SUBJECT: Views

on Black Militant Situation in Chicago

1.

2. said that SCLC activities in Chicago were declining, but were not being wound up.

Dr. King spent little time in Chicago and was more involved with the peace movement at present, said. Nevertheless, he and the others (ain) remain solid supporters of King.

He felt that King sought at least constructive, positive projects, but he admitted that King's slum housing project in Chicago was impossible. The city had promised $4,000,000, when $10,000,000 would not be enough, and even the $4,000,000 had never actually been allocated, he said. In general, he felt the situation was frustrating and depressing and very gloomy in outlook.

SUBJECT: Views of Billy Hollins on Black Militant Situation in Chicago

1. Billy Hollins is a Chicago-born Negro organizer for Martin Luther King's SCLC. He lives with Betty Jones, a white Minnesota girl, at 2014 North Dayton, Chicago, Ill. 60614 (phone 477-1601).

2. Hollins said that SCLC activities in Chicago were declining, but were not being wound up. He personally had worked during the summer on a Federally sponsored adult school, but that had been terminated and he thought he might be going to California. Dr. King spent little time in Chicago and was more involved with the peace movement at present, Hollins said. Nevertheless, he and the others (sic) remain solid supporters of King.

3. Hollins said that there were many guns in the black community, but he seriously doubted that they would be used for anything other than self-defense against the police, if necessary. The black leadership was chaotic, Hollins maintained, and continually sought to gain prestige or profit at the expense of each other and the masses.

4. Hollins thought Chicago might remain calm, without undue incidents for a while, but the underlying causes of the black rebellion were so great and remained just what they had always been, that new outbreaks of violence were also inevitable, despite the corrupt leadership. He felt that King sought at least constructive, positive projects, but he admitted that King's alma housing project in Chicago was impossible. The city had promised $4,000,000, when $20,000,000 would not be enough, and even the $4,000,000 had never actually been allocated, he said. In general, he felt the situation was frustrating and depressing and very gloomy in outlook.

5. The Bureau may pass the above report to appropriate field offices for Background Use Only. It is requested no direct action be taken against the Subject on the basis of the contents of this report without prior consultation with this Agency. This restriction may be considered withdrawn one month after Source's departure from the United States, although the fact that these statements were made by Subject should continue to be considered restricted.
