DECLASSIFY ON: 25X (6)
(JFK) 4/22/97

(C) [On January 12, 1961], T-1 [a confidential source abroad, furnished information which appeared in the Danish newspaper, "Lolland-Falsters Folketidende" on January 4, 1966, as follows:] (C)

"Mark Lane has now finished reading the proofs of his book dealing with the assassination of President Kennedy and entitled 'Rush to Judgement'. (C)

"After having spent Christmas and New Year with his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dabelsteen, Nykøbing F., Mark Lane and his wife flew to London where the book is to be published by Bodley Head, publishers, London, England in April 1966. Six months after its appearance, the book is to be reprinted in a paper-back edition in twelve countries. Professor Trevor Roper, Oxford University, has written a preface to the book, stating that in its evaluation of what happened in Dallas, history must take into account both the Warren Report and Mark Lane's book." (C)

Additionally, according to T-1, [the article relates that a documentary film of full length is expected to be produced dealing with the assassination and founded on MARK LANE's book, whose title it will carry. The film is to be made by de ANTONIO and will be based on pictures taken by the American Broadcasting System and the Columbia Broadcasting System. The article also states that in February 1966, LANE and his assistants are going to Dallas to talk to witnesses of the assassination.] (C)

The article concludes: (C)

"This film is also to be shown in the United States where the massive opposition to Mark Lane's views of the Kennedy tragedy has declined considerably. The film may possibly be released by the company 'Allied Artists'; if not, Mark Lane will hire cinemas in New York and Dallas and show the film there, and it will also be distributed to film clubs all over the United States."
