JOSEPH BARBARA

The "Pittsburgh Press" of June 18, 1959, carried a front-page article concerning the death of JOSEPH BARBARA of a heart attack on June 17, 1959. It stated that BARBARA, the "sick friend" that sixty gangsters dropped in to see at his Apalachin, New York, home on November 14, 1957, died of a heart ailment without revealing the secret purpose of the underworld convention. It noted that BARBARA, age 53, had been in Wilson Memorial Hospital at Johnson City, New York, since May 29, 1959, with a heart attack. The article further stated that the Sicilian-born BARBARA gave up both his business and his home after State Police rounded up his guests and that the home was sold for $130,000 during May, 1959, to a developer who announced plans to convert it into a tourist attraction. The article noted that his lingering illness had prevented his questioning by state and Federal investigators who have indicted and jailed a number of the nation's biggest "name" criminals for allegedly lying or refusing to talk about his hilltop barbecue party.

C. CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES

General Information of a Criminal Nature Obtained Through Informant Coverage

PG T-2, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that "young JOHNNY" LA ROCCA, younger brother of JOHN LA ROCCA, came in from Johnstown, Pa., during the last week of May, 1959, and remained for at least five or six days. He stated that from his comments to him at the apartment in which he is living on one of the nights LA ROCCA was in Pittsburgh, he understood that one purpose of his extended stay was to confer with the elder LA ROCCA. He advised that the appearance of both LA ROCCA and GABRIEL "KELLY" MANNARINO before the Senate Labor Rackets Committee on June 11, 1959, caused quiet comment among his clientele in the rackets, most of which concerned the status of the citizenship of LA ROCCA and the possibility of his deportation.

GENOVESE at his lounge prior to Apalachin but that at that time he thought that SCIANDRA was from the New York City area.

The informant advised that he had occasion to speak to ARTHUR "ARCHIE" NELSON during the second week in June, 1959, and that NELSON said that he would have a cocktail lounge in his new Phoenix Motel at Monroeville, Pa. He said that unless he misunderstood NELSON, the partner of MIKE GENOVESE told him that a small restaurant was also in the planning stage. The informant said he carried on this conversation with NELSON at Conti's Restaurant in Pittsburgh's East Liberty section where he had arrived alone for an early breakfast at about 2:30 a.m. on a weekday morning. He said that NELSON also told him that he had been in Florida but did not mention the location or purpose of his visit.

PG T-3, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that East Liberty and Homewood bookmakers plying their trade in those sections of Pittsburgh are now under constant surveillance by the younger members of the Pittsburgh Police Department who have learned that they can collect $10 each for staying away from the bookies for one week. He stated that one of the bookie establishments on Homewood Avenue in Pittsburgh is now under the control of EDDIE MORANTI, close confidante of MIKE GENOVESE and ARTHUR "ARCHIE" NELSON. He said that MORANTI once worked at Archie's Automatic Car Wash on Bennett Street and that he is now one of NELSON's pickup men in the East Liberty-Homewood area. He said that everyone knows that NELSON is simply the front for GENOVESE and that the entire operation is being backed by LA ROCCA.

The afore-mentioned informant advised that he was advised that eight policemen demanded money at one time during the last week of May, 1959, and that the pressure in the Homewood area has become so increased that a small operation in which he is interested has been lucky to net between $100 and $150 a day. He said that it has always been his contention that the GENOVESE-NELSON bookmaking operation will never be disturbed by the Pittsburgh Police Department because it has
