Jose Arias Hernandez (protect identity) on 6/16/67 advised that Jose Ramon Egues appeared in the vicinity of Union City, New Jersey after the first of the year, 1967. He began soliciting help for an anti-Castro movement entitled "Tesis Cubana de Guerra". Also at this time he planned to demoralize various anti-Castro movements in the US which were in competition with his own by disrupting their public meetings through the use of "rabble rousers". In this effort, Egues had the support of Dr. Orlando Bosch. Bosch had in his possession some cancelled checks which he proposed to use to prove that various anti-Castro groups in the US were nothing but fronts for the US Government.
