I want to continue to keep a complete, consistent looking record of all of your information from day one. I do not have a printer that will duplicate exactly what you have sent so far. Also, some of your major announcements have been showing up on my computer news service so I can still keep on the cutting edge of most major developments. Thank you for your offer and if any new high tech methods of communicating become available, i.e. web pages etc., please let me know and again thank you again for all of the important work the Board is doing.
