To the Officer Selection Board:

Re: Support for the OTS Application of Mr. Manuel Legaspi

I am pleased to write in support of Manuel Legaspi's application to the Air Force Officer Training School.

Legaspi joined my staff in April of 1995, arriving with a strong academic background and enthusiastic recommendations from the Los Alamos National Laboratory. He has served with distinction as an analyst on our CIA Team with responsibility for the review and analysis of CIA and NSA records that have been determined to be relevant to the assassination of President Kennedy. Legaspi holds a sensitive position and has been cleared at the Top Secret/SCI level. He has consistently met the highest standards of honesty, integrity, and moral character.

Legaspi is quiet in his demeanor and approaches his work with dedication and a marked seriousness of purpose. That being said, he has a sophisticated sense of humor that finds subtle expression and contributes positively to the morale of the office. His coworkers value him as a loyal and congenial colleague, and his supervisors count on his industry and good judgment.

In my opinion, Manuel Legaspi would make a fine Air Force officer, and I support his application without hesitation.

Sincerely,

David G. Marwell, Ph.D.
