E. LEGITIMATE ENTERPRISES

Gambling - Cuba

By letter dated October 22, 1959, the Miami Division advised as follows regarding gambling in Cuba:

PH 92-444

Prior to May 1959, ANGELO BRUNO told Philadelphia Confidential Informant T-2 that he, BRUNO, was one of the interest holders in the Hotel Plaza Gambling Casino and that this casino had received permission to reopen in June 1959. It was said that in August 1959 the following gambling casinos continued to be opened in Havana for operation:

Tropicana Hotel

Havana Hilton Hotel

Hotel Nacional

Capri Hotel

Havana Riviera Hotel

The remaining gambling casinos, including the Hotel Plaza Gambling Casino, were closed either because of Government edict or financial difficulties.

It was also stated that on August 14, 1959, GLEN ASMUSSEN, Immigration and Naturalization Service, telephonically advised the Miami Office that ANGELO ANNALORO had arrived from Havana, Cuba, via Pan American Airlines, flight #420 at 8:15 p.m., August 14, 1959. The residence address of ANNALORO, an alias used by BRUNO, was 934 Snyder Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa. ANNALORO said he was a citizen of the United States.

On September 28, 1959, Inspector WALLACE SHANLEY, U. S. Customs, Miami, advised SA CHARLES W. ADMISTON that he had received no information concerning ANGELO BRUNO's activities, either in Havana or the Dominican Republic.

Trash Removal Contracts
City of Philadelphia

As previously reported ANGELO BRUNO was making arrangements in Philadelphia through Philadelphia City Councilman PAUL D'ORTONA to receive a contract with the city of Philadelphia to haul trash and garbage from Philadelphia via water.

On October 15, 1959, Philadelphia Confidential Informant T-3 said that ANGELO BRUNO met on the evening of October 14, 1959, with SAM ROSE, Philadelphia City Councilman, to discuss BRUNO's proposed contract with the city of Philadelphia for removal of trash. T-3 said that BRUNO had indicated that the land purchased, described below, was about to be concluded and that POLLINA who made the down payment on the land was not DOMENICK POLLINA, Philadelphia Top Hoodlum. T-3 did not know if this POLLINA was the relative of DOMENICK POLLINA.

On October 7, 1959, U. S. Game Management Agent in New Jersey HARRY E. GREENWALD advised SA IRVING R. DEAN that an 800 plus acre plot of land on the south side of Mad Horse Creek in Salem County, N.J. was owned by RIESS EWEN of Salem, N.J. This land was said to be surrounded by a 2500 acre plot owned by THOMAS DICKSON, Clerk of the County Court of Salem, N.J. who is fighting the sale of the 800 acres owned by EWEN to one (FNU) POLLINA, described as a South Philadelphian who had made a down payment of $3500 toward a purchase price of $75.00 per acre for EWEN's acreage. It was said that the state of New Jersey had offered EWEN $35.00 an acre for his land as a proposed public shooting grounds for wild ducks.

GREENWALD also said that the Salem, N.J. City Council unanimously opposed the sale of EWEN's acreage when it became known that the acreage was intended for a garbage disposal area. Two weeks after this action, however, it is alleged that the entire City Council of Salem, N.J. reversed its decision and voted for the sale of EWEN's property, knowing that it was to be used as a garbage disposal area.

The property was described as being only accessible by water and that the only obstacle holding up the sale of the land at the present time is the riparian rights to the land which is now in the process of litigation.

PH 92-444

On October 19, 1959, GREENWALD advised SA DEAN that THOMAS DICKSON, described above, was contacted by an individual, presumably a JOHN POLLINA, in an endeavor to purchase his 2500 acre plot in Salem, N.J. GREENWALD allegedly was told by DICKSON that it was demanded that he set a price for his land and that DICKSON would be contacted Wednesday evening, October 21, 1959, for his answer. GREENWALD said that DICKSON had called him and related this information. DICKSON was said to be extremely worried over what may happen to him or his family if he does not sell the land.

By letter October 26, 1959, the Newark Division advised that THOMAS PANCOAST DICKSON on October 20, 1959, was interviewed by SA ROBERT D. ALDRICH and advised as follows:

DICKSON did not know other than from rumor who was involved in the sale of land to the land adjoining his property for the purpose of using it as a garbage disposal area. He had been approached to sell his land by CHARLES ACTON, Swedesboro, N.J., a real estate dealer. No threats were made to him but ACTON told him that the people he represented "had to have the land" and for him to name his price and they would buy.

DICKSON has heard from sources unrecalled that the POLLINAS were the persons behind the project but he observed that there appeared to be a great deal of political pressure coming from the State of New Jersey regarding the matter. It appeared that the state wanted to use Salem County as a dump ground for the whole state since dumping on the North Jersey meadows has been stopped.

A. W. W. HOWELL, Box 459, Parsippany, N.J., told DICKSON that the state of New Jersey had made an official investigation concerning the matter so he, DICKSON, called a Detective Sergeant EMIL DALINT of the New Jersey State Police at West Trenton, N.J., who admitted to him that such an investigation had been made and a file existed but that he preferred that DICKSON talk to his superior, Deputy Attorney General JOHN J. BURGIN for any official information. DICKSON did not proceed further.

DICKSON said that local meetings have been held in Salem in an effort to get an ordinance passed forbidding any such dumping and an official of the City Health Department, one JOHN ZEMHAMPSKI (phonetic) has appeared and argued strongly against passage of such restrictions. In DICKSON's opinion this man had no business at such a meeting. DICKSON said there had been many rumors around Salem concerning large payoffs to New Jersey state officials but DICKSON cannot substantiate any of these. DICKSON said he would attempt to cooperate with the FBI in every way should threats be made to him as he definitely did not intend to sell his land for a dump.

T-3 on October 9, 1959, said that BRUNO had stated that they were then ready to purchase land at Salem, N.J. but BRUNO furnished no additional information. It was also said that BRUNO stated that all of the City Councilmen in Philadelphia were going to get a "cut" from this business venture. Councilmen SAMUEL ROSE and PAUL D'ORTONA were said to be the most active in the proposed business venture. It was said that Chief Magistrate JOSEPH HERSCH had a definite interest in the matter. On October 15, 1959, T-3 said that HERSCH was a close, personal friend of BRUNO.

T-3 said that the land in Salem, N.J. had been purchased with a $20,000 down payment and had a $47,000 balance remaining. It was said that the agreed price would be $2.65 per ton for removal of garbage from the city. MICKEY ROSE, a relative of Councilman SAMUEL ROSE, will be the front for the group. It is noted that it has previously been reported that the investment in this venture will be approximately $400,000.

G. TRAVEL

On October 26, 1959, Lieutenant TOM CLOONEY, Philadelphia Police Department, advised SA THOMAS F. CARRIG that ANGELO BRUNO had been observed by him driving a grey Pontiac sedan with New Jersey registration X/M 9530 J. The Newark Division advised on October 30, 1959, that New Jersey registration "Commercial" X/M 9530 J is registered to the J. C. Vending Machines, Inc., 947 Southard Street, Trenton, N.J., for a 1957 Pontiac coupe.
