Thanks, Anna. I believe that we are only "selling" them at cost, but I will check. _____ Reply

<ANELSON@american.edu> Date: 7/29/98 10:26 AM I was quite surprised to see that the ARRB was going to "sell" the depositions. Of course we don't have the funds to copy them for everyone, but in the past we have made documents available in the conference room and then sent them to the NA where they can purchase copies. Did I miss the discussion on this procedure? Should we be in this business? At the very least, we should make clear that we are charging no more than copying costs. PFIAB was created in 1956 but it seems that each president recreates it. Clinton did so by Executive Order 12863. Thus it does differ from the NSC, etc. I suspect Rudman will raise this point. I have a copy of the E.O. Anna
