The 1/21/62 edition of "The Birmingham News" published an article by Don Brown, entitled "No Hope For Peace" - "Walker Says US Should Demand UN Expel Reds," which pertained to a speech made by Major General Edwin Walker at a National Indignation Convention (100-436567) rally in Odessa, Texas. The speech was carried via special long-distance telephone to meetings of the Indignation Committee which were being held in numerous cities across the nation. Walker stated that the UN was not a hope for peace, but a guarantee for tyranny. He appealed for the destruction of the UN unless the Soviet Union "got out."
