MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR
CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

Subject: Leo Yehuda CHENOK with aliases Leo L. Chentok and Leo V. Chentok

1. Pursuant to your request there is set forth below a summary of the results of the FBI investigation of C. C. TOW, together with the results of a review of all GPO traces concerning him. Thereon this individual mentioned below as being in contact with C. C. TOW has been identified briefly for your information.

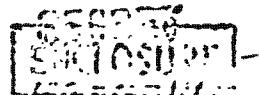

BACKGROUND

Leo Yehuda CHENTOK was born at Chernovtsi, Russia, on September 9, 1892. He entered the United States in 1911 and has resided in New York City almost continuously since that time. His wife, Reppy CHENTOK, whom he married on January 1, 1927 at New York City, was born in Austria on May 3, 1902. CHENTOK's father, Joseph, became a naturalized U. S. citizen in Boston, Massachusetts, about 1912 and, consequently, CHENTOK is an American citizen by derivation.

In 1925 CHENTOK filed application with the State Department for a U. S. passport for the purpose of a business trip to England, France, and Russia. His application for this passport was reduced by the State Department on November 23, 1925, at which time the State Department commented that he "is definitely of the promoter type and first came to the attention of the Department of State around 1920 when his negotiations with the British Ambassador in London for extensive concessions in Armenia were 'transferred' to the Soviet unit". The State Department also commented at this time that in 1925 CHENTOK made a trip to the Soviet Union and proposed the establishment of a bank in the U. S. with a capital of $50,000,000 for the purpose of dispensing Soviet negotiable paper received in payment for American products shipped to the USSR.

HISTORY OF FBI INVESTIGATION

In October 1942 the FBI instituted an investigation of Leo Yehuda CHENTOK based on information received to the effect that a practice bomb casing had been shipped to him at the Hotel Astor, New York, N. Y. Investigation of this incident failed to reflect any intelligence significance, but did reflect that CHENTOK had acquired a wide reputation as an opportunist and promoter and that the bomb casing had been shipped to him in connection with efforts on his part to procure U. S. and Mexican Government contracts.

On November 27, 1942, it was ascertained that CHILTON was a close associate of Edward G. TELLIER (Edward Gennaro TELLIER). TELLIER at that time was reported as pro-Soviet and as a possible German intelligence agent. It was also reported in 1942 that TELLIER served as a Comintern agent during the Spanish Civil War and was, during the period of that war, in close contact with Comintern leaders in France and Mexico.

While it does not appear in the FBI reports on CHILTON, it should be noted that TELLIER has been the subject of an intensive investigation by the FBI, and also in Europe and South America by the U.S. It is noted further that [redacted] shortly after the outbreak of World War II, advised [redacted] that TELLIER was known [redacted] to be living a Soviet espionage agent. According to [redacted] [redacted] formerly had served as an agent of both the OSS (now DIA) and Red Army Intelligence.

Inasmuch as this initial investigation of CHILTON failed to reflect his implication in intelligence activities, the case was closed by the FBI on April 12, 1944.

On May 1, 1946 the FBI investigation of CHILTON was re-opened on the basis of an anonymous letter postmarked March 13, 1946 at New York City, which alleged that CHILTON had made no visits to the Soviet Union, had large sums of money but no visible means of support, and had met in 1941 with a number of Russians from Canada. The letter alleged further that on his frequent trips to Mexico CHILTON always visited the Soviet Embassy and that he had been a personal friend of Soviet Ambassador Constantin ROMANOV, who, for all we can recall, was killed in a plane accident in Mexico City. In addition, the letter stated that CHILTON intended to visit the Soviet Union in the near future and frequently visited the Soviet Consulate in New York, as well as the Arctic Trading Corporation in New York, employing great respect in both places. It was alleged in the letter that CHILTON had excellent contacts in the Department of State and was a personal friend of one "Sarge" of Connecticut. It is interesting to note that considerable information was available prior to CHILTON's death clearly indicating his at least indirect participation in Soviet Intelligence activity. This "Sarge" referred to in the letter is undoubtedly General KARP, who frequently has been reported as a brother-in-law of Vyacheslav "KU" KUROVSKIY, Soviet Foreign Minister, and who is known to have maintained close Soviet connections for many years.

As a result of the re-opening of the investigation of CHILTON, it was ascertained that on June 26, 1947 he wrote to CANTERBURY COMPANY, Inc., stating that he had just returned from Europe, having been there on business eight times during the preceding two years. In this letter he offered to represent the CANTERBURY Company in negotiations with the USSR and make reasonable claims concerning the value of his Soviet contracts for this purpose.

It was also ascertained upon the re-opening of the investigation that CHILTON was identical with the individual, who on June 12, 1947 reported to the New York office of the FBI that the Arctic Trading Corporation, which, it is noted, is the primary Soviet purchasing medium in the U. S. and an official Soviet agency was the "biggest spy organization in the United States". CHILOK failed to furnish any substantiating details for this statement and his motivation in so reporting to the FBI was never made evident.

It was also ascertained at this time that on March 20, 1946, ~~CHILOK~~ of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, D. C., advised L. A. K. ~~YUZOV~~ of the Chain Bolt Company of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to contact the Astor Trading Corporation in New York for information concerning CHILOK, i.e. connection with TROTSKY's desire to use CHILOK as a representative in the Soviet Union after World War II.

On March 5, 1946 CHILOK made an application to see Major Abramovich ~~X-MATOV~~, Second Secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, D. C. This is of particular interest inasmuch as information exists indicating that Abramovich was implicated in Soviet intelligence activities and that late in 1945 he may have replaced First Secretary of the Soviet Embassy Anatoli Borovik ~~YUZOV~~ as Head (now MVD) of the Soviet Foreign Ministry. It will recall that Abramovich was the Soviet agent known as "Al" who was responsible for the operation of an extensive MVD espionage organization centered in agents of the U. S. Government, the investigation of which by the FBI is commonly known as the George Case.

On March 19, 1946 CHILOK advised CHILOK that General Levitt ~~CHILOK~~ of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission, would like to talk to him. It is recalled that Levitt, who was then Chairman of the Purchasing Commission at that time, was identified by the Soviet defector Vladimir Aristov ~~YUZOV~~ as an important representative in the U. S. of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union.

It was subsequently ascertained early in 1946 that D. J. H. O'G, attorney and member of the Board of Directors of ~~CHILOK~~ described CHILOK as a "plain rascal who had previously been employed by Astor". At this time it was learned that CHILOK had been in contact with Levitt ~~CHILOK~~ and the Soviet Consul General in New York. On March 30, John Gaffney was able to speak with Soviet officials concerning his application for a visa to travel to the Soviet Union.

On October 7, 1946 the Informant, Mr. CHILOK had approached the Central Intelligence Group to request its assistance for his journey to the Soviet Union. The refusal of his application for a passport for this trip is described above in the section entitled "Investigation". It is interesting to note that on August 7, 1946 CHILOK made a long distance call from New York City to Washington, D. C., phone number National 6-1216, which is listed in the White House.

2. Inasmuch as this investigation, according to the FBI, failed to reflect that CHILOK was engaged in Soviet espionage, the case was closed on May 12, 1947.

CCO THINGS

A complete review has been made of the CCO files concerning CHILOK. The only pertinent additional information contained therein is that the investigation presently being conducted by CIO of Communist Party USA, referred to above, has substantiated his association with CHILOK.
