On Friday evening after work, the AOH/ARRB Chapter will be gathering to wish Joe Freeman, Charter Member and First President of our little group, the best of luck as he travels west to Phoenix, Arizona. We will be gathering at my humble house in Arlington. While it may not be appropriate to call this a 'happy-hour', there will be the normal trappings of food and drink. I thought I would make a big pot of chili, and a pan of cornbread for dinner. All are encouraged to come, but must be prepared to shoo off begging dogs. Directions: By metro, take the orange line to the Clarendon Station. The escalator takes you to the corner of Wilson Blvd and Highland St. Walk one block north to 13th St, go left on 13th and walk three blocks to Jackson St. Take a right onto Jackson and go one block to 1302 N. Jackson St. By auto, go across the Potomac on the Roosevelt Bridge, and stay in the right lane. Take the G.W. Parkway north. Take the Spout Run exit off of the G.W. Parkway, and stay in the left lane. Go straight through two lights. After the second light you will be on Kirkwood Street. Go approx. 1/2 mile and take a left onto 17th St. Take the second right onto Jackson St. Go up the hill and 1302 is on the right side across from the Clarendon Presbyterian Church. 1302 N. Jackson. I can provide maps that might be more helpful. Phone -- (703)841-9661
