A & P COMPANY, INC.
ANTHONY PROVENZANO,
ALSO KNOWN AS "TONY PRO"
LABOR MANAGEMENT RELATIONS
ACT - INVESTIGATIVE MATTER

On September 24, 1964, a source of the Pittsburgh Office, who is active in Teamster Union affairs locally, advised Special Agents Damon W. Pitcher and John S. Portella that Local 249, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Pittsburgh, is voting on September 27, 1964, on the ratification of a contract with A & P and that both the company and the union's officials are obviously working to gain a favorable vote.

In this connection, source advised that James Halbert, Pittsburgh District Supervisor of Transportation and Warehousing for A & P, residence address 220 Orchard Drive, Pittsburgh 35, Pa., has stated that the negotiations on a national level have been conducted in New York City between the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and a labor consultant firm which is representing the A & P. Two of the negotiators for the A & P are a Mr. Avery and a Mr. Lewis. He stated that the labor consultant firm is actually owned by "Tony Pro" (Anthony Provenzano, prominent New Jersey Teamster Union official) and that during the last week of the Hoffa trial in Chicago, Avery and Lewis were vacationing in Connecticut and were summoned to New York where they met with "Tony Pro" in regard to the pending negotiations.

From other sources, the source has learned that Jimmy Hoffa, International Brotherhood of Teamsters President, desires ratification of the A & P contract and, at the same time that Avery and Lewis were in New York City, Tom Fagan, President of Local 249, was summoned to Chicago where he met with Hoffa and an A & P representative from the East in connection with ways of obtaining the desired ratification.

Subsequently, in the same connection, Fagan has made two trips to New York City without divulging their purpose to anyone. Fagan is most desirous of pleasing Hoffa in this regard because Harry Tevis, Third International Vice-President of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, a Pittsburgh resident, is slated for removal from office by either voluntary or involuntary means, and Fagan is the leading contender to be his replacement.

The source stated that the current grocery warehouse strike situation in California is the result of rank and file rebellion in opposition to the new A & P contract.

In a contact with the source on October 5, 1964, he advised that at the time Halbert mentioned the trip to New York by Avery and Lewis he commented "We finally got around to fighting you guys with one of your own guys. We got Tony Pro's boys working for us." He does not recall that Halbert disclosed the name of the labor consultant firm employed by A & P, but described the firm only as "Tony Pro's firm." During subsequent contacts with Halbert he has been unable to determine the identity of the consultant firm.

The source advised that Hoffa is endeavoring to establish a national contract, that he has achieved his goal within the "Central Conference," and is endeavoring to obtain a similar contract in the East. The source explained that the voting on September 27, 1964, by members of Local 249 related to a national contract in that a failure to approve the proposed contract with A & P locally would result in their being subjected to the terms of a national contract similar to the one negotiated in other sections of the country. Reportedly Fagan told members of Teamsters Local 249 that if their negotiations on a local contract with A & P at Pittsburgh were unsuccessful they would be forced to accept the terms of a national contract.

RePGairtel 10/9/64.

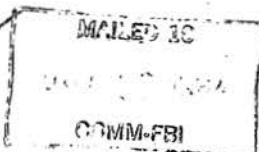

New York should not contact any available sources as requested in reairtel, it being noted the Bureau previously instructed contact should be made only on a discreet basis in an effort to identify the reported labor consultant firm which allegedly represented the A & P Company. It will be satisfactory for New York to check newspaper morgues in this regard or any reliable informants who may have knowledge of this aspect of Teamster Union activities. New York should airtel to the Bureau and Pittsburgh by or before 10/19/64 regarding this matter.

In the meantime, Pittsburgh should do more work on this matter and should not wait for leads at New York to be covered. Since the value and veracity of PG 601-C might possibly be questionable regarding this matter, Pittsburgh should endeavor to secure verifying or contrary information from some other source on a discreet basis. If Pittsburgh has no other informants who may have knowledge of Teamsters activities, it is suggested Pittsburgh newspaper morgues be checked in an effort to secure pertinent information, it being noted the original allegation indicated Teamsters Local 243 at Pittsburgh was voting on a national contract with the A & P Company as of 9/27/64.

In addition, Pittsburgh should determine on a discreet basis whether such national contract was ratified by the union as instructed in Bureau airtel 9/30/64.

Additional contacts with PG 601-C have produced no information to identify the labor consultant firm which was employed by A & P to assist in its negotiations with the Teamsters. Informant advised that in former conversations with JAMES HALBERT he commented, "We finally got around to fighting you guys with one of your own guys. We got TONY PRO's boys working for us." Informant stated he did not recall that HALBERT disclosed the name of the consultant firm and said he described it only as "TONY PRO's firm." HALBERT also mentioned that AVERY and LEWIS, who are negotiators representing A & P, reportedly were called to New York City to confer with the labor consultant firm prior to negotiations at Pittsburgh with the Teamsters.

Informant feels he is not on such terms with HALBERT that he can directly question him and states HALBERT has merely volunteered information previously received. Informant is continuing his efforts to obtain additional information.

Inquiry at Pittsburgh has not disclosed any requirement that labor consultant firms register or file a report of their activities in labor negotiations (with the exception of those instances when they actively campaign among union members or company employees to influence negotiations).
