and research of John Greenewald, Jr., creator of:

The Black Vault

The image shows a close-up of a heavy, metallic vault door. The door is partially open, revealing a complex internal mechanism with multiple locking bolts and a central handle. A bright blue light emanates from the gap between the door and the frame, creating a strong glow and casting shadows on the surrounding metal. The overall aesthetic is industrial and mysterious.

The Black Vault is the largest online Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) document clearinghouse in the world. The research efforts here are responsible for the declassification of hundreds of thousands of pages released by the U.S. Government & Military.

A review of the files of the Miami Office reflected that by Bureau letter 4/28/61 to the New York Office, under the caption FPCC, the Bureau forwarded a letter dated 4/12/61 which was received from CIA. The CIA letter was classified SECRET. The CIA letter stated a fairly reliable source, not further identified, made available a membership list of the FPCC. The CIA source did not state where or how he obtained the list. A comparison of the CIA list and the one forwarded as an attachment to the referenced communication, reflected they were identical. (S)(u)

The above referred to lists, however, are not membership lists of the FPCC but rather a list of individuals who made a trip to Cuba in December, 1960 under the sponsorship of the FPCC.

On December 23, 1960 [redacted] [redacted] Cubana Airlines, who at that time was a PSI, made available a list containing 204 names. This list comprised the individuals who were scheduled to make the Christmas trip to Cuba aboard Cubana Airlines, the tour being sponsored by the FPCC. (S)(u)

The names on the list furnished by the Traffic Supervisor of Cubana Airlines were checked against the list made available as an enclosure to the referenced letter. It was determined that the two lists were identical. (S)(u)

Information copies of this letter are designated for all offices which received copies of referenced letter
