Dear Victor:

I apologize for not writing to you sooner regarding the position of Chief Military Analyst for the Review Board. We have been considering the issue for some time and have only recently been able to reach a decision.

We have decided to offer the position to an Army colonel who will be leaving the Pentagon shortly and therefore we will not, unfortunately, be able to offer you a position. We very much appreciate your interest and wish you the best of luck.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

Dear Victor:

You should have received, or will be receiving shortly, a letter from David Marwell acknowledging that we are unable to offer you a position.

I am very sorry that this has taken so long and that the outcome was not more successful. I am, of course, very impressed by your experience and background and would very much have enjoyed having you here as a colleague. I do hope that you have success in snagging something before your administration comes back to town.

With best wishes,

T. Jeremy Gunn
