SUBJECTO Lyle STUART

Reference is made to your memorandum dated 1 June 1964, in which you provided this office with several questions you wished to have passed to hiss Viola June COBB regarding Lyle STUART. There follows the information provided by Time former to your inquiry:

1. Regarding Lyle STUART, Juan Jose AREVALO, and Antikomunisco en Asorica Latina:

Early in the spring of 1962, in Mexico, AREVALO told me that STULET was prodding him about getting another of his books translated, to take advantage of the publicity around The Shark and the Sardines. I was already far beyond spraking terms with ST-ALT and therefore declined to have anything further to do with him. About three months later, AREVALO told me that STUART was going to publish Antikomunismo en America Lating and that a young American Student, married to a Mexican, Angela delli SAATE ARROCHA (who had written Arevalo, pausador contemporando, published by Costa Amic, 1962, financed by Als Madical Revolucionario de El Salvador) was doing the translation into English. Early in 1963, AREVALO told me that the translation hadn't been satisfactory and therefore STUART had obtained a retranslation, by Charleton BEALS.

When STUART was here in Mezico in June, he told Dr. OSDGUEDA that he was very happy about the way the book was selling.

I know of no affiliations of STUART with foreign political parties of government. His attempts to get close to Fidel CASTRO in 1960 were notivated by a desire to exploit the journalistic advantages of an interview. His original interest in The Shark and the Sardines was apparently motivated by money-making interests and by the hope that he might spark a sensation - exactly what he did manage to do with his outrageous advertising. He seemed to calculate that there might be libel suits possible sqainat the firms and the newspapers he could provoke to attack him.

The original contract of AREVALO with STUART was superseded by another in November of 1961, granting STUART certain rights with regard to other foreign language editions of The Shark and the Sardines and, I believe, establishing translated into English.

Information about STUART's dealings with AREVALO and whatever others, could be obtained (with guile) from Eileen BRANT, who was his editor at the time of the first contact with AREVALO. She subsequently broke with him because of deep and bitter reseataent against him, then returned not too long ago to collaborate with him. She is his wife's sister. She is certainly working with his now only because he finally offered her a little better pay. For her to have changed her mind about him would be almost impossible. I believe, in view of the long history of incidents that had brought her to have contempt for him, at the time I knew her is 1961. She knows his operation inside-out. In order to get information from her, it would be absolutely necessary to approach her from some angle that would give no hint of government investigation. She is very gregarious. She is a fortyish medium-attractive, lonely, New York Bingle woman (unless her statum has changed since I knew her). If contacted by somebody she would assume to be a writer, and who would be a bit friendly with her and see her off-bours, she would probably talk freely about STUART. But she is quite clever and rather worldly in some respects, so that must be kept in mind in case she is contacted. SHE HAS A VERY DEEP AND LONGTIME NEGATIVE ATTITUDE TOWARD ALL GOVERNMENT AGENCIES INVOLVED IN INVESTIGATION. She was active in liberal activities in Chicago, and if I remember correctly, although she is certainly not communist, she considered herself a little jeopardised by the Ec Carthy period.

Angela Delli SANTE-ARROCHE could also be contacted, of course.

6.1 هد: 1: ... 1 12 2. Begarding Lyle STUART, Dr. Baul OBBCUEDA, Eartolome COSTA Amic, and Mario HORMEFORTE Toledo:

Dr. OSEGUEDA apparently has had a secret longing to get something of his own printed in English. He seized upon the opportunity of commenting SEALS' introduction to Antikomunismo in order to write to STUART this spring. STUART wrote very cordially back to OSEGUEDA, hoping to meet him op a trip to Mexico is June. When OSEGUEDA, hoping to meet his correspondence with STUART, he sought to make me see it as an attempt to speak with STUART about the royaltiem STUART has never paid me.

When Dr. OSEGUEDA finally did pee ETUART here in Mexico during the book congress in June, he only very timidly and very, very briefly touched upon the royalty moblem, and indeed went to a great deal of trouble to serve STUART by introducing may to COIT Ante and an Market MONTEFORTE Toledo. (STUART had expressed interest in getting in touch with some publishers and writers.) CERCUEDA buntled about, taking OSEGUEDA and MONTEFORTE Toledo to lunch with STUART, even managed to get the MONTEFORTE Toledos to invite STUART to dinner at their apartment. There were tentative discussions of collaborating in the distribution of COSTA Amic books in the United States and of publishing some book of MONTEFORTE Toledo's.

Rowever, both CONTA Anic and the MONTRFORTE Toledos told me that they found STUART offensively vulgar and were not at all enthusiastic about having anything to do with him.

Two weeks ago, OSEGUNDA sketched the outline of a book (contemporary history of U.S. and Latin American relations) he hopes STUART will went to publish, and sent the outline up to him.

LYLE STUART AREVALO "ANTIKOMUTISMO EN AMERICA LATINA" anits.

When Stuart was here in Mexico in June, he told Dr. Osegueda that he was very happy about the waythe book was selling.

Inasmich as Stuart has paid Arevalo only 10 percent of moneys received by Stuart on "The Shark and the Sardines" sales (in contrast with some book contracts in which the author receives 10 percent of the money represented by number of copies sold multiplied by the retail sales price) I would assume he is no more generous with "Antikomunismo". I can ask Dr. Osegueda the exact terms, but I haven't been able to see Osegueda this week.

I know of no affiliations of Stuart with foreign political parties of government. His attempts to get close to Fidel Castro in 1960 were motivated by a desire to exploit the journalistic advantages of an interview. His: original interest in "The Shark and the Sardines" was apparently motivated by money-making interest and by the hope that he might spark a sensation - exactlywhat he did manage to do with his outrageous advertising. He seemed to calculate that there might be libel suits possible against the firms and the newspapers he could provoke to attack him.

I am sure you have it on file, but I will enclose a copy of Arevalo's original contract with Stuart. It was superceded by another in November of 1961, granting Stuart certain rights with regard to other foreign language editions of "The Shark and the Sardines" and, I believe, establishing that Stuart should have first option of other Arévalo books translated into English.

I have discussed with Paul Burke, DC/CI/ICC, Merico's request for ameniment of OA to use LICOOKY-1 against the Soviet official. We both are of the opinion that she can be used for development of the target to determine his susceptibility to recruitment, but that she should not be used to make the actual recluitment should the matter develop to that point, due to these considerations: (1) She is not a recruiter, never has made a recruitment. (2) Odds are she would be blown to the Soviets, since we must consider that the odds for successful recruitment of a Soviet official are not favorable. (3) Her relationship with LIRLUCK in Merico is fairly woll known, so that there could be an unfavorable blow back on LINLUCK.

In authorizing her use in the developmental role, Eurke would like for Station to be informed that it should tell LIMLUCX that Station's continuing investigation of LICCOMY-1 discloses her association with Soviets; therefore, he should be very careful in his relationship with her.

RE: LYLE STUART

This Bureau currently is conducting an investigation in order to determine if the subject has violated the Registration Act. His firm published the 1964 American ec.tion of the book entitled, "Anti-Communism in Latin America," written by Juan Jose Arevalo, former President of Guatemala. The nature and extent of subject's relationship with Arevalo is therefore pertinent to our investigation.

As you know, Viola June Cobb, known to your agency, personally knows Arevalo and worked with him on the translation of his book, "The Shark and the Sardine." It is therefore possible that Cobb may be in a position to furnish some information which can be of assistance to this Bureau. We would appreciate if your agency would interview Cobb and endeavor to obtain answers to the following:

(1) What information does she have concerning the relationship between the subject and Arevalo regarding the book, anti-tomenutant in Latin America"?

(2) Does she have any information indicating that subject is in any way affiliated with foreign political parties or governments?

(3) Does she know of any contractual agreement existing between subject and Arevalo or between subject and any other foreign principals?

(4) Does she know of anyone else who may be in a position to furnish information concerning subject?

(5) In the event that Cobb is in a position to furnish information concerning any of the above points, we desire to be informed if abe would be willing to testify in court.

1. LICOOXY-1 was granted an OA on 27 January 1964 for use as outlined in the PRQ II forwarded with HMMA-222.58. The OA as granted, however, was restricted to approval to use LICOONY-1 in such a manner that information is taken from her, but that as little classified information as possible is to be passed. Specific requirements should be passed only when necessary, and should be made in such a manner that sensitive operational or ODYOKE programs, plans, and objectives are not revealed. The office granting the OA also indicated that the limitations proposed in the Station's comments in Section XVI of the PEQ II should be implemented.

2. If LICOOXY-1 is ever to be used as a directed and fully controlled asset, without the limitations expressed above, an amendment to the CA will be necessary.

3. Reference is made to Section X, para 1 of the PRQ II forwarded in ref, which indicates that L1COOKY-1 may be given a bonus for a particularly outstanding job. The Station is reminded that since LICOOKY-1 is a Contract Agent, and PBPRINE citizen, her contract must be amended each time = bonus payment is contemplated.
