Subject: Colby's Last Interview

Everyone, please post and share this around. I'm currently looking for the Blender CD-ROM magazine. It is somewhat hard to find. If anyone can find a copy please pick up an extra one and I'll gladly pay you back. In the June 3, 1996 edition of TIME magazine on p. 16 is a small article entitled, "Colby's Video Goodbye". "Subject: the assassination of President Kennedy. Speaker: William Colby. Just days before his fatal canoe accident, the former CIA director gave one of his last interviews to the CD-ROM magazine Blender. The June/July issue offers a grainy video, recorded at a sidewalk cafe in Washington, in which Colby ruminates on Oswald-as-Commie-spy stories, bullet trajectories and JFK director Oliver Stone. Colby's conclusion: "You have to look at [the assassination] suspiciously," but there's no definitive proof anyone but Oswald was involved. Afterward, Blender reporter James Gordon Meek thanks Colby for his candor: You talk about the Kennedy thing more than anyone alive." Hmmm. Mr. Stone?" Joe Backes
