1. THE INTERESTED PI RPT PI AREA DIVISION WELCOMED YOUR DETAILED INVENTORY OF THE VERSOIN RPT VERSOIN MATERIAL. HAVANA PI RPT PI STATION HAS ADVISED THAT VERSOIN WAS IN TOUCH WITH AMERICAN EMBASSY IN PAST AND IS OF OPINION THAT IMPORTANT PART OF VERSOIN MATERIAL IS IN CIA POSSESSION. THIS LAST PROBABILITY - SUPPORTED BY YOUR DESCRIPTION AND OPINIONS - HAS PRACTICALLY ELIMINATED DESIRE TO SECURE THE FOLDERS.

THE NEED FOR INVOLVING CUSTOMS IN A SERIES OF DELIVERIES AND VERSOIN'S DESIRE TO HAVE THE FOLDERS RETURNED ARE FURTHER FACTORS COMPLICATING THE SITUATION. Case 1640

15-21577

1. Confirming and supplementing our several long-distance telephone conversations, I report herewith concerning my interview with Mr. Frank Jackson and two members of the Prio Socorro's group in Miami, Florida, on 17 and 19 September 1958. This portion of the report is concerned with the mechanics of the operations and the personalities involved. It would be, I presume, of little interest to FBI. A supplemental section contains a description of the material offered by the Cuban refugees, which portion, I assure, you will turn over to PI/HB Division.

2. On arrival in Miami, I called at the office of the FBI with a view to informing that Agency of my presence and of the general nature of the activities I proposed to engage in; so that the agents of the Bureau would not be unduly surprised if they learned of my activities from other agents who were presumably keeping my proposed contacts under surveillance. The SAC was absent from the office. I accordingly talked with one of the Duty Officers, a Special Agent named Schilliecker, whom I had met before and who has frequently cooperated with our representative in Miami, John H. Dyer. Schilliecker was most pleasant and cooperative. I informed him that the matter on which I was engaged had been coordinated with FBI headquarters through Mr. Charles Bates and that the Bureau interposed no objections. I then told him, in general terms, about the activities of Mr. Frank Jackson in Washington. The agent said that he had known Jackson for about 10 years and that he considered Jackson to be an unreliable person and a complete opportunist. He said that Jackson had been in Naval Intelligence during World War II and that since the end of his tour of active duty he had held a number of jobs in none of which he had been able to make a success. These jobs included the agency for a wire manufacturer, the position of Deputy Sheriff in Miami Beach, the agency for a number of concrete blocks and several other enterprises. In one of his jobs Jackson had been suspected of pilferage and had been discharged on that account, although no prosecution was instituted. Jackson is now, according to Schilliecker, operating a private detective agency and is also acting as public relations adviser to Prio and his group. He is believed to be the owner of a corporation known as "Enterprises Many, Inc," the exact operations of which are unknown.

3. Schilliecker said that Jackson claimed to have excellent sources of information on Cuba and that he particularly had referred to a Captain Salvador Diaz y Veron, a political refugee from Cuba, who had engaged quite intensively in anti-Communist activities. Schilliecker said that the "legal attache" (I assume that means an FBI representative) at the US Embassy in Havana had at one time written to the SAC in Miami about Veron and had said that the latter had once been in a position to obtain valuable information concerning the activities of the Communists in Cuba, but that, in his belief, Veron was given to flights of fancy.

4. [Redacted] pointed out that, although the criminal cases against Prio and Curti had been ended with pleas of nolo contendere and fines, cases were still pending against four other Cuban exiles who are allegedly engaged in the gun-running plot. He said that inasmuch as the cases were primarily the interest of the Customs Department, the FBI was not immediately interested. He voiced the opinion that Cuban representatives were maintaining surveillance on the defendants in the various suits.

5. Returning from the FBI office, I telephoned Jackson, as arranged, at 3:00 p.m. and identified myself as directed in WA-5579. Jackson said that it would be impossible to arrange a meeting with the Cubans that afternoon, since the leader of the group would not be available. He said that a meeting could be arranged for the following morning, Sunday, 19 September, at 11:00 a.m., and I accordingly arranged to meet the group in a room at the Columbus Hotel which I had reserved for that purpose. I suggested a preliminary meeting with Jackson so as to obtain information about the persons I was to see, but he said that that would not be feasible on Saturday and that he would drop in on Sunday morning a few minutes ahead of the rest of the group.

6. Jackson arrived at the designated room on Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m. He did not request the exhibition of credentials and I did not exhibit them. He said that the meeting with the Cubans would have to be postponed until 4:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, inasmuch as the leader of the group was at that time engaged in preparing a speech. He said he would bring two members of the group to the Columbus Hotel at 4:00 p.m., and I agreed to meet them at that time.

7. Jackson said that the two men he wanted me to talk to were Senator Carlos Mario and a Captain Verson, whose full name Mr. Jackson did not know. He said that Carlos Mario is a leading Cuban consulting engineer and is a graduate of the US Military Academy of the class of 1919. For a short time he was President of Cuba and was subsequently Ambassador to the US. He is a member of Prio's Authentico Party, but belongs to the conservative wing which is highly critical of some of Prio's actions. Mario was exiled from Cuba when his name was found on an envelope in the possession of Sanchez Arango. He is under indictment in the US District Court but has pleaded not guilty to charges of gun-running growing out of the same incident concerning which Prio pleaded "nolo contendere."

8. Captain Verson, according to Jackson, is and has been for many years the president of the Anti-Communist League of Cuba. During a part of the terms of Grau San Martin and Prio, Verson held the rank of Captain in the Cuban army and was in charge of a counter-espionage section dealing with Cuban Communists. Verson, in his official capacity, was largely instrumental in having the Soviet Embassy in Havana closed. He was removed by Batista from his Army post in 1952 and, after spending some months in sanctuary in the Uruguayan Embassy in Havana, he came to Miami in June of 1954.

9. Jackson also wished me to meet Prio, Dr. Pedro Martinez Faraga and his wife Ortega. Prio was currently in New York. Martinez was formerly Ambassador to the US and a delegate to the United Nations. He was described by Jackson as one of the most brilliant persons he had ever met and he said that I could obtain a great deal of information from him concerning the present political and economic situation in Cuba. He was not immediately available and had no connection with the documents allegedly possessed by Verson. Ortega, a former newspaper columnist and member of Batista's Consultative Council, was also described by Jackson as a prolific source of information on Cuban political matters. He too was not immediately available and had no connection with the Verson documents. In the circumstances, I told Jackson that I would defer interviews with Martínez and Ortega until some future time.

10. At 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, 19 September, Jackson returned to the room in the Columns Hotel, bringing with him Señor Rovia and Captain Verson. Jackson introduced me as Mr. Bruton, a pseudonym I had supplied. He told them that I was a representative of the US Government and that we were interested in the documents in Verson's possession. He assured them that the information which they might give us would be treated as highly classified material, and he then left the meeting. It developed that Captain Verson could not speak any English (incidentally, Jackson does not speak Spanish), so that it was necessary to converse with him through Rovia, who acted as interpreter. Rovia is fluent in English and Spanish.

11. The substance of the information supplied by Verson concerning the documents in his possession is contained in the second part of this report. Verson appeared to attach a very high historical value to the contents of his documents and was anxious to make them available to US authorities. He disclaimed any desire for a fee and merely said that he wished to retain the originals, since he considered that they constituted an authentic account of the growth of the Communist movement in Cuba, but that we would be entirely welcome to photostat or otherwise copy the contents of his files.

12. At the conclusion of the interview, I thanked the two Cubans for their courtesy and cooperation and told Señor Rovia that I would get in touch with him later in the week either directly or through Mr. Jackson.

13. I enclose herewith a letter to Rovia confirming our interest in the Verson documents and asking him to notify me when it is expected that they will begin arriving, so that we may attempt to facilitate their entry. You will note that I have signed the letter with the name "Bruton" which is how I was introduced to Rovia and Verson by Jackson. I think the letter should be mailed in Washington rather than in New Orleans, so as to allay any suspicions that Rovia may harbor that I am not actually a government representative. You will note that I have suggested that Rovia write to me in New Orleans in care of Miss Joan M. Patro at Post Office Box 1016. He will, no doubt, assume that this is a letter-drop.

14. In view of the fact that I refer by implication to the Customs Department, I suggest that you hold the letter to Rovia until you or Ciccielinski have discussed the matter with Mr. Emerick, who is the superior of Mr. Wyatt, the supervising Customs Agent in Miami. I suggest that the letter be sent air mail, unregistered. I have left the date blank and I request that you insert it before mailing. If you wish to change the letter in any way, please do so. Rovia does not, of course, know my handwriting, so that the letter can be signed by anyone.

1. For your information, the following requirements were submitted by OCI for action by FI.

2. Background

CO-A-20309 states that Carlos Prio has been transferring funds from his Miami bank to his brother Francisco Prio, c/o Guaranty Trust Company, New York. CO-B-67546 states that there is a rumor that Carlos Prio has invested money in a chain of hotels in Switzerland.

For some months past Carlos Prio has been suspected of preparing an invasion of Cuba to oust Batista; however, other reports indicate that Francisco Prio is engaged in handling transfers out of the US for Carlos "for investment abroad", i. e., for unspecified non-revolutionary purposes.

3. Requirements

a. Evidence that Carlos Prio has been investing in Swiss hotels and details of the transaction, e.g., date, price paid, intermediaries, etc.

b. Any information available of other foreign investments that he has made.

Transfer of Funds by Prio Socarras (RD-4-5993, IR-946)

A 116921-5-27877 S -116921

The US bank at which Carlos and Francisca Prio Socarras have accounts and neither Carlos nor Francisca has sought the bank's advice on the accounts.

Francisco's account shows that in early June 1953 there was a balance of US$14,841.72, but the highest balance reached was US$14,841.72 on 19 June 1953.
On 26 July 1953 the account had fallen to US$1,434.38. There has been no deposit since that date.

Carlos' account shows the following:

	Debits	Credits	Provisional US$7,212.12
11 May		50,000	57,712.12
12 May	340.59		57,371.13
13 May	150.00		57,221.13
14 May	5,200.00		51,521.13
15 May	40,000.00		11,521.13
16 May	2,000.00		9,521.13
17 May	2,300.00		6,221.13
18 May		36,500	93,221.13
19 May		15,000	108,221.13
20 July	5,000.00		103,221.13
26 August	100,000.00		3,221.13

The deposit of US$40,500 on 3 July was in the form of a check drawn by the wife of Angel B. ch. Prio.

The deposit of US$15,000 on 9 July was in the form of a check on the Bank of America, New York, the drawer's signature illegible.

The withdrawal of 26 August was in cash. Carlos asked for one thousand US dollars and was given mostly one hundred dollar bills and a few five hundred.

During 1952, the most unusual activity of Carlos' account was the deposit of US$100,000 on 25 September, a US$150,000 deposit on 29 September, and a withdrawal of US$140,000. Since the withdrawal was by check, which was not cashed to the depositor after cancellation, the identity of the payee is not known.

as relates to it. We probably could learn the extent of the activity which has taken place with regard to this bank if it would serve my good purpose.

b. During the week of 22 August (September 1953), Carlos presented one hundred thousand pesos in new bills at the bank, requesting dollars therefore. He was told the currency would have to be sent to the Banco Nacional de Cuba for examination and that the bank in all probability would want to know the identity of the person exchanging the pesos. Carlos reluctantly agreed to do so but said he had previously sold a large sum of pesos to another bank without difficulty. Carlos said his reason for requesting the exchange was that he feared a devaluation of the Cuban peso because of the rapid depletion of our gold reserves in the US.

WE HAVE NOT ATTEMPTED TO FIND OUT THE EXTENT OF THE ACTIVITY WHICH HAS TAKEN PLACE IN CONNECTION WITH THIS BOX BUT COULD POSSIBLY DO SO IF IT WOULD SERVE ANY GOOD PURPOSE.

WITHIN THE PAST WEEK CARLOS PRIO PRESENTED ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND PESOS TO THE BANK AND REQUESTED CASH IN EXCHANGE THEREFOR. WE UNDERSTAND THAT THE ENTIRE AMOUNT WAS IN NEW BILLS. HE WAS TOLD THAT THE CURRENCY WOULD HAVE TO BE SENT TO CUBA FOR EXAMINATION AND THAT IN ALL PROBABILITY THE BANCO NACIONAL DE CUBA WOULD WANT TO KNOW THE IDENTITY OF THE PERSON EXCHANGING THE PESOS. CARLOS SAID HE WOULD RATHER NOT HAVE HIS NAME DISCLOSED BUT CONSENTED TO BE NAMED IF THE BANK INSISTED UPON IT. AT THAT TIME, CARLOS TOLD THE BANK OFFICIALS THAT HE HAD PREVIOUSLY SOLD A LARGE SUM OF PESOS TO ANOTHER BANK WITHOUT ANY DIFFICULTY.

APPARENTLY IN THE COURSE OF THE NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE EXCHANGE OF THE PESOS CARLOS REMARKED THAT HE FEARS A DEVALUATION OF THE CUBAN CURRENCY BECAUSE OF THE RAVID DEPLETION OF CUBAN GOLD RESERVES IN THIS COUNTRY, WHICH WOULD RESULT IN A LARGE FINANCIAL LOSS TO HIM.

OUR CONTACT IS AT THE MAIN OFFICE OF THE GUARANTY TRUST AND THE ACCOUNT AND SAFETY BOX OF THE PRIO'S ARE LOCATED IN ONE OF THE BRANCHES.
