The following, according to (SWIMPEDE), is the general status of the investigations on the leads provided in the AELADLE case:

1. (JAGUAR) has set up a special AKLADLE section under (SMIMPEDE, comprising research and investigative functions, which is physically segregated from other (JAGUAR) sections. The personnel of the former (D-3) research section were brought into the AELADLE section and all normal (D-3) research on Soviet and satellite I.S. has been suspended. The personnel of the AELADLE section are listed in the attachment (under separate cover).

2. Foreign Office: Research and background checks are being conducted on all personnel who served in Noscow in the period in question. This is a tremendously difficult job and will take months, and the Foreign Office category apparently will present the most difficulty in localizing possible suspects. The three following possible suspects are being recalled from their posts in the field and are under investigation with a view to their eventual interrogation:

a. The female (archivist) now in (Bern.

b. The communicator previously in (Finland,) now in (Djakarta.) (0

c. The individual who was to have been transferred from Moscow to (Manila)<sup>10</sup> Only one person fits this description and he is being recalled; there is nothing suspicious in his background.

3. Admiralty: (SMIMPEDE) felt that there was good promise for turning up a spy in this area in view of the documents passed. However, he has only been able to narrow it down so far to eighteen possibilities, none of whom have anything leading to suspicion in their files. He foresees, naturally, considerable work in narrowing it down any further.

4. British Intelligence: Since AELADLE's conception of British Intelligence abroad included SMOTH of service attache personnel and some Foreign Office sections ((SMOTH) is conducting its research and investigation of its personnel who served in Moscow in the period in question (with no real suspects turned up yet) and (IAGUAR is acting on the service and Foreign Office personnel.
