work activities in Chile that she knew of were writing and painting. She said he told her he was a physician and owned a clinic in Miami, Florida. ~~(u)~~

"His son, ORLANDO, 15, of Miami, visited him in Chile for about 20 days in October 1975, she said. She said BOSCH left Chile for about five days around the middle of last year, but she did not say where he went. ~~(u)~~

"Referring to BOSCH's reasons for being in Chile, she said: 'He told me that he was here in Chile because, I don't know, it was more peaceful, because he liked it . . . I understood that he didn't want to talk about that.' ~~(u)~~

"She said she did not know of any contacts other than casual ones that he might have had with Chileans, 'and I prefer not to know at this time.' ~~(u)~~

"She emphasized: 'He is a very correct person who loves his fatherland very much--that is his only defect.' ~~(u)~~

"BOSCH was detained in Venezuela for questioning about the explosion of a Cuban airliner that killed 73 persons two weeks ago. ~~(u)~~

"The Washington Post said Thursday that he was expelled from Costa Rica in May for using a false Chilean passport. ~~(u)~~

[The CIA Station in Santiago advised that discreet inquiries had established the identity of BOSCH AVILA's mistress, who had been interviewed by LONG, as ADRIANA DELGADO. The CIA Station, Santiago, advised that DELGADO had moved from the San Borja Towers address to another location in Santiago believed to be Calle San Francisco 155. ~~(u)~~

Obviously DELGADO would have valuable information concerning Cuban exile contacts who visited BOSCH in Santiago during the year he resided in that city. When photographs of all known Cuban exile members in the continental United States and Puerto Rico known to have visited BOSCH in Chile are received by Legat, Buenos Aires, arrangements will be made for an in-depth interview with DELGADO during which the photographs will be displayed in an effort to elicit complete information concerning these individuals and their activities in Chile. ~~(u)~~

The attention of the Bureau and interested offices is invited to Section XXVI of rerep, which contains a partial text of a report dated 10/8/76 prepared by the Ad Hoc Working Group on situations of human rights in Chile, United Nations General Assembly. This report contained information concerning DINA, which in some instances is obviously incorrect and based on rumors and heresay. For example, Page 296 of rerep indicates that DINA Headquarters and office of DINA Director was located on Marcoleta Street in Santiago at the former offices of the Chilean Communist Youth. As previously reported, DINA Headquarters and the DINA Director's Office are located at 11 Calle Belgrado. This fact is well known in Santiago and probably any taxi driver in Santiago would be able to take a passenger to DINA Headquarters on request. From the nature of information contained in this report, it appears that the Ad Hoc Working Group compiled information volunteered by various Chilean dissidents concerning DINA operations in Chile. Nonetheless, an extremely interesting piece of information is contained on Page 300 of rerep, which identifies various DINA premises in Santiago. One of the locations identified as a DINA situs is listed in Paragraph (D) as an apartment in the San Borja Housing Project. As noted in the above Associated Press dispatch, BOSCH AVILA resided with his Chilean mistress at the San Borja Towers Housing Development. (u)

It would be extremely significant if it could be established with any degree of certainty that BOSCH's apartment, was in fact a location utilized by DINA. Accordingly, it is suggested that WFO or the New York Office give consideration to ascertaining from the Ad Hoc Committee Working Group whether the exact location of the alleged DINA apartment in the San Borja Housing Project can be identified and if possible the source, who identified the apartment as a DINA location be located and interviewed. (u)

(S) It should be noted that [the CIA Station in Santiago] advised that investigation disclosed the exact address of BOSCH AVILA and his Chilean mistress's apartment as Building #1, Apartment #24, Torres de San Borja, Alameda, Santiago, Chile. (X)
