DEAN RUSK also stated as did ROBERT HURWITCH that he thought it was best for MIRO CARDONA to go to the rally in Montevideo on 1/22/62 and to go to Punta del Este. DEAN RUSK said to MIRO CARDONA that it would be best that MIRO CARDONA be present in Uruguay as "they, MIRO and RUSK, can divide the Cuban insults". During the course of this meeting ROBERT HURWITCH of the USDS was present and acted as interpreter. ARAGON stated that the meeting lasted about 15 minutes.

After meeting with RUSK, MIRO and ARAGON discussed their passport and visa problems with HURWITCH and HURWITCH stated that there would be no difficulty and that they should go to the US Consul in Montevideo, Uruguay, and pick up their resident visas after they arrive there.

After leaving the State Department, ARAGON advised that MIRO CARDONA made a telephone call to their CIA contact in Miami, Fla., and informed him of the decision of the USDS for MIRO and ARAGON to go to Uruguay. (S)(u)

ARAGON stated that MIRO's CIA contact in Miami, Fla., is a retired US Army Colonel by the name of [JOHNSON] who formerly resided in Massachusetts and he is known to the Cubans as "JUANITO". (S)
