

PD Scott claims that ONI and G-2 were conducting a CI operation involving Oswald and they needed to have evidence to prove that he was renouncing his citizenship in order to have the discharge hearing appear legitimate.

They went ahead and discharged him even without the State Department's record of renunciation of citizenship.

State said that he never renounced citizenship.

Were ONI and G-2 trying to present the image that Oswald was in fact a real defector and thus the need for the State Department to say that he renounced citizenship?

Were they trying to convince the Russians that Oswald was a legitimate defector?

Why would State give Oswald a new passport almost immediately upon his return?
