P R O C E E D I N G S

Mr. Baron. Mr. Weatherby, before we start there are a few procedural matters that we should discuss.

First, is it true that you are testifying here under alias today?

Mr. Weatherby. That is correct.

Mr. Baron. And is it not also true that we have made an agreement that you have signed to indicate your true identity and to indicate the fact that your true identity will be on file at the CIA available to the Committee if it needs to verify it for some reason or other?

Mr. Weatherby. That is also correct.

Mr. Baron. And is it your understanding that we also have an agreement that we will refer to agent AMLASH by his cryptonym rather than by his true name to preserve his true identity?

Mr. Weatherby. Yes, that is understood.

Mr. Baron. Okay.

You understand that you have the right to counsel here today?

Mr. Weatherby. I do.

Mr. Baron. And you are appearing voluntarily without counsel?

Mr. Weatherby. I am.

Mr. Baron. Are you aware of the fact that you can stop at any point during this examination and request to consult

1 with counsel?

2 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, I do.

3 Mr. Baron. And are you also aware that you have all of
4 your Constitutional rights intact before this Committee,
5 including your Fifth Amendment right to remain silent in the 6 face of a question that you might find incriminating for some 7 reason?

8 Mr. Weatherby. I am.

9 Mr. Baron. Before we begin with the specifics related to 10 Project AMLASH, I would just like to ask a few general questions
11 about your background in the Agency.

12 Can you explain at what point you joined Project AMLASH?

1 TESTIMONY OF MR. WEATHERBY

2 Mr. Weatherby. I joined Project AMLASH upon returning
3 from an overseas assignment. It was a directed assignment into
4 the general operation of which AMLASH was a part.

5 Mr. Baron. So --

6 Mr. Weatherby. It was essentially in June, 1962.

7 Mr. Baron. That general assignment was in relation to 8 Cuba?

9 Mr. Weatherby. That is correct.

10 Mr. Baron. And for how long had you been working in the 11 Agency on Cuban affairs?

12 Mr. Weatherby. Never before.

13 Mr. Baron. Since what time, in other words, when did you
14 begin working on Cuban affairs?

15 Mr. Weatherby. In June, 1962.

16 Mr. Baron. I see.

17 So your previous overseas assignment was completely unre-
18 lated to Cuba?

19 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir.

20 Mr. Baron. How long had you been in the Agency?

21 Mr. Weatherby. Since 1956.

22 Mr. Baron. Did you have any other assignments that
23 related to Latin American affairs?

24 Mr. Weatherby. None whatsoever.

1 Mr. Weatherby. I have, yes.

2 Mr. Baron. And did you have any assignments in the Congo?

3 Mr. Weatherby. I did.

4 Mr. Baron. Let us go off the record a second.

5 (Discussion off the record.)

6 Mr. Baron. Let's go back on the record.

7 Could you tell us what time you were assigned to Vietnam

8 and the Congo?

9 Mr. Weatherby. Yes.

10 I was assigned to Vietnam from August, 1970 involved in

11 affairs through August, 1974. I was involved with Congo

12 affairs at the Headquarters level and affairs at the Headquar-

13 ters level and on several TDY's during the period of approxi-

14 mately May, 1965 to the fall of 1968.

15 Mr. Baron. Did you ever work on Dominican Republic

16 affairs?

17 Mr. Weatherby. I have not.

18 Mr. Baron. Drawing your attention now to the period of

19 time when you were working on Cuban affairs, in what office of 20 the CIA were you doing this work?

21 Mr. Weatherby. I was working for the Task Force West,

22 which was the original name of the unit.

23 Mr. Baron. Known as Task Force W?

24 Mr. Weatherby. Yes.

1 Mr. Weatherby. Desmond FitzGerald and also William

3 Mr. Baron. When did FitzGerald take over from Harvey?

4 Mr. Weatherby. I believe it was in the late spring of 5 1963. I am not certain.

6 Mr. Baron. And can you describe the structure of Task
7 Force W at the time that you joined it under Harvey's direction?

8 Mr. Weatherby. I could tell you only about the unit in 9 which I belonged to.

10 Mr. Baron. What unit was that?

11 Mr. Weatherby. That was Third Country operations, which 12 concered obviously operations against Cubans in countries other
13 than Cuba or the United States.

14 Mr. BARon. Did that unit have a cryptonym?

15 Mr. Weatherby. It did not.

16 Mr. Baron. What was it known as in Agency jargon?

17 Mr. Weatherby. I do not remember. It was an operational
18 section, but the exact nomenclature I do not recall.

19 Mr Baron. And its purpose was to work in relation to 20 Cubans or Cuban affairs in countries other than the United 21 States or Cuba?

22 Mr. Weatherby. That is correct.

23 Mr. Baron. Do you know how many such sections there were
24 within Task Force W?

Mr. Weatherby. I do not recall.

1 Mr. Baron. And who was the head of the Third Country
2 Operations section?

3 Mr. Weatherby. During my time it was the late Mr. Maurelius

4 Mr. Baron. And how do you spell that?

5 Mr. Weatherby. M-a-u-r-e-l-i-u-s.

6 Mr. Baron. What was his first name?

7 Mr. Weatherby. Edward.

8 Mr. Baron. Did you work directly under him?

9 Mr. Weatherby. I did.

10 Mr. Baron. So that in your operational capacity as a
11 case officer you would report directly to Mr. Maurelius?

12 Mr. Weatherby. That is correct, or Mr. FitzGerald, or 13 Mr. Harvey upon request.

14 Mr. Baron. Did the Chief of Task Force W; namely FitzGerald
15 or Harvey sit directly above Maurelius in the chain of command
16 within Task Force W?

17 Mr. Weatherby. He had a Deputy, but this particular unit
18 was the -- was a senior echelon operational entity.

19 Mr. Baron. What does that mean?

20 Mr. Weatherby. That means there was no other chain of 21 command between it and the Executive Head of the Task Force.

22 Mr. Baron. So that Mr. Maurelius would have reported
23 directly to the Chief of Task Force W?

24 Mr. Weatherby. Or his Deputy.

1 Who was Deputy Chief of Task Force W under William Harvey?

2 Mr. Weatherby. That was -- go off the record a minute.

3 Mr. Baron. Yes.

4 (Discussion off the record.)

5 Mr. Baron. Go ahead.

6 Mr. Weatherby. Let me say during my period of time there,
7 which was some thirteen years ago, there were a number of
8 Deputies and they have slipped my recall. If I do recall it,
9 I will pass it to the record.

10 Mr. Baron. Have you had a chance to refresh your recol-
11 lection generally about your activities on Task Force W?

12 Mr. Weatherby. I have not. I was informed of this 13 interview yesterday afternoon, late.

14 Mr. Baron. Did you have a chance to read the IG Report
15 before you came here today?

16 Mr. Weatherby. I did read that this morning.

17 Mr. Baron. And what sections of the IG Report did you
18 read?

19 Mr. Weatherby. I read only those portions that concerned
20 my activities with AMLASH.

21 Mr. Baron. About how many pages would that have been?

22 Mr. Weatherby. I think about six to ten.

23 Mr. Baron. And did you discuss your coming here today to

6 Mr. Weatherby. I discussed it with the General Counsel's
7 Office, and I discussed it generally with --

8 Mr. Baron. Off the record a minute.

10 Mr. Baron. Let's go back on the record.

11 With the AMLASH Case Officer who followed you on Task
12 Force W?

13 Mr. Weatherby. That's correct.

14 Mr. Baron. And can you relate to us the major points that 15 you discussed with the case officer who has testified before
16 us recently?

17 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, I can. I purposefully did not 18 discuss my portion of the operation with him on advice of the 19 Office of General Counsel. I talked to him in general terms
20 about, frankly, you fellows and your personalities, what I
21 could expect, and we related at lunch today old times since we
22 have not seen each other for probably at least six or seven
23 years. But I should like to reiterate we did not discuss each

1 Mr. Baron. At any point, did anyone at the CIA tell you
2 what to say here today?

3 Mr. Weatherby. Absolutely not. In fact, if I might 4 add, they cautioned me, they told me they were not going to
5 say because that is against the rules. They made a very strong
6 point of that.

7 Mr. Baron. So we have then the understanding of the 8 fact that you have been asked to testify on very short notice
9 and that your recollection might not be pinpoint precise as 10 far as names and dates go?

11 Mr. Weatherby. Thanks, that is correct.

12 Mr. Baron. But we will try to do as much as we can to 13 refresh your recollection as we move through the events we are 14 discussing.

15 Mr. Weatherby. Yes.

16 I should like to point out for the record that I have not
17 worked in Latin American Affairs before nor afterwards, and that 18 it has been some thirteen years since I delved into this
19 material, so, therefore, please bear with me, if my answers
20 are not as complete perhaps as you wish. I shall do my best.

21 Mr. Baron. Turning back to the subject of the structure
22 of Task Force W, you were unable to recall the name of the 23 Deputy to work under Harvey. Do you recall who took over as 24 the Deputy under FitzGerald?

1 Mr. Baron. Would that have been Samuel Halpern?

2 Mr. Weatherby. Samuel Halpern was an Executive Officer,
3 I do believe, who was essentially divorced from operations.

4 Mr. Baron. Would it have been Bruce Cheever?

5 Mr. Weatherby. That is correct.

6 Mr. Baron. And Bruce Cheever was the Deputy Chief of
7 Task Force W during the entire period that you served on Task
8 Force W?

9 Mr. Weatherby. That is correct. I believe he had a
10 short tenure as Chief until Mr. Hart took over, John Hart.

11 Mr. Baron. When did John Hart take over as Chief of 12 Task Force W?

13 Mr. Weatherby. It was quite near the end of my time on 14 it, so I would say approximately in early spring 1965.

15 Mr. Baron. For how much of this time did you work on 16 Project AMLASH?

17 Mr. Weatherby. I worked on that project shortly after I
18 came aboard on the assignment, which would have been June
19 1962, through turning it over to the previously mentioned
20 AMLASH Case Officer in September, 1963.

21 Mr. Baron. This case officer is the man who testified
22 here under the alias of Garmire?

23 Mr. Weatherby. That is correct, sir.

1 Mr. Weatherby. I continued to handle Third Country
2 Operations, excluding this particular operation, in a support
3 capacity.

4 Mr. Baron. With whom did you work on those operations?

5 Mr. Weatherby. We worked, we were a focal point in a,
6 and a coordination point with, the various desks of the 7 countries involved. I cannot recall the people on the desks
8 at that time.

9 Mr. Baron. Were you responsible for operations, or was 10 this simply support activities?

11 Mr. Weatherby. It was, in the bureaucratic structure
12 that we have I was responsible for providing guidance for 13 operations which were run by the individual country desks in 14 their countries.

15 Mr. Baron. Did you work out of CIA headquarters at 16 Langley?

17 Mr. Weatherby. That is correct.

18 Mr. Baron. Were you at any time stationed in Florida?

19 Mr. Weatherby. I was not.

20 Mr. Baron. During the period of time that you worked on 21 Project AMLASH, were there any other CIA officers who worked
22 closely with you?

23 Mr. Weatherby. Not at that time, with the exception of

3 Mr. Baron. Would you assume generally that Mr.
4 Maurelius would be intimately familiar with any operation that
5 you were running under Project AMLASH?

6 Mr. Weatherby. I do not think I would -- I would ask you
7 to clarify the term "intimate."

8 Mr. Baron. Would he be aware of the major-contacts you
9 were making and any significant support to those contacts?

10 Mr. Weatherby. I should say at the time, yes, any major
11 aspect of it. It would be difficult for him to follow every 12 operation of every officer in complete detail.

13 Mr. Baron. But he would generally be aware of any
14 significant development of your activities on Project AMLASH
15 and in your relationships with your contacts inside Cuba?

16 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir.

17 Mr. Baron. Would he in turn have made the Chief of Task
18 Force W aware of any such significant developments?

19 Mr. Weatherby. Of significant developments, yes.

20 Mr. Baron. And was it a frequent practice for you to 21 report directly to the Chief of Task Force W and to his 22 Deputy and bypass Mr. Maurelius?

23 Mr. Weatherby. As a matter of course, no. In answer to 24 general questions of a professional interest, how I was doing, and how the operation was going, I could be called in on an

2 Mr. Baron. Do you remember any occasions in relation to
3 Project AMLASH when either William Harvey or Desmond FitzGerald
4 asked you for a report directly?

5 Mr. Weatherby. No, not -- I cannot remember now.

6 Mr. Baron. Where is Mr. Maurelius now?

7 Mr. Weatherby. Mr. Maurelius is deceased. He died three 8 days ago.

9 Mr. Baron. And do you know where Mr. Cheever is now?

10 Mr. Weatherby. I do not. I think he may be someplace
11 in the Southwest. He is retired.

12 Mr. Baron. I would like to review with you a few events
13 that occurred before you joined Project AMLASH, but about which 14 you may have become knowledgeable after you joined the Project.
15 Starting in March of 1961, the IG report indicates that ~~Jack~~
16 <sup>03</sup> ~~Stewart~~, who was a CIA officer assigned to Mexico City, met
17 agent AMLASH in Mexico City to sound him out generally on his 18 views about the Cuban situation.

19 Do you recall anything that you learned about contacts
20 between <sup>03</sup> ~~Jack Stewart~~ and AMLASH in Mexico City?

21 Mr. Weatherby. No, I do not, other than what appears in 22 the paper which you have just quoted from or referred to.

23 Mr. Baron. Were you aware of the reasons why that contact
24 took place?

1 Mr. Baron. Do you recall now?

2 Mr. Weatherby. I do not, but I presume it was to discuss

4 Mr. Baron. Do you remember ever learning about the source
5 of the initiation for that meeting? Did it come, in other
6 words, from <sup>03</sup> (Jack Stewart), or from AMLASH or from an intermediary?

7 Mr. Weatherby. To the best of my recollection, from an 8 intermediary.

9 Mr. Baron. Would that have been a man whose cryptonym
10 became AMWHIP? I am referring now to Carlos Tepedino.

11 Mr. Weatherby. Yes.

12 Mr. Baron. Do you know whether the CIA had contact with 13 Carlos Tepedino prior to the time they came into contact with
14 AMLASH?

15 Mr. Weatherby. I don't -- I do not think it was on a
16 professional basis. He may have known people in Havana Station
17 on a social basis.

18 Mr. Baron. Do you recall being briefed about the state
19 of contacts with agent AMLASH at the time that you took over as 20 operational officer?

21 Mr. Weatherby. Would you repeat the question, please?

22 Mr. Baron. Do you recall being briefed?

23 Mr. Weatherby. Yes.

24 Mr. Baron. At the time you took over?

25 Mr. Weatherby. I read a file rather than being briefed,

2 Mr. Baron. Do you have any recollection of meeting with
3 <sup>23</sup>~~(Jack Stewart)~~ to be briefed at the time you joined Project
4 AMLASH?

5 Mr. Weatherby. I cannot recall.

6 Mr. Baron. What was the nature of the file that you read
7 at that time?

8 Mr. Weatherby. Well, it was either a file started on 9 AMLASH or a file on an intermediary that began the contact, or 10 the attempted contact, with LASH.

11 Mr. Baron. Would that intermediary have been Tepedino?

12 Mr. Weatherby. I do not think so. I'm sorry. I do not
13 recall accurately at this point.

14 Mr. Baron. Would you assume the name of that intermediary
15 would appear in the AMLASH file today?

16 Mr. Weatherby. Certainly.

17 Mr. Baron. At the point when you reviewed the file to 18 brief yourself on Project AMLASH, do you recall reading a
19 CS information report that referred to AMLASH's expression of 20 disgust with Castro to the point where AMLASH indicated that
21 he would be willing to kill Castro?

22 Mr. Weatherby. I remember reading that in the IG Report.
23 I should -- as I have stated earlier, I have not read the 24 official 201 file on the whole case before appearing before you,

25 Sir, but I recall that from the IG Report.

TOP SECRET

1 Mr. Baron. Do you have any independent recollection of
2 learning from any source about AMLASH's emotional state at the
3 time that you took over the project?

4 Mr. Weatherby. No, I never knew the man until I actually
5 met him, in sufficient detail for me to form an opinion, and
6 having never worked with Latins before and mostly with
7 Germanic types, I preferred to form my own conclusions.

8 Mr. Baron. Do you recall, however, being made aware by 9 any source before you came in contact with AMLASH that he had
10 a propensity to assassinate Castro or any leanings in that 11 direction.

12 Mr. Weatherby. I recall only that he perhaps had said or
13 made statements that he was totally dissatisfied with Castro
14 and I do not recall from my own memory if he used the word
15 assassinate as you did.

16 Mr. Baron. Whether or not he used the word assassinate,
17 at the time you took over the contact with AMLASH, would you
18 have assumed that this was someone who was at least capable
19 of doing that sort of thing?

20 Mr. Weatherby. I think if I can recall correctly that 21 my impression of the man was that he was quite mercurial and
22 I did not understand him well enough to know whether that was
23 whiskey talk or an expression or a Latin exaggeration. I
24 remember saying that I had got to see the man and talk to him

25 Before I formed an opinion.

1 Mr. Baron. The whiskey talk you are referring to is talk
2 that you picked up from the file?

3 Mr. Weatherby. No, it would be that someone had said that
4 he heard him say that I am mad at Castro and I would like to 5 eliminate him. To me that is hearsay, and I put no stock in 6 that whatsoever.

7 Mr. Baron. And do you recall your initial contact with
8 agent AMLASH?

9 Mr. Weatherby. I do.

10 Mr. Baron. Where was that?

11 Mr. Weatherby. It took place in Helsinki.

12 Mr. Baron. Before we pick up on that contact, I would
13 like to ask a couple of other questions about events prior 14 to that time.

15 Do you have any recollection of the development of 16 project MHAPRON?

17 Mr. Weatherby. I do.

18 Mr. Baron. What was that program about?

19 Mr. Weatherby. That program was an effort to penetrate
20 the Cuban military to encourage either defections or an attempt 21 to produce information from dissidents, or perhaps even to 22 forming a group which would be capable of replacing the then
23 present government in Cuba.

24 Mr. Baron. Was that operation already mounted at the

1 Mr. Weatherby. I think the program was in effect, or it
2 was concurrently started. I do not recall honestly.

3 Mr. Baron. Do you recall whether your assignment to work
4 with AMLASH was for the purpose of maintaining his participation
5 in the project MHAPRON, or did it have some independent purpose?

6 Mr. Weatherby. The original purpose, to the best of 7 my recollection, was to oversee his defection, and to monitor
8 him through northern Europe, with which I was familiar, and to 9 help in a planned defection speech, et cetera, in some Western
10 European country.

11 Mr. Kelley. The word "defection", can that have more than 12 one meaning? The meaning, the obvious meaning, is that the 13 person leaves his country and comes to another one. Is there
14 another meaning that he becomes disaffected from the government
15 or the country in which he resides but stays there?

16 Mr. Weatherby. That is correct.

17 There is two, there are two defections, which means he 18 defects from their ranks and becomes overtly an emigre from 19 his country, and the other term would be to defect in place
20 which is in effect means he becomes a recruited agent.

21 Mr. Kelley. And in your later testimony, would you keep
22 those two meanings in mind and tell us if you use the word
23 "defect," which one we are talking about?

24 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir.

1 the original purpose of the AMLASH operation, you used the
2 word defect. What was the meaning at this time?

3 Mr. Weatherby. The original, the original intent when he
4 was sent to Helsinki was to aid in the defection, meaning for 5 the man to leave Cuba and Fidel Castro's ranks and come to the
6 West in the classic sense.

7 Mr. Baron. One more question on project MHAPRON.

8 Do you recall whether one of the goals of that project
9 would have been to support an attempt by high Cuban military
10 officers to initiate a coup against the Castro regime by killing
11 the leadership?

12 Mr. Weatherby. I would say no. The killing of the 13 leadership was never a prerequisite for replacement of the 14 government.

15 Mr. Baron. Whether or not it was a prerequisite, would 16 it have been one acceptable means of initiating a coup?

17 Mr. Weatherby. I would say not.

18 Mr. Baron. Why not?

19 Mr. Weatherby. Because that was not, as far as I know in 20 any paper I had ever read, or any directive I had ever seen.

21 Mr. Baron. What kinds of directives did you have as to 22 the means that should be used by contacts established through
23 MHAPRON for the overthrow of Castro?

24 Mr. Weatherby. I do not recall if there was a -- that a

2 going to be even addressed, you have got to look at the people

4 be taken.

side lb 5 Mr. Baron. So that you would tailor a course of action
6 against Castro to the specific characteristics and capabilities
7 of the contacts with whom you were dealing, is that correct?

8 Mr. Weatherby. One could do that.

9 Mr. Baron. Would that have been a normal operating
10 procedure for you at that time?

11 Mr. Weatherby. I would think that, that that follows
12 from my previous statement that any activity would have to be
13 looked at in the context of the people who might be available
14 and willing to do it.

15 Mr. BARON. So that you are saying certainly a major
16 factor in determining what kind of operation to arrange with 17 a Cuban contact would be the character and capability of that 18 contact?

19 Mr. Weatherby. I would think that that is an accurate
20 statement.

21 Mr. Baron. Did you carry on projects MHAPRON at the 22 point when you joined Task Force W, did you have operational
23 responsibility for that project?

24 Mr. Weatherby. I did not. That was an overall project,

25 So, I, in my capacity, did not run that program.

1 Mr. Baron. Was Project AMLASH considered a sub-unit of
2 MHAPRON, a subproject?

3 Mr. Weatherby. It fell into that broad category, but to 4 the best of my knowledge it was not an integral part of that
5 program which in itself was really a mechanism for looking at 6 the problem, and AMLASH was a separate entity at the concept -
7 pardon me, at the inception, of course, it was a defection

9 Mr. Baron. In relation to just one man?

10 Mr. Weatherby. Yes.

11 Mr. Baron. And Project AMLASH throughout related
12 essentially to the use of just one high-ranking Cuban military
13 officer, is that correct?

14 Mr. Weatherby. That's correct, as the principal person
15 involved.

16 Mr. BARON. In your attempts to aid the defection of 17 AMLASH, did you ever come in contact with a man named Juan
18 Orta?

19 Mr. Weatherby. I did not.

6 you that he was in the Office of Security working as a case

9 Mr. Weatherby. That was before my time, and it would not

7 Mr. Baron. Let me represent to you that Santos Trafficante
8 to the best of our knowledge, had gambling contacts inside
9 Cuba, and, in fact, ran some casinos in Havana. Does that 10 refresh your recollection at all as to any relation he may 11 have had to any operation of the CIA against Fidel Castro?

12 Mr. Weatherby. No. I think now that you mention it, I
13 have seen something in the papers perhaps.

14 Mr. Baron. Recently?

15 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir. But I had absolutely no
16 knowledge of that at the time.

17 Mr. Baron. Did you have any knowledge at the time, at 18 any point in the early 1960's of any connection between Sam

16 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

17 Mr. Baron. Turning now to your first contact with AMLASH,
18 during that period of time would you place that contact?

19 Mr. Weatherby. The first contact, sir, that should have 20 been roughly, roughly about the thirty day period from maybe
21 the 26th of July, 1962 through maybe 18 August 1962.

22 Mr. Baron. Do you remember how you first learned that

4 Mr. Weatherby. The purpose of my trip to Helsinki was to 5 ascertain if AMLASH was prepared to defect, and if so, to 6 assist him in doing so and to gain as much mileage for us from 7 information of a defector from a high-level Cuban official as 8 possible.

9 Mr. Baron. This would be a highly publicized defection
10 from the country perhaps having AMLASH come to the United 11 States?

12 Mr. Weatherby. That had not been determined, but a
13 defection announcement in a major city is always useful.

14 Mr. Baron. Were you aware of any contact between Carlos
15 Tepedino, who operated then under the cryptonym of AMWHIP in 16 the FBI?

17 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir.

18 Mr. Baron. What was the nature of that contact?

19 Mr. Weatherby. I believe, and again my recollection is

21 who turned the information to us through the normal course of 13 Mr. Weatherby. Maybe thirty.

14 Mr. Kelley. And these all involved individuals, people
15 you would meet like you met AMLASH?

16 Mr. Weatherby. In some cases, yes. In others, I was
17 a supporting officer, meaning I maintained a file, maintained
18 the traffic, offered advice, wrote cables, talked to different
19 officers about handling the different individuals.

20 Mr. Kelley. So this was one of some thirty different

5 was the kind of a case which was on again, off again. When

1 of Batista, but he certainly didn't figure prominently in
2 Castro's cabinet. Obviously, he didn't hold much of a position,
3 but he was kind of an old boy who had gone a little astray and
4 a dissident, unhappy, but a member of the contributing guerrilla
5 movement which eventually overthrew Batista and, therefore, was 6 always welcomed in most of their circles.

7 Mr. Kelley. My question is, then, when you would meet him
8 in Helsinki or wherever, did you take any precautions to insure
9 that your meeting was not observed by members of Castro's
10 intelligence force who might be following this man?

11 Mr. Weatherby. We would have countersurveillance.

12 Mr. Kelley. And did that ever indicate that you were 13 followed or being observed?

14 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

15 Mr. Kelley. Did you meet in out of the way places, or --

16 Mr. Weatherby. Hotel rooms, sometimes in a car.

17 Mr. Kelley. These would be safe house-type hotel rooms,
18 or would he come to your room?

19 Mr. Weatherby. Probably go to Tepedino's. I don't recall
20 the exact details of that. It would not be in the parlance of 21 a safe house.

22 Mr. Kelley. Uh-huh. Okay.

23 Mr. Baron. You were going to describe the general
24 impression you had of the series of meetings that took place
25 between yourself and AMLASH in late July and early August of

1 1962 in Helsinki?

2 Mr. Weatherby. Yes.

3 The purpose, the initial purpose of my going over, as has
4 been pointed out, was to arrange for the defection of a
5 prominent Cuban revolutionary with maximum publicity for the 6 West.

7 In talking to him -- and again, we are stretching back
8 over thirteen years from memory -- he was still very much
9 interested in that. He was fed up with the sale of the 10 revolution by Castro to the Russians, and it didn't represent
11 what he thought he had been fighting for with the old DR at 12 the time they overthrew Batista.

13 He had a thread throughout his thinking though that he
14 would, he would rather, if there was a reason, he would rather 15 stay and change events in Cuba, if he possibly, if this
16 possibly could be done. In other words, to put the revolution
17 back in its proportions as he had contributed to it and he
18 imagined it should have been. But he didn't have a real plan
19 and he didn't, he wasn't sure how to accomplish this. The 20 purpose became then to keep him in place rather than defect
21 him, because an agent in place is always worth a great deal
22 more than one who defects.

23 As you probably have heard, you get a debriefing of what
24 he knows, you get a little Press play, and that's the end of

25 it with the man normally except the contacts he might have and

1 so forth, but an agent in place is worth a great deal more.

2 This then became my assignment, was to convince him to
3 stay in place and to report to us.

4 Mr. Baron. Do you recall what kind of proposals he may
5 have made or prospects he may have raised about operations
6 that would have been significant enough to merit his staying
7 inside Cuba instead of defecting?

8 Mr. Weatherby. Well, he wanted to overthrow Castro, he
9 wanted to change the regime, or at the very least bring Castro
10 around to his concept of the revolution.

11 Mr. Baron. Did he ever mention that as a realistic
12 possibility, bringing Castro around to his concept?

13 Mr. Weatherby. Not really. He discussed it, but I don't
14 think he really believed it.

15 Mr. Baron. And how likely did he feel at the time the 16 prospect was of leading a widespread coup against Castro?

17 Mr. Weatherby. You know, I don't think he even thought
18 that far. He was -- it was interesting. He was mercurial
19 at times, thoughtful, and methodical in turn. He had a great
20 many things evolving in his mind, none of which were practical,
21 none of which he could tie down. One of the interesting parts
22 of meeting him was to attempt to sort out what the man really
23 wanted and what he wanted to do, what he could do, and possibly 24 what his friends could do. And this was the thrust of the 25 balance of the time that I was with him.

Mr. Weatherby. He never used that term. He didn't like it.

2

3

Mr. Baron. The term "assassinate"?

4

Mr. Weatherby. Yes.

5

Mr. Baron. What terms would he use?

6

Mr. Weatherby. "Eliminate."

7

Mr. Baron. Or other euphemisms that clearly had the same import?

8

9 Mr. Weatherby. I like to think he meant to get rid of 10 in one way or another, either exile or in a coup in which
11 obviously blood will be shed on both sides.

12

14

16

Mr. Baron. Was it not clear that whether or not he at that time had a specific plan or a specific intention to proceed to eliminate Castro by taking his life, he was interested in the prospect of having support for such an operation if it could be mounted?

17

20

Mr. Weatherby. He was interested in, as he put it, and again we are talking over 13 years, in getting rid of the man's regime, and he didn't limit himself to any particular method, nor did he dwell on assassination as such.

21

23

Mr. Baron. But was assassination, though perhaps mentioned by other names, one means that was acceptable to him of getting rid of Castro?

24

Mr. Weatherby. I never took him seriously. I think in a fire-fight, in other words, if you are storming the palace

5 Mr. Weatherby. I think --

6 Mr. Baron. Or the desirability to assassinate Castro?

7 Mr. Weatherby. To eliminate him in theory, I think, or
8 he might have discussed it. I don't recall today precisely
9 the exact terms or the exact seriousness of the man to do an 10 act like that.

11 Mr. Baron. But the way that you recall that series of 12 meetings, is it likely that he did express the desirability
13 of eliminating Castro by assassination?

14 Mr. Weatherby. I think as a possibility, not as a
15 desirability.

16 Mr. Bayly. Perhaps you have been asked this, but I
17 would like to ask you myself if you have not been to offer what 18 you understand to be the meaning of the term "assassinate," or 19 "assassination"?

20 Mr. Weatherby. I'm sorry. Would you --

21 Mr. Bayly. . . What is the meaning, what is your interpretation
22 of it, or what do you understand the term "assassinate" to

1 Soviet Ambassador, and also to eliminate Fidel by execution,
2 if necessary."

3 Do you recall his expressing that feeling to you?

4 Mr. Weatherby. I do not recall today his expressing the 5 feeling in the words in the exhibit. However, I believe that
6 that represents at least a portion of his thoughts at the time,
7 only as an idea or an expression of the degree to which he
8 felt he wanted to do something and was totally frustrated in 9 doing it. I mean, just look at the large list he has, and --

10 Mr. Baron. What large list are you referring to?

11 Mr. Weatherby. The one there in which he talks about 12 Rodriguez and the Ambassador and Fidel. I mean there is 13 no -- as I say, I believe that represented a feeling he had 14 that he has to get rid of these people in some manner.

15 Mr. Baron. Do you really characterize this list of three
16 people that appear to be carefully selected as a large list
17 of targets, or doesn't it appear to be, as I said, a fairly
18 careful selection of key people whose elimination would
19 seriously affect the stability of the Cuban government?

20 Mr. Weatherby. No, I don't feel that way. If I may digress
21 a little for the record, I think it is an expression of his 22 frustration simply because it isn't a diabolical scheme the 23 man is talking about if, in fact, he talked about these people
24 because he's probably upset with the Soviets there. Therefore,

25 he gets rid of the Soviet Ambassador. Well, they put a new

1 one in, and that doesn't do anything to the stability there.
2 And if you get rid of Carlos Rodriguez, Rodriguez didn't have
3 a great following of his own, he was somebody that was probably
4 a principal that came to his mind and, of course, Fidel as 5 the head of state represents something to him that he would
6 like to have changed.

7 In other words, I'm trying to say that when you deal with
8 a man like this and you have not met him very much, you have
9 to let the man express himself, you have got to find out
10 by questioning what he really means, what's really bothering
11 him, what does he really want to do. Does he have any plans,
12 how deep is his thinking, is he just an emotional type?

13 Mr. Baron. But isn't it significant in some way that -- 14 strike that.

15 Wouldn't his desire to plan the execution of Fidel Castro
16 have appeared to you at that time significant in light of the 17 fact that you included it in your contact report?

18 Mr. Weatherby. His statement there represents to me again
19 as I have said before, the degree of emotion that he felt
20 about the problem in Cuba and the Cuban situation politically
21 as it turned out. A contact report, which is a piece of paper
22 basically to refresh the case officer's mind about what took
23 place, I wouldn't, I wouldn't read into it too much.

24 Mr. Baron. Nonetheless, didn't you see his expression of 25 this desire to eliminate Fidel by execution, if necessary,

TOP SECRET

50

1 significant enough so that there should be some record of it?

2 Mr. Weatherby. I thought that it certainly should be
3 a matter of record to indicate his degree of concern, certainly.
4 And it also became a point for me to dissuade him of at that 5 time.

6 Mr. Baron. In the same contact report you indicated that
7 you were "making no commitments or plans," but that you were
8 pointing out to AMLASH "that schemes like he envisions certainly 9 had their place, but that a lot of coordination, planning,
10 information collection, etcetera were necessary prerequisites
11 to ensure the value and success of such plans."

12 Doesn't that indicate that his mention of eliminating 13 Fidel and other key figures in Cuba at that time were at least
14 considered by you to have had a place in future contacts with
15 AMLASH?

16 Mr. Weatherby. Absolutely not, in that case. What you
17 have got to do with a man like this who may have thoughts of 18 that intensity, or even register thoughts of that intensity
19 is not disabuse him immediately of his thinking because if
20 I want him for something else I can't make a -- I would be --
21 it would be poor planning to alienate the man right away if 22 I immediately turn off the idea he has. And this is all in 23 one meeting, don't forget, as best as I recall. I have got 24 to attempt to blunt that and eventually change his thinking,

25 and you just don't go off. And if he was going to do something

1 like that it takes, if someone is going to do anything it
2 takes coordination and planning and etcetera. And you have 3 got to gradually take the man from an intense thought and
4 perhaps mold it into something that can work, or something
5 that is acceptable.

6 In other words, I wouldn't.

7 Mr. Baron. Doesn't the language here, though, indicate
8 that although you may have wanted to mold his desires into a
9 workable plan, the fact that he had mentioned desire to eliminate
10 Castro by execution, if necessary, wasn't something that was 11 rejected out of hand, that it might be something that you
12 would want to work into a usable plan.

13 Mr. Weatherby. Well, I think we are a little out of 14 context by looking at just this excerpt. I think you have to 15 look at Castro to see how it develops and what is said in a
16 few words in a contact report, which is not verbatim, you
17 would acknowledge should not be taken absolutely literally.

18 Mr. Baron. You have mentioned that these events were 19 a long time ago.

20 Mr. Weatherby. Uh huh.

21 Mr. Baron. And that your recollection is not crystal

Mr. Baron. To whom would a contact report be submitted?

Mr. Weatherby. Depending on it, depending on the nature of the case and the level of the officer, it would probably go to his immediate superior, or could remain in the file.

14 of the importance of these sentiments that AMLASH had expressed
15 to you in Helsinki upon your return from that trip?

16 Mr. Weatherby. I am sure I did. I don't recall precisely,
17 but I do recall a cable which I wrote in which I expressed
18 some concern about the man's mercurial temperament and
19 disposition, and then asked for, I believe, a Spanish-speaking
20 case officer because I thought that that would be -- there
21 was more accuracy to be relayed in communicating than communi-
22 cating directly with someone.

23 Mr. Baron. And so you asked for a Spanish-speaking case
24 officer to take over the operation from you?

25 Mr. Weatherby. No. I asked for his assistance.

Mr. Weatherby. I did.

Mr. Baron. Under the alias of Garmeyer, being referred to generally as AMLASH case officer?

Mr. Weatherby. No, sir. That was another gentleman whom I met in Paris.

Mr. Baron. And what was his name, or was he the Spanish-speaking case officer from Madrid?

Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir. I believe you have that in the excerpt there.

Mr. Baron. Whose name is mentioned in the I.G. report?

Mr. Weatherby. Yes, correct, sir.

Mr. Baron. As a participant in meetings that you held with AMLASH and Tepedino in Paris in mid-August of '62?

Mr. Weatherby. That would be correct, sir.

Mr. Baron. You did return to headquarters in Langley from your meeting in Helsinki.

Is that correct?

Mr. Weatherby. No. I went directly to Paris. I did not directly. I went through Stockholm and I believe Copenhagen and then down to Paris.

Mr. Baron. Did you communicate to headquarters anything

Mr. Weatherby. I don't remember precisely, but I would have sent some type electrical transmission summarizing the meeting and how it went, and any problems of security that might have occurred, and probably some initial impressions.

Mr. Baron. And that would be a cable that we should find in the AMLASH file?

Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir.

Mr. Baron. Do you recall meeting with AMLASH in Copenhagen around August 10 or 11, 1962, for further discussions with him?

Mr. Weatherby. I met him at approximately that date.

Mr. Baron. Do you recall what transpired in those discussions?

Mr. Weatherby. I do not, sir, but I would think nothing of great substance.

Mr. Baron. Do you recall any discussions involving the word "assassination"?

Mr. Weatherby. I do not, sir. That's in Copenhagen?

Mr. Baron. Correct. Was Carlos Tepedino present at that meeting?

2 Mr. Weatherby. Okay, I read it.

3 Mr. Baron. Does this document refresh your recollection
4 about the substance of your meeting with AMLASH in Copenhagen?

5 Mr. Weatherby. It is not enough to refresh my recollection
6 of the meeting in Copenhagen per se, but I think in earlier
7 testimony I discussed the use of the term in talking to him,
8 "assassinate," and indicated that he was opposed to a term
9 of that nature.

10 I think it would show that I perhaps was not sure where
11 that particular discussion took place, Stockholm or Copenhagen
12 or in Helsinki.

13 Mr. Baron. In referring to the portion of this excerpt
14 from your contact report that says "We used the term 'assassinate'.
15 The use of this term we later learned from Tepedino and from 16 AMLASH himself was most objectionable to the latter, and 17 he was visibly upset. It was not the act he objected to,
18 but rather merely the choice of the word used to describe it.
19 'Eliminate' was acceptable."

20 Does that generally describe your recollection of AMLASH's
21 attitude toward the use of the word "assassinate"?

22 Mr. Weatherby. To the best of my recollection, yes.

23 Mr. Baron. Do you recall reporting directly to anyone
24 in Task Force W about AMLASH's attitude toward assassination?

2 Mr. Baron. Do you recall a subsequent meeting in Paris

6 Mr. Baron. Do you recall this involved actually a series
7 of meetings between August 24th and August 23, 1962, as
8 indicated by the I.G. report?

9 Mr. Weatherby. That's correct.

10 Mr. Baron. Was AMLASH given secret writing training
11 and issued secret writing supplies shortly after that meeting?

12 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir.

13 Mr. Baron. Was he also taken to the south of France for 14 a demolition demonstration?

15 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir.

16 Mr. Baron. Why was this done?

17 Mr. Weatherby. That was done to show him we were willing
18 to give consideration to his desire for some sort of support
19 from us if he went back and undertook to establish a net, if 20 you will, of dissidents.

21 Mr. Baron. Was this training more than a mere gesture
22 of support, but actually intended as preparation for AMLASH

5 we demonstrated to him were done by a technician who was
6 accomplished in the use of explosives. But he was, he could
7 not possibly have used that, at least safely, had he returned

9 Mr. Baron. Was there any intention of assessing his 10 suitability for performing operations of this sort during

12 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir, not in the use of explosives.

13 Mr. Baron. So it was merely a gesture of support for 14 him and a means of encouraging him to return to Cuba and 15 continue with other operations?

16 Mr. Weatherby. That's correct, sir.

17 Mr. Baron. What was his primary mission as far as you
18 were concerned at that point?

19 Mr. Weatherby. His mission primarily was to go back and
20 report to us any ability he might have to get into contact
21 with his old friends from the D.R. movement or other dissidents
22 to Castro and attempt to unite them and to build some sort of

5 Mr. Baron. Did he clearly have no access to Castro in

7 Mr. Weatherby. I have no idea of that, sir. I might say

11 Mr. Baron. It was true, though, was it not, that AMLASH

Mr. Baron. Do you recall learning from this CIA case officer that such a cable was sent?

Mr. Weatherby. I am sure I knew at that time, or was informed about the content of that cable, and perhaps the discussions that the Spanish-speaking case officer had with AMLASH. I may have not been at the meeting as they conducted it in Spanish, and I do believe they had several meetings in which I was not in attendance. Of that I am not certain.

Mr. Baron. Do you have a general recollection of AMLASH making statements or behaving in such a way to indicate that he "could or might try to carry out on his own initiative" a "physical elimination mission"?

Mr. Weatherby. He may have continued to discuss it, but I didn't feel that he really meant what he said.

Mr. Baron. Would he have been discussing a physical elimination mission against Castro?

Mr. Weatherby. With this Spanish-speaking case officer?

Mr. Baron. Yes, or in the content of these general meetings?

14 Mr. Weatherby. Probably only to reinforce a case officer's

11 am sure they did. I simply don't know for a fact.

12 Mr. Baron. You don't remember any specific instances
13 where Robert Kennedy met face to face with members of Task
14 Force W or called them on the phone or received phone calls
15 from them in relation to Project AMLASH?

16 Mr. Weatherby. Not in direct relation to that, no. I
17 knew they were obviously interested in the whole program,
18 but again, I wasn't at that level.

19 Mr. Baron. Did you have any sense of the closeness of 20 the relationship between Robert Kennedy and Desmond FitzGerald?

21 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

22 Mr. Baron. Did you have a sense of the kind of relationship
23 that existed between Robert Kennedy and William Harvey?

24 Mr. Weatherby. No, except I think it was common knowledge
25 that it wasn't the best.

1 Mr. Baron. Did you have any sense of the relationship
2 that existed between Robert Kennedy and Richard Helms?

3 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

4 Mr. Baron. Do you have any recollection of drops into
5 Cuba of caches of arms intended for AMLASH?

6 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

7 Mr. Baron. Do you recall any planning for such drops
8 or even the discussion of such drops?

9 Mr. Weatherby. I may have heard it. I didn't participate
10 and I don't know any details.

11 Mr. Baron. Do you recall any discussion of dropping arms
12 to AMLASH or people associated with him during your period
13 of operational control of the AMLASH Project?

14 Mr. Weatherby. No. It may well have been discussed at 15 that point, but nothing during my tenure was ever done like
16 that. The man didn't communicate. It would be pretty hard
17 to drop anything to him at that point.

18 Mr. Baron. What do you mean by the fact that he wasn't 19 communicating?

20 Mr. Weatherby. Well, as I said earlier, there were 21 great periods when the man, we didn't know really what he 22 was doing. We heard second-hand or they had seen him here or 23 there, and he was well and healthy and so forth, but he 24 wouldn't communicate with us. It's just simply not, it's not done not consider going any further in the development of

25

1 assistance to a person with whom we can't communicate, during
2 my time. Remember, after we saw him in Paris it was essentially
3 nothing of significance until we finally found out the man
4 was going to come out.

5 That was one of the frustrations of the case, that the 6 man wouldn't communicate.

7 Mr. Baron. Going to come out to where?

8 Mr. Weatherby. To Porto Alegre.

9 Mr. Baron. Do you have any knowledge from any source
10 about the development of a pin containing a hypodermic syringe
11 capable of administering poison?

12 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

13 Mr. Baron. You don't recall the development of such a
14 device in relation to the AMLASH case?

15 Mr. Weatherby. No, I don't.

16 Mr. Baron. Do you recall discussions with the Technical
17 Services Division or the Office of Medical Services about 18 developing any devices capable of, you know, eliminating an 19 individual Cuban leader?

20 Mr. Weatherby. No.

21 Mr. Baron. If I told you that a ballpoint pen was developed
22 at the CIA which contained a hypodermic syringe and was capable 23 of administering a lethal poison, and that such a device was
24 offered to AMLASH at a point subsequent to your involvement

25 with him, what would you make of it?

1 Mr. Weatherby. I wouldn't think it was accurate. I
2 really don't know.

3 Mr. Baron. Would it strike you that either the story
4 is inaccurate, or if it is accurate, that such device would
5 clearly be designed for offensive use against some individual?

6 Mr. Weatherby. May I have that question again?

7 (The reporter read back the prior question.)

8 Mr. Weatherby. Well, I have no knowledge of it. I think
9 it is probably inaccurate. However, if it were accurate,
10 use the conjectural, then obviously it must be used perhaps
11 in the manner which you describe.

12 Mr. Baron. Wouldn't it seem unlikely to you that that 13 kind of device would be designed as a self-defense weapon?

14 Mr. Weatherby. I don't know. I really, I don't, I am
15 not getting the train of your questioning now.

16 Mr. Baron. I am simply asking in the abstract your 17 opinion as, in effect, an expert, as a case officer with 18 some operational experience, wouldn't such a device be next
19 to useless as a self-defense weapon?

20 Mr. Weatherby. No, I don't think so. No different than 21 mace.

22 Mr. Baron. Except that this device obviously can only
23 be used --

24 Mr. Weatherby. Once.

25 Mr. Baron. Once.

1 Mr. Weatherby. So can mace.

2 Mr. Baron. In a tight spot.

3 Mr. Weatherby. Yeah.

4 Mr. Baron. Where there could be more than one, you know,
5 person involved.

6 Mr. Weatherby. Yeah. That's such a hypothetical question
7 that it's difficult to answer. You know, if I were talking
8 to you and you were a Russian case officer, and I said I
9 am not going to do something, and you decided that you were
10 going to turn me in, all I can do is get rid of you and leave.
11 If, on the other hand, in a cast of thousands it would not
12 be worth a whole hell of a lot.

13 Mr. Baron. If somebody were asking you for a self-defense
14 weapon, would you supply them with this kind of a device that 15 I have described?

16 Mr. Weatherby. Oh, I would have to think about that.
17 That's fairly -- that would depend entirely on the circumstances.

18 Mr. Baron. After you left Project AMLASH, what was
19 the nature of the other projects that your pursued on Task
20 Force W?

21 Mr. Weatherby. I would have to go back on the record on 22 that but I would say it was classical FI defections, counter-
23 intelligence basically.

24 Mr. Baron. Were you associated with any aspect, other
25 than intelligence collection, of planning for a coup against

Castro?

Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

Mr. Baron. Do you recall from your experience on Task Force W plans for or discussions of the supply of weapons to Cuban dissidents at that point?

Mr. Weatherby. Well, it's a matter of record that it was done or attempted, but I had nothing to do with the direct planning, and I have no knowledge of the planning or execution as such.

Mr. Baron. Did you have any contact with a man named Arttime?

Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

Mr. Baron. Did you know him?

Mr. Weatherby. I knew who he was but I did not know him.

Mr. Baron. Who was he?

Mr. Weatherby. He was a Cuban exile leader.

Mr. Baron. Do you know Howard Hunt?

Mr. Weatherby. I know of Howard Hunt. I never met Howard Hunt.

Mr. Baron. Did you have any contact in any way with Howard Hunt in relation to your service on Task Force W?

Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

Mr. Baron. Throughout the course of this discussion,

when we have been referring to Task Force W, it is clear in

1 your mind that that would also cover any references to SAS,
2 which was the same organization as Task Force W?

3 Mr. Weatherby. Absolutely. I am not interested in 4 subterfuge.

5 Mr. Baron. Okay. In your intelligence collection
6 operations on Task Force W or the SAS staff, did you make
7 any use of members of the gambling syndicate in Havana?

8 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

9 Mr. Baron. Were you ever made aware of CIA contact with 10 members of the gambling syndicate that ran gambling operations
11 in Cuba for the purpose of intelligence gathering?

12 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

13 Mr. Baron. Were you aware of any contact with gambling
14 syndicate members?

15 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

16 Mr. Baron. And does that include gambling syndicate
17 figures in the United States who may have had an interest in 18 Cuba?

19 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir.

20 Mr. Baron. Did you visit the J.M. WAVE station in 21 Miami as a part of your activities on Task Force W or SAS?

22 Mr. Weatherby. No, sir.

23 Mr. Baron. You never visited the J.M. WAVE station?

24 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir.

25 Mr. Baron. That's correct?

2 Mr. Baron. Are you saying that --

3 Mr. Weatherby. That's two separate questions you asked

5 to the second one was no, sir.

6 Mr. Baron. All of which goes to indicate that you never

7 visited the J.M. WAVE station at any point?

8 Mr. Weatherby. During my attachment to the Cuban Task

9 Force, that is correct.

10 Mr. Baron. Did you visit it at some other point, that 11 is?

12 Mr. Weatherby. That is correct.

13 Mr. Baron. Is that correct?

14 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir.

15 Mr. Baron. When was that?

16 Mr. Weatherby. That was about 1967.

17 Mr. Baron. In connection with what kind of operation?

18 Mr. Weatherby. That was procurement of an aircraft.

19 Mr. Baron. For use where?

20 Mr. Weatherby. For use -- are we on the record?

21 Mr. Baron. Yes.

22 Mr. Weatherby. For use in the Congo.

23 Mr. Baron. I simply have one more procedural matter to

6 Mr. Weatherby. Yes, sir. Absolutely. I will stay as 7 long as you wish.

8 Mr. Baron. Okay. I think I have no further questions.

9 Is there anything else that you would like to say or 10 to add to the record to put our discussion here today into 11 context?

12 Mr. Weatherby. I think not.

13 Mr. Baron. All right. Thank you very much. You have 14 been extremely cooperative and informative.

15 Mr. Weatherby. Pleasure.

(WAINWRIGHT'S) CONTACT REPORT OF THE FIRST MEETING WITH CUBELA
(30 July - 6 August 1962)

He said he was considering not going back to Cuba, but after talking to Tepedino, he felt that if he could do something really significant for the creation of a new Cuba, ~~he was~~ he was interested in returning to carry on the fight there.

He said he was not interested in risking his life for any small undertaking, but that if he could be given a really large part to play, he would use himself and several others in Cuba whom he could rely upon.

He said he had plans to blow up an oil refinery, as he felt that the continuing existence of a semblance of normal functioning in Cuba depended upon a continuing supply of petroleum, supplies of which, as we know, are at a critical stage today.

He also wanted to plan the execution of Carlos Rodriguez (a top-ranking Castro subordinate) and the Soviet Ambassador, and also to eliminate Fidel, by execution if necessary.

While we were making no commitments or plans, we pointed out to Cubela that schemes like he envisioned certainly had their place, but that a lot of coordination, planning, information-collection, etc., were necessary prerequisites to ensure the value and success of such plans.

Cubela stated many times during the course of this and subsequent meetings that he was only interested in involving himself in a plan of significant action, and which was truly designed to achieve rapidly his desire to help Cuba.

" . . . at one time when we Wainwright always wrote of himself as 'we' were discussing the various aspects of Cubela's future role in Cuba, we used the term 'assassinato.' The use of this term, we later learned from Tepedino and from Cubela himself, was most objectionable to the latter, and he was visibly upset. It was not the act he objected to, but rather merely the choice of the word used to describe it. 'Eliminate' was acceptable."
