Subject: Interns Last Days

Two of our interns -- Dan Wedemeyer and Delaney DiStefano -- are going to be completing their internships with us in the next week. Dan's last day is this Friday, July 28th, and Delaney's last day will be next Wednesday, August 2nd. Dennis and I decided that we would organize a thank you event for them. We were thinking of an in-the-office-donut-thing on Friday morning. We will pick out [and presumably buy] a thank you card for everyone to sign. What do you all think? Would you rather go out to lunch with them on their respective last days? Would people be willing to donate $1 to the donut fund, if we decide to do that? Please let me know if you have ideas or preferences.
