WEEKLY SUMMARY

MM 509-C-TE reported that ROBERT "MUSCLES" MARTIN, who was one of the dispatchers in a big dice game which took place in Dade County, Florida, the past winter season and who was formerly connected with the Plaza Hotel gambling casino in Havana, Cuba, has been designated the individual who will process and screen individuals to be employed in the Lucayan Beach gambling casino at Freeport, Grand Bahama Islands. He was also told GEORGE SADLOW, a former gambling casino employee in Havana, Cuba, and Las Vegas, Nevada, has gone to Freeport, where he will become the casino manager. FRANK "RED" REED is scheduled to be the credit manager of this operation. He further learned that DAVE GEIGER (MM 165-250) formerly of New York City and also a former casino employee in Havana, Cuba, who has been a gambler and bookmaker in the Miami area the past several years, will be connected with the casino.

GEIGER recently returned to the United States from London, England, where he allegedly had been instructing prospective employees in the art of casino gambling. Reportedly GEIGER, with his partners, JERRY ZAROWITZ (MM 165-256) and ANTHONY SALERNO (MM 92-406), will have five to ten points in the casino. GEORGE SADLOW, with his partner, WILLIAM O. BISCHOFF (MM 92-89) will also have some points in the casino, possibly a like number.

This source also reported that IRVING PEARLMAN, a dealer in dice games, arrived in Miami from Las Vegas, Nevada, stayed less than a week, and then went to Freeport, where he reportedly will be a dice dealer and one of the few American employees.

[REDACTED] PCI, advised DINO CELLINI (MM 166-1) will be one of the supervisors in this casino. CELLINI, he learned, operated the school in London, England, where gambling instructions were issued to prospective employees. He also reported that the Bahamian law does not permit coin operated machines, where more than two coins are returned and as a result no slot machines will be located in the gambling casino.

OTHER 4

MM 509-C-TE reported that RUTH GASSENHEIMER, co-owner of the Patio Bridge Club, Miami Beach, is generally disliked by the bookmakers and gamblers, but due to the fact that there are very few hangouts available for the card sharks, bookmakers, gamblers, etc., to hang out, her place has been overflowing at night. As a result of the increased activity and because there are generally 25 to 35 persons who watch a card game and bet anywhere from $10.00 to $200.00 a game, among themselves, she has started to charge all those who bet on card games a fee of $1.50 per game, which is the regular card fee for those who play in the game.
