1. OPERATIONAL ACTIVITY

As mentioned in the previous month's progress report, in late October AMICE-27 and AMTRUNK-14 made their decision that they could not continue in the AMTRUNK operation under the guidelines followed up to the present, i.e. that all recruiting and planning for the fulfillment of the MIAPRON objectives of the AMTRUNK operation within PBRUMEN would remain on a person-to-person or agent-to-agent basis and could not at this time be conducted under the aegis of the political organization as conceived by AMICE-27. Efforts to winnow AMICE-27 away from the clandestine mechanism of the AMTRUNK operation culminated on 19 November when Andrew K. REUTEMAN and Irving N. PEGGINS held a discussion with AMICE-27 in which AMICE-27 agreed to participate in and confine his activities to the radio program which had begun transmission to PBRUMEN on 22 October. Leon C. FLUTEO, KUCAGE case officer, who will be the sole JMWAVE representative in contact with AMICE-27.

At a meeting between Reuben A. HANNULA and AMICE-14 on 19 November, AMICE-14 declared that he was pleased that the issue between AMICE-27 and KUDARK had been settled in this manner. As had been discussed previously between PEGGINS and AMICE-14, with AMICE-27 "reassigned" to the overt radio program, AMICE-14 would assume the leadership of the clandestine action side of the operation.

While the future status of AMICE-27 remained in limbo, it had been impossible to do any concrete planning for subsequent infiltration. With this matter settled, AMICE-14 and JMWAVE representatives began planning for a December infiltration. On the December operation, AMICE-14 would attempt to shore up the system of communications with AMTRUNK-9 and -10 and to redirect and rejuvenate their efforts toward the MELPRON objectives of the overall operation. In addition, AMICE-14 would attempt no more than two selected recruitments and would attempt to obtain additional information on two other important MHAPRON target personalities.

The decision was made during the same week of 18 November to bring into the operation two radio operators who had recently completed their basic radio training. During the December operation, one of the radio operators, AMAKA-1, would accompany AMICE-14 and the two boatmen, AMTRUNK-7 and -8, on the Boston Whaler to provide rapid communications between the AMTRUNK infil/exfiltration area and JMWAVE. The other radio operator, AMAGREE-1, would begin tradecraft training with AMTRUNK-13 in early December to prepare for a January infiltration. Either or both radio operators could then be used to provide a communications link with the infil/exfil area on an operation of short duration or could be infiltrated for a longer period of time to function as communicator for either AMTRUNK-9 or -10. AMICE-14 will also explore with both AMTRUNK-9 and -10 the possibility of their recruiting a qualified radio telegraphist who could be trained in KUBARK's system of W/T to remain in place.

In preparation for December, AMICE-14, AMAKA-1, and AMTRUNK-7 and -8 received maritime refresher training and ran additional tests on the 16' 7" Boston Whaler during the week of 25 November.

During the month, OWL messages 5 through 8 and S/W message #1 were sent to AMTRUNK-9. His S/W message #2 dated 6 November was received at JMWAVE on 30 November. S/W message #3 was sent to AMTRUNK-11 on 5 November and S/W message #2 to AMTRUNK-12 on 23 November. Attached is a Memorandum for the Record listing the contacts in the AMTRUNK infil/exfil area.
