FBI FOIPA Addendum

As referenced in our letter responding to your Freedom of Information/Privacy Acts (FOIPA) request, the FBI FOIPA Addendum provides information applicable to your request. Part 1 of the Addendum includes standard responses that apply to all requests. Part 2 includes standard responses that apply to requests for records about individuals to the extent your request seeks the listed information. Part 3 includes general information about FBI records, searches, and programs.

Part 1: The standard responses below apply to all requests:

- (i) 5 U.S.C. § 552(c). Congress excluded three categories of law enforcement and national security records from the requirements of the FOIPA [5 U.S.C. § 552(c)]. FBI responses are limited to those records subject to the requirements of the FOIPA. Additional information about the FBI and the FOIPA can be found on the www.fbi.gov/foia website.
- (ii) Intelligence Records. To the extent your request seeks records of intelligence sources, methods, or activities, the FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of records pursuant to FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and as applicable to requests for records about individuals, PA exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. §§ 552/552a (b)(1), (b)(3), and (j)(2)]. The mere acknowledgment of the existence or nonexistence of such records is itself a classified fact protected by FOIA exemption (b)(1) and/or would reveal intelligence sources, methods, or activities protected by exemption (b)(3) [50 USC § 3024(i)(1)]. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that any such records do or do not exist.

Part 2: The standard responses below apply to all requests for records on individuals:

- (i) Requests for Records about any Individual—Watch Lists. The FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of any individual's name on a watch list pursuant to FOIA exemption (b)(7)(E) and PA exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. §§ 552/552a (b)(7)(E), (j)(2)]. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that watch list records do or do not exist.
- (ii) Requests for Records about any Individual—Witness Security Program Records. The FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of records which could identify any participant in the Witness Security Program pursuant to FOIA exemption (b)(3) and PA exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. §§ 552/552a (b)(3), 18 U.S.C. 3521, and (j)(2)]. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that such records do or do not exist.
- (iii) Requests for Confidential Informant Records. The FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of confidential informant records pursuant to FOIA exemptions (b)(7)(D), (b)(7)(E), and (b)(7)(F) [5 U.S.C. § 552 (b)(7)(D), (b)(7)(E), and (b)(7)(F)] and Privacy Act exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. § 552a (j)(2)]. The mere acknowledgment of the existence or nonexistence of such records would reveal confidential informant identities and information, expose law enforcement techniques, and endanger the life or physical safety of individuals. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that such records do or do not exist.

Part 3: General Information:

- (i) Record Searches and Standard Search Policy. The Record/Information Dissemination Section (RIDS) searches for reasonably described records by searching systems, such as the Central Records System (CRS), or locations where responsive records would reasonably be found. The CRS is an extensive system of records consisting of applicant, investigative, intelligence, personnel, administrative, and general files compiled by the FBI per its law enforcement, intelligence, and administrative functions. The CRS spans the entire FBI organization, comprising records of FBI Headquarters, FBI Field Offices, and FBI Legal Attaché Offices (Legats) worldwide; Electronic Surveillance (ELSUR) records are included in the CRS. The standard search policy is a search for main entity records in the CRS. Unless specifically requested, a standard search does not include a search for reference entity records or administrative records of previous FOIPA requests.
 - a. Main Entity Records – created for individuals or non-individuals who are the subjects or the focus of an investigation
 - b. Reference Entity Records- created for individuals or non-individuals who are associated with a case but are not known subjects or the focus of an investigation
- (ii) FBI Records. Founded in 1908, the FBI carries out a dual law enforcement and national security mission. As part of this dual mission, the FBI creates and maintains records on various subjects; however, the FBI does not maintain records on every person, subject, or entity.
- (iii) Foreseeable Harm Standard. As amended in 2016, the Freedom of Information Act provides that a federal agency may withhold responsive records only if: (1) the agency reasonably foresees that disclosure would harm an interest protected by one of the nine exemptions that FOIA enumerates, or (2) disclosure is prohibited by law (5 United States Code, Section 552(a)(8)(A)(i)). The FBI considers this foreseeable harm standard in the processing of its requests.
- (iv) Requests for Criminal History Records or Rap Sheets. The Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS) Division provides Identity History Summary Checks – often referred to as a criminal history record or rap sheet. These criminal history records are not the same as material in an investigative “FBI file.” An Identity History Summary Check is a listing of information taken from fingerprint cards and documents submitted to the FBI in connection with arrests, federal employment, naturalization, or military service. For a fee, individuals can request a copy of their Identity History Summary Check. Forms and directions can be accessed at www.fbi.gov/about-us/cjis/identity-history-summary-checks. Additionally, requests can be submitted electronically at www.edo.cjis.gov. For additional information, please contact CJIS directly at (304) 625-5590.

Nixon Names Kissinger as A Top Aide

National Security Adviser to Revamp Planning Setup

By GARNETT D. HORNER
Star Staff Writer

NEW YORK—President-elect Richard M. Nixon today appointed Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, professor of government at Harvard University, to be his assistant for national security affairs and oversee a "complete reorganization" of the White House security planning machinery for his administration.

Nixon told a press conference that a major aim of the planned reorganization would be to enable him to "not just react to events as they occur, but have a contingency plan ready to go into effect."

Preventive Move

He said that he has told Kissinger that he does not want him to spend too much time in the White House Situation Room so he will have "more time for creative thinking."

Kissinger told newsmen that his function will be to see that all options, with emphasis on long range planning, are presented to Nixon.

He said that Nixon wants him and his other foreign policy advisers to be "trying to keep crises from happening rather than spend their time helping to manage crises."

Nixon said he sees no real conflict between Kissinger's function and that of the State Department. He said that naturally Kissinger's views—"will have great weight with me."

But both Nixon and Kissinger emphasized that the secretary of state will be the principal foreign policy adviser to Nixon.

Nixon said he will have "a strong secretary of state." Asked about reports that he will be largely his own secretary of state, Nixon said the presidency is enough of a job for one man and so is the top Cabinet post, secretary of state.

He told questioners he does not yet know who will be his

Nixon: Kissinger Named As a Top Aide

 secretary of state or his secretary of defense.

The President-elect said that Kissinger is "keenly aware of the necessity not to set himself up as a wall between the secretary of state and the president."

A reporter, pointing out that Kissinger is known particularly as a specialist on European affairs, asked Nixon if his appointment means there would be a greater emphasis on relations with Europe in the new administration.

In reply, Nixon recalled that during the campaign he had emphasized the necessity for the United States to "get the problems of Western Europe on the front burner" to get into a position of strength "from which we can negotiate a reduction of East-West tensions."

He added that one of Kissinger's priority functions will be to examine the problems of Western Europe and NATO and make recommendations to strengthen the alliance.

Asked if he regards President Charles de Gaulle of France as the main European problem, Nixon said he does not think the problems of Western Europe can be blamed on any one man. He said he believes that Europe cannot go forward without France, and that France cannot go forward without Europe.

The only international problem Nixon gave higher priority than strengthening the NATO alliance is achieving peace in Vietnam, with the Middle East crisis ranking on a par with the revitalization of NATO.

Nixon and Kissinger were asked if Kissinger has changed his views on Vietnam since he reportedly drafted a four-point Vietnam peace program for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York earlier this year.

Nixon said he did not intend to get into the substance of anyone's views on Vietnam or other problems now. He said his administration will approach these problems "without any inhibitions" regarding past statements by any of his advisers.

Kissinger said only that he believes very strongly that a White House staff position is "inconsistent with making public statements on any substantive issues."

He has served as a consultant to the State Department since 1965, and was a consultant to the Joint Chiefs of Staff weapons systems evaluations group in 1959-60.

A professor in Harvard's government department since 1962, he also has served as director of Harvard's national security studies program. He has written numerous books and articles on the subject.

Nixon said Kissinger is starting work for him immediately. He said he would go to Washington to consult with Walt W. Rostow, President Johnson's special assistant for national security affairs, and develop his plans for reorganization of the NSC staff.

Nixon also announced the appointment of Dr. Richard V. Allen, senior staff member of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace at Stanford University and his director of foreign policy research during the election campaign, as an associate of Dr. Kissinger's on the White House staff.

He said he will appoint later a military officer to serve as a counsellor to him and to Kissinger on national defense matters.

Nixon was to confer late today with former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who is leaving tonight on a special fact-finding mission in the Middle East for him.

Kissinger said Nixon has urged him to bring into the NSC staff operation "new procedures and fresh talent" whether or not it agrees with his own views.

Nixon said he wants to be sure that any conflicting views on issues before the National Security Council are presented to him.

Kissinger also is to solicit the points of view of experts outside the government.

The President-elect went into some detail about how he decided on Kissinger as the man to be his principal White House adviser on national security affairs.

He said he considered several men who could have served this function well, but that most of them had been in government at one time or another.

"I felt that at this time there was a need to bring into the government someone who had not had such responsibility before so that there would be no question of a new approach being inhibited by what had gone on before," Nixon said.

He added that Kissinger had much to do with the national security section of a study that the Harvard Institute of Politics began 15 months ago for the benefit of the President-elect, whoever he might be.

He said the recommendations of this study covered the whole transition period, far beyond the national security area, and that he already has adopted many about reorganization of the White House staff.

Kissinger said he intends to elevate the planning function of the NSC staff. He said he will try to avoid orienting the NSC machinery only to immediate problems.

He said he intends to keep the NSC's permanent staff small, however. He said there about 20 people on the staff now.

The difference, he said, will be "much more conscious emphasis on planning."

Nixon said he wants not only to strengthen the quality of NSC staff planning, but also to do everything possible to revitalize and give greater responsibility to the State Department policy planning staff.

In the concluding essay of the massive Brookings Institution study, "Agenda for the Nation" published last week, Kissinger outlined the focus of the review of national security policy.

He listed six interconnected problems:

- Defining American national interest and national security for the next decade.
- The nature of American power in that decade.
- The relationship of military power to political influence in the world of nuclear stalemate.
- The implications of various national military postures, such as nuclear "superiority" versus nuclear "parity" in dealing with the Soviet Union.
- The impact of revolutionary technology on the nuclear missiles race.
- The prospects for arms control, including specific measures to moderate the arms race.

The central theme of Kissinger's essay, one of 18 on aspects of national policy facing the incoming administration, is that the United States must deal with a world which militarily is "bipolarized" between weaker in-can and Soviet nuclear powers but which politically is "multipolarized" between weaker independent states operating within this nuclear stalemate.

He was particularly critical of American "tutelage" of the Western alliance. While he wrote that NATO has far more staying power and justification than either the SEATO alliance in Southeast Asia and CENTO in the Middle East, he argued that even the Atlantic alliance is dying because of the American tendency to act first and "consult" with allies afterwards.

"The pattern of negotiating an agreement first (with the Soviet Union on nuclear affairs) and then giving our allies an opportunity—even a full one—to comment is intolerable in the long-run," he wrote.

The economic and political revival of West Europe has not been matched by an increased share of responsibility in the alliance, he said.

Professor Kissinger Joins Up 16

THE RE must be something about the groves of academia in Cambridge, Mass., that attracts Presidents of the United States. President Kennedy picked Harvard's McGeorge Bundy to be his top adviser on national defense, and President Johnson selected Walt W. Rostow of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Now President-elect Nixon, in filling this "major policy position," has appointed Harvard professor Henry A. Kissinger.

In picking Dr. Kissinger, a 45-year-old German-born naturalized citizen who came to America on the eve of World War II, then served in the army three years, Mr. Nixon chooses a man who ranks at the head of the class in the study of national security.

It was his 1957 book, "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy," that took the first cool look at the way A- and H-bombs and missiles had changed the strategic shape of the globe. He criticized the horrendous formula of "massive retaliation" and argued for a flexible response to confrontations, depending on their character.

And while upholding the American policy of containment of Communist expansion in Europe, Dr. Kissinger criticized Washington for not giving our NATO allies more information and control—and hence sense of involvement—in the alliance.

A central plea in his writings and frequent consultative trips to Washington is for greater discrimination by top policymakers. What they need, he says, is sophistication enough to match American power and responsibility, discernment about individual countries and their leaders instead of "undifferentiated globalism," and a keen eye to where our real interests lie, instead of our obsession for helping out anybody who says he is being threatened by Communists. In short, an awareness of the variety and subtlety of international affairs, compatible with a sense of what-we-really-want-to-accomplish.

So, Dr. Kissinger has a reputation as a hard-headed, unsentimental man, which will stand him in good stead in his new job. He will not be the President, or the Secretary of State, but he will fill an important White House post. Talking a good game of world affairs is not the same as lending sound advice consistently, under high pressure. But Dr. Kissinger looks like a good choice.

Came to U. S. as Refugee From Nazis

Nixon Appoints Kissinger to Security Post

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (UPI)—Richard M. Nixon today appointed Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Harvard University educator, as assistant to the President-elect for national security affairs.

The German-born professor of government, a leading expert in weapons systems and defense policy, has been an advisor to the administrations of Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson. Most recently he has been a chief State Department consultant on foreign policy and national security.

Dr. Kissinger, 47, who came to the U.S. with his family as a refugee from Nazism in 1938, later became a naturalized U.S. citizen.

Mr. Nixon said Dr. Kissinger would be charged with revitalizing and streamlining the National Security Council. He will take a leave of absence from Harvard's Center for International Affairs to assume the key position.

ALLEN NAMED ASSOCIATE

At the same time Mr. Nixon named Dr. Richard V. Allen, a senior staff member of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace at Stanford University as Dr. Kissinger's principal associate on the National Security Council.

Dr. Allen, 42, served as Mr. Nixon's director of foreign policy research during the presidential campaign.

Mr. Nixon characterized the naming of Dr. Kissinger as "the first appointment of a White House staffer in a major policy position."

Dr. Kissinger said he was "honored by the confidence the President-elect has in me" and said he would make sure Mr. Nixon had available the thinking of the intellectual community, not only in the U.S. but thruout the world.

Meanwhile, Mr. Nixon dispatched former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton on a nine-day fact-finding trip to the volatile Middle East today. His tour will take him to six nations in the troubled region where Mr. Nixon believes Soviet expansionist ideas have increased already high tensions and made war more likely.

An aide said Mr. Nixon would not make public his cabinet choices until sometime after he returns from a two-day trip to California on Dec. 7. But he is expected to name several more assistants and advisers during the coming week.

One of his first selections probably will be a budget director. Mr. Nixon must present a budget funding his programs to Congress shortly after assuming office Jan. 20 and costs, of course, will be a chief factor in establishing priorities and limits on his plans.

Maurice Stans, director of the Bureau of the Budget during the Eisenhower administration, has been advising Mr. Nixon on budgetary matters during the transition period.

The President-elect also is reportedly planning to name Harry Dent, GOP chairman in South Carolina, and formerly an administrative assistant to Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., to an unspecified White House post.

WEEK-END WORK

Mr. Nixon spent the week-end working with his aides in the transition White House atop the Hotel Pierre. He worked late into the night last night, returning to the hotel after dinner at his Fifth-av apartment a block away.

During the week-end he held sessions with Ambassador Robert D. Murphy, his chief liaison with the Johnson administration during the transition period, and with Herbert Brownell and Warren P. Rogers, two former U.S. attorneys general under Mr. Eisenhower.

Mr. Nixon gave his backing yesterday to a major effort by private businessmen to hire the hard-core unemployed.

Robert Ellsworth, an assistant to Mr. Nixon, held a two-hour lunch with Henry Ford II, president of the National Alliance of Businessmen and chairman of the board of Ford Motor Co.; Paul Austin of Atlanta, Coca Cola president and vice president of the Alliance, and Lee Beebe, a Ford vice president on loan to the NAB as its executive director.

The alliance was formed last year at the suggestion of President Johnson and its activities fit well into Mr. Nixon's plans for encouraging private businesses to participate helpfully in social problems.

It has about 1,400 participating businesses in 50 major cities.

Mr. Beebe said the Alliance already had exceeded by 10,000 its goal of placing 100,000 hard-core unemployed in jobs during the first year and the year is not yet half over.

Kissinger Election Pledge Vetoed

By Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger, the controversial White House national security adviser, is apparently convinced that President Nixon has no intentions of carrying out his campaign promise to adopt a hard-line policy toward Communist Cuba.

Although the President pledged to tighten the U.S. economic-political quarantine of Cuba if elected, Kissinger is working quietly within the Nixon Administration for just the opposite.

The President's chief foreign policy adviser has asked the Rand Corporation, a private study organization, to make a report on the feasibility of restoring political, economic and cultural relations with Castro's Cuba.

By requesting such a study for the National Security Council, the government's highest policy making body, Kissinger set the tone for the Cuban policy review now underway within the Administration.

Shows His Hand

Military and intelligence authorities, who favor a tougher American policy toward Castro, say the wording of the Cuban policy study request clearly indicates the type of change Kissinger is seeking.

file

"If Kissinger wanted a policy to back up the President's campaign pledge, he wouldn't have asked for that type of study," stated one high-ranking Defense Department official. "His request would have been for a joint State-Defense review on how the quarantine could be strengthened."

Acting as the President's chief foreign policy adviser,

Kissinger has barred all other agencies of the government from asking Cuban policy studies without his advance approval.

This veto power gives Kissinger tight control over what Cuban policy papers are to be presented to the National Security Council for President Nixon's consideration

Wants Normal Trade

For example, Kissinger has encouraged persons working on Governor Nelson Rockefeller's Latin American report to press the view that the U.S. should enter Cuba normal relations with trade. He also had a major role in getting the National Council of Churches recently to call for the U.S. to drop its quarantine of Cuba and reestablish diplomatic relations.

Only strong objections from Passport Director Frances Knight have blocked a move by Kissinger and a small group within the State Department to do away with restrictions on travel from the U.S. to Cuba.

During the 1968 Presidential campaign, Nixon called for increased economic, political and diplomatic pressure on Castro to force him to abandon his policy of exporting communist revolution throughout the Western hemisphere.

Nixon pledged that his Administration would listen to and work with Latin American leaders "who recognize the danger and are confronted with aggression and terror and who seek American partnership in forging common economic, political, and diplomatic programs to deal with it."

Kissinger's Cuban policy review comes at a time that Castro agents at the United Nations are trying to recruit Cuban refugees and black militants to organize a pro-Castro underground in the U.S.

To help in the coming investment, Castro already has begun recruiting an international cane cutters army which includes hundreds of far left students from American colleges.

The proposed lifting of U.S. passport restrictions and easing of the economic-political quarantine of Cuba would be a big help to Castro and his anti-U.S. activities, according to U.S. intelligence authorities.

Why Kissinger, who has full access to all CIA and FBI reports on Castro's ominous activities, favors policy changes that would help the Cuban dictator is one of the big foreign policy mysteries of the Nixon Administration.

Zionist 'Pledge' Is Forgery, Kissinger Says

NO
 A number of newspapers and magazines recently have received a photostatic copy of a pledge allegedly signed by Henry A. Kissinger, Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, bequeathing $20,000 to the Zionist Organization of America.

Yesterday Kissinger and an officer of ZOA branded the document a forgery. Kissinger said he had asked the Justice Department to investigate it.

Jacob Rubin, director of the ZOA Foundation Fund, said in a telephone interview that "Unfortunately we don't have such a pledge from any Henry A. Kissinger, the White House Kissinger or any other."

ZOA has circulated many pledge forms and one could easily fall into the wrong hands, Rubin said. The signature on the form appears to be Kissinger's, and he said yesterday it was either a photographic copy of his signature or a tracing. There is no date on the document.

The form says that the signer does "give and bequeath to the ZOA Foundation Fund, an institution of the Zionist Organization of America, a membership corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of New York and now having its principal place of business at 145 East 32nd St., New York, N.Y. 10016, the sum of $20,000."

The Washington Post received a copy of the pledge form from an anonymous letter writer who said that he and others were disturbed that a close adviser to the President should be "affiliated" with the Zionist movement.

Kissinger said photostatic copies had been sent to a number of publications. He said he had never made any contribution or signed any pledge to bequeath funds to the Zionist organization.

Kissinger Formally Resigns

Harvard Post

By GARRETT EPPS

Henry A. Kissinger formally resigned his post Saturday as professor of Government and member of the executive committee of the Center for International Affairs in order to remain as President Nixon's advisor for national security affairs.

Kissinger's resignation, announced by the White House, came only three days before his leave of absence from Harvard was scheduled to expire.

Kissinger had received assurances from the Harvard Government Department over Christmas that he would be rehired if he chose to remain in Washington after his leave expired.

Samuel P. Huntington, Thompson Professor of Government and head of the Department, said last night that the senior members of the Department had voted before Christmas "an expression of hope that he would come back and said that we would recommend his reappointment at any time in the next 20 months."

The Department decided to hold Kissinger's professorship vacant for at least a year.

Special Offer

The special offer to Kissinger seemed to represent a new departure in interpretation of the long-standing University rule limiting leaves of absence to two years. The last major application of the rule came after President Kennedy's raid on the Faculty for staff members of his administration.

Kennedy appointed John Kenneth Galbraith, Warburg Professor of Economics, ambassador to India; Edwin O. Reischauer, professor of History, ambassador to Japan; McGeorge Bundy, dean of the Faculty, special assistant to the President for National Security Affairs; and Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., professor of History, special assistant to the President.

At the end of the two-year leave, Reischauer, Bundy, and Schlesinger tendered their resignations from Harvard. Galbraith obtained a special six-month extension of his leave because he did not feel that he could leave his post during a border flareup between India and China.

Reischauer later asked to return to Harvard. Although his chair in the History Department had been filled, he was named University Professor — receiving the only such non-endowed University-wide chair in existence.

Bundy and Schlesinger decided later not to return.

The full text of the letter appears on page 6.

Kissinger reportedly feared that he would be slighted by antiwar former colleagues if he attempted to return. His predecessor as national security advisor, Walt W. Rostow, was turned down by M.I.T. when he attempted to regain his post as professor of Economics there.

The Departmental action represented an initiative by members of the Government Department to persuade him to return at his convenience. Huntington said last night, "I don't know if it's a precedent. I don't know of any case in recent years in which this sequence has been followed."

The White House also released

Saturday the text of a letter from Nixon to Kissinger.

"The intensity of both your devotion to scholarship and your affection for Harvard are well-known to your friends and associates," the letter said, adding, "I am grateful for what you have done and I am grateful that you are staying."

Kissinger said yesterday that he resigned "with enormous regret," adding, "Harvard meant a great deal to me."

He would not comment on the Government Department's action. "This is a matter for the Government Department and I would not know. I just resigned," he said.

"If I return to academic life, as I intend to, then I would certainly always be pleased to be at Harvard," he said.

"Frankly, I cannot imagine what the government would be like without you. Your wise counsel and strong support over the past two years have meant a great deal to me. . . . The nation's many accomplishments in the field of foreign policy during these past two years have been due in no small measure to your energy and to your vision.

"I am grateful for what you have done and I am grateful that you are staying."

McCarthy, Kissinger Met In Private

Associated Press

Presidential adviser Henry Kissinger, who seems to be opening up communications with doves who usually are his strongest critics, has met privately with former Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

McCarthy's office confirmed yesterday that he and Kissinger talked for an hour at lunch Monday.

Kissinger, President Nixon's national security adviser and former Harvard history professor, entertained McCarthy in Kissinger's office in the West Wing of the White House.

McCarthy's staff would give no details of the luncheon talk.

Kissinger met March 8 with Tom Davidson, William Davidson and Sister Beverly Bell, three of seven persons named as co-conspirators but not defendants in an alleged plot to kidnap Kissinger and sabotage heating systems in federal buildings here.

MCCARTHY VISITS KISSINGER

A Dove at the White House

By MARY McGRORY
Star Staff Writer

Henry Kissinger, who is trying to make the White House an open house, for doves, had one to lunch yesterday. He and Eugene J. McCarthy, the 1968 peace candidate, spent a gemutlich hour over trays discussing the movement of history, government institutions and the burden of incoherence.

The visit came just 16 days after Kissinger received three peace militants named as co-conspirators in the Beerrigan case. It suggests that the President's national security adviser is engaged in a little spring offensive of his own to present himself as a handy and reasonable man.

McCarthy, who like his host, is a former professor, reports that the conversation was, as it is apt to be when old academics get together, "quite abstract."

Kissinger extended the invitation a week ago, before the startling news of the previous dove incursion had leaked out. He told his guest, whom he entertained in his West Wing office, that the visit was not the President's idea. This was rather superfluous, as the President is notoriously averse to receiving dissenters under his roof.

Kissinger told McCarthy he had read with interest the former senator's recent guest editorial in Life magazine, the proposition of which was that the Vietnam war and other foreign policy disasters have occurred because Presidents Johnson and Nixon have made military decisions rather than for political judgments necessary in such cases.

There was no attempt on either side to proselytize about the war, which was, in fact, not specifically discussed.

No Mention Of Earb

Nor was there mention of a sharp thrust of McCarthy's about presidential counsellors, made at a recent anti-war teach-in at Harvard, where Kissinger taught history until he became what Sen. Stuart Symington calls "the second most powerful man in government."

McCarthy had told a cheering audience, which included some of Kissinger's old friends and colleagues, that there was "something to be said about the medieval practice of creating or exiling counsellors who give bad advice."

"While I do not advocate this course," McCarthy had said, "I have reservations about certain people, after giving bad advice, being welcomed back to the academic community."

Kissinger is sensitive on this subject. He winces at talk of following in the footsteps of his predecessor, Walt W. Rostow, who was denied re-entry at M.I.T. after service to Lyndon Johnson, and repaired to the University of Texas, working on the L.B.J. memoirs.

'Best Generalizations'

Sometimes at dinner parties, Kissinger means, "I do not think I would be happy at the University of Arizona."

But at the Kissinger-McCarthy meeting, "Each of us was giving his best generaliza-

McCarthy said.

McCarthy inquired if Kissinger was aware of the writings of a French intellectual named Michel de Certeau, who appears in an advanced Catholic journal called "Cross Currents." Kissinger, whose reading material comes largely from the Joint Chiefs of Staff these days, said he had not. McCarthy recommended to him an article called "Revolution against Indifference."

Kissinger said that such a revolution might lie beneath the general unease in the country.

McCarthy leaves on Wednesday for Israel, and that mention brought on a reflection about Zionism, the Dreyfus case and other matters not immediately related to the present state of affairs.

More Talks Wished

Kissinger said he hoped that he and McCarthy could have more long talks.

What the hard-hats in the administration think about Kissinger's fraternization with the other side is not known. Kissinger conducts his own public relations; just as the President is making herculean efforts to burnish his image, so the national security adviser too may be trying to counter the publicity he receives as a hawk who also is, according to the social pages, a social butterfly.

Since the departure of Daniel P. Moynihan, the only intellectual in the White House simply may get lonely for talk of him. The Nixon administration has written off the intellectuals and the young, but they are Kissinger's constituency, and it looks as if he is going to keep the lines open, no matter what John Mitchell and company think about his non-learn hospitality.

War Calls Go Astray

By WINSTON GROOM
Star Staff Writer

Just mention the name of Presidential adviser Henry Kissinger and Washington restaurateur Harold Giesinger's blood pressure goes up.

Because of an alleged case of mistaken phone numbers, Giesinger and his wife have been deluged by obscene and threatening anti-war phone calls apparently intended for Kissinger, the couple says.

The Giesingers have filed a $50,000 lawsuit in Superior Court here against the publishers of Avant Garde magazine which, the suit says, erroneously listed the Giesingers' phone number as that of Kissinger. The listing was in an article entitled "Dial-a-Hawk."

According to the Giesingers' lawyer, Edward Chozick, Avant Garde publisher Ralph Ginzburg, when informed of the situation, suggested that the Giesingers change their phone number. Ginzburg could not be reached for comment last night.

The Giesingers live in the swank Watergate Apartments in Northwest Washington and Giesinger manages the Watergate Restaurant.

Many high Nixon administration officials also live in the Watergate, but Kissinger does not. He lives on Waterside Drive.

But the Giesinger number was listed as Kissinger's in an article that stated:

"Through painstaking research Avant Garde has collected the private home telephone numbers of all the administration's leading hawks. We urge you to call a hawk this evening."

"Nixon's reaction to the out-cry against the invasion of Cambodia shows that the administration is at long last listening to anti-war forces of this country. To ensure that the administration keeps on listening, the editors of Avant Garde have devised a new form of anti-war protest. It is called "Dial-a-Hawk," the article said.

The suit says the Giesingers have been "inundated with voluminous calls at all hours of the day and night."

Most of the calls have been "vulgar, vicious and threatening," the suit says.

According to their lawyer, the Giesingers were on an overseas trip when the magazine list was published. They began to get calls when they returned but did not find out why until several months later, Chozick said.

Torrent Of Abuse

Giesinger said that, because of similarity in pronunciation, he usually would answer affirmatively when a caller asked for "Mr. Kissinger," and at that point he would receive a torrent of verbal abuse.

Finally, Giesinger was able to retain one of the callers on the line long enough to ask him where he got his phone number, and was told of the article.

Giesinger's suit charges that the magazine story was an "invasion of privacy" and asks for $25,000 in punitive damages and $25,000 in compensatory damages.

Besides Kissinger, the magazine listed phone numbers for Vice President Spiro Agnew, Secretary of the Navy John Chafee, Sen. Harry Byrd and practically all of the President's cabinet officers. It urged callers to give the officials "an earfull."

Handwritten initials/signature

No one but no one but your columnist Victor Riesel got on to the Kissinger-Gibbons-Hoffa-Hanoi story from the beginning. And that was fully a year ago. Then, though unnoticed by scores of correspondents, Harold Gibbons, the Teamsters fourth vice president who had been Jimmy Hoffa's one-man international affairs committee for years, began conferring with national security adviser Dr. Henry Kissinger, sometimes in the White House, sometimes elsewhere.

On Aug. 23, 1971, Riesel wrote: "Inside Story: Kissinger's Secret Cadre Picks Teamsters House Intellectual For Trip to Mao with Nixon." Gibbons never made that trip. The pressures on Dr. Kissinger and his aides ended that proposal after the story was broken by Riesel.

Then on March 21, Dr. Kissinger secretly briefed Gibbons who, with two other labor leaders, was about to fly to Hanoi for private "peace talks." Riesel wrote: "Three U.S. Labor Chiefs, Briefed by Kissinger, On Strange Mission to North Vietnam...He (Gibbons) has been close to Dr. Kissinger, he says. And on the night of Feb. 14, he told me he had been in touch with the President's national security adviser at the latter's frequent invitation." Mr. Nixon knew nothing of this.

The first briefing on Hanoi was on March 9 when Gibbons and Dr. Kissinger talked for a long time.

WILLIAM TAUB

Then, Riesel began following the trail of William Leonard Taub, the international confidence man. Fully one day ahead of the nation's press, Riesel reported on Sept. 11: "Posh Mystery Man: Hoffa's Park Ave. Operative Has Entry to Kissinger and Le Duc Tho. Why? How?" It was Riesel who first reported the strange luncheon of Dr. Kissinger, Gibbons and the global adventurer William Taub.

On this story, as on the big news role labor is playing in this Presidential election campaign, Riesel is way ahead: on the organization and strength of President Nixon's labor support; on the organization and operation of the labor committee for Sen. Kissinger Replacing Rogers ^{A-1}

By Murrey Marder

Washington Post Staff Writer

Henry A. Kissinger will replace William P. Rogers as Secretary of State, President Nixon announced yesterday.

Rogers, one of the President's oldest and closest friends, is resigning to return to private law practice, effective Sept. 3. He has spent more than 4½ years as Secretary of State.

President Nixon named Kissinger to serve in what amounts to a super-cabinet post, in which Kissinger will retain his extraordinarily influential position as assistant to the President for national security affairs, in addition to becoming Secretary of State. The President said Kissinger's dual function in foreign affairs will be similar to the dominant, double position of Treasury Secretary George P. Schultz in economic policy.

There was no open sign that Rogers' departure from the State Department was anything but voluntary and at his own request. Some administration officials, who have been critical of Rogers, maintained that the President was highly displeased that Rogers, in response to questions about the Watergate scandal, told a news conference last Monday that the United States must not "become so obsessed with security matters that laws are freely violated" at the expense of individual rights.

Rogers' formal letter of resignation, however, was dated Aug. 16. The President's acceptance was dated Aug. 20, the same day as the Rogers press conference.

In that press conference, Rogers unquestionably sought to disassociate his own role in history from the Watergate abuses. But President Nixon, nevertheless, extolled Rogers in his letter as a tested and "completely dedicated and completely selfless" friend and adviser for a quarter century, who played "an historic role" in shaping American foreign policy.

The Kissinger-Rogers shift has been rumored for several years, during which Kissinger overshadowed Rogers as the President's major international strategist, and speculation mounted in recent weeks that the shift was imminent. Nevertheless, the actual announcement caused some considerable surprise if only because earlier reports of it repeatedly failed to materialize.

Preoccupation with the Watergate scandal so overshadowed the President's Kissinger-Rogers announcements yesterday that not a single question was asked about the secretaryship of state during Mr. Nixon's press conference. This showed that for the present, at least, President Nixon was unsuccessful in transferring national press attention to what he regards as the greater issues of national affairs.

Internationally, however, the elevation of Kissinger to head the Department of State is bound to be regarded as a major diplomatic event.

Even though Kissinger, who at 50 is 10 years younger than Rogers, already held the preeminent foreign policy-making function in actuality, the conduct of American diplomacy has been openly and sometimes embarrassingly split between Kissinger's White House operation and the State Department.

President Nixon himself acknowledged that yesterday when he said, "The purpose of this arrangement is to have a closer coordination between the White House and the departments,"

Kissinger Replaces Rogers, Takes Dual Role

when he referred to the dual roles for Shultz and Kissinger. President Nixon added that "another purpose is to get the work out in the departments where it belongs."

This indicated that the President intends the State Department, for the first time in the Nixon administration, to fill a more normal function in the planning and execution of foreign policy. But there will now be a new form of abnormality, in the fact that Kissinger will wear two impressive hats, one in the White House and the other in State.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) told reporters yesterday that "I am disturbed about the dual relationship. It brings in the question of executive privilege, and that will have to be cleared up."

Mansfield was registering concern that Kissinger, in continuing to serve as national security adviser to the President, could claim that his functions in that personal advisory role are not subject to congressional scrutiny. This is expected to be a major issue when Kissinger goes before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for confirmation hearings.

Kissinger is bound to face questions on this subject at a press conference scheduled in San Clemente today. He is expected to take the position that as Secretary of State he will be abundantly forthcoming on all questions that a secretary normally would respond to, and that even a Secretary of State regards as privileged his personal advisory conversations with a President.

tive privilege question as it applies to Kissinger's new status.

The outgoing secretary was genial as always. Rogers gave no outward signs that he was displeased or unhappy about his departure. But many of his associates long have said that Rogers fondly hoped that he might be able to leave office at a point of higher, world-recognized personal accomplishment, especially an Arab-Israeli peace settlement. Instead he had to settle for the maintenance of an Arab-Israeli cease-fire for three years as his proudest personal accomplishment.

Referring to Kissinger, Rogers said, "I called him today and congratulated him and told him I was looking forward to working with him on the transition. I'm sure that it will work out well."

Asked yesterday if he believed there has been an exaggeration of "the rivalry" between himself and Kissinger through the past 4½ years, Rogers, who traditionally scoffed at, or minimized such questions, replied:

"Well, I think not so much between Henry and myself as I think it is true between the White House and the department."

"I think part of that was because there was a feeling on the part of the White House that the government was not leak-proof, and if you wanted to do things without a lot of public knowledge, you had to do it quietly."

"I suppose it is partly a natural jealousy that exists in bureaucracies. But, for my own part, I think it has produced good results and, after all, that's what counts."

Rogers said, as his exchange of letters with the President stated, that he accepted the post of secretary with "a firm resolve to return to the private practice of the law" at the end of the President's first term in office.

Privately, however, Rogers also had told associates, and sometimes the press, that he enjoyed his post and might stay on.

He said yesterday that he talked to President Nixon about his tenure at the end of the first term. Then, he added: "I talked to him about it a couple of times . . . June or some time in July—but I still had some things to complete. Then, once they were completed, as they have been now for a couple of weeks, I talked to him again. I talked to him last week for a couple of hours."

After the latter meeting, said Rogers, he wrote the letter of resignation dated Aug. 16. The only reason that was not announced then, said Rogers, was because the President was speaking on Watergate, "and we didn't want to relate it to that."

Rogers, when asked yesterday if it is true that "you didn't completely agree with some of the actions taken in the President's name" in the Watergate scandals, said, "I don't really want to make any other comments about the Watergate."

"As you know," he said, "I was out of the country for the most part during the first stages of the Watergate hearing. I did have discussions with the President, as you remember, just prior to the resignation of Mr. (H. R.) Halde- man and Mr. (John D.) Ehrlichman and Mr. (John W.) Dean, and I was up at Camp David with him (the President) for the better part of two days. But since that time, I have not been involved."

"I would have left whether there had been a Watergate or no Watergate," said Rogers, "that doesn't mean I don't have feelings about Watergate. It doesn't mean that I don't think this is not a good time to make a decision. I think this is very timely."

Rogers acknowledged, however, that he did not begin to tell even any of his ranking subordinates about his intention to resign until Tuesday night. Most did not learn about it until yesterday morning.

The secretary said there were many international matters of considerable urgency hanging over at the end of the President's first term which he wanted to see resolved before he left office, notably "the end of the war in Indochina," Middle East questions, a Latin American trip by Rogers and preparations for launching "the Conference on European Security and Cooperation."

Rogers said of his secretaryship "I think my sole regret is that we weren't able to end the war in Indochina more speedily. Whether anything could have been done that would have made that possible, that we didn't do or not, I don't know. I think history will have to judge that."

Reviewing the foreign policy accomplishments of the administration during his term in office, Rogers said, "I'd say, on the whole, that the picture looks very bright."

"You always have problems in foreign affairs," said Rogers, ". . . But certainly at the moment, I think the foreign affairs of this country are in very good shape."

Rogers said that in terms of the nation's welfare, "the initiative that the President took as far as China and the Soviet Union (are concerned) are things that will probably have the most lasting impact and the ones that I think will make these last 4½ years of great significance."

"I think the credit has to go to the President," he said, "but all of us played a part, and obviously Dr. Kissinger played a very active role in a way that you all know about, but so did a lot of people in the department. It was a team effort, and I think the President understands that."

Senators to View Wiretapping File

By Oswald Johnston and Jeremiah O'Leary

The Nixon administration agreed today to let two Senate Foreign Relations Committee members read a document giving further details of administration wiretapping, in which Secretary of State-designate Henry A. Kissinger may have been involved.

Sens. John Sparkman, D-Ala., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., were to be provided with a copy of the Justice Department document today.

The two senators were to meet in closed session in a small office in the Capitol with Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson and his deputy, William D. Ruckelshaus.

ARRANGEMENTS for this administration concession, which may remove an obstacle to Kissinger's confirmation, were hurriedly worked out this morning, even while questioning of the nominee continued.

Case, one of the committee members most insistent that the FBI report be made available, said to reporters that he is now optimistic the obstacle will be removed. "As the temper is at the moment," Case said, "I don't anticipate there is going to be an impasse."

Committee members are assuming that the document Sparkman and Case will receive is the same FBI report of the 1969-70 wiretapping campaign which Richardson refused the committee yesterday.

Richardson had tried to satisfy the committee during a closed meeting yesterday with a 3½-page summary report that contained no information not already in the public record.

Dissatisfied with this, the committee late yesterday voted unanimously to designate Sparkman and Case as a special subcommittee to review the FBI report in private and then report back to the full committee.

It is not clear when Case and Sparkman can deliver this report. The committee tentively is scheduling no meeting at all tomorrow and it is setting aside Thursday and possibly Friday for some 15 to 20 public witnesses who have asked to testify, most of them in opposition to Kissinger's confirmation.

The committee ended its interrogation of Kissinger shortly after midday today. He will meet again with committee members in an executive session Monday.

Fulbright announced that the committee has scheduled public testimony by about a dozen witnesses, most of them opposed to Kissinger, for Friday. Fulbright indicated that a committee vote on the nomination is now tentatively scheduled for next Tuesday.

THE COMMITTEE'S quest for the FBI report, which gives details on Nixon administration surveillance of 17 government officials and newsmen, is in part provoked by a belief of some senators that the document gives Kissinger a more direct role in initiating the wiretapping than the secretary of State-designate has admitted.

According to sources close to the committee, key members and staffers have examined a set of notes taken from the report by a confidential committee informant. These notes, sources say also reveal:

● Kissinger played a more important part in choosing the taps' targets than he has admitted so far in his confirmation hearings before the committee.

● Kissinger's National Security Council staff continued to supply names of possible targets for wiretapping on the ground they were responsible for news leaks from May 1969 through December, 1970—despite testimony that the Kissinger office was removed from the internal security business in the spring or summer of 1970.

● The timing of the start of the wiretaps was such as to throw in doubt administration claims that the campaign was initiated by news leaks concerning the 1969-70 secret bombing campaign in Cambodia.

Two of the four initial targets of the wiretap campaign—"turned on" May 9, 1969, the same day the offending news article was published—had no connection with the Cambodian policy. William Beecher, the New York Times reporter who wrote the article, was not tapped until May 1970—a whole year after the Cambodia leak.

Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., stressed that he and other committee members are not interested in the details of what was overheard during the wiretaps. But the committee does want to find out how exactly the campaign was authorized and whether Kissinger, despite his protestations, played a leading role in it.

Committee sources believe that interest was piqued still further by questioning in yesterday's confirmation hearing, when senators probed Kissinger's attitude to the dangers posed when the White House decides that the damage to national security from a news leak overrides the legal rights of individuals.

SEN. EDMUND Muskie, D-Maine, asked Kissinger for a general statement of his attitude on wiretapping. Kissinger said he has asked the attorney general to submit his legal view. "But I would say," Kissinger added, "that the weight should be on the side of human liberty" and that national security considerations should be overbalanced by this except in very rare instances.

Kissinger has repeatedly denied direct involvement in the wiretapping campaign ever since it first came to light in May, when FBI documents were discovered hidden away in former Nixon aide John D. Ehrlichman's safe in the White House.

In testimony before the committee last Friday, Kissinger stressed that his connection with the wiretapping campaign was secondary at best. "In early May 1969 the President consulted with the attorney general (then John N. Mitchell) and the FBI director (then the late J. Edgar Hoover) on how to deal with the problem (of news leaks)," Kissinger testified. "He was told the best method was to apply procedures followed in previous administrations . . .

"I had been in the government only four months and it didn't occur to me to question the judgment of these individuals," he went on. "My office was required to submit a list of those with access to leaked information . . . I was not informed of these facts when wiretaps were used."

SPEAKING to reporters in May, then-Acting FBI Director Ruckelshaus, basing his remarks on a preliminary report put together from the records found in Ehrlichman's safe, gave a different account:

"From our review of those records to date," Ruckelshaus said, "it appears that an initial conversation took place between Dr. Kissinger and FBI Director Hoover some time in the spring of 1969" in which Kissinger expressed his "extreme concern" over these leaks and the problems they were causing in our foreign policy.

"It appeared that from this initial meeting stemmed the effort to discover the leaks through the use of wiretaps," he said.

According to information the committee has received from the confidential source who has reviewed the final FBI report based on these records, the Ruckelshaus version of Kissinger's early role in setting in motion the machinery of the wiretaps is spelled out in similar terms.

IN ADDITION, despite the implication in Kissinger's testimony that his NSC office "was required to submit a list" on one occasion only, the final FBI report is believed to show that names continued to be submitted for "turn on," mostly in groups of two to four, during almost the whole time that the wiretaps were used—from May 1969 to February 1971.

This version is in part borne out in the carefully imprecise language of the summary Richardson gave the committee yesterday. "The FBI records on which this report was based do not . . . reflect all the deliberations that led to any given wiretap or the relevance to the leaked information of all the taps placed . . . When the NSC supplied a name the request for authorization to the attorney general recited that fact with little elaboration by the FBI."

AS THE confirmation hearings entered their third day today, Fulbright charged that it is evident the administration has not made up its mind to disengage from Southeast Asia despite protestations to the contrary. He cited the $150 million being sought by Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger for ammunition for Vietnam and declared, "You still seem to wish to dominate Southeast Asia."

Kissinger, who earlier had told the committee the United States has no such desire, said the ammunition appropriation is for Cambodia. He said Prince Norodom Sihanouk announced two weeks ago that China and North Vietnam had resumed supplying his forces. "That seems to us to be an inequity," Kissinger testified, "because we have stated we would not intervene in Cambodia."

Fulbright said this administration's policy seems to him to be "a concept of force to achieve our ends in a sort of Pax Americana."

"The bankruptcy of that policy is evident in our disaster in Vietnam. The economy is in a shambles and our people are apprehensive and confused. This policy has done more damage than the Russians could ever have done. It is the result of an overextension of our resources and seriously weakens America."

"We cannot dominate the world and we cannot buy it," Fulbright told Kissinger.

Kissinger insisted that the administration had kept its promise to depart from the previous administration policy by withdrawing half a million troops from Asia and negotiating a peace settlement. However, Kissinger admitted the process had taken longer than anyone expected.

KISSINGER'S ROLE ON TAPS OUTLINED

Senate Unit Gets Memo and Hears Richardson

By DAVID BINDER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—

The Nixon Administration attempted today to clarify the role played by Henry A. Kissinger in the wiretapping of 13 of his Government associates and four newsmen over a period of 21 months.

The move was made in response to a request by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that emerged in hearings on the nomination of Mr. Kissinger to be Secretary of State.

Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson and his acting deputy, William D. Ruckelshaus, went before the committee in closed session with a three and one-half page memorandum dealing with the wiretapping that went on from May, 1969, to February, 1971.

Concern Over Leaks

According to the memorandum and to their remarks in closed session, the genesis of the tapping program lay in the concern of Mr. Kissinger over repeated leaks in the press of classified information relating to his work as the President's national security adviser.

According to Administration sources, this is what Mr. Richardson and Mr. Ruckelshaus told the committee in closed session:

Mr. Nixon was described as sharing his adviser's anger. But it appears that Mr. Kissinger's appeal to put a stop to the leaks was what inspired formal action.

Sometime in late April, 1969, the sources said, Mr. Nixon called in Mr. Kissinger and the late Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, J. Edgar Hoover, to discuss the leak problem.

Sometime in late April, 1969, according to the sources, with Mr. Kissinger present, the President authorized Mr. Hoover to initiate an F.B.I. inquiry to find the leaks and stop them and, as part of the investigation, to employ "national secur-by wiretaps" and other means of surveillance.

Names Reported Given

Mr. Kissinger and his staff aide at that time, Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., supplied names of seven staff members of the National Security Council to Mr. Hoover or his deputy, William Sullivan, the sources said. They reportedly identified them as persons with access to security information and requested that they be investigated.

The sources said the next part of the procedure was for Mr. Hoover to write a request for wiretap authorization with the name attached and the brief explanation that it had been asked for by the White House.

The requests were sent to the then Attorney General, John N. Mitchell, for approval and initialing, according to the sources, something Mr. Mitchell denied before the Senate Watergate investigators last July. The sources said that the F.B.I. had subjected Mr. Mitchell's initialings to laboratory tests and had established that they were "true and correct."

Ruckelshaus Asked Report

Some of the 17 names were described as having been generated within the F.B.I. as a result of information garnered from other wiretaps. At least one name was said to have been submitted as a result of a conversation between Attorney General Mitchell and the White House. This was thought to be John F. Sears, at the time a White House counsel.

Last May as acting F.B.I. director, Mr. Ruckelshaus ordered a comprehensive report on the 17 wiretappings after press reports appeared linking the Nixon Administration to electronic surveillance of newsmen and at least one member of the National Security Council. The report was the basis for the memorandum submitted today.

At that time Mr. Kissinger was equivocal about his role in the wiretapping, saying on May 14 that he had neither asked for nor approved the taps and, then, on May 16, admitting that he had supplied names for the list of surveillance candidates.

Persons Listed

The 17 persons selected for wiretapping either as officials with access to "sensitive information" or potentially involved in leaking, and the newsmen who had published leaked information were:

Helmut Sonnenfeldt, Richard L. Sneider, Morton Halperin, Winston Lord, Daniel I. Davidson, Anthony K. Lake and Richard M. Moose, all of the National Security Council.

Also, Lieut. Gen. Robert E. Pursley, military aide to the Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird; William H. Sullivan, a State Department official assigned to the Vietnam peace talks; Richard G. Pedersen, aide to then Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Also James W. McClane and John P. Sears, White House Aides; William Safire, White House speech writer, and four newsmen, William Beecher and Hedrick L. Smith of The New York Times; Marvin Kalb of the Columbia Broadcasting System; and Henry Brandon of The London Sunday Times.

Senators Ask to See Kissinger Tap File

By Murrey Marder
Washington Post Staff Writer

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted yesterday to ask the Justice Department to show two of its members an FBI summary on Henry A. Kissinger's role in the wiretapping of 17 government officials and newsmen.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said he expects the Nixon administration "to cooperate" to clear this obstacle to Kissinger's confirmation as Secretary of State.

"I can't believe that they wouldn't cooperate," said Fulbright, "because the vote was unanimous, 14 to 0." Also, Fulbright noted, "there is a precedent for this," when security questions were raised on Charles E. Bohlen's nomination to be ambassador to Moscow in 1953.

In the Bohlen precedent, two members of the Senate committee, John Sparkman (D-Ala.) and the late Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) were permitted to inspect "raw FBI files," Fulbright recalled, and "we are not asking for the raw files, but only a summary." According to newspaper records, however, Sparkman and Taft also were shown only an FBI summary in March, 1953, by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who stated that the summary accurately reflected information in the Bohlen file.

Fulbright designated Sparkman, who proposed the parallel process yesterday, and Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) to go to the Justice Department. The public hearings on Kissinger's nomination, meanwhile, will continue for the third day today at 9:30 a.m. and are expected to run the rest of the week.

Members of the Senate committee said they expect a favorable committee vote on Kissinger's appointment early next week, with Senate approval soon afterward, but are expecting unexpected developments.

The committee is expected on an exhaustive examination of the wiretap controversy. Instead, the committee is treating the subject as a symbolic test of principle on its access to information, and is registering committee disapproval of what it regards as a process of surveillance that infringes on civil rights.

Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson met with the committee for 90 minutes and presented what the committee regarded as a very unsatisfactory four-page memorandum, based on the FBI summary report.

The memorandum added little to the public record on the wiretapping of 13 government officials, including members of Kissinger's own National Security Council staff, and four newsmen, between May, 1969, and February, 1971, in a search for the sources of news leaks.

But the memorandum did indicate, as some committee members have been convinced, that Kissinger's role in the wiretapping affair was not as passive as he indicated in his testimony last Friday.

The memorandum states, in part:

"As best can be determined from the FBI records, Dr. Kissinger's role included expressing concern over leaks of sensitive material and when this concern was coupled with that of the President and transmitted to the Director of the FBI (Hoover), it led to efforts to stem the leaks, which efforts included some wiretaps of government employees and news-

"His role further involved the supplying to the FBI of names of individuals in the government who had access to sensitive information and occasional review of information generated by the program to determine its usefulness. Any further elaboration of his role would have to come from Dr. Kissinger himself."

No attempt was made to pursue that with Kissinger in two hours of open testimony yesterday following the closed meeting with Richardson. Kissinger repeatedly has denied that he initiated the actual wiretapping process.

The motion passed by the Senate committee late yesterday stated that two members will meet with Richardson and Deputy Attorney General William D. Ruckelshaus "to obtain information on Dr. Kissinger's role respecting his initiative or concurrence in wiretap surveillance and then report back to the committee."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a committee member, said he expected the wiretap dispute to be "cleared up" by the end of this week. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) said he did not believe Kissinger's nomination was "in any danger."

Richardson told reporters that "the committee was assured that no member of the committee staff has been at any time subject to electronic surveillance while he has been a member of the staff of the committee."

That assurance was designed to reassure the committee about the wiretapping of Richard M. Moose, who was a member of Kissinger's staff and now is on the committee's staff.

Richardson also said "the committee's purpose would not be served by furnishing the names of individuals" who were wiretapped. Richardson said, "This is an issue in litigation now," with a court suit brought against Kissinger and other government officials by Morton Halperin, another former member of Kissinger's staff, on grounds he was illegally wiretapped. Kissinger, President Nixon and other U.S. officials have said they were convinced at the time the wiretapping was legal.

Kissinger has been aggravated that his confirmation hearing, in which he pledged the administration to a new era of "mutual trust" with Congress, has so focused on the wiretap controversy.

In yesterday's public hearing, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie (D-Maine) said wiretapping is one of the practices "that is a threat to our fundamental liberties."

"I would like to know what your attitude is to wiretaps," Muskie asked Kissinger, "and do you expect in similar cases to repeat their use?"

"The issue of wiretapping raises the balance between human liberties and the requirements of national security," Kissinger replied, "and I would say that the weight should be on human liberty" except where there are "overwhelming considerations . . ." Kissinger said the exception "should be very rare" and "I cannot foresee circumstances in which this is a likely eventuality."

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) again expressed concern yesterday about delays in Kissinger's confirmation. "Now I don't regard Henry Kissinger as a saint," said Aiken archly; "I feel that sometime he has committed sin," but "no one can question the part that he has played in bringing about more peace at present than the world has seen in a very long time."

Fulbright retorted that there is no delay and that Kissinger does not "require the title of Secretary of State to function. He has been functioning (as secretary) for four years."

~~On substantive issues,~~ Kissinger testified yesterday that the United States is giving "the highest priority" to its "year of Europe" policy intentions, despite the absence of public actions so far.

After meetings in Copenhagen yesterday and today by the nine-nation Common Market foreign ministers, said Kissinger, the process "will begin to accelerate."

Last April, Kissinger publicly proposed a new, all-embracing Atlantic charter to reinvigorate the Atlantic alliance, and tie Japan closer to it, encountering some opposition. Kissinger said yesterday that "our interest is the result ~~of the name that we give~~ the document."

The current direction, he said, is toward drafting one document with the Common Market nations dealing with economic and political objectives; a second document dealing with NATO defense issues, and a third document including Japan that ties the three together in a "trilateral" relationship.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) questioned Kissinger closely yesterday about what Symington called his concern that "the independence of the CIA" may be undermined by the Nixon administration. He was alluding to reports that the Central Intelligence Agency's Office of National Estimates has been scuttled because of administration disagreement with its findings.

The record of differing intelligence assessments inside the bureaucracy, said Symington, shows that "in almost every case CIA estimates have turned out to be correct." Symington said that if CIA is being pressured to conform to Defense Department conclusions, "I think we ought to abolish it [the CIA] if it is just going to be a tool to further the wishes of the Pentagon."

Kissinger firmly disclaimed any intention to suppress CIA's independence. ~~I strong-~~ ly support your view that the estimating process of the CIA should be independent of any outside influence," said Kissinger. "We in the White House," he said, "have never attempted to influence this process."

Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.) questioned the operations of the "Forty Committee" on covert intelligence activities, one of the multiple, powerful, interdepartmental committees headed by Kissinger as director of the National Security Council staff. Kissinger as Secretary of State would continue to serve also as the President's national security adviser, controlling the same groups.

McGovern asked why the United States should be engaged in such clandestine activities as "the assassination of leaders abroad" and "overturning governments."

Kissinger, replying that "it is extremely difficult to discuss that area of activities in open session," said that "in this administration, assassinations and overthrow of governments were not in fact carried out . . . I am not saying that assassinations were ever carried out or approved by ~~this committee.~~"

CONFIRM 9-10
 DAY LD

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- ATTORNEY GENERAL ELLIOT L. RICHARDSON APPEARS IN SECRET SESSION BEFORE THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE THIS MORNING TO CONVINCe MEMBERS THAT SECRETARY OF STATE-DESIGNATE HENRY A. KISSINGER HAD LITTLE TO DO WITH THE WIRETAPPING OF HIS NATIONAL SECURITY AIDES.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT SAID IT HAD NOT BEEN DECIDED BY SUNDAY WHETHER TO PRODUCE A SECRET FBI REPORT DEMANDED BY SOME OF THE COMMITTEE MEMBERS.

KISSINGER'S CONFIRMATION HIT A SNAG LAST WEEK WHEN COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN SEN. J. WILLIAM FULLBRIGHT, D-ARK., AND SEN. CLIFFORD CASE, R-N.J., QUESTIONED THE FBI WIRETAPPING OF 13 GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND FOUR NEWSMEN IN AN EFFORT TO TRACE LEAKS OF SECURITY INFORMATION BETWEEN 1969 AND 1971.

"THE ROLE OF MR. KISSINGER WAS MERELY TO SUGGEST THE NAMES OF THOSE ON HIS STAFF WHO HAD ACCESS TO SUCH INFORMATION," SENATE REPUBLICAN LEADER HUGH SCOTT SAID SUNDAY.

SCOTT, APPEARING ON CBS' FACE THE NATION, SAID HE WAS CONFIDENT RICHARDSON AND FORMER ACTING FBI DIRECTOR WILLIAM D. RUCKELSHAUS, WILL BE ABLE TO CONVINCe THE COMMITTEE OF THAT THIS MORNING.

SCOTT PREDICTED KISSINGER WOULD BE CONFIRMED.

HE SAID RICHARDSON AND RUCKELSHAUS, NOW DEPUTY ATTORNEY GENERAL, WOULD BE ABLE TO SATISFY THE COMMITTEE WITHOUT PROVIDING RAW FBI DATA ON THE TAPS.

SEN. HENRY M. JACKSON, D-WASH., SAID THE COMMITTEE IS ENTITLED TO SEE A SUMMARY OF THE FBI REPORT BUT NOT THE RAW FILES.

JACKSON, APPEARING ON ABC'S ISSUES AND ANSWERS, PLANS HEARINGS SOON BY HIS PERMANENT INVESTIGATIONS COMMITTEE ON WIRETAPPING.

Senate Unit Recommends Kissinger's Confirmation

By BERNARD GWERTZMAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted 16 to 1 today to recommend the confirmation of Henry A. Kissinger as Secretary of State. The full Senate will probably approve the nomination on Thursday or Friday.

The committee also decided to take steps to provide more effective overseeing of wiretaps carried out on national security grounds—a direct outgrowth of the controversy over Mr. Kissinger's role in the wiretapping of the phones of 4 newsmen and 13 officials from 1969 to 1971.

The House Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, postponed for another week Mr. Kissinger's scheduled appearance today to defend the Administration's efforts to extend improved tariff terms to the Soviet Union, without linking them to unrestricted emigration by Soviet Jews. A vote on the highly emotional issue—set for tomorrow—was also postponed for a week.

Yesterday, the Senate approved an amendment to an appropriations bill that expressed "the sense of the Senate" in support of dissident Soviet intellectuals, including Andrei D. Sakharov and Aleksandr I. Solzhenitsyn.

The amendment, which was sponsored by Walter F. Mondale, Democrat of Minnesota, called upon President Nixon "to impress upon" the Soviet Government "the grave concern of the American people about conditions in the Soviet Union."

The only Foreign Relations Committee vote against Mr. Kissinger's confirmation was cast by Senator George McGovern, Democrat of South Dakota, who said that it was "symbolic testimony" to his opposition to Mr. Kissinger's role in shaping American policy in Indochina and Bangladesh.

Mr. McGovern said, however, that as a practical matter he was pleased by Mr. Kissinger's expected confirmation because Congress would then be able to cross-examine him publicly—something denied Congress while Mr. Kissinger was solely President Nixon's adviser on national security.

A spokesman for Senator Harold E. Hughes, Democrat of Iowa, said today that Mr. Hughes would vote against Mr. Kissinger's confirmation on the Senate floor. Mr. Hughes has been a strong opponent of the Administration's Indochina policies, particularly the secret bombings in Cambodia.

The overwhelming Foreign Relations Committee approval was anticipated after a two-man subcommittee reported yesterday that Mr. Kissinger's wiretapping role "was not such as to bar him from confirmation."

Nevertheless, the issue remained a matter of major concern to the committee, which today accepted a resolution, by a vote of 15 to 0, calling for "a full examination of the use of electronic and other means of surveillance" in areas connected with intelligence-gathering or foreign policy.

Tightened Rules Wanted

The purpose of the study, the resolution said, was to produce "more satisfactory guidelines" and more effective overseeing by Congress than that outlined in a letter sent to the committee by Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson last week.

Mr. Richardson said that wiretaps without warrants would continue to be carried out "in a limited number of cautiously and meticulously reviewed instances."

Senator J. W. Fulbright, Democrat of Arkansas, the chairman of the committee, said later that a special subcommittee would probably be named to hold hearings into the wiretap problem. The concern, he said, was that wiretaps not be done "in a casual manner."

Mr. Fulbright added that in a private session yesterday, Mr. Kissinger had made "a very strong commitment" to limit wiretaps and "expressed strong dislike" for the practice.

Although he still disagrees with Mr. Kissinger on many policy matters, Mr. Fulbright said, he voted for him because he trusted Mr. Kissinger's promise to consult regularly with the committee and keep it abreast of foreign policy developments.

Issue Is Controversial

Mr. Kissinger—who attended White House ceremonies today for the visiting Prime Minister of Pakistan, Zulfikar Ali Bhutto—hopes to be sworn as Secretary of State Friday so that he can go to New York Monday to deliver the American speech to the United Nations General Assembly and to spend a few days meeting with foreign dignitaries.

He had been scheduled to meet today with the House Ways and Means Committee to urge passage of a provision in a trade-reform measure that would allow the President to grant regular tariff rates—the so-called "most-favored-nation" treatment—to Communist countries such as the Soviet Union and China, whose goods are currently taxed at discriminatory rates.

The issue has become highly controversial because of widespread support in Congress for an amendment to ban such equality in trade unless Mr. Nixon certified that the country receiving the benefits allowed free emigration.

Today, representative Al Ullman, Democrat of Oregon, acting chairman of the Ways and Means Committee in the absence of Representative Wilbur D. Mills, who is recuperating from back surgery, said that the committee had asked Mr. Kissinger to delay his appearance to allow time for a calmer appraisal of the issue.

Mr. Ullman said that the committee wanted Mr. Kissinger to comment on the Administration's motives in seeking most-favored-nation status for the Russians, and to discuss specifically an amendment sponsored by Mr. Mills and by Representative Charles A. Vanik, Democrat of Ohio, that would tie trade benefits to free migration.

The Administration promised the Russians in last year's trade agreement that it would obtain most-favored-nation status for them in return for the repayment of a $722-million Soviet Lend Lease debt. Mr. Kissinger has said that failure to meet that commitment would have a harmful effect on over-all Soviet-American relations.

(KISSINGER)

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE APPROVED HENRY A. KISSINGER'S NOMINATION AS SECRETARY OF STATE TODAY BY A 16-1 VOTE.

THE ACTION CLEARED THE WAY FOR SENATE CONFIRMATION LATER IN THE WEEK. SEN. GEORGE S. MCGOVERN, D-S. D., CAST THE LONE COMMITTEE VOTE AGAINST KISSINGER.

THE PANEL ENDORSED KISSINGER AFTER A WEEK OF HEARINGS DOMINATED BY QUESTIONS ABOUT HIS ROLE IN NATIONAL SECURITY WIRETAPPING AND THE CONCENTRATION OF POWER IN HIS HANDS WHEN HE ENTERED THE CABINET WHILE RETAINING HIS ROLE AS CHAIRMAN OF THE NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL TO PRESIDENT NIXON.

SEVERAL MEMBERS WARNED THAT KISSINGER'S DUAL ROLE AS SECRETARY OF STATE AND AS A WHITE HOUSE ADVISER WOULD MAKE HIM THE SINGLE MOST POWERFUL MAN IN THE GOVERNMENT NEXT TO THE PRESIDENT.

BUT THE COMMITTEE CHOSE TO SUPPORT HIM ON KISSINGER'S ASSURANCES THAT HE WILL CONSULT FULLY WITH CONGRESS ON MAJOR FOREIGN POLICY DECISIONS AND NOT USE HIS WHITE HOUSE POST AS AN EXCUSE FOR CLAIMING EXECUTIVE PRIVILEGE WHEN HE TESTIFIES ON CAPITOL HILL.

THE COMMITTEE -- AFTER SENDING A TWO-MAN DELEGATION TO EXAMINE A SECRET FBI FILE -- SATISFIED ITSELF THAT KISSINGER'S PART IN THE WIRETAPPING CONTROVERSY WAS NOT A BAR TO HIS CONFIRMATION.

Kissinger Probe

By Oswald Johnston and Jeremiah O'Leary
Star-News Staff Writers

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee's quest for an FBI report detailing Nixon administration surveillance of 17 government officials and newsmen is in part provoked by a belief of some senators that the document gives Henry A. Kissinger a more direct role in initiating the wiretapping than the secretary of State-designate has admitted.

According to sources close to the committee, key members and staffers have examined a set of notes taken from the report by a confidential committee informant. These notes, sources say also reveal:

- Kissinger played a more important part in choosing the taps' targets than he has admitted so far in his confirmation hearings before the committee.
- Kissinger's National Security Council staff continued to supply names of possible targets for wiretapping on the ground they were responsible for news leaks from May 1969 through December, 1970—despite testimony that the Kissinger office was removed from the internal security business in the spring or summer of 1970.

● The timing of the start of the wiretaps was such as to throw in doubt administration claims that the campaign was initiated by news leaks concerning the 1969-70 secret bombing campaign in Cambodia.

Two of the four initial targets of the wiretap campaign—"turned on" May 9, 1969, the same day the offending news article was published—had no connection with the Cambodian policy. William Beecher, the New York Times reporter who wrote the article, was not tapped until May 1970—a whole year after the Cambodia leak.

IN PART because of the questions raised by this second-hand account of the FBI report, the committee is now negotiating with the White House to gain access for two of its members to read the Justice Department document and report back to the committee.

Late yesterday, the committee agreed by a 14-0 vote to send Sens. John Sparkman, D-Ala., and ~~Clifford P~~ Case, R-N.J., to try and look over the report. Thus the committee registered a unanimous rejection of Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson's 1½-hour effort in executive session yesterday morning to persuade the committee to be satisfied with a bland 3½-page summary of the report which he furnished.

Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., stressed that he and other committee members are not interested in the details of what was overheard during the wiretaps. But the committee does want to find out how exactly the campaign was authorized and whether Kissinger, despite his protestations, played a leading role in it

Committee sources believe that interest was piqued still further by questioning in yesterday's confirmation hearing when senators probed Kissinger's attitude to the dangers posed when the White House decides that the damage to national security from a news leak overrides the legal rights of individuals.

SEN. EDMUND Muskie, ~~of~~ Maine, asked Kissinger for a general statement of his attitude on wiretapping. Kissinger said he has asked the attorney general to submit his legal view, and said he would abide by it. "But I would say," Kissinger added, "that the weight should be on the side of human liberty" and that national security considerations should be overbalanced by this except in very rare instances.

Kissinger has repeatedly denied direct involvement in the wiretapping campaign ever since it first came to light in May, when FBI documents were discovered hidden away in former Nixon aide John D. Ehrlichman's safe in the White House.

In testimony before the committee last Friday, Kissinger stressed that his connection with the wiretapping campaign was secondary at best. "In early May 1969 the President consulted with the attorney general (then John N. Mitchell) and the FBI director (then the late J. Edgar Hoover) on how to deal with the problem (of news leaks)," Kissinger testified. "He was told the best method was to apply procedures followed in previous administrations . . .

"I had been in the government only four months and ~~it didn't~~ occur to me to question the judgment of these individuals," he went on. "My office was required to submit a list of those with access to leaked information . . . I was not informed of these facts when wiretaps were used."

SPEAKING to reporters in May, then-Acting FBI Director William D. Ruckelshaus, basing his remarks on a preliminary report put together from the records found in Ehrlichman's safe, gave a different account:

"From our review of those records to date," Ruckelshaus said, "it appears that an initial conversation took place between Dr. Kissinger and FBI Director Hoover some time in the spring of 1969" in which Kissinger expressed his "extreme concern" over these leaks and the problems they were causing in our foreign policy.

"It appeared that from this initial meeting stemmed the effort to discover the leaks through the use of wiretaps," he said.

According to information the committee has received from the confidential source who has reviewed the final FBI report based on these records, the Ruckelshaus version of Kissinger's early role in setting in motion the machinery of the wiretaps is spelled out in similar terms

IN ADDITION, despite the implication in Kissinger's testimony that his NSC office "was required to submit a list" on one occasion only, the final FBI report is believed to show that names continued to be submitted for "turn on," mostly in groups of two to four, during almost the whole time that the wiretaps, were used—from May 1969 to February 1971.

This version is in part borne out in the carefully imprecise language of the summary Richardson gave the committee yesterday. "The FBI records on which this report was based do not . . . reflect all the deliberations that led to any given wiretap or the relevance to the leaded information of all the taps placed . . . When the NSC supplied a name the request for authorization to the attorney general recited that fact with little elaboration by the FBI."

The Richardson summary also noted that some of the government officials chosen as targets of the wiretaps came under suspicion only after their names or voices had surfaced in apps placed on earlier suspects.

THIS MAY account for some of the anomalies in timing reportedly revealed in the final FBI document.

For instance, surveillance of the first group of sus~~pects that went into effect~~ May 9, 1969, the same day Beecher's article appeared in the New York Times, included Daniel I. Davidson, Helmut Sonnenfeldt and Morton Halperin, all Kissinger aides on the NCS staff and Lt. Gen. Robert E. Pursley, then an Air Force colonel assigned as top military aide to then-Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

None of these men was closely associated with the Cambodia bombing deci~~sion and Sonnenfeldt and Davidson~~ are thought to have had only a tangential awareness of it.

A year later, in May 1970, the turn-on targets were Beecher; Pursley, for a second time under surveillance, and two high-ranking State Department officials, William H. Sullivan, then deputy assistant secretary of State for East Asian affairs and the Department's recognized Vietnam expert; and Richard F. Pedersen, then State Department counselor and as such one of former secretary of State William P. Rogers' closest aides.

THE COMMITTEE yesterday questioned Kissinger on a variety of matters including clandestine operations of the CIA and other agencies, exploitation of seabeds and the use of executive agreements with other nations, as opposed to treaties which require Senate approval.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., asked Kissinger, "Do you think a society like ours should be involved in clandestine efforts to overthrow other governments? Wouldn't it be better to take the CIA and other agencies out of clandestine operations and limit them to gathering intelligence?"

Kissinger said this was difficult to answer in open session. But he pointed out that in this administration, there were no assassinations or governments overthrown by clandestine operations. He said, dryly, "Our genius does not reside in clandestine activities on a broad scale."

McGovern pressed Kissinger on whether U.S. foreign policy should concern itself with the persecution of Soviet writers and scientists. Kissinger agreed that the United States should use such influence as it could to mitigate such instances but that the first priority must be to avoid the possibility of war.

"The sale of a fourth of our wheat brings us into touch with their society," McGovern observed.

"We don't disagree about the human problem," Kissinger replied. "We can't be indifferent to denials of human liberty. But when both sides have the capability of exterminating mankind, we cannot give up the general evolution toward peace we are so hopefully starting."

Under questioning by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Kissinger said he intended to study the question of executive agreements versus treaties.

"The border line between executive agreements and treaties is never very clear," Kissinger said. "Generally, any treaty implies a commitment by the United States to go to war or to come to the assistance of other countries that might lead the United States to war, and this should be submitted to the Senate as a treaty."

CHURCH asked if extending major U.S. military bases in foreign countries did not fall into this category.

"In the past, the extension of bases has not been considered as subject to ratification and I would not see any reason to regard it as subject to ratification. Often they are with nations with which we already have treaties," Kissinger said.

Church declared that the base agreement with Spain is regarded by some military officers as more binding than a treaty.

Kissinger said the administration is not totally agreed on seabed policy. But he said the United States is preparing a coastal seabed policy that would extend 200 miles.

His position is, he said, to oppose unilateral exploitation of seabeds beyond the 12-mile limit, but to grant the adjoining nations a predominant influence in this second zone (between 12 and 200 miles off a coast.)

The United States looks for an international agreement, he said, that may be reached at a seabed conference in Chile next year. He added the United States would take no action inconsistent with present policy until that conference.

Kissinger has been recalled for a third day of hearings today. At least 15 witnesses have asked to testify and with Fulbright scheduled to leave for Europe tonight there is little likelihood of a confirmation vote until his return Monday.

Exploiting 'National Security'

A-18

Before the Kissinger controversy dwindles into a semantic squabble about whether he "initiated," "authorized" or simply "acquiesced" in the wiretapping of 13 of his National Security Council staff members and four of their supposed journalistic confederates, it is worth trying to define the real issue in the dispute.

It is not a question of Dr. Kissinger's personal "honor" or even whether his signal services to the country and the world are to be sacrificed to those "unnamed sources" he says are engaged in "defamation of character."

The essential question is what standard of conduct—and honesty—the citizens of a democratic society can expect from officials exercising great responsibility in an era of extraordinary domestic and international pressures.

To capture the context of that essential question, it is necessary to recall what caused the great concern about "leaks" which led to the acknowledged wiretapping of 17 government officials and journalists.

The story that has been pinpointed as triggering Dr. Kissinger's anger was a May 9, 1969, article in the New York Times by William Beecher, reporting that American B-52 bombers had begun raiding Vietcong and North Vietnamese camps and supply dumps inside Cambodia without protest from the Cambodian government.

It was on the day that article appeared that the late FBI director J. Edgar Hoover wrote that Dr. Kissinger had complained of "an extraordinarily damaging" news leak and urged him to use "whatever resources I need to find out who did this."

Neither then nor later did the administration dispute the accuracy of the article.

What made Beecher's article "extraordinarily damaging" was that it revealed that American military operations were being conducted in a supposedly neutral country, with the acquiescence of its supposedly neutral government, but without the knowledge or sanction of the American people or Congress.

Not until four years later, in July of 1973, did the Nixon administration admit—after an Air Force officer had revealed the secret to Congress—that the bombing had started in 1969, and the invasion was required because the military results were "not satisfactory."

Because of that cover-up, of which the wiretaps were a part, Mr. Nixon was able, on April 30, 1970, to justify sending American ground troops into Cambodia.

The Cambodian bombing cover-up was of a piece with the previous deceptions of the American people and Congress by the Johnson administration—starting with the Gulf of Tonkin incident.

By 1969, the expensive lesson should have been learned that a democracy like ours will not support a foreign policy whose origins are cloaked in secrecy and whose costs—in lives and dollars—are concealed from the people who must pay them.

But Dr. Kissinger, by his own statements, has not learned that lesson. When Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk said he would allow the bombing if it could be kept secret, no one in the American government apparently told him ours was not a country that could conduct 3,620 heavy bomber raids on a country with which we were officially at peace.

Instead they joined a conspiracy of silence aimed at keeping the American people in ignorance—and wiretapped those who tried to get out the truth. Dr. Kissinger sees nothing wrong in this.

A year ago, when the falsification of reports to Congress was revealed, he said that neither he nor the President "ordered nor was . . . aware of" the deception.

Even now, Dr. Kissinger is blind to the conflict between this behavior and democracy. "I recognize that national security has been abused in recent years," he said in his Salzburg news conference, "but because there have been abuses does not mean that there was not justified concern by honorable people. It did not occur to me in expressing my concern that this might lead to the burglary of a doctor's office."

It is hard to know what to make of such a naive remark from such a sophisticated person. But it is obvious that a government that is so convinced of the superiority of its own wisdom, and so distrustful of its own people that it will not make its policy public, will always find ways to rationalize the most extreme measures to protect what it regards as "secrets."

If a man of Dr. Kissinger's stature and reputation is allowed to justify such tactics, on the grounds that his service to the nation sanctions any measures he chooses to defend, then we may be sure that worse men—of lesser scruple—will exploit his precedent in years to come.

He has posed a vital issue: Will we allow "the best and the brightest" officials to use police state tactics in order to deny the American people the truth about the policies being conducted in their name?

Just because Dr. Kissinger is who he is, it is vital that the Congress and the country tell him the answer is "No."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has asked the Justice Department to provide additional documents for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee review of Henry A. Kissinger's role in wiretapping.

Fulbright, chairman of the committee, told reporters yesterday that the Justice Department had supplied a considerable amount of material, "but as always there are what would appear to be gaps."

Fulbright spoke with reporters after a closed meeting at which the committee reaffirmed its decision to proceed with the inquiry requested by Kissinger.

KISSINGER SAID last week in Salzburg, Austria, that he would resign unless questions are cleared up about his testimony last September regarding the wiretapping of 13 government employes and four newsmen.

Kissinger testified at his confirmation hearing that the decision to conduct the wiretaps to determine sources of news leaks from the National Security Council was made by President Nixon, then Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. Kissinger said he was required to supply the names of individuals with access to the leaked information.

Kissinger testified at his confirmation hearing that the decision to conduct the wiretaps to determine sources of news leaks from the National Security Council was made by President Nixon, then Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Fulbright said it is possible that Kissinger will be asked about the matter Friday during a meeting at which he has been invited to brief the committee on his trips to the Middle East and the Soviet Union.

THE CHAIRMAN renewed his criticism of a resolution signed by 52 senators expressing full confidence in Kissinger. Fulbright said it "tended to undermine" the committee's function and might render its findings moot.

Fulbright also said he did not know how long the committee inquiry will take, but other members expressed eagerness to complete it as early as possible.

"I hope we will do it promptly in the interest of the nation," said Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said "a good deal of this is semantic nit-picking" about whether Kissinger "initiated" or "requested" the wiretaps in 1969-71.

"I think Dr. Kissinger is entitled to have his honor given back to him unstained and untarnished, and I think the committee will do just that," Scott said.

Scott said, "Trying a man on a dead man's memo is a kind of a skull-and-crossbones trick anyway."

THE REFERENCE was to published reports of a J. Edgar Hoover memo in FBI files indicating that Kissinger, personally or through an aide, "requested" telephone taps on certain individuals.

Henry A. Kissinger

New Kissinger Data Asked

By Murrey Marder

Washington Post Staff Writer

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee requested additional documents from the Justice Department yesterday for its new review of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's involvement in governmental wiretapping.

Committee members said the issue for them is not the wiretapping as such, but whether the committee would have confirmed Kissinger last September on all the information now available.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) told newsmen "there are what appear to be gaps" in the information obtained so far, although he said the Justice Department has been cooperative. A Justice spokesman said the new request for information is "under consideration."

Committee sources said "a thorough inquiry is intended, without any deadline."

Kissinger said at a news conference in Salzburg, Austria, on June 11, that "I will resign" if what he described as an "assault on my public honor" over his original testimony last September on the wiretapping "is not cleared up."

It was learned that in yesterday's closed committee meeting Fulbright offered to step aside from the renewed inquiry, out of irritation over a proposed Senate resolution last week hailing Kissinger's integrity and veracity before the new wiretapping review even begins.

Fulbright on Friday publicly criticized that resolution, on grounds that it makes the new inquiry "look like a charade." The resolution was introduced by Sen. James B. Allen (D-Ala.) and swiftly gained 51 co-sponsors.

Several members of the Fulbright group who had signed the laudatory Kissinger resolution offered yesterday to withdraw their names from it and induced Fulbright to pursue the new inquiry. One senator said signers assured Fulbright they were not trying to prejudice anything but had signed the resolution only "to give a cheer for a guy who seemed to be down."

Fulbright, who also has been an enthusiastic supporter of Kissinger, said his committee has agreed unanimously to pursue the new investigation, and said it is imperative to determine whether Kissinger told the "full truth" about the wiretaps during his confirmation hearings.

Kissinger said then that he did not "initiate" the wiretapping of 17 government officials and newsmen between 1969 and 1971, but only supplied names for a national security investigation ordered by President Nixon. However, memoranda from the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, recently supplied to the House Judiciary Committee, portray Kissinger as a prime mover in the wiretapping. Kissinger bitterly protested this, noting that the same information was examined in private by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last September when it cleared his confirmation.

Fulbright noted yesterday that Kissinger is scheduled to testify before the committee Friday in closed session on his Middle East diplomacy and on the forthcoming Moscow summit meeting. Fulbright said it is improbable, however, that the wiretapping dispute can be resolved before Kissinger leaves with President Nixon Tuesday for Moscow.

Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott (Pa.) said yesterday that "I think Dr. Kissinger is entitled to have his honor given back to him unstained and untarnished, and I think the committee will do just that."

In other actions, the committee approved the nomination of former Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson to be ambassador to Japan, with Fulbright saying he and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) voted against Hodgson. The committee also approved Thomas C. Enders to be assistant secretary of state for economic affairs and David E. Mark to be ambassador to Burundi. Both are career diplomats.

Fulbright Asks for More Data on Kissinger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) said Tuesday he had asked the Department of Justice to provide additional documents for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's review of Henry A. Kissinger's role in wiretapping.

Charles Bartlett:

Dirty Linen in a Teacup

To mix a few metaphors, the Henry Kissinger fracas appears to be a matter of washing dirty linen in a teacup tempest.

First of all, the secretary of State is apparently not bluffing when he says he will resign if this challenge to his honor is not expunged. Kissinger's loyalty to his image invariably transcends other considerations, and his mood is said to be angry and determined. After all, retirement at the peak of diplomatic accomplishment could be wise and timely.

Secondly, President Nixon, far more antagonistic than Kissinger toward leaks and the press and inevitably suspicious of the young intellectuals assembled for the Kissinger staff, seems determined to stay out of the fracas. The bugging incident reflects Nixon's spirit and inclinations far more than Kissinger's and the President could ease the present situation with a clear endorsement of what was done. But the bland statement he issued instead is a sign that he means to let his subordinate take the heat on this one.

It is also a sign of their brittle, complex and wary relationship, another inducement to Kissinger's retirement. Eighteen months ago Nixon was ready to fire Kissinger because he felt he had not been loyal through the ordeal of the 1972 Christmas bombing. Kissinger survived then as a Nixon official only because the President encountered adversity, and his star has been rising while the President's faded. There is bitter feeling in the White House that the secretary of State has been high-handed in taking advantage of the Watergate bind.

KISSINGER has clearly belied his past demonstrations of finesse in handling the issue of the tapped aides. If he had stayed characteristically candid, he could have buried the affair at the outset. Instead he has allowed press attention to focus on the peripheral question of who ordered the taps and has seemed to hedge his own role. Perhaps out of embarrassment he has let his defensive behavior encourage the assaults of the press conference prosecutors.

Henry A. Kissinger

The style in which two of those prosecutors put their questions at last week's press conference had the look of a reach for TV coverage. Those who are anxious to prosecute Kissinger for perjury insist that he be measured by the same yardstick of truthfulness which has been applied to other presidential aides in the Watergate probe. They are willing to destroy him because they believe he has lied.

This is an extraordinarily stern judgment, an extreme example of reportorial righteousness. Kissinger's testimony belittling his role in the wiretaps was an effort to protect his image, not an obstruction of justice. On the other hand, the Nixon aides who are being punished for perjuries in the Watergate case plainly lied because they wanted to obscure what really happened in a case related to the crime of burglary.

If Kissinger did indeed minimize his association with the FBI taps, he cannot be said to have obstructed justice because it was not in 1969 illegal to eavesdrop in domestic cases involving national security. It was not, then as now, a nice thing to do, but the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has examined, case by case, the targets of the taps and failed to contest Kissinger's judgment that the potential damage of the leaks justified a distasteful resort to bugs.

SO THE prosecutors are exercised over what seems to be a small issue. Did Kissinger urge the taps or did he merely accede to a strategy proposed by J. Edgar Hoover or the President? Various bits are being leaked, but Hoover's memorandum on the conversation in the Oval Office is described as ambiguous by responsible men. The confused interpretations by members of the House Judiciary Committee make it apparent that the evidence is not clean-cut.

The nation, worried that Washington has lost its perspective, will not be reassured by this episode. It can only feed the widespread suspicion that the investigators and prosecutors are out to level everyone in sight. They will do better to stick close to the central issue of impeachment.

Tom Braden

'I'm Sorry Henry Lost His Cool'

As I first heard the story from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger—oh, way back—a couple of years ago, it went like this:

He was sitting in his office in the White House and he got a call to report at once to the President.

There—with Mr. Nixon in the Oval Office—were J. Edgar Hoover and then Attorney General John Mitchell. The President was pounding the desk with the flat of his hand. These leaks to newspapers—they must stop. You, he tells Kissinger, you give the names of the people of your staff who had access to this information; you give them to Mr. Hoover here and we'll find out who's doing the talking.

Reporters? Reporters were added by Hoover. "Plumbers"? He never heard of "plumbers" until he saw the word in the newspapers. Thank heaven.

Now that's the way I first heard the story—and here an acknowledgement in order.

Journalists—like other people—have friends, and Henry Kissinger is an old friend. I believed his story and, despite contrary testimony, I still do.

What, after all, is the contrary testimony?

First, memoranda from the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. Should we believe Hoover? Search the files of the FBI and you will find that all officialdom throughout Hoover's lifetime ordered wiretaps, but—according to J. Edgar Hoover—J. Edgar Hoover never did.

Second, a comment on the tapes from the President of the United States seeming to say that Kissinger ordered wiretaps. Do you believe the President of the United States? Does anybody?

Oh, I'm sure Henry Kissinger put his case in the best possible light when he was testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said he didn't "initiate" the taps. Well, that word is subject to interpretation. Sometimes a man makes a request he knows his boss wants him to make. Does he "initiate" the request? May it not be said in a larger sense that his boss did?

But I'm sorry Henry lost his cool. I thought he looked like a gauleiter standing there before the cameras at Salzburg. Remember that story about the German airline pilot? He welcomes the passengers aboard, tells them to sit back and relax. "We'll have a comfortable flight," he says and then, pronouncing his words slowly and positively, he adds, "as long as you do exactly what I say."

As a reporter, I have to say that gauleiter was Henry Kissinger at his press conference. But as a friend, I make excuses for a friend.

Henry Kissinger is tired. Wouldn't anybody be tired after all that shuttle diplomacy? All those details to remember? All those people to win to his point of view? All those miles to travel and not enough sleep?

And Henry Kissinger was looking for praise. Wouldn't anybody look for praise if, after settling a war between bitter enemies, he'd arranged for his boss to make a tour in triumph of countries which would have spurned him a month ago?

It must hurt to expect praise—and to be called a liar instead.

Another excuse comes to mind. Henry Kissinger just got married. There's nothing like a new wife to make a man look to his honor and to find quarrel in a straw.

But withal, it must be said that it was not Henry Kissinger's finest moment—that blowup in Salzburg. And it won't do him a bit of good. The facts will come out.

When they do, I hope he can greet them with that candor and lightness and gaiety which is his customary style. The world will then excuse him. As we say of the heavyweight champion with a hangover, "He had one coming."

"It is hypocrisy to pretend the press was not responsible for Dr. Kissinger's decision to resign unless cleared."

Joseph Alsop

'The Political Role of the Media'

It is a time to stop being mealy-mouthed. If the U.S. government loses the invaluable services of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, the enormous, Watergate-induced self-importance of the American press will be to blame.

If the U.S. dollar—your dollar and my dollar—loses a lot of its value on the world markets; and if American foreign policy also joins American economic policy on the dung-heap of disorder, you can thank your friendly media.

The plain fact of the matter is that we now have in Washington, not just a double standard, but a triple standard. You have to begin right there to understand the resulting orgies of hypocrisy. And the first part of this triple standard for public judgment of public men concerns the political role of the press, or media.

It is the smarriest kind of hypocrisy to pretend that the press was not directly responsible for Dr. Kissinger's decision to resign his office unless his name could be promptly and decisively cleared.

On last Thursday, he had just returned from one of the greatest and most totally exhausting diplomatic feats in rather more than a century. The secretary was being very modest if he merely thought he had "deserved well of the Republic"—in the phrase of old Rome.

His reception was a savage and disgusting press conference, during which he was treated like a common criminal. At one point, one of his interrogators even suggested that he might well be indicted for perjury, and bellowingly inquired whether he had already retained counsel to represent him in case of a perjury indictment. To be sure, only a minority thus disgraced the formerly honorable reporter's trade.

Yet in the subsequent commentaries, the members of this minority were never rebuked by their colleagues. Instead, Dr. Kissinger was rebuked. The climax came on the evening of Monday, when The New York Times hit the streets with an editorial accusing Dr. Kissinger of "dissembling": in tones majestically combining self-righteousness and pecksniffery. Telegraphed to Salzburg the editorial promptly triggered Dr. Kissinger's press conference and resignation statement on Tuesday.

Those are the plain facts. What has happened cannot be comprehended without those facts. Yet this reporter has seen no account of Dr. Kissinger's threat to resign that has set forth the facts either fully or forthrightly. Over all, it seems a mite odd for the major political role of the press to be left out of the accounting, when we have taken to holding our public men so strictly accountable.

This is the first part of the prevailing triple standard in Washington. As to the other part that justifies the word, "triple," it is simple enough. Dr. Kissinger has in fact been accused of "dissembling," and has even heard the word "perjury" hurled at him, because of a crucial national security matter involving less than a score of wiretaps. Under the law, such wiretaps are entirely permissible for national security purposes.

One wonders, then, why it was so shocking for a servant of the Nixon administration to worry about national security to the extent of knowingly approving under a score of wiretaps. After all, national security wiretaps were very much more numerous in the Truman administration, and they were vastly more numerous in the administration of President Kennedy.

This reporter, with a known three wiretaps to his credit, all pre-Nixon, has long held the doctrine that if you have not been tapped, you have been slacking on your job. As to the Johnson administration, President Johnson sensibly did not trust the late J. Edgar Hoover—so he had the Secret Service do the tapping for him, again on a major scale. In short, the servants of the Nixon administration are plainly being judged by different tests than those that prevailed in happier times.

So we come back to the Watergate-induced self-importance of the American press that was noted at the outset, noting this is not meant to detract for one moment from the great achievement of exposing the crimes and squalors that now go by the name of Watergate.

Yet it seems this success has now led to a new and dangerous situation. Some people have now openly begun to follow the rule: "I'll be judge, I'll be jury," said Cunning Old Fury; "I'll try the whole cause, and condemn you to death."

Meanwhile Sen. J. William Fulbright, who has seen more than mere leaked bits of the total data, is reportedly confident that Dr. Kissinger did not dissemble when he appeared before the Foreign Relations Committee. Furthermore, even with Cunning Old Fury, one supposes that some vague notions of national interest usually prevailed.

What We Found in Kissinger's Trash

What kind of information could a foreign agent or assassin glean from the household garbage of an important cabinet member? That's the question The ENQUIRER set out to answer when it assigned reporter Jay Gourley to collect a week's accumulation of garbage from the home of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Getting the garbage was easy, but not as easy as Gourley thought it would be. He was stopped by Secret Service agents who ordered him to "return the garbage." When he refused to remove the five plastic bags of trash from the trunk of his car, an agent asked him if he'd ever been in an "insane asylum." Another agent complained that he'd been trained to cope with assassins but not garbage thieves, and called for his supervisor. The supervisor questioned Gourley at length, took his photograph, then told him he was free to go — with the garbage. In the following story, Gourley reveals what he learned as he picked through the bits and pieces of trash.

By JAY GOURLEY

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's household garbage contained hundreds of Secret Service documents which would be of vital interest to a potential assassin.

One document, for example, revealed that the Secret Service is testing a new code light signal system for all its limousines.

Another document, a handwritten note on the back of an activity report, revealed the number and type of arms and ammunition supply carried in each Secret Service limousine.

Work schedules revealed the exact number of agents on duty day and night and listed the names of most — if not all — agents assigned to Kissinger's security.

A handwritten document — presumably written by an agent — indicated that a shotgun had been left behind during Kissinger's trip to the Virgin Islands last June 27 through July 3.

The note also contained a reminder that a new shotgun was needed for the "FU" — presumably an abbreviation for "field unit."

Two memos, each addressed to different Secret Service agents at the Kissinger household, advised the men that they had not qualified with their firearms during June and warned that a written explanation would be required if they failed to qualify by the end of the month.

A memo to one man at Kissinger's house revealed that Secret Service agents must pass an annual physical examination to keep their jobs.

The trash also contained numerous handwritten and typed documents about the secretary's travel schedules — some of them so precise they even referred to the Secret Service code name for Kissinger.

What else did the Secretary of State's garbage contain?

- An empty prescription envelope from the State Dept. pharmacy. It had contained Seconal — a powerful sleeping pill which can be habit forming — and was prescribed for one of the Kissingers by Dr. Carl Nydell, a State Dept. physician, who would not discuss the prescription.

- An engraved invitation from President Ford's wife to Nancy Kissinger, asking her to attend a luncheon at the White House on July 5.

Kissinger's trash also revealed that there is a dog living in the house, too.

This was shown by several Secret Service documents bearing teeth marks, a badly chewed seat cushion, the wrapper from a vinyl pork chop dog toy and a badly gnawed ballpoint pen.

There were also two half-empty cans of Cadillac dog food — which is one of the cheapest canned dog foods on the market.

President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board

*Appointment of the Membership.
November 15, 1985*

The President today announced his intention to appoint 14 members to the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board (PFIAB) for 2-year terms. The Board was recently reconstituted by the President on October 28, 1985, by Executive Order 12537. The most significant change in the new Board is that it establishes a limit of 14 members. The existing PFIAB, with 21 members, had grown to a size that made it difficult to carry out its advisory responsibilities.

The PFIAB is a permanent, nonpartisan body of distinguished Americans who perform a continuing and objective review of the performance of the intelligence community. The Board reports directly to the President and has full access to all information necessary to advise the President on the conduct, management, and coordination of the various agencies of the intelligence community.

The PFIAB (then known as the Board of Consultants on Foreign Intelligence Activities) was first established by President Eisenhower in 1956. The Board was continued by each President thereafter until its termination in 1977 by President Carter. The PFIAB was reconstituted by the President on October 20, 1981, by Executive Order 12331.

Under the new Board, Anne Armstrong will remain as Chairman and Leo Cherne as Vice Chairman.

The following are the members who will be reappointed to the new Board:

Anne Legendre Armstrong is currently chairman of the advisory board of the Georgetown University Center for Strategic and International Studies. She was United States Ambassador to Great Britain in 1976-1977 and served as Counsellor to the President in 1973-1974. She is married, has five children, and resides in Armstrong, TX.

Leo Cherne is an economist and currently serves as executive director of the Research Institute of America in New York City. He was a member of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board in 1973-1976 and served as chairman in 1976-1977. He is married, has one daughter, and resides in New York City. He was born September 8, 1912.

Howard H. Baker, Jr., is a senior partner in the law firm Vinson & Elkins in Washington, DC. He served as a United States Senator from Tennessee from 1966 to 1985. He was minority leader in 1977-1981 and majority leader in 1981-1985. He is married, has two children, and resides in Washington, DC. He was born November 15, 1925.

William O. Baker is a research chemist and was chairman of the board of Bell Telephone Laboratories. He was a member of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board in 1959-1977. He is married, has one son, and resides in Morristown, NJ. He was born July 15, 1915.

W. Glenn Campbell has been director, Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace, Stanford University, since 1960 and has served as the chairman of the President's Intelligence Oversight Board since 1981. He was a member of the National Science Board, National Science Foundation, in 1972-1978. He is married, has three children, and resides in Stanford, CA. He was born April 29, 1924.

John S. Foster, Jr., is vice president, science and technology, TRW, Inc. He was Director of Defense Research and Engineering for the Department of Defense in 1965-1973. Mr. Foster served as a member of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board in 1973-1977. He is married, has five children, and resides in Cleveland, OH. He was born September 18, 1922.

Henry A. Kissinger is chairman of Kissinger and Associates, Inc. He was Secretary of State in 1973-1977 and served as the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs from 1969-1974. He is married, has two children, and resides in New York City. He was born May 27, 1923.

Clare Boothe Luce was a member of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board in 1973-1977. She is a playwright and journalist. She was also a Member of Congress in 1943-1947 and Ambassador to Italy in 1953-1957. She resides in Washington, DC.

William French Smith is a partner in the firm of Gibson, Dunn and Crutcher of Los Angeles. Previously he served as Attorney General of the United States in 1981-1985. He is married, has four children, and resides in San Marino, CA. He was born August 26, 1917.

Albert D. Wheelon is senior vice president and group president of the Space and Communications Group of Hughes Aircraft Co. He is married, has two children, and resides in Belmont, MA. He was born May 27, 1931.

Albert J. Wohlstetter is director of research at PAN Heuristics, Marina del Rey, CA. He held the university professorship for 15 years at the University of Chicago and before that was a member of the research council and assistant to the president at RAND Corp. He is married, has one child, and resides in Los Angeles, CA. He was born December 19, 1913.

BORN: May 27, 1923 (Fuerth, Germany)
ADDRESS: 104 Fletcher Road, Belmont, Mass.
PROFESSION: Associate Director, Center for International Affairs; Director, Defense Studies Program, Harvard University.
SCHOOLS ATTENDED: Harvard College, A. B. (summa cum laude); Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Harvard University, M. A. and Ph. D.

At 35, eight years out of Harvard College, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger has had an extraordinarily creative career. He is well-known to most Congressmen, Pentagon, military and eminent thinkers in the fields of national defense, economics and education.

A native of Fuerth, Germany, Kissinger now is director of the Defense Studies Program, lecturer in political science, Associate Director of the Center for International Affairs and head of the International Seminar at Harvard University.

His book, "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy," was cited by the Overseas Press Club and awarded the Woodrow Wilson Prize for the best book of the year in the fields of government, politics and international affairs.

The impact of this book and of his related articles was one of the most impelling and important forces in bringing about discussion and re-evaluation of military organization and strategy and their relation to American foreign policy.

Dr. Kissinger was instrumental in founding the Harvard International Seminar and has been executive director since its beginning. The seminar each year is host to some 40 distinguished persons from all over the world representing the fields of politics, economics and the humanities.

As a result of the first seminar, Dr. Kissinger inaugurated "Confluence: An International Forum," of which he is editor. "Confluence" is designed to give leading Europeans, Asians and Americans an opportunity to exchange views on contemporary problems in politics, philosophy and the humanities.

Since 1954 he has been Director of the Special Studies Project of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Inc. His duties include organizing the studies, arranging appropriate panels of senior citizens, writing most of the reports and obtaining agreement for them.

Rockefeller reports published include: "International Security: the Military Aspect," "Foreign Economic Policy for the Twentieth Century," "The Challenge to America: An Economic and Social Aspects," and "Pursuit of Excellence: Education and the Future of America."

His proposals on reorganization of the Defense Department contained in the Rockefeller Report "International Security: The Military Aspect" anticipated recommendations later submitted to Congress by President Eisenhower and since enacted into law. Each report has been widely read and discussed.

Dr. Kissinger is recognized as having almost single-handedly brought the discussion of issues of grand strategy into a new and far more productive phase.

A veteran of World War II, Dr. Kissinger served in the European Theater with the Counter Intelligence Corps. He came to America from Germany in 1946.

got was Diplomats to Security Council Staff

by ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The State Department is expected to announce today the names of its new National Security Council staff.

The cabinet of foreign policy specialists in Congress and Government agencies is that Dr. Kissinger has partly assembled a "hush-hush" staff of 100 top officials who, despite their youth, are well acquainted with the foreign relations operations of the government.

Although the National Security Council staff is the first part of the presidential inauguration, it is expected to be completed in September, its members will have considerable input on the emergency conduct of foreign policy because of their proximity to the President and their constant contact with operating agencies at all levels.

President-elect Nixon has made plans, furthermore, that he intends to give the National Security Council members more prominent roles in foreign policy formulation than previous administrations did. It is expected to have a coordinating role in setting and reviewing all commitments put before the new President.

Staffing State Department

In the Johnson and Kennedy Administrations, the staff known as the "Policy Planning Staff" of the State Department was the main professional staff and assistants of Dr. Kissinger's staff has increased rapidly in the early weeks of the Nixon Administration. The staff will cover the African, Asian, European, and Latin American Policy Planning Council.

of states, James Wilentz, a former member of the State Department.

Mr. Wilentz, an expert on the knowledge of the State Department, has been a member of the Johnson and Kennedy administrations and was a member of the national staff of Nixon's campaign administration.

Among the new members of the administration will be a former member of the Johnson administration, Dr. Kissinger's former National Security Council staff, and a former professor at the University of California, Berkeley, who served in the Defense Department in the Johnson administration.

Mr. Wilentz, who is a former Harvard University professor, is the author of several books on arms control and foreign policy. He will serve in the new National Security Council staff.

In March, 1972, Mr. Wilentz was reportedly one of the Pentagon officials who privately advocated a setback in American bombing of North Vietnam. Last May, he gave a policy speech speaking out against further American armed intervention in South Vietnam.

Served in Smaller Posts

At least two career diplomats, most of whom served in smaller posts in the Johnson Administration, have been drafted by Dr. Kissinger to the new National Security Council staff.

The most senior is Vernon F. Voke, 42, the acting Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American Affairs in the last weeks of President Johnson's administration. In a career of nearly 20 years in the foreign service, he has served in London, Argentina, Colombia, and Guatemala, as well as the State Department's Policy Planning Council.

Other national staff arrivals to Dr. Kissinger's staff include Robert L. Easton and William Thomas, both of the Johnson Administration, he was widely regarded as director of the State Department's research efforts on the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. Mr. Easton, 47, has written a number of articles on Soviet affairs.

Dr. Kissinger has named Daniel L. Davidson, a New York lawyer who served most recently as personal assistant to Ambassador Charles W. Averell Harriman, the chief American negotiator in Vietnam for the Johnson administration.

A. H. Mc. Davidson was the program director of the American newspaper delegation in Paris from May until November. He has since helped in the Paris negotiations.

On other East Asian matters, Dr. Kissinger has drafted Richard L. Sander, a career diplomat who has served most recently as the State Department's country director for Japan.

Assigned for Transition

His personal assistant will be Lawrence E. Engelberger, a 29-year-old career diplomat, whose last post in the Johnson Administration was special assistant to Under Secretary of State Nicholas de B. Katzenbach. Mr. Engelberger, a Republican, has been assigned to make arrangements for the transition.

Two White House staff men under President Johnson have been asked by Dr. Kissinger to serve the Nixon Administration.

As a specialist on the Middle East, he has retained Harold H. Samuels, a White House specialist on the Near East, North Africa and the Indian subcontinent since September, 1961.

One of Dr. Kissinger's main operational deputies, informants report, will be Richard W. Moss, who served on the Johnson Administration's national security staff from September, 1966, through March, 1968. Since then, Mr. Moss, 26, has been studying the national security process as a research analyst at the Institute of Defense Analysis.

On economic affairs, Dr. Kissinger will draw on Dr. Richard M. Cooper, a professor of economics at New York University, who served both the Johnson and Johnson Administrations and as a foreign policy consultant for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in his campaign.

Dr. Cooper, until 1967, a deputy Assistant Secretary of State for economic affairs, will reportedly serve as a consultant on monetary affairs.

Dr. C. Fred Berenson, deputy director of the State Department's Office of International Payments until mid-1967, will serve as a staff specialist on foreign economic policy. At 27, he will be the youngest member of the new National Security Council staff.

Col. Alexander M. Haig Jr., executive deputy superintendent of the United States Military Academy at West Point and a brigade commander in Vietnam before that, will be a senior military specialist on Dr. Kissinger's staff.

From the Nixon camp itself, Dr. Kissinger will have Richard V. Allen, a 32-year-old specialist in Communist affairs. Dr. Allen, who directed foreign policy research for Mr. Nixon's campaign, will handle special projects, informants said.

New Vietnam Tactics

The second session of the expanded Paris peace talks today will provide Hanoi and the National Liberation Front with an opportunity to make a considered reply to the agenda proposed by Ambassador Lodge last Saturday. An idea of how the other side wants to proceed is the next step in the current sparring. President Nixon indicated at his initial news conference. Only then, he suggested, will the "new tactics" and "new approaches," under discussion at a succession of White House and Washington-Saigon strategy meetings this past week, begin to emerge.

Ambassador Lodge's agenda calls for discussing restoration of the demilitarized zone, the withdrawal of external forces from South Vietnam, the achievement of self-determination there and the exchange of prisoners. It simplified the Johnson Administration's longer agenda of proposals—the "laundry list" as Mr. Nixon described it. It also introduced a new tone, devoid of invective, but otherwise it showed no significant Nixon imprint.

It undoubtedly will be necessary, as Mr. Lodge urged, for all Hanoi's military and "subversive" forces in the South to withdraw "into North Vietnam" if a settlement is to be achieved. The North Vietnamese political cadres and PAVs in Vietcong units ultimately will have to be removed as well as the regular North Vietnamese units. And they will have to go home, not just pull back into Laos or Cambodia.

But negotiating such an agreement and an ironclad clause of nonreturning it could be an extraordinarily difficult and lengthy task. Even more difficult would be an attempt to create machinery to ferret out South-born infiltrators who went North in 1964-65 and returned to South Vietnam in this decade.

The mutual troop withdrawal scheme advanced by White House security aide Henry Kissinger in the article he wrote for Foreign Affairs before his appointment was quite a different proposal. Its purpose was not simply de-escalation but a strategy that would maximize the leverage for Saigon and the NLF to negotiate a political settlement.

Mr. Kissinger envisaged two sets of secret talks. Meetings between Washington and Hanoi to discuss troop withdrawal, he felt, would force Saigon and the NLF to meet on political issues. Implied was the beginning of phased withdrawals of American and North Vietnamese troops, while the rival South Vietnamese forces negotiated an accommodation.

The critical question that must now be faced is whether to seek agreement on partial withdrawals of external troops—and to begin moving troops out—or to await prior agreement on the complicated machinery needed to monitor withdrawal of all external forces, including North Vietnamese political cadres. Such machinery would not be needed until a later stage if the North Vietnamese were to begin by removing their capital systems in phase with equivalent American withdrawals.

Such an approach might yield a further psychological dividend. It might finally lay to rest Hanoi's doubt that the United States really does intend to withdraw from Vietnam as part of a reasonable settlement. The Soviet Union, evidently is less skeptical of American intentions. As former Ambassador Harrison challenged last weekend, Moscow was "helpful

Nixon: His Problems and His Men

Kissinger for Guidance on War and Peace

Henry Kissinger

WASHINGTON — For reasons that are as good and logical as they are unsettling, the power of war and peace in the United States resides in the person of one man. Last month, the country elected Richard M. Nixon for the job. Last week, the President-elect chose the one man who day in and day out will guide and guard him in that task: Henry Alfred Kissinger.

The need for such a man in the White House is virtually self-evident. Although he sleeps beside the paraphernalia that carter order up nuclear war, a President has other things on his mind. Even when he is well-traveled and well-informed on the ways of the world, he must rely on others to tell what is going on and what opportunities and dangers lie before him.

The views and concerns and pleas and dissents of these other men, even when they bear the great responsibilities of Secretary of State or Defense, must be channeled to the President in some coherent fashion, related to the decisions that he must make, and redirected through his Administration to make certain that they are understood and carried out.

Cabinets can meet, National Security Councils can be reorganized, speeches can be written, the best people can be assigned to the best positions and still Mr. Nixon will wish to know that someone has mined the official community for a better man, a better idea, an alternate solution. He will want from someone another interpretation of the intelligence reports, a discreet review of the Joint Chiefs' facts, a quick summary of what the Secretary of the Treasury really meant at yesterday's meeting and the low-down on what they really think in the think-tanks now about Vietnam.

Appointment Cheered

Dr. Kissinger is to be that someone, as McGeorge Bundy was for President Kennedy and Walt W. Rostow has been for President Johnson.

That all these men should have come from Cambridge is not entirely coincidental. Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology there helped to propel such policy-oriented academicians onto the national scene where the politicians came to know and need them. And they have proved their value in the White House basement office of assistant to the President for national security, if only because they know how to keep government in touch with the expertise, research and talent upon which foreign and military policy-makers must build.

It was no surprise either, therefore, that the academic community, and especially its East Coast luminaries, cheered Dr. Kissinger's appointment. For no matter how much they came to disagree with Mr. Bundy's management of the office and influence on the Vietnam escalation, or how much they came to resent Mr. Rostow as the hawk-in-residence, it was an unexpected tribute — and opportunity — for them all to have a Republican create a condition in which it will be possible, at scholarly meetings from Boston to Santa Barbara, to say: "Let's call Henry."

Dr. Kissinger's access and accessibility to the academic community must have been an important consideration in his selection, as also was his ten-year advisory relationship with Mr. Nixon's principal rival, Governor Rockefeller. But his qualifications range much farther and deeper.

At 45, he has become not only an important analyst of the world's power relationships but also a leader in the first generation of atomic-age strategists attempting to cope with the consequences of the balance of terror—the mutual vulnerability of the United States and the Soviet Union to destruction.

As writer and teacher and director of the defense studies program at Harvard, Dr. Kissinger became one of the first to recognize the weaknesses that a great nation acquired from power that it could not use or even credibly threaten to use in many situations. He helped lead scholars and thus government toward an understanding of the political and psychological problems posed by nuclear technology and toward a re-examination of both diplomatic and military assumptions carried forward from the age of American invulnerability.

Combining a knowledge of weapons and a special expertise in European affairs, the German-born but American-educated Dr. Kissinger gradually became a forceful critic of the alternately hard and soft, fearful and hopeful moods of United States reactions to Soviet policy. He has deplored Washington's insensitivity to the European Allies and the often random scattering of American military and economic energies in the rest of the world.

During the Vietnam war he began, at least publicly, as a defender of American objectives and tactics. But on a series of quiet but energetic government missions, he reached the conclusion much sooner than either Governor Rockefeller or Mr. Nixon that American military prospects were dim, and that Washington's political prescriptions were not working as advertised.

Desire for Clarity

Some of Dr. Kissinger's harshest polemics were aimed at the policies and inflexible attitudes of John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State in the Eisenhower Administration, which Mr. Nixon served as Vice President. But in time he found much fault also with Kennedy and Johnson policies and especially the running hot-and-cold reactions to Moscow without the planning and strategic purpose that Dr. Kissinger has consistently demanded.

This desire for "clarity" about the kind of world Americans wish to build, for the articulation of "an agreed concept of order" in a world dominated by two military superpowers but also subject to the pressures of many political centers, is probably the quality that Mr. Nixon found most attractive in his new assistant.

For while Dr. Kissinger has railed against oversimplified doctrines that often appeared in Nixon speeches — about how to handle the Russians or how to assure military "superiority" by acquiring more weapons — he shares the President-elect's desire to impose a rationale on policy, then to test crisis responses for their validity to the larger objectives.

Whether this can be done in this or any other government, is itself a subject of lively debate. Many of the best-informed officials here smiled a bit as they read up last week on Dr. Kissinger, wondering what would happen to the clarity of his formulations as he moved from analysis and criticism into the world of decision. They met him with the familiar address of men of action for men of thought: why don't you tell us what to do!

They wondered, too, how Dr. Kissinger would react to the pressures of politics and shift in public opinion, whose intrusion into policy-making he appears often to have resented.

There were some also who worried that he would be intellectually arrogant or that his scheduled proximity to the Presidency and early appointment would compromise the next Secretaries of State and Defense. But other observers welcomed a man of strong reputation with a demonstrated interest in synthesizing the military and diplomatic policies often reached independently by uncoordinated bureaucracies.

Dr. Kissinger intends to combine daily action with long-range planning in a new National Security Council arrangement and thus to resolve the dilemma that he defined eight years ago.

Careful Steering

"If the intellectual is to make a contribution to National policy," he wrote, "he faces a delicate task. He must steer between the Scylla of letting the bureaucracy prescribe what is relevant or useful and the Charybdis of defining these criteria too abstractly. If he inclines too much toward the former, he will turn into a promoter of technical remedies; if he chooses the latter, he will run the risks of confusing dogmatism with normality and of courting martyrdom — of becoming, in short, as wrapped up in a cult of rejection as the activist is in a cult of success...."

"One of the challenges of the contemporary situation is to demonstrate the overwhelming importance of purpose over technique."

Washington, Dec. 5 (News Bu-

The White House said the two

Johnson's meeting with Kissin-

Renew Paris Talks

This afternoon, Johnson and his top military and diplomatic advisers met with Harriman for a further review of the Paris peace talks. The White House did not attach any particular importance to the Harriman meeting.

Assistant Press Secretary Tom
Johnson said the meeting included a review of "the matters Harri-

This morning, before Johnson began his usual of talks, he walked, coatless in a bitter wind, to the White House lawn to welcome Iranian Prime Minister

"I WILL Sleep Better"

"I'm delighted," said Prof. George A. Kistiakowsky, science adviser to President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was a supporter of Senator Eugene J. McCarthy and Vice President Humphrey this year. "Dr. DuBridge is an excellent man to deal with the complex of the problems called science policy."

Even though Professor Kissinger is considered something of a has-been on East-West relations, his appointment has inspired deep confidence among those who know him.

"I will sleep better with Henry Kissinger in Washington," remarked Prof. Adam Yaromlinsky of the Harvard Law School, who served for six years in the Kennedy and Johnson Administrations. "He has the kind of judgment, balance and ability to see that the President is exposed to the whole spectrum of views he should get."

This view was echoed by another of Professor Kissinger's colleagues at Harvard, Stanley Hoffman, professor of government, who called him "a man with a great deal of character and wisdom" who is "not the kind of person who will allow himself to be used."

Professor Hoffman added that the appointment reflected well on F. Nixon because "it shows he can go out of his circle."

Chiding scholars who intend to sit out the Nixon Administration, he said, "If all intellectual people stay out of this Administration, then they have no grounds for complaining about what it does."

Prof. George F. Keman of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N. J., a former Ambassador to Moscow, applauded the appointment, as did his colleague, Carl Kaysen, director of the institute, who called Professor Kissinger a "very able man."

Specialist on Europe

In private, some expressed concern that Professor Kissinger, a specialist in European affairs, would give too much attention to Europe at a time when Asia, Africa and Latin America were demanding increasing attention. Others, however, felt he would adapt to the situation.

John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard professor of economics, called the appointment of his friend a "good one."

In April last year, the Summer School International Seminar at Harvard, which Professor Kissinger directs, was identified as the recipient of funds used by 12 foundations as conduits for the Central Intelligence Agency. He denied knowledge of the origin of the money and said that the program had not been influenced by it.

Dr. DuBridge's appointment

Government," Dr. Wiener said, adding that he doubted Mr. Nixon would do so.

"In itself, DuBridge would have been a fine choice," he said of his long-time friend. "But when you consider the alternative [Professor Libby] everybody is doubly glad."

This view was shared by Harvey Brooks, dean of engineering and applied physics at Harvard, who called Dr. DuBridge "a man of tremendous experience both as an administrator and scientist."

The president of M.I.T., Dr. Howard K. Johnson, called it a "very strong appointment—Dr. DuBridge has a sound and broad understanding of the problems and applications of science."

Dr. DuBridge will face great problems. Federal support for research has leveled considerably in recent years, causing a great squeeze in highly research-oriented institutions like Caltech. For this reason, the scientists are pleased to have a man so close to the situation and with whom they can deal comfortably.

Dr. DuBridge, unlike many scientists, has steered clear of politics and has not publicly endorsed any candidate. He is known to have a keen interest in the problems of the cities.

They See Encouraging Sign for New Administration

By ROBERT REINHOLD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 3

The academic community heaved a great sigh of relief today at the appointments of Prof. Henry A. Kissinger of Harvard and Dr. Lee A. DuBridge of the California Institute of Technology to key policy posts in the Nixon Administration.

Richard M. Nixon's candidacy had generated little enthusiasm and considerable apprehension on university campuses. Many had feared that his election would lead to a bitter and damaging estrangement between the Government and intellectuals.

But the President-elect's appointment of Professor Kissinger as special assistant for national security affairs and Dr. DuBridge as science advisor are being interpreted as an encouraging sign by scholars and scientists here at Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology and elsewhere. They find it encouraging both for their relationship with the incoming Administration and for the country.

Kissinger Choice Hailed

Professor Kissinger, a moderate Republican, was hailed almost unanimously by political scientists and law professors, many of them liberal Democrats and former members of the Kennedy Administration. They viewed him as a force for reason, balance and discretion in foreign affairs and arms control.

"I think it's an excellent appointment," said Arthur Schlesinger Jr., former special assistant to President Kennedy, now a professor at the City University of New York. "It's very very encouraging. He's the best they'll get. He asked my advice a few weeks ago and I urged him to accept."

Dr. DuBridge's appointment was particularly gratifying to scientists. Rumors had been circulating that the job would go to Prof. Willard F. Libby of the University of California, Los Angeles, a politically conservative Nobel Prize-winning chemist whose views are not popular among a large segment of the scientific community.

in Europe, Nixon said he did not think "the problems of Europe can be summarized or blamed on one man." He added: "Europe can't go forward without France and France can't go forward without Europe."

Nixon called Kissinger "one of the major scholars of the world" in the security field. He said that he first met the professor at a Christmas party last winter at the home of Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce. However, he said that he had known him by reputation from, among other things, Kissinger's contribution to the study of the problems of Presidents-elect made by Harvard's Institute of Politics.

A "Fresh" Approach

Nixon said that he had considered a number of men but that Kissinger was the only one of them who had never held a government post and thus would insure a "fresh approach" to the job.

Kissinger said that as a result of his directive from Nixon, he would seek to "elevate the planning function and encourage it throughout government," would "direct the national security toward contingency planning for emergencies" instead of just reacting to crisis, and would seek the counsel of intellectual leaders he knows in other countries.

Kissinger, a native of Forth, Germany, retains a slight German accent. Frequently a government consultant, the compact, square-jawed and circumspect theoretician has written five books on nuclear theories, weapon strategy and the Atlantic Alliance.

He came to the United States in 1953 and earned a doctorate degree at Harvard. He was naturalized at age 29 and served three years in Army counter-intelligence in World War II.

As for the contingency planning mentioned by Kissinger, Nixon said that his eight years on the National Security Council as vice president "convinced me that it is vitally important to have planning procedures set up so that we may not just react to events when they occur, but that we will have a contingency plan ready to go into effect."

"We cannot, of course, be always sure that this plan will be the right one," Nixon continued, "but failing to plan I think can be very dangerous to the national security."

The President-elect announced plans would be Richard T. Allen, 42, senior staff member at the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace, connected with Stanford University.

Hussein Nasser, 21, the third member of a Yemeni family living in Brooklyn that is accused of plotting to assassinate President-elect Nixon, went free in $25,000 bond yesterday in Brooklyn Supreme Court. Hussein's father, Ahmad, 41, and his brother Abdo, 19, were freed in $25,000 bond each last month. They are charged with conspiracy to commit murder, criminal possession and possession of deadly weapons.

Nixon Appoints Prof Foreign Policy Aide

Of The News Washington Bureau

President-elect Nixon announced yesterday he had appointed Henry Kissinger, Harvard professor of government, as his chief White House foreign policy adviser and asked him to draw up contingency plans for meeting foreign crises.

Kissinger, long an adviser to New York Gov. Rockefeller on foreign affairs, was particularly active on the governor's behalf when he was battling Nixon for the GOP nomination this year. Kissinger was with Rocky in Miami Beach during the GOP convention in August.

Nixon held a press conference at the Hotel Pierre to introduce the scholarly looking 45-year-old Kissinger as his assistant for international security affairs. He noted that Kissinger was his first White House staff appointee "in a major policy position."

Kissinger predecessors were Walt W. Rostow, President Johnson's foreign affairs adviser, and Ford Foundation president George Bundy, who held the post under President Kennedy.

Nixon said Kissinger will oversee the defense and diplomatic policies of the White House, but added that his duties will not impinge on those of the secretary of state.

The Troublesome Areas

The President-elect declined to answer "substantive" questions about current international conflicts, but he did reply to a query about the "most troublesome areas" that his administration would face.

He listed these areas in this order of importance: Vietnam, the Middle East, the suggested negotiations with the Soviet Union on missiles and other subjects, the strengthening and revitalizing of Nato, and a "new approach" to Latin America and Africa.

THE NEW YORK TIMES, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1968

Henry Alfred Kissinger

SOME years ago, Dr. Henry Alfred Kissinger, lecturing his Harvard undergraduate class on the principles of international politics, began with the remark:

"As I was saying to General de Gaulle last summer . . ."

The remark was not typical of Dr. Kissinger, for, although he is known at Harvard as being, in the words of one colleague, "impatiently arrogant," he is usually somewhat circumspect when it comes to name-dropping.

Circumspection was apparent in his attitude yesterday when Dr. Kissinger, named as President-elect Richard M. Nixon's assistant for national security affairs, was asked how he would counsel Mr. Nixon on the war in Vietnam.

"I believe very strongly that the position of a White House assistant is inconsistent with making public statements on substantive matters," Dr. Kissinger said briskly.

Met at Christmas Party

Dr. Kissinger has known Mr. Nixon less than a year—they met at a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Clara Boothe Luce—but Mr. Nixon said he knew Mr. Kissinger long before through his writings.

Mr. Nixon indicated he was particularly impressed with Dr. Kissinger's book in 1957, "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy." That was the volume that brought Mr. Kissinger to the attention of scores of politicians, diplomats and military men and became a source book for American policymakers.

In the book, Dr. Kissinger said that survival for America "depends not only on our strength, but also on our ability to recognize [and fight] aggression in all its forms. In the nuclear age, by the time a threat has become unambiguous it may be too late to resist it."

Mr. Kissinger, who was only 34 years old when the book came out, was born in Fuerth, Germany, on May 23, 1923. His parents, Louis and

brisk and businesslike
but demanding.

Paula Bern Kissinger, brought him to New York in 1933 to escape Hitler. He was graduated from George Washington High School in 1941.

During World War II, Dr. Kissinger served with the 84th Infantry Division and with the 97th Counterintelligence Corps. He was released as a sergeant and went to Harvard, from which he received a bachelor's degree, summa cum laude, in 1950. Harvard, which gave him four scholarships, conferred a master's degree on the political scientist in 1952, a doctorate in 1954.

Dr. Kissinger married the former Ann Fleisher in 1949. They had two children, Elizabeth and David. They were divorced in 1964. He now lives at 419 Beacon Street in Boston.

The first of Dr. Kissinger's five books, "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy," was the outgrowth of his work for the Council on Foreign Relations, which had begun an effort to find answers to the possibility of the threat of Soviet action against what was considered "insufficient American initiatives."

Dr. Kissinger was study director of three subcommit-

The year the study was published, Dr. Kissinger's "A World Restored," subtitled "Metternich, Castlereagh and the Problems of Peace, 1812-22," was released. A New York Times reviewer said that Dr. Kissinger's analysis of the Metternich era was "brilliantly formulated."

A Rockefeller Fund Aide

In 1957, Dr. Kissinger began a long association with Governor Rockefeller when he became director of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund's Special Studies Project. One study for the fund found the United States lagging behind the Soviet Union in major areas of military technology, and suggested that the United States increase its defense expenditures by $30-billion a year.

During this year's campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination, Dr. Kissinger was an adviser to Mr. Rockefeller on foreign affairs, in the Governor's effort to prevent Mr. Nixon from receiving the nomination. Dr. Kissinger was one of several Rockefeller aides credited at the Republican Convention with transforming the party's Vietnam war plank from a hawkish to a dovish one.

The graying, bespectacled Dr. Kissinger, who is 3 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds, retains a slight trace of his Germanic accent. He pronounces his name KISS-ING-er.

At Harvard, where he has been serving lately as a professor in the Department of Government, from which he will take a leave of absence to serve Mr. Nixon, Dr. Kissinger is known as a brisk, businesslike and demanding teacher and scholar.

Some colleagues say he sometimes shows a self-deprecatory sense of humor. For example, when introducing one staff member to another, he is said to have remarked:

conditions will become increasingly difficult to fulfill by the threat of all-out war.

When the theory of deterrence was first developed, it was assumed that an aggressor had basically two options: to attack or to fail to do so. . . . However, it has become apparent that the aggressor has other choices. . . . He can attack on a scale which makes the threatened retaliation appear to involve disproportionate risks. More importantly, he has the opportunity to engage in blackmail.

Consider a "rational" United States reaction to a blow against our retaliatory force. Suppose that such an attack reduced our retaliatory force by 50 per cent but held civilian casualties to a minimum. Assume also that coincident with the attack the Soviet Ambassador presented an ultimatum to the President somewhat to this effect: "We have just destroyed 'x' per cent of your retaliatory force while sparing your cities. If you retaliate against our civilian population, we will respond in kind and our ability to inflict damage is superior to yours at least by the factor of destruction inflicted on your retaliatory force. We offer peace negotiations on certain specified conditions."

Considered purely rationally, there would be little sense in American retaliation. . . . A blow against Soviet cities would devastate the Communist homeland.

At the same time it would guarantee even more appalling destruction in the United States, because our population is more concentrated. . . . In these circumstances, the harrowing possibility exists that the Communist leaders might come to believe that if they could induce any delay in our response they might escape unscratched from even a nuclear attack." —From "The Necessity for Choice: Prospects of American Foreign Policy." 1961.

Adjustment to Facts

The notion that wisdom consists of adjustment to facts is, of course, hardly a heroic one. Pressed to its extreme, it implies a policy without goal and measures without conception. It places the direction of events in the hands of those strong enough to bring about a "fact." Nothing in the world would ever have been changed were adjustment the sole rule of conduct. It is an odd doctrine for the United States, which originated during a revolution and which now seeks to deal with a world, in upheaval. Nor is the idea particularly novel. Stalin regularly offered the West a division of the world into spheres of influence, and he failed largely because the West was not yet prepared to adjust to a reality which involved surrendering other peoples' rights.—From the same book, 1961.

Selection of Kissinger Views on World

From Alfred Kissinger's 1-1-25-68 3/61

The following is a selection of quotations by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger on world affairs and security, taken from his books, articles, papers and speeches:

Review of Security Policy

Whatever the course—a continuation of the arms race or arms control—a new look at American national security policy is essential. Over 10 years have passed since the last comprehensive, bipartisan, high-level re-evaluation of all aspects of national security: the Gaither Committee. A new Administration should move quickly to bring about such a review. It should deal with some of the following problems:

A definition of the national interest and national security over the next decade.

The nature of military power in that period.

The relationship of military power to political influence.

Implications and feasibility (both military and political) of various postures—superiority, parity, and so on.

The implications (both political and military) of new developments such as MIRV (Multiple Individually Targeted Re-entry Vehicles) and ballistic missile defenses.

The prospects for arms control, including specific measures to moderate the arms race—From an essay, "Central Issues of American Foreign Policy," published by the Brookings Institution, 1968.

Unrest Among Youth

We have a tendency to offer our altruism as a guarantee of our reliability: "We have no quarrel with the Communists," Secretary of State Rusk said on one occasion. "All of our quarrels are on behalf of other people."

Such an attitude makes it difficult to develop a conception of our role in the world.

We require a new burst of creativity, not so much for the sake of other countries

as for our own people, especially the youth. The contemporary unrest is no doubt exploited by some whose purposes are all too clear. But that it is there to exploit is proof of a profound dissatisfaction with the merely managerial and consumer-oriented qualities of the modern state and with a world which seems to generate crisis by inertia.

The modern bureaucratic state, for all its panoply of strength, often finds itself shaken to its foundations by seemingly trivial causes. Its brittleness and the world-wide revulsion of youth—especially in advanced countries and among the relatively affluent—suggest a spiritual void, an almost metaphysical boredom with a political environment that increasingly emphasizes bureaucratic challenges and is dedicated to no deeper purpose than material comfort. —From the same essay, 1968.

Unity of Policy and Strategy

The traditional mode of military analysis, which saw in a war a continuation of politics but with its own appropriate means, is no longer applicable. Policy and strategy merge at every point. No statesman can overlook the cataclysmic alternatives before him. No problem can be left solely to the arbitrament of arms. Communication in the nuclear age is particularly important among adversaries. Arms control requires the same sense of urgency as does the study of strategy and of diplomacy.

National security policy is not primarily a technical problem, but a challenge to political understanding and, ultimately, to philosophical insight.—from the "Editor's Conclusion" in "Problems of National Strategy," a collection of papers edited by Dr. Kissinger.

The Uses of Power

readiness. . . . This situation reflects the basic paradox of contemporary technology. Power has never been greater; it has also never been less useful. In the past, the major problem of strategists was to assemble superior strength; in the contemporary period, the problem more frequently is how to discipline the available power into some relationship to the objectives likely to be in dispute.

Though states have an unprecedented possibility to devastate their opponent, their threats to use this capability have only a limited credibility. This is because the ability to destroy is not related to the ability to disarm—so that using one's nuclear arsenal indiscriminately against a major opponent only guarantees self-destruction.

This problem is made more acute because the primary purpose of modern weapons is deterrence. But deterrence is as much a psychological as a military problem. It depends on the aggressor's assessment of risks, not the defender's.

A threat meant as a bluff, but taken seriously is more useful for purposes of deterrence than a "genuine" threat interpreted as a bluff.—From the introduction to "Problems of National Strategy," 1965.

Effective Deterrence

Deterrence, to be effective, has four requirements

1. The implementation of the deterrent threat must be sufficiently credible to preclude its being taken as a bluff.

2. The potential aggressor must understand the decision to resist attack or pre-empt.

3. The opponent must be rational, i.e., he must respond to his self-interest in a manner which is predictable.

4. In weighing his self-interest, the potential aggressor must reach the conclusions the "deterrent" is seeking to induce. In other words, the penalties of aggression must outweigh its benefits.

Under conditions of mutual invulnerability, these

Those 'Interminable' Wires

Men in positions of responsibility and men who really have the ability to do creative thinking too often get bogged down in reading the interminable telegrams, most of which are not really relevant to the problems they are concerned with," the President-elect said. Speaking of Dr. Kissinger, Mr. Nixon went on: "I don't want him to get down to the situation room in the White House and spend too much time there going through cables."

Both Mr. Bundy and Mr. Rostow did just that, involving themselves deeply with the minutiae of defense policy. Both put before the President they served several alternative views on key questions, although their offices in the White House and their role as "traffic cops" in the flow of information gave them considerable influence.

Mr. Bundy is believed to have been more assertive about his own ideas, while Mr. Rostow's greatest virtue was as summarizer and synthesizer at the end of policy debates.

The importance of the job lies in the fact that the man who holds it often has the first word or the last word in major debates and often is at the President's side as he makes important decisions.

To work with Dr. Kissinger as a key aide on a 20-man staff, Mr. Nixon named Dr. Richard V. Allen, 32, senior staff member of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace at Stanford University. He served as director of foreign policy research during Mr. Nixon's Presidential campaign this year.

The President-elect also met yesterday with a group of all-star football players, who gave him an autographed football, and with Senator John Sherman Cooper, a Kentucky Republican, and former Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, also a Republican.

Mr. Scranton, who left last night on a 10-day tour of the Middle East on Mr. Nixon's behalf, said that he had been cramming for his trip, reading seven books in four days. He pointed out that he had no intention of "making or propounding policy" but planned only to seek out the views of national leaders in the area.

He called the Middle East "the most volcanic area of the world"—one where war might break out "at a y minute."

KISSINGER NAMED A KEY NIXON AIDE IN DEFENSE POLICY

Job of Overhauling Work of National Security Council Given Harvard Expert

NEW EMPHASIS SOUGHT

President-Elect Says Top Adviser Will Specialize in Long-Term Planning

By R. W. APPLE Jr.
President-elect Richard M. Nixon yesterday chose Henry A. Kissinger, a 45-year-old specialist in defense policy and European affairs, as his assistant for national security affairs, with orders to try to do away with crisis diplomacy.

Dr. Kissinger, a German-born scholar who heads Harvard University's International Seminar as well as its Defense Studies Program, will succeed Walt W. Rostow in one of the most influential policy posts in Washington. Under President Kennedy, the position was held by McGeorge Bundy.

In announcing Dr. Kissinger's appointment at a news conference in the Pierre Hotel, Mr. Nixon emphasized that the professor's job would be to overhaul the operations of the National Security Council and to spend much of his time on long-range planning.

~~Emergency Plans Sought~~
The President-elect said it was essential to have contingency plans in all areas "so that we may not just react to events when they occur."

Although he made no specific criticism of the Johnson Administration's procedures, Mr. Nixon suggested that he thought Mr. Rostow had devoted too much time to day-to-day matters and had interfered with the operations of the State Department.

"Dr. Kissinger," the President-elect declared, "is keenly aware of the necessity not to set himself up as a wall between the President and the Secretary of State or the Secretary of Defense. I intend to have a very strong Secretary of State."

Policy Views Withheld

Neither Mr. Nixon nor Dr. Kissinger was willing to state any view on major foreign policy questions — Mr. Nixon because he does not wish to do so before his inauguration and Dr. Kissinger because he believes that his new job "is inconsistent with making public statements on substantive issues."

The Harvard scholar, who has a reputation for toughness in East-West relations, said he had tried for 15 years "to avoid labels like 'hard' and 'soft.'"

Mr. Nixon then broke into the discussion to stress that Dr. Kissinger would present a spectrum of attitudes toward foreign policy.

"I am one who likes to get a broad range of viewpoints expressed," the President-elect remarked, "and Dr. Kissinger has set up what I believe or is setting up at the present time a very exciting new procedure for seeing to it that the President of the United States does not just hear what he wants to hear, which is always a temptation for White House staffers."

Dr. Kissinger has undertaken several projects for Governor Rockefeller and was the Governor's foreign policy adviser during his unsuccessful campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination this year. During the campaign, he privately disparaged Mr. Nixon's competence in foreign affairs.

Asked whether the appointment meant that he was embracing some ideas Mr. Rockefeller has expressed, the President-elect responded:

"As we approach these problems, we are going to approach them without any inhibitions with regard to statements that have been made in the past by those in the planning functions."

Dr. Kissinger said he planned to bring foreign no governmental experts, such as Alistair Buchan of the London Institute of Strategic Studies, into the White House for consultation. He remarked that he had "a very wide acquaintance all over the world among intellectuals of all points of view."

Mr. Nixon described this process as "trying to pick the brains of the best people in the world."

Mr. Nixon said that he hoped to revitalize the National Security Council, which has not been used extensively under President Kennedy and Johnson, and to meet with it often. Dr. Kissinger said he hoped to divert some of the council's energies from short-range to middle and long-range planning.

The year the study was published, Dr. Kissinger's "A World Restored," subtitled "Metternich, Castlereagh and the Problems of Peace, 1812-22," was released. A New York Times reviewer said that Dr. Kissinger's analysis of the Metternich era was "brilliantly formulated."

A Rockefeller Fund Aide

In 1957, Dr. Kissinger began a long association with Governor Rockefeller when he became director of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund's Special Studies Project. One study for the fund found the United States lagging behind the Soviet Union in major areas of military technology, and suggested that the United States increase its defense expenditures by $30-billion a year.

During this year's campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination, Dr. Kissinger was an adviser to Mr. Rockefeller on foreign affairs, in the Governor's effort to prevent Mr. Nixon from receiving the nomination. Dr. Kissinger was one of several Rockefeller aides credited at the Republican Convention with transforming the party's Vietnam war plank from a hawkish to a dovish one.

The graying, bespectacled Dr. Kissinger, who is 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds, retains a slight trace of his Germanic accent. He pronounces his name KISS-ing-er.

At Harvard, where he has been serving lately as a professor in the Department of Government, from which he will take a leave of absence to serve Mr. Nixon, Dr. Kissinger is known as a brisk, businesslike and demanding teacher and scholar.

Some colleagues say he sometimes shows a self-deprecatory sense of humor. For example, when introducing one staff member to another, he is said to have remarked:

SOME weeks ago, Dr. Henry Alfred Kissinger, lecturing his Harvard undergraduate class on the principles of international politics, began with the remark:

"As I was saying to General de Gaulle last summer . . ."

The remark was not typical of Dr. Kissinger, for, although he is known at Harvard as being, in the words of one colleague, "impatiently arrogant," he is usually somewhat circumspect when it comes to name-dropping.

Circumspection was apparent in his attitude yesterday when Dr. Kissinger, named as President-elect Richard M. Nixon's assistant for national security affairs, was asked how he would counsel Mr. Nixon on the war in Vietnam.

"I believe very strongly that the position of a White House assistant is incompatible with making public statements on substantive matters," Dr. Kissinger said briskly.

Met at Christmas Party

Dr. Kissinger has known Mr. Nixon less than a year—they met at a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce—but Mr. Nixon said he knew Mr. Kissinger long before through his writings.

Mr. Nixon indicated he was particularly impressed with Dr. Kissinger's book in 1957, "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy." That was the volume that brought Mr. Kissinger to the attention of scores of politicians, diplomats and military men and became a source book for American policymakers.

In the book, Dr. Kissinger said the survival of America "depends not only on our strength but also on our ability to recognize [and fight] agression in all its forms. In the nuclear age, by the time a threat has become unambiguous it may be too late to resist it."

Mr. Kissinger, who was only 34 years old when the book came out, was born in Fuerth, Germany, on May 23, 1923. His parents, Louis and Paula Ellen Kissinger, brought him and his brother, Walter, to New York in 1938 to escape Hitler. He was graduated from George Washington High School in 1941.

During World War II, Dr. Kissinger served with the 84th Infantry Division and with the 97th Counterintelligence Corps. He was commissioned a sergeant and went to Harvard, from which he received a bachelor's degree, magna cum laude, in 1950. Harvard, which gave him four scholarships, conferred a master's degree on the political scientist in 1952, a doctorate in 1954.

Dr. Kissinger married the former Ann Fleisher in 1949. They had two children, Elizabeth and David. They were divorced in 1964. He now lives at 419 Beacon Street in Boston.

The first of Dr. Kissinger's five books, "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy," was the outgrowth of his work for the Council on Foreign Relations, which had begun an effort to find answers to the possibility of the threat of Soviet action against what was considered "insufficient American initiative."

Dr. Kissinger was study director of three subcommit-

9 WHERE YOU HAVE LIVED

List the places where you have lived, beginning with the most recent (#1) and working back 7 years. All periods must be accounted for in your list. Be sure to indicate the actual physical location of your residence: do not use a post office box as an address, do not list a permanent address when you were actually living at a school address, etc. Be sure to specify your location as closely as possible: for example, do not list only your base or ship, list your barracks number or home port. You may omit temporary military duty locations under 90 days (list your permanent address instead), and you should use your APO/FPO address if you lived overseas.

For any address in the last 5 years, list a person who knew you at that address, and who preferably still lives in that area (do not list people for residences completely outside this 5-year period, and do not list your spouse, former spouses, or other relatives). Also for addresses in the last five years, if the address is "General Delivery," a Rural or Star Route, or may be difficult to locate, provide directions for locating the residence on an attached continuation sheet.

You should list all full-time work, part-time work, military service, temporary military duty locations over 90 days, self-employment, other paid work, and all periods of unemployment. The entire 7-year period must be accounted for without breaks, but you need not list employments before your 16th birthday. EXCEPTION: Show all Federal civilian service, whether it occurred within the last 7 years or not.

• Code. Use one of these codes listed below to identify the type of employment:

- 1 - Active military duty stations
- 2 - National Guard/Reserve
- 3 - U.S.P.H.S. Commissioned Corps
- 4 - Other Federal employment
- 5 - State Government (Non-Federal employment)
- 6 - Self-employment (Include business name and/or name of person who can verify)

If military service is being listed, include your duty location or home port here as well as your branch of service. You should provide separate listings to reflect changes in your military duty locations or home ports.

• Previous Periods of Activity. Complete these lines if you worked for an employer on more than one occasion at the same location. After entering the most recent period of employment in the initial numbered block, provide previous periods of employment at the same location on the additional lines provided. For example, if you worked at XY Plumbing in Denver, CO, during 3 separate periods of time, you would enter dates and information concerning the most recent period of employment first, and provide dates, position titles, and supervisors for the two previous periods of employment on the lines below that information.

"Foreign Countries Visited" (since 2/88)

To the best of my recollection, these are the countries I have visited during the last ten years. My purpose in going was most often to participate in a conference, deliver a speech, attend a board meeting and meet with that country's leadership; less frequently to confer with one of Kissinger Associates' international corporate clients; and occasionally to vacation. Title: HENRY ALFRED KISSINGER
LEVEL II-WHS

Synopsis: Initiation of background investigation (BI) on captioned candidate.

Administrative: BUDED is 04/10/98.

NOTE: As a result of discussions with representatives of the White House (WH) and various Congressional committees (CC) for which the FBI conducts BIs, changes in certain procedures/policy involving those BIs have been made. These changes must be followed when conducting WH and CC BIs. The changes are addressed below.

All WH and CC BIs conducted by the FBI are initiated within the 161 classification with one exception. BIs for certain Presidential Appointment positions requiring Senate confirmation are initiated under the 77A subclassification. These BIs vary in scope depending upon the position for which the candidate is being considered. They are conducted using only the SF-86 and its accompanying release forms.

In 9/95, the SF-86 and one of its accompanying release forms were revised. Additionally, a second accompanying release form was created to be used when obtaining medical information about a candidate. As a result of instructions issued by the Office of Management and Budget regarding these revisions, and other considerations, SIGBIU management contacted WH and CC representatives to discuss the scope of our BIs, especially with respect (although not limited) to the areas of mental health and alcohol related counseling, prior illegal drug use, prescription drug abuse, and other drug activity. As a result of these discussions, changes in certain policy involving BIs conducted by the FBI for the WH and CC have been made. These changes are addressed below and must be followed in this BI, and all future BIs conducted for the WH and CC, unless otherwise instructed by the SIGBIU, FBIHQ. Except for these changes, investigation in all other areas addressed in these BIs is to remain the same.

RECEIVING OFFICES ARE TO ENSURE THAT A COPY OF THAT EC IS PROVIDED TO EACH INDIVIDUAL (I.E., BUREAU EMPLOYEE OR BICS SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR) CONDUCTING INVESTIGATION IN CAPTIONED MATTER. Additionally, when sending followup leads to other field offices/BICS Regions not known to be involved in captioned matter, "ensure" that a copy of this EC is provided to those field offices/BICS Regions.

To the extent that they do not conflict with the policy/procedure changes herein, the investigative guidelines set forth in MIOG, Part I, Sections 77 and 161, and Part II, Section 17, are to be referred to for assistance in conducting investigation in captioned matter. However, to the extent those guidelines are in conflict with the changes, the guidelines are to be disregarded and the changes followed.

POLICY CHANGES

I. CANDIDATE INTERVIEWS

Regardless of the scope, i.e., the timeframe, to be addressed in candidate's BI, the "INITIAL" candidate interview is to address each of those areas set forth in MIOG, Part II, Section 17-5.6 (1) (a) - (n), for the candidate's entire adult life, i.e., since his/her 18th birthday, EXCEPT FOR COUNSELING. Only information pertaining to counseling received by the candidate "WITHIN THE SCOPE OF THE BI" is to be solicited and addressed, and then, only as specifically set forth below under the "COUNSELING/COUNSELOR INTERVIEWS" section.

When addressing each of the areas with the candidate, he/she is to be advised of their scope. The fact that questions addressing each of the areas were asked, as well as candidate's responses thereto and knowledge of their scope, must be clearly set forth in the FD-302 reflecting the results of the candidate's interview.

If the candidate refuses to answer any question, that is to be clearly set forth in the FD-302 reflecting the results of the candidate's interview. An effort should be made to obtain from the candidate an explanation for refusing to answer and, if provided, the explanation is also to be reported in the FD-302. If the candidate refuses to provide an explanation, that also is to be reported. Thereafter, no further efforts to obtain a response to the question candidate refused to answer should be made, unless instructed by SIGBIU, FBIHQ.

II. COUNSELING/COUNSELOR INTERVIEWS

A. Counseling information to be solicited from the candidate is to be limited only to that information set forth in questions 21 and 25 of candidate's SF-86, except that the information is to cover "only" the scope of candidate's BI (but not prior to his/her 18th birthday). For example, if the scope of candidate's BI is 15 years, then counseling information solicited from the candidate, and to be addressed in the BI, must be limited to the last 15 years or since candidate's 18th birthday, whichever is less. Counseling which occurred outside the scope of the candidate's BI is "not" to be solicited or addressed, unless otherwise instructed by SIGBIU, FBIHQ.
NOTE: The new policy also prohibits marriage, family, or grief counseling from being solicited and addressed, except where violence by the candidate is involved.

B. For interviews of counselors, a copy of an executed "Authorization for Release of Medical Information" form must be utilized. NOTE: The questions which can be asked of counselors are limited. In addition to verifying the dates of the counseling, the questions asked are to be "limited only to the three questions set forth on the aforementioned release." The counselor is to be instructed to provide only that information he/she believes is responsive to each of the three questions. Each question is to be specifically asked and answered, and responses to each clearly reported in the FD-302/insert reflecting the interview results.

Because information concerning counseling is limited to the scope of the BI, if the candidate voluntarily provides counseling information which occurred outside the scope of the BI, that information is to be fully explored with the candidate only during his/her interview, recorded and reported. However, no additional investigation is to be conducted concerning the information, unless instructed to do so by SIGBIU, FBIHQ. The fact that the information beyond the scope of the BI was volunteered by the candidate, and not solicited (except as further explored with the candidate) by the FBI, must also be clearly set forth in the FD-302 reflecting the results of the candidate's interview.

III. THIRD-PARTY INTERVIEWS

The area of bias and prejudice is to be addressed ♦♦ during interviews of persons knowledgeable of the candidate in "all" 161 classification BIs. Prior policy required that this area be addressed only in BIs involving Presidential appointments.

Field offices/BICS Regions are reminded that neither the investigative status of a background investigation nor any deadlines are to be disclosed to the candidate or any interviewees. Candidates making inquiries of the status of their investigation are to be referred to the client entity.

Direct results/questions to PSS [] supra. Advise SIGBIU (PSS [] and appropriate field offices of any derogatory information in accordance with MIOG, Part II, Section 17-5.1(1). If Buded will not be met, telephonically advise PSS [] and set forth reason(s) in Administrative Section of investigative report. SIGBIU facsimile numbers are (202)324-1865 and (202) 324-4504.

Enclosures: Being forwarded to each field office/BICS Region with a hard copy of this EC, via Bureau mail, is one copy each of the following: candidate's SF-86 dated 2/6/98, Authorization to Release Medical Information, dated 2/6/98, and Authorization for Release of Information dated 2/6/98

Details: Bureau has been requested by the WH to conduct a Level II BI of candidate. Candidate's last BI completed in 2/88.

Question 17B, page 6
"Foreign Countries Visited" (since 2/88)

To the best of my recollection, these are the countries I have visited during the last ten years. My purpose in going was most often to participate in a conference, deliver a speech, attend a board meeting and meet with that country's leadership; less frequently to confer with one of Kissinger Associates' international corporate clients; and occasionally to vacation. With the exception of the latter, typically my visits combined several of these functions.

A SUMMARY OF YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE FAIR CREDIT REPORTING ACT

THE FEDERAL FAIR CREDIT REPORTING ACT (FCRA) IS DESIGNED TO PROMOTE ACCURACY, FAIRNESS, AND PRIVACY OF INFORMATION IN THE FILES OF EVERY "CONSUMER REPORTING AGENCY" (CRA). MOST CRA'S ARE CREDIT BUREAUS THAT GATHER AND SELL INFORMATION

FBI (23-cv-10741)-130

ABOUT YOU -- 'SUCH AS IF YOU PAY YOUR BILLS ON TIME OR HAVE FILED BANKRUPTCY -- TO CREDITORS, EMPLOYERS, LANDLORDS, AND OTHER BUSINESSES. YOU CAN FIND THE COMPLETE TEXT OF THE FCRA, 15 U.S.C §§1681-1681U, AT THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION'S WEB SITE (HTTP://WWW.FTC.GOV). THE FCRA GIVES YOU SPECIFIC RIGHTS, AS OUTLINED BELOW. YOU MAY HAVE ADDITIONAL RIGHTS UNDER STATE LAW. YOU MAY CONTACT A STATE OR LOCAL CONSUMER PROTECTION AGENCY OR A STATE ATTORNEY GENERAL TO LEARN THOSE RIGHTS.

- YOU MUST BE TOLD IF INFORMATION IN YOUR FILE HAS BEEN USED AGAINST YOU. ANYONE WHO USES INFORMATION FROM A CRA TO TAKE ACTION AGAINST YOU -- SUCH AS DENYING AN APPLICATION FOR CREDIT, INSURANCE, OR EMPLOYMENT -- MUST TELL YOU, AND GIVE YOU THE NAME, ADDRESS, AND PHONE NUMBER OF THE CRA THAT PROVIDED THE CONSUMER REPORT.
- YOU CAN FIND OUT WHAT IS IN YOUR FILE. AT YOUR REQUEST, A CRA MUST GIVE YOU THE INFORMATION IN YOUR FILE, AND A LIST OF EVERYONE WHO HAS REQUESTED IT RECENTLY. THERE IS NO CHARGE FOR THE REPORT IF A PERSON HAS TAKEN ACTION AGAINST YOU BECAUSE OF INFORMATION SUPPLIED BY THE CRA. IF YOU REQUEST THE REPORT WITHIN 60 DAYS OF RECEIVING NOTICE OF THE ACTION. YOU ALSO ARE ENTITLED TO ONE FREE REPORT EVERY TWELVE MONTHS UPON REQUEST IF YOU CERTIFY THAT (1) YOU ARE UNEMPLOYED AND PLAN TO SEEK EMPLOYMENT WITHIN 60 DAYS, (2) YOU ARE ON WELFARE, OR (3) YOUR REPORT IS INACCURATE DUE TO FRAUD. OTHERWISE, A CRA MAY CHARGE YOU UP TO EIGHT DOLLARS.
- YOU CAN DISPUTE INACCURATE INFORMATION WITH THE CRA. IF YOU TELL A CRA THAT YOUR FILE CONTAINS INACCURATE INFORMATION, THE CRA MUST INVESTIGATE THE ITEMS (USUALLY WITHIN 30 DAYS) BY PRESENTING TO ITS INFORMATION SOURCE ALL RELEVANT EVIDENCE YOU SUBMIT, UNLESS YOUR DISPUTE IS FRIVOLOUS. THE SOURCE MUST REVIEW YOUR EVIDENCE AND REPORT ITS FINDINGS TO THE CRA. (THE SOURCE ALSO MUST ADVISE NATIONAL CRA'S -- TO WHICH IT HAS PROVIDED THE DATA -- OF ANY ERROR.) THE CRA MUST GIVE YOU A WRITTEN REPORT OF THE INVESTIGATION, AND A COPY OF YOUR REPORT IF THE INVESTIGATION RESULTS IN ANY CHANGE. IF THE CRA'S INVESTIGATION DOES NOT RESOLVE THE DISPUTE, YOU MAY ADD A BRIEF STATEMENT IN FUTURE REPORTS. IF AN ITEM IS DELETED OR A DISPUTE STATEMENT IS FILED, YOU MAY ASK THAT ANYONE WHO HAS RECENTLY RECEIVED YOUR REPORT BE NOTIFIED OF THE CHANGE.
- INACCURATE INFORMATION MUST BE CORRECTED OR DELETED. A CRA MUST REMOVE OR CORRECT INACCURATE OR UNVERIFIED INFORMATION FROM ITS FILES, USUALLY WITHIN 30 DAYS AFTER YOU DISPUTE IT. HOWEVER, THE CRA IS NOT REQUIRED TO REMOVE ACCURATE DATA FROM YOUR FILE UNLESS IT IS OUTDATED (AS DESCRIBED BELOW) OR CANNOT BE VERIFIED. IF YOUR DISPUTE RESULTS IN ANY CHANGE TO YOUR REPORT, THE CRA CANNOT REINSERT INTO YOUR FILE A DISPUTED ITEM UNLESS THE INFORMATION SOURCE VERIFIES ITS ACCURACY AND COMPLETENESS. IN ADDITION, THE CRA MUST GIVE YOU A WRITTEN NOTICE TELLING YOU IT HAS REINSERTED THE ITEM. THE NOTICE MUST INCLUDE THE NAME, ADDRESS AND PHONE NUMBER OF THE INFORMATION SOURCE.
- YOU CAN DISPUTE INACCURATE ITEMS WITH THE SOURCE OF THE INFORMATION. IF YOU TELL ANYONE -- SUCH AS A CREDITOR WHO REPORTS TO A CRA -- THAT YOU DISPUTE AN ITEM THEY MAY NOT THEN REPORT THE INFORMATION TO A CRA WITHOUT INCLUDING A NOTICE OF YOUR DISPUTE. IN ADDITION, ONCE YOU'VE NOTIFIED THE SOURCE OF THE ERROR IN WRITING, IT MAY NOT CONTINUE TO REPORT THE INFORMATION IF IT IS, IN FACT, AN ERROR.
- OUTDATED INFORMATION MAY NOT BE REPORTED. IN MOST CASES, A CRA MAY NOT REPORT NEGATIVE INFORMATION THAT IS MORE THAN SEVEN YEARS OLD; TEN YEARS FOR BANKRUPTCIES.
- ACCESS TO YOUR FILE IS LIMITED. A CRA MAY PROVIDE INFORMATION ABOUT YOU ONLY TO PEOPLE WITH A NEED RECOGNIZED BY THE FCRA -- USUALLY TO CONSIDER AN APPLICATION WITH A CREDITOR, INSURER, EMPLOYER, LANDLORD, OR OTHER BUSINESS.

- YOUR CONSENT IS REQUIRED FOR REPORTS THAT ARE PROVIDED TO EMPLOYERS, OR REPORTS THAT CONTAIN MEDICAL INFORMATION. A CRA MAY NOT GIVE OUT INFORMATION ABOUT YOU TO YOUR EMPLOYER, OR PROSPECTIVE EMPLOYER, WITHOUT YOUR WRITTEN CONSENT. A CRA MAY NOT REPORT MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU TO CREDITORS, INSURERS, OR EMPLOYERS WITHOUT YOUR PERMISSION.
- YOU MAY CHOOSE TO EXCLUDE YOUR NAME FROM CRA LISTS FOR UNSOLICITED CREDIT AND INSURANCE OFFERS. CREDITORS AND INSURERS MAY USE FILE INFORMATION AS THE BASIS FOR SENDING YOU UNSOLICITED OFFERS OF CREDIT OR INSURANCE. SUCH OFFERS MUST INCLUDE A TOLL-FREE PHONE NUMBER FOR YOU TO CALL IF YOU WANT YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS REMOVED FROM FUTURE LISTS. IF YOU CALL, YOU MUST BE KEPT OFF THE LISTS FOR TWO YEARS. IF YOU REQUEST, COMPLETE, AND RETURN THE CRA FORM PROVIDED FOR THIS PURPOSE, YOU MUST BE TAKEN OFF THE LISTS INDEFINITELY.
- YOU MAY SEEK DAMAGES FROM VIOLATORS. IF A CRA, A USER OR (IN SOME CASES) A PROVIDER OF CRA DATA, VIOLATES THE FCRA, YOU MAY SUE THEM IN STATE OR FEDERAL COURT.

THE FCRA GIVES SEVERAL DIFFERENT FEDERAL AGENCIES AUTHORITY TO ENFORCE THE FCRA:

LEVEL II-WHS

Synopsis: Initiation of background investigation (BI) on captioned candidate.

Administrative: BUDED is 04/10/98.

NOTE: As a result of discussions with representatives of the White House (WH) and various Congressional committees (CC) for which the FBI conducts BIs, changes in certain procedures/policy involving those BIs have been made. These changes must be followed when conducting WH and CC BIs. The changes are addressed below.

All WH and CC BIs conducted by the FBI are initiated within the 161 classification with one exception. BIs for certain Presidential Appointment positions requiring Senate confirmation are initiated under the 77A subclassification. These BIs vary in scope depending upon the position for which the candidate is being considered. They are conducted using only the SF-86 and its accompanying release forms.

In 9/95, the SF-86 and one of its accompanying release forms were revised. Additionally, a second accompanying release form was created to be used when obtaining medical information about a candidate. As a result of instructions issued by the Office of Management and Budget regarding these revisions, and other considerations, SIGBIU management contacted WH and CC representatives to discuss the scope of our BIs, especially with respect (although not limited) to the areas of mental health and alcohol related counseling, prior illegal drug use, prescription drug abuse, and other drug activity. As a result of these

For any address in the last 5 years, list a person who knew you at that address, and who preferably still lives in that area (do not list people for residences completely outside this 5-year period, and do not list your spouse, former spouses, or other relatives). You should provide separate listings to reflect changes in your military duty locations or home ports.

• Previous Periods of Activity. Complete these lines if you worked for an employer on more than one occasion at the same location. After entering the most recent period of employment in the initial numbered block, provide previous periods of employment at the same location on the additional lines provided. For example, if you worked at XY Plumbing in Denver, CO, during 3 separate periods of time, you would enter dates and information concerning the most recent period of employment first, and provide dates, position titles, and supervisors for the two previous periods of employment on the lines below that information.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

O Am concerned about the talk that Henry A. Kissinger President Nixon's National Security Adviser Could not get clearance by the State Department Security Office.

Could you tell me if there is any truth to this?

It worries me when I hear that he is always with Pres. Nixon when he makes some important decisions.

Also is there any way that the United States could get out of the United Nations?

Let the Communists pay their share or shut up.

By memorandum, November 13, 1969⁻⁷⁴, arrangements were made for Dr. Henry A. Kissinger to visit the Director at 4:15 p.m., on Thursday, November 20, 1969.

At 3:55 p.m., Commander Jon Howe, a military aide to Dr. Kissinger, called and said that Dr. Kissinger had been summoned to a 4 p.m. meeting and may be a few minutes late in seeing the Director.

At 4:20 p.m., Commander Howe called again and stated that Dr. Kissinger was most apologetic, but as a result of the four o'clock meeting, he would be unable to meet with the Director this afternoon. He is still most anxious to see the Director in the near future.

Commander Howe stated that he could call the Director's Office and convey this information. He was advised that the Liaison Agent would do so. The Director's Telephone Room and Miss Gandy were promptly advised of the above.

Zionist 'Pledge' Is Forgery, Kissinger Says

A number of newspapers and magazines recently have received a photostatic copy of a pledge allegedly signed by Henry A. Kissinger, Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, bequeathing $20,000 to the Zionist Organization of America.

Yesterday Kissinger and an officer of ZOA branded the document a forgery. Kissinger said he had asked the Justice Department to investigate it.

Jacob Rubin, director of the ZOA Foundation Fund, said in a telephone interview that "Unfortunately we don't have such a pledge from any Henry A. Kissinger, the White House Kissinger or any other."

ZOA has circulated many pledge forms and one could easily fall into the wrong hands, Rubin said. The signature on the form appears to be Kissinger's, and he said yesterday it was either a photographic copy of his signature

or a tracing. There is no date on the document.

The form says that the signer does "give and bequeath to the ZOA Foundation Fund, an institution of the Zionist Organization of America, a membership corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of New York and now having its principal place of business at 145 East 32nd St., New York, N.Y. 10016, the sum of $20,000."

The Washington Post received a copy of the pledge form from an anonymous letter writer who said that he and others were disturbed that a close adviser to the President should be "affiliated" with the Zionist movement.

Kissinger said photostatic copies had been sent to a number of publications. He said he had never made any contribution or signed any pledge to bequeath funds to the Zionist organization.

SUBJECT: DR. HENRY A. KISSINGER
 ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT FOR NATIONAL SECURITY AFFAIRS
 REQUEST TO VISIT THE DIRECTOR
 4:15 P.M., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1969

On November 12, 1969, Brigadier General Alexander M. Haig, in Dr. Henry A. Kissinger's office, advised the Liaison Agent that Dr. Kissinger would like to visit with the Director next week in order to "touch base with him."

General Haig did not comment whether Dr. Kissinger had anything specific to take up with the Director. However, in a general discussion, Haig was very laudatory of the support being furnished to Dr. Kissinger and the President by FBI intelligence operations. They feel it is of top quality. It is believed that Dr. Kissinger may want to pass these views on to the Director.

General Haig stated that if it would agree with the Director's schedule, Dr. Kissinger could come to the Director's office at 4:15 p.m., on Thursday, November 20, 1969. General Haig suggested that due to Dr. Kissinger's extremely crowded calendar that if the above time is not convenient, the visit be put off until the following week at the Director's convenience, preferably sometime in the afternoon as Dr. Kissinger generally meets with the President and has committee meetings during the morning hours.

RECOMMENDATION:

If the Director's schedule permits, that he designate a time that he can visit with Dr. Kissinger, and General Haig will be advised by Liaison.

MR. DE LOACH
MR. CALLAHAN
MR. DISNEY

Former Governor Thomas E. Dewey called from New York. He said he had been down consulting a little at the White House and was down Friday reading a mass of Top Secret material and he had never been cleared. He continued that he thought Dr. Henry Kissinger called the Bureau Friday at his, Dewey's, suggestion as he, Dewey, said he would feel more comfortable if he were cleared. Mr. Dewey said it bothered him a little, but he does not want the FBI Agents going all around New York to get him cleared.

I told him I thought I could handle it quietly and get it done quickly. Mr. Dewey said he had been doing this at the request of the President; that he did not know how much good it does, but he will be informed. Mr. Dewey also asked if General Lucius Clay has been cleared and I told him I did not know. Mr. Dewey said he is to be also and I told Mr. Dewey I would check. Mr. Dewey said Dr. Kissinger called the Bureau and suggested both General Clay and he, Dewey, be cleared for top secret and to do it in such a way that there be no waves, for I knew what would happen. I told him I would take care of it quietly and quickly.

Assistant to the Director Curtis D. DeLoach called. He advised me former Special Agent Russell Ash, according to Assistant Director William Sullivan, called over to the Domestic Intelligence Division late Friday afternoon and said he would like to have a name check on Mr. Dewey and General Clay, but he did not say anything about an investigation or that it was for clearance purposes.

Dr. Kissinger has been characterized as an outspoken anticommunist and anti-Soviet.

We conducted Special Inquiry investigations on Dr. Kissinger in 1961 and 1969, and no derogatory information was developed. (u)

No difficulties have been encountered in liaison with Dr. Kissinger's office, and there are no current problems existing with Dr. Kissinger or the National Security Council Staff. In day-to-day liaison contacts with various staff members, including Brigadier General Alexander M. Haig, they have been laudatory of the Bureau and the intelligence that has been provided. Recently in a casual conversation with General Haig, he referred to the upcoming visit with the Director by Dr. Kissinger and stated that Dr. Kissinger had no specific items that he wanted to take up with the Director but likes to occasionally "touch base with the Director" in matters of mutual interest. PURPOSE:

To recommend attached letters be sent to Honorable Henry A. Kissinger at the White House and to the Attorney General regarding a possible plot to kidnap a prominent Government official by followers of Phillip and Daniel Berrigan, dissident antidraft priests.

BACKGROUND:

The ECCSL reportedly is composed of followers of Phillip and Daniel Berrigan, dissident priests who are currently imprisoned at Danbury, Connecticut. These individuals and their adherents have publicly identified themselves as being responsible for the destruction of Selective Service records in various cities on the East Coast and have been investigated under the Selective Service Act of 1948.

A sensitive source of the Philadelphia Office has advised that

According to information received to date, the reasoning behind this proposed action is to call attention to the antiwar views of the group in a nonviolent way inasmuch as no harm would come to the victim and he would be publicly released in a week's time. It has also been suggested this action be coordinated with disruptive action planned in Washington, D. C., in February, 1971, whereby ECCSL affiliates intend to damage underground electrical power and steam lines serving Government facilities. This latter information has previously been furnished to the White House and other interested agencies.

Re: East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives (ECCSL)

OBSERVATIONS:

At this stage, the proposed kidnap plot is rhetorical; however, the possibility exists that these individuals have the dedication of purpose to attempt to pull it off. Investigation has been initiated to keep on top of the situation and it is deemed necessary to bring the information to the attention of Dr. Kissinger and the Attorney General. Dissemination also made to Secret Service, military intelligence agencies and appropriate local law enforcement agencies.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the attached letters to Dr. Kissinger and the Attorney General be forwarded.

RESIDENCE OF DR. HENRY A. KISSINGER,
SECURITY AFFAIRS
INFORMATION CONCERNING

Enclosed herewith is one copy of a letter from
Mr. James J. Rowley, Director, U.S. Secret Service, dated March 10, 1971, which is self-explanatory.

The suspicious caller referred to in the attached letter could have conceivably been casing the area around Dr. Kissinger's residence in connection with some contemplated action against him. Dr. Kissinger was named as the intended victim of the Eastcon subjects, and it is possible that the organizers of the April-May antiwar demonstrations in Washington, D.C., have singled him out as a target. In view of this possibility, it is necessary that inquiry be made in the vicinity of Dr. Kissinger's residence in an effort to identify the individual referred to in the enclosure.

Accordingly, photographs of individuals associated with Eastcon or with the groups planning the April-May, 1971, demonstrations should be exhibited in an effort to identify the unknown subject. Submit results of this investigation in form suitable for dissemination and in the event a positive identification is made, this LHM should bear an appropriate caption other than instant.

Give this matter expedite attention and in view of the interest of the Secret Service, you should coordinate your

RESIDENCE OF DR. HENRY A. KISSINGER, ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT FOR NATIONAL

b6 -3
b7C -3

On March 17, 1971, Mr. Arthur Kroeger, Counselor, Embassy of Canada, 1746 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D. C. (WDC), advised that he resides in a two-story residence at [REDACTED] N.W., WDC, which is adjoined by a common wall with the residence of Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, at 2527 Waterside Drive, N.W. Kroeger advised that during the first week in March, when he and his wife were away, an unidentified male made inquiries of Miss Judith Hamilton, an employee of his residence, which he feels were suspicious.
He explained that on March 2 or 3, 1971, Miss Hamilton responded to a knock on the door and was greeted by an unidentified white male who represented himself as an agent for Hagner and Hagner, Fire Insurance Underwriters, and who questioned Miss Hamilton concerning the interior construction of the property at 2525 Waterside Drive, N.W. Mr. Kroeger said that he subsequently contacted Mr. Randall H. Hagner, President of Randall Insurance Group, 1321 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., WDC, and owner of the residence, and was informed that Mr. Randall had not made a request for an insurance agent to inspect the property and was unaware of the incident.

[redacted] Miss Judith Hamilton, [redacted] N.W., WASH DC b6 -2 was interviewed on March 17, 1971. She advised that she is b7C -2 a British national and has resided in the Kroeger residence ENA for approximately one year where she serves as a nurse for the Kroeger children. She related that at approximately 1:00 PM, on March 2 or 3, 1971, she responded to a knock on the door and was greeted by a male individual who explained that his company had been "asked by Hagner and Hagner" for fire insurance on the property at [redacted], and that he had been requested to check the property. Miss Hamilton does not recall whether this individual displayed any credentials or identified himself or his company by name. She said he inquired concerning the identity of the residents, their occupations and length of residence and also questioned her concerning the interior construction of the house including the number of floors and type of heating and electrical systems. She said she did not admit the man but did respond to his questions to the best of her limited knowledge.

Miss Hamilton pointed out that the contact took only a few minutes and that in her opinion, the caller handled himself in a very polite and professional manner. She said that he made notations on a note type pad and gave every impression that he was a legitimate insurance man. She described him as in his mid thirties, under six feet, well built, stocky, well groomed with dark hair and either a close cropped beard or moustache and well dressed wearing a 3/4 length car coat. Miss Hamilton was exhibited numerous photographs of individuals known or suspected to have been involved in various activist type activities and she advised that all persons depicted therein were unknown to her.

Retired Admiral and Mrs. Ernest R. Becker, residents at [redacted] N.W., which immediately b6 -2 adjoins the residence of Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, advised that b7C -2 they had no recollection of any inquiries being made of them in the recent past by any person concerning their residence or other residences in the community.

On March 17, 1971, Mr. Randall H. Hagner, President, Hagner Insurance Group, 1321 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., WDC, advised that he is the owner of the property at [REDACTED] [REDACTED] N.W., and that the property has been occupied on a rental basis for approximately two years by Mr. Arthur Kroeger, Counselor of the Canadian Embassy. Mr. Hagner searched his records which disclosed that the fire insurance liability on this residence had been assumed as a new risk by the Fireman's Fund Insurance Company, 2001 Wisconsin Avenue, N.W., WDC, as of March 5, 1971. Mr. Hagner pointed out that the property was previously insured by the Travelers Companies which recently discontinued its policy of renewing home owners insurance. Mr. Hagner said that it would be entirely consistent with good business practice for Fireman's Fund Insurance Company to have made an inspection of the property prior to assuming liability.

On March 18, 1971, Mr. Finlay Thompson and Mr. Robert Kelly, Officers, Fireman's Fund Insurance Company, 2001 Wisconsin Avenue, N.W., WDC, advised that their records disclosed that Fireman's Fund had assumed the home owners insurance coverage on the residence at [REDACTED] N.W., on March 5, 1971. They advised that company records contained an inspection report on the property dated March 4, 1971, prepared by O'Hanlon Reports, 8209 Fenton Street, Silver Spring, Maryland, a contract firm used by Fireman's Fund Insurance Company to handle its property inspections. Mr. Kelly said the report was routine in nature and contained nothing other than facts concerning the residence at [REDACTED], N.W. He said the report did not identify the name of the inspector.

Mr. R. T. Jonus, O'Hanlon Reports, 8209 Fenton Street, N.W., Silver Spring, Maryland, advised that his company had been retained by the Fireman's Fund Insurance Company to inspect the property at [REDACTED], N.W., and that a report dated March 4, 1971, had been submitted to this company. Mr. Jonus could not determine from the report the exact date of the inspection, but suggested that it was conducted a couple days

✓ prior to the date of the report. He identified the inspector as Alexander M. Mayes, who he characterized as one of his most reliable and competent inspectors.

Mr. [REDACTED], O'Hanlon Reports, 8209 Denton Street, Silver Spring, Maryland, was interviewed on March 18, 1971. He advised that he inspected the property at [REDACTED], N.W., sometime during the period of March 1-3, 1971. He readily recalled that he had spoken briefly with a young white female with a foreign accent, possibly British, and had asked her some questions concerning the occupancy and construction of the dwelling. He stated that he identified himself to the lady as an inspector with O'Hanlon Reports, which had been asked to check the property on behalf of the Hagner Insurance Agency for fire insurances purposes. He emphasized that his inquiries were strictly routine and handled in a professional manner. He said he did not enter the residence and did not ask any questions about the neighbors or the adjoining buildings. He added that the young lady had graciously responded to his questions and that he submitted a report to his supervisor, Mr. Jonus, on March 4, 1971.

b7C -2

[REDACTED] advised that he was born on [REDACTED] and that he resides at [REDACTED] Silver Spring, Maryland. It is noted that Mayes is approximately five feet, ten inches, stocky, well built, neat appearing with dark hair and a dark moustache.

Gentleman:

If Dr. Kisinger was the 'advisor' to young, wealthy Catholic Pres. Kennedy who 'aroused' the masses of uneducated minority rades and the Catholics in America and got himself and his brother killed.....

If Dr. Kisinger was the 'advisor' to Pres. Johnson who let some of the Black boys go to communist Cuba for advice, tactics, guns, ammunition, etc. and let the communists in California dope up and brain-wash the young white College Students to burn draft cards, etc.....

If Dr. Kisinger is the 'advisor' to Pres. Nixon--and the Capital was bombed, another plane hi-jacked, two fires set in the Chapel Hill University of N. C. and T.V. has reached another 'very low level of entertainment'--the Merv Griffin Show and All in the Family Show, etc....those shows that 'arouse' resentments and hatreds against the Whites in America.....

Then Dr. Kisinger, who recently went to California, should be arrested and not allowed to be involved in politics in America. (I personally would like to know which country he came from....maybe Russia).

Swinger Henry Takes to High Livin' Kissinger a Blabbermouth?

By IUC SMITH

For one who's been called "the second most powerful man in Washington," Henry Kissinger could use some advice.

It is:

"Love him with slips."

The former Harvard professor who is now Nixon's national security adviser at last has found it. Simply keep his mouth shut.

Oh, it's never he's the biggest swinger in the Washington scene. Formerly a wealthy literary critic, James Barnes, author of the spy novel, "The Doublecross," at New York Institute, signed McCamus at Hollywood address of St. John.

But until now, the public, whose advice for the Henry daily jingles in the White House situation room had suggested he do some social work with those military officials and all to which he is party.

Now, thanks to a shrewdly reported who has marshaled a crumb of evidence here, a mosaic of fact here, the very approach is the case.

Write:

Not only is Henry practically open-minded in public places, he has taken to throwing his money around so profusely one wonders if he isn't trying single-handedly to cost the business world his case money. To whom he lease on 1500 Pennsylvania ave. — and on Henry's base, some more.

According to a column that appeared the other day in Warren's Poor Daddy, the President's aide, who has, over a three-year period, put his credit card where his mouth is to the tune of payments as much as 50,000 dollars.

And that doesn't include his Hollywood

He gets from W. W. D.

"Henry took a 'high-life' lifestyle

Henry Kissinger, friend Jill St. John dinner at the Jockey Club (roughly $60 for two) at least every two weeks, and sometimes three times a month. Liqueur and French wine for Henry, who rarely eats fish and never drinks.)

"When they're not there, Henry and his wife can be found at Sam's Steak, eight to ten times a month for lunch (roughly $15 for two.)"

(W. W. D.'s estimate: $750 to $1,000 over three years.)

"In addition to that, according to native of Pool, Henry often carries back the same day for dinner," and sometimes he brings six or eight friends and picks up the tab."

"Since dinner for two here averages about $50, treating six to eight people to dinner once a week for three years would cost between $48,000 and $60,000. That would bring his combined Jockey-Club-Sam's Steak bill to a whopping $71,500-$71,000."

"That's a hell of a lot of expenditure, so it is . . ."

W. W. D.'s reporter wonders "if it all comes out of the taxpayers' pocket, Henry's expense account is his own wallet."

What, and like to know as whether Henry's going to get the same old programs on TV as the Democrats did over the White House?

Honorable J. Edgar Hoover, Director,
Federal Bureau of Investigation,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I thought you might be personally interested in the following information. Mr. H. L. Hunt, a multimillionaire Dallas oil producer, telephonically contacted me today and furnished the following information.

He stated that he was going to put on a quiet, but concentrated, campaign to have Presidential Advisor Dr. Henry A. Kissinger dismissed. He stated that this campaign would be launched by a letter going out to a large number of Federal and State Judges, prominent lawyers, Attorneys General of the states and to outstanding military leaders of the past. He said his letter would point out that Dr. Kissinger was only an appointee by the President, but that apparently he had taken over dictating the foreign policy of the United States, which Hunt described at this time as being the worst in our history.

The letter would also point out that the individuals to whom the letter was addressed could, if they would, do something about it but he did not state exactly what he would expect these people to do. Hunt stated that he is currently working on the letter and that it should go out in the near future.

For your information, Hunt is alleged to have, at one time, indicated he was going to contribute to Mr. Nixon's campaign, but later apparently contributed rather heavily to the campaign of George Wallace in the last Presidential election.

Sincerely,

J. Gordon Shanklin

"Secretary General U. THANT, United Nations, United Nations return address, "DONNA GRAHAM, [REDACTED], Seattle," and "I hope to live to see you, and all

Nothing will give me greater pleasure unless it would be to see HENRY KISSINGER hanged, and about 3/4's of the American Senate the same, along with a goodly passel of Governors of American States. Then, the accompanying pleasure would be seeing the traitorous ROCKE-FELLERS, FORDS, CYRUS EATON, HARRIMANS, LEHMAN's, etc., ad nauseum, get the same thing. They should go first, really, as they are the ones who have brought all this on the rest of us, they and their ancestors, and not so distant at that."

This letter was signed, "Most Sincerely, DONNA GRAHAM, [REDACTED], Seattle."

Fingerprints were checked with the fingerprints of [redacted] b6 -3 [redacted] b7C -3 Seattle, Washington, FBI No. [redacted], and [redacted] Pasco, Washington, FBI No. [redacted], and were found not to be identical with either of these two individuals.

On December 15, 1971, Mr. EDGAR R. BUTTERWORTH, [redacted] Washington, advised that he is the owner of the property located at [redacted] Seattle, Washington. Mr. BUTTERWORTH stated that DONNA GRAHAM has been a tenant in this building for the past three years and that she is employed as a secretary for a law firm located in the Arctic Building in Seattle. He further advised that she is a very well read person who has very strong political convictions and that she has, in the past, written letters to the President, to the Governor of Washington, to the U. He advised that he knows that some of the statements made by Miss GRAHAM have not been "complimentary". b6 -2 b7C -2

The letter sent to Secretary General U. THANT was shown to Assistant United States Attorney WILLIAM H. Mr. RUBIDGE advised that after establishing that there was such an individual as DONNA GRAHAM utilizing, for business or residential purposes, the address of [redacted] [redacted] Seattle, no further investigation should be conducted. b6 -4 b7C -4

INFORMATIVE NOTE

Date 4-17-72

Attached reports an employee of the Washington, D.C. "Evening Star" received an anonymous telephone call early on 4-17-72 from a female who stated there was a bag of blood with a note inside protesting the bombing of Vietnam on the front steps of Dr. Henry A. Kissinger's residence. Officers of the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) investigated and found a plastic bag filled with a red substance believed to be ketchup mixed with water. A note inside said "Kissinger your hands are drenched in blood, stop the slaughter now." A Secret Service Agent on duty at Dr. Kissinger's residence was advised of the matter. The evidence is being processed by the MPD laboratory. The "Washington Post" received a similar call and contacted the Executive Protective Service.

SPECULATION MOUNTS

Will Kissinger Head State?

New York Times News Service

Secretary of State William P. Rogers has let it be known to friends that he is considering leaving his post and that if he does, President Nixon plans to appoint Henry A. Kissinger as secretary of State.

The plan can not yet be considered firm because it depends on whether Rogers decides to step down. But should he do so, the President's current thinking, according to Rogers' friends, is to name Kissinger, his adviser on national security, as the new secretary.

According to Rogers friends, his resignation, if it does come, will be sometime in the fall

KISSINGER, reached by telephone said, "The President hasn't spoken to me about that," Gerald L. Warren, the deputy White House press secretary, said, "We don't comment on reports like that."

Warren's response was, however, considerably short of a denial.

Rogers, who has held his office since the first days of the Nixon administration in 1969, was on his way to Japan for an economic meeting.

When the plane stopped in Hawaii en route to Tokyo, Rogers refused to meet with newsmen, and Charles W. Bray, a State Department spokesman who is traveling with the secretary, said that any comment would have to come from the White House.

The dominant role Kissinger has played in Nixon administration foreign policy, continually overshadowing Rogers, has repeatedly caused speculation that he might one day replace the secretary in name as well as in fact.

SINCE THE recent meeting in Washington between Nixon and Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet party leader, there has been a parallel line of speculation about the possibility of Rogers being named ambassador to Moscow.

The Moscow post has been open since January, and it has seemed probable that in light of the increasingly friendlier relations between Washington and Moscow, Nixon wants an especially prestigious figure to fill it. Some friends of Rogers, however, doubt that he is interested in going to Moscow. They believe his real aspirations are toward the Supreme Court.

Last night CBS news quoted Nixon as having said privately that he expects to name Kissinger to succeed Rogers, possibly by September.

Halperin Sues Kissinger and Others Over Taps

Special to The New York Times
WASHINGTON, June 14—Dr. Morton H. Halperin, whose home telephone was tapped while he was working at Henry A. Kissinger's staff at the White House, filed suit today against Mr. Kissinger and other White House officials.

The suit, filed in United States District Court here, by the American Civil Liberties Union, alleged that the wiretap was on Dr. Halperin's phone for 8 to 25 months or more. He and his family are asking for damages of $100 a day from each of the defendants for every day that the telephone was tapped.

The existence of the wiretap became known during the Pentagon papers trial. Dr. Daniel Ellsberg had been a guest in the Halperin home, and calls that he made from the home were intercepted.

The suit is based on the Safe Streets Act of 1953, which prohibits wiretapping except for investigation of specified crimes and requires issuance of a warrant by a court.

Dr. Halperin, who was Mr. Kissinger's assistant from August, 1967, through January, 1969, said that he believed the tapping of his phone "was a violation of our constitutional right not authorized by any Congress-

Associated Press

sional legislator or court decision."

Speaking for his family—his wife and three children are also plaintiffs in the suit—Dr. Halperin said, "We see it as an effort to pry into the private lives and political beliefs of many Americans with frightening implications for civil liberties and constitutional process."

Other defendants in the suit are: John N. Mitchell, former Attorney General; H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, former chief White House assistants; Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., now Mr. Nixon's chief of staff; William G. Sullivan, who was an assistant to the late director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, J. Edgar Hoover; William D. Burkeshausen, the acting director of the FBI, and the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The Administration has said that taps were placed on the telephones of 17 or 18 Government officials and White House aides in early 1969 because of the Administration's concern over "leaks" of information to the press, particularly regarding the talks on limiting strategic arms.

The suit alleged that in the spring of 1969 Mr. Kissinger, Mr. Haldeman and Mr. Ehrlichman decided to tap the phones of Dr. Halperin and other employees of the National Security Council. The suit charged that Mr. Mitchell had ordered the taps installed.

Mr. Burkeshausen was named as a defendant in an effort to obtain records of the taps.

HALPERIN MAY SUE NIXON MEN ON TAP

Friends Say He Will Name
Kissinger and Haig in His Civil Plea for Damages

By W. A. R. JR.
Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, June 9—Dr. Morton H. Halperin, whose home telephone was bugged while he was working as a staff member of the National Security Council, is expected to announce next week that he is suing those allegedly responsible for the wiretap.

Among the defendants in the civil suit, Dr. Halperin has told close friends, will be Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's national security adviser, and Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., who served as Mr. Kissinger's deputy during the period of the tap in 1969 and 1970. General Haig is now Mr. Nixon's chief of staff.

The Halperin wiretap came to light because Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, the principal defendant in the Pentagon papers case, was overheard on it while he was a guest at the Halperin home in suburban Maryland. The case was subsequently thrown out of court, in part because of the tap.

Dr. Halperin said today that he would not comment on his legal plans until next week. He acknowledged, however, that he was "considering the possibility" of filing suit.

In contrast to some of the 16 other staff members and journalists whose phones are known to have been tapped in the same period, Dr. Halperin—an expert on Southeast Asia who is now associated with the

Halperins Are 'Outraged'

Writing on The New York Times Op-Ed Page on May 31, Dr. Halperin and his wife, Ina, said:

"We are outraged because not only were our words intercepted but also those of the many people who spoke to us on the phone. Most of them have no connection with the Government or access to national security information."

Dr. Halperin's suit will be based, according to informants familiar with the case, on the Safe Streets Act of 1968. One section of that omnibus legislation provides that anyone whose phone is tapped in violation of the act "shall have a civil cause of action against any person who intercepts, discloses or uses" private communications.

It provides that the person illegally wiretapped be paid by the violator $100 a day for each day of violation. Mr. Halperin's phone was tapped for several months, so he would be eligible, if he won his case, to receive damages of about $10,000.

He hopes to force Mr. Kissinger and General Haig, rather than the Federal Government to pay the damages, Dr. Halperin's friends say.

The Nixon Administration installed the taps without a court order. The Safe Street Act had authorized the installation of domestic wiretaps only with court orders but specified that any constitutional authority that the President might have to install domestic taps in national security cases without warrants would not be infringed.

Mr. Nixon decided to press ahead, hoping that the Supreme Court would uphold his authority on the ground of national security. But it did not. On June 20, 1972, the Court ruled, 8 to 0, that all domestic wiretaps—that is, all those that did not involve agents of foreign powers—required warrants.

security. But in June 20, 1972, the Court ruled 8 to 0, that all domestic wire-taps—that is, all those that did not involve agents of foreign powers—required warrants.

Administration's View

The Nixon Administration has since asserted that the Halperin and other taps in 1969-1970 were legal "at the time" because the Court had not yet ruled. Most lawyers contend, however, that such taps were always of dubious legality, and Mr. Nixon simply gambled that the taps were legal—and lost.

That is the question Dr. Halperin's attorneys—among whom may be counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union—are expected to argue.

Mr. Kissinger at first denied that he had had anything to do with the taps. Then, in an interview with The Times on May 13, he admitted having seen logs of the taps but denied having authorized, ordered or approved them.

But on May 22, Mr. Nixon said that "the persons who were subject to these taps were determined through coordination by the director of the F.B.I. my assistant for national security and the Attorney General." General Haig reportedly did most of the work on the tapping program for Mr. Kissinger.

BROAD ROLE CITED

Nominee for Treasury Listed Among Those Reported Checked

By SEYMOUR M. HIRSH

WASHINGTON, May 16--

Henry A. Kissinger personally provided the Federal Bureau of Investigation with the names of a number of his aides on the National Security Council whom he wanted wiretapped, Justice Department sources said today.

Among those tapped at Mr. Kissinger's request, the sources said, was Helmut Sonnenfeldt, a top council official who was nominated last month to be Under Secretary of the Treasury Department.

The sources said that Mr. Kissinger's role in the wiretapping was far more extensive than previously reported. It was Mr. Kissinger, they said, who initially forwarded the formal request for the taps to the F.B.I. Director, J. Edgar Hoover, after being authorized to do so by President Nixon.

Authorization by Nixon

The White House formally acknowledged that the President provided such authorization in May, 1969, after an article in The New York Times disclosing that American B-52's were bombing Cambodia.

"The request came from Kissinger," one Justice Department source said. "Henry wanted some of those guys bugged himself."

"If Henry didn't approve of all this," the official added, "he could have said so."

Another source, explaining Mr. Kissinger's decision to authorize the tapping of Mr. Sonnenfeldt, said it was designed to clear him. He said, "Henry had a high regard for Sonnenfeldt."

This source noted that Mr. Sonnenfeldt "prides himself on his brilliance and his intellectual capability" and added, "In a very innocent way, a man like that can let things slip."

The F.B.I. wiretap cleared Mr. Sonnenfeldt, the source said.

Still another official, who has worked closely with Mr. Kissinger since 1969, said that the national security adviser was only trying "to protect" Mr. Sonnenfeldt.

"The man's working for him

Mr. Kissinger flew to Paris today for further talks on Vietnam and was not available for comment.

In an interview published in The New York Times yesterday, Mr. Kissinger acknowledged that he saw summaries from several wiretaps in 1969 and 1970, but said that he had not asked that they be installed nor had he specifically approved them in advance.

William D. Ruckelshaus, the acting director of the F.B.I., disclosed Monday that wiretaps were placed on 13 Government officials and four newsmen from 1969 through 1971. His announcement came after an affidavit made public at the Pentagon papers trial in Los Angeles of Dr. Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo disclosed that Dr. Ellsberg had been overheard while a guest at the suburban Washington home of Dr. Morton Halperin, a former Kissinger aide.

3 Others Reported Tapped

The New York Times reported today that two former members of the National Security Council staff—Anthony Lake and Daniel I. Davidson—and one current staff member, Winston Lord, were among those tapped. It could not be learned whether any of the three was put under surveillance at the request of Mr. Kissinger.

Mr. Lord, who served as a personal aide to Mr. Kissinger during the Paris peace talks and the Presidential visits to China and the Soviet Union, was said to have been cleared by the wiretaps, which were ended in February, 1971. He is taking a one-year leave from Mr. Kissinger's staff to do research and travel.

Sources also named Marvin Kalb, a diplomatic correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System, as among the four newsmen who were wiretapped beginning in May, 1969.

"I don't know why I was selected," Mr. Kalb said, "but what I had done in 1969 as a reporter I had done for the past 15 years and hope to do for the next 15 years."

High Government officials have defended the wiretaps as necessary and legal in view of the publication, beginning in May, 1969, of reports of secret material. One official was quoted yesterday as saying, "Hell, yes; I was aware that it was going on. To have done less would have been the highest order of irresponsibility."

Another official said that some White House officials had been determined to be "blabbermouths" and were eventually eased out of their positions.

One source with access to some of the wiretap transcripts declared today, however, that "there wasn't one member of the [National Security Council] staff who was disloyal to the country."

"But," the official added, "they were disloyal to Kissinger, and they were giving him real problems."

The official declared that Mr. Kissinger had hired a number of liberals for his staff early in 1969.

"Some of them began to disagree with him and they weren't with him," the source said. "Actually, they were disloyal—not to the country, but to him," the source said.

"Henry didn't mind disagreement in the family," the source added, "but what he didn't like was these fellows arguing and losing and then going outside to leak things."

Another Government official who was closely involved in the bugging operations noted that the wiretaps had produced nothing "from a standpoint of evidence that could be proven in court."

Nonetheless, the official said, "we had a very good reason to feel that we had found something and it justified the whole operation."

"There were a couple of good suspects," he said. "One left and the other was shifted to other matters. After that, they [the National Security Council] didn't have that problem."

Mr. Sonnenfeldt, who served as the National Security Council's expert on Soviet and European problems, is considered a close associate of Mr. Kissinger. Both men were born in Germany and came to the United States as teen-agers.

One White House source, in attempting to explain why the wiretapping of Mr. Sonnenfeldt was designed for his protection, pointedly referred a reporter to yesterday's confirmation hearings on Mr. Sonnenfeldt's Treasury post.

Michael M. Stern, assistant chief clerk of the Senate Finance Committee, which held the hearing, said today that Mr. Sonnenfeldt had been challenged by John D. Hemenway, a former State Department employe, for being responsible for at least two security violations in the late nineteen-fifties. At the time, Mr. Sonnenfeldt was a State Department research analyst. Investigations at the time cleared him of both accusations, Mr. Stern said.

Statutory Authority

Mr. Stern said that Mr. Sonnenfeldt was accused of leaking classified information to reporters in 1955 and of providing classified information to aides of Senator John F. Kennedy during his Presidential campaign against Mr. Nixon in 1960. The Senate confirmations have not yet been completed, Mr. Stern said.

There was a dispute between the Government and those who were wiretapped over its legality. Justice Department spokesmen declared that the President's authority to install such national security wiretaps derive from the Constitution and the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

Statutory authority for the President to authorize national security wiretaps was specifically written into the 1968 crime act, legal experts said. The bill provides for the President to take "such measures to protect the nation against hostile acts of foreign powers to obtain foreign intelligence information deemed essential to the United States."

The law's blanket authority for national security wiretaps without a court order have not yet been tested in the Federal courts.

But Mr. Halperin, who is now associated with the Brookings Institution, said that "I think they were clearly illegal."

"They violated my constitutional rights," he added. "Could the F.B.I. have broken into my house and searched it? I don't believe anybody would argue that. And a tap on my phone is just as illegal as breaking into my house."

SUBJECT: HENRY ALFRED KISSINGER
SPECIAL INQUIRY - DEPARTMENT OF STATE

[Handwritten initials]

⁴⁶ Reference is made to my memorandum dated August 24, 1973, (attached) which advised that at the request of the Department of State, an investigation had been initiated concerning Dr. Kissinger, who has been named Secretary of State.

Applicant-type investigations conducted concerning Dr. Kissinger at the request of The White House in 1961 and 1969 were favorable. The White House and the Department of State are in possession of the results of those investigations.

During the current investigation, which covered the period since March, 1969, Dr. Kissinger's associates and acquaintances furnished highly favorable comments concerning him and recommended him for a position of trust and responsibility. One Department of State official who, according to the press, has requested reassignment because he feels he and Dr. Kissinger would not be compatible, declined to make any comment, except to say he has no question concerning Dr. Kissinger's loyalty.

In June, 1973, Morton H. Halperin and his wife filed a civil suit against Dr. Kissinger and others in United States District Court for the District of Columbia. In this suit Halperin, who was formerly employed on Dr. Kissinger's staff, alleged his home telephone had been subjected to illegal electronic surveillance. The existence of a wiretap on Halperin's home telephone became known during the trial of Daniel Ellsberg inasmuch as intercepted telephone calls were made by Ellsberg from the Halperin home while Ellsberg was a guest there.

"The New York Times," New York, New York. This article states that Morton H. Halperin, who formerly worked on Dr. Kissinger's staff, filed suit on June 14, 1973, against Dr. Kissinger and other officials of The White House. According to this article, this suit was filed in United States District Court for the District of Columbia by the American Civil Liberties Union and alleged a wiretap was on Dr. Halperin's home telephone from eight to twenty-five months or more. It stated he and other members of his family were asking for damages in the amount of $100 from each of the defendants for each day this telephone was tapped. This article noted the existence of the wiretap on Dr. Halperin's home telephone became known during the trial of Dr. Daniel Ellsberg, in that telephone calls made by Dr. Ellsberg from the Halperin home while he was a guest there were intercepted.

Bray Asks For New Post At State Dept.

Associated Press

Charles W. Bray, the State Department's chief spokesman and a deputy assistant secretary of state, has asked to be reassigned as a result of Henry A. Kissinger's nomination as Secretary of State.

Bray's action is the first among high-level personnel since President Nixon announced Wednesday that William P. Rogers is resigning as Secretary of State. Mr. Nixon nominated Kissinger to succeed Rogers.

Bray, 39, is a career Foreign Service officer who was named by Rogers just last June 8 as deputy assistant secretary and special assistant for press affairs.

Previously, Bray was director of the department's press office for more than two years.

He submitted his resignation and asked for reassignment. It was learned, because he felt he and Kissinger would not be compatible.

Bray, it was understood, was more concerned about Kissinger's style and his personal approach to the job and not with the national security adviser's views on the conduct of foreign policy.

Kissinger has not made clear whether he will replace current officials with men of his own choosing. State Department officials said most high-ranking officers are presidential appointments and would not normally submit their resignations on a pro forma basis except when there is a change in the presidency.

It is understood Bray did not ask for a specific new job and will not make a decision on his future until he knows the possibilities.

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, June 14 — Dr. Morton H. Halperin, whose home telephone was tapped while he was working on Henry A. Kissinger's staff at the White House, filed suit today against Mr. Kissinger and other White House officials.

The suit, filed in United States District Court here, by the American Civil Liberties Union, alleged that the wiretap was on Dr. Halperin's phone for 8 to 25 months or more. He and his family are asking for damages of $100 a day from each of the defendants for every day that the telephone was tapped.

The existence of the wiretap became known during the Pentagon papers trial. Dr. Daniel Ellsberg had been a guest in the Halperin home, and calls that he made from the home were intercepted.

The suit is based on the Safe Streets Act of 1968, which prohibits wiretapping except for investigation of specified crimes and requires issuance of a warrant by a court.

Dr. Halperin, who was Mr. Kissinger's assistant from August, 1967, through January, 1969, said that he believed the tap on his phone "was a violation of our constitutional rights not authorized by any Congress-liberties and constitutional process.

Other defendants in the suit are: John N. Mitchell, former Attorney General; H. R. Haldeman, and John D. Ehrlichman, former chief White House assistants; Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., now Mr. Nixon's chief of staff; William O. Sullivan, who was an assistant to the late director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, J. Edgar Hoover; William D. Ruckelshaus, the acting director of the F.B.I., and the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The Administration has said that taps were placed on the telephones of 17 or 18 Government officials and White House aides in early 1969 because of the Administration's concern over "leaks" of information to the press, particularly regarding the talks on limiting strategic arms.

The suit alleged that in the spring of 1969 Mr. Kissinger, Mr. Haldeman and Mr. Ehrlichman decided to tap the phones of Dr. Halperin and other employees of the National Security Council. The suit charged that Mr. Mitchell had ordered the taps installed.

Mr. Ruckelshaus was named as a defendant in an effort to obtain records of the taps.

sional legislator or court decision."

Speaking for his family—his wife and three children are also plaintiffs in the suit—Dr. Halperin said, "We see it as part of a larger White House effort to pry into the private lives and political beliefs of many Americans with frightening implications for civil

On 12/4/73 and 12/10/73, Major CARLOS C. OGDEN, State Director, Selective Service System, Sacramento, California, advised as follows:

OGDEN, who is a holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, stated that the Congressional Medal of Honor Society of the United States held its annual convention at Albany, Oregon, on 11/13/73. OGDEN is the Chairman of the Resolutions Committee and, therefore, presented the various resolutions suggested to the assembled group.

Among those in attendance at the convention was MITCHELL PAIGE of [redacted] Redwood City, California, Telephone [redacted]. Mr. PAIGE is a retired Colonel, U.S. Marine Corps, who received the Congressional Medal of Honor as a result of his activities in World War II. He is currently employed in the insurance business in the Palo Alto area.

Among the various resolutions presented to the convention was one concerning Secretary of State KISSINGER. The completed resolution stated, in part, the organization's desire to commend Secretary KISSINGER for his efforts in treaty making among the major powers thereby avoiding armed conflict. At the time this resolution was presented, Mr. PAIGE took the floor and made a statement, which in substance, was as follows:

J. EDGAR HOOVER of the FBI during his lifetime would never grant KISSINGER a "top secret clearance". 1974

PAIGE made other statements, all of which tended to reveal that Director HOOVER did not trust KISSINGER and considered him to be a threat to the U.S.

These remarks were noted particularly by some of the younger members of the Society, those who had been awarded the medal as a result of the Vietnam conflict. OGDEN stated he is sure that PAIGE has the best interests of the United States at heart and did not intend to be a disruptive influence in this situation. However, transactions of this Society are newsworthy and there always is a possibility that the media could use a situation of this type to give an incorrect appraisal of former Director HOOVER's actions and position.

Mr. OGDEN advised that he was calling this to the attention of the Bureau in the hope that something might be done to change PAIGE's attitude in these matters or at least to preclude his making future public statements similar to those made during the convention.

San Francisco plans to contact PAIGE and advise him that we do not "clear" anyone and for him to cease and desist making any statements, UACB, 1/2/74.

Re: Colonel Mitchell Paige

The Bureau's relations with Dr. Kissinger have always been cordial and our files concerning him contain no information to indicate he was distrusted by Mr. Hoover. With regard to the statement attributed to Colonel Paige indicating that Mr. Hoover would never grant Dr. Kissinger a top secret clearance, the Bureau, of course, does not grant security clearances to anyone. (u)

Bureau files contain information indicating that Colonel Paige, while speaking before an anticommunist school, Project Alert, in California, in 1961, made a statement that Earl Warren, then Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, should be hanged. He subsequently apologized for having made this statement. (u) (62-106364-101)

Honorable Arthur B. Culvahouse, Jr.
Counsel to the President
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Culvahouse:

In accordance with a request received from you on January 19, 1988, a limited update investigation has been conducted concerning Dr. Henry Alfred Kissinger. Transmitted herewith is a summary memorandum containing the results of this investigation.

Several background investigations* have been conducted concerning Dr. Kissinger, the most recent having been in 1981. The results of those investigations have been previously provided to you. The enclosed summary memorandum covers limited inquiries where Dr. Kissinger currently resides and is employed.

Sincerely yours,

SUBJECT: LLOYD DARDEN
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Mr. Darden telephonically contacted the Bureau today to request that Mr. Kelley address a luncheon gathering of the National Conference, captioned organization, on 5/10/74 in Coronado, California. He stated the group would be comprised of approximately 1400 individuals, most of whom would be plastics processors or representatives of large chemical companies servicing the plastics industry. Mr. Darden was advised by SA John C. Wagner that this matter would be brought to Mr. Kelley's attention and he would be advised of the Director's decision.

Bufiles reflect prior correspondence from Mr. Darden requesting former Acting Director Gray to address the 30th annual conference of this organization in 1973 and also to appear before the group in May of 1972. Mr. Gray declined both invitations. This group has no connection with law enforcement or the legal profession. It does not meet the guidelines previously established concerning appearances Mr. Kelley makes.

On 5/8/74, ^{Henry} presentation of the Harry S. Truman Award for Public Service to Secretary of State Kissinger in Independence, Missouri, will take place and Mr. Kelley has indicated he may attend. He is scheduled to appear at the Brookings Institution, Washington, D. C., on 5/14/74 to discuss FBI policy and problems.

~~GOVERNOR RONALD REAGAN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, VISIT TO STATE OF GUERRERO, MEXICO; INTERNAL SECURITY - MEXICO.~~

~~REDU TEL MARCH 26, 1974.~~

~~ACAPULCO IS LOCATED IN THE WEST COAST STATE OF GUERRERO AND HAS FOR MANY YEARS BEEN KNOWN AS THE "LITTLE BEACH OF MEXICO" ATTRACTING THE WEALTHY AND TOURISTS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD.~~ FOR THE PAST SEVERAL YEARS, WEALTHY MEXICANS RESIDING IN ACAPULCO AS WELL AS LOCAL BUSINESSES HAVE BEEN TARGETS OF KIDNAPINGS, EXTORTIONS, ROBBERIES AND MURDERS PERPETRATED BY HIGHLY ORGANIZED CRIMINAL GROUPS AS WELL AS REVOLUTIONARIES AS AN ACCESSIBLE AND EASY SOURCE OF MONEY. MANY KIDNAPINGS ARE NEVER REPORTED TO THE AUTHORITIES AS THE VICTIM'S FAMILIES PAY SIZEABLE RANSOMS AND OUT OF FEAR OF REPRISALS DO NOT REPORT THE MATTER EVEN AFTER THE SAFE RETURN OF THE VICTIM. ALMOST WITHOUT EXCEPTION THE VICTIMS OF THESE CRIMES ARE MEXICAN

NATIONALS AND NOT UNITED STATES OR FOREIGN VISITORS. ACAPULCO POLICE AND STATE AUTHORITIES HAVE DEMONSTRATED A CONTINUED INABILITY TO COPE WITH THE CRIME SITUATION.

DURING LATE JANUARY, 1974, ACAPULCO VICE MAYOR AND ALTERNATE FEDERAL CONGRESSMAN VICENTE RUEDA SAUCEDO WAS KIDNAPED IN ACAPULCO BY REVOLUTIONARY GROUP CALLING ITSELF "ARMED REVOLUTIONARY FORCES" (FAR) AND TAKEN INTO A REMOTE MOUNTAIN AREA OUTSIDE ACAPULCO. RUEDA WAS RELEASED FEBRUARY 11, 1974, AFTER HIS WIFE NEGOTIATED AND PAID A THREE MILLION PESO ($240,000 U.S.) RANSOM.

IN MID-MARCH, 1974, THE EIGHTEEN YEAR OLD SON OF A WEALTHY MEXICAN FAMILY WAS KILLED IN ACAPULCO DURING AN ABORTED KIDNAP ATTEMPT. FOLLOWING THIS, A TEENAGED SON OF AN ACAPULCO LABOR LEADER WAS KIDNAPED AND A LARGE RANSOM DEMANDED. THE FAMILY IS STILL NEGOTIATING FOR THEIR SON'S RELEASE.

OUTSIDE OF ACAPULCO THE BANDIT REVOLUTIONARY GROUP HEADED BY LUCIO CABANAS BARRIENTOS OPERATES COMMITTING ROBBERIES, KIDNAPINGS OF WEALTHY RANCHERS AND AMBUSHES OF MEXICAN ARMY UNITS. CABANAS ENJOYS SUPPORT AMONG THE LARGE POOR PEASANT CLASS IN THE STATE OF GUERRERO AND HE IS ABLE TO EVADE CAPTURE.

[REDACTED]

FROM THE MEXICAN ARMY NO DOUBT HAVING SOURCES WITHIN THE VARIOUS LOCAL MILITARY GARRISONS THAT KEEP HIM ADVISED OF TROOP MOVEMENTS. THERE IS NO QUESTION THAT CABANAS AND HIS MEN MOVE AT WILL IN AND OUT OF ACAPULCO.

IN JANUARY, 1974, ACAPULCO NAMED A NEW POLICE CHIEF, A THIRTY YEAR OLD LAWYER FRANCISCO DAVILA OTERO. FOR THE PAST SEVERAL YEARS, THE ACAPULCO POLICE CHIEF HAS BEEN A MILITARY MAN AND IT IS RUMORED THAT THE SELECTION OF DAVILA WAS MADE SINCE HE PERSONALLY KNEW CABANAS IN YEARS PAST AND THUS UNDERSTANDS AND CAN COPE WITH THE BANDIT-REVOLUTIONARY PROBLEM.

IN SUMMARY, THE CRIME-REVOLUTIONARY SITUATION IN AND AROUND ACAPULCO REMAINS UNCHANGED BUT FROM PAST EVENTS SUCH ACTIVITIES ARE DIRECTED AGAINST MEXICAN AND NOT FOREIGN VISITORS.

~~LEGAT WILL BE ALERT FOR ANY INFORMATION FROM ESTABLISHED SOURCES REGARDING THE PENDING VISIT TO ACAPULCO OF GOVERNOR REAGAN AND THE BUREAU WILL BE ADVISED OF ANY PERTINENT DEVELOPMENTS.~~

Dear Sirs HENRY KISSINGER

The works of Mr Kissinger in the past few weeks is marvelous - so much so a anti radio announcer says "No one can suspect (or accuse) him of working with the Communis" - W.C.K.!

Indeed Mr Kissinger's trace agreement brings much credit due him.

The war, however, if you read French (or from English translation) was predicted by the great French Doctor Nostradamus in 1555... He died in 1565.

His predictions are from 16th century to the year 3800's. Everyone has come true so far including "in 1973 a great war will begin caused by an Arab leader and will last on + off for 27 years"

A prediction on obscurity is "A leader of ~~the~~ great nation of the United Colonies will become a leader of Great Britain." Note in 1555 there was no United Colonies, nor any formings.

Indeed the character of any high official should be beyond reproach + sure checked out thoroughly.

To satisfy my curiosity of statements made by a man by [redacted] prisoner of War in Germany in 1940's - who escaped - he weighed 65 lbs when reached safety. Mr Kissinger is known as a Jew from Russia. Was he in Germany in the 1940's?

but "talk" reveals Mr Kissinger was a turned Jew in the work of the Nazi army. The hatred of all Jews makes

Honorable Sir:

I am writing to you because I am fed up with the official conspiracy of The President of The United States and various other political oportunists; including two United States Senators from the once sovern State of Indiana, of late an area of a Federally zoned (There are now ten zones, not 50 States) Chicago region. Funny thing I believe it is not constitutional to devide States of the United states into 10 Federal (states).. Just one more instan ce of the politicians destroying the Constitution. I have read of your voting record and I am satisfied that you vote according to your consience and out of love for our Country.. I compliment you and hope that you will keep up the hard work of oposing any legislation that will destroy our constitution.. You might ask why is this long-winded person writing to me? Quite simply because the two Senators from Indiana that are supposed to be representing the views and beliefs of the people of this Great

ENCLOSURE

State are members of the Council on Foreign Relations; In my book that means many things and all of them are bad. I know that the CFR is just another name for the people who are in the top clique that tell the Communist all over the world what to do and when where and how much. The CFR is just one arm of the international leadership that is doing its best to conquer our world. I believe that both of these men and all of the other CFR members including The President of the United States and his number one KGB Agent Henry Kissenger should be tried for Treason as outlined in the Constitution of The United States; Aiding the Enemy (The International Conspiracy, known by many names the latest of which is the Communist Party) in time of war. We are now in the largest and longest war known to man I believe it is nearly 200 years since the Clique of bankers started their war of conquest.

Now that you know what I believe and know to be true I will get to the point. I am at this time calling for a complete investigation Of One Henry Kissenger KGB Agent. The Truth has finally come out that Henry Kissenger was and still is a KGB Agent; the sad part of the story is that this information was given to the authorities as early as 1961. What has been done about it not a thing. Do the Communists get away with this sort of thing because they are so bright, lucky or because we have traitors in this country that hide them out aid and abet their treasonous activities? The latter is my guess. Listed in Soviet intelligence files is one Baraban of the Polish intelligence. Baraban was referred to as Bosenhard a member of the U.S. Military Intelligence stationed in Oberammergau West Germany. Under the code name of Bor an ODRA Agent by the name of Henry Kissenger sold out our country.. I contend that that Henry Kissenger and our very own Henry Kissenger CFR member and Secretary of State are one and the same.. A Communist by any other name is still a Communist. And by the same token a spy is still a spy.

If you say fine so where is the proof fine. I will send you proof. The source of this information is never wrong. That is what was said of him by the late J. Edgar Hoover in regards to unmaking spies. What can you do? Fight them at every turn while there is still time.

INTELLIGENCE

REPORT of The Herald of Freedom

HENRY KISSINGER NAMED AS A SOVIET AGENT--

Aleksei Nicholaevich Romanoff, who operated under the cover name of Colonel Michal Goleniewski, has revealed with documentation the fact that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was, under a code name, a member of a secret unit of Communist intelligence.

The true identity of Aleksei as the heir to the All-Russian Imperial Throne is known to the governments of the United States, Great Britain and other countries. Nine years ago the Herald of Freedom published two issues containing documentation in support of his identity. Included in this documentation were numerous supporting statements from reliable sources. No one in government, of those who know his identity, has ever denied it.

On June 11, 1971 the New York Daily Mirror announced the exclusive publication of "REMINISCENCES AND OBSERVATIONS by H.I.H. Aleksei Nicholaevich Romanoff, the heir to All-Russian Imperial Throne, Tsarevich and Grand Duke of Russia, and head of Russian Imperial House." In introducing him as a columnist, the Daily Mirror stated: "Herman E. Kimsey, former Chief of Research & Analysis of the Headquarters of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, in an affidavit signed June 3, 1965, said, 'I am convinced, and I continue to be convinced, that the person referred to as Col. Goleniewski is in fact the Tsarevich and Grand Duke Aleksei Nicholaevich Romanoff of Russia, and son of Emperor Nicholas II of Russia.' " In his affidavit Mr. Kimsey stated that as a result of tests and the affirmative results thereof, he was completely satisfied as to the identification. He based this on fingerprint comparison to those of the Tsarevich taken during his visit in London in 1909 and later from other sources in possession of the British Government: sole prints comparisons with those of birth records and later medical records in the British Government's possession; dental chart records on file with the Late Dr. Kostrycki of Paris, France and formerly the dentist of the imperial family; anthropometrical tests; face print test comparisons; blood tests, medical records, handwriting tests, and recognition and confrontation with childhood friends and relatives.

Mr. Kimsey further stated in his affidavit that since the publication in the press of his full affidavit he had not been, either directly or indirectly, requested by the C.I.A. to refrain from publication of the above material although he offered to comply with any such request were it made, nor has the C.I.A. claimed any error on his part.

Aleksei had filed with the City Register of the City of New York important documents which established his identity. They were on microfilm, Reel #359, (page 1795 - 1937). The microfilm was illegally removed and the section dealing with Aleksei eliminated. Victor M. Rivera, City Register, confirmed in writing the criminal theft and referred it to the City's Department of Investigation. Fortunately, a duplicate microfilm was kept by the City Register in a safe place.

The highly respected British publication firm of Weidenfeld & Nicolson of London, England is soon to publish the full story of the life and memoirs of Aleksei, who under the cover name of Col. Michal Goleniewski, infiltrated Communist intelligence in Poland. Having reached a high position, he made contact with the West and from April 1958 until December 1960 he voluntarily served the United States at great personal danger. He prepared 160 typewritten pages of secret reports and sent them through to the West. He also sent on microfilm over 5,000 pages of top secret documents concerning Soviet-satellite espionage, Polish and East German intelligence services and agencies in Western Europe, and the U.S. Army military-economic, political, intelligence and counter-intelligence matters regarding the Soviet Union. FBI (23-cv-10741)-788 were 800 pages of Soviet and Polish intelligence reports which showed the results of their intelligence operations in the Free World, 80% of which were found to have come from secret Free World sources.

As a result of a particular discovery by the K.G.B., Aleksei and his wife were forced to flee to the West in January 1961. On January 12, 1961 they arrived in the United States on a military air transport plane, accompanied by Homer E. Roman of the C.I.A. From this date until December 14, 1963 (almost three full years) Aleksei briefed U.S. authorities on the reports and microfilms already sent through. He also brought with him complete data on 240 persons (their names, identifications, assignments, locations and operations) who were intelligence agents of the industrial, scientific and technical bureau of the Polish Secret Service and were located in Western Europe and the United States.

Aleksei was responsible for uncovering a long list of K.G.B. (Soviet Intelligence) and G.R.U. (Military Intelligence) agents and officers, including Soviet Colonel Kolon Molody, alias Gordon Lonsdale, and his four agents, Henry Houghton, Ethel Gee, and Peter and Helen Kroger, alias Cohen. From this case developed, through Houghton, the case of K.G.B. agent John Vassal of British Naval Intelligence.

Aleksei also disclosed the case of Col. Israel Beer, alias Bieber, who was the military adviser to the Israeli Government, as well as the case of Colonel Stig Eric Wennerstrom of Sweden, who actually was a K.G.B. general. Another case was that of George Blake, a very high British Intelligence official connected with MI-6 in London. He also supplied the information which uncovered Heinz Felfe, Hans Clemens, Fuhrmann and others in West German Intelligence who were actually working under K.G.B. orders. In Denmark there was the case of Blekinberg and in France the case of Bitonski. Firmly entrenched K.G.B. and G.R.U. networks in many parts of the Free World were not only uncovered by Aleksei, but the individuals were arrested, tried, and convicted.

The recruitment of Henry Kissinger by Soviet Intelligence reportedly goes back to World War II. Through the underground and partisan operations in Poland the Soviets had organized and arranged various intelligence and counter-intelligence networks, part of which were reorganized after the end of World War II and continue to date.

A complex, which originated with the underground and partisans and which still exists, is known under the code name of ODRA and began its own established and controlled operations from Poland after World War II. ODRA in Poland was placed under the control of Soviet Intelligence General Zelaznikoff, who headed the directorate of the Soviet Army's north group in Lignica, Poland. Its principal purpose was the infiltration and penetration of military intelligence services in the West, especially those of the British and the U.S. Under the leadership of General Zelaznikoff, who was supervised from Moscow, the local chief was Colonel Kujun. Since ODRA operated from Poland, the only representative responsible to the Polish Communist Government was Col. Wozniesiensi, who was also a Soviet officer.

In 1954 an important courier, a woman of Greek-Russian nationality, had been murdered under mysterious circumstances and important material, together with approximately $80,000 of intelligence funds, disappeared. Consequently, the chief of the group who worked with the murdered courier, Col. Kujun (code name Bayan), was ordered to Moscow for questioning. Anticipating possible liquidation, Col. Kujun shot and severely wounded himself, and was placed in a hospital of the G.Z.I. (Główny Zarząd Informacji - Polish Intelligence). Col. Wozniesiensi, chief of G.Z.I., personally conducted investigations and interrogated the wounded chief of ODRA, Col. Kujun, who eventually died in July of 1954. All of the information obtained by Col. Wozniesiensi was documented personally in a special dossier. A short time thereafter, Col. Wozniesiensi was himself arrested by order of the Polish Minister of Defense and Soviet Marshal Rokossovski. All of his official and personal papers were sealed and deposited in a safe by his deputy, Col. Skulbaszewski of the G.Z.I. (who was also a Soviet officer). Col. Wozniesiensi was accused of crimes during the Stalin era, was transferred to Moscow and subsequently sentenced to 10 years in prison. In February 1956, in connection with Col. Wozniesiensi's appeal trial and also with the activities of a special commission investigating the crimes of Beria and Stalin, the still-sealed safe of Col. Skulbaszewski was ordered to be opened in the presence of the K.G.B., and all papers and properties contained therein registered and a memorandum prepared.

Among the 1500 pages of documents were 20 hand-written pages in the Russian language by Col. Wozniesiensi concerning the interrogation of Col. Kujun. Wozniesiensi had a list of the names and code names and short data on the principal agents of ODRA. Under the code name of Baraban there was listed an individual referred to as Rosenhard, a member of the U.S. Military Intelligence headquartered in Oberammergau in West Germany. Under the code name of "Bor" and described as an agent of ODRA was U.S. Sergeant (and later Captain) Kissinger, counter-intelligence interrogator of the U.S. Army and instructor at the Military Intelligence School in Oberammergau, who was tied in with Bosenhard. The investigation memo indicated that in 1954 Kissinger was in the United States at Harvard University and having contact with the C.I.A.

It was in 1961 and 1962 that Aleksei informed the Central Intelligence Agency about Kissinger who at that time appeared to be an unimportant Harvard professor but in 1973 he brought to the attention of both the British Security Service and American Intelligence the fact that Henry Kissinger, code name "Bor," was no longer "unimportant," having become the President's National Security Adviser. The information supplied concerning Henry Kissinger could be verified and confirmed by independent sources as there was no doubt he was in touch with Communist Intelligence during his military service in Germany. Since his phenomenal rise to power in the U.S. Government, Kissinger has been accompanied during his visits behind the Iron Curtain by staff officers of intelligence or counter-intelligence of the K.G.B., which raises the question as to whether he is still in the service of the K.G.B. Kissinger's appointment as U.S. Secretary of State in spite of clandestine connections with the K.G.B. endangers not only the national security of the United States but also that of its Western allies.

The accuracy of information supplied by Aleksei (Col. Goleniewski) was substantiated during the Senate Internal Security hearings entitled "State Department Security." The committee's chief counsel questioned a witness (John Norpel, Jr.) who had been with the F.B.I. and State Department Security. He was asked, "Do you know of any information ever furnished to the U.S. Government by Goleniewski which turned out to be untrue or inaccurate." The witness answered, "I do not. No sir," and also testified that the considerable information supplied by "Col. Goleniewski" had been checked out and proved to be true in every case.

The same hearing disclosed that Chief Security Evaluator Otto Otepka was not permitted to handle the Goleniewski disclosures. It is believed this was because he would have taken action against the Americans involved in espionage and security violations in our Warsaw Embassy, uncovered as a result of "Col. Goleniewski's" information.

House Resolution 5507, 88th Congress, 1st session, referring to Aleksei under his cover name of "Col. Goleniewski," contains the following: "Has collaborated with the government in an outstanding manner and under circumstances which have involved grave personal risk. He continues to make major contributions to the national security of the United States. His primary motivation in offering to work with the government has been and remains his desire to counter the menace of Soviet Communism."

Henry Kissinger was born in Fuerth, Germany on May 27, 1923. He arrived in the U.S. on September 5, 1938 and was naturalized while in the military service by the U.S. District Court of Spartanburg, S.C. on June 25, 1943. After attending high school in New York, Kissinger worked as a shipping clerk until inducted into the army on February 26, 1943. He received his basic training at Camp Croft, S.C. and was enrolled in the Army Specialized Training Program at the University of North Carolina and Lafayette University. He served in Europe in Company "G," 335th Infantry Regiment, 84th Infantry Division as an investigator in the Counter-Intelligence Corps. He was discharged as a staff sergeant in 1946 to accept employment as a Department of the Army civilian instructor at the European Theater Intelligence School at Oberammergau, Germany, serving in this capacity for one year. Upon his return to the United States in 1947 Kissinger applied for a commission in the Officers Reserve Corps. He was appointed 2nd Lt. M1 (ORC) on April 19, 1948, promoted to 1st Lt. M1 (USAR) on May 11, 1951, and on November 15, 1955 was promoted to Captain. He completed annual tours of active duty from 15 to 90 days duration in the Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff G-2, U.S. Army Intelligence Center at Fort Holabird, Maryland. On March 6, 1959 in a letter addressed to the adjutant general, Kissinger indicated a desire to resign his commission because of other obligations and the conviction that he could be "of greater service in a high rank in case an emergency necessitates this step . . ."

In 1955 Kissinger was investigated by Military Intelligence because the publication Confluence, which he edited, was reportedly written from a pro-Communist point of view. Confluence was a quarterly published by the Harvard Summer School of Arts, Sciences and Education. It received financial assistance from the Ford Foundation, Richardson Foundation, and Far Eastern Foundation. Among its advisers were a number of individuals who, according to intelligence sources, had affiliations with Communist or Communist-front organizations.

Intelligence sources reported that during January and February of 1959 Kissinger visited the Federal Republic of Germany and U.S. Army installations in Europe. Arrangements for his trip were made through General Lyman Lemnitzer. In 1959 he was also a research secretary for a Council on Foreign Relations discussion group on political and strategic problems of deterrents. The group included Frank Altschul, Robert Amor, William C. Foster, Roswell Gilpatrick, Hans Morgenthau, Dean Rusk, and James Perkins.

In 1961 Kissinger was a special consultant to President Kennedy on the Berlin Crisis. He was also a consultant to the Operations Research Office, the Operations Coordinating Board, the Weapons System Evaluation Group, Psychological Strategy Board, National Security Council, and the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. He has been listed as a participant in Bilderberg and Pugwash Conferences.

One of Kissinger's closest associates on the staff of the National Security Council was Helmut Sonnenfeldt, now Counselor of the State Department. According to intelligence sources, Sonnenfeldt met and became closely associated with Henry Kissinger in Germany during the period when Kissinger was in contact with Soviet Intelligence. Through Kissinger, Sonnenfeldt was made a State Department Counselor in spite of his well publicized involvement in espionage and security violations.

Another close contact of Kissinger has been Daniel Ellsberg, whom the French financial weekly Valeurs Actuelles identified as a Soviet agent who was in contact with the Soviet Embassy in Washington. Col. L. Fletcher Prouty, liaison officer for the C.I.A. for many years, identified Daniel Ellsberg as a C.I.A. agent. A little known fact about Ellsberg is that during the Kennedy Administration he participated in secret behind-the-scenes meetings in connection with the Cuban missile crisis.

Kissinger's recommendations for personnel have been as bad for the U.S. as his policy planning. When William O. Hall, former Director General of the Foreign Service, U.S. State Department, retired there was a sigh of relief in intelligence circles since Hall was a security risk who had been associated, friendly, and in contact with known Communists and Soviet espionage agents, including Alger Hiss, Harold Glasser and Virginius Frank Coe. The individual selected by Secretary Kissinger to be the new Director General was hardly an improvement. He is James Sutterlin, admitted homosexual and sex pervert who had already been declared a serious security risk by the State Department's own security office. In addition to security violations, he reportedly was compromised. Sutterlin, as Director General of the Foreign Service, has access to the most sensitive information involving our foreign policy and national security.

On Kissinger's recommendation, David Popper, a security risk, was selected to be the new U.S. Ambassador to anti-Communist Chile. Popper had entered the State Department through Alger Hiss, and was known to be a close contact of Frederick Vanderbilt Field and other important Communists and Soviet agents. Furthermore, Popper was reported to U.S. intelligence agencies as having been identified by a defector as a Soviet Intelligence operator. Louis Budenz, a former high ranking member of the Communist Party, USA, reported that top Communists had been informed that David Popper is "one of us" and should be treated accordingly.

Henry Kissinger has accomplished more for the Soviet Union than most of its top leaders. He brought about the so-called detente with the U.S.S.R. which resulted in our transferring important technology to the Russian Communists and extending a billion dollars worth of trade on credit. He was responsible for the sell-out of free China and for the detente with Communist China. One of Kissinger's greatest achievements on behalf of the Communists occurred on February 8, 1974 when he (together with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, another security risk) pledged the return of the Canal Zone to Panama.

The anticipated claim of the State Department that Henry Kissinger was investigated by the F.B.I. and as a result was given top security clearances is meaningless. This was the same claim made in the case of Alger Hiss who received the same type of F.B.I. investigation and was also given top secret security clearances.

If we take into consideration the fact that Henry Kissinger has been a Soviet agent since World War II and has managed to become one of the most influential men in America, if not the world, it becomes easier to understand why the Nixon Administration promotes policies which give aid, comfort and support to the world Communist Conspiracy.

Re: Article entitled, "THE KISSINGER CAPER."
Subject: Who is lying?

Gentlemen:

Recently an article (see above) appeared in an issue of "The Review Of The News (reprint enclosed). And not once did the article reveal that it was fiction. It did say though that "State Henry Kissinger has been a Soviet agent," which, to us is a primed bomb!

Although we are in no position to possibly learn the full facts on what has occurred, is occurring or will occur regarding the contents of the "article" (which, to us -in essence- is a charge of treason), we would like to know if the author's information is correct.

We realize this is a very torrid issue, but where does the F.B.I. fit into the picture if the author is correct? Surely, due to Kissinger's assignments and appointments, the F.B.I. conducted full field investigation so that Kissinger could be confirmed. And, if the author, [redacted] has correct information -plus more- as stated in the article, the F.B.I. surely had the same information and included it in their reports to the Senate.

b7C -4

ST-102
REC 17 161 - 424-190

Something doesn't ring true to light. Assuming that the author's information is correct and assuming that the F.B.I. had included identical information -and far more- within their report, than the Senate did a great disservice to the nation by confirming Kissinger for any appointment. Of course, other assumptions could be equally bad, because it could mean a monstrous lie and cover-up has been instigated somewhere. Surely, the F.B.I. wouldn't admit that the C.F.R. (Council on Foreign Relations) now has so much power in Washington that they could squelch everybody from speaking out.

To our questions regarding the implied charges (within the "article"), we are receiving the most damnable things from members of Congress. They either refuse to answer, or they ignore our questions and give us the latest prices of eggs in Egypt, hoping this will suffice. I.e., all of a sudden, nobody, but the author, has any information about Kissinger other than that he is a "swinger," he "enjoys plane flights out of the country" and he "speaks English worse than his counterpart in Israel."

Something stinks!

If the author [redacted] and the Review Of The News are wrong, this should be brought to light -and immediately. If they are correct, than Kissinger should be tried for possible treason -and immediately.

Since we have received "egg prices" and other sundry bilge, we are writing you hoping to obtain some straight honest answers, therefore other than the questions within the body of this letter, we ask the following:

1. Regarding Kissinger, just who is lying to "We the people?"
2. Regarding Kissinger, is an F.B.I. report available to "We the people?"
3. Regarding Kissinger, were other security branches invited to testify before the Senate?
4. Regarding Kissinger, is the State Department the culprit for the "cover-up?"

The Kissinger Caper

by Frank A. Capell

■ A WELL-INFORMED authority on Soviet Intelligence contends that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has been a Soviet agent and that his involvement with Soviet Intelligence was made known to agencies of our government even before his rise to prominence. The former high-ranking intelligence officer who supplied this information has been responsible for uncovering a long list of K.G.B. (Soviet Intelligence) and G.R.U. (Military Intelligence) agents and officers, including Soviet Colonel Kolon Molody (alias Gordon Arnold Lonsdale) and his four agents — Henry Houghton, Ethel Gee, Peter John Kroger, and Helen Joyce Kroger. His information in the

Lonsdale case developed (through Houghton) the exposure of K.G.B. agent John Vassal of British Naval Intelligence, who for seven years turned over Top Secret information under threat of being exposed as a homosexual.

Our source also disclosed the role of Colonel Israel Beer (alias Bieber), a top military advisor to the Israeli Government, as well as that of Colonel Stig Eric Wennerström of Sweden who was actually a K.G.B. General. Another case he exposed was that of George Blake, a very high British Intelligence official connected with MI-6 in London. From the same source came information uncovering

K.G.B. agents Heinz Felfe, Hans Clemens, Fuhrmann, and others in West German Intelligence. He also exposed Blekinberg in Denmark and Bitonski in France. Firmly entrenched K.G.B. and G.R.U. networks in many parts of the Free World were not only uncovered by our source, but the Communist operatives and agents were arrested, tried, and convicted.

The recruitment of Henry Kissinger by Soviet Intelligence reportedly goes back to World War II. Through the underground and partisan operations in Poland the Soviets had organized and arranged a series of intelligence and counter-intelligence networks, some of which were reorganized after the end of World War II and continue in place at this very moment.

One such complex, known under the code name of ODRA, was under the control of Soviet Intelligence General Zelanznikoff, who headed the directorate of the Soviet Army's north group in Legnica, Poland. Its principal purpose was the infiltration and penetration of Military Intelligence services in the West, especially those of Great Britain and the United States. Since ODRA operated from Poland, it had a representative responsible to the Polish Communist Government. He was a Colonel Wozniesiensi, who was also a Soviet officer.

In 1954 an important courier, a woman of Greek-Russian nationality, was murdered under mysterious circumstances and important materials, together with approximately $80,000 of intelligence funds, disappeared. Colonel Kujun, chief of the group who worked with the murdered courier, was ordered to Moscow for questioning. Anticipating torture and liquidation, Kujun shot and severely wounded himself. He was placed in a hospital of the G.Z.I. (Glowny Zarzad Informacji -- Polish Intelligence).

Colonel Wozniesiensi, boss of G.Z.I., personally interrogated the mortally wounded chief of ODRA to clarify the identities of ODRA agents. All of the information obtained by Wozniesiensi was documented by him in a special dossier. A short time thereafter, the Colonel was himself arrested by order of the Polish Minister of Defense, Soviet Marshal Rokossovski. All of his official and personal papers were sealed and deposited in a safe by his deputy, also a Soviet officer. Accused of crimes during the Stalin era, Wozniesiensi was now transferred to Moscow and subsequently sentenced to ten years in prison.

In February of 1956, in connection with Colonel Wozniesiensi's appeal trial, and also in connection with the activities of a special commission investigating the crimes of Beria and Stalin, the still sealed safe of Wozniesiensi's deputy was ordered opened in the presence of top K.G.B. officers, all papers and properties were registered, and a memorandum was prepared. Our source was present when the safe was opened and personally reviewed its contents.

Among the 1,500 pages of documents were 20 hand-written pages in the Russian language by Colonel Wozwoznienski concerning the interrogation of Colonel Kujun. Woznienski had obtained a list of the names, code names, and short data on the principal agents of ODRA. Under the code name of "Baraban" was listed an individual referred to as Bosenhard, a member of U.S. Military Intelligence headquartered in Oberammergau, West Germany. Our source reports that under the code name of "Bor," and described as an agent of ODRA, was Sergeant Henry Kissinger, a U.S. Army counter-intelligence interrogator and instructor at the Military Intelligence School in Oberammergau, who was working with Bosenhard.

Our source says the investigation memo that he saw indicated that in 1954 Kissinger was in the United States at Harvard University and maintaining contact with the Central Intelligence Agency.

In 1961 and 1962, as part of a lengthy and detailed debriefing, our source informed the C.I.A. about the Kissinger matter, but at that time Kissinger appeared to him to be an unimportant Harvard professor. In 1973 our source brought these facts to the attention of both the F.B.I. and the British Security Service, observing that Henry Kissinger, code name "Bor," was no longer "unimportant," having become the President's chief National Security Advisor. He noted that the information he had long ago supplied concerning Henry Kissinger could be verified and confirmed by independent sources since, says our source, there was no doubt he was in touch with Communist Intelligence during his military service in Germany.

How responsible is this source? Is there any possibility that he could be wrong? The accuracy of other detailed information he has supplied was substantiated during the Senate Internal Security Hearings entitled "State Department Security." The Committee's chief counsel questioned an expert witness who had been with the F.B.I. and later with State Department Security. He was asked, "Do you know whether any information ever furnished to the U.S. Government by [our source] turned out to be untrue or inaccurate." The witness answered, "I do not. No, sir," and also testified that the considerable information supplied by this agent had been carefully and substantially checked and proved to be true in every case.

The source we are talking about carried the état ranks of Colonel and General in a major Communist Intelligence organization, and at the time he managed his escape was Chief of Independent Branch of Scientific & Technical Intelligence of the Department of Intelligence. He is unquestionably the genuine article, and what he says about Henry Kissinger must be given careful and thorough investigation.

Also In Our Dossier

The surface details of Kissinger's background are well known. Henry A. Kissinger was born in Fuerth, Germany, on May 27, 1923. He arrived in the United States on September 5, 1938, and was naturalized while in the military service by the U.S. District Court of Spartanburg, South Carolina, on June 25, 1943. After attending high school in New York, he worked as a shipping clerk until inducted into the Army on February 26, 1943. He received his basic training at Camp Croft, South Carolina, and was enrolled in the Army Specialized Training Program at the University of North Carolina and Lafayette University.

Kissinger served in Europe in Company "G," 335th Infantry Regiment, 84th Infantry Division, as an investigator in the Counter-Intelligence Corps. He was discharged as a Staff Sergeant in 1946 to accept employment as a Department of the Army civilian instructor at the European Theater Intelligence School at Oberammergau, Germany, and served in this capacity for one year. Upon his return to the United States in 1947, young Kissinger applied for a commission in the Officers Reserve Corps, was appointed Second Lieutenant M.I. (O.R.C.) on April 19, 1948, promoted to First Lieutenant M.I. (U.S.A.R.) on May 11, 1951, and on November 15, 1955, was promoted to Captain. He completed annual tours of active duty from fifteen to ninety days duration in the Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, U.S. Army Intelligence Center, Fort Holabird, Maryland. On March 6, 1959, in a letter addressed to the Adjutant General, Kissinger indicated a desire to resign his commission because of other obligations and the conviction that he could be "of greater service in a high rank in case an emergency necessitates this step"

Remember, this was March of 1959. The genius Kissinger had risen only to the rank of Reserve Captain, apparently holding on because it gave him access to certain intelligence data. But he was now a Harvard professor and director of the Harvard defense studies program. He was on his way.

To date, there was only one known blemish on his record. In 1955, Kissinger had been investigated by Military Intelligence because the publication Confluence, which he edited, was reportedly written from a pro-Communist point of view. Confluence was a quarterly published by the Harvard Summer School. It received financial assistance from the Ford Foundation, the Richardson Foundation, and the Far Eastern Foundation. Among its advisors were a number of individuals who, according to intelligence sources, had affiliated themselves with Communist or Communist Front organizations.

But 1959 was the crucial year. Intelligence sources reported that during January and February of 1959, before he resigned his Reserve commission as a Captain of Intelligence, Kissinger visited the Federal Republic of Germany and U.S. Army installations in Europe. Arrangements for his trip were made through General Lyman Lemnitzer. In 1959 he was made a research secretary for a Council on Foreign Relations discussion group on political and strategic problems of nuclear deterrents. The group included

A former General of Communist Intelligence reports that Henry Kissinger was a member of a K.G.B. group known as ODBA. Kissinger is shown at right with Chou En-lai and with Helmut Sonnenfeldt, Kissinger's counselor in charge of Red trade. Sonnenfeldt has turned over secret information to a foreign power, and security officers strongly recommended he be prosecuted under the espionage statutes. Above is William O. Hall, Kissinger's first Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service. Hall retired when it became known that he had been reported by State Department Security as a serious security risk. Kissinger replaced Hall with James Suttelin, earlier referred by State Department Security to psychiatric officers who reported him unfit to serve abroad because of his homosexual tendencies.

So meteoric was his rise that by 1961, the year our course "came in from out of the cold," Kissinger was a special consultant to President Kennedy on the Berlin Crisis. He was also a consultant to the Operations Research Office, the Operations Coordinating Board, the Weapons System Evaluation Group, Psychological Strategy Board, National Security Council, and the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. He was soon listed as a participant in Bilderberg and Pugwash Conferences.

In his secret negotiations with the Communist North Vietnamese Government, for instance, Henry Kissinger used two mysterious Frenchmen as go-betweens with Hanoi. They were Raymond Aubrac and Professor Herbert Marcovich, friends of Wilfred Burchett, the Australian journalist who has been identified as a K.G.B. agent and who is frequently used by the Kremlin and Peking for high-level intelligence and diplomatic operations. Aubrac, a close personal friend of Ho Chi Minh, has been director of the U.N. Food and Agricultural Organization. The cover story is that he was introduced to Kissinger in 1967 by Marcovich, a professor at the University of Paris. Kissinger and Marcovich had become acquainted earlier at one of the Pugwash meetings organized by pro-Soviet millionaire Cyrus Eaton.

One of Kissinger's closest associates on the staff of the National Security Council was Helmut Sonnenfeldt, now Counselor of the State Department in charge of deals with the Communists. According to intelligence sources, Sonnenfeldt met and became closely associated with Henry Kissinger in Germany during the period when Kissinger is reported by our source to have been in contact with Soviet Intelligence. Even before the Kissinger era, Sonnenfeldt was the subject of espionage investigations while he was an official of the State Department.

During the Eisenhower Administration, Helmut Sonnenfeldt was twice the subject of an espionage investigation by the F.B.I. and reported to have transmitted secret information to a foreign power. The first time the Attorney General refused to prosecute when Alger Hiss's old friend John Foster Dulles refused to make available the contents of the secret documents in question. But three former U.S. Foreign Service Officers have now come forward and testified under oath that Sonnenfeldt turned over secret information to agents of a foreign power, that he compromised U.S. codes, and that security officers strongly recommended he be prosecuted under the espionage statutes. U.S. Foreign Service Officer Steve Koczak was an eyewitness to the turning over by Sonnenfeldt of our secrets, and so testified. Frank Niland, a former official of the State Department's Internal Security Division, was for over a year in charge of the surveillance on Sonnenfeldt and confirms these details.

How could Kissinger give a man with this record so important a job? Simple enough, he arranged for the Office of Security to turn over Sonnenfeldt's security files to one Jesse MacKnight before it was evaluated by the Foreign Service Board. MacKnight simply "cleared" Sonnenfeldt.

Jesse MacKnight's own security file suggests why he might do such a thing. He was the official who moved Soviet spy Judith Coplon from New York to Washington and provided her with access to the vital F.B.I. reports she stole for the Reds. He has been repeatedly named as a serious security risk and contact of Soviet Intelligence. And Jesse MacKnight has been reported to our security agencies as a Soviet Intelligence operative.

One might have expected as much. Kissinger's domination of our foreign policy has been a thing of horror from the beginning. As director of the National Security Council he arranged for the appointment of William O. Hall as Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service. State Department security officers reported that Hall had been a close associate and contact of known Communists and Soviet agents. Specifically mentioned in the security report was his close relationship with Harold Glasser, Alger Hiss, and V. Frank Coe — all publicly exposed as Communists and Soviet agents. On a number of occasions over the years, official reports have been filed concerning Hall's contacts with Soviet agents, and in 1956 the Secretary of State was formally notified that William O. Hall was considered by State Department Security to be a serious security risk. No action was taken, and Henry Kissinger arranged for Hall to be made Director General of the entire U.S. Foreign Service.

The Review Of The News blew the whistle on Hall in the fall of 1972. By December, the State Department's former chief security evaluator, Otto Otepka, had released an affidavit confirming these charges. All hell broke loose. Within a matter of months, Hall retired and (now) Secretary of State Kissinger selected James S. Sutterlin as Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service.

Sutterlin, while assigned in Germany, was known as a notorious pervert and was reported to have carried on a homosexual "affair" with Edward Kelley, who was to become the security officer of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw during the time of the Sex and Spy Scandals when U.S. codes were compromised and American diplomatic personnel were operating freely as Soviet agents. One of these was Edward Symans, now retired on a full pension and living in Grand Rapids, Michigan, who was reported to have been a K.G.B. agent for over fifteen years; the other diplomat, Daroslav S. Vlahovich, is now reportedly stationed at Winnipeg, Canada. In fact, even the U.S. Ambassador to Poland, Jacob

Beam (later to become U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union), was reportedly involved with a high-ranking female agent of the K.G.B.

Authors of the 1971 German Accords which approved the concept of two Germanys, accepted the Berlin Wall, and arranged admission of Red-occupied Germany to the U.N., were Helmut Sonnenfeldt, James Sutterlin, and Henry Kissinger. And Sutterlin, as we observed, was selected by Kissinger as boss of the entire U.S. Foreign Service.

Then there is the case of Boris H. Klosson, another serious security risk, who was appointed on Kissinger's recommendation as a top-ranking political intelligence officer on the U.S. negotiating team assigned to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT). In his application for State Department employment, Boris Klosson gave as a reference an individual under investigation for pro-Soviet activities. His security record contains the report that a female Soviet agent, upon her arrival in the United States, was found to have Klosson's current name and address in her contact book.

In fact, it was Boris Klosson who, on July 11, 1961, made it possible for Lee Harvey Oswald to return with his Communist bride to the United States from the U.S.S.R., paving the way for Oswald to murder President John F. Kennedy. On behalf of the Ambassador, Klosson had signed a statement indicating that Oswald was disillusioned and ought to be permitted to return to our country. Boris Klosson even authorized the money to finance the trip for Comrade Oswald and his wife. At the time Klosson wrote the letter clearing Oswald, it was already known by the C.I.A. and our Embassy in Moscow that Lee Oswald had been on the payroll of the K.G.B. for over a year and a half and that his wife, Marina, was not only affiliated with the K.G.B. but had been raised by an uncle who was a K.G.B. Colonel.

It was also learned by intelligence personnel that while assigned to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, Boris Klosson blocked a loyal Foreign Service Officer from sending a report to the State Department concerning espionage activities of the Soviet secret police. This important report dealt with K.G.B. operations against Americans in Russia.

When Henry Kissinger selected Klosson for the SALT team, he had access to every one of these details.

Then there is the case of David Popper, who joined the State Department on the recommendation of Alger Hiss and worked with and for Hiss. He had earlier been employed at the Foreign Policy Association as top aide to Vera Micheles Dean. Popper was affiliated with the Institute of Pacific Relations, officially cited as "an instrument of Communist policy, propaganda and military intelligence." He was a member of the editorial board of Amerasia magazine, the center of a Soviet espionage ring. A confidential source reported to a U.S. Intelligence service that Popper had long maintained connections with members of the Soviet Intelligence apparatus. A former high-ranking member of the Communist Party, U.S.A., advised a U.S. Intelligence agency that while a top Communist he had been informed: "Popper is one of us and should be treated accordingly." What is more, David Henry Popper was named to U.S. Intelligence agencies as having been identified by a defector as a Soviet Intelligence operative!

So you see David Popper should be the last man anyone but a Communist would name as U.S. Ambassador to a country where patriots had just bled and died to overthrow a Communist dictator. Yet Henry Kissinger recently appointed David Henry Popper as the new United States Ambassador to Chile. With Chile's top Communists rounded up and in jail or exile, with the Government now having no diplomatic relations with Cuba or Red China or Soviet Russia, the Communists driven underground in Chile might well think they can look for leadership to the United States Embassy!

Then there is the case of Kissinger's man Leonard Unger. He was, until the middle of last month, our Ambassador to Thailand. But he needed a new job after he engineered the recent overthrow of anti-Communist Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn.

Leonard Unger was a dues-paying member of the Washington Bookshop Association, the premises of which were regularly used for secret Communist Party meetings, and which was cited by the U.S. Attorney General as Communist and subversive. Scott McLeod, chief of the State Department Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, warned the Secretary of State that Unger is a serious security risk closely associated with Communist espionage activities.

Elizabeth Bentley, a former Soviet agent, testified under oath on May 29, 1952, identifying thirty-seven Soviet agents employed in the U.S. Government. She also stated that to her knowledge there were four Soviet espionage rings operating within our government, only two of which have been openly exposed. American Intelligence sources received information from a reliable source as early as 1947 that in the State Department area of European Affairs there was another such group under Soviet control. The highly confidential report indicated that members of that group reported as being under Soviet control were Livingston Merchant, Benjamin T. Moore, Edwin M. Martin, Lawrence G. Vass, Robert Barnett, and Leonard Unger!

Now here is the clincher: On February 17, 1974, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger announced the choice of Leonard Unger to be the new United States Ambassador to the Republic of China on Taiwan! (For details see Page 55.)

The Question Raised

Henry Kissinger has accomplished more for the Soviet Union than any long list of K.G.B. agents. He brought about the so-called détente with the U.S.S.R. which resulted in our transferring important technology to the Russian Communists and the extending of a billion dollars' worth of trade on credit. He was responsible for the sellout of Free China and for the détente with Communist China, including trade and credit for such products as helicopters. So bad is the situation that a State Department security officer recently complained that he is unable to conduct his investigations because he is being kept busy full-time — escorting Chinese Communist engineers on tours of U.S. industries with secret military contracts.

Yet another of Kissinger's achievements occurred on February 7, 1974, when he pledged to give away our vital Panama Canal. One is hardly surprised to learn that U.S. Ambassador at Large Ellsworth Bunker, who cooperated with Kissinger in negotiating the surrender of U.S. sovereignty of the Canal Zone, is another security risk, a member of the radical Council on World Affairs, honorary president of the subversive Foreign Policy Association, a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, trustee of the (Marxist) New School for Social Research, and formerly director of the American-Russian Institute for Cultural Relations with the Soviet Union, an organization cited as Communist and subversive by the U.S. Attorney General and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

Especially damning is the fact that

on January 7, 1974, Paul Scott of the Washington News Intelligence Syndicate reported that the Soviet Ambassador in Washington, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, had let the cat out of the bag. A disclosure of the role of this amazing diplomat-agent, Mr. Scott reported, came recently when Dobrynin briefed the Communist diplomats on his frequent meetings with Kissinger. In private conversations with Iron Curtain diplomats, Ambassador Dobrynin revealed that Secretary Kissinger is serving in the Middle East crisis as negotiator for both the Soviet Union and the United States. It was an amazing revelation. In light of such an admission the appointments of Hall, Sutterlin, Klosson, Sonnenfeldt, Popper, Unger, and the others make sense, as does so much else. What better tailor to stitch together a Great Merger than a man who has the trust of Conspirators on both sides of the Iron Curtain!

Taking into consideration the serious charge that Henry Kissinger has quite possibly been a Soviet agent since World War II — a charge made by a courageous anti-Communist operative who rose to the rank of General in Communist Intelligence — it is well past time that Congress asked why the Nixinger Administration has so consistently promoted policies which have given aid, comfort, and support to the International Communist Conspiracy. ■ ■

SUBJECT: SENATE COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN RELATIONS; INTERVIEW OF SA SUPERVISOR [redacted]

In accordance with prior approval Supervisor [redacted] who handles White House liaison, was interviewed by Mr. [redacted] Senate Committee on Foreign Relations staff member. [redacted] explained that the staff was attempting to "tie up loose ends" concerning its inquiry regarding Dr. Kissinger in relation to the 17 "national security wiretaps." [redacted] briefed [redacted] on his activities regarding this program which consisted primarily of delivering letters addressed to the President, Dr. Kissinger and H. R. Haldeman and their subsequent recovery by [redacted] in the latter part of 1971. Details regarding [redacted] activity have been set forth in previous memoranda in relation to his interviews by the Special Prosecutor's Office.

[redacted] mentioned two specific memoranda. The first was a memorandum setting forth a request from General Haig for the institution of wiretaps on three or four individuals. The second was a memorandum reporting a conversation between [redacted] and [redacted] concerning the White House handling the results of the wiretaps. [redacted] was advised that [redacted] has no detailed recollection of these conversations, but he is certain that the memoranda accurately reflect the contents of the conversations. In response to a question, [redacted] advised [redacted] that [redacted] had never met with or discussed with Dr. Kissinger personally any of the wiretap activity. [redacted] advised he would recontact [redacted] if he had any other questions but this seemed to take care of the matter as far as [redacted] was concerned. He did not indicate if [redacted] appearance before the Committee would be requested.

William F. Buckley Jr.:

Kissinger's Great Coup

Even a mere ten days after the event, the explosion of Henry Kissinger at Salzburg appears to have had magical effects. It has served as something of a perspective-restorer. Suddenly the daily carpet-bombings of the White House by the various committees and prosecutors seem to have lost the old B.T.U. that for weeks and months froze the figure of Richard Nixon in black.

One cannot know whether Henry Kissinger knew exactly what he was doing, but one can speculate on what he may very well have done.

On the face of it, everything he did was maladroit. He did not warn the President what exactly he intended to say. He threatened to resign at a press conference conducted abroad. He risked, by focusing on his insecurity, the security of the delicate arrangements he had labored over for months. He challenged his critics to accept his veracity when documents were already outstanding that presented a flat contradiction between his version and the FBI's version. And the next day, and a day or two after, he was clearly sulking, playing less of a public role than circumstances dictated.

WHAT HAPPENED was that the public instantly lost interest in the punctilious merits of the argument. The public suddenly saw that in some situations there is such a thing as the poetic truth. That it really did not matter who "initiated" the wiretaps, if indeed wiretaps were reasonable in order.

It saw that the Senate committee which had investigated the provenance of the wiretaps to its satisfaction was satisfied that the rough truth had been spoken. It saw a Senate committee suddenly taking account of the triviality on which American foreign policy might suddenly impale itself, and draw back sharply from the implications of it. Suddenly senators add their names to a testimonial to Henry Kissinger utterly unrelated to the formal questions at stake, but which had the effect of quite simply overwhelming the formal questions.

My point is that this seems to have carried over into the Watergate business. The perspective provided by Henry Kissinger appears to have rescued Nixon from the plague of the undotted i's and uncrossed t's; the epochal differences between March 17 and March 21; the question of what he intended by the use of this phrase in communicating to John Mitchell, or Bob Haldeman, or John Ehrlichman. Suddenly the Judiciary Committee appears to have found itself hard at work on the needlepoint of a vast tapestry for which the public appetite appears suddenly to have dissipated.

INERTIA, OF COURSE, will keep the project going. The lawyers and the staff and to a considerable extent the congressmen, are bound to follow out their mandate.

But their mandate — to consolidate the case against Nixon and present it to the public — requires for its plausibility a hyped-up conscience, and a jurist's devotion to verbal exactitude. I think Henry Kissinger has done more to cause that to go away than anything that has happened in the history of Watergate, and if this turns out to be the case, Richard Nixon will owe to Henry Kissinger all that he now owes him, plus his life.

Yes, the case could warm up again. There may yet be surprises that have not been leaked to the Washington Post, though such treachery by the Judiciary Committee is all but unthinkable. Perhaps in some tape or some document as yet untranscribed or undisclosed, Nixon will be detected saying something that will make his impeachment and conviction mandatory.

But at this moment his stock is rising, very fast.

Henry Kissinger, Secretary of State of the United States, is an agent of the Soviet Union, according to a documented story by Frank A. Capell, Editor and Publisher of Herald of Freedom.

Capell says that Aleksei Nicolaeovich Romanoff, who operated under the cover name of Colonel Michal Goleniewski, has revealed with documentation the fact that Kissinger was, under a code name, a member of a secret unit of Communist intelligence.

Aleksei, according to Capell, is the heir to the all-Russian Imperial Throne, Tsarevich and Grand Duke of Russia, and head of the Russian Imperial House. Now known as Colonel Michal Goleniewski, he is reportedly the son of Emperor Nicholas II of Russia.
Aleksei, under the cover name
of Colonel Michal Goleniewski, infiltrated Communist intelligence in Poland, reached a high position therein, and then made contact with the West. From April 1958 until December 1960 he voluntarily served the United States at great personal danger. He prepared 160 typewritten pages of secret reports and sent them through to the West. He also sent on microfilm more than 5,000 pages of top secret documents concerning Soviet-satellite espionage, Polish and East German intelligence services and agents in Western Europe, and the U.S.
Army-military, economic, political, intelligence and counter-intelligence matters regarding the Soviet bloc. He also furnished 800 pages of Soviet and Polish intelligence reports which showed the results of their spying operations in the Free World, 80% of which were found to have come from secret Free World sources. In other words, 80% of the information came from traitors and double-agents in the West. Aleksei himself was uncovered and he and his wife fled to the United States in January, 1961.

Kissinger, Capell reports that Henry Kissinger, well-known leftist professor, was recruited by Soviet Intelligence during World War
II when Kissinger was a U.S.
Army Sergeant (later Captain).
Aleksei reportedly told the Central Intelligence Agency about Kissinger. That's like telling Bonnie about Clyde.

Which side is the C.I.A. on?
When Kissinger (code name
"Bor") became our President's National Security Adviser, there were rumblings here by informed patriots who knew "Bor" had been involved with Communist Intelligence in also participated in the Bilderberg and Pugwash Conferences.

Among Kissinger's closest male confidants have been Helmut Sonnenfeldt, now Counselor to our State Department and a man whose loyalty is questioned by many informed patriots; and Daniel Ellsberg, whom the French financial weekly Valeurs Actuelles identified as a Soviet agent. Colonel A. Fletcher
Prouty, liaison officer for the C.I.A. for many years, identified Ellsberg as a C.I.A. agent. He was also somebody's agent, participating in secret meetings involving the Cuban missile crisis.
Capell says: "Kissinger's recommendations for personnel have been as bad for the U.S. as his policy planning.
When William O. Hall, former Director General of the Foreign Service, U.S. State Department, retired there was a sigh of relief in intelligence circles since Hall was a security risk who had been associated, friendly, and in contact with known Communists and Soviet espionage agents, including Alger Hiss, Harold Glasser and Virginus Frank Coe. The individual selected by Secretary Kissinger to be the new Director General was hardly an improvement. He is James Sutterlin, admitted homosexual and sex pervert who had already been declared a serious security risk by the State Department's own security office. In addition to security violations, he reportedly was compromised.
Sutterlin, as Director General of the Foreign Service, has access to the most sensitive information involving our foreign policy and national security.
"On Kissinger's recommendation, David Popper, a security risk, was selected to be the new U.S.

HENRY KISSINGER HAS BEEN A "DOUBLE-AGENT" AND THEREFORE A TRAITOR, ACCORDING TO A HIGHLY RELIABLE AUTHOR AND PUBLI-CATION, FRANK CAPELL, WRITING FOR THE REVIEW OF THE NEWS, SAYS: "A WELL INFORMED AUTHORITY ON SOVIET INTELLIGENCE CON-TENDS THAT SECRETARY OF STATE HENRY KISSINGER HAS BEEN A SOVIET AGENT, AND THAT HIS INVOLVEMENT WITH SOVIET INTELLIGENCE
HIS RISE TO PROMINENCE."

EITHER FRANK CAPELL AND THE REVIEW OF THE NEWS ARE GUILTY OF SLANDER AND LIBEL OR KISSINGER IS A TRAITOR.

STATES TO HOLD A CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION TO DETERMINE THE TRUTH OF THESE CHARGES. THE FATE OF OUR NATION COULD BE AT

Communist Chile, Popper had entered the State Department through Alger Hiss, and was known to be a close contact of Frederick Vanderbilt Field and other important Communists and Soviet agents. Furthermore, Popper was reported to U.S. intelligence agencies as having been identified by a defector as a Soviet intelligence operator. Louis Budenz, a former high ranking member of the Communist Party, USA, reported that top Communists had been informed that David Popper is "one of us" and should be treated accordingly.

"Henry Kissinger has accomplished more for the Soviet Union than most of its top leaders. He brought about the so-called detente with the U.S.S.R. which resulted in our transferring important technology to the Russian Communists and extending a billion dollars worth of trade credit. He was responsible for the sell-out of free China and for the detente with Communist China. One of Kissinger's greatest achievements on behalf of the Communists occurred on February 8, 1974 when he (together with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, another security risk) pledged the return of the Canal Zone to Panama."

By their fruits ye shall know them. Not by their political parties, the cards they carry, or their degrees and titles. By their fruits.

Either Frank Capell and his "Confidential Intelligence Report" and The Review Of The News, the nation's only conservative national weekly news magazine, which carried Capell's story on Kissinger, are guilty of slander and libel or Kissinger is a traitor.

Let us demand Congressional investigation to determine which should be prosecuted.

Or, is treason now the "In" thing, obsolete, passé? Giving aid and comfort to the enemy used to be treason.

Are the Soviets the enemy and is giving them our secrets treason?

We should re-institute public hangings for traitors. Televised.

Dear Senator Scott :

The May-June issue of "The American Eagle", official newspaper of The American Party indicates by reproduction a copy of a letter they mailed you indicating documented evidence that Henry Kissinger, Secretary of State has been a "double-agent" of The Soviet Union and a traitor.

I would think that Congress should have an open investigation session to ascertain the veracity of these charges

Dear Mr. Kelley:

One of my constituents, [redacted] contends that Henry Kissinger was born in Germany and she asks if he was ever known by another name or if he was a card-carrying Communist.

While I very much doubt that these queries are true, I would appreciate your official response to Mrs. Rich's questions.

Sincerely,

Robert J. Lagomarsino

Honorable Robert J. Lagomarsino

Washington, D. C. 20515

Dear Congressman Lagomarsino:

Your letter of August 9th containing inquiries on behalf of your constituent, Mrs. [redacted], has been received.

b6 -3
b7C -3

With respect to the questions she raised, it has recently come to the attention of this Bureau that information has been circulated to the effect that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has been a Soviet agent. I know of no factual basis for this allegation and I trust you will understand that it would be inappropriate for the FBI to comment further concerning allegations made against public officials which appear in newspapers, magazines or other media.

I can say, however, that it is public knowledge that Secretary Kissinger was born in Puerth, Germany.

Sincerely yours,

C. M. Kelley

2 October, 1974

Mr. Clarence Kelly, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Pennsylvania Ave., N. W.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Director Kelly;

I am enclosing two "Letters to the Editor" which recently appeared in the Fort Myers, Fla. News Press.

Each letter makes a very direct and damaging accusation against Henry Kissinger, who is currently in charge of our foreign affairs and our national security. In his position he has knowledge of and power over the most vital secrets and secret operations of our nation. Because of the length of time he has had this power he probably has more knowledge of these matters than does the president. Thus, his value--or--danger to this country depends entirely on his integrity and his devotion to the United States of America.

The charges in these two letters are so serious that if proven correct Mr. Kissinger should forthwith be transferred from Foggy Bottom to Fort Leavenworth. If the charges are untrue it would seem that the writers and publishers of these letters would be subject to immediate silencing.

It would seem that the FBI on its own and without any publicity would undertake the most searching and thorough investigation of Henry Kissinger that has ever been made on any single person. If there is the slightest question about him he should be exposed and removed at once. If, on the other hand, he is a 100% stable person and a 100% loyal, patriotic and dedicated American, the FBI should publicly and without reservation tell this to the American people. This would set to rest the fears of many people who seem to recall the very strong reservations that Director Hoover had about Henry Kissinger.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. I will be most interested to hear what develops.

Kissinger Award Not Patriotic Idea

Editor, News-Press—

In a recent Mailbag letter in which I criticized the American Legion for giving its highest award to Henry Kissinger, two of the paragraphs were omitted.

I was told that I had not submitted proof; that they'd never heard of Frank A. Capell, who is a dedicated patriotic researcher, getting the truth from documented evidence.

Mr. Capell wrote that Kissinger reportedly was a Soviet agent in the K.G.B. spy ring in W.W. II while in the U.S. military service.

Of course the regular news media is not going to give us these documented facts on the conspiracy to destroy our U.S., because the United Press International, Associated Press, A.B.C., C.B.S., N.B.C., and many of the syndicated columnists, as well as radio and T.V. commentators are all controlled by the Council on Foreign Relations (C.F.R.) — "The Invisible Government" that is intent on destroying the Sovereignty of the U.S. Henry Kissinger is a member of the C.F.R.

Kissinger has also stated that he could as readily be in the employ of Russia as the U.S.A. because he is committed to a "World Community" (from an address he delivered to the United Nations General Assembly on Oct. 4, 1973 shortly after having been named Secretary of State). In other words, One World Government, whose goal is to destroy the United States and establish a world dictatorship. Soviet Ambassador Dobrynin refers to Kissinger as "OUR negotiator in the Middle East".

In 1962 the California state American Legion passed a resolution in which they declared that "the C.F.R. is subversive" and asked all patriotic Americans to inform themselves of the C.F.R. and to take all possible action to save our country from destruction at his hands.

Henry Powell, Jr., Orlando, Florida State Commander of the American Legion wrote me that he too was shocked and disgusted concerning this award and intended to let the officers know about it.

Look Around, You Yankee

Editor, News-Press—

As a Southerner of six generations standing, I beg to differ with your Gannett News Service writer from Rochester. (Sept. 22 Leisure section article).

Southerners do not normally pronounce pecan as "pea-can." We pronounce it "pea-kahn" with the accent on the "kahn." Perhaps, he only heard people who just happen to be living in the South.

If he found the route north through Georgia and the Carolinas drab and uninspiring, another time he might try going through lovely Savannah and the Sidney Lanier country; the North Carolina towns like Edenton and Chowan County Courthouse, or, take the mountain route via the Blue Ridge Parkway and Skyline Drive. And, he should really see Williamsburg, Annapolis, and Maryland's Eastern Shore.

He may even discover that all scenic areas are not north of the Mason-Dixon Line and that there's a wealth of American history in the South!

Kissinger Menaces American Attitude

Editor, News-Press—

The Manchester Union Leader, of New Hampshire, is published by William Loeb. Mr. Loeb pointed out in an editorial that his newspaper had long regarded Dr. Henry Kissinger as a menace to the United States because of his attitude in dealing with top Communist officials in the Kremlin. Mr. Loeb stated: "Sometimes, however, we have wondered if anyone could be as stupid as Dr. Kissinger SEEMS to be, busily giving away U.S. secrets and property. We have wondered if there could be something more than stupidity behind his actions. A retired U.S. diplomat and friend, a gentleman with a lifetime of experience in the foreign service, has a stronger attitude toward Dr. Kissinger, this particular diplomat is not given to talking off the top of his head or just making conversation. He once said in all seriousness to this writer, 'I believe Dr. Kissinger to be a Communist agent!'"

FBI chief worried

WASHINGTON — Many people believe that detente has meant a so-called "relaxation of tensions" between the Soviet Union and the U.S. But for FBI Director Clarence Kelley detente has been a time of increasing tensions. As a matter of fact, Kelley is very uptight about the Russians.

What's bugging the nation's No. 1 G Man is that as "tensions" have supposedly "relaxed" there has been an alarming increase in the number of foreign intelligent agents — mostly Soviet — operating in the United States.

The FBI's top cop naturally declines to say specifically how many of his men are watching suspected foreign spies, but he has revealed that a recent study shows 25 per cent of the Bureau's time is spent investigation such people and domestic subversives.

However, there are not enough FBI men to watch the spies. Ideally, Kelley says, he would like to have one agent to assign to each suspected spy. But he doesn't. What has him worried, he says, is that the gap between the number of FBI agents and foreign operatives is widening.

"We're losing ground," Kelley observes, saying that he may have to ask Congress for another 250 agents to deal with the problem.

Over the years, the number of Soviet officials in the United States has drastically increased. In testimony earlier this year, Kelley said there were, 1,463 Soviet-bloc officials in this country and a total of 3,111 officials and their families.

The number of Soviet officials alone — 943 on Feb. 1, 1974 — is 142 more than a year earlier and 240 more than four years ago. A substantial proportion of the 943 Soviet officials, Kelley says, have been identified as intelligence operatives. Hence, the Soviet potential for espionage has been greatly enhanced. The USSR personnel now here in the United States has a formidable contingent of spies.

In this connection, the opening of a Soviet consulate in San Francisco gave Moscow another base from which to operate. Previously, Soviet officials were assigned to the Soviet Embassy in Washington, D.C., and the United Nations in New York.

However, on June 13, 1968, a U.S.-Soviet Consular Agreement was ratified by both countries. This agreement provided for the exchange of consular sites. The Russians opened a consulate in San Francisco and we opened one in Leningrad. The Soviet consulate on the West Coast has a permanent staff of about 20 people.

The kind of thing Kelley worries about is typified by the case of Valeriy I. Markelov. Markelov, his wife and daughter arrived in New York in 1967 and he began work at the U.S. as a translator.

In the fall of 1970, he became acquainted with an engineer employed at the Gruman Aerospace Corporation on Long Island. It soon became apparent to the FBI that Markelov was interested in much more than translating Russian at the U.N. Secretariat.

Markelov had 11 separate meetings with the engineer at various New York restaurants and persistently solicited classified information about the new Navy jet fighter Grumman was developing, the F14A.

On February 14, 1972, Markelov was arrested after taking possession of classified documents relating to the plane. Evidence against him also included the fact that he had supplied the engineer with a portable copying machine and a 35 millimeter camera.

Markelov was subsequently indicted by a federal grand jury, but the indictment was dismissed and he was returned to the Soviet Union.

So, thanks to FBI Director Clarence Kelley, we have one more criterion by which to judge the success of detente. Presumably the more Russian spies there are running around in this country, the more "tensions" are being "relaxed" between our two countries. Aren't you glad the Cold War is over?

*A former General in Communist Intelligence
says Kissinger was a K.G.B.
agent before he went to Harvard.*

by Frank A. Capell

■ A WELL-INFORMED authority on Soviet Intelligence contends that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has been a Soviet agent and that his involvement with Soviet Intelligence was made known to agencies of our government even before his rise to prominence. The former high-ranking intelligence officer who supplied this information has been responsible for uncovering a long list of K.G.B. (Soviet Intelligence) and G.R.U. (Military Intelligence) agents and officers, including Soviet Colonel Kolon Molody (alias Gordon Arnold Lonsdale) and his four agents — Henry Houghton, Ethel Gee, Peter John Kroger, and Helen Joyce Kroger. His information in the

Lonsdale case developed (through Houghton) the exposure of K.G.B. agent John Vassal of British Naval Intelligence, who for seven years turned over Top Secret information under threat of being exposed as a homosexual.

Our source also disclosed the role of Colonel Israel Beer (alias Bieber), a top military advisor to the Israeli Government, as well as that of Colonel Stig Eric Wennerström of Sweden who was actually a K.G.B. General. Another case he exposed was that of George Blake, a very high British Intelligence official connected with MI-6 in London. From the same source came information uncovering

K.G.B. agents Heinz Felfe, Hans Clemens, Fuhrmann, and others in West German Intelligence. He also exposed Blekinberg in Denmark and Bitonski in France. Firmly entrenched K.G.B. and G.R.U. networks in many parts of the Free World were not only uncovered by our source, but the Communist operatives and agents were arrested, tried, and convicted.

The recruitment of Henry Kissinger by Soviet Intelligence reportedly goes back to World War II. Through the underground and partisan operations in Poland the Soviets had organized and arranged a series of intelligence and counter-intelligence networks, some of which were reorganized after the end of World War II and continue in place at this very moment.

One such complex, known under the code name of ODR A, was under the control of Soviet Intelligence General Zelanznikoff, who headed the directorate of the Soviet Army's north group in Legnica, Poland. Its principal purpose was the infiltration and penetration of Military Intelligence services in the West, especially those of Great Britain and the United States. Since ODR A operated from Poland, it had a representative responsible to the Polish Communist Government. He was a Colonel Wozniesiensi, who was also a Soviet officer.

In 1954 an important courier, a woman of Greek-Russian nationality, was murdered under mysterious circumstances and important materials, together with approximately $80,000 of intelligence funds, disappeared. Colonel Kujun, chief of the group who worked with the murdered courier, was ordered to Moscow for questioning. Anticipating torture and liquidation, Kujun shot and severely wounded himself. He was placed in a hospital of the G.Z.I. (Glowny Zarzad Informacji - Polish Intelligence).

Colonel Wozniesiensi, boss of G.Z.I., personally interrogated the mortally wounded chief of ODR A to clarify the identities of ODR A agents. All of the information obtained by Wozniesiensi was documented by him in a special dossier. A short time thereafter, the Colonel was himself arrested by order of the Polish Minister of Defense, Soviet Marshal Rokosowski. All of his official and personal papers were sealed and deposited in a safe by his deputy, also a Soviet officer. Accused of crimes during the Stalin era, Wozniesiensi was now transferred to Moscow and subsequently sentenced to ten years in prison.

In February of 1956, in connection with Colonel Wozniesiensi's appeal trial, and also in connection with the activities of a special commission investigating the crimes of Beria and Stalin, the still sealed safe of Wozniesiensi's deputy was ordered opened in the presence of top K.G.B. officers, all papers and properties were registered, and a memorandum was prepared. Our source was present when the safe was opened and personally reviewed its contents.

Among the 1,500 pages of documents were 20 hand-written pages in the Russian language by Colonel Woz-niesiensi concerning the interrogation of Colonel Kujun. Wozniesiensi had obtained a list of the names, code names, and short data on the principal agents of ODR. Under the code name of "Baraban" was listed an individual referred to as Bosenhard, a member of U.S. Military Intelligence headquartered in Oberammergau, West Germany. Our source reports that under the code name of "Bor," and described as an agent of ODR, was Sergeant Henry Kissinger, a U.S. Army counter-intelligence interrogator and instructor at the Military Intelligence School in Oberammergau, who was working with Bosenhard.

Our source says the investigation memo that he saw indicated that in 1954 Kissinger was in the United States at Harvard University and maintaining contact with the Central Intelligence Agency.

In 1961 and 1962, as part of a lengthy and detailed debriefing, our source informed the C.I.A. about the Kissinger matter, but at that time Kissinger appeared to him to be an unimportant Harvard professor. In 1973 our source brought these facts to the attention of both the F.B.I. and the British Security Service, observing that Henry Kissinger, code name "Bor," was no longer "unimportant," having become the President's chief National Security Advisor. He noted that the information he had long ago supplied concerning Henry Kissinger could be verified and confirmed by independent sources since, says our source, there was no doubt he was in touch with Communist Intelligence during his military service in Germany.

How responsible is this source? Is there any possibility that he could be wrong? The accuracy of other detailed information he has supplied was substantiated during the Senate Internal Security Hearings entitled "State Department Security." The Committee's chief counsel questioned an expert witness who had been with the F.B.I. and later with State Department Security. He was asked, "Do you know whether any information ever furnished to the U.S. Government by [our source] turned out to be untrue or inaccurate." The witness answered, "I do not. No, sir," and also testified that the considerable information supplied by this agent had been carefully and substantially checked and proved to be true in every case.

The source we are talking about carried the état ranks of Colonel and General in a major Communist Intelligence organization, and at the time he managed his escape was Chief of Independent Branch of Scientific & Technical Intelligence of the Department of Intelligence. He is unquestionably the genuine article, and what he says about Henry Kissinger must be given careful and thorough investigation.

Also In Our Dossier

The surface details of Kissinger's background are well known. Henry A. Kissinger was born in Fuerth, Germany, on May 27, 1923. He arrived in the United States on September 5, 1938, and was naturalized while in the military service by the U.S. District Court of Spartanburg, South Carolina, on June 25, 1943. After attending high school in New York, he worked as a shipping clerk until inducted into the Army on February 26, 1943. He received his basic training at Camp Croft, South Carolina, and was enrolled in the Army Specialized Training Program at the University of North Carolina and Lafayette University.

Kissinger served in Europe in Company "G," 335th Infantry Regiment, 84th Infantry Division, as an investigator in the Counter-Intelligence Corps. He was discharged as a Staff Sergeant in 1946 to accept employment as a Department of the Army civilian instructor at the European Theater Intelligence School at Oberammergau, Germany, and served in this capacity for one year. Upon his return to the United States in 1947, young Kissinger applied for a commission in the Officers Reserve Corps, was appointed Second Lieutenant M.I. (O.R.C.) on April 19, 1948, promoted to First Lieutenant M.I. (U.S.A.R.) on May 11, 1951, and on November 15, 1955, was promoted to Captain. He completed annual tours of active duty from fifteen to ninety days duration in the Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, U.S. Army Intelligence Center, Fort Holabird, Maryland. On March 6, 1959, in a letter addressed to the Adjutant General, Kissinger indicated a desire to resign his commission because of other obligations and the conviction that he could be "of greater

Remember, this was March of 1959. The genius Kissinger had risen only to the rank of Reserve Captain, apparently holding on because it gave him access to certain intelligence data. But he was now a Harvard professor and director of the Harvard defense studies program. He was on his way.

To date, there was only one known blemish on his record. In 1955, Kissinger had been investigated by Military Intelligence because the publication Confluence, which he edited, was reportedly written from a pro-Communist point of view. Confluence was a quarterly published by the Harvard Summer School. It received financial assistance from the Ford Foundation, the Richardson Foundation, and the Far Eastern Foundation. Among its advisors were a number of individuals who, according to intelligence sources, had affiliated themselves with Communist or Communist Front organizations.

But 1959 was the crucial year. Intelligence sources reported that during January and February of 1959, before he resigned his Reserve commission as a Captain of Intelligence, Kissinger visited the Federal Republic of Germany and U.S. Army installations in Europe. Arrangements for his trip were made through General Lyman Lemnitzer. In 1959 he was made a research secretary for a Council on Foreign Relations discussion group on political and strategic problems of nuclear deterrents. The group included

A former General of Communist Intelligence reports that Henry Kissinger was a member of a K.G.B. group known as ODRA. Kissinger is shown at right with Chou En-lai and with Helmut Sonnenfeldt, Kissinger's counselor in charge of Red trade. Sonnenfeldt has turned over secret information to a foreign power, and security officers strongly recommended he be prosecuted under the espionage statutes. Above is William O. Hall, Kissinger's first Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service. Hall retired when it became known that he had been reported by State Department Security as a serious security risk. Kissinger replaced Hall with James Sutterlin, earlier referred by State Department Security to psychiatric officers who reported him unfit to serve abroad because of his homosexual tendencies.

So meteoric was his rise that by 1961, the year our source "came in from out of the cold," Kissinger was a special consultant to President Kennedy on the Berlin Crisis. He was also a consultant to the Operations Research Office, the Operations Coordinating Board, the Weapons System Evaluation Group, Psychological Strategy Board, National Security Council, and the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. He was soon listed as a participant in Bilderberg and Pugwash Conferences.

In his secret negotiations with the Communist North Vietnamese Government, for instance, Henry Kissinger used two mysterious Frenchmen as go-betweens with Hanoi. They were Raymond Aubrac and Professor Herbert Marcovitch, friends of Wilfred Burchett, the Australian journalist who has been identified as a K.E.B. agent and who is frequently used by the Kremlin and Peking for high-level intelligence and diplomatic operations. Aubrac, a close personal friend of Ho Chi Minh, has been director of the U.N. Food and Agricultural Organization. The cover story is that he was introduced to Kissinger in 1967 by Marcovitch, a professor at the University of Paris. Kissinger and Marcovitch had become acquainted earlier at one of the Pugwash meetings organized by pro-Soviet millionaire Cyrus Eaton.

One of Kissinger's closest associates on the staff of the National Security Council was Helmut Sonnenfeldt, now Counselor of the State Department in charge of trade with the Communists. According to intelligence sources, Sonnenfeldt met and became closely associated with Henry Kissinger in Germany during the period when Kissinger is reported by our source to have been in contact with Soviet intelligence. Even before the Kissinger era, Sonnenfeldt was the subject of espionage investigations while he was an official of the State Department.

During the Eisenhower Administration, Helmut Sonnenfeldt was twice the subject of an espionage investigation by the F.B.I. and reported to have transmitted secret information to a foreign power. The first time the Attorney General refused to prosecute when Alger Hiss's old friend John Foster Dulles refused to make available the contents of the secret documents in question. But three former U.S. Foreign Service Officers have now come forward and testified under oath that Sonnenfeldt turned over secret information to agents of a foreign power, that he compromised U.S. codes, and that security officers strongly recommended he be prosecuted under the espionage statutes. U.S. Foreign Service Officer Steve Koczak was an eyewitness to the turning over by Sonnenfeldt of our secrets, and so testified. Frank Niland, a former official of the State Department's Internal Security Division, was for over a year in charge of the surveillance on Sonnenfeldt and confirms these details.

How could Kissinger give a man with this record so important a job? Simple enough, he arranged for the Office of Security to turn over Sonnenfeldt's security files to one Jesse MacKnight before it was evaluated by the Foreign Service Board. MacKnight simply "cleared" Sonnenfeldt.

Jesse MacKnight's own security file suggests why he might do such a thing. He was the official who moved Soviet spy Judith Coplon from New York to Washington and provided her with access to the vital F.B.I. reports she stole for the Reds. He has been repeatedly named as a serious security risk and contact of Soviet Intelligence. And Jesse MacKnight has been reported to our security agencies as a Soviet Intelligence operative.

One might have expected as much. Kissinger's domination of our foreign policy has been a thing of horror from the beginning. As director of the National Security Council he arranged for the appointment of William O. Hall as Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service. State Department security officers reported that Hall had been a close associate and contact of known Communists and Soviet agents. Specifically mentioned in the security report was his close relationship with Harold Glasser, Alger Hiss, and V. Frank Coe — all publicly exposed as Communists and Soviet agents. On a number of occasions over the years, official reports have been filed concerning Hall's contacts with Soviet agents, and in 1956 the Secretary of State was formally notified that William O. Hall was considered by State Department Security to be a serious security risk. No action was taken, and Henry Kissinger arranged for Hall to be made Director General of the entire U.S. Foreign Service.

The Review Of The News blew the whistle on Hall in the fall of 1972. By December, the State Department's former chief security evaluator, Otto Otepka, had released an affidavit confirming these charges. All hell broke loose. Within a matter of months, Hall retired and (now) Secretary of State Kissinger selected James S. Sutterlin as Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service.

Sutterlin, while assigned in Germany, was known as a notorious pervert and was reported to have carried on a homosexual "affair" with Edward Kelley, who was to become the security officer of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw during the time of the Sex and Spy Scandals when U.S. codes were compromised and American diplomatic personnel were operating freely as Soviet agents. One of these was Edward Symans, now retired on a full pension and living in Grand Rapids, Michigan, who was reported to have been a K.G.B. agent for over fifteen years; the other diplomat, Daroslav S. Vlahovich, is now reportedly stationed at Winnipeg, Canada. In fact, even the U.S. Ambassador to Poland, Jacob

Beam (later to become U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union), was reportedly involved with a high-ranking female agent of the K.G.B.

Authors of the 1971 German Accords which approved the concept of two Germanys, accepted the Berlin Wall, and arranged admission of Red-occupied Germany to the U.N., were Helmut Sonnenfeldt, James Sutterlin, and Henry Kissinger. And Sutterlin, as we observed, was selected by Kissinger as boss of the entire U.S. Foreign Service.

Then there is the case of Boris H. Klosson, another serious security risk, who was appointed on Kissinger's recommendation as a top-ranking political intelligence officer on the U.S. negotiating team assigned to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT). In his application for State Department employment, Boris Klosson gave as a reference an individual under investigation for pro-Soviet activities. His security record contains the report that a female Soviet agent, upon her arrival in the United States, was found to have Klosson's current name and address in her contact book.

In fact, it was Boris Klosson who, on July 11, 1961, made it possible for Lee Harvey Oswald to return with his Communist bride to the United States from the U.S.S.R., paving the way for Oswald to murder President John F. Kennedy. On behalf of the Ambassador, Klosson had signed a statement indicating that Oswald was disillusioned and ought to be permitted to return to our country. Boris Klosson even authorized the money to finance the trip for Comrade Oswald and his wife. At the time Klosson wrote the letter clearing Oswald, it was already known by the C.I.A. and our Embassy in Moscow that Lee Oswald had been on the payroll of the K.G.B. for over a year and a half and that his wife, Marina, was not only affiliated with the K.G.B. but had been raised by an uncle who was a K.G.B. Colonel.

It was also learned by intelligence personnel that while assigned to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, Boris Klosson blocked a loyal Foreign Service Officer from sending a report to the State Department concerning espionage activities of the Soviet secret police. This important report dealt with K.G.B. operations against Americans in Russia.

When Henry Kissinger selected Klosson for the SALT team, he had access to every one of these details.

Then there is the case of David Popper, who joined the State Department on the recommendation of Alger Hiss and worked with and for Hiss. He had earlier been employed at the Foreign Policy Association as top aide to Vera Micheles Dean. Popper was affiliated with the Institute of Pacific Relations, officially cited as "an instrument of Communist policy, propaganda and military intelligence." He was a member of the editorial board of Amerasia magazine, the center of a Soviet espionage ring. A confidential source reported to a U.S. Intelligence service that Popper had long maintained connections with members of the Soviet Intelligence apparatus. A former high-ranking member of the Communist Party, U.S.A., advised a U.S. Intelligence agency that while a top Communist he had been informed: "Popper is one of us and should be treated accordingly." What is more, David Henry Popper was named to U.S. Intelligence agencies as having been identified by a defector as a Soviet Intelligence operative!

So you see David Popper should be the last man anyone but a Communist would name as U.S. Ambassador to a country where patriots had just bled and died to overthrow a Communist dictator. Yet Henry Kissinger recently appointed David Henry Popper as the new United States Ambassador to Chile. With Chile's top Communists rounded up and in jail or exile, with the Government now having no diplomatic relations with Cuba or Red China or Soviet Russia, the Communists driven underground in Chile might well think they can look for leadership to the United States Embassy!

Then there is the case of Kissinger's man Leonard Unger. He was, until the middle of last month, our Ambassador to Thailand. But he needed a new job after he engineered the recent overthrow of anti-Communist Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn.

Leonard Unger was a dues-paying member of the Washington Bookshop Association, the premises of which were regularly used for secret Communist Party meetings, and which was cited by the U.S. Attorney General as Communist and subversive. Scott McLeod, chief of the State Department Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, warned the Secretary of State that Unger is a serious security risk closely associated with Communist espionage activities.

Elizabeth Bentley, a former Soviet agent, testified under oath on May 29, 1952, identifying thirty-seven Soviet agents employed in the U.S. Government. She also stated that to her knowledge there were four Soviet espionage rings operating within our government, only two of which have been openly exposed. American Intelligence sources received information from a reliable source as early as 1947 that in the State Department area of European Affairs there was another such group under Soviet control. The highly confidential report indicated that members of that group reported as being under Soviet control were Livingston Merchant, Benjamin T. Moore, Edwin M. Martin, Lawrence G. Vass, Robert Barnett, and Leonard Unger!

Now here is the clincher: On February 17, 1974, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger announced the choice of Leonard Unger to be the new United States Ambassador to the Republic of China on Taiwan! Such a move could hardly have been an accident.

The Question Raised

Henry Kissinger has accomplished more for the Soviet Union than any long list of K.G.B. agents. He brought about the so-called détente with the U.S.S.R. which resulted in our transferring important technology to the Russian Communists and the extending of a billion dollars' worth of trade on credit. He was responsible for the sellout of Free China and for the détente with Communist China, including trade and credit for such products as helicopters. So bad is the situation that a State Department security officer recently complained that he is unable to conduct his investigations because he is being kept busy full-time — escorting Chinese Communist engineers on tours of U.S. industries with secret military contracts.

Yet another of Kissinger's achievements occurred on February 7, 1974, when he pledged to give away our vital Panama Canal. One is hardly surprised to learn that U.S. Ambassador at Large Ellsworth Bunker, who cooperated with Kissinger in negotiating the surrender of U.S. sovereignty of the Canal Zone, is another security risk, a member of the radical Council on World Affairs, honorary president of the subversive Foreign Policy Association, a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, trustee of the (Marxist) New School for Social Research, and formerly director of the American-Russian Institute for Cultural Relations with the Soviet Union, an organization cited as Communist and subversive by the U.S. Attorney General and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

Especially damning is the fact that

on January 7, 1974, Paul Scott of the Washington News Intelligence Syndicate reported that the Soviet Ambassador in Washington, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, had let the cat out of the bag. A disclosure of the role of this amazing diplomat-agent, Mr. Scott reported, came recently when Dobrynin briefed the Communist diplomats on his frequent meetings with Kissinger. In private conversations with Iron Curtain diplomats, Ambassador Dobrynin revealed that Secretary Kissinger is serving in the Middle East crisis as negotiator for both the Soviet Union and the United States. It was an amazing revelation. In light of such an admission the appointments of Hall, Sutterlin, Klosson, Sonnenfeldt, Popper, Unger, and the others make sense, as does so much else. What better tailor to stitch together a Great Merger than a man who has the trust of Conspirators on both sides of the Iron Curtain!

Taking into consideration the serious charge that Henry Kissinger has quite possibly been a Soviet agent since World War II — a charge made by a courageous anti-Communist operative who rose to the rank of General in Communist Intelligence — it is well past time that Congress asked why the Nixinger Administration has so consistently promoted policies which have given aid, comfort, and support to the International Communist Conspiracy. ■ ■

Gentlemen: HONORABLE HENRY KISSINGER

Our family is terribly concerned about the safety of President Ford and Dr. Kissinger in Russia. With no Vice President or Secretary of State to take over in the event that the two men were killed, deliberately or in a joint accident, we would be extremely vulnerable to enemy attack.

We hope and pray that every thing humanly possible is being done to avert this disaster. Please pass this concern on to those in authority who might be able to do something about this terrifying situation.

Director Clarence M. Kelley
Federal Bureau of Investigation

Dear Mr. Kelley:

My attention has been called to a letter sent to my friend Congressman John R. Rarick by the White House in response to his inquiry about charges that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger had been recruited as a member of Soviet Intelligence during World War II. It is implied that the F.B.I. found the charge to be untrue.

Since there has been some question regarding the truthfulness of statements made by the White House in this period of Mr. Nixon's Presidency, and further because my understanding has always been that the F.B.I. does not evaluate its own investigations, I hope you will be good enough to supply me with answers to some questions in my mind.

The White House letter reads in part:

"The F.B.I. conducted full field background investigations of Dr. Kissinger in 1961, 1969, and September, 1973, and concluded that the allegations referred to have no investigative merit, and that no information has been developed which would substantiate or give the slightest credence to these allegations, or reflect in any way upon Dr. Kissinger's loyalty or integrity."

[Redacted] b6 -1

EX-101 REC-38 161-424-222

Could you please tell me: (1) Did the F.B.I. conclude that the allegations had "no investigative merit"? (2) Did the F.B.I. develop no information "which would substantiate or give the slightest credence" to the charges? (3) Did the F.B.I. find nothing that would "reflect in any way upon Dr. Kissinger's loyalty and integrity"? (4) Did the F.B.I. ever investigate Dr. Kissinger's possible role as an agent of Soviet Intelligence?

Thanking you, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. [Redacted]

Your recent letter regarding Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was received on January 7th and I understand the interest and concern which prompted you to write.

Since the FBI is strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government, it would be inappropriate for me to comment concerning the accuracy of a White House communication; however, I know of no factual basis for the allegation that Mr. Kissinger has been a Soviet intelligence agent.

Sincerely yours,

C. M. Kelley.

NOTE: Bufiles contain no identifiable information concerning [Redacted]. The Bureau has received several communications in recent months regarding allegations that Secretary Kissinger has been a Soviet intelligence agent for many years. Most of these allegations have arisen in material prepared by [Redacted] who is well known to the Bureau. [Redacted] questions the truthfulness of statements in a White House letter to Congressman John R. Rarick of Louisiana and asked Mr. Kelley to comment concerning this letter. Rarick was reported to have been an "Exalted Cyclops" of the St. Francisville Unit of the original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Realm of Louisiana as of August, 1964. He was defeated in last September's Democratic primary runoff in Louisiana for reelection. Bureau has had frequent correspondence with Congressman Rarick (D-La.) on constituent matters.

SUBJECT: MITCHELL DAVID LANDAU

Wannall
Mr. Campbell

This recommends that attached letter be forwarded to Dr. Henry A. Kissinger at the White House. (u)

By letter dated March 22, 1972, we furnished Dr. Kissinger information concerning Susan George, an American residing in Paris, France, and a well-known leftist who had contacted the North Vietnamese Mission to Paris and had advised that she had an American visitor who was writing a book concerning Dr. Kissinger, and that the visitor had been determined to be David Landau, former editor of the Harvard University undergraduate newspaper, "The Crimson." We also advised Dr. Kissinger that we were conducting inquiries to fully identify Landau. (S) (u)

Investigation has determined that Landau's full name is Mitchell David Landau and that he has been enrolled at Harvard College since 1968. He attended the National Council meeting of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) in March, 1969, at Austin, Texas, and since that time has been active in SDS affairs on the Harvard campus. He is the only person named Landau who was ever editor of "The Crimson." (u)

In referenced letter we also furnished Dr. Kissinger information which was considered to possibly relate to subject. It has been determined that this information relates to David L. Landau, a New Left activist in the Cambridge, Massachusetts, area. This is being called to Dr. Kissinger's attention. (u)

RECOMMENDATION: If you approve, attached letter will be forwarded to Dr. Kissinger at the White House. (u)

New York, New York

On March 10, 1961, Mr. JERRY TEPPER, College Office Assistant, advised SA WILLIAM P. MULLALLY from records that HENRY KISSINGER, 615 Fort Washington Avenue, New York, New York, was enrolled as a student in the evening session from February, 1941, and withdrew upon the completion of the school year in June, 1943. He majored in Business Administration. Mr. TEPPER said that this information was obtained from a record card and that the card contained no additional information of a background nature and no information of an unfavorable nature concerning the character or the loyalty of the appointee. Mr. TEPPER stated that because of the turnover in the student body and the instructional staff since 1943, he was unable to suggest anyone who would personally recall Mr. KISSINGER.

On March 7, 1961, Dr. PHILLIP E. MOSELY, Director of Studies, advised that he first met Dr. KISSINGER as a young Harvard University historian in approximately January, 1955. He said that at that time, the Council had a project in mind for the study of nuclear weapons and that after a long interview with KISSINGER, at Harvard, KISSINGER was offered the directorship of the study. He said that in September, 1955, Mr. KISSINGER came to New York City to direct the study. Dr. MOSELY said that the study ultimately resulted in the book "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy" which was published by the Council. He said that Dr. KISSINGER remained as director of the study until early 1957, at which time he took over the directorship of special studies at the Rockefeller Brothers Fund in New York City. Dr. MOSELY stated that the appointee remains a member in good standing of the Council. He stated that while working in New York City, Dr. KISSINGER resided at 225 East 73rd Street, New York, New York. He said that during his entire period of employment both with the Council and with the Rockefeller Fund, Dr. KISSINGER was on leave from his post at Harvard University.

Dr. MOSELY went on to say that Dr. KISSINGER has one of the most brilliant minds in the United States. He said that he is a driving, meticulous worker, and has an immense knowledge of military technology, strategy and weapons systems. He said that Dr. KISSINGER is also deeply interested in and concerned with the problems of disarmament and armament limitations. He said that he is a man of the highest integrity and is completely devoted to the national interests.

Dr. NOSELY further advised that the appointee, for several years, was editor of the publication "Confluence" which had its headquarters at Harvard University and which is now defunct. He concluded by stating that he does not know any of the members of Dr. KISSINGER's family and he stated he would recommend him most highly for a responsible position in the United States Government.

On March 7, 1961, GEORGE S. FRANKLIN, Executive Director, advised that he has been a close friend and professional associate of Dr. KISSINGER since 1954. He said that his own family and that of Dr. KISSINGER frequently exchange visits in each others homes. He said that it is his understanding that Dr. KISSINGER's parents reside in the Greater New York area and that he has one brother also in this area, but that he has never met the parents or the brother. He said that in his opinion, Dr. KISSINGER is one of the most brilliant men in the United States today, that he is a highly qualified expert in the fields of military strategy, military technology, and disarmament. He said that he is a thorough, meticulous worker, who has very little time for social activities. He said that although born in Germany, Dr. KISSINGER has always exhibited a deep loyalty to the United States and to the democratic principals of this nation. He said that he is a man of the finest character and highest integrity and that his associates are persons of equally fine character and reputation. He recommended Dr. KISSINGER most highly for a high level position with the United States Government.

On March 7, 1961, HAMILTON FISH ARMSTRONG, editor, "Foreign Affairs", advised that he has known HENRY KISSINGER for approximately the past five or six years. He said he first met Dr. KISSINGER when the latter was an unknown historian at Harvard University. He said that at that time, he was looking for an assistant managing editor for "Foreign Affairs", and that while he felt that Dr. KISSINGER was an excellent man for the position, he did not feel that he had a sufficient literary background for the post. He said that Dr. KISSINGER submitted an article for publication in "Foreign Affairs" and that upon reading it, he had suggested the appointee for the Directorship of the Nuclear Weapons Study.

Mr. ARMSTRONG stated that in his acquaintanceship with Dr. KISSINGER, he has found him to be patriotic, loyal to the United States, and devoted to the best interests of this nation. He said that he has a great personal liking for Dr. KISSINGER as well as great esteem as a scholar. He said that Dr. KISSINGER is studious, thoughtful and careful in all his work. He said that his ideas are original and are never a rehash of someone else's ideas. He said that he is an energetic, driving worker, who has little time for anything else outside of his work. He said that Dr. KISSINGER is thoroughly reliable in every respect and that he would recommend him most highly for an important position in the government. Mr. ARMSTRONG said that he is not acquainted with any of the members of Dr. KISSINGER's family.

On March 7, 1961, Mr. JOHN CAMPBELL, Director of Political Studies, advised that he has been a professional acquaintance of Dr. KISSINGER since 1955, when the latter accepted the directorship of the Nuclear Weapons Study. He said that he has had numerous lunches and dinners with Dr. KISSINGER, but that they have been on a professional level and the two families have never met. He said that until he joined the Council, Dr. KISSINGER was an unknown. He said that the appointee gained a national prominence upon the publication of his book "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy", which was the end product of the Council study. He said that Dr. KISSINGER has a brilliant mind and a great knowledge of national strategy and the problem of disarmament. He said that he has an original mind which is always seeking new angles and always looks forward. He said that Dr. KISSINGER is politically non-partisan and is very well known both by the military and by the State Department. He said that he is an expert on national strategy and military weapons systems and is deeply concerned with the problems of arms limitations and disarmament. Mr. CAMPBELL said that Dr. KISSINGER is completely devoted to the best interests of the United States and is a man of the highest professional and personal integrity. He recommended him most highly for a top level position in the KENNEDY Administration.

On March 8, 1961, DANA S. CREEL, Director, advised he first became acquainted with HENRY KISSINGER in 1956, when the latter became director of special studies, which studies culminated in the soon to be published book "Prospect for America." He said that Dr. KISSINGER was in charge of setting up the studies, selecting the panel, and worked with the various authors and panels personally. He said that he was the key man in the whole project. He said that he terminated his association with the project officially in June of 1958, in order to return to Harvard University lest he lose his tenure. He said, however, that he has remained a Consultant until the present time.

Mr. CREEL said that Dr. KISSINGER has a superior, outstanding mind, and is an expert of the highest order on national strategy and military technology, as well as having a deep concern about the problems of disarmament and arms limitations. He said that he is a driving worker, who demands the utmost from his co-workers. He said, however, that he is flexible and in discussions, he is always willing to see the other person's viewpoint. He said that he is a good team man. Mr. CREEL said that although he considers himself a good friend of Dr. KISSINGER, he has had really little social contact with him on an intimate basis. He said that Dr. KISSINGER just does not have sufficient time for social trivia or small talk. He said that Dr. KISSINGER is a man of unquestioned loyalty, who is deeply concerned for the welfare of this country. He said that his greatest strength lies in the international field, where, unlike most experts, he has a broad view embracing strategy in all its aspects, political, economic, as well as military. He said that he is a man of the highest personal and professional integrity and that he would recommend him most highly for an important position with the government. Mr. CREEL concluded by stating that he has never met Dr. KISSINGER's parents or brother, but he has met his wife socially on numerous occasions and was very favorably impressed by her.

She said that to the best of her knowledge he has no friends or close associates outside of professional circles. Selection of Kissinger Views on Wo

The following is a selection of quotations by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger on world affairs and security, taken from his books, articles, papers and speeches:

Review of Security Policy

Whatever the course—a continuation of the arms race or arms control—a new look at American national security policy is essential. Over 10 years have passed since the last comprehensive, bipartisan, high-level re-evaluation of all aspects of national security: the Gaither Committee. A new Administration should move quickly to bring about such a review. It should deal with some of the following problems:

A definition of the national interest and national security over the next decade.

The nature of military power in that period.

The relationship of military power to political influence.

Implications and feasibility (both military and political) of various postures—superiority, parity, and so on.

The implications (both political and military) of new developments such as MIRV (Multiple Individually Targeted Re-entry Vehicles) and ballistic missile defenses.

The prospects for arms control, including specific measures to moderate the arms race—From an essay, "Central Issues of American Foreign Policy," published by the Brookings Institution. 1968.

Unrest Among Youth

We have a tendency to offer our altruism as a guarantee of our reliability: "We have no quarrel with the Communists," Secretary of State Rusk said on one occasion. "All of our quarrels are on behalf of other people."

Such an attitude makes it difficult to develop a conception of our role in the world.

We require a new burst of creativity, not so much for the sake of other countries

as for our own people, especially the youth. The contemporary unrest is no doubt exploited by some whose purposes are all too clear. But that it is there to exploit is proof of a profound dissatisfaction with the merely managerial and consumer-oriented qualities of the modern state and with a world which seems to generate crises by inertia.

The modern bureaucratic state, for all its panoply of strength, often finds itself shaken to its foundations by seemingly trivial causes. Its brittleness and the worldwide revolution of youth—especially in advanced countries and among the relatively affluent—suggest a spiritual void, an almost metaphysical boredom with a political environment that increasingly emphasizes bureaucratic challenges and is dedicated to no deeper purpose than material comfort. —From the same essay. 1968.

Unity of Policy and Strategy

The traditional mode of military analysis, which saw in a war a continuation of politics but with its own appropriate means, is no longer applicable. Policy and strategy merge at every point. No statesman can overlook the cataclysmic alternatives before him. No problem can be left solely to the arbitrament of arms. Communication in the nuclear age is particularly important among adversaries. Arms control requires the same sense of urgency as does the study of strategy and of diplomacy.

National security policy is not primarily a technical problem, but a challenge to political understanding and, ultimately, to philosophical insight.—From the "Editor's Conclusion" in "Problems of National Strategy," a collection of papers edited by Dr. Kissinger.

The Uses of Power

readiness. . . . This situation reflects the basic paradox of contemporary technology. Power has never been greater; it has also never been less useful. In the past, the major problem of strategists was to assemble superior strength; in the contemporary period, the problem more frequently is how to discipline the available power into some relationship to the objectives likely to be in dispute.

Though states have an unprecedented possibility to devastate their opponent, their threats to use this capability have only a limited credibility. This is because the ability to destroy is not related to the ability to disarm—so that using one's nuclear arsenal indiscriminately against a major opponent only guarantees self-destruction.

This problem is made more acute because the primary purpose of modern weapons is deterrence. But deterrence is as much a psychological as a military problem. It depends on the aggressor's assessment of risks, not the defender's.

A threat meant as a bluff, but taken seriously is more useful for purposes of deterrence than a "genuine" threat interpreted as a bluff.—From the introduction to "Problems of National Strategy." 1965.

Effective Deterrence

Deterrence, to be effective, has four requirements:

1. The implementation of the deterrent threat must be sufficiently credible to preclude its being taken as a bluff.

2. The potential aggressor must understand the decision to resist attack or pressure.

3. The opponent must be rational, i.e., he must respond to his self-interest in a manner which is predictable.

4. In weighing his self-interest, the potential aggressor must reach the conclusions the "deterrent" is seeking to induce. In other words, the penalties of aggression must outweigh its benefits.

Under conditions of mutual invulnerability, these conditions will become increasingly difficult to fulfill by the threat of all-out war.

When the theory of deterrence was first developed, it was assumed that an aggressor had basically two options: to attack or to fail to do so. . . . However, it has become apparent that the aggressor has other choices. . . . He can attack on a scale which makes the threatened retaliation appear to involve disproportionate risks. More importantly, he has the opportunity to engage in blackmail.

Consider a "rational" United States reaction to a blow against our retaliatory force. Suppose that such an attack reduced our retaliatory force by 50 per cent but held civilian casualties to a minimum. Assume also that coincident with the attack the Soviet Ambassador presented an ultimatum to the President somewhat to this effect: "We have just destroyed 'x' per cent of your retaliatory force while sparing your cities. If you retaliate against our civilian population, we will respond in kind and our ability to inflict damage is superior to yours at least by the factor of destruction inflicted on your retaliatory force. We offer peace negotiations on certain specified conditions."

Considered purely rationally, there would be little sense in American retaliation. . . . A blow against Soviet cities would devastate the Communist homeland.

At the same time it would guarantee even more appalling destruction in the United States, because our population is more concentrated. . . . In these circumstances, the harrowing possibility exists that the Communist leaders might come to believe that if they could induce any delay in our response they might escape unscratched from even a nuclear attack." --From "The Necessity for Choice: Prospects of American Foreign Policy." 1961.

Adjustment to Facts

The notion that wisdom consists of adjustment to facts is, of course, hardly a heroic one. Pressed to its extreme, it implies a policy without goal and measures without conception. It places the direction of events in the hands of those strong enough to bring about a "fact." Nothing in the world would ever have been changed were adjustment the sole rule of conduct. It is an odd doctrine for the United States, which originated during a revolution and which now seeks to deal with a world, in upheaval. Nor is the idea particularly novel. Stalin regularly offered the West a division of the world into spheres of influence, and he failed largely because the West was not yet prepared to adjust to a reality which involved surrendering other peoples' rights. --From the same book, 1961.

The prospects for arms control, including specific measures to moderate the arms race.—From an essay, "Central Issues of American Foreign Policy," published by the Brookings Institution, 1968.

Interest Among Youth

We have a tendency to offer our altruism as a guarantee of our reliability. "We have no quarrel with the Communists," Secretary of State Rusk said on one occasion. "All of our quarrels are on behalf of other people."

Such an attitude makes it difficult to develop a conception of our role in the world.

We require a new burst of creativity, not so much for the sake of other countries

as for our own people, especially the youth. The temporary unrest is not to be exploited by some whose purposes are all too clear. But that it is there to exploit is proof of a profound dissatisfaction with the merely managerial and consumer-oriented qualities of the modern state and with a world which seems to generate crises by inertia.

The modern bureaucratic state, for all its panoply of strength, often finds itself shaken to its foundations by seemingly trivial causes. Its brittleness and the worldwide revolution of youth—especially in advanced countries and among the relatively affluent—suggest a spiritual void, an almost metaphysical boredom with a political environment that increasingly emphasizes bureaucratic challenges and is dedicated to no deeper purpose than material comfort.—From the same essay, 1968.

Unity of Policy and Strategy

The traditional mode of military analysis, which saw in a war a continuation of politics but with its own appropriate means, is no longer applicable. Policy and strategy merge at every point. No statesman can overlook the cataclysmic alternatives before him. No problem can be left solely to the arbitrament of arms. Communication in the nuclear age is particularly important among adversaries. Arms control requires the same sense of urgency as does the study of strategy and of diplomacy.

National security policy is not primarily a technical problem, but a challenge to political understanding and, ultimately, to philosophical insight.—From the "Editor's Conclusion" in "Problems of National Strategy," a collection of papers edited by Dr. Kissinger.

The Uses of Power

Modern weapons are enormously destructive; they are always in a high state of readiness. . . . This situation reflects the basic paradox of contemporary technology. Power has never been greater; it has also never been less useful. In the past, the major problem of strategists was to assemble superior strength; in the contemporary period, the problem more frequently is how to discipline the available power into some relationship to the objectives likely to be in dispute.

Though states have an unprecedented possibility to devastate their opponent, their threats to use this capability have only a limited credibility. This is because the ability to destroy is not related to the ability to disarm—so that using one's nuclear arsenal indiscriminately against a major opponent only guarantees self-destruction.

This problem is made more acute because the primary purpose of modern weapons is deterrence. But deterrence is as much a psychological as a military problem. It depends on the aggressor's assessment of risks, not the defender's.

A threat meant as a bluff, but taken seriously is more useful for purposes of deterrence than a "genuine" threat interpreted as a bluff.—From the introduction to "Problems of National Strategy." 1965.

Effective Deterrence

Deterrence, to be effective, has four requirements:

1. The implementation of the deterrent threat must be sufficiently credible to preclude its being taken as a bluff.

2. The potential aggressor must understand the decision to resist attack or pressure.

3. The opponent must be rational, i.e., he must respond to his self-interest in a manner which is predictable.

4. In weighing his self-interest, the potential aggressor must reach the conclusions the "deterrent" is seeking to induce. In other words, the penalties of aggression must outweigh its benefits.

Under conditions of mutual invulnerability, these conditions will become increasingly difficult to fulfill by the threat of all-out war.

When the theory of deterrence was first developed, it was assumed that an aggressor had basically two options: to attack or to fail to do so. . . . However, it has become apparent that the aggressor has other choices. . . . He can attack on a scale which makes the threatened retaliation appear to involve disproportionate risks. More importantly, he has the opportunity to engage in blackmail.

Consider a "rational" United States reaction to a blow against our retaliatory force. Suppose that such an attack reduced our retaliatory force by 50 per cent but held civilian casualties to a minimum. Assume also that coincident with the attack the Soviet Ambassador presented an ultimatum to the President somewhat to this effect: "We have just destroyed 'x' per cent of your retaliatory force while sparing your cities. If you retaliate against our civilian population, we will respond in kind and our ability to inflict damage is superior to yours at least by the factor of destruction inflicted on your retaliatory force. We offer peace negotiations on certain specified conditions."

Considered purely rationally, there would be little sense in American retaliation. . . . A blow against Soviet cities would devastate the Communist homeland. At the same time, it would guarantee even more appalling destruction in the United States, because our population is more concentrated. . . . In these circumstances, the harrowing possibility exists that the Communist leaders might come to believe that if they could induce any delay in our response they might escape unscathed from even a nuclear attack."—From "The Necessity for Choice: Prospects of American Foreign Policy." 1961.

Adjustment to Facts

The notion that wisdom consists of adjustment to facts is, of course, hardly a heroic one. Pressed to its extreme, it implies a policy without goal and measures without conception. It places the direction of events in the hands of those strong enough to bring about a "fact." Nothing in the world would ever have been changed were adjustment the sole rule of conduct. It is an odd doctrine for the United States, which originated during a revolution and which now seeks to deal with a world in upheaval. Nor is the idea particularly novel. Stalin regularly offered the West a division of the world into spheres of influence, and he failed largely because the West was not yet prepared to adjust to a reality which involved surrendering other peoples' rights.—From the same book, 1961.

Nixon's Key Adviser on Defense

inf

...years ago, Dr. Henry Alfred Kissinger, before his Harvard undergraduate class on the principles of international politics, began with the remark:

"And here arriving to General de Gaulle last summer ..."

The remark was not lyrical of Dr. Kissinger, for, although he is known at Harvard as being, in the words of one colleague, "impatiently arrogant," he is usually somewhat circumspect when it comes to name-dropping.

Circumspection was apparent in his attitude yesterday when Dr. Kissinger, named as President-elect Richard M. Nixon's assistant for national security affairs, was asked how he would counsel Mr. Nixon on the war in Vietnam.

"I believe very strongly that the position of a White House assistant is largely one with making his statements on substance most clear," Dr. Kissinger said last night.

Met at Christmas Party

Dr. Kissinger has seen Mr. Nixon less than a year—they met at a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce—but Mr. Nixon said he knew Dr. Kissinger long before through his writings.

Mr. Nixon indicated he was particularly impressed with Dr. Kissinger's book in 1957, "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy." For all the volume that brought the Kissinger to the attention of scores of politicians, diplomats and military men and began a series of talks for security policy matters.

In the book, Dr. Kissinger said that survival for America "depends not only on our strength, but also on our ability to recognize [and fight] aggression in all its forms, in the nuclear age, by the time a threat has become unambiguous it may be too late to resist it."

Mr. Kissinger, who was only 24 years old when the book came out, was born in Fuerth, Germany, on May 23, 1923. His parents, Louis and Paula Stern Kissinger, brought him and his brother, Walter, to New York in 1938 to escape Hitler. He was graduated from George Washington High School in 1941.

During World War II, Dr. Kissinger served with the 84th Infantry Division and with the 970th Counterintelligence Corps. He was released as a sergeant and went to Harvard, from which he received a bachelor's degree, summa cum laude, in 1950, Harvard, which gave him four scholarships, conferred a master's degree on the political sciences in 1952 and a doctorate in 1954.

Dr. Kissinger married the former Ann Springer in 1953. They had two children, Elizabeth and David. They wife divorced in 1964. He now lives at 418 Beacon Street in Boston.

The first of Dr. Kissinger's two books, "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy," was the outgrowth of his work for the Council on Foreign Relations, which had begun an effort to find answers to the possibility of the onset of nuclear war. It was what was considered "insolvent American interests."

Dr. Kissinger was also director of entry requirements

tees, and after 18 months it was decided that he should write an analysis of the groups' meditations.

The year the study was published, Dr. Kissinger's "A World Restored," subtitled "Metternich, Castlereagh and the Problems of Peace, 1812-22," was released. A New York Times reviewer said that Dr. Kissinger's analysis of the Metternich era was "brilliantly formulated."

A Rockefeller Fund Aide

In 1957, Dr. Kissinger began a long association with Governor Rockefeller when he became director of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund's Special Studies Project. One study for the fund found the United States lagging behind the Soviet Union in major areas of military technology, and suggested that the United States increase its defense expenditures by $30-billion a year.

During this year's campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination, Dr. Kissinger was an adviser to Mr. Rockefeller on foreign affairs, in the Governor's effort to prevent Mr. Nixon from receiving the nomination. Dr. Kissinger was one of several Rockefeller aides credited at the Republican Convention with transforming the party's Vietnam war plank from a hawkish to a dovish one.

The graying, bespectacled Dr. Kissinger, who is 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds, retains a slight trace of his Germanic accent. He pronounces his name KISS-ing-er.

At Harvard, where he has been serving lately as a professor in the Department of Government, from which he will take a leave of absence to serve Mr. Nixon, Dr. Kissinger is known as a brisk, businesslike and demanding teacher and scholar.

Some colleagues say he sometimes shows a self-deprecatory sense of humor. For example, when introducing one staff member to another, he is said to have remarked:

Job of Overhauling Work of National Security Council Given Harvard Expert

NEW EMPHASIS SOUGHT

President-Elect Says Top Adviser Will Specialize in Long-Term Planning

By R. W. APPLE Jr.
President-elect Richard M. Nixon yesterday chose Henry A. Kissinger, a 45-year-old specialist in defense policy and European affairs, as his assistant for national security affairs, with orders to try to do away with crisis diplomacy.

Dr. Kissinger, a German-born scholar who heads Harvard University's International Seminar as well as its Defense Studies Program, will succeed Walt W. Rostow in one of the most influential policy posts in Washington. Under President Kennedy, the position was held by McGeorge Bundy.

In announcing Dr. Kissinger's appointment at a news conference in the Pierre Hotel, Mr. Nixon emphasized that the professor's job would be to overhaul the operations of the National Security Council and to spend much of his time on long-range planning.

Emergency Plans Sought

The President-elect said it was essential to have contingency plans in all areas "so that we may not just react to events when they occur."

Although he made no specific criticism of the Johnson Administration's procedures, Mr. Nixon suggested that he thought Mr. Rostow had devoted too much time to day-to-day matters and had interfered with the operations of the State Department.

"Dr. Kissinger," the President-elect declared, "is keenly aware of the necessity not to set himself up as a wall between the President and the Secretary of State or the Secretary of Defense. I intend to have a very strong Secretary of State."

Policy Views Withheld

Neither Mr. Nixon nor Dr. Kissinger was willing to state any views on major foreign policy questions — Mr. Nixon because he does not wish to do so before his inauguration and Dr. Kissinger because he believes that his new job "is inconsistent with making public statements on substantive issues."

The Harvard scholar, who has a reputation for toughness in East-West relations, said he had tried for 15 years "to avoid labels like 'hard' and 'soft.'"

Mr. Nixon then broke into the discussion to stress that Dr. Kissinger would present a spectrum of attitudes toward foreign policy.

"I am one who likes to get a broad range of viewpoints expressed," the President-elect remarked, "and Dr. Kissinger has set up what I believe or is setting up at the present time a very exciting new procedure for seeing to it that the President of the United States does not just hear what he wants to hear, which is always a temptation for White House staffers."

Dr. Kissinger has undertaken several projects for Governor Rockefeller and was the Governor's foreign policy adviser during his unsuccessful campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination this year. During the campaign, he privately disparaged Mr. Nixon's competence in foreign affairs.

Asked whether the appointment meant that he was embracing some ideas Mr. Rockefeller has expressed, the President-elect responded:

"As we approach these problems, we are going to approach them without any inhibitions with regard to statements that have been made in the past by those in the planning functions."

Dr. Kissinger said he planned to bring foreign nongovernmental experts, such as Alistair Buchan of the London Institute of Strategic Studies, into the White House for consultation. He remarked that he had "a very wide acquaintance all over the world among intellectuals of all points of view."

Mr. Nixon described this process as "trying to pick the brains of the best people in the world."

Mr. Nixon said that he hoped to revitalize the National Security Council, which has not been used extensively under President Kennedy and Johnson, and to meet with it often. Dr. Kissinger said he hoped to divert some of the council's energies from short-range to middle and long-range planning.

President's side as he makes important decisions.

Those 'Interminable' Wires

"Men in positions of responsibility and men who really have the ability to do creative thinking too often get bogged down in reading the interminable telegrams, most of which are not really relevant to the problems they are concerned with," the President-elect said.

Speaking of Dr. Kissinger, Mr. Nixon went on:

"I don't want him to get down to the situation room in the White House and spend too much time there going through cables."

Both Mr. Bundy and Mr. Rostow did just that, involving themselves deeply with the minutiae of defense policy. Both put before the President, they served several alternative views on key questions, although their offices in the White House and their role as "traffic cops" in the flow of information gave them considerable influence.

Mr. Bundy is believed to have been more assertive about his own ideas, while Mr. Rostow's greatest virtue was as summarizer and synthesizer at the end of policy debates.

The importance of the job lies in the fact that the man who holds it often has the first word or the last word in major debates and often is at the

To work with Dr. Kissinger as a key aide on a 20-man staff, Mr. Nixon named Dr. Richard V. Allen, 32, senior staff member of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace at Stanford University. He served as director of foreign policy research during Mr. Nixon's Presidential campaign this year.

The President-elect also met yesterday with a group of all-star football players, who gave him an autographed football, and with Senator John Sherman Cooper, a Kentucky Republican, and former Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, also a Republican.

Mr. Scranton, who left last night on a 10-day tour of the Middle East on Mr. Nixon's behalf, said that he had been cramming for his trip, reading seven books in four days. He pointed out that he had no intention of "making or propounding policy" but planned only to seek out the views of national leaders in the area.

He called the Middle East "the most volcanic area of the world"—one where war might break out "at any minute."

Nixon Appoints Prof Foreign Policy Aide

President-elect Nixon announced yesterday he had appointed Henry Kissinger, Harvard professor of government, as his chief White House foreign policy adviser and asked him to draw up contingency plans for meeting foreign crises.

N.Y. News

Kissinger, long an adviser to New York Gov. Rockefeller on foreign affairs, was particularly active on the governor's behalf when he was battling Nixon for the GOP nomination this year. Kissinger was with Rocky in Miami Beach during the GOP convention in August.

Nixon held a press conference at the Hotel Pierre to introduce the scholarly looking 45-year-old Kissinger as his assistant for national security affairs. He noted that Kissinger was his first White House staff appointee "in a major policy position."

Kissinger predecessors were Walt W. Rostow, President Johnson's foreign affairs adviser, and Ford Foundation president McGeorge Bundy, who held the post under President Kennedy.

Nixon said Kissinger will overhaul the defense and diplomatic policies of the White House, but added that his duties will not impinge on those of the secretary of state.

The Troublesome Areas

The President-elect declined to answer "substantive" questions about current international conflicts, but he did reply to a query about the "most troublesome areas" that his administration would face.

He listed those areas in this order of importance: Vietnam, the Middle East, the suggested negotiations with the Soviet Union on missiles and other subjects, the strengthening and revitalizing of Nato, and a "new approach" to Latin America and Africa.

Asked whether he considered French President Charles de Gaulle the major stumbling block

They See Encouraging Sign for New Administration

Special to The New York Times

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 3 — The academic community heaved a great sigh of relief today at the appointments of Prof. Henry A. Kissinger of Harvard and Dr. Lee A. DuBridge of the California Institute of Technology to key policy posts in the Nixon Administration.

Richard M. Nixon's candidacy had generated little enthusiasm and considerable apprehension on university campuses. Many had feared that his election would lead to a bitter and damaging estrangement between the Government and intellectuals.

But the President-elect's appointment of Professor Kissinger as special assistant for national security affairs and Dr. DuBridge as science adviser are being interpreted as an encouraging sign by scholars and scientists here at Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology and elsewhere. They find it encouraging both for their relationship with the incoming Administration and for the country.

Kissinger Choice Hailed

Professor Kissinger, a moderate Republican, was hailed almost unanimously by political scientists and law professors, many of them liberal Democrats and former members of the Kennedy Administration. They viewed him as a force for reason, balance and discretion in foreign affairs and arms control.

"I think it's an excellent appointment," said Arthur Schlesinger Jr., former special assistant to President Kennedy, now a professor at the City University of New York. "It's very very encouraging. He's the best they'll get. He asked my advice a few weeks ago and I urged him to accept."

Dr. DuBridge's appointment was particularly gratifying to scientists. Rumors had been circulating that the job would go to Prof. Willard F. Libby of the University of California, Los Angeles, a political conservative. Nobel Prize-winning chemist whose views are not popular among a large segment of the scientific community.

WASHINGTON -- For those that are as good and logical as they are unsettling, the power of war and peace in the United States resides in the person of one man. Last month, the country elected Richard M. Nixon for the job. Last week the President-elect chose the one man who day in and day out will guide and guard him in that task: Henry Alfred Kissinger.

The need for such a man in the White House is virtually self-evident. Although he sleeps beside the paraphernalia that can order up nuclear war, a President has other things on his mind. Even when he is well-traveled and well-informed on the ways of the world, he must rely on others to tell what is going on and what opportunities and dangers lie before him.

The views and concerns and pleas and dissent of these other men, even when they bear the great responsibilities of Secretary of State or Defense, must be channeled to the President in some coherent fashion, related to the decisions that he must make, and redrafted through his Administration to make certain that they are understood and carried out.

Advisers can meet. National Security Councils can be reconvened. Speeches can be written. The best people can be assigned to the best positions and all Mr. Nixon will wish to know that someone has missed the obvious commands for a better idea, a better idea, an alternative solution. He will want from someone another interpretation of the situation, reduce a distant view of the Joint Chiefs' staff, a noted summary of what the Secretary of the Treasury really meant at yesterday's meeting and the news from an ally that really think the other interests more about

Dr. Kissinger is to be that someone, as McGeorge Bundy was for President Kennedy and Walt W. Rostow has been for President Johnson.

That all these men should have come from Cambridge is not entirely coincidental. Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology there helped to propel such policy-oriented academicians onto the national scene where the politicians came to know and need them. And they have proved their value in the White House basement office of assistant to the President for national security, if only because they know how to keep government in touch with the expertise, research and talent upon which foreign and military policy must be based.

It was no surprise, indeed, therefore, that the academic community, and especially its East Coast luminaries, cheered Dr. Kissinger's appointment. For no matter how much they came to disagree with Mr. Bundy's management of the office and influence on the Vietnam escalation, or how much they came to resent Mr. Rostow as the head-on residence, it was an unexpected irony — and opportunity — for them all to have a Republican create a position in which it will be possible, at scholarly meetings from Boston to Santa Barbara, to say, "Let's tell Henry."

Dr. Kissinger's arrival and acceptance in the academic community could have been an important indication in the political arena of the new administration's relationship with the scholarly community. But the construction of the new office and the

...he has become not only an important analyst of the world's power relationships but also a leader in the first generation of atomic-age scholars attempting to cope with the consequences of the balance of terror--the mutual vulnerability of the United States and the Soviet Union to destruction.

As writer and teacher and director of the defense studies program at Harvard, Dr. Kissinger became one of the first to recognize the weaknesses that a great nation acquired from power that it could not use or even credibly threaten to use in many situations. He helped to lead scholars and thus government toward an understanding of the political and psychological problems posed by nuclear technology and toward a re-examination of both diplomatic and military assumptions carried forward from the age of American invulnerability.

Combining a knowledge of weapons and a special expertise in European affairs, the German-born but American-educated Dr. Kissinger gradually became a forceful critic of the alternately hard and soft, fearful and hopeful moods of United States reaction to Soviet policy. He has departed Washington's conventional wisdom on the European alliance and the often rampant self-righteous indignation against the Soviet Union that has characterized the post-war period.

During the Vietnam war, he argued at least publicly as a member of President Johnson's staff, that in a series of quiet but energetic government maneuvers, he matched the conventional wisdom better than other leading hawkishes of Mr. Nixon that American military power was being used and that Washington's political prescriptions were not working as intended.

Desire for Clarity

Some of Dr. Kissinger's most notable work was done as the policy and planning director of John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State in the Eisenhower Administration, when the United States was in the process of pulling out of Vietnam. He pushed hard for a withdrawal and the United States was forced to do so.

...hot and cold reactions to Moscow without the planning and strategic purpose that Dr. Kissinger has consistently demanded.

This desire for "clarity" about the kind of world Americans wish to build, for the articulation of "an agreed concept of order" in a world dominated by two military superpowers but also subject to the pressures of many political centers, is probably the quality that Mr. Nixon found most attractive in his new assistant.

For while Dr. Kissinger has rallied against oversimplified doctrines that often appeared in Nixon speeches -- about how to handle the Russians or how to assure military "superiority" by acquiring more weapons -- he shares the President-elect's desire to impose a rationale on policy, then to test crisis responses for their validity to the larger objectives.

Whether this can be done in this or any other government is itself a subject of lively debate. Many of the best-informed officials here smiled a bit as they read up last week on Dr. Kissinger, wondering what would happen to the clarity to his conclusions as he moved from analysis and strategy into the world of deeds. They were honed with the business address of mass of action for him of thought: why don't you tell us what to do.

They wondered, too, how Dr. Kissinger would react to the presence of judges and chief of public opinion, whose attention and participation he appears likely to have received.

There were some also who worried that he would be intellectually arrogant or that his scheduled proximity to the President and other high-ranking officials would lead to a loss of clarity and balance. In other words, as some of the officials here said, he would be in a position to see the truth about the world and the United States, but would not be able to do so because of the political and bureaucratic pressures that would be placed on him.

...Kissinger intends to combine daily action with long-range planning in a new National Security Council arrangement and thus to resolve the dilemma that he defined eight years ago.

Careful Steering

"If the intellectual is to make a contribution to national policy," he wrote, "he faces a delicate task. He must steer between the Scylla of letting the bureaucracy prescribe what is relevant or useful and the Charybdis of defining these criteria too abstractly. If he inclines too much toward the former, he will turn into a promoter of technical remedies; if he chooses the latter, he will run the risks of confusing dogmatism with normality and of courting martyrdom -- of becoming, in short, as wrapped up in ideas as the ancient Greeks as the victims of a cult of success."

One of the chief goals of the contemporary scholar is to demonstrate the relative importance of the various elements of success.

...Kissinger

NIXON NAMING OF 3 DECEIT BY WELCH

Black Head Secret Murphy
Meyrdan and Kinsinger

By BOBBY H. FORTSON

Special to The New York Times

BILMONT, Mass., Jan. 2 — Robert Welch, founder and president of the John Birch Society, decried today the appointments of Robert B. Murphy, David Bruce Meyrdan and Henry A. Kinsinger as key advisers to President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Writing in the journal, "The American Conservative," Welch said the appointments were "a gross and deliberate attempt to bring to the White House a group of men who are known to be loyal to Richard Nixon as a person but who have made no real change in the course of the nation's life since the lowest days 1945, or in the last years and months after World War II in that regard. Mr. Murphy and Messrs. Meyrdan and Kinsinger were described as 'blackheads' with several links

Rec'd by SA Powell
From Information
Bureau, NY Times
3/10/69

BORN: May 27, 1923 (Fuerth, Germany)
 ADDRESS: 104 Fletcher Road, Belmont, Mass.
 PROFESSION: Associate Director, Center for International Affairs; Director, Defense Studies Program, Harvard University.
 SCHOOLS ATTENDED: Harvard College A. B. (summa cum laude); Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Harvard University, M. A. and Ph. D.

At 35, eight years out of Harvard College, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger has had an extraordinarily creative career. He is well-known to most Congressmen, Pentagon, military and eminent thinkers in the fields of national defense, economics and education.

A native of Fuerth, Germany, Kissinger now is director of the Defense Studies Program, lecturer in political science, Associate Director of the Center for International Affairs and head of the International Seminar at Harvard University.

His book, "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy," was cited by the Overseas Press Club and awarded the Woodrow Wilson Prize for the best book of the year in the fields of government, politics and international affairs. ✓

The impact of this book and of his related articles was one of the most impelling and important forces in bringing about discussion and re-evaluation of military organization and strategy and their relation to American foreign policy.

Dr. Kissinger was instrumental in founding the Harvard International Seminar and has been executive director since its beginning. The seminar each year is host to some 40 distinguished persons from all over the world representing the fields of politics, economics and the humanities.

As a result of the first seminar, Dr. Kissinger inaugurated "Confluence: An International Forum," of which he is editor. "Confluence" is designed to give leading Europeans, Asians and Americans an opportunity to exchange views on contemporary problems in politics, philosophy and the humanities.

Since 1956 he has been Director of the Special Studies Project of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Inc. His duties include organizing the studies, arranging appropriate panels of senior citizens, writing most of the reports and obtaining agreement for them.

Rockefeller reports published include: "International Security: the Military Aspect," "Foreign Economic Policy for the Twentieth Century," "The Challenge to America: Its Economic and Social Aspects," and "Pursuit of Excellence: Education and the Future of America."

His proposals on reorganization of the Defense Department contained in the Rockefeller Report "International Security: The Military Aspect" anticipated recommendations later submitted to Congress by President Eisenhower and since enacted into law. Each report has been widely read and discussed.

Dr. Kissinger is recognized as having almost single-handedly brought the discussion of issues of grand strategy into a new and far more productive phase.

A veteran of World War II, Dr. Kissinger served in the European Theater with the Counter Intelligence Corps. He came to America from Germany in 1938. ✓

Employment

Rockefeller Brothers Fund
30 Rockefeller Plaza
New York, New York

On March 7, 1969, JOHN E. LOCKWOOD, Senior Counsel, Counsel to the ROCKEFELLER family and partner in the firm, Milbank-Tweed-Madley and McCloy, was recontacted and advised that his opinion of the appointee has not changed since last contacted. He stated that he would still highly recommend the appointee.

He added that the appointee was foreign policy advisor to Governor NELSON ROCKEFELLER and also worked on ROCKEFELLER's 1968 Presidential campaign.

He said that he is not acquainted with the appointee's family, but he understands that the appointee is divorced. He could furnish no information concerning the divorce.

On March 10, 1969, DANA S. CREEL, Director, was recontacted and advised that the appointee has never acted in any way as to cause him to change his comments since last contacted. He has no reason to think that the appointee would not be completely loyal and extremely competent in a position of trust.

He stated that the appointee's work at captioned fund was outstanding and terminated when the project ended. The appointee has no current connections with this fund, and for this reason CREEL has not had much contact with him in recent years.

He could furnish no information concerning the current marital status of the appointee.

On March 10, 1969, NANCY HANKS, Executive Secretary, Special Studies Project, 1290 Avenue of the Americas, was recontacted and advised that her comments have not changed since last contacted and she would still highly recommend the appointee for a position of trust.

She stated that she worked with the appointee on the last Republican National Convention and last saw him professionally in August, 1968. She occasionally speaks to him on the telephone and has also maintained contact with the appointee's former wife. She stated that the appointee's former wife is currently residing at [REDACTED]. She could furnish no information as to the reason for the appointee's divorce. She added that this divorce was in fact quite a shock to her. She considers both the appointee and his former wife to be wonderful people.

She added that she may have met the appointee's parents on one occasion but can furnish no information concerning them.

Council on Foreign Relations
58 East 68th Street
New York City, New York

On March 7, 1969, HAMILTON FISH ARMSTRONG, Editor, "Foreign Affairs," above council, was recontacted and advised that he feels more strongly about the appointee than he did when previously contacted. He stated that he has maintained contact with the appointee through articles that the appointee has submitted for foreign affairs, and association has been primarily through correspondence although the appointee has visited the office of the council in New York and he has met the appointee socially on occasions. He added that the appointee is not a very sociable-minded individual and their relationship has not been intimate. He knows the appointee is divorced but does not know the circumstances of the divorce.

On March 11, 1969, GEORGE S. FRANKLIN, Executive Director of the above captioned council, was recontacted and advised that he has no reason to change his views of the appointee. He still highly recommends him for a position of trust. He added that the appointee is still a member of the council and attends functions of the council when available.

He stated that the appointee was divorced three or four years ago, but the divorce caused no notoriety and is no reflection upon either the appointee or his former wife. He believes that the divorce was in Reno and assumes that she was the plaintiff.

On March 10, 1969, PHILIP E. MOSELY, Professor of International Relations and Director of the European Institute, Columbia University, New York, New York, advised Special Agent WARREN A. GORTON that he recalled being interviewed several years ago (approximately 1961) concerning a government appointment for the appointee. He recalled that he recommended the appointee highly and his opinion of the appointee has not changed.

Although he has only seen the appointee three or four times a year at various meetings in Washington, D. C. and Harvard University, it seems to him that the appointee is even more mature intellectually and is even more valuable now as a public servant. He recommends the appointee for a position of trust and confidence.

He understands that the appointee has been divorced. He knows nothing concerning this except that he met the appointee's wife briefly in 1957 when both he and the appointee were working at the Council on Foreign Relations. She seemed a rather shy person, being with her younger children and appeared to be of good repute. He does not know where she is now.

Credit

On March 10, 1969, Miss PAULINE DE FIORE, Clerk,

NY 161-254

Credit Bureau of Greater New York, New York, New York, advised Investigative Clerk JOHN L. RAPP that credit is clear concerning the appointee. His wife is shown as ANN.

Arrest

On March 10, 1969, Special Agent AUGUST J. MICEK caused the records of the New York City Police Department (NYCPD) to be checked by Deputy Inspector JOHN J. O'NEILL, Bureau of Criminal Identification; Patrolman JOHN BASAK, Information Unit; Sergeant JAMES SLEVIN, Old Record Room (all of the above of the NYCPD); and Mr. JOSEPH TRUBIA, Fingerprint Bureau, Criminal Court of the City of New York. Miscellaneous

On March 10, 1969, Captain WILLIAM KNAPP, Bureau of Special Services, NYCPD, advised Special Agent MICEK that he could locate no pertinent information concerning the appointee or his family.

On March 10, 1969, Director L. JACOBS, Deputy Director, Central Islip State Hospital, Central Islip, New York, advised Special Agent DANIEL F. O'CONNOR that HUGO FLEISCHER died on June 2, 1962, from arterio sclerotic (hardening of the arteries).

On March 10, 1969, records of the Information Bureau, "New York Times," 229 West 43rd Street, New York, New York, as reviewed by Special Agent JOHN RICHARD FARRELL, contain articles concerning the appointee's writings, background, and accomplishments from the following issues of the "New York Times:"

Henry A. Kissinger
Assistant to President
Nixon on National Security

A source who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on October 14, 1970, that in view of the recent publicity given to the possible violence or kidnapping of high government officials by radical or violence oriented groups, he wanted to bring the following to the attention of appropriate government authorities.

Source advised that over the recent Jewish holidays he had observed Henry A. Kissinger in a Jewish temple in Washington Heights, New York City. In subsequent conversation with members of the congregation he learned that Mr. Kissinger's parents live in Washington Heights and he usually visits them on a bi-monthly basis. Source noted that apparently Mr. Kissinger's visits with his parents are well known to Washington Heights residents and believed that Mr. Kissinger should be aware of this information.

Source noted that the individuals who told him of Mr. Kissinger's visits to Washington Heights are very religious and loyal American citizens and he would consider none of them a threat to any American government official.

Gentlemen:

The enclosed booklet has come into my possession, which I am forwarding for your perusal.

ct

The content is of course, shocking. I also understand the basic charges are volunteered by a former General in Communist Intelligence; however, it is unbelievable that such charges could be made publicly against any American, especially of Kissinger's stature, unless true.

What are we to believe?

Would very much appreciate an answer.

Sincerely,

*A former General in Communist Intelligence
says Kissinger was a K.G.B.
agent before he went to Harvard.*

by Frank A. Capell

■ A WELL-INFORMED authority on Soviet Intelligence contends that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has been a Soviet agent and that his involvement with Soviet Intelligence was made known to agencies of our government even before his rise to prominence. The former high-ranking intelligence officer who supplied this information has been responsible for uncovering a long list of K.G.B. (Soviet Intelligence) and G.R.U. (Military Intelligence) agents and officers, including Soviet Colonel Kolon Molody (alias Gordon Arnold Lonsdale) and his four agents — Henry Houghton, Ethel Gee, Peter John Kroger, and Helen Joyce Kroger. His information in the

Lonsdale case developed (through Houghton) the exposure of K.G.B. agent John Vassal of British Naval Intelligence, who for seven years turned over Top Secret information under threat of being exposed as a homosexual.

Our source also disclosed the role of Colonel Israel Beer (alias Bieber), a top military advisor to the Israeli Government, as well as that of Colonel Stig Eric Wennerström of Sweden who was actually a K.G.B. General. Another case he exposed was that of George Blake, a very high British Intelligence official connected with MI-6 in London. From the same source came information uncovering

K.G.B. agents Heinz Felle, Hans Clemens, Fuhrmann, and others in West German Intelligence. He also exposed Riekenberg in Denmark and Bilonski in France. Finally attached K.G.B. and G.R.U. networks in many parts of the Free World were not only uncovered by our source, but the Communist operatives and agents were arrested, tried, and convicted.

The recruitment of Henry Kissinger by Soviet Intelligence reportedly goes back to World War II. Through the underground and partisan operations in Poland the Soviets had organized and arranged a series of intelligence and counter-intelligence networks, some of which were reorganized after the end of World War II and continue in place at this very moment.

One such complex, known under the code name of ODRA, was under the control of Soviet Intelligence General Zelanznikoff, who headed the Directorate of the Soviet Army's north group in Legnica, Poland. Its principal purpose was the infiltration and penetration of Military Intelligence services in the West, especially those of Great Britain and the United States. Since ODRA operated from Poland, it had a representative responsible to the Polish Communist Government. He was a Colonel Woznienski, who was also a Soviet officer.

In 1954 an important courier, a woman of Greek-Bulgarian nationality, was murdered under mysterious circumstances and important materials, together with approximately $80,000 of intelligence funds, disappeared. Colonel Kujan, chief of the group who worked with the murdered courier, was ordered to Moscow for questioning. Anticipating torture and liquidation, Kujan shot and severely wounded himself. He was placed in a hospital of the G.Z.I. (Główny Zarząd Informacji - Polish Intelligence).

Colonel Woznienski, head of G.Z.I., personally interrogated the mortally wounded chief of ODRA to clarify the identities of ODRA agents. All of the information obtained by Woznienski was documented by him in a special dossier. A short time thereafter, the Colonel was himself arrested by order of the Polish Minister of Defense, Soviet Marshal Rokossovski. All of his official and personal papers were seized and deposited in a safe by his deputy, also a Soviet officer. Accused of crimes during the Stalin era, Woznienski was now transferred to Moscow and subsequently sentenced to ten years in prison.

In February of 1956, in connection with Colonel Woznienski's appeal trial, and also in connection with the activities of a special commission investigating the crimes of Bera and Stalin, the still sealed safe of Woznienski's deputy was ordered opened in the presence of top K.G.B. officers, all papers and properties were registered, and a memorandum was prepared. Our source was present when the safe was opened and personally reviewed its contents.

Among the 1,500 pages of documents were 20 hand-written pages in the Russian language by Colonel Wozniewieski concerning the interrogation of Colonel Kujun. Woznienski had obtained a list of the names, code names, and short data on the principal agents of ODRA. Under the code name of "Baraban" was listed an individual referred to as Rosenhard, a member of U.S. Military Intelligence headquartered in Oberammergau, West Germany. Our source reports that under the code name of "Bot," and described as an agent of ODRA, was Sergeant Henry Kissinger, a U.S. Army counter-intelligence interrogator and instructor at the Military Intelligence School in Oberammergau, who was working with Rosenhard.

Our source says the investigation memo that he saw indicated that in 1954 Kissinger was in the United States at Harvard University and maintaining contact with the Central Intelligence Agency.

In 1961 and 1962, as part of a lengthy and detailed debriefing, our source informed the C.I.A. about the Kissinger matter, but at that time Kissinger appeared to him to be an unimportant Harvard professor. In 1973 our source brought these facts to the attention of both the F.B.I. and the British Security Service, observing that Henry Kissinger, code name "Bot," was no longer "unimportant," having become the President's chief National Security Advisor. He noted that the information he had long ago supplied concerning Henry Kissinger could be verified and confirmed by independent sources since, says our source, there was no doubt he was in touch with Communist Intelligence during his military service in Germany.

How responsible is this source? Is there any possibility that he could be wrong? The accuracy of other detailed information he has supplied was substantiated during the Senate Internal Security Hearings entitled "State Department Security." The Committee's chief counsel questioned an expert witness who had been with the F.B.I. and later with State Department Security. He was asked, "Do you know whether any information ever furnished to the U.S. Government by [our source] turned out to be untrue or inaccurate?" The witness answered, "I do not. No, sir," and also testified that the considerable information supplied by this agent had been carefully and substantially checked and proved to be true in every case.

The source we are talking about carried the etat ranks of Colonel and General in a major Communist intelligence organization, and at the time he managed his escape was Chief of Independent Branch of Scientific & Technical Intelligence of the Department of Intelligence. He is unquestionably the genuine article, and what he says about Henry Kissinger must be given careful and thorough investigation.

Also In Our Dossier:

The surface details of Kissinger's background are well known. Henry A. Kissinger was born in Puerth, Germany, on May 27, 1923. He arrived in the United States on September 5, 1934, and was naturalized while in the military service by the U.S. District Court of Spartanburg, South Carolina, on June 25, 1943. After attending high school in New York, he worked as a shipping clerk until inducted into the Army on February 26, 1943. He received his basic training at Camp Clegg, South Carolina, and was enrolled in the Army Specialized Training Program at the University of North Carolina and Lafayette University.

Kissinger served in Europe in Company "G," 335th Infantry Regiment, 54th Infantry Division, as an investigator in the Counter-Intelligence Corps. He was discharged as a Staff Sergeant in 1946 to accept employment as a Department of the Army civilian instructor at the European Theater Intelligence School at Oberammergau, Germany, and served in this capacity for one year. Upon his return to the United States in 1947, young Kissinger applied for a commission in the Officers Reserve Corps and was appointed Second Lieutenant M1 (O.R.C.) on April 10, 1948, promoted to First Lieutenant M1 (U.S.A.R.) on May 11, 1951, and on November 15, 1952, was promoted to Captain. He completed annual tours of active duty from 1948 to ninety days duration in the Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, U.S. Army Intelligence Center, Fort Belvoir, Maryland. On March 5, 1959, in a letter addressed to the Adjutant General, Kissinger indicated a desire to resign his commission because of other obligations and the conviction that he could be "of greater

Remember, this was March of 1959. The genius Kissinger had risen only to the rank of Reserve Captain, apparently holding on because it gave him access to certain intelligence data. But he was now a Harvard professor and director of the Harvard defense studies program. He was on his way.

To date, there was only one known blemish on his record. In 1953, Kissinger had been investigated by Military Intelligence because the publication Confluence, which he edited, was reportedly written from a pro-Communist point of view. Confluence was a quarterly published by the Harvard Summer School. It received financial assistance from the Ford Foundation, the Richardson Foundation, and the Far Eastern Foundation. Among its advisors were a number of individuals who, according to intelligence sources, had affiliated themselves with Communist or Communist Front organizations.

But 1959 was the crucial year. Intelligence sources reported that during January and February of 1959, before he resigned his Reserve commission as a Captain of Intelligence, Kissinger visited the Federal Republic of Germany and U.S. Army installations in Europe. Arrangements for his trip were made through General Lyman Lemnitzer. In 1959 he was made a trustee secretary for a Council on Foreign Relations discussion group on national and strategic problems of nuclear deterrence. The group included

So meteoric was his rise that by 1961, the year our source "came in from out of the cold," Kissinger was a special consultant to President Kennedy on the Berlin Crisis. He was also a consultant to the Operations Research Office, the Operations Coordinating Board, the Weapons System Evaluation Group, Psychological Strategy Board, National Security Council, and the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. He was soon listed as a participant in Bilderberg and Pugwash Conferences.

In his secret negotiations with the Communist North Vietnamese Government, for instance, Henry Kissinger used two mysterious Frenchmen as go-betweens with Hanoi. They were Raymond Aubrac and Professor Herbert Marcovitch, friends of Walter Reuther, the Austrian journalist who has been identified as a Y.G.B. agent and who is frequently used by the Kremlin and Peking for high-level intelligence and diplomatic operations. Aubrac, a close personal friend of Hanoi Minh, has been director of the U.S. Food and Agricultural Organization. The cover story is that he was introduced to Kissinger in 1967 by Marcovitch, a professor at the University of Paris. Kissinger and Marcovitch had become acquainted earlier at one of the Pugwash meetings organized by pro-Soviet millionaire Cyrus Eaton.

One of Kissinger's closest associates on the staff of the National Security Council was Helmut Sonnenfeldt, now Counselor of the State Department in charge of trade with the Communists. According to intelligence sources, Sonnenfeldt met and became closely associated with Henry Kissinger in Germany during the period when Kissinger is reported by our source to have been in contact with Soviet intelligence. Even before the Kissinger era, Sonnenfeldt was the subject of espionage investigations while he was an official of the State Department.

During the Eisenhower Administration, Helmut Sonnenfeldt was twice the subject of an espionage investigation by the F.B.I. and reported to have transmitted secret information to a foreign power. The first time the Attorney General refused to prosecute when Alger Hiss, old friend John Foster Dulles, refused to make available the contents of the notes demanded in question. But three former U.S. Foreign Service Officers have now come forward and testified under oath that Sonnenfeldt turned over secret information to agents of a foreign power, that he compromised U.S. codes, and that security officers strongly recommended he be prosecuted under the espionage statutes. U.S. Foreign Service Officer Steve Kozak was an eyewitness to the turning over by Sonnenfeldt of our secrets, and so testified Frank Niland, a former official of the State Department's Internal Security Division, was for over a year in charge of the surveillance on Sonnenfeldt and confirms these details.

How could Kissinger give a man with this record so important a job? Simple enough, he arranged for the Office of Security to turn over Sonnenfeldt's security files to one Jesse MacKnight before it was evaluated by the Foreign Service Board. MacKnight simply "cleared" Sonnenfeldt.

Jesse MacKnight's own security file suggests why he might do such a thing. He was the official who moved Soviet spy Judith Coplon from New York to Washington and provided her with access to the vital F.B.I. reports she stole for the Reds. He has been repeatedly named as a serious security risk and contact of Soviet Intelligence. And Jesse MacKnight has been reported to use security agencies as a Soviet Intelligence operative.

One might have expected as much. Kissinger's domination of our foreign policy has been a thing of horror from the beginning. As director of the National Security Council he arranged for the appointment of William O. Hall as Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service. State Department security officers reported that Hall had been a close associate and contact of known Communists and Soviet agents. Specifically mentioned in the security report was his close relationship with Harold Glasser, Alger Hiss, and V. Frank Coe -- all publicly exposed as Communists and Soviet agents. On a number of occasions over the years, official reports have been filed concerning Hall's contacts with Soviet agents, and in 1956 the Secretary of State was formally notified that William O. Hall was considered by State Department Security to be a serious security risk. No action was taken, and Henry Kissinger arranged for Hall to be made Director General of the entire U.S. Foreign Service.

The Review Of The News blew the whistle on Hall in the fall of 1972. By December, the State Department's former chief security evaluator, Otto Otepka, had released an affidavit confirming these charges. All hell broke loose. Within a matter of months, Hall retired and (now) Secretary of State Kissinger selected James S. Sutterlin as Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service.

Sutterlin, while assigned in Germany, was known as a notorious pervert and was reported to have carried on a homosexual "affair" with Edward Kelley, who was to become the security officer of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw during the time of the Sex and Spy Scandals when U.S. spies were compromised and American diplomatic personnel were operating freely as Soviet agents. One of these was Edward Symons, now retired on a full pension and living in Grand Rapids, Michigan, who was reported to have been a K.G.B. agent for over fifteen years; the other diplomat, Dostolav S. Vlahovich, is now reportedly stationed at Winnipeg, Canada. In fact, even the U.S. Ambassador to Poland, Jacob Beard (later to become U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union), was reportedly involved with a high-ranking female agent of the K.G.B.

Authors of the 1971 German Accords which approved the concept of two Germanys, accepted the Berlin Wall, and arranged admission of Red-occupied Germany to the U.N., were Helmut Sonnenfeldt, James Sutterlin, and Henry Kissinger. And Sutterlin, as we observed, was selected by Kissinger as head of the entire U.S. Foreign Service.

Then there is the case of Boris H. Klosson, another serious security risk, who was appointed on Kissinger's recommendation as a top-ranking political intelligence officer on the U.S. negotiating team assigned to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) in his application for State Department employment, Boris Klosson gave us in reference an individual order investigation for pro-Soviet activities. His security record contains the report that a female Soviet agent, upon her arrival in the United States, was found to have Klosson's current name and address in her contact book.

In fact, it was Boris Klosson who, on July 11, 1961, made it possible for Lee Harvey Oswald to return with his Communist bride to the United States from the U.S.S.R., paving the way for Oswald to murder President John F. Kennedy. On behalf of the Ambassador, Klosson had signed a statement indicating that Oswald was disloyal and ought to be prevented to return to our country. Boris Klosson even authorized the money to finance the trip for Comrade Oswald and his wife. At the time Klosson wrote the letter clearing Oswald, it was already known by the CIA and our Embassy in Moscow that Lee Oswald had been on the payroll of the K.G.B. for over a year and a half and that his wife, Marina, was not only affiliated with the K.G.B. but had been raised by an uncle who was a K.G.B. Colonel!

It was also learned by intelligence personnel that while assigned to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, Boris Klosson blocked a loyal Foreign Service Officer from sending a report to the State Department concerning espionage activities of the Soviet secret police. This important report dealt with K.G.B. operations against Americans in Russia.

When Henry Kissinger selected Klosson for the SALT team, he had access to every one of these details.

Then there is the case of David Popper, who joined the State Department on the recommendation of Albert Hise and worked with and for Hise. He had earlier been employed at the Foreign Policy Association as top aide to Vera Micheles Dean. Popper was affiliated with the Institute of Pacific Relations, officially cited as "an instrument of Communist policy, propaganda and military intelligence." He was a member of the editorial board of American magazine, the center of a Soviet espionage ring. A confidential source reported to a U.S. Intelligence agency that Popper had long maintained connections with members of the Soviet Intelligence apparatus. A former high-ranking member of the Communist Party, U.S.A., advised a U.S. Intelligence agency that while a top Communist he had been informed: "Popper is one of us and should be treated accordingly." What is more, David Henry Popper was named to U.S. Intelligence agencies as having been identified by a defector as a Soviet Intelligence operative!

So you see David Popper should be the last man anyone but a Communist would name as U.S. Ambassador to a country where patriots had just died and died to overthrow a Communist dictator. Yet Henry Kissinger recently appointed David Henry Popper as the new United States Ambassador to Chile. With Chile's top Communists rounded up and in jail or exile, with the Government now having no diplomatic relations with Cuba or Red China or Soviet Russia, the Communists driven underground in Chile might well think they can look for leadership to the United States Embassy!

Then there is the case of Kissinger's man Leonard Unger. He was, until the middle of last month, our Ambassador to Thailand. But he needed a new job after he engineered the recent overthrow of anti-Communist Prime Minister Thanom Kittachorn.

Leonard Unger was a dues-paying member of the Washington Bookshop Association, the premises of which were regularly used for secret Communist Party meetings, and which was cited by the U.S. Attorney General as Communist and subversive. Scott McLeod, chief of the State Department Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, warned the Secretary of State that Unger is a serious security risk closely associated with Communist espionage activities.

Elizabeth Bentley, a former Soviet agent, testified under oath on May 29, 1952, identifying thirty-seven Soviet agents employed in the U.S. Government. She also stated that to her knowledge there were four Soviet espionage rings operating within our government, only two of which have been openly exposed. American Intelligence sources received information from a reliable source as early as 1947 that in the State Department area of European Affairs there was another such group under Soviet control. The highly confidential report indicated that members of that group reported as being under Soviet control were Livingston Merchant, Benjamin T. Moore, Edwin M. Martin, Lawrence C. Vass, Robert Barnett, and Leonard Unger!

Now here is the clincher. On February 17, 1974, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger announced the choice of Leonard Unger to be the new United States Ambassador to the Republic of China on Taiwan! Such a move could hardly have been an accident.

The Question Raised

Henry Kissinger has accomplished more for the Soviet Union than any long list of K.G.B. agents. He brought about the so-called détente with the U.S.S.R. which resulted in our transfering important technology to the Russian Communists and the extending of a billion dollars' worth of trade on credit. He was responsible for the selling of Free China and for the detente with Communist China, including trade and credit for such products as helicopters. So bad is the situation that a State Department security officer recently complained that he is unable to conduct his investigations because he is being kept busy full-time — securing Chinese Communist engineers on tour of U.S. industries with secret military contracts.

Yet another of Kissinger's achievements occurred on February 7, 1974, when he pledged to give away our vital Panama Canal. One is hardly surprised to learn that U.S. Ambassador at Large Ellsworth Bunker, who cooperated with Kissinger in negotiating the surrender of U.S. sovereignty of the Canal Zone, is another security risk, a member of the radical Council on World Affairs, honorary president of the subversive Foreign Policy Association, a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, trustee of the (Marxist) New School for Social Research, and formerly director of the American-Russian Institute for Cultural Relations with the Soviet Union, an organization cited as Communist and subversive by the U.S. Attorney General and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

Especially damning is the fact that

on January 7, 1974, Paul Scott of the Washington News Intelligence Syndicate reported that the Soviet Ambassador in Washington, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, had let the cat out of the bag. A disclosure of the role of this amazing diplomat-agent, Mr. Scott reported, came recently when Dobrynin briefed the Communist diplomats on his frequent meetings with Kissinger. In private conversations with Iron Curtain diplomats, Ambassador Dobrynin revealed that Secretary Kissinger is serving in the Middle East crisis as negotiator for both the Soviet Union and the United States. It was an amazing revelation. In light of such an admission the appointments of Hall, Suttcliffe, Klosson, Sonnenfeldt, Popper, Unger, and the others make sense, as does so much else. What better tailor to stitch together a Great Merger than a man who has the trust of Communists on both sides of the Iron Curtain!

Taking into consideration the various charges that Henry Kissinger has quite possibly been a Soviet agent since World War II — a charge made by a courageous anti-Communist operative who rose to the rank of General in Communist Intelligence — it is well past time that Congress asked why the Nixon Administration has so consistently promoted policies which have given aid, comfort, and support to the International Communist Conspiracy. ■ ■

by Frank A. Capell

■ A WELL-INFORMED authority on Soviet Intelligence contends that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has been a Soviet agent and that his involvement with Soviet Intelligence was made known to agencies of our government even before his rise to prominence. The former high-ranking intelligence officer who supplied this information has been responsible for uncovering a long list of K.G.B. (Soviet Intelligence) and G.R.U. (Military Intelligence) agents and officers, including Soviet Colonel Kolen Malody (alias Gordon Arnold Londsdale) and his four agents — Honey Houghton, Ethel Gee, Peter John Kroger, and Helen Joyce Kroger. His information in the Londsdale case developed (through Houghton) the exposure of K.G.B. agent John Vassal of British Naval Intelligence, who for seven years turned over Top Secret information under threat of being exposed as a homosexual.

Our source also disclosed the role of Colonel Israel Beer (alias Bieber), a top military advisor to the Czech Government, as well as that of Colonel Szig Eric Wennestrom of Sweden who was actually a K.G.B. General. Another case he exposed was that of George Blake, a very high British Intelligence official connected with MI-6 in London. From the same source came information uncovering

K.G.B. agents Heinz Felfe, Hans Clemens, Fuhrmann, and others in West German Intelligence. He also exposed Blaskinberg in Denmark and Batonski in France. Firmly entrenched K.G.B. and G.R.U. networks in many parts of the Free World were not only uncovered by our source, but the Communist operatives and agents were arrested, tried, and convicted.

The recruitment of Henry Kissinger by Soviet Intelligence reportedly goes back to World War II. Through the underground and partisan operations in Poland the Soviets had organized and arranged a series of intelligence and counter-intelligence networks, some of which were reorganized after the end of World War II and continue in place at this very moment.

One such complex, known under the code name of ODRA, was under the control of Soviet Intelligence General Zelanzaikoff, who headed the directorate of the Soviet Army's north group in Legnica, Poland. Its principal purpose was the infiltration and penetration of Military Intelligence services in the West, especially those of Great Britain and the United States. Since ODRA operated from Poland, it had a representative responsible to the Polish Communist Government. He was a Colonel Woznesiowski, who was also a Soviet officer.

In 1954 an important courier, a woman of Greek-Rumanian nationality, was murdered under mysterious circumstances and important materials, together with approximately $80,000 of intelligence funds, disappeared. Colonel Kujan, chief of the group who worked with the murdered courier, was ordered to Moscow for questioning. Anticipating torture and liquidation, Kujan shot and severely wounded himself. He was placed in a hospital of the G.Z.I. (Gloznyi Zarjad Informatsii - Polish Intelligence).

Colonel Woznesiowski, boss of G.Z.I., personally interrogated the mortally wounded chief of ODRA to clarify the identities of ODRA agents. All of the information obtained by Woznesiowski was documented by him in a special dossier. A short time thereafter, the Colonel was himself arrested by order of the Polish Minister of Defense, Soviet Marshal Rokossovski. All of his official and personal papers were seized and deposited in a safe by his "deputy," also a Soviet officer. Accused of crimes during the Stalin era, Woznesiowski was now transferred to Moscow and subsequently sentenced to ten years in prison.

In February of 1956, in connection with Colonel Woznesiowski's appeal trial, and also in connection with the activities of a special commission investigating the crimes of Beria and Stalin, the still sealed safe of Woznesiowski's deputy was ordered opened in the presence of top K.G.B. officers; all papers and properties were registered, and a memorandum was prepared. One of Kissinger's closest associates on the staff of the National Security Council was Helmut Sonnenfeldt, now Counselor of the State Department in charge of trade with the Communists. According to intelligence sources, Sonnenfeldt met and became closely associated with Henry Kissinger in Germany during the period when Kissinger is reported by our source to have been in contact with Soviet Intelligence. Even before the Kissinger era, Sonnenfeldt was the subject of espionage investigations while he was an official of the State Department.

During the Eisenhower Administration, Helmut Sonnenfeldt was twice the subject of an espionage investigation by the F.B.I. and reported to have transmitted secret information to a foreign power. The first time the Attorney General refused to prosecute when Alger Hiss's old friend John Foster Dulles refused to make available the contents of the secret documents in question. But three former U.S. Foreign Service Officers have now come forward and testified under oath that Sonnenfeldt turned over secret information to agents of a foreign power, that he compromised U.S. codes, and that security officers strongly recommended he be prosecuted under the espionage statutes. U.S. Foreign Service Officer Steve Koczak was an eyewitness to the turning over by Sonnenfeldt of our secrets, and so testified. Frank Niland, a former official of the State Department's Internal Security Division, was for over a year in charge of the surveillance on Sonnenfeldt and confirms these details.

How could Kissinger give a man with this record so important a job? Simple enough, he arranged for the Office of Security to turn over Sonnenfeldt's security files to one Jesse MacKnight before it was evaluated by the Foreign Service Board. MacKnight simply "cleared" Sonnenfeldt.

Jesse MacKnight's own security file suggests why he might do such a thing. He was the official who moved Soviet spy Judith Coplon from New York to Washington and provided her with access to the vital F.B.I. reports she stole for the Reds. He has been repeatedly named as a serious security risk and contact of Soviet Intelligence. And Jesse MacKnight has been reported to our security agencies as a Soviet Intelligence operative.

One might have expected as much. Kissinger's domination of our foreign policy has been a thing of horror from the beginning. As director of the National Security Council he arranged for the appointment of William O. Hall as Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service. State Department security officers reported that Hall had been a close associate and contact of known Communists and Soviet agents. Specifically mentioned in the security report was his close relationship with Harold Glasser, Alger Hiss, and V. Frank Coe — all publicly exposed as Communists and Soviet agents. On a number of occasions over the years, official reports have been filed concerning Hall's contacts with Soviet agents, and in 1956 the Secretary of State was formally notified that William O. Hall was considered by State Department Security to be a serious security risk. No action was taken, and Henry Kissinger arranged for Hall to be made Director General of the entire U.S. Foreign Service.

The Review Of The News blew the whistle on Hall in the fall of 1972. By December, the State Department's former chief security evaluator, Otto Otepka, had released an affidavit confirming these charges. All hell broke loose. Within a matter of months, Hall retired and (now) Secretary of State Kissinger selected James S. Sutterlin as Director General of the U.S. Foreign Service.

Sutterlin, while assigned in Germany, was known as a notorious pervert and was reported to have carried on a homosexual "affair" with Edward Kelley, who was to become the security officer of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw during the time of the Sex and Spy Scandals when U.S. codes were compromised and American diplomatic personnel were operating freely as Soviet agents. One of these was Edward Symans, now retired on a full pension and living in Grand Rapids, Michigan, who was reported to have been a K.G.B. agent for over fifteen years; the other diplomat, Daroslav S. Vlahovich, is now reportedly stationed at Winnipeg, Canada. In fact, even the U.S. Ambassador to Poland, Jacob

Beam (later to become U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union), was reportedly involved with a high-ranking female agent of the K.G.B.

Authors of the 1971 German Accords which approved the concept of two Germanys, accepted the Berlin Wall, and arranged admission of Red-occupied Germany to the U.N., were Helmut Sonnenfeldt, James Sutterlin, and Henry Kissinger. And Sutterlin, as we observed, was selected by Kissinger as boss of the entire U.S. Foreign Service.

Then there is the case of Boris H. Klosson, another serious security risk, who was appointed on Kissinger's recommendation as a top-ranking political intelligence officer on the U.S. negotiating team assigned to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT). In his application for State Department employment, Boris Klosson gave as a reference an individual under investigation for pro-Soviet activities. His security record contains the report that a female Soviet agent, upon her arrival in the United States, was found to have Klosson's current name and address in her contact book.

In fact, it was Boris Klosson who, on July 11, 1961, made it possible for Lee Harvey Oswald to return with his Communist bride to the United States from the U.S.S.R., paving the way for Oswald to murder President John F. Kennedy. On behalf of the Ambassador, Klosson had signed a statement indicating that Oswald was disillusioned and ought to be permitted to return to our country. Boris Klosson even authorized the money to finance the trip for Comrade Oswald and his wife. At the time Klosson wrote the letter clearing Oswald, it was already known by the C.I.A. and our Embassy in Moscow that Lee Oswald had been on the payroll of the K.G.B. for over a year and a half and that his wife, Marina, was not only affiliated with the K.G.B. but had been raised by an uncle who was a K.G.B. Colonel.

It was also learned by intelligence personnel that while assigned to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, Boris Klosson blocked a loyal Foreign Service Officer from sending a report to the State Department concerning espionage activities of the Soviet secret police. This important report dealt with K.G.B. operations against Americans in Russia.

When Henry Kissinger selected Klosson for the SALT team, he had access to every one of these details.

Then there is the case of David Popper, who joined the State Department on the recommendation of Alger Hiss and worked with and for Hiss. He had earlier been employed at the Foreign Policy Association as top aide to Vera Micheles Dean. Popper was affiliated with the Institute of Pacific Relations, officially cited as "an instrument of Communist policy, propaganda and military intelligence." He was a member of the editorial board of Amerasia magazine, the center of a Soviet espionage ring. A confidential source reported to a U.S. Intelligence service that Popper had long maintained connections with members of the Soviet Intelligence apparatus. A former high-ranking member of the Communist Party, U.S.A., advised a U.S. Intelligence agency that while a top Communist he had been informed: "Popper is one of us and should be treated accordingly." What is more, David Henry Popper was named to U.S. Intelligence agencies as having been identified by a defector as a Soviet Intelligence operative!

So you see David Popper should be the last man anyone but a Communist would name as U.S. Ambassador to a country where patriots had just bled and died to overthrow a Communist dictator. Yet Henry Kissinger recently appointed David Henry Popper as the new United States Ambassador to Chile. With Chile's top Communists rounded up and in jail or exile, with the Government now having no diplomatic relations with Cuba or Red China or Soviet Russia, the Communists driven underground in Chile might well think they can look for leadership to the United States Embassy!

Then there is the case of Kissinger's man Leonard Unger. He was, until the middle of last month, our Ambassador to Thailand. But he needed a new job after he engineered the recent overthrow of anti-Communist Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn.

Leonard Unger was a dues-paying member of the Washington Bookshop Association, the premises of which were regularly used for secret Communist Party meetings, and which was cited by the U.S. Attorney General as Communist and subversive. Scott McLeod, chief of the State Department Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, warned the Secretary of State that Unger is a serious security risk closely associated with Communist espionage activities.

Elizabeth Bentley, a former Soviet agent, testified under oath on May 29, 1952, identifying thirty-seven Soviet agents employed in the U.S. Government. She also stated that to her knowledge there were four Soviet espionage rings operating within our government, only two of which have been openly exposed. American Intelligence sources received information from a reliable source as early as 1947 that in the State Department area of European Affairs there was another such group under Soviet control. The highly confidential report indicated that members of that group reported as being under Soviet control were Livingston Merchant, Benjamin T. Moore, Edwin M. Martin, Lawrence G. Vass, Robert Barnett, and Leonard Unger!

Now here is the clincher: On February 17, 1974, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger announced the choice of Leonard Unger to be the new United States Ambassador to the Republic of China on Taiwan! Such a move could hardly have been an accident.

The Question Raised

Henry Kissinger has accomplished more for the Soviet Union than any long list of K.G.B. agents. He brought about the so-called détente with the U.S.S.R. which resulted in our transferring important technology to the Russian Communists and the extending of a billion dollars' worth of trade on credit. He was responsible for the sellout of Free China and for the détente with Communist China, including trade and credit for such products as helicopters. So bad is the situation that a State Department security officer recently complained that he is unable to conduct his investigations because he is being kept busy full-time — escorting Chinese Communist engineers on tours of U.S. industries with secret military contracts.

Yet another of Kissinger's achievements occurred on February 7, 1974, when he pledged to give away our vital Panama Canal. One is hardly surprised to learn that U.S. Ambassador at Large Ellsworth Bunker, who cooperated with Kissinger in negotiating the surrender of U.S. sovereignty of the Canal Zone, is another security risk, a member of the radical Council on World Affairs, honorary president of the subversive Foreign Policy Association, a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, trustee of the (Marxist) New School for Social Research, and formerly director of the American-Russian Institute for Cultural Relations with the Soviet Union, an organization cited as Communist and subversive by the U.S. Attorney General and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

Especially damning is the fact that

on January 7, 1974, Paul Scott of the Washington News Intelligence Syndicate reported that the Soviet Ambassador in Washington, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, had let the cat out of the bag. A disclosure of the role of this amazing diplomat-agent, Mr. Scott reported, came recently when Dobrynin briefed the Communist diplomats on his frequent meetings with Kissinger. In private conversations with Iron Curtain diplomats, Ambassador Dobrynin revealed that Secretary Kissinger is serving in the Middle East crisis as negotiator for both the Soviet Union and the United States. It was an amazing revelation. In light of such an admission the appointments of Hall, Sutterlin, Klosson, Sonnenfeldt, Popper, Unger, and the others make sense, as does so much else. What better tailor to stitch together a Great Merger than a man who has the trust of Conspirators on both sides of the Iron Curtain!

Taking into consideration the serious charge that Henry Kissinger has quite possibly been a Soviet agent since World War II — a charge made by a courageous anti-Communist operative who rose to the rank of General in Communist Intelligence — it is well past time that Congress asked why the Nixinger Administration has so consistently promoted policies which have given aid, comfort, and support to the International Communist Conspiracy. ■ ■

"Sukkot 5735

"To:
The Prime Minister of Israel
The US Ambassador in Israel

"We, a group of combattants of Israel's wars, have met together at this hour of emergency and reached the unanimous conclusion that the political decline in the land of Israel must be halted immediately.

"In view of the above, we have decided to take action here and abroad, in the first stbage (sic) by liquidating certain personalities who by their criminal activity have converted a military victory into a diplomatic defeat in the wake of which there may come a wholesale disaster in the 'War of the Sons of Light.'

"The first to be executed will be:

Israel

1. Victor/Shemtov, the traitor and/or international spy who stands as guidon in the line of defeatists in the government and makes every effort to reduce the people of Israel in its own land to the condition of European Jewry in the beginning of the forties.

"2. Henry Kissinger, the international murderer, whose guile, trickery, threats, lies and hate of the people and land of Israel may yet bring over our generation a holocaust similar to the one the arch-fiend Adolf Hitler brought about one generation before.

RE: HENRY KISSINGER

Henry Kissinger - Deceiver of the American People?

America has passed thru the vigil of Southeast Asia and lost a little of its morality along the way. We are building up the communist world militarily and economically admist their still basic policy of anigalating us. We are on the road to a single world government order that is the mastermind of a genius that has grown to power thru the very government he is using to carry out this plan, the United States, with the help of powerful world figures like Nelson Rockefeller,

As a result of the SALT agreements, which are actually Soviet plans drawn up in the Kremlin, we are being unilaterally disarmed in the face of a massive Soviet buildup even as everything possible is being done to keep the American people from finding out what is actually happening.

FBI (23-cv-10741)-1145

We can thank all this to Henry Alfred Kissinger, who has even been associated as being a K.G.B. agent of the Soviet Union under the code-named BOR and of having associations with a Soviet spy ring, called OAKA.
This was all proven by an anti-Communist who worked behind the iron curtain and saw Kissinger's K.G.B. discussion but who now has mysteriously disappeared

Internal Security Committee who were to look into this matter was suddenly information to a foreign power and who also helped the Soviets pull off the Great Grain Robbery. [redacted] was one of Kissinger's top appointees.

the Red in Germany after World War II before he ran the U.S. intelligence network from above. The security b6 -3 agreements, has been identified as a K.G.B. contact who helped arrange the return of Marxist Lee Harvey Oswald from Moscow to kill Kennedy according to certain K.G.B. documents.

As an American vividly aware of what is happening to our country I can only say to beware of the false ideology behind the practice of Détente, for we have a treacherous horse amongst our midst that is out to destroy the American principles of Sovereignty and freedom for all.

Synopsis: Submission of evidence for determination of latent fingerprints.

Enclosure(s): Enclosed are two (2) envelopes, one (1) letter, one (1) paper towel with unknown brown stain, three (3) sets of elimination fingerprints.

Details: On December 18, 2003 materials were received by members of the Joint Bank Robbery Task Force of the New York FBI. The materials were received by the director of security for Dr. Henry Kissinger, former Secretary of State. Despite a high volume of letters containing both positive and negative remarks, this letter stood out due to its references to Islam and direct references of violence against Kissinger. Additionally, a letter with similar penmanship was received by Kissinger earlier. Law enforcement personnel received the envelopes and letters and then fingerprinted those office workers that had handled the materials to serve as elimination prints. In addition to the enclosed elimination prints, Special Agent [redacted] and Director of Security [redacted] handled the letters as well.

It is requested that in addition to a latent fingerprint analysis of the paper towel, the chemistry unit perform tests to identify any unknown substances on the paper towel.

The materials were received by the director of security for Dr. Henry Kissinger, former Secretary of State. Despite a high volume of letters containing both positive and negative remarks, this letter stood out due to its references to Islam and direct references of violence against Kissinger. Additionally, a letter with similar penmanship was received by Kissinger earlier. Law enforcement personnel received the envelopes and letters and then fingerprinted those office workers that had handled the materials to serve as elimination prints. In addition to the enclosed elimination prints, Special Agent [redacted] and Director of Security [redacted] handled the letters as well.

Synopsis: The Behavioral Analysis [redacted], a component of the National Center for the Analysis of Violent Crime (NCAVC), reviewed and assessed a threatening communication to captioned victim.

Details: This assessment is based solely upon a review of the one communication provided by the NY Division and the background of the investigation to date. It assumes that the information set forth is valid unless it learned otherwise through ongoing investigation. It could be modified or changed should the investigation in this matter prove to invalidate the original information on which this assessment was based or should such investigation provide new information concerning captioned matter.

A threat assessment is only valid for the period of time when the offender is authoring such communications. Environmental changes, medication (or the lack thereof), alcoholic beverage consumption, illegal drugs, personal conflicts, psychological disorders, etc., can affect the thought process of an individual. These changes can result in violent acts when none were anticipated and complicate the process of accurately assessing dangerous or violent behavior.

It is important to understand the mindset of an anonymous author of a criminally oriented communication. It is noted that the anonymous author of one or more threatening communications has two (sometimes three) primary goals. The experience of the [redacted] suggests that an anonymous author will put much thought and effort into achieving both of these goals. WASHINGTON, D.C.; B'NAI B'RITH, WASHINGTON, D.C. ALLEGED BOMBING OF THREE RESIDENCES INHABITED BY BLACK FAMILIES, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, APRIL 20, 1977; PRO-CRIMINAL, EID, CR. RICO.

RE CLEVELAND TELETYPE TO DIRECTOR, MAY 20, 1977. [REDACTED]

INFORMATION REGARDING [REDACTED] AND THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST PARTY OF AMERICA (NSPA) IS AVAILABLE TO CLEVELAND IN ITS FILES
"THE WHITE CONFEDERACY, AKA" AND THE "NATIONAL SOCIALIST MOVE-MENT (NSM)".

THE NSPA HAS NEVER, TO THE KNOWLEDGE OF CHICAGO, BEEN KNOWN AS THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST CONGRESS. THE NSPA DID SPLIT FROM THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST WHITE PEOPLES PARTY (NSWPP) IN 1970 AND HAS OPERATED AS AN INDEPENDENT LOCAL GROUP SINCE. THE NSPA WAS FOUNDED BY [REDACTED] SINCE ITS INCEPTION. THE NSPA HEADQUARTERS ARE LOCATED AT 2519 WEST 71ST STREET, CHICAGO, AND HAVE BEEN SINCE 1970. [REDACTED] IS A NSPA MEMBER AND HAS GIVEN HIS ADDRESS AS BEING NSPA HEADQUARTERS.

[REDACTED] IS UNKNOWN TO CHICAGO.

THREE BOMBINGS DID OCCUR ON APRIL 20, 1977 IN AN AREA EAST OF NSPA HEADQUARTERS WHICH HAS BEEN THE SCENE OF MUCH RACIAL

TENSION AND DEMONSTRATIONS THE PAST FEW YEARS. CHICAGO PD INVESTIGATION HAS NATURALLY BEEN DIRECTED TOWARDS POSSIBLE NSPA INVOLVEMENT BUT THERE HAVE BEEN NO POSITIVE RESULTS. TWO OF THE GRENADES WERE THROWN AT BLACK OWNED HOMES; ONE AT A WHITE OCCUPIED HOME THAT HAD BEEN SOLD TO BLACKS.

CHICAGO IN ITS DISCRIMINATION IN HOUSING INVESTIGATION WAS UNABLE TO DETERMINE ANY "NAZI" INVOLVEMENT IN THE ABOVE BOMBINGS.

[REDACTED] WAS INTERVIEWED BY THE CHICAGO PD AND HE DENIED ALL INVOLVEMENT IN THE BOMBINGS.

b6 -4
b7C -4

[REDACTED] HAS ALWAYS STRUCK A MILITANT POSE, BUT HAS SOUGHT HIS REMEDIES IN THE COURTS. WHEN VIOLENCE HAS OCCURRED IT HAS BEEN A RESULT OF MARCHES AND DEMONSTRATIONS.

b6 -4
b7C -4

[REDACTED] AND HIS MEMBERSHIP (WHO ARE FEW IN NUMBER) HAVE BEEN BOASTFUL AND BRAGGARTS IN THE PAST OF THEIR STRENGTHS AND CAPABILITIES. THESE BOASTS HAVE BEEN FAR IN EXCESS OF THEIR CAPABILITIES.

b6 -4
b7C -4

[REDACTED] AND [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] DURING THE 1950'S AND 1960'S THERE WAS A BLACK SLUM REMOVAL PROJECT ALONG CHICAGO'S LAKEFRONT. THERE WAS NO DISPLACEMENT OF ANY NUMBER OF WHITES, BUT OF VERY POOR

CHICAGO HAS NO CURRENT SOURCES REGARDING THE NSPA AND HAS CONDUCTED NO ACTIVE INVESTIGATION SINCE LATE 1976 BECAUSE OF DISCONTINUANCE ORDERED BY THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

ON MAY 23, 1977, SERGEANT [REDACTED], CHICAGO PD WAS ADVISED OF THE THREATS AGAINST [REDACTED] AND [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] WHO USED TO BE ASSOCIATED WITH SEVERAL OF THE NAZI ORGANIZATIONS. HE CLAIMS THAT [REDACTED]

THREE "HATE" LETTERS FROM [REDACTED] SAYING THAT SHE HAS GONE TO THE FEDERAL MARSHAL CONCERNING THE ORGANIZATION'S "PLOT". [REDACTED] ADVISED THAT HE DID NOT KNOW WHAT SHE WAS TALKING ABOUT, BUT SAID THAT IN VIEW OF THE PRESENT QUESTIONING BY FBI HE FELT THERE COULD BE SOME RELATIONSHIP.

[REDACTED] ADVISED FURTHER THAT THERE ARE VARIOUS SPLINTER GROUPS OF NAZI PARTY ORGANIZATIONS AT PRESENT, ONE BEING THE NSWPP AT ARLINGTON, VA., LED BY [REDACTED]; THE UNITED WHITE PEOPLES PARTY IN CLEVELAND, LED BY [REDACTED] THE NATIONAL ~~SOCIETY~~ ^{Socialist Party} OF AMERICANS IN CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, LED BY [REDACTED] THE NATIONAL ~~SOCIETY~~ ^{Socialist Party} OF GERMAN WORKERS PARTY OVERSEAS ORGANIZATION IN LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, LED BY [REDACTED] A NATIONAL ~~SOCIETY~~ ^{Socialist} WHITE WORKERS PARTY IN SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, LED BY [REDACTED] THE NATIONAL ~~SOCIETY~~ ^{Socialist} LIBERATION FRONT IN LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA; LED BY [REDACTED] STATED ALL OF THE ABOVE GROUPS HAVE THE SAME BASIC PHILOSOPHY AND ALL ORIGINATED FROM ONE BASIC GROUP, THE NAZI PARTY, LED BY GEORGE ROCKWELL. [] FURTHER STATED THAT HE COULD FURNISH NO INFORMATION CONCERNING THE ALLEGED CAPTIONED PLOT, BUT DID SAY THAT HE DOUBTED THAT ANY OF THE ABOVE MENTIONED GROUPS WOULD EVEN THINK ABOUT SUCH PLANS. HE STATED THE PLANS WERE NOT LOGICAL AND THEY DID NOT COINCIDE WITH NAZI PARTY PHILOSOPHY. HE STATED, FIRST OF ALL, IT WOULD DO NO GOOD TO ELIMINATE KISSINGER BECAUSE HE HAS ALREADY DONE HIS DAMAGE AND HE IS NOW OUT OF GOVERNMENT. HE STATED THAT HE KNOWS THAT [] IS AN NAACP LAWYER, BUT FEELS THE THINKING IN HIS GROUP IS THAT IF ANYTHING HAPPENED TO [] THERE WOULD BE A DOZEN MORE TAKE HIS PLACE. POSSIBLY BE LOGICAL TARGETS, HOWEVER, HE FEELS THAT NONE OF THE PEOPLE IN ANY OF THE ABOVE GROUPS HAVE THE FACILITIES, MANPOWER OR FUNDS OR ARE WELL ORGANIZED ENOUGH TO EVEN THINK ABOUT SUCH A PLOT. HE FURTHER STATED THAT HE DOUBTS VERY MUCH IF ANY OF THEM WOULD EVEN ENTERTAIN SUCH THOUGHTS, BECAUSE IT WOULD BRING MUCH PUBLICITY AND HEAT UPON THE ORGANIZATION AND PROBABLY DESTROY THE ORGANIZATION BY THE ARREST AND PROSECUTION OF THE INDIVIDUALS RESPONSIBLE.

FURTHER STATED THAT AS FAR AS BOMBING THE SOVIET EMBASSY, THIS IS CONTRARY TO THE NEW PHILOSOPHY WHICH IS THAT THE SOVIETS COULD EVENTUALLY BECOME ALLIES WITH THE NAZIS. HE STATED THAT HE FEELS THAT THEY MAY END UP HELPING THEM ELIMINATE JEWS. HE ALSO STATED THAT THE AFRICAN BLACKS ARE NOT THEIR ENEMIES AND THAT THEY FEEL THEY ARE ALLIES AND ARE AGAINST THE JEWS AND THE ISRAELIES. HE STATED THAT SOME OF THE NAZI PARTY MEMBERS HAVE SPOKEN BEFORE GROUPS OF BLACK MUSLIMS AND HAVE RECEIVED STANDING OVATIONS. HE ADVISED THAT THE ABOVE NAZI ORGANIZATIONS ARE NOT AGAINST BLACK PEOPLE AS SUCH, ONLY AGAINST A MIXTURE OF BLACKS AND WHITES AS FOUND IN THIS COUNTRY.

CONNECTED WITH THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST MOVEMENT LEAD BY

[REDACTED] AND ADDED ~~THAT~~ HE KNOWS NOTHING ABOUT ALLEGED

[REDACTED] ADVISED ~~THAT~~ HE HAD RECEIVED A TELEPHONE CALL

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

FROM A [REDACTED] WHO WAS INTERVIEWED

BY FBI AGENTS CONCERNING THIS MATTER. HE STATED THAT WAS

THE FIRST TIME HE RECEIVED ANY INFORMATION CONCERNING THE

MATTER. [REDACTED] STATED HE FEELS THE INFORMATION REGARDING

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

CAPTIONED MATTER WAS FURNISHED TO AUTHORITIES BY A [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] HUSBAND [REDACTED] WHO USED TO BE ASSOCIATED

WITH SEVERAL OF THE NAZI ORGANIZATIONS. HE CLAIMS ~~THAT~~ [REDACTED]

b6 -2,4

[REDACTED] STATED ~~THAT~~ DURING MARCH

AND APRIL, 1977, HE HAS RECEIVED THREE "HATE" CALLS AND

THREE "HATE" LETTERS FROM [REDACTED] SAYING THAT SHE HAS GONE TO THE FEDERAL MARSHAL CONCERNING THE ORGANIZATION'S "PLOT". [REDACTED] ADVISED THAT HE DID NOT KNOW WHAT SHE WAS TALKING ABOUT, BUT SAID THAT IN VIEW OF THE PRESENT QUESTIONING BY FBI HE FELT THERE COULD BE SOME RELATIONSHIP.

b6 -2,4

MASON ADVISED FURTHER THAT THERE ARE VARIOUS SPLINTER GROUPS OF NAZI PARTY ORGANIZATIONS AT PRESENT, ONE BEING NATIONAL SOCIALIST WHITE PEOPLES PARTY (NSWP) THE NSWP AT ARLINGTON, VA VIRGINIA LED BY [REDACTED] THE UNITED WHITE PEOPLES PARTY IN CLEVELAND, LED BY [REDACTED] THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF AMERICANS IN CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, LED BY [REDACTED] THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF GERMAN WORKERS PARTY OVERSEAS ORGANIZATION IN LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, LED BY [REDACTED] A NATIONAL SOCIETY WHITE WORKERS PARTY IN SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, LED BY [REDACTED] THE NATIONAL SOCIETY LIBERATION FRONT IN LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, LED BY [REDACTED] STATED ALL OF THE ABOVE GROUPS HAVE THE SAME BASIC PHILOSOPHY AND ALL ORIGINATED FROM ONE BASIC GROUP, THE NAZI PARTY, FOUNDED ~~LED~~ BY GEORGE ROCKWELL (DECEASED). FOR ONE STRONG LEADER TO UNITE ALL GROUPS AGAIN.

[] FURTHER STATED ~~HE~~ HE COULD FURNISH NO INFORMATION CONCERNING THE ALLEGED CAPTIONED PLOT, BUT DID SAY ~~HE~~ HE DOUBTED ~~ANY~~ ANY OF THE ABOVE MENTIONED GROUPS WOULD EVEN THINK ABOUT SUCH PLANS. HE STATED THE PLANS WERE NOT LOGICAL AND THEY DID NOT COINCIDE WITH NAZI PARTY PHILOSOPHY. HE STATED, FIRST OF ALL, IT WOULD DO NO GOOD TO ELIMINATE KISSINGER BECAUSE HE HAS ALREADY DONE HIS DAMAGE AND HE IS NOW OUT OF GOVERNMENT. [] ADVISED HE HAS NEVER HEARD OF [] OR [] BUT FELT ~~THAT~~ THEY MIGHT BE JEWS. HE STATED ~~HE~~ HE KNOWS THAT [] IS AN NAACP LAWYER, BUT FEELS THE THINKING IN HIS GROUP IS THAT IF ANYTHING HAPPENED TO [] THERE WOULD BE A DOZEN MORE TAKE HIS PLACE. HE SAID ~~HE~~ [] IS A VERY IMPORTANT PERSON AS IS [] HE STATED ~~THAT~~ [] IS, TO HIS KNOWLEDGE A FINANCIER IN NEW YORK, POSSIBLY A BANKER AND SAID ~~HE~~ HE HAD THOUGHT ~~HE~~ [] HAD DIED OF NATURAL CAUSES. [] STATED ~~THAT~~ IF HE HAD NOT DIED, HE MUST CERTAINLY BE QUITE ELDERLY. HE STATED ~~HE~~ IN HIS OPINION, [] AND [] COULD POSSIBLY BE LOGICAL TARGETS, HOWEVER, HE FEELS ~~THAT~~ NONE OF THE PEOPLE IN ANY OF THE ABOVE GROUPS HAVE THE FACILITIES, MANPOWER OR FUNDS OR ARE WELL ORGANIZED ENOUGH TO EVEN THINK ABOUT SUCH A PLOT. HE FURTHER STATED ~~THAT~~ HE DOUBTS VERY MUCH IF ANY OF THEM WOULD EVEN ENTERTAIN SUCH THOUGHTS, BECAUSE IT WOULD BRING MUCH PUBLICITY AND HEAT UPON THE ORGANIZATION AND PROBABLY DESTROY THE ORGANIZATION BY THE ARREST AND PROSECUTION OF THE INDIVIDUALS RESPONSIBLE.

FURTHER STATED THAT AS FAR AS BOMBING THE SOVIET EMBASSY, THIS IS CONTRARY TO THE NEW PHILOSOPHY WHICH IS ~~THAT~~ THE SOVIETS COULD EVENTUALLY BECOME ALLIES WITH THE NAZIS. HE STATED ~~THAT~~ HE FEELS THAT THEY MAY END UP HELPING THEM ELIMINATE JEWS. HE ALSO STATED ~~THAT~~ THE AFRICAN BLACKS ARE NOT THEIR ENEMIES AND THAT THEY FEEL THEY ARE ALLIES AND ARE AGAINST THE JEWS AND THE ISRAELIES. HE STATED ~~THAT~~ SOME OF THE NAZI PARTY MEMBERS HAVE SPOKEN BEFORE GROUPS OF BLACK MUSLIMS AND HAVE RECEIVED STANDING OVATIONS. HE ADVISED ~~THAT~~ THE ABOVE NAZI ORGANIZATIONS ARE NOT AGAINST BLACK PEOPLE AS SUCH, ONLY AGAINST A MIXTURE OF BLACKS AND WHITES AS FOUND IN THIS COUNTRY.

[] STATED ~~HE~~ HE LAST SAW [] IN CLEVELAND DURING FEBRUARY, 1977.

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

[] STATED HE THOUGHT ~~THAT~~ SOMEONE HAD DREAMED UP THE ABOVE INFORMATION AND PASSED IT ON TO THE AUTHORITIES IN AN ATTEMPT TO CAUSE PROBLEMS FOR THE VARIOUS NAZI PARTY ORGANIZATIONS. ~~HE ADVISED THAT SHOULD HE COME UP WITH ADDITIONAL INFORMATION REGARDING THIS MATTER HE WOULD NOTIFY THE FBI.~~

b6 -4,8
b7D -5

[redacted] They also indicated they were responsible for three bombings in the Chicago area on 4/20/77, directed at the homes of black families. They further spoke of demolition and firearms training furnished to their members in California and North Carolina.

The U. S. Attorney's Office, Cleveland, was provided the pertinent facts in this matter and he advised that FBI investigation was warranted in this matter under the PFO statute. The individuals and foreign embassys mentioned above, have been informed of the alleged threats.

Investigation conducted to date has failed to indicate that there is any substance to the alleged plot. In fact information furnished by various sources, knowledgeable of the group's activities indicates there is little likelihood of such a plot being credible. Currently, all those individuals mentioned by the [redacted] as being involved in the plot are being interviewed. You will be kept informed of pertinent developments in this matter.

[REDACTED] WHITE MALE, [REDACTED] RESIDENCE [REDACTED]

b6 -2,4

[REDACTED]

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

CONCERNING THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST MOVEMENT (NSM), HEADED BY [REDACTED] CINCINNATI, OHIO, THE GROUP HAS ABOUT TEN PEOPLE AROUND THE UNITED STATES WHO HAVE POST OFFICE MAILING ADDRESSES WHICH ARE CONSIDERED UNITS OF THE NSM. THERE IS ONLY ONE MEMBER OF THE MOVEMENT IN EACH PLACE, HOWEVER.

b6 -4

THERE ARE CURRENTLY ABOUT 45-50 SUBSCRIBERS TO THE "NATIONAL SOCIALIST," A MONTHLY PUBLICATION OF THE NSM AND

2

CONCERNING A MEETING ON MARCH 19, 1977, BY [REDACTED]

b6 -4
b7C -4

[REDACTED] AND [REDACTED] WHO ALLEGEDLY MET WITH [REDACTED] OF THE INVISIBLE EMPIRE OF THE KKKK AT THE CONGRESS INN MOTEL, MONROE, OHIO, WHEREIN IT WAS REPORTED THAT [REDACTED] HAD SEVERAL RIFLES AND/OR SUB-MACHINE GUNS IN THE TRUNK OF HIS VEHICLE, [REDACTED] ADVISED HE DOUBTS THE RELIABILITY OF THIS INFORMATION. HE IS CLOSE TO [REDACTED] AND HAS NEVER SEEN HIM IN POSSESSION OF A FIREARM.

b6 -2,4

CONCERNING A MEETING APRIL 22, 1977, WHEREIN [REDACTED] AND

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

[REDACTED] TRAVELED TO MEDFORD, NEW JERSEY, WHERE THEY MET WITH [REDACTED] OF THE GERMAN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION, [REDACTED] ADVISED HE ALSO WAS PRESENT AT THE MEETING HELD AT [REDACTED] RESIDENCE. THERE WERE APPROXIMATELY 15 PERSONS PRESENT (NOT 25-30 AS REPORTED BY [REDACTED] DURING INTERVIEW ON MAY 27, 1977), INCLUDING THE ADDITION OF [REDACTED]

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

(RUNNING FOR MAYOR IN BUFFALO, NEW YORK), AMONG OTHERS. [REDACTED] ATTENDED ON INVITATION OF [REDACTED] AND THE PURPOSE OF THE MEETING WAS TO GET THE VARIOUS GROUPS REPRESENTED TOGETHER AND PLAN THEIR ACTIONS. NOTHING CONCRETE WAS FORMULATED, HOWEVER, AND THE MEETING CONSISTED MOSTLY OF A THREE HOUR SPEECH BY [REDACTED] HIMSELF. HE KNOWS NOTHING OF A MEETING AT [REDACTED] RESIDENCE ON THE WEEKEND OF MAY 21-22, 1977.

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

b6 -4
b7C -4

HE IS ACQUAINTED WITH [REDACTED] UNITED WHITE PEOPLE'S PARTY (UWPP), CLEVELAND, OHIO, AND [REDACTED] OF THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST PARTY OF AMERICA (NSPA), CHICAGO, ILLINOIS. [REDACTED] IS AGAINST VIOLENCE AND WOULD NOT PARTICIPATE IN SAME. [REDACTED] IS NOT AGAINST VIOLENCE AND DOES HAVE SOME SUPPORT IN THE CHICAGO AREA WHEREBY HE COULD GENERATE VIOLENT ACTIVITY, BUT HE HAS HEARD OF NOTHING PLANNED ALONG VIOLENT LINES AND KNOWS OF NO VIOLENT ACTS ON THE PART OF [REDACTED] IN THE PAST. HE IS CAPABLE OF VIOLENCE, HOWEVER.

b6 -4
b7C -4

b6 -4
b7C -4

APPROXIMATELY TWO YEARS AGO, HE TRAVELED TO EL MONTE, CALIFORNIA, WITH [REDACTED] FOR THE NSLF, AND WORKED WITH [REDACTED] AT THE NEW ORDER BOOK SHOP IN EL MONTE. [REDACTED]

b6 -4
b7C -4

b6 -4
b7C -4

[REDACTED]

HE HAS HEARD NOTHING ABOUT THE BOMBING OF THREE BLACK RESIDENCES IN CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, ON APRIL 20, 1977, BUT NOTES THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF ADOLF HITLER.

[REDACTED] WAS INVITED BY [REDACTED] AND BY [REDACTED] TO A MEETING OVER THE WEEKEND OF MAY 28-29, 1977, AT BUFFALO, NEW YORK. HE ALSO RECEIVED A FORMAL INVITATION IN WRITING FROM THE KLAN IN BUFFALO. HE DID NOT ATTEND, HOWEVER, AND KNOWS NO DETAILS ABOUT THE MEETING, BUT UNDERSTANDS THAT [REDACTED] DID NOT SHOW UP.

b7C -2,4b6 -4
b7C -4

HE IS NOT ACQUAINTED WITH [REDACTED] BUT BELIEVES HE KNOWS WHO HE IS. HE KNOWS NOTHING ABOUT [REDACTED] ACTIVITIES OR ANY STATEMENTS ATTRIBUTED TO [REDACTED] CONCERNING VIOLENCE TO TAKE PLACE ON JULY 4, 1977.

b6 -4
b7C -4

[REDACTED] ADVISED THAT AT JUST ABOUT EVERY MEETING HE HAS EVER ATTENDED IN NSM OR AFFILIATED OR SYMPATHETIC CAUSES, VIOLENCE IS DISCUSSED, BUT NEVER SERIOUSLY PLANNED OR CARRIED OUT, ALTHOUGH HE DOES NOT RULE OUT THE POSSIBILITY OF SOME VIOLENCE OCCURRING;

b6 -2,4

NOT ON THE SCALE PRESENTED IN INSTANT MATTER, HOWEVER.

HE KNOWS OF NOTHING PLANNED AROUND JULY 4, 1977, BY ANYONE IN THE "MOVEMENT" EXCEPT A JULY 4TH MEETING IN CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, SPONSORED BY THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST CONGRESS FOR THE PURPOSE OF SOLIDIFYING THE UNITED WHITE PEOPLES PARTY (UWPP), THE NSP IN CHICAGO, THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST WHITE WORKERS PARTY (NSWPP) IN SAN FRANCISCO, AND THE NSDAP-AO (THE OVERSEAS ORGANIZATION OF THE GERMAN UNDERGROUND NAZI PARTY), REPRESENTATIVES OF WHICH ORGANIZATIONS ARE ALL INVITED.

HE IS NOT ACQUAINTED WITH OTHER PERSONS MENTIONED IN CONNECTION WITH THIS MATTER SUCH AS [REDACTED] OR [REDACTED] HE KNOWS OF [REDACTED] BUT HAS NEVER MET HIM.

b7C -4

HE HAS NOT HEARD OF THE VICTIMS, [REDACTED] OR [REDACTED] AND STATES THAT INFORMATION TO ALLEGEDLY BOMB EMBASSYS OF THE SOVIET UNION, ISRAEL, BLACK AFRICAN NATIONS AND B'NAI B'RITH HEADQUARTERS IN WASHINGTON, D. C., IS LUDICROUS INsofar AS THE ORGANIZATIONS WITH WHICH HE HAS BEEN ASSOCIATED ARE CONCERNED.

CV 185-65

The following investigation was conducted by the Charlotte Division of the FBI:

No information developed through contacts with available sources to indicate that there are any training exercises being held by captioned organization in Raleigh, North Carolina area, and no information developed as to the whereabouts of [redacted] and [redacted]

b6 -4,8
b7C -4,8

In February 1977, Charlotte Division received a copy of two letters written on the stationery of the National Socialist Party of North Carolina, Post Office Box 27406, Raleigh, North Carolina 27611. A swastika was printed on the letters, and the letterhead listed [redacted] as [redacted]

b6 -4

[redacted] It has not been determined if this organization is affiliated with captioned organization.

[redacted] Burnsville, North Carolina, a former member of National Socialist White Peoples Party (NSWPP) advised on July 21, 1975, he had disassociated himself from NSWPP and had joined National Socialist Liberation Front (NSLF). At that time [redacted] was the only known member of NSWPP and his following was practically non-existent. On December 8, 1975, [redacted] advised that since the death of NSLF leader JOSEPH TOMMASI of El Monte, California, he was no longer affiliated with NSLF.

b6 -2,4

On May 16, 1977, [redacted] telephonically advised that [redacted] who now resides at [redacted] had recently been in contact with him. [redacted] reportedly told [redacted] that a worldwide organization is being organized to control blacks, Jews and other minorities and that this control would be achieved through possible armed conflict. [redacted] indicated to [redacted] that the organization has now bought a 400 acre farm which is to be used as a hide-out for fugitives and escapees until arrangements could be made with some foreign countries that would offer them asylum. [redacted] reportedly stated to [redacted] that this organization has one half million dollars of weapons stored on the farm. [redacted] could not furnish the name of the organization [redacted] was talking about.

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

Although NSPNC is member of National Socialist Congress, Chicago, Illinois, [redacted] claims this organization is composed of many small groups or cells, some of which oppose terrorist tactics and others who approve of terrorist methods. [redacted] claims his group as well as United White Peoples Party, Cleveland, Ohio, are opposed to violence and terrorism.

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

One terrorist group identified as NSM, led by [redacted] and [redacted] [redacted] Ohio. Recently leader of [redacted] group had violent argument with [redacted] and is no longer privy to any NSM plans concerning violence.

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

[redacted] indicated UWPP will remain opposed to [redacted] as long as [redacted] runs this group.

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

[redacted] is unknown to [redacted] but [redacted] [redacted] is believed to be the [redacted] of an extremely militant Nazi group known as Reich Fear SS, possibly based at Chillicothe, Ohio. [redacted] is considered a "nut" even by other Nazis and should be considered dangerous.

b6 -2,4
b7C -2,4

[redacted] recently apprehended by Federal authorities for [redacted] however, was attempting to find [redacted] suspected assassin of JOE TOMMASI, former leader of the NSLF and not involved in any plot concerning general terrorism.

b6 -2,4

[redacted] of the National Socialist Party of America, [redacted] Illinois, and is considered a moderate on terrorism.

b6 -4

Nazi addict used poison gas to kill Jewish businessman

CHICAGO — (UPI) — A Nazi and Ku Klux Klan sympathizer who killed one Jewish man and apparently had created a death list for others also built a hidden chamber in his basement "like something out of Frankenstein," police said yesterday.

Authorities were attempting to learn whether Raymond Schultz, 37, who killed himself with cyanide after his capture May 22, was acting alone.

Schultz was found unconscious near the body of Sydney Cohen, a suburban businessman. It originally was believed Cohen had died of a heart attack while struggling with Schultz, but tests showed he was poisoned by cyanide fumes.

Investigators examining Schultz's Calumet City home discovered the list, which was variously reported as containing from two to several names. Next to Cohen's name was the notation, "Get this guy first."

Another note said that, "With the help of God and A.H., I will make it to July 1." Investigators said the initials "A.H." apparently stand for Adolf Hitler.

Richard Quagliano, deputy chief of the Cook County Sheriff's Police Department, said investigators found the secret chamber at the end of the furnace room in Schultz's basement, behind a wall lined with bookcases.

"The center case had piano hinges and it was on rollers. It opened up just like something out of Frankenstein," he said.

Quagliano said investigators were studying several notebooks and diaries kept by Schultz, along with books on child pornography, child hygiene and several newspaper clippings about child slayings.

Several of the clippings referred to a number of child slayings in the Detroit area, leading to contacts between Oakland County, Mich., officials and the Cook County investigators.

Among the other items found in the home were an arsenal of poisons, parts for explosive devices and literature from the American Nazi Party and the Ku Klux Klan, authorities said.

FBI Probes Nazi Hit List For Murder

Copyright, The Journal, 1977

CHICAGO — An investigation has been ordered to determine if Raymond Lee Schultz, a Nazi sympathizer who poisoned a Jewish businessman with cyanide fumes, was part of a conspiracy to murder Jews.

Schultz, 37, of 948 Green Bay Ave., Calumet City, himself died of cyanide poison after being taken into custody by police.

In Schultz's home, police found two names and next to the name of the victim, Sydney Cohen, 63, was the notation: "Get this guy first."

The other name was "Levine or Levin," police said.

THE FBI already had a full investigation underway to determine whether some fringe elements of the Nazi party had another "hit" list to assassinate as many as a dozen prominent Jews and blacks, among them former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

The Journal has learned that FBI agents in Chicago, Cleveland and other cities had the names of six suspected targets, and have already alerted the potential victims and notified local authorities.

Besides Kissinger, the "hit list" includes:

Arthur Roubloff, Chicago real estate financier

Robert Sarnoff, formerly of RCA.

Jack Greenberg, New York, attorney for the NAACP.

Paul Warburg, banker.

Other names in the "hit list" were not known to authorities.

The FBI was also checking as to whether the elaborate plot, to happen on or around July 4th, would include plans to bomb the Washington embassies of the Soviet Union, Israel, and "some" Black African nations, as well as a number of religious and business buildings owned by Jews.

In the Schultz case, police found a note in the Nazi sympathizer's home that read: "With the help of God and A.H., I might make it to July 1." Police speculated the initials, "A.H." may have stood for Adolf Hitler.

Cohen, owner of the Sibley Lumber Co., in Harvey, Ill., was found dead at his home in the Chicago suburb of Plossmoor, Ill. on May 22.

STATE'S ATTORNEY Bernard Carey on Thursday assigned his special prosecutions unit to work with Elossmoo police on the Schultz case and Carey indicated one of the questions he most wants answered is whether Schultz was "on a mission" when he entered Cohen's home.

(The FBI had been independently investigating the other "hit list" at the time Illinois authorities developed the Schultz case.)

In the Schultz house, police found a large arsenal of deadly poison, including several gallons of hydrogen cyanide; parts for explosives; a cattle prod; Nazi and Ku Klux Klan hate literature and child pornographic books. When arrested, police found Schultz to be carrying a bottle of cyanide solution, a metal mallet, a .25-caliber pistol, a 10-inch blade hunting knife, an ice pick and ropes.

Police were unsure whether Schultz had committed suicide after killing Cohen, or may have been overcome by the deadly fumes while trying to hide the vial. Schultz, a machine operator, was arrested in 1962 in connection with American Nazi Party picketing of a Soviet movie in Chicago.

Chicago Authorities Probe "Hit" List, Nazi Conspiracy

Journal Staff Report

CHICAGO AUTHORITIES are pouring through documents found in the "bomb factory" home of a Nazi sympathizer who poisoned himself after killing a Jewish target on his "hit" list, trying to determine if he was part of a conspiracy to murder American Jews.

The list, found at the home of Raymon Lee Schultz in Calumet City, Ill., contained two names: Sydney Cohen, a Jewish businessman who was poisoned with cyanide fumes in his suburban Chicago home by Schultz on May 22, and an illegible name such as "Levin or Levine," sources said. Next to the victim's name was the notation, "Get this guy first."

Meanwhile The Journal disclosed yesterday that the Federal Bureau of Investigation had been investigating another "hit" list that was part of an alleged plot by fringe elements of the American Nazi movement to assassinate as many as a dozen prominent Jews and blacks, among them former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. No connection between the two lists has been established.

William Prendergast, the assistant state's attorney of Cook County who is the probe of the Schultz case, declined to say if any evidence directly linking Schultz to a conspiracy was uncovered but said there were leads pointing in that direction.

Prendergast said he was unaware of the FBI probe of the other "hit" list and therefore did not know if there was a connection with his case.

The FBI is probing an elaborate plot that allegedly includes plans to bomb the Washington embassies of the Soviet Union, Israel and some Black African nations as well as a number of religious and business buildings owned by Jews.

The Journal has learned who six of the purported targets are: Kissinger; Arthur Reubloff and Philip Klutznick, both Chicago real estate financiers; Robert Sarnoff, former head of the Radio Corporation of America (RCA); Jack Greenberg, a New York attorney who works for the NAACP, and Paul Warburg, a prominent Chicago banker.

PRENDERGAST said that investigators were combing through five or six boxes found in Schultz's home, which police described as a virtual "bomb factory."

Schultz had been arrested on May 22 by police called to Cohen's home by Cohen's son, who had found his father dead and Schultz lying unconscious beside him.

Police then theorized that Cohen came upon Schultz burglarizing his home, knocked him unconscious and then died from a heart attack.

The semi-conscious Schultz was put in a squad car while police searched for possible accomplices. Meanwhile he apparently took the bottle of cyanide he used to kill Cohen out of his pocket and killed himself.

When the autopsy revealed that both men died of cyanide poisoning, police discarded the burglary theory and searched Schultz's house. There they discovered the list, which was first described by police as extensive. The Journal later learned that the list contained only two names.

POLICE FOUND several other bizarre items in Schultz's home, including several gallons of cyanide, bomb components and other explosives and child-related pornographic books. Investigators are searching through five boxes of additional papers and documents found Friday.

A note found in his home said, "With the help of God and A.H., I might make it to July 1." Police speculate that the initials are those of Adolf Hitler, the leader of Nazi Germany.

Why We Are Writing About Nazis in America Today

TODAY, ON THE front page, The Journal is publishing the first in a series of articles about Nazis in America.

The question arises, naturally, why? And why, especially, this newspaper?

The answer, pure and simple, is that this is something that is happening in America today, that we discovered it on the West Side of Cleveland and we regard it as information the public and the authorities ought to know, and want to know.

We anticipate that there are those who will say, "Why are you giving them so much publicity? You are playing into their hands and making them bigshots." Others will say "Everyone knows about the Nazis, so what's new?"

That's the purpose of this column, to answer those questions.

Before Adolf Hitler came to power in Germany, no one took him seriously. His rallies and street marches and beer hall brawls were dismissed as isolated rowdyism. He preached hate. He organized brown-shirts and stormtroopers and terrorized whole neighborhoods, and especially Jews and others.

WHEN HE CAME to power, Hitler opened concentration camps and slaughtered millions of Jews, Poles, Russians, Gypsies. His doctors conducted medical and sexual experiments on women. His guards at Buchenwald and Dachau and other "death camps" separated children from their mothers' arms, and gassed them.

Do people know this? Do the people know how the stormtroopers terrified people, how Nazi judges perverted the law into Hitler's "final solution," how Nazi panzer divisions overran and blitzkreiged Holland, Denmark and France?

Not too long ago in Milwaukee, two members of Milwaukee's lunatic fringe of the Nazi Party were brought to trial for ambushing a local Jewish leader. Judge Patrick J. Madden and lawyers for both sides were determined to find a jury that would not be prejudiced against Nazis. They need not have worried.

The jury's ignorance of Nazi atrocities made jury selection easy. Of 23 people asked if they were aware of the bitterness between Nazis and Jews, none referred to World War II or any of its horrors. One juror figured that "Nazi means Communist." One woman said: "I've heard of Nazis, but I don't listen to the news that much."

Incredible. The judge himself was dismayed that so many Americans could forget, or never know of, such a recent and outrageous chapter in history.

THE THREAT TO America is that even a small number of determined men patterning themselves after Hitler and preaching the Nazi gospel of hate can create an atmosphere of terror. In Germany, Hitler was ridiculed as a kook and a nut until, as dictator, he virtually ruled all of Europe.

In America we have a glorious tradition of free speech, the right to assemble peacefully, a free press, freedom of worship, and even the right to dissent from official government views. It is important to insure that these constitutional rights be guaranteed everyone, including self-styled Nazis.

But nowhere is it written that we not carefully be on the lookout for any attempt to Nazify and terrorize America.

If the Nazis ever came to power, would they grant such freedom to others? The correct answer, of course, is that we must tolerate free speech, even the Nazis and other extremists, otherwise the values they represent have already come to power.

This does not mean that we have to allow them to bully us, terrorize us, or victimize us into submission.

If, as the saying goes, we forget history, we are doomed to relive it. The fight for freedom is never won. It is a constant battle. And we have an obligation to ourselves, and our children, to be alert to the danger of those who spread half-truths, outright lies and messages of hate and intolerance to divide us.

THE STORY ON THE Nazis in America was a difficult one for this paper to pursue, and endangered several of our staffers, especially photographer Ross Baughman, who infiltrated the Nazi movement. He was, in his own words, "frightened and intimidated."

This brings up the question: Why doesn't the FBI have informants inside the Nazi Party? Well, a year ago, then U.S. Attorney General Edward Levi pulled the FBI out of many such organizations because of the uproar over police infiltrating lawful organizations. And the Nazi movement, like it or not, is lawful — just so long as it talks and doesn't indulge in violence.

Should the FBI spy on such organizations — right-wing and left-wing? My answer is yes when they have a history of violence and when they preach the same hate and poison as Adolf Hitler did.

The problem in Nazi Germany came when Hitler lied outrageously, and the people knew he was lying, and they preferred to believe his lies rather than face the consequences of truth. Even Hitler came to believe his own lies and his fantasies of power.

The moral to be learned from the life and death of Hitler, in the opinion of William Shirer, author and historian, is simply this: No man can be trusted with power. To be enduring, power must be shared to the widest possible extent.

America is a nation of laws, not of men. We make mistakes, We are bamboozled by glib politicians and quick buck artists.

BUT OURS IS a system of checks and balances. We expose our own faults and combat them. We are a nation of immigrants and we have a tradition of fair play and decency and individual liberty.

I don't think we are ready to give up this precious, though fragile, democracy that is America, for all the bunk put out by the hate mongers.

The kind of America we ought to be, and will be, does not rest with the extremists, or even the politicians. It's up to you, and me, and everyone else who believes in equality of opportunity and individual liberty as opposed to the restrictions and oppressions of the Old World.

"I Infiltrated the Nazis"

A staff photographer for The Journal, J. Ross Raughman, infiltrated the Nazi movement for eight months beginning last October.

He wore a swastika armband and the brownshirt uniform of the American Nazi. He also wore a .38 caliber revolver while on duty at the headquarters and bookstore of the Cleveland Nazi chapter on Clark Ave.

In a series of articles beginning tomorrow in The Sunday Journal, he tells of their activities and of a meeting in Cleveland where delegates from the United States, Canada and Germany mapped out plans for political activities and commando training.

You can read about Raughman's frightening experiences with this mysterious group in The Sunday Journal. Also, The Editor's Notebook by Irving Leibowitz tells "why we now writing about Nazis in America today."

"I Infiltrated the Nazis To Learn Their Secrets"

EDITOR'S NOTE: J. Ross Haughman of The Journal staff infiltrated the American Nazi movement in October, 1948. Over the next several months, he had an inside look at the people and plans of this frightening and mysterious group. The FBI has launched an active investigation of the group. This is the first of a series of articles and photos by Haughman.

By J. ROSS HAUGHMAN
Of The Journal Staff

For eight months, I was a Nazi.

My involvement began by chance last October when I saw the Nazi headquarters on Clark Avenue in Cleveland. After my curiosity gradually outweighed my fears, I decided to enter their secret world.

Posing as a wedding photographer, I spied on their activities, studied their beliefs and acted like one of them. I gained their confidence by willingly doing menial tasks, including painting their headquarters and stuffing envelopes.

After four months I was admitted as a full member. In addition to my regular work as a staff member of The Journal, I took an inside look at the United White People's Party (UWPP), and the National Socialist Congress in Cleveland and Chicago. I wore a .38-caliber revolver while on duty at the UWPP bookstore in Cleveland, primarily to protect it from unwanted intruders.

During my contacts with the Nazi Party, while I was a staff photographer for The Journal, I found myself in danger a few times. Once a Magnum was pointed at my head during an intra-party squabble.

Members are from every walk of life. Their number includes people ages from 18 to 60, with parents actively raising their children to be Nazis.

The hard-core Nazi organizers, seeking to broaden the group's membership and clout, have adopted a political platform designed to attract the frustrated white middle-class citizen who feels that the rich have too much money and the poor get too much for free.

While the party inhibits publicity against housing, integration, desegregation, abortion, gun control, immigration and American involvement in the Middle East, some Nazis privately preach violence. By gaining the Nazis' confidence to the point of becoming their official photographer, I discovered their plans for the immediate future.

One day in March, I was assigned to photograph a building on Clark Avenue. The building had once been an old family grocery store, but the facade had since been whitewashed and turned into a sign promoting God (a white cross on a red field), Nation (in this case, Old Glory) and Race (the unmistakable banner of Nazi Germany). Racist slogans and a photo number for their "White Power" message were plastered on the front of the building that also serves as the UWPP national headquarters.

The store was closed, but I returned eight days later, a Saturday, for light — and shorter — visit inside.

An armed officer with a cross and blackshirt uniform watched closely as I wandered about the looking at posters, magazines, flags and T-shirts. Near the door, the room was a large portrait photograph of an unforgettable
An autograph, written in German translated as "... for my good friend (signed) A. Hitler."

As I looked into a dusty glass case of belt buckles, iron cross earrings and other trinkets, the officer asked "Have you been involved in any right-wing movements or are you just a World War II bug?"

I looked up, momentarily speechless. He had U.S. Army cap bars on his collar, and his nose looked like a prizefighter's.

Before I could respond, a phone call interrupted us, giving me a few minutes to study him. He finished his conversation; he said, "White Power."

"Is there something you're especially interested in?" he asked tucking in his shirttail. My eyes were drawn to his tool-like sawtooth belt and a big revolver on his hip.

I was so intimidated that I could only manage a feeble, "No, I was just curious to stop by." My first visit lasted less than five minutes.
Although I was curious to find out what went on inside the headquarters,
I couldn't imagine going back. I suspected I couldn't find out. Besides,
I was afraid.

But I gathered my courage and, a little better prepared, returned the next week. Luckily, a young lieutenant was on duty this time, one much more affable than the gruff captain.

He asked for my name, but quickly offered his. He was clean cut, slightly undereducated, but very friendly and likable. Lt. X sported a full holster, too; but at least he was less wary of me than the captain was.

"What does the party actually do?"
I asked.

"I thought that I wanted a decent government, he got out pamphlets on spendings and welfare. One was about the other was obviously a basement production, loaded with bad emotion and faulty grammar.

Lt. X offered to put me on a short-term mailing list for free, saying,
"We're registered as a non-profit organization."

I asked, "Is most of it just general party thinking, like this, that you get it in some other way?"

"No, we have our own press here," he said. "And once a month there's a newsletter that deals just with our upcoming events."

My face became slowly familiar to a variety of the Cleveland Nazis during the next three months. Each day, every five days or so, they would be outside and inside.

Soon I could recognize about 20 people who would come wandering in and out of the building. But apart from that, I had no way then to be sure how many members or uniformed Nazis were in the party. Furthermore,
I had no chance to take pictures without attracting suspicion.

The only way to gain their confidence was by asking to become a member, and by volunteering my services as a photographer.

My chance came in February because the party needed help for the upcoming National Socialist Congress, a national meeting of various Nazi groups planned to be held in Cleveland during the last weekend that month.

My first encounter with the Blackshirt captain since that initial day back in October paved the way. I was browsing through the official newspaper from The National Socialist Party of America (NSPA), a sister party in Chicago, when he spotted me.

"Well, I didn't think I'd be seen around again," he said.

"No, I've gotten real interested in the people here," I said confidently.
"Can you tell me in on this National Socialist Congress? I didn't realize people would be coming here from all over the world in just a few weeks..."

"Oh yeah," he interrupted. "We're doing a big part in unifying all the Nazis — so we've planned to get together and get a few things down in writing."

He says here, "No one will be admitted who is not on our list." Would it be possible for me to get on the list?"
I asked.

"No. This is going to be a working congress," he said. "No marches or demonstrations. Leaders, their aides and our troopers on duty will be the only ones who get in."

Realizing the importance of this meeting, I blurted, "Then can I join?"

I caught him off guard, but he smiled. "You could never join us wearing a beard like that. Even though it's short, our code says,
'Mustaches, but no beards.' Besides, it's tougher than you think. You have to swear an oath. You owe your allegiance to the party and the commandant."

He felt sure it wasn't in me.

But the next weekend, when he wasn't around, I returned — with my beard shaved off. I filled out my application and impressed them by saying what they wanted to hear in an interview.

I was put on a detail to paint and repair the party building for the congress and was sworn in before supper.

Nazi Internal Strife —And How They United

ON FEB. 28, 1977, the same day Time Magazine suggested that American Nazis were "politically impotent" and dwindling in numbers, the executive council of the National Socialist Congress met in Cleveland and consolidated the international power of seven Nazi parties, mapping out plans for political activism for the coming summer.

Three days earlier, I had finished the two-day task of cleaning, repainting and painting the Cleveland headquarters for the secret convention. Assigned to the detail with three other brownshirts, I tried to portray myself as humble and dedicated to the Nazi cause. My reward, when the work was completed, came in the form of a swastika armband and brownshirt.

On Saturday, Feb. 28, the first full day session of the congress, another reporter posed as my wife while I worked as the official photographer of the United White People's Party (UWPP). She helped the other wives with a special dinner after the formal business, which I felt added to my image of sincerity.

There was an unmistakably American flavor about this meeting, held in a room about the size of a typical church basement. From their lighthearted chatting, this group of about 25 people could have been any social, fraternal or civic club.

Like their followers, these Nazi chieftains view themselves as patriotic Americans. During my eight months behind the scenes, most Nazis I met seemed like ordinary people. Some were obsessed, grim and tough.

Together they are managing broad anti-busing, anti-integration and anti-abortion lobbies in concert with other groups, along with their own recruiting drive that has wrapped a swastika around the arms of policemen, professionals, Vietnam veterans and high school students. The Nazis exhibit a sense of frustration and rage, which the swastika symbolizes.

THE SWASTIKA is a "threshold of anger," says Frank Collin, leader of Nazi parties in 26 cities.

"It remains today as one of the most hypnotic, potent, scary symbols in the world," Collin told me. "When an American puts it on, you can be sure he's fighting mad."

At the National Socialist Congress, leaders of the movement wore the swastika on brown uniforms of a dozen different shades. Some sported tunics with insignias and medals that looked old and tarnished enough to have come from the Third Reich. At intervals came in all designs - silk worned, woven, embroidered, plain and fancy. Some outfits were complete, down to death's head buttons and black leather jack boots. Nazi symbols and the meeting's "White Power" slogan were also draped on banners along L71 by UWPP youth members, who had covered many overpasses on Cleveland's near West Side the night before. As some of the delegates from the United States, Canada and Germany drove from Hopkins International Airport, a film crew from the National Socialist Party of America (NSPA) made a documentary that included every "White Power" and swastika sign they passed.

The first test for the national congress was to expand existing racism into organized white solidarity. But the union was still piqued by the kind of infighting that had crippled the Nazi movement for the last 18 years.

A FEUD and professional rivalry between a Cincinnati propagandist and a Virginia pamphleteer had succeeded in confusing and embarrassing Nazis everywhere.

Settling this feud was a principal order of business at the Cleveland meeting. It was a sticky problem for Frank Collins of Chicago and the new executive council.

Collin convinced one of the leading Nazis to resign and then, to the rest of the congress, he denounced the man for battling with a fellow white man.

The sudden amputation seemed to satisfy the Nazis heading what could have been a fatal split within the young alliance.

Collin was confirmed by the executive council to the rank of national coordinator of the congress. Permitting him to dominate and shape all of the policy that followed.

AS A GESTURE of diplomacy, Collin preferred that other members of the council propose his suggestions. Among other actions, all ties to other right-wing groups were officially severed. All national and state party policies were brought under Collin's control, and a military style chain of command was inaugurated with the executive council in charge.

"Spheres of influence" were divided among the original party organizations to incorporate any new chapters into the congress.

A security staff was assigned to one commander and a communications network to another.

Groundwork was laid in a casual manner for a Nazi youth olympics this summer, as well as for commando training camps based in Panorama City, Calif., with the National Socialist Liberation Front (NSLF) and in Raleigh, N.C.

A misanthrope asked for an official party statement on Fred Cowan, a well-styled Nazi who shot five men to death and wounded four others in a New York warehouse shootout two weeks earlier.

DISOWNING COWAN was necessary to keep National Socialism looking like a non-violent, law-abiding political party. One leader fielded the question, at first blasting Cowan as "a kook and a nut ... certainly not a bona fide member of our group."

But as his emotional pitch heightened, he called Cowan "A villain but misguided white man ... a simple working-class man turned warrior ... forced to do what he did by Jew slave-drivers ..."

"The only mistake Cowan made was takin' niggers instead of Jews," he said. "Even if he had shot up most of the black bastards, no white man's life is worth trading for 10 or 20 niggers. When I decide that I've had enough, I'm gonna take really big Jews down with me."

Two weeks after the congress, on Sunday, March 13, about 30 UWPP members came to a meeting at the Cleveland headquarters. Here I got a better look from the inside at the range of Cleveland Party

TWENTY WORE uniforms: Six

The teenage boys wore green uniforms, the color worn by the original Hitler Youth; Nine of us were members of the brownshirt stormtroopers, a corps designed for public demonstration; The five leading officers of the group were members of the blackshirt "Shock Troops," who began as brownshirts but had proven themselves to be the best-trained and disciplined fighters.

Aside from a few illbeens, these 26 uniformed members made up the reliable force of the UWPP.

The meeting was mostly routine. A Cleveland leader announced that an expansion group in Brighton, Mich., that had applied for membership in the UWPP, had been approved. He also reported on the success of the party's T-shirt silk-screening business and that large orders had come in from Raleigh, N.C., and Texas. After answering a few questions from the members, he made a special point of introducing me as their newest recruit, declaring that I had his permission to photograph anything in the headquarters that I wanted to.

At the end of the meeting, a special ceremony was conducted during which a small urn of ashes was ignited, and the members gathered around to sing the Horst Wessel Song. The lyrics extolled Aryan courage and the scourging of race traitors. I photographed the whole event in a series that would be used on the cover of the next UWPP newsletter. Before I left, the leader said he wanted me to stop down to the headquarters in a week to show him this latest set of pictures.

ON TUESDAY, March 23, about 8:30 at night, I brought a set of photographs to the headquarters, but Lt. X, the 24-hour armed watchman, was the only one there. It was a rather strange scene: Lt. X was sitting in the dark in a chair with a shotgun across his lap, watching the Wizard of Oz on television.

On Thursday, April 14, I dropped some pictures off and found one of the leaders in a worried state. He said he had an argument with Lt. X a few days earlier and the lieutenant had not been seen since.

There was no indication of finality — only the impression that Lt. X thought the Cleveland group was not acting in the best interest of the United White Peoples Party or the Congress of Racial.

Two days later, there was still no word on Lt. X. I was on duty behind the Nazi bookstore counter when, at about 1 p.m., I answered the private party phone. It was Lt. X.

He said he wanted to collect some of his things, but only if the commander was not around. With the commander right at my side, I told Lt. X that the commander had stepped out, and Lt. X could come over right away.

TEN MINUTES later, he called me again and said, "What kind of — do you think I am? I saw (name) truck parked around the side. Stop lying to me. I'm gonna meet you by your car across the street and I want you to bring all of my mail after you close the shop."

A half hour later, Lt. X came slamming through the door with four other men dressed in street clothes, demanding first that I drop the revolver that was part of my co-duty uniform.

I hadn't even remembered that I was wearing a holster, and as I took some time to obey his instructions he got very angry, and drew his .357 magnum from a shoulder holster and pointed it at my head. He made me get on the floor and crawl backwards away from the pistol, which he then uncocked, scattering the cartridges on the floor.

He signalled one of his friends to go into an office behind the counter and grab two rifles and a shotgun. He exchanged a few insults with the commander, saying that he was unworthy to be a Nazi leader, that he was just a slow, frightened old man.

The commander asked Lt. X what he was going to do with the weapons. On his way out the door, Lt. X shouted: "We're gonna shoot the right people and blow stuff up all over the place come the Fourth of July."

The commander was disappointed and angry with me for "freezing up under fire," but he said he hoped the incident would not discourage me from staying with the

ON THE EVE of the 81st anniversary of Adolf Hitler's birth — April 20, 1976 — Federal agents and local police raided the Chicago headquarters of the Nazis, suspecting they were on the verge of pulling off a "major nefarious act."

The cache of weapons seized spread for 50 feet and included automatic weapons, shotguns, rifles, pistols, black powder and 12,000 rounds of ammunition. A detailed target map of Union Station in Chicago was found folded inside a book entitled, "Explosives and Demolitions."

The weapons were not returned.

Today Frank Collier, who is now America's top Nazi, says the Nazis have regrouped and are in better shape "than ever."

A veteran of the original American Nazi Party in the 1960's, Collier was elected national coordinator of the newly formed National Socialist Congress at a summit held in Cleveland Feb. 25-27, 1977. There, he united 19 Nazi chapters from the United States, Canada and Western Europe and has since recruited working class people from seven additional cities.

According to maps and files I saw in Collier's office, active Nazi units have buildings in these nine cities: New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Cleveland, Dallas, Toronto, Paris, Copenhagen and Munich. They also showed that Nazis have chapters with secret meeting places in Pasadena, Tex.; Galveston, Tex.; Inglewood, Calif.; Oklahoma City; St. Louis; Milwaukee; Indianapolis; Detroit; Brighton, Mich.; Cincinnati; Louisville; Pittsburgh; Salt Lake City; Vicksburg, Kentucky, and Lincoln, Neb.

IN ADDITION, the maps and files located communist training camps in Raleigh, N.C., and Panorama City, Calif.

The collective membership in the National Socialist Congress is as difficult to estimate as any other group of its kind, but I estimate there are 1,000 dues-paying, uniformed members nationally.

Chicago's National Socialist Party of America (NSA), under Collin's direct control, is regarded as the biggest and best organized Nazi group in the congress, able to put 75 uniformed stormtroopers on the street in an emergency.

Add to that a fluctuating group of at least 10 Youth Corp; members in "White Power" T-shirts.

"We are really proud of our staff," Collin told me. "We train them to be ruthless little barbarians. We give them a chance at a shotgun, even when it breaks their little shoulders. It's good for them -- toughens them up."

In Cleveland, there are 23 members in uniform, and another ten who are regular supporters. They are a potent force nationally, however, since among them are several veterans of the old American Nazi Party founded in Arlington, Va., in 1933, as well as a few Germans who were in the brown-shirted and black-shirted SS groups of Hitler.

Data from Southern and other Northern cities suggest that Nazism has equal enlistment and support in both areas. From officers' promotion statistics, budgets and mailing lists, most of the city chapters appear to have about 50 men in uniform.

THE ESTIMATE of 1,000 uniformed members is evidenced by the 1,000 circulation of the group's internal newsletter, "NS Report," which for the most part is sent only to dues-paying members.

"We have the people, we have the law, and we're battling," said a leader of the National Socialist Government in Cincinnati.

Speaking in Chicago on Oct. 30, 1978 with other Nazi leaders who eventually formed the National Socialist Congress, a Nazi leader said:

"We have the men. We have the underground -- the National Socialist Liberation Front -- and they're doing it. You don't read about it. Once in a while it hits the paper. They pulled tactics in Cincinnati and other cities."

"They are striking at the heart of the enemy."

SIX MONTHS LATER I asked Collin, whose rhetoric is much more guarded, if he thought Chicagoans saw the Nazis as interested in overthrowing the United States Government.

"They're not sure how far we plan to go and unfortunately that's one thing for not being more consistent with the long haul," he said. "We must think to think that the average party member only wants to clean up his own neighborhood, maybe even the whole country, and then get back about his business."

Realizing that Collin was the key to understanding the scope of the national Nazi organization, I went to Chicago in April 80.

I spoke to Collin in his private den at the Rockwell Hall headquarters after persuading my commander in Cleveland into giving me a letter of introduction.

Sitting in an armchair beneath a large framed portrait of Adolf Hitler, Collin drank from a glass of ice water and spoke freely to me as a fellow Nazi for three hours. He offered his version of the party's American movement and alluded to activist plans for the coming months and years.

"WHAT ABOUT you, Frank?" I asked. "Would you like to stay in a leadership role?"

"I would love to be in the White House some day, and call all the nation's most talented minds around the race garden, outside my office, and get out the checkbook and say, 'Okay, who's got ideas to set this country back on course?'"

I asked Collin if many potential supporters of the party are scared off by the Nazis' reputation for violence.

"... We're not troublemakers," he said. "The Jews and the niggers are the troublemakers, and the American public is beginning to see that."

COLLIN PREDICTED a "devastating race war" in the near future because "the average white man in this country is beginning to want that in the darkest part of their hearts now."

"We will be there to guide it when the time is right, but we can't just come out and incite people to violence -- not in the position we have put ourselves in, running for office and all."

Collin was referring to his 1978 bid for an aldermanic seat in Chicago, and his openly Nazi campaign last year for the U.S. Congress seat from Illinois' third district.

In the aldermanic races, Collin and other Nazi candidates got 2,000 votes and Collin placed second in a field of six candidates from his 15th ward.

The Chicago Nazis tallied an even larger following for the race in November, 1978. They delivered 15,000 signatures on petitions to put Collin in nomination for Congress and enough to put the party's deputy leader, Richard Tedor, up for state senator.

Tedor was disqualified because of "errors" on his petitions, but there was enough watertight support for Collin that the "White Power Party" was added to the ballot as the only choice besides the Democrat and Republican parties.

RETURNS ON election day were hotly disputed, but by Nov. 23 the official results gave the "White Power Party" only 1,100 votes.

Collin told me that the politicians in power "robbed" votes that would have given him 30 percent of the total, and he said the government had cynically bought his efforts to influence the public "on every level."

He cited the first time, in the summer of 1969, when he was arrested for standing up on a park bench in uniform to address a small crowd. While he fought for and eventually won his right to speak through appeals courts, arrests continued for distributing literature, soliciting money and appearing in anything that could be construed as a march.

The very day we talked, the Nazis had tried to march against Skokie, a nearby Jewish suburb, but they had been stopped at the city limits by a court order, three Chicago police cars and a helicopter. The attorney assign-

Collin from the American Civil Liberties Union. David Goldberger (who Collin calls a "good little Jew"), thinks the case will be won in the Nazis' favor.

Another of the 12 lawyers who work on National Socialist Congress cases is currently in Washington trying to reverse a Federal Communications Commission ruling requiring that a Nazi FM radio network could operate "in the best interests of the community" and still espouse racist arguments. Collin said he has the transmitting equipment and is only waiting for the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court.

The issue holds a special interest to Collin who is very conscious of molding the party's public image.

FOR MY SAKE and that of other visitors, he made a point of showing a series of NSPA films he had put together himself — complete with titles, martial goose-stepping music and a smooth but staid monologue.

When a barrage of emotional, threatening words blurted out at the end of the film, I realized that the soundtrack had been recorded over an old speech of Collin.

Sounding strained and exhausted, Collin had been trying to amuse an audience with party rhetoric. A switch from anything I had heard from him, it sounded like a passionate English translation of Adolf Hitler. Collin barked for it to be turned off.

DECIDED that somehow I would have to hear the rest.

When Collin went to bed I had my chance. I found the tape still in the machine, and listened to it with the volume turned low.

I could not understand everything he was saying in the speech, which I found out had been taped at a rally on Oct. 30, 1976, while he was trying to whip pride into the new members of the National Socialist Congress. This is part of what Collin said:

"We must compete against the Red sun. But this will not stop us! It will not hinder us! National Socialism will go forward — smash, kill, exterminate its enemies until the white race is the only race on the planet Earth!"

THE NEWFOUND unity and power of the American Nazi movement, whose 20-year history can only be characterized as splintered and ineffective, began eight months ago largely by chance.

The White Confederacy, an umbrella group planning to pool all the right-wing, white-supremacist factions in the nation, brought the divided Nazi chapters together in Chicago on Oct. 20, 1976.

Previous meetings had failed to spur even enough agreement to forge common goals.

Seven independent pockets of the old American Nazi Party attended the October meeting, but every other group cancelled at the last minute. Angry and disillusioned, the Nazi commanders salvaged the meeting by vowing to bridge their long-standing differences and by scheduling another congress for February, 1977, which proved to strengthen the band.

The alliance came on the heels of a rocky history.

GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL, a former U.S. Naval officer, started the original American Nazi Party in 1958 and ruled a nationwide network of Nazi units with an iron fist until his murder in 1967.

Although a dynamic speaker, Rockwell never sparked the political and social revolution he advocated in his book "White Power."

Rockwell insisted on keeping personal control of the party, which at one time had 1,000 uniformed members. He ran the party from Arlington, Va., and Washington, D.C., where he felt he could make the biggest impact.

If nothing else, the flamboyant Rockwell got the publicity he sought during the 1960s by such gambits as a Midwestern tour by a Nazi "Hate Bus."

Jealous underlings engineered a coup, and, after unsuccessful attempts, Rockwell was murdered by a sniper as he parked his car in front of an Arlington supermarket on Aug. 25, 1967. Only 76 uniformed Nazis turned out for the funeral.

SPURNING Rockwell's theories, the new Nazi leadership advocated a less activist image in order to "educate the American people to the Nazi way of thinking." Eventually they planned to stress recruitment and active political campaigning.

"They dropped the swastika symbol," along from Hitler's "The National Socialist Workers Party," and now call each of their units "The National Socialist White People's Party."

Party organizers told their new leaders were trying to sell well established until the white supremacist views and, fearing the leaders might go as far as dropping the swastika, began leaving. As a result, between 1947 and 1950, expensive years for the United States, the National Socialist White People's Party was silent.

By 1970, most leaders across the movement had left or were on the verge of leaving. Isolated and powerless, the leaders nevertheless maintained independent groups in these locations:

CLEVELAND: Headquarters of the United White People's Party (UWPP), which has satellites in Columbus, Indianapolis and Brighton, Mich.;

CHICAGO: Headquarters of the National Socialist Party of America (NSPA), which has satellites in St. Louis and Centereach, on Long Island, N.Y.;

CINCINNATI: Headquarters of the National Socialist Movement (NSM), which has a satellite in Detroit;

SAN FRANCISCO: Headquarters of the National Socialist White Workers' Party (NSWWP), which has satellites in Galveston and Pasadena, both in Texas, and in Inglewood, Calif.;

LOUISVILLE: Headquarters of the National Socialist Liberation Front (NSLF), which has a satellite in Panorama City, Calif.

OKLAHOMA CITY: Location of the Local Reichstag Group.

INTERNATIONAL: The National Socialist German Workers' Party

(NSWWP) has chapters in Missouri, France and Canada.

When these seven groups found themselves deserted at the Chicago convention of The White Conspiracy last October, they united their forces and over the 1,000 over under the banner and the catch of "White Power." In the following months, they expanded their reach to areas more cities.

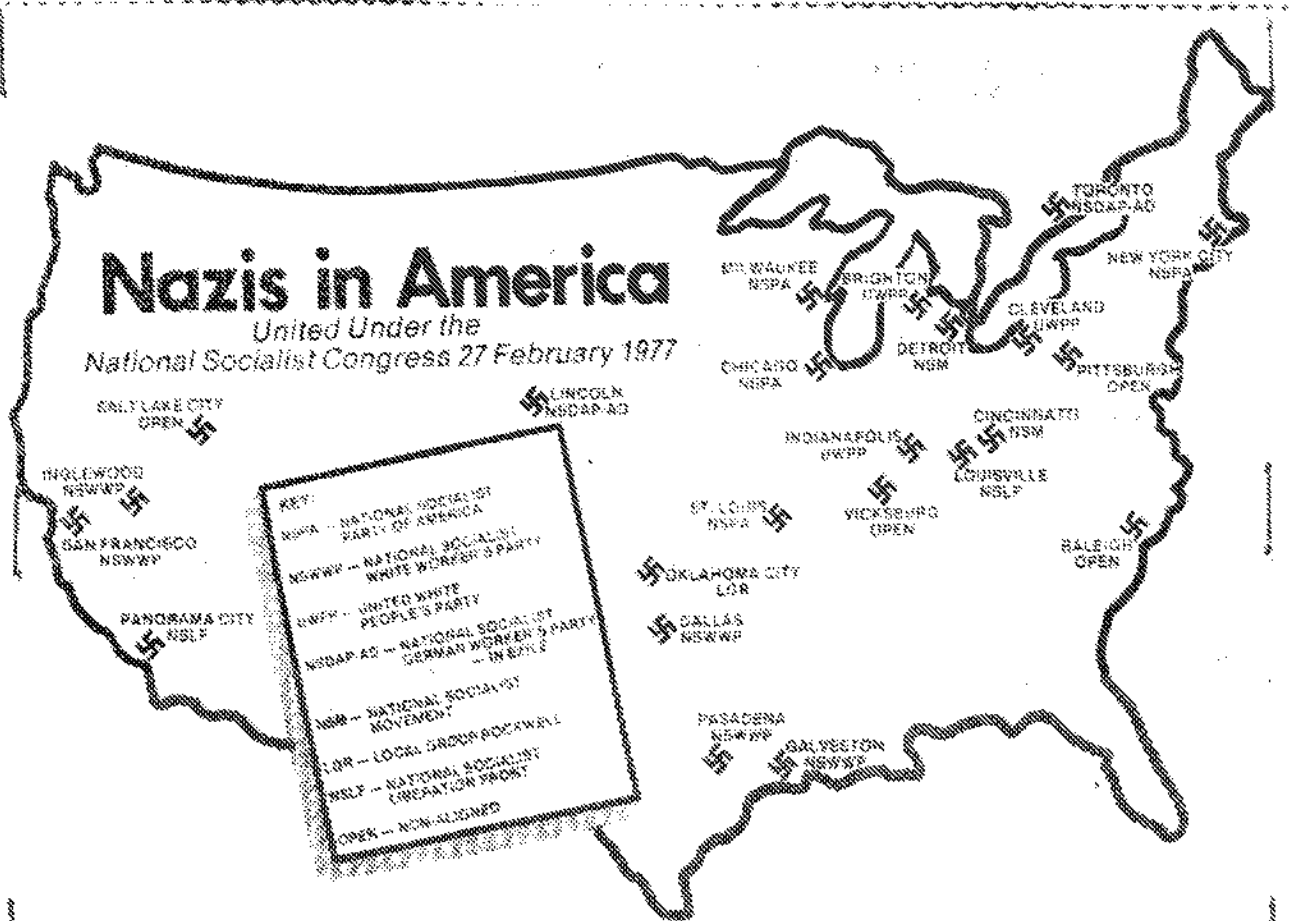

Now chapters are now also located in Salt Lake City, Utah; Lincoln, Nebraska; Milwaukee; Dallas; Prosbury, Ky.; Raleigh, N.C.; and Pittsburgh.

Nazis in America

United Under the National Socialist Congress 27 February 1977

NAZI POWER BASES across the country became united under the National Socialist Congress last February.

Here Is a Woman's View Of a Nazi "Get Together"

EDITOR'S NOTE: J. Ross Boughman of The Journal staff infiltrated the American Nazi movement for eight months beginning in October, 1976. He gained the Nazis' confidence to the point of being made the official photographer for the National Socialist Congress, which met in Cleveland to consolidate the international power of seven Nazi parties. Another Journal reporter posed as Boughman's wife at the first full-day session of the congress, Saturday, February 28. Following are some of her recollections and impressions.

By A Journal Staff Writer

I WAS IN A ROOM with about 30 American Nazis when I attended the National Socialist Congress in Cleveland last February 28. For six hours, I posed as the wife of Journal staff photographer J. Ross Boughman, who had infiltrated the Nazi movement several months before. I left the building only once with Ross for about 15 minutes, to "get some air."

The tension was so great I felt like I wanted to scream. The meeting was like a family reunion, but I wasn't part of the family.

One woman asked me for the spelling of Ross' name when we first met in. She also wanted to know his birthdate and year of birth. I hesitated because I wasn't really sure. Thank God all the numbers popped in my head.

A couple of hours later the same woman suddenly asked me if Ross and I were married. I nodded my head "yes," then thought how odd it was for her to ask me what she already "knew." Paranoia started setting in.

The woman also told me one of the Nazi speakers at the meeting that she was going to "work" on me to get me to do things for the cause.

Later, two attractive and well-groomed women came in with their boyfriends or husbands. They, along with another woman and the woman who questioned me were the only other women at the meeting.

THERE WAS A carry-in dinner and someone said this was the first time in nine years, since the death of Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell, that the National Socialist Party of America (NSPA) was really coming together in one strong body.

I sat and broke bread with NSPA leader Frank Collin, who was later chosen as national coordinator of the National Socialist Congress.

Never once did Collin acknowledge my existence. He never addressed a question to me, and seemingly ignored any comments I made. He talks AT people, not with them. I think he would continue his oration if he were locked in a closet.

Some of the men at the meeting wore guns. There was talk of private acts of violence.

Collin and the group of underlings that surrounded him seemed almost irritated by "old guard" ideas for party operations except where violence was an issue. One man in his mid-twenties seemed to keep an eye on Kils and me. He came up to us once after a propaganda film had been shown and told us in a brotherly tone, ". . . don't let the talk of violence bother you. We're different. We're for the parity of the white race, the brotherhood of white people. . ."

Apparently he had noticed our uneasiness.

THERE WERE ALSO three "Hitler Youths" at the meeting. They really chilled me. They wore green shirts, black trousers and boots. They were trim, lean and solid. Before the propaganda film was shown, one sat down in the chair next to me. They wouldn't let Ross take their pictures.

Leaders said they planned training camps on the east and west coasts, and they spoke of a "pyramid structure" -- having battle leaders accountable to a board of directors.

In the area of recruitment, they gave specific details of seeking out persons in the professions -- teachers, doctors, dentists, etc. -- to join the movement.

They said they would have a tailor standardize uniforms so that all groups across the country would have one identifying appearance.

They said they would secure a lawyer who would train congress members in courtroom procedures -- how to act, what to say, etc. It was also mentioned that a handbook of how to fight legal battles was in the process of being assembled.

Delegates said they were out to clean up the party of "independents." They said they would eliminate "one man" operations, defined as sympathizers in communities who advertise in newspapers listing post office box numbers to spread information on their own.

They keep stressing unity. Along with unity, they stressed the concept that members should do anything the party asks of them.

They planned social events to coincide with the birthdays of fallen leaders. They stressed a need to think Rockwell, not Hitler: ". . . this is America. . . Rockwell is our American leader."

Collin himself is unlike Hitler in that Hitler was an originally creative person. Collin comes across as a copy. His success will depend on how many other copies listen to and agree with him.

AT THE SAME TIME, ambitious upstartlings assassinated Hockwell in order to take over the party. Collin wanted to quit when Hockwell died, but was persuaded to continue on in Chicago as a regional ANP leader. By 1970 his disillusionment ballooned and squabbles with the Arlington leaders forced a break with the party.

Collin formed the National Socialist Party of America (NSPA), now regarded as the biggest and best organized Nazi group in the country. Unlike most Nazis in America, Collin and his immediate staff make Nazism a full-time career, devoting 50 to 60 hours a week to the cause. Responsible for both the day-to-day activities of the NSPA and coordination of the National Socialist Congress alliance, Collin keeps his full-time living quarters at the NSPA headquarters.

I asked Collin if his Chicago organization had been able to establish a positive reputation inside its own community.

"We are trying hard to associate ourselves in the minds of the public with this country's first revolutionaries," he said. "People will come to see that we have a very positive view of the future for whites."

Nazis in the Streets

NAZIS MARCHING in the streets of America with swastikas, Hitler salutes, and Nazi slogans and songs?

Yes, the United States Supreme Court yesterday ruled by a vote of 5 to 4 that self-styled Nazis of the National Socialist Party are allowed to demonstrate publicly in Skokie, Illinois, a Chicago suburb with a large Jewish population.

And the Supreme Court was quite correct, though it is surprising that four justices dissented.

The Journal has just completed a series exposing the inner workings of the Nazi movement in America, thanks to J. Ross Baughman, a staff photographer who infiltrated the inner councils of the National Socialist Party of America. The series was written to alert the authorities and the public to something that is happening in America today and because we felt it is information the public and the authorities want to know and ought to know.

It is no secret that the self-styled American Nazis are mischief makers, peddlers of hate and are trying to divide America.

BUT IF AMERICA'S guarantee of liberty has any real meaning, we must allow it to even the most obnoxious, including enemies of our way of life. Otherwise, who is to say to whom freedom belongs?

The truth is that if the Nazis ever came to power they would not grant such rights to others. Which is why we must tolerate free speech, even to the Nazis and other extremists, otherwise the values they represent have already come to power.

This does not mean that we have to allow them to bully us, terrorize us, or victimize us into submission.

What Frank Collin's self-styled Nazis want to do, in Chicago is to intimidate the Jewish population, cause a riot, and gain some more recruits.

Under the circumstances, what should we do? What can we do?

Law enforcement officials ought to watch very carefully these people who preach the same half-truths, outright lies and messages of hate and intolerance to divide us. The Nazi party has a history of violent acts, in Germany, and in the United States, and our law enforcement officials should be on guard against any similar tactics.

AS FOR THE REST of us, ordinary citizens, we ought to ignore them, and especially don't interfere with their marches, rallies or speeches. What the Nazis want is to provoke fights and place themselves in the position of being the victims.

The truth is that many of the real victims of the Nazi cause are some members who join out of frustration, ignorance and fear. That's how the Nazis came to power in Germany. That's how they are playing it in America.

America's Top Nazi Talks to The Journal

By RICH OSBORNE and TOM FERRIS
Journal Staff Writers

FRANK COLLIN, America's top Nazi, yesterday said that he has discussed plans to assassinate prominent Jews in the United States but that those plans have since been dropped.

Collin, leader of a newly formed alliance of Nazi chapters in the United States, Canada and West Germany, said he was unaware of an alleged murder "hit list" currently under investigation by the FBI, but he said he would have no qualms if such a plan was carried out.

The 35 - year - old Chicago - based Nazi said, "Whatever works, whatever gets national socialism in power; that's our morality. Whatever works for us is good. The end completely justifies the means."

In a wide - ranging telephone interview, Collin at one point said, "We never plan acts of violence." Later, however, he said he has discussed plans to kill American citizens.

While Collin said he now concentrates on fighting for Nazis' rights through political and legal channels, he said that there are underground operations in the Nazi movement with "extremely violent tendencies."

The Journal contacted Collin yesterday at his Chicago headquarters for comment on a five - part series on the Nazis last week by Journal Staff Photographer J. Ross Baughman.

Baughman infiltrated the American Nazi movement last October and spent the next seven months spying on its activities. He drew a picture of formerly splintered groups gaining strength through an alliance called the National Socialist Congress, which Collin heads.

Baughman detailed the location of chapters of the congress and estimated the total uniformed strength at 1,200 members. Among those chapters were commando training camps in California and North Carolina.

The series included photographs and an interview of Collin. Baughman talked with Collin in his Chicago headquarters after being introduced to him as a fellow Nazi in Cleveland.

COLLIN SAID that he was aware of the series and had seen some of the photographs published in a Chicago newspaper but that he had not seen the articles.

Collin corroborated that there are "about 28" chapters across the country and that a commando training camp is in California, but downplayed the "infiltration."

"The only thing I kind of resent is the attempts by the news media to always make us seem clandestine and underground. We don't have to sneak around or hide or be afraid of our ideas. There is nothing secretive about it. What is there to infiltrate?"

Hester Naughton's series, which was widely published nationally, the Nazis have recently captured the spotlight in two other stories.

The Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that Collin's Chicago chapter, the National Socialist Party of America, must be allowed to rally in Skokie, a suburb with a large Jewish population, unless the constitutionality of an ordinance prohibiting the "white supremacy" demonstration was tested in court. The ruling was a victory for the Nazis.

In the other story, The Journal revealed two weeks ago that the FBI has been investigating an alleged plot by fringe elements of the American Nazi movement to assassinate as many as a dozen prominent American Jews and blacks, among them former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

THE ELABORATE scheme, which was allegedly planned for the Fourth of July, is said to include plans to bomb the Washington embassies of the Soviet Union, Israel and some Black African nations, as well as a number of religious and business buildings owned by Jews.

The Journal learned that six of the purported targets were: Kissinger, Arthur Reubloff and Phillip Klutznick, Chicago real estate financiers; Robert Sarroff, former head of the Radio Corporation of America (RCA); Jack Greenberg, a New York attorney for the NAACP, and Paul Warburg, a prominent Chicago banker.

Thomas Corbett of the Cleveland FBI office said yesterday that the investigation is continuing and that 10 other FBI offices are involved.

Corbett said Chicago agents tried to question Collin June 7 about the alleged plot but Collin refused to cooperate. Corbett said others also would not answer questions.

When told yesterday that the FBI probe dealt with a hit list, Collin said:

"That is totally new to me. That is rather out of contact with what our organization does. You gentlemen seem to be kind of concerned with the secret, military, underground operation -- and they do exist in the National Socialist movement, there's no doubt about it, and there are extremely violent tendencies towards that -- but over and above all, the main thrust of the National Socialist Party of America is to reach the masses of our people."

Collin said, "Right now it suits our purposes to be legal and abide by the law," but added he was not opposed to the use of violence to attain his goals.

Q. So you would have no qualms if there was a plan out to kill, say, 12 people?

A. Absolutely not. Put a couple of crosses behind that, if they want to take away our freedom.

Q. Had you know of no such plan at this time?

A. No, no. There's no need for it right now. It would be premature. The National Socialist Party of America and all the leadership of the council is very responsible and is not going around doing these things. But there are members who are very angry at us constantly being frustrated in our rights to speak and to demonstrate and it's going to be a bad scene someday if (the power structure doesn't) give us our rights back.

Q. (Collin was told of the names purported to be on the list and was asked if he was aware of any assassination plot against them.)

A. No. I haven't heard anything like that. But I'm not surprised. And I think you're going to see more of this in the future. That's the list I would make up if I was interested in something like that.

Q. Have you ever discussed any plans along these lines?

A. Oh, yeah.

Q. Can you be more specific?

A. Nooo.

Q. You have discussed plans to assassinate those individuals?

A. Not those individuals, no.

Q. But others?

A. Lists like that.

Q. Were any of the names of the FBI list among those that you had discussed?

A. No, I'm not going to say anything.

Q. Are there any plans still in the works along these lines?

A. No, no.

Q. What happened to them?

A. Well we got some of our rights back. We got our right to march in parks.

Q. You seem to be constantly sitting on the fence.

A. That's right. Give us our rights back and there's no sweat.

Q. But, I mean, you say you're ready, willing and able to do it, but when you get to specifics you say, "No, no, no..."

A. Well, I'm not going to dredge what we're going to do.

AT ANOTHER point in the interview, Collin was asked what commando training camps are training Nazis for.

He replied, "to fight the enemy. We want to fight them politically, and we want to fight them in the voting booths, and in the streets if necessary, too.

"Whatever works. Whatever gets national socialism in power: that's our only morality. Whatever works for us is good. The end completely justifies the means."

Collin said that every member of his Chicago group must have a gun "because we figure America is plummeting towards a race war and that self defense is the first law."

Q. Does the National Socialist Congress have plans to instigate a race war?

A. No, we don't have to instigate it. It's coming whether we have national socialism in this country or not. We are preparing for it and preparing our people for it.

Q. Does the group have any planned acts of violence in the summer months?

A. Acts of violence? We never plan acts of violence. We don't instigate violence.

AT THE END of the interview, Collin was asked

Q. What is your most important goal as America's top Nazi?

A. Two things. One is to put national socialism into power throughout the United States. And after that to make an all-white America.

Q. And when do you see these two goals being reached?

A. I have an idea, but I know that it will happen.

Q. In your lifetime?

A. That's totally unimportant. My lifetime may not be very long.

A Stranger Visits A Nazi Bookstore

By DICK HENDRICKSON
Journal Bureau Chief

CLEVELAND — The people who run the little store-front Nazi headquarters at 4319 Clark Ave., Cleveland, aren't exactly hiding their light under a bushel.

Three flags, including one bearing a cross, another the American stars and stripes and the third a Nazi swastika, adorn the top part of the building's front.

It's an eye-catcher if you are a visitor to Cleveland going along just off the normal route to downtown. And if you're not rushed, you might stop for a closer look.

Across the street, a Cleveland city fireman sits in the fire station and gives a visitor a bored expression. "I don't know much about them," he says. What do they do over there? "They have meetings sometimes."

How do you feel about them? "They can hang the hammer and sickle up there if they want. They pay their taxes... If the government can't stop them, there's nothing I can do about it."

— THE PLACE —

The outside of the place is dirty. Posters in the windows look old. The gas man had been there recently and left his door-hanger. The hours were posted on the door, 7-10 on Fridays and noon-4 on Saturdays.

THE DOOR OPENS easily and a visitor is a little startled to find a young man standing just inside, on the right, making notes on a pad. He is about 18 years old and wears a uniform with a Nazi symbol on the sleeve. His hair is long, over his ears, and his name is Peter. Later, he apologizes for the hair length. "I've got to get a haircut." Longhairs are not in style for the people here, he explains.

There is a second person in the room, standing behind a glass counter, who is later identified as Casey, "commander" of the local group that calls itself the "United White People's Party."

The room is about 20 by 20-foot, perhaps a little larger, and completely open in the center. All four walls are crowded with items. Peter, who seems to be taking inventory of a rack of books to the right of the front door, greets a visitor casually, then continues to work. You are left free to wander about at will, without anyone seeming to pay any attention. There are no other "customers" at the time.

Along the back of the room, opposite the front door, there is a glass-encased counter with a display of metal items, symbols of the Nazis. Next to it there are a dozen or so tabloid-sized newspapers. The top one, "The Thunderbolt," promotes itself as offering "The White Man's Viewpoint," and "News Suppressed by The Daily Press." It costs a quarter.

Behind the counter, there is a hallway leading to a back room. To the left, there is an enclosed office-like area with a telephone. To the right, there are some clothes racks with white T-shirts with various emblems. There are frames and paraphernalia for silk-screen printing, used to place the words and pictures on the shirts. Stacks of boxes apparently contain various sizes of T-shirts with various emblems. Some are the sort you can buy at a county fair, calling favorable attention to one nationality or another. There also is a box with ethnic bumper stickers.

ALONG THE WALL, at right, you find a bulletin board with the heading, "The Enemy Speaks." It contains a collection of various hate messages directed at the Negro and the United White Peoples Party. Then you come to a large poster-type picture of Adolph Hitler. It's a sample of some that are for sale. Another bulletin board contains dozens of snapshots, presumably photos of members of the local Nazi group. Still another has a few press clippings, including one from a Cleveland newspaper about racial unrest at a high school.

Beside the clippings is a news photo of the front of the Nazi store-headquarters. The caption says hate literature distributed in the school came from the above address.

In front of this wall are two machines that appear to be some sort of printing or duplicating machines. They look very old and very used.

On either side of the door, when Peter was taking inventory earlier, are racks filled with various paperback-like books and booklets. There are no fancy covers. Some of the booklets are thinner, pamphlet type, printed summaries of various political views shared by the group in the store. There are a couple of slick magazine-type booklets, one entitled "Sex and the Civil Rights Movement -- What Really Happened in Selma," and the other dealing with the '68 riots. The publication dates are about 1968. Most of the material in the room looks old and dated.

Peter invites you to take "one each" from a rack of single-sheet flyers along the wall to your left as you enter. As you ask questions, he talks in excited tones about what the "United White Peoples Party" is all about. Some of the titles of the flyers are: "Stop Busing," "White Students -- The Future Can Be Yours," "Jew Figs...", "He May Be Your Equal, But He's Not Ours," and "If You're Not Willing To Do Anything About It, You Deserve What You Get."
