

intern project -- journalist's privilege

NBC would object to production of these materials (on the White Paper investigation) based on the journalist's privilege afforded by the First Amendment and state statutory and constitutional protections, to the extent that their disclosure would or could reveal the identity of news sources, and/or reveal source materials and unpublished materials.