SECRET

11070556F 1951:

Subject was promoted to "Senior Operational Case Officer."

December 1951:

The MI was dissolved and former state security elements were returned to the MMB. Subject's functions continued the same, but, in the reorganization, he was assigned to the CI Section of the American Department of the Anglo-American (First) Directorate of the First Chief Directorate of the MGB.

March 1952:

Subject and a young friend wrote a joint letter through the Central Committee of the CPSJ to STALIN making suggestions for a fundamental reorganization of Soviet foreign intelligence and counterintelligence work.

September 1952:

While on vacation in the Georgian SSR Subject was ordered to Moscow for a four hour meeting, with his friend, with STALIN, MALEROV, and BTRIYA. STALIN thanked the two officers for their suggestions, discussed intelligence matters in detail and asked them to mend him a letter with specific proposals for necessary reorganizations, together with the names of recommended chiefs. In a subsequent letter they recommended Sergey Ivanovich CCOLTSOV, then in prison for "political crimes." and Yevgeniy Petrovich PITO/PANOV, then chief or deputy chief of the MGB in the Uzbekistan SSR. STALIN met Subject and his friend a second time. OCOLINOV was released from prisin and appointed Chief of the First Chief Directorate, with PITOVRAMOV as his deputy. A Chief Intelligence Directorate of the MGB was then formed, containing a Counterintelligence Department with an Emigre desk and seven geographical desks. Subject was appointed by CGOLTSOV as chief of the American Desk, supervising approximately 15 staff persons.

March 1953:

When STALIN died and BERIYA took over control of the State Security apparatus, which he combined with the MVD into a unified MVD, he replaced OXXLTSOV with one of his own appointees. Subject was reassigned as deputy chief of the Russian Enigre Desk of the CI Department of the Second (new designation for foreign Intelligence) Chief Directorate, MCD. Subject supervised activities against emigres in Austria and Germany.

October 1953:

Subject was assigned to the M/D residency in Vienna, Austria, as an operational case officer in the Enigre Operations Troup.
