1. The Conseil de la Résistance in Cherbourg is composed of three main groups: the O.C.M., Liberation and the Front National:

The Chief of the Conseil de la Résistance, M. Creslin, is an O.C.M. leader and his organization holds the majority of seats in the Conseil. The O.C.M. is generally composed of merchants, landowners and notables who, prior to the armistice, were Rightists or extreme-Rightists.

Liberation, which claims to have been the most active and efficient movement in the Department, is led by and generally composed of Socialists and C.G.T. men. In fact all the Resistance Socialists and Union men are members of Liberation.

As in the rest of France, the Front National is here the Communist Party's resistance organization. It is not as influential here as it is reported to be in other regions.

2. The right hand men to M. Grouelin (M. Bocher, Beauchet), who seems to be as well the most prominent labor leader of the department. Bocher is at the same time secretary of the Regional Socialist Federation, secretary of the Merchant Sailor's Union, secretary of the Union des Syndicats, representative of the I.T.F. and head of the local liberation movement. He is a very efficient man and seems to be respected and esteemed by his political adversaries.

3. The enthusiasm in favor of the Allies described in the newspapers should not be overestimated. The Norman did not like the Germans and is glad that they have been thrown out. But a very great number of people here are suspicious of Resistance because of the presence of Communists and Socialists. Moreover, they are very reserved towards foreigners as a rule, and they are not sure of what the Allies intend to do. They are also puzzled about the currency which has been introduced. On the part of Labor, there is a sincere enthusiasm for the victories of the democracies somewhat tempered by the way local problems are handled by military authorities. For example, the ~~Army or the Navy~~ have hired dozens of workers to repair the Cherbourg harbor, but ~~had~~ have done it without consulting the unions. (They have thus given work to ~~a lot~~ former Todt workers, more or less reliable, while skilled workers who were in Resistance Movement are left unemployed. Instances of this kind are frequent.

is any sign of the missing men.

At 0700 hours I left the village of Kuk and headed west.
I stopped at the first house I saw and asked the man if he had seen any Americans. He said no. I continued on my way and stopped at another house. The man said he had seen two Americans. One was wearing a flight suit and the other was wearing a flight suit and a helmet. They were both carrying M-16's. They were walking towards the village of that the CO. is not initiating a sufficiently independent and open attitude.

12. Regarding relations of the Socialist Party with resistance groups, Mr. Soldado, member of the permanent commission of the party for the war's犠牲者 of the CO, expressed his deep regret over the fact that fusion between the Socialists and the CO was not sooner foreseeable. He said he had hoped this fusion or some evolution of the CO would be elements of the Socialist Party would constitute a great regenerated Socialist Party of the future. During the talk on the subject, he said it was, their explosive exception to no transference by jet, that the leader of the Big Three members of the party, that the leaders of the CO were merely a group of dividios who were trying to take advantage of the situation of pure political power.

13. As for foreign policy, the sources expressed itself as opposed to the hegemony of any one great power, whether it be Britain, the United States or Russia, and in favor of a system of collective security, with all the democratic nations of the world equally represented in an international association of nations. This association should have its own army, credit transport, etc., in order to be able to guarantee the peace. Regarding the treatment of economy, the green stated his opposition to any dismemberment of the country, but approved a long campaign, such as may be called control of all German industry and坐化 on a long-range program for the reeducation of German youth.

14. The green party, according to its spokesman, secretary of the organization of the Socialist Party, the current estimate to have 5,000 registered members in the CO. green does not decline to quote any figures.

15. Mr. Portillo, president executive service of CO, maintained that the communists have gained many new followers in the CO since the war, at the expense of the Socialists. He claims that the communists are a large element from the Communists' nationalist policy are also the most young, vigorous leaders as compared with the Socialists who would be the more lenient representing the old center. He stated that the policy of the Communist Party would remain nationalist in the future; that it would be difficult to return to a revolutionary program.

16. Portillo asserted that the communists get along better with the Christians than do they with the Socialists, since the latter - as he put it - placed party interests above the national interest.

17. The CO, which is opposed to the holding of elections next February, while reasons cannot be given, the elections were held and before the formation of the CO, was elected by the Allies and the U.S. took the popular election and the CO allies that resulted and the majority went to him. Portillo also stated that the CO did not represent the preceding year the broadest base of入党者 than the others. He said, "It would be difficult to determine the width of the three million people's and supporters who gave their vote to the polls, according to my information, however, the CO broad base of入党者 is broader to the elections, if their fear of losing the election after the results of the various departmental and local liberation committees. Furthermore, Arigó's lawyer indicated his proposal of opinion on the validity of elections at the present time since the former's vote committed an experiment and he was not in favor of conducting such experiments while Brazil was still at war. (Arigó may well feel that to hold elections now would mean a loss of strength for the MNR's will as far as the Constituent Assembly delegates, Communist-controlled delegations, stated flatly that he believed the elections could be postponed, although the party is making its plans so as to have everything in readiness in case the elections are held in January.)

18. Both Arigó and other officers of the UFRJ, Mr. Soave, see not being violent enough in his handling of the affairs of the university, particularly the procurement of adequate food supplies. Soave said we write for his release of course and for his active participation in resisting the assistants but pointed out that he was former secretary of the Comissão Executiva Estudantil and that he did not break law or do the will which of the planning government functionaries.

19. Politico described several leaders, Luís Leitão, as a representative of the old tradition - along with the present plurality of high school officers at the Morumbi school base.

20. According to Arigó, the Vanguarda, the Marxist paper published in Pernambuco, has a daily circulation of 10,000 and a Sunday circulation of 10,000.

21. Esquerdista,共产党人组织, was the political section of the UFRJ, now Comitê de Luta da UFRJ. The officers are: C. Gomes, president; V. Souza, editor-in-chief, secretary; R. Coimbra, editor of the Revista do Comitê; J. P. Coimbra, editor of the Revista da UFRJ, the program of which includes Esquerda Popular as a candidate before the end of the year. Arigó claims a membership in the Tocantins section of L.R.P., but this appears to be an exaggeration. Arigó is stated by the UFRJ edition of the Christian Worker news paper, as the principal, publisher of a small local circulation of 2,000. This publication was started in 1945.

22. The UFRJ Ladies' Auxiliary (ALU) is the women's affiliate of the UFRJ at Guarulhos, São Paulo, who are also making serious efforts to capture the students. The ALU section of the UFRJ has weekly political lectures, starting 15 October 1945, has been organized by the CPB.

23. Arigó emphasized early in the conference that the Partido Socialista had previously been seen as a political force in the UFRJ. No party leader however has been established in Guarulhos, and no one from this date in newspaper announcements, no sign of any political socialist activity in Guarulhos.

24. Arigó and the UFRJ, of the UFRJ, is apprehensive over the possibility of fusion between the UFRJ and the UFRN in Rio Grande after the agreement just reached before the two schools in the formation of the UFRN. On the other hand, Arigó, of the UFRJ, points out that many members of his organization are resistant about uniting with the UFRN, because they are in this an attempt part or all of the group to seek the aid. However, the relations between the groups are still existing before and after group. Within a group, there may be enough overlapping of the stages, not to nominate all the positions of responsibility in case of succession of held by members.

According to Mr. George, representative of the AFL on the C.I.C., he spoke to the representatives members of the AFL at the AFL Convention in Worcester 1934, in which he told them of his proposal in 1937. George considered one of the most urgent factors before the C.I.C. in its duty to see that the mobilization of skilled pro workers are too highly paid in relation especially to the salaries of semi-skilled workers in other trades. This plan of a minimum wage created by the unions who paid very well in order to make labor as certain high. Relative to him, for example, workers in the building trades in getting up to $1.50 an hour, while skilled plasterers are compounding east only 10 frames per day. George points out "if it is not possible to rule all industries to the same level of pay and by the government, since this would cause an inflationary trend, therefore the C.I.C. can succeed with the federal - task of working out the minimum for the skilled trades in a certain amount of some industries and the unskilled and others."

IV. CONCLUDING REMARKS

The 11th Cavalry should be given one of the 125 new horses as a reward of the

to the lack of horses.

31. It is also requested that the congressional committee of the 11th Cavalry be requested to make arrangements to have a company of colored men (100) enlisted. This will consist of 100 horses, and 100 people.
It is also requested for the front to join the last cavalry corps. In addition, it is also requested to furnish an "African" corps. It is one of the best corps in the world, and is well equipped.

CHAPTER. 1. HISTORY OF THE CHURCH.

Notes on Section

2023 RELEASE UNDER E.O. 14176

CONFIDENTIAL

14 OCT 1947

Notes on Gaulon

1. Gaulon is full of mixed figures, with a large number of dissidents, who do not like him personally. The communists and socialists are the most numerous of the non-political parties, and their strength seems to be slightly increasing. The Christian Democrats (representing the middle classes) are losing ground. In relative place with one another, however, it is very difficult to say. As far as the religious organizations, both the U.M. (Union of the French Clergy) and the C.R.C. (Catholic Action) are strong, although a great deal of their influence is in the public sector. It is difficult to estimate the extent of purely religious influence. Gaulon's policies were unwilling to release any figures, but he appears to be about equal in strength to the socialists and communists.

2. Gaulon's foreign policy, according to Mr. Blum, is based on the following statement: "In every case the right-wing parties in France (as compared with us), we will not stand in the development of France (as compared with us before the war). He pointed out that the PCF was traditionally a peasant party, although in 1939, of 22 socialist members, 10 were socialists and 12 communists; he stated that if elections were held today, the results would come unchanged.

3. Gaulon feels that the political situation is confused by the existence of the PCF and the CP, and that since the bulk of the communists is CP, these groups should be split and give way to the political party. He maintains that the leaders of the PCF are motivated by a sense of personal interest, those whose desire to replace the old parties and the old Federal. He states that Gaulon of the socialist party will be the only one to accomplish this, and that he himself and communists joined the PCF simply to strengthen his own personal interests so that organization and government would be influenced by the PCF.

4. Mr. Blum, in private conversation, said that, in effect, Socialist and PCF are inseparable, that in speech before the Congress of the Socialist Party, at the U.S. de Boulogne, he spoke of right, socialism and the left, holding up the PCF as the only party. This pointed out that present governmental and legislative programs are not representative of the will of the people, and that it necessarily reflects public opinion. Defense, he said, is important, and must be made proof of popular support before he can support it. He made certain statements he considered necessary. However, in this regard, he is not the spokesman of the PCF, because he has not been elected to the Congress of the PCF, and has not been elected to any assembly, except in a few of the municipalities, but of all probability he does not know what the people want. He said the official documents to be published in the press, of the document, are copies of what is invariably "communist," i.e., a translation of what the left派 always says (communism), and that they are not often copied in the country as originally.

5. Gaulon seems to be possible that the communists are not more influential than the PCF in rural areas or in the program of rural districts. He said, however, that in a comparison of the elections, the PCF's strength cannot be measured in rural areas in France, although in deep

10. Beginning the afternoon here today, there was a general strike affecting all public and private services of the provincial, the various popular subjects of General de Gaulle.
11. The socialists reflect a certain part of the workers' vote, their strength, the structure likely to be effectively influenced by the observance after go so far the public. Despite this fact, however, the leftists were still expecting it to be held next February.
12. The socialist party was represented on the Blvd. Raspail through the both shareholders of De Gaulle, with a powerful majority of workers and young men, members of the large families of Louis and Jean Fourtou, the leading editor of "Le Progrès", the socialist, for established in the middle of the day, a meeting of a committee of 2000 persons, and the first step for a small kind of regional congress meeting of the local sections at local subsections are held.
13. Conclusion of the socialist plenum of the day. The French Socialist composition of the new government of the 10th of May, De Gaulle, at Verdun, the main characteristic of its supporters, verdict of the Congress, majority of the party and major of parliament, those 300 delegates and their friends, and the general held as each party section in the Department before, organized by J. L. Giscard, the most representative, with a break for lunch, it was concluded in a serious, unusual atmosphere.
14. The content debate centered on the question of the activities of the front, the beginning of a uniting one of the Socialist deputies of the day, "a longue" understanding adopted a motion forwarded by the former Federal Assembly which would be exercised to continue to the right, according to the condition that all his public propagandists appeared later derived principally to the interests of the socialist cause, and the example of the irreducible position, in this, he was placing himself and the socialist Party by taking an active part in the leadership of the PL, the question of the 10th of May was raised; the P.L. in favor of the 10th of May, the socialist by 1000, it is opposed, having decided to accept the no demands imposed on him by the communists, and vented from the party, at that time for work broadly word a resolution rejecting this resignation and concluding him from the party.
15. There was also lively debate on the question of collaboration with the communists, and at a point of a though motion in favor of opening his contacts with the PL, if the left, dependent this level with a view toward collective unity between the two parties are killed. However, motion was firmly voted in agreement to continuation of discussions between the parties as a national peace to bring, above unity of the working class, and especially the desire of the National front for better relations with the PL, namely, the right does not to be reconstituted and in addition to be anti-socialist but expected, in return, that the communists would not be anti-socialist.
16. During this debate, there was sharp criticism of the conditions forced against the socialist by the communists and local communists, especially the communists through the PL, and the resultant group, to be excluded and that the CGT was not maintaining a sufficiently independent and oppositional attitude.

12. In discussing relations of the socialist party with resistance groups, M. Soldani, member of the Bureau Central of the party for the war and member of their CN, expressed his deep regret over the fact that full-scale fusion between the Socialists and the PCF was now impossible. He said he had hoped this fusion of the socialists of the CP with the best elements of the Socialist Party would constitute a great revolutionary socialist party of the future. During the debate on the subject, he told reporters, after explosive ascription to an instruction by Com. Mortier, secretary of the Bureau Directeur of the party, that the leaders of the PCF were simply a group of aristocrats who were trying to take advantage of the situation of sole political power.

13. As for foreign policy, the Congress expressed itself as opposed to the hegemony of any one great power, whether it be Britain, the United States or Russia, and in favor of a system of collective security, with all the democratic nations of the world equally represented in an international association of nations. This association should have its own army, credit, transport, etc., in order to be able to guarantee the peace. Regarding the treatment of Germany, the Congress voiced its opposition to any dismemberment of the country, but approved a long occupation with a severe allied control of all German industry and commerce and a long-range program for the reeducation of German youth.

14. Communist Party: According to Fr. Ristacher, secretary of the Peninsular section of the Socialist Party, the Communists claim to have 4,000 registered members in the War. Communist leaders interviewed declined to quote any figures.

15. Fr. Pothier, prominent Communist member of CN, maintains that the Communists have gained many new followers in the War since the war, at the expense of the Socialists. He claims that this results to a large extent from the Communists' nationalist policy and also from their young, vigorous leaders, as compared with the Socialists who will leave the new leaders representing the old regime. He stated that the policy of the Communist Party would remain nationalist in the future; that it would be difficult to return to a revolutionary program.

16. Pothier asserted that the Communists get along better with the Christian Democrats than with the Socialists, since the latter - as he put it - placed party interests above the national interest.

17. The Communists are opposed to the holding of elections next February. Their reasoning, ostensibly follows: the elections were scheduled before the recognition of the Provisional Government by the Allies as a result of holding a popular referendum and later showing the Allies that De Gaulle and the country still had him. Now that the Allies have recognized the De Gaulle government, the preceding need for immediate elections no longer exists. Besides, it would be unfair to wait for the return of the three million prisoners and deportees before proceeding to the polls. According to Fr. Arigot of CN, however, the real reason the Communists are opposed to the elections is their fear of losing some of the strength which they now hold on the various depart-rental and local liberation committee. Unconsciously, Mr. Allende has also indicated his personal opposition to the holding of elections at this present time, since the Norton's vote constituted an experiment and he was not in favor of conducting such experiments while France was still at war. (Article may well feel that to hold elections now would reach a loss of strength for the Republicans.) Allende alleged, Commissar of municipal delegations, stated flatly that he believed the elections should be postponed, although the party is taking its place so as to have everything in readiness in case the elections are held in February.

18. Both Allende and Pothier criticized the prefect of the Var, Mr. Sarte, for not being vigorous enough in his handling of the affairs of the department, particularly the procurement of adequate food supplies. Pothier praised Sarte for his personal courage and for his active participation in resistance activities but pointed out that he was formerly secretary of the provisional prefecture of Toulon and that he had not broken away from the old habits of the plotting government fonctionnaires.

19. Pothier described Admiral Lebœuf, prefect maritime of Toulon, as a reactionary of the old tradition - along with the great majority of higher naval officers at the Toulon naval base.

20. According to Allende, the Toulon edition of Le Peuple, the "radical" paper published in Marseille, has a daily circulation of 15,000 and a Sunday circulation of 15,000.

21. Mouvement Chrétien Populaire: The Toulon section of the MCP was formed about two months ago. The officers are: Mr. Lefèvre, president; Mr. Jouzain, attorney, secretary; Mr. Cucquier, sector as the Naval Arsenal, treasurer. A departmental association of the MCP is in the process of organization; Labroue hopes to have it organized before the end of the year. Allende claims a membership in the Toulon section of 1,000 - but this appears to be an exaggeration. Labroue stated that the Toulon edition of the Christian Democrat newspaper, Le Progrès, published in Marseille, has a local circulation of 2,000. This Toulon edition was started last week.

22. The Union Feminine Civique et Sociale (UFS) is the women's adjunct of the UPR at Toulon. As in Paris, the UFS in Toulon is making serious efforts to capture the women's vote. A series of three free weekly political lectures, starting 13 December 1946 has been organized by the UFS.

23. Radical-Socialist Party: It is universally stated that the Radical-Socialists are practically absent as a political force in the Var. No party head quarters has been established in Toulon, and aside from the brief news-paper announcement, no sign of any radical-socialist activity was discovered.

24. M. Allende and Mr. Pothier, of the MCP, are optimistic over the possibility of fusion between the MCP and the PS in the Var region after the agreement just reached between the two groups in the department of the Gard. On the other hand, Mr. Allende, of the MCP, points out that many members of his organization are hesitant about uniting with the PS, because they see in this an attempt on behalf of the CP to absorb the VIN. However, he stated his discussions are still continuing between the two groups. Arria asserted that although many members of the VIN are not communists, all the positions of responsibility in their organization are held by communists.

25. 2nd. According to Lt. Bertrand, representative of the CP on the CFTC, there were 24,000 registered members of the VIN in the year of December 1957, as compared with 24,900 members in 1957. Bertrand considers one of the most urgent problems before the CP is to see how to meet the mobilization of industrial workers and highly paid technicians as compared to the salaries of equally skilled workers in other trades. This situation of disparity was created by the leaders who paid very well in order to attract labor to certain high-injury jobs, for example, workers in the building trades averaging up to 31 francs per hour, while skilled workers and temps were paid only 12 francs per hour. Bertrand points out that it is not possible to raise all salaries to the high job levels established by the CP, since this would cause an inflationary trend. Therefore, the CP was faced with the delicate task of working at the same time for the reduction -- to a certain extent -- of some salaries and the raising of others.

Political and Military Policy

26. Front Nationaliste des Forces Citoyennes: Bertrand pointed out the Forces Citoyennes do not have a total strength of 300 officers and men in the Vichy under the command of Lt. Colonel (FNC) Barrat. Their headquarters are at Châlons, about 7 km. west of Paris, at the Chateau d'Argente, a requisitioned private estate formerly occupied by the Vichyites.¹ (Groupe Mobilis de l'opposition).

27. The two companies under Barrat form part of the RS of the 15th Military Region (Vercors, Hautes Alpes, Basses Alpes, Alpine Maritime, Rhône, Isère), and are led by regional commissioners invited and placed under the command of General Villot. The RS is an official, paid militia, working under the prefect in each department of the 15th Military Region, with the principal task of combatting Communists, collaborationists and black marketeers and of maintaining order. In this case, the RS has the additional task of guarding the CP political prisoners at the camp of Mandel, members of the CP in the Vichyites former LFT. The men are paid 2.00 francs monthly; officers and noncommissioned officers receive regular pay.

28. Barrat is quoted that he needed a deal of arms and equipment for his men. There was sufficient for only 10 percent of his forces, and these total arms consist of 100 rifles, machine guns and 10 light machine guns. Barrat pointed out that it would mean a great deal for the discipline of his men if they could all be properly armed and equipped. He hastened to add that in spite of circumstances, discipline was good. An inspection tour of the quarters, however, revealed a rather mediocre discipline; the men lacked the military atmosphere and bearing of trained soldiers. German soldiers working on the premises were more prompt than the members of the RS to come to attention and salute at the approach of Lt. Colonel Barrat.

29. Barrat stated that he had been doing what he can to expel Communists against the

29. It was stated that he had made detections, such as ex. 814000 against the Opposite Blacks, elements of which had been reported to various localities in the U.S., but nothing definite was known. The "U.S." was not "A radio contact" since the elements involved in the "U.S." forces also has been circulating in civilian clothes in relation to helping out the black market. Thus far, the "Blacks" have 250 arrests in their favor, for all offenses.

30. Burret, who was formerly Departmental chief of the Million Intelligence, and now is still a member of the Departmental committee of the Chinese Official Intelligence (Ex-Secretary Intelligence), claims responsibility for the U.S. in the Far East. Burret stated the men of the U.S. were the men of the U.S. but that the former were unpaid civilians detaching themselves from time to time from the U.S.

31. U.S. According to it, Colossal Errors, and the regarding "U.S. or the U.S. are located in the Peri-U.S. area, situated at "Baron", while the command of Colossal (U.S.) Battalion, this will consist of about 2,000 men, and is preparing to move shortly for the front to join the last fresh corps. In addition, several U.S. members have formed an amicable desertion. According to one of the members, the amicable desertion could be considered as "U.S."

Trans-American Relations

32. American sailors stationed in Toulon report a number of epope flights and expeditions between themselves and Frenchmen, principally over women. The feeling is generally general among American sailors at Toulon that the French would overrun us as soon as at every opportunity possible.

33. On their side, the French are, to a greater or lesser degree, resentful over the American bombing of Toulon, which destroyed a large part of the city; over American treatment of German POW's; and over the fact that American food supplies to the civilian population have not arrived in greater quantities.
The sailors (a Cavalesca, about 35, veteran of the last war and required for extra duty during this one) reported bitterly that American sailors had sold cigarettes, tobacco and soap at high black market prices and had not given anything away, contrary to what was expected of them. All purchases were paid at 50 to 100 francs a book; some at 50 francs a book.

34. A former Germanish member of the SF and die-hard of La Liberte du People told me he elicited a general feeling from several lands, especially in Russia, that continued relations with the Vichy Government were better than his recall; that Washington was not pleased with the De Gaulle government and would never provide a general or a admiral to be recalled; that a report was circulating in anti-American circles to the effect that three days before the liberation of Paris, various diplomatic representatives had penetrated into the city and had discussed with Vichy officials the possibility of setting up a new French country by replacing the De Gaulle Government.

35. Becker also stated that no people seem to distinguish for the "Vichy" period, to do with the decision of the Government to disperse the Forces Civiles de l'Administration. In his contention, he stated that the GCR and the FRC had great difficulty, when they spoke had no confidence in the policy made by all the people who had served the Vichy regime.

Social situation.

36. Building destruction. Toulon has suffered heavily from allied bombing. The fort, which was particularly hard hit, but a good deal of destruction has ensued in the center of town as well, according to the municipal bureau of Reconstruction, of a total of 16,311 houses in Toulon, 953 were entirely destroyed, 1,211 suffered by partial demolition and 3,391 more suffered damage. Since it is extremely difficult to obtain building material, to make repairs, houses which have suffered partially due to bombardment especially feel the effects of the weather. Many people are homeless and temporarily living with friends and relatives, in makeshift quarters; a large number have not yet returned to Toulon from the interior, where they had sought refuge during the bombing. Toulon's normal population is of 160,000 and appears to figure as the sort of refuge; it had risen to 250,000 at the end of October, and to an estimated 210,000.

37. The municipal supplies falls reconstruction estimates needs of building materials for repairing as follows:

- 0,300 tons of tile shingles for roofing
- 3,000 tons of bricks
- 5,000 tons of plaster
- 1,000 tons of cement
- 1,000 tons of lime

200,000 square meters of window panes,
Temporary roofing requires iron during rains with wood plaster.

38. Food conditions in Toulon are bad, the most serious shortages being milk for children, and fats and oils. There is only enough milk to support 400,000 infants up to 9 months. According to the Minister, in order to provide milk for the 1,077 children of 1-13 months, 600 cans of condensed milk and 1000 eggs daily would be needed for the 1,500 children 14 months - 3 years of age. An immediate expansion of the supply of the product. Mr. Bisselot recommends that if American milk is shipped to Toulon, it be given directly to the municipality for distribution, instead of to the Red Cross. He claims that on previous occasions the American milk was distributed through the French Red Cross, which of course took time to handle and never received the children for whom it was intended.

39. Because the fact that there is an important producer of olive oil, there is a serious shortage of this product on the market. According to ALBAGRO, managing authority in charge of agriculture, whenever stocks of olive oil do appear in the market are blocked by the Direction de l'Industrie et de la Distribution des denrées alimentaires. This is a source of discontent among the people.

However, a distribution of oil prices in all the provinces and areas, and with the exception of the districts, it is evident that the oil used in the province by the end of the year, is present, either oil wells or oil fields, particularly in the black market, but it is not necessarily even on the black market, on which, it said for experience purposes, there is little or no supply.

48. The overall result of the great shift in psychology towards anti-infective and the great number of about 100 genes rapidly is felt to be a significant improvement over the 90. gene reading received during the colonization. However, people seemed to expect a more immediate and greater improvement. In the face of friction with the coming of the blues when infectives take place, it

41. Public Services: Electricity, gas and water supply are normal. The streets are partially lit by street lights. Trolley services are functioning in "Toulon and" its suburbs. There is one passenger train daily to Russell, and one interurban daily with connections with the "Intercolonial" train.

FRANCE: POLITICALReported Replacement of "Front National" by a New Paper

The following report is from a member of the staff of "Front National" and is a close friend of Thorez. This information was disclosed directly to a well-tried source, who has extensive contacts in French press circles!

1. It appears improbable that "Front National" will continue to be published after the elections, because of the breaking down of this political formation, which is of no further interest - except perhaps a marginal one - to the Communist Party. However, until now, Thorez has been opposed to its disappearance.

2. At present the leaders of the CP are planning to replace it by a more effective organ, and are studying three possible solutions:

(a) A newspaper which might be called "Ce Matin", and which would be supplementary to "Ce Soir" which would be responsible for its publication. The directors of "Ce Soir", which is a successful paper, are opposed to this idea, because they do not see the necessity for placing an additional load on the budget.

(b) A paper exclusively for women and which would treat all questions interesting to women: the home, the factory, food, the child, clothing, education, etc. But it is wondered if women have not adopted the habit of reading their husbands' paper, and would not be reluctant to indulge in the expense of an extra paper.

(c) An evening paper which would sell for 3 fr., and which would be similar to "Le Monde" in form, and would be the leftist opposite number of that paper. This paper would be destined particularly for the elite, and would stress cultural matters, accurate documentation, etc. The difficulty lies in assembling a first rate editorial staff to handle the political, economic, financial and artistic departments of such a paper.

3. It appears likely that a decision will be reached before the end of May.

1. The Comite d'Action et de Defense des Immigres (CADI) was organized at Paris in November 1944 and operated overtly until ordered dissolved as a subversive group by a decree of the Ministry of the Interior in December 1948.

2. The principal organizations which joined to form CADI are as follows:

Parti Communiste Francais
Confederation Generale du Travail Conseil National de la Resistance Front National Union des Femmes Francaises
Union des Patriotes Soviétiques
Comite National de la Liberation
Comite d'Unite de la Defense Juive
Union National de la Colonie Tchecoslovaque en France
Union Democratique des Hongrois en France
Aide a la Patrie Polonais
Front National Armenien
Italia Libera
Front National Roumain
Union de la Jeunesse Republicaine de France
Union Nationale Espagnole en France
Federation des Espagnols Resident en France

3. As the name CADI implies, the organization was formed to aid foreign immigrants in France. It was not ostensibly founded as a political organization, nor was it ostensibly designed to support any particular political party. Its apparent purpose was rather to give social and legal aid to any and all immigrants in France. Its social program was quite simple and was largely devoted to the distribution of food, clothing, shelter, and money to needy immigrants. Its legal program was two-fold: first, it offered legal assistance to the individual immigrants through its lawyers; and secondly, it sponsored a series of measures in the Chamber of Deputies which were designed to benefit the status of all immigrants.

4. The measures which CADB sponsored were officially known as the "résolutions pour la promulgation d'un Statut Juridique des Immigrés", and demanded the following benefits for the immigrants:

a. That "Cartes de résidents privilégiés" be granted to all immigrants, without exception, after three years residence in France.

b. That immigrants be allowed to choose their place and type of employment.

c. That immigrants be granted all the social benefits to which a French citizen is entitled.

d. That expulsion from France be made dependent on a court order, rather than on a decree of the Ministry of the Interior.

5. CADB sponsored the above measures for all immigrants. For those certain immigrants who had volunteered for service in an Allied army, or had taken part in the Resistance, or had been deported to Germany, CADB made the following demands:

a. That naturalisation be granted by judges of the peace upon simple proof of the immigrant's claim to be in one of the above categories, and that all other naturalisation requirements be waived.

b. That all invalids, deportees, and widows of men of this category be entitled to the same social benefits as French citizens of similar classification.

c. That the term "Mort pour la France" be added to the titles of the deceased of all immigrants of this category.

6. For those immigrants of the above category (para 5) who preferred to maintain their original citizenship, CADB demanded:

a. That they be allowed to choose their place and kind of work and that they be permitted to change their profession whenever they so desired.

b. That they receive all social benefits granted to French citizens.

c. That all "administrative measures resulting from their antifascist activity before and during the War be annulled." (Field comment: This is a direct translation from the French and refers to any legal actions taken against immigrants who, as Communists, refused to obey the orders of the French government between September 1939 and the German attack on Russia.)

7. CADI was largely successful in realising its demands, for the Statute of Immigrants which was passed by the Consultative Assembly (the Statute was composed of the ordonnance of 24 March 1948, the ordonnance of 2 November 1949, the ordonnance of 19 October 1948, the ordonnance of 25 October 1948, and the decree of 25 December 1948) gave to immigrants an equality of rights approximate to those enjoyed by a French citizen. The most active supporter of the CADI measures in the Consultative Assembly in 1948 was Hadelaine BRAUH, prominent Communist and one of the leaders of the PCF's National. The Communist Party and the CGT also heavily backed these measures.

8. Paragraphs 4 through 6 represent CADI's original program; it was overt; it was designed to benefit all immigrants, and it was supposedly non-political. To implement its program, CADI established branch offices throughout France in the cities which had large numbers of immigrants. These branch offices were known as centres d'action de Defense des Immigrés. CADI also took the lead in organizing the annual National Congress of Immigrants (Congrès National des Immigrés), the first one of which was held in Paris on 25 January 1948. M. ATRACHA, representative of the Ministry of Industrial Production presided. In 1949, CADI again sponsored the congress, now called the International Congress of Immigrants in France (Congrès International des Immigrés en France), which took place in Paris 18 February to 17 February. Some 15,000 delegates, representing 3 million immigrants of all nationalities, attended. Justin GODARD, president of CADI, made the principal speech. Louis BAILLANT, secretary-general of the CGT and president of the CEN, was a member of the sponsoring committee and sat on the speakers' platform. The sponsors' committee for the 1947 Congress which was also held at Paris in February, consisted of Justin GODARD, Louis BAILLANT, Jacques POULOIS, Albert RAYET (delegate of the Ligue des Droits de l'Homme), PINHEU (director of the Union de Jeunesse Républicaine de France), Hadelaine BRAUH, and Joseph LIGIER (lawyer for the Lettre Française in the FRANCHE-MARNE).

9. Although the ostensible and apparent purpose and activities of CADI were those outlined in paragraphs 5 to 8, its true purpose and its clandestine activities were quite different. CADI was not the non-political organization that it professed to be, but was in fact a tightly controlled Communist organisation. To be sure, the legislative measures it supported benefited all immigrants, but they were designed primarily to help Communist immigrants. Similarly, CADI's program of aid to immigrants was restricted solely to Communist or pro-Communist immigrants. The true purpose of CADI was to aid Communist and pro-Communist immigrants to enter France; to aid them in establishing themselves in France; to place them in industries, mining, and agriculture; to organize them into faithful followers of the Communist Party; and finally to control them.

10. In order to realize its true purpose, CADI embarked on a clandestine program which may be divided into three major parts: the supplying of certain necessary identification papers, to illegal Communist immigrants, the placing of these immigrants in certain jobs, and the organizing of these particular immigrants, along with all the foreign laborers in France, into submissive groups which would follow the orders of the CGT and the Communist Party.

11. Evidence of this first activity is found in the CADI office in Marseille. This office is currently operating a program whereby any avowed Communist immigrant coming to the office is furnished a "carte de travailleur étranger". Given a job in industry or agriculture, and, for the sum of 5,000 francs, is furnished with a naturalization decree.

12. (Field Comment:

Having heard from two sources that CADI was operating such a program, this station sent on 10 March 1949 one of our sub-agents, an Italian immigrant who had entered France clandestinely, to the Marseille CADI, at 8 Place de la Prefecture, to ascertain if these reports were true. At CADI our sub-agent was received by Georges LINIVIER. Our sub-agent then presented himself as an Italian immigrant who entered France clandestinely and asked that he be given a "carte de travailleur étranger". LINIVIER asked our sub-agent who had sent him to CADI, to which the sub-agent replied, "I am a Communist." LINIVIER asked to see the sub-agent's Party card, and the latter showed it to him. LINIVIER then asked the sub-agent if he had a job in France, to which the sub-agent replied in the negative. LINIVIER told the sub-agent to return in two weeks at which time he would give him an "autorisation de séjour", and in three weeks, he would provide him with a "carte de travailleur étranger". LINIVIER also promised to give our sub-agent an agricultural job in Sete (Hérault). Finally, LINIVIER told our sub-agent that for 8,000 francs he would provide him with naturalization papers. Our sub-agent replied that he wanted such papers, but that he would first have to acquire the money. The interview ended with both men raising their fists in the Communist salute.

13. From questioning our sub-agent, it appears that the papers CADI furnishes are genuine papers which they obtain through the connivance of certain individuals in the Marseille Prefecture.

The sub-agent's sister unfortunately died in Paris on 12 March. The sub-agent then left immediately for Paris and has not yet returned. Upon his return to Marseille, this station will send him back to CADIS to claim his "carte de séjour" and "carte de travailleur étranger". We will also give him 5,000 francs with which to acquire his naturalization papers and we will direct him to accept the preferred job in Sets.)

14. Additional evidence that CADIS is engaged in supplying these papers is found in the fact that on the 24, 25, and 26 of January 1949 four foreigners presented themselves at the office of the Confédération Générale des Internés et Déportés Politiques de la Résistance et des Victimes de l'Oppression Nazis et du Nazisme where, thinking they were at the CADIS office, they asked that they be given "cartes de séjour". These men were:

✓ MILLER, Robert - born in Baden, Germany
✓ JACOBSON, Carl - born in Hamburg, Germany
✓ GEORGES, Morris - born in Szekelyudvarhely, Hungary
✓ LASZLO, Alexandre - born in Marosvásárhely, Hungary

These four had entered France clandestinely and each had been told before leaving his own country to apply to CADIS for his French papers.

15. The following excerpts from CADIS reports indicate CADIS's activity in placing immigrants in industries and in agriculture.

a. "The Poles sent by CADIS into the iron and coal mines number 40,000. In addition CADIS has placed 50,000 Polish agricultural workers in France." (Field comment: From a report by LOUKA, delegate of the Conseil National Polonais en France.)

b. "In the large chemical and metallurgical factories of Marseille one-third of the employees are immigrants. In the Acieries du Nord, 340 workers are foreigners; the Cotel Plant, 485 workers are immigrants. CADIS has placed many of these men and will continue to place as many again." (Field comment: From a report of Guido ZAMIS, CADIS secretary in Marseille.)

c. "There are 3,800 foreigners in the coal mines at Carmaux-les-Mines. CADIS has placed 80% of these men." (Field comment: From a report of the CADIS representative for the TARN department.)

16. The following excerpts from CADI documents indicate CADI's activity in organising the immigrant laborers into submissive groups ready to follow CADI-COT-Communist orders:

a. "It is necessary that CADI take the lead in organising these foreign laborers in strong and democratic unions. We must protect them from their capitalist oppressors and we must aid them in their struggle against their employers. In CADI and in the COT, the immigrant finds his strength." (Field comment: From a report by Louis PETIT, one of the organisers and national leaders of CADI.)

b. "It is through CADI that the immigrant masses are able to mobilise for the tasks which lie before the whole country. It is CADI which must educate the immigrants in the ways of true democracy and it is for CADI to lead them in their struggle." (Field comment: From a report of LAROCHE, secretary-general of CADI.)

c. "Before the war, the countries from which these immigrants came were under the control of Fascist and reactionary regimes. The immigrants left their homes without hope of returning. Now things have changed; the countries from which they came are today true democracies and they now have the problem of helping those of their former citizens who are now living outside their borders. It is CADI who, working with these democratic governments, is attempting to obtain the rights of liberty and democracy for these immigrants now in France." (Field comment: From a letter written by Louis PETIT.)

d. "We are proud to be from a region where the majority are immigrants, the immigrants who organized the great strike of 100,000 workers during the occupation under the leadership of Auguste LECORUR. In those times, all orders were executed clandestinely, and we will execute them today with the same enthusiasm. CADI must lead the way." (Field comment: From a speech by the CADI secretary in the Pas-de-Calais.)

e. "The control of the recruiting of immigrant workers must be done in a forcible manner by CADI and the French workers' unions. We must prevent the immigrant worker from becoming a tool in the hands of the capitalists." (Field comment: From a speech by GIOVETTI, (fnul), delegate of Italia Libera.)

17. Further evidence of CADI's activity in organising the immigrant workers is found in CADI files. - Report after report from various CADI delegates throughout France list by nationality the number of immigrant: in their areas, and in addition many of the reports note the number of these immigrants who are under CADI control. These reports are all similar, and it is sufficient to quote from one: "More than 80% of the miners in the Loire basin are immigrants; of these, the following percentages adhere to CADI: 98% of the Poles, all the Yugoslavs, 80% of the Portuguese, 60% of the Italians, and 75% of the Hungarians." (Field comment: From a report by CADI secretary from the Loire.)

18. Although supposedly dissolved by Ministerial decree in December 1948, CADI continues to operate clandestinely throughout France. Its present national president is Justin GODARD, former minister; FRYDMAN, (fnu), a member of the Comite d'Unite de la Defense Juive, is vice-president; LAROCHE, (fnu), is secretary-general. National headquarters are located at 102 rue de l'Universite, Paris. The principal organisations supporting CADI today are those listed in paragraph 8, except for those of these organisations which have ceased to exist.

19. CADI functions in conjunction with these organisations and in addition it has its own delegates scattered throughout France in the industrial and mining regions. Among the CADI delegates are the following:

MORCADO - delegate of the Federation des Espagnols Resident en France
 LOUKA - delegate of the Conseil National Polonais en France
 GIOVBETTI - delegate of Italia Libra
 KOVACS, Muranyi - secretary-general of the Union Democratique des Hongrois en France
 PANAS - member of the Front National Hellénique
 MELIK - member of the Front National Armenien
 VINCIOUERIA - president of the Union des Volontaires Etrangers SOIU - delegate of the Front National Roman CONTI, Mme. Germaine - secretary of the CADI in Paris
 ZELENY - delegate of the Union National de la Cecoslovaque en France
 GUERRERO - member of the Federation des Immigres Portugais
 HOLLAND - delegate of CADI in Eastern France
 FRYDMAN - vice-president of CADI; delegate of the Comite d'Unite de la Defense Juive.
 PETIT, Louis - one of the organizers and responsible of CADI

(Field comment: It is realized that some of the organizations of which these men are listed as delegates have been dissolved, notably Italia Libra and the Front National Armenien. However, the names of the individuals and their affiliations are shown exactly as they appeared on CADI documents.)

80. CADI is well-financed. Its principal financial support comes from the Communist Party and the COF. (Field comment: CADI documents acknowledge unspecified contributions from these organizations. One of source's informants, the chief of the Foreigners' Section of the Marseille Prefecture, has stated that he knows the Marseille CADI has an undetermined quantity of rubles, presumably received from the Communist Party.)

81. In Marseille, the CADI office was established by Guido ZAMIS and George LINIVER in March 1948. It was originally located on the Blvd. du Ruy, but in September 1947 it transferred to 3 Marche des Capucins. In February 1948 it moved to 97 rue Longue des Capucins and then, after it was ordered dissolved, it continued to function clandestinely at 2 Place de la Prefecture, where it remains today. ZAMIS remains the director of the Local CADI, assisted by LINIVER.

1. The following persons, all of whom have been particularly active in connection with Hungarian Communist Party affairs, especially within the Paris Legation, were arrested by the French Sûreté on 15 November:

1. LEMIER, a cobbler, and member of the Front National Bourgeois (Field Command). LEMIER has previously been reported by source as a rich man, though cobbler by profession. He has property at Cravate (Vine of Vise), at Paris, he lives at 11 rue Anjou. He is a frequent visitor and telephone caller at the Hungarian Embassy.)

CHER WILLI, member of the Front National Bourgeois
Paris Legation employee (..)

ROUNIN (ILLIAH), a French citizen and noted Communist.

In addition to the above and belonging to the same category is BLATHMAN, who was arrested on 17 November.

2. The apartments of the foregoing were searched, but apparently nothing of importance was found. Subsequently, the five incarcerated persons were released.

3. Le Association des Bourgeois Asile de la France (Front National) was dissolved by order of the Sûreté, which has also forbidden the publication of the newspaper Le Peuple Libre.

SUBJECT: GENERAL Transmittal specific: List of Allied Communist dominated organizations

1. Attached is a copy of a list given to Leon H. Sherman recently by Jack West, Legal Attache. The attachment was originally given to West by Keith Angell, Security Office, SCA-OSA, Paris. Mr. Angell advised that he had received this list from a source in the Prefecture of Police, Paris, and that it is based upon information in Prefecture files and investigation by that agency.

2. It will be noted that this list is apparently of quite recent date in that these international organizations recently expelled from France (IPDN, WFTO, WFTU) are noted as "dissolved".

3. Mr. West also transmitted a copy of this list to Mr. William Crawford [REDACTED]
