On 6/20/75, we were advised that CIA had in 1973 prepared a 693-page document citing instances wherein CIA operations may have exceeded its mandate. This document, in sanitized form, was reviewed by Intelligence Division personnel and was found to contain many references to this Bureau, some of which dealt with operations of an extremely sensitive nature. The Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Activities (SSC) has had access to this document. At the specific request of this Bureau, CIA on 7/15/75 made available 190 pages of the document believed to be of interest to this Bureau. These pages are submitted as enclosures to this memorandum, which highlights some of the contents thereof. Items so highlighted include various technical support CIA has provided this Bureau in the area of electronic coverage of embassies in the United States; handling of Iron Curtain country defectors; CIA notional and proprietary operations, some of which were used to procure technical equipment for this Bureau; CIA-FBI cooperation in training matters relating to counter-espionage responsibilities; interception of mail from behind the Iron Curtain; CIA briefing and debriefing of FBI sources traveling abroad and CIA involvement and interest in domestic dissident groups. Mention is made in this document that while McCone was CIA Director, conversations over his phone and in his office were recorded. As SSC has had access to this document attempts are being made to fully identify all references for purpose of possible damage assessment to this Bureau.

Memorandum to Mr. W. R. Wannall
Re: Senstudy 75
62-116395

Pages 70, 72, 73, 77 and 582 - [All refer to use of CIA funds [] during fiscal years 1971 and 1972 to acquire real estate for FBI use against a common target in the United States. NSA is also involved in this project, which is referred to as "MHDOZEN" by CIA.] [S]

Pages 107, 108, 149-151, 155, 156, 158-161, 296, 353 and 354 - All relate to CIA and the Watergate incident, contacts with Watergate principals and inquiries made of CIA by FBI during Watergate investigation.

Page 111 - [Refers to CIA proprietary interest in a legitimate Maryland electronics firm for the purpose of obtaining electronic equipment in violation of Title 18, Section 2512, U. S. Code. On 9/10/71, FBI made inquiry at electronics firm and subsequently was briefed of CIA interest. Inquiry was then terminated.] X

Page 112 - In approximately February, 1971, FBI requested technical assistance of CIA in connection with sensitive project, not further described. Item also indicates that CIA, at the request of FBI, had procured electronic equipment costing approximately $48,000. Item indicates such purchases could be legally accomplished under Economy Act of 1925.

Pages 118-119 - List electronic and photographic equipment and material purchased by CIA for FBI, 1971 to 1972.

Page 136 - Indicates CIA-FBI project whereby analysis of surveillance data entered into a CIA computer was discussed with the FBI.

Re: Senstudy 75
62-116395

Pages 140-142 - Refer to CIA assistance to FBI in projects utilizing code names [MOHAWK, UNION, WUGRAVEL, ORKID and ROSE.] (S)
Page 142 in general terms identifies the nature of these operations. (X)

Page 163 - Makes reference to knowledge of CIA officials concerning CIA program for processing data relating to American citizens believed to be militants, subversives, terrorists, etc.

Pages 171, 190, 191 and 330 - Refer to 1968 CIA-prepared document captioned "Restless Youth," which received extremely limited dissemination as some information contained therein pertains to U. S. student radicals and is indicative that CIA had exceeded its charter. Attorney General received copy, March, 1969, but no indication FBI had received copy.

Page 178 - Indicates that CIA had conducted research project on Robert Vesco.

Pages 180-182, 184, 185 and 202 - Refer to CIA's collection of information on individuals in the United States (mostly foreign), CIA accepting information relating to foreign involvement with United States dissident groups when such sources refuse to talk to FBI and relates that CIA had supplied linguist to FBI to translate Arabic.

Pages 188, 189 and 330 - Concern information prepared by CIA relating to visits of Stokely Carmichael to Caribbean area and various ramifications connected therewith. Information was prepared for CIA use only, but one copy was "inadvertently" sent to FBI.

Pages 193-194 - Refer to CIA's preparation of document for President Johnson dealing with links between foreign elements and the U. S. peace movement.
