Subject: JFK Library documents

We received the shipment of documents from the Library this morning. David, Jeremy and I have examined them but remain somewhat confused. #1. There are no redactions on the documents we received. Is the Library trying to postpone them in full? #2. Most of the documents belong to other agencies such as the Secret Service and the Department of State. Have the documents been referred to the appropriate agencies? There are no markings on the documents to indicate that they have been seen by the agencies.#3. From a quick overview, it appears that many of the documents should be open in full. Does the Library have any kind of declassification authority over them?I have faxed you a copy of Stephanie's cover letter (it is unclassified when separated from the documents) and the two lists she sent with the documents. Please give me a call if you can shed some light on this issue. I will be on vacation the first week of September. I'll be back in the office on September 8th.
