 release materialThom:Some of this stuff looks like it could be pretty interesting. I'm assuming that because NSA is such a secret agency anything having to do with them will at least give some reporters cause for pause.
 A few other comments on Chris' specific descriptions below.TomSome of the documents center on Cuban reaction to the assassination.Changes in the alert status of the Cuban military are monitored, as arestatements by Fidel Castro and the Cuban government reacting to the news.Castro's government also speculates internally that the American right isbehind the shooting.My Note: Although we'll have to see what the actual documents say and the form in which they will be released, this general desription sounds very interesting.-- Initial assessments by foreign governments of Lyndon Johnson as a man anda leader, and the speculated effect of the assassination on the foreignpolicy of the United States.My Note: This should also attract some attention, if there are any "juicy" assessments of LBJ.-- Comments to foreign diplomats made in December 1963 and January 1964 byJohn McCloy, a member of the Warren Commission, regarding the work of theCommission and the evidence he had seen to that point.My Note: Thom, as I recall, I think there was a document regarding McCloy that I remember finding very interesting, although I can't recall exactly what it was that caught my interest. I'll wait to look at it when you have the actual documents as they are going to be released.To: Tom Samoluk/ARRBcc: From: Thom Wilborn/ARRB Date: 03/13/97 10:54:27 AMSubject: NSA announced that it is releasing 85*NSA documents relating to the Kennedy assassination. These documents wereall previously withheld in full, and have never been seen by the public.This release marks the first time the NSA and ARRB have cooperated to makeinformation public under the terms of the JFK Act. Many of the records reflect the worldwide confusion and shock whichimmediately followed the assassination. There are expressions of condolencefrom foreign governments, as well as internal deliberations as to the propergestures of mourning other nations should adopt. Issues of diplomaticprotocol are broached, as foreign governments
