CG 92-350 SUB E

On the 29th, DORIS FANELLI complained to BUTCH BLASI that a lot of her customers were going out to "Orries" because "he told them all to go out there." It is assumed he is SAM GIANCANA. In this regard, CG 6792-PC furnished information to the effect that during the period that the Armory Lounge was closed, SAM GIANCANA was utilizing the bar called Orries as a hangout with his associates. (U)

BUTCH BLASI was then noted to place a phone call to VINCE SOLANO; however, nothing of pertinence was gleaned from this phone call. It is noted that SOLANO is a close associate and chauffeur for Chicago Top Hoodlum ROSS PRIO. (U)

During the afternoon, GIANCANA was in and was complaining about income taxes claiming that the Government is checking his back to 1961. He continued "You got to add it all up real careful because you got to figure they're always around. It used to be you could go someplace and not figure they knew it, but now the (obscene) are all around you. I always check it all up. I figured it in years to come I could accumulate so much money, and in four or five years (did not complete sentence). This year I made less and paid more. It used to be you made 50 and keep it." (V)

Later CHUCK ENGLISH arrived and in a conversation with an unknown individual began a lengthy dissertation on the question of immunity.(U)

ENGLISH:

I been arguing with my son-in-law and a couple other lawyers. If this law is passed what happens is there is no more fifth amendment. I don't care what no lawyer tells me. I take the fifth amendment no matter how much immunity they give me. Because taking the fifth amendment you ain't gonna get in no trouble. Open your mouth and you don't know what
