of subject [in Algiers] together with any information in- (S) dicating subject has returned to Cuba. It also in- (S) structed that the [Paris] Office furnish any data received (S) regarding the activities of IRVING ROSENTHAL [in Algiers] (S)
as well as Cuban travel. (X) (X)

Instant leads are being held in abeyance until the question of coverage (in Algeria) has been resolved by the Bureau. (X)(u) CSJ

The Bureau requested that we describe any contacts already available [in Algeria]. In view of the change in administration, change in personnel in the Embassy and the fact that all [French agencies] have departed from Algeria we have no contacts there at the present time. We formerly had contacts in the U. S. Consulate General [in Algiers] but the persons whom we had contacted previously have been transferred. We also previously had contacts with [French] police officials and the officials of the [Direction de la Surveillance du Territoire (DST)] [French domestic counterespionage Service], assigned [in Algeria]. These [French] agencies are no longer existent [in Algeria]. The [Algerian] Government has formed its own police organization and we have not as yet had an opportunity to establish contacts there.

The Bureau requested that we comment regarding the desirability of referring inquiries (in the security field) to local agencies there in view of the comparatively recent establishment of (the new government.) It is (S) assumed that the Bureau is referring to American local agencies (in Algeria.) The American Military Intelligence (S) agencies, such as, the Army Intelligence Corps (AIC), the Office of Special Investigations (OSI) and the Office of Naval Intelligence (ONI) do not have branches (in Algeria.) The only American local agencies (in Algeria) (S) known to this office are the State Department and CIA (S) (S) Those offices are not branches of the CIA office in (S) Paris (S) or the American Embassy in (S) Paris (S) but since the establishment of the (Independent Algerian Government) (S) the Consulate General (in Algeria) has become a separate (S) (S)

Embassy and the CIA station there answers directly to CIA headquarters. Therefore, it would not be logical to refer leads to the Embassy or CIA in Algeria through the Embassy or CIA in Paris.

It may be necessary to handle inquiries in security type cases through and with the cooperation of the Embassy and CIA in Algeria since it is doubtful that the Algerians have yet organized a security service or that it would be reliable. This could be explored and it appears that personal contacts there would be necessary. We could, of course, consider contacting the Algerian police in criminal matters.

It appears that it would be to our advantage to develop capabilities in Algeria and to explore the possibilities of establishing contact with the Algerian police when it is in its formative stage.

Any travel to Algeria will be held in abeyance pending further instructions from the Bureau.
