	5	Q Now, was this a special group within the DDO or was
	6	it attached to one of the area divisions?
	7	A No. Following the Bay of Pigs, they created a thing called Task Force W which was headed by Bill Harvey. And
	8	that when Harvey left, he went to hief of Station, Rome,
	9.	and Fitzgerald took over, it became Special Activities Staff.
	10	It wasn't attached to anything except it reported to the

ณ ค.ศ.ณ	13	A Yes. Well, it was Helms at that time back when it
UNIN W	14	was first created. Helms was DDP at that time.
	15	Q And Task Force W was created immediately after the
	16	Bay of Pigs?
	17.	A Well, not immediately. I think sometime around
	18	in the Bay of Pigs was in April. I think this was created in
ſġ	19	September, something like that, 1961.

It was a small -- it was a A 5 forward base and it was more or less as I recall, a support type 6 thing. $\overline{7}$ Well, after the Bay of Pigs when Task Force W was 0 8 established, did it have sole responsibility for Cuban 9 operations? 10 Yes. A 11 Ο Or was that shared with the Miami base, Miami 12 Station? 13 No. The Miami Station was under Task Force W. А 14 All right. Would that also be true of the Special \mathcal{O} 15 Activities Staff, the Cuban Operations Group? 16 Right, except that at the present time the Station A 17 has no Cuban operations. 18 . 0 I understand that. When were Cuban operations termi-19 : nated? 20 At the Station? Let's see. Sternfield went down Α 21 there in 1972. It was during fiscal year '72. I think it was 22 in early 1973. It was a gradual reduction. 23 And have those operations been terminated entirely 0 24 or are they now run out of the Washington area? 25 All Cuban operations are run out of Washington. 9	A Well, actually one can fall into the other. The
10	paramilitary could fall into covert action but in those days
11	we did distinguish somewhat. A lot of the covert action was
12	media placement. We had a number of operations at legal-
13	type operations, harassment operations. For instance, Fidel
14	seized a great many art treasures and in particular he had a
15	Napoleonic collection which was supposed to be the finest in
16	the world that he sold to dealers in Europe. He had paintings

22	We ran legal operations, got the owners and had them

	6	We used suasion, moral suasion, otherwise. We did some

4 radio?  $\overline{5}$ Right. Ą 6 Let's talk about economic warfare for a couple of 0 7moments. Could you describe for me briefly the type of 8 economic activities that were conducted against Castro? 9 Well, first of all, we wanted to denigrate the A 10 regime, his credit worthiness, and this type of thing. We 11 worked very closely with the Coordinator of Cuban Affairs in 12 the State Department and, well, for instance, in those days, I 13 | guess it was back in 1964, the price of sugar had jumped from about a penny a pound to 13 cents a pound, something like 14: 15 that, and we couldn't understand why. So we kept -- Fidel kept saying that he had such a poor crop and this type of thing and 16 17 we just couldn't figure out why he had such a poor crop because some of our own island assets told us they were out there cutting 18 this cane like mad and the mills were working 24 hours a day, 19 this type of thing. So subsequently, we found out that he was 20 lying and he was storing the raw cane in the schools, any 21 place. He had no storage facilities and put it any place he 22 could. 23

So in cooperation with a couple of sugar brokers in New York, we surfaced this fact and the price of sugar took a

12	A Well, we simply used them as the experts. A great
13	many the sugar industry in Cuba was controlled by the American community, by American bankers, and obviously they
1.5	lost everything when they had to pull out. Sugar is the
16	lifeline of Cuba as far as any exchange, foreign exchange, this

18	was only natural that we would go to the American businessmen.
19	Q What kind of assistance did you seek or obtain from

21	A Well, we simply talked with them about why you to the Soviet Union and I forget exactly now what happened to 14	it but I know that it got a hole below the waterline, or

15	something, and had to put into Puerto Rico for repairs.
16	In order to repair it, I guess, and get it in the
17	drydock or wherever it was, they had to remove the sugar and
18	put it in the warehouse and at that time I guess somebody came
19	up with a plan to try to widen the rift between there was

21	put a harmless substance into the sugar that would make it
22	acid, sour tasting, and it wouldn't harm the sugar or the

| | 17 | would suppose that there is an outside possibility they could | |
| | 18 | have been used to debrief people within the community, within | |

| 4 | ten hours that they are going to work everyday but once they |

| 6 1 | Q Did they have CIA credentials? |
| 7 | A. No sir, because they were proprietary hires of this |
| 8 | commercial cover. |
| 9 | Q. Did CIA levy any intelligence requirements upon these |
| 10 | people other than in their duties in their debriefing |
| 11 | capacity, I should say? |
| 12 | A. No. When there were obviously there was a |
| 13 | standard debriefing form that covered questions of intelligence |
| 14 | interest or a battle, you know, anything economic questions, |
| 15 | morale, and this type of thing. When these questions when - |
| 16 | these people were cebriefed and the debriefer wrote up the |
| 17 | report, it would be sent from the AMOTS over to the Station. |
| 18 | If the debriefing report contained something of positive |
| 19 | intelligence, of that nature, the Case Officer well, not the |
| 20 | Case Officer but a staffer in the Station may or may not jot |
| 21 | down some additional requirements and ask that that person be |
| 22 | recontacted and asked specific questions. |
| 23 | Q. Now, in addition to debriefing, what else did this |

| 25 | A. This was their prime purpose. |

| 12 | resettling Cuban emigres? | |
| 13 | A. CIA doesn't resettle Cuban emigres. | |
| 14 | Q What Agency is charged with that responsibility? | |
| 15 | A. Health, Education and Welfare. | |
| 16 | 0. Does CIA play any role in that process? | |
| 17 | A. We may assist if we are asked but the idea of the whole | 3 |
| 18 | airlift was having relatives here for somebody to claim you when | |
| 19 | you came in so you wouldn't become a ward of the State of the | |

| 5 | 0. Turning back to the AMOTS, and to the larger of the |
| 6 | two groups, what was the name of that group again? |
| 7 | A. |
| 8 | Q. We can call them for short? |
| 9 | A. Really, they are both the only reason we separated |
| 10 | the two groups was for security because we had one group housed |
| 11 | over here and the smaller group was over here. Obviously we |
| 12 | couldn't bring these refugees into the larger establishment, so |
| 13 | that is why we took the smaller establishment to preserve some |
| 14 | cover. |
| 15 | Q. Okay. What activities was the larger group engaged |
| 16 | in? |
| 17 | A. WEll, the larger group was engaged in the collection |
| 18 | of intelligence. They compiled dossiers on the principals |
| 19 | inside Cuba. They carded they kept card files on every |
| 20 | refugee that came through the reception center. They provided |
| 21 | they did do economic and social reporting. They put out a |

| 18 | As we phased down the maritime activities, they were made |
| 19 | available to intercept Cuban communications. NSA tasks them with |

| Ģ | Q. Yes. |
| 10 | A. The Agency subsidized these fronts in an effort to |
| 11 | have unity rather than these split factions, split anti-Castro |
| 12 | factions. Obviously the leaders of the fronts knew that the |

| | subsidizing the organizations in Miami was carried out through |
| 1 | New Orleans. |
| | Q. Well, can you be more specific about what you mean |
| | by that? |
| 19 | A. Well, in other words, to fund these organizations we |
| 20 | were subsidizing there had to be some ostensible source of |
| 21 | income for them to continue what they were doing. A great |
| 22 | number well, not a great number, but a number of select |

1 area now by the Miami Station? 2 A There are no domestic activities at all in the 3 Miami Station. All Cuban activities have been moved back 4 here to Headquarters. The Miami Station now is completely 5 and solely involved in the intelligence in the Caribbean. 6 Does the Miami Station -- I beg your pardon --О 7 does the Headquarters component that now handles the Cuban 8 situation in Miami run any agents in the Cuban community? 9 A No. Well, let me explain that to you. We do have 10 a career agent who has been with us for a good many years. 11 in Miami and we do use him to contact relatives of Cubans 12 who are still in Cuba. I mean, relatives who are in the U.S. 13 who have relatives in Cuba. 14 Now, this is done principally with the idea of a 15 recruitment target, determine weaknesses or strengths, this 16 type of thing. He does contact these people all over the 17 United States. If we come across an individual that looks like 18 he might be recruitable, or perhaps we could even double him, 19 we will, after we make our preliminary assessment, and we 20 find out where relatives and these types of people are, we 21 will ask this career agent or instruct him to go contact 22 these people, be it New York, New Jersey, Chicago, or what-23 ever. 24 So you use Cuban, now citizens or aliens in this 2 25 country, as access agents.
