Subject: Fair Play #17 -- an Update

Hello one and all, The new issue of Fair Play, uploaded just a few days ago, has undergone a few necessary late changes. Some links to Richard Bartholomew's "Rambler" article, which is the centerpiece of this issue, have been corrected, and a document that further defines a curious montage has been added. Additionally, some information on the upcoming JFK-Lancer "November in Dallas" conference, which arrived here just after the new issue went out, has been added. You'll find it accessible from the main page. We apologize for the inconvenience to anyone who may have downloaded the new issue. At the risk of being dreadfully redundant, Fair Play #17 consists of: * The COPA -- Several reports on Conference the Coalition's recent meetings in Washington. * Another Rambler -- A recently discovered Witness document offers further proof of how LHO really fled Dealey Plaza. * Possible Discovery -- An intricate study of of an Automobile a vehicle perhaps used in the JFK in the conspiracy. Conspiracy * What's the Deal with -- Concerning some suspicious 13 Inch Heads? measurements. * Extending the -- The Latest on Efforts Review Board to keep the ARRB alive. * Someone Named -- A Page from Clay Shaw's Clay Diary. John Kelin----- Human behavior is mocked by the behavior of dogs. --- The Phantom of the Opera
