SPECIFIC - Communists and Suspected Communists

Ref.: 722-497 -- Costa Rican Communists of Salvadoran Origin

1. The following are brief notes concerning the persons mentioned in reference report for your information and possible assistance in evaluating your source. The whereabouts of the obscure persons are unknown but some of the important ones is in Costa Rica. Most Salvadoran Communists were killed or fled El Salvador in 1932 and during the dictatorship of MARTINEZ most of them stayed away to return after his fall in 1944. The active ones again left the country in 1945 but many of them have been allowed to return. The bulk of the remaining exiles are in Guatemala and Mexico and under the FIGUEROA regime a number of these were active in Costa Rica.

2. You will note frequent references to an MA report of September 1964. This is merely a list of names of suspected Communists obtained from the police. Where no other information is given in the list below, the MA report is the only reference available. Since so many of these obscure names appear on your list, it would appear that the Salvadoran government exchanged lists with the Costa Rican government or in some other way the local list became available in Costa Rica.

3. Should you require complete information on any person, it will be supplied on request.

ALONZO, Mauricio -- Suspected Communist of Escatocacusa, El Salvador. MA Report (9-44).

ALVARADO Monterrey, Carlos -- Brother of Mauricio ALVARADO Monterrey, both Communist leaders trained in Mexico. Carlos was born 27 May 1929, studied in Mexico where he became associated with LOURINHO Salcedo, participated in 1944 disturbances following the fall of President MARTINEZ, was an active labor organizer and one of the principal figures of the UPR. Fled to Guatemala and later Mexico in 1945 where he has been residing to date.

ARREZ, Rufino -- Suspected Communist of Santa Ana, El Salvador. MA Report (9-44).

RODRIGO, Dr. Arturo -- The files contain some evidence that Dr. RODRIGO may have had Communist tendencies but such references are far from conclusive, and the bulk of the evidence would deny that he is a Communist. As a candidate for the Presidency of El Salvador in 1944 he was tremendously popular and would easily have become President had the Army and the capitalists not stopped in. The Liberal and leftist circles are still referred to as Rodrigistas. He was of course supported by the Communists. This was the excuse used for bringing about the violent finish to his candidacy. He now resides in San Jose, Costa Rica and practices medicine. He has stated that he has no further political ambition.

MARTINARIA, Fernando Antonio -- Considered to be a ~~dyed-in-the-wool~~ Communist who has been active as an agitator-organizer for the Communists of Honduras, Costa Rica, Colombia, and Ecuador. Expelled under President MARTINEZ. He returned after the dictator's fall. He was organizational secretary for the Alianza Democratica Salvadoreña. The latest report regarding him is dated June 1946 when he helped Gerardo RODRIGUEZ to organize the National Pre-Palestine Committee in Costa Rica.

RODRIGUEZ, Narciso -- Suspected Communist of Usulután, El Salvador. MA Report (9-46).

VASQUEZ, Miguel Angel -- w/a Victor Manuel VASQUEZ. -- Salvadoran nationality. Said to have been a member of the Mexican Communist Party and secretary of the official Communist printing and propaganda organization Fondo de Cultura Popular, S.C. He is known in Mexico as Victor Manuel VASQUEZ.

VASQUEZ, Rinaldo, Thony -- Lawyer by profession. Close associate of Julio Fausto FERNANDEZ and believed to be a member of the Central Committee of the CP.

VIOIL, Andres -- Suspected Communist of San Miguel. MA Report (9-46).

VILLALTA, Virgilio -- Suspected Communist of Mojocoma. MA Report (9-46).
