HalperinSays Reds Not Not Employ Him

MOSCOW, Sept. 4 (UP) Maurice H. Halperin today branded a reported State Department statement that he is working as an aduser to the Soviet government on Latin American affairs as a "delib erate and malirices distortion."

In a statement to reporters. Halperin said he is a professor associated with the Academy of Sciences of the USSR, working on a book on Latin American economics, and, he explained the American authorities know all about it.

(A State Department document in Washington list week said Halperin, a former Boston University professor and World War II intelligence specialist on Latin American 45fairs, was working for the Soviet government.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R.N. Y.), had the document entered in the Congressional Record.)

"It seems to me that the State Department and Senator Keating are sweeping the bottom of the barrel to come upwith this red herring." Halperin said.

"There is nothing mysterious or dubious about my being in Moscow. Since my arrival, I have filed two U. S. income tax returns, listing my salary and emplayer.

"I am not working for the Soviet government any more than Van Cliburn when he performed in a governmentowned concert hall," he continued.

"I am a visiting professors in the USSR Academy of Sciences and not the first American to be associated with it. For the State of Department to say that I am an adviser to the Russiams on Latin American affairs is a deliberate and malicious distortion.

"Specifically, I am making a study of the Latin American economy from 1945 to the crists of 1833."

WELL REAL PROPERTY OF THE PROP

"COMMENT", Dec 75 issue (alumni magazine of Simon Fraser University in British Colombia.)

ಮ್ಯಿನಿಯನ್ನುದ

Fortune, or chance, has played a major role in Simon Fraser Political Science protessor Or. Maunce Hulponn's nearly seventy years of Ma.

It was chance that compreted him to seek employment with the National University of Mexico. It was chance that earned him a three-year post in Moscow. It was chance that led nim to a teaching sant in Cuba. And it was chance that brought him to Simon Praser seven years ago.

In fact, fortune began watering as capricious influence over his tilly election before Dr. Happern was born.

"I might have been been in Canada," he says, "My father salled from Liverpool to the New World at the turn of the century, with Montreal as his description. However, he decided to move on to Boston."

This was a Trather fortunate circumstance over which I had no control," since Montreal at the time was still a provincial oily while Boston was "a methodas, a great centre of culture and learning and at its spenda tackbos were available to mo."

Among those bookies which he made use of were the Boston Latin School — a secondary school which boasts such luminories as Benjamin Franklin and Ralph Waldo Emerson among its alumni — and Humard University.

He completed his poss-practical work in Paris at the Sonbonna which, at that time, was the most prestigious university in the world and "the impact 2 had on my way of life and thinking was a permanent ope."

White attending the Sondone, Dame Fortune stepped in and "I was appointed to the ladury as a fleader in North American Gwistaton. Even though I came from Harvard, the third of competence and scondadation of the French students was much higher and I had to work very hard to keep up with thom."

After completing his doctorate, Dr. Halperin Joined the tacuity at the University of Catanoma and found that midwestern state to be Take another country. Boston and Paris word much closely resited than were Boston and Oklahoma."

However, chance intervened to rescue him from what could have been a number of matterent years in a then small and remote university on the American Prairies, turning them into years spent in "an easis of high during."

Cr. National explains:

"It was during the Depression and jobs were scarce, so the university attracted a number of bright teachers and researchers whose arst chape imput not have been Oklahoma.

"And when you have a group of people like that, in addition to the opportunity of uncurstancing and learning to appreciate the virtues of month America, well is was something that stayed with the fortion my that

Strategic Services, a special research and intelligence agency attached to the Joint Chiefs of Staff;

"I had a front row seat in the planning of some of the most interesting operations of the war," he says. "I consider my expenences there were at least the equivalent of a second PhD because I was associated with a whole group of social scientists in different disciplines.

"Through this, I had the realization that we had practical matters to consider in the social sciences, as well as theoretical ones. And I learned the value of co-operative effort the value of getting work done on time, and the value of efficiency in research.

"It haised me to see the relationance between the social sciences and practical problems. I became more oriented toward problem solving than I had been heliore."

Dame Fortune keeps popping up in life of SFU's oldest professor and has taken him to Mexico, Cuba, Moscow — and to 'best place of ali'

After the wor, Dr. Halperin worked with the United Nations for a couple of years and then joined the faculty of Boston University where he was involved in the establishment of an interdisciplinary department of Latin American studies.

During this period he visited Brazil twice, lecturing at the University of Sao Paulo and serving as a consultant to the state government of Sao Paulo. After his second visit, he was decorated by the Brazilian government with the Order of the Southern Cross.

thems then that chance interfered again, this time in a most most most may.

"My stay at Boston coincided with the most intense period of McCarthyism and this raised problems for a great number of peeple at the time. In my own case, I was given the choice of co-operating with the inquisition or, as it turned out, losing my job.

"Among other disagreeable aspects of co-operating, it would have turned me into an informer against people who, as far as I know, had committed no crime. I just couldn't think of feeing my students with their knowledge that I was an informer."

Leaving Boston University, he went to the National University of Mexico City where he remained for six years. While working there, he did some consulting work for the Mexican government, thereby gaining further practical experience on the problems of underdevelopment in Latin America.

This experience led directly to his next position — a threeyear appointment at the Academy of Sciences in Moscow. Halperin oxcialns:

"At that time, the period when Kruschev was trying to loosen up some of the rigid controls of Statin's dictatorship, there was a desire at the Academy to have some western expertise on Latin American developmental problems. In other words, my Mexican experience was a direct prerequisite for the Moscow invitation.

"It's strange how, in retrospect, what seemed to be a rather difficult choice in 1953 turned out to be very lucky. You never know. Something happens that can crush you or, on the contrary, can make you healthier and more robust than you've ever been before.

"And, when the invitation came from Moscow, I was footloose and free. My status in Mean was always that of a visiting professor, so I had no probable of security — tenure or pension, for example — to tie manatown when it came, I had nothing to lose and everything to gain."

Or. Halpurin spent three years at the Academy and found it to be an extraordinary experience. "I wasn't there as a tourist; neither was I there as an outside researcher. I was actually in the machine, with no permanent ties to it. I was working in the factory, rather than just studying it."

Fato ence again intervened in his life, this time in the form of the celebrated Latin American guarrilla leader. Che Guevara

"Late one night, there was a knock on my deer and topened it and there steed Che with a couple of his Cuban friends. He had been told about me by mutual friends in Mexico and they suggested that, in view of the need for competent educators and social scientists in Cuba, it might be interested in accepting an invitation to teach at the University of Havana."

As it happened, Dr. Halperin was interested. He spent the next six years in Cuba, and after leaving, produced a book on the country — The Rise and Decline of Fidel Castro: An Essay in Contemporary History. It was published by the University of California Press and a second ection, in paper-back, has recently appeared. (Incidentally, Dr. Halperin's published work spans 45 years and "several thousand pages.")

As with the Moscow appointment, it was the fact that he was freed of concerns about job security, since he had none, of which allowed him to accept Guevara's offer.

Although Cuba was "a very pleasant country," Or. Hatperin found life there to be somewhat disconcering since,
"as a highly-paid foreign expert, I lived high off the hog and didn't share the austerity of the rest of the country.

"And it was troubling, you know, when neighbors would knock on our door to see if we could spare a thimbleful of salt or a tablespoon of cooking oil and there we were, sitting with everything at our disposal."

And a further quirk of fate, naturally, brought him to Simon Frazer in 1968. He'd met a Canadian white in Havana and one day, about a year later, he received a phone call "from a niace called Burnaby." It was the same Canadian, invising him to participate in a seminar on Latin America, with "all expenses paid."

When he received the invitation, in the spring of 1968, he had already resigned his position in Havana and was plenning to return to the United States the following Sestember. "When the invitation came, I thought, "Two weeks? Why net?", so I accepted and came up here and, like the man who came to dinner, they couldn't got rid of me.

"I never dreamed I would end up in Canada. Three-cuarters of a century after my father left it, but I now feel thoroughly assimilated to the Canadian environment." In fact, he's so well assimilated that he is now listed in the Canadian ection of Who's Who.

During his well-travelled life, Dr. Halperin has had the opportunity to teach at a number of reputable institutions in North America, Europe and Latin America but he says that he's "never been in a more congenial place than Simon Frater, never in my life.

"It's the best place, all in all, that tive ever below. Students and faculty have it very good here and tim not taken only about the splendid scenery and the mild chimate. The entitles for learning, teaching, research and recreating, in a steady customer at the swimming pool and the research know — are magnificent."

Fortuno, or chance, has played a major role in Simon Fraser. Political Science professor Or, Maince Halperin's heary seventy years of ide.

It was chance that competed him to seek employment with the National University of Mexico, it was chance that earned him a three-year post in Moscow, it was chance that led nim to a teaching stint in Cuba. And it was chance that brought him to Simon Fraser seven years ago.

In fact, fortune began wielding its capricious influence over his life even before Dr. Halperin was born.

"I might have been torn in Canada." he says. "My father sailed from Liverpool to the New World at the turn of the century, with Montreal as his destination. However, he decided to move on to Boston."

This was a "rather fortunate circumstance over which I had no control," since Montreal at the time was still a provincial city while Boston was "a metropolis, a great centre of culture and learning and all its splendid facilities were available to me."

Among those facilities which he made use of were the Boston Latin School — a secondary school which boasts such luminaries as Benjamin Frankin and Raiph Waldo Emerson emong its alumni — and Harvard University.

Horsempleted his post-graduite work in Pans at the Sorbonne which, at that time, was the most prestigious university in the world and "the impact it had on my way of ile and thinking was a permanent one."

White attending the Sorbonne, Dame Fortune stepped in and "I was appointed to the faculty as a Reader in North American Civilization. Even though I came from Harvard, the level of competence and sophistication of the French students was much higher and I had to work very hard to keep up with them."

After completing his doctorate. Dr. Halperin joined the faculty of the University of Cillahema and found that midwestern state to be "tike another country. Soston and Paris were much closely related than were Boston and Oklahoma."

However, chance intervened to rescue him train what could have been a number of indifferent years in a tinen small and remote university on the American Prairies, turning them into years spent in "an oasis of high culture."

Dr. Halperin explains:

"It was during the Depression and jobs were scarce, so the university attracted a number of bright teachers and researchers whose first choice might not have been Oklahoma.

"And when you have a group of people like that; in addition to the opportunity of understanding and learning to appreciate the virtues of michle America, well, it was something that stayed with me for the rost of my life."

The Second World War interrupted Dr. Haberin's sojourn at the University of Oktanoma and he joined the Office of

"I had a front row seat in the persons of some of the most interesting operations of the war." his says. "I consider my expenences there were at least the equivalent of a second PhD because I was associated with a enole group of social sciences in different discounces."

"Through this, I had the recitation that we had practical matters to consider in the social sciences, as well as theoretical ones. And I learned the insule of co-operative effort the viewe of getting work done on asset, and the view of efficiency in research.

"It helped me to see the reliboration between the social sciences and practical problems. I became more oriented toward problem solving than I had been before."

Dame Fortune keeps popping up in life of SFU's oldest professor and has taken him to Mexico, Cuba, Moscow — and to 'best place of all'

After the war, Dr. Halperin worked with the United Nations for a couple of years and then joined the faculty of Boston University where he was involved in the establishment of an interdisciplinary department of Latin American studies.

During this period he visited Brazil twice, lecturing at the University of Sao Paulo and serving as a consultant to the state government of Sao Paulo. After his second visit, he was decorated by the Brazilian government with the Order of the Southern Cross.

It was then that chance interfered again, this time in a most malicious way.

My stay at Boston coincided with the most intense period of McCarthyism and this raised problems for a great number of people at the time. In my own case, I was given the choice of co-operating with the inquisition or, as it turned out, losing my job.

"Among other disagreeable aspects of co-operating, it would have turned me into an informer against people who, as far as I know, had committed no crime. I just couldn't think of facing my students with their knowledge that I was an informer."

Leaving Boston University, he went to the National University of Mexico City where he remained focusive years. While working there, he did some consulting work for the Mexican government, thereby gaining turther practical experience on the problems of underdevelopment in Latin America.

This experience led directly to his next position — a threeyear appointment at the Academy of Sciences in Moscow, Halperin explains:

"At that time, the period when Kruschev was trying to loosen up some of the rigid controls of Stalin's dictatorship, there was a desire at the Academy to have some western expertise on Latin American developmental problems. In other words, my Mexican experience was a direct prerequisite for the Moscow invitation."

"It's strange how, in retrospect, what seemed to be a rather difficult choice in 1953 tumed out to be very lucky. You never know. Something happens that can crush you or, on the contrary, can make you healther and more robust than you've over been before.

"And, when the invitation came has Moscow, I was footbose and free. My status in Me. was always that of a visiting professor, so I had no probe of security — tenuro or pension, for example — to the mostown when it came. I had nothing to lose and everything to goin."

Dr. Halperin spent three years at the Academy and found it to be an extraordinary experience. "I wasn't there as a tourist; neither was I there as an outside researcher. I was actually in the machine, with no permanent ties to it. I was working in the factory, rather than just studying it."

Fate encologain intervened in his life, this time in the form of the celebrated Latin American guerrilla loader, Che Guevara

"Late one night, there was a kneck on my deer and it opened it and there stood Che with a couple of his Cuban friends. He had been told about me by mutual friends in Mexico and they suggested that, in view of the need for competent educators and social scientists in Cuba. I might be interested in accepting an invitation to teach at the University of Havana."

As it happened, Dr. Halperin was interested. He spent the next six years in Cuba, and after leaving, produced a book on the country — The Rise and Dectine of Fidel Castro: An Essay In Contemporary History. It was published by the University of California Press and a second edition, in paper-back, has recently appeared. (Incidentally, Dr. Halberin's published work spans 45 years and "several thousand pages.")

As with the Moscow appointment, it was the fact that he was freed of concerns about job security, since he had none, which allowed him to accept Guevara's effer.

Although Cuba was "a very pleasant country," Or. Hale-sperin found life there to be somewhat disconcerting since, "as a highly-paid foreign expert, I lived high off the hog and didn't share the austerity of the rest of the country."

"And it was troubling, you know, when neighbors would knock on our door to see if we could seare a thimbleful of sail or a tablespoon of cooking oil and there we were, sitting with everything at our disposal."

And a further quirk of fate, naturally, brought him to Simon <sup>8</sup> Fraser in 1968. He'd met a Canadian while in Havana and one day, about a year later, he received a phone call "from a niace called Burnaby." It was the same Canadian, inviting him to participate in a seminar on Latin America, with "all-expenses paid."

When he received the invitation, in the spring of 1968, he had already resigned his position in Havana and was planning to return to the United States the following Sectember. "When the invitation came, I thought. Two weeks? Why not?", so I accepted and came up here and, the the man who came to dinner, they couldn't get rid of me.

"I never dreamed I would end up in Canada. Three-quarters of a century after my father left it; but I now feel thoroughly assimilated to the Canadian environment." In fact, he's so well-assimilated that he is now listed in the Canadian edition of Who's Who.

During his well-travelled life, Dr. Halperin has had the opportunity to feach at a number of reputable institutions in North America, Europe and Latin America but he says that he's "never been in a more congenial place than Simon Fraser, never in my life.

"It's the best place, all in all, that the ever below. Students and faculty have it very good here and I'm not talk on only about the splendid scenery and the mid climate. It is written for tearning, teaching, research and recreat the low a steady customer at the swimming poet and the trivial know — are magnificent."

Independence Entropied

The Rise and Decline of Fidel Castro

by Maurice Halperin

(University of California Press; $12.95)

At the end of a passage describing the curbonic carty days of the Cuton Revclution. Maurice Halperin Jaments: "Alas, it was orshined to change." In effect, this attitude symbolizes his reaction and assessment of Castro and Cuba, in this rest volume of a two-part study of the revolution from the first days of Fidelismo to the present. A note of hustration which occasionally marks his narrative of the first five years of the revolution undoubtedly comes from his sense of the untultilled promise of the July 28th Movement. For a great many Western intellectuals (including Halperin), this has been a characteristic reaction. In the first exuberant months, it seemed as if Cuba might become the first Socialist revolution to rise spontancously out, of historical circumstances, not led by a rigid party structure, and the first to proclaim a "jevous socialism," rather than the naturals necessities of work norms, kleelogical conformity and sacrifice. After several weeks of living in Cuba, through its best and bloakest moments. Halperin feels that this possibility is extinguished. One feels that he wanted very much for it to succeed! His book is an explanation of why the revolution بالخندا

Although the current volume only covers the first five years of the revolution; the author breaks into the chromology to keep the next years' events in mind. Everything about the recolution was in tire as he sees it, but at the same tirse Costro's bungling, beavado and adventionism made surmice to a rigid, bureoperatic socialism almost inevitable. Nothing, from Halperin's point of view, could be a sadder rether beaveful to the PASS Societ invasion of Creches levelia.

Happenin's basic argument is that Castro's "rise and dicline" must be seen as or international event. For this reason he writes printingly about the foreign policy of the recolution (the only pictures in the book show Castro-during his backtrip to the Secret Union). If it is accurate to say that the revolution was pushed leftward and finally into an alliance with the Soviet Union by the inept and hostile policy of the United State, then it is also true that Cuba's tate has continued to depend upon the international struggle between the US and the Soviet Union. While Castro may have been committed to Cuban nationalism and social reform at home, he could, inonically, only achieve foreign policy.

Castro remains a vague and blustery figure while Che Guevara figures hardly at all. By placing his emphasis elsewhere, Hairwin tells the story of the revolution through the events which touched it from the outside, particularly those which effected its ties to the Communist world. Most important were the Sino-Soviet struggle, the world price of sugar, the internal bureaucratic struggle of the USSR, the changing American presidency, the role of the Culon Communist Party, the CIA, and so on. Cathering his facts, primarily from magazine and newspaper articles. plus his own first-hand knowledge of events, he pieces together a fascinating reading of Castro's 'speeches, policy' changes and their context. The shitting and rather indecisive attitude of the revolutionary leadership toward artistic and intellectual liberty, for example, has stemmed from Castro's need to balance conflicting demands; for orthodoxy by Cuban and Russian Communists, and for greater needoms by Western intellectueix

Castiv's different havishways been to assert Culture independence, and yet retain alignment with the USSR Perhaps this controdictory policy was demiced, if for no other reason than Cultu's encourage dependence upon other nations to obserb her products.

and provide her with energy. In any case, when Castro opted to exploit the Cold War and let Ehrushchev foot the bill, he created the crisis which Halperin pinpoints. He made the economic success of the revolution at home an absolute necessity, yet a necessity that could only be met with outside help. Castro's own impatience, inclinioncy and indecision made, matters worse. From the early attempts to industrialize to the abrupt and devastating decision to produce a mammoth sugar crop in 1970, the Cuban economy, the author argues, has continually sunk to lower levels. The result is Castro's dependence. upon the Soviet Union, an admissionof failure Halperin's emphasis on foreign affairs makes good sense, but leaves little room for discussion of the internal dynamics of the revolution and of the impact of social reforms on the gopulation. It makes what Castro said and did, and the revolution itself, explicable only in a sort of code of international affairs. However, given the volatile nature of Cuban politics and the Cold War, it still seems too early to write off the revolution.

Maurice Halperin has been forced out of two teaching positions at American universities because of his political beliefs. He agent three years on the faculty of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, went to Cuba in 1982 at the invitation of the Guevars and, though his relations with Guevars quickly deteriorated, agent six years at the University of Havans.

Though one might expect from such a background that dreary mix of the stuffy and the shrill so often associated with the polemics of the far left or right, Professor Halperin's book is a work of insight, wit and understanding.

Professor Halperin's account of Castro's first two years in power (when the author was not yet in Cuba) does not give due credit the United States. After all, initially the United States did make efforts to find an accommodation with Castro, despite the latter's victious anti-Americanism and his plundering of American properties in ways not even provided by Castro-dictated legislation.

Nor does he adequately explain how, after the pelicy of accommodation had been abandoned, injudictous American economic sanctions plus the Bay of Pigs failure left the presumably reluctant and sceptical Russians no choice other than massive support for Castro and Guevara.

But when Castro and Khrushchev had become masters of the Cuban people's destiny. Professor Halperin comes into his own. His description of the relations between those volatile and voluble rulers is a delight. The Chairman's surrender over the missiles in his October, 1962, confrontation with President Kennedy, without informing Castro first, much less consulting him, was deeply humiliating to his Cuban ally.

Yet by April of 1963 the sulks and strains of the previous fall had been banished. With uncontested rhetoric the two autocrats bemused their peoples and themselves into the apectacular euphoria that surrounded Castro's visit to Russia. How this was done to but one engaging example of Professor Halperin's analytic and narrative talents.

This exuberant reconciliation did not prove lasting. Khrushchev was overthrown—perhaps partly because of his unprofitable strategic involvement in Cuba. Castro's export of subversion and insurrection to other American republics was considered tactically undestrable by the Kremlin.

Guevara's fatal campaign in Bollvia and other setbacks, combined with the failure of grandiose but unsound schemes for industrialization and agricultural diversification at home, considerably diminished Castro's ilis downward curve was further accelerated by failure — after six years of preparations and exhortations — to produce tenmillion tons of sugar in 1970 and by the disruption of the Cuban economy that efforthad caused. ### The Rise and Decline of Fidel Castro Maurice Halperin

The author of this unusual book was twice forced out of teaching positions at American universities because of his political beliefs. He spent three years on the faculty of the USSR Academy of Sciences and five years, from 1962 to 1968, at the University of Havana. He went to Cuba in 1962 on the invitation of Che Guevara, who had visited him in Moscow, and there gathered the materials for this intimate portrait of the Castro regime.

Mr. Halperin concentrates his attention on Castro's foreign policy, placing it in the context of domestic policy and conditions. Obviously skilled in reading the new socialist rhetoric, Professor Halperin guides the reader through the maze of documents, speeches, and propaganda which constitute the record of the Castro regime during the sensational events involving Kennedy, Khrushchev, missiles, and the CIA. Although the main narrative is concerned with the years 1959-1965—primarily the period of the rise of Fidel Castro—it contains digressions into events of the following years when, according to the author, Castro's great utopian dreams turned into nightmares. A second volume, carrying the story down to the present, is in preparation.

Maurice Halperin is Professor of Political Science at Simon Fraser University, Vancouver, B.C.

"A brilliant contribution to the literature on contemporary Cuba and perhaps even more a remarkable series of insights into the new politics of mass society."

    Holder of United States passport no. B-246607
    Visited ISRAEL from 20 May, 1964 22 June 1964.
  - b. Morris Hyman HALFERIN
    Father's name: Henny
    Born 1886, POLAND
    Holder of United States passport no. A-1735875

Remarks: 1. Attacked is a memoranchim on Maurice HALPENIN for public imentionin along the lines of Milton SCHWART 2 case.  2. The MC MP interviewed HALPENIN in early 1969. He now friendly and indicated he is now auti-Soviet but noo reluctant to talk about the post, the said he wants to winte a look setting all the past into proper perspective.

SUBJECT: Maurice dynan HALPERING Profit Boston, 3 March 1906

- 1. The source for the following information is a highly-sensitive, thoroughly-tested informant with knowledge of XG3 activities in North America during the Second World War:
- A. Source knew that Maurice Hyman HALPERIN. Chief of the Latin American Division of O.S.S., was a valuable KGB agent while he was in O.S.S.
- B. Source knew three KGB officers who at various times during the Second World War were responsible for directing MALPERIN and other penetrations of the B. S. Government Vasilij Nikhailovich ZUBILIN aka ZARUBIN, Soviet Vice-Consul in New York City; Pavel Panteleymonovich KLARIN, Soviet Vice-Consul in New York and Stepan Zakharovich APRESYAN, Soviet Vice-Consul in New York.
- 2. It is known from several other sources, including Elizabeth BENTLEY, that HALPERIN had been involved in communist activities since the late 1920's and had worked for the KGB during World War II.
- 3. HALPERIN refused to tell a U. S. Senate committee if he had been a CP member and in 1953 he fied from the U.S. to Mexico. In 1958 he went to the USSR and allegedly worked for the Academy of Science and Moscow University. In 1962 he left Moscow and went to Cuba. He aided Alfred Kaufman STERN and Martha Dodd STERN to escape from the U.S.A. to Czechoslovakia in 1957.
  - 4. HALPERIN's career can be divided into the following periods:

1931-1941 Professor at the University of Oklahoma 1941-1945 c.o.i. - o.s.s.1945-1946 Department of State American-Jewish Conference, handling minority 1946-1949 groups and acting as a liaison official with the U.N. 1949-1953 Boston University 1953-1958 Mexico U.S.S.R. and Cuba 1958-1968 1963-1969 Simon Fraser University in Burnaby, British Columbia.

5. If HALPERIN agreed to cooperate, he would be an extremely valuable source on a number of topics, as is indicated by the outline of his career. One of the most important topics, and the one in which we are in the best position to check the validity of his information, is that of KGB penetration of the U.S. Government, especially 0.S.S. and the State Department.

- 6. HALPERIN has indicated that he is now anti-Soviet.
- 7. HALPERIN's son, Dr. David HALPERIN, lives at 5309 South Harper Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.
- 8. HALPERIN's daughter, Judith GAMORON, and his son-in-law Rabbi Hillel GAMORON, reside at 617 North Witcomb Drive, Palatine, Illinois.
  - 9. HALPERIN is quite deaf.

The following is a SMAROVE request for approval to disseminate WOFIRM derogatory information concerning Subject. SMANGVE/26 handcarried the request to us and made the comment that SMAROVE hoped that WOFIRM would refuse the request since the derogatory infermation could have come only from one or two sources and SMAROVE is generally opposed to making public information that has been acquired by covert means. Although the following does not mention it, a similar request has been bent to LNERGO and SMORANCE:

- "In order to acquaint you and your Agency with the reason. for our request in paragraph 6 below, we would explain that recent changes in the regulations of the Department of Manpower and Immigration and the provisions of the Immigration Appeal Reard Act have created cortain problems.
- "When a Special Inquiry is hold by an Immigration Officer at a Canadian Port of Entry to enquire into a persons admissibility, if information is available to the SMABOVE prohibiting the immigrant's entry under the provisions of the Immigration Act, and this infermation cannot be released for security reasons, SMABOVE is required by Immigration Regulations to issue a "Solemn Declaration" for use at the Inquiry. Should such an Inquiry result unfavorably for the immigrant, he has the right of appeal.
- "In issuing the first "Solemn Declaration", in order to provide protection for our sources, we only made a declaration that we were in possession of information making the subject ineligible for entry to Canada under Section 5 of the Immigration Act. However, the Immigration Appeal Board has since ruled that a "Solena Declarstion" should contain sufficient information to anable the dedividual, against whom action is boing taken, to have a reasonable opportunity of knowing the nature of the allegations.

- 4. "Therefore, in consultation with our legal branch, we have drawn up the attached draft "Solemn Declaration" which we feel satisfies the conditions set out by the Board and which we propose to use in the case of Maurice Hyman HALPERIN. As you will note, we have provided information which in the opinion of our legal branch will be the minimum requirement if our declaration is to be found valid.
- 5. "We would therefore request that you ascertain if consideration can be given to have your Agency authorize us to include the information centained in lines nine, ten and eleven of the attached draft "Solema Declaration". The decision of your Agency should be made with the understandings that the declaration would be available to HALPERIN and his counsel at both the Immigration Special Inquiry and the Immigration Appeal Board Hearing.
- 6. "Our case against HALPERIN rests on whether or not we receive approval for the use of the information furnished by your Agency, since we have to show that HALPERIN was incligible for admission at the time he entered Canada. We approxiate the problems inherent in a request of this nature and if after weighing all the considerations your Agency finds it impossible to authorize release, we intend to advise the Department of Manpower and Immigration that we are unable to issue the required "Solemn Declaration" and will study other ways and reams of evercoming our problems in cases of this nature."

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: "American Defectors to the USSR"

- 1. The attached material was part of a soft file entitled "American Defectors to the USSR", which was set up by SR/6 (Support) around 1960 and maintained by various SR components until ca. 1963. The compilations were derived from a variety of sources, and contain both classified and overt data.
- 2. In the fall of 1966, the files were turned over to CI Staff. In most instances, basic information was then abstracted for the US Defector Machine Program. In all instances in which the material was unique, or represented a valuable collation effort, it has been incorporated into the appropriate 201 file, along with a copy of this memorandum.
- 3. It is suggested that any dissemination of this data should be coordinated with SB Division and with CI Staff (CI/MRO), in view of the frequently inadequate sourcing and of the fact that disseminations have already been made through the US Defector Machine Program.

Movember-economy 1960. Halperin, "an identified Seviet agent who left the US in 1960 [sie ] and is now in the Seviet Union," was to be head of one of the two new organizations founded during a Moscow conference of communist leaders: "office for permanent studies and cooperation with Latin American marties" to be organized by the Communist Parties of Argentina, Prazil, and Cuba, and to be located in Seiping. (Unly passports actually issued - not removed - after September 1959 had the new three-year validity instead of the old two-year validity, according to Central Processing.) 21 January 1963. Elizabeth Mora (long-time communist) returned to mexico from a women's congress in Havana, where she had seen the malperins. They had a mansion and servants because of his "important job," but he had aged greatly, looked old, had to do without such amenities as underwear and socks, was rationed to one tube of toothpaste every six months, etc. Wife said it was Soviet treatment that had broken him, not Cuban. They intended to stay in Cuba because of the friendlier climate and his feeling more useful there. She wanted to become a Cuban citizen so that she could visit her son and his family in mexico, but he planned to keep his US citizenship. (She, DRA-34390, 26 Feb 63)

Subject: Current Address of Maurice Halperia

- 1. A source of this office has just advised us that he received a Christmas card (1962) from Maurice Halperin on which the return address was given as: "Apt C-2, Calle 12, no 103, Mirasar, Habana, Cuba." The only message on the card was one of Christmas greetings. Halperin and our source have known each other for a number of years and they always exchange Christmas cards. This is the first one Halperin has sent with a Cuban address on it. The last time that our source may Halperin was in Moscow when he (the forcer) was visiting in the USSR during August-September 1961 as part of an official US delagation.
- 2. In view of Halperin's past activities and associations, we are making this information known to you. Our source comments that Halperin always seems to show up wherever there is some sort of activity going on.

SOURCE Cuban national, A 12 178 210, who arrived in the US in June 1962 as a political refugee.

Source is a graduate engineer who served for a year in the Ministry of Public Works following the advent of the Castro regime, and then was assigned to the Ministry of Foreign Relations and went to the USSR as Economic Counselor. He was in the USSR from October 1960 to February 1961. Chortly after his return to Cuba he took asylum in the Argentine Embassy where he remained more than a year until his safe-conduct was arranged. This is one of several reports from source.

This report emanated from the Caribbean Admission Center at Opa-Locka, Florida.

- 1. From October 1990 to February 1961 I served as Economic Commelor of the Cuban Embassy in the UECR. During my stay I met and became fairly well acquainted with a number of defectors from the West, including Douglas McLean, who defected from the UK, and Haurice Embassian from the UE. I did not neet Guy Burgess, because I was told that he is in tad physical condition due to excess drinking. McLean, who is now known as Frazier, likewise drinks heavily, and at a party the hostess cut down on his liquor saying, "If he drinks too much, he gets in bad shape."
- 2. Molean and his family are living in Soviet Coverment-familied quarters in a new, but not elaborate, apartment building near the Wardine Motel. Mis wafe made a number of remarks to my dife about how for it is necessary to walk to get food, or anything else, in the USSN. Otherdise the did not complain. Mclean made numerous jokes about chartcominus of living in the USSR, including comments about the elevator in his apartment building never working. He also made some half-hearted lokes about the forests always spitting when they spoke.
- 3. At the time I knew him he was on the staff of an Anglish language publication, Reconomic Affairs. Y
- A. Maurice Halferin was a Wi national, and I believe taught economics at a US university. He subsequently worked at the National Bank of Mexico, but was expelled about 1996 and went to the USSR. Halferin is now a lecturar in economics at Moscow University. Halferin assisted in gathering data used by "Che Guevara in his speech at Funta del Este, and commented about 11 when the speech was published.

Helperin mentioned on a number of occasions that he would like to some back to the UK, and at one, time asked to if he should accept a position in Caba which had been office to him by Funce Lower.
