House Restores Assassinations Panel for 2 Months

By George Lardner Jr.

The House voted last night to restore its investigation into the assassinations of President Kennedy and Martia Luther King Jr. but put it on two menths' probation

The resuscitation, approved 237 to 163 gives the 31 use Select Committee on Assassinations until March 31 to work out a palatable budget and to adopt rules that will safeguard the rights of witnesses and others who might become targets of the inquiry.

liep. Henry B. Gonzalez (D-Tex.), who was immediately immed the committee's new chairman, said he hoped to hold a meeting today in an effort to get inoving again, although only "a minimum of investigative work" will be possible in the next few weeks.

Under the resolution adopted last night, the committee will have to confine its spending to $84,000 a month—the amount it incurred in December before it went out of business under a rush of criticisms over its proposed budget and investigating techniques

Republicans, led by Rep. James H. Quillen (R-Tenn.), favored killing the investigation by more than 2 to 1, but the temporary revival was fashioned as a compromise measure and had the support of the House Damocratic leadership. The Democratic majority veted for it by nearly 3 to 1.

Leading off the opposition, Quillen cited a report yesterday morning by United Press International that a Justice Department study undertaken last year had concuded that James Earl Ray was King J one assassin in the 1988 Memohis killing.

The 148-page study, commissioned last year after Senate disclosures that the FBI had conducted a long under cover campaign to discredit King, has yet to be made public, ostensibly because of the change in administrations and because the Justice Department did not want to appear to be influencing the House decision.

The leak of the finding about Ray immediately touched off suspicious among supporters of the congressional investigation that it was an attempt to squeich the investigation. House Speaker Thomas P. (Pip) O'Neil told reporters that he regarded the timing of the leak as 'very unfortunate."

Justice Department sources disclaimed responsibility and pointed out that classified copies of the report, which was completed Jan. 10, had been sent to Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland (D. Miss.) Senate Intelligence Committee Chairman Daniel K. Inouve (D-Hawali) and House Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino (D.N.J.).

"The final we remain from from from from from from the management of the committee of the committ

The sources also said that the report, while concluding that the FBI conducted an adequately professional investigation of the King murder, makes plain that the bureau's work had shortcomings.

"It's not going to make anyone bappy," said one source familiar with the report hep Yvonne Burke (D-Calif.) protested sharply that the Lustice Department yesterday would not supply terwith a copy even though one is a memoer of the House Appropriations subcommittee for the Justice Department as well as of the assassinations committee.

Quillen used the reports about the study to support his contention that it would be "irresponsible to relaunch this apparently erratic investigation", which the flouse initiated last fall lie-aaid he saw no need "for another run around the mulberry buah" of either hassassination

The final vote showed considerable erosion from the 280-to-65 tally creating the committee last September.

Rept: Bichardson Preyer (D.N.C.), chairman of the subcommittee investigating the Kennedy assassination, said the felt one of the main reasons for withe pronounced shift lay in the fact that the past few months have been out of transition, of a public mood in at has been against

"We want to put the lightmanes bebind us and here somes the [assassinations] commutee raising all the old gnosts of the past."

Preyer maintained, however, that the investigation should be undertaken because "nothing is finally settled until it's settled right."

Only if per cent of the American people believe the Warren Commission report," Preyer said "We are not out to tear the nation apart. We are trying to restore its credibility."

Acknowledging that many of the complaints about the investigation have centered on chief committee counsel Richard A. Sprague, Preyer, assured congressional critics that the committee will delve into questions raised about Sprague's background and judgment as a "first order of business."

The resolution reviving the committee was adopted after the House rejected an amendment by Rep. Del Chawson (R-Calif.) to deice broad language establishing a legislative purpose for the investigation and anotiner by Rep. Trent Lott (R-Miss.) to deny committee lawyers the authority to secure sween statements from farding witnesses.

The House, however, approved a clarifying amendment offered by House Administration Committee. Chairman Frank Thompson Jr. (D. N.J.) to make clear that the committee as not entitled to an additional 30 staif members that it might have claimed. It already has a staff of .73 with a nonthly payroll of $123,000; many have agreed to take a voluntary pay cut until the House acts on a permanent budget.

ue: Staff Has 'Conspiracy' Leads

By George Lardner Jr.

The chief counsel of the House Assassinations Committee said yesterday gathered "information" suggesting a conspiracy in the murders of both President Kennedy and the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr

Struggling to keep their investigation alive, committee members conress of the inquiry so far.

In a short statement before the press and public were excluded, Sprague told the committee that the information compiled to date was a blend of reports from "witnesses who have advised us directly that they have released us directly the released us directly that they have released us directly the released us direc "witnesses whom we have been told have information."

As a result, he added in straightface understatement, "We have been unable to do what I would consider a thorough check of the information we have been advised of."

That said, the former Philadelphia prosecutor continued. 'The sum total of the information would be in the nature of evidence indicating that others may have had knowledge of or particlpated in arranging the assassinations of Dr. King and President Kennedy."

Sprague did not elaborate, but it. seemed likely that much of the information originated with the many books and articles written in recent years in attempts to debunk the offi-cial findings that there was no credible evidence of a conspiracy in either murder. The committee's 73-member staff has been bogged down by controversy in recent weeks, cut off from classified FBI files and unable to travel or even make long-distance phone calls. phone calls. ----

Trying to regain its momentum following the resignation of Rep. Henry B. Gonzaiez (D.Tex.), who had tried to fire Sprague for alleged mismanagement and insubordination, the committee met formally yesterday for the first time under its new chairman, Rep. Louis Stokes (D.Ohlo). F. It has only three more weeks to win a new charter from the House and head off extinction. Speaker P. (Tip) O'Neul Jr. (D-Mass) and other House leaders have predicted whened yesterday in secret session for a briefing from chief counsel Richard that the committee will probably not a briefing from the prog. "be continued past March 31 unless it be continued past March 31 unless it can produce some striking new evidence or, in O'Neill's words, "something of a sensational nature."

The Warren Commission, which investigated the 1963 Kennedy assassination with the resources of the FBI cluded that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, killed the President. Suntlarly, the FBI concluded that James Earl Ray, now serving a 99 year prison term, was King's lone assassin, although a Justice Department task force recently conceded that the sources of Ray's money "atul remain a mystery today"

After Sprague's brief public presentation, the committee voted 8 to 2 to go into secret session. Dissenting were rold E. Ford (D.Tenn ).

Sprague mentioned no names, even those of Oswald or Ray, but it seemed clear that the "others" he had in mind were in addition to those two men. He also told the committee that there was some information indicating that some unidentified individuals knew in advance that the Kennedy assassination "was about to occur."

Most of vesterday's session, howver, was spent on the King murder At a lunch hour briefing, Strkes told reporters that the committee was moving with deliberate caution, but he said there was "a very good possibility that some witnesses" may be called to a public hearing before March 31 in an effort to demonstrate the need for continuing the inquiry.

The new chairman would not discuss the witnesses who might testify, but other sources said two under conaideration are Ray's brother, Jerry, and former Memphis police detective Edward E. Redditt, one of two black plainclothesmen assigned to keep ! King under surveillance before the 1968 murder.

Can assassination questions be allayed?

Like the Lincoln assassination, the assassinations of John F. Kennedy and Marvin Luther King Jr. promise to be with us forever. The continuation of the House of Representatives investigating committee assures that. but if there were no committee something else would keep the controverșies alive.

The committee's image has been tarnished by the Keystone Kops quarrel over its original chief counsel but even if it had gotten off to the most harmonious possible start its chances of establishing the truth of the tragedies wouldn't be any kreater.

For the hard reality is that most of us have more chance at sainthood than of ever getting an account of the shootings that will satisfy most of us as defini-

The "leads" that leaked out of the committee recently are more convincing as attempted justification for its existence than as hard évidence

One is from a weman who worked for Jack Ruby, who killed Lee Harvey Oswald, Kennedy's assassin (in the nature of the confroversy this flat statement will be challenged by many) who says that Ruby introduced her to Oswald in his nightclub and said Oswald was associated with the CIA. There is a nurse at the hospital where Kennedy died who contends that there were four or five bullet fragments, too many to be consistent with the Warren Commission's singlebullet theory, removed from John Connally's wound.

There are reports of crucial photographs, reportedly confiscated by the FBI, of the grassy knell next to the Texas Book Depository where Oswald fired his shots. Skeptics of the Warren Commission report contend witnesses heard shots there and that there are photographs of pulls of smoke and gunmen on the knoll.

There are allegations that billionaire H.L. Hunt and other Texas oilmen hired Oswald to kill Kennedy.

The problem is that there are so many ambiguous crucial facts that can be interpreted differently depending on the opinion each individual brings to them.

There is a large body of literature, for instance, on whether or not a single bullet could have passed through Kennedy's body and inflicted the wounds he and Connaily suffered Once you've read it all, however, you don't feel any wast, as arthhuman, erasing closer to the truth than all man's pretension, all when you started.

The basic disagreement is between antithetical views. One is held by those who can't believe that anything so monstrous could be the result of caprice in the form of one disturbed individual. Some find this so disturbing as to be unacceptable.

Many intellectuals, who almost by definition seek an orderly structure of things, are in this group. So are those most suspicious of the "establishment," particu-larly the CIA and FBI, and believe there is a giant conspiracy on high to climinate leaders such as King and the Kennedys.

There is some justification for this. John Kennedy's assassination was the opening of a Pandora's Box of more than 10 years of bad times. Subsequent revelations indicated that the FBI and CIA indeed were not above some criminal practices

"Human ambition, venality, greed, crime - all these we live with and can handle." Garry Wills wrote in his book on Jack Ruby. 'No matter how criminal such acts are at least conventional in their sequence of cause and effect . . . There is his much, at least, of reason and light in the darkness of the darkest Better that than the vision of total night, of superhuman or subhuman forces Fevealing themselves, at reason, order, law.

On the other hand there are those who are skeptical that a conspiracy of such magnitude could be out together and kept secret for so long and/or don't want to believe that powerful members of their government and society could be involved in such a matter.

These people hold that if two persons know about something, given the blabby nature of mankind, the chances of its remaining secret are minimal and that if three know it's sure to be public.

The conspiracy theories seem to run in cycles. The stories that right-wing. Texas oil millionaires were behind the Kennedy assussination is the latest. A year and a half ago the leading theory was that the mob was the likely perpetrator since it had both the resources, including ties with the CIA, and the motive because of the loss of gambling casinos and heroin connections in Havana and the hope that a different administration might be more angressive in ousting Cas-

The reports that Oswald had CIA and FBI ties are as old as the crime itself. He had an accress book with the telephone and license plate numbers of an FBI agent, and one Dalles police investigator said he would be "disappointed" if the FBI hadn't tered to recruit Oswald as an informant. Sarah Jane Moore, tried to shoot Gerald Ford, had been an FBI informant

The House established its committee arguing correctly that the controversy will continue, as has that over Lincola's assassination, until the truth is established. Its hope that it or anything eise can establish that truth is a true monument to American optimism.

Subpoena Reported For Gang Figure

By George Lardner Jr. Washington Post Staff Writer

The House Assassinations Committee has secretly subposened time for the first learning today into the murder of President John F. Kennedy, according to informed sources

Once the overlord of syndicate gambling in Cuba. Trafficante is the only surviving member of a gangland trio that,was secretly enlisted by the Contral Intelligence Agency in 1960 in efforts to kill Cubar. Premier Fidel Castro.

Mafia members, were Sam (Momo) Giancana, who was shot to death in his suburbin. Chicago home two years fixed and his longtime heutenant. Johny Rosselli, whose decomposed aboof was found last summer in an oil draft floating in the backwaters of syfamits Biscayne Bay.

Trafficante is expected to protest the compulsory appearance, and has reportedly hired Boston lawyer F. Lee Hailey to represent him

"You can't blame him when you renember what happened to the other wo" one source said

Giancana, 65, was murdered as he prepared a midnight snack of sausages and spinach on June 19, 1975, shortly after his release from a hospital and on the heels of preliminary efforts by the Senate Intelligence Committee to contact him in its investigation of CIA assassination plots.

Rosselli, who had been involved in several abortive plots against Castro, testified before the Senate committee five days after Giancana was killed Thirteen months later, on July 28, 1975, he disappeared from his Plantation. Fla., home, His hacked-up budy was found 10 days later in a 55-gallon oil drum weighted with heavy chains.

Both slayings remain unsolved, But long before his murder, Rosselli had been privately claiming to his attorney that Castro had become aware of the CIA-sponsored plots against him and "thereafter employed teams of individuals who were dispatched to the United States for the purpose of assassinating Mr. Kennedy."

Initially introduced to his CIA contacts in late 1969 as "Joe," Trafficante was described as someone who would serve as a courier to Cuba and make arrangements there in the plot to kill Castro. Trafficante had lived in Cuba, and he still had a number of associates there even after Castro seized their gambling enterprises in Havana.

Although he did not testify during the Senate Intelligence Committees 18 month investigation of CIA misdeeds, Trafficant was questioned sejectly Tast; fall by Senate committee investigators in connection with Roselli's death.

Trafficante reportedly said he dired with Rosselli at a Fort Lauderdale restaurant less than two weeks before Rosselli's disappearance. He was said to have described this and other gettogethers as "friendly social exents with no business."

to have described this and other getitogethers as "friendly social events with no business."

As long ago as March, 1967 Rosselli had expressed hig belief in a Cubin connection to the Kennedy assessination to the FBI through his Washington lawyer, Edward P. Morran Morgan, in turn, told the FBI that several of his clients who "were on the fringe of the sudderworld" informed him that Castro "had learned of the plotting against him.

The House Assasmations Committee and been talking of staying a hearing on the assassination of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. in hopes of keeping that investigation alive at least past March 31, when its current charter expires. The decision to hold a hearing on the JFK assassination apparently reflects new hope within the committee for continuing that inquiry Committee lawyers have been in contact with an attorney for James Earl Ray, serving a 99 pear prison term for King's 1668 murder but Ray is not expected to make any public appearances soon beyond a nationally televised interview last night on the Columbia Broadcasting System's "Who's Who" (WTOP-TV).

Interviewed by correspondent Dan Rather, Ray denied, as he has, before, firing the shot that killed King, and invisted that he was not even in the frooming house across the street from King's motel at the time of the mu-

Asked why he was femalning silent if someone else did it, rather than telling all. Ray said he feared that what ever he said might be turned against him. "I think a lot of poople have a sort of a Pollyanna view of the legal system," he said.

Assassinations Probe Nearing Showdown; Counsel Under Fire

By George Landner Jr. Westington Poet Staff Writer

The House Rules Committee cleared the way yesterday for a show-down over the House assassinations inquiry amid a suiden outburst of demands for the ouster of chief counsel Richard A. Sprague

"I think this resolution is in serious trouble on the House floor," Rep. Morgan Murphy (D-III) warned members of the Assassinations Committee at a flearing before the Rules Committee.

Although Speaker Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill has promised "wholehearted support" for keeping the investigations alive, Murphy said advocates of the inquiry were seriously underestimatic," "the feelings of the members of the House" about Sprague.

"I think you ought to get your own man in there," Murphy warned the newly installed Assassinations Committee cheirman, Louis Stokes (D-Ohio). What he can do to Henry, he can do to you."

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez (D.Tex.), the former chairman whom Murphy was talking about, underscored the mood in a bitter speech on the House floor about how he wasuccessfully tried to fire Sprague last month. He said he was deserted by House Democratic leaders and committee colleagues, and blamed it at least partly on racial discrimination.

"I think I have been treated shabbily," Gonzalez declared. "I think that if my name were Jones or O'Brien or Rosenthal or George Washington Carwer or Martin Luther King, I would not have been treated so shabbily."

The Texas Democrat held the floor for more than an hour with a chapterand-verse recitation of his efforts to restore order to the committee's finances.

The day after he ordered Sprague's dismissal. Gonzalez said, Majority Leader Jim Wright (Tex.) assured him. "Well, fells, we're with you. You're right."

"I don't know how anybody could interpret that." Gonzalez said. "I took it as support." But it soon disappeared when the rest of the committee remained solidly behind Sprague. Gonzalez quit the chairmanship and the committee on March 8.

With heavy sarcasm, Gonzalez at various points imitated the voices of Reps. Shirley Chisholm (D.N.Y.) and Richardson Preyer (D.N.C.) speaking at a Rules Committee hearing in January, described Rep. Richard Bolling (D.Mo.) os "the great rajah of the Rules Committee," and called Del. Walter E. Fauntroy (D.D.C.) 'the vizier of Washington."

The Rules Committee voted 9 to 4 to set up a floor vote Wednesday on continuing the Investigations into the murders of President Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr. for the remainder of the 95th Congress. Two other Rules Committee members, Murphy and Rep. John Young (D-Tex.), voted "present"

Appointed chairman March 8, Stokes said he inherited a committee staff that was marking time with "almost no stationery, almost no supplies" and was "unable to travel" or even make a long-distance phone call. He atrongly urged keeping the investigations going past their current March 31 expiration date and submitted a 14-page report indicating some of the "leads" the committee is pursuing a recommittee to the state of the state of

The information, however, smacked of twice-told tales. In one passage reminiscent of former New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison's celebrated Investigation, the committee said it is "actively pursuing several new leads which indicate that Lee-Clarvey Oswald was associated with CIA-supported anti-Castro groups".

Raising the persistent specter of a "false Oswald," the committee said those same "leads" also "suggest" that Oswald's "reported pro-Castro activities" and his "alleged" trip to Mexico City might have been deliberately designed to mask his CIA-supported anti-Castro associations.

Stokes insisted at yesterday's hearing that the inquiry was running smoothly now with Gonzalez gone. The new chairman maintained that Sprague had satisfactorily countered all the charges against him at a secret committee meeting recently.

Murphy noted that Gonzalez was not present when the questioning of Sprague was conducted. "We're taking Sprague's word over Gonzalez' word, as I understand it," Murphy said. Citing Gonzalez' spreech on the House floor earlier in the afternoon, Murphy said he was especially concerned about a charge that Sprague had for bidden committee staffers to furnish payroll information to committee members.

Stokes said that Sprague "has of fered a number of times to step aside. If it would be of assistance to the committee," but the committee remains solidly behind him.

"I think you ought to accept that offer," Murphy said.

Rep. Joe Moakley (D-Mass.) said he has been supporting the investigation for months, but he agreed that the issue in the minds of most House members is "not whether the assassnations committee ought to be reconstituted. It's whether Mr. Sprague should be retained as chief counsel."

Rep Boiling, who will serve as floor manager for the Wednesday resolution to keep the committee allye, told a reporter that he thinks the odds still favor its passage, but added: "It's awfu'ly close, It'll probably change three times before Wednesday."

The Pior Thar Ousted Chairman Gonzalez

We may or may not find out whether Lee Harvey Oswald and James Earl Ray acied alone. The Storm-tossed House Select Committee on Assassinations promises it has leads which could prove they did not.

The only thing that the committee has produced so far is evidence that its erstwhile chairman, Henry Gonzalez of Texas, was the victim of a

Gonzalez, a large, swarthy, assertive man wearing a rust-color cordu-roy suit, took the floor to describe the conspiracy. He was forced off the committee after he tried to fire its high-powered chief counsel, Richard

Sprague. During his speech, Gonzalez reinforced the impression long since formed of him — that he is not what you would call a judicious man He also demonstrated that he is no diplomat. He mimicked and mocked his colleagues, Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York and D.C. Delegate Walter Fauntroy

He charged House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., who was in his small, uncomfortable audience, with failing him in Value with failing him in his hour of need, when Gonzales retreated to Texas to lick his wounds - and a high fever

"I never even got a get-well card." Gonzalez cried.

NOR WAS HE ABLE to reach his leader, although O'Neill had taken his side and had instructed Majority Leader Jim Wright of Texas to be the r mediator.

Gonzalez at length resigned from the committee. Members were shocked. It wasn't exactly as if the Senate Watergate Committee had chosen Sam Dash over Sam Ervin. but it was, for many, a horrendous precedent. A delegation of members went to the speaker during this period when the committee shuddered and cracked under the Sprague-Gonzules hostilities, and persuaded him of its right to life. Richardson Preyer of North Carolina found O'Neill particularly susceptible to the suggestion that the committee had reason to be-lieve that Lee Harvey Oswald, the Kennedy killer, and Jack Ruby had known each other.

They further pointed out that to percent of the American people, according to the Gallup Poll, were appropriated by the findings of the Warren Commission. O'Neill is hung to "credibility" of government this second or it was the reason he could be hard for the name code of pushed so hard for the new code of ethics that the House reluctantly ac-

POLITICALLY, he did not want committee members, and especially the vociferous chief counsel, running around the country crying that they had been deprived of funds on the brink of breakthrough.

With his bleering, the Assassina-tions Committee was "reconsti-tuted." The budget was slashed. The reprehensible electronic devices announced by the chief counsel were banished. The committee regrouped under the leadership of Rep. Louis Stokes, D.Ohio.

Preyer, the nearest thing to an elder statesman that the House can boast, thinks that both the moneysavers and the civil liberturians have been assuaged, and that the inquiry can now go forward along orderly and productive lines.

Still, questions remain, questions beyond the assassinations them-selves, that is. Martin Luther King Sr. said Congress did not want to know who killed his son, and that the investigation about be "a waste of taxpa ers' money.

Sprague is obviously a tiger in the gadden of the House.

Why was Sprague retained, Stokes Why was Sprague retained, Stokes was repeatedly asked by hostile members? Because, said Stokes, using the word "dedication" a sittle excessively, Gonzalez charges against him had been disproved.
And, besides, if Sprague were field, half or even more of the staff would clear out, too, despite their indescribable "dedication". They would decomp in protest of the unius?

Gonzalez had unwittingly done as much as he could to preserve the committee. While members don't like to see a colleague passed over for an overbearing staff member, they also don't admire Gonzalez, who made the House a laughingstock hu made the House a laughingstock by his inability to housebreak his tigercounsel.

The House Select Committee on Assassinations, inept and imperiled as it is, represents all the same - as Norman Mailer, ar unexpected ally, said last week - the only game in town: The last chance to find out if Oswald and Ray acted alone when they fired those shots from which the country has just begun to recover.

The Central Intelligence Agency directed its offices around the world in 1907 "to employ propaganda assets" to counter doubts raised by critics of the Warren Commission's investigation into the assessination of Presiduel Kernedy.

The propagaids campaign was to be wared in part by pearing unclassified information about the assessimation to CIA "assets" who could use the material in writing "book reviews and feature articles" that would "asswer and refute the attacks of the critics," according to a newly released CIA doc

Ford was a trember of the Warren Countission which contribed that Lee Harvey Oswild was solely responsible for the accessionation. Ford quoted extensively from secret sessions of the commission in his book, "Portrait of mn Assassin," which agreed with the commission's finding.

The 1957 dispatch to "chiefs, certain stations and bases" says that the rash

HOUSE VOTES TO KEEP ASSASSINATION PARE

After Sprague Quits as Staff Chief, inquiry is Extended Directif 35.

By RICHARD L, MADDEN

WASHINGTON, March 30-The House of Representatives voted today to keep its Select Committee on Assessinations in existence through next year. The vote was taken after the committee's chief counsel, Richard A. Sprague, resigned.

The vote, which was 230 to 181, assures that the embattled committee, which was established last September, will be able to pursue its investigations of the assassinetions of President Kennedy and the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. throughout the term of the current 95ti. Con-

Was He Responsible for Oswald's Act?

de Mohrenschildt-JFK Enigma

By Jeremiah O'Leary , Washington Star Staff Wetter

When George de Mohrenschild: disappeared in Brussels last March 7. he could have been tabled either as just another fruitcake or someone out to make a buck on his acquaintance with Lee and Marina Oswald.

Or, just possibly, he could have been the man responsible for Oswald's behavior when President John F. Kennedy was shot to death in 1963 as he reportedly acknowledged in the manuscript of a book he had written.

But today, this much is certain about the 65-year-old Russian-born

But he cannot be ignored so long as the House investigative panel and the FBI are genuinely interested in find-ing out what role, if any, de Mohrenschildt played in the killing of President Kennedy in a Dallas motorcade on Nov. 22, 1963.

IT HAS LONG BEEN known that de Mohrenschildt, as part of the Dallas Russian-speaking community, was close to Lee Harvey Oswald and his Russian wife, Marina. The FBI says it checked him out every way from Sunday in the days and weeks after the presidential assassination. He was a witness before the Warren Commission, and what he said then can be found in 118 pages of that Oltmans, who had been cultivating de Mohrenschildt as a news source and a friend for the past 10 years, is the man who told the House Assessinations Committee earlier this month about de Mohrenschilde's decision to tell his version of the Kennedy mur-

It was this appearance Cefore committee staffers by Oltmans on March Il that prompted the panel to send investigator Gaetan Fonzi te Palm Beach last Monday to try to question de Mohrenschildt. According to Oltmans, this is the erratic alory of the White Russian coilege professor's last weeks of life:

Oltmans had known de Mohrenschildt for a decade in periodic visits to Dallas. He knew de Mohrenschildt to be an emigre Russian count, a petroleum engineer, a teacher of French at Bishop College and as a close friend of the Oswalds. Oltmans fell into the habit of visiting George and Jeanne de Mohrenschildt two or three times a year.

IN JANUARY 1976, de Mohrenschildt wrote Oltmans that he was preparing a book and sent several pages to the Dutch reporter for consideration. By June the book was completed, but Jeanne de Mohrenschildt told Oltmans she was upset when she read it. She told her husband he would go to jail if it was published because it was about the assassination of Kennedy and mentioned names of CIA and FBI agents throughout.

Last November, Oltmans went to Dallas and called de Mohrenschildt, only to be told by his wife that he had been in a hospital for several months. Oltmans said he calted de Mohren-schildt's lawyer, Pat S. Russell, and was told de Mohrenschildt was in a mental hospital suffering from a persecution complex and undergoing heavy shock treatments.

According to Oltmans, the manuscript of the book is in custody of Russell. The Dallas attorney could not be reached last night for com-ment, but Oltmans said he was told Russell has the book in his office files. He reportedly has not read the Oltmans went back to Dallas on eb. 23, 1977, and had lunch with de Mohrenschildt, who was now back at work. The lournalist said this exchange took place in the Bishop Collage library:

Oltmans said de Mohrenschildt "was a guy very cleverly saying 'I knew exactly what Oswald was going to do and I have proof of it.

Oltmans said he asked de Mohrenschildt !! he was ready to make a statement. He said the professor replied, "Yes, but never in America. I am being followed. I find my house all the time searched. So I am scared to death. I first must get out of the country.

Oltmans said he quickly called his Dutch television superior and was told to bring de Mohrenschildt to Holland. As Oltmans tells it, de Mohrenschildt had several changes of mind but finally said he was ready to go. Oltmans said they drove to Houston, left de Mohrenschildt's car there with a man named David Russell and eventually arrived in Amsterdam on March 3. There they began a round of talks with Dutch television and pubfishing executives, meanwhile checking with attorney Russell in Dallas to be sure the manuscript was still in his office.

ON MARCH 5, OLTMANS and de Mohrenschildt drove to Brussels to meet a friend of the Dutch reporter, a Soviet diplomat he identified only as "Kuznetzov." The three men chat-ted at the newstand of the Hotel Metropole and de Mohrenschildt said he would go for a walk before lunch. "He never returned from that walk," said Oltmans.

On March 7, back in Holland, de Mohrenschildt's disappearance was reported to the U.S. Embassy in the Hague. Oltmans said the official receiving the report was Jacob Gilles-pie, a press officer at the embassy. There is no record that the missing report was relayed to the State Department in Washington.

Oltmans said he wasn't worried He got a call from a man in Brussels who identified himself as "Genta." and he said de Mohrenschildt had de-parted for the United States. But Olt-mans said de Mohrenschildt left behind all his belongings except his briefcase — his pipe, his luggage and his dirty raincoat. De Mohrenschildt took Oltmans' clean new raincoat in stead. Oltmans said he put all of de Mohrenschildt's possessions in an Amsterdam bank and sent the receipt to attorney Russell in Dallas.

Kennedy assussination.
In early March, Oitmans came to Washington, called the committee about the whole affair and told essential. tially this story to deputy counsel Rebert Tanenbaum and three other investigators. Oltmans' view of de Mohrenschildt's role in the assassination, if there is one, is that de Mohrenschildt didn't figure in the slaying but "that together they cooked it up."

De Mohrenschildt, 'according to have been kidnaped. Oltmans, could have been kidnaped, or have had another "crazy attack" or have gone to the Soviet Union. None of those things happened, but Oltmans did have a clue to the way de Mohrenschildt died even before the man shot himself.

Oltmans said "He told me in Europe: 'Look, I'll be discharged at Bishop College in June. I'm 65. My wife ran away. (They reportedly are now divorced.) I'm at the end of the line.' And one day he came into my Yesterday in Palm Springs, Fla., a room and said, 'Let's face it. I only now it's my time. So now you and I know that."

> THE FBI SAYS IT does not know what to make of de Mohrenschildt's strange journey or of his apparent suicide. The Warren Commission concluded that he did not have any connection with Kennedy's death even though he knew the Oswalds well and probably helped them with financial and family problems. Even so, the House committee wanted to question de Mohrenschildt, and Fonzi fust missed him.

He went to the house where de Mohrenschildt was staying at noon Tuesday and was told to return that evening because the man was not home. In the afternoon, de Mohrenschildt apparently put a shotgun in his mouth and pulled the trigger.

No note was found. If there is an answer to George de Mohrenschildt's troubled life, it may lie in the book he has written and that lawyer Russell purportedly has filed away in Dallas: "I'm a Patsy, I'm a Patsy."

Interview With Representative Louis Stokes

DAVID HARTMAN: The committee set up by the House of Representatives to investigate the assassinations of John Fennedy and Martin'Luther King has had constant controversy, and even some enemies. Yesterday there was a showdown vote in the House on whether to extend the investigation or to let it down. The decision, by a vote of 230 to 181, was to extend the committee for almost two more years.

The vote came right after two major news stories, one the resignation of the committee's chief council, Richard Sprague, and also the apparent suicide in Florida of a witness considered crucial in the Kennedy killing.

Congressmen Louis Stokes of Ohio is the current chairman of the committee. He's in our Washington studio this morning with Jack Anderson and Tom Jacriel.

Good morning, Congressman.

REP. LOUIS STOKES: Good morning.

RARTHAN: George de Mohrenschildt apparently, or reportedly, committed suicide two days ago. As I just said, he was supposedly a crucial witness.

Was he a crucial witness, potentially, and why?

REP. STOKES: Yes, we did definitely consider him a very crucial witness in the Kennedy assassination probe. And, of course, one of our investigators had been in touch with his home just a few hours before he was found after having apparently committed suicide.

Material supplied by Redio TV Reports, Inc. may be used for file and reference purposes only. It may not be repreduced, sold or publicly demonstrated or exhibited.

HARTNAN: Why was he an important witness, Congressman?

REP. STOKES: Well, in terms of information that had come to us relative to his attachment to Lee Harvey Oswald, and several statements he had made relative to the Kennedy assassination, and the fact that he had prior information that the President was going to be assassinated.

JACK ANDERSON: Isn't it true, Congressman, that your committee was investigating the possibility that Oswald was in touch with the CIA in Dallas before the assassination and that this mystery witness knew something about that?

REP. STOKES: Yes, I think that's part of it, too.

TOM JARRIEL: Congressman, one report says that de Mohrenschildt may have given secret or classified information to the Warren Commission when it initially investigated the Kennedy assassination. Now that de Morhenschildt is dead and now that you were looking into this investigation, if he gave secret information to the Warren Commission, will you make it public?

REP. STOKES: Well, that would depend, really, upon the total investigation and what we uncover when we look into it. But there is evidence that he did testify, in either '63 or '64, before the Warren Commission.

JARRIEL: What would be the point of keeping it secret now?

RSP. STOKES: Well, I'm not saying that we would. It's our intention to try and reveal all of the facts to the American people. That's the precise nature of this particular investigation.

HARTMAN: What evidence is there to indicate that he was associated with the CIA in some way?

REP. STOKES: Well, that's really a part of the investigation that is presently ongoing, and I'm really not at liberty to reveal the facts regarding that.

ANDERSON: Yesterday morning I reported that Cuba's Fidel Castro -- I reported it here on this show -- that Cuba's Fidel Castro had tried to get in touch with the committee and had left a message that he had information on Lee Harvey Oswald. Can you tell us more about that?

REP. STOKES: Well, testimony relevant to that was taken in executive session, which is, as you know, closed session of a committee. And I'm not at liberty to reveal the facts regarding that.

ANDERSON: Congressman, you've at least been connected with this committee long enough to begin to form conclusions. I recognize that it's premature to form any final conclusions, but could you give us some idea as to whether you believe that there was actually a conspiracy in these two assassinations?

REP. STORES: I'm really unable to say to you that conclusively, that there were conspiracies in either one. I can say to you that there are many leads, many previously unpursued leads that have come to us, many witnesses who've never previously given testimony to anyone regarding both of these assassinations, and I think that we have to sort out all of that type of testimony.

ANDERSON: Well, have you already found that the CIA and the FBI withheld information from the Warren Commission back in 1963?

REP. STOKES: No, that's one of the points, or high points, in the investigation, to ascertain whether or not they did in fact withhold such information, or give false information. And since it's at the threshold level at this point in time, I really cannot say that conclusively.

ANDERSON: But you would say that questions have been raised and loose ends have not been tied and that this needs to be done.

REP. STOKES: Oh, unquestionably. I think that's the real reason for the investigation.

JARRIEL: Some of the testimony of your committee, which we've obtained at transcript of, says that de Mohranschildt, the man who apparently committed suicide, he was responsible for Oswald's activity. Now, we know that he kept Oswald's -- his wife kept Oswald's children and they were familiar personal friends in terms of travel and this type thing.

That phrase, "Oswald. He was -- de Mohrenschildt. He was responsible for Oswald's activitiy." Do you think that means his activities in Dallas, or he was responsible for harmless social activities?

REP. STOKES: Well, this is precisely one of the reasons why we wanted to interrogate de Hohrenschildt further, because we wanted to ascertain those questions, too.

JARRIEL: Will you be able to do it now?

REP. STOKES: Well, obviously not.

ANDERSON: Well, there are other witnesses, are there not, who have already testified in executive session about the CIA and the Oswald connection in Dallas?

REP. STOKES: Well, Jack, I can't answer those questions.

HARTHAN: Congressman, do you have any new information regarding the Martin Luther King assassination?

REP. STOKES: Well, we have talked to some witnesses and taken statements from many of the -- many witnesses, relative to that particular assassination, who have never previously testified to anyone, and we've had some very interesting testimony in that particular case.

HARTMAN: Congressmen, why weren't these witnesses sought out earlier? Why didn't they testify before? We were led to believe that this was a very thorough investigation, and yet you're finding new witnesses. Where are they coming from and why?

REP. STOKES: Well, these are persons whom, in some cases, we feel could have been talked to and should have been talked to. And we, of course, intend to do a very thorough job of talking to everyone that does have any information regarding the King assassination.

HARTMAN: Who was responsible for their not being contacted initially?

REP. STOKES: Well, the FBI did most of the investigatory work relative to the King assassination.

 $\mathtt{HARTMAH}_{2}$  . Congressman, thank you very much for being with us this morning.

Oswald Friend Kills Self; May Have Had CIA Ties

By CHARLES OSOLIN tion Weshinston Bureau

WASHINGTON- The Russian-born geologist who apparently committed suleide when he learned his testimony was wanted concerning the assassination of President John F. Kennedy was a for-mer friend of Lee Harvey Oswald and may have been a CIA operative and a double agent.

Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C. chairman of a House subcommittee investigating the assessination of President Kennedy, said George de Mohren-schildt was thought to have evidence linking Oswald with CIA-supported anti-Castro Cuban exiles in Florida and

The body of de Mohrenschildt, 65, was found Tuesday alternoon by his daughter Alexandra, 33, in the second floor study of oceanside mansion near Palm Beach, Fla., where he was visit-

De Mohrenschildt apparently shot himself in the head with a 20-gauge shotgun after learning that a House investigator had called at the house earlier seeking his testimony.

Palm Beach County Sheriff's Lt. Richard Sheets said Palm Beach Mediof a self-inflicted wound-a suicide."

While Preyer said he had no reason to believe that de Mohrenschildt's death was anything but a suicide, he said, "in 13 years (since Kennedy's assassination) so many witnesses involved in this have come to such mysterious ends, that you don't take anything for granted."

Preyer, who called de Mohren-schildt a "crucial" witness for the com-mittee because of his first-hand knowledge of Oswald's activities, said new evidence has been uncovered suggesting that Oswald's apparent Marxist leanings - including his trips to Russia and a visit to the Cuban embassy in in Mexico

City in October, 1963-may have been a "front" designed to hide his true alle-

Preyer said the committee also wanted to pursue reports that de Mohrenschildt may have had advance knowledge of a conspiracy.

Among the questions the committee wanted to ask, Preyer said, was: "Did he (de Mohrenschildt) have a conversation with Oswald about the assassination before it occurred?"

Preyer sad the committee will work with Palm neach County authorities to insure that de Mohrenschildt's personal effects, including any books or documents, have been secured. He said the committee has already moved to subpoena any relevant papers and tape recordings, but added that he could not confirm the existence of any specific

In Dallas, Pat Russell, de Mohrenschildt's attorney, confirmed that he holds various personal papers and a manuscript given to him by de Mohrenschildt, but he declined to discuss the material

De Mohrenschildt, meanwhile, was reported by several sources to have been a been a former CIA agent who was in Halti at the time of Kennedy's death in November, 1963.

One source said there was a "good thance" that de Mohrenschildt was a double agent working for an unspecified foreign government-a charge which de Mohrenschildt denied in lengthy published testimony before the Warren

A CIA spokesman, asked to comment on the reports of de Mohren-schildt's ties to the CIA, said "the cal Examiner Dr. Gambino Cuevas has schildt's ties to the CIA, said "the ruled de Mohrenschildt's death "a result agency does not normally comment on > Preyer acknowledged that committee investigaiors were aware early this year that de Mohrenschildt had been under psychiatric care for the last three months of 1976 at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas.

Russell told reporters from the Palm Beach Post that his client had tried three times since last July to commit suicide-twice by taking pills and once by slashing his wrists.

Preyer said, however, that the committee had "no indication that he was crazy" after he was released from the hospital.

He said that de Mohrenschildt's testimony, if corroborated, could have been valuable to the committee despite any past emotional problems.

Preyer also firmly denied a charge by Rep. James H. (Jimmy) Quillen, R-Tenn, that the committee investigators knew if they continued to pursue their investigation it could lead to de Mohrenschildt's death

"They were told that when they went to Dallas," Quillen said Tuesday as he spoke against a successful effort to extend the committee's life for two Preyer, however, said the commit-tee had "every reason to believe that he (de Mohrenschildt) was going to be cooperative. This was not a situation where we were hounding him or pushing him against the walt."

De Mohrenschildt, a professor of French at Dallas' Bishop College, was a close friend of Oswald and his wife, Marina, and took her and the couple's daughter into his home at one point. The Warren Commission, which reported in 1964 that Oswald acted alone in killing Kennedy, said it investigated de Mohrenschildt's associations with Oswald and found no evidence linking him to the assassination.

Earlier this year, however, a Dutch Journalist named Willem Oltmans quoted de Mohrenschildt as saying he had trior knowledge of the assassination. Preyer said that Oltmans, who has been interviewed by Assassinations Committee investigators, was negotiating with de Mohrenschildt for rights to his story about the assassination when his story about the assassination when he suddenly disappeared about three weeks ago.

"Oltmans was working with him to arrange for him to perhaps write a book or an article, or be on television," Preyer said. "De Mohrenschildt had implied that once that was arranged, he was ready to say what he knew."

Preyer said the two men were sup-

Preyer said the two men were supposed to meet for much in Brussells, but that de Mohrenschildt feiled to keep the behind, Preyer said.

Early this week, committee investigator Gacton J. Fonzi, a former Philadelphia investigative reporter who has been proping the Kennedy assassination for several months for various congressional committees, learned that de Mohsional committees, learned that de Mohrenschildt was visiting his daughter at the home of Mrs. Charles Tilton III in the Palm Beach suburb of Manalapan.

Fonzi visited the house at about noon on Tuesday and asked to speak to de Mohrenschildt, but was told that he was not at home. Shortly afterwards, Ca Mohrenschildt returned home. It was

De Mohrenschildt, who fled Russia De Mohrenschildt, who fled Russia with his parents in 1921, was questioned extensively by the Warren Commission in 1964. In its report, the Commission and that de Mohrenschildt, then Irving in Dallas, was "apparently the only Russian-speaking person... for whom Oswald had appreciable respect and this second to have been true general though deseems to have been true even though de Mohrenschildt helped Marina Oswald leave her husband for a period in 1962."

After spending 18 months at the Polish Military Academy, de Mohren-schildt studied in Belgium before com-ing to the U.S., where he became interested in oil exploration and production, eventually receiving a degree in pe-troleum geology and engineering from the University of Texas in 1945. He be-came a U.S. citizen in 1949.

Russell said that de Mohrenschildt's Russell said that de Mohrenschildt's life first began to crimble with the death of his son in 1960. The attorney termed de Mohrenschildt ar "intellectual radical" who supported minority ideals. "I don't believe he ever had any part in the assassination of John Keinedy." Russell told the Post. "Himay have discussed with Oswald assassinations in general or President Kennedy in particular. But I don't think he had any knowledge of what Oswald planned."

Dutch Journalist to Testify On Role of Oswald Friend

By Jeremiah O'Leary Washington Star St. Iff Writer

More details of the late George de Mohrenschildt's connection with Lee Harvey Oswald and the murder of President John r. Kennedy will be given to the House Assassinations Committee today by a witness close to the Russian-born Dallas professor. Willem Oltmans, a Dutch journatist who had cultivated de Mohrenschildt for decades.

Willem Oltmans, a Dutch journatist who had cultivated de Mohrenschildt for a decade after the death of Kennedy, is scheduled to make a second appearance before committee probers today. He was interviewed here last month by the Kenneay task force of the committee after de Mohrenschildt disappeared in Brussels while the two were in Europe attempting to arrange publication of a book written about the Kennedy case by the 65-year-old teacher.

De Mohrenschildt committed suicide Tuesday in Palm Beach, Fla., while House investigators were trying to contact him for questioning on what he knew about Oswald and the 1963 slaying of Kennedy.

Oltmans told The Washington Star he can now give the committee new details of what de Mohrenschildt told him about his connection with Oswald and Oswald's Russian wife Marina. The Oswalds and de Mohrenschildt were friends in the Russian speaking community of Dallas, but the Warren Commission had concluded de Mohrenschildt had no connection with Kennedy's death.

THE MANUSCRIPT of de Mohrenschildt's book, reportedly in the custody of de Mohrenschildt's Dallas lawyer, Pat S. Russell, is said to name CIA and FBI agents involved in the assassination and to spell out de Mohrenschildt's claim that he was responsible for Oswald's behavior.

In the meantime, it was learned today from reliable sources that de Mohrenschildt tried to commit suicide four times in 1976 both with drug overdoses and by slashing his wrists. These attempts resulted in his being committed for mental care to Parkland Hospital in Dallas last fall. It was at Parkland that Kennedy was pronounced dead after he was shot in a Dallas motorcade more than 13 years ago. Shot by nightclub owner Jack Ruby in the Dallas police headquarters building, Oswald died there two days after Kennedy.

Meanwhile, Chairman Louis Stokes of the House Assassinations Committee has taken personal charge of the 65-person staff during what he says is a period of reorganization after the traumatic internal struggles that nearly destroyed the panel.

Stokes, D-Ohio, yesterday spent two hours at staff headquarters in the dingy former FBI fingerprint building, first addressing the committee employes and then touring their working area.

THE MEETING WAS closed to the press, but reporters heard Stokes receive several ovations in the 30-minute period. Later, Stokes said he told the staff, now stripped of its guiding spirit, former Chief Counsel Richard A. Sprague, how proud he was of them and that he hoped all of hem would remain on the job during he reorganization period.

Stokes said the committee is now looking for a new chief counsel of top caliber and he added, "We'll look for the best." He did not rule out the possibility of considering the present deputy counsels, Richard Lehner and Richard. Tanenbaum, for the top spot, but indicated the panel would take its time determining who the new staff director will be.

In another development, The Associated Press reported the committee's JFK task force is pursuing two leads that may shed new light on the murder of Kennedy. One of these leads reportedly is that there may be too many bullet fragments fit. Lee Harvey Oswald to have killed Kennedy by himself.

The other lead, reported to the

The other lead, reported to the committee by investigators in a closed-door briefing, is that a woman who worked in a Dallas nightclub is willing to testify that Jack Ruby introduced Oswald to her as "Lee Harvey Oswald of the CIA."

The Warren Cemmission report concluded that Oswald fired three bullets at Kennedy from a window of the Texas Schoolhook Depository and

The Warren Commission report concluded that Oswald fired three bullets at Kennedy from a window of the Texas Schoolhook Depository and that Ruby and Oswald did not know one another before the assassination. Ruby shot Oswald to death two days after the president's assassination while Oswald was in police custody.

THE EVIDENCE about the bullets is said to be from the head nurse at Parkland Hospital. She was quited as saying four or five bullet fragments were removed from former Texas Gov. John B. Connaily and, if that is true, the three-bullet theory of the FBI and the Warren Commission would no longer be valid.

It would mean that at least four bullets were fired and at least one of these would have had to have been fired from some other vantage point at the Kennedy motorcade.

The woman who worked in the nightclob is said to contend that she was with Ruby and Oswald two weeks before the 1963 murder. Tan nenbourn, according to AP, said the same woman is prepared to testify that she was taking pictures at Deal ley Plaza when Kennedy was killed and that her film was taken from her two days later by men identifying themselves as being from the CIP and FRI.

Interview With Wilhelm Oltmans

PAT MITCHELL: Mr. Wilhelm Oltmans, who is a Dutch journalist, has been talking for three straight hours before the House committee investigating the assassination of John 7. Kennedy and Martin Luther King.

WILHELH OLTMANS: After no sleep for 48 hours.

MITCHELL: Well, I know that you're probably tired of talking. But the story, as it began to be revealed this morning in your first appearance on ABC, is that you have some shocking revelations, I think, for most people.

OLTMANS: Is it?

MITCHELL: Yes.

OLTMANS: Not to me.

MITCHELL: About the Kennedy assassination, saying that Lee Harvey Oswald was a middleman between some Dallas oil millionaires and anti-Castro Cuban forces.

OLTMANS: Yeah, yeah, yeah. That was summed up beautifully. I couldn't do it any better than you just did.

 $\mbox{\sc MITCHELL:}$  I suspect, though, that you could elaborate on it better than I can.

OLTMANS: Oh, you are one of those.

FRANK MANKIEWICZ: Maybe we should remind our viewers that Mr. Oltmans is the man whose interview with this fellow George de Hohrenschildt in Dallas probably led to his suicide, if indeed it was a suicide.

MITCHELL: Yes, I wanted to ask...

MANKIEWICZ: De Hohrenschildt, of course, was the sort of White Russian adventurer and probably involved in some intelligence agencies who in effect took over Lee Harvey Oswald and his wife when they returned to Dallas from Moscow. And he's the one who talked to you.

OLTMANS: Exactly, for 11 years.

MITCHELL: You have known this information for 11 years?

OLTMANS: No.

MANKIEWICZ: No, he's known de Mohrenschidt for 11 years.

OLTMANS: I have been following de Mohrenschidt closely for roughly 11 years, and I have always been open to him, but I still — I liked him, but that I suspected him. And he would walk the razor's edge, as Somerset Maugham would say. He would play with it, he had fun, he was in control of what he was doing. He was very healthy. He would win tennis cups, he would jog every day. He was as healthy as a rock.

On top of it, he came from very good stock, European nobility. He was very well educated. He was a marvelous man.

MITCHELL: When did he crack, in terms of talking to you?

OLTMANS: Very rood question. He cracked immediately after he wrote a book, and he feels that he -- when he wrote his book about the Kennedy assassination, he was drugged. Because without de Mohrenschildt having been drugged, he could have never gone through this complete transformation from, I would say, totally sane to half-mad.

 $\label{eq:manklewicz: You mean when he was in an institution last year.} \$

OLTMANS: When he was in an institution. He was only there five weeks or six weeks for a checkup and for control. He was given the worst electric shock treatments anybody could get. But he was declared unharmful and [unintelligible] went back to give classes at Bishop College, in French.

MITCHELL: Did he commit himself at this point? I mean did he go voluntarily into that hospital for a checkup and the electric shock?

OITMANS: No, his wife -- I understand, but I haven't talked to Mrs. de Nohrenschildt for quite some time. His story is that she committed him to the hospital.

MANKIEWICZ: Have you seen his book?

OLTMANS: No. But I have, at the request of [unintelligible] Television, with Mr. Inkler (?), we called from...

MANKIEWICZ: This is our joint network ...

OLTMANS: The 4th March I called during a meeting in the Netherlands with George de Mohrenschildt to Mr. Pat Russell in Dallas, the lawyer of the family de Mohrenschildt, and he confirmed that the manuscript was in his file, in Mr. de Mohrenschildt's file. And then I asked, "If I come to Dallas, can we get it? Can we get it?"

. If I remember correctly, he said, "We will have to discuss this."  $\hfill \hfill$

Apparently Mrs. de Mohrenschildt and Mr. de Mohrenschildt were divorced at that point, and apparently she would have some rights to anything he would write.

MITCHELL: But did you see the manuscript, or did he talk to you about his connection?

OLTMANS: He talked about it. He sent me several pages of the manuscript for me to check them, whether they were written correctly. And I changed them and elaborated on them, and he wrote me that he was very happy with the changes.

MANKIEWICZ: And he told you, substantially, that he had foreknowledge of the John Kennedy assassination.

OLTMANS: Now we talk about something else than the book. The confession of Mr. de Mohrenschildt that was so shocking to me on the 23rd of February in Dallas, Bishop College, was that he care flatly out. He approached it this way:

MANKIEWICZ: Was this conversation in English?

OLTMANS: In English. He approached it this way: He said, "I don't want to go to jail for being an accessory to the assassination of President Kennedy. But you are the only one I trust. I've known you for 11 years." We have some family connections. Part of my family is Polish nobility and de Mohrenschildt is from Swedish-Russian nobility. The families knew each other. He let me into his circle, probably also in part because of my going back to the Puslaskis of the Polish side.

But he said, "I have waited for you to come and I want to work this out with you. Now, you are experienced. You will know how much I can say without going straight to jail."

So I've been doing that. I've been very careful. I have -- in my testimony for the committee on the lith of February, I have been taking into account that de Mohrenschildt -- Mr. de Mohrenschildt told me information in deep background, as we call it in Washington, and some on background.

MANKIEWICZ: Yes. Let me ask you this: When Lee Harvey Oswald came back from the Soviet Union with his wife, he was met in New York by a rather shadowy figure who purported to be from the Traveles Aid Society, but in fact was fronting for some Eastern European liberation group, probably financed by the Central Intelligence Agency. You don't have to the restrict He then went to Dallas and became, very soon therefore, involved with de Mohrenschildt.

OLTMANS: I have tapes admitted to the House Assassination Committee. I have taped the de Mohrenschildt family, in addition to my television film I did with them, for nine full hours in the CBS studio in Dallas in 1969. We sat down an entire day, with a break for lunch. And they told from A to Zed the entire story of their involvement with Oswald.

And, Frank, one thing is interesting to you: de Mohren-schildt says on that tape that he went looking for Oswald in the company of a Russian colonel named Orlov.

MANKIEWICZ: He went looking for Oswald...

OLTMANS: In Fort Worth. It was not Fort Worth looking ...

MANKIEWICZ: This was before he met Oswald.

OLTMANS: He had heard about Oswald.

MANKIEWICZ: From whom?

OLTMANS: From the Russian community in Dallas, that there was an American having been in Russia, and Marina, a Russian wife.

MANKIEWICZ: But the Russian community that you're talking about were refugee Russians, right?

OLTMANS: Yes, right.

MANKIEWICZ: Not czarist, perhaps, but the next generation after czarist, at least; White Russians, as we used to call them.

OLTMANS: You are very right.

MITCHELL: And what did they want with Lee Harvey Oswald?

MANKIEWICZ: And why did they want him?

OLTMANS: Well, that was why it was so shocking for me to hear de Mohrenschildt, after 11 years, come out, close to tears, sitting in the library in Bishop College: "I have to tell -- I have to tell the Oswald story it really is. I have to do this now. My wife left me. I'm going to leave Bishop College, because I'm 65. But help me, so that I don't go to jail."

MITCHELL: Can you tell us?

OLTMANS: Yes, now. And I'm very sad about -- this is, of course, a shocking end for such -- for this life of this man. But I called the committee for that reason, because I do not feel any obligation now to withhold those things he told me.

MANKIEWICZ: Do you think someone -- did he indicate to you that someone told de Mohrenschildt to go look for Oswald?

OLTMANS: That I don't know. No, he's not -- well, that I don't know. That is a very good question. I wouldn't know. I have no indication whether he was told by anybody.

MITCHELL: Well, what is the Oswald story?

MANKIEWICZ: But during the time that he was involved with Oswald, do you think he was his own mam, or do you think someone was running him?

OLTMANS: De Nohrenschildt was so wall placed in Dallas society, he is not a type to be anybody's man. He was very close with H.L. Hunt, inviting him to all his parties. He knew him very closely. He knew many oil people on a level of like colleagues in our profession. I mean this is not a matter of giving orders. He was on the top.

MITCHELL: Nr. Oltmans, H.L. Hunt's name is mentioned and named by you as being one of the Dallas oil men who had something to do with a possible conspiracy.

OLTMANS: Yes. That is what George de Nohrenschildt flatly indicated to me, yes.

MITCHELL: Were there other names as well as Mr. Hunt's?

OLTMANS: A number of names, yes. I have everything -- I have everything submitted this morning to the committee, as far as I knew, under oath.

MANKIEWICZ: But he was suggesting to you that he was aware of a conspiracy...

OLTMARS: Yes, yes, oh, very much.

MANKIEWICZ: ... not that he was part of it.

OLTNAMS: Of course not. He...

MANKIEWICZ: Of course not, he wasn't a part, or of course not, he wouldn't admit that he was a part.

OLTMANS: He said that Oswald acted at his instruction.

MANKIEWICZ: His, de Mohrenschildt's, instruction.

OLTMANS: Yes, yes.

MANKIEWICZ: Prior to the assassination.

OLTMANS: Prior to the -- that he was sure that Oswald killed -- that Oswald was involved in the assassination. He said in Port-au-Prince, in Haiti, on the day of Kennedy's killing, that Oswald must be the man who got Kennedy.

MANKIEWICZ: De Mohrenschildt at that time was involved with the CIA in Haiti?

OLTMARS: I don't know. He must have been, because in his manuscript he mentions, as I said this morning, a number of names of CIA and FBI people.

MITCHELL: Mr. Oltmans, can you give us those names?

OLTMANS: No, that would be unwise at this point. That's why the committee meeting was off the record. I also have to consult first NRS '(?), Dutch Television, how far they want me to go in telling the story that we collected in 11 years to other television -- competitive television stations.

MANKIEWICZ: But you gave those names to the committee.

OLTMANS: Oh, yes. I gave one particular name of an FBI official to the committee, which is probably very crucial and very important. It is not Hoover.

MANKIEWICZ: This is a name that de Mohrenschildt gave you.

OLTMANS: Yes, yes. And it is supposed to be in the manuscript that is in Dallas in the lawyer's office.

MANKIEWICZ: What about on the tape?

OLTMANS: There are names, yes, many names on the tape. But I am not so sure that they are very revealing, because that tape was made in 1968. There are, of course, interesting names on the tape, like Colonel Orlov, that nobody ever heard about, to my knowledge.

MANKIEWICZ: And Colonel Orlov was also from this White Russian community.

OLTMANS: Apparently, yes.

MITCHELL: Why would the -- I mean was there any indication on the tape, in your conversations, as to why people such as H.L. Hunt, who is named, would have any interest in the assassination of John F. Kennedy?

OLTMANS: That was made clear by Mr. de Mohrenschildt to me. And, as a matter of fact, the dozens of letters that I have over the 10-years' exchange with him confirm that statement that he recently made to me. In the letters transpires this same mentality that he spoke of that was the real...

MITCHELL: And what was it?

OLTMANS: I don't want to be uncooperative. But as you must understand, I have just been before the committee. I came here out of courtesy, but I must consult my own television people, because they spent 11 years of my traveling back and forth from Holland to...

MITCHELL: ...understand, as a journalist, we must...

OLTHANS: Oh, you are very good at it.

MANKIEWICZ: Pat and I are going to push you as far as we can.

OLTHANS: I understand, but forgive me, I like to be -- you are the first...

[Confusion of voices]

MANKIEWICZ: Let me ask you this, because these names have come up. You talked earlier today about the relationship not only of oil people but of anti-Castro Cubans. And I take it de Mohrenschildt gave you some indication that Oswald was involved with them as well.

OLTMANS: Clear indication. Clear indication.

MANKIEWICZ: Was there any indication of connections with organized crime?

OLTMANS: Not to my knowledge, at all.

MANKIEWICZ: And did he at any time mention...

OLTMANS: De Mohrenschildt is not the type to get involved with that, in my view.

MANKIEWICZ: Did he at any time mention Jack Ruby to you?

OLTMANS: Oh, yes, because I asked. I asked him recently, "Did you know Jack Ruby?"

He said, "Yes."

And then I asked a trick question. I asked, "Did you -- did you visit Ruby's nightclub one week before the assassination?" He was supposed to be in Haiti.

And he said, carefully, "I suppose so."

MANKIENICZ: "I suppose so."

OLTMANS: Yeah. You see, he was very slippery.

MANKIEWICZ: Why didn't you ask him that question?

OLTHANS: Because Oswald's letter had just been published by the FBI that he supposedly wrote to Mr. H.L. Hunt, and it was just in the middle of when we were discussing leaving for Holland in February. So I asked him, on that subject, a number of questions.

MITCHELL: Was George de Mohrenschildt ever interviewed by the Warren Commission when they were investigating the assassination?

OLTNANS: Oh, I think -- yes. The testimony of Mr. and Mrs. de Mohrenschildt runs much longer than that of Marquerite Oswald or Marina Oswald, his wife, some 250 pages. He was very suspected, but the conclusion was "Okay, they are outside." But that is very sloppy.

Mr. Tip O'Neill said, I think yesterday, or so, that it is obvious that we need the Warren Commission to be reexamined.

MANKIEWICZ: What -- you asked -- I'm not sure I understand why you asked de Mohrenschildt if he had been to Jack Ruby's night-club a week before the assassination.

OLTMANS: Well, what I asked was, for instance, the money thing, you know. And that's how -- who paid whom?

MANKIEWICZ: Did you ask him if he had paid anybody any money?

OLTMANS: No. De Mohrenschildt...

MANKIEWICZ: Or if he had been paid any money?

OLTHANS: I admire your persistence in trying to get as much out of my story as possible, Frank. But you will understand that I must display a certain loyalty to my own...

MITCHELL: Well, I'm going to ask you to speculate on something, then. Do you think that De Mohrenschildt really committed spicide?

OLTHANS: Oh, if you ask me as a journalist, I say I don't know, because I haven't been able to do anything about it. I only heard it yesterday that he had committed suicide. If you ask my personal opinion, outside the journalistic one, I would say personally I consider it most likely that he did.

MANKIEWICZ: Most...

OLTMANS: Most likely that he did. Because, Frank, he has threatened all through the trip I made, from February 23rd till March 5th, then he disappeared in Brussels, he has said, "Okay, I'll give you something." He said, "Three things can happen to me. Either I talk," to me, "or they drive me mad, or I will kill myself."

MITCHELL: And who are "they"?

OLTMANS: Okay, that also I have much to say about. I have much to say about that.

MANKIEWICZ: In another forum.

OLTMANS: If you don't mind. Maybe I get very much in trouble for having gone...

MANKIEWICZ: That's all right. I'll take care of you.

OLTMANS: Help me, Frank.

MANKIEWICZ: Now, let me ask you this: If you asked de Mohrenschildt, for whatever reason, if he had been to Jack Ruby's nightclub a week before the assassination, and he said to you...

OLTMANS: "I suppose so."

MANKIEWICZ: "Probably," or, "I suppose so." Now, here is a man who is suave, distinguished, a member of upper-class Dallas society, a friend of bogus White Guard colonels, very much involved with White Russian society and upper-class people. What was your next question when he told you that he had probably been to Jack Ruby's saloon, which was probably as sleazy a place as there was around?

 $\label{eq:old_obj} \textbf{OLTMANS:} \quad \textbf{Well, I then went into the financial aspect of the Kennedy assassination.}$

MARKIEWICZ: Thank you. I have no further questions.

OLTMANS: Oh, otherwise I would have said ...

MANKIEWICZ: No, I do. I have lots of questions. Go ahead.

OLTMANS: You see, the problem with Mr. de Mohrenschildt is that in the 10 years I knew him, till the 23rd of February, he was healthy as a rock, a good sportsman; he was fantastic.

MANKIEWICZ: Until you took the trip to Europe with him.

OLTMANS: No. Until I have known him all those years, he was fine. Then I didn't see him for a year.

MANKIEWICZ: Oh, I see.

OLTMANS: And I saw him for the first time on the 23rd of February, and I thought I saw a different man.

MANKIEWICZ: This is in Brussels.

OLTMANS: This was in Dallas, Bishop College. When I met him in Dallas on the 23rd of February and when he made a confession, I didn't recognize him. He was a mental, physical -- he was a wreck.

MITCHELL: Mr. Oltmans, will that make people doubt that confession? Will there be some concern because they will say...

OLTMANS: Okay. He was in a mental...

MITCHELL: ...he was not in good health.

OLTMANS: That's true. But he was only six weeks in a mental hospital, or five weeks. Now, I understand Mr. Bukovsky was several years in a mental hospital. He came to the United States and your unions made him address their union conferences, the President and the Vice President received him in the White House, because they apparently think him of enough mental quality to have a serious conversation.

MANKIEWICZ: But what was your impression of De Mohren-schildt? Did you think that he had degenerated?

OLTMANS: No, it's not -- no.

MANKIEWICZ: It was what, his physical aspect?

OLTMANS: No. The man was petrified. He was scared to death that he was about to talk, he wanted to talk, and that they would do something to him. He begged me to take him to the Netherlands, and that's what I did.

MANKIEWIC2: Did you ask him if he told the truth to the Warren Commission? Or was it clear to you that he did not?

OLTMANS: I have a lot to say about that, too, Frank. I'm -- you are my colleagues. I want to be most cooperative and friendly. But I'm going a little bit out of my...

MANKIEWICZ: I understand.

MITCHELL: You may not be able to answer this one either, but I'm curious. He did go to the Netherlands with you after that meeting?

OLTMANS: Yes.

MITCHELL: Was there any attempt on the part of the other people that he was afraid of to reach him during that time?

OLTHAMS: No, not that I know of.

MITCHELL: And why did he come back?

OLTMANS: I have no idea.

MANKIEWICZ: He ducked you in Brussels.

OLTMANS: He ducked me in Brussels, after a lencheon there, and he went for a walk and never returned. And only this Sunday I got a message that he was back in the country, because I had set it up very cleverly that I would know immediately when he got back. I was controlling his automobile. The automobile of George de Mohrenschildt was with a friend of mine. So I knew that if he ever returned to the United States, he would first check where is car -- his car. And so my friends in Houston immediately notified me.

As a matter of fact, it was very sad, actually, that I informed the deputy counsel of the committee on Monday morning of George's whereabouts in Florida.

MITCHELL: And that's when they reached him...

OLTMANS: And they told me that they would sen someone out there and that they would reach him on Tuesday. And he apparently shot himself almost immediately after that person reached de Mohrenschildt.

 ${\tt MANYIEWICZ:}$  He had never spoken to any representative of the committee, right?

OLTMANS: Not yet. Not yet.

MANKIEWICZ: Not even to make an appointment to meet.

OLTMANS: No. So he said. I don't know why...

MANKIEWICZ: Now, we're talking about a manuscript of his that so far as you know is in his lawyer's possession in Fort Worth.

OLTMANS: Right, yes.

MANKIEWICZ: And we're talking about a tape that you made with him that  $i_{\mathsf{i}}s$  where?

OLTMANS: Nine hours.

MANKIEWICZ: That is where.

OLTMANS: In NOS Television, as you well know. And one of the nine tapes is already with the committee, and I think they are going to telegraph this afternoon for the other eight.

MANKIEWICZ: And those tapes were made in 1969.

OLTMANS: Right.

MANKIEWICZ: In the CBS station in Dallas.

OLTMANS: Studio in Dallas.

 $\mbox{\tt MITCHELL:}$  But he said things to you in February that he had not said on that tape.

OLTMANS: Oh, 180 degrees different.

MANKIEWICZ: And did you tape the conversation in February?

OLTMANS: No, no. You see, he overran me with this confession.

 $\label{eq:MANKIEWICZ:} \textbf{ This took place where, in his office at Bishop College?}$

OLTMANS: In Bishop College library, exactly. And I put a dime in a coin phone and called Carl Lankler (?), whom you know well, of Dutch Television, and asked permission, by collect phone to the Netherlands, to ship us together to the Netherlands. And I got that authorization immediately.

I wanted to go as quickly as possible to one of those cameras with the man. That's my job. When CBS asked me -- television aske me, "Why didn't you go to the nearest police station?" I replied that "I'm a journalist and my job is that even if the man says he killed the President of the United States, that I go to the nearest camera, and not the nearest police station."

MITCHELL: And he knew that, didn't he?

OLTMANS: And he knew it and he was willing to do it. And he said in full executive session in the Netherlands, in negotiation on the 4th of March that lested four or five hours, that he was ready to do it. And they were going to set him up in a nearby hotel, he would get a complete staff, we would try to get the manuscript, in order to win time, out of the lawyer's office in Dallas; that's why we called, and etcetera.

MITCHELL: So he was prepared to do a full confession on Dutch television.

OLTMANS: You two are really terrible. Do you mind? You have really squeezed more out of this lemon than I intended.

MANKIEWICZ: May I ask you just a couple of more questions? And all you have to do is just say no, you're not going to answer that.

Much was made at the time of the assassination and for a while thereafter, and then in the last year a great deal, about connections between Oswald and Cuba, an attempt, I think, to establish not that he was involved with anti-Castro people, but involved somehow with the government of Cuba.

Did you talk to de Mohrenschildt about Oswald's Cuban connections at all?

OLTMANS: Yes

MANKIEWICZ: You did.

OLTMANS: Yes.

 ${\tt MANKIEWICZ:}$  And his alleged involvement with the Fair Play for Cuba Committee.

OLTMANS: Yes, some, not too much. And the committee pressed on that point very much this morning.

MANKIEWICZ: I'm not surprised.

OLTMARS: Several members of the committee. And I had, unfortunately, to - I m very sorry that I could not really come out, because I have most of my notes in Holland on this...

MANKIEWICZ: I see.

OLTMANS: I have to be very precise; 1 was under oath. So I asked them to be pardoned, to reply to them.

MANKIEWICZ: But your conversation...

OLTMANS: This is a different reason than...

MANKIEWICZ: Sure.. But your conversations with de Mohrenschildt involved the names of ce.tain Cubans.

OLTMANS: Oh, yes, yes -- no, never.

MITCHELL: No names.

OLTMANS: Well, there is a story on that, too, but -- yes. But that I will also bring out...

MANKIEWICZ: But at least it involved the affiliations of certain Cubans.

OLTMANS: Yes. That's right.

 $\label{eq:MANKIEWICZ: Their ideological connection. And they were anti-Castro rather than...$

OLTMANS: Very much anti-Castro.

MITCRELL: Mr. Oltmans, were you in this country for the testimony, or had you come in pursuit of Mr. de Mohrenschildt?

OLTMANS: No, no, no, I never pursued the dear man. No, I was here for lectures and for other work. I'm writing a book about the United States now, and I was doing here my work until I heard -- I was in Minneapolis and I heard only -- as a matter of fact, I moved already to Boston, to Harvard, where I have a number of appointments, and then I heard that he had killed himself, and I came immediately to Washington.

MITCHELL: I thank you for coming immediately to Panorama from your testimony. And didn't want to press you too hard, but just as you go to those cameras, so do we.

OLTNANS: I apologize for ....

NEW YORK DATLY NEWS 1 APRIL 1977

By JOSEPH VOLZ

Washington (News Bureau) — House Assassinations Committee investigators say that new evidence concerning bullet fragments may disprove the Warren Commission conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone killer of President Kennedy 13 years ago.

was the lone killer of President Kenz Robert Tanenbaum, a former New York City prosecutor who now heads the panel's Kennedy assassination investigating team, contends that a nurse at Parkland Hospital in Dallas, where Kennedy and then-Texas Gov. John B. Connally were brought after they were stot, saw four or five hullet fragments removed from Connally, the Warren Commission said that one bullet had passed through Kennedy and Connally, remaining intact.

two bullets were fired, adding credibility to the theory that two or more persons were shooting at the President.

Many conspiracy theorists claim that shots were not only fired from the Texas School Book Depository, where Oswald's rifle was allegedly found, but also from a grassy knoll near the route of the presidential caravan. The Warren Commission rejected the theory that any shots were fired from the knoll.

Tanenbaum said that the fragments—if they can be found—will also be tested to see if they all came from the same bullet.

Committee investigators, who won House support on Tuesday for a two-year investigation, also have been trying to find . Dallas woman who claimed that Jack Ruby, the night-club-owner who killed Oswald, once introduced her to "Oswald of the CIA."

Tanenbaum helieves that the woman who was not otherwise identified — might belp pin down rumors that Ruby and oswald knew each other and were engaged in some sort of assassination conspiracy.

The Oswald Killing Under the most widely held theory; Ruby supposedly killed Oswald to keep him quit about the identifies of the "real" conspirators, who never surfaced.

The woman, who never surfaced. The woman, who worked in another Dallas night club, also recalled that Oswaid was linked to the CIA. There have been various reports that Oswaid made contact with the CIA before the assassination. However, there are no confirmed reports that he was ever a CIA employe or that the agency participated in the essassination in any was.

Ex-CIA man hints IFK knew of Castro plots

By David Nyhan Globe Staff

A former Central Intelligence Agency official maintains that he "cannot conceive" that President John F. Kennedy was unaware of CIA plots to kill Cuban leader Fidel Castro.

Harry Rositzke said in an interview this week, "There was a great deal of discussion about assassinating Castro at the highest levels of the government" in the early 1960s.

"I left it at that" in the book, he said.

"The Attorney General (Robert F. Kennedy) knew about it. It's hard to use the word 'condoned' or 'approved,'" Rositake said, because initial planning for the abortive Castro plots took place under the Eisenhower Administration."

"And I cannot conceive the Attorney Genera' knowing about this without telling the President."

Rositzke, who retired in 1970 and is justion of a book about the CIA, said speculation that some US efficials may have been involved in attempts to aid in the assassination of President Kennedy is "one of the absolutely blatant false accusations ... there was no indication, no evidence of any sort."

He said it is clear now that Eisenhower ordered the assassination of African leader Patrice Lumumba, but that Lumumba was killed before US efforts could succeed.

"The Senate (intelligence committee) report found no documentary evidence that President Kennedy or Robert Kennedy knew of any CIA plans, with or without the use of the Mafia, to assassinate Castro. I talked to Sen. (Frank) Church about this, and he said. 'We put down the facts such as we had them, and it was up to the reader to determine whether or not they (the Kennedy brothers) did know.'"

Rositzke said, "My personal view, and I talked to many of the people connected with this, is that the circumstantial evidence makes it really quite clear that the Attorney General must have known about these matters, that he was, after the Bay of Pigs, in very close contact, in fact to a certain extent kind of running the CIA, at his brother's request."

Rositzke, who refused to reveal his last title at the CIA, said Robert Kennedy was socially friendly with Desmond Fitzgerald, a CIA official at the time, and that Fitzgerald was "highly accessible to the Administration."

Rositzke's book, "The CIA's Secret Operations: Espionage, Counterespionage, and Covert Action," Readers Digest Press, $12.95, has an introduction by Arthur Schlesinger Jr., a friend of Rositzke's since 1945, when the pair were at Harvard.

The introduction has Schlesinger calling the work "much more complete than any account available to the public...absorbing."

Asked what Schlesinger thought of his theory that both Kennedy brothers knew of the Castro plots, Rositzke replied, "This is something obviously Arthur Schlesinger has a big fight with me about."

Schlesinger was an official of the Kennedy Administration.

WITNESS TIES OSWALD TO OILMEN AND CUBANS

Newsman Tells Panel That Suicide Had Related Conspiracy Story

By WENDELL RAWLS Jr.

Special to The New York Times
WASHINGTON, April 1-A Dutch journalist said today he had told the House Assassinations Committee that the mysterious potential witness who allegedly committed suicide Tuesday had told him that Texas oilmen and anti-Castro Cubans had conspired with Lee Harvey Oswald to kill President Kennedy.

Willem Oltmans, a television newsman, was called before the panel after he said in various morning press and television interviews that the alleged conspiracy to assassinate President Kennedy involved not only Mr. Oswald but also George de Mohrenschildt, who apparently shot himself in Palm Beach, Fla.; the Federal Bu-reau of Investigation, the Central Intelligence Agency, H. L. Hunt, the late Texas oil millionaire, and Mr. Oswald's assassin, Jack Ruby.

Found Him 'Very Specific

Mr. Oltmans also gave hearsay testimony that there may have been a $50,000 contract out to kill Mr. Kennedy. He said he had met an oil worker who said he had been offered the contract.

After Mr. Oltmans testified, Representative Richardson Preyer, Democrat of North Carolina who is chairman of the subcommittee investigating the Kennedy assassination, was asked if he believed

Mr. Oltmans's story.

"Ask me that question again in a few months," Mr. Preyer replied. "Mr. Oltmans was very specific on some things which can be corroborated, but not as clear on others."

An F.B.I. spokesman said that Mr. de Mohrenschildt had "been interviewed extensively by the F.B.I. and testified before the Warren Commission and all of his in-formation was not pertinent to the assassination." He added: " i

"All the information coming from Mr. Oltmans about Mr. de Mohrenschildt is all new to su and probably all new to cality.

A source in the FBL said that Mr.

de Mohrenschildt had attempted suicide four times in the past six months befare sucreeding last Tuesday,

The committee met two weeks ago to discuss ways of winning enough Congressional and public support of its inquiry to keep the committee alive. Some of the methods discussed were public hearings featuring truculent witnesses and secret briefings that could generate publicity.

Declines to Disclose Evidence

Mr. Oltmans, who testified for three hours in closed session, later declined to tell newsmen what evidence he had to support his claim. But he said that he and Mr. de Mohrenschildt had been friends for about 10 years and that Mr. de Mohrenschildt had said he was a middie-man between Mr. Oswald and Mr. Hunt. He said that Mr. de Mohrenschildt told him that Cubans shot at Mr. Kennedy at the same time that Mr. Oswald did.

A spokesman for Ruth Hunt, Mr. Hunt's widow, his youngest son, Ray Hunt, and the Hunt estate said: "Any allegations by Willem Oltmans that H.L. Hunt was involved with Mr. de Mahrenschildt or on the control of the

Mr. Oltmans said that he had given the assassination committee "the name of an F.B.I. official, not [the late director of an F.B.I. official, not [the late director 1. Edgar] Hoover, who might be important," and that he had given it a taped interview in which a Cuban exile named Loran Hall says he was offered $50,000 in the office of a Dallas oilman, Lester Logue, to kill President Kennedy.

Mr. Logue called the allegation "ridiculous," and said he would meet with his lawyers to discuss suing Mr. Oltmans for libel. He called Mr. Oltmans a "publicity psychopath," and said, "This just demonstrates the absolute power that the media has to destroy somebody without recourse."

course."

The theory of Mr. Hunt's involvement has been advanced before but has never been corroborated. A spokesman for the Hunt family and estate said that they "have finally had about enough of such charges."

charges."
"It has been publicly recorded that Mr. de Mohrenschildt had a history of mental problems," the spokesman sald. "If in fact Mr. de Mohrenschildt ever claimed to have had any relationship with H. L. Hunt, those claims must be viewed accordingly."

The commission headed by Chief Justice

The commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren that investigated President Kennedy's assassination in 1963 concluded that Mr. Oswald was the lone assassin. Earlier today, Mr. Oltmans said in an NBC radio interview that the reason the Cubans wanted to kill President Kennedy was that 'they thought they had a blood debt to settle—they thought that President Kennedy had betrayed them at the Bay of Pigs." He said that Mr. De Mohrenschildt had told him he never knew, in fact, who killed Mr. Kennedy because an unspecified number of Cubans were supposed to be shooting at the same time Mr. Oswald did.

Mr. de Mohrenschildt, who was born in Russia, reportedly befriended Mr. Oswald and his wife, Marina, before the assassination. Mrs. Oswald also was Russian-born.

Mr. Oltmans said that Mr. de Mohrens.

Mr. Oltmans said that Mr. de Mohren-schildt had told him that Mr. Oswald had acted at Mr. Mohrenschildt's guidance and instructions.
"Mr. e Mihrenschildt indicated to me

"Mr. e. M. hrenschildt indicated to me very strengly that his ties upwards were towards H.E. Hunt and downstairs to Lee-Harvey Owald," Mr. Oltmans said in an ABC television interview.

Assertions About Oswald Confronting House Group

"He felt he had been drugged in Amsterdam," Mrs. Taylor said. She also resported that her father had been mentally ill recently.

Treated for Paranoia

Other associates of Mr. de Mohren-schildt reported that he was treated for, for paranoia for some weeks in Dallas earlier this year. He was a teacher at a small school in Dallas, Bishop College. During his adventurous life, Mr. de Mohrenschildt had many careers: perfume salesman, oil geologist nolo player Pot-salesman, oil geologist, polo player, Pol-ish cavalry officer, movie producer and, many believed, spy.

At one point in World War II, Mr. de-Mohrenschildt was suspected of spung-by both the United States and Mexico and was detained and questioned in both countries.

The United States incident came after he and Lilia Pardo Larin, then his mis-tress, were observed photographing and sketching the beachfront near Corpus Christi, Texas Mr. de Mobrenschildt told the Warren

A McCarthy Era' Tactic in the Assassination Committee

By James Hamilton

WASHINGTON-The House Select Committee on Assessinations made a grandstand play last month that was reminiscent of the McCarthy era.

Having an indication beforehand that he would invoke his Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination, the committee called the onetime head of gambling operations in Cuba and reputed Mafia chieftain Santos Trafficante Jr. to a public hearing and repeatedly-14 times-questioned him about any advance knowledge he may have had of the assassination of John P. Kennedy or plans to kill Fidel Castro, Each time, Mr. Trafficente rafused to testify on constitutional grounds. (He is the only survivor amone three underworld flaunce deacribed in earlier Congressional testimony as being enlisted by the Central Intelligence Agency in 1900 to kill Mr. Castro.)

Mr. Trafficante's public assertion of his privilege in response to all 14 questions did result in heightened nublic curiosity and citiliation. But if any legitimate legislative function was served by his bublic appearance, it is not apparent.

It seems, however, that some committee members were happy with the Traificante display, perhape hoping that it might save their troubleplagued investigation from extinction by the full House. One committee member. Representative Robert W. Edgar, Democrat of Pennsylvania, reportadly suggested that a similar tactic be used again.

Such spectacles were commonplace during the lovelty investigations at midcentury. Individuals taking the Fifth Amendment to questions about Communist backgrounds were hauled forth to do so in public; those admitting past Communist connections were allowed to confess in private session. Senator William E, Jenner's Internal Security Subcommittee was particu-

Jarly guilty of this spuse, Compare the practice of Senstor Sam J. Ervin's Watergate committee. Those claiming their privilens-for axample, Charles W. Colson and G. Gordon Liddy-were allowed to do so privately, it would have been great the ater, with the country spellbound by "ment, as the United States Supreme tough-suy Colson and the enismatic Liddy before television cameras to let the world hear their refusals to testify. But no legislative purpose would have been served by such display.

Generally speaking, a legislative inquiry is justified only if it produces facts that help formulate-legislative judgments or if it informs the helic of shortcomings in government or, other areas of society where there is a legitimate Federal Interest. Clearly, to call to public asssion an individual a committee knows will take the Fifth promotes neither the lawmaking nor. the informing function.

In many instances, the chief result is shame and stisms that may haunt a witness for many years, But punish.

every Watergate event, to parade Court has said, is not a proper goal of a legislative investigation (except in disciplinary proceedings for violation of Congressional rules). Congress is not generally empowered to conduct legislative trials

Few tears have been shed for Mr. Trafficante. His past is unsavory and his lawyer, invoking a little-used House rule, exorcised the television cameras before Mr. Trafficante asmerted his privilege. Moreover, according to several committee staff members. Mr. Trafficante did not ask to testify in private session and perhaps was overloved that the mob knew his lio was firmly buttoned. Better a little public opprobrium then an unacheduled trip to the ocean bottom,

Nonetheless, it is important, now that the assaudation committee's mandate has been extended by the House to call attention to this unjustified tactic. The committee's work is too important to have its investigations lapse into gimmickry.

Unless the committee demon strates that it can conduct its inquiries with prudence and fairness - even where questionable individuals are involved -- it will not regain the public esteem and confidence lost during the embarrassing bickering between its erstwhile chief counsel. Richard A. Sprague and former chairman, Representative Henry B. Gonzalez.

Assassination: Now a Suicide Talks

"Let's face it I only made up the story labout Lee Harvey Oswald because everybody makes a million dollars off the Kennedy assassination, and I haven't made anything. So now it's my time. —George de Mohrenschildt, quoted

by Willem Oltmans

That grotesque confession should be sufficient to discredit the man who made it, a Russian born teacher and friend of Lee Harvey Oswald's named George de Mohrenschildt. But nothing ever seems sufficient to still Kennedy assassination stones, time and events merely compli-cate them. Last week only an hour after a congressional investigator asked to meet with him in Manalagan, Ha

De Mohrenschildt apparently committed suicides by putting a 20-gauge shotgun in his mouth and pulling the trigger Suddenly there was intense interest in whathe might have fold the investigator Sure enough, within 48 hours a world-traveling Dutch TV newsman, Willem Oltmans, showed up to reveal to a closed session of the House Select Committee on Assassinations - plus ABC, NBC and CBS - what De Mohren-schildt had been telling him during the several years of their acquaintance Oltmans' testimony-given under oath- was sensational stuff. De Mohrenschildt, said Oltmans, claimed he had been the middleman in a conspiracy of rich Texas oilmen, headed by the late H.L. Hunt, and anti-Castro Cubans to kill Kennedy. Oswald was one gunman. but supposedly several Cubans were also assigned to shoot the President One could even be identified. Oltmans provided the committee with a picture of a Cuban whom he said fired shots at Kennedy But apart from the dramatic backdrop provided by De Mohrenschildt's suicide, the story was just ainother series of runiors that could not be corroborated.

At the time of the Kennedy assas sination. De Mobrenschildt was an oilgeologist employed by the U.S. State Departoseni in Harti. He had known Os wald for a year (they were members of a Russian speaking group in Dullagi, and he told the Warren Commussion;in 1964 that he knew nothing of Oswaid's a series of meetings with Oltmans beginning in 1966. He believed people were following fam." According to Oltmans, De Mehren schildt would vacaliate between clauring his comparacy tale was a book, and asserting it was true. In addition to De-Molifered hildly instability doubt, are thrown on his story by a review of Warien Commission testimony that shows De Mohreoschildt fast saw Oswald six months before the assassination. "It is absolutely out of the question that De-Mohrens hildt had anything to do with Kennedy's death," funies Chicago Attorney Albert Jenner, who interviewed De Mohrens hildt for the Warren Commission. Adds Jenner of the House Assassination Committee's entire performan, e "Utterly disgusting"

The commuttee members who heard Oltmans testimony took a wait-and see attitude. "I think he is telling the troth as he perceives it," said D.C. Delegate, Walter Fauntroy Oltmans himself cited. an obviously disturbing aspect of his charges. Asked a tough question during a television interview, he replied, "Well, I'm quoting Mr. De Mohrenschildt, so that makes it very easy". De Mobrenschildt being in no position to amend the record

Oltmans' testimony was only the chi max in a heetic week during which the House Select Committee on Assassinations barely escaped its own death by saumhung its controversial counsel, Richard Sprague. The outspoken exdistrict attorney from Philadelphia hadangered too many Congressmen with his demands for a $13 million budget and a staff of 175 for the two-year investigation (TIME, Jan. 10)

Too Raw. With Sprague out of the the Hoose was willing to vote 230. to 181 to continue the investigations on a reduced aircual budget of $2.8 mil. hen. U.S. House of Representatives, SELECT COMMITTEE ON ASSASSINATIONS, Washington, D.C., December 31, 1976.

Hon. Edmund L. Henshaw, Jr., Clerk, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C.

DEAR MR. HENSHAW: On behalf of the House Select Committee on Assassinations and pursuant to the mandate of House Resolution 1540, I am transmitting herewith to the House of Representatives the report of the committee representing the results of the committee's investigation and study since its inception on September 17, 1976. The report includes the recommendations of the committee with respect to continued investigation by the House of Representatives of the assassinations of John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King, Jr.

I would like, at this time, to express the deep appreciation of the committee to the committee staff for its excellent work on this phase of the Select Committee's investigation.

I note, on my retirement from the House of Representatives, the fine start which has been made on this investigation, for whose initiation I have worked over the past years. It is my sincere hope that the House will see fit to proceed with the investigation in the same thorough and professional manner in which it has begun.

Sincerely,

THOMAS N. DOWNING. Chairman.

I. INTRODUCTION

Twelve years have passed since the Warren Commission released its report finding that Lee Harvey Oswald was the sole assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Eight years have passed since Judge W. Preston Battle of the Shelby County, Tenn., Criminal Court accepted James Earl Ray's plea of guilty to the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The passage of time has not healed the national trauma caused by these assassinations. In the ensuing years, old doubts have remained and new disturbing questions have been raised as additional evidence has come to light.

The following are just a few examples of these new issues:

(1) Did the Central Intelligence Agency deliberately avoid furnishing critical information to the Federal Bureau of Investigation which would have resulted in the surveillance of Lee Harvey Oswald prior to the assassination of President Kennedy? If so, why?

(2) Was critical evidence withheld from the Warren Commission?

If so, why?

The U.S. Senate Select Committee to Study Governmental Operations, in a report released April 23, 1976, concluded that the performance of U.S. intelligence agencies was defective both with respect to the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy as well as the reporting to the Warren Commission. That report states in part:

In the days following the assassination of President Kennedy, nothing was more important to this country than to determine the facts of his death; no one single event has shaken the country more. Yet the evidence the Committee has developed suggests that, for different reasons, both the CIA and the FBI failed in, or avoided carrying out, certain of their responsibilities in this matter.

The Committee emphasizes that it has not uncovered any evidence sufficient to justify a conclusion that there was a conspiracy to assassinate President Kennedy. The Committee, has, however, developed evidence which impeaches the process by which the intelligence agencies arrived at their own conclusions about the assassination, and by which they provided information to the Warren Commission. This evidence indicates that the investigation of the assassination was deficient and that facts which might have substantially affected the course of the investigation were not provided the Warren Commission or those individuals within the FBI and CIA, as well as other agencies of Government who were charged with investigating the assassination. (Emphasis supplied.)

(3) There are reports of intensive surveillance of Dr. Martin Luther King by domestic intelligence agencies, including the FBI. Who and where were these agents at the time of Dr. King's assassination? Do they have any evidence concerning the assassination or any plans to commit it? Was this surveillance deliberately curtailed prior to the assassination? And, if so, why?

(4) There are reports that there were unusual transfers of personnel by the Memphis Fire and Police Departments on April 3 and April 4, 1968, which may or may not have affected the security of Dr. King. If so, why were these transfers made and at whose direction?

Over the years repeated disclosures of agency misconduct, foreign assassination attempts, concented information destruction of evidence and possible deliberate misinformation have fostered among our citizens an ensuing lack of confidence in Government agencies.

As a result, there has been a growing sense of national concern about the adequacy and integrity of the original investigations. The history of these assassinations has demonstrated that the passage of more time will only increase that concern, and only a thorough and definitive inquiry at this time will resolve the growing doubts,

On September 17, 1976, the House of Representatives rose to this challenge. It created the Select Committee on Assassinations (H. Res. 1540) with the mandate to conduct a "full and complete investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of John F. Kennedy and the death of Martin Luther King, Jr., and of any others the Select Committee shall determine."

The members of the Select Committee recognized the need to resolve certain preliminary matters in the 3 months remaining before the close of the 94th Congress. With a realistic appraisal of the task in mind, staffing and budget levels were determined. Threshold investigative inquiries were begun. With the advent of the new Congress the committee is now prepared to proceed with the investigation.

The committee undertook ist legislative mandate with the recognition of its responsibility to the American public. The purpose of this mandate is to investigate and provide the facts relating to both assassinations and to do so in a manner which will be credible, professional, ethical and will reflect well on the integrity of Congress.

Pursuant to this mandate, the committee will make recommendations regarding the adequacy of existing laws relating to the assassination of the President of the United States, conspiracy, deprivation of civil rights, and the investigatory authority and capability of agencies and departments of the United States government.

The committee has received widespread support for this legislative investigation. An assistant counsel to the Warren Commission, citing recent disclosures of documents which were withheld from the Warren Commission, strongly urged the reopening to the investigation. He stressed that "the conduct of the Commission and of the agencies upon which it relied should be carefully examined and any new information be fully pursued." The important questions, he said, are "not only how and why President Kennedy was assassinated, but how such events can be effectively investigated." He was joined by another assistant counsel to the Warren Commission who has endorsed "a full and thorough investigation of both assassinations."

In the case of the King assassination, the committee was provided with the results of a 1975 investigation conducted by the Atlanta, Ga., Bureau of Police Services. The report states in part: " * * * even a cursory examination of certain information presented to us chiefs some very interesting series of coincidences which would appear to merit investigation by appropriate agencies." The report urges that a new investigation be undertaken in order to reach "a more definitive position on the circumstances surrounding the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr."

The committee's first task was the selection and appointment of a chief counsel and director.

The committee obtained the services of Richard A. Sprague. Mr. Sprague served as First Assistant District Attorney of Philadelphia, Pa., from June 1966, until December 1974. He has represented the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as prosecuting attorney in more than 10,000 criminal trials. Serving as Special Prosecutor for Washington County, Pa., he was responsible for the investigation and subsequent prosecution of the Yablonski murder cases. As Special Assistant to the Attorney General of the United States, he was responsible for the conviction of W. A. "Tony" Boyle, the deposed president of the United Mine Workers.

The committee considered the necessity of moving expeditiously on both investigations. It felt that new evidence pertaining to either the Kennedy or King assassination should be pursued immediately, that further delay would be unwarranted.

Thus, the committee decided to pursue each investigation simultaneously. It organized itself into two subcommittees: one, chaired by Walter E. Fauntroy to direct the King investigation; the other, chaired by Richardson Preyer to pursue the Kennedy probe. All members of the Full Committee will be active in both investigations.

The committee agreed upon the need for a staff of 170. This figure provides for two investigative teams of approximately 15 attorneys and 25 investigators each. It is the intention of the committee to recruit the best talent within this Nation. The committee believes it can attract dedicated professionals in the field of criminal investigation with broad experience and ability, who will view this call as a professional challenge as well as an opportunity for public service. Substantial progress has been made in this area.

Finally, the committee decided unanimously not to conduct the investigations under deadlines. One reason for this is to avoid a situation where an agency, individual or group might engage in delaying tactics in an attempt to outlast the committee.

The Warren Commission, which was under intense pressure to resolve the question of responsibility for the Kennedy assassination quickly, produced its final report within 10 months. That Commission did not have an independent investigative staff and conducted its proceedings in closed hearings. These factors, which may or may not have influenced the outcome of the Commission's investigation, have nevertheless contributed to the increasing challenges to that Commission's conclusions.

With the passage of time since the original investigations, there is no longer the pressure to arrive at quick conclusions. The Select Committee, with the advantage of bindsight, with independent investigators, and without artificial deadlines, will conduct the full, dispassionate, and comprehensive investigation that is necessary.

dispassionate, and comprehensive investigation that is necessary.

To the extent that it does not impede or impair the integrity of the investigation, the committee intends to hold open hearings. These sessions will be held as the investigations lend to verificial conclusions, which either prove or disprove prior findings or allegations. In observing the various witnesses and being able to observe their demeaner and judge their credibility, the American public will have a greater basis for confidence in ultimate conclusions. These sessions will also enable the public to observe the investigation as it unfolds.

III. PRELIMINARY INVESTIGATION AND ANALYSES

In the 3 months since its establishment the Select Committee has initiated preliminary investigations into new and previously unpursued leads in both assassinations. While we cannot yet verify the results of our preliminary investigations, we can provide two examples which are representative of the investigative activity that the conventue of the investigative activity that

On November 26, 1976, committee staff questioned extensively an ex-CLA agent regarding his personal knowledge of conversations between Lee Harvey Oswald and personnel within the Soviet and Cubm Embassies in Mexico City.

As a result of the initial questioning, members of the Kennedy Subcommittee held an executive session on November 27. Based on information obtained during the hearing, staff members were dispatched to Mexico where they located and interviewed new witnesses. These witnesses had nover been sought out before by any investigative body, notwithstanding the fact that they had important information concerning statements by Lee Harvey Oswald in Mexico within 60 days of the assassination of President Kennedy.

With respect to the assassination of Dr. King, committee counsel

With respect to the assassination of Dr. King, committee counsel obtained relevant information from a witness who had never been interviewed before by any investigative agency. This witness has stated that James Earl Ray related to him the fact that after Ray fled to Europe, Ray contacted another person from whom he received further instructions to aid in his continuing flight.

In other areas of inquiry's committee staff has interviewed persons with new relevant information who had never been contacted by any investigative agency. The committee intends to continue to pursue such information.

In addition to pursuing other new investigative leads, the committee has been conducting an intensive analysis of the evidence available in both assassinations in order to define and determine the nature and scope of the inquiry.

With respect to the Kennedy investigation, the chief counsel presented the committee with a list of hundreds of questions which must be resolved. The committee also has identified several hundred witnesses who must be interviewed.

The committee has taken positive steps to insure that it will preserve all relevant materials in the possession of investigative agencies. It has

The committee has been informed that the Central Intelligible. gence Agency alone is in possession of more than 60 cartons of materials relating to the assassination of President Kennedy and the activities of Lee Harvey Oswald prior to that assassination.)

With respect to the assassination of Dr. King, the committee's initial examination of the events and circumstances during the period of James Earl Ray's escape from prison in Missouri in 1967 until his capture and subsequent extradition from England in 1963 gave rise to hundreds of questions. The committee has completed a detailed analysis of the stipulations of fact contained in the guilty plea of Ray in March 1969. The committee noted that during the course of the plea proceedings, Ray rose to advise the court that he did not concur with statements made by both the State prosecutor and his own attorney, that there had not been a conspiracy to assassinate Dr. King.

The committee does not mean to imply that there was or was not a conspiracy. It merely indicates that this is one of the areas which requires further investigation, especially in view of the failure to obtain a full statement of involvement from Ray by the Tennessee authorities.

Two staff members of the Select Committee traveled to Memphis, Tenn., and compiled a 76-page index of materials contained in only one of the evidentiary files. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has advised committee stuff that it has more than 80 volumes of materials on the assassination and subsequent investigation into that assassi-

To insure the preservation of certain evidence and documents the Select Committee voted and issued a total of 12 subpense duces tecum related to evidence in the assistantion of Dr. King.

The Select Committee is cognizant of the significant accomplishments of other independent investigations by the Congress. A quantum of evidence relevant to our investigations has been accumulated by various committees and select committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate. To date, contacts by committee staff have demonstrated a willingness on the part of both Houses of Congress, their Members and various committees to cooperate in making those materials available to this committee.

On the basis of these numerous areas of inquiry and the necessity to preserve evidence already under subpena, the Select Committee unanimously recommends to the 95th Congress that the Select Committee on Assassinations be immediately reestablished to continue the investigation.

IV. STAFF AND BUDGET REQUIREMENTS

The committee wishes to emphasize that the unprecedented nature of the task identified in House Resolution 1540 makes past methods of determining the Select Committee's budget inappropriate.

The committee feels strongly that the integrity of this investigation is contingent upon the independence of our investigative efforts. The executive branch agencies, which were utilized in the past, me the very agencies whose previous performance may be the subject of a part of this investigation. The committee, therefore, cannot employ the services of the executive branch agencies. Both the size of the staff and the budget requirements are predicated on the notessity of conducting a comprehensive, impartial investigation.

The committee submits the following comparative analysis of budget and staffing levels of certain previous investigations as a standard by which our recommendations may be measured.

Warren Commission

Staff: 83.

Duration: 10 months.

The Warren Commission did not possess an independent investigative stuff. For investigative purposes, they relied on the Federal intelligence agencies. We have been able to amass the following figures. indicating the level of support provided to the Warren Commission by each agency.

FBI: Provided 150 full-time agents who in turn conducted 25,000 interviews and submitted 2,300 reports totaling 25,400 pages. They also provided secretarial and clerical assistance.

ClA: Provided 12 full-time and part-time professionals. They also provided secretarial and clerical assistance.

Secret Service: Provided over 60 full-time professionals who conducted 1,550 interviews and submitted 800 reports totaling 4,600 pages. They also provided secretarial and clerical assistance.

Justice Department: Provided at least 4 full-time professionals.
State Department: Provided certain professional support.
IRS: Estimates that between their Internal Security Inspection Service and their Intelligence Division, they provided 6 staff-years of

FBI Investigation Re: Patty Hearst

The only figures available for this investigation are for the first 3-month period. During this initial 90-day span, the FBI spent 52,600,000. Figures for the number of staff employed are also unavailable.

New York State Special Nursing Home Investigation

This investigation of abuse of the medicaid program by nursing homes has a total staff of 421. The staff includes 65 lawyers, 156 auditors, 100 investigators, and 100 support personnel. Its present yearly budget is $6,000,000. In addition it utilizes 40 sitting grand juries, the cost of which is not included in the $6,000,000.

The committee feels that the staff and budget requirements it has identified at the end of this report are at minimal levels necessary to conduct comprehensive and independent investigations of the assassination of President Kennedy and Dr. King.

V. RECOMMENDATIONS

The committee and, indeed, the 94th Congress by the passage of House Resolution 1540 recognized that there are many lingering doubts us to the comprehensiveness and credibility of prior investigations into each of these assassinations. The questions which arise from even a preliminary analysis and investigation are legion. Thus, the Select Committee unanimously and unequivocally recommends:

(1) That the House of Representatives immediately move to continue the investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of President John F. Kennedy and the death of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

(2) That the House immediately re-establish the Select Committee to insure that evidence which is currently under subpoena will remain intact and under the continuing control of the House and to insure that there is no delay in the ongoing investigations.

(3) That the House approve the budget as set forth berein.

ADDITIONAL VIEWS OF HENRY B. GONZALEZ

I completely support the recommendation of the committee, urge that the 25th Congress immediately reestablish it, and that a budget be approved in the full amount requested.

If ever a legislative effort began with less promise, it was the work of this Select Committee. The committee began its work in the waning days of the 94th Congress, had no staff, no offices, no time to organize properly, and no time to prepare or carry out the study it was commissioned to do. The committee has, however, accomplished more than anyone could have thought possible.

First, the committee has secured the services of an outstanding chief counsel, Richard A. Sprague; he is one of the most effective and respected investigators in the country today. The committee has also been able to hire a team of exceptionally able investigators, researchers, and attorneys. There is absolutely no doubt that Mr. Sprague, and his Staff can conduct a completely independent, dispassionate, objective, and thoroughly professional study, given time and adequate support.

In the very short the available, the committee has obtained a substantial amount of information and evidence, and placed these under its control. Researchers and investigators have compiled, and indexed an immense amount of material, initiated some investigations, and most important, prepared the ground for the sustained effort ahead.

Second, the committee has defined its job and has a clear idea of how it is to be accomplished.

The committee does not intend to prove or disprove any theory concerning the assassinations it will study. Instead, the committee will conduct a completely new, independent study. It will begin with the events, take the evidence available, verify that evidence, and reach reasonable conclusions based on the available evidence: no more, no less.

I recognize that an approach of this kind will entail a substantial amount of money, and will require a large number of people; moreover, a study of this kind will take time, and cannot be subject to any deadlines. To have any meaning, the investigation must rely on unimpeachable integrity. To do less than a completely therough job would be to accomplish nothing at all.

The committee is unanimous in its conclusion that it must be able to

The committee is unanimous in its conclusion that it must be able to rely completely on its own resources. We know that neither the FBI nor CIA cooperated fully with the Warren Commission; and we know that the FBI Director in 1968 had passionate feelings against Dr. Martin Luther King—feelings that neight well have been reflected in less than objective work by his subordinates. The decision of the committee to rely on its own staff rather than Executive agencies does not reflect on the integrity or efficiency of those agencies; but we are determined that this be a completely independent study, not in any way affected by the interests of any agency or group.

Investigations of any kind are espensive. Few people, perhaps few of my colleagues, realize how costly even a simple investigation can be. The scape of this study, and the fact that evidence and witnesses are scattered for and wide, the complexity of entrying out two unifor hamicide investigations at once, will make this a very expensive effort. But I am satisfied that the study must be independent and the study must be independent. pendent, must be thorough, and that every finding nor t be as theroughly verified as humanely possible, or the entire effort will be meaningless. Third, the committee has demonstrated its competence. In the very short amount of time it has had available, the committee has accomplished mirscles of organization, defined its work, and began an extremely complex set of investigations. It is difficult to imagine how it could have accomplished more than it has, especially under the very adverse conditions it has been forced to operate under.

I believe the committee has demonstrated that it has a real task to accomplish. If it is permitted to proceed, the committee can settle hundreds of questions about the murder of President Kennedy and that of Dr. King. Beyond that, the committee can shed light on the larger issue of political number and violence. We should not foreget that President Ford had his own narrow escapes; no Member of the House should forget that the Capitol Building was bombed; and no Member of the House should forget that we live and work under increasingly tight security measures.

It is necessary today to have a vast police force in and around the Capitol. It is necessary to have television monitors on every door. It is necessary to have parcels X-rayed.

Every nirline passenger must be subjected to an electronic search for metal, and baggage carried aboard airplanes, and even into boarding areas, must be X-rayed.

Visitors to the Supreme Court must be cleared.

New gates and increasingly sophisticated surveillance devices surround and protect the White House. A whole new police force is employed to protect Embassies.

All of this reflects an age of political violence; all of it has come about since 1963. All of it shows that we have not learned the answer to the crucial question: Why?

That, as I see fit, is the ultimate task of the Select Committee-to

That, as I see pt, is the ultimate task of the Select Committee—to find out not just what happened, but why.

If we can answer that question, it may be possible to end political violence, and begin taking down the security measures that repress all of us, and represent a genuine threat to free government. Political violence is not inevitable, and it is not inexplicable. The Select Committee may, and I hope will, shed light on why these events took place, and why they shadow all our lives, even today—and how we can begin to end political violence and the oranipresent threat of it, which is, in fact, a threat to free government itself. in fact, a threat to free government itself. #### SUPPLEMENTAL VIEWS OF CONGRESSPERSONS LOUIS STOKES, WALTER E. FAUNTROY, YVONNE BRATH-WAITE BURKE, AND HAROLD E. FORD

The purpose of these supplemental views is to strongly emphasize our concurrence in the recommendation contained in the committee's report. In our opinion, the House of Representatives took a giant step toward restoring the faith of the American people in their Government when, in the 94th Congress, it passed House Resolution 1540 by a majority vote of 280 to 65 and established the Select Committee on Assessinations. Just this past week, the latest Gallup Pool told us that S0 percent of the American people do not believe that either Lee Harvey Oswald or James Earl Ray acted alone in the murders of President John F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. They feel that their Government has not told them all that it knows or that it is in position to find out about the brutal assassinations of two of the most important leaders of the Post World War II era.

The following acticle appeared in the Washington Post on December 26, 1976, and read as follows:

As the House Select Committee on Assassinations begins its investigations, the overwhelming majority of Americans believe that others besides Lee Harvey Oswald were involved in the assassination of President Kennedy in Dollas on November 22, 1963.

In the latest survey, just completed, 80 percent think others were involved in the assessination, while only 11 percent think Oswald acted alone. Nine percent do not express an opinion. Persons with a college background, while overwhelmingly of the opinion that some form of conspiracy was involved, are less inclined to hold this view than are persons with less than a college background.

Approximately one-half of the survey respondents who believe others were involved did not name a specific group. Among those who did however, Cuba or Premier Fidel Castro were mentioned most often. Other responses frequently given are "the Mafin," "Communists," and the Central Intelligence Agency.

The same survey also shows that few Americans believe James Earl Ray acted on his own in the assassination of the Revened Doctor Martin Lather King, Jr. in Memphis on April 4, 1968. Only 18 percent hold this view, while 69 percent think others were involved and 13 percent do not express an opinion.

An investigation into the assassinations of Kennedy and King was recently begun by the newly established House Select Committee on Assassinations—the sixth to be con-ducted on a large scale by Government officials since Kennedy was assessmated.

Thus, in the case of the death of President Kennedy, in spite of the Warren Commission investigation and the investigations by other Federal agencies and the U.S. Congress, the final reports to the American people have lacked the thoroughness to alloy their menicion; that a conspiracy existed which has not yet been uncovered in the case of James Earl Ray and the King mander, the same general suspicious exist. The threshold inquiries made into these two deaths by an present committee do not provide the answers to these connect theories, and suspicious. If these fears, theories, asspicious, and ramors are to be put to rest and if the confidence of the American people is to be restored in the investigative agencies of their Government, a thorough, competent and objective investigation into each of these deaths is an absolute necessity.

This committee has proceeded in that vein. The committee has selected Mr. Richard Sprague, a prominent prosecuting attorney as chief counsel and director of its staff. He is in the process of established the selected deaths of the content of the staff.

This committee has proceeded in that vein. The committee has selected Mr. Richard Sprague, a prominent prosecuting attorney as chief counsel and director of its staff. He is in the process of establishing a staff of attorneys, investigators, and administrative personnel who are capable of exhibiting the highest degree of competence and professionalism in the enormous task of investigating two morders. The Warren Commission was able to avail itself of the investigating personnel of numerous agencies such as the FBI, CIA, the Secret Service, the Justice Department, the State Department, and the Internal Revenue Service.

The integrity of the results of the investigation by the Select Committee on Assessinations will be predicated upon a thorough, objective, fair, and impartial investigation by professional personnel, who will be independent and will be free from the taint of "investigating themselves." It is imperative, therefore, that these minimum staff and budget recommendations which are being requested be granted by the 95th Congress. If in the final analysis we have been able to help restore the faith and confidence of the American people in their Government, this Congress will have justified the costs and will have endeared itself to the people whom we serve.

SUPPLEMENTARY VIEWS OF CONGRESSMAN CHARLES THONE

I am in basic agreement with the Report of the Select Committee on Assassinations to the 94th Congress. I do, however, wish to make the following observations.

Unless this Select Committee maintains complete credibility with the American public, its efforts will be in vain. Anything that sub-tracts from the faith and confidence that the people of the United States have in this committee will greatly diminish the value of its final report.

Therefore, I have been deeply concerned by the tendency of a majority on the committee to conduct far too many meetings in executive session. I grant there will be some matters coming before the committee that should be heard in executive sessions. Examples of such matters are testimony that would endanger the national security and, in special investigative hearings, such testimony or evidence that would tend to defame, degrade, or incriminate an individual who might be innocent. By and large, however, we can only serve the public well through conducting our sessions after adequate notice and in public.

At the December 17, 1976, meeting of the committee, a motion which I introduced was adopted unanimously by those present. It specifically provides in the reconstruction resolution of this committee for the 95th Congress that the committee, at its first meeting in 1977, nust adopt rules for its conduct and that those rules must be in accordance with House of Representatives rules.

Rule XI provides that every committee of the House shall adopt written rules governing its procedure, and Rule XI 2(g)(1) provides that "Each meeting for the transaction of business, including the markup of legislation, of each standing committee or subcommittee thereof shall be open to the public except when the committee or sucreor snatt be open to the public except when the committee or subcommittee, in open session and with a quorum present, determines by rollcall vote that all or part of the remainder of the meeting on that day shall be closed to the public." Other meeting rules cover proper notice, specified record keeping and some very limited exceptions to open sessions. We can and must follow both the letter and spirit of these rules.

Yes, by all means this Select Committee on Assassinations must operate scrupulously and diligently within the rules of the House. Furthermore, we must strive, within the rules, to be open and accessible to the public and their representatives, the news media. For this committee, credibility is everything. And credibility will best be served, as usual, by conducting public business in public.

Chantes Those.

ADDITIONAL VIEWS OF CONGRESSMAN CHRISTOPHER J. DODD

"Independence, thoroughness, and openness" must be the golding principles of these new investigations into the assessinations of President John F. Kennedy and the Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr. by our House Select Committee on Assassinations.

In endorsing this report, I would like to take this opportunity to elaborate on these themes, and to underscore their importance to the ultimate success or failure of our efforts. I also want to share my personal views on these inquiries, as the committee begins this ambitious undertaking.

As an early co-ponsor of congressional resolutions calling for this Select Committee, I have long felt that there remain many unanswered questions surrounding these assassinations—expecially questions about the roles of the Federal agencies charged with investigating these terrible crimes.

terrible crimes.

The specific questions highlighted in this report as to the conduct of the Central Intelligence Agency, and its apparent knowledge of some of Lee Harvey Oswald's activities in Mexico before the Kennedy assassination, are examples of just such continuing concerns.

Another example underscored in this document is the question of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's reported surveillance of Dr. King, and whether FBI agents were in Memphis and near the civil rights leader at the time of his death.

The House Judiciary Subcommittee on Civil Rights, on which I serve and which has oversight responsibility for the FBI, found it necessary last year to hold hearings about that agency's activities before and after President Kennedy's assassination. After taking part in those hearings, I can say our subcommittee raised more new questions about the FBI and the assassination than we received answers to old ones.

Since then, other pressing legislative responsibilities—such as FBI surveillance guidelines and bankruptcy law reforms—prevented our Judiciary Subcommittee from pursuing these new questions, and the unanswered old ones, as fully as would have been desired.

The allegations of possible conspiracies, and of the possible with-

The allegations of possible conspiracies, and of the possible withholding of evidence, are more of the many additional questions about these assassinations which should be laid to rest once and for all, so that these tragic chapters in American history can at last be closed. I think this new, Select Committee represents a unique opportunity

I think this new, Select Committee represents a unique opportunity for Congress and the American people to finally resolve the issues still surrounding these murders, and I would hope the committee will be able to provide the answers to all these continuing questions.

However, it must be pointed out that this committee could, after its lengthy, exhaustive inquiries, still reach the same conclusions about these assessinations that other investigating bodies have before us. Or this committee might arrive at far different conclusions.

The American people have a right to know the full stories behind these assassinations. They have a right to know the motives and tensons for them, how these deeds were accomplished, and who truly

This Committee, then, has a great responsibility to fulfill, and the ways it accomplishes this task are of the utmost importance. It is here where "Independence, thoroughness, and openness" count the most. "Independence"—As mentioned before in these views and in the body of this report, major criticisms of past investigations of these assassinations focus heavily on the activities of the Federal justice and intelligence agencies charged with conducting the initial criminal inquiries

In light of the fact that these Federal agencies could be the subject of part of our investigation, it would be wholly inappropriate to employ their services as has been done in past assassination studies. Such reliance on these agencies would prejudice the necessary importiality and credibility of our inquiries.

Therefore, it is crucial to the success of this committee that it retain an experienced, professional investigative and legal staff completely independent from these Federal Government agencies. This great need for an independent staff is the primary reason why the proposed committee budget totals what it does.

"Thoroughness"—I am pleased that the members of this commitice, and its staff, are committed to pursuing every possible avenue of investigation and every conceivable theory and lead about these assaccinations.

This determination to find definitive answers, if they exist, to all the questions surrounding the assassinations is significant, because the committee's work must withstand the tests of time which other in-restigntions apparently have failed to pass. In 10, 20, 30, or 100 years after the end of our inquiries, the American people should not have to face the doubts about these crimes which exist today.

Our committee must go about its deliberations in the most consid-Our committee must go about its deliberations in the most considered and careful manner possible—eschewing making judgments and conclusions until all the evidence is gathered and evaluated. It is essential that the committee and staff approach these inquiries with completely open minds, so as to avoid possible charges from any quarter that we are being less than objective.

Central to the thoroughness of our investigations will be the necessity to obtain confidential, squalitive, or classifical material from Federal agencies. In this regard, I believe the committee should insist on full and total disclosure of all relevant documents in raw, rather than edited or excised, form.

edited or excised, form.

The committee should have the unlimited apportunity to make an independent finallysis of these documents, and it should not accept any preselection or screening of information by any negroy. Acceptance of edited or screened information could jeografize the independence of the committee's investigations and could raise the possibilities of pertinent information being withheld by the agencies.

To obtain the necessary raw information and documents, the Scient Committee should avoid the past experiences of other corgressional bodies which made "treaties" with Federal agencies about access to information.

The requirements of a thorough, independent investigation must not be compromised away through "treaties," and the committee must be willing to employ all appropriate means, including contempt of Congress citations, to obtain needed information. The committee furthermore must be willing to vigorously pursue subportus and contempt citations to the fullest legal extent possible in its efforts to some relevant information.

secure relevant information. In insisting on total disclo-ure of relevant agency information relating to the assas inutions, the committee must revegueze a para-mount responsibility to ensure the safekeeping and confidentiality of such materials through whatever elaborate recurity measures and personnel clearance procedures are necessary. The act of "leaking" any such materials should face the most severe penalties, else.

Lastly in the area of "thoroughness," I would caution the American people to also avoid reaching premature conclusions about the nature, progress and results of the committee's examinations.

It would be misleading for the public to view committee deliberations and hearings about specific allegations, observations, theories, et cetera regarding the assassinations as official endorsements of the validity of these pieces of information.

Until any interim or final committee reports set forth conclusive findings from the investigations, any deliberations and hearings, and their contents, should be viewed as part of the overall process by which we are attempting to determine the truthfulness or lidsity of all this

"Openness"-Clearly, the question whether to hold meetings and bearings in public or in closed session is one of the most difficult with which the committee must deal. The obligation has, as an arm of a public institution, Congress, to do its business in public must be balanced by the need to protect the confidentiality of certain sensitive

I believe that a meeting or a hearing of our committee should be closed only when it has been demonstrated that an executive session

(1) protect the constitutional rights and safety of witnesses;
(2) avoid jeopardizing the ongoing investigations, such as by risking loss of potential evidence; and,
(3) safeguard national defense information.

Any decision to close a meeting or heating should be made by a local rather than a voice.

rollcall, rather than a voice, vote.

During the course of the committee's investigations, as plateaus are reached where significant evidence has been verified, allowing various conclusions to be drawn, then it would seem proper for the committee to hold open sessions, or to issue interim reports, to keep the public informed of its work.

This committee has an obligation to conduct as much of its business as possible in open sessions, where the American people can follow our investigations and judge for themselves how well or poorly we are discharging our responsibilities. Such openness, I submit, is essential to establishing the credibility of our committee and of the results of its investigations.

The American people should have the opportunity to observe how the members of this committee question witnesses. The public should be afforded as many insights as possible into the actual workings of the investigations, because such participation will mean that our final conclusions will be more credible to all Americans.

During floor debate on the House resolution establishing the committee, a major argument in its favor was that, unlike past investigations, we would allow the people to oversee our deliberations. Such openness, it was argued, would help to quell public mistrust of Congress and of our governing process, in general. This argument remains valid today.

Our committee might finally conclude that past investigations of the Kennedy and King assassinations were correct in their findings, thus rejecting the many alternative theories now circulated. Or we might show some of these theories to be correct.

What is as important here as any specific conclusion we might show that it has the allow a recognible coar progress to work and that what is as important nere as any specific conclusion we inspire reach, is that we allow a reasonable, open process to work, and that we demonstrate to the people that we are giving cuch and every theory thorough scrutiny before accepting or rejecting it. In this way, no one in the future, will be able to challenge the committee's integrity and responsibility, as past investigations have been challenged.

To further demonstrate the committee's commitment to conducting an open inquiry, and to allow discussion in the near future of the best way to strike a balance between our public obligation and the need to maintain a certain level of confidentiality. I again would urge the committee to draft a comprehensive policy statement or set of rules dealing with these issues. Policy or committee rules regarding the handling of sensitive documents, and statements to the press by individual members, also should be proposed for discussion. Such rules or policies should be debated and voted on by the committee at an open session early next year.

In summary, I feel that the Select Committee has made a productive beginning, and by this report, has demonstrated that it should be reconstituted as quickly as possible in the 95th Congress to allow the investigations to proceed without a loss of continuity or momentum. I urge all my colleagues in Congress to support such a reestablishment of the committee.

Furthermore, I believe that only through independence, thoroughness, and openness will the committee earn and continue to receive the full support of the American people to pursue these deliberations along whatever paths the investigations might lead, including the firm steps needed to enforce subpoenss and contempt of Congress

And it will be only by following these guiding principles that the committee, and its work, will be acceptable to the American people as providing proper answers to the disturbing questions which still surround the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy and Tho Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE TRADE ACT OF 1976

Mr. CBS: ARP - saked and was given mission to extend his remarks at this point in the Recons and to include ex-transous matter.)

Mr. SHARP, Mr. Speaker, I am introducing today, with Mr. Brademas, Mr. RHOOMS, Mr. BAUCUS, and Mr. BENJAMIN, an amendment to the Trade Act of 1976 which is designed to correct an-imequity in the application of the trade sajustment assistance program. The Trade Act of 1974 provider for payment of a trade readjustment allowpayment of a trade readjustment allow-ance—TRA—to worker laid off from a firm as a result of increased imports. Al-though I was not in the Congress when the Trade Act was passed. I understand that the purpose of TRA was to provide temporary relief for those workers who were injured by a U.S. trade policy which, in total, was beneficial to the economy of this counter. The arments are limited in total, was cenericial to the economy or this country. The payments are limited by the law, however, to workers whose layofts occurred within 1 year before the date of their petition for certification by the Department of Eabor and after October 3: 1974.

sed amendment to the Trade Act would not change the October 3, 1974. carliest eligibility date; section 223(b) (2 would remain unchanged. Thus, there is no danger of opening the coor to cases of import-related layoffs which took place years ago.

What this amendment does change is the provision that eligibility is limited to those workers laid off within I year prior to the date of their petition for assistance. It is my understanding that this 1-year limitation was written into the law for two reasons: First, to place some limit on retroactivity; and second, to maintain a causal linkage between the imports and the layoffs; that is, to imsure that imports actually caused the layoffs of the workers who received benefits.

The amendment would accomplish these goals without arbitrarily excluding some workers from the program. The amendment replaces the 1-year-prior-to-the-petition date with a 3-year elistbillty limit.

Mr. Speaker, last year I introduced a miler amendment which would have eliminated the 1-year cutoff provision. In a heaving on that bill before the Trade Subcommittee on September 28, 1976, representatives of the Department of Labor testified that open-ended eligibility would cause major administrative difficulties. For that reason the bill I am introducing today would not totally elim-inate the cutoff, but it—would substitute a 2-year limit for the existing 1-year limit.

As I testified at the hearing, there were three cases in my own District where an inequity resulted from the 1-year cutoff: the Warner Gear plant in Muncie, Jay Garment in Portland, and Allegheny Ludlum in New Castle In each of these cases, petitions for trade adjustment assistance were filed more than 1 year after the first import-related layoffs. It is clear from the sumber of such cases not audiciently will known.

Ich occurred around the country durg the first year of the program's opera-

If this bill is reacted, thousands of , workers will become aligible to receive the benefits which Congress intended them to receive and which, in many pr cases, their cowerkers have already recrived. It is not too late to correct the injustice, and I urge my collegues to support this measure.

for to lay to rest once and for all the skepticiam and growing doubts concern-ing the Kennedy and King assaima-tion, I have strongly supported the es-tablishment of the House Select Committee on Assassinations. My work on, the House Select Committee on Intellia-; gence convinced me of the very serious examples of neglirence by the investigating agencies conterned. The fear of ultimate exposure is one powerful molive-for maintaining proper professional atandards.

I believe the sum proposed by the con-mittee is essential if the committee is to perform a professional, indepth investigation. The proposed budget might seem extravagant when compared to that of the Warren Commission, But I want to point out that the Warren Commis point out trait the warren Colimbiase, had the services of 150 full-time Mi-agents, 60 full-time Secret Ecrvice agents and 12 full-time and part-time CIA agents, plus their backup rishs and fa-cilities. The House of Representatives in its mandate to the committee has shown its determi-nation to lay to rest this growing sense of national concern and to resolve the questions and doubts once and for all. The mandate should be renewed.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, if it were not for the seriousness of the situation we face, involving the lives and livelihood of millions of Americans, I think I would laugh out loud. This country has again been unexpectedly orippled by yet another "energy crisis" and Congress- k- again contemplating "emer-gency", measures to bring that crisis under control

Despite my plans to join the ranks of my collegues who will rush to the aid of the critically stricken regions of our country and support Mr. Carters ener-gency allocation bill, I will not do so out a sense of disgust. Connecticut will do its part to free-up supplies for its fellow States and will do so happily in recognition of the assistance we in the Northeast have received in coping with our own, more persistent, energy emergency. However, Mr. Speaker, Connecti-cut will feel the pinch of further conetraints on her already fragile economy.

In the last Congress, you recall that the House spent quite some time debating a proposal to deregulate the price of new natural gas. Opponents of deregula tion claimed that industry warnings of severa shortages ranged from inaccurate to the telephone to the telep to intentionally untrue. In the name of essure effectively blocked decourted measure electricity interest according and eliminated the sorely needed financial incentives to produce additional supplies. As a result, prices for some consumers were indeed held down so effectively. summers were indeed their down so inset-tively that no gas will flow to them now that they are in dire need. Such attempts to repeal the law of supply and demand are what I call consumer protection atits congressional best.

Regardless of how quickly or successfully our relief efforts develop, Mr. Speaker, I do not expect plaudits from the American people for our actions here ss must shoulder the pricolar. Congress must should be primary responsibility for this most recent crists. How can we expect anything but intermittent fuel shortages and crises to light of our remarkable failure to de-velop a definitive and coordinated na-tional energy program within which such seasonal abort-falls could be anticipated? The emergency program which Mr. Carter has devised is our only alternative due to the immediacy of the problem. However, the President's proposal should not be mistaken as a solution to our present or future dilemma. This re allocation proposal merely spreads the burden more thinly on the theory that a burden more training on the theory that is to of people hurting a little is better than a few people hurting a lot. There must come a point when the problem can no longer be redistributed but must be solved.

I am afraid that it is an inescapable human weakness, regardless of party affiltation, that near disaster must strike before a problem of this dimension ce be properly addressed. Hopefully, this winter's disaster has provided us with the impetus to resist further knee-jerk energy policymaking and tackle the problem in its full scope. To date, the product of this hand-to-mouth energy Salaria mandella program has been a neitonal energy policy consisting of three factors: The good will of OPEC, the good graces of the Russian Navy, and our prayers for good weather. The American people have a right to expect a more tangible program for national and regional energy development after 3 years of work.

Mr. Speaker, we must first prioritize our specific needs. If we are to depend on foreign oil imports as a primary energy source for the next 20 years, then let us plan for that. If the American poople must pay higher fuel prices in order ple must pay higher fuel prices in order to stimulate domestic resource production, then so be it—but let us pass an excess profits tax and an energy tax rebate to minimize the economic disruption inherent in that course. We need a definitive etable to account for the contribution of coal, nuclear, geothernal, and solar resources—a timetable upon which producers, refiners, distributors, and utilities can rely. These priorities, in turn, would require us to structure our environmental goals to complement energy development so energy producers can plan long-range generation needs without fear of fuel interruption or conversion orders. And finally, within that framework, I hope we would also elim-mate ill-advised plans to export our engas and oil. A national energy policy would provide for the domestic consumpue of Alaskan tion of those resources in areas, like New England, which are dependent on foreign sources for crude and must compete with their domestic neighbors for finished products due to the lack of regional refining facilities. Sadly, these are problems we do not address today.

Mr. Speaker, I could go on ad infini-tum, but each Mamber of this body knows what must be done. Unless prompt mnow what into the done. Unless promps and effective action is taken, next year's energy supply distortions will be even more severe regardless of the winters burden. I urgently hope we can do what must be done today, learn from this most must be done today, search from this most recent disaster, and get on with the vital task that awaits us.

LEGISLATION PROVIDING SEVEN ADDITIONAL JUDGES FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF PLORIDA

The SPEAKER per tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentle-man from Florida (Mr. Burks) is recoged for 15 minutes.

Mr. BURKE of Florida, Mr. Speaker loday I am introducing legislation which sould amend title 28 of the United States Code to provide seven additional judges for the southern district of Florida. If this legislation is passed into law, not less than two of these judges shall be assigned to hold court in Fort Lauder-

Under our system of checks and balances where the legislative, the executive, and the judicial branches share the powers of the Government, it is the restonsibility of the Congress of the United States to enact laws and to provide the Secessary courts to enforce these laws. But it has been over 6 years since the

a has seen, in its wisdom, the need to provide additional judgeships to the southern district of Florids. Since that time a dramatic increase in population and a similar rise in the backlog of court and a simular rise in the backup of cour-cases lends support to the position that additional judges are necessary if the judicial system is not to be overburdened. Statistics from the U.S. Department of Commerce and the Bureau of the Census show that Florida is now the most rapidly growing State in the Union and that the earl of Florida which makes up-the southern district of Florida is grow-ing at a featur rate than the remainder of the State. It is the tremendous popula the state. It is the tremendous popula-tion growth in this area coupled with a marked increase in commercial activity —both foreign and domestic—which ac-counts for the unprecedented increase in civil and criminal filings in this court and the particular urgency of this legis-

Even though there are seven authorized judgeships in the southern district of Florida the workload of this court has increased to the point where it is now and transcur as use point where it is now one of the heaviest in the United States. The extent of this situation can be seen by comparing the activities of the southern distinct processing the security of the southern distinct processing the second security of the southern distinct processing the second secon district court with the four criteria estab lishing the need for new judgeships set forth in Report 94-387 of the omnibus district judgeship bill, S. 287. According to this report each judge should be re-sponsible for no more than 400 case fli-ings. Second, each judge should be reagonable for not more than 358 termina-tions. Third, the bench time for each judge shall not exceed 110 days. And finally, the district shall have made effi-cient use of existing judges, supporting personnel, and procedural devices. Should the district exceed the limits defined in e criteria, it follows that new judgeships shall be created until compliance with the criteria has been satisfied. Using the criterion that 400 cases is the proper limit for a single judge to receive, it follows that in a district wherein there are 7 judges, there should be a paximum of 2,800 case filings during any ne year. However, between fiscal years 970 and 1979 the number of civil and riminal cases filed in the southern dis-rict court jumped from 2,204 to 4,785. This averages out to approximately 14%percent increase per year since fiscal year 1970. Translated into caseload per judgeship, the number of civil and criminal cases that each judge in the district must handle has risen from 441 in fiscal year 1970—when there were only 5 judge-ships—to 679 in fiscal year 1976. In other words, the judges in the southern district of Florida have been literally stagged weight of an increasingly growing

Just as significant are the figures denoting the number of cases terminated and the bench time per judge. In fiscal year 1975 each judge in the southern dis-trict of Florida terminated an average of 447 cases. This is well above the national average of 371 and goes even further be-yond the recommendation of 358 per judge as stated in Report 94-387. Also the judges spent an average of 112 days in trial plus 142 bench days per judge on other court proceedings. This far exceeds the recommended limit of 110 days bench time per judge. All in all, there can be no question that the southern district of Fiorids has made an efficient use of existing judges, supporting personnel, and procedural devices.

1. 1.1.6%

Just as startling are thus figures which indicate that the situation is becoming increasingly worse. During fiscal year 1976 there were 3,694 cases filed in the southern district of Florids. Of these 2,853 were civil cases and 841 were crimi-2,030 were the chase and of were criminal cases. This total breaks down to 828 cases filed per judgeship of which 408 were civil cases and 130 were criminal filings. The court's civil filings for facal year 1875 increased by 827 cases—41 percent—over the filings for 1974—2,853 versus 2,031. Between fiscal year 1974 and 1975 the overall caseload per judgeship increased by 28 percent from 395 to 528. These figures represent the second largest increase of any district in the country. sucrease of any district in the country, Byen more disturbing are the figures for the first 6 months of fiscal year 1976. During this period, the civil case filings have increased by an additional 92 percent over the corresponding period in 1975—2,336 versus 1,218. The criminal 1975—2,336 versus 1,218. The criminal cases filed during this same period have increased 21 percent over the first 6 months of fiscal year 1975.

From the standpoint of each criterie established by Report 94-387 the needs of the southern district of Florida require that the additional judgeships requested in this teritation because of the southern district di in this legislation be granted.

The urgency of this particular legislation is further underscored by the pro-Jected increase anticipated for the 1978-80 quadrennial. Using the average per-centage increase for the years 1970-78-14% percent per year—as a basis, it can be projected that the number of civil and criminal cases filed in the southern district of Plorida will increase from 4.755 trict of Florids will increase from 4,735 in fiscal year 1980. When translated in caseload per judgeship, the number increases from 679 cases per judge in fixed year 1976 to 1.37 in fiscal year 1980. It should be remember end that 400 cause is the recommended limit. And on the basis of this relimit. And on the basis of this recom-mendation, it follows that the southern district of Florida already needs 12 judgahips and will require 20 in fiscal year 1980 if the projections are correct.

year 1980 II the projections are correct.
Attention must also be paid to the report of the Director of the Administrative Office to the Judicial Conference of the United States. In this report the Director revealed case filings in the various district courte across the Nation, along with the number of active judges sitting in each court and the percentage of increase in civil filings in each district dur-ing the first 6 months of facal year 1975. The following figures are taken from the Director's report:

THE NEW CARVER POTATO

February 2, 1977

(Mr. N1CHOLS asked and was given permission to address the House for I remarks.)

Mr. NiCHOLS. Mr. Speaker, world de-mand for agricultural products continues to increase at a staggering rate. Im-proved farming techniques and agricultural research are belging the farmer to meet this rising demand and some of our most dramatic accomplishments are being achieved in our smaller colleges.

Pollowing the legacy of the famous scientist, George Washington Carver, the horticulture department at Tuskegee In-stitute, a predominantly black college in my district, has developed two new hybrids of the sweet potato which hold much promise for both improved yields improved quality than present varieties.

The two new sweet potato cultivars—
the Carver and the Rojo Blanco are the the Carver and the Rojo Blanco are the first to ever be developed in Alabama; the first to be developed, tested on a regional basis, named and released under certification by Tuskeger Institute andto my knowledge the first to be developed solely by a black institution.

The Rojo Blanco is a red skin, white field sweet potato, a favorite among the Spanish Americans. For some time there has been a marketable need for a new type red skin, white flesh sweet potate and the development of the Rojo Blanco will fill this need.

The release of the Carver potato is even more exciting. Research indicates that this new potato has greater crop that this new potato has greater crop-yields and is more resistant to disease and insects than the presently utilized Centennial or Jewel potato. With these new improved qualities, acientists and some food experts predict that the Carver will replace other types of sweet-rolatons in America, and around the potatoes in America and around the world. J. M. - 46 "

The development of the Carver and the Rolo Blanco underlines the outstanding work achieved at Tuskegee In-stitute. Under the direction of college president, Dr. L. H. Foster and with the scientific instruction and research of Dr. Booker T. Whatley, this outstanding Alabama college is addressing the agricultural problems of Alabama, the United States, and the world. Their work and dedication is to be commended.

Mr. Lueders' letter is indeed a graphic Mr. Lueders' letter is indeed a graphic depletion of the problem that many homeowners face in trying to obtain the necessary insurance. Mr. Speaker, I would hope that during he year extension of these programs the year extension of these programs that consideration be given to extending the coverage offered by the Fair Plans so that a wide range of insurance policies can be purchased through the plan, including the basic homeowners package and in areas where insurance underwriting is limited that the plan be allowed to offer automobile insurance.

There is an aspect of the Fair Insurance Plan that bothers me and that is the dumping situation. It is my belief that too many insurance companies rather than writing the insurance di-rectly, are forcing customers to the Fair Plan program in order to get a higher premium. In order to overcome this, I suggest that the Fair Plan's operation and underwriting, be removed from the insurance companies and transferred to the Federal Government, I take a backseat to no one in the belief in the free enterprise system, but when the free enterprise system does not function prop-erly then Government must step in to the need. And that is exactly what should happen with the Pair Plan. As the insurance companies do not want to write insurance directly, there should be no problem with the Government taking over the business since the Government will not be interfering in any area in which the insurance companies now function.

Clearly, there is a great deal of precedent for the Federal Government operat-ing the Pair Pian. The Government insures banks, savings and loans, credit unions, farmers, and even home mort-gages. There is no reason why we camnot extend that coverage to individual homeowners.

And, or course, the Government is involved in writing crime insurance, a pro-gram which grew out of legislation that I authored. While there are only 30,000 crime insurance policies in force today, I still have a strong feeting that the pro gram is vitally important to many bustnesses and homeowners. We will never be able to find out the number of crim note to find out the number of clim insurance policies that were written by private industry solely to keep the customer away from the Governmen program. If the Government program has served no other purpose than to gra renewal in private crime insurance then that fact alone makes the program sucressful.

I have found through informal sampling, that most homeowners and small businessmen are not aware of the ex-istence of the Pederal crime insurance. The biggest fault for this lack of knowledge mostly lies with the insurance industry, because it is that industry that is charged with selling the policies. These has been no effort on the part of the insurance companies to publishe this pre-

I have offered a number of suggestions to HUD for encouraging sales of crime insurance. Since it has been relt that the insurance industry is not doing a good job of selling the policies as agents for the Federal Government market the haurance directly. There is no reason why policies cannot be sold through the Sealing Members administration, the Velerant Administration in the housing programs, the Federal Housing Administration, and through the decall plants of the housing programs.

through sederally insured lenders making home mortgages.

Almost monthly I am approached by some company or someone with a plan to market the crime insurance more effectively. A number of these plans smittlepate a direct mail marketing of the crime insurance. My response to all of these plans has been that I will support any plan that will make the insurance geen readily available to the public. Settle I would hope that during the 3-year extension period which is being recommended, that the Department of Housing and Urban Development will come up with bold new concepts for marketing the with bold new concepts for marketing the with food new concepts to marriang sur-crime insurance and as I have suggested earlier, perhaps even moving the Pair Plan setup into the direct marketing field with the Pederal Government becoming the interview for both programs.

It was my understanding that one of the incurance groups that testified today look no position on the extension of the crime insurance. I think that position typically reflects the attitude of the industry toward this program. The insur-ance companies fought the program from its inception and has done nothing to promote the program. So it is guilte it-ting that industry would not fight for an extension of this much needed insurance program.

In basic terms, Mr. Speaker, what I am saying is—let us have an understand-ing with the insurance industry. Private ing with the insurance industry. Friends industry can write the type of policy which it feels it is best suited to handle, and most of incee shiftless unfortunately are insuring against flood damage in the desert. In those innex of coverages where the insurance failustry does not wish to participate, then let the Federal Government step in and do the job.

Tourspice is a necessity today and if

Insurance is a peopsetty today and if we cut people off from insurance then we are greatly limiting the role of our citizens in our society.

The reasons were clear, at that next pep relly, he literally flared the Chairman to ky and remove him. As I safe, when I see a rationanke, I reset. Any Member who knew what I sid would not have hesitated, Sprague had to be stopped, then and there, and I did what I had to do.

shopped, then and there, and I did what I had to do.

Aside from insubordination and a clear affort to usurp the power of the Committee and its Chairman, Mr. Sprague is guilty of failure to perform. I presented Mr. Sprague a series of requests in writing, with deadlines that he had to meet, in order for the Committee to be prepared to proceed about the business in an orderly manner. None of the business in an orderly manner. None of the did finally provide, such as a request for a detailed plan of operation without salary cuts or pay cuts, which he claimed to be possible. You already know that he produced nothing except empty phraces, merely leaving it up to the Committee to obtain more monay—how, he did not say.

Much more serious, however, is the fact that Mr. Sprague has placed the Committee in serious financial condition by iresponsibly employing a large number of people without any indication of where the funds to pay them would come from This action, which took place without my prior has wiledge, let alone answer.

them would come from This action, which took place without my prior knowledge, let alone approval, led directly to the 35 percent salary reduction imposed on the staff during the month of January. This led likewise to the ever-growing inability of the Committee to meet any costs, even the most minimal and assential operating expenses.

Been though I have taken strong action to reduce costs, including placing control equipment on telephones, there is no way to meet all expenses without further reductions in personnel costs.

The jurisdiction of the Assistant Becretary for Inter-America and Affairs covers all of South America, a large part of North America south of the United States, and the Caribbean. It does not include Canadian relations, which are under the Assistant Secretary for European Affairs, even though Canada I: not a part of Europe and, since the 1931 Statute of Westminster, has been an independent ration.

In view of the evolving world situation and the growing importance of Western Hemispheric nations in the defense of Western drillization, the time is opportune for a long over-due demonstration of leadership of the United States in the Western Hemisphere from the Assistantic This mill! A bill to provide authorizations for the Department of State, and for other purposes Be it searcied by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That this Act may be cited as the "American Porsign Affairs Western Hemispheric Act".

It is the policy of Congress that, to foster and develop a consistent and comprehensive foreign policy, the foreign affairs agencies should recognize the uniqueness of relations which bind the United States of America to other countries and territories located geographically with it in the Western Hemisphere of the world. Known collectively as the Americas these countries and territories extend from the arctic to the Antarctic and are bound uniquely to one another.

Taking into account this attustion, it is the sense of Congress that there abound to located in the Department of State a Deputy Secretary for the Americas, responsible directly only to the Secretary of State.

Clearly section 5(b), which suthorizes the President to do whatever he wants for as long as he wants without reference to Congress, is aloppy legislation. What should take its place? In its broadest sense, that is the question we will be saking in the subcommittee's hearings.

A partial answer lies in H.R. 2322, the Economic War Powers Act, which will also be the subject of these hearings. # A REASONABLE RESPONSE TO THE SACCHARIN BAN

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentle-man from Texas (Mr. Krueger) is rec-ognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. KRUEGER, Mr. Speaker, the proposed ban on saccharin announced last week by the Pood and Drug Administration points out the shortcomings of the so-called Delaney amendment to Pederal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act

As you know, this amendment requires the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare to ban any food additive which, after "appropriate tests" is found to incancer in man or animal.

This amendment does not lodge any additional power in the FDA; that is, the FDA's power to ban food additives is not dependent upon the language of the Delaney amendment. It serves merely as "red flag," which removes from the Se retary any authority to take less drastic steps than an outright ban against ad-ditives found to induce cancer after these appropriate" tests

Now, I notice in the Washington Post that the FDA is blaming its decision to ban saccharin upon the Congress, and in light of the existence of the Delaney amendment, there is no doubt but that a great deal of the responsibility for this action does he here. I do think it my duty. action does no never to status a transition of the however, to rise to a partial defense of the Congress by pointing out that REW and FDA determine the meaning of the term "appropriate lest"—subject to court an that it is not review, to be certain—so that it is not entirely the Congress fault that the unfortunate fale of a few Camadian rats has had an equalty u. ortunate impact upon American consumers of artificial

With this one clarification in mind, we can still proceed to the inexampable con-clusion to which the Washington Post article leads us, however. The Delancy amendment is an unwieldy tool with which to judge and act upon questions of a most delicate nature; in a subject or a most delicate nature; in a subject area open to much dispute and some con-jecture we rely upon an enforcement mechanism which stands flatfooted upon the ground, as if this were a ques-tion of black and white.

In my opinion, Congress should set expeditiously to amend the law to allow FDA and the Secretary of HEW greater discretion in selecting the appropriate remedy in the gray areas where they are forced by lack of hard data or precedent to make what amounts to little more than a hydrometicall. a judgment call.

In 1958, when the Delaney amendment was adopted, our knowledge of carcinogens was not so well developed as to-day; few of us suspected the extent to which cancer-causing agants may have pervaded our environment. Evidence now seems to indicate that potential carcinogeus are so widespread that it is nearly pointiess to try to evade them all.

Uptil we have more information about

Until we have more information about ne rature of the disease and its causes. fear that the general public has little elense but to become increasingly fatal-Lic about its continual exposure to sub-Mances which, in one forum or another have been labeled as "cancer-causing agents.

In light of all this confusion, the De lancy amendment becomes a greater obstude to the general public than a safe-guard, unless an important change is made. As testing methods become more and more precise, an increasing number of food additives formerly regarded as safe—sometimes for decades—will be swept off the market by the Delaney amendment in much the same way the manager's cane used to white bad acts from the vaudeville stage. Please note that more precise tests are not neces-sarily more valid tests, particularly if the underlying assumptions are incorrect. namely, hypothetically, the rat-human connection.

Obviously, the Congress needs to introduce a modicum of discretion and com-monsense into a rigid statute, if we are to keep any food products on the shelves until the time when we unlock the mys-teries of cancer and isolate its causes.

Today, I am introducing a bill to do just that. My proposal amends the Delaner amendment to allow the Secretary of HEW to balance the potential danger of a food additive's remaining on the market against the benefits which society market against the benefits which access might derive from its continued avail-ability. In the case at hand, the Secre-tary would belance the dangers posed by the continuing availability of saccharin, as demonstrated by the Canadian rat tests, with the demonstrated need which diabetics and chronically ove people have for this commodity.

Once the Secretary had determined that the potential benefits of keeping saccharine on the market outweighed the drawbacks, three paths is yopen to him: First, he could order further testing of the substance to verify or improve upon the results of the previous tests, and the product could remain on the market during this evaluation period; second, could require all foods containing the ditive to be inheled with a public warn-ing that ingestion of the additive may be hasardous to the health of the consumer; conservous to the health of the consumer; or third, in the most severe cases, he could allow the additive to remain on the market only with a physician's prescrip-tion.

I think that this is a belanced as-proach, and do not believe that it is any way compromises the ability of the FDA and REW to remove a carcinogenic food additive from the market. Realistically speaking, the importance of the Delaney amendment lies in its moral force rather amendments in an in a man to the area. Than in its effectiveness as a tool The legislative history of the 1958 amendments to the Puod. Drug and Cosmetic Act make this point clear:

Act make this point crear:

... the bill is aimed at preventing the addition to the food our people cat of any substances the ingestion of which reasonable people would expect to produce and just mancer but any disease or disability. It he bill reads or means the same with or without the inclusion of the clause referred is the Delancy amendment). This is also the riew of the Food and Drug Administration.

In response to all those Americans who could be asked to forego accharin in the near future and countless other sub-stances in the long run, I think that the Congress has an obligation to change this law, so that there will be at least as much chance of squity as of inequity arising from its enforcement. The present arising from its enforcement. The present situation is, I believe, smacosptable, and will grow more so as time goes by For instance, a staff member of mine, at least the control of the c consumed many more. Certainty the could not drink the TTP additional cans necessary to imbibe the quantity of sacharin carcinogenic to the bladder of a Canadian rat. And I believe that anyone who can drink 23 cans in a day probably has a bladder of more strength than any rat

The moral of the story, of course, is that we must be reasonable in our assessments. The text of my reasonable legula-tion follows:
