3 WILLIAM C. STURBITTS,

4 called as a witness by Counsel for the Commission on CIA
5 Activities, and having been first duly sworn by the Notary
6 Public, was examined and testified as follows:

7 EXAMINATION BY COUNSEL FOR THE COMMISSION

8 BY MR. MANFREDI:

9 Q Mr. Sturbitts, will you state your full name for the 10 record?

11 A William C. Sturbitts.

12 Q Mr. Sturbitts, do you recall when we spoke some 13 weeks ago you signed a document entitled, "Advice and

15 A Right.

16 Q You understand that document is still in effect?

17 A Sure.

18 Q Mr. Sturbitts, by whom are you currently employed?

19 A You mean the Agency or --

20 Q That is right.

21 A Central Intelligence Agency.

22 Q And what is your current position with the Agency?

23 A I am a Special Assistant, Latin America, for 24 Economic Intelligence Collection and Operations.

25 Q And would you briefly review for me the history of your employment with the Agency?

A When I first came in I was in the Intelligence Directorate for approximately ten years and I was put on special detail, special indefinite detail, in the Deputy Director, Plans, which is now the Directorate of Operations.

Q What year were you put on that detail?

A I guess it was 1964, January, I believe.

Q And what did that detail involve?

A Cuban operations, economic warfare.

Q And how long were you on that detail?

A I was in the Cuban operations for nine years.

Q Between 1964 and 1973?

A (Nods in affirmative.)

Q And in 1973 did you assume your current position?

A Yes, January.

Q Now, while you were on special detail -- to the DOD?

A Yes.

Q Were you stationed in Washington?

A Yes.

Q And did you commute with some frequency to Miami?

A Yes.

Q Were your activities in Miami in any way connected with the operations of the Miami Station?

A In some way. My responsibilities were worldwide.

I took temporary duty predominantly in Europe, and then Miami.

WARD & PAUL

410 First Street, S.E., Washington, D.C. 20003

1 Most of my operations were run out of Europe.

2 Q Run out of --

3 A Europe. Some were run out of Miami but the big ones
4 were run out of Europe.

5 Q Well, in the course of your activities with respect
6 to Cuba did you have occasion to become familiar with the 7 operations of the Miami base?

8 A Yes.

9 Q And the situation in the Cuban community in Miami?

10 A Yes, sir.

11 Q During the nine years you were with DDO's Cuban
12 operations, who was -- who were the chiefs of the Miami
13 Station?

14 A I think in 1963 Ted Shackley was the Chief and he
15 was followed by -- I can't think of his name. I should know
16 it. Well, I will come back to that.

17 Then, the next Chief of Station was Paul Henze.

18 Q What years was he Chief?

19 A I think Paul was there about a year and a half. He 20 left in 1968 when we reduced the size of the Station. Let's
21 say Henze was there from 1966 to 1968. And then Jake Esterline.
22 He was Chief of Station from 1968 to 1973.

23 Q Now, what was the formal title of the group to which 24 you were assigned for the 9-year period?

25 A Well, when I first came in it was known as the

1 Special Activities Staff. It was headed by Desmond Fitzgerald.
2 And then, I believe after that it became the Cuban Operations
3 Group.

4 Q Now, was this a special group within the DDO or was 5 it attached to one of the area divisions?

6 A No. Following the Bay of Pigs, they created a thing
7 called Task Force W which was headed by Bill Harvey. And 8 that -- when Harvey left, he went to Chief of Station,
9 and Fitzgerald took over, it became Special Activities Staff.
10 It wasn't attached to anything except -- it reported to the 11 Deputy Director, Plans.

12 Q And that was Mr. Karamessines?

13 A Yes. Well, it was Helms at that time back when it
14 was first created. Helms was DDP at that time.

15 Q And Task Force W was created immediately after the 16 Bay of Pigs?

17 A Well, not immediately. I think sometime around --
18 in the Bay of Pigs was in April. I think this was created in 19 September, something like that, 1961.

20 Q And that subsequently became the Special Activities
21 Staff?

22 A Special Activities Staff and consequently became the 23 Cuban Operations Group. As the Cuban Operations Group it went 24 back into the Western Hemisphere Division.

25 Q And what was the date of that reorganization?

Phone (Area 202) 544-6000

1 A Well, let's see. I would say that was probably around
2 1965 because Fitzgerald then became Chief, W.H., and then
3 later DDP.

4 Q Now, Mr. Harvey -- do you recall what position Mr.
5 Harvey held after he left Task Force W?

6 A Yes. He was Chief of Station,

7 Q And is he still with the Agency?

8 A Oh, no. He retired a long time ago.

9 Q Do you know where he lives at the present time?

10 A Frankly, I don't. I have an idea where he lives.
11 He went to work for a friend of mine who had a law firm.
12 Harvey is a lawyer.

13 Q Indianapolis area?

14 A Yes, some place around there. It is in the midwest,
15 Indiana.

16 Q What was the role that was assigned to Task Force
17 W?

18 A It was the overall Cuban operations.

19 Q Did the Miami -- when was the Miami Station estab-
20 lished?

21 A Well, I think they had a forward operatio-s base down
22 there about 1960 which was small, in Coral Gables.

23 Q This was, then, prior to the Bay of Pigs?

24 A Oh, yes.

25 Q Now, in addition to Task Force W, was the Miami

1 Station running any operations against Cuba?

2 A You mean prior to the Bay of Pigs?

3 Q Yes.

4 A I really don't know. It was a small -- it was a
5 forward base and it was more or less as I recall, a support type
6 thing.

7 Q Well, after the Bay of Pigs when Task Force W was 8 established, did it have sole responsibility for Cuban
9 operations?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Or was that shared with the Miami base, Miami
12 Station?

13 A No. The Miami Station was under Task Force W.

14 Q All right. Would that also be true of the Special
15 Activities Staff, the Cuban Operations Group?

17

18 Q I understand that. When were Cuban operations termi-
19 nated?

20 A At the Station? Let's see. Sternfield went down
21 there in 1972. It was during fiscal year '72. I think it was 22 in early 1973. It was a gradual reduction.

7 Q Mr.Sturbitts, in the last couple of weeks you may 8 have seen some allegations in the press about possible assassina-
9 tion attempts that have been mounted or alleged assassination
10 attempts that have been mounted --

11 A Right.

12 Q -- against Fidel Castro. In the course of your 13 activities with respect to Cuba, did you ever learn of any such 14 attempts?

15 A Well, let me answer it this way. I wouldn't say
16 attempts. I know there was discussion. "Attempts" is too
17 strong a word.

18 Q Well, can you place in time your first knowledge of 19 any such discussions?

20 A Well, the first knowledge I had of any discussions,
21 I was on TDY and this was October, November, 1963, with Fitzgerald
22 in  And I knew that he was going to meet -- let me put 23 it another way. I had overheard that discussions were going on 24 with a member of Castro's military but that he wanted, as 25 I recall, he wanted some British -- I mean Belgian rifles and

WARD & PAUL

410 First Street, S.E., Washington, D.C. 20003

1 a telescopic sight.

2 Q Who wanted them?

3 A This military guy that was in Fidel's -- I think
4 at one time he was a commandante. Now, I knew that was going
5 on. I didn't participate in it because I was there for another
6 reason. And I know that subsequent to that time that Fitzgerald
7 met with him again and as I recall, as the personal representa-
8 tive of the Attorney General, Bobby Kennedy.

9 I provided all those files. There are 19 volumes that 10 we gave to your people. But I don't know who was reviewing 11 them. I think Belin was going to do it himself.

12 Q Yes. He is. He is doing it himself.

13 You said there were 19 volumes of documents with 14 respect to this.

15 A 19 files, manila.

16 Q All having to do with possible assassination?

17 A All having to do with this whole time period and --
18 can we go off the record for a minute?

20 BY MR. MANFREDI:

21 Q The first knowledge of such conversations that you
22 had, I take it you obtained on a trip to Europe with Mr.
23 Fitzgerald?

24 A I simply overheard it, that is right.

Q And Mr. Fitzgerald?

A Yes, and I really can't recall some of the other people. We were -- we had just moved the Station at that time, and we felt that it was probably bugged, so all conversations took place -- we walked around the garden and tyat type of thing, and, you know, I was walking with somebody, somebody was in front of me, and you just overhear conversations.

Q This was [Redacted]

A Yes.

Q I see.

Mr. Sanchez -- was he a member of the military?

A No. Mr. Sanchez was in the Special Activities Staff. He was stationed in Washington. And he was in contact with Cuban military-type.

Q Was it your understanding that the Agency had received instructions with respect to this activity from another component of the Government?

A Well, let me put it this way. I don't know whether they received instructions. I have to assume, and I am pretty positive, that this was a result of a Special Group decision. And at this time you have to remember that Bobby Kennedy was overseeing this deal, presumably for his brother, and he was

1 part of that Special Group. He called the meetings, he presided,
2 he did a number of things.

3 Q Were there any other occasions that you can recall
4 in which the possibility or the subject of assassination of 5 Fidel Castro was discussed?

6 A No, not really.

7 Q You referred to this as the first occasion.

8 A This is the first --

9 Q Was there a second?

10 A -- the first time I knew about it or even heard it
11 discussed.

12 Q Well, prior to the investigation that is currently
13 underway -- I am referring now to our Commission's investigation
14 -- were there any other occasions in which this subject came 15 to your attention after this discussion in the garden in

17 A The only other thing that came to my attention was 18 that the decision was made not to provide him with this sight
19 that he wanted. Whether that is right or wrong, I don't know, 20 but that is what I was told.

21 Q When did you learn that?

22 A Oh, I would assume in -- must have been early 1964,
23 around February, something like that.

BY MR. MANFREDI:

Q Mr. Sturbitts, are you familiar with a gentleman by the name of Frank Sturgis?

A Indeed.

Q Is your familiarity based on what you have read in the press?

A No. It is what is contained in the files.

Q Have you caused a search to be made of CIA files, particularly the files of the Western Hemisphere Division, in an attempt to determine whether Mr. Sturgis ever had any connection with the Agency?

A I have.

Q What were the results of that search?

A Absolutely no connection, never has been.

Q When we talk about connection, are we talking about an employment relationship?

A That is what I am speaking of.

Q Was Mr. Sturgis ever an independent contractor of the Agency?

A No.

Q Was he ever a contract employee?

A No.

Q Was he ever a regular employee of the Agency?

A No.

A Not to my knowledge.

Q Do you know whether or not Mr. Sturgis ever participated in any type of paramilitary or other operation against Cuba?

A On his own behalf he did, not on behalf of this Agency.

Q How did you learn of those operations?

A Through the newspaper. And through FBI reports.

Q Now, are these recent FBI reports?

A Oh, no. These go back -- I know at one time, the thing that comes to mind, I think he made a leaflet drop over Cuba and this was subsequently reported in the press and by the Bureau office in Miami.

Q Do you know who financed his activities?

A I have no idea.

Q Is it possible that Mr. Sturgis' activities were indirectly financed by the Agency through --

A I don't see how. Frank Sturgis is a soldier of fortune; has been. He has constantly tried to associate himself with the Agency. When I went through his file they wanted me to classify the file and the way I classified it was "don't destroy it, he is an intelligence nuisance."

BY MR. MANFREDI:

Q Have you caused the Agency records with respect to Mr. Sturgis to be assembled in any one location?

A Yes. I have custody of them.

Q And what is the volume of that material?

A As I recall, there are five volumes. Your Committee called for them the other day after the article in the paper, I guess it was last Saturday. They called for them Monday and they returned them Monday afternoon.

Q Do you know who examined those files?

A No, I don't.

Q You indicated a moment ago that Mr. Sturgis contacts the DCD office in Miami with some frequency, is that correct?

A Well, not great frequency but he does with tidbits of so-called information.

Q Is this information limited to narcotics, alleged narcotics traffic?

A Recently it has been.

Q Has Mr. Sturgis been encouraged by the DCD office in Miami?

A Mr. Sturgis has been told by the DCD office in Miami to take his information to the Drug Enforcement Agency or the FBI.

Q Do they have any -- do they periodically seek to collect information from Mr. Sturgis?

A I can't speak to that but the records that we have don't reflect anything like that. Before they would contact somebody in that context, knowing that there is a 201 file on Sturgis, they would have to coordinate with the Latin American Division before they did anything since we do hold the file.

Q Would you briefly explain what a 201 file is?

A A 201 file is a personnel file. It consists of any information relating to an individual appearing in the press as a result of other agency reporting and that type of thing.

Q Personnel or personality file?

A Personality file, I should say. Excuse me.

Q Do you know whether or not there is any connection or relationship between Eugenio Martinez and Mr. Sturgis?

A Well, I will say this. Obviously, they do know each other. They have to know each other from their days in Cuba.

Q Do you know whether or not Mr. Sturgis ever participated with Martinez in raids against Cuba?

A No. As I recall, we employed Martinez around 1961,

1 I guess, and he was in our maritime activities. He was a
2 boat captain eventually. And he did participate in infiltrations
3 and exfiltrations and perhaps one or two raids, hit and run,
4 sabotage-type actions against Cuba. Sturgis never engaged in
5 any of these things. He never did it for us nor did he ever
6 do it on any of our boats, planes, or -- anything that belongs
7 to the Agency.

8 Q When Martinez would run such an operation or captain
9 a boat on such an operation, would he be charged with putting 10 together his own crew?

11 A No. He had an assigned crew and every boat had a 12 Case Officer operating either out of the -- probably out of 13 the Miami Station. Sometimes I would assume that we did have 14 some people in the Key West base. But he, Martinez, would receive 15 his instructions and briefings from his Case Officer.

16 Q So it is likely that he could have brought Sturgis
17 along on any of these operations?

18 A Absolutely unlikely. Oh, the guy whose name I was 19 trying to think of, Chief of Station, John Dimmer.

20 Q And that would be for a period of time between 21 Shackley and Henze?

22 A Yes.

24 A Something like that.

1 A Well, not that I would call a base. We did have
2 training facilities for the UDT teams.

3 Q What is a UDT team?

4 A Underwater demolition.

5 Q Where were those bases located?

6 A I frankly don't know. [redacted]

7 [redacted] There were a
8 number of sites. I really can't recall them.

9 Q Were there any other sites within the United States
10 in which paramilitary training was conducted, for people
11 participating in these activities?

12 A Not to my knowledge.

13 Q Where were these people trained?

14 A What do you mean?

15 Q Well, Cubans who participated in these activities.

16 A We trained them at these places we had [redacted]

17 Now, there also -- some of them were brought up here and trained
18 at the Domestic Training Station.

19 Q Where is that located?

20 A That is down in [redacted]

21 Q Were any CIA personnel actually involved in these 22 raids?

23 A Occasionally, I would think that -- you have got to 24 understand at this time that we had a great many contract
25 employees, independent contractors and this type of thing.

1 Most of the paramilitary operations and the training was
2 conducted by the Special Operations Group which is another
3 entity of the --

4 Q DDO?

5 A DDO.

6 Q Now, the facilities that we have been talking about,
7 training facilities, were manned, then, by the Special
8 Operations Group, or at least supervised by the Special
9 Operations Group, is that correct?

10 A Well, supervised, yes, and I would think that probably 11 some of the training was given by their people. The Domestic 12 Training Station is under the Office of Training and -- but I
13 would think that in the paramilitary field that the SOG would 14 probably staff the training facility with their people who have 15 the expertise in paramilitary operations.

16 Q Now, were the people that were being trained at 17 these facilities basically Cuban refugees?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And at the outset I take it not many of those people
20 were American citizens?

21 A No.

22 Q Or had become American citizens.

23 A I would assume a great many have.

24 Q By this time.

25 A By this time, yes.

1 Q At the present time, how large is that Cuban community
2 in Miami? Do you have any idea?

3 A Well, it is extremely large. I would think it is
4 probably -- I was trying to think. I would say up towards a
5 military people.

6 Q You spoke about paramilitary operations and covert
7 action. How do you distinguish between those two categories
8 of activities?

9 A Well, actually one can fall into the other. The 10 paramilitary could fall into covert action but in those days
11 we did distinguish somewhat. A lot of the covert action was 12 media placement. We had a number of operations at -- legal-
13 type operations, harassment operations. For instance, Fidel
14 seized a great many art treasures and in particular he had a
15 Napoleonic collection which was supposed to be the finest in 16 the world that he sold to dealers in Europe. He had paintings
17 that were immensely valuable that he tried to have auctioned
18 in London and the London auctioneer would not accept them
19 because he obviously didn't have clear title to them. He was 20 -- they were stolen, in the eyes of the auctioneer. He was 21 forced to auction them in Toronto, Canada.

22 We ran legal operations, got the owners and had them
23 hire attorneys and bring them to court and this type of thing.

24 He seized these race horses. He tried to peddle them
25 in Europe and up in Canada. We ran opposition against that

Q These were what you considered to be covert operations?

A Yes, covert action.

Q Now, this is what you were referring to, legal-type operations?

A Yes.

Q You used legal process to harass Castro.

A Yes.

Q What other types of harassment activities did you run that would fall under this covert action category?

A Well --

Q Would economic warfare be --

A That was sort of something separate unto itself. This was -- the economic warfare aspect of this thing was a decision of the Special Group to enforce an economic blockade.

Q What special group is that?

A It is now called the Forty Committee.

Q Is that 302 Committee?

A Well, it was a 302 at one time, too. First of all, it was called the Special Group, CI, Counterinsurgency. Then it went to the 302 and then it had another name in between there and now it is the Forty Committee.

Q All right. We will return to that a little bit later, but what other types of harassment were you running against Castro --

A Well, as I say, a lot of propaganda, press placement, media placement. It has been so long ago I really don't remember. I know we had a number of things going against him. We used suasion, moral suasion, otherwise. We did some extra-legal things. We tried to get to his sources of supply, particularly when they were countries that we had treaties with, [redacted] this type of thing.

Q Let's talk about each of those in turn. You said you used moral suasion. What kind of activities are you referring to?

A Well, in the moral suasion field we -- actually, we were the catalyst in this whole thing and we had the legal activities, the legal -- well, I don't know how you would phrase it, [redacted]

I guess as you are aware, Cuban industry was totally U.S.-oriented. As parts began wearing out and this type of thing, Castro had his little people there running around trying to place orders with subsidiaries of U.S. companies. [redacted]

14 A Not really. None that I can think of.

15 Q Did you make the same kind of efforts with foreign

18 the point in case being the Leyland buses. We pulled all stops
19 to stop that sale. The [redacted] turned us down

21 Q Now, did you attempt to reach any other sources of 22 supply?

23 A Well, we also had what we call a preemptive purchasing
24 program. If there was a single source of supply for a
25 particular item we would go in and buy it to deny the Cubans

1 the market.

2 Q Would that then be re-sold somewhere on the domestic

3 A Yes.

4 Q -- domestic market?

5 A No. It would be re-sold abroad.

6 Q In all cases?

7 A The cases that I was associated with, it was all
8 sold abroad.

9 Q What kind of purchases were made?

10 A Well, we purchased at one point -- we purchased
11 some Bright Stock in Antwerp.

12 Q What?

13 A Bright Stock.

14 Q What is that?

15 A Heavy, heavy oil, and since Cuba -- 85 percent of 16 her energy comes from oil, this was considered a critical
17 commodity. Bright Stock can be -- oh, it is almost like tar,
18 melted tar, and it can be cut into additives, lubricants, this 19 type of thing, and this was critical to the Cuban economy. So
20 we had an oil firm purchase this Bright Stock from a dealer for 21 which we reimbursed the guy and the Bright Stock was eventually 22 sold in Africa.

23 Q Do you know of any sales of such materials that
24 were made within the United States? Resales, I should say.

A Well, we did provide through third country agents who got orders for Cuban goods, in collusion with the Commerce Department, and I would assume the Special Group, we had replacement parts manufactured that were substandard.

Q And you had them sold through foreign companies?

A Well, we had our agents get the Cuban orders all over Europe. Then they would come back and, as a matter of fact,

Q Mr. Connors?

A Yes. But you must remember these American manufacturers, well, their places were nationalized and they were only too happy to work with us. And actually, it was a cash deal, bona fide business. These things were transshipped through two or three countries, finally wound up in Havana.

A Well, I wouldn't say they were illegal, but they weren't exactly legal, I don't think. Perhaps they were in a gray area some place.

Q Well, whose laws are we talking about, international law, the laws of the United States?

A I would have to go back and review the thing. I really can't remember this. I would have to go to the files.

Q Where could we find that kind of thing in the files?

A I would think probably down in the Records Center some place.

Q Would it be possible to obtain that material some time during the lunch hour?

I might have a chart in my safe downstairs that might tell me what that is.

Q Well, let's make a note of that and we will have to come back to that.

A All right.

Q Who else would be knowledgeable about extra-legal activities that were run against Castro?

A Well, the people that would be knowledgeable are probably retired and I was running the program. So I ran the economic program.

Q Well, these are activities that were run in connection with the economic program?

A Yes.

Q We talked about media placement during this nine-year period.. To what are you referring when you refer to media placement?

A Well, stories or news items that perhaps our propaganda people wrote. We had them placed in newspapers and magazines throughout the world.

Q Would this also include broadcasts over radio stations?

2 A Not to my knowledge.

3 Q And that would include both the publications and the 4 radio?

5 A Right.

6 Q Let's talk about economic warfare for a couple of 7 moments. Could you describe for me briefly the type of 8 economic activities that were conducted against Castro?

9 A Well, first of all, we wanted to denigrate the 10 regime, his credit worthiness, and this type of thing. We 11 worked very closely with the Coordinator of Cuban Affairs in 12 the State Department and, well, for instance, in those days, I
13 guess it was back in 1964, the price of sugar had jumped from 14 about a penny a pound to 13 cents a pound, something like 15 that, and we couldn't understand why. So we kept -- Fidel kept 16 saying that he had such a poor crop and this type of thing and 17 we just couldn't figure out why he had such a poor crop because 18 some of our own island assets told us they were out there cutting
19 this cane like mad and the mills were working 24 hours a day,
20 this type of thing. So subsequently, we found out that he was 21 lying and he was storing the raw cane in the schools, any 22 place. He had no storage facilities and put it any place he 23 could.

24 So in cooperation with a couple of sugar brokers in 25 New York, we surfaced this fact and the price of sugar took a

SECRET

Photocopy from

1 real tumble and all of a sudden then Cuba started exporting.

2 It was this type of thing that obviously he was
3 trying to build up the world price because he didn't have any 4 money, he was so short on his exchange, and obviously we didn't
5 want him to get the exchange. So it was those types of 6 activities.

7 Q Was the assistance of any U.S. businessmen or U.S.
8 companies enlisted in that effort?

9 A Oh, yes.

10 Q In what manner did you use U.S. companies and 11 businessmen?

12 A Well, we simply used them as the experts. A great 13 many -- the sugar industry in Cuba was controlled by the 14 American community, by American bankers, and obviously they 15 lost everything when they had to pull out. Sugar is the 16 lifeline of Cuba as far as any exchange, foreign exchange, this
17 type of thing, and it was naturally our Number 1 target. So it
18 was only natural that we would go to the American businessmen.

19 Q What kind of assistance did you seek or obtain from 20 these businessmen?

21 A Well, we simply talked with them about why -- you
22 know, the market conditions were, why the price was rising, if 23 we could find out that Fidel has plenty of sugar, what would 24 happen to the market price. This type of thing.

25 Q They were used as consultants, basically.

A Well, we used all-source information to find out what his commercial dealings were. When we would see -- well, for instance, the Nicaro Nickel Mine which is a source owned by the General Services Administration, finally got back into production and nickel, of course, and still is -- was in short supply. We had a French firm, Societe le Nickel, who was buying almost the entire output of the Nicaro mines. And this French firm exported to the United States. So we went to the Treasury Department and to the Foreign Assets Control people and said, isn't there something we can do to stop these le Nickel exports coming into the United States? So they looked into the thing and indeed they did.

Q Who owned the mine?

A The U.S. Government owned it when Castro took it over.

Q I see.

A General Services Administration. And it was leased out for operation. But the ownership rested with the Government.

So the Treasury simply made the French provide a Certificate of Origin for the nickel that went in -- they export a lot of metal that contains nickel, silverware, knives and forks, this type of thing, and -- you know, stainless steel, and since nickel is used as a hardening agent we simply -- Treasury simply said you can't import any more into this

1 country until we have a Certificate of Origin. As a matter
2 of fact, there was a boat that was pulling into the dock in
3 New York and they wouldn't let it unload. They just turned it
4 around. Eventually, over a period of months, le Nickel
5 found other sources and export privileges to the United States

18 Q When we broke for a moment we were discussing other
19 instances where the Agency has enlisted the support of American 20 business in economic warfare against Cuba. Can you think of 21 any other such instances?

22 A Oh, certainly. The Cubans were having an awful time
23 with their Maritime fleet, such as it was. These boats were 24 powered with Nordberg engines. We simply went to the Nordberg
25 people and told them -- asked them to cooperate with us, which

1 they said they would. They notified their manufacturer's
2 representatives around the world if they got any orders from
3 the Cubans they were to be refused. This type of thing.

4 We did the same thing with --

5 Q Let's just stop for a second. Now, was Nordberg
6 compensated in any way for cooperation with the Agency?

7 A No.

8 Q Were they compensated for the loss of business
9 involved in that activity?

10 A No. No.

11 Q I take it, you received similar cooperation from 12 other companies.

13 A Oh, a great many other companies, yes.

14 Q Did any American companies refuse to cooperate in 15 that manner?

16 A No. Not a one.

17 Q Were there any legal sanctions threatened against any 18 companies?

19 A No. No.

20 Q Were there any sanctions that could have been brought 21 to bear upon those companies had they chosen to trade with 22 Cuba?

23 A Well, in the first place, they couldn't trade with 24 Cuba. They couldn't get export licenses from this country
25 anyway. Then, under the Foreign Assets Control Act of the

1 Treasury Department you have the extra-territoriality clause
2 in there where a subsidiary of an American company cannot --
3 foreign subsidiary of an American company cannot trade with 4 the country that is designated and Cuba was a designated country.
5 And all the businessmen were well aware of this. Nobody tried
6 to twist their arm.

7 Q Other than insuring that these companies refused
8 to accept orders from Cuba, which I take it you feel they were 9 legally constrained from doing, what other types of support did
10 you receive from American business?

11 A Well, if American business -- sometimes they would 12 receive correspondence, particularly, say, from -- well, they 13 received it from Cuba asking for publications and this type
14 of thing. They would normally forward all this type of thing
15 to the Commerce Department and the Treasury Department, or in 16 some instances they might call me and I would just give them
17 a Post Office box to send the correspondence to.

18 Q Any other types of support solicited or received by 19 the Agency from American business?

20 A No. Not that I can recall. There just wasn't one
21 firm we approached, and God knows we approached I don't know
22 how many, that wasn't extremely cooperative. As a matter of 23 fact, a lot of them, you know, thought we weren't doing enough, 24 that we ought to do a little more than we were doing, the 25 government wasn't really pushing Cuba the way it should, but

Phone (Area 202) 544-6000

1 outside of that, nothing. There wasn't any problem of coopera-
2 tion. There wasn't any arm-twisting. It was all voluntary.

3 Q Did you identify yourself as CIA --

4 A Yes.

5 Q -- in dealings with these companies?

6 A Indeed, I do and we went to the top level, even 7 the Board Chairman or the president. No problem at all.

8 Q Let's talk about paramilitary operations. We started
9 but didn't really discuss that in any depth.

10 What kind of paramilitary operations were run
11 against Cuba by the CIA?

12 A Maritime operations.

13 Q Is that the extent of it?

14 A That is the extent of it.

15 Q Were there any aerial operations?

16 A Not to my knowledge.

17 Q Leaflet drops?

18 A No.

19 Q Bombing?

20 A No. Of course, you had the over-flights. As far as 21 I am concerned that is the only aerial activity.

22 Q That was run by another directorate, wasn't it?

23 A Yes.

24 Q Aerial photography, and so forth.

25 A Yes. They run a flight when you ask them. It has to be requested and that is about it.

Q And those were run out of the United States?

A Oh, yes.

Q Can you think of anything, any other type of para-military activity other than maritime operations.

A No. I really can't, no.

Q Am I correct that those operations were manned by CIA contract employees?

A Right.

Q Which would include Cuban refugees.

A Right.

Q And some CIA officers?

A Right.

Q Any other branches of the services, Armed Services, involved? This, of course, is posted Bay of Pigs.

A Yes. No, not to my knowledge. You have got to remember that probably down at our Domestic Training Station we probably have people on detail from other -- from the military branches in the Government, but other than that I don't think that -- of course, during the Bay of Pigs operation we also had people detailed into the Agency.

Q Now, the training of persons involved in maritime operations, I take it, was conducted in part within the United States and in part outside of the United States. Is that correct?

Photocopy from
Gerald Ford Library

1           A     I would think probably the major portion of it was 2 conducted within the United States.

3           Q     The Keys would be considered within the United 4 States.

5           A     Oh, yes.

6           Q     Or were there any locations where it was conducted
7 outside the United States?

8           A     Following the Bay of Pigs, I don't think so. Not 9 to my knowledge. I just don't know, I just don't recall
10 but I don't think that -- I think all the training was done
11 domestically.

12          Q     Now, what kinds of operations are included within 13 this category of maritime operations?

14          A     Well, the infiltration operations, infiltrating
15 agents into Cuba, exfiltrating agents, hit and run sabotage
16 raids. That is about the extent of it.

17          Q     Now, when did these operations commence? Was it
18 shortly after the Bay of Pigs?

19          A     I would -- I think these operations were probably 20 at their height during the period about 1963 through, say,
21 1967. The program was terminated in 1968, I think in December
22 1968, something like that.

23          Q     Why was the program terminated?

24          A     First of all, it was too expensive. It wasn't provid-
25 ing enough intelligence and it simply wasn't -- economically,

1 it wasn't feasible to continue these things. The agents were
2 getting wrapped up. We were -- we just felt that the return
3 wasn't sufficient for what the investment was.

4 Q You say the agents were getting wrapped up.

5 A Yes.

6 Q What do you mean by that?

7 A When we infiltrated an agent, Cubans would identify 8 him and capture him.

9 Q These various types of paramilitary operations that 10 were conducted by the Agency I trust were approved by the 11 Forty Committee?

12 A Every operation received a specific approval from 13 the Forty Committee.

14 Q In advance?

15 A In advance.

16 Q Now, what was the procedure for submitting -- for 17 initiating such an operation?

18 A Well, normally in the case of an infil or an exfil.
19 or perhaps we wanted to lay down the cache.

20 Q You are referring to a cache of arms.

21 A A cache of anything, replay of radio, batteries,
22 whatever they might need. If we decided that we should have 23 one of these operations and the request would go from here
24 over to the, I guess to the White House and then the Forty 25 Committee at its weekly meeting -- they used to meet very

1 frequently -- they would either approve the operation or say
2 no. These operations had to be planned well in advance because
3 the tides had to be right, the moon had to be in the proper
4 phase for communications and this type of thing. And these 5 things, all these were coordinated with the Joint Chiefs of 6 Staff, the Navy, the Coast Guard, the FBI. If we were 7 exfiltrating people, the Immigration and Naturalization Service.
8 Every Government agency or enforcement agency or military 9 agency that had any involvement whatsoever, and the entire 10 thing was coordinated.

11 Q Do you know of any such paramilitary operations
12 that were run unbeknownst to the Forty Committee?

13 A No.

14 Q What kind of volume of operations are we talking
15 about?

16 A You are not talking about a very big volume of 17 operations because of the planning that had to go into these 18 things. I would say that probably at the height of the thing
19 they may be running three or four a month. No more than that.

20 Q You have heard Eugenio Martinez refer to having 21 run 300 operations.

22 A I have seen that.

23 Q Is that inaccurate?

24 A Well, it all depends on what is in his mind. He 25 may have considered some of the training exercises as opera-

SECRET

Photocopy from
Gerald Ford Library

1 tions. Obviously, these guys trained. In order to run one
2 of these operations, you know, you would have to have a mother
3 ship in place and rubber boats and the UDT people to go in to 4 see if there were mines and this type of thing on the shore
5 before you go. So he may have considered that all these train-
6 ing exercises were operations but no way did he ever partici-
7 pate in any three or 400 active operations into Cuba.

8 Q Now, from what specific locations were these 9 operations launched?

10 A They were mostly launched from the Keys.

11 Q Any other locations?

12 A Not to my knowledge.

13 Q Now, would you describe for me the kind of hit and 14 run sabotage operations that were conducted?

15 A Well, we conducted one hit and run sabotage against 16 the Texaco refinery.

17 Q What used to be the Texaco refinery?

18 A What used to be the Texaco refinery.

19 MR. MANFREDI: Off the record.

20 (Discussion off the record.)

21 THE WITNESS: These things, a great amount of planning
22 went into these things. We did have a model of the refinery.
23 We agonized over the best approach to the refinery and this
24 type of thing to do the most effective damage. This was run. It
25 was successful, as I recall, not totally successful but it was

1 a successful operation. By that, I mean they didn't do as
2 much damage as they wanted to because they had to get out
3 because the Cuban defense came after them. It was that type
4 of operation that we did.

5 As I recall, another time we took a team in to burn
6 some cane fields. Really, the classical operations that we 7 did in the maritime activities were the infiltrations and 8 exfiltrations.

9 Q Were any CIA operations run out of Guantanamo?

10 A Not to my knowledge.

11 Q Was it impractical to use the base there for --

12 A Well, the base is so surrounded and has been that 13 I think if a guy went through that fence you would carry him
14 back. He wouldn't walk.

15 MR. MANFREDI: Off the record.

16 (Discussion off the record.)

17 MR. MANFREDI: Back on the record.

18 BY MR. MANFREDI:

19 Q Are there any other categories of sabotage run out
20 of the Keys other than what you have just described?

21 A Well, we did lay down a cache, if you will, sabotage
22 kits to be used by our own island agents. They contained
23 sugar to dump into gas tanks and metal fragments to put down
24 crank cases. Things of this nature.

25 One of our main objects was to, of course, sabotage

1 all the oil. We did that with a big operation. We made our
2 own oil, substandard. Additives, I should say, not oil. We
3 contracted with an American firm for that. And we shipped
4 it in through third countries in Europe. It did hit the target.

5 The thing we wanted to get at was the oil and the 6 automotive machinery on the island. We knew it was breaking 7 down and if we could get a complete breakdown we would have
8 everything at a standstill because in those days the automotive
9 equipment wasn't coming in that rapidly from Europe because 10 Castro didn't hve the money to buy it and they weren't going to 11 extend the credit.

12 The railroad system was in total disaster. The 13 Soviets had such a long logistics line, supply line, plus
14 the fact that the Cubans didn't like the Soviet equipment
15 because they were used to good American equipment. And these 16 were principal targets that we were trying to get to.

17 Q In your experience at the Agency can you think of 18 any other analogus or similar paramilitary operations run
19 from a base in the United States?

20 A No.

21 Q I know there has been some paramilitary training
22 in the United States.

23 A Oh, yes.

24 Q In connection with other operations.

25 A Oh, sure.

Photocopy from
Gerald Ford Library

1 Q But do you know of any paramilitary operations that
2 were actually run out of the United States?

3 A No.

4 Q As far as you know, then, this is a totally unique
5 situation.

6 A As far as I am concerned, it is, yes.

7 Q Now, how large a Navy was actually organized in 8 Miami? On a previous occasion you described this to me as 9 the third largest Navy in the Caribbean.

10 A That is right.

11 Q What kind of equipment did these people have?

12 A Well, we had -- honestly, everything from a canoe
13 up to three to 500 foot mother ship. We had Boston whalers,
14 rubber boats. We had a number of craft in, say, the 27 to 15 45 foot length. And they looked like real tubs. They were 16 painted and they looked like they wouldn't even float but 17 they had the fastest engines in them. They could outrun any-
18 thing. They were extremely well armed. We had our under-
19 water demolition teams. We had a pretty good Navy.

20 Q Did these craft operate under non-official cover
21 in the Miami area?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Were there a variety of covers or was there one
24 firm?

25 A No. Variety.

Q Fishing companies?

A Well, fishing companies, Geodetic Survey, marine supply. In all, I think during the period that the station and these other entities were under commercial cover, or non-official cover, I think we had 100 so cover companies.

Q Did any of these companies actually engage in any legitimate commercial activities?

A Not to my knowledge, no.

Q None of them -- were any of them in competition with firms in that area?

A These are probably what we would call devised facilities. They were probably registered with the State of Florida and they paid taxes and this type of thing, but if one was blown or became known, we just crossed that out of existence and started up a new one.

Q What did Eugenio Martinez do when he wasn't running these operations?

A Well, he was down -- this is one of the reasons, as I told you before, we brought him back and put him under that contract, that retainer, because of the years that he spent under such strict operational discipline down in the Keys. Obviously, he didn't stay down there all the time. He came back -- he might come back once a month, or something like that, to see his family, perhaps once every two weeks if he got some time off.

A Oh, yes. Oh, sure.

Q Were there any operations run out of the United States which involved destruction of crops or poisoning of sugar or anything of that sort?

A What did you have in mind specifically? You mean the Puerto Rican thing?

A Well, that is one of the things I had in mind. Would you describe that for me?

A Well, this is, I guess you could term it a target of opportunity. This was where a vessel was carrying Cuban sugar to the Soviet Union and I forget exactly now what happened to it but I know that it got a hole below the waterline, or something, and had to put into Puerto Rico for repairs.

In order to repair it, I guess, and get it in the drydock or wherever it was, they had to remove the sugar and put it in the warehouse and at that time I guess somebody came up with a plan to try to widen the rift between -- there was a rift at that time between the Soviets and Cubans and to put a harmless substance into the sugar that would make it acid, sour tasting, and it wouldn't harm the sugar or the individual, and some of this was done. And then when it leaked, of course, we had to get rid of it and we had a sugar firm buy it back from the Soviets.

BY MR. MANFREDI:

Q Are there any other operations in which crops were -- were there attempts to destroy crops in Cuba?

A No. No.

Q Place foreign substances in Cuban products?

A In Cuban products?

Q Yes.

A No. Not that I recall. You see, Cuba really -- in those days the only thing, Cuba was exporting sugar and nickel. The agriculture sector of the economy was in absolutely total chaos. God, they didn't have any citrus, they didn't have anything, and the poor people in Cuba were literally starving. There just wasn't anything to eat. And Fidel was going around with this big plan -- of course, there were a number of experimental cattle ranches in Cuba. King Ranch had one there. I forget -- several other European and American companies that had experimental cattle ranches there and they were experimenting with the, you know, cross-breeding and this type of thing.

Fidel was preoccupied with this. He went up to Canada and paid $100,000 for a bull and -- so he just put it

WARD & PAUL

410 First Street, S.E., Washington, D.C. 20003

1 on an old Cuban Airways airplane. The damn airplane flew too
2 high and the bull became sterile by the time he landed in
3 Cuba. No thought given to, you know, pressurizing the cabin
4 and keeping the temperature at a certain point and this type
5 of thing. So he was helping us all along the line and 6 this here again, we generate propaganda, incompetence and this 7 type of thing.

8 But as far as sabotaging any Cuban product, no, we
9 didn't go into that. Our object was to enforce the blockade
10 and cut off his sources of supply.

11 Q When was the Miami Station established?

12 A As a station?

13 Q Yes.

14 A I think in September 1961.

15 Q And that was several years before you became involved
16 in Cuban matters?

17 A Yes.

18 Q Do you know of any other facilities of that nature
19 within the United States, Agency facilities?

20 A You mean, targeted against the opposition?

21 Q Yes.

22 A A station as such?

23 Q Yes.

24 A No. You have some communications facilities that 25 you really call stations because here again, they are not

1 directed towards any domestic activity. They are in support of
2 overseas communications.

3 Q Of course, we have FR bases and DCD offices and
4 Office of Security officers, and so forth.

5 A Right.

6 Q But I am talking about actual stations.

7 A Operating stations, no.

8 Q This is the only such station in the United States
9 as far as you know, is that correct?

10 A Right.

11 Q And was this station established to deal primarily 12 with Cuban activities?

13 A Yes.

14 Q Cuban-related matters?

15 A With Cuba, period.

16 Q Did it have, when it was established, any other
17 responsibilities with respect to Western Hemisphere activities?

18 A Not to my knowledge.

19 Q Entirely limited, then, to Cuban activities?

20 A Yes, and in support of Cuban activity and other
21 countries in the Hemisphere.

22 Q When you joined the group dealing with Cuban
23 activities, what was the size or the number of personnel
24 attached to that Station?

25 A To that Station? Well, the Station had probably a couple

1 couple hundred staffers there, full-time employees of the 2 Agency, plus I don't know how many contract employees,
3 independent contractors, probably another 200 minimum. It was 4 obviously the largest installation we had. I think at its 5 height it had over 500 people in it.

6 Q Full-time Agency people?

7 A No, no.

8 Q Combination of contract and --

9 A And full-time, yes. A regular employee we call a staff
10 employee.

11 Q Now, would Martinez have been one of those contract
12 people?

13 A Yes.

14 Q Even though he was located down in the Keys?

15 A Oh, yes.

16 Q And what kind of facilities did the Station have in 17 Miami? Physical facilities.

18 A Well, they were located on the south campus of the 19 University of Florida, I mean, the University of Miami, at 20 the old Richmond Naval Air Station. It was a self-contained
21 unit. It was pretty well off the beaten path, in fact, damn
22 well off the beaten path. It was about four miles from the 23 Dixie Highway inland. We had our own guard force.

24 Q Official cover?

25 A No. Non-official.

3 one was called Zenith Corporation and it was set up with a

5 Q Engaging in any business?

6 A No.

7 Q Now, in a community of that type, Cuban community,
8 how long could a non-official cover last?

9 A Well, obviously it didn't, but it was research
10 activities. Funded -- it is a giant mechanism when you put 11 one of these things in for the funding and this type of thing,
12 for your ostensible customers, establishing bank accounts.

13 Q Yes, I understand.

14 A So it was a research activity and the only people that 15 ever paid any attention to the place were the newspapers. You
16 know, somebody would make an inquiry, you know, we can't accept
17 any work, we are loaded with Government contracts and this 18 type of thing, and it held up reasonably well. And out of 19 this one thing, of course, then we were running these innumera-
20 ble other covers with different activities. The guard
21 force, of course, were like -- well, they wore uniforms, similar 22 to the Pinkerton people and this type of thing. And I think
23 that there was -- in the later days at that site I think the 24 Department of Agriculture had offices in there and some other
25 Government agencies, in other buildings, of course.

Q When did the Western Hemisphere Division resume responsibilities for the Miami Station?

A Well, when Des. Fitzgerald left as Chief of the Special Activities Staff and became Chief of the Western Hemisphere Division, he brought it back into the Division.

Q When you joined the group in 1963, what functions were being performed by the Miami Station?

A Well, all the classical intelligence functions. I think I have lined them out at one time --- collection of positive intelligence, counterintelligence, paramilitary, this type of thing. Covert action.

Q This is the list of things you gave me earlier in the deposition?

A Yes.

Q Were there many activities of that type?

A Not really. You have got to remember that the Bureau's Cuban squad was fairly small. I mean, it was a large squad in terms of FBI squads. It had 36 people on it, something like that, but 36 people trying to follow a couple of hundred thousand Cubans around, you know, it is pretty negative. This was one of the reasons that obviously from -- in those days when we had formed these revolutionary fronts which were being run by the Cuban exiles, they were reporting to Case Officers and they would report on things in the community, of people they thought were suspect and this type of thing. These leads in turn were then given to the Bureau and it was to this extent that we got ourselves involved in CI activity.

Q Would it be fair to say that the involvement in CI activities in that area was primarily a function of the overwhelming number of these people and the Bureau's inability to properly staff the thing?

A Yes, yes. You have got to remember, too, that a lot of the people on that Cuban squad were in the legal section of the Embassy in Havana. You know, the FBI overseas is known as Legal Attaches, obviously working out of the Embassy the same as our Station was, and a lot of our Station officers from Havana were down in Miami at that time. So there was a relationship there that had gone over a period of years between the Agency and the Bureau.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Thereupon,

WILLIAM C. STURBITTS,

called as a witness by Counsel for the Commission on CIA Activities, and having been first duly sworn by the Notary Public, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION BY COUNSEL FOR THE COMMISSION (Cont'd)

BY MR. MANFREDI:

Q When we recessed for lunch you were talking about the Miami Station . Do I understand that the Miami Station was the largest CIA station in the world?

A The largest CIA station in the world.

Q At its height?

A Nothing comes anyplace close to it.

Q I wonder if you could describe briefly for the record what the AMOTS were.

A Well, the AMOTS were Cuban a Cuban intelligence organization in exile. We full intended -- this was part of the overall contingency plan that US Government had. Should Castro ever be overthrown, these people would be the nucleus to go into Cuba and form a new Ministry of the Interior.

Q Now, Ministry of the Interior, is that a euphemism for Security Agency?

A Well, in most countries of the world the Ministry of Interior, unlike ours, is the security force, internal and.

2 A Cuban exiles.

3 Q How large an outfit were the AMOTS?

4 A Well, at one time -- I can give you the exact figures
5 but I know it well exceeded [redacted] probably closer to --

6 Q Go ahead.

7 A Probably closer [redacted] something like that.

8 Q Now, would that [redacted] persons be included within the 9 [redacted] who made up the Miami Station?

10 A No.

11 Q That was over and above the personnel of the Miami
12 Station?

13 A Right.

14 Q These people were fulltime CIA employes, weren't they?

1 A That is right.

2 Q And was training provided them by the Agency?

3 Q Oh, yes.

4 A You said the smaller group of the two groups that made

5 up the AMOTS conducted the interrogations, is that correct?

6 A Right.

7 Q When you speak of interrogations, are you referring to 8 debriefings?

9 A I am referring to debriefings of newly arrived exiles

10 or perhaps exiles that had been in the country whom during their

11 time here had acquired new information.

12 Q How were those -- how and where were those debriefings

13 conducted?

14 A Well, normally the debriefings were conducted at 15

17

20 Sometimes if there was going to be a lengthy debriefing, we had

21 a residence which we rented and the interior was changed into

22 small rooms like this where you could bring people in, sit them

23 down, under controlled conditions, and debrief them without any 24 interference and this type of thing.

1 A. You mean in terms of years?

2 Q. Yes.

3 A. Well, I would think that I would probably say from 4 about 1962, and I think the debriefings as such, of course --
5 we relied principally on the airlift for the people coming out
6 and when the airlift was cut off, which Castro did -- cut off
7 about, I guess about 1970 or '71, in that timeframe --

8 Q. I see.

9 A. -- that stopped the flow of the refugees, so we just 10 terminated that part of the activity.

11 Q. Well, in addition to debriefing refugees that came 12 in in the airlift, did the smaller group of AMOTS have any other
13 intelligence gathering functions --

14 A. No.

15 Q. In the community?

16 A. Well, I can't give you a real yes or no to that. I
17 would suppose that there is an outside possibility they could 18 have been used to debrief people within the community, within 19 the Cuban community, but we had in the organization -- all these 20 people were Cuban with the exception of we had what we call an 21 On-Site Case Officer, who was a fulltime staff employee and he 22 had a couple of assistants, including a secretary. These people
23 were directly under his control. Though the organization as it
24 was set up, they had their own chief and this type of thing,
25 but the chief took his instructions from the On-Site Case Officer.

1 Of course, if these people went out and did something on
 2 their own, they could do things we were not aware of, obviously.
 3 You can't -- you know what they are doing during their eight or 4 ten hours that they are going to work everyday but once they 5 leave, we don't know what they are up to.

6 Q Did they have CIA credentials?

7 A No sir, [redacted]

8 [redacted]
 9 Q Did CIA levy any intelligence requirements upon these 10 people other than in their duties -- in their debriefing
 11 capacity, I should say?

12 A No. When -- there were -- obviously there was a
 13 standard debriefing form that covered questions of intelligence
 14 interest or a battle, you know, anything -- economic questions, 15 morale, and this type of thing. When these questions -- when 16 these people were debriefed and the debriefer wrote up the 17 report, it would be sent from the AMOTS over to the Station.
 18 If the debriefing report contained something of positive
 19 intelligence, of that nature, the Case Officer -- well, not the 20 Case Officer but a staffer in the Station may or may not jot
 21 down some additional requirements and ask that that person be 22 recontacted and asked specific questions.

23 Q Now, in addition to debriefing, what else did this
 24 smaller group of AMOTS do for the Agency in the Miami area?

25 A This was their prime purpose.

WARD & PAUL

410 First Street, S.E., Washington, D.C. 20003

1 Q How large was that particular group?

2 A Oh, there were only about, I would say at the outside,
3 I think there were about five debriefers with the support people
4 which would be secretaries, translators, strictly administrative
5 types. I don't think there were more than probably 12 or 15
6 in that group, if there were that many.

9 BY MR. MANFREDI: Back on the record.

10 Q Before we move on to further discussion of the AMOTS
11 could you briefly describe for me what role the CIA plays in 12 resettling Cuban emigres?

13 A CIA doesn't resettle Cuban emigres.

14 Q What Agency is charged with that responsibility?

15 A Health, Education and Welfare.

16 Q Does CIA play any role in that process?

17 A We may assist if we are asked but the idea of the whole
18 airlift was having relatives here for somebody to claim you when 19 you came in so you wouldn't become a ward of the State of the 20 Government, and normally when these refugees came in, they were 21 processed through the Center and then they had a place down on 22 Biscayne Boulevard they called Freedom House and this was, of 23 course, all run by HEW, and they -- if need be and they had to 24 stay overnight or stay several days, HEW would put them up and 25 care for them in Freedom House.

15           Q     Okay. What activities was the larger group engaged 16 in?

17           A     Well, the larger group was engaged in the collection
 18 of intelligence. They compiled dossiers on the principals
 19 inside Cuba. They carded -- they kept card files on every 20 refugee that came through the reception center. They provided
 21 they did do economic and social reporting. They put out a
 22 monthly newsletter based on the information they collected.

23           The information these people collected as opposed to the 24 information we collected, ther's was all unclassified. That 25 came from -- all the information they had came from human sources or overt publications. We subscribed

[Redacted]

[Redacted] a great many newspapers, periodicals, Spanish language type things.

Q Well, they were doing clandestine collections as well, weren't they?

A I don't know if you could call it clandestine. What did you have in mind?

Q Well, would they run agents in the community?

A Well, yes, there were penetrations of the Cuban community, yes.

Q And that is clandestine collection, isn't it?

A Well, I call that human resources.

Q All right. Where are these files now?

A They are in the Headquarters here. A great many of them were really destroyed. It got to be rather comic. We went down there several years ago just looking through the files to see what kind of shape they were in and they had such great information for intelligence value in there as a picture of a gal who might be the daughter of a Cuban refugee who just won a swimming meet. It got rather ridiculous. So we purged those files and took out that material, you know, which just didn't have any pertinancy at all.

9 A No way.

12 A We made an effort at one time but this -- you can 13 become nationalized out in California and your record of 14 nationalization wouldn't be reflected here in Washington for 15 two years. That is how far they are behind.

16 Q So I take it --

17 A So there is no central index you can go to. I mean,
18 there is a central index you can go to but it is not current.

19 Q I take it, then, that there is a possibility that the 20 CIA has some files in Miami or here in Langley on Cubans who 21 are now American citizens?

22 A Absolutely true.

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. What else did they do, this larger group of AMOTS that was not doing debriefings?

Q. What intelligence gathering activities did they conduct in the Cuban community in Miami?

A. One of the big problems we had was within that Cuban community, as I said earlier, were some of the militant anti-Castro groups and this just drove the FBI and the Coast Guard and Customs and in general the law enforcement US. Government

1 agencies in Miami plus the State government enforcement agencies
2 up the wall and, of course, I guess it was around -- the
3 Government allowed a lot of this to go on for awhile but I guess
4 about 1965 or 1964 they got a little tired of it and they
5 started to tighten up.

6 I am sure the AMOTS were in part responsible for proposing
7 alerting us and in turn we alerted the enforcement agencies when 8 there was going to be a raid against Cuba by one of these 9 militant groups. A number of times raids were aborted, picked
10 up by the Coast Guard or Florida Coastal Patrol or the Bureau,
11 this type of thing.

1 I truthfully don't know whether any of these people ever went
2 to jaul or not.

3 Q Other than identifying operations by militant anti-
4 Castro groups, what other intelligence gathering did the AMOTS
5 engage in?

6 A Well, of course, there was a counterintelligence --
7 I wouldn't call it a project but a counterintelligence interest
8 at that time because we knew that they were infiltrating agents.

9 Q Cubans were?

10 A The Cuban Government. They couldn't do it very well
11 on the airlift because, as I said before, the aged, infirm, and 12 young, but they did infiltrate them by small boat. And I don't 13 -- well, we had knowledge that this was on and we did try to 14 identify those people whom we thought would be suspect.

15 Q Was that done in cooperation with the Bureau?

16 A With the Bureau, yes.

17 Q Because of their manpower limitations you folks were 18 in a better position to do it?

19 A Yes, and language-wise, too. That is always a big 20 factor.

21 Q And this was conducted through the AMOTS?

22 A Yes.

23 Q How substantial was the counterintelligence operation
24 in the community?

25 A Well, it wasn't that big. They identified not what I

1 would call a great number of suspect infiltrates, but they did
 2 come up with a few promising ones and ones it turned over to the

 4 to it because, you know, you just -- unless you personally know
 5 the guy in the Bureau that is handling the case, you might as 6 well forget it. You have got too many other things to do.

7 Q What other positive intelligence gathering activities
 8 were they engaging in?

9 A Well, as I told you, one part of them were engaged in 10 electronic intercept.

11 Q Where was that done?

12 A Down in Florida, [redacted]

19 Q I see.

20 A At intervening periods of time.

21 Q When was this particular report prepared, the AMOTS?

22 A I think it was prepared in 1967 or '68.

23 Q It is a fairly lengthy document, isn't it?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And purports to be a fairly complete history of the

1 activities of the AMOTS?

2 A It starts back in 1959 when we first started using
3 this gent..

4 Q First started using what?

5 A First started using, I forget what his name was.

6 Q I see. Is it a chronological study of their activi-
7 ties?

8 A Yes.

9 Q And you have a copy of that in your custody?

10 A Yes.

11 Q I would like to see that document. And we will try
12 and obtain it through Hank Knoche's office.

13 A Okay.

14 Q Excuse me just for a minute.

15 (Off the record discussion)

16 MR. MANFREDI: On the record.

17 BY MR. MANFREDI: I wonder if you would -- let me ask you
18 this. There have been some allegations in the press that 19 prominent newsmen in the Miami area have in the past been agents
20 of the CIA.

21 Mr. Olsen just came into the office and I asked him to join
22 us because some of your involvement in Cuban activities in the 23 Agency in the Miami area touch peripherally on some of the things
24 had has been charged with investigating, so I am going to turn
25 the examination over to him for whatever time he needs.

MR. OLSEN: Thank you, George.

BY MR. OLSEN:

Q Can you begin, since I have not been in on the beginning of the interview here, can you start off, Mr. Sturbitts, by giving me about a one or two minute resume of what your contacts were with the Cuban elements in Florida and elsewhere withing this country on behalf of the Agency?

A Well, I was a member of the Special Activities Staff which was in effect the Cuban task force at Headquarters and the Miami Station functioned under the Special Activities Staff in a variety of intelligence collection and operations.

Q Who was the head of the Special Activities Staff?

A Desmond Fitzgerald.

Q And who was his immediate superior?

A Dick Bissell. Excuse me. No. At that time it was Dick Helms. He was the DEP.

Q Deputy Director for Plans?

A Deptuty Director for Plans.

Q What period of time are we talking about now?

A We are talking in the period of 1963 to 1965.

MR. MANFREDI: Off the record.

(Off the record discussion)

BY MR. OLSEN:

Q So you were not involved in this Special Activities Group during the 1959 to '61 period?

A No.

Q Or the period leading up to the Bay of Pigs?

A No.

Q And you were not involved in this program at all during the same time that E. Howard Hunt was involved in it?

A No.

Q Do you know what the position was Mr. Hunt occupied in connection with the Cuban operations of the Agency during the period of 1959 to '61?

A To my recollection, Howard Hunt was on the Covert Action Staff dealing in propaganda.

Q Was this propaganda directed to the Cuban people in this country?

A No. Cuban people abroad.

Q And what was his connection with the planning for the Bay of Pigs?

A I would have to review the record to really answer that. I don't know.

Q Didn't he spend an awful lot of time in the Miami area?

A He commuted quite a bit.

Q Between Washington and --

A Washington and Miami.

Q -- and Miami. During the period of 1960 and early '61?

A Right.

Q Mr. Hunt has stated in his interviews and in his

SECRET

1 published materials that he was the person who was in charge of
2 organizing a political unit among Cubans in this country which
3 would constitute the Cuban government in exile. Do you recall
4 where that was?

5 A. That could be quite true.

6 Q. Have you reviewed, Mr. Sturbitts, the Agency's entire
7 files relating in any way to the Cuban operations and particu-
8 larly with reference to whether they reflect any contacts
9 between the Agency and Frank Sturgis?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. Or Frank Fiorini?

12 A. There is no relationship.

13 Q. Is it your testimony that the records and files of 14 the Agency reveal no official or unofficial contact of any 15 nature with Frank Sturgis?

16 A. To my knowledge that is true.

17 Q. I take it from that that you are emphatic in your
18 testimony that he was never an employee of the Agency?

19 A. Extremely emphatic.

20 Q. And you are also equally emphatic to the effect that 21 he was never a contract agent of the Agency?

22 A. Exactly.

23 Q. Do you know whether he ever served in the capacity
24 of being an informer or informant to the Agency?

25 A. It is possible that he could have been a source.

SECRET

Photocopy from
Gerald Ford Library

1 Q You mean a source of --

2 A Source of information of another agent. Another

3 agency agent.

4 Q Do the files of the Agency reflect any matter?

5 A To my knowledge I don't recall anything like that but

6 it is entirely possible that that could have happened without

7 being a matter of record.

8 Q Do the files of the Agency reveal any instance what-

9 ever in which Frank Sturgis was ever asked to undertake any

10 kind of an operation or activity on behalf of the Agency?

11 A To my knowledge, nothing.

12 Q Do the files of the Agency reveal any evidence

13 whatever that Frank Sturgis was ever paid anything directly or 14 indirectly by the Agency?

15 A To my knowledge, no.

16 Q Now, when you say "to my knowledge, no", in answer

17 to some of these questions, do I understand that to mean that

18 you are giving us the full benefit of your knowledge on the 19 basis of a full review of the Agency's records and files?

20 A On Frank Sturgis, yes.

21 Q Okay. During the period of time that you were with

22 the Special Activities Group from 1963 to '66, first of all,

23 can you tell us when that began in 1963?

24 A When the Special Activities Group --

25 Q No. When your contact with the Special Activities

1 Group began?

2 A. It began -- well, it began around June of '63.

3 Q. Now, with particular reference to the last half of 4 1963, including whatever period in June '63 may not have been
5 involved, were there a great many Cubans in the southern United 6 States who were active in revolutionary fronts that were being
7 sponsored by the Agency?

8 A. Wellm you mean Agency sponsored fronts?

9 Q. Yes.

10 A. The Agency subsidized these fronts in an effort to 11 have unity rather than these split factions, split anti-Castro
12 factions. Obviously the leaders of the fronts knew that the 13 CIA was subsidizing. Supposedly the people that joined these 14 fronts did not know they were being subsidized by the Agency
15 or the U.S. Government.

16 Q. But when you say "supposedly," does the fact appear
17 to be otherwise?

18 A. Well, based on my experience with the Cubans and this 19 type of thing, and their penchant to talk, I would think that 20 it wouldn't take long for knowledge of any subsidy to surface
21 itself.

22 Q. Was it your opinion and impression at that time, Mr.
23 Sturbitts, that a great many Cubans considered themselves to be 24 involved in the CIA organizations?

25 A. Yes.

Photocopy from

SECRET

1 Q And again with particular reference to the Miami
2 area?

3 A Yes.

4 Q Was there also Cuban activity of this sort elsewhere
5 in the United States? I am asking now particularly with 6 reference to New Orleans.

7 A There was some Cuban presence in New Orleans. I am
8 really not familiar with what happened in New Orleans that was 9 sort of a sideshow to Miami.

10 Q But the same is -- it is possible that some of the 11 same Cuban organizations which were being sponsored or funded
12 by the Agency also had activities or operations in New Orleans?

13 A I don't know if I can answer that, whether they had 14 the same functions. I know that some funding arrangement for 15 subsidizing the organizations in Miami was carried out through 16 New Orleans.

17 Q Well, can you be more specific about what you mean 18 by that?

Q. How about Clay Shaw? Was Clay Shaw ever used as a funding source?

Q. I take it that Frank Sturgis was never an intermediary for providing funds to the Cuban fronts?

A. The files that I have don't reflect it.

Q. I think we covered this already just a few minutes ago but let me make sure that we have got it on the record.

I understood you to say that it was your impression in 1963 that large numbers of Cuban exiles, Cuban people in the southern United States, talked about and believed that they were involved in the CIA sponsored activities. Is that true?

A. That is right.

Q. Was it also your understanding and your impression that there was a good deal of talk among this Cuban element in the southern United States about plans or prospects for the assassination of Fidel Castro?

A. I would say no. I don't think there was -- you have got to remember that these people were embittered. They lost their homeland, their possessions, they lost everything and they blamed it all on one man.

Q Was this a matter of something that was reported to you?

A Well, it was -- I really don't remember what the source of it was but I know in my discussions with people at the Station and from my visits down there and that type of thing that this subject always came up. What were they going to do with Fidel? How are they going to get rid of him and this type of thing. I don't mean the Agency people. This is what the Cuban exile community was discussing.

A. No.

Q. Have you ever conducted any kind of inquiry on behalf of the Agency as to where he was on November 22, 1963?

A. Yes.

Q. And when did you conduct that inquiry?

A. I have done it twice that I recall and the most recent one was I guess -- I am just trying to think. Well, it wasn't too long ago because we did have an inquiry and we obtained the time and the attendance records from the Office of Finance which showed that Howard Hunt was on sick leave on that day.

Q. Was this just fairly recently?

A. Yes.

Q. I understood from what files I have seen, Mr. Sturbitts, that the only records that were available from the Office of Finance showed that he had had nine hours of sick leave during the two-week pay period ending the 23rd of November but that the records were not available as to how much sick leave or annual leave had been taken on any particular day.

A. Well --

Q. Am I mistaken?

A. As I recall, he was in a duty status one day and a sick leave status the next day and back to duty the next day. I would have to check that with my Budget and Fiscal Officer. He is the chap that got that for me.

7 Agency.

17 A 1963.

19 made?

20 A I don't know. I would have to look that up, too. I

21 don't recall exactly who asked for it. I don't know whether --

22 I will just have to check that. I don't know who it was.

23 Q And the date? Do you have any idea when you made the

2 A Yes. The previous inquiry came from [redacted]

4 European Division.

5 Q When was that inquiry received?

6 A That was about a year ago, I guess.

7 BY MR. OLSEN:

8 Q About the first time these photographs began to be 9 circulated?

10 A Yes.

11 Q About the bums in Dallas?

12 A Yes, and actually I think this -- [redacted] inquiry
13 came from some magazine or newspaper man in Europe. [redacted] was 14 Chief of Station, [redacted] for a long time and he apparently 15 made a lot of acquaintances over there among the media.

16 Q This is something you are relating to Der Stern

18 A That is right.

19 Q And did I understand you to say that in checking with 20 the Office of Finance that it was positively ascertained that 21 Hunt was on sick leave on November 22nd?

22 A Well, I will have to check that. That is the way
23 I understood it but I did get this through our Budget people who 24 have the contact with the Office of Finance.

Q Do you know why it went out of existence?

A No, I don't. I don't have any idea.

A

Q Was he performing any intelligence function in the community?

A Intelligence functions. Well --

Q Was he collecting information?

A Sure. If he got information that he thought was worthwhile he would pass it on.

A Yes. He was a contract employee.

Q And the AMDUKES are the AMOTS?

A The AMDUKES are AMOTS but they are radio people.

A Yes. The only reason we use two different names is that in each of these things in those days we had to have a project which had to be renewed every year to get the funding.

Q So AMDUKE and AMOT --

A Synonymous.

Q -- are cryptonyms?

A Yes.

Q Do the initials stand for anything other than --

A No. Just pick them out. If you want to encrypt somebody you just call downstairs and they give you a crypt. You don't have anything to do with it. The AM happened at that particular time to be the Cuban diograph.

6 Q Were these people on whom name traces were requested
7 all foreign nationals?

8 A All foreign nationals.

9 Q Was there any check made to determine whether
10 any of them were American citizens?

11 A We levied on the Secret Service as a requirement
12 that they have identified these people by nationality before
13 we would run a name trace. Inadvertently, at one time
14 they did submit a list, a rather long list of American citizens 15 which we promptly sent back to them and told them we could 16 not trace.

17 Q And this practice was followed both in 1968 and 18 1972?

19 A That is right.

20 Q And where were these names traced?

21 A They were traced back here and also in Miami. The 22 Miami Station did their name check and we did our name check
23 here. In the case of Cubans, probably the Miami Station had 24 more information on the Cubans than we would have back here.

25 Q But the names were traced through Agency files?

A Through Agency files.

Q Was Secret Service receiving cooperation from FBI on this as well?

A Oh, yes.

Q And in effect, they were getting an all-Agency name check --

A Right.

Q -- on people who might pose a security threat --

A Yes.

Q -- to a candidate?

A Well, they were just trying to determine who might be a security threat.

Q That is right. Potential threat.

A Yes.

Q For what political parties -- strike that.

In 1968 was this service provided for both political conventions?

A Both political conventions.

Q Were they both held in Miami that year?

A No. I guess it was in 1972 they were both held there. I think it was just the Democratic in 1968.

Q These requests did come from the Secret Service rather than --

A From the Secret Service and it was -- the Director of the Secret Service came to the DCI and asked him for support.

Q Do you still maintain the records with respect to that tracing activity?

A I have all the names that have been traced.

Q And they are on little cards down in your files?

A Yes.

Q Why have those records been maintained? Is there any reason those records have been maintained?

A Well, because we were told to maintain them when the Watergate thing broke.

Q I see.

A And since then nobody will destroy anything.

Q OK. Are you aware of any picketing at various places in the country that has been conducted by Cuban groups?

A I was not aware of it until I was told of it. I still don't know whether this was a spontaneous action on the part of these people or whether they were instructed to do it. I tried to run that down and I have been unable to.

Q At what locations has it been reported that pickets were located?

A Airline offices in New York, Miami. I think another place. I forget where it was.

Q Have you in fact been able to verify that these persons were Cubans?

A Well, it is a matter of record in the AMOT history that this indeed did take place. Now, what I have been trying to determine is whether the On-Site Case Officer authorized this, which I fully doubt.

Q Who was the On-Site Case Officer?

A At that time it was a fellow by the name of Tony Sforza.

Q Is he still alive?

A Yes, he is down in Miami. But I just do not know whether this was a unilateral action on the part of the AMOTS against the countries that were then trading with Cuba, notably Spain and Great Britain and France.

Q Other than this incident which we -- strike that. What kind of an investigation have you conducted?

A I have talked to people, which is really all you can do. There is no other way you can do it.

Q You have been unable to determine who, if anyone, authorized this activity? Have you been able to identify any of the persons who participated in the picketing?

A No.

Q With what frequency did this activity occur?

A I don't have any idea. I only know of one instance.

Q This was in New York City?

A New York City and Miami.

Q Do you know of any organized political activity that

1 the AMOTS engaged in?

2 A To my knowledge, they didn't engage in any.

3 Q Any political activity.

4 Do you know of any other activities that they have
5 conducted within this country, they or any of their members
6 have conducted within this country that we have not already
7 discussed this afternoon?

8 A No.

9 Q Any political activities? Any operations?

10 A No. Not really. Of course, we have used certain 11 select individuals to what we call hand-hold defectors, Cuban 12 defectors. In other words, live with them until they are 13 resettled and this type of thing. And this is another activity
14 they engaged in. But other than that, I can't think of any-
15 thing else.

16 Q Do you know of any criminal activities that have 17 been attributed to --

18 A I have heard of some allegations which have never 19 been proven.

20 Q What are the allegations?

21 A The allegations concern break-ins and surveillances
22 and this type of thing.

23 Q Have those allegations been made with any fre-
24 quency?

25 A Well, I forget who it was. It was during the

SECRET

1 Watergate trial. Some of these allegations that came out
2 and I think they were carried in the Anderson column but we
3 made file checks and this type of thing. One particular
4 activity was supposed to have been carried out in Rockefeller
5 Center in New York and it turns out it was taken out of 6 context. It was a training mission and -- training exercise.
7 These guys were being trained in surveillance in New York
8 and they were simply asked to go into a branch of the Manhattan
9 -- Chase Manhattan and to come back out and then they were 10 supposed to diagram the layout of the bank. And this to some 11 of them meant casing the bank when in fact it was just a 12 memory exercise.

13 Q With what frequency were those kinds of training
14 exercises conducted?

15 A Well, whenever there was an -- whenever it was felt 16 that these people, selected individuals, were to be trained
17 in trade craft.

18 Q And did their trade craft training include such 19 things as surveillance?

20 A Sure.

21 Q And break-ins?

22 A No. Not break-ins. Nor surreptitious entry. As I
23 said, in the case of this particular thing, it was misinter-
24 preted as casing the bank. These exercises were given -- they 25 could have walked into your office, your outer office and

SECRETPhotocopy from

1 said -- the instructor could have said two hours later tell
2 me what is in that outer office? What is the layout of it?
3 This is just for observation.

4 Q You stated earlier none of those allegations have 5 been proven. Have any of them been proved to your 6 satisfaction?

7 A No. I think we disproved them to my satisfaction.

8 Q I take it you do not believe they took place other
9 than the training exercise?

10 A Oh, no. No. I don't believe they did.

11 Q Do you know of any instances where members of that 12 group have broken in, made any other type of illegal entry
13 in this country?

14 A No.

15 Q Have you ever been present at any discussions of 16 the legality or illegality of maintaining stations like the 17 Miami Station within this country?

18 A Legality? No.

19 Q How about the propriety?

20 A Well, to my knowledge, that really never came up.
21 No one to my knowledge, has ever questioned the legality or 22 the propriety of having the Station.

23 Q There have been some allegations in the press and 24 elsewhere about possible misuse of Cuban exiles, members of 25 that community, by the CIA. Are you aware of those?

Q We received some correspondence and I have seen some articles that suggest that the Cuban community is sort of a resource that is occasionally tapped by the CIA for various operations in this country.

A You mean this country?

Q Yes. Picketing was one example. There were also some other examples of unusual activities. Do you have any knowledge of use by the CIA of Cuban nationals or exiles for any type of operation within this country?

A No.

Q Do you know whether or not the Agency has provided any financial support for Cuban businessmen in this country?

A No. Not to my knowledge.

Q Other than the maintenance of cover?

A No.

Q Establishment of businesses?

A No.

Q No?

A No.

Q In the course of our discussions today we discussed the AMOTS, the AMDUKES, various political front groups, revolutionary front groups. Are there any other emigre, Cuban emigre groups in the Miami area which have been supported by the Agency, either financially or otherwise?

A Yes.

Q You wrote it?

A Yes.

Q It has a familiar ring about it. There are references to indigenous organizations, emigre organizations. Are there any others other than the ones we have been discussing?

A Not to my knowledge. There are, you know, if you want to call it an organization, we did, you know, subsidize the break-out of Juanita Castro.

Q Yes, I am familiar with that.
