1. Reference is made to information orally furnished by your office to representatives of this Agency to the effect that William Hamilton WATLIN at one time mentioned the fact that prior to his resignation from his civilian contract employment with the Department of the Army in Tokyo, Japan, and prior to his actual return to the United States in late August or early September 1955, he had been offered a job as a rug salesman by one George PALLIS of Tokyo, Japan.

2. A check of the indices of this Agency reveals that William WATLIN's Tokyo acquaintance, who offered him a job as a "rug salesman", and whom WATLIN called "George PALLIS" is undoubtedly identical with one George S. PALLISTER (PULLIS aka PALLIS) aka PALLISTER (PULLIS) aka George S. PALLIS, aka George PALLIS, born 2 January 1909 at Constantinople, Turkey, but of Greek nationality since birth. According to information provided abroad to representatives of this Agency by a [redacted] Liaison Service, George PALLISTER (PULLIS) is about 1966 and provided his name to George PALLIS. The Liaison Service added that he operated the "Nickels Rug Company" in Tientsin and Shanghai, China, as his own business between 1927 and 1941, at which time the firm was closed down because of the war. Between 1942 and 1945 he was under heavy arrest, or confined to his home in Shanghai, but significantly was not interned by the Japanese. From 1946 to 1950 he operated the "George PALLIS COMPANY" in Shanghai. He claimed to have been unemployed between 1950 and 1952, at which time he emigrated to Tokyo, Japan, from Shanghai, obtaining employment in Tokyo with the firm of WINDY VICH

RECYCLED PAPER, and in 1951 he became the manager of the Tokyo branch of this firm. In 1954 he established his own firm under the name of PARIS ASSOCIATED ENTERPRISES, which firm appears in the trade indices published for Japan, and is reflected in attachment. In 1955 George PARISTEPCULCS aka PARIS was appointed to the position of Honorary Deputy Greek Consul in Yokohama, in which position he was the deputy to Anicetos A. PAPPALCPCULCS aka Anthony A. PAPPALCPCULCS, the Honorary Greek Consul in Yokohama. PARISTEPCULCS appears to have continued in this diplomatic post until sometime in mid 1959, when an official Royal Hellenic Diplomatic Mission to Japan was accredited to the current government of Japan, and the functions of the Yokohama Consular Office were taken over from the two honorary consuls.

3. Liaison reported that on 28 January 1960 George ~~PARISTEPCULCS~~ departed from Japan ~~on board the ship, Korea~~, and that he had not returned to Japan as of 30 August 1960. Through a sensitive source in Seoul, with whom representatives of this Agency are in operational contact, and who is believed to be reliable, it has been ascertained that George PARIS left Muraoka Airport in Tokyo on 28 January 1960 aboard regular CAT scheduled flight to Seoul, Korea, where he was to assume the position of resident representative in Seoul, Korea, of the firm of CLAGGETT-NOLAN COMPANY, INCORPORATED, an export-import firm, with offices in the Hotel Seoda, in Seoul. This firm is listed in the Foreign Directory for Seoul as having headquarters in the United States, located at 24 California Street, San Francisco, California. PARIS replaced a British national named William James PARKER, as representative of the CLAGGETT-NOLAN Company in Korea.

4. On basis of an official inquiry by a representative of our Agency to the United States Embassy in Seoul, it was learned that the above firm of CLAGGETT-NOLAN Company enjoys a good reputation locally and deals in the sale of electrical and mechanical machinery and equipment. It was also learned that the capital stock of the firm is controlled by one Mortimer C. COOKE, Junior, and a Richard W. CHILD, both of whom are United States citizens. The indices of this Agency reveal that Mortimer C. COOKE, Junior, of the above mentioned firm is identical with Mortimer Claggett COOKE, Junior, co-owner with Richard William Nolan CHILD of the firm of BALCOM TRADING COMPANY INCORPORATED, which has offices in Tokyo, Japan, and is incorporated under the laws of Panama. Additional Information concerning the above firms and regarding Richard William Nolan CHILD and Norihiko Chiggett Club, Jr. will be furnished separately.

5. The activities and contacts of George PERISTALPUCUS aka PERIS in Japan and Korea are currently being investigated by this Agency.

6. George S. PERISTALPUCUS aka PERIS, identified above, and known to William H. MARTIN as "George PARIS", is identical with the individual whom Valentin HAHN aka Valentin Vasilievich HAHN aka Yoshin HAHN, admitted former (1947) Soviet agent, identified as "George PARIS, a Greek businessman in Tokyo", and as one of HAHN's close contacts and friends in Japan. When interviewed by representatives of this Agency in 1958, Valentin HAHN advised that the above "George PARIS" was the person who introduced HAHN to a Tokyo nightclub, located off the Chama, the name of which HAHN gave only as "The Tomorrow Is Too Late Club". HAHN claimed that this was an exact and direct translation into English of the actual Japanese name, which, however, he never mentioned during the interview. Date of HAHN's visit to this "club" in company of George PERIS aka PARIS, is estimated to have been somewhere between 1954 and 1957. HAHN stated that in the "Tomorrow Is Too Late Club" he was introduced to a Japanese hostess by the name of Noriko MATSUZAKAYA alias Noriko AWAJI, with whom HAHN subsequently enjoyed dates. It is believed that Noriko MATSUZAKAYA & AWAJI became the mistress of Valentin HAHN for an uninterrupted period of time following his original introduction to her at the above "Club" while in the company of George PERISTALPUCUS aka PERIS aka PARIS. HAHN also advised, that following his original introduction to this establishment by PERIS, HAHN had taken a number of casual married American nationals, who were stationed in Tokyo, to the same club, where such persons had also been introduced to and had enjoyed dates with the hostesses. At this time, there is no information to indicate that either William Hamilton MARTIN or Bernard Ferguson MITCHELL were among the United States nationals HAHN referred to as having been taken to the aforementioned club by HAHN. Neither is there any information currently available to reflect that William Hamilton MARTIN was known to Valentin HAHN through their mutual acquaintance with George PERISTALPUCUS.

organized biographical outline of all information on George PARISTEPOULOS aka PARIS, developed to date. Attachment to this communication indicates that PACH has been or may still be a contact of Emanuel Abraham CSTRVSKY, suspect Soviet Agent, who is the Tokyo Branch Manager of the firm of SONOVICH BROTHERS INCORPORATED, which firm has long been suspected of being a front or cover organization for Soviet intelligence operations. Attention is invited specifically to the fact that Attachment reflects that the 1954 Japan Directory of Foreign Firms lists A. CSTRVSKY as Tokyo representative of this firm, which has offices at 61 - Tamura-cho, 4-cho-me, Shiba, Minato-ku, Tokyo, and telephone lines: 43-1609, 43-4369, 43-4287, whereas in 1958 subject is officially listed as George PARIS, of PARIS ASSOCIATED ENTERPRISES, located at 44-3 Chome, Tamura-cho, Minato-ku, Tokyo, Telephones: 43-1609 and 43-4287, reflecting that he shared telephone numbers with SONOVICH BROTHERS, and presumably with Emanuel A. CSTRVSKY. It is suggested that the Department of the Army, Chief of Staff, G-2, Intelligence, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation may have additional information on George PARISTEPOULOS aka PARIS and associates.

8. No additional information, to supplement that which is reported in paragraph 6 above, identifiable with Noriko KAYSUZAKAYA & AWAI, could be located in the indices of this Agency.

9. With reference to the 'Tomorrow is Too Late Club', mentioned in paragraph 5 above, to which Valentine MAIN claims to have been taken by George PARIS, an exact and direct re-translation of the club name into Japanese from the English as given by MAIN, would read "Asu de wa Csoogira". It is noted that the Tokyo Telephone Directory for 1957 contains a listing for an establishment of this name, as follows: ASU DE WA CSCOUGIRA, located at Chuo-ku, Ginza, 8-Chome, 3 Bancho, Tokyo-to, Telephone Nos.: 57-0943, 57-6163, 57-6128. A reliable source, who is familiar with the city of Tokyo, advised in October 1960, that as of 1959 this establishment was still operating at the listed location, and that it is a coffee-house rather than a nightclub in the western sense, although alcoholic beverages are available for consumption on the premises by the patrons. The same source also advised that the above coffee-house employs Japanese hostesses, as is customary in such establishments in Japan, and that such females might be dated under the circumstances indicated by Valentine MAIN. However, it should be noted that the same source also indicated that the coffee-house known as ASU DE WA CASUGIRU to which he was referring, which is identical with the establishment of the name listed in the 1957 Tokyo Directory, is the type of place which is not frequented in general by American nationals stationed in or visiting Tokyo as tourists; rather it caters mainly to indigenous patrons and their guests, or to foreign residents of Tokyo who have been introduced to the place and the management by indigenous patrons. These foreigners then become regular patrons after becoming known to the management. Inasmuch as the above described ASU DE WA CASUGIRU coffee-house generally fits the description of the "Tomorrow Is Too Late Club" mentioned by Valentin HAHN as a "night-club" to which he was taken by George PERLS, it is suggested that they are one and the same establishment.

10. In light of the mutual acquaintanceship of William H. MARTIN and Valentine HAHN with George PERLS TRACPCULCS aka PERLS, and in turn, PERLS' role vis-a-vis HAHN's introduction to the ASU DE WA CASUGIRU coffee-house, it is suggested that PERLS may have played a similar role in terms of introducing William MARTIN to Japanese night-life. This may have eventually led to MARTIN's contact and involvement with Japanese individuals, who introduced him to or indulged his masochistic interests.

11. Additional information on the individuals mentioned above will be forwarded as developed. It is requested that addresses forwarded to this Agency any information on George PERLS TRACPCULCS aka PERLS, his contacts and activities, and on the other individuals mentioned herein.
