

NR_key_name: 1CA69A9E272B88298525619C006D2D00

SendTo: Admin;A&R;Senior Staff

CopyTo:

DisplayBlindCopyTo:

BlindCopyTo:

From: CN=Eric Scheinkopf/O=ARRB

DisplayFromDomain:

DisplayDate: 04/12/1995

DisplayDate_Time: 3:57:31 PM

ComposedDate: 04/12/1995

ComposedDate_Time: 3:52:29 PM

Subject: Library Materials from the Library of Congress

While law library materials with multiple copies can be kept for an extended borrowing period, regular books borrowed can not as the copy borrowed may be the only one. However, if it is really needed, I have been told that perhaps something may be able to be worked out. Also, if you have a book with you and you take it to the Library to do research, be sure to go to G 15 in the Jefferson Building and make sure the Library of Congress card in it is updated to reflect the actual renewal period, otherwise you will have problems with the guards.

Body: Any questions, see me.

recstat: Non-Record

DeliveryPriority: N

DeliveryReport: B

ReturnReceipt:

Categories: