On August 17, 1978, the Committee deposed John A. McCone, the Director of the Central Intelligence Agency from October, 1961 until April 30th, 1965. (205) (Classified Top Secret testimony, 8/17/78, p.4)

During the course of the deposition, the following questions and answers were recorded: ~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~

Q: Do you know or did you know Maurice Bishop?

A: Yes.

Q: Was he an agency employee?

A: I believe so.

Q: Do you know what his duties were in 1963?

A: No.

... Q: For instance, do you know whether Maurice Bishop worked in the Western Hemisphere Division or whether he worked in some other division of the CIA?

A: I do not know. I do not recall. I knew at that time but I do not recall.

Q: Do you know whether Maurice Bishop used any pseudonyms?

A: No, I do not know that. (206) (Ibid, pp. 45,46)

David Atlee Phillips testified before the Committee in Executive Session on April 25, 1978. He said he never used the name ~~of~~ Maurice Bishop. He said he did not know of anyone in the CIA who used the name ~~of~~ Maurice Bishop.
 He said he had seen Antonio Veciana only twice in his life, the second time ~~that~~^{the} very morning of his hearing before the Committee when Veciana, who had testified earlier, emerged from the hearing room while he, Phillips, was in the hallway.
 Phillips said the first time he met Veciana was at a meeting of the Association of Former Intelligence Officers in Reston.
 He said that Veciana was brought to that meeting by an investigator from Senator Schweiker's office but, said Phillips, Veciana was not introduced to him by name but only as "the driver." He said Veciana asked him some questions in Spanish but at the time, ~~he~~ he didn't know who Veciana was or why Senator Schweiker's office had sent him to the meeting.

Phillips also testified that he had never used the name ~~of~~ Frigault and had never used a Belgian passport.

Phillips was shown the sketch of Maurice Bishop but could not identify it as anyone he knew. He said, however,
 "It looks like me."

The Committee staff interviewed Doug Gupton on August 22nd, 1978 at CIA headquarters. ⁽¹⁷⁰⁾ ~~(Staff interview, 8/28/78, JFK Document No. 002101)~~ Gupton said he worked for the CIA from December, 1951, until his retirement in June, 1978, much of that time on the Covert Action Guidance Staff. ⁽¹⁷¹⁾ ~~(This)~~ Gupton confirmed that he was in charge of propaganda operations at the Miami JM/WAVE station and that his immediate superior was David Phillips. ⁽¹⁷²⁾ ~~(This)~~ Gupton acknowledged that Ross Crozier was a case officer who worked for him and that he saw Crozier on a daily basis. ⁽¹⁷³⁾ ~~(This)~~ Gupton said he does not recall whether E. Howard Hunt or David Phillips ever used the name of "Knight." ⁽¹⁷⁴⁾ ~~(This)~~ He said he does not recall Phillips ever using the name of Maurice Bishop. ⁽¹⁷⁵⁾ ~~(This)~~ When told about Crozier's recollection of him referring to Phillips as "Mr. Bishop," Gupton said: "Well, maybe I did. I don't remember." ⁽¹⁷⁶⁾ ~~(This)~~ He also said, however, that he never heard the name of Bishop while he was stationed in Miami. ⁽¹⁷⁷⁾ ~~(This)~~ When shown the sketch of Bishop, he said it did not look like anyone he knew. ⁽¹⁷⁸⁾ ~~(This)~~

Explaining his working relationship with David Phillips, Gupton said he was in contact with him regularly in Washington by telephone and cable and that Phillips visited Miami "quite

On August 10, 1978, B.H. (Balmes Nives Hidalgo Jr.), a former covert operative of the CIA, was interviewed by the Committee in a special closed session. ~~(194)~~

~~Secret closed session, 8/10/78~~ B.H. was a CIA agent from 1952 to 1970. ~~(195)~~ Between 1960 and 1964 he was assigned to Cuban operations. ~~(196)~~

As such, he testified, he was involved in "day-to-day" operations with David Atlee Phillips. He characterized Phillips as "an excellent intelligence officer" and "a personal friend." ~~(197)~~

When asked if he knew an individual named Maurice Bishop, B.H. said:

"Again, Mr. Bishop was in the organization but I had no personal day-to-day open relationship with him. Phillips, yes; Bishop, no. I knew them both..." ~~(198)~~

Although he couldn't describe Bishop's physical characteristics, B.H. said he had seen him "two or three times" ~~(199)~~ in the "hallways or cafeteria" ~~(200)~~ at CIA headquarters in Langley. B.H. said he thought Bishop worked in the Western Hemisphere Division ~~(201)~~ and that he had a position "higher than me." ~~(202)~~ He could not be more specific. The two or three times he saw Bishop, he said, was between 1960 and 1964 when he himself was in Cuban operations, although, he said, he didn't know if Bishop worked in that area also. ~~(203)~~

In a review of its own files on March 15, 1978, the CIA noted that Veciana had contacted the Agency three times -- in December, 1960; July, 1962; and April, 1966 -- for assistance in plots against Castro. ^{Footnote} (Classified file 201-312966. Dir. 188531, 3/15/78, 78 0421219) According to the CIA: "Officers listened to Veciana, expressed no interest, offered no encouragement and never recontacted him on this matter. There has been no Agency relationship with Veciana." ^{Footnote (IBD)}

The Committee's own review of the Agency's files basically confirmed the stated conclusions about the meetings with Veciana in 1960 and 1966. ~~However,~~ ^{however,} A review of files dated July 7, 1962, revealed that contact with Veciana had been made by an asset, SKEWER-1, and that SKEWER-1 had given Veciana $500 for operational activity.
