Eileen- Jack-Kermit- Laura: My hand was quicker than my brain. I wanted to send copies of this to you guys, and do so forthwith! --Bill>Date: Thu, 13 Aug 1998 14:22:05 -0400>To: PRESIST@aol.com>From: Bill Joyce <wljoyce@phoenix.princeton.edu>>Subject: Re: Final report>In-Reply-To: <8f6d3bab.35d232cd@aol.com>>>Henry and Anna: It is always comforting to see draft text on paper, though I think we have our work cut out for us here. Now that we have words committed to paper, we can revise this. I'm a bit uneasy putting our fate in the hands of an editor whom I do not know, and I regret that Jeremy will not work further on the report (as Laura just reported), but at least we have the information on paper and we can massage it and revise it as we need to.> I hope that you will also give my draft a good, close read, and then send me your comments; I'm eager to improve the text and incorporate your (and Jack's and Kermit's and the as many of the staff who care to get involved) suggestions.> See you on the 25th.> --Bill>>>At 08:26 PM 8/12/98 EDT, you wrote:>>Bill:>>>>A most interesting and suggestive statement. I'm so glad you zeroed in on the word "negotiations." I'm sorry to say that I have heard it so much it passed me by. I absolutely agree that we need another word. Most of the negotiations involved the agency's caving, but the word implies otherwise. Let's think about some "substitute language.">> Anna>William L.
