VIII. LEGITIMATE BUSINESS ENTERPRISES

Possible Gambling Interests, San Juan, Puerto Rico

CG T-12 furnished the following information during February, 1964, relating to attempts by this individual to interest GIANCANA in a gambling casino at the Normandy Hotel in San Juan, Puerto Rico: ✓

In the early part of 1963, informant obtained option for operation of a gambling casino at Normandy Hotel, San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he and his brother have other business interests. Informant is anxious to obtain financial backing on a partnership basis in this venture. In July, 1963, he read an article in the magazine section of a Miami, Florida newspaper indicating that SAM GIANCANA, the well-known Chicago hoodlum, was seeking partnership arrangements with American businessmen who could obtain gambling concessions in the Caribbean area and South America, which article indicated GIANCANA interested in investment in such ventures. ✓

Subsequently, informant contacted an acquaintance, DAVID SAX, of Chicago, owner or former owner of Saxony Hotel, Miami, Florida, and now a banker in Chicago, formerly a manufacturer of punch boards. He told him of the article and asked how GIANCANA could be approached. SAX told the informant he knew one of GIANCANA's close business associates and could arrange a contact. ✓

Some time later, informant received telephone call from one DAVE (last name unknown) and TEDDY (last name unknown), who claimed to be GIANCANA's business associates and desired a meeting to discuss the matter. ✓

Informant met DAVE and TEDDY in Miami, Florida, and they seemed to know considerable about his financial standing, the fact that his resources were committed and that the brother of informant was principal controller of their business interests. ✓

At first, DAVE and TEDDY wanted to know something of informant's connections to assure themselves he could get gambling concessions in Puerto Rico and/or another Caribbean area. ✓

In the presence of DAVE and TEDDY, informant called L. O. PENDLING, a Negro attorney and member of Parliament, Nassau, Bahamas, with whom PCI had had prior business associations and made an appointment to meet PENDLING in Washington, D.C., in late August, 1963. PENDLING was unable to keep the appointment since the March on Washington made it impossible to get hotel reservations. ✓
