THE THE STATE OF MARKET

h. As you are probably aware, infiltration of bodies and material into Cuba has become increasingly difficult and there is every indication that tightening of internal control measures will continue. Any large-scale training for guerrilla operations, as implied in reference, would be impractical and masteful without substantial assets for infiltration of the trainees and of material to supply them. We would be interested in detailed information on the "means to infiltrate" claimed by IKAL and APCATE, but it is extremely doubtful they have any infiltration assets that would justify training for guerrilla operations under the present circumstances. It is suggested they be advised to begin training on a small scale of a few cubans to infiltrate for the purpose of intelligence gathering. In this way they would be able to test their infiltration capabilities and to gain intelligence needed on conditions inside, prevailing internal control measures, etc., before making any decision on undertaking or training for subotage and guerrillatype operations.

- The departure cannot say whether or not the CRC is behind the training plans mentioned in reference, but efforts will be made to determine the CRC role if any. With regard to assistance, Station Bogets and Regrine should limit the selves to the above suggestions and should monitor the results to determine the possible future stility of the Cuban group in Colombin. At the present time it appears that GIAGAR would be wasting its time and money on a group which has yet to prove its claimed capabilities.
- 6. The Station should be particularly careful in its discussions of this matter not to imply KURARK or ODYCKE interest in or support of local FRD or CRC groups. On occasions these groups have engaged in activities which have been or might be harmful to ODYCKE relations with the local governments concerned.
