On September 25, 1961, Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) furnished the identities of Cuban exiles who were being used by that Agency on various operations directed against the present Cuban Government. Included on this list were the names of Manuel del Valle Caral and Julio Jane Argudia. We have since received information from our New Orleans Office indicating that these two individuals have been attempting to recruit Cuban students in the New Orleans area. This recruitment allegedly is related to operations being planned against the Castro government. Caral and Argudia allegedly have made statements to the effect that they have the backing of the U.S. Government. (S) (U)

(S) On October 13, 1961, the Liaison Agent informed [redacted] and Mrs. Jane Roman, CIA, concerning the activities of these two Cubans and pointed out that they easily could get involved in a technical violation of the impersonation statutes. [redacted] stated (S) that the two Cubans definitely were not authorized to make such representations and he was immediately taking steps to make certain there would not be any reoccurrence of such activity.
