Jeremy --

Earlier this week, I called the Federal District Court in Philadelphia to arrange to reserve a room, preferably a courtroom, for Groden's deposition on July 1.

When I first spoke to Tom Clewley, the individual who reserves rooms, he told me that the courthouse did not provide rooms for depositions. When I started to ask more questions, he said that he thought he could provide us with a room (I told him that an empty courtroom would probably work best), but that we should send our request to him in writing so that he could clear it with the Clerk of the District Court. He said that we could just fax the letter. His fax number is: (215) 280-2379.

A draft of the letter is attached for your review.
