am not sure. I am now with the Sam Jaffe Agency. Before that I was with the M.C. Levee, L-e-v-e-e, Agency.

Mr. Tavenner. What was the date of the change from one to the other?

Mr. Salt. I think that may have been four years ago. I am not sure.

Mr. Tavenner. You spoke of having been engaged in the teaching profession at one time. Were you a member of the faculty of the School for Writers in Hollywood?

Mr. Salt. Which School for Writers is that?

Mr. Tavenner. The school that was conducted under the auspices of the League of American Writers.

Mr. Salt. At this point I think that we might as well be very clear. I am going to claim the privilege of the Fifth Amendment here, as other witnesses have, because a number of organizations, their membership, individually and collectively, have been incriminated already by publication of lists without sufficient evidence, chance to cross examine the witnesses against them; have been printed up in leaflets and in publications such as this; and--

Mr. WOOD. Suppose you just make your answer responsive to the question asked. If any question is asked you that you think would incriminate you by giving a truthful answer to it, you have the right to claim that privilege if you want to claim it. I want to say to you that to the question asked, a truthful answer could not possibly incriminate you under any law in existence today, but if you want to claim the privilege, it is all right with this committee. There can only be one of two connotations. So please make your answers responsive to the questions asked and we will get along faster and save a lot of time.

Mr. Salt. I am extremely anxious to get along fast.

Mr. Wood. Make your answers responsive.

Mr. Salt. I would like to make quite clear the legal grounds on which I am proceeding.

Mr. Wood. We understand the provisions of the Fifth Amendment and also the First Amendment of the American Constitution. If it is on those grounds, that is all you need to say.

Mr. Salt. I would like to add this qualification, Mr. Wood, that I have sat through several days of your hearings here, and in particular I noticed you did not object when one of your witnesses, Mr. Hayden, said to claim the privilege of the Fifth Amendment implied guilt. I know this is not true. I am sure you know it is not true.

Mr. Wood. If it is not true, then your claiming it is a false statement on your part.

Mr. Salt. No. I think there may be a very serious misinterpretation of the Fifth Amendment here.

Mr. Wood. Just answer the questions, please, without undertaking to lecture the committee, and I think we will get along faster.

Mr. Tavenner. Do I understand you have refused to answer the question?

Mr. Salt. I have not yet. I was stating my grounds. In relation to the organizations listed in addition to the 643 already labeled subversive by your committee, I feel that I must claim the privilege of the Fifth Amendment, refuse to answer that on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate me.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you at any time a member of the Board of Directors or other governing body of Actors Laboratory, Inc.?

Mr. Salt. I am sure that the Actors Laboratory is included there. It was investigated by Jack Tenney.

Mr. Wood. What is your answer to the question?

Mr. Salt. Therefore I decline to answer on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you make an announcement in the Daily People's World of January 20, 1944, supporting the formation of a group in Los Angeles to work for the release of Morris U. Schappes?

Mr. Salt. Again, I am sure that it is obvious that I would claim the privilege--

Mr. Kearney. Mr. Chairman, may I suggest that he answer "yes" or "no," and if he feels it is going to incriminate him, to so state, instead of going into a long harangue?

Mr. Wood. Yes.

Mr. Salt. I will repeat my last answer. Again I must claim the privilege. I am sorry if that is a harangue.

Mr. Tavenner. Morris U. Schappes was the teacher at City College in New York who was indicted and convicted for perjury in connection with an investigation of his alleged Communist Party activities at that institution, and I want to ask whether or not you organized or assisted in organizing a movement in California to petition Governor Dewey to commute his sentence?

Mr. Salt. Again I decline on the grounds that this requires me to give evidence against myself.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you a candidate for the executive board of the Hollywood Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of the Progressive Citizens of America in 1947?

Mr. Salt. I must decline on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you also a candidate for the executive board in 1951?

Mr. Salt. That is the same question; same answer.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you a sponsor of the Statewide Conference on Civil Rights which was held in San Francisco September 27 and 28, 1941?

Mr. Salt. I am sure that this question falls into the same category as earlier questions. I decline to answer on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate me.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you testify under oath before the California State Committee on Un-American Activities in 1944?

Mr. Salt. Is that the Tenney Committee?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes.

Mr. Salt. I believe yes. Yes.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you testify under oath at that time and before that committee in 1944 that you were a member of the Hollywood Democratic Committee?

Mr. Salt. Again, in the context of today, I must refuse to answer that on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate me.

Mr. Tavenner. You take that position notwithstanding you testified under oath to that fact in 1944, if you did so testify?

Mr. Salt. Yes.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you also testify under oath before that committee in 1944 that you attended a surprise birthday party for Carl Winter at his home on September 24, 1944?

Mr. Salt. Again, in the context of today, I must decline to answer that on the grounds that it might tend to be self-incriminating.

Mr. Tavenner. How could it incriminate you today to advise this committee regarding the facts of a matter which you did testify to under oath in 1944?

Mr. Salt. I don't want to go into any harangues. As a taxpayer, I am as anxious to see these hearings end as possible. I disapprove of this entire tendency of government toward government by quiz show. I think it is rather obvious, as the witness yesterday said, that the world situation has altered radically between even 1947 and now.

Mr. Tavenner. But my question to you, how could it incriminate you now--

Mr. Salt. The world situation and the--

Mr. Tavenner. --to make a statement of fact regarding a matter which you have testified under oath about at a previous time before another committee?

Mr. Salt. The world situation and the laws and the situation of this country have changed quite radically since then.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you one of the signers of the nominating petition of Albert Maltz in November 1949 for a position on the executive board of the Screen Writers Guild?

Mr. Salt. I believe that is a matter of public record; not public, but I think it is a matter of record.

Mr. Tavenner. Was that what was known as the so-called progressive section or part of the Screen Writers Guild? Was that in connection with the slate presented by that group?

Mr. Salt. May I consult with counsel for a moment on this?

Mr. Tavenner. Surely.

(Witness and his counsel conferred.)

Mr. Salt. The fact is that I signed for Albert Maltz, petitioning that he be a nominee for the Screen Writers Guild, as an individual, because I felt that Albert Maltz would make a very fine representative of the writers.

Mr. Wood. You were not asked for your reason for doing it. You were asked if you did do it.

Mr. Salt. I will testify to the fact that I signed for Albert Maltz. However, I think that when it goes beyond this into the question of any organizational activity within the Guild, since yesterday and the testimony of your witness, that again I must claim the privilege here on the ground of the Fifth Amendment, as previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Was he defeated in that election?

Mr. Salt. As I remember, and with my memory refreshed by testimony, I believe he was.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you affiliated with the Agricultural Aid Committee of the United Cannery, Packing and Allied Workers of America, of which committee you were alleged to be the chairman?

Mr. Salt. I am quite sure that the United Cannery, Packing and Allied Workers of America is one of the trade unions that you have seen fit to include in your list as subversive, and on this ground I will decline to answer as previously justified under the Fifth Amendment.

Mr. Tavenner. Mr. Salt, the Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace was held in New York City from March 25 through March 27, 1949, and this conference was attended by delegates from foreign countries as well as from this country. Did you endeavor to establish a comparable conference to be held in California, or in Hollywood, to be specific, at which you planned that many of these foreign delegates would appear as speakers in the Cultural and Scientific Conference which you desired to hold there, that is, Conference for Peace, so-called?

Mr. Salt. You have a special report on the so-called Communist Peace Offensive, so I will have to, obviously, decline to answer that on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Wood. Well, it isn't obvious to me. I don't know if it is obvious to the other members of the committee or not. Do you decline to answer?

Mr. Salt. I decline to answer on the grounds previously stated, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Wood. Very well.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you ever attend a meeting at which a person by the name of Alexander Stevens, or J. Peters, was present?

Mr. Salt. I decline to answer on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you acquainted with Lionel Berman?

Mr. Salt. I decline to answer on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Have you met with John Stapp in your home?

Mr. Salt. I decline to answer on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Did you have a meeting with Alexander Trachtenberg in Los Angeles in the year 1943?

Mr. Salt. I decline to answer on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. The committee has information, Mr. Salt, that you were issued a 1945 Communist Political Association registration card bearing number 47232. Were you the holder of such a card?

Mr. Salt. Decline to answer on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you the holder of a membership card in the Communist Party for the year 1945, or rather in the Communist Political Association for that year?

Mr. Salt. That is a rephrasing, isn't it, of the last question, Mr. Tavenner?

Mr. Tavenner. Not entirely.

Mr. Salt. It is similar.

Mr. Tavenner. It is related, of course.

Mr. Salt. It is related, therefore I similarly decline to answer on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you issued a registration card for the year 1944 bearing number 47182, by the Communist Party?

Mr. Salt. Similarly, this is a related question, and in claiming the privilege of the Fifth Amendment I would like to say that this and a number of other questions could undoubtedly be answered proudly "yes" or "no" in many countries of the world today, most of the countries outside of this, Spain, Argentina,--

Mr. Wood. You are asked to answer in this country, now.

Mr. Salt. Yes, and in this country, again, I must decline to answer under the protection of the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution.

Mr. Walter. The countries in which you feel that this question could be answered proudly are the countries behind the Iron Curtain. Was that your meaning?

Mr. Salt. No, that was not my meaning.

Mr. Kearney. Those countries are the countries where they do not have the protection of the Fifth Amendment.

Mr. Salt. I was referring to most of the countries of the world who are still operating on the basis of the example originally set by this brave, proud, fine country of ours, who have patterned their system of freedom and justice and political liberty on our own country's, which I think we are slipping away from now, which makes it quite impossible for a man to answer freely, to speak up freely.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you a member of the Communist Party at any time during the year 1945?

Mr. Salt. Again this seems to me to be a rephrasing of a previous question, Mr. Tavenner.

Mr. Tavenner. What is your answer?

Mr. Salt. I decline to answer that on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. Tavenner. Were you an employee in the Office of War Information during the year 1945?

Mr. Salt. Yes. Yes, I was employed by the Office of War Information.

Mr. Tavenner. Tell us when that employment began and when it ended.

Mr. Salt. I can't be surely specific about this. I believe it began in the early months of 1945 and ended with the summer of 1945.

Mr. Tavenner. What was the nature of your duties and your assignment?

Mr. Salt. I was assigned on what was called the writer-director classification. I worked on a film called "The Cummington Story."

Mr. Tavenner. What was the name of the story?

Mr. Salt. "The Cummington Story." It was a film based on a group of European refugees received in a town of Cummington, Massachusetts, I believe. Following that I worked on the film called "San Francisco 1945," which was a film expressing our point of view towards the San Francisco Conference.

Mr. Tavenner. Whose point of view?

Mr. Salt. The United States.

Mr. Tavenner. In obtaining employment in the Office of War Information, did you take an oath?

(No response.)

Mr. Tavenner. Did you?

Mr. Salt. Is that a question?

Mr. Tavenner. Certainly. I asked you if you took an oath in obtaining your position with the Office of War Information.

Mr. Salt. The word "obtained" confused me. I thought it had to do with seeking it. I did not seek it. I was invited.

Mr. Tavenner. The emphasis is on the oath.

Mr. Salt. I think I probably did. As I remember, there is some form of an oath included in one of the applications, is there not?

Mr. Tavenner. What is the oath? Do you recall it?

Mr. Salt. No, I am not sure that I do.

Mr. Tavenner. Do you recall whether or not you signed an oath that you were not a member of any political party or organization that advocated the overthrow of the Government of the United States?

Mr. Salt. I don't recall the specific wording of that oath.

Mr. Tavenner. Well, were you in April of 1945 a member of any political party or organization that advocated the overthrow of the government?

Mr. Salt. Well, again, quoting Mr. Collins, the world situation has changed a great deal since 1947. The legal rights and the political rights of the individual of this country have changed a great deal since 1947. Various individual interpretations, definitions, have been written into law since then. I believe that this question, again, takes me into an area which might lead to or tend to incriminate me.

Mr. Tavenner. Incriminate you in what way? What do you mean by tending to incriminate you in the answer to the question as to whether or not, at the time you took the oath which you say you took, you were a member of a political party or organization that advocated the overthrow of the government?

Mr. Salt. Same answer, Mr. Tavenner.

Mr. Tavenner. If you executed an oath in April 1945 that you were not a member of a political party or association that advocated the overthrow of the government, was it true or false?

Mr. Salt. Same answer.

Mr. Tavenner. You have made reference several times to the testimony of the witness who appeared here yesterday, Mr. Richard Collins. Mr. Collins testified that he brought you into the Communist Party. Is that testimony true or false?

Mr. Salt. Same answer, Mr. Tavenner.

Mr. Tavenner. What answer is that?

Mr. Salt. I decline to answer.

Mr. Tavenner. On what ground?

Mr. Salt. On the ground of the Fifth Amendment, that such an answer might tend to incriminate me, or, put more specifically within my understanding of the law, might lead to the possibility of prosecution--not conviction or guilt nor any presumption at all of conviction or guilt, but might simply tend to lead to the possibility of prosecution. This, I believe, is the actual legal status of the Fifth Amendment, the claim to the privilege. I am sorry Mr. Velde is not here, from Illinois, because I am a native of the State of Illinois, and I am informed by counsel, and rather proud of the fact, that in Illinois the courts have ruled that the claim of the privilege of the Fifth Amendment is not only a right but a duty of the citizen, and that any tendency to say that the claim of the privilege against self-incrimination is in itself incriminating, would be to distort, to stand on its head, and twist beyond any possible reasoned meaning the intent of the Constitution as written by our founding fathers, who intended particularly to protect individuals against political inquiry, against inquiry into heresy.

Mr. Tavenner. Is that all?

Mr. Salt. Yes.

Mr. Tavenner. I have no further questions, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Walter.

Mr. Walter. You have testified that in 1945 you were invited to become associated with OWI. Who was it that asked you to take that position?

Mr. Salt. I was asked by the OWI representatives. I don't know exactly which one. I believe that the official in charge responsible at that time was Mr. Robert Riskind, who was head of the overseas film division.

Mr. Walter. Did you know Mr. Riskind?

Mr. Salt. I have never met him.

Mr. Walter. Was it Mr. Riskind who interviewed you when you obtained your position?

Mr. Salt. No, I believe not. Mr. Riskind was at that time, I believe, in New York. I was in Hollywood.

Mr. Walter. Who interviewed you in Hollywood?

Mr. Salt. A man named Smith whose first name, unfortunately, escapes me, and I realize his rather poor identification, although I think if you go to the records of the OWI overseas film unit,--

Mr. Walter. Yes, we will find out who it was. Where did this interview take place?

Mr. Salt. In Hollywood.

Mr. Walter. Do you know who it was that recommended you to Riskin?

Mr. Salt. No, this I don't know. I think this is rather like employment in any other sense in Hollywood. The OWI information program had rather extensive needs, as you know, and required the services of a great many writers-directors. The full and clear statement of this country's position required all kinds of services. It was not easily done in film. So that I believe a great many writers from time to time did participate on a volunteer basis and in many other ways, and the hiring and firing of people was done on rather the same basis it would be done in a studio, on the basis of reputation, background, motion picture credits.

Mr. Walter. You declined to answer the question as to whether or not Mr. Richard Collins recruited you into the Communist Party. If he did not, why don't you just say no, he did not?

Mr. Salt. This is the same question put in another way.

Mr. Walter. No, it isn't the same question. I don't like to take a lot of time, but after all we realize the difference in world conditions. It certainly seems to me that as of today those who applauded the efforts of Russia a few years ago might well take the position that, "At that moment I was entirely justified in doing whatever I did. Today conditions are so obviously different that I feel I owe it to this country, that has given me so much, to indicate the activities so that the Congress of the United States may intelligently legislate in the field of national security."

Mr. Salt. That is a rather complicated question as you put it, Mr. Walter, and I think would require a rather complicated answer. I don't want to make harangues. If you are asking me for my opinion on this,--

Mr. Wood. As I recall the question, he simply asked if

Mr. Collins' statement yesterday that he was instrumental in recruiting you in the Communist Party is true or false.

Mr. Salt. If the question is that simple, then the framework of the question, I think, should also be that simple, without an elaborate prejudgment of guilt.

Mr. Walter. We are not interested in convicting anybody of anything. That is not our function. We are seeking information because we feel we are confronted with a very serious menace to the security of our Constitution that you have seen fit to get behind.

Mr. Salt. Or stand in front of.

Mr. Walter. Or stand in front of, as you like, but nevertheless you are using it for the purpose of not aiding this committee. Did Mr. Collins recruit you into the Communist Party?

Mr. Salt. Well, again, Mr. Walter, put in that very simple form, the answer must be the same. I must decline to answer on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment, which I choose to stand in front of.

Mr. Walter. That is all.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Moulder.

Mr. Moulder. Committee counsel, Mr. Tavenner, asked you about an individual-- Was it John Stapp?

Mr. Tavenner. Yes.

Mr. Moulder. How do you spell it?

Mr. Tavenner. S-t-a-p-p.

Mr. Moulder. I am not asking if you are acquainted with him, but do you know who the gentleman is?

Mr. Salt. Same answer.

Mr. Moulder. Do you refuse to answer?

Mr. Salt. I refuse to answer on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment.

Mr. Moulder. The fact you may know who he is or what he is engaged in, your knowledge of that might tend to incriminate you?

Mr. Salt. Perhaps. I just realized Mr. Moulder was not in the room when there was testimony relative to the individual John Stapp. I think if the Congressman had been here he would understand.

Mr. Moulder. You have heard of him before?

Mr. Salt. I have heard his name in this room, and therefore decline to answer any questions concerning him.

Mr. Moulder. Is that the extent of your knowledge of John Stapp, just what you have heard in this room?

Mr. Salt. Same answer.

Mr. Moulder. As I understand, you are a resident of what State?

Mr. Salt. California, Mr. Jackson's district.

Mr. Moulder. What is your age?

Mr. Salt. Thirty-seven.

Mr. Moulder. Thirty-seven. Were you in military service during the last war?

Mr. Salt. No. I was deferred as 4-F.

Mr. Moulder. The question was asked you about a certain number of a Communist card. I want to ask you whether or not you are now a member of the Communist Party. Are you now a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. Salt. I think that the same answer must be given to this, which is that I decline to answer on the ground previously stated.

Mr. Moulder. In the event of an unprovoked military attack upon this country by the Soviet Union, would you feel your allegiance to this country and join the defense of our country against such an attack?

Mr. Salt. This is another question that would tend to lead into a harangue, I am afraid.

Mr. Moulder. That is a simple question.

Mr. Salt. No, I don't believe it is a simple question at all. I think it is probably the major question facing the country today, don't you, Mr. Moulder?

Mr. Moulder. Do you wish to answer the question, or do you decline to answer the question?

Mr. Salt. I would like to answer the question if I may. My answer requires some qualifications, because I do think it is an extremely serious question.

Mr. Wood. Do you mean it would take a lot of explanation to answer that?

Mr. Salt. Yes, because it is a presumptive question. It presumes a war, and I think the presumption of war is the psychological equivalent of advocating preventive war.

Mr. Moulder. My question was, in the event of an unprovoked military attack by the Soviet Union against this country, would you fight in defense of this country, the United States of America?

Mr. Salt. Again I say this is a highly speculative question, Mr. Moulder, and I think it is the kind of speculation--

Mr. Moulder. I don't care to argue with you. Do you believe in or now advocate the overthrow of or a change in our present form of Government by force and violence?

(Hon. Harold H. Velde entered hearing room.)

Mr. Salt. The gentleman on the wall at my left, Mr. Lincoln,--

Mr. Moulder. That is evading my question.

Mr. Salt. No, I don't think it is. You have asked a question that touches certainly to the deepest part of myself, a question that touches my deepest loyalty to my country,--

Mr. Potter. To our country, you are referring to, the United States?

Mr. Salt. If you are an American citizen, which I presume you to be, being a Congressman here, then it is "our" country, obviously.

Mr. Potter. Then why can't you respond to the gentleman's question?

Mr. Salt. I am responding to the question. It enters the largest possible political field, which is the field of advocacy.

Mr. Moulder. You have stated that in some countries you could proudly answer the questions propounded to you by counsel of the committee, such as whether or not you are now a member of the Communist Party, have ever been, and many other questions. You stated that in some countries you could proudly answer those questions, but that you couldn't in this country that you purport to have so much devotion to. In what country or countries could you proudly answer the questions?

Mr. Salt. I am not speaking of myself. I said those questions could be answered by the citizens of those countries. I am a citizen of this country.

Mr. Moulder. You would have no hesitancy in answering the question in the Soviet Union, would you?

Mr. Salt. I don't know. I have never been there. I have no plans to go there. I was thinking in particular of a country like France, a country like Britain, our Allies.

Mr. Moulder. And Russia?

Mr. Salt. I was not thinking of Russia.

Mr. Moulder. That is all.

Mr. Wood. Mr. Doyle.

Mr. Doyle. I think you heard the testimony of the witness yesterday. You were here throughout the hearing yesterday, I believe?

Mr. Salt. I believe so.

Mr. Doyle. And the day before?

Mr. Salt. I believe I was here. I didn't hear everything, but I was here.

Mr. Doyle. The reason I asked the question, then you heard my question on each day to some of the witnesses, in which I called attention to the law under which this committee operates. Did you hear my question on that point?

Mr. Salt. I have a written statement I would like to read.

Mr. Doyle. Will you please answer my question?

Mr. Salt. It would have bearing on your question.

Mr. Doyle. I haven't asked the question yet. Were you in the hearing room and heard my question?

Mr. Salt. Yes.

Mr. Doyle. It doesn't call for a written statement, does it?

Mr. Salt. No, but I have a written statement and I think it might be in order--

Mr. Doyle. Let me ask the next question as long as you have answered that you were present in the hearing room the last couple days. I call your attention that under the law under which Congress has asked this committee to operate and make report about, it provides that we shall investigate and examine into "the extent, character, and objects of un-American propaganda activities in the United States" which disseminated either from foreign countries or within this country.

And I think I called attention yesterday to the fact that the commonly accepted definition of "subversive," and the definition given by Mr. Webster in his dictionary, is "To cause utter ruin, destruction; to overthrow from the foundations."

I will ask you as an American citizen whether or not you feel it is in any way improper, or not to the best interests of our nation, that this committee should undertake in good faith to examine into the extent of any activities by any person or any group of persons who may be interested in subversive activities designed to overthrow the foundations of our American form of Government? Do you understand my question?

Mr. Salt. I believe I do. It is rather long, but I think I followed it. The undertaking in good faith by the nation and by the people's elective representatives to search out and punish the acts of subversion, I think is one of the highest and most worthy things that could be done. I think it has been done in the past, and I think that Congress has certainly accomplished very important things. I am thinking particularly of the La Follette Committee under Roosevelt.

I think this question of good faith that you put is a very serious question. I remember the debate on the law that you read from, and in that debate I recall that I believe the author of the legislation, Mr. John Rankin, said that the vote showed that the Members of Congress are in favor of having a vigilante committee. "I," Mr. Rankin said,"took up this fight where he (meaning Martin Dies) left off."

Mr. Doyle. You are reading, in part, from the sheet that you pulled out of your pocket a while ago that you wanted to read?

Mr. Salt. No. I am reading from a small note.

Mr. Doyle. I put that term "good faith" in my question for your benefit and for the benefit of the committee, because we are seeking good faith answers by patriotic American citizens. So I deliberately put that phrase in it, "in good faith," the same as I did the other day, because I sort of gathered the inference from what you have said and from what some of the other witnesses have said before, that they had an idea this committee was not acting in good faith in trying to uncover the subversive activities of persons or groups. Is that your opinion, that we are not in good faith?

Mr. Salt. Well, I would not like to go into the motives or advocacies of this committee any more than I want or believe this committee has the constitutional right to go into my advocacies. I can only discuss what I believe to be the fact of the actions of the committee over its history, the witnesses that it has called, their character and kind, and the results of the committee's activity.

Mr. Doyle. Well, I don't know whether to assume that you are not willing to answer the question of whether or not you feel the committee is in good faith in its work?

Mr. Salt. If you insist on my personal opinion, I would be happy to give it to you.

Mr. Doyle. Well, I stated frankly to you that I am under the impression, and some of the other witnesses have felt, that the committee is not in good faith.

Mr. Salt. Then I will give you my direct answer, Mr. Doyle. Based on the entire record of this committee, which has been rather supported than repudiated by the present membership, based on the kinds of witnesses that from time to time have been brought forward here and their testimony accepted without any serious cross examination--such as the known perjurers, Larry Doyle and Harper Knowles; a murderer called McCuiston; Gerald Smith; the members of the Motion Picture Alliance in Hollywood--on that basis I can only say that I must draw my own conclusion for myself that the investigations are not in good faith.

Mr. Doyle: Then my assumption is correct. I assumed from the very start as you began to testify today that you were testifying, in part, at least, as you did because you felt this committee was not in good faith; and apparantly I was correct in that assumption, wasn't I?

"cD

AA

Well, I just wish to say this, Mr. Salt. There was a time, as I understand it, when this committee did not allow witnesses before it to have their own counsel. I was one of the members of Congress that strenuously opposed that procedure in this committee which I first came to this Congress, and I would still oppose it if the committee undertook now to deny witnesses the right of counsel in the hearing room, as you have today.

I state that to you simply because I want you to realize that I am one of the members of the committee that has undertaken -- and I am sure all of the present members of this committee have undertaken -- in good faith to be factual and to establish the truth, whatever it is.

We are not undertaking to persecute. I don't know of a single member of this committee that is interested in persecuting any citizen; but, on the other hand, I will state frankly to you as a resident of the State of California that I am interested in this definition of Webster, and under the law as it is written to help ferret out any person or any group of persons who are interested, either presently or past or in the future, in subversive misconduct or propaganda.

That is what this committee is designed to do and what it will do.

I heard yesterday and the day before witnesses of your own profession testify that in their judgment the Communist Party of the United States was interested in the overthrow of our form of constitutional government, and in the face of that sort of testimony, which has not been contradicted by you or any other person, who claims the privilege of the Fifth Amendment and is unwilling to state whether or not you have been or are now a member of the Communist Party -- in the face of that attitude towards you men and women who may or may not be members of the Communist Party, but at least claim the privilege when we ask you about it, I am constrained to conclude that the Communist Party in the United States of America is interested and has been, according to their own testimony as members of the Communist Party, in the forceful overthrow, if necessary, of the American form of government which has born you and which has born me.

Thank you very much.

Mr. WOOD. Any further questions? Mr. Velde?

Mr. VELDE. I have no questions.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Jackson?

Mr. JACKSON. I have just a couple of questions.

Mr. Salt, you are employed by Norma Productions; is that my understanding?

Mr. SALT. No. That was terminated as soon as my subpoena was made public.

Mr. JACKSON. Who is the head of Norma Productions?

Mr. SALT. Norma Productions is an independent company, I believe, made up of Harold Hecht and Burt Lancaster.

Mr. JACKSON. When was your last employment at RKO, Mr. Salt?

Mr. SALT. It was just before I went to work on this. I would say that it was three or four months. I am not exactly sure of the date. I was rushing to finish one screenplay to move over to another.

Mr. JACKSON. Was that in 1950?

Mr. SALT. I think it probably was, yes.

Mr. JACKSON. What script were you engaged on at RKO?

Mr. SALT. I finished the screenplay of "The Day They Gave the Babies Away."

Mr. JACKSON. Who hired you at RKO?

Mr. SALT. Eddie Granger.

Mr. JACKSON. Now, during the period of time that you were with the OWI, who was your immediate responsible superior, Mr. Salt? Who supervised your work generally?

Mr. SALT. That is a very difficult question to answer. I am sure that you all have some memory of the complications in those years. I think that the responsible Government man who was a civil service representative was Mr. Smith. The chief of production was Robert Riskind, who left during the period that I was there, because the war ended in Europe. He was followed by his assistant, whose name I don't remember.

Mr. JACKSON. To whom did you hand your completed work on a day-to-day basis or week-to-week basis? Who received the script?

Mr. SALT. Well, it couldn't be done that way. I would have to explain the actual process and work of production. A documentary film is quite different in its production form than an entertainment film, at least the documentaries made there. Usually it is based on film already taken which is there that is being put together, put into some kind of, hopefully, artistic entertaining form. The writer goes along with this, helping to suggest arrangements of the film and preparing commentary to go with it. At several stages along the way, in each of the projects we were on on the San Francisco conference picture, for instance, we were in New York. The conference was in San Francisco. The film came to us three days later. We naturally read all of the daily teletype releases and tried to plan a picture on a conference while it was going on, because the office in Washington was very anxious to have some kind of a picture at the end of the conference for use.

So that there was no immediate day-to-day supervision, but there would be rather frequent discussions of the material, supervision of the material, in a projection room, by either Mr. Riskind or the man who followed him. We brought the print to Washington for general approval and discussion. There was an advisory board of policy who also would move in from time to time to discuss this. There was the whole OWI staff, which was on 57th Street. We were on 45th Street.

So that I would say that the number of people who were in day-to-day contact with the film, every few days or every week, were more people than you would find in Hollywood, actually.

Mr. JACKSON. That is not an unusual situation in Washington.

In common with some of the other members of the committee, Mr. Salt, I am sorry that you have seen fit to stand upon your unquestioned right to refuse to answer many of the questions which have been asked this morning, and questions in which, very frankly many of them, I see no possibility of self-incrimination.

In conclusion, Mr. Chairman, I would just like to say that I feel that when Mr. Salt walks out of this committee room, if he is in any manner incriminated by his refusal to answer many of these questions, that that incrimination -- and I would like to know your opinion, Mr. Salt, whether you think that that element of incrimination which might grow out of your refusal to answer questions is your fault, the committee's fault, or the fault of the American people, who may place their own construction upon your refusal to answer these questions. Whose fault do you think it is?

Mr. SALT. Well, I don't know. It has been an old family tradition that you don't try to lay blame but seek out the root of the problem.

Mr. JACKSON. That is precisely what this committee is attempting to do. It certainly is not a whistle stop on the way to jail. If we merely proceed to conceivably sit or take whatever other course is open to this committee, we are not fullfilling our function of obtaining information.

I personally should hate to see it become a whistle stop on the way to jail, because we are not going to find out anything. The only things we find out are from those people who come in here.

In some cases it is personal conviction, undoubtedly. In some cases because they don't want to go to jail. But it seems to me that the function which we properly pursue is attempting to obtain information.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Potter, do you have any questions? I want to give the members a chance to answer this call.

Mr. POTTER. Mr. Salt, do you belong to the Ku Klux Klan organization?

Mr. SALT. No, I do not, Mr. Potter.

Mr. POTTER. Do you belong to the Communist Party or are you a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. SALT. I am sure that the Congressman understands the very wide difference there.

Mr. POTTER. You answered my first question very easily, and the second question can be answered just as easily.

Mr. SALT. Well, as a witness I feel that I am in a rather unfair situation here, because it is a trick question. I would like to be able to answer it honestly. I do have to claim the privilege on the last half of the question.

Mr. POTTER. In other words, you claim the privilege of the Fifth Amendment to my question as to whether you are now a member of the Communist Party. Is that correct?

Mr. SALT. Yes.

Mr. POTTER. You are a young man, and you have done fairly well in this country of ours. Many men have had to give a lot more than you for the freedom which we are interested in, and many men today of your age are giving a lot more than you have ever given.

That is all, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. WOOD. The committee will take a recess for thirty minutes. Unless there are further questions, you may be excused.

(Witness excused)

(Whereupon, at 11:25 a.m., the hearing was recessed until 11:55 a.m., at which time the following proceedings were had.)

Mr. WOOD. Let the committee be in order.

Let the record show that there are present of the members of the committee, Mr. Doyle, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Potter, Mr. Kearney, and Mr. Wood, a quorum of the full committee.

Mr. TAVENNER. Mr. Paul Jarrico.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Jarrico, will you please raise your right hand and be sworn.

You solemnly swear the testimony you give before this committee shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

Mr. JARRICO. I do.

TESTIMONY OF PAUL JARRICO

Mr. TAVENNER. You are Mr. Paul Jarrico?

Mr. JARRICO. That's right.

Mr. TAVENNER. Are you represented by counsel?

Mr. JARRICO. Yes, I am. By Mr. Margolis and by Mr. Kenny.

Mr. TAVENNER. Will you please state your full name, place of birth, and your age.

Mr. JARRICO. Well, my full name is Israel Paul Jarrico, though I am known personally and professionally and legally as Paul Jarrico. I was born in Los Angeles, California, on January 12, 1915, and I reside at 320 South Sherbourne Drive, Los Angeles, 48, California.

Mr. TAVENNER. Will you give the committee a brief statement of your educational background?

Mr. JARRICO. I was educated in the public schools of Los Angeles. I attended the University of California at Los Angeles, the University of California at Berkeley. I graduated from the University of Southern California in 1936 with a degree of bachelor of arts,

Mr. TAVENNER. How are you now employed?

Mr. JARRICO. Well, until two weeks ago I was a screen writer.

Mr. TAVENNER. What was your last employment?

Mr. JARRICO. I was employed at RKO Radio Pictures until the day I received a subpoena from this committee.

Mr. TAVENNER. Will you give the committee a statement of your employment record, please?

Mr. JARRICO. Well, it is a rather long one.

Mr. TAVENNER. Briefly.

Mr. JARRICO. I will try to summarize it. I first obtained employment in the motion picture industry in 1937, and have been employed more or less continuously since by practically every studio in Hollywood, except for a brief time I spent in the Merchant Marine and a short time I spent in the United States Navy.

Mr. TAVENNER. What was the last screenplay on which you were employed?

Mr. JARRICO. The last screenplay on which I was employed was "The Las Vegas Story," which is currently shooting in Hollywood, with Jane Russell and Victor Mature. I urge you all to see it.

Mr. TAVENNER. By what company were you employed?

Mr. JARRICO. RKO Radio Pictures.

Mr. TAVENNER. Who employed you?

Mr. JARRICO: I was employed by the studio.

Mr. TAVENNER. The studio must have had an official representative, of course, in making the employment. Who was he?

Mr. JARRICO. Well, my immediate producer was Mr. Robert Sparks. However, I must protest at this point. It seems to me an attempt to create the basis for a blacklist in Hollywood, on the basis of guilt by employment, guilt by the mere fact that you employ a man. Mr. Sparks, a conservative gentleman, I am sure, employed me because he thought I was the best man to do that particular job, and not because of my politics.

Mr. TAVENNER. Were you engaged in screenplay writing along with Richard Collins?

Mr. JARRICO. Yes. He was my collaborator for several years.

Mr. TAVENNER. Over what period of time was he a collaborator with you?

Mr. JARRICO. From the fall of 1941 until the summer of 1943.

Mr. TAVENNER. You were present, I believe, at this hearing room during the giving of his testimony yesterday?

Mr. JARRICO. Yes, I was.

Mr. TAVENNER. I suppose you heard his testimony, in which he stated that you were a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. JARRICO. I heard his testimony in regard to a great many things. I heard him attempting to purge himself before this committee and perjuring himself before this committee.

Mr. TAVENNER. Did he perjure himself in regard to his statement that you were a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. JARRICO. I refuse to answer that question on the grounds that it may tend to incriminate me.

Mr. TAVENNER. Then what did you mean by stating that he perjured himself in his testimony here?

Mr. JARRICO. I refuse to answer that question also, on the same grounds.

Mr. TAVENNER. And what is that ground?

Mr. JARRICO. That it may tend to incriminate me. That doesn't mean that it would incriminate me. It just means that it might tend to, that it might subject me to prosecution, not to conviction.

Mr. TAVENNER. In other words, for you to answer the question would put you in fear that you might be prosecuted for some criminal offense?

Mr. JARRICO. It might place me in jeopardy, yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. When did you receive your subpoena to appear before this committee?

Mr. JARRICO. I believe the date was March 23rd. I am not completely certain. I believe that is the correct date.

Mr. TAVENNER. Did you confer with Mr. Collins about his appearance -- Mr. Richard Collins, about his appearance before this committee after you were served your subpoena to appear here?

Mr. JARRICO. I refuse to answer that question on the same ground.

Mr. TAVENNER. When you referred to Mr. Richard Collins perjuring himself before this committee, were you referring in any way to his testimony as to the occasion when you visited him with regard to his testimony before this committee?

Mr. JARRICO. I have already refused to answer the same question, phrased rather differently. I believe it is the same question. At any rate, to make it clear, I refuse to answer this question also, on the same ground.

Mr. TAVENNER. You refuse to answer in what particular? You have in mind with regard to Mr. Collins' testimony when you said that he perjured himself before this committee?

Mr. JARRICO. That's correct.

Mr. VELDE. Counsel, is the word "perjured" or "purged"?

Mr. JARRICO. I used both words. I used "purge" and "perjury." I think the line between them is very thin.

I wonder if I might at this point introduce a statement, Mr. Chairman. I have sat here all day yesterday and heard my patriotism maligned, my loyalty impugned. I wonder whether I might read a fairly short statement, which states quite concisely my attitude towards my country and towards this committee.

Mr. WOOD. We are giving you the opportunity to answer whatever questions are asked you here, which are intended to reflect on that very subject matter. At the conclusion of your testimony, we will be happy to have you file for the record here any statement that you desire to make.

Mr. JARRICO. I can only answer the questions that are presented to me when I am being cross examined. However, in my statement I am able to make a more considered statement of my position.

Mr. WOOD. Following the custom and practice of the committee, you will be given the privilege of filing that statement with the committee for the record when you have finished your testimony.

Mr. JARRICO. I would like to reply publicly.

Mr. WOOD. In this connection, sir, I would like to if I may, Mr. Counsel, interpose at this point this observation: Perjury is a rather grave offense, not only under our law but under every moral code that I know anything about. Now you have leveled a charge against a man that you say was your collaborator for several years in the same industry that you are in that he has deliberately committed that offense here before this committee yesterday.

Don't you think that when you make that charge yourself that you owe it to yourself, you owe it to Mr. Collins, you owe it to the American people, and particularly the people in your industry, to inform this committee as to just how and in what manner you contend that he swore falsely before this committee yesterday? Don't you think in fairness to every conception of decency and common justice and honesty that you owe it to the peopleof America, and particularly in your industry, to let them know in what particular you claim he swore falsely?

Mr. JARRICO. I shall issue a statement and otherwise communicate.

Mr. WOOD. You are under oath now. Under your oath you have sworn that he committee perjury. One or the other of you is swearing falsely. He has pinpointed his testimony. Don't you think you ought to pinpoint yours?

Mr. JARRICO. This is not my forum, Mr. Chairman, and this is not the place for me to discuss my differences with Mr. Collins. I don't choose to do it here.

Mr. DOYLE. May I suggest this: I think, Mr. Jarrico, you were not being questioned by our counsel or by anyone else as to whether or not it was your opinion that Mr. Collins had perjured himself. You volunteered the statement to this committee. We were not asking you whether or not he perjured himself. You yourself volunteered the charge that he perjured himself.

Mr. JARRICO. I was asked a question based on an assertion that Mr. Collins made here yesterday. I answered that question by saying that I refused to answer that question, and that I refuse to consider Mr. Collins' testimony here as truthful. Now, that is my position. I don't intend to discuss with you wherein it was untruthful or wherein it was truthful.

Mr. DOYLE. The only reason I brought it to your attention is that you volunteered the charge that he had perjured himself. We had not asked you whether or not he perjured himself or testified falsely. I just wanted to make that suggestion to you.

Mr. JARRICO. My answer stands, sir.

Mr. WOOD. Continue the questioning.

Mr. TAVENNER. Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. JARRICO. I refuse to answer that question on the ground that it might tend to incriminate me, as I shall refuse to answer any question regarding my political affiliations or activities.

Mr. TAVENNER. Mr. Chairman, I have no further questions.

Mr. WOOD. Any questions, Mr. Doyle?

Mr. DOYLE. I think I have one or two of the gentleman. The statement that you were bornin Los Angeles means that you are also a native son, as I am, of California.

Mr. JARRICO. I am very proud of it, Mr. Doyle, as you are.

Mr. DOYLE. I note you also graduated from USC, and so did I. We are both American citizens. I assume, Mr. Jarrico, that you would be interested in helping this committee to uncover any person or any group of persons who were subversive in their attitude towards the constitutional form of government in our Nation. Is my assumption correct?

Mr. JARRICO. Mr. Doyle, I should be happy to help this committee uncover subversion, but one man's subversion is another man's patriotism. I consider the activities of this committee subversive of the American Constitution.

Mr. DOYLE. Well, I assumed you did when you refused to answer a minute ago.

Mr. DOYLE. Now, as long as this is a committee in good faith undertaking to serve our Nation, I am going to ask you a frank question. I think no member of the committee has asked quite this kind of question.

Why do you feel this committee's function is subversive of American rights and citizenship? You have made a statement that we are un-American. That means that under Webster's dictionary we are undertaking to overthrow the foundation of our constitutional government. You realize that, don't you?

Mr. JARRICO. I certainly do.

Mr. DOYLE. In what way is this committee undertaking to overthrow the constitutional form of government in this Nation?

Mr. JARRICO. Well, if I might read my statement, I think it covers that very point very specifically.

Mr. DOYLE. Well, I am not asking you to read a statement. As long as you prepared a statement, you certainly are qualified to answer my question briefly, not to read a dissertation.

You made a pretty serious charge, under Webster's definition of "subversiveness," when you say this committee is subversive in its conduct.

Mr. JARRICO. Sir, I believe this country was founded on thedoctrine of freedom, the right of a man to advocate anything he wishes -- advocate it, agitate for it, organize for it, attempt to win a majority for it. And I think that any committee that intimidates people, that makes it impossible for people to express their opinions freely, is subverting the basic doctrine of the United States and of its Constitution.

Mr. DOYLE. And does your philosophy go to the point of feeling that the United States Congress, when it created this law, Public Law 601, and set up this committee, was controverting and destroying the rights of American citizens?

Mr. JARRICO. I am certain that Congress had no such intention. However, ten of my friends, very dear friends, have gone to jail for coming before this body and saying that Congress may not investigate in any area in which it may not legislate, and since the Constitution of the United States specifically states that Congress shall make no law restricting the freedom of speech, and since countless decisions of the courts have held that this provision of the Constitution means that Congress cannot investigate into areas of opinion, of conscience, of belief, I believe that in asking that those men be cited for contempt of Congress and in successfully sending these men to jail, that this committee has subverted the meaning of the American Constitution, yes.

Mr. DOYLE. Those ten men were cited and convicted under the laws of our country, and when the courts held them guilty were the courts subversive, in your opinion?

Mr. JARRICO. The Supreme Court never ruled on the basic doctrine involved. I would like to think that some day it will, and that the stand that the ten took will be recognized historically along with the stand that Jefferson took against the Alien and Sedition laws.

Mr. DOYLE. Well, now, let me ask you this question: Do I understand your testimony correctly then that when the Federal court held these ten men guilty that you hold that that court was subversive of the rights of American citizens?

Mr. JARRICO. The courts have made errors before.

Mr. DOYLE. I am asking you a fair question.

Mr. JARRICO. I do not blame the courts. I blame this committee for its attempt to deny people the right to their opinions.

Mr. DOYLE. Yes, but this committee was not the Federal court. I am asking you a frank question, whether or not the Federal court was guilty of subversive conduct when it held these men guilty.

Mr. JARRICO. The courts also upheld the Alien and Sedition laws. The courts also in the famous Dred Scott decision upheld slavery.

Mr. DOYLE. I am asking you a fair question, am I not? If it is not a fair question, tell me so and I will ask you another question.

Mr. JARRICO. I have said that the courts in upholding the contempt citations against these men, in my opinion, contributed toward the general destruction of liberty in this country.

Mr. DOYLE. All right.

Mr. WOOD. Just a moment. Let the record show that Mr. Jackson, a member of the committee, has departed the committee, but there is now present Mr. Velde, which still constitutes a quorum of the committee.

Mr. DOYLE. I will ask you another question, Mr. Jarrico, and if you think the form of my question is not fair I want you to tell me so, because I am trying in good faith to be fair. I am not trying to take any advantage of you or lay any groundwork for any persecution.

I think you said that you believed that the American citizen had the right to advocate anything he wished to?

Mr. JARRICO. That's correct.

Mr. DOYLE. Do I understand, therefore, that you think an American citizen has the right to advocate the forceful overthrow of our constitutional form of government?

Mr. JARRICO. I believe he may advocate it. I believe that it is unlikely he will get a great response to such a thing. I want to make it clear that I am personally opposed to the overthrow of this government by force and violence and to the use of force and violence. However, President Lincoln said that the people of this country have the right to revolution, if necessary, if the democratic processes are clogged, if the people can no longer exercise their will by constitutional means.

Mr. DOYLE. Do you know of any organization in the United States that is regulated from within the United States that advocates the forceful overthrow of the constitutional form of government? Do you know of any organization that does?

Mr. JARRICO. Well, the McCarran Act, the Smith Act --

Mr. DOYLE. I am asking you about an organization. Do you know of any organization?

Mr. JARRICO. I am answering that question, sir. I am saying that various acts passed by the United States Congress have defined certain organizations as organizations which advocate the overthrow of this Government. I do not necessarily agree with these definitions.

Mr. DOYLE. I am not asking you whether you agree with the definition or not. I am asking you as man to man in good faith whether or not you know any such organization. I am assuming that you as an American citizen are interested in protecting our American form of government against forceful revolution. If my assumption is wrong, of course the basis of my question is wrong. I am not asking you whether or not you are a member of any such organization, you notice. I am not asking that question. You have stood on your Constitutional right under the Fifth Amendment. I am not asking you in that area. But I am just assuming as man to man that you, if you know of any organization in America that favors that policy, in good faith will come out and tell us so.

Mr. JARRICO. Well, sir, this committee, --

Mr. DOYLE. Do you know of any such organization?

Mr. JARRICO. According to this committee, every organization that has advocated peace in this country --

Mr. DOYLE. Just a minute. That question can be answered yes or no. We have other witnesses from Hollywood here. We want to have them be heard, too, so they can get home over the weekend.

Mr. JARRICO. By your definition, sir, every organization that has stood for decency and progress, the New Deal, against discrimination, for peace, and so on -- these organizations are all allied with an organization which advocates the overthrow of this government. I do not accept that definition.

Mr. DOYLE. In other words, you don't accept the definition of Mr. Webster's dictionary.

Mr. JARRICO. Yes, I do accept the definition of Mr. Webster.

Mr. DOYLE. I am asking you whether or not, under the definition of Mr. Webster, you know of any organization in this country that advocates what Mr. Webster says is subversive conduct, that's all. That is what I am asking you. I am assuming that you want to help protect the American Government.

Mr. JARRICO. If I knew of such an organization, sir, I should help you to expose it.

Mr. DOYLE. Do you know of any individual that is interested in that?

Mr. JARRICO. If I knew of such an individual, sir, I should help you to expose him.

Mr. DOYLE. All right. Now, one more question. In answer to our counsel you stated that you believed that our functioning as a committee was to form the basis of a blacklist. Why do you believe this committee is interested in blacklisting people so they can't get employment, if they are honest, patriotic citizens. Is that your statement?

Mr. JARRICO. You are not interested in that end, but you had better revise your methods, because your methods have had that end. I know of many people who are blacklisted in Hollywood as a result of the hearings in 1947, and I know that today the basis is being laid for an increase of that blacklist, so that anyone who has advocated anything progressive is going to be suspect. And the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals, quaintly named, is going to be the organization in Hollywood that decides who shall work and who shall not work, what pictures shall be made and what pictures shall not be made, and this is an organization that upholds this committee and thinks it is doing a splendid job in exposing so-called "Reds."

Mr. DOYLE. What is the name of that committee?

Mr. JARRICO. The Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals. You should know it very well, Mr. Doyle.

Mr. DOYLE. But I don't happen to know it, sir. You see, there are many of us, Mr. Jarrico, in spite of your assumption, that are just as much interested as you are in protecting the rights of American citizens and are just as progressive and just as patriotic toward liberal thinking, whether you believe it or not.

I wish to state -- I know for myself, and I state it for myself and I state it for every member of the committee -- that we are not interested in blacklisting anyone. I wouldn't be true to my duty as a citizen if I allowed you to charge that we are without denying it. But I will say this: My own belief is that you gentlemen who come to this committee and unalterably claim the Fifth Amendment and the First Amendment when we get into the area of questioning you about the organizations you have been or are members of, are making it very difficult for this committee as a committee of Congress to function.

Mr. JARRICO. I feel I am defending the Constitution, sir, and not hiding behind it. I feel that sincerely. And I feel that if you were sincere in your declarations against blacklisting that you should make it plain that people who claim their Constitutional privileges should not be discriminated against in Hollywood, because Hollywood has the impression that you intend everyone who is called before this committee and who does not cooperate with this committee to be driven from the industry.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Jarrico, I must at this point challenge that statement, in the interest of the members of this committee, with whom I have served for some time and for whom I have the highest regard.

No man has ever come before this committee yet and answered truthfully and frankly the questions that have been put to him who has ever, to my knowledge, been injured thereby. If people are being deprived of any rights or privileges of employment because of their appearance before this committee, it has been because of matters that they themselves have brought out, and not this committee. If being a member of a subversive organization and admitting such causes a man to lose some employment rights, that is his responsibility and not this committee's. If he declines to answer whether he has or not and thereby loses employment rights, that likewise is his responsibility and not this committee's. This committee has never yet been responsible forany man being a member of any organization, subversive or otherwise.

The only thing on earth that this committee has ever attempted to do or is attempting to do now is to ascertain, under the functions it is charged with carrying out by the very act of the Congress that created it, what activities in the realm of subversiveness in this country are going on and who is being responsible for it.

Mr. DOYLE. I wish to thank my distinguished chairman for making that clarification.

May I ask you one more question, Mr. Jarrico. The law states that the purpose of our investigation is to report to Congress any necessary remedial legislation in the field of subversive conduct. Have you any suggestion of any remedial legislation that we should report to Congress. It states that in the law. That is why I am asking youin good faith.

Mr. JARRICO. Well, I have one. You might revise your guide to subversive organizations and publications issued by this committee. It includes, for instance, the Hollywood Democratic Committee, and without wishing to embarrass you, Congressman Doyle, perhaps you remember that that committee contributed to your campaign and wrote speeches for your campaign. It is listed here as a subversive organization.

Mr. DOYLE. I don't remember that. I don't think I had any knowledge of it. I have many friends in Hollywood, both in and out of the industry. But be that as it may, have you any suggestion as to how the functioning of this committee should be remedied? That is what I am asking you. How shall we revise the list if we can't get the help of people like you that are informed? How can we get the help to remedy the legislation?

Mr. JARRICO. Well, I think that if you made it absolutely clear that you were defending the First Amendment and the Fifth Amendment and the people who defended those amendments, instead of subjecting them to blacklisting and other liability, that you would be doing a great service to the country.

Mr. DOYLE. Well, I wish to state this, and this is my final question. I am very sure, Mr. Jarrico, that no member of this committee is interested in any way less than you are in protecting the rights of the American citizens under the First and Fifth Amendments. But apparently your considered opinion and conclusion differs with that of members of the committee as to ways and means in which we are charged with doing that.

Mr. JARRICO. Well, I can't see where you can pretend for a moment that you are protecting the First and Fifth Amendments when everything you have done is directed towards abridging them, curtailing them, limiting them, subverting them.

Mr. DOYLE. This is my final question, Mr. Chairman.

Do you mean then that this committee in calling you, for instance, as a typical case -- that when this committee subpoenas you to come and be questioned about what you know, if anything, about subversive people or organizations, that we are controverting your Constitutional rights under the First and Fifth Amendments?

Mr. JARRICO. I certainly do.

Mr. DOYLE. Then you take the position that the Congress has no right to call people before it and to question them as to their philosophy and whether or not it favors the forceful overthrow of our Government?

Mr. JARRICO. Congress has no right to legislate in this area. It cannot pass any law restricting the freedom of speech, and therefore it has no right to investigation in this area. It cannot inquire into a man's opinions, his attitudes, his beliefs of any kind. That is my firm position, yes.

Mr. DOYLE. Well, the reason I pressed you for your opinion is that I feel that the committee should have considered opinion. As long as you stand on the First and Fifth Amendments, I wanted the basis upon which you stood.

Mr. JARRICO. You have it, sir.

Mr. KEARNEY. Can you tell me the name of the producer of "Outrageous Story"?

Mr. JARRICO. I already have introduced that name into the record under protest. It was Robert Sparks.

Mr. KEARNEY. Can you tell me who the script writer was?

Mr. JARRICO. I was.

Mr. KEARNEY. And the director?

Mr. JARRICO. Robert Stephenson. Again I wish to say that you are trying to intimidate these people.

Mr. KEARNEY. Just a moment. I want to ask a question. To this question I want a yes or no answer.

Do you believe the Communist Party is dedicated to the overthrow of the United States Government by force or violence?

Mr. JARRICO. I refuse to answer that question on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. KEARNEY. That is all, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Potter? Mr. Counsel, do you have any further questions for the witness?

Mr. TAVENNER. No, sir.

Mr. WOOD. Do you want to hold the witness for further questioning later or should he be excused?

Mr. TAVENNER. I suggest he be excused.

Mr. JARRICO. May I introduce my statement now, sir?

Mr. WOOD. File it with the reporter.

(The statement referred to is as follows:)

My father was a Russian Jew, a poet and a fighting man. At the age of seventeen he organized an armed self-defense corps, to protect the Jews of his home town, Kharkov, against a massacre. In other cities of Imperial Russia these massacres occurred -- pogroms they were called. In Kharkov, where the intended victims organized, there was no pogrom.

Thrown into a Czarist prison, he managed to escape to America. Like millions of other immigrants, he never ceased to marvel at the miracle he discovered here. Freedom! To him it was no abstraction, but a matter of life and death. Imagine - a land in which one could advocate whatever one believed. Advocate it, agitate for it, organize for it, and somedsy gain a majority for it. Any change whatsoever. Not a perfect country, but an infinitely perfectable one - because it was free.

My father became a lawyer, a defender of the poor, what the cynics call a do-gooder. He taught me to live this country, really to love it, not with the demonstrative hypocrisy of a professional patriot but with a profound concern for its people and its future.

Today freedom and America are no longer synonymous. The mircale of being able to think freely, speak freely, write freely, meet freely - no more. Do so and you lose your job.

Do so and your'e smeared as subversive. Do so and you go to jail. The mircale has become a mirage. You look around today and you see Americans afraid to open their mouths. Or opening them only to purge themselves, only to perjure themselves, only to inform on their friends. Consider it. In the land of the free, the home of the brave.

Why? Because we are threatened by communism, we are told. To protect our liberties we must give up our liberties. To preserve morality we must abandon morality. To prevent war we must prepare for war. To stop aggression we must embark on aggression. What fantastic nonsense.

What is communism? Are we allowed to discuss it? Is it a militant form of socialism? Does it require war, by its very nature? Is it the opposite of freedom. Are we allowed to debate it? What is capitalism? Was it once progressive? Is it now decadent? Does it need a war economy in order to survive? Are we allowed to say so?

No, for it is not our loyalty to our country that is behgjudged, but our loyalty to the particular economic system that prevails here. And that is the biggest lie of all: that capitalism and democracy are somehow the same thing, that it's un-American to stand for a social change.

Under the guise of fighting communism, Hitler plunged the world into a bloody war. With the same rationalization we have now intervened in a civil war 7,000 miles from our shores, and responsible American leaders are still proposing that we extend this war, that we attack China now. Your willingness to see the people of the world annihilated, your willingness to see the people of America annihilated, that becomes the sole test of your patriotism.

Well, it is not my test, and it is not my patriotism.

I am proud of my beliefs. I am pround of my affiliations. I'll be damned, though, if I'll disclose them to my enemies, to be used against my friends.

Yes, for the moment they're riding high, these arbiters of conformity. MacArthur is down, but McCarran and McCarthy are still high in the saddle.

But only for the moment. The minorities who are the majority in this country, and especially the great Negro people, they will be heard from. The working men, the hard pressed farmers, the people, yes, the ordinary people - they will be heard from. There will be no pogroms in this country, and no concentration camps. There will be no war of atomic annihilation. The miracle of freedom shall be reborn. And I shall be able to leave to my son - undiminished - the heritage my father bequeathed to me.

Mr. TAVENNER. Mrs. Meta Reis Rosenberg.

Mr. WOOD. Raise your right hand. You solemnly swear the testimony you give before this committee shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. I do.

Mr. WOOD. Be seated, please. For the purpose of examining this witness, let the record show that the same number of the committee are present: Mr. Doyle, Mr. Velde, Mr. Kearney, Mr. Potter, and Mr. Wood.

TESTIMONY OF META REIS ROSENBERG

Mr. TAVENNER. You are Mrs. Meta Reis Rosenberg?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. That's right.

Mr. TAVENNER. You spell your middle name R-e-i-s?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Right.

Mr. TAVENNER. Mrs. Rosenberg, will you state where you were born?

Mrs. Rosenberg. In San Francisco, California.

Mr. TAVENNER. What has been your educational background?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, we moved to Los Angeles when I was very young, and all of my early education was in Los Angeles public schools, and I went to Hollywood High School in Hollywood. That is the extent of my educational background.

Mr. TAVENNER. By the way, are you represented by counsel?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes, I am.

Mr. TAVENNER. If you desire to confer with them, you may do so at any time.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Thank you.

Mr. TAVENNER. How have you been employed, Mrs. Rosenberg, during the period in which you were engaged in professional work?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, originally, about 1933 or '34, I was employed by Fox as a reader, and then in '35 and '36 I was in New York representing a motion picture agency by the name of Smal Landau, and I went back to Hollywood and worked for Warner Brothers as a reader in 1937 and part of '38, when I quit my job to get married. Then I resumed working in 1940 for Paramount as a special reader.

Mr. TAVENNER. You began that assignment when?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. 1940.

Mr. TAVENNER. 1940 at Paramount?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Paramount. And then I became head of the reading department at Paramount, and then I became assistant story editor at Paramount.

Mr. TAVENNER. When did you become the story editor at Paramount?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, I imagine it was about -- it must have been around 1942. I must have been there two years before I became one of the story editors. I was assistant to a man called Bill Dozier at Paramount. Then I stayed at Paramount until 1945, when I asked to be released from my contract, and I went to a motion picture agency by the name of Berg Allen Berg. There I became head of their literary department, where I was until 1949, in February. And I haven't worked since. I have been a wife and mother.

Mr. TAVENNER. Then you became a member of the Hollywood group, we may say, when you returned from New York about 1937?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. At the time you returned from New York, was there an organization in Hollywood by the name of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. I believe there was.

Mr. TAVENNER. Was there also an organization known as the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes, there was. Of that I am sure.

Mr. TAVENNER. Were you ever a member of these organizations?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. No, not to my knowledge.

Mr. TAVENNER. Did you attend their meetings?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes, I did, their public meetings. Since I was not a member of the organization, I didn't attend any of the board meetings or committee meetings, but I did go to their public meetings, yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. Were you interested in the particular programs of those groups?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. I was very interested, yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. What was the nature of your interest?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, during the Spanish Civil War I had a very strong feeling for the Loyalists, and I was interested in hearing the point of view of any organization or finding out any information that I could regarding the Loyalist fight. As far as the Anti-Nazi League is concerned, I felt that it was terribly important at that time to make the American people aware of the nature of the Fascism in Germany and the menace to peace and people all over the world.

Mr. TAVENNER. Well, did you follow up your interest in the Anti-Nazi League by becoming interested in any other organization which seemed to make its cause the same cause of the Anti-Nazi League?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, as a matter of fact, I did. I had gone to a number of meetings of the Anti-Nazi League or an organization -- I don't remember the name of it. I think it might have been called the Motion Picture Artists Committee, which people like Bob Montgomery and Freddie March and Melvyn Douglas were associated with for Spain. I was also very interested in the reelection of Roosevelt and in the continuation of his policies at that time.

I met a woman who was known to me then as Madeleine Ruthven.

Mr. TAVENNER. Will you spell the last name.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. R-u-t-h-v-e-n. And she told me that she was a member of the Communist Party, and she explained to me that the Communist Party -- which was something I already understood -- that the Communist Party was backing the Loyalists in Spain. The Communist Party was very active in support of Roosevelt, and the Communist Party was the most militant organization in the United States in terms of their opposition to Hitler in Germany, and in terms of educating the American people to this. And she told me that since I already believed in these things, which I did, and that the Communist Party was the most effective organization to work for and against those things I believed in, that she thought I should join it, because she felt it was perfectly ridiculous for someone to have these strong beliefs and not do anything positive about them, that one must make a positive step. This seemed perfectly reasonable to me, and I did join the Communist Party in 1938.

Mr. TAVENNER. You joined after your conversation with the person you just referred to --

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. -- as Madelaine Ruthven?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. That's right.

Mr. TAVENNER. Do you know what position she held within the Communist Party?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. No.

Mr. TAVENNER. Or what function she performed?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. I am not absolutely sure. She was some sort of executive of the party. That I understood. But the Party structure has never been terribly clear to me, so I am not absolutely sure. I think she might have been what is known or what was known at that time as an organizational secretary, but I am not sure. I think that is probably what she was, sortof in general charge of personnel and detail.

Mr. TAVENNER. Well, now, as a result of her invitation to you to unite with the Party, were you received into the Party and assigned to a cell or group of the Party?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes. I went to a meeting, the first meeting I ever attended, where a man by the name of John Howard Lawson was in charge of the meeting, and I understood that he was also in charge of the Hollywood group of the Communist Party. And I was assigned to a group of people. I mean I was assigned to meet with a group of people, with whom I did meet.

I must qualify this by saying that I only met with them for a while, because this was in 1938, and in July -- I don't know what month this was. It was probably early in '38 -- but in July of '38 I got married to a man called Irving Reis, who was not then nor to my knowledge hashe ever become a member of the Communist Party. And so when I got married to him I sort of became inactive. I was more interested in my marriage than I was in Party activities, and for a long time I didn't go to any meetings nor did I even join any outside organizations during this period or before it. I had never been a member of any of these organizations.

Mr. TAVENNER. Well, now, will you tell us the names of the persons in the group of Communist Party members to which you were assigned when you first joined the Party?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. As I remember it, there was a Frank Tuttle -- Frank and Tania Tuttle. He was married to her at that time. He isn't now -- Waldo Salt, Paul Jarrico.

Mr. TAVENNER. Paul Jarrico?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. Waldo Salt?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. He is the same Mr. Salt who testified here this morning, or were you present?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. I wasn't present, but I assume that he is the same. Paul Jarrico.

Mr. TAVENNER. Did you see the witness on the stand who immediately preceded you?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. Is it the same person?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. Proceed, please.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Sam Ornitz.

Mr. TAVENNER. Sam Ornitz?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. O-r-n-i-t-z. Herbert Biberman, Dorothy Tree and her husband, Michael Uris, and a man called Francis Faragoh, F-a-r-a-g-o-h, who is a writer.

Mr. TAVENNER. Did the woman Madelaine Ruthven also attend the group meetings?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes, very often. As a matter of fact, I should have mentioned her. I met often in her home. I left her out. She did attend. She was active.

Mr. TAVENNER. To whom did you pay your Communist Party dues at that particular time?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. At that time I believe I paid them to Madelaine Ruthven.

Mr. TAVENNER. You stated that you were only with that group a few months before you retired temporarily.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. That's right.

Mr. TAVENNER. How many meetings do you think you attended during that period?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Oh, I really couldn't say. I attended some meetings and then I got married, and for a while I was inactive, and then I began to go to meetings again.

Mr. TAVENNER. Did all of these persons whose names you have mentioned attend one or more of those meetings with you?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Oh, yes, yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. How long was it before youreturned to the attendance of meetings?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. What happened was that in 1940, when I went to work for Paramount as a reader and eventually became assistant story editor, which put me in touch with most of the writers in Hollywood, since this was part of my job involved in stories and writers, when war was declared the following year, after war was declared by the United States, an organization was formed called the Hollywood Writers Mobilization about 1942. I think this must have been early in '42. And I undertook an assignment for this organization which was directly in sympathy with the organization, and so was I, not only with the Government at that time but with the Communist Party at that time. There was no conflict in my mind in terms of the attitudes of the Party towards the war effort and the attitudes of the Government towards the war effort. There was no conflict at all. There was a no-strike clause. There was every interest in the Party in seeing that people did as much work as possible for the war effort.

So I joined this organization in a capacity in which I felt I could be of most value, which was to -- I was in charge of getting all the material, not all the material but a good deal of the material written for those stars who went on camp tours and hospital tours in this country and overseas. This was mostly comedy material, as you probably remember, and I was a kind of liaison between the writers mobilization and two organizations, one called the Victory Committee, which was the producers organization for such activities, headed by Eddie Manix, Charlie Feldman, Kenneth Thompson -- all very conservative men, I hasten to add -- and the USO Camp Shows organization, headed by a man named Abe Lastfogel, who was in charge of the William Morris office. And what they would do was they would say Olivia DeHaviland was to go on a camp tour in this country. "Would you get some kind of little routine worked up for her?" I would call a writer and I would get the writer together with DeHaviland, and we would discuss what was best suited to her personality and her type of talent, and something would be written for her. It would be given directly to either USO Camp Shows or to the Victory Committee, and that would be the end of it. Off she would go.

There were hundreds and hundreds of actors and actresses who entertained during the war, as you know, and there had to be a great deal of material written, and I was in charge of it.

Mr. TAVENNER. Now, that was immediately after this country became involved in the war?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. That's right.

Mr. TAVENNER. During that period of time were you attending Communist Party meetings?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. I did attend some during that time, yes. I attended a few, simply because I felt that since I was doing what I could for the war effort, and since that thing was the primary issue in the Party at the time, there wasn't any particular reason for me to go to all those Mobilization meetings, that I had to go to meet with all those people that I had to meet with, and also go to Communist Party meetings where they were discussing the same things, as far as I was concerned. So I attended meetings, but not very many.

Mr. TAVENNER. Were those meetings of the same group that you had formerly been assigned to or a different group?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. No, they were different people then during the war.

Mr. TAVENNER. Well, tell us about your assignment to the second group and when that occurred.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, I don't exactly remember, Mr. Tavenner, when it occurred, but was probably sometime around 1941, and it was in connection with the Writers Mobilization work, because most of the people in the group had some connection with the Mobilization.

Mr. TAVENNER. Just a minute. You say "most of the people in the group"?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. What group?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. In the second group.

Mr. TAVENNER. Of the Communist Party?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. Had some connection with the Hollywood Writers Mobilization?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. Very well. Tell us who were in this second group, and in giving us the names of them, state also whether or not they were connected with the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, and if you can recall, in what capacity.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, the first one that comes to my mind, the most natural one, of course, is Robert Rossen, who was the second chairman of the Mobilization. There was Abe Polonsky. I don't know that he had any special job in the Mobilization. He did a good deal of work. He is a very brilliant writer.

Mr. TAVENNER. Abe Polonsky?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes, Polonsky. There was Albert Maltz. I don't remember whether Maltz worked in the Mobilization or not, but I remember him in the meetings. There was Lester Cole. There was Richard Collins. There was a man named Carleton Moss, who made a film for the Capra unit, an excellent film, as a matter of fact, on the Negro soldier in the war effort -- the Army unit known as the Capra unit, headed by Frank Capra. Gordon Kahn. I don't remember whether Kahn was active in the Mobilization or not, but I remember him in these meetings.

The point is, you see, it is difficult for me to remember about the Mobilization. The Mobilization was an organization made up of all officially recognized writers' groups in the industry, which meant that every writer in the industry was a member of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and was working for them, and the Mobilization did work for the OWI, for the Navy, for the Army. They did propaganda work for all the Government agencies engaged in this type of work. And I am trying to restrict now my memory to those people I knew as Communists, and I think those are the only ones that I can mention.

Mr. TAVENNER. Those are the only ones?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Those are the only ones I know.

Mr. TAVENNER. Who were members of your cell and who were also members of the Writers Mobilization?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Those are the people that I saw in Communist meetings, yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. I would like to ask you if you knew an individual by the name of Edward Biberman.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes, I did. I was in meetings with him. He was not a writer, and as far as I know had no connection with the Mobilization. He was an artist, painter. He is Herbert Biberman's brother.

Mr. TAVENNER. Well, now, can you recall the name of any other person who was a member of this group who was not connected with the Writers Mobilization?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. The only other person I can remember that might have been a member of this group -- and I don't hesitate to say that I knew him as a Communist. It was just simply in one group I knew him, and I think this is not terribly important -- is a man by the name of George Willner, who was an agent, a literary agent with a company called Nat Goldstone.

Mr. TAVENNER. Would you spell that name?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. W-i-l-l-n-e-r.

Mr. TAVENNER. Do you recall his first name?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. George.

Mr. TAVENNER. Were you acquainted with these individuals prior to your being assigned to the group with them?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Some of them, yes, because of my work in the Mobilization, and some of them I had simply known as writers in the industry. After all, I was in contact with most of the writers in the industry.

Mr. TAVENNER. I would like you to state to the committee just what transpired at the meetings in as general a way, with such particulars as you can recall, relating to any things that would indicate the type of control that the Communist Party had over its members.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, at that time, Mr. Tavenner, the control was more over its members in terms of general attitude than it was on any issue of politics, because as I have said before there was no conflict between the people who were in the Party and the people who were not in the Party as to the issues of the day.

Mr. TAVENNER. You are speaking now of the war period?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. I am talking of the war period, between '41 and '44. There was, however, a general attitude on the part of the more vocal people in the Party to hand down decisions which were never really discussed. In other words, the discussions which were held would end pretty much as they started, and it took me a long time, I am afraid, to finally understand that this was the type of discipline that was entirely, in my opinion, undemocratic and which I could not uphold or agree with, either in its principle or in its policies.

For instance, I was one of the people who was confused and bewildered and somewhat shocked in 1939 by the Nazi-Soviet Pact. I had joined the Party on the basis of being anti-Hitler. Naturally, this came somewhat as a surprise to me, and it was explained to me that this was an expedient measure on the part of the Soviet Union to gain time; that there was never a question in their mind but what they were going to fight the Germans. It was just a question of gaining time. I accepted this.

There were other switches of this sort, as you are all well aware, from time to time; and I found it more and more difficult to accept, simply because if you are thinking independently it is very difficult to go from one opinion to another quite so quickly.

Finally in 1944 or '45, I think it was, the Duclos letter was issued. This was another shock to me.

Mr. TAVENNER. D-u-c-l-o-s?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes. Duclos was a French Communist who didn't question but who challenged the policy of the American Communist Party.

Mr. TAVENNER. It was his challenge that was accepted as the proper Communist Party line to be adopted in this country?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. That's right. Now, one of the things -- and it will probably sound naive -- that disturbed me most, since I really had no really great political understanding of these things -- one of the things that disturbed me most was that here was a group of people who had felt that Earl Browder was a very great and important man one minute, and after the Duclos letter they didn't say, "Here is a man who has made a mistake. We cannot any longer accept his leadership, so we will replace him," in what would seem to me to be legitimate terms if that is the way they felt. They turned one minute from thinking this was a very great man to the next minute of tearing him limb from limb and practically crucifying him. This was the kind of thing I couldn't understand.

So finally I felt that it was about time in my life that I thought for myself, and I realized that in the Party this is not really possible.

I would like to illustrate this with what is to me a particularly pertinent quotation. There is an Italian by the name of Ignacio Siloni, who is a very great Italian novelist, who was an important Party member up until around 1929 or '30, who was in fact a member of the Comintern with Togliatti, who is presently the head of the Communist Party in Italy. Siloni left the Party in 1929 or '30, and I recently read a statement of his on why he was in it and why he was out of it, and he said this. He said that in the Communist Party there is no such a thing as an adversary in good faith; that even with a man of the stature of Lenin, whom Siloni obviously considered a man of great stature, one could not really disagree with any reasonable intelligent terms. The minute you disagree they begin to call you names, and this is a form of intimidation, this is a form of fear, and people have a dreadful desire to belong once they belong to something. And this is in my opinion a very bad and a very dangerous policy of any organization. I consider it one of the most dangerous policies of the Communist Party -- that there is no really independent thinking among the rank and file.

This was one of the most decisive reasons for my leaving, outside of the fact that when I left in 1945 I not only disagreed with the procedure in the Party, but I disagreed with their policy.

(Representative Francis E. Walter entered the hearing room.)

Mr. TAVENNER. Well, now, will you tell the committee just what induced you to leave the Party and how you left it?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, I have already told the committee to the best of my ability what induced me to leave. I felt that I could no longer belong to an organization which I had joined for what seemed to me the highest motives, and then I found out that -- I had always believed that if an organization was anti-Fascist in the best possible sense that it must naturally then be pro-democratic in the best possible sense, and when I found out that it was not I was naturally disenchanted, shall we say. I was no longer interested.

Mr. TAVENNER. How did you go about terminating your relationship with the Party?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, I hadn't been going to meetings for a long time. I had been going to meetings irregularly during the war, not for reasons of politics but simply because I was so busy with war work; and after that I just began to skip meetings one after another around 1944, and I asked for my release from Paramount in 1945, my release from my contract.

Mr. TAVENNER. Do you recall when that was in 1945?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. It must have been around August. I had a couple of years to go on my Paramount contract, but I felt that I had gone as far as I could go in the organization, because it isn't really possible for a woman to be a front office executive in a major studio, and I felt that I would rather be in an agency where there is really no discrimination against women, where a woman can be as important an agent as a man. So I left Paramount and went to an agency called Berg Allen Berg, which I have mentioned before, in '45. I must have gone there around September, and not very long after I went a man whom I had never met, whom I had never seen, came to see me, a Party functionary by the name of John Stapp. He asked me why I had not been coming to meetings for so very long and what I intended to do about it, and I told him I intended to get out, that I didn't intend to come to meetings at all any more; and that was the end of it.

Mr. TAVENNER. Do you recall about how long that was after you took the employment with the agency?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. It must have been a very short time, I think. Probably not more than a month.

Mr. TAVENNER. When do you consider you had actually withdrawn from the Party?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, spiritually I had withdrawn before that; but I had not actually said so to them. I simply hadn't gone to meetings.

Mr. TAVENNER. I would like to go back a little and ask you more detailed questions about your experience while in the Party. You have spoken of the procedure in the meetings and the imparting of the Communist Party line to the group.

Now, how was that line imparted? Were there ever occasions when high functionaries of the Party addressed your group?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes. For one thing, I remember very early in my experience in the Communist Party around 19--you will have a record of this date. I wouldn't, because I didn't keep records. About 1939, it must have been, a man called Carl Winter, who was a Party functionary from New York as I understood it, a member of the Central Committee, came out and addressed a meeting at which I was on Party matters. I don't actually remember the issues that were discussed at that time. I simply remember that I did meet him at that meeting. I never saw him again.

Mr. TAVENNER. Were there any others whose names you can recall?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, John Howard Lawson very often would come to the meetings, even if he were not a member of the particular group, in order to explain certain problems that had arisen, of certain projects which they felt were important.

Mr. TAVENNER. What in your opinion was the thing in Hollywood which the Communist Party was really after?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, I think there were two things, mainly. I think the first one was that they felt that by getting important writers, actors, producers, and so forth, important people in the motion picture industry who were well known to most people in the country, or at least whose names are seen on screens all over -- I think that they felt that by getting the complete sympathy and support and activity of these people that they themselves would gain prestige in the country.

I also think that because these people earned large sums of money they probably felt that it would be a very important thing to be able to get money, because they solicited funds all the time. They asked for money all the time, not only in terms of dues but for special things. If "The New Masses" were in trouble, which it seemed to be constantly, they were asking for money, and I think that probably the Communist Party in Hollywood was able to give them quite a good deal.

Mr. TAVENNER. What about your own Party dues?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. At the time I was in the Party I was working at Paramount. I wasn't making a great deal of money, and I didn't pay much in dues. Originally when I joined the Party I was a reader. I was making very little money, and I paid very little amount, and for a while I didn't pay any, because I had no money of my own and my husband, not being a member of the Party, was not particularly interested in supporting it. He didn't disagree with those anti-Hitler, pro-Roosevelt, anti-Franco sympathies of mine, but he was not interested in the Communist Party. So I couldn't honestly ask him to support it.

When I went to work for Paramount I earned a little more money, but it never was much at any time. When I went to Berg Allen Berg I wasn't a member of the Party any longer.

Mr. TAVENNER. In other words, you virtually withdrew from the Party at the time --

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. -- that you went to your new employment?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. Now, at the time that you were in Paramount and while you were in the Communist Party, did you meet a person by the name of Bea Winters?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Oh, yes. Bea Winters was hired at Paramount, not by me, but she was hired at Paramount. She had been a secretary in the industry for a long time, an executive secretary, with an excellent reputation, and she was hired in the story department. Her job was to reorganize the story files, which were badly in need of reorganization at that time, and she did a really magnificent job of it.

When I was head of the reading department I was automatically in charge of those story files for a while, and consequently she and I worked together. She was my secretary. When I became assistant story editor she was no longer my secretary.

When I left Paramount to go to Berg Allen Berg, Berg Allen Berg had not for a long time had an official story department. They wanted to establish one again. They had writers, but they didn't have a real story department, and I felt that their files were badly in need of reorganization. The first person I thought of was Bea Winters, because she was awfully good at this. She was also a good secretary, and I hired her.

I read the testimony of Sterling Hayden saying that Bea Winters had recruited him into the Party. Now, during this time she was my secretary at Berg Allen Berg I did not know of her affiliation with theCommunist Party. I had never seen her in a meeting. I did know, however, of her leftist sympathies, because this was the sort of thing that was discussed in general, and she felt the same way as a lot of other people I knew, no more, no less. However, when I hired her at Berg Allen Berg it was on the basis of merit rather than her political opinions. She left. She must have worked for me for about a year and a half there, or so; and then she left to retire because she didn't want to work any more at that time. She is working again now. I however, had no knowledge of Sterling Hayden's membership in the Communist Party. As a matter of fact, I didn't know about Larry Parks either. It was interesting, because I was story editor at Berg Allen Berg, and they were both clients. I couldn't have been more surprised. But of course I was out of the Party then.

Mr. TAVENNER. While you were in the Party and while working for Paramount in charge of the reading department, were you in a position where you could, if you chose, favor any particular writer's work in the work that you did?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Not as head of the reading department, but I was in a position of some influence when I was assistant story editor. However, there are several things that have to be considered in this light. One is that I had a very good reputation as a story editor, and I was very jealous of that reputation, and if I were to recommend writers because I thought their politics were similar to mine and they didn't turn out good scripts, I would not only not have a good job, but I would not have a good reputation.

Another thing was that in no major studio is it possible for anyone in such a position to really exercise very much influence, because, for instance, in Paramount Y. Frank Freeman was the head of the studio, and at the time I worked there Mr. DaSylva was under him, and also Mr. Ginsberg.

Mr. TAVENNER. What DaSylva?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Buddy DaSylva. He has since died. And Henry Ginsberg after him. And there are producers; there are directors; there were two front office executives above me. There was Mr. Freeman, and there was Mr. Ginsberg, all of whom were very concerned about what writers were hired and what stories were bought and knew as much as I did about these things.

My main interest was in doing a good job, and there was no reason for me to hire people for political reasons. I was doing a war job, which I felt was enough for the Party.

Mr. TAVENNER. Actually, during the period of the war when the Communist Party was interested in promoting the war effort, there was comparatively little occasion for the exercise of preference?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. There was no occasion for it. There was really no occasion for it. I haven't got the records, but the committee could certainly get them, I am sure, from Paramount. If you will go over the list of writers who were hired and who worked at Paramount during that time, you will find no preponderance at all of left people. They were hired on the basis of could they fill the assignment or couldn't they.

We made such pictures as "Wake Island," "The Story of Dr. Wassel," "Double Indemnity," "Lost Weekend." These were pictures which might be considered propaganda, but hardly subversive.

Mr. TAVENNER. After your employment with Berg Allen Berg, you were then in a position of greater importance and greater responsibility, were you not?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes, I was, and I represented writers of every possible political color. I represented people like Sinclair Lewis, James Hilton, Richard Llewellyn, Clement Dane, Laura Hobson. I sold books such as "Belvedere," which was made into a Clifton Webb picture called "Sitting Pretty," and subsequently into several sequels; a book called "East River," by Scholom Asch, and I sold "Gentlemen's Agreement" to Zanuck. I was very proud again of the fact that I had a reputation as an agent, which was unique in the sense that I never represented anybody I didn't believe had talent, and many people came to me whom I refused to represent.

I don't feel that it is my place to explain this to you, but I think if you will check with other people in the industry you can find this out for yourselves.

Mr. TAVENNER. You have named a number of individuals there as persons for whom you have sold pictures or writings.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. Were any of those persons whose names you have mentioned members of the Communist Party?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Oh, no, I don't believe so. Certainly not to my knowledge, and I would be very surprised to hear it.

I also represented Dalton Trumbo, who had been a client of Berg Allen Berg's for many years before I came there, as was, for instance, Ian Rand. They represented anybody they felt was talented and that they could do a job with. My association with Dalton at Berg Allen Berg was entirely professional. He had a contract at that time at Metro, and there was actually very little to do for him.

Mr. TAVENNER. The point that I want for the committee is whether or not at any time, even after you left the Communist Party, you knowingly favored any Communist writer in the promotion of his particular writing or script.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Not to my knowledge.

Mr. TAVENNER. I have no further questions, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Walter, any questions?

Mr. WALTER. No questions.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Doyle?

Mr. DOYLE. No, I think not, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Velde?

Mr. VELDE. You mentioned that the Communist Party line represented controlled thinking, or words to that effect. In your opinion, who controlled the Communist Party line? How did you get the Communist Party line?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, the people naturally -- this is partly a question of leadership and partly a question of personality, because a man like Herbert Biberman, who was not necessarily to my knowledge in any high position of leadership, talked a great deal; and when a man talks a great deal and with a certain eloquence he can control other people. But aside from that it was obvious to me that the person who really did most of the thinking or of the deciding for the group was John Howard Lawson.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Kearney?

Mr. KEARNEY. I haven't any questions.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Potter?

Mr. POTTER. Mrs. Rosenberg, when you were working with writers preparing the scripts for various USO personalities, you stated that it was difficult to actually influence the script; is that true?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, they weren't really scripts, you see. They were just little comedy sketches. It wasn't even a question of influence. It was a question of what was the sort of thing that Ingrid Bergman could best do to entertain soldiers. Could she dance or sing or could she recite a poem? It was that sort of thing. It was a question of the capacity and personality of the stars.

Mr. POTTER. Was any effort made by Communist leaders in an effort to have you influence it? You said it wasn't done, but I am wondering if that was ever suggested. Was it brought to your attention that this would be a good thing to do?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. No. I must honestly tell you, Mr. Potter, that this was never done. Either I was in a field where it didn't seem advisable or, as Mr. Tavenner has helped me explain, this was in a period where there was no conflict between the political policies of the Party and of the Government.

Mr. POTTER. For my own information, what is a reader?

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Well, a reader is somebody who takes a novel, whether it is in galley form or an original story written for the screen, reads it and does a synopsis of it, ranging anywhere from one page to fifty pages, for those people who are in executive charge of the studio who haven't time to read the whole thing, because there are hundreds and hundreds and hundreds of such books and stories and plays submitted monthly to studios. The people in charge simply haven't the time to read everything themselves, and they need someone to boil it down for them, to say to them, "This is something you should look into," or "Don't bother about this."

Mr. POTTER. I will say that you brought a great deal of charm to our committee.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Thank you, Mr. Potter.

Mr. WOOD. I wish to express on behalf of the committee our deep appreciation for your coming here and the very frank manner in which you have answered the questions which were asked you.

Unless there is some reason why she should be retained, we will excuse the witness.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. I have a wire which I don't think should necessarily be introduced into the record, but it rather adroitly represents the attitude of some of my friends in Hollywood about my policital activities, and I will leave it to the discretion of the counsel as to whether he wants to read it or not. It comes from a man called Nunnally Johnson, who is a producer and writer at Fox.

Mr. WOOD. Suppose you leave it.

Mrs. ROSENBERG. Let the counsel decide.

Mr. TAVENNER. I will certainly read it, Mr. Chairman, perhaps to save the witness a little embarrassment:

"Mrs. Meta Rosenberg. Statler Hotel, Washington, D. C.

"I trust this will convince you that politics is no business for a fetching girl. Politics is for flat chested girls." (Laughter)

Mr. WOOD. Thank you very much. You may be excused.

(Witness excused)

Mr. TAVENNER. Victor Killian.

Mr. WOOD. You do solemnly swear the testimony you give before this committee shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

Mr. KILLIAN. I do.

TESTIMONY OF VICTOR KILLIAN

Mr. TAVENNER. You are Mr. Victor Killian?

Mr. KILLIAN. Yes, sir.

Mr. TAVENNER. Are you represented by counsel?

Mr. KILLIAN. I am.

Mr. TAVENNER. Will counsel again identify themselves for the record.

Mr. KENNY. Robert Kenny, Los Angeles.

Mr. MARGOLIS. Ben Margolis, Los Angeles.

Mr. TAVENNER. Will you please state your age and place of birth.

Mr. KILLIAN. I was born in Jersey City, March 6, 1891.

Mr. TAVENNER. What is your present occupation?

Mr. KILLIAN. I am an actor.

Mr. TAVENNER. Will you state briefly for the committee your educational training.

Mr. KILLIAN. Very brief, indeed. I went to four years of public school, and that's all.

Mr. TAVENNER. What has been your record of employment?

Mr. KILLIAN. You mean Hollywood or --

Mr. TAVENNER. Let us confine it to Hollywood.

Mr. KILLIAN. I went out there in 1935. I was under contract to Columbia Studios.

Mr. TAVENNER. Have you been there ever since?

Mr. KILLIAN. Well, not entirely. I made my residence there ever since, but I did go to New York on occasion to do an occasional play in New York.

Mr. TAVENNER. What was your last employment?

Mr. KILLIAN. My last employment was in a picture called — I believe it is going to be called "The Tall Target," done at M-G-M. A story of the attempted assassination of Lincoln.

Mr. TAVENNER. Who employed you?

Mr. KILLIAN. The producer, who is Richard Goldstone.

Mr. TAVENNER. Will yougive us the names of other pictures in which you have participated?

Mr. KILLIAN. I have been in something like one hundred and twenty-five or thirty picture. I can jump around. I cannot keep them chronological.

Mr. TAVENNER. Let us state some of the principal ones within the past three or four years.

Mr. KILLIAN. The past three or four years? I was in "The Flame and the Arrow." I was in a picture not yet released, something about going down into the bowels of the earth to escape atom bombs. I think that was called under production "Night Without Stars." I was in a picture with Bob Hope. It was called "The Lemon Drop Kid." It is not yet released, to my knowledge. I find it hard to remember them. I can't offhand remember any. I know they are there.

Mr. TAVENNER. Mr. Killian, the committee has information that you were issued a Communist Party registration card in 1945, bearing No. 47342. Is that correct?

Mr. KILLIAN. I am going to stand on the Fifth Amendment. I am not going to spell it out for you, but I merely say I refuse to answer that questio. on the grounds that my answer might tend to incriminate me.

Mr. TAVENNER. Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. KILLIAN. I refuse to answer that question on the grounds previously stated.

Mr. TAVENNER. I have no further questions, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Doyle?

Mr. DOYLE. Do you know, Mr. Killian, of any organization in our country, the United States, which has for one of its objectives the subversive overthrow of our form of Government? I am not asking if you are a member of any. I am asking you if you know of any.

Mr. KILLIAN. If I knew of any such organization, I would report it to the proper authorities.

Mr. DOYLE. One of the objectives of this law under which we serve is to make reports to Congress as to remedial legislation and connect it with subversive misconduct of persons or organizations. Do you have any suggestion as to any remedial legislation?

Mr. KILLIAN. I am not equipped to do that at all. As I say, I am a person of very little education, and certainly no legal knowledge.

Mr. DOYLE. We all receive education, of course, other than that which we acquire in the classroom.

Mr. KILLIAN. Well, I hope so.

Mr. DOYLE. I think that's all.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Walter?

Mr. WALTER. No questions.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Potter?

Mr. POTTER. No questions.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Kearney?

Mr. KEARNEY. No questions.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Velde?

Mr. VELDE. No questions.

Mr. WOOD. Any further questions by counsel?

Mr. TAVENNER. No, sir.

Mr. WOOD. Is there any reason why this witness should not be excused?

Mr. TAVENNER. No, sir.

Mr. WOOD. You are excused.

(Witness excused)

Mr. TAVENNER. Mr. Fred Graff.

Mr. WOOD. You solemnly swear the testimony you give before this committee shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

Mr. GRAFF. So help me God.

TESTIMONY OF FRED GRAFF

Mr. TAVENNER. You are Mr. Fred Graff?

Mr. GRAFF. That's correct.

Mr. TAVENNER. The proper spelling of your last name is G-r-a-f-f?

Mr. GRAFF. That's right.

Mr. TAVENNER. Are you represented by counsel?

Mr. GRAFF. Two very able ones, I hope.

Mr. TAVENNER. Will counsel again identify themselves for the record.

Mr. KENNY. My client has a right to hope. Robert Kenny.

Mr. MARGOLIS. Ben Margolis.

Mr. TAVENNER. Mr. Graff, will you state when and where you were born?

Mr. GRAFF. I was born in New York City, 1920, June 2nd. Spent most of my life there. My father died in 1941. I was an only child. I had the support of my mother, who wasn't well, and we moved to California, Los Angeles.

Mr. TAVENNER. When did you move to California?

Mr. GRAFF. That would be approximately June 1942.

Mr. TAVENNER. What is your profession?

Mr. GRAFF. A semi-employed freelance actor.

Mr. TAVENNER. Will you state to the committee what your employment has been since you went to Hollywood in 1942, briefly. For what companies have you worked?

Mr. GRAFF. Before '42?

Mr. TAVENNER. No, since '42.

Mr. GRAFF. Oh, since '42. Under very peculiar circumstances as these things work, I found myself with a contract with Columbia Pictures in 1944. I think it was February. That's right.

Mr. TAVENNER. And what was your next employment, or did you still remain under contract with that concern?

Mr. GRAFF. Well, I remained under contract for the remainder of the year, at which time I was called to serve my country. I was inducted into the U. S. Infantry, served, went overseas, returned, and was honorably discharged in 1946.

Mr. TAVENNER. After your discharge, what was your record of employment?

Mr. GRAFF. I had found six weeks remaining on my contract, and I filled them out at Columbia. I must say that during the time I was there I had gotten very little work. They had a plan for me when they first signed me on possibly a starring moving picture. It fell through in the first week, and I hadn't worked since at the studio. I returned. They had no plans for me. I finished my six weeks, at which time I was suddenly out of work, dropped, no money, and having spent a little over a year at Columbia, I hadn't advanced in my career. I had invested time there. They paid me, and meanwhile I had been still an unknown actor, unperformed.

At that time I was very conscious of my rights as a returning G.I., and felt honored to exercise those rights. And I found that in my being discharged, six weeks after my returning, that the bill of rights was in existence and it guaranteed fifty-two weeks' employment at the studios, any place you worked, for any returning G.I. I talked to my union about it. There was some hesitancy at first, but they finally agreed to discuss it with the studio. The attorney got in touch with the studio. They had a conference, and as a returning soldier they still didn't recognize the principle in the studio that I was entitled to the remainder of the fifty-two weeks, but they made the concession that they didn't recognize it, but since it was right after the war they weren't going to test the case of a returning G.I. being entitled to begin his career again.

Mr. TAVENNER. When did you return to the West Coast?

Mr. GRAFF. Return?

Mr. TAVENNER. Yes, from the service.

Mr. GRAFF. 1946. When I was discharged, I returned to my mother, who was alone, to take up the support. She wasn't well, and I went back to work. February of '46. Is that what you wanted to know.

Mr. TAVENNER. I am trying to understand the dates.

Mr. GRAFF. Oh, the dates. Is that what you want? I was discharged on February 1, 1946.

Mr. TAVENNER. When did you enter the service?

Mr. GRAFF. I entered the service in December 1944.

Mr. TAVENNER. Where were you between 1944 and 1946?

Mr. GRAFF. I spent six months in infantry training at Camp Roberts, California. I was then assigned for overseas duty as an infantry replacement trainee.

Mr. TAVENNER. About when did you leave the United States?

Mr. GRAFF. I left the United States -- I can't remember the exact date. It would be, I guess, in the early part of '45.

Mr. TAVENNER. Excuse me, I didn't understand you.

Mr. GRAFF. In the early part of 1945.

Mr. TAVENNER. In the early part of 1945?

Mr. GRAFF. Forty-five. I left on a transport and arrived in the Philippines and was assigned to a replacement depot.

Mr. TAVENNER. And when you left, of course, you left from California for the Philippines?

Mr. GRAFF. Yes, that's right. That's correct. We boarded, I believe, near San Francisco on a troop ship.

Mr. TAVENNER. How long had you been in San Francisco prior to your leaving for the Philippines? Were you stationed there?

Mr. GRAFF. Oh, no. I have had no stationing in the United States except for the training.

May I say something? Would this gentleman like a picture? You are just making me nervous. You keep looking at me, and I am trying to concentrate here.

Mr. TAVENNER. I think you should goahead and take your photograph.

Now let us see if we understand each other. When was it you left the United States for service overseas?

Mr. GRAFF. Didn't you get that?

Mr. TAVENNER. No, I didn't.

Mr. GRAFF. Approximately -- it must have been around

April or May, perhaps, of 1945, I left this country. That's right. Didn't I say that?

Mr. TAVENNER. You said early in '45, I thought.

Mr. GRAFF. I see.

Mr. TAVENNER. Immediately before your leaving this country for overseas service, where were you stationed?

Mr. GRAFF. I was stationed in the Philippines, outside of Manila about a hundred miles.

Mr. TAVENNER. Then I have again misunderstood you. I am sorry. I thought you left this country for the Philippines in early 1945.

Mr. GRAFF. Where was I stationed? Didn't I say I had six months' infantry training at Camp Roberts?

Mr. TAVENNER. Yes. Were you still at Camp Roberts up until the time that you left for the service overseas?

Mr. GRAFF. Yes, that's right. I had gotten a leave, you know, prior to overseas. I got my leave, which was for approximately ten days, and I had gone overseas.

Mr. TAVENNER. Camp Roberts is in the southern part of California, isn't it?

Mr. GRAFF. Yes.

Mr. TAVENNER. A hundred or so miles from Los Angeles; possibly 150 miles?

Mr. GRAFF. I think it is more than that. I used to spend my weekends practically doing all traveling to get home. It was approximately 400 miles each way.

Mr. TAVENNER. Each way, but weekends you went to your home in Los Angeles?

Mr. GRAFF. Went home just about to sleep, eat, and go back.

Mr. TAVENNER. The committee has information, Mr. Gaff --

Mr. GRAFF. My name is Graff.

Mr. TAVENNER. Graff. I am sorry. -- that on December 9, 1944, there was issued to you a registration card of the Communist Political Association which bears No. 47363. Did you receive such a card?

Mr. GRAFF. (After consulting counsel) I believe in the principle in relation to the Constitution. I am always ready to defend it, and I must state that I feel that it is my duty as an American to claim this privilege that was invested in this country by people who have fought for it, and that is the right to not testify to such questions because they might tend to incriminate me today.

Mr. TAVENNER. To incriminate you?

Mr. GRAFF. That's correct. And I might add that this right does not commit anybody to assume whether there is any guilt involved or whether it is incriminating or not. I am sure you gentlemen are well aware of that.

Mr. TAVENNER. Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. GRAFF. Well, it is the same question. You are trying to obviously now --

Mr. WOOD. Please just answer the question or decline to answer.

Mr. GRAFF. All right. I am sorry. I am trying to answer it my way. I think I have done everything to do that. I just must state that as a beginning young actor my coming all the way here from California to answer this question before this committee is pretty -- I am pretty indignant about it.

Mr. WOOD. Do you answer it or not?

Mr. GRAFF. I refuse to answer it, because it is the same question. I stated why, and on those grounds.

Mr. TAVENNER. I have no further questions.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Walter?

Mr. GRAFF. Incidentally, I have thought a lot about it, and I have learned a lot. May I say something?

Mr. WOOD. I am giving the members of the committee an opportunity to ask questions. If you have a prepared statement you would like to file with the committee, please hand it to the reporter.

Mr. GRAFF. May I hand it to the press also?

Mr. WOOD. Anybody you want to after you get off the witness stand.

Mr. Walter, do you have any questions?

Mr. WALTER. No questions.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Doyle?

Mr. DOYLE. No questions.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Velde?

Mr. VELDE. No questions.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Potter?

Mr. POTTER. No questions.

Mr. WOOD. Does counsel know of any reason why the witness should be detained further?

Mr. TAVENNER. No, sir.

Mr. WOOD. The witness may be excused.

. GRAFF. May I say something to this committee?

Mr. WOOD. Your statement is in the record.

(The statement referred to is as follows:)

No one can call it an honor to be called before this committee, but in a way I'm complimented. For a relatively unknown, semi-employed actor to be summoned along with all these outstanding artists is a kind of flattery.

I ask myself what role I'm expected to play here. And I see they're casting only two parts today: pigeon or stoolpigeon.

Well, I can't believe the American people will ever accept the current attempt to glamorize the informer. And I couldn't accept that role, even if it paid off. One hardly knows whom to despise more these days, the individuals who have thus degraded themselves or those who have induced them to do so.

On the other hand, I don't want to be victimized, blacklisted. I have no taste for martyrdom, and I doubt if anyone has.

I ask myself why I've been called. Why an unimportant guy like me? And I see that's the reason itself. Because this committee wants to say to everyone, no matter how unimportant, "Keep your mouth shut. Don't hope for anything. And above all, don't hope for peace. That's subversive."

Yes, looking back for the possible reasons I may have been called, I can find only one explanation. I have spoken out loudly for peace.

Well, I've decided to accept neither of the two roles I am offered today. Not only will I not be a stoolpigeon, I will not be a pigeon. I shall invoke my privilege as an American under the Fifth Amendment of our Constitution, and we shall soon see the day when the unimportant people of this country all get together.

That'll be the end of this committee, and the end of wars forever.

Mr. WOOD. I would like to announce for the record at this point, as has been previously announced by this committee, that any person whose name has been given in these public hearings as having been affiliated with the Communist Party or any other organization that may have been cited by either the committee or the Attorney General of America as being a subversive or front organization who desires to do so, we will certainly welcome their presence here at such time as the committee may be able to make the proper arrangements, to make whatever reply or response they desire in connection therewith. And in this connection the committee has received a telegram today from one person whose name has been used here by a witness that has previously been on the stand, and he is requesting and will be accorded that privilege as soon as the committee can get around to it.

Is there anything further today?

Mr. TAVENNER. No, sir.

Mr. WOOD. The committee will stand in recess until Tuesday of next week at 10 o'clock.

(Whereupon, at 1:45 o'clock p.m., the committee was recessed, to reconvene at 10:00 o'clock a.m., Tuesday, April 17, 1951.)
